WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1946

PRICE—THREE CENTS

Valuation Roll Complete—Ready For Examination

C. W. Houston, Secretary-Treasurer, City of Westmount, has issued the following statement:

"The Valuation Roll of the City of Westmount has been completed by the Board of Assessors and is now deposited in the office of the Secretary-Treasurer. The Roll is open for examination by all interested parties for the thirty days following its deposit, viz., July 29th, 1946. During the thirty days delay, that is up to and including August 28th, appeals in writing against valuations may be filed with the Secretary-Treasurer. Appeals must state the grounds of complaint and if the valuation is considered to be too high the complainant shall mention what he considers to be a just valuation.

"The Assessors in compiling the Valuation Roll have made a house to house call, and from the information received and from that supplied by owners of apartment houses, they have recorded names of tenants and occupants and the rentals paid.

"This Valuation Roll is the basis for the levying of the 1947 taxes, and on the annual rental value shown, the City of Montreal will charge water taxes for the year commencing May 1st, 1947.

"The religion of proprietors is also recorded. This determines the school panel on which the property will be inscribed for school tax purposes.

"The Municipal Electoral List is prepared from the Roll, as is also the list of Jurors.

"The foregoing indicated the importance of the information recorded and the advisability of having corrections made before homologation, where wrong information may have been supplied. Owners or tenants shown as aliens who may have become naturalized British subjects, should furnish particulars."

Donald Walter At Yawgoog On Interchange

Among the Boy Scouts from the Montreal district association chosen for the annual Canadian-American interchange between Camp Tamaracouta and Camp Yawgoog is Donald Walter, 607 Victoria Avenue. Tamaracouta is the well-known summer home of Scouts of the Montreal Scout Association. Yawgoog is the official camp of the Boy Scouts of America at Providence, R.I.

This annual interchange was started some ten years ago by Claude S. Allen of Webster, Mass., a former Scoutmaster of the Westmount Troop, as it was once known. Under the arrangement, eight Scouts from each of these camps visit the others' home camp for about ten days and then are entertained by local Scout officials. The American Scouts were entertained in Montreal prior to their going "up north" by Dr. G. Guelph Armitage, chairman of the special committee of the Scout Council formed to handle the interchange; and by Sydney E. Webster, president of the Montreal district association, and R. C. Stevenson, O.B.E., chairman of the Dominion executive board of the Boy Scouts Association. On their return from Tamaracouta they will go to Ottawa as the guests of the district association there, then return to Montreal prior to their departure for Providence and home.

Hit By Auto Hailing Tram

Monday afternoon at the corner of Metcalfe Avenue and Sherbrooke Street West a collision occurred involving a man and a street car.

Griffith Marshall, 54, 433 Metcalfe Avenue stated that a friend waved to him from a street car and he ran out to stop the street car and in so doing was hit by an auto. Mr. Marshall said both street car and auto were in motion.

Mr. Marshall suffered a cut left forearm requiring two stitches. He was taken to Western Hospital where Dr. Charles rendered first aid.

Child Escapes With Bruises

John Stinson, 2, 410 Victoria Avenue was slightly injured Monday at 5.10 p.m. near Prince Albert Avenue and Sherbrooke Street West.

According to report made to the police, the young boy was walking with his mother on the South side of Sherbrooke Street and suddenly ran out onto the street and ran into the side of a west bound street car.

The lad was examined on the scene of the accident by Dr. Hughes who stated the lad was alright except for a few bruises but recommended examination by the family doctor.

"Brief Pause For Station . . ." — Explained

A great number of listeners have been intrigued by CBM's station call CBM, Shortwave CBFX and on frequency modulation VE9CB, Montreal, heard every quarter-hour or half-hour. It seems also to leave the question in many minds as to how necessary it is to give it so often.

The answer is simply that according to international agreement it is essential that everyone in Canada or outside the country be able to identify the station to which he is listening, whether it be via A.M., F.M., or shortwave.

This is especially necessary in the case of those who are responsible for the supervision of the use of frequency channels. It permits not only the policing of the airways but also provides a great deal of technical material extremely valuable in the construction of radio transmitters.

MAJOR DUNPHY WEDS

A marriage of interest took place on Tuesday this week in Victoria, B.C., when Major James Stuart Dunphy, R.C.A., (above), took as his bride Miss Elizabeth Richardson. Major Dunphy returned to Canada at Christmas, after six years service overseas.

Weekly Band Concert

The usual weekly band concert will be held Monday night at Westmount Park. The music will be under the direction of Captain Jackson, director of music, at the Royal Montreal Regiment. The concert will start at 8.15 p.m.

Red Cross Emphasizes Huge Task Still Ahead

There are still thousands of brides patiently waiting overseas for the big moment when they will board ship for Canada. Hundreds of war-babies are waiting, too, for the day when they will join their war-veteran daddies in Canada.

This means that the escort service which the Canadian Red Cross supplies for war-service brides is far from finished. There are many more ships due at Halifax this summer and this autumn to disembark the wives and families which Canadian soldiers and sailors and airmen acquired during their fighting days overseas.

Few people — particularly in Canada — realize what the work of escorting these brides from great Britain to Canada, means in terms of physical effort, lost sleep, irregular meals and worry for the Canadian Red Cross girls who devote themselves to this sometimes thankless task.

Take for example the twenty-two hundred war brides and the nine hundred war-babies who came over on the Queen Mary on her latest voyage to Halifax: Three days before the Queen Mary sailed from England Canadian Red Cross Girls were already busy making a hundred arrangements and paying dozens of visits to assembly points. They boarded the ship to arrange special accommodation where it was essential to the health and comfort of the brides and the new mothers and the infants and children who will be stalwart Canadians fifteen years from now.

One of the girls who has crossed several times and will soon make several more trips as a Red Cross escort is Miss Isobel Hulme, of Montreal. She says that now that the war is over the business of taking care of brides and new mothers who are Canada-bound has become a truly tremendous task. There are more of them on each voyage — thousands instead of hundreds of brides. Hundreds instead of dozens of children.

Miss Hulme—to cite her as an

Mrs. Lockhart Coaches 'Sing-Song' Youngsters

The ever popular weekly sing song will be held as usual Wednesday evening at Westmount Park, starting at nine o'clock. Each week the event takes on added stature with a better program being offered to the large crowds attending.

The call is still out for talent, however, and youngsters wishing to appear on the program are asked to come to the Monday morning auditions held at Victoria Hall, starting at 10.30 a.m. Other information for possible candidates may be obtained from Recreation Supervisor Jim McCormick at the office in the greenhouse or by calling him at FI. 1929.

Nurse Victim In Mishap

Wednesday, 1 p.m. at the intersection of Victoria Avenue and Sherbrooke St. West an accident occurred involving a street car and a woman.

Miss Effie Beryl Webster, 30, 621 Victoria Avenue, employed here as a private nurse, according to police reports stepped off the east end of the Safety Zone into the path of a west bound street car.

Constables Noseworthy and Harrison took Miss Webster to the Western Hospital. Doctor Robert rendered first aid to Miss Webster and reported she had suffered a broken femur bone, deep lacerations to the skull, other minor injuries and shock.

Much of the credit for the smart performances put on by the local youngsters in the acts between songs can be given to Mrs. Helen Lockhart, who has been very unselfish in the amount of time given to coaching the youngsters when they appear for their Monday morning auditions. The improvements made upon some of the ambitious boys and girls between their first attempt at singing or dancing and their leaving the hall has been startling in many cases. An accomplished singer herself, Mrs. Lockhart was kind enough to appear on the first two programs this summer and will undoubtedly be back again before the season is over.

Entertainment for the Wednesday past included Marion Lines, singer; Pat Hopkins, singer; Dorothy Leggett, tap and toe dancer; Jean Carruthers, tap dancer; Fred Jones, trumpet solo. Johnnie Walker was back as sing song leader, Winnie Kermath accompanied on the piano-accordion and Dave Schwartz acted as master of ceremonies.

Last week's concert, unfortunately, was cancelled due to the wet weather.

Dramatic Club To Be Organized In Westmount

Efforts to organize a dramatic club in Westmount will be inaugurated Monday night when a meeting will be held for all those interested at the office in the greenhouse. The meeting will get underway at eight o'clock. It is felt that there is plenty of talent in this city that has not been explored and if enough interest is displayed, the organization of the group will begin immediately.

It is not the aim at this inaugural meeting to select persons to play roles in forthcoming plays or anything like that but all those interested in the subject are asked to attend, especially those with experience in scenery work, administration, costume work and so on.

Mrs. G. A. Ferguson, the originator of the idea, is an assistant director with the famous

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK ON ATWATER CORNER

A three story store and office building has been planned for the south-west corner of St. Catherine Street West and Atwater Avenue. It is expected that the building will be completed late in 1947.

The Building, designed by Colin H. Copeman, O.B.E., architect, will be a modern, fire-proof structure with stores on the ground floor and offices on the two upper stories. The Royal Trust Company has been appointed rental agents.

Scouts & Cubs

BY REC. GROOME

The third and final period of Tamaracouta for the 1946 season is now under way and in a little over a week from now, the camp will close down until next summer. Six bus loads of roaring, rollicking, boisterous, healthy and happy lads arrived back in Montreal Saturday after a long wait for the buses which were late.

Among those arriving back in town were the boys of Shaar Hashomayim Troop, the only Westmount Troop in camp for the 2nd period. We hope to obtain a list of badges and tests passed by them for next week.

Calvary Troop are the only boys in camp for the last period from Westmount Area and we will have more news of them next week.

Ian Roberts, Assistant Scoutmaster of 2nd Westmount Troop, has been doing a grand job of making the eight American Scouts here on the annual International Exchange right at home. He took them on a tour of Montreal and is now in charge of them at Tamaracouta where they are staying at Fort Churchill.

The eight Canadian Scouts involved in the exchange are at present at Camp Yawgoog, R.I., there they will stay for two weeks. Included in the group is Donald Walter of 2nd Westmount Troop. We hope when Don returns he will tell us of his experiences.

The Gilwell Training Course for Scouters started at camp Saturday last and will conclude this Saturday. E. Russel Paterson, Scoutmaster in charge of the course, which operates as a unit separate from the camp as a whole, informs us there are 21 Scouters taking this Training course, the largest number in many years. Assisting Mr. Paterson as Assistant Scoutmasters are Messrs. F. G. Hicks and T. D. Archibald.

Mr. Archibald is a well known Westmount resident and very well known in Sea Scouting circles locally. He is connected with the Sea Scouts Committee and with the Royal St. Lawrence Sea Scouts.

Well, Tamaracouta is enjoying, or has just about completed enjoying, the most successful season in her long history. The average attendance to date for the past several years has hovered around the 250 mark. This year, this was shattered after the first two periods of camp were over. In the first period, a full camp of 500 was accommodated and an equally staggering number of 489 in the second period. For the third and last period, the attendance is approximately 265, including the staff.

Thus, the first post-war season will see an average increase in attendance of about 300 boys, which is very satisfactory. Scouting is expanding on all front and the forthcoming year should see a marked increase in the numbers in Scouting.

Jim Thomson, the Marksman Instructor at Tamaracouta, is still enjoying the best of health. Jim is one of the few in camp who wears a kilt and should you dare to stop him when he is in a hurry to get somewhere, he stops with a very arrogant swish of his kilt and fixes you with such a fierce glare that you are sure he is picturing you as a target to shoot at. Consequently you vacate the spot you are standing on pronto.

Malcolm Robertson of St. Leo's Troop, who stayed over after his troop went home at the conclusion of the 1st period, passed several badges during his stay at camp. Among them are: Handyman, Rescuer, Swimmer, Athlete, Artist, Camp Cook and Healthymen. Nice going, Malcolm? Well, more news of camp next week.

Apologies to Scouters and Scouts of St. Leo's Scout Troop for the following errors recently in this column of which we were notified by one of our subscribers. Assistant Scoutmaster Terry Rogers was in charge of St. Leo's from June 20th to July 13th, which dates include the advance party who prepared the camp-site for the boys.

In our badge list, we omitted the name of Tommy Rogers who passed Swimmer Badge, and 1st Class Estimations, Mapping and Tree-felling. By the way, this was ASM Rogers' eighth season at Tamaracouta. Sincere thanks go to our informant for his information.

Red Feather Local Review

A Column For The Socially Conscious West End Citizen

The changing labor market, with many job-hunters boasting skills acquired in war industry or in uniform, is making the rehabilitation of discharged prisoners increasingly difficult, says John Kidman, executive secretary of the Prisoners' Aid and Welfare Association of Montreal, one of the Red Feather Services of Welfare Federation. It has produced the situation that while less aid has been given, the expenditures of the association are higher.

The rising costs or relief, which have affected the work of other Family Welfare agencies in Federation, also have struck at the Prisoners' Aid Association. Where once it was possible to board a discharged prisoner for $3, now the cost is $5 or $6. The association will sustain certain job-hunting ex-prisoners in this way for brief periods.

Aid to women offers an added problem. These discharged prisoners cannot be treated in the same way as men. It is not possible to send them to shelters, and the cheaper rooming houses are located in districts where they would become targets of the same vice that landed them in jail originally. Thus, to insure rehabilitation, it is necessary to send them to rooming houses in better-class districts, but at a higher cost.

The income tax on low wages also hinders the rehabilitation of discharged prisoners, Mr. Kidman believes. Most of these people have to work at very low wages. After they pay board and room rent, and income tax deductions, there is very little margin for clothing and other necessities.

The typical discharged prisoner from a Canadian penitentiary usually comes from a broken or otherwise unsatisfactory home. He has very little money, if any at all. He is probably not of full normal intelligence, and in school never got beyond the sixth grade.

J. Alex Edmison, executive secretary of the Prisoners' Rehabilitation Society of Ontario, writing on "The Problem of Prison After-care," in the Municipal Review of Canada, says the average Canadian ex-prisoner is "magnificently unprepared for life," and in addition there is abundant evidence that his period of incarceration has not improved him. On the contrary, he may well have learned tricks from old prisoners. Hence by any social standard, the average person emerging from a Canadian penal institution is not adequately equipped to cope with the vicissitudes of freedom.

The eight Montreal Boy Scouts who will serve as youthful ambassadors to the United States in exchange for eight American Scouts are shown just before they boarded the Red Wing at Windsor Station Thursday for a 10-day visit to an American Scout camp near Providence, R.I., and a three-day stay at New York City. Left to right they are: Wayne R. Curtis, Marvin Sheppard, Albert Dormer, James Lindsay, in charge of the party, Ross F. Neale, Donald Walter, James E. Coke and Melville D. Golt. Eight members of the Boy Scouts of America from Camp Yawgoog, R.I., arrived here in time to wish them good luck. The American boys will spend 10 days at Camp Tamaracouta, near Morin Heights.

Many Westmount residents have taken an active interest in the work of the association. Honorary vice-presidents are: Allan L. Smith, Upper Lansdowne Avenue; Rev. Arthur French, Tupper Street; Dr. Milton L. Hersey, Rosemount Avenue, and Rev. Dr. H. Abramowitz Argyle Avenue. Lionel Coviensky of Olivier Avenue is a director of the association.

PLAYGROUND SUPERVISION

Miss E. Turner Bone of Argyle Avenue is a play leader at one of the summer playgrounds of the Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Association, one of the Red Feather services of Welfare Federation. She is working at the Dixie playground at Lachine.

CARE FOR THE AGED

The Family Welfare Association, another Red Feather Service of Welfare Federation, has among its many tasks, the care of aged people who are unable to help themselves. Miss James is 76. She is an Old Age Pensioner, and belongs to a religious denomination that has no institution for the care of its old people.

Miss James needs institutional care, as she has a serious cardiac condition that makes living alone in a room impossible. Family Welfare Association has placed her in a private nursing home, and supplements her pension to the extent of $20 a month to insure that she may have all the care necessary.

NEWS BACKGROUND

Former Hollywood press agents and one-time newspapermen, producers Bill Pine and Bill Thomas are producing the "Big Town" series for Paramount. Newest in the series is "I Cover Big Town."

Better Breakfasts

Nothing is as important to start a day right as a good breakfast, say health leaders. In a reminder of this fact, the Department of National Health and Welfare says "Take time to live sensibly. Get a decent breakfast before plunging into the day's work or play. This is particularly important for growing children, who must have a substantial, well-balanced meal if they are to thrive."

PUTTING

Don Reid captured the putting tournament held at King George on Tuesday night when he carded a 90 and this with his one stroke handicap gave him a net 89 to beat out his nearest rival by four strokes. Dave Wilks was the runner-up with a 93.

Another putting tournament will be held at King George Park this Tuesday starting at 7.30 o'clock.

No tournament was held at Westmount Park last Friday night but the regular weekly event will be staged tonight starting at seven o'clock.

Percy Minto won the match play event at Westmount Park when he downed Ken Barnard by one hole in the 36 hole final event. The eventual winner copped the 35th hole to win the event.

A Mr. and Mrs. tournament will start sometime this week as will a sealed hole event.

Laundries of the United States did a record-breaking $634,000,000 business during 1945.

Rotarians Space-Travel On Factual 'Word-Cruise'

Rotarians who last week were taken on a 14,500 mile world 'cruise' of Canada and United States found themselves this week on an even longer world 'cruise' when Dean H. Hall, of Sir George Williams College, guest speaker, took them along the measureless airways to remote stars.

Dean Hall, speaking on the subject, "Stars", opened his remarks by saying that he had had some difficulty in choosing which 'stars' he would speak about, because there is so much good material to be had regarding 'Movie Stars' but circumstances forced him to speak on the celestial stars.

"Stars have always been of great interest to people", Mr. Hall said, "but primitive people knew more about stars' position and movements, etc., than modern people do."

Both stars and planets are visible to the naked eye and well

LONDON LETTERS

Letters from Rotarians F. J. Sanguine, Popular Club, and E. H. Palmer-Jones, Bermondsey Club, both of London, England; were read at the Weekly Luncheon of the Rotary Club of Westmount, Wednesday.

These letters recall the pleasant occasion when these men together with D. A. Gates, also of London, England, were guests of the Westmount Rotary Club, June 12th, being brought directly from the landing pier to the Luncheon.

Mr. Sanguine states in his letter that he arrived in London aboard the SS. "Queen Mary" July 15th, and his letter reads in part:

"We shall always retain many pleasant memories of our visit and the part you and the people of Westmount played in entertaining us. Our one regret was that we could not spend more time in the Montreal area."

are sometimes inclined to think they are about the same size but actually planets are very small and insignificant compared with stars, Mr. Hall maintained. "Stars vary in colour, even when viewed without the aid of a telescope," Dean Hall continued, "and run all the way from blue white, through

UNDERGOES ANNUAL CLEANING

The regular staff of Victoria Hall have commenced the annual cleaning, painting, re-decorating, repairing and general renovation to the interior of Westmount's busy Victoria Hall. This annual cleaning takes place during the Hall's slack season and lasts for several weeks, as this is also the season when the staff are taking their holidays. The work is expected to be finished by early September, in time for the many and varied programmes which are presented in the spacious lounges and concert halls.

Want To Locate Blind Children

It is very desirable that all blind and partially blind children should be educated if they are capable of receiving instruction. The School of the Montreal Association for the Blind is well equipped for the education and training of blind and partially blind children, and if any readers of the Examiner should learn of an English-speaking child who is absenting himself or herself from school on account of impaired eyesight, the Montreal Association for the Blind shall appreciate having the child's name and address sent to the Institution.

In addition, there is a sight-saving class where children with slightly impaired eyesight are given instruction by means of large type.

Extensive grounds are attached to the School, with suitable apparatus for recreation. The Association will be deeply grateful for co-operation in the work of locating these handicapped children.

ARE YOU GOOD AT SPELLING?

A famous sentence, calculated to trip the best spellers is: "It is agreeable to view the unparalleled embarrassment of a harassed peddler or saddler sitting on a cemetery wall gauging the symmetry of a skilfully peeled potato." If you miss fewer than six of these words, you're not a moron.

A teachers' association rates these words the ugliest in the English language: Phlegmatic, crunch, flatulent, cacophony, plutocrat, treachery, sap, jazz, gripe and plump. Seems like a poor choice to us.

GET THAT JOB DONE NOW

If you have a hard, difficult, ugly job to do, get it done. Some people are never really happy and carefree, because they postpone tackling the hard jobs, hoping that they will take care of themselves.

We know about the old man who said he had had many troubles, most of which never happened. We don't exactly know what he had in mind. Most troubles have a way of compounding. They may settle themselves, but not favorably to the man who ignores them.

THE SHORTAGE OF NURSES

Just at a time, when more hospital accommodation is urgently needed, some of our hospitals have to close down part of their facilities for lack of nurses. Furthermore, the number of girls entering the profession is declining, so that there seems to be little prospect of improvement in the future.

What is the reason for the decline in the number of nurses available? Perhaps it is because the conditions of training are too rigorous. A girl entering training school looks forward to three years of study and work with little or no remuneration, and indeed in some hospitals she has to make a substantial deposit before beginning training, which is returned only if she completes the course. Both work and study are unusually difficult in this profession, and many girls do not complete the course.

It appears that with the tendency toward fewer candidates, some revision will eventually have to be made in the conditions of training. This training is in effect an apprenticeship, and in nearly all other lines apprentices are not only given the opportunity of study and practical training, but are paid reasonable wages while learning. This will eventually have to be done in nursing as well if we are to have an adequate number of girls entering the profession.

FALLACY OF COMPOUND INTEREST

An insurance agency in New York, each month, sends me a fine blotter on which my name is neatly printed and under it appears a cryptic statement that is supposed to make me think about the wonders of life insurance, writes William Feather.

This month's blotter presents the following, the italics appearing in red:

$24,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.

A Roman Child's Bank Balance Today.

1900 years ago she deposited one penny at 3% compound interest.

In that simple statement philosophically considered, you have all you need to know of the basic reason why the world finds itself in such a dreadful mess today.

The truth is that the world simply cannot afford to pay compound interest. It can pay it to a few for a limited time, but it cannot pay compound interest to a single person for an unlimited time on the tiniest bit of capital.

Interest, compounded limitlessly, would enslave not only the world but the universe.

Hence panics, depressions, inflation, liquidation war, starvation, gold standard, managed currency and all the other economic ills that beset mankind.

I don't propose to attack thrift, savings, insurance, trusts, and other methods of self help, but the rights of the many must always dominate the rights of the few. The Roman child who put aside a penny 1900 years ago can't be paid in full and won't be paid in full. And until we get this through our heads we'll have periodic financial crises.

me to turn in, so I'll close up this letter. Best of luck,
Your friend,

Tom Earle.

NOTE FROM NOMININGUE

From Camp Nominieue counsellor Claudius Milton Root writes:

Dear Mastermind,

As I sit here staring at the bare, clapboard walls, four of which equal what is known as the counsellor's cabin, I am driving to express my attitude towards writing the night I wrote you last. (Ed's Note: You figure it out—I can't.) As you may have guessed, I just wanted to honor you with my salutations, but realized that I must come through with some column-filling material. Being in a very downcast mood, I could write of nothing but my present occupation which consists wholly of Camp Nominieue. I read your return letter to Jake Dickins, my assistant, and judging by your attitude in comparison of the two letters, I translated it into a challenge. Therefore, I am attempting to work myself into a mood — unsuccessfully. I will save paper by once again offering my greetings. Please issue same to all fans present. Do not refer to my Yours for better attempts, domain as sun-scorched.

Claude.

P.S.—Because I write you does not necessarily mean you have to gild your column with such masterpieces as displayed above. Some day I'll sit down and give you something good to print. Of course, I don't doubt that this attempt will go over with all fans.

Red Cross

Red Cross in this respect is superb. Practically none of the mothers and children escape the vigilance of the doctors and the Red Cross girls as they conduct their inspection to make sure that all the passengers start the voyage in good health and reach Canada in the same condition. But, of course, sea-sickness is one thing that it's practically impossible to control. Mother and children alike frequently get seasick when the liner begins to roll in a heavy sea, and this adds to the trials and tribulations of the Red Cross girls—for they themselves cannot afford to get sick. There's so much work to be done.

Incidentally, for all this work the Canadian Red Cross girls draw no pay whatever. Their expenses and the cost of the materials they must use are defrayed by your subscriptions to the Red Cross. The girls give their time and their knowledge and their enthusiasm free. They even pay for the uniforms they wear.

Westmount Highlights

By GEORGE COCHRANE

The mailbag contained two very interesting letters this week, mates. From England, large Thomas Earle, the man who made such a hit with his English accenting in the Purple and White Revue '46, and who'll be returning here in the fall to enter either the business or radio world, writes:

Dear Bud,

Just thought I'd drop you a line before we reach London some time tomorrow, where I will mail this to you. As I write we are approaching the White Cliffs of Dover (there'll be bluebirds over, etc.), and by tomorrow should be close to them.

The trip across was a very interesting one and, fortunately, I remained okay in that I didn't get sea-sickness which, when it occurs, I am told is rather grim.

The second mate, a chap from Wales (a part of England, I once read), gave me the name of a town in that country called Llan-fairpwllgwynyllgogerycherdrob-wlllan dyllogogogoch. It means "the village church of St. Mary stands in a hollow of white hazel near the rapid whirlpool of St. Tyssillos church in the neighbourhood of the red cane." To which word our mutual friend, Mr. Veronko would reply, "Chees, Tom, what a word!"

You might tell my English loving chums in Canada that I smoke "Senior Service Cigarettes" in tins of 50, with the motto stamped on the label reading, "Made by the Mastermind."

Well, Bud, I guess it's time for

SUCCESS DEFINED
Success is a very extraordinary word as it portrays such a vast array of meanings. To explain the word a person would naturally choose the meaning that appealed to him and "success in music" as you will see has many definitions. Each person's idea of success is different. We have discussed this topic with various people lately and found that opinions on the subject were as contrasting as black and white. Most of them thought there are two kinds of success, these being "financial" and "artistic".

Formerly "artistic" success was the goal aimed at by most musicians but today many people will agree that monetary gains seem to be paramount. Perhaps this is due in no small measure to the economic situation of the times. But to get back to the other definitions of "success". What a fascinating word it is! Of course to make a success of anything one must stick at it and music is a profession (like many others) which does not bear fruit in a short time. It takes patience, hard work, talent and ability. Success means to succeed and to succeed means to prosper but don't you agree with us that the greatest success is to accomplish one's wish? To set a goal and reach it, that is an achievement which brings happiness. Winning recognition in the public eye and held in esteem are other definitions of success in music and reaping the benefits of years of continuous work would be tops to many.

Being critical about one's work will bring about success in quicker measure and if one's heart is truly in the chosen career of music, he does not only think of "success". It arrives of its own accord. If one is happy in his work and progresses gradually success is the ultimate result. Quality counts and nothing can be successful in the artistic sense if the work is not of the very best. But the word "success" has many meanings and each person chooses his own. "The Encore". Yes or No?

C.C.F. On Record For Distinctive National Flag

Roger Provost, Provincial Organizer, and Gerard Rancourt, Organizing Secretary of the C.C.F. Quebec Section have issued the following statement on the National Flag issue:—

"In view of the debate now going on in the House of Commons with respect to the proposed National flag, the Quebec Section of the C.C.F. wishes to re-affirm its policy on this issue."

"The Quebec C.C.F. insists on an essentially Canadian flag. It must not carry any implications of colonialism, nor must it be the emblem of a long dead monarchy of which our ancestors had no reasons to be proud. We want a flag that will express the unity of our country; not one that will constantly remind us that we were once British or French colonial subjects."

"Wherever it flies our flag must carry in its folds the spirit of a free Commonwealth where all races can live in unity, conscious of the role they must play in the economic and political world."

Talkies Due To Bell Telephone

Celebration of the 20th anniversary of talking pictures in August recalls that the first sound movies were the direct result of research by scientists in Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Canada's first all-sound program was presented in Montreal on September 1, 1928. "Don Juan," with fully-synchronized musical score opened in New York on August 6, 1928, marking the first screening of talkies anywhere in the world.

To improve telephony the Bell Laboratories developed a means of making electrical recordings with which to test instruments used in long distance calling. This resulted in the orthophonic or electrical method of recording. Then came the condenser microphone,

Westmount Baptist

The visiting minister, preaching at Westmount Baptist Church, Sunday, will be Rev. Dr. John B. McLaurin, General Secretary of the Canadian Baptist Missions Board, who is always a most welcome visitor to Montreal. He will preach at both services, speaking at 11 a.m. on "Miracles", and at 7.30 p.m. on "His Unchanging Words". The regular monthly observance of The Lord's Supper will follow the morning service.

According to its custom, the Westmount Church is maintaining its services without intermission throughout the holiday season. It is considered that the times constitute a challenge and a call to earnest men and women to engagement in public worship and intercession. On August 11th, Major Gordon will again serve, followed successively by Dr. Frank L. Orchard and Dr. McLaurin who will make a second visit on August 25th. Dr. Johnson resumes on Labour Day Sunday.

The midweek fellowship service is held regularly each Wednesday evening.

vacuum tubes and eventually the public address system.

In the early 1920's all essentials for producing sound motion pictures were available. An exhibition of the first electrically recorded talking machine was made at Yale University on October 27, 1922. A transcribed lecture explained the equipment. The speaker's voice came from the screen with such fidelity and synchronized timing that some witnesses suspected a hoax. Less than four year later, talking pictures were introduced by Warner Bros.

The Lord's Prayer

On Earth As In Heaven

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

The first three clauses of the Lord's Prayer are linked by the phrase "on earth as it is in heaven." The prayer really is "May Thy Name be hallowed on earth as it is in heaven; may Thy Kingdom come on earth as it is in heaven; may Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

So we turn our minds to heaven and think how God's Name is revered. We call to mind Isaiah's vision, how he saw the Lord in the Temple, and how the angels sang before him: "Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of Hosts". And we turn to St. John's vision of the four beasts which rest not day and night saying: "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come"; and the four and twenty elders carry on the worship, saying: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power; for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created". And we get some faint idea of the hallowing of God's Name in heaven.

We can realize too what God's rule is in heaven: "The Lord reigneth; let the people tremble; he sitteth between the cherubims; let the earth be moved". There is no question of disobedience in heaven. Yet the obedience is not forced; there is always a glad obedience to God's rule, as "When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy". There will be a gladness when God's rule is fully established. There is now a gladness in the hearts of men when they realize that God rules in their lives. St. Paul could say in person: "Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice".

Again the angels teach us about the doing of God's will.

The angels are represented as each having six wings. With one pair they cover their faces in reverence; with one pair they cover their feet in modesty; with one pair they fly doing God's will continually. God's will is done because the angels are always and without question attuned to that will. So will it be on earth when we learn to forget ourselves and put ourselves in God's hands, His servants ready to do His Will.

EVANS - MacKINNON

The marriage of Anna, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. W. J. MacKinnon, of Montreal, formerly of Lochiel, Ontario, to Mr. Roland Percy Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Evans, of Smith's Falls, Ontario, took place on Saturday, July 27, at five o'clock in St. Luke's United Church, N.D.G., the Rev. W. B. Barnes, uncle of the bride, officiating. Mr. K. Cunningham presided at the organ while Miss Evelyn Fergus of Toronto, sang "The Lord's Prayer" followed by "Through The Years" during the signing of the register.

The church was artistically decorated with pink gladioli, larkspur, and babies' breath in tall white standards.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Hugh MacKinnon, the bride was attired in a street length gown of powder blue crepe and hat to match. The only ornament worn was a pearl necklace. She carried a cascade bouquet of Talisman roses and babies' breath with white satin streamers caught with lover's knots; and was attended by her sister, Miss Marjorie MacKinnon, who wore a dusty rose frock and matching hat, and carried Johanna Hill roses and cornflowers.

Mr. Douglas C. Evans, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. William Cook, of Smith's Falls, and Mr. John A. MacDonald, of Montreal.

Mrs. MacKinnon, mother of the bride, wore a two-piece, street length dress of turquoise blue crepe trimmed with lace. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Evans, mother of the groom, wore a blue floral crepe dress and a corsage of pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Curtis, of Walkley Avenue, N.D.G. The bride's table was covered with a hand embroidered grass-linen table cloth centered with the wedding cake and tall white tapers.

Going away the bride was attired in an American Beauty wool crepe suit with black accessories and wore a corsage of white gardenias. The honeymoon will be spent in Winnipeg and other western points.

The couple will reside in Smith's Falls.

A number of out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Percy Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Catchpole, of Smith's Falls; Mrs. A. Franklin, sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. McGillivray and Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd of Alexandria, Ont.

HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS ARE STILL NEEDED

City Hospitals are still in urgent need of volunteers. If you can spare even one morning each week, the Women's Voluntary Services ask you to consider the following opportunity for service: the Medical Social Service Department of the Royal Victoria Hospital needs typists, and a receptionist to make appointments for clinic patients. The Homoeopathic Hospital needs volunteers who are willing to do small duties assisting the ward nurse. Full information with regard to the work at both hospitals can be obtained by calling WVS, MA. 3541.

Hints On Fashions

Pedal-pushers have become standard wear at resorts and in the country and some designs have new little touches to make them distinctive. For instance, this pair of cuffed pedal pushers made of navy flannel have a separate corselette belt with a white string lacing. Worn with them is a striped jersey blouse in yellow and navy, with winged sleeves and a melon neck, a nice contrast to the straight, boyish pants.

W. V. S. Need More Permanent Sponsors For Personal Parcels

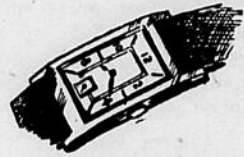

The Women's Voluntary Services report that a few of their British Personal Parcel families were placed on a temporary basis. This was done in order that every one of the 563 families would receive a parcel promptly. Between 15 and 20 families still await a permanent sponsor, some one who will take a personal interest, and who will for the next five months forward a parcel each month.

Letters received from England are cheerful and courageous, say W.V.S. but every second word is one of gratitude and thanks. Here is an excerpt from one at random: "Mother is very independent and insists on living alone, but she cannot move about easily, and so cannot supplement her rations by outside meals as we do". You will remember that the British Government set up 'British Restaurants' primarily to supplement home rations. It takes little imagination to realize that many people, especially the aged, find it impossible to take advantage of this plan. They have passed through great tribulations, and today they need your help.

If you can help, telephone MA. 3541, or pay a visit to WVS, Room 150, Sun Life Building.

New Evening Fashions in France Show a Wide Variety of Styles

Nothing is more romantic, more musical than the rustle of skirts, full and sweeping. They recapture the spirit of days of spacious ballrooms and graceful dances.

Jacques Fath, who is partial to exaggeration, gives a great show in his Paris collection to the crinolinelike gowns. Against the airy-fairness of the skirts, many of the bodices are distinctly businesslike — high necked, square shouldered, with long tight sleeves.

Bold color contrast gives these fluffy creations sophistication: one gown has a broad red and white horizontal striped bodice, tightly fitting to the hip bones. The billowing white net skirt has a spray of huge net flowers trailing down the left side.

For instance there is a Fath design comprising a black velvet bodice, voluminous skirt of deep green taffeta with a hem of black lace. There is a trend, not towards a defined higher waistline exactly, but towards heightening the waist-band from the natural waistline to just below the bust.

In the creation mentioned above, the waist-band is attached to the skirt and forms a roll just below the bust. Brilliant green taffeta winds around the band, like outsize oversewing, which diminishes in height as it encircles the waist and tapers to a natural waistline at the back where a huge bow of the same brilliant green fans out to form a bustle.

The peg-top style hinted at in day dresses comes boldly out for evening wear. The hobble skirt, with all its arresting features and almost crippling effect on its wearer's movements, appears again without modification.

In trying to follow the general trend of evening wear, one finds oneself lost in a maze of conflicting designers' inspirations. Necklines vary from demure high-necked bodices to numerous versions of off-the-shoulder tops and strapless décolleté gowns. Length is determined by the style of gown—voluminous skirts sweep to the ground, hobbles and peg-tops show the ankles. And there is also another silhouette which, although not so exciting as those already described, has a skirtline well worth noting. This is the sheathlike gown with small train at the back and skirt so slim and clinging that it has to have a knee-high slit.

To make up for the lost years, the Paris couturiers have invested their evening designs with glamour to the nth degree.

Price Control And Rationing

This column is conducted under the supervision of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the Wartime Prices & Trade Board. All enquiries should be addressed to Room 910, Aldred Bldg., Montreal, Quebec.

Q.—When will the new ration book be distributed? I will be away from my home from August 15 until September 30, and would like to make arrangements to get mine before I leave.

A.—You will not be able to make such arrangements... the No. 6 ration book will be distributed between September 9 and 13, and you will be able to get yours at the nearest distribution centre to wherever you happen to be at that time. Be sure to apply for your book during that week... latecomers will not be able to obtain one until the end of September, which means they will lose two weeks' ration coupons.

Q.—I am planning to open a tourist home and would like to know how to obtain rations to serve meals?

A.—First you apply at the nearest Prices Board office and obtain a permit... there is no charge for this. Next call at the Ration Office and find out whether you are entitled to extra rations... they will give you all details.

Q.—Last summer we spent our holidays at a summer cabin. When we applied again this year we were advised that the rent would be four dollars more a week. Is this allowed?

A.—Certainly not... summer accommodation comes under the Rentals regulations the same as any other type of living accommodation. Owners are not allowed to increase the rent unless they have secured permission from the Rentals Administration. If they have obtained permission to make an increase a card should be in your hotel room or cabin stating the approved price for the space.

Q.—How much butter should we get each week? I noticed we were to receive an increase, but my grocer still gives me half a pound for each coupon.

A.—On June 6th, the butter ration was raised to the old rate of six ounces per week. The ration was cut by postponing the valid dates for coupons, but there has never actually been a change in the amount of butter received for each coupon, and your grocer is quite right when he gives you half a pound.

Don't paint one room in colors which clash with the room it opens into. An effective way to harmonize adjoining rooms is to use a reverse color scheme. For example, the living room walls in French gray with the ceiling in oyster white; dining room walls in oyster white and ceiling French gray.

Enjoy Your Baby

Mary S. Stover

"Our next-door neighbor says she never before knew a woman who enjoyed her baby as much as I do mine," remarked a friend, cuddling the little one against her neck. "Why shouldn't I enjoy this precious child?"

Why indeed? This happy mother had the wisdom to appreciate the bliss to be found in the companionship of her own child. Really, you know, babies are most adorable persons; and surely the brief infancy of one's own child deserves to be appreciated.

Kittens and most other young creatures are fun to watch, but human babies are the greatest fun of all. Almost from the first, they are conscious partners in the fun, too. Somebody who must have been thinking of this partnership in enjoyment has said that there is no other plaything as delightful as a baby.

He could not, I am sure, have intended to suggest that a child should be a mere toy for an adult. Children treated in that way are most unfortunate. It is very different when a person, showing respect for a little one's personality and well-being, amuses the baby with a reasonable amount of play.

It is possible for us to serve as satisfactory playmates for our children, but, in order that they may get the fullest possible benefit, we should let them reawaken the spirit of spontaneous play in us.

A five-year-old in our family watched her baby brother as he sat rapturously agaze before a riot of dooryard morning-glories. "I wish I could have Billy's picture right now," she whispered softly. This was a quite natural remark, young as she was, for in her home a camera was part of the everyday equipment. The surprising part came a moment later. As if by sudden illumination, she added, "I have his picture."

The startled grownup looked at smiling Mary Ann and saw that she spoke the truth. And what a picture had been retained of both of those dear children!

Films may be lacking, but one can 'catch' and keep many a characteristic mental photograph that will be a joy to cherish. Each will be the more vivid and precious later on if well appreciated now.

We should respect each child's individuality and the right to long periods of quiet in which to develop strength of mind, nerves, and general physique, but also we should not neglect to play with these dear, ever-surprising little creatures while we have the opportunity — babyhood is short. Let us frankly enjoy our babies and let them enjoy us. That will be good for everyone. It means growing in the understanding of each other, day by day. Life for the adult will thus take on continual new zest, joy, and youthfulness, for babies are great adventures in good times. They find fresh thrills in the most common experiences and help us to feel anew the glamour of life with them. If you have one, do enjoy your baby—now.

Be on the lookout for the new paper made in five gay patterns. It comes in ready cut sheets just the right size for a sandwich. Fine for children's lunch-boxes, for special picnics—even as placemats, tray covers or table protectors.

Chemical Kits

Parents today are encouraging their children in chemical experiments, especially since they have been assured that the gift sets do not contain harmful ingredients and that the instruction books which come with the sets do not list experiments which might blow out a wall of the house or remove the roof. Druggists according to its CIL Oval, are co-operating to make the chemical hobby a safe one.

Instruction books show a variety of experiments, ranging from educational subjects to pure entertainment, with many a "magic" number included. The books are well illustrated with drawings of apparatus set up for specific experiments.

Young Canadians with a flair for chemistry now have opportunity a-plenty to try experiments they have watched in school, or have read about in the many books on the subject. Chemistry kits are giving boys and girls a chance to learn the elementary facts of the science in a safe and interesting manner.

Lily Djanel With Raoul Jobin Star In Carmen Presentation

One of the most interesting casts to sing Carmen in Montreal, has been engaged by the Montreal Festivals for the performance to be given at the Molson Stadium on Wednesday evening, August 7, as the second of the Grand Operas by Starlight following the highly successful production of La Boheme on July 10. Raoul Jobin and Lily Djanel will be starred and Emil Cooper will be the musical director.

The role of Don Jose is recognized as one of Mr. Jobin's most successful, one which he has sung many times at the Metropolitan as well as at the Paris Opera and the Opera Comique of which he was leading tenor before the war. His appearance here as Don Jose will coincide with the release by a major recording company of a set of excerpts from Carmen in which Mr. Jobin sings Don Jose opposite the Carmen of Rise Stevens.

Miss Djanel is critically recognized, it is said, as one of the great Carmens of modern times. It was her debut opera both in Europe and America and she has sung the role with the Metropolitan both in New York and on tour no less than 35 times since her debut with the company four years ago. Previous to that she was known as the leading Carmen of the Paris Opera and Opera Comique.

The role of Escamillo the Toreador is to be taken by Hugh Thompson, one of the best of the younger baritones of the Metropolitan. Tall, handsome Mr. Thompson is the son of the late Oscar Thompson, noted critic and musicologist, and won his way into the Metropolitan through the celebrated Auditions of the Air.

Keen interest is being taken in the exponent of the part of Micaela which is to be sung by Therese Drouin, who in private life is Mrs. Raoul Jobin. This will be Mrs. Jobin's first appear-

FAMOUS WESTERN STORY! Barbara Britton and Joel McCrea are seen above as they appear in the Technicolor film version of Owen Wister's famous story, "The Virginian." This new Technicolor film starts at the Seville United Theatre on Saturday, playing until Tuesday night, and features Sonny Tufts and Brian Donlevy, in addition to Miss Britton and Joe McCrea.

Exciting Film Triangle Is Fashioned From Best-Seller

"Whistle Stop" a swiftly-paced and dramatic story of love in a small town is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre, until Friday night.

It is a story of love and hatred that finally bursts into violent catastrophe and triumph. Kenny Veech and Mary, played by George Raft and Ava Gardner, are a man and a woman in love but at cross purposes. Lew Lentz, portrayed by Tom Conway, is a wealthy night-club owner, hopelessly in love with Mary and dangerously resentful of playing second fiddle to Kenny, the town ne'er do well.

Two years before the story opens, Mary and Kenny had fought. Kenny had refused to get out of the poolrooms and into a job. In despair, Mary had shaken the dust of Ashbury from her feet and had gone to Chicago.

But two years and a mink coat are not enough to make her forget Kenny, so she returns to Ashbury. To her intense disappointment she finds him unchanged. She and Ken and Lew pick up their roles just as if she had never gone away. Just as before her Chicago interlude, Mary dates Lew and makes love to Kenny, and the old hatred between the two men, which had never smoked out, flares up more violently than ever before. The flames are fanned higher and higher by Gitlo, played by Victor McLagen, who is Lew's bartender. A shady and disolute character. Lew holds him in check under the threat of revealing his dubious past to the police.

Angrily rebellious against the pressure of Lew's thumb, Gitlo is goaded to murderous fury. A friend of Kenny's, he induces him to help rob and "rub out" the wealthy nightclub owner.

The yearly carnival is due to set up its tents outside the town. The concessions all pay rent to Lew, which adds up to a sizable sum. Gitlo plans to catch his boss the night he makes his rent collection. Only too eager to see his rival liquidated, Kenny is nevertheless appalled. However, he passively allows Gitlo to make preparations. Mary's suspicions are aroused, but she denies to herself that there is anything to worry about.

On the fateful night, Kenny's indecision trips them up and the plot goes awry. The now open and ruthless warfare explodes into terror and violence. Kenny awakes one morning to find himself a fugitive from justice, although he has done nothing wrong.

Mary suddenly realizes that her own role in the drama is not as spotless as it might have been. She sets herself to clear Kenny. And the end of the siege of frustration and horror finds them together.

The screen role of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt has been given veteran stage actor Godfrey Tearle. The actor's physical resemblance to Roosevelt is remarkable. He has the same wide forehead, furrowed brow and thinning hair. This photo of Tearle is without make-up.

EXCITING MYSTERY! Alan Ladd and Veronica Lake are co-starred with William Bendix in "The Blue Dahlia," which starts at the Westmount United Theatre on Sunday, playing for one week. Also in the cast are Howard DaSilva, Doris Dowling and Frank Faylen, all of whom scored in "The Lost Weekend."

Nights", they will have to back-track now. Even Fairbanks at his doughtiest would have trouble with Wilde as a fencer, and the latter's romancing with Anita Louise is as tender and passionate as any gallant of the past.

Anita Louise, of course, always seems at her best in this kind of costume picture. Her delicate beauty is peculiarly fitted for the manners and coquetry of the nobility.

Based on the novel, "The Son of Robin Hood", by Paul A. Castleman, the yarn is filled with valiant deeds in forest and castle, daring riding, expert archery and daring sword-play.

When the young King Henry III of England is imprisoned, with a threat of death, by the scheming Regent (Henry Daniel), Robin Hood, his son, Robert of Nottingham, and their rugged band set out to free him. Through a trick, Robert and Lady Catherine (Anita Louise) enter the castle in disguise. But after freeing the King, they are both captured and imprisoned, condemned to death. Claiming his right as a noble to a duel for his life, Robert is granted his demand but is to be deprived of food for three days before the battle and is to be shot by the Regent's archers if he seems to be winning the encounter.

Catherine, however, sneaks Robert her food and, before the duel, Robin Hood's band secretly overpowers the Regent's guards, thus making sure the struggle will be a fair one. In a terrific battle, really one of the most exciting and lengthy duels ever filmed, Robert kills the Regent.

More Than Just A Mystery . . .

Is this modern, exciting film . . . it has Alan Ladd . . . dangerous and dynamic . . . with Veronica Lake, in a sympathetic role . . . and William Bendix, great as a battle-fatigued veteran!

MUSIAL AFTER RECORDS OF COBB AND HORNSBY

Since the fine day in 1839, when Abner Doubleday invented the game of baseball, many great ball players have paraded over the diamonds of America and left their records to bear out the oldtimers' stories of their skill; such men as Ty Cobb, with a lifetime batting average of .367, tops in the American League, and Rogers Hornsby, whose lifetime .358 tops the National League.

There is one man in baseball today with a great chance to break Hornsby's record for the N.L., and who might even approach the record of the great Cobb. He is a product of the factories of Pennsylvania, the Donora Zinc Works and others of the small town of Donora, Pa. We refer, of course, to Stanley Musial.

Musial made the big leagues of baseball the hard way, starting out as a star lefthand pitcher as a kid. He was a sensation as a hurler, too, until the day in August, 1940, when the young man hurt his shoulder playing centre field, and as a huge knot developed in the pitcher-outfielder's arm, his career seemed to be gone. In fact, his arm was so bad that in 1941 none of the Cards' farm managers wanted to take a chance on the little slugger, even though he could hit and run with the best of them.

However, due to a shortage of outfielders at Springfield, he caught on, and as his hitting bordered on the sensational, and his arm improved all the time, he was soon ready for another upward step in Branch Rickey's far flung farm system.

He jumped from the Class C Springfielders to Rochester, and after a short stop in the Camera City, he found himself in the Sportsman Park home of the parent St. Louis Cardinals. Musial sparked the Cards' last drive that year that fell short by only a couple of games, hitting .426 in the 12 games he played for the Gas-housers.

Next spring, Musial started shakily, but soon clinched the regular outfield spot and at the end of the year his average was with the best at .315, as he finished third to Ernie Lombardi and his outfield team mate, Enos Slaughter.

Next year, however, Musial won the honours with .357, and in '44 came back to finish second to Dixie Walker with .347. And now, after a year's absence in the Navy, the Donora Greyhound is playing first base for the first time in his life and hitting around .360.

Yes, there is plenty of time for this young star, still in his early twenties, to catch and pass Hornsby, and even Cobb. All over the circuit, Musial is admired, even in that storied of baseball cities, Brooklyn. In Brooklyn, a fan one day called Stan a "bum,"—the highest honour that can be afforded a player in Flatbush.

Stan Musial is one of the very few major leaguers so very universally recognized as a great ball player, and seems to have the greatest chance of all present major leaguers of entering Baseball's Hall of Fame.

Shuffleboard

The shuffleboard tournament on Thursday, July 25, saw several new teams break into the hallowed circle of winners and runners-up. The team of Roger Lamb and Marvin Greenbaum defeated Heron and Waterston to carry off the first place honours and thus qualified for the silver spoons which go with these honours, Mr. Heron once more came close to taking the victor's spoils, when he teamed with Waterston as runners-up. Always successful in the early rounds he finds the final rounds a jinx.

The first father and son combination to enter these tournaments as a team, Mr. T. Harris and George Harris, proved the dark-horse entry when they knocked off the favoured team of Fairburn and W. McCubbin in the first round. The Harris entry then moved on to the semi-finals where Bill Morrow and Brian Tiffin disposed of them. One of the closest matches of the evening was the last second point scored by the Heron-Waterston team over the team of R. Cote and Pat Ryan, which gave them runners-up position.

In an exhibition series played between teams representing the "shuffleboarders" and the "put-

Staynor, Orioles Win Junior Tilts

The Staynor Orioles won the only two games played in the junior section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League last week and as it happens, they downed the Westmount Cardinals in both fixtures. The first game at Westmount Park resulted in a 29-6 victory for the league leaders while the game at Staynor on Monday night was much closer with the score being 12-10.

The Staynor Tornados will meet Cardinals at Westmount Park tonight in the first three games scheduled for this week. On Monday night Tornados will play Orioles while on Wednesday night Cardinals will visit Tornados at the Staynor diamond.

Scully Hero Of Playoff Tilt

Sonny Provost's Dodgers, favorites to cop the pennant in the senior section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League, won the first game of their semi-final play-off series with Doug. Alexander's Cardinals 2-1. Although Dodgers won the game, they were outthrust by the losers, and Ronnie Towill outpitched George Scully all the way.

Scully, however, was the hero of the night for the winners, as his home run in the fifth frame, with Kev. Kennedy on base, was the only runs of the game for the Dodgers.

The Cardinals' lone counter also came via the home run route Doug Heron clotting one out in the sixth inning.

ROYALS TIE SWANS

In the only other playoff game, Royals and Swans played to a seven-all deadlock. The Swans held an edge over the Royals throughout most of this tilt but weakened in the last few innings to settle for a stalemate. Swans scored runs in each of the first and third innings and added three more in the fourth to grab a 7-1 lead. Royals came back with two in the fourth, three in the fifth and one in the exciting seventh.

The game ended on a hectic note with Royals filling the bases but could only push over one run as Jim Haggarty's support pulled him through. Jim Haggarty hit a homerun for Swans and Harold Maher, his opponent on the mound, performed a similar feat.

SWANS-ROYALS MONDAY

The only thing certain about this week's playoffs is the fact that Swans and Royals will meet this Monday night. What happens after that is strictly in the lap of the gods. It is quite possible that the final series to decide the pennant will start next Wednesday or Thursday.

Adult Courts Tennis Team Gets Revenge

The tennis team representing the adult municipal courts gained revenge on the McGill team for a previous defeat when they downed the McGill club four matches to three on their opponents' home courts. The match took place on Tuesday night. As on the other occasion, when the locals went down to defeat by the same count, the women players more than upheld their own.

In Tuesday's matches Dot Ross and Mrs. Manson won their ladies' singles assignments, Mrs. Edwards and Kay Clifford came through with a victory in the ladies' doubles, while Mr. Merritt and Jack Morri won the mixed doubles event. The men lost both of their matches, Gordie Merritt and Clair Manson lost out in the men's singles while Em Stack and Sid Quinton bit the dust in the man's doubles.

The ladies' singles tournament was brought to a successful conclusion last week when Dot Ross copped the title with a three set win over Mrs. Merritt. The new champion won out 3-6, 11-9 and 6-0.

The finals of the men's doubles affair will be played tonight at the adult courts starting around 6.45 p.m. The teams competing are the Jack Morris-Harold Platt combination against the Sid Quinton-Em Slack duo.

One finalist, Sid Quinton, has been declared in the men's singles while the semi-final round in the other bracket has been reached. Quinton won the chamionship last year. The semi-finalists are Charlie Monty and Gordie Merritt.

As there were not enough entries for the ladies' doubles event, it will not be run off, but the entry list for the mixed doubles event is now up to the courts and it will be the next tournament to be played. This list will be taken down on Tuesday night August 6, with the tournament slated to start on Monday August 12.

putters who stepped out of their regular field of endeavours were the Messrs. Lamb, Greenbaum, T. Mahaffey, Sears, Thom, Regan, F. Kent, R. Kent, Waterston, Allan and Wells while the lady members included Mrs. Asche, Mrs. Allan, Miss Sargent, Mrs. Thom and Mrs. Jones.

Westmount 'Y' Leads League

The Y.M.C.A. Aces won their final game in the Westmount Church Softball League on Tuesday evening, when they defeated Calvary 13 to 12.

The 'Y' team lead all the way. Margaret Morgan was on the mound for the "Aces and pitched a steady game. She was supported by a tight infield and sensational outfielding by Marge Forest and Bill Morrow.

The score was 10 to 3 for the "Y" at the end of the fifth inning. They picked up three runs in the first of the sixth, while Calvary

Junior Gridders Seeking Funds

SHORTS ON SPORTS

By George Cochrane

The Westmount Junior Quebec Rugby Football Union team comes out from under the veil of secrecy it has been operating in these past many moons this week with the announcement, which you'll find elsewhere in this section, that they will launch a campaign for funds next Tuesday evening with a football rally at Westmount Park. This is one cause that deserves every Westmounter's support. Before they broke up at the outbreak of the war, the local junior gridders had an excellent reputation and twice reached the dominion playdowns.

But when the team disbanded somewhere back in 1939 they gave all their equipment to the services and are now starting out from scratch—but without much of same. They've lined up a fine executive, you'll find their names in the news story, and have secured the services of a highly-rated coach, Bruce Johnson. What will be unearthed in the way of playing talent is still pretty much a matter for conjecture. But you can be sure of one thing—Westmount will have a real fighting team.

Now it's up to the citizens of this garden suburb to give the boys the green light by parting company with a few of those greenbacks. The dough will be spent on sweaters, footballs and equipment. It's vitally needed. And it's needed now. So don't put it off, grid fans. Dig deep and let's have a team in this junior league that we'll all be proud of.

Jottings
Kev Kennedy, the Westmount Dodgers' classy second sacker, has been signed up by St. Augustine's of the Snowdon Senior Football League and will probably break into the Snowdon loop at N.D.G. Park this evening . . .

Noel Romney is another Dodgerite who performs for the cellar-dwelling churchmen. . . The Dodgers now boast a win streak of 15 games . . . Buddy O'Connor, the Canadian, now working in a mining brokerage office . . . The athletically minded John Swaine, who starred at football, hockey, basketball and softball for Roslyn School this past year, will be 12 next Tuesday . . . Westmount High's Joe Eveleigh, a member of the Senior A grid team for the past two years, working down at Simpson's sports department this summer . . . Et c'est tout pour maintenant.

Camp Kinkora Down St. Leo's

BOB LUNNY
St. Agathe, Quebec — Camp Kinkora edged out a 3-2 victory over St. Leo's Juveniles in a softball game played here last Sunday afternoon. Quite a few spectators (including me) watched the game with great interest as there were 26 strikeouts in the nine innings of play.
Frank Horan was the star hurler for Camp Kinkora, chalking up 20 strikeouts, while Jimmy McCarthy of St. Leo's fanned six. St. Leo's had two chances to tie

Football Rally Tuesday Night

By GEORGE COCHRANE
The Westmount Junior Q.R.F.U. Football Club, returning to the local grid wars after years of inactivity due to the war, will launch its campaign for funds next Tuesday evening at Westmount Park with a gigantic football rally. Frank Starr, well-known sports commentator, will emcee and it is hoped to have such famous members of the football world as Doug "Pop" Kerr, coach of the McGill Redmen, and Lew Hayman, mentor of the Montreal Alouettes, on hand to speak.

In addition, movies will be shown and other interesting features are being planned by the committee in charge of the event. The committee, Warren Chippendale, Rocky Dryden and Jim Wrigglesworth, all of whom will be trying for berths on the Purple and White outfit when formal drills begin later this month, have been working day and night in preparation for the affair under the guidance of Jimmy McCormick, Westmount's able recreation supervisor.

The Westmount junior grid-ders, who twice reached the Domnion finals, will be coached by Bruce Johnston. On the executive are: J. C. Riddell, president; Bill Swindon; vice - president; Art Mann, secretary; Herb Priestman,

HINTS

The Old Mother Hubbard advice to "give the poor dog a bone" fell a long way short of adequate rations, but it is dangerous to overfeed a puppy. It is easy to estimate the proper quantity of food for a meal.

There is a wide choice of easily digested foods which may be given a young puppy, but the cardinal rule to remember is that too little at a time is always better than too much. Experience is the best teacher and what may be lacking at one meal can easily be made up at the next.

A Basketful of Beauty . . . but there is more than beauty in that basket—there is intelligence, faithfulness, usefulness and loyalty.

Collies have been the constant companions of shepherds and farmers for hundreds of years and the stories of their sagacity and cunning are almost incredible. They are indispensable to the farmer for herding sheep and cattle and they make excellent watchdogs and companions:

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

CHIMNEY SWIFT

Swifts are unique, with no really close relatives, and in our part of the continent Chimney Swifts are the only representatives of the group. Well do these birds deserve both their names: they are positively the fastest fliers, and since the advent of civilization have taken to building in man-made chimneys rather than hollow trees. They feed as they fly, catching winged insects when going at a rate of 60 or 70 miles an hour. Timed with a stopwatch, it has been proved that they can easily attain the speed of 200 miles an hour.

Their nests of sticks are hinged on to the inside bricks with dead leaves. They look like small varnished wicker chairs, because they are glazed over and shining with bird saliva which is used to cement everything together. The salivary glands of Swifts are extraordinarily developed.

The nesting material is obtained in an unusual way. When a tree has been long dead the branches become very brittle. Chimney Swifts are clever enough to know this, knock into them and thus break off little twigs, which they then pick up and carry into the chimney that has been chosen as a home. There are no soft pillows for the babies. Two long, narrow white eggs are laid right on the hard surface of the nest.

Their feet are weak, but designed for clinging on to the bricks in a perpendicular position; their short tails end in spines which are used as props. The flat wings are not only unlike those of any other species, but most of the time seem to be used in a different way—one after the other instead of in unison.

When entering a chimney, Swifts balance themselves for a moment over the opening, then raise their wings above their heads and drop down. As fall migration approaches, they congregate. Passing through Tennessee, as many as 7,000 have been known to spend the night in one chimney.

For years both Canadian and American naturalists have been endeavouring to find out the destination of Chimney Swifts when they leave us in September, but met with success only late in destination of Chimney Swifts were collected in the head waters of the Amazon, in Peru. One had been banded in Kingston, Ontario, by R. W. Smith However, Chimney Swifts still present at least one unsolved problem. Why do they forage in three's?

What bird sounds like a glorified Catbird?

'Y', Advent Win Church Games

The Y and Church of the Advent copped the games played in the church section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League on Tuesday night. The Y defeated their closest rivals, Calvary, 13-10 and retained their hold on first place in the section standing. Advent downed St. Andrews 15-9.

If present plans go through, the clubs will start their playoffs this Tuesday with the first and fourth place clubs playing in one series while the second and third place teams will meet in the other series. These will be sudden death games and it means that the Y and St. Andrews will hook up in one bracket while Calvary and Advent will clash in the other round.

The winners will then meet in a two out of three game series for the championship.

The final standing of the section shows the Y with six wins in seven games, Calvary with five wins, the Advent broke even in six encounters while St. Andrews won a single game during the season.

Football Rally

treasurer; Ozzie Dalzell, business manager; Walter Small and C. Alex Phillips, honorary vice-presidents.

Dressing Room Problems

Members of the club have been holding meetings regularly for the past two months or so and some of the boys have been out throwing the football around three or four times a week since way back in May. One of the biggest problems facing the team is the securing of adequate dressing room facilities. This year, with the army still occupying the Westmount Athletic Grounds, the junior footballers will play all their home games on the Westmount Park field. Three dressing room possibilities have been presented. They are: the Westmount Junior High lockers, the erection of a shack on Westmount Park, and the securing of two army huts at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

The Canada Bread Company has offered the club the use of a room every Saturday afternoon. This will probably be used by visiting teams.

Next Tuesday's rally will be held at the Westmount Park bandstand, and will get underway at 8.15.

Westmount "Y"

had their only rally of the game when they brought in 8 runs. They got one more in the last of the ninth, but the "Y" team still lead by one run.

This win for the Y.M.C.A. assures them of first place standing in the league. The play-offs start next Tuesday when the "Y" will meet St. Andrews, and Advent play Calvary.

up the game with the bases loaded . . . Billy Bastien clouted a homer for the winners while teammate Jack Lunny banged out a triple but was tagged out trying to steal home . . . Bider, Flanagan and Bastien each got a pair of hits for the winners . . .

Choosing Most Valuable Player

The managers of the teams in the senior section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League are now engaged in selecting a "most valuable player" to receive a trophy donated by the Westmount branch of the Canadian Legion for such a purpose. The only catch in the ointment is that the managers decided at the start of the season that no pitchers would be eligible for the award.

Managers from the five teams Dodgers, Royals, Swans, Cardinals and Police-Fire will select the top three players in their estimation, in that order, but not of their own team. Five points will be awarded for a first place selection, three for a second and one for a third. The player with the highest number of points will receive the award.

Well-Contested Boat Races Last Friday

Juvenile Teams All Win One, Lose One

All three clubs in the juvenile section of the Westmount Municipal Softball League turned in winning performances last week and on a similar basis, they each dropped an encounter.

Staynor edged out St. Leo's 6-5 at home, St. Leo's then beat Royals 9-6 while Royals came back to down Staynor 10-5.

Their section standing is still very close with Royals and Staynor tied for first place with eight points while St. Leo's are right behind with six.

In this week's games Royals will play St. Leo's tonight, on Monday the same two clubs will meet again, on Wednesday Staynor will play the students and then on Thursday Royals will visit the Staynor home diamond.
