GRAF ZEPPELIN HAS ENDED ITS WORLD FLIGHT Brompton Scene Of Fatality—League Of Nations Convenes

Huge Throng Was At Landing Field To Welcome Ship

Church Bells Pealed and Cannons Boomed a Salute as Huge Ship Appeared Over City—Circled Over City Hall and Then Headed Towards Its Hangar—Dr. Eckener, Commander of Zeppelin, Was Not Aboard—Thousands of People Remained on Watch Throughout Night and Many Were Unable to Find Accommodations in Hotels.

(Associated Press Despatch)
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 4.—Beating its round-the-world cruising record by more than a full day, the Graf Zeppelin, Germany's mistress of the air, landed here from Lakhurst, N.J., at 8.52 a.m. (2.52 a.m. E.S.T.)

Church bells pealed and cannon boomed a salute as the huge ship, escorted by an honor guard of twelve airplanes, appeared over the city, circling the town hall before it turned back to the hangar at the Zeppelin works.

One of the largest crowds of Friedrichshafen's history greeted it there, cheering wildly as the zeppelin lowered toward the ground. Within a few minutes of its appearance it was taken in hand by the ground crew and at 8.56 a.m. was walked into its hangar.

The twenty-two passengers were at the windows of the ship as it came to earth, waving flags in answer to cheers from the throng below, many of whom had waited at the field all night.

With its landing the dirigible completed a round the world trip—Friedrichshafen to Friedrichshafen—in twenty days, four hours and eighteen minutes. The Zeppelin previously had flown around the world from Lakhurst to Lakhurst in twenty-one days, eight hours and twenty-six minutes, a time which was in itself a record.

The Zeppelin left Lakhurst at 7.18 a.m. E.S.T., Sunday, September 1st, consuming six, seven hours, thirty-four minutes in reaching here over an estimated course of 4,695 miles, against its own record crossing from Lakhurst of fifty-five hours twenty minutes, completed August 10th, over a course of 4,200 miles.

Dr. Eckener was not on board.

Aboard the Zeppelin were twenty-two passengers and a crew of forty, headed by Captain Ernst Lehmann. For the first time in the history of the Zeppelin's major voyage its master, Dr. Hugo Eckener, was not aboard, he having remained in America, on business.

For the first time weather conditions permitted the central French route for the Graf, from Bordeaux the Zeppelin cruised northward across Limoges, Dijon and Basle, Switzerland; striking across Lake Constance and toward home was the rising sun stared it in the face.

Never before have there been such crowds to greet the Zeppelin as there were today. Thousands encamped on the green sward, outside the aerodrome, especially at places from which they might obtain a good view of the hangar.

Many Unable to Get Accommodation

Other thousands literally walked Friedrichshafen's streets most of the night since hotels and inns were crowded and there was not a vacant chair anywhere.

The Countess Brandenstein, Count Zeppelin's only daughter, wept with joy when the ship was pulled to land. A large list of other notables was present.

David Lloyd George, former British Premier, tried to arrange accommodations so that he might be present also but was told by the Hotel Kurgarten there was not sufficient room.

Some people wondered why a private villa was not placed at his disposal and found the only excuse to lie in the fact that Dr. Eckener and his staff were away and that things were rather disorganized during their absence.

Passengers Taken Over City.

After the reception in the hangar, the passengers and crew were taken in gaily-decorated automobiles for a parade of the little city. Only Hans Von Schiller, one of the pilots would not go. "I have been charged by Dr. Eckener," he said, "to see the wonderful sword given him by the Emperor of Japan safely home. I propose to carry it there myself."

All looked tired and worn, some of the crew even haggard.

BROMPTONVILLE ACCIDENT HAD FATAL ENDING

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Killed When Bicycle Hit by Automobile—Driver, Maurice Guyon, 19, Held Responsible by Coroner's Jury.

Maurice Guyon, nineteen years old, of Bromptonville, was held criminally responsible by a Coroner's jury yesterday afternoon, following an inquest into the death of Ferdinand Martin, twelve years old, who was almost instantly killed at Bromptonville yesterday, when a bicycle on which he and another boy were driving was struck by a car in charge of Guyon. Guyon was held responsible. He was driving the machine without an operator's license.

The first witness called before the inquest, which was opened at Bromptonville half an hour after the accident by the district coroner, Mr. Leonidas Bachand, was Dr. J. A. Allard. The doctor was called to attend the victim immediately after the accident. He informed the court that the boy died from a fracture of the skull.

Gustave Chabot, who was living near the scene of the smash, said he saw the two boys coming down a side street on a bicycle. After they had turned the corner onto the Main Street, the bicycle ran into the car driven by Guyon. Although he thought Guyon was going at a very moderate rate of speed, the driver was unable to avoid the boys and ran over both of them. Poullette, the other boy, received a few minor injuries, while Martin died before the arrival of the doctor.

Omer Poullette stated that he was on the cross bar of the machine driven by Martin and when they came out of the side street they ran right in front of Guyon's machine. He said that Martin was going very slowly at the time of the smash, but when they saw each other, that they that the two vehicles were so close they were unable to avoid colliding.

Maurice Guyon, driver of the machine, was put on his guard, but admitted that he had no operator's license, although he knew that all drivers should be licensed. He said that his brother allowed him to take the car, knowing that he had no permit. The boys were too close to him when he saw them to avoid them.

Following a deliberation of nearly two hours, Guyon was held and appeared before the Magistrate this morning and preliminary enquiry was set for September 13th. Bail was fixed at two thousand dollars.

ANNUAL FAIR AT SCOTSTOWN OPENED TODAY

Large Number Visited Annual Fair of Compton County Agricultural Society No. 2 at Scotstown—Exhibits More Numerous Than Past Years.

(Special to the Record.)
SCOTSTOWN, Que., Aug. 4.—Compton County Agricultural Society No. 2 opened their gates for the sixty-first annual exhibition this morning. The first day is always given over to the placing of exhibits. On Tuesday afternoon and evening exhibitors were busy bringing their stock, poultry etc. The secretary-treasurer, Mr. George P. Cowan, states the entry list is larger than any previous year.

The main building has been very prettily decorated by the ladies committee and indications are that the fancy work and cooking, for which the Scotstown ladies have proven themselves famous; as well as flowers, potted plants, and vegetables will prove as interesting as in former years. Mr. H. Lax, Dr. Smith and Mr. W. Ladd are in charge of this building, with Mrs. A. L. Sherman, president of the ladies' committee, and other members assisting.

The race track is reported to be in excellent condition for the trotting events which will start tomorrow. The Metropolitan Shows from Montreal which have been secured for the midway were busy engaged getting everything in readiness. Although the attendance is not large the first day, they were not receiving their share of attention, many of the younger generation who have been saving their pennies for the fair, did not want to miss an opportunity for a joy ride.

Judging of Horses. Judging of horses will be carried on in front of the Grand stand all afternoon, the cattle will be judged in their ring, which will occupy the greater part of the day and the Scotch concert this evening, when A. Allard, the doctor was called to attend the victim immediately after the accident. He informed the court that the boy died from a fracture of the skull.

The dining room is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morrison, when the doors were open at noon today to serve dinners. The attractions before the grand stand tomorrow will be numerous. The parade of live stock, races, ladies' buggy race, girls riding, prettiest got-up bicycle, half-mile foot race, and boys riding are expected to be keenly competed for.

The tug-o-war, which is creating a good deal of interest among the men, and boys, will prove whether the Guild or Scotstown team have the stronger muscle and steeper pulling ability.

The quarter mile potato race on horseback offers attractive money when the big eating contest promises to create a good deal of amusement.

Band music will be in attendance as well as Scotch pipers and the Highland dancer from Montreal.

(Associated Press Despatch)
GENEVA, Sept. 4.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, was asked today to clarify his statement that only three points were outstanding of twenty or more to a complete naval reduction accord between the United States and Great Britain.

A spokesman replied that he was unable to do so and explained that the Premier was the only man in Great Britain outside of General Dawes, the United States Ambassador, who actually knew what was going on in the naval conversations.

TWO AMBASSADORS OF GOOD WILL

"So you're going to Washington early in October? Well, tell all the folks 'hello'." That might have been what Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, right, was saying to Premier Ramsay MacDonald when this excellent picture was snapped. You see the celebrated pair as they attended ceremonies at MacDonald's home town of Elgin, Scotland. Unannounced plans had been made for the Premier's goodwill visit to the United States.

THIEVES BUSY LAST NIGHT IN THIS DISTRICT

Store in Sherbrooke and Station at North Hatley Robbed During Night—Car Stolen at Coaticook.

The Eastern Townships appears to have been selected for a regular series of robberies, ranging from automobile thefts to brutal assault. Following a number of cases over the week-end, three more were reported to the Sherbrooke police today.

From Coaticook comes word of the theft of an automobile. A new Ford roadster, belonging to a party of tourists from Massachusetts, was stolen during the night. The car was chocolate in color, had a rumble seat and bore license number Mass. 329,461. Any information as to the whereabouts of the missing machine would be welcomed by the local police.

When the clerk of Ansell's Drug Store opened the store this morning, they found the inside in a state of chaos. Investigating further it was found that a window in the back of the store had been broken open, and the store entered. An examination of the stock showed that several hundred dollars' worth of cameras, films, books, drugs, etc., had been removed. A sum of money that was in the safe was not touched, however. The police were immediately notified and an investigation started.

When the station agent of the Quebec Central Railway at North Hatley, arrived to open the station this morning he found that the door of the station had been forced open and that the safe in the office had been carried off. In the meantime, a section man on his way to work found the safe lying half a mile south of the station, with the door broken open. Investigation revealed that the safe had been forced open with tools stolen from the section tool house. The robbers obtained little cash for their trouble, however, as the agents remit all the cash in their possession daily to the treasurer of the company.

FOREST FIRES OUT OF CONTROL

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 4.—A bad forest fire swept through a mountainous country north of here yesterday, burning timber in three townships on a four mile front and was out of control late last night. Two hundred men were fighting the flames, which had crossed the state line and was going in a northwesterly direction toward Bennington, Vermont.

United States Government Organizes New Patrol for Use Over Detroit River—Smugglers' Planes as Nucleus of New Force.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 4.—The United States Government is planning an aeroplane patrol for service over the Detroit river and Lakes St. Clair and Erie, it was announced yesterday by Walter G. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit.

Planes seized in recent weeks by the American Federal forces from alien smugglers and rum runners are to be the nucleus of the new service, which is to be a division of the customs border patrol, Petty explained.

Aspiration for a sky patrol had been revived in official circles in Detroit after the recent seizures of smugglers' aeroplanes in both Canada and United States. Conclusive proof of the increasing importance of the overhead liquor route "spotting" liquor smugglers in the lakes or rivers, authorities believe.

WARM WEATHER BRINGS CROWD TO BROME FAIR

Fine Day Yesterday Brought Out Record Attendance—Some of Principal Prize Winners in Cattle Announced—Two Races Run—Floral and Women's Sections of Fair Good.

(Special to the Record)
BROME, Sept. 4.—Yesterday, the second day of the Brome County Fair, was a big day in point of attendance, one of the largest crowds in the history of the association passing through the gates.

Though very warm, the day was fair and the people were thronging in from an early hour until mid-afternoon, and between parked autos and the crowds of people, most of the space within the park enclosure was occupied.

Between the live stock parade, which was an impressive one, the midway, platform performances before the grand stand, harness races and inspection of the various exhibits, visitors were well entertained.

Some Winners in Cattle. Judging in the ordinary cattle classes has been completed, and some of the outstanding winners were as follows:

In the Ayrshire classes, Mrs. C. E. Wadley, Abercorn, H. L. Hastings, Swetsburgh, and Geo. H. Hawley, of Hawley Wood Farm, Sutton Junction, were leading winners. Mrs. Wadley's exhibit took 7 firsts, while Mr. Hastings won 6 firsts and Mr. Hawley 2.

A. P. Hillhouse, Bondville, took 9 firsts, and 6 seconds, with his Holsteins; W. H. Emerson, Sutton Junction, won 4 firsts, and H. Saunter & Sons, Crystal Lake Farm, Swetsburgh, exhibiting three head, won 3 firsts in the Jersey classes.

Arthur Carter, Knowlton, had a fine exhibit of Guernseys and took 9 first prizes.

In the classes for Durhams, H. A. Blunt, Knowlton, took 7 firsts. These results do not include the awards in the special classes, which remain to be reported upon.

Women's Department Good. The exhibit in the Women's Department this year is particularly fine and consists for the most part of entirely new work. The judge, Mrs. Stevenson, of the Handicrafts Guild, Montreal, commented favorably upon it. A new feature of the exhibit was imitation work of oriental pottery, which attracted much attention. Here Miss Gingras, Frank Westover and Mrs. T. B. Vincent, all of Sutton, had very creditable exhibits, while in the art department the water color exhibits of Miss Hunter, of Bondville, were much admired.

The horticultural hall is the center of much interest, all the available space being filled up with displays of cut flowers, potted plants, vegetables and fruit. The showing of apples is unusually large and the quality fairly good. This season considered, while vegetables, both in quantity and quality, are most creditable.

The two racing events resulted as follows:

300 Class.—Nellie Harvester, Cass, 4, 2, 2; Jim Frisco, Martindale, 2, 3, 3; Bingletole, Poll, 3, 4, 4; Direct, Lebeau, 1, 1; Grace Nelson, O'Brien, 5, 5, dr.

228 class.—Bessie Direct, Hebert, 1, 1, 1; Joe Hill, Archambault, 2, 4, 2; Cream Girl, Lafontaine, 3, 3, 4; Grace Dewey, O'Brien, 4, 2, 3.

The racing officials are: Starter, Park Baird, Fulford; judges: J. C. Milmore, Portland, Me.; R. Duran, Waterloo; J. M. Hills, St. Armand; timers: E. B. L. McCrum, Cowansville; Dr. J. J. Irwin, Waterloo.

League Awaits Answer Of France And Germany On MacDonald's Stand

Canada's Case Will Likely Be Presented This Afternoon by Senator Dandurand—While Premier MacDonald Warmly Complimented German Delegate on His Speech Yesterday, Premier Briand of France Remained Silent in His Seat—Tomorrow Both M. Briand and Gustav Stresemann Are to Speak.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)
GENEVA, Sept. 4.—The tenth assembly of the League of Nations awaits word from France and Germany today of their reactions to Premier MacDonald's speech yesterday. Commentators note that while the British premier was very warmly congratulated by the German delegation, Premier Briand of France remained silent in his seat.

Tomorrow both M. Briand and Gustav Stresemann, head of the German delegation, are to speak. What they have to say is awaited with scarcely less interest than was the speech of Mr. MacDonald.

Dr. Chao Chu Wu, Chinese minister to Washington, today, addressed the Assembly. He described Premier MacDonald's speech as "the most inspiring words spoken since the birth of the League when Woodrow Wilson gave expression to the aspirations of the nations in their dealings with one another."

China Always Followed Paths of Peace. The Chinese delegation, he said, believed there was no surer way of gaining the confidence of those doubting thomases who were still cynical about the League than for it to exert its power in the removal of grievances without fear or favor.

Premier Stauning of Denmark closed the morning's proceedings with a review of what Denmark had done in the way of disarmament.

It is expected Senator Raoul Dandurand will present Canada's case this afternoon.

SOME PERPLEXITY WAS MANIFEST (Associated Press Despatch)
GENEVA, Sept. 4.—The "call from arms" issued by Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, Premier of Great Britain, here yesterday before the assembly of the League of Nations, dominated discussions in assembly circles today.

Some perplexity was manifest at Washington and London despatches which revealed surprise at the broad range of the premier's hopes, predictions and statements of fact.

The Premier's assertion that agreement had been reached between his government and that at Washington on seventeen of the twenty points involved in a naval agreement, was the subject of some speculation among the internationalists here. It was hoped he would be able to announce an Anglo-American accord for reduction of naval armaments before he leaves for England on Thursday, as he said "was possible."

LONDON PRESS EXPRESSES VIEWS (Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Sept. 4.—The London press today show some perturbation at the extent of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's commitments in his speech yesterday before the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva.

The morning Post, Conservative, particularly deplored that "the British Government pledged itself to the optional clause" of the world court, the effect of which will be to submit to the international court any points of law in which there may be a serious difference of opinion between members of the League.

The Post warned that "an English king declined to kiss the toe of an emperor and that an English Church refused to accept its orders from a pope. England fought not one but several wars rather than submit to any continental domination. And if at so great a cost we freed ourselves from a foreign yoke

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby's Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent FREE. In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over fifty years.

"It Helped All My Troubles"

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born, so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had heard so much about it. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all and had to stop work and rest every once in a while. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help before. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold, Box 63, Rocklake, North Dakota.

GAS POISONING
Breathing poisonous gases still seems to be favorite method used by those who wish to commit suicide. Usually, the gas from the stove or from a gas jet is turned on and the doors and windows stuffed with cloths to keep it from escaping. In a room thus prepared, the one attempting suicide will find release from this life in from thirty to sixty minutes.

Accidental deaths from this kind of gas will usually take much longer, owing to the fact that a great deal of gas escapes through openings in the room, such as the cracks in the door and windows.

In spite of all warnings, there are many deaths each day from carbon monoxide gas poisoning. This is formed at times from the improper combustion of the ordinary natural or artificial gas used in stoves.

The fumes from burning gas are ordinarily not highly poisonous, and only at times is the carbon monoxide gas produced. A housewife who does not have the proper vent to the cooking stove or to small heating devices, is constantly in danger of getting a breath of the carbon monoxide gas at any time. The important point to remember is that this gas is practically odorless and is also colorless.

Any exhaust from a gasoline engine may contain some of this poisonous gas.

Most deaths from carbon monoxide gas poisoning that are reported have occurred in garages. The engine is left running while the driver is in the garage and if for a few seconds the gasoline combustion is imperfect, enough carbon monoxide will be generated to make the victim unconscious almost as quickly as if he were gassed with an ax.

There is very little warning. One full breath of air containing this gas may be sufficient to cause unconsciousness. This is because the carbon monoxide gas combines with the hemoglobin of the blood and destroys its ability to carry oxygen. Even if the victim is discovered and carried to fresh air, he may not recover, due to the serious blood poisoning which has been produced. In case of recovery it may take months for the blood to be restored to its normal condition.

The air of the city streets is becoming more polluted each day with the exhaust gas from automobiles and although these exhausts may not be pleasant, there is only a small amount of danger from carbon monoxide due to its rapid mixture with freshly moving air.

The great danger lies in the closed garage and in the heating gas devices without the proper vents.

Mrs. H. A. Scarth was the guest of honor at a delightful afternoon tea on Friday, given by the members of the Parish Guild and a few friends. The basement of the church was very prettily decorated for the occasion with profusions of gladioli, marigolds and asparagus fern. The president of the Guild, Mrs. C. B. Jameson, poured tea while several young ladies served refreshments, after which the presentation of a beautiful brass flower bowl was made by Mrs. Jameson, who spoke of the inspiration and help Mr. Scarth had been to the Guild, as an organization during the two years she had resided in Sweetburg and expressed regrets at the departure of such a faithful member. All present stood and sang the familiar ditty "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow", after which Mrs. Scarth expressed her appreciation of the gift and the goodwill of her friends and invited them to visit her at her new home in Scotstown. Mr. and Mrs. Scarth expect to take up residence in Scotstown during the coming week, where Mr. Scarth has accepted the position of manager of that branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mesdames George Ingalls, E. E. Brown and daughter and Master Wyatt Ingalls, of Boston, Mass., were among those who attended the Sherbrooke Exhibition, on Thursday.

Mr. John Smith and son, have returned to Montreal, after having been guests of his father and sisters in Scotstown during the coming week, where Mr. Scarth has accepted the position of manager of that branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Arms Get Numb
Question—M. J. writes: "Please tell me what causes the arms to go to sleep and get numb at night. Is there anything I can do to prevent it?"

Answer—The arms get numb at night because of high blood pressure.

Answer—If you know you have high blood pressure you have doubtless answered your own question, as this does cause the arms to become numb. Valvular leakage of the heart is also sometimes responsible for poor circulation and numbness of the arms.

Pellagra
Question—Mrs. R. C. H. writes: "I would like some information about pellagra. Can it be cured?"

Answer—The best dietetic treatment seems to be an occasional short fast for four or five days at intervals of about a month apart, followed by a well balanced diet as outlined in my weekly menus. It is especially important that you obtain sufficient protein, such as meat in overcoming this trouble.

Sauce for Vegetables
Question—J. J. N. asks: "How can one prepare a palatable sauce for green peas without discarding the juice, and without making a 'wrong' combination?"

Answer—A palatable sauce can be made by adding cream and butter to the desired amount of juice, and thickening with a little dextrinized, or browned, flour. The juice that is not used should be saved for soup, which may be made very appetizing by the addition of milk or cream and any finely chopped non-starchy vegetable you may wish.

Cysts on Eyelids
Question—E. A. P. writes: "Please tell me how to prevent cysts forming on my eyelids. I have been having them cut out, but where not so preventive? An examination show nothing wrong with the vision. I have been told that a poultice made with milk and the bark of slippery elm, to be applied for an hour, would be helpful. Please advise me."

Answer—The tendency toward the formation of cysts seems to be caused by a condition of acidosis. This can be overcome by the use of a fasting and diet regime, as outlined in my Cleansing Diet Course, which I will be glad to send you.

LEGACIES LEFT COWANSVILLE CHURCH GROUPS

United Church and Missionary Society Under Will of Late Mrs. Hull
—General Notes and Personalities from Cowansville and Vicinity.

COWANSVILLE, Que., Sept. 4.—The August meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held at home of Mrs. Brown on Thursday, August 29th. In the absence of the president, Mrs. McQuat, the vice-president presided. After devotional exercises the minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. R. Dunn. The Heard for China, Mrs. Stowe read a sketch of a graduating ceremony at Union University, West China, where the first women in all of West China have had the opportunity to graduate from a school of higher learning in their own province. All have accepted responsible positions as teachers in high schools.

Mrs. Dunn, heard for Japan read an interesting story of how a little girl in Japan, who lost both of her hands, had through the kindness of friends in the mission school had been provided with wooden hands, and by perseverance had learned to use a pen and crochet hook.

Mrs. Brown gave a resume of the last two chapters of the study book "Drums of the Darkness." A letter was read from the Rev. A. E. Grisbrooke, one of the executors of the estate of the late Mrs. O. N. Hull, which stated that Mrs. Hull had left a legacy of five hundred dollars to be used for the benefit of the West Central African Mission, to form a memorial which will be known as "The Orison N., and Ellen Hull Memorial" this memorial to take the form which is considered by the Women's board to be the most urgent.

It was moved by Mrs. Stowe and seconded by Miss M. J. Cotton that the Society gratefully accept this legacy, on the conditions above described, and that Mrs. C. J. McQuat be appointed to receive the same and give the executors a valid discharge thereof. The motion was unanimously carried.

The late Mrs. Hull was a charter, also a life-member of this society and her valuable contribution will be much appreciated and will supply some urgent need in this flourishing mission, which was founded in 1880 and will soon celebrate its jubilee. At a special meeting of the finance committee of the United Church, held in Col. Stockwell's office, Wednesday evening, August 28th, the same letter from Rev. A. E. Grisbrooke was read and contained the information that

The World Famous "Ounce of Prevention"

A dash of ENO in a glass of water daily.

Intestinal poisoning from absorption is the cause of many ills. It yields and succumbs to ENO'S "Fruit Salt" because ENO so surely, but ever so gently and safely, eliminates the poisonous waste matter that causes it.

Thus does the simple daily dash of ENO'S "Fruit Salt" become the "ounce of prevention" that forestalls any necessity for the more drastic measures.

To gain a new zest for life and its duties, test ENO for yourself... just a dash in a glass of water every morning for a few days.

But remember, there is only one ENO. Resolutely refuse substitutes: then you will know that you have the safe, dependable, non-habit-forming health beverage.

CARBONATED BEVERAGES
—PLEASE THE PALATE
Is made in the house Jock built
In our early youth the circus was not complete without a bottle of red soda pop, and when we attended the fair our constant nagging nearly always brought results. With our first bottle of carbonate beverage we developed an appetite that was destined to remain with us for the balance of our lives. Our youth has slipped away. Not so with our penchant for carbonated beverages.
It was undoubtedly the luscious pop that follows the removal of the cap that gave the beverage its first name. Its taste gave it popularity. Carbonated beverages please the palate. At the ball game, the ninth inning, or the races the billers of soda water are legion. Chilled by the vendors, it quenches the thirst. In addition to the single bottle purchased here and there many people order it by the case for use in the home and to carry on a picnic.
To hasten back to our youth again, all soda water wasn't good then. Some of it might not be good today. We don't know. But we are positive that the Carbonated Beverages manufactured by J. H. Bryant, Limited, manufacturers of Bull's Head and Pale Extra Dry Ginger Ale, and other popular brands is unsurpassed in the soft drink field. We know, also, that their brands are manufactured and bottled under sanitary conditions, and that the flavors and extracts used are of high grade. The bottles are cleaned and hardly touched by human hands until they are ready to be put in cases for delivery.
The plant of this company is at 65 Depot Street, Sherbrooke. It is a credit to the community, and the public is always welcome to inspect it. If you are of the ninety-nine per cent, who are fond of carbonate beverage, you should order a handy case for your home. It is the most inexpensive of all soft drinks, while its properties are beneficial to good health.

It will interest many readers to hear that at the Canadian National Exhibition, now being held in Toronto, many exhibits of handicraft work done by the women of the province of Quebec are shown, and are much admired by the numerous visitors at the booth where they are displayed.
The Women's Institutes of the province are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts to demonstrate and bring before the public the textiles and beautiful hand-made articles made by the women of Quebec with wool from the backs of their own sheep, and the flax that grows in their own fields. Curtains, rugs, bedspreads and many other attractive articles are exhibited, and some of the best exhibits are from Abbotsford, St. Jean, Port Joli, Trois Pistoles and other Institutes. MANAGERS OF JUNEAU & CO. ENTERTAINED

Progress of Mining Industry in Quebec Lauded at Gathering of Members of Mining Securities Firm.
The New Sherbrooke House was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Saturday afternoon when the managers of the nine branches of the firm of Juneau and Company, mining brokers, and a number of the members of their staffs, were entertained at an informal luncheon by Mr. Wm. Juneau, president of the company.
Following the luncheon, Mr. J. Labrecque, manager of the local branch, welcomed the visitors to Sherbrooke and expressed the hope that these conferences would be held at frequent intervals.
Mr. A. Duguay, manager of the Le Tuque office, thanked Mr. Labrecque for the welcome and voiced the appreciation of all present for the excellent dinner. Following a brief tribute to the firm and to Mr. Juneau, personally, Mr. Duguay proposed the toast to the president.
Called upon to reply to the compliment, Mr. Juneau expressed his pleasure at being able to meet the various managers at such a social gathering, and gave a brief outline of the rapid growth that mining was making in Canada at large and particularly in the province. He told of the remarkable growth made by the Consolidated Mining and Oil Exchange at Montreal, of which his firm was a charter member, in the few months of its existence and expressed the belief that within a few years it would rival in volume of business the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, at Toronto. He then proposed the toast to Mr. Labrecque and the staff of the Sherbrooke branch, complimenting them on the fine showing that they had made in the short time the office had been established in Sherbrooke.
Mr. Labrecque, in reply, thanked the President and expressed his appreciation of the co-operation and assistance received from the managers and officers of the firm, ever since his connection with them.
Following the luncheon, the gathering adjourned to the company's offices where a discussion took place relating to the affairs of the various branches.

LOCAL MUSICAL SOCIETIES ASK CITY FOR AID

Large Delegations Waited Upon City Council Last Evening—Harmony Band Asks for $2,000 Annually, While L'Union Musicales Wants $1,000 Per Year—Value of Two Societies Pointed Out—Report on Valuation Roll September 30.

That the members of the City Council look with favor upon the requests made by the Harmony Band and L'Union Musicales for annual grants of $2,000 and $1,000, respectively, and that the matter would be given serious consideration, was the statement made by Mayor J. S. Tetreault to the large number of delegates who were present at the council meeting last evening.

The $2,000 annual grant was needed, it was explained by Mr. A. Crepeau, M.P.P., honorary president of the Harmony Band, for the purpose of obtaining a good teacher, to meet obligations, and to obtain suitable quarters. The value of a good band to the city was touched upon by Mr. Crepeau in pointing out that the councils of many smaller cities than Sherbrooke rendered assistance to their bands.

"I am here tonight to support the Harmony Band," said Mr. Charles B. Howard, M.P., in expressing himself strongly in favor of the band receiving municipal support. Mr. Howard briefly reviewed the history of the band and the way in which it had always served the citizens of the city. The speaker also spoke in favor of the L'Union Musicales which, he said, had always done excellent work in teaching rudiments of music to many who otherwise could not afford to take it up.

Messrs. Florian Fortin, president of the Board of Trade; J. H. Blue, president of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association, and F. H. Hebert also spoke in favor of the grant being given to the band.

The L'Union Musicales have, during the past five years, trained over 550 residents of Sherbrooke free of charge in vocal music, it was pointed out by Leonidas Bachand, president, in requesting that the Society be given an annual grant of $1,000. The money, it was explained, was not needed at the present time, but merely the assurance that the money would be forthcoming in the future.

Mrs. L. E. Codere, Mr. Justice C. D. White and Rev. Father N. Codere also spoke in favor of L'Union Musicales.

Regular Routine Matters.
The road department recommended that the city engineer prepare plans necessary for the enlargement of the underpass of the Canadian Pacific Railway at the corner of Galt street and Laurier Avenue and that the city attorney be authorized to open negotiations with the Railway Commissioners to obtain the necessary approval that the payment for this work be borne by the interested parties.
The request of the residents of Queen Street south for a side walk was referred to the City Engineer for a report. The department recommended the building of a side-walk on the east side of St. Edward Street and the enlargement of the road on the report of the City Engineer.

That there are many photographers in the city at the present time doing commercial work without paying the required license was brought to the notice of the Council by a letter from the proprietors of the studios in the city, who requested that an investigation be carried out with a view of forcing these photographers to comply with the city ordinances. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee for study.

Alderman Forest, Labrecque and Edwards were appointed to investigate the complaints received from twenty property owners of the city in connection with protests of the 1929 valuation roll and to report to the Council at its meeting.
The Health Department was requested to carry out an investigation in connection with several complaints which had been received that smoke from a shop was causing much inconvenience to the residents of Carmen Street.

The purchase of a 1,500 pound capacity Fairbanks scale from Coedercer Ltee, was recommended as well as five barrels of paint.
The bride's attendants were Miss Dorothy MacRae, sister of the bride and Miss Doris Mayhew, sister of the groom. Miss MacRae wore a mauve georgette dress with hat and shoes of light sun tan, while Miss Mayhew was dressed in Nile green georgette with white hat and shoes.
The best man was Mr. Douglas Mayhew, brother of the groom, while the ushers were Messrs. Hector and Carl Mayhew.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride at which about one hundred guests attended.

The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were crystal necklaces, to the best man Masonic cuff links, and to the ushers leather bill folders.
Going away the bride wore a sun tan tulle crepe dress with trimmings of gold and dark brown, with shoes, hat and purse to match.
Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew have taken up residence in Bury.

GOVERNOR FOR DISTRICT AT ROTARY CLUB

Governor John Nelson, of Montreal, Has Sound Advice for Sherbrooke Club—Traces History and Ideals of Movement and Asks for Highest Service.

Warning against the striving for numbers at the expense of quality, Mr. John Nelson, Montreal, Governor of the 28th District of Rotary, appeared to the members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club last evening to uphold the highest aims and objects of the movement, and to ever strive for further service. The membership of the local club was good for the size of the city, in the governor's opinion, though he thought it might be increased without impairing the quality; but the attendance at meetings, though good, was not up to what it should be, and great stress was laid upon the importance of members being present at every meeting.

Governor Nelson paid his first official visit to the local club as district governor, addressing the members at the first evening meeting of the autumn, at the New Sherbrooke Hotel. President, Andrew Sangster, presided, and Miss Lapage, of Montreal, furnished entertainment in the way of several songs.

The speaker pointed out that his district included sixty clubs and covered an area which would cover several times the European kingdoms. "The president of the Elmira club had challenged him recently to say which were better, the American or the Canadian clubs in his district. This had been embarrassing, but he had truthfully been able to answer, 'The American; I have not visited any of the Canadian clubs yet.' There were many problems in the district, with clubs of nineteen members and others of four hundred, situated in towns of 1500 and cities of a million.

Men of Many Interests.
"What are there in men of all classes?" asked the governor. "In it are men eminent in law, men eminent in medicine, men of extraordinary mercantile interests. Men whose time is valued in minutes give up hours to it. We cannot say we have the best men of the community in it, for the best men are not always available. But we can say that our membership is recruited from the best. What is Rotary? If you are ever asked that point-blank, you will have a difficult ten minutes. When asked that question recently, I began to think afterwards, Why did I take these responsibilities at a time of life when I am trying to shed responsibilities? And the answer is, that when you get on in years you begin to ask yourself: How many things are there that you are putting your back into which are really worth while?"

"Before the idea of Rotary and the service clubs in general came in, men's societies and clubs were all of one group of men, similar in thoughts, tastes, interests and religious. Rotary cut right across that idea. It is, in fact, the very opposite, being founded on dissimilarity, with just one man of each class being admitted to a club. And the idea is to have a representative man of each group bring in the best of what he represents."

Fellowship Vital.
The speaker showed that, founded along these lines, fellowship became absolutely vital to the organization, and hence the attendance rule was a practical necessity. The quality should be kept high, but another warning was issued that a club must never become too self-righteous, lest it misjudge a man who might soon be reformed in his ideas and become a real Rotarian. "Don't be too sure of a man whom you think not quite up to your standard," he said, "for Rotary should make a tremendous change in him. Within a year you will know whether he has merited your confidence, and if he has not, the chances are all that he will leave, for he will be unhappy with the men with whom he is associating. If he changes, it will be because he is meeting fellows with whom he had not been associating before."

Rotary International, Governor Nelson pointed out, now numbers 3,000 clubs, situated in fifty nations, with 150,000 members.
Rotarian D. A. McManamy thanked the speaker in a fitting way,

HI-Y CLUB TO BEGIN ANOTHER SEASON
The opening meeting of the Sherbrooke Hi-Y Club will be held on Friday, September 6th, at 8:15 p.m. when the speaker for the evening will be Mr. H. G. Hatcher. A large attendance is looked for and those who have nominations for membership should have those turned in.

OMEGA-ALPHA CLUB OPENS SEASON OF ACTIVITY
A good crowd, a good supper, and some very good talking marked the opening of the season for the Omega-Alpha Club last night. Immediately after the supper the president gave the opening address, pointing out that on the two previous opening nights of the season, last year and the year before, the club had little, if any, accomplishments to look back upon, but this year the club members had a backward and also a forward vision as they recognized the accomplishments of the past year, and as they looked forward to still bigger and better things in the coming year, and he bespoke the heartiest support of each and every member of the club to make 1929-30 a year of worthwhile activities for the membership.

Carvel Hammond was then called upon and gave a talk on "Club Expansion," pointing out that by an increase in membership the financing of the club would be very much easier, and the programme of the club could be very much enlarged and the usefulness of the club for the community could be very much intensified. This was followed by an address on "Club expansion" throughout the Eastern Townships" when it was suggested that the need for such club activity all through the Townships was intense—there were centres like Richmond, where there was now a club in operation; Asbestos, where some of the boys had asked that a club be formed; Sutton, where a number were interested; then there were Waterloo, Coaticook, Knowlton, Granby, and other fairly large centres where such a club with its programme could render real service. The suggestion was made that representatives of these sections be invited to Sherbrooke to consider the matter more fully, and discuss the problems of the different communities with the hope of arriving at helpful conclusions. This matter was left in the hands of the executive committee with power to act.

During the evening Mr. Clifford Hall was introduced to the club, and after expressing his pleasure at being present, stated that he hoped that at his next visit to the club he would be able to report something in the way of club expansion, as he could see the field of usefulness and a place for such activity throughout the Townships.

SHERBROOKE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION
Owing to weather conditions the workout scheduled for last night did not take place, and owing to the absence of the coach, who has gone from the city on vacation, a practice will be postponed till after a general meeting of the club members to be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday evening, September 5th, at 7:45 p.m.

STRATHCONA SQUARE SIDEWALK

There is an urgent need for a cement sidewalk on Strathcona Square, running along the west side of Wellington street and up the hill to the bottom of Frontenac Street. At present on this part of the city's principal street there is only a flagstone walk, which is rough, broken and ugly.

This is an important part of Wellington Street and one in constant use by pedestrians, and should have the same good sidewalk which the rest of the street possesses. It is the chief walk leading from down-town to the north ward, and from down-town to Marquette and Frontenac Streets, and from both the upper and lower sections of the city to the Court House. Such being the case, it deserves a better pavement.

In recent years the Court House grounds, forming Strathcona Square, have been wonderfully improved in their appearance. The lawn and terraces have been put into good shape, the diagonal gravel path has been cut out and new flower beds have been added. The old sidewalk which remains is, therefore, out of keeping with this improvement, and should be replaced. A new one would do much to add still more to the beauty of this pleasant square in the middle of the city. Many comments have been made by citizens on the unsuitable walk now flanking the square, and it is hoped that the city will remedy the matter without delay, thus continuing consistently the policy of improving the property within its jurisdiction.

THE REIGN OF BUSINESS

It is the fashion of some snobbish minds to look on business with a certain contempt. They regret that humanity has fallen and become sordid. The good old days are gone when the king and the nobles preened about and the ruling class was above such a low aim as making money.

Now the plutocrat rules. The men of big business are kings. The business man is everybody's goat. The socialistic writer abuses him, the essayist holds him and his schemes responsible for all our social ills, the class fanatic hates him particularly, and all the envy of the world is drawn upon his devoted head.

But the fact is that the whole world has gone into business. And instead of being a lapse, it is a sign of the world's progress.

The age of business follows logically upon the age of science. Modern industry is simply applied science.

Under science the world has turned from vain speculation to active accomplishment. The days are past when rank and privilege awed mankind; now the great ones must make good.

The condition of the common run of men has improved more in the last century than in any preceding ten centuries.

The hundred million inhabitants of the United States have advanced more in personal comfort, in education and in liberty than any people in any comparable time in history, and simply because they have all been in business.

Europe and the Orient have been held down by the dead weight of tradition and by the incubus of an idle nobility and a mischief-making military class.

The modern factory, the railway, telegraph, telephone, steamship, tractor, automobile, mine, and all other machinery of production and transportation are the children of Father Business and its Mother Science.

And the modern growth has been accompanied by the downfall of feudal institutions and ancient frauds that made some men slaves and others intolerable tyrants.

Democracy, indeed, what is it but a nation of business people, guided by science, and basing all precedences upon service, rather than upon some ghostly fiction?

EXPERIENCE AS A LIABILITY

(By Glenn Frank)
Experience may be a liability, as well as an asset.

The presidents of three large corporations, operating in the same field of business, were looking for general managers.

The president of the first corporation said he wanted a man of sound character, attractive personality, and maturity, who had long experience as a general manager in the field in question.

The president of the second corporation said he wanted a young man, with energy, eagerness to learn, and readiness to work, who had no experience as a general manager in the field in question.

The president of the third corporation said he wanted a middle-aged man, with proper training and the usual acceptable personal qualities, who had had some experience, but not too much, as a general manager in the field in question.

Three men happened to be looking for positions as general managers; each possessed the technical and personal qualifications for a position as general manager of such corporations; they differed, however, in the matters of age and experience.

One of the men was sixty years old, was a general manager at the time, and had held two such positions before.

Another of the three men was young, energetic, and an untiring worker, but had had no experience as a general manager.

Each of the three men considered himself qualified to hold any of the three positions, and each applied for all three positions.

Why did three men of such varying degrees of experience feel qualified for these positions, and why did three presidents set up three such differing requirements, ranging from no experience to long experience?

The answer is to be found in the point of view from which the different men judged the value of experience.

Some men assume that because they are doing a given job, and thereby gaining experience, they are becoming increasingly qualified for such a job.

But experience may be bad as well as good. Experience may mean that we have simply done something wrongly for a long while.

The repetition of an activity over a stretch of years may contribute to one's skill, but it is no insurance of growth.

The two presidents who wanted men with no experience or short experience in the sort of posts they sought to fill were simply seeking to avoid men to whom experience had meant crystallization of routine habits.

It is important to remember that experience is not a matter of years but is a question of the way in which we have reacted to our job or permitted our job to react upon us.—Cpt. 1929.

PRESS COMMENT

ALL A QUESTION OF SPACE.

(Border Cities Star)
After all is said and done, though, things aren't nearly so bad as they may seem. The reason we have more "crises" than "situations" is because there isn't sufficient room in the headlines for the word "situation."

THE CANADIAN COAL MARKET.

(Cleveland Daily Mail Trader)
Canada's efforts to increase consumption of domestic fuels and British endeavors to add to their exports of fuel to the Dominion are believed by the Department of Commerce to lead to an interesting situation that faces American coal producers and transportation agencies. Canada takes practically all our anthracite and coke exports, and by far the greater part of our bituminous coal exports. This accounts for $90,000,000 yearly. She needs 32,000,000 tons of coal annually, of which one-half is imported.

WORSE THAN GUNMEN.

(Fall River Herald News)
An infamous crime is that of foisting on a defenceless public a swarm of criminals posing as doctors whose fitness is certified to by spurious certificates, diplomas and State seals, issued by a criminal clique in Chicago. Photostatic copies of the originals were made for counterfeit plates, and those were sold at an average of $2,000 each. As it is claimed that 1,000 fake diplomas were sold, one can see the criminals rake in two millions of dollars, and visualize one thousand other criminals going around among the sick and ailing, collecting money for medical (?) treatment, and hastening the death of each and every patient.

This is in Chicago, and from that city these thousand criminals have radiated, bringing with them diplomas supposed to have been won and granted at the Rush Medical College, the Northwestern University Medical School and the University of Wisconsin Medical School.

The machine gun carnage in Chicago pales into insignificance in the exposure of and comparison with this "diploma mill." Nothing more dastardly is imagined. Seven men, charged with the crime of engraving and printing these certificates and diplomas, have been rounded up, and one has furnished State's evidence.

Now, the most important job is to round up that scattered army of one thousand quacks who are posing as qualified and experienced medical men in various parts of this country. For the public safety this should be done even before the others are brought to justice.

NO ALARM FOR PARALYSIS AT OTTAWA FELT

Total Number of Infantile Paralysis Cases Receiving Treatment in Capital Advanced Close to Fifty Mark—Situation Not Considered Serious.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 4.—The total number of infantile paralysis cases receiving treatment in the capital advanced close to the fifty mark, when nine new patients were admitted to hospitals over the week-end. Meanwhile three additional cases were reported from towns in the Ottawa Valley, raising the total of patients in the outlying districts to nineteen.

At the Civic Health Department it was said the unreasonable heat which prevailed during the week-end was probably responsible for the sharp increase in new cases of the disease. An adequate supply of anti-paralysis serum is available and no alarm is expressed by the authorities over the situation.

Schools were re-opened in the capital today on completion of the summer vacation. Civic officials did not consider the situation sufficiently grave to win postponement of the reassembling of classes.

THE HOUSE in TUESDAY MARKET

By J. S. Fletcher

"Who'll force him?" he repeated. "Why, circumstances will force him! Do you think Furniss will lie down for an afternoon's nap over this affair and wake up to forget all about it? I don't! Furniss isn't such a thick-head as he looks. And he's this sort—if he's got a notion that he's on the trail, he'll worry and worry and worry along till he gets somewhere. Now I think Furniss suspects Hadrill and doesn't believe a word of Hadrill's evidence. So that's that!"

Whatever Furniss was doing, thinking or scheming, we heard nothing of. The days passed and no new facts came out. We heard no more of the scrap of pink paper. The Machin mystery began to be less and less talked of—it was, indeed, almost obliterated by a suddenly-revealed local scandal in which two prominent townsmen figured. And then, in startling fashion, Trapper and I chanced on a discovery which made us begin to think a tremendous lot.

Trapper had an old friend in Kingsport, a man named Lapage, who was acting-manager at the Theatre Royal. In that town, we happened to meet him accidentally, one morning when we had gone over to Kingsport on a shopping expedition, and we asked him to lunch with us at the Station Hotel. And after lunch as we were smoking over our coffee in the lounge, Lapage suddenly referred to our recent doings, at Leyminster.

"You've been having some strange happenings your way, haven't you?" he said, with an inquisitive glance at me. "It was you, Gaisford, who found the dead man's body in your own house, wasn't it? Gruesome business! I knew Machin."

I turned on him with a sudden suspicion that we were about to hear something—why, I couldn't tell.

"You did?" I exclaimed.

"Well enough—for a time," he answered. "It was mentioned at the inquest, wasn't it, that at just about the time of Machin's disappearance he was in the cast of a production of Ours, by the Leyminster Amateur Dramatic Society. He'd a principal part."

"Yes?" I said.

"Well," he continued. "I was the producer—they always have a professional producer, these amateurs, you know, for anything of that sort. Yes—I was in Leyminster from the beginning of November to just after Christmas—until the thing had been produced, of course. And, of course, Machin never played in it—he'd disappeared, early in December, and some other man took up his part. Oh, I remember them all! I noticed in reading the account of the inquest that Mrs. Hadrill gave evidence. Oh, I remember her very well—pretty, attractive little woman. She and Machin were certainly thrown together a good deal at that time."

"Did you ever notice anything that gave you the impression that there was anything between them?" I asked bluntly.

"No!" he answered. "I should say Mrs. Hadrill's evidence on that point was absolutely trustworthy. I've a very clear recollection of her. And, for that matter, of all the people who were taking part. They were the best-looking lot of men and women I ever had to deal with—handsome men and pretty women. Machin, of course, was a very handsome man. Then there was young Mrs. Riddington—a deuced pretty girl!"

I turned on him at that with a look that made him stare at me.

"What is it?" he asked. "That seems—"

"Mrs. Riddington couldn't be in that cast!" I exclaimed. "You must be mistaken!"

"No mistake at all, laddie!" he retorted laughing. "I've the clearest recollection of Mrs. Riddington! And why couldn't she be in that cast?"

"Because Mrs. Riddington had gone, with her husband, Dr. Riddington, to Nice!" I replied. "She wasn't in England at the time you speak of!"

"Wasn't she?" he said, with another laugh. "Well, I say she was, and that I saw and talked with her pretty nearly every day! But I will say this—Mrs. Riddington, like Machin, didn't play her part after all. She was in all the rehearsals right away up to within three weeks of production—that is to say, she was under my tuition, as producer, from the date I went there, November 1st, to about December 10th or so. Then she suddenly went away—and we had to find another lady to take her part."

Trapper had been listening to this intently. He now took a hand.

"Could you prove that, Lapage?" he asked.

"Frove what?—that Mrs. Riddington?"

"That she was then in Leyminster during the six weeks between November 1st and say, December 10th or so?"

Lapage reflected a while. Then he drank off his coffee and rose.

"Come along with me to my rooms," he said. "They're within five minutes' walk, and I believe I've still got a lot of memoranda of the production we're talking about. But I say—why are you so concerned at to whether Mrs. Riddington was in Leyminster at the time?"

"It's not altogether idle curiosity," I answered. "But I shall be very much surprised to find that she was!"

"Well, but she was!" he said with emphasis. "I know that for a fact, and I feel pretty sure I have proof of it—I've produced a good many plays for amateur companies in my time and I have records of most of them. But, dear me, there's no doubt about this in my mind—I remember Mrs. Riddington very well indeed, and that was the only time at which I ever could have seen her."

He led us to his room, and produced a box full of papers and documents, and after some turning over of these things laid before us, triumphantly, what looked to be a rough proof of a play-bill.

"There you are!" he exclaimed. "Of course, that had to be altered, as Machin disappeared and Mrs. Riddington threw up her part. But there's the original cast. Machin, you see, was Hugh Chaloot; Mrs. Hadrill was Mary Netley; Mrs. Riddington, Blanche Haye. All the other parts were filled by local people—no doubt there are names there that you recognise?"

But I paid no attention to any other names, except to glance at them. It was clear that Lapage had been right—Mrs. Riddington had certainly been in Leyminster in the November and for part of the December of 1915. And she had gone away from Leyminster suddenly.

We left Lapage soon after that, having told him no more than we thought it well he should know at that juncture, and returned to Leyminster. Trapper was very silent and thoughtful until we had got into our train. Then he turned to me with a look full of meaning.

"Gaisford!" he said. "The writing on that scrap of pink paper was Mrs. Riddington's! Now then—who stole it from under the very nose of Furniss's clerk?"

CHAPTER XII CONCERNING MRS. RIDDINGTON

I let the train rumble along for some little distance over the placid meadows which separate Kingsport from Leyminster before I made any reply to this. I, too, was thinking over what Trapper thought.

"Got a theory, Trapper?" I said at last.

Trapper settled himself to talk.

"When that inquest was opened," he replied, "there was some notion that Machin—to put it plainly—had been phandering with Mrs. Hadrill. Mrs. Hadrill, in the witness-box, pook-pooked all that. But there remained the fact that in Machin's pocket-book was discovered a note in a woman's handwriting which on the face of it fixed an appointment or a meeting at a certain hour on the day on which it was written. That scrap of paper was put before Mrs. Hadrill, and she was asked if the writing was hers? It wasn't—we may take that for granted. The Coroner then arranged with the police to have the scrap of paper placed on exhibition, so that anyone could see it, with a view to its identification. It was so placed—and, as I said just now, it was stolen from the very nose of the official who had it in charge."

He paused, looking at me—to find out, I suppose, if I was following him and anticipating his point.

"Well?" I said.

"Somewhat curious, isn't it, that the scrap of paper was so stolen almost immediately after the unexpected return of Dr. and Mrs. Riddington from Nice?" he continued. "There is, of course, such a thing as coincidence—"

"You think that Mrs. Riddington stole the scrap of paper!" I suggested.

"I think it highly probable that she did, or that some other woman stole it on her behalf," he answered. "Either way, she stole it herself, or got some woman to steal it for her, it's a sure proof that the handwriting on that scrap of paper was—hers!"

"Which means, in plain language, that you think she'd been carrying on with Machin?" I said. "Is that it?"

"I'm not going as far as that," he replied. "But if that scrap of paper originated with Mrs. Riddington, there was something—what, we may never find out. But consider these facts—From what we've heard Mrs. Riddington was a very pretty woman, of a very disposition, and a great many years younger than her husband. We now know, from what Lapage has just told us, that when Riddington went to the South of France, after his usual habit, in that Autumn of 1915, Mrs. Riddington didn't go with him, but stayed in Leyminster, and took part in the theatricals arranged by the local society. We've heard that Machin was what is commonly called a ladies' man; that he had that reputation, though he was married; and we're also informed that he was one of those men who are attractive to a certain type of woman. Now there's nothing extraordinary, impossible, or out of the way in the theory that Mrs. Riddington, her elderly husband being absent, carried on a bit with this Lethario—Who, to be sure, was nearer her own age!—there."

"I suppose not," said I. "But—what are you working up to?"

He turned to the window by which he was sitting and for a moment or two stared out on the dank fields.

"I think," he said at last. "I think, Gaisford, that the Riddingtons, both of 'em, know a great deal about this affair."

"What about Hadrill?" I suggested.

"I think Hadrill knows something, but nothing like as much as the Riddingtons know," he replied.

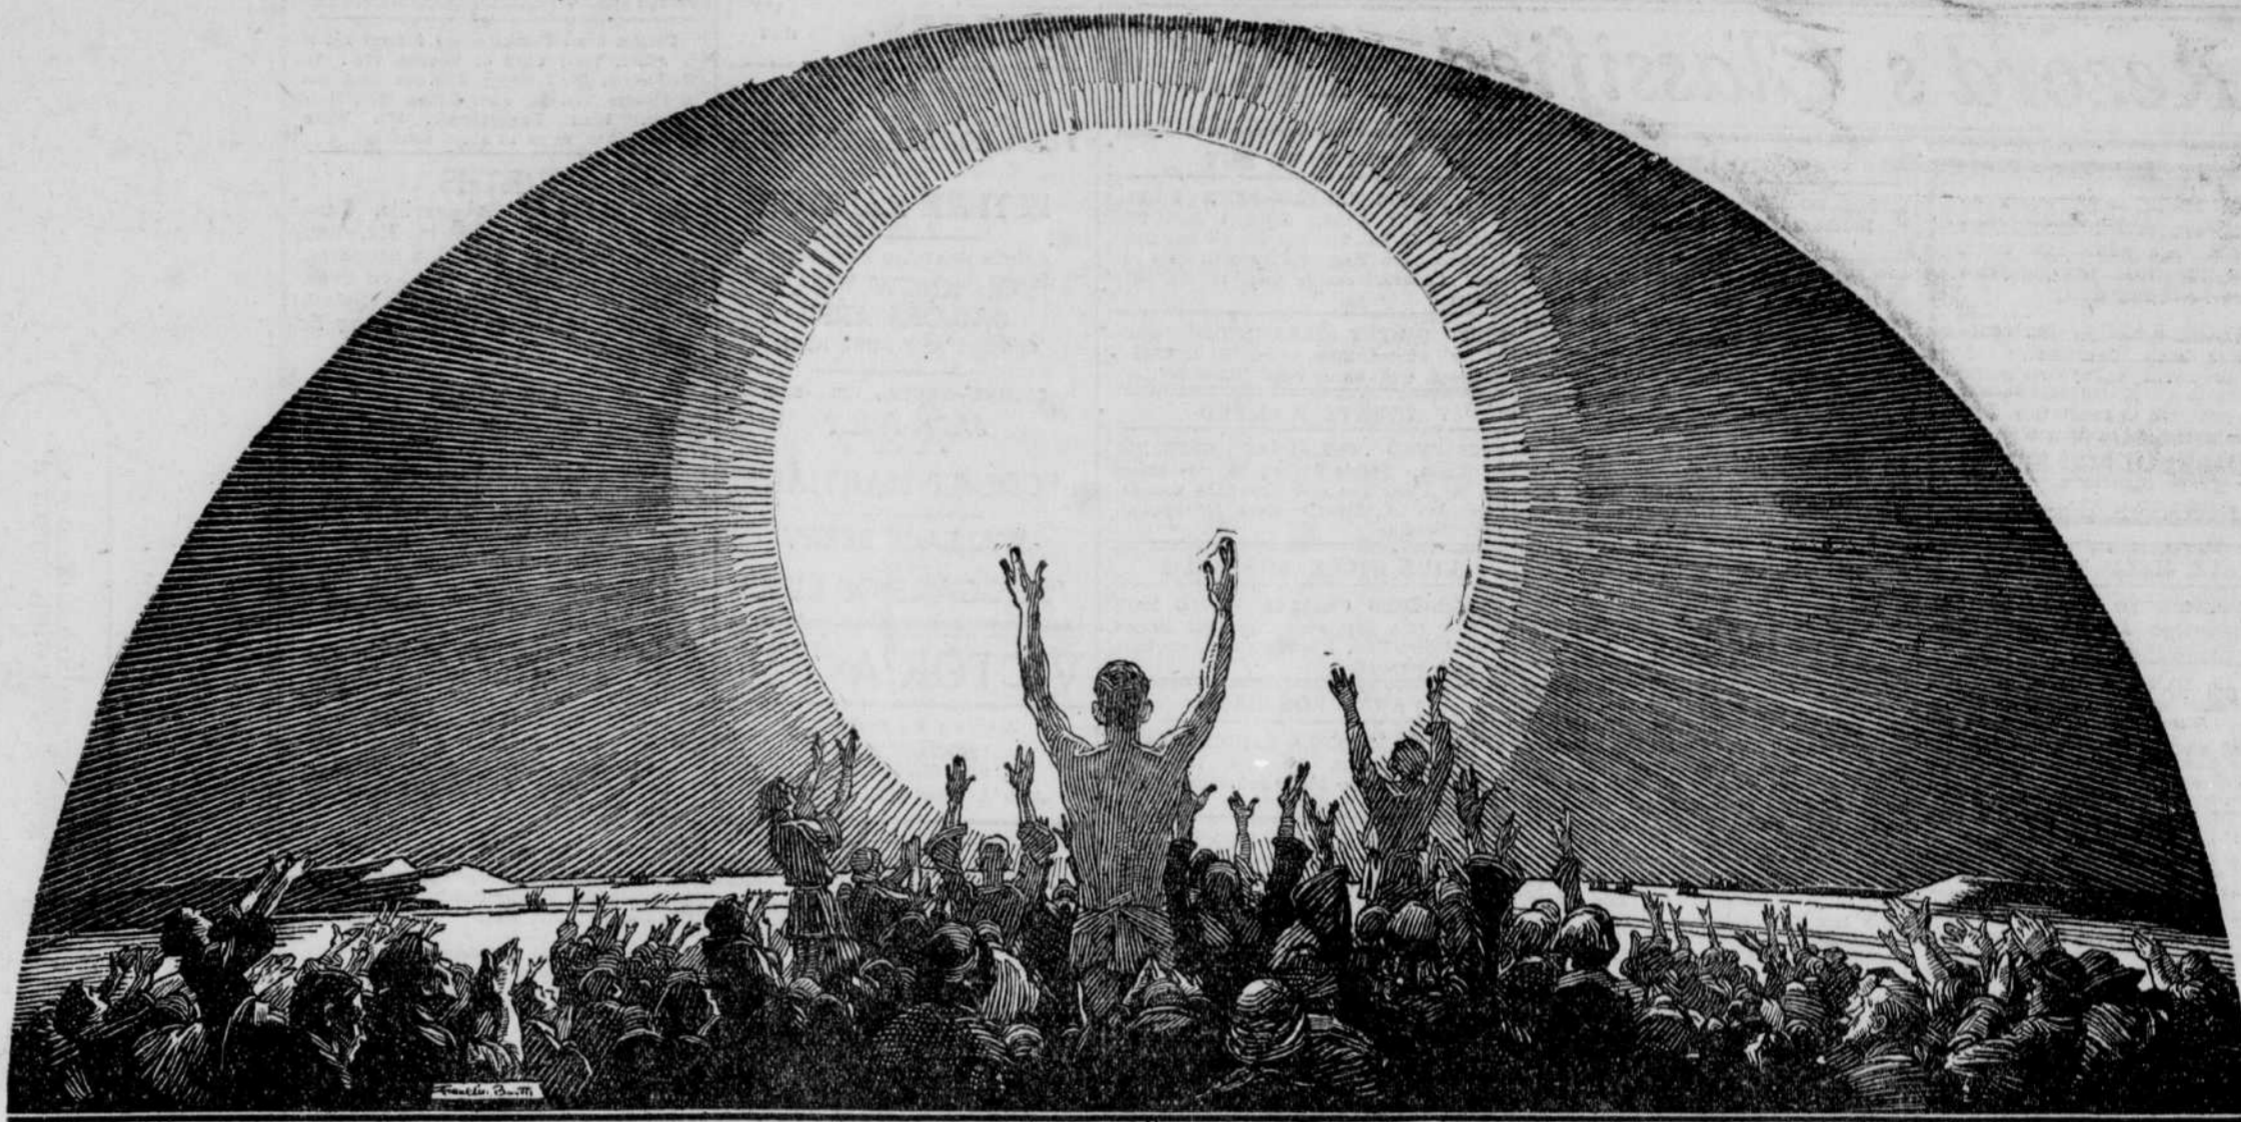

"Well," said I, "so far, the Riddingtons have never been even mentioned in connection with it!"

"Precisely!" said he. "That's just it! But they will be."

"When?" I asked.

"As things develop," he answered. "My belief is that they came back from Nice full of anxiety to know if their name had been brought in, and that they're full of anxiety now as to what may transpire."

DOWN FROM THE SUN SPEEDS A MYSTERIOUS POWER TO MAKE SICK BODIES—VIGOROUS, WELL

NOW—in a familiar food—the health value of hours in the summer sun

THERE is a mystery, fascination in the great healing power of the sun.

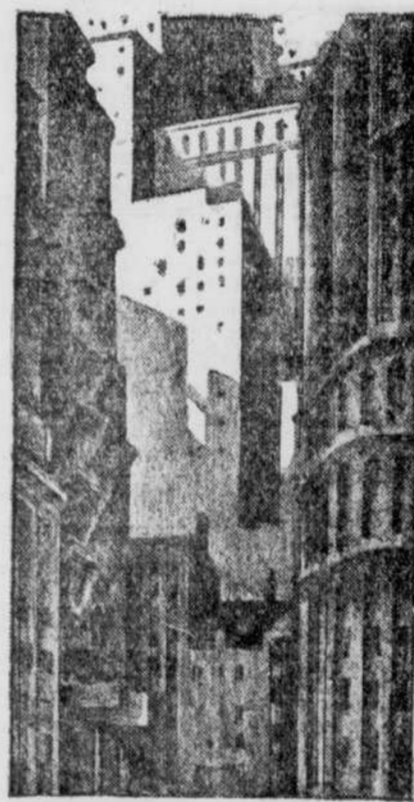

For centuries persons with sick bodies have bathed themselves in sunlight to be cured.

But millions today must spend the sunny hours in cave-like offices or factories, in sunless schools, shops, homes—victims of a sunless age. They are literally "sunlight starved".

An astonishing discovery promises to end all this! A brilliant scientist has made it possible to capture the health energy of the sun in a simple, inexpensive food.

Fleischmann's fresh Yeast is this food. Already an average of one person out of three has eaten Fleischmann's Yeast and benefited. It is the easy, natural way to banish constipation—to renew appetite and digestion—to clear up long-standing skin complaints.

But now the health value of this famous food has been enormously increased! The new Fleischmann's Yeast, "irradiated" by a unique patented process,

Hiding from the sun in office, factory, school, home, a "sun starved" race is growing up—soft-boned, weak-muscled, teeth a prey to decay... Read how you can eat your sunshine now in a famous food.

brings you the mysterious "sunshine" vitamin "D". It is the richest food source by far of this vitamin. Our laboratories estimate that three cakes are equal to the ultra-violet effect of a whole day in the summer sun!

Most people, especially those of growing age (under 25), need the "sunshine" vitamin now in Fleischmann's Yeast. With it, bones and teeth grow straight and strong. Your body is harder, tougher.

The expectant and nursing mother needs it daily to help combat the drain on her body's lime and phosphorus supply. It fortifies the unborn or nursing child against rickets (soft, crooked bones and teeth).

Start today, eat Fleischmann's Yeast for the energizing, bone-hardening "sunshine" vitamin. Eat 3 cakes every day, before or between meals, plain or in water, cold or as hot as you can easily drink. At grocers, restaurants and soda fountains, in the familiar foil package with the yellow label. It is as effective as ever for baking.

Fleischmann's Yeast is made in Canada by Cansfield

DR. LORENZO CHERUBINI, famous Italian physician writes, "Untold health benefits are made available by the 'sunshine' vitamin D—now in irradiated fresh yeast. It builds strong bones, sound teeth, tones muscles."

DR. JOSE SANCHEZ-COVISA, best known Spanish dermatologist says, "Fresh yeast is successfully employed to combat many skin diseases. Exposed to ultra-violet rays, fresh yeast reaches a maximum therapeutic power."

DR. CARL NEUBERGER, a leading German physician states, "The vitally important pro-vitamin, ergosterol, which becomes a true vitamin upon irradiation, is found more abundantly in yeast than elsewhere."

DR. MAURICE DELORT, a great European Gastro-enterologist says, "Ergosterol which exists in fresh yeast is converted by irradiation into vitamin D which brings about the deposit of calcium in the bones."

YANK LEADER SAYS MACKMEN BETTER TEAM

Huggins Claims Athletics Have Pennant Cinched—Impossible for Yankees to Overtake Them—Glad Mack's Team Won.

(Associated Press Despatch) PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 4.—Miller Huggins, mid-field manager of the Yankees, conceded yesterday that the pennant race was over so far as he was concerned. With more or less grace, Mr. Huggins conceded that the Athletics had won this year's pennant. "It's all over," he declared as the Athletics tumbled the Yankees by 10 to 2 yesterday in the windup of the final series to be played in Philadelphia this year by the leaders and the runners up. "The A's have it cinched, tied down, nailed to the flagpole or anything you want to say. It's impossible for us to overtake them now."

ATHLETICS AND CUBS EXPECTED TO WIN SERIES

Mackmen Need Eleven More Victories and Chicago Sixteen to Assure Another Chicago-Philadelphia World Series—Athletics Trounced Yankees 10 to 2 Yesterday—Senators Defeated Red Sox.

(By William J. Chipman, Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—With the two pennant races settled beyond the doubts of even the most hopeful Pirate and Yankee supporters, the Cubs and the Athletics now turn to a pursuit of the mathematical certainty through the stretch. The chase should not be long. A survey of the standing of the clubs shows that the Cubs need sixteen victories and the Athletics eleven to assure another Chicago-Philadelphia world's series even in the face of possible clean sweeping by the runner-up clubs. The Mackmen have twenty-three more games to play and the Bruins twenty-seven. Since a defeat for a second place team also counts toward the victories needed by the leaders, neither of the coming champions should require more than ten days or two weeks at the most to settle the argument. It is the first time in many years that both races have been in line for such early decision in the same season. Not After Records Neither Connie Mack nor Joe McCarthy is disturbed greatly over the question of winning one hundred games. Both would like to do it and both still may, but each puts the winning of the pennant far above any mere race after records. No National League winner has had one hundred victories since 1913 when the Giants won handsomely, but the last two Yankee teams have gone above the century.

Yanks Lost 10 to 2 When George Earnshaw finally speared his twentieth victory at Philadelphia yesterday by 10 to 2, with the Yankees on the receiving end, he placed his team just fourteen and a half games to the good. He also clinched the season's series against the champions, as the third straight in the holiday engagement gave the Athletics a record of twelve games won and only eight lost in play with the Yankees, with just two more to be decided. Jimmy Dykes and Max Bishop helped Earnshaw with home runs and Gehrig contributed his twentieth to the New York cause. After Pippas and Sherid had been knocked out from the picture Hoyt pitched four innings, marked only by Bishop's homer in the eighth. Earnshaw's twentieth victory, long sought, gave him the honor of being the first major leaguer to reach that figure this season.

Senators Defeated Boston With nothing whatever at stake, the Red Sox and the Senators played a spirited game at Boston, with the Senators on top by 10 to 5 at the finish. The victory gave Washington the edge in the series by two games to one, with one more decision to be reached today. The game was won by Joe Judge, who hammered one of Ed Morris' fast ones into the left field bleachers with two on in the sixth to give Washington the runs which ultimately won.

Fred Marberry got credit for the victory, but gave way to Garland Braxton with three on and one out in the ninth. The Red Sox had reached Marberry for three runs in the eighth. Braxton put down the ninth round threat with a loss of only one run. All of the National League clubs spent the day recuperating from the efforts of an active holiday. The Cubs and the Cards had intended to go into St. Louis to play off a postponement, but an inspection of attendance figures at recent games led Sam Breadon to decide in favor of a doubleheader today.

JAS. MATHESON WON AGGREGATE AT RIFLE MEET

Dudswell Man Also Took Challenge Match and President's Cup Yesterday at District Shooting Meet—Dudswell and Sherbrooke Regiment Teams Close for Team Honors.

With the weather continuing very warm, the marksmen assembled at the Sherbrooke Ranges for the sixth annual meeting of the St. Francis District Rifle League yesterday completed their matches. The shooting was carried out efficiently under Major Leo Watson, range officer, and was finished before the heavy rain storm had started. Jas. Matheson, of Dudswell Civilian Rifle Association, won yesterday's Challenge match, shot at 200, 500 and 600 yards, with a score of 99 out of a possible 105. This score included a possible 35 at 500 yards. He also won the All Comers' Grand Aggregate and the Sherbrooke Regiment Challenge Cup with a score of 206. A. W. Heath, also of Dudswell, took second place in the aggregate, followed by Lt. Jeffrey, of Montreal. The Challenge Shield, emblematic of the league team championship, went to the first team of the Dudswell Civilian Rifle Association, who nosed out the Sherbrooke Regiment Team by two points.

In the shoot-off between James Matheson of Dudswell Association, and F. C. Neil, of East Angus Association, who tied for the President's Cup on the opening day of the shoot, the former won out, and so will possess the cup for the ensuing year. At the annual meeting of the league all the present officers were re-elected for the coming year. Acknowledgment was made of gifts of cartridges from Codere and Fils, and from J. S. Mitchell and Company.

CANADIAN BOY SCOUTS BEST AT JAMBOREE

District Cubmaster C. G. Blake, on Return from Great International Gathering of Boys, Declared Canadians Unequaled—Given Tremendous Ovation on Every Occasion—Spirit of Friendship Between Fifty Nations Wonderful.

"Without doubt the Canadian contingent at the international Boy Scout Jamboree at Arrows Park, near Birkenhead, England, held last month, was the finest in every way in camp," declared District Cubmaster Clarence G. Blake, of Sherbrooke, who returned over the weekend from the greatest assembly of boys ever held in history, in an interview with the Record. "The Canadian boys and their leaders excelled in their scouting practice, their camping and their appearance, and the boys of no nation received such a tremendous ovation on every occasion as we did," he continued. "I fell through out the first week of the Jamboree," Mr. Blake said, "there being hardly a let-up. Yet the Canadians continued their patrol system, used at home, by which each patrol looks after itself in all sorts of things in camp, and were the only group who continued it after the first couple of days of

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What should be the position of the elbows in the drive? Answered by JOCK HUTCHISON Former British Open Champion and Internationally Known Golf Professional.

The position of the elbows differs with the different swings; for example, with a flat swing the left elbow should be pointing straight out and away from you at the top of the swing and the right elbow should be pointing practically to the ground. In addressing the ball, the elbows should be kept fairly straight and close together, and when coming in contact with the ball the elbows should find the same position. In the upright swing the left elbow at the top of the swing is pointing nearly toward the ground, the right pointing down but more away from the body than in the flat swing. This, to my idea, is the perfect golf swing.

continuous rain. The camp was built on clay, and parts of it were in terrible condition after a few days, especially after anywhere up to 100,000 visitors a day had been there. Yet the rain was a true test of the scout spirit, and without exception the boys of all nations acted wonderfully and were unweary all the time. When the camp opened, the Liverpool commissioner of police had quite a large force on duty in the camp in case any international unpleasantness arose; within a few days, however, he was able to withdraw his whole force, leaving only two constables on duty the remainder of the two weeks, and he declared that that was a remarkable tribute to the scouts.

Forty-Eight Nations. "The Canadians were lucky in their camp-site, it being about the best in the park. The camp was so large that the American camp was two miles away from ours, while I saw only forty-four camps in all, missing four altogether. While the Canadians were undoubtedly the finest contingent, I believe the Australians would come second, though the Norwegians were such a close third that it would be difficult to choose between the two. "On the first day of the Jamboree," Mr. Blake continued, "there was a wonderful march past the grand stand, the nations coming alphabetically. The welcome given us was tremendous, equalled by no other part of the parade. So great was the attendance in camp—nearly fifty thousand that though the scouts' all march in twenty-five abreast, it took them two hours to pass. After the first day the Canadians were given first place in the daily march past, we being thus honored because of our smartness, well-appearing uniform and general ability in camp. Features carried out by our boys in the way of entertainment were Indian dances, tumbling, a circus, and a number of scouting items, and all went over well. We gave ten performances at the scout theatre in camp, though only four had been booked, and we refused engagements in Liverpool.

International Friendship. "The friendliness between all nations, which was the greatest point to the Jamboree," said Mr. Blake, "was certainly wonderful, and I never heard two scouts even arguing. We were all one big family. I was invested as a sub-cubmaster of Poland by the Polish Scout, and was also made a scout of France and Hungary, while the Indian contingent entertained me one day.

"Two of the greatest events at the Jamboree were the services held out of doors, one conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the other by Cardinal Bourne, and the presentation of the automobile, trailer and cheque to the Chief Scout, Lord Baden-Powell. The Canadian camp was visited by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Lord Baden-Powell, the Overseas Commissioner of Scouting, Sir Alfred Pickford, the Lord Mayor of Liverpool and Lord Hamden, who was the camp commander. The Robertson of Calgary, presented the prince with a scroll from the Rotary Clubs of Canada, while Scout Bob Gray, the only Red Indian in camp, presented a head dress of a chief to the Chief Scout. During the second week of the Jamboree, when the weather was much better, we visited many of the historic spots and leading industries in the Liverpool district, and saw much of great interest."

Toured Several Countries. Mr. Blake recalled that the Canadian scouts, who numbered nearly two hundred, sailed from Montreal on July 15th on the Antonia, and stopped at Quebec long enough to march up to the citadel to be inspected by the Governor-General. Before landing in Liverpool brief visits were made to Greenock and Belfast. On landing, the boys were met by Sir Alfred Pickford, Lord Hamden and a band, and sent to Arrow Park by bus. Following the conclusion of the Jamboree, the scouts made a tour of England and Scotland, though Mr. Blake left them for several weeks. He went instead to the continent, flying to Paris by air from London. Later he visited Brussels, the field of Waterloo, the battlefields, Antwerp, Middleburg and Ostend, motoring much of the way. He then returned to England and proceeded to Edinburgh, where he spent several days. The beauties of the Scottish War Memorial, which has been termed the most magnificent of all memorials, were indescribable in Mr. Blake's opinion. Following a visit to Glasgow, he rejoined the scouts and sailed from Liverpool on the Letitia. The contingent landed at Montreal on Saturday, being greeted there by Sir Arthur Currie.

"When I used to run messages to the corner store," remarked Jones, "they had no milk bottles—bread was not wrapped—tea didn't come in packages—we got rolled oats in a bag. We have progressed a lot along those lines."

"Yes," said I "and when I first bought Marguerites they were not carefully wrapped in tinfoil as they now are. It's a fine idea protecting Marguerites from breakage and sealing in the aroma and freshness of the tobacco. I find Marguerites better than ever—and that's saying a lot."
