

FRENCH PREMIER
WAS ASSAULTEDStruck in the Face by a Young Royalist at Unveiling of a Monument.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Imposing national ceremonies in the Tuilleries Garden to-day in connection with the dedication of a statue erected to the memory of Jules Ferry, the French statesman, were marked by an assault upon Premier Briand, who, while walking with President Fallieres, was struck twice on the face by a Royalist.

The Premier was not seriously hurt. The vast crowd in the garden set upon the Premier's assailant, and only determined intervention by the Republican Guards saved him from being beaten to death.

The incident occurred at the end of the exercises which were attended by thousands. President Fallieres, Premier Briand and other Ministers were walking toward the gateway, when a man broke through the Republican Guards that lined the roadway to M. Briand's side and raising his clenched fists high in the air, brought them with full force upon the Premier's face.

M. Briand reeled back, falling. As friends rushed up to assist him he cried "I am all right; we must protect my assailant."

The very audacity of the assault rendered the crowd momentarily speechless, but a shout of anger and cries of "kill him" arose quickly from all sides as men fought their way to lay hands upon the assailant. He was kicked and beaten and used up before Guards, urged on by the Premier, succeeded in rescuing him. The man was taken before a magistrate. He gave his name as Lacour, and said he was a member of the executive committee of the "Camelots du Roi," an organization of young Royalists, and that he wished to strike at the republic in the person of Briand.

The "Camelots du Roi" met to-night and unanimously elected Lacour vice-president of the Association, demonstrating their sympathy and admiration for his act.

The statue to M. Ferry was erected by public schools of France and the Colonies, two million of whom each contributed one cent. The ceremonies while honoring M. Ferry, as a statesman and upholder of the colonies, especially honored him as father of the public schools of France. A golden book, containing the names of the two million subscribers was placed in a royal plate beneath the statue. There was a great procession of school children and orations were made by Premier Briand and other noted public men.

MAY SHAVE MORE CLOSELY

Many Men Would Not Do Without Poslam Which Soothes and Heals.

While the application of poslam, the new skin remedy, after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers have found it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness and severe scrapings what it does in all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. Poslam's great antiseptic and curative value enables it to tone up the skin as no toilet preparation possibly could. Any infection, such as barbers' itch is quickly cured, for poslam's primary work is the rapid healing of such serious skin diseases as eczema, acne, tetter, salt rheum, etc. "Poslam is the best and quickest cure that I have seen in my 25 years' experience in the barber business," says Frank J. Kammerer, Racine, Wis.

AMATEUR HOCKEY

LEAGUE BRANCHES OUT.
Montreal, Nov. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Inter-Provincial Hockey Union, held on Saturday night, it was decided to form a league divided into four sections, the central section to be composed of the old Inter-Provincial Union clubs, with the addition of Ottawa Senators and New Edinburgh. The eastern section, which will include the clubs of the St. Lawrence League, the western section, which will be composed of the clubs in the Manitoba and Northwestern League, and the Ontario section. The arrangement of schedules was left until a subsequent meeting.

a Congratulatory Message from the King.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier spent his 69th birthday to-day quietly, but received a number of callers. King George V cabled his congratulations and wished the Premier long life and prosperity. Many colleagues and friends also sent messages. Premier Botha, of South Africa, sent a message.

The Premier is in good health and ready for the work of the session.

ENGLAND CARRIED OFF CHAMPIONSHIPNew York Horse Show Was One of Greatest Ever Held in That City.

New York, Nov. 20.—The annual exhibition of the National Horse Show closed last night in the presence of the smallest crowd seen at any of the seven evening shows, although several exhibits were decided. The championship in the percheron class went to Mrs. Charlotte E. Ward, of Rome, N.Y., who exhibited her gigantic black stallion Independent. The Siftens, of Ottawa, Ont., got away with the first second and fourth in the class for jumpers taking six fences. Ironside, entered by Lieut. Winfield Sifton, made the best showing of the whole field and was given the first prize. Ironside was fourth in the high jump last night.

An interesting development of the morning yesterday at the Garden was the announcement of the several prominent sportsmen, chagrined at the poor showing made by U. S. army representatives in the international events, will present a dozen or more thoroughbreds to the United States army for breeding purposes. A large sum for this purpose was raised by subscription yesterday.

Those who attended this year's show say that in point of quality of animals shown, gowns displayed and jewels worn by women, it exceeded any exhibition ever held in New York. Duplicating the performance of last year, England carried off the championship in the international events. Second honors went to the United States, third to Holland and fourth to France. Judge Wm. H. Moore, of Chicago, was by far the biggest ribbon winner. His horses took fifty-two blues, ten reds and five yellows. Paul A. Sorg's entries were next, then came C. W. Watson and Alfred Vanderbilt.

PEACE OF PORTUGAL
IS THREATENEDArmed Bands Who Took Part in Revolution Refuse to Lay Down Arms.

Paris, Nov. 20.—A despatch to The Temps from Lisbon says that the peace of Portugal is menaced by the attitude of groups called Carbonari, who participated in the revolution. They refuse to lay down their arms and are embarrassing the Government by their imperious demands. They declare that they are ready to place 10,000 fighting men in the streets if their demands are not complied with. Their leader, a naval officer named Machado, was active in the revolution. The Government's proclamation granting the right to strike has led to the general abuse of this prerogative, and it is feared that a strike which has been begun by the tramway workers, the river boat men and electricians will be followed by a strike of the railroad employees and the gas men.

Evidence.

London, Nov. 20.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, whose execution is fixed for November 23, in a three-column signed statement in a Sunday paper, says that he is not afraid to die and bows to the inevitable. He appeals to the world to remember that he was condemned on inconclusive evidence and asserts that the real truth will be revealed. He knew nothing, he says, of the remains discovered in the Hildrop Crescent house until Solicitor Newton told him the day after his arrival at Bow street. He was confident that if he could have commanded unlimited funds like the Crown and have brought more medical witnesses the result would have been different.

The failure of his appeal, which, he was convinced, would reverse the judgment of the court, crushed and overwhelmed him and broke his heart, because he had dreamt of building up a home with the woman without whom life was worthless.

DEATH OF
COUNT TOLSTOIThe Great Russian Writer
Passed Away Peacefully
Yesterday Morning.

Astapova, Nov. 20.—Count Leo Tolstoy died peacefully this morning. Countess Tolstoy was at his side when the end came. It was recognized long before that his case was hopeless, and at 5 o'clock in the morning after the Countess had been summoned and the other members of the family had gathered in an adjoining room, the physicians issued a bulletin announcing that the activity of the heart had almost ceased and that Tolstoy's condition was extremely dangerous.

Count Tolstoy, accompanied only by Dr. Makovetsky, left his home at Yasnaya Polyana for the purpose of ending his days in solitude, to which he more and more inclined during his latter years. His pilgrimage led him to the monastery at Sharmadine, in the province of Kaluga, where he remained as the guest of his sister, Marie, who is a nun in the cloister.

Learning that his retreat had been discovered, he insisted upon proceeding on his journey to the Caucasus, where he hoped to spend his last days close to the Tolstoyan colony on the shores of the Black Sea. But during the railroad journey he was overcome with exhaustion and the cold, and Dr. Makovetsky was compelled to have him transferred to the flag station at Astapova, where he was made as comfortable as in the rude wooden building.

For five days he had lain there suffering first from bronchitis and later from inflammation of the lungs. Specialists were called from Moscow and other place, but notwithstanding their utmost efforts the heart of the great Russian responded but feebly to the restoratives and stimulants administered.

On Saturday the attacks of heart failure increased alarmingly and many hours prior to the end the physicians had given up all hope. Countess Tolstoy was admitted to the sick room for the first time last night, but her husband failed to recognize her. She had hastened to the bedside when she learned several days ago that his illness was serious, but the physicians had deemed it advisable that she be kept away from the Count, fearing that her presence might cause the patient emotion. Other members of the family were from time to time admitted to the presence of their father, and his daughter, Alexandra, had been in constant attendance.

The crowd that gathered around the but where Leo Tolstoy lay dying in the early Sunday morning hours awaited breathlessly the verdict of Dr. Tshetkovsky and Dr. Usoff, two of the leading heart specialists of Moscow, who had been hurriedly called to consultation. The former had carried Tolstoy safely through a similar crisis in 1901 in the Crimea, and the hopes of the people rested on him.

The examination was brief, lasting less than half an hour. Tolstoy failed to recognize either of the physicians and asked: "Who are these strangers?" When informed, he said: "What fine men."

Throughout the heart-breaking night, a motley crowd made up of the most diverse elements imaginable pressed around the low hut. There were distant relatives of the aged author, Tolstoyans, villagers and many churchmen, among them the Abbot Varsofonius, who did not lose hope until the end of Tolstoy and extending to him the olive branch on behalf of the Church.

Virtually the whole population of Astapova was silent. There was a voice from the hut came quietly: "Leo Nikolaevich is dead." There was no commotion. Then every head was bowed and the crowd was rent with sobs.

One called out: "His heart was burst by his unbounded love for humanity," and this and similar phrases ran from mouth to mouth through the weeping Russians gathered there.

Later in the day all the peasants in the district flocked here. None was excluded from the death chamber, through which there was a constant stream of visitors, including many school children. The chamber is decorated with pine branches. The body has been embalmed and will be transferred to Yasnaya Polyana. All visitors have been given permission to photograph the body if they wish. M. Gunzberg, the sculptor, will take a death mask.

It is stated that Tolstoy expressed a wish to be buried on the hill at Yasnaya Polyana, where he played as a child, but that the funeral would be a simple one, without ceremonial or flowers. The family, however, has agreed not to interfere with any honors that the public may desire to pay. Friends of the dead writer have started a movement for the acquisition of the house where he died, as a national memorial. Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholasovitch has sent a message to Countess Tolstoy saying: "My whole soul is with you and your family at this sad moment."

FIGHTING REPORTED
IN MEXICOFederal Troops, However, Control Situation — On Track of Rebel Leader.

Laredo, Texas, Nov. 20.—Fighting occurred at Guerrero, state of Coahuila, Mexico, to-day. Reports reaching here are that an outbreak took place in that village and that the federal troops are in control to-night. No information can be obtained as to whether there were any casualties. Guerrero is about 50 miles west of Colulla, Tex., and is in the district to which Francisco I. Madero, the alleged revolutionary leader, was making his way when last seen in Texas. The Madero estates lay in that part of Mexico.

No further word has been had of Madero himself and it is presumed that he slipped through the cordon of American officers, which it is reported has been thrown out to effect his arrest, and was somewhere in the neighborhood of Guerrero when the affray occurred.

There will be a piano recital in Loyola Hall this (Monday) evening, when Miss May Legare will be heard in an interesting programme. The advertisement appears in another column.

SALVATION ARMY
COLONIZATION WORK

Will be Proceeded With on a Much Larger Scale Than Ever.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Salvation Army is going into the immigration business on a bigger scale than ever. Col. D. C. Lamb, of London, England, and Commissioner Coombs have just finished their annual tour of Western Canada, and Colonel Lamb says they have secured large tracts of land in British Columbia, the Peace River district, New Ontario and Eastern Canada. Some of this land will be farmed by the Army itself, with its own officers and men, and thus it will profit by the rise in land values. The profits can be used in colonization work. Conducted parties of immigrants from Britain will be brought out weekly, commencing in February and continuing until October. The two army chiefs failed to renew the agreement with the British Columbia Govern-

New York, Nov. 20.—"Barbara," said Mrs. Mary Barbeginer to her daughter of eight this morning, as she was dressing the child for Sunday school, "I want you to be a good girl to-day, because I had a tooth drop out this morning and that's a sign that somebody is going to die in the family."

"Why," said Barbara, "that's me—I'm going to die."

The dairy and cold storage commissioner, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, values the dairy products of Canada for the year ending March, 1910, at $98,000,000. The exports increased $1,262,716 over the former year.

The long expected judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners in the matter of the express rates enquiry is almost completed. Its delivery is expected during the course of next week.

PROGRESS

During the past three months, the carpenters, the masons, and the electricians have been at work on the Garneau street extension to our building; the result is that we will this Christmas season have the pleasure of showing our customers through a greatly enlarged establishment, for our floor space is practically double what it was a year ago.

Our new Show Rooms will be a revelation to Quebecers, each additional room is a store in itself.

To provide suitable goods for these new rooms our English and Continental Agents have been steadily at work for many months keeping us informed about the latest and most attractive novelties and art goods to be found in the European marts, the consequence is that we have a stock of the choicest merchandise purchased direct from the makers at the minimum cost.

While the alterations were in progress, we have, by our Saturday sales, been steadily reducing the surplus stock so that when we open up the new Show Rooms in December our Customers will have an opportunity to see the latest European manufactures.

QUEBEC, NOVEMBER 21, 1910.

SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

The first minutes of the proceedings in the Senate for this session are almost taken up with notices of inquiries and motions by Senator Landry. Among other things the Senator asks if it is the intention of the Government to maintain the Quebec Harbor Commission as it is at present constituted or to substitute therefor another Commission modelled on the Montreal Harbor Commission.

He also inquires what was the depth of the water at low tide at Cap a la Roche and St. Augustin bar between Montreal and Quebec at the time of the last inspection of the St. Lawrence channel made by the Minister of Marine between Montreal and Ile aux Oies in the county of L'Islet.

Other queries are made concerning the depth of the channel across the Beupre (Beaujeu?) Bank and the St. Thomas channel. Also what progress has been made since the present works were begun at these places.

These are pertinent questions and the answers thereto will be awaited with interest.

TIMELY ADVICE TO NIGHT TRAVELERS.

Good breeding is a green spot in the desert of life; patience, kindness, generosity, humility, courtesy, unselfishness, good temper, and sincerity perpetually bloom therein. It infuses into the blood the peculiar charm and gracefulness found in every well-bred person, whether in the manner born, or in his own right, one of nature's noblemen. It abhors touchiness, doggedness, rudeness, brusqueness, forwardness, noise, and as a certain antidote to vulgarity, its finished product is known wherever civilization exists as a thorough gentleman. To him society throws its door wide open. And to whatever class he may belong, his passport will always find easy entry. There was no truer gentleman in Europe than Robert Burns the ploughman poet. So wrote Thos. Carlyle: "Mr. Fox will always hold first place in an assembly at the Tuileries." Such was the outspoken opinion of Napoleon Bonaparte of the great English statesman. No gentleman will enter into the sanctity of a dormitory or sleeping apartment in a house or a hotel except on tip-toe. Yet dressy men, at all hours of the night, invade the corridors of a sleeping car, which is after all nothing more nor less than a dormitory or a sleeping apartment, heedlessly talking in a loud tone of voice, utterly regardless of the tired and sleeping occupants.

Weak and delicate, or, as is often the case, sick people may occupy these berths. That matters not. On goes the conversation. These berths have been booked and bought for the night. They rightfully belong to the buyers. That cuts no figure. Louder grows the gossip, not to speak of the wanton noise made by shifting boxes or dress suit cases. The good natured porter, should he happen to intervene, is sent to the torrid regions which geographers have placed somewhere close to the equatorial line. But self-sacrificing person act in such a manner?

PUBLIC DRINKING CUPS.

Every doctor will tell you that the public drinking-cup is a great menace to public health and it is therefore gratifying to see that the danger has at last been realized. A despatch from Albany, N.Y., says that the State Department of Health is seeking the co-operation of the various railroads operating in the State in abolishing the common drinking cup from the trains and railroad stations.

The public drinking cup must be branded as a public nuisance, and must give way under the weight of public opinion enforcing the conclusions of the sanitarian.

And with the common drinking cup ought to go the common towel, which at times may prove even more dangerous than the common cup; the friction accompanying the use of the towel can easily rub germs of disease from one face or hand into the eyes or a scratch in the skin of another.

As announced in these columns a few days ago, the C. P. R. has already set a good example to the other railways by introducing aseptic cups for travellers. It is to be hoped that others will follow the example.

IRELAND AND

TARIFF REFORM.

If there ever was a country that might have been expected to favor a system of protection because of her bitter experience of Free Trade it is Ireland. Free Trade has apparently done her infinitely more harm than landlording ever did. Before the repeal of the Corn Laws she was a great agricultural country with an abundance of wheat and supporting a population of eight millions.

But as Mr. C. J. O'Donnell recently said in the Nineteenth Century, "the Black Famine followed and Ireland received from a perverted policy of Free Trade the gaping wound through which her life-blood, her hardy population, mostly the young, has ever since flowed out. The land passed from tillage to pasture, but, as the years went by, even the industry of cattle-raising was half strangled by the importation of foreign and colonial meat from North America, the Argentine and New Zealand."

Try as the Irish might to restore their agriculture to its former prosperity they could not achieve their object. The desire of the great industrial centres in the British Isles to supply their population with cheap food has been fatal to agriculture in those isles and the peasantry of England and Scotland has dwindled almost as grievously as that of Ireland. The proportion of farmers and agricultural laborers to the total population of the United Kingdom is the lowest in the world and to quote Mr. O'Donnell once more—"a nation without a yeomanry is a nation without a backbone."

What the loss of this agricultural population has meant for Britain is well illustrated in the following words of the above-mentioned writer:

During the hundred years from 1760 to 1860, the period of British expansion and manufacturing development, three splendid peasantries supplied the brawn and muscle needed for so great an undertaking. All three sent millions of sturdy arms to labor in building up England's industrial supremacy, while the men of Ireland and Scotland pushed the Union Jack to new conquests. Old soldiers have told me that in the Punjab wars Irish was spoken round nearly every camp-fire, for the East India Company recruited almost exclusively in Ireland. Later, during the Mutiny, even English regiments, like the Shropshire Light Infantry were, as stated by Lord Roberts, "mostly Irish." These great storehouses of martial and industrial vigor have gone, sacrificed to the fetishes of Free Trade and cheap food. Nothing, nothing on earth can bring back the manhood of the English and Irish peasantry to the countryside but agricultural protection.

RECIPROCITY AND AGRICULTURE.

We have received a letter on the subject of "Reciprocity," which only want of space precludes us from publishing. The letter forms one of a series of instructive articles on this subject and comes from the pen of Mr. H. K. Hemming, of Montreal.

"There are some," says Mr. Hemming, "who have an idea that, while the cities and towns of Canada are unanimously opposed to Reciprocity in any form, (and there would seem to be no doubt at all on that point), the people in the country districts are to a considerable degree in its favor. Once more we find that so-called public opinion is astray. It is not to be denied that there are some farmers, notably those along the boundary line, who think that they see in Reciprocity higher prices for some of their products, and therefore an increased income. On the other hand the greater majority of our Canadian agriculturists are not alone too British and too Canadian to espouse any cause which savors of Americanizing Canada, but, having read and thought out this subject to a degree that would put to shame many of our city people, they do not hesitate to come out boldly against Reciprocity. They have come to this decision only after weighing fully the pros and cons of the question, crediting the gains and debiting the losses, setting on one side the possible higher prices to be obtained for some products, and on the other the increased cost of living, and of help which would come with Reciprocity, and finally remembering that, with closer trade relations with the United States, they could not escape the evils which beset the American system of Government, of their administration of justice, of their mar-

Baldness and Itching Scalp

Caused by Microbes

There is no doubt about it. Dr. Sabouraud proved it when he infected a guinea pig with dandruff germs and all of its hair disappeared in a short time. The entire medical world has accepted Dr. Sabouraud's discovery as final. Ask any worthy physician.

Paris leads the world in knowledge of diseases of the hair and remedies for the same and Parisian Sage is the one great remedy that kills the dandruff germs.

Dandruff is the forerunner of baldness. Take care of your hair while you have hair to take care of. Kill the dandruff germs now before the dandruff germs kill your hair.

Parisian Sage, the guaranteed dandruff cure and delightful hair dressing, is used extensively by ladies of refinement because it keeps the scalp absolutely clean and gives a bewitching lustre to the hair. riage laws and of their social life generally."

The writer points out that the farmers, even more than the dwellers in cities, have had opportunity to witness the spoliation of our national resources by outsiders, and they "rejoice to see in Canada a new spirit of Nationality and of defiance—a temper which would say to any government—'This is our property. You are our servants. See to it that no one deprives us of our rights.'"

But beyond this the farmer believes in the British preference and will probably make real sacrifices, if necessary, to ensure the strengthening of the Imperial bond. He realizes that his chief opponent in the world's market is the American and that Britain is Canada's best customer.

There was a day when the Canadian was content to be the hewer of wood and drawer of water for his American cousin, says Mr. Hemming.

"But that day has gone forever. Our farmers know full well that their greatest source of wealth lies, not in the simple growing of fields of grain, but in the 'thousand and one' products known only to those who apply their energies to mixed farming. It has taken but a few years to convince our farmers that, in the cities and towns of Canada, there are consumers and exporters of their products who will pay them as high prices as can be obtained from any other source, domestic or foreign. He knows that an injury that might be done by Reciprocity to our flour mills, or to our butter and cheese factories, would deprive him of one of his greatest blessings, and one which he enjoys to a greater extent than does the American farmer, viz., cheap feed for his cattle, pigs and poultry, and which comes from the bye products of these giant industries in the form of bran, shorts, skimmed milk, buttermilk, etc. Already, although but a few months in operation, he sees loss to himself and to the country in the depriving of his butter factories of the cream which, pender wisely and pound foolishly, is being sent across the border instead of being made into Canadian butter, an article in which for years he has striven to make a name for Canada in the markets of the world."

The writer strongly advocates a conference between the manufacturers and the farmers, when both sides of the question might be discussed fairly and squarely and an understanding on various critical points might be reached. Freight rates, agricultural implements and the British market—these are matters which should be discussed at an early day. Mr. Hemming concludes with the following maxims:—

1. It is the duty of the country as a whole to share equally in such burdens as may rest unduly upon the shoulders of any particular class or section of the country, especially if these burdens have been directly or indirectly the result of the financial legislation of the country.

2. Inasmuch as Canada being younger than Great Britain is freer from the trammels of commerce and is better able to take the lead, in departing from the beaten track, with a view to the uniting of the British Empire, so we should lose no opportunity of encouraging the British people to give us a return of the preference which we have for years granted to them, more especially upon the products of our farms. The sting of the "dear loaf" which is promised by the opponents of a British tax of two shillings a quarter on wheat would be deadened by the granting, to the British people only, of a bounty of a like amount by Canada, whose great wheat fields of the West are rightly regarded as the granary of the Empire.

3. Owing to the enormous wealth of Canada in natural resources, and the great diversity of pursuits carried on by our people, we must recognize it as the right and duty of our Parliament to provide constantly a system of paternal government, not alone for our immediate benefit, but for the upbuilding of our country for future generations.

HELP FOR OLD BACKS THAT ACHE

GIN PILLS Cure Them. Age is no barrier to the wonderful soothing, healing properties of GIN PILLS, the great Canadian Kidney Cure. We have on record many letters from men and women of 60, 65, 70, 75, 80 and over, testifying to the great relief they received from taking GIN PILLS.

Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., suffered for twenty years with misery in his back. Some months ago, he tried GIN PILLS and after taking only three boxes, was entirely cured. Mr. Martin is now 85 years of age and enjoys the robust health of a vigorous man of sixty, thanks to GIN PILLS.

All elderly people are troubled, more or less, with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and pain and weakness in the back. GIN PILLS are a guaranteed cure for all these misfortunes. Money promptly refunded if they fail to give complete satisfaction.

CURE SICK HEAD

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in constipation, curing and preventing the annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cure!

Ache they would be almost relief as to those who suffer from this distressing complaint, but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

Is the base of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure all the others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not grip or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

LAURIER DEFENDS NAVAL POLICY

Writes to La Presse Saying that
New Conditions Mean New Needs.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—La Presse last evening published the following communication from Sir Wilfrid Laurier addressed to the Hon. T. Berthiaume and the editor of that paper:

Gentlemen—All Canadians will be grateful for your article of Saturday last in which you revive the fine and imposing figure of Commandant Fortin, a man of head and of heart, who was in reality the father of the Canadian navy.

The short study you published brings to mind the origin of our cruisers and explains from events of the past the present situation.

You say with reason that in 1852 "the care of the Government was to protect Canada from danger and abuse from the violation of its fishing grounds and from smugglers." These governments were those of Hon. Auguste Norbert Morin, one of our greatest portraits, and Hon. Mr. Hincks, I take advantage of this historical fact to point out that the Government of the present day is not behind that of 1852 and I do not think that we could be accused of a crime in following out the policy of our predecessors. There would be good reason to attack us if, instead of following that policy, we had longer neglected it.

Considering conditions, the measures of defence then adopted bore much more heavily upon the country than those to which we now have recourse; the revenue of the country then was only $1,600,000, while to-day it exceeds $100,000,000.

At that time, however, our share of the protection was minimized because Great Britain maintained her warships at Halifax, which would be immediately available for our defense in case of necessity. These ships have now been withdrawn from our ports, and we can not complain since their departure has been the confirmation of our autonomy. The Mother Country has shown her full confidence in our loyalty since she has handed over to us her arsenals, stores and fortifications, and now it is for the people of Canada to provide for their own protection, making her own laws, her own commercial arrangements with other countries, and even taxing as she sees fit the products of the workshops of Great Britain.

In 1852 Canada had only the Gulf to defend. Now we have all the Maritime Provinces, Halifax, St. John, Cape Breton, Prince Edward Island and the whole Pacific Coast, the Gulf of St. Juan, Vancouver, Victoria, Esquimaux, Prince Rupert, the Yukon, etc.

We must not forget that there are continual dangers on the Pacific Coast, where the fisheries, forests and mines represent millions in value to be defended. It is not when a catastrophe arrives that we must prepare to meet the danger. The duty of statesmen is to provide against the possibility of such catastrophe. What would happen to our commerce if at the moment when Canada is prepared to offer the shortest route between Europe and Asia by its railroad and ocean connections for the valuable trade passing between the two continents, by a false economy we should lose hundreds of millions of business?

Moreover, how could we prepare our compatriots for ocean navigation if we do not give them opportunity to learn on training ships. In former times our great shipyards of Quebec furnished sailors. But they have disappeared with the elimination of the sailing vessel. It is by the construction of cruisers that we hope to revive the ancient industry and bring about the establishment of immense shipyards, which will produce iron ships of all kinds, not only for the government navy, but also for commercial purposes. The engagement of our marines being limited to three years of service, they will then be able to obtain important positions in the mercantile marine. The navy will employ captains, mates and clerks, as well as carpenters, electricians, mechanics, firemen, sailors and so forth.

I am not at the head of Canada's affairs for my own personal satisfaction. My duty is to work in order to make this country strong and respected, and I do not think that my compatriots of the province of Quebec should be in this matter of a different faith to my own. Moreover, they would have reason to take me to task if I failed in the duty assigned to me of making Canada worthy of taking a foremost place in the British Empire in the face of the whole world.

I know that in campaigns false ideas have been spread regarding the navy which, in agreement with my colleagues of the Cabinet, and the majority of Parliament, I have undertaken to create. Demagogues—there is no other expression that can be applied to them—have sought to frighten the people with prospects of conscription and enforced enrollment.

There has never occurred in any political fight, whether in this country or elsewhere, a more dishonest assertion. In Great Britain itself the greatest naval power that has ever existed, conscription has never been known. It is ridiculous to suppose that the naval law would be more severe here than in England. But there is more yet. Forced enrollment has always been part of the militia law in Canada in the event of invasion. This provision of the militia law was deliberately eliminated by us from the naval service provisions. Conscription is no more to be feared to-day than it was at the time Commandant Fortin called for volunteers to recruit the "Canadienne".

Our autonomy has been similarly preserved by a clause which reserves to Parliament the absolute control of a service which is its own creation, and which cannot be used otherwise than by the will of the representatives of the people.

When this law is better understood by the people of Canada, and especially the people of this province of Quebec, will find in it nothing but a full recognition and an exact application of their rights as well as of their duties.

WILFRID LAURIER.

FARMER'S BODY FOUND IN ABANDONED WELL.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 18.—Benjamin Smith, 22 years old, a farmer, to-day led officers to an abandoned well near his home and there showed them the body of his father, with head crushed in and bearing other evidences of murder. Smith was arrested last night after he had appeared at a neighbor's with blood-stained hands a few hours after his father had been missed. He was charged with murder, but accounted for his appearance by saying that he had been beaten by highwaymen. To-day's revelations followed several hours of questioning.

STRIKE OF NEW YORK TAXICAB DRIVERS.

New York, Nov. 18.—The strike of the taxicab drivers continues, and the police have their hands full checking disorders. Women and children are being employed to ride in the taxicabs that are being taken out by strike-breakers, according to Charles W. Forster, of the Teamsters' Union, and he said to-day that the police should put a stop to it. "We can restrain our own men from doing any violence," said Forster, "but we can not promise to keep the strike sympathizers in order. The company has found that passengers will not ride in cabs that carry policemen, and they are employing this new and dangerous method."

ACCUSED OF THE MURDER OF BRIDE.

Kansas City, Nov. 18.—Andrew J. Brown, formerly clerk in a San Francisco hotel, wanted in that city on the charge of murdering his bride November 3, was arrested here to-day. He said he had had no peace since he left San Francisco. The woman was found dead ten days after her marriage to Brown. "I've been dodging here and there every day," he said. "It has been awful to feel that you're being watched all the time."

It is said he and his wife had quarrelled frequently. Brown said she killed herself and he fled because he feared he would be suspected.

ST. LAMBERT BEAT HARVARD AND YALE QUEBEC AT FOOTBALL
PLAYED A DRAW

Locals Put Up a Hard Game, But Montreal Team Proved Too Strong.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—Cold and miserable weather prevailed during the St. Lambert-Quebec football match this afternoon at the Montreal A.A.A. grounds.

The kick-off took place at 3.45. St. Lambert's ball. St. Lambert ran the ball down the field, which resulted in a rouge.

St. Lambert kicked the ball from the middle of the field down to within six feet of Quebec's goal, which resulted in a try.

St. Lambert, 6; Quebec, 0. St. Lambert did some fine kicking, but did not convert. St. Lambert also did some fine bucking, but missed some splendid passes. Jim Coleman was ruled off for dirty work, which gave Quebec a better chance.

St. Lambert brought the ball down the field as far as Quebec's goal and scored again.

With the score eight to nothing in favor of St. Lambert, their prospects were very bright. With a rush down the field again St. Lambert scored another rouge.

St. Lambert, 9; Quebec, 0. However, St. Lambert managed to get down the field to Quebec's goal, resulting in another rouge.

St. Lambert, 10; Quebec, 0. Mr. Mackenzie was hurt in a mix-up. The game was delayed a few minutes, when the big fellow was up again and after the pigskin as lively as ever. McKenzie, of Quebec, tackled Rooney and the latter was obliged to retire, being injured in the mix-up. At that period Quebec made a fine kick which resulted in a convert.

St. Lambert, 10; Quebec, 6. Quebec were read to score again when they were tackled by their own men. A kick-off by St. Lambert resulted in another convert.

St. Lambert, 10; Quebec, 6. Another pass from scrimmage resulted in a rouge.

St. Lambert, 17; Quebec, 6. Quebec rushed down the field with the pigskin, but missed what they aimed for, which gave St. Lambert an opportunity to make a try.

St. Lambert, 20; Quebec, 6. Some good play on the part of St. Lambert resulted in further additions to their already large lead, which now read:

St. Lambert, 32; Quebec, 6. St. Lambert brought the ball down the field again, which resulted in a kickdown.

St. Lambert, 35; Quebec, 6. St. Lambert had two minutes more to play, when they scored a touchdown, bringing the score up to 35 to 11 in favor of the St. Lambers.

After some further playing, in which neither scored, the referee's whistle blew, bringing the contest to an end. Final score, St. Lambers, 35; Quebec, 11.

Considering the condition of the pleasant, a large gathering witnessed the contest and evinced lively interest in the playing of both teams.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Varsity defeated T.A.A.C., champions of the O.R.F.U., this afternoon by a score of 22 to 3.

Peterboro, Nov. 19.—R.M.C. won a hard game from Varsity II. this afternoon by a score of 6 to 2. The match was the play off for the intermediate intercollegiate championship.

CURLERS GET INVITATION TO SWISS BONSPIEL.

An invitation has been received from the Swiss curlers to take part in the annual bonspiel during the coming winter. The invitation runs as follows:—

"At a meeting of the committee of the Swiss international curling bonspiel, held in Edinburgh last week, it was resolved that the bonspiel which this year be played at Wegen, Switzerland, during the week commencing Monday, Jan. 30. I was instructed to communicate with the secretaries of the different Canadian provinces, and invite rinks to take part in this match. I shall feel greatly obliged by your making this known among curlers in your part of the country, and should you succeed in getting a representative rink from your province I shall feel obliged by your communicating with me as soon as possible."

VARSITY JUNIORS HAVE DISBANDED FOR SEASON.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Owing to the fact that it will be three weeks or more before the junior Dominion finals will be played, it has been thought advisable by the Varsity Athletic directorate not to hold their juniors, champions of the intercollegiate union, together any longer, so the team therefore have disbanded for the season.

Great Struggle Between the Teams Resulted in no Score.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 19.—A drawn and scoreless battle was fought out on Yale Field this afternoon between Harvard and Yale. To the adherents of the Blue it was a moral victory, for their team had proved too strong for the powerful Crimson team, which had come here confident of victory. When the game, which must be reckoned as among the greatest ever fought between these rival universities, was over, the great throng of people quietly stepped down from the tiers of seats and took up their homeward journey with mingled emotions, the Yale men supremely happy over what their team had done and the Harvard adherents sad in having victory snatched from their grasp through lost opportunities.

This is the third time that Yale has come back at the 11th hour to cheat Harvard of a victory, the others in 1897 and 1899, being on Soldiers' Field, and under conditions somewhat like those of this season. Those years, as in the present season, Yale had a disastrous midseason, but rallied when the time came for the upset.

In the game this afternoon both teams were very strong on the defense, but the wonderful team work which Harvard had shown all the season went to naught through costly fumbles, both when it was not a long way to the Yale goal, and when the Crimson was battering her way down towards the coveted point.

Poor generalship both times had elected to rush, with downs to spare, instead of trying a field goal, which seemed to promise success. These fumbles were the critical points in the game. Harvard was always the aggressor, and Yale made few consistent gains. The punting was disappointing as a whole, although in the first period it gave promise of being a feature.

From the spectators' point of view the good features of the game were the variety of plays used and the fact that the ball could always be seen. The forward pass was used by Harvard five times, of which three tries were failures, and of the other two only one made a gain, and that simply eight yards. Yale did not use the play.

The game was played in the shortest time of a championship contest on the field, lasting less than an hour and three-quarters. The scene, which had as its setting a patch of green turf with banks of humanity, four sides, scintillated with colors. The singing was effective, and one of the striking color effects was when the Harvard cheering section in the west stand outlined a great "H" and red and white pennants, waving them to the singing of a college air.

MIX-UP OVER THE INTERMEDIATE FINALS

Grand Trunks Claim the Hon-Through Default of the Argonaut II.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—The Argos II, intermediate champions of the Interprovincial Rugby Union, have decided to default to Grand Trunks the Q.R.F.U. champions, who thus win the intermediate championship of the Canadian Rugby Union in a walk-over in the semi-final round. Grand Trunks will now meet the winner of the Varsity II-R.M.C. game.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—There is a fine mix-up over the intermediate Canadian Rugby finals, Argonauts II, the Big Four champions, deny having defaulted to Grand Trunks, the Quebec Union title holders, and claim the right to play the winners of the Cadets-Varsity II game here, the winners to play the Trunks. Secretary John Davidson, of the Canadian Rugby Union, claims that Argonauts were ordered to stand ready to play Grand Trunks if the latter won out the protested game, and that the oarsmen defaulted and are out of it. Grand Trunks beat the protest, and are now to play the intercollegiate winners in the final game at Montreal. The Argonauts are protesting that they are out through a misunderstanding, but their chances of getting a game with Cadets are very slim.

The complete records of Intermediate Canadian champions since the title was first instituted in 1894 is as follows:

1894—McGill University II. (Quebec) by default.

1895—Lorne (Ontario), defeated Quebec (Quebec), 34 to 2.

1896—McGill University II. (Quebec) drew with Brockville (Ontario), 20 to 14.

1897—Toronto University II. (Ontario), defeated Britannia (Quebec), 25 to 11.

1898—Britannia (Quebec), defeated Brockville (Ontario), 7 to 4.

1899—Peterborough (Ontario), defeated Westmount (Quebec), 4 to 2.

1900—London (Ontario), defeated McGill University II. (Quebec), 14 to 5.

1901—Peterborough (Ontario), defeated Quebec (Quebec), 17 to 9.

1902—Quebec (Quebec), defeated Peterborough (Ontario), 8 to 0.

1903—Westmount (Quebec), defeated Victorias (Ontario), 15 to 7.

1904—No game.

1905—Ottawa II. (Quebec), by default.

1906—Ottawa (Quebec), defeated Hamilton, 11.

1907—Hamilton II. (Interprovincial), defeated Montreal II. (Quebec); Varsity II. (Intercollegiate) defaulted.

1908—Hamilton II. (Interprovincial), defeated Varsity II., 33 to 9; Hamilton II. defeated Grand Trunks (Quebec), 18 to 9.

1909—R. M. C., Kingston (Intercollegiate), defeated Grand Trunks (Quebec), 13 to 0; Dundas (Interprovincial), defeated R.M.C., Kingston (Intercollegiate), 24 to 4.

SHAMROCKS RESIGN FROM THE LEAGUE

No Schedule Was Drawn Up at the Meeting Last Saturday.

Shamrocks tendered their resignation as members of the National Hockey Association at the meeting held on Saturday at Montreal. They later applied for membership in the Interprovincial Association, but no action was taken.

The drawing up of a schedule was left to another meeting, but it is expected that a double schedule between the five clubs left will be drawn up.

Mr. Emmett Quinn presided at Saturday's meeting. Wanderers were represented by Mr. Eddie McCafferty; the Canadian athletic club by Messrs. Geo. Kennedy and Al. Lecours; the Shamrocks by Messrs. W. Hinphy and Peter Murphy, with Mr. Joe O'Brien, President of the Shamrock Association. Renfrew was represented by Mr. Herb. Jordan, formerly from Quebec, and Quebec was represented by Mr. Joe Power.

Ottawa was not represented, but it is understood that the Capital city club is favorable to anything which the League may decide, and that they will not send a delegate until the time comes for drawing up the schedule.

A bone of contention now before the League is the possession of Newsy Lalonde, who last year played with Renfrew, but whom the Canadians now wish to secure.

A conference between the interested clubs in regard to this question was held yesterday, and it is hoped that an amicable settlement of the question will be reached.

BATTING AVERAGES IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Jackson, of Cleveland, might have been a disputant with both Lajoie and Cobb for the prize automobile for hitting in the American Baseball League during 1910 but for the limited number of games in which he appeared. In the official list of batting averages, made public to-day, he heads the list with a percentage of .387. He appeared in only 20 games, however, and was not eligible for the prize. Cobb is second with .385 and Lajoie third with .384. Philadelphia heads the clubs in batting with .265, Chicago being last with .212. Lajoie played in the greatest number of games of any player in the league, his record being 591 times at bat in 159 games.

ANNUAL MEETING ONTARIO HOCKEY ASSOCIATION.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The annual meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association was held in the Temple building this morning with a very large representation of clubs. A resolution was passed accepting the trophies offered by J. Ross Robertson for the intermediate and junior series and expressing appreciation of the association and gratitude to Mr. Robertson, whose deep interest in amateur hockey has done so much for the game.

Mr. Francis Nelson, in moving the resolution, said that too few men like Mr. Robertson took part in sport to correct any faults from the inside. He tendered the thanks of the Association to Mr. Robertson for his splendid trophies.

J. Ross Robertson's amendment, to displace the statutory declarations for junior age limits by official birth certificates from the Registrar-General's Department or from a church baptismal record was carried. There was no opposition.

PASSENGERS OF
THE ROYAL GEORGE

Landed at Grosse Isle—Vessel Left for Montreal — Dr. Adams' Report.

The passengers of the Steamer Royal George were landed at Grosse Isle on Saturday morning. The steamer was subsequently fumigated and left for Montreal, passing here at 6 o'clock on Saturday evening.

A dispatch from Montreal states that "just as soon as it was thought that one of the steerage passengers on the Canadian Northern liner was suffering from the dread malady (cholera) the advice of the greatest scientists was sought, so that a proper bacteriological verdict could be obtained. Necessary specimens required for the analysis were immediately sent, and the sputum put to the required tests. These bacteriological tests were carried on here by Dr. George Adams, professor of pathology at McGill University, who, after the most careful inspection and analyses of the matter at his disposal, sent his confidential report to the officials of the Health Department of the Federal Government at Ottawa late Friday night. Though the details of the report to the Government could not be made known in this city, Dr. Adams said on Saturday that he could be quoted as announcing that there was serious cause for alarm."

A dispatch from Ottawa to the Chronicle last evening was to the following effect: "The passengers on the Royal George, now in quarantine at Grosse Isle, will be detained for ten days. The suspected case of cholera, upon investigation, proves to be the dread disease itself. Dr. Montzambert has wired to this effect to the Department of Agriculture."

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.
It is said that a piece of property belonging to Paquet estate, near the St. Charles river, St. Roch's, has been purchased by Gignac & Co. Price named is $20,000.

RECORDER'S COURT.
The only two prisoners who appeared before the Recorder on Saturday charged with drunkenness were fined $5 and costs or fifteen days' jail each.

BILL AT THE OLYMPIA THIS WEEK.

The bill at the Olympia this week includes four reels of pictures and Bert Brown with his alligators and crocodiles. A striking picture will be "Man and Monster," a fight under the water.

COURT OF SESSIONS.
A defendant found guilty of assault was fined $1 and costs and bound over to keep the peace in the Court of Sessions on Saturday. James Barry, who was arrested on Friday last for stealing fifteen dollars from a man in the Salvation Army barracks, as reported in the Chronicle, pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

LOOKING FOR A MARKET SITE.

The Mayor and members of the City Council spent Saturday afternoon inspecting different localities in an endeavor to find one suitable for a market site to replace the Champlain market. The places visited were the Finlay square, the Grand Trunk site, Flood's Cove on the St. Charles river, and the site opposite the old Marine Hospital.

FOUR DROWNED BY UPSETTING OF BOAT.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 20. — Four persons were drowned near here early to-day when a row boat capsized in the St. Mary's river. They were: Fred Parker, Cecil Brown and Reginald Levi, all of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and John Sherwood, night ferryman, who used the row boat after the steam ferry had ceased for the day. Three passengers aboard the boat were rescued when the little craft capsized.

The six passengers and the ferry man left the American shore for the Canadian Soo. The boat was overloaded and a stiff east wind washed considerable water into it. Bailing was started, but two more combers struck the frail craft and it went down. Parker, Brown and Levi disappeared immediately.

Sherwood, who was a cripple, and the other three passengers started to swim for shore, but the ferry man was soon lost sight of. Cries from the other swimmers attracted the attention of the crew aboard the supply boat Superior and the latter's distress signals brought a tug which assisted in the rescue.

LADIES' MORNING MUSIC CLUB

The distinguished Quebec Ladies' Musical Club has, as in years past, chosen in preference to all others two of Heintzman & Co.'s artistic pianos. Both these magnificent instruments, a splendid "grand" and an "upright," classic style, will be used at all recitals which will be given during the winter season. Only representatives in Quebec of the real Heintzman & Co. pianos.

FOUND DEAD ON HIS KNEES

Alphonse Ruel, an employee of the Quebec & Levis Ferry Co., where he was employed as gate-keeper, was found dead at his residence, 282 Prince Edward street, yesterday morning. Shortly after nine o'clock a young girl named LeBel, from Stadacona village, a friend of deceased's daughter, called at the house to see her, and as she did not get any answer when she knocked for admittance to the house, she forced the door open. As soon as she entered she proceeded upstairs, and when passing Ruel's room, saw the latter on his knees alongside of his bed and apparently unconscious. She immediately notified the daughter, who was asleep in another portion of the building with three other girls, and when they went to Ruel's room, the latter was dead. A physician was called in, but he could do nothing, as life had been gone for some time. Dr. Jolicœur was notified and had the body removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held to-morrow morning.

'FOLLIES' COMPANY CAPTURES LONDON

The Entertainment at the Apollo Theatre Is Drawing Crowded Houses Daily.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

AGAIN Mr. H. J. Pettister and his company, called the "Follies," have caught London. In fact, they have never let go since they first took hold of public favor some two years ago. Their new entertainment has just been produced and is drawing crowded houses to the Apollo Theatre at every performance. It consists mainly of a burlesque of the prevalent fad for pageants that has been sweeping over all England during the last two years and a skit showing the humorous features of a professional voice trial in a theatre.

The stage story of this little organization of eight people is one of the most remarkable in the history of theatricals. Two years ago they came to the Apollo Theatre to stay four weeks. They have been playing there to full houses ever since, having a two month well earned vacation they took this summer. While the company are all exceedingly clever artists, Mr. Pettister, the owner and originator, is the moving spirit and hardest worker of them all. He writes the plays and songs, designs the costumes and scenery and plays the star parts. He is good natured and fat and bears a striking resemblance to the late Mr. Peter F. Dinkley.

Nobody ever saw Mr. Pettister in a bad humor. He always seems happy and fairly bubbling over with geniality. Good humor is the real secret of his good fortune, and good fortune has certainly been his in the last two years, as he has undoubtedly acquired quite a large solid fortune in that time. There is never anything in his entertainments to offend any one's feelings. He believes that the public likes best fun that is absolutely good natured and that it is not necessary to be malicious or sarcastic to be amusing. His smile is chronic and his good nature contagious. It's no wonder that his light hearted cheerfulness is so popular in this gray old city of gloom and fog and that Londoners go night after night to have a laugh with him and get their spirits perked up. He has come to be regarded as a sort of mental tonic, an anti-depression medicine.

There is no use in describing his new burlesque, as nobody much cares what it's about. It's sure to be harmlessly funny anyway, and that's all they look for.

HEAR PLAINT OF DRAMATIC CRITICS

London Editors and Theatrical Managers Seek Remedy for Writers Who Must Work Against Time.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

A DISCUSSION on first aid to dramatic critics has occupied the attention of the London Institute of Journalists during their conference this week. According to some of the distinguished editors who spoke at the meeting the London dramatic critic has a pretty hard time of it. His do not finish until very late on night nights, and newspapers go to press earlier than they used to, so the poor critic has to work like mad to get his notice written in time for the first edition. To find some way to remedy this hardship and give the critic more time was the object of the discussion.

A number of persons prominent in the theatrical affairs were asked to make suggestions. Among them was Sir Herbert Tree, who had two remedies up his sleeve. One, which he had recently tried himself at his production of "Henry VIII," was to have the play start an hour earlier than usual on the first night, and so give the critics an hour's leeway at the end. It was generally agreed that this would be quite convenient for the critics, but decidedly inconvenient for the general public.

Then Sir Herbert sprang his other idea, which was that the papers print two notices of the play, a brief report of its production the next morning and a lengthy and carefully thought out review the following day.

This idea of criticism on the instalment plan did not appeal to either Mr. Harry Lawson, M. P., president of the Institute, or to Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M. P. They, and a number of others as well, thought that as there are no daily papers printed in London on Sunday, all premiers should be held on Saturday nights, thus giving the critics all day Sunday to write. That would be thoroughly practical and satisfactory if there were four or five Saturday nights in each week, as there are about that number of premieres every week in London during the season, and the most agile critic can be in only one theatre at once.

It was finally decided that Sir Edward Clarke's proposition that the French system of repetition generale, or public dress rehearsal, for the critics was the best way out of the difficulty. This custom was formerly quite general in London but of late years has been almost abandoned. Managers claim that a play is always seen at a disadvantage at a dress rehearsal, and don't like the critics to judge a play from it.

So there you are. Probably nothing will be done and the critics will have to get along as best they can. As things are now they are able somehow or other to write extremely long notices, fully as long as the average reader has patience to wade through. It is appalling to think what they would turn out if given an hour or so more to write.

AMERICAN SINGERS IN LONDON OPERA

Miss Edyth Walker, Miss Elizabeth Amsden and Others Will Be Heard in the Beecham Company.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

IN the list of artists engaged to appear at Covent Garden in the forthcoming Beecham opera season American singers make a proud showing. The most recent arrival among these is Marguerite Lemon, of the Metropolitan Opera, New York, who has just reached here from America. She has had considerable previous European experience, as she sang for three years in all the principal cities of Germany. She will appear here on the opening night, October 1, as Marta in "Tiefand," which will then be given for the first time in England.

Another American is Miss Elizabeth Amsden, of Boston, who has been engaged to create the part of Toinette in "Le Chemineau," which will be given for the first time in England on October 12. Miss Amsden made her operatic debut in Paris, where she studied, and last season she sang at Covent Garden.

Miss Blanche Hamilton Fox is also a native of Boston, and has had quite a successful career in Italy and America. She has a rich mezzo soprano voice and has a large repertoire of operas. In the first week of the season she will sing in "Tiefand," "Les Contes d'Hoffman" and "Elektra."

The best known of all, of course, is Miss Edyth Walker, who will again sing the role of Elektra, which she created here last spring.

The men singers who are Americans include Mr. Clarence Whitehill, of the Metropolitan Opera House; Mr. Gaston Sargeant, a young Pennsylvanian with a remarkably deep voice, and Mr. Allen Hincley, who is also of the Metropolitan company.

BANDEAUX IN STYLE FOR HAIR ORNAMENTS

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

True to historical precedent the present season brings up the problem of what particular kind of hair ornament shall be made the vogue. And the approaching season is to be no exception.

"London's fashionable world feels that it has decided that question already," said Mons. Jules Ssoiloy, the Court hairdresser, who speaks with authority about such things. "There never has been a time when ornaments for the hair have been so popular. At the same time a note of simplicity will be struck this season. What can look more charming, for instance, than a string of pearls wound loosely through the hair and falling in a small tassel just above the left ear? Such an arrangement lends a charming effect."

"On the other hand, there is nothing in reality so effective as the ribbon bandeau. This season it is introduced in all sort of ways—jewelled ribbon, sequined ribbon and ribbon of gold and silver tissue with pearl embroideries. They all serve the same purpose, and give a most finished appearance to a well dressed head of hair. The ribbon of the artificial flower as a hair ornament is absolutely over. The ribbon or 'paste' bandeau has entirely taken its place. High bandeaux of colored paste fashioned after the old Greek 'key' pattern will be the popular wear for the theatre or dinner party, while the chignon, which long has been out of fashion for the evening, is returning to favor."

"For certain styles of hairdressing nothing looks more effective than a sweeping aurelette of black or white, fixed into the hair with a jewelled clasp. In fact, some of the most fashionable aurettes have a stem of jewelled peacock's feather design standing up in the aurelette itself. Personally, though, I think the most becoming ornament for the hair is the Grecian double fillet, either of paste or jewelled ribbon, worn at the back of a Grecian coiffure and drawn lightly through the wavelets in front."

TO AVOID DANGER FROM X RAYS

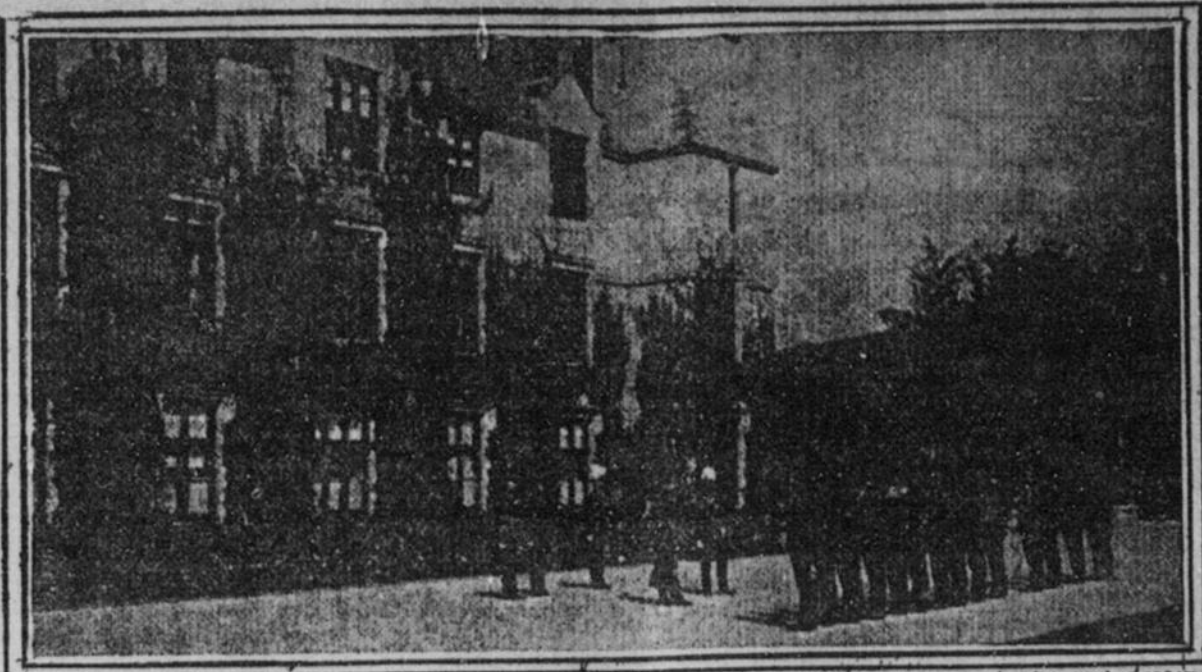

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

AS the latest scientific victim of exposure to the X-rays, Mr. Ernest Wilson, who for twelve years has been a radiographer in the London Hospital, has undergone another operation on his right arm. This makes the fifth time he has been under the surgeon's knife, one putated only a few months ago. In the circumstances the larger institutions which possess X-ray installations are increasing their efforts to find an effective safeguard against the danger entailed by constant exposure to the rays.

In several institutions the plan is being tried of supplying the men working the apparatus with lead lined overalls, the lead offering successful resistance to the rays, which cannot penetrate it. These garments, however, are so heavy and cumbersome as to cause physical exhaustion to their wearers within a short time. The alternative plan advanced, which is already finding much favor, is the isolation of the rays within a closed chamber, into which a patient can be placed. The current producing the rays and all supplementary focusing can be perfectly controlled by means of various devices. In these conditions he escapes exposure to danger. It is said here that Dr. J. Mount Bleyer, a noted nose, throat and lung specialist, of New York, who has made almost daily use of the X-rays for diagnostic purposes for years, has not a scar on his person. He calls X-ray burns "secondary inoculation." The rays are not in themselves poisonous, he declares, but the force of them is so terrific that they drive poisonous particles from the air into the person. To prevent this he sees at first that all exposed parts are absolutely clean and then he coats them with several layers of paraffine. This simple dressing, he says, effectually prevents X-ray "burns."

DECORATIONS GIVEN TO THE OFFICERS

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

ALL England has cheerfully surrendered to the men of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, who came over here for participation in the army manoeuvres through the generosity of their Colonel, Sir Henry Pellatt. Honors have been heaped upon them wherever they have gone, and, in return, the Canadian militiamen have proved that they are made of the real soldier stuff.

They have undergone experiences of every kind. For days they lived under canvas at Aldershot, while the weather man saw to it that they had British rain and mud in plenty to wrestle with. They underwent practice drills and practice marches that brought the most cordial compliments from even the hardest regulars as to their ability to withstand endurance tests. When they entered London for a five days' visit they moved with a swing that brought choruses of cheers from the swarms of spectators for their grit, for they had marched twenty miles, taken part in a sham battle, had only one meal since eleven o'clock of the preceding night and not a single wink of sleep. They were tired men, but there was not a break in the ranks of a single company, except for the absence of those officers who, as the cables have reported, had suffered slight attacks of typhoid fever, all now being convalescent.

But the one big mark in the regiment's records is that a detachment of their men, headed by Sir Henry Pellatt, were personally inspected by King George at Balmoral Castle. As it was impossible to muster the entire regiment at Balmoral, fourteen men and their commanding officer were selected to represent the entire body, which had previously been inspected by the Duke of Connaught acting for His Majesty. There were speeches on both sides after this ceremony, followed by a presentation of decorations. The King's address, which praised the regiment as having been the first to cross the seas to participate in the home manoeuvres in the mother country, attracted wide comment. Sir Henry, in his reply, somewhat shattered precedent by addressing His Majesty frequently as "Sir," but this was held as emphasizing Canada's democracy and genuine good will.

After the ceremony the King conferred on Sir Henry Pellatt and Lieutenant Colonel P. Mason the Royal Victorian Order, third class, and on Major R. Rennie and Captain Higginbotham the fourth class of the same order, and the silver medal of the order on Color Sergeant M. D. MacDonald, the senior non-commissioned officer. After their stop in London, where the visitors were entertained and received the freedom of the theatres, the regiment returned to Aldershot to continue participation in the autumn manoeuvres.

At that big military centre a song of the Canadians has made a great hit with the regulars. To the tune of "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" they thunder this refrain:—

"Has anybody seen Sir Henry?
H-E-N-R-Y.
Has anybody seen Sir Henry?
Canada is his home.
He's an Indian chief and God knows what
We have followed him to Aldershot;
Has anybody seen Sir Henry,
Colonel of the Second Queen's Own?"

After the manoeuvres the men will go direct to Liverpool for their return to Canada.

STRAUS OPERA IS LONDON SUCCESS

"The Chocolate Soldier" Drawing Crowded Houses and Is Expected to Continue for a Year.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

Many American managers have brought musical plays to London and, with the exception of "The Belle of New York," have invariably met with failure. That disastrous record has now been broken by Mr. Fred C. Whitney with "The Chocolate Soldier." The success of this comic opera is one of the biggest that London has ever known. Even at the matinees the theatre is crowded and the house is practically sold out for two months ahead. Mr. Whitney will produce another opera, "Baron Trench," in Philadelphia next month.

"I don't need to bother about 'The Chocolate Soldier' any more," he said before leaving. "It's good for a year's run here at least, and so I shall not return to London until next spring."

Disraeli is to be the principal character in a play which Mr. Louis N. Parker is now writing. It will be given first in America, with Mr. George Arliss as the great statesman-novelist.

The Pelican states that Miss Lily Elsie is engaged to be married to a wealthy young Englishman who bears a distinguished name, which said distinguished name must not be mentioned just yet.

As Marie Studholme, who has been seriously ill, is almost well again, her force abroad if we would save our interests and keep our friends in Europe. By 1915 Germany will have her ports and naval arsenals, her wharves and jetties and her fleet and transports ready, and when ready she may strike like lightning. Then, not far from Waterloo, must come the clash of nations fighting for their very life.

"Round Holland and Belgium the nets are drawing closer every day. We already harbor a million of the enemy within our gate. Our politicians mostly lie, or dare not speak the truth. Disaster stares us in the face. At the outbreak of war our food supplies will fail, and prices will be far beyond the pockets of the poor. Employment then will cease and starving millions will demand surrender."

ENTERTAINING BY ANGLO-AMERICANS

Mrs. Smith Takes Broughton Castle, While Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin Welcome Guests at Balmacraan.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

IT is scarcely to be wondered that Americans are so fond of spending the autumn months in England, not because of the sport—for that they could have in greater variety and more profusion in their own country—but rather because of the lovely old baronial halls, with their thousand historical associations. In these old family places the American woman experiences the delight of being for the time chataleine of an old castle such as her ancestors have known, or if these be lacking such as she has read of in history and fiction, and here she dispenses hospitality right royally, it must be confessed.

Mrs. J. H. Smith has this autumn taken Broughton Castle, near Banbury, usually the home of Lord and Lady Algernon Gordon-Lennox. This lovely old place dates back to the twelfth century. With Mrs. Smith at Broughton are her daughter, Duchesse Visu, and her grandchild, and here Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Lady Maldstone and other relatives and friends are being entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glasgow have renewed their lease of Peper Harrow, Lord Middleton's place, and on returning from the Continent Mrs. Glasgow again went there with her little daughter.

At Balmacraan there is a never failing succession of visitors, for Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin entertain more than ever. Mr. Frederick Townsend Martin, who is with them as usual for the autumn, is this week giving his annual fete for the children of Glen Urquhart, and Mr. Martin has taxed his ingenuity to make it a memorable festivity, so that it will be one quite in keeping with the feudal spirit of the locality. Seven hundred children have been invited, and with their parents will come with them the number of guests will be about two thousand. For their entertainment a "Roman carnival" has been provided.

The keepers and gillies on Mr. Bradley Martin's estate have been drilled to take the part of various animals, such as elephants, lions and bears, while a deer stalker and others of the locality will represent Jester, Pierrot, Punch, Folly, Chinaman and Golliwog, not to omit an American Indian, two negroes and two clowns.

STANDARDIZATION IN POLO.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

Showing as it does that the spirit of compromise is abroad and that a real endeavor is being made to standardize English and American polo, the inauguration of the Anglo-American competition, to be played at Narragansett Pier, is regarded by well wishers of the game on this side very favorably. Viewed in the light that it plays the same part as mediator in America as the Whitney Cup tournament did at Hurlingham and Roehampton, it is looked upon as a very welcome experiment.

WOULD MAKE SUN DO ALL OUR WORK

Professor Fessenden, of Columbia University, Has New Plan for Tapping Solar Energy.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

SCIENTISTS from many countries had a real field day at the recent meeting of the British Association in Sheffield. Sir Norman Lockyer discoursed on star furnaces, while quite a startling announcement was made that we may soon be able to imprison the heat of the sun, and thus be independent of coal and other fuel. Professor R. A. Fessenden, of Columbia University, struck that climax by developing on paper a plan for the running of machinery from power to be obtained from the sun, the wind and the waters of the sea. He based his statements on practical experiments which have been made in America. He even has gone so far as to patent two methods.

In one case he would erect on the cliffs along the sea coasts a number of windmills. These would be made to pump up water from the sea, causing it to flow into large reservoirs, from which it would be made to fall from the heights to run a power house below. The falling water would operate turbines connected with dynamos, the latter in turn generating electrical energy. Supplementing this scheme he would erect smaller windmills, modelled something after the ordinary ventilating fan, so mounted that they could be turned and made to catch the breezes at all times.

A second plan for power generation, as he outlined it, would have as its principal factor specially devised tanks, with glass tops. The sun's rays would heat the water in these tanks, and the steam so generated would be passed through a pipe to low pressure turbines. In turn operating dynamos which would create power to pump water to a required height to lend power as in the case of the windmills.

The walls of the "solar tanks," so Professor Fessenden plans, should be preferably formed of ferro-concrete and covered outside and inside with some reflecting material, such as tinned iron. With the object of totally absorbing the sun's rays, and so obtaining the maximum temperature, black dye or some coloring matter would be dissolved in the water.

HOT AIR MAY OUST FIRE IN COOKING

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

It would seem that "hot air" finally is to serve a more useful purpose than the convenience of the political orator. According to the big guns of cheddor who marshalled themselves at the Bakers' Exhibition in Agricultural Hall, it will be utilized to cook the succulent steak of the future.

Lady Cunard the Victim of an Automobile Crash in Germany

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

AT Doncaster there was a very successful race meeting, the weather proving unusually pleasant. Americans, or rather Anglo-Americans, present were not numerous, and included Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf Astor, Mrs. Chaucey and Mrs. Maldwin Drummond. Lady Cunard, who was to have been one of Lord and Lady Pittsilliam's guests at Westworth Wood, was at the time laid up at Munich, suffering from the effects of an automobile outrage, for by no other name can it be designated. She and Mrs. Charles Marshall were, with many others, waiting outside the Opera House at Munich for their car, in which to return to the hotel, when suddenly another automobile, dashing up, ran right into the pavement.

Mrs. Charles Marshall was knocked down and so severely injured that she is still in the hospital at Munich, while Lady Cunard was also thrown down and very severely out and bruised. The driver of the car, neither apologised nor offered help, this task being left to Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Baroness von Andrs, Lady (Ralph) Paget and Lord Westbury, who fortunately escaped the onslaught of the car. So little was the sympathy of the crowd, which of course at once collected, that Mrs. Marshall's and Lady Cunard's gold purses, containing English bank notes and gold, were stolen. The authorities, however, took good care to exercise censorship with the press that none of this should be made public. Certainly it does not speak much for the civility of the Germans!

PREDICT EXPANSION DOWN TO ISTHMUS

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday.

The Observer, in a recent editorial, says:—

"It is just possible that the United States is not destined to be master of South America. The Latin communities have suffered in the past from three grave troubles—they were not able to federate, European immigrants had not established themselves to the exclusion of the natives, and the problem of the position of the army in a democratic State had not been solved satisfactorily to politicians. Gradually these difficulties are being overcome. The report of an alliance between Argentina, Brazil and Chile is very significant."

"The one thing still required to put a stop to American aggression is the co-operation of Mexico. The future will show whether Mexico owes her present prosperity to the increased common sense of the masses of the people or whether it is wholly the work of the wonderful genius of General Diaz. Unless his work lives after him the United States will advance its frontier to the Isthmus of Panama by the incorporation of one great Latin State, which will not imperil the independence of the remainder."

are each divided into four equal pockets. The marks of division should be made before the pockets are stitched on.

When run on rods and attached to the closet door the bag becomes a real joy, for the pockets pouch out just enough, the rods holding all firmly.

Figured chins and figured English lines are both excellent materials to use in the construction of this shoe bag.

TURBINES FOR CARGO BOATS.

The annual report of the Parson Steam Turbine Company contains the following interesting item:

"In the last report reference was made to the cargo steamer Vespasian, which had been purchased by the company, and was the being fitted with a system of geared turbines in order to demonstrate the possible economy in fuel, weight and space which that system of machinery would secure, as compared with the best types of reciprocating engines fitted in cargo steamers of low speed and great deadweight capacity. During the past year extensive trials of the Vespasian have been made, both on the measured mile and on ordinary service at sea; thorough investigations have also been carried out to determine the actual consumption of steam and coal. On the first trials made off the Tyne it was demonstrated that at ordinary sea-speeds the geared turbines reduced the steam consumption 15 per cent., as compared with the consumption required with reciprocating engines. Since these results were obtained the vessel has been continuously employed on ordinary sea service, carrying coals to Rotterdam and returning in water ballast. She has completed 14 voyages, and steamed 8,500 miles in all weathers. The machinery has worked with entire satisfaction, giving no trouble whatever, and there has been a remarkable freedom from racing, even in the roughest weather. The results obtained on the first trials, as to relative economy in steam consumption when compared with reciprocating engines, have been confirmed by the data obtained on these voyages. It may, therefore, be anticipated that the geared turbine system will hereafter find extensive use in the very numerous and important class of cargo steamers of the British and other mercantile marines, by which the carrying trade of the world is principally performed."

Skin Sufferers Cured by Cuticura Remedies

Do you suffer from skin and scalp humors that torture, disfigure, itch, burn, crust, scale, injure the hair, and destroy sleep? Then here is convincing proof of the skin health to be found in the Cuticura Remedies. Read in these remarkable statements—taken from the original letters—how others have been speedily and economically cured of eczema (or salt rheum), psoriasis, ringworm, rashes, pimples, falling hair, ulcers, sores and similar afflictions, of young and old, by these invaluable household remedies, when all else fails.

Family's fearful skin troubles. Four children covered with raw, torturing eczema. Mother blind with eczema, sleepless and nearly mad with worry. The hospital seemed their last resort when Cuticura Remedies made perfect cures. — Mrs. Jeanie Smith, 10, Midway Rd., Romford, Essex.

Montreal woman's itching eczema lasted for seven years. Physician treated her but she got worse. Could not sleep or even put hands in water. Tried all manner of treatment, even a hospital, but grew worse. Found prompt relief and final cure in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. — Miss Mary A. Bentley, 93 University St., Montreal.

Doctor prescribes Cuticura Remedies for severe skin eruption. Itching and burning were dreadful and sufferer would almost tear his skin apart, trying to get relief. Tried all kinds of prescriptions in vain. Cuticura Soap and Ointment gave relief the first day, and now he is well. — B. L. Whitehead, M.D., 108 Dartmouth St., Boston, adds, "I have great faith in Cuticura Remedies now that I am convinced of their wonderful merits."

Cured her three-year-old eczema. Their heads were covered with itching eruptions. All kinds of remedies failed and mother was in despair. Their immediate relief and economical recovery due to Cuticura Ointment. — Mrs. Christina Ritchie, Roseberry, Scotland.

Features indicative with eczema. Baby's head a mass of eruption. Was an impatient at hospital five weeks. Mother tried everything but there was no improvement. Well as ever after treatment with Cuticura Remedies. — Mrs. Finlow, 24, Corporation St., Stafford, England.

Chief surgeon of skin hospital said, "I never saw such a case of eczema." Baby's head was unbearable and sufferer got little or no relief. Suffered agonies for a year. Wrote: "After using three sets of Cuticura Remedies I was cured." — Henry Seale, 1700 Park Ave., Little Rock, Ark.

Face and neck a mass of pimples. Almost too bad to describe. Dreaded to wash because of pain. Spent pounds on treatments which failed to cure. After five long years of suffering, he tried Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap. They cured him. Can not praise them too highly. — Frank Revell, 47, East St., Newton Abbot, Devon.

Baby's face like mass of raw beef. Smothered with bad pimples. Awful to look at. Scratched and cried terribly. They feared he would always be disfigured, but Cuticura Remedies quite cured him. — Mrs. E. Perry, 90, Waterloo Rd., Aldershot, Hants.

Scratched twenty-eight years until it got to be second nature. Suffering from psoriasis was endless and without relief. Shed scales constantly and matted hair on useless treatments. Cuticura Remedies made skin clear as a baby's. — Dennis Downing, Waterbury, Vt.

Itching eruption 55 years. Found no relief. Bolls formed as big as walnuts. Was in frightful condition and could hardly work. Suffered from birth. Used Cuticura Remedies eight months and was cured. — Hale Bordwell, R. F. D. 3, Tipton, Ia.

Baby would have died but for Cuticura Remedies. Itchy rash on his head when but three months old. It spread over entire body. Put mittens on him to prevent tearing skin. Reduced to a skeleton. One bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment soothed him to sleep. A single set cured him. No return in 20 years. — Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ont.

Perfect cure of varicose ulcer resulted from using Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment as advised by a physician. Had suffered three months and was growing worse under other treatment. — Charles Sparrow, 7, Virginia St., Belfast, Ireland.

Child's ringworm with loss of hair cured. Almost impossible to describe state her head was in. Raw from using unsuitable ointments. Tried many remedies and even a skin hospital. Thought hair would never grow again. Used Cuticura Remedies and hair is now thick and full of new growth. Scalp completely cured. — Mrs. T. Ward, 187, Markby Rd., Wilson Green, Birmingham, England.

At 74 years fine head of hair to Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Itching, scaly scalp humors was making his mother's hair all fall out in spite of treatment. She was advised to use "Cuticura." Trouble over and hair growing again. — Ellsworth Dunham, Hiram, Me.

One box of "Cuticura" cured three. Husband, daughter and baby boy had dreadful itching rash. Would scratch till they bled and sleep was badly broken. — Mrs. F. Hart, Castle St., Woodbridge, Suffolk.

Itching, bleeding eczema cured by Cuticura Remedies after five years of suffering beyond description. Thought death was near and longed for that time when she should be at rest. Now well, and says: "I am so grateful I want the world to know for what helped me will help others." — Mrs. Allie Elson, 88 Ian Rd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Her baby's head a mass of running eczema that took every hair off. Was a pitiful sight. Kept someone night and day to prevent his scratching. After second application of Cuticura Ointment, itching stopped. Now has lovely hair and skin, thanks to Cuticura Remedies. — Mrs. H. A. Morgans, 20, Pwll St., Landore, So. Wales.

A dozen families had "the itch" in a Welsh village. Their whole bodies itched like a million mosquito-bites. Sleep was out of the question, and life became an inferno. Doctors did their best to the avail. After a few days' treatment with Cuticura Remedies the result was a perfect cure in all cases. — Thomas Hugh, 3956 W. Huron St., Chicago.

Doctor advised cutting leg off. It peeled from knee down, and foot was like raw flesh after she had been treated for eczema for 25 years. Decided to try Cuticura Remedies first. In ten months' use of them she was cured. Says: "But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life." — Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277, Mettans St., Montreal.

Baby tortured by cruel humor on hands and face. Crusts formed, cracked and bled. Itched frightfully. They put on mitts to stop her scratching, and had to rock her day and night. Not a mark left now and father writes, "Cuticura seems a wonderful remedy." — Henry M. Fogel, Bath, Pa.

Psoriasis all over her body. Attended a hospital for months but did not seem to get better. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and spots disappeared. No signs of return. — Mrs. F. J. Stokes, 17, Delvino Rd., Parson's Green, London, S. W.

Dreadful boils for 11 months. Made sufferer weak and ill, and forced her to leave work. Tried everything one could mention, to no avail. Her mother tells how, after using one set of Cuticura Remedies, she is well. — Mrs. Ellen Heather, Hillside Rd., Ash Common, nr. Aldershot, Hants.

Baby wanted to a skeleton with terrible sores. Scratched and tore flesh unless hands were tied. Physician treated him but he grew worse. Now is well, and mother says: "Only for the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, my precious child would have died." — Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, Litchfield, Conn.

30 years of scaly, disgusting eczema cured. Suffered since childhood. Attended a hospital for years and years. Eczema was smothered from head to foot. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and in a few weeks eruptions had completely disappeared. — Mrs. Butler, 17, Francis Rd., King's Norton, Birmingham, England.

Was getting bald of 19. Dermatologist could not assure a cure and thought hair would come out white or gray, if at all. Used "Cuticura" and in two months hair was growing its natural color. In six months no sign of trouble was left. — G. J. Browne, 1 Remington St., Dorchester, Boston, Mass.

Her babies had awful eczema. One died of the dreadful disease, the other's head a mass of running eruption. Child was in torture. Used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and the way his head healed up "nothing short of a miracle." — Mrs. Mary Straker, 41, Berry St., Preston, Lancs.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have promoted skin and hair health throughout the world. Sold by druggists everywhere. Send to the proprietors, The Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 128 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A., for a free 48-page booklet telling all about skin and scalp troubles, and giving you nearly a hundred unquestioned testimonials, as convincing as the above.

ELECTIONS OVER BY DECEMBER 18

ELECTIONS OVER BY DECEMBER 18

Campaign in Great Britain Will be Sharp and Bitter as Well as Short.

London, Nov. 19.—With the delivery of Premier Asquith's speech, declaring the policy of the Government, following as it did Mr. Balfour's outlining of the Unionist policy earlier in the week, the two parties in the political contest have laid their cards on the table. The fight will be short and sharp, and, from the attitude of the politicians, who have already taken the platform, as bitter as it will be short.

When the failure of the veto conference was announced, all signs favored the Government candidates just fresh from their successes in the bye-elections. Flood trade returns increased the popularity of free trade, while the Unionists, disorganized, had apparently lost heart, some of their newspapers even predicting their defeat should an election ensue. The approach of the dissolution of Parliament, however, restored their confidence, and although a section of the party which a few weeks ago advocated federal home rule, is finding it awkward to recant, the ranks generally have been reformed.

The House of Lords, naturally, is the foremost question on which the election will be fought. A section of the Unionists, made up of old Tories, is unwilling to accept Mr. Balfour's scheme for the reform of the Upper Chamber, particularly objecting to the elimination of the hereditary principle, but the influence of the men who comprise this section will have little effect.

A plank of importance in the Unionist platform is opposition to home rule, and "the use of American dollars to destroy the British constitution." The last cry has lost some force through the publication of a statement that only the sum of $75,000 was collected by the Irish leader, Redmond, one-third of which came from Canada.

The Unionists opened their tariff reform campaign in the manufacturing districts when the crisis was reached, and hoped to be given time to make appreciable inroads on the Liberal strongholds. Dissolution intervened, and improved business conditions which tended against the success of this plan.

The Liberals are confident in their policy for the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords, free trade and the success of the Government's social legislation. They have an awkward problem to face in seeking a solution of conditions arising from the Osborne judgment, which prohibits trades unions from using their funds to support the labor party. The labor members of the House of Commons are demanding that legislation be enacted to overcome this judgment, and Mr. Asquith has promised to announce the Government's policy on this matter next week. The judgment has had the effect of reducing the number of labor candidates, thus avoiding three-cornered contests, in which the Liberals lost a dozen seats last January.

It is expected that the elections will be finished by December 18. The boroughs, including London, will poll between December 3 and 8, the district boroughs between December 7 and 17, and the counties between December 8 and 17. The press in the coming election will have an advantage not accorded since the days of the "Long Parliament." The resolution declaring it to be an infringement on the liberties of the commons for a peer or prelate to concern himself in the election of the members, was not renewed at this Parliament.

The Suffragettes are well provided with funds for the elections, but the public has lost curiosity in their actions.

FOUR BALLOONISTS HAD

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 19.—In a 65-mile gale, which buffeted their big ship about like a toy balloon, Pilot Leo Stevens, of New York, and four William's College students who ascended in the balloon Cleveland, from North Adams this morning, landed three hours and thirty-three minutes later, on the shore of a lake just outside of this city. All five men were thrown out when the final landing was made, and one, H. P. Scherman, of London, England, was rendered unconscious. He suffered injuries to his back which for a time it was feared might prove of a serious nature, but late to-night his condition appeared to be improved.

To prevent landing in the lake, the men threw overboard all their superfluous clothing. They did not do this, however, until everything movable in the basket—the balloon cover, dress suits, instruments and the like—had first gone over the side. Thus lightened, the big gas bag kept aloft until the lake was crossed, when it came down on the shore with such force that Scherman was hurled out of the basket.

With Scherman's weight gone, the balloon rose and travelled some distance at a rapid pace, until it bounded against a wire fence, then on until it struck a stone wall. This threw the remaining occupants out and all were shaken up and bruised, although none was seriously injured.

NO MORE SMOKING ON

TORONTO STREET CARS.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—The off-theatened blow has fallen, all smoking on the cars of the Toronto Railway Company, cooled or open, will be prohibited after December 1. The company this morning passed a law to that effect, which will be strictly enforced. The company has also passed regulations that passengers must enter cars by the rear door and alight at the front.

DEAD AVIATOR WOULD HAVE

AGAIN TAKEN UP VAUDEVILLE.

Hamilton, Nov. 19.—Arrangements had practically been completed for Ralph Johnstone, the daring aviator, who plunged 800 feet to death at Denver yesterday, to return to vaudeville this winter and tour the big cities of America and Europe at a salary of $3,500 a week. Manager Appleton, of the Temple, a personal friend of the dead aviator, had a letter from him the other day. Johnstone was well known in many Canadian cities, where he appeared in a thrilling bicycle act before going in for aviation. "He was the most courageous fellow I ever met," said Appleton. "He did not know fear."

CORONATION WILL BE NEXT JUNE

Earl Marshal's Notices to Peers and Peeresses—Etiquette of Dress.

London, Nov. 20.—Preparations are already being made for the Coronation next June, and on Wednesday the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl Marshal, issued three notices in a special supplement of the "London Gazette" to peers and peeresses who will be summoned to attend the ceremony.

In the first the names and addresses are required of peers and peeresses who are entitled to be summoned; in the second the peers are informed of the type of mantle and coronet they are expected to wear; in the third peeresses are given like information as to their robes.

The robe or mantle of the peers must be of crimson velvet, edged with miniver, the cape furred with miniver pure, and powdered with bars or rows of ermine (i.e., narrow pieces of black fur), according to their degree.

The coronets to be of silver gilt; the caps of crimson velvet turned up with ermine, with a gold tassel on the top; and no jewels or precious stones are to be set or used in the coronets, or counterfeit pearls instead of silver balls.

The lower degree of nobility are represented by silver balls on their coronets and the higher by gold strawberry leaves as well, except in the case of dukes, who are confined to the latter form of decoration.

The robe or mantle of a baroness must be of crimson velvet, the cap whereof to be furred with miniver pure, and powdered with two bars or rows of ermine (i.e., narrow pieces of black fur); the said mantle to be edged round with miniver pure two inches in breadth and the train to be three feet on the ground.

The degree of nobility of the ladies will be shown again on the coronets in the form of silver balls and in the number of rows of ermine.

The resplendent robes for the Sovereign will be made by Messrs. Ede, Son, and Ravenscroft, who have attended Monarchs and peers of successive Coronation ceremonies since the reign of Queen Anne.

They will be entirely of British manufacture, with the unavoidable exception of the ermine, which may possibly be supplied by Canada, although a better quality comes from Russia.

At the Coronation of King Edward several peers wore the robes in which their predecessors appeared at the crowning of Queen Victoria and William IV. One peer wore the robes in which an ancestor attended the Coronation of George IV. If they are too large for their new wearers they are altered by the robe-makers. At the last Coronation several well-

PREMIERS WILL TALK REPRESENTATION

Interprovincial Conference Called for December 9 by Ontario and Quebec Leaders.

For the purpose of discussing a proposal to amend the British North America Act, regarding the representation of the Maritime Provinces in the Parliament of Canada, the Prime Ministers of the nine Canadian provinces will meet at Ottawa on the 9th of next month. The call for the conference has been sent out by Sir Jas. Whitney and Sir Lomer Gouin, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec, at the request of the Prime Ministers of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. At the last Inter-Provincial Conference of 1906 a resolution was adopted empowering Sir James and Sir Lomer Gouin to call another conference whenever it was deemed advisable. Each of the Provincial Premiers will have the privilege of having one or more of his colleagues present with him at the conference, which will assemble at 10.30 on the morning of Dec. 9th.

Owing to the fact that the basis of representation of all the provinces in the Dominion is founded on the representation of 65 members from Quebec, there is likely to be another reduction in the number of members from the Maritime Provinces. The number of representatives in the Dominion House is fixed under the provisions of the Act of Confederation, and the representation is arranged after each decennial census, the basis being that the Province of Quebec is always to have 65 representatives, and each of the other provinces such a number as will give the same proportion of representatives to its population as the number 65 bears to the population of Quebec as ascertained by the census. The representation of the Maritime Provinces has been reduced after each census, and it is feared that another reduction will be made after the census next year, owing to the fact that there has been a decrease in the maritime population on account of the great exodus to the West.

In order to offset any reduction in the number of representatives, it will be necessary to amend the British North America Act, and the form of the amendment to be proposed will be decided upon when the Provincial Premiers and their colleagues meet at Ottawa.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS.

It is of interest to every man and woman who wishes to spend his Christmas at the old home, whether it be in England, Ireland or Scotland, Scandinavia, Belgium, Holland or France, to learn the most convenient and comfortable means of reaching his destination, and we would draw special attention to the sailings of the White Star-Dominion Line steamer Laurentic from Portland December 3rd and Halifax December 4th, reaching Liverpool December 11th in good time to settle down before Christmas, even if you are proceeding to any home town in the above countries, or the Canada, sailing from Portland on December 10th, Halifax December 11th, reaching Liverpool Dec. 20th.

These sailings are specially convenient for passengers from Quebec, the train arrangements both by the Grand Trunk for Portland and Intercolonial for Halifax having been made with a view to their comfort and convenience.

Passengers going via Portland leave Levis at 6.40 p.m. Friday and go through to Portland, arriving there at 7.30 Saturday morning, their sleeper connecting direct with the steamer which sails shortly after the arrival of the train. The baggage is checked from the ferry at Quebec to the steamer at Portland without further examination, and is delivered on board the ship without any expense or trouble to passengers. In other words, in less than 12 hours after embarking in the sleeper at Levis you are comfortably established in your berth on the steamer without being put to any expense or trouble in handling baggage, hiring cabs or paying hotel bills.

If passengers prefer to travel via Halifax, the rail journey is somewhat longer, but the convenience is the same. You take the train at Levis at 5.40 p.m. Friday, reaching Halifax Saturday afternoon, and arrangements have been made for passengers to remain in the sleeper until the arrival of the steamer from Portland early Sunday morning, when they are transferred direct from the car to the ship, which after leaving Portland at 9 a.m. Saturday calls at Halifax early Sunday morning.

PARISIAN IVORY TOILET WARE.

A beautiful ware resembling real ivory in appearance but surpassing it in durability and finish. When mounted with gold-finished initials, Parisian Ivory Toilet articles are most attractive and present a dainty appearance on the dressing table. For Christmas gifts, we predict for it a large sale.

As an indication of the moderate prices, we quote as follows:—

No. 44003 Parisian Ivory Hair Brush and Comb in case (Brush with gold-finished initial) $6.25

No. 44000 Parisian Ivory Hair Brush, Comb and Mirror in case (Brush and Mirror with gold-finished initial) $12.25

Write for other prices and illustrations of individual pieces ranging in price from 50 cents up.

ADMIRAL'S SON WEDS DAUGHTER OF THE SEA.

New York, Nov. 20.—Admiral of the Fleet Lord Fisher, of Kilverstone, G. C.B., and Rear-Admiral Sir Frederick Fisher, K.C., V.O., of the British navy, were arriving passengers to-day by the White Star Line Baltic. They will attend the wedding at Philadelphia on Tuesday of the Hon. Cecil Vavasour Fisher, Lord Kilverstone's son, and Miss Jane Morgan, daughter of Randall Morgan, of that city. Miss Morgan marries into a naval family with good grace. She is one of the few women in the world with a master mariner's license.
