no 12 83

OH! COME DEAR LOUISA,

a Ballad,

The Words by

I. COWEN, ESQ.R

The Music Composed by

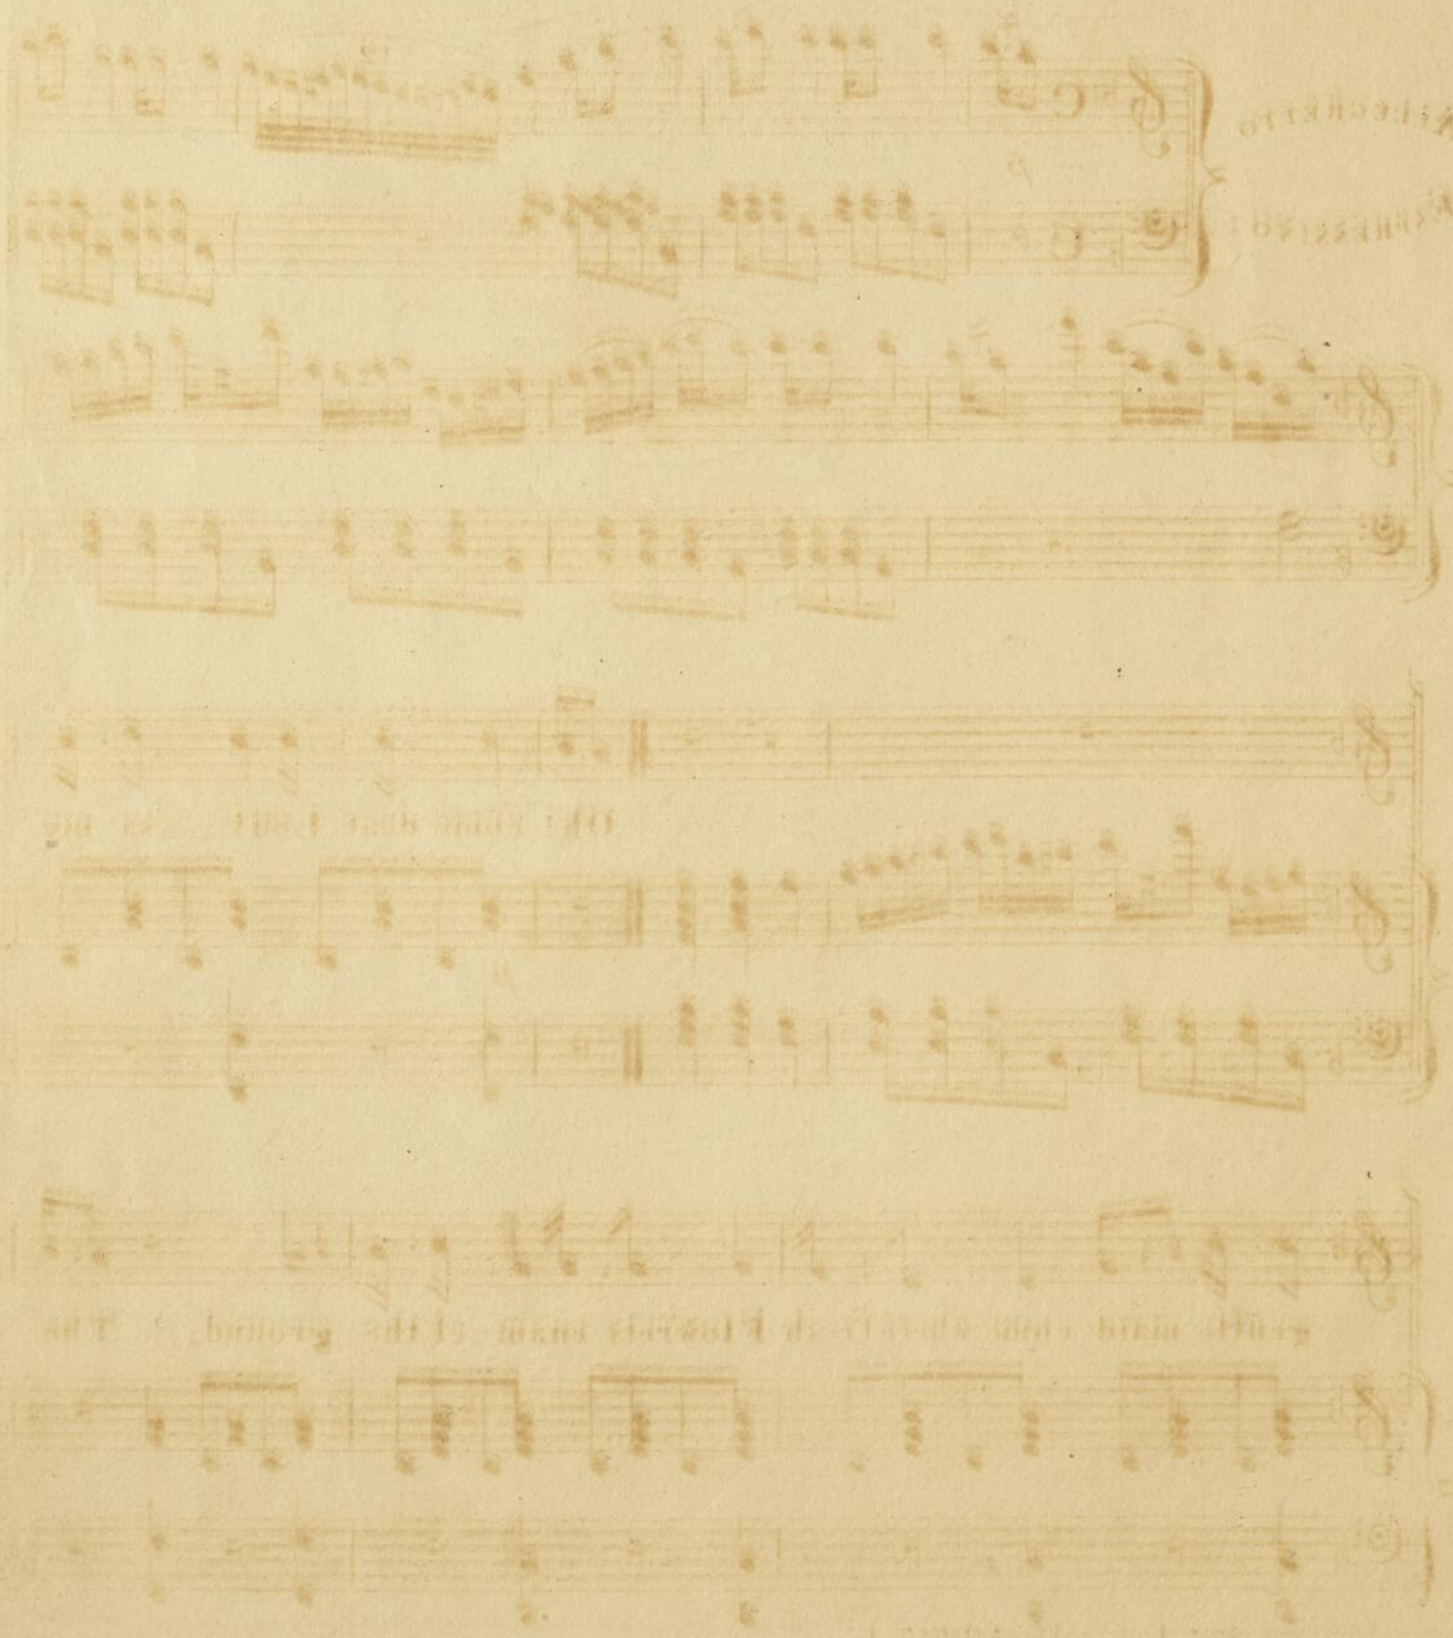
CHARLES SALAMAN.

Ent. Sta. Hall. Pr. 2/-

London, Published by I. WILLIS & Co. Royal Musical Repository.

Egyptian Hall, Piccadilly, & 7 Westmorland St. Dublin.

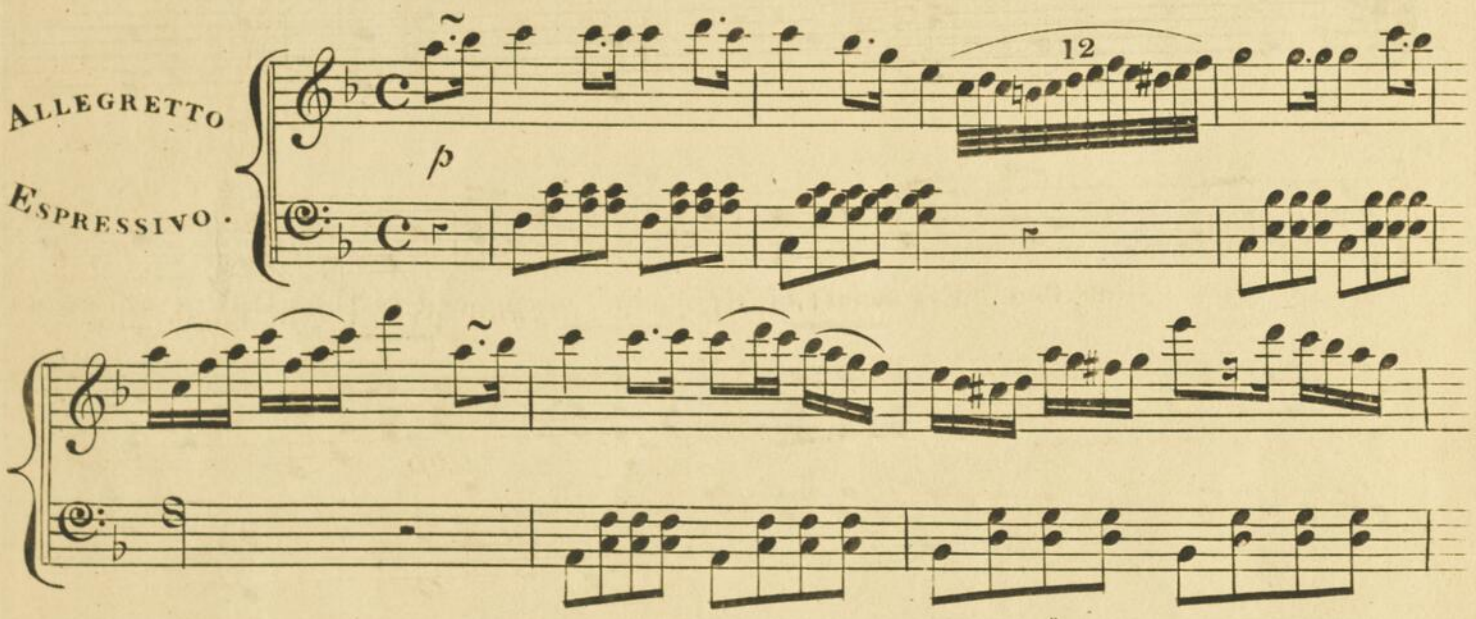
E. L.

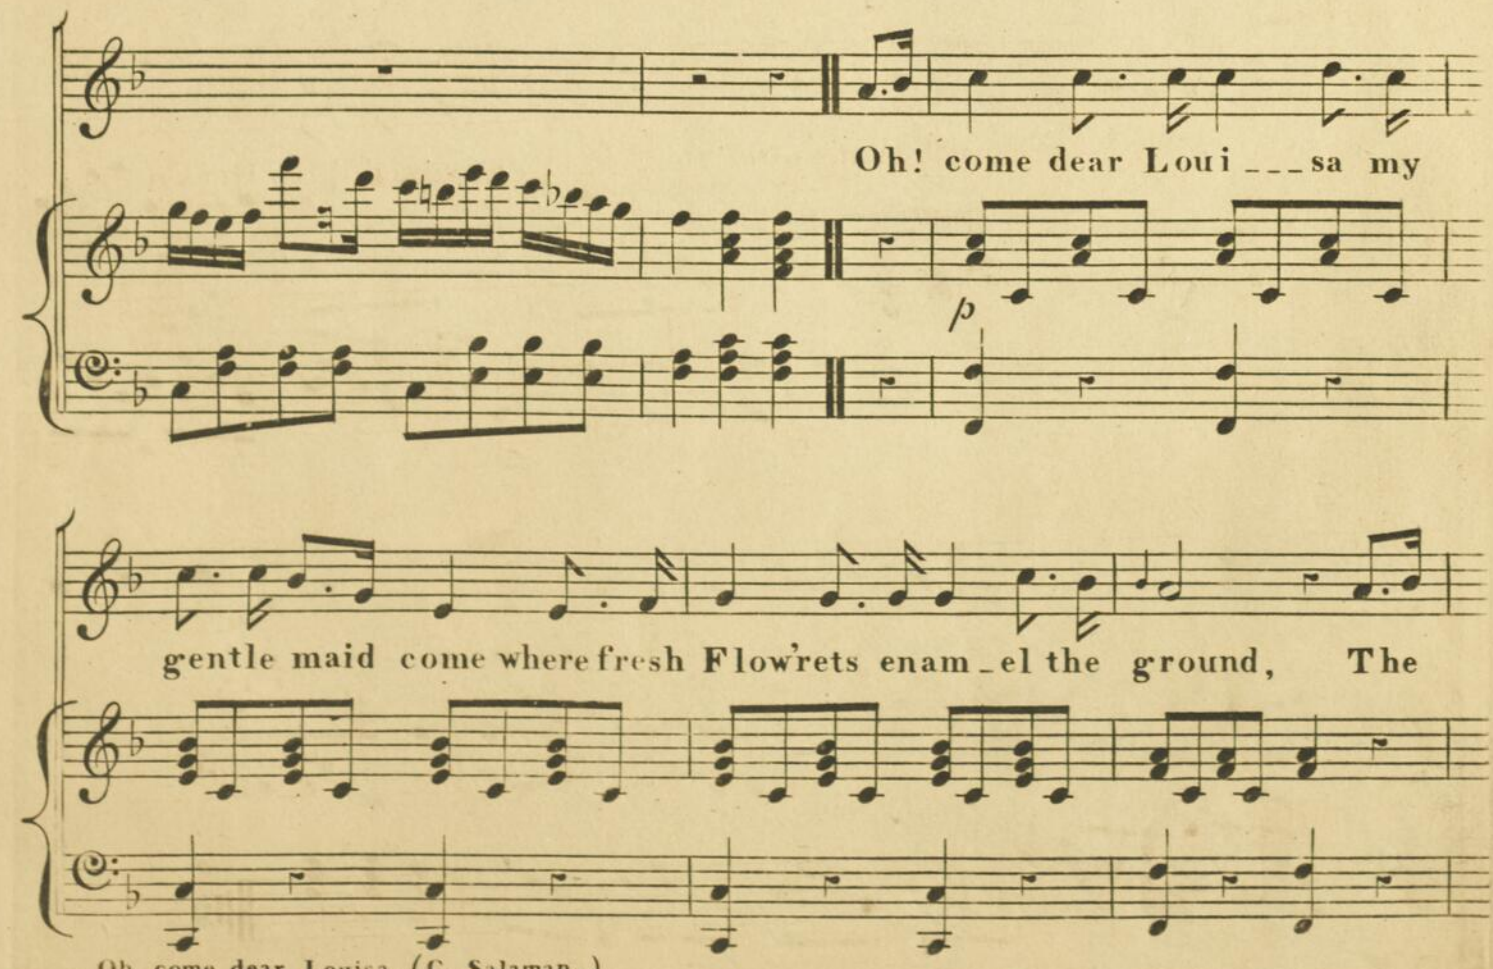


OH! COME DEAR LOUISA,

Words by I. Cowen Esq.r

Composed by Charles Salaman.





Oh come dear Louisa. (C. Salaman.)

Trumpet is mute and unbraced is the Drum, and sweet peace breathes its blessings around, The Trumpet is mute and unbraced is the Drum and sweet peace breathes its blessings a_round.

f

'Tis the soft gale of Heav'n the day spring of love that in_

pp

Oh come dear Louisa. (C. Salaman.)

vites me to this ro - - - - sy bow - - - er, Or come my Loui - - - - sa to

pp yon shady grove while Se - raph's shall bless the soft hour. Or come my Loui - - sa to yon shady grove while Se - raphs shall bless the soft hour.

Cad.e

f

Oh come dear Louisa. (C. Salaman.)

I have thought of thee love 'midst the fierce raging fight, I have sigh'd to thee dear in the Storm, I have pray'd for thee sweet in the still__ness of night, and be_ held in my dreams thy lov'd form I have pray'd for thee sweet in the still__ness of night and be_ held in my dreams thy lov'd form.

f

Then come with thy meek eyes and

pp ring_lets of gold with that voice which the an_gels have giv_ _ _ en and pi _ _ _ _ ty the heart now its se _ _ crets are told with that

pp smile thou hast borrowed from Heav'n and pi _ _ ty the heart now its

pp

Cad^{e}.

se _ crets are told with that smile thou hast borrowed from Heav'n.

FINE

f

Oh come dear Louisa. (C. Salaman.)