

RUSSIANS SEEK COMPLETE ALLIANCE

Demand Full Support From Two Nations

Russian Demands for Full Military Co-operation in Return for Joining an Anti-Aggression Front Reported to Have London and Paris Worried—Believed Tripartite Alliance Might Hasten War.

London, April 21.—(C.P. Cable)—The Soviets have made definite proposals to Great Britain and France demanding their full military co-operation in return for joining an anti-aggression front, it was reported in official quarters today.

The Russian demands were reported to have London and Paris worried because neither country was prepared to go that far in collaboration with the Soviets. The western democracies take the view that a tripartite military alliance might throw Berlin into such a rage it might start a war instead of guarding against one.

According to reports in diplomatic circles, Russia's counter-proposals to Anglo-French suggestions that the Soviets extend guarantees to countries fearing German and Italian aggression were delivered to Sir William Seeds, the British Ambassador in Moscow. They are being studied in London and Paris, and consultations on them between the British and French Governments have already been held.

Even if Britain and France agreed to accept a three-way military pact, it was feared Rumania and Poland might refuse to have anything to do with it.

Russia formerly ruled parts of both these countries, and Polish and Rumanian officials feared any occupation of their territory by Russian troops might prove an embarrassment after any need of the aid of the Red army had passed.

Officially it was pointed out the conversations were continuing both in Paris and Moscow that the new Soviet plan was not necessarily final.

It was stressed that Britain has not offered a military alliance to Russia though this eventually might be done.

It was believed in diplomatic circles that Russia had offered to co-operate on an outright military alliance basis because she fears she might be caught by a joint German-Japanese invasion.

In his report to the Foreign Office, Sir William was said to have pointed out that the Soviet Government would prefer to have a broad front of all powers willing to oppose any aggression combined ultimately into a large pact for mutual assistance.

This suggestion, however, was not being seriously considered here for it might mean that in certain eventualities Poland and Rumania would be asked to go to the assistance of the Soviet.

Foreign Office officials in London took Turkish co-operation in their coalition for granted, although no official announcement has been made as to the outcome of recent Anglo-Turkish talks.

Polish Press Expresses Fears At Russian Participation In Accord

Warsaw, April 21.—(P)—The newspaper Express Poranny, which often expresses views of the Polish Foreign Office, voiced belief today Russian aid in any European war might be dangerous to the countries receiving it.

The newspaper said many nations would be unable to accept Soviet help "for geographical-political reasons."

The armed forces of the Soviet would become an extremely strong influence in certain parts of Europe "after a long European war," Express Poranny declared, and "many countries instead of enjoying victory would be unable to face revolution."

The newspaper explained Poland's opposition to entering any military alliance with Soviet Russia had been made clear to Great Britain and France from the time the British-French system of guarantees was started.

Britain guaranteed aid to Poland in case of a threat to Polish inde-

Hitler's Reply To Roosevelt In International Spotlight

Chancellor Hitler Turns from Two-Day Festivities Marking Birthday to Preparation of Speech to Be Delivered in Reichstag Next Week—Mussolini, Berlin-Rome Axis Partner, Terms Plan "Absurd."

Berlin, April 21.—(P)—Chancellor Hitler turned today from the two-day festivities of his fiftieth birthday to the drafting of the Reichstag speech with which he will reply one week hence to President Roosevelt's non-aggression proposals.

Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop and his staff had gone to work on material for the reply immediately after Hitler was acquainted with the contents of the President's message in conferences at Munich last Saturday and Sunday. Today, following the birthday celebrations which reached their peak yesterday with a gigantic parade of German military power, Hitler himself was comparatively fit to consider the speech for which the Reichstag has been specially summoned.

Hitler's axis partner, Premier Mussolini, who received a dispatch of the United States President's peace pledge proposal, yesterday called the message "absurd."

Lights burned late last night at the new Chancellery where Hitler spent the evening in company with close collaborators, while joyous crowds thronged the spacious, flood-lit Wilhelmplatz.

The youngest among Hitler's children yesterday was ten-month-old Edda Goering, daughter of Field Marshal Hermann Goering, brought by her mother and nurse to see the Fuehrer, her godfather.

Berlin's newspapers recorded the events of the birthday in page-long articles which claimed that the Czech people "wholeheartedly participated" in the celebration.

Army parades were held at Brno and Prague, in Germany's new protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia. The demonstration at Prague was in Masaryk Stadium, named for the founder of the former Czechoslovak republic.

Little Slovakia, once part of Czechoslovakia and now nominally independent, was also mentioned in the celebration.

Express Poranny also voiced doubt as to the value of Russia as a military ally from the standpoint of defence.

BEAVER ENTERS FILMS Washington, April 21.—(P)—Mickey Mouse has a new "real life" competitor in the movie field. He is the beaver. To demonstrate the value of the industrious little animal to farmers, the United States Bureau of Geological Survey has just completed a film showing the beaver building dams. Agriculture Department officials consider the beaver dam valuable as a conservator of water and soil.

A SLIGHT DELAY Allentown, Pa., April 21.—(P)—Eighteen-year-old Robert Riedy wasn't kidding when he wrote the Curtis-Wright Technical Institute at Glendale, Calif., that he was "thumbed" a ride across the continent by air. A week ago Riedy asked a pilot, coming east for a ride home, and was given fifteen minutes to get ready. He made it.

ALLEGED TORSO SLAYER FACES HEARING TODAY

State Attorney Announces Early Trial for Baltimore Man After Reading of Alleged Confession at Inquest.

Baltimore, April 21.—(P)—A trail of newspaper-wrapped parcels of human flesh led Aurelio Marco Targinio to the grand jury today.

The forty-three-year-old steel worker and former tavern-keeper, in whose rear garden was found buried the head of Mrs. Evelyn Rice, thirty-one, will be presided this afternoon, State's Attorney Bernard Wells said.

Prosecutor Wells made known his decision soon after Police Lieut. Ezekiel Williams testified at a coroner's inquest yesterday that Targinio had confessed fatally injuring the woman, a divorcee from Dublin, Ga. whom he identified as his housekeeper, during a quarrel.

Meantime, pathologists reconstructed the body from limbs found in sewers within four blocks of his house, sections of the torso found in a bramble patch near the City Hospital and beneath a tiny rose bed.

Great Military Display Marks Their Majesties' Ottawa Stay

Ottawa, April 21.—(P)—When the King and Queen visit Ottawa for four days next month it will be an occasion of military pomp and state ceremony, but their Majesties should feel more at home in the capital than at any other point on the Royal itinerary for their programme here will be like a page from their routine in London.

The large part of the Canadian tour will be a round of sightseeing and public appearances, but the Ottawa programme released last night by the inter-departmental committee in charge of the tour gives details of a succession of full-dress state ceremonials and colorful military pageantry.

Of major importance will be the unveiling of the National War Memorial by His Majesty on May 18th, the day following their Majesties' arrival here. The King will unveil the massive granite and bronze shrine to the war dead at a ceremony replete with massed choir, lines of veterans, and the thin notes of buglers sounding Last Post and Reveille. The address the King will deliver will be broadcast throughout Canada and the United States.

The Queen will have a familiar task when she lays the cornerstone of the new Supreme Court of Canada building on the banks of the Ottawa river on May 19th and delivers a broadcast address. The King will be largely a spectator on that occasion but on Saturday morning, May 20th, in celebration of his birthday, he will act alone when he attends the traditional trooping of the color, a brilliant military display on Parliament Hill.

The Dominion Government will entertain at a state dinner at the Chateau Laurier May 17th, and invitations, for lack of space have been restricted to the upper brackets of the table of precedence for Canada. The following evening there will be a Parliamentary dinner. Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.

QUET ROUTINE FOR BIRTHDAY OF ELIZABETH Postman Bore Extra Heavy Load to Windsor Castle Today as Heiress-Presumptive Celebrated Thirteenth Anniversary.

Windsor, England, April 21.—(C.P. Cable)—The postman bore an extra heavy load to Windsor Castle today as Princess Elizabeth celebrated her thirteenth birthday.

The Princess, heiress-presumptive to the Throne, entered her teens and a new period of careful training for Royal responsibilities.

To mark the event the Princess had a tea party at Windsor Castle with a private movie show afterwards. She is dining with the King and Queen tonight.

One birthday cake—made to Elizabeth's own order—bore thirteen flickering candles. The girl who may some day be Queen of Britain, of Canada and all the Empire, gaily blew out the candles and cut the first slice.

A second birthday cake was sent to children's hospitals as a gift from the Princess.

Her presents included a pearl from the King for his daughter's set, and silk stockings from the Queen. The King also gave her a diamond bracelet, while from Queen Mary, her grandmother, came a silver dressing set. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor sent a movie camera.

The Princess went riding in the sunshine in Windsor Great Park on her horse "Peggy" after seeing the ceremony of the changing of the Guard at the Castle.

STANSTEAD COLLEGE BILL APPROVED Quebec, April 21.—(P)—A bill providing for reconstruction of Stanstead College, destroyed by fire in the Eastern Townships nearly a year ago, was approved today by the private bills committee of the Quebec Legislative Council.

The bill was to be given third reading when the Council, Provincial Upper House, sits later today.

Government Hopeful Of Proroguing Legislature Before Next Week-End Quebec, April 21.—(P)—Just when the Quebec Legislature, in session more than three months, will be prorogued was a matter of conjecture today.

Before it adjourned yesterday until Tuesday, the Legislative Assembly was told by Premier Duplessis the Government would "try" to bring prorogation next week.

BLAME MATCHES IN FATAL FIRE AT WORCESTER

Head Jailer Exonerates Guards and Trustees of Blame for Fire Which Took Three Lives, Including One Canadian.

Worcester, Mass., April 21.—(P)—Authorities today expressed belief that the careless use of matches by prisoners was to blame for a fire which last night killed three inmates—one of them a Canadian—sixty-six-year-old county jail.

Sheriff Oscar Roebelen, head jailer, said the blaze was discovered in a padded cell occupied by John Baskett, serving time for drunkenness, and launched an immediate investigation. He absolved guards and trustees from blame.

Only four of the eighteen cells in the section, termed by the prisoners as the "Back Bay," were occupied and Baskett was the only one to escape with his life. He was taken to hospital. The dead men, who were suffocated by heavy smoke, were Antonio Dost, eighteen, of Rouyn, Que., awaiting trial on a

MONTREAL BILL AWAITS FINAL READING TODAY Special Session of Legislative Council Being Held Today to Give Third Reading to Much-Amended Montreal Measure.

Quebec, April 21.—(P)—The Montreal Bill awaited today only third reading by the Quebec Legislative Council before its sanction through the Legislative Assembly stood adjourned until next Tuesday. The Council was due to meet and possibly give final approval to the metropolitan administrative measure.

The bill was studied and approved through minor amendments during two sittings yesterday of the Private Bills Committee of the Upper House.

Clashes for special charges of $100,000 to the Bell Telephone Company, $550,000 to the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company through reduction of rates, and $50,000 to Montreal Transways, were among the last given assent.

At the same time the Committee clipped from $5,000 to $3,000 special taxation on the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telegraphs companies, and from $3,000 to $2,000 a charge to the Dominion Electric Protection Company. The amendments had been fixed last week by the Assembly's Private Bills Committee.

In the inaugural address of a series of three lectures at the University of Toronto, the pictured reconciliation and union of French and English in Canada as a practical demonstration of tolerance and of the qualities of loyalty, sympathy and understanding "by which alone our Empire can be preserved."

Earl Baldwin said the union of the two racial groups served as an example to Europe that was on the threat of war is not necessarily a law of nature. After centuries of strife, nations could seek—and find—peace.

Before delivering his opening lecture, the Earl was invested by Sir William Mulock, University Chancellor, with the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Last night's address inaugurated a lectureship established last year in tribute to Sir Robert Falconer, former University President.

Through the method of mutual co-operation employed by the Empire, Lord Baldwin said, "We have been able to show that difficulties can be resolved by discussion where we are certain they could not be by force." It had been found the method could be applied to domestic needs as well as to those of wider Imperial import.

"There is nothing of (English) complacency or self-righteousness in holding that such methods may be employed in a wider sphere and in failing to see why they should not be employed with success," he said.

Lord Baldwin's address dealt with "My country and what she stands for; my people and what they have brought to this continent, and something of the wider world of which we are a part."

Finance And Industrial Reorganization Decried For French Arms Drive

More than Sixty Decrees Submitted to Cabinet for Approval in Daladier's Fight to Speed Armament Production—Increased Working Hours, New Taxes and Defence Loans Provided to Ease Costs.

Paris, April 21.—(P)—Premier Edouard Daladier called his cabinet to approve new financial measures for the nation's heavy armaments programme today as the German fleet slipped down the French Atlantic coast toward Spain.

Finance Minister Paul Reynaud planned a broadcast telling of the new decrees and why new sacrifices were necessary to meet the dangers of Europe's congealing coalitions.

Informed quarters said President Albert Lebrun would put his signature to sixty decrees, among which would be a general tax on all payments of over 100 francs ($2.64) probably at the rate of five francs per thousand. This tax would substitute for the present tax on production and would be expected to yield more revenue.

Another decree was expected to rearrange France's working hours in an effort to gain more production without raising industrial expenses.

To raise immediate funds the Government was said to contemplate issuing national defence bonds similar to those circulating in the Great War period.

Meanwhile, the steady exodus of foreigners from France continued with every steamship sailing. One shipping company reported full passenger lists up to the end of May.

With seven days remaining before Chancellor Hitler answers President Roosevelt's proposal for a ten-year peace pledge, diplomatic sources said Germany had sounded out smaller European nations on a number of questions, including whether they felt themselves menaced by Germany and whether they had asked President Roosevelt to intervene.

These sources said the information thus gained would be used to answer President Roosevelt's request for non-aggression assurances to thirty-one nations, and to find out if any of the powers thus questioned had joined or intended to join the Anglo-French coalition.

Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Hungary were mentioned particularly as having been sounded out by Hitler.

With part of the German fleet sighted heading westward through the English Channel, events in Spain still worried informed French circles despite Spanish assurances from the ambassador here that Italian, German and Moorish troop movements were not aimed at France, Gibraltar or Tangier in North Africa.

GOLD SHIPMENTS CONTINUE Southampton, England, April 21.—(P)—Movement of gold to the United States continued today with shipments of $12,600,000 ($58,842,000) loaded here. The Manhattan sailed for New York with $9,000,000 and the Champlain with $3,600,000.

NATION-WIDE POOLING OF PASSENGER SERVICE Planned By Canadian Lines Ottawa, April 21.—(P)—With a view to eliminating duplicate services, the joint co-operative committee of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways is studying the possibility of a nation-wide pool of competitive passenger train services under an agreement reached a month ago.

N. B. Walton, vice-president in charge of C.N.R. operations, made this disclosure here yesterday before the Senate Railway Committee, and said that the duplicate services which might be eliminated included stations, spurlines and uptown ticket offices.

A saving of $187,600 was involved in five new co-operative plans prepared for submission to the Transport Commission, he added as the committee discussed a number of abandonments the Commission already has approved.

During the evening session of the committee, which did not conclude until nearly midnight, an effort was made to introduce the question of the new C.N.R. terminal at Montreal.

Demands Immediate Decision On Unemployment Relief Plan

Former Secretary of State Calls Upon Provinces and Dominion to Make Reference to Courts to Decide Upon Validity of Federal Participation in Relief Schemes—Constitutional Changes Suggested.

Ottawa, April 21.—(P)—Persons who contend the Dominion should assume entire responsibility for unemployment ought to do their utmost to induce the provincial governments to agree to constitutional changes which would clothe the Federal Parliament with power to discharge that responsibility, in the opinion of Hon. C. H. Cahan (Conservative, St. Lawrence, St. George).

The veteran Montreal lawyer, who believes judgments of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council have given an erroneous twist to the British North America Act, introduced the constitutional note into the debate on unemployment yesterday by suggesting new constitutional reference to the courts.

Today the unemployment debate enters its seventh day. Labor Minister Rogers obtained second reading for the annual unemployment and farm relief bill last night but discussion continues in the committee stage.

Confusion over responsibility for unemployment was delaying effective action, said Mr. Cahan. Provincial and Municipal authorities kept insisting that the Federal Government should assume the whole financial responsibility, Premiers Hebrun, of Ontario, and Duplessis, of Quebec, had taken this stand.

It was far from certain, however, that this was so. Mr. Cahan doubted if the Federal Government had the legal right to make the grants it was now making for unemployment relief. His doubts arose not from the constitution itself but from the interpretation placed on the constitution by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the Privy Council in the judgment holding the Employment and Social Insurance Act of 1935 ultra vires.

An immediate reference to the courts to settle once and for all where the responsibility rested was urged by Mr. Cahan. If the Supreme Court ruled against the Government, he said, the Government would be forced to make a constitutional amendment.

Lord Baldwin said the union of the two racial groups served as an example to Europe that was on the threat of war is not necessarily a law of nature. After centuries of strife, nations could seek—and find—peace.

Before delivering his opening lecture, the Earl was invested by Sir William Mulock, University Chancellor, with the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Last night's address inaugurated a lectureship established last year in tribute to Sir Robert Falconer, former University President.

Demand Full Support From Two Nations

Mr. Rogers thought the Privy Council decision on unemployment insurance meant the Dominion could not embark on permanent measures dealing with unemployment but did not affect the Dominion's power to deal with emergency conditions.

Joseph T. Thorson (Liberal, Selkirk), said the reference suggested by Mr. Cahan should not be made until after the report of the Royal commission on Dominion-Provincial relations was received. That report might suggest other questions on which a constitutional ruling would be desirable.

A pooling of the best brains in the House of Commons and the ideas of all parties for an attack on unemployment was used by John Blackmore, Social Credit leader, who said it seemed impossible to discuss the question in the House without political wrangling.

A committee of the House, meeting around the table and exchanging ideas, could make progress and draw up an effective plan.

J. S. Woodsworth, C. C. F. leader, Mr. J. Colwell (C.C.F., Roseworth, Bigras), Blackmore, Denton Massey (Conservative, Toronto-Greenwood), Howard Green (Conservative South), and others joined in pressing the Government for action on behalf of the transient unemployed, the distress among women and children, and called for more intimate supervision of the manner in which federal grants are distributed by the provinces.

Speaking in French, J. F. Pouliot (Liberal, Temiscouata), and Maurice Lalonde (Liberal, Labelle), discussed the conditions in Quebec. Mr. Lalonde suggested money should not be granted Quebec unless that Province would agree to a greater measure of control of its expenditure. He said there was political patronage on road works under the relief act.

Mr. Pouliot advocated greater efforts toward obtaining co-operation between the Provinces and the Dominion. He also suggested efforts to make training in skilled trades more accessible to the young people.

Earlier in the debate Mr. Pouliot attacked former Prime Minister Bennett as one of those responsible for distress in Canada. Because Mr. Bennett had recently left Canada to reside in England Mr. Pouliot said he was a "quitter" but Speaker Casgrain ruled that the epithet should not be used against the former Prime Minister.

PRESIDENT OFFERS 10-YEAR PEACE PLAN

I think you will not misunderstand the spirit of frankness in which I send you this message. Heads of great governments in this hour are literally responsible for the fate of humanity in the coming years. They cannot fail to bear the prayers of their peoples to be protected from the foreseeable chaos of war. History will hold them accountable for the lives and the happiness of all—even unto the least.

I hope that your answer will make it possible for humanity to lose fear and regain security for many years to come.

A similar message is being addressed to the Chief of the Italian Government.

In the most dramatic step taken by an American statesman since the World War, President Roosevelt, pictured here at the time his message was announced, personally appealed to Hitler and Mussolini to give Europe and the world a ten-year breathing spell of peace. Below are shown the closing paragraphs of the unprecedented message.

NOTARY DUBUC IN COURT FOR SPEEDY TRIAL

Speedy trial of Notary P. H. Dubuc, accused of theft and forgery totalling almost $12,000, was inaugurated in Magistrate's Court this morning when six of the seven charges against the former manager of La Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke were read.

Plea of Dubuc and reading of a seventh charge were postponed until next week, however, when attorney for the accused, Cesare Gervais, K.C., stated he was pleading in Superior Court.

Dubuc was first arrested in the fall of 1937 and was sentenced to twelve months in the local jail when he pleaded guilty to embezzlement. Near the end of his prison term seven additional charges were brought against him, on all of which he entered a plea of not guilty.

The former bank manager was condemned to stand trial in the Assizes at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing before Judge J. S. Couture but later asked for a speedy trial, his request being granted.

White-haired and pallid from his sojourn at the Winter street jail, Dubuc listened with bowed head as Clerk of the Court Hertel O'Bready read the complaints.

Charges faced by Dubuc and read this morning were as follows: Forgery of the name of a religious, Brother Ronald, to a cheque amounting to $977.05; theft of $492.18, deposited in La Caisse Populaire by Dame Exilia St. Amant; forgery of the name of Francois Demers (deceased) to a cheque for $1,355; forgery of Demers' name to another cheque, value $400; theft of $850 from La Caisse Populaire and forgery of another cheque allegedly made out by Francois Demers and amounting to $1,896.07.

Another accusation that Dubuc took $6,000 from La Caisse Populaire to cover an amount owed to the Stanstead and Sherbrooke Fire Insurance Company was not brought forward today but will be read when the former bank manager appears for hearing next Friday.

DEMAND GROWS FOR EXPANDED AIR RESEARCH

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's plea for better military and civil planes gave impetus today to a drive for more United States Government funds for aeronautical research.

The noted flier told the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics that emphasis should be placed on quality instead of quantity in plane development. The committee has recommended a $10,000,000 research station at Sunnyvale, Calif. which was rejected by the House of Representatives. The Senate approved $8,000,000 to start the project.

Lindbergh conferred with his colleagues on the committee yesterday after a twenty-five-minute visit with President Roosevelt.

His reported advice was that plane production could be speeded up in an emergency, but that quality could not be developed in plants design in a hurry.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. T. MULLINS AT COATICOOK

Lifelong Resident of Coaticook Removed Yesterday in Sixty-Ninth Year.

Coaticook, April 21.—A lifelong resident of this community, Mrs. Thomas Mullins, nee Ellen Mahern, passed away yesterday morning at eleven o'clock following an illness of a month's duration, and her death came as a shock to her wid circle of friends in Coaticook and other points in the Eastern Townships.

In her sixty-ninth year, Mrs. Mullins was married to Thomas Mullins, of Coaticook, forty-three years ago, and had been a widow since the death of her husband in 1916. Her kindly nature and gracious personality endeared her to the hearts of all who knew her, and it is with a deep sense of personal loss that her friends will learn of her death.

She is survived by a daughter, Miss Marguerite Mullins, while a second daughter, Bernice, Mrs. Wilfred Vincent, of Coaticook, predeceased her sixteen years ago. Also surviving are the following step-children: J. P. Mullins, of Bromptonville, M.P., for Richmond-Wolfe; Frank, of Littleton, N.H.; William, of Boston; Theodore, of Oregon; Frederick, of Coaticook; Mrs. Annie Gilbert, of Boston; Mrs. J. H. Vaillancourt, of Berlin, N.H.; Nellie, Mrs. C. Riva, of Lynn, Mass.; Louise, Mrs. C. Harris, of Oregon, and Bernice, Mrs. C. Mahern, of Montreal.

The funeral service will be held tomorrow morning at nine o'clock in the Coaticook Roman Catholic Church, and burial will be made in the Coaticook Cemetery.

DEFENDS PROBE POSTPONEMENT UNTIL MONDAY

Delay of Investigation into Police Department Ordered So that Case May Be Thoroughly Prepared, Ald. Thibault Says.

Stating that no attempt was being made to unduly prolong proceedings in the official investigation into the Municipal Police and Fire Department, Ald. Eugene Thibault, Finance Chairman and leader of the Council, today defended adjournment of the enquiry until Monday.

Ald. Thibault's statement was made to a Record representative and was in answer to the delegation of prominent taxpayers who waited upon Mayor Marcus Armitage with a vigorous protest and a demand the probe, first sitting of which was held Wednesday night, be continued without delay.

"The reason for the delay is that the case must be prepared thoroughly before the different accusations are presented to the Council," said Ald. Thibault, "and the city attorney must have ample time to study every phase of every question."

Commenting on the claim that it was dangerous to have Chief H. O. Camirand and Deputy-Chief Joseph Prunier suspended for any length of time and that the efficiency of the Police Department and the safety of the citizens might be adversely affected by their absence, the Finance Committee Chairman expressed the belief that the normal functioning of the Department would not be materially affected.

"I do not think the citizens will have to worry," Ald. Thibault remarked, "and, besides, I am quite sure that by preparing the investigation before it is brought before the Council we are saving a lot of time and perhaps many extra meetings."

Interviewed this morning Mayor Marcus Armitage declined to comment on Ald. Thibault's declaration and stated the members of the Council were well aware of his opinion on the subject.

"All I can say is that the delegation that came to see me yesterday was comprised of some very important taxpayers and influential citizens," Mayor Armitage declared.

It was learned from authoritative sources this morning that included in the present delegation were two members of the City Council and of the Investigation Committee, namely, Ald. Maurice Delorme and Ald. Eugene Gervais. Neither of these Aldermen, when questioned by press representatives, would make any comment and declined to express their opinions on the delay.

Among others present at yesterday morning's meeting, it was learned, were A. C. Skinner, J. W. Greigoire, E. A. Bernard and Dr. Ludger Forest.

Ald. J. W. Genest, questioned as to his opinion on the postponement in the Police probe, declared he believed it had been requested by City Attorney Eugene Bouveret in order to have the case completely prepared.

Pro-Mayor Guy Bryant stated to a Record representative that the Council wished to finish the enquiry as soon as possible but that there were many aspects to consider. No statement could be procured from the other members of the City Council.

Demands Immediate Decision On Unemployment Relief Plan Continued from Page 1. Court and the Privy Council should decide the federal authorities had not the right to act in connection with unemployment then amendments to the British North America Act should be obtained.

Mr. Cahan said he was making no criticism of the stand taken by Premier Duggan and Hepburn. He had enough confidence in these leaders to believe they would immediately agree to amendments to the British North America to establish federal jurisdiction if the courts decided there was no federal jurisdiction now.

REPORT NEWINGTON SHOPS TO CLOSE MAY 1

Decision To Shut Doors To Affect Thirty-Two Workers

Some Employees to Be Transferred to Montreal Angus Shops and Others to Canadian Pacific Railway Machine Shops Here—Unofficially Said Most Buildings to Be Torn Down to Save Cost of Taxes.

Latest step in the determination of the Quebec Central Railway to put operating expenses under the paring knife is to close the Newington shops on Bowen avenue south May 1, it was learned unofficially, but from reliable sources, today.

All of the thirty-two employees of the shops will be affected in the change. Some of the men are to be transferred to the Angus shops in Montreal, while others are to be shifted to the Canadian Pacific Railway shops here and still others are to be laid off entirely, it was understood. The buildings housing the shop equipment are to be torn down to save the cost of taxes, it was said, with the exception of those in which the motor buses operated by the company are stored.

Officials of the company refused to comment on the matter, but it was learned that the employees have received notices informing them of the change.

Recently the majority of the members of the railway's office staff were transferred to the Canadian Pacific Railway company offices in Montreal. Approximately twenty Sherbrooke families were affected by this move.

In the annual report of the company published a few days ago it was stated that net operating totals for the year were lower than the former twelve months. It was also stated that the prospects for the next year were not encouraging.

ACCORD HONOR TO PROMINENT E. T. MINISTER

Rev. E. M. Taylor, Ninety-One-Year-Old Retired Knowlton Churchman, Receives Degree of Doctor of Divinity at United Theological College.

A distinguished Eastern Townships churchman was paid a signal honor in Montreal yesterday when Rev. E. M. Taylor, of Knowlton, received an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity at the annual convocation exercises of the United Theological College.

Still active at ninety-one, Rev. Mr. Taylor stands out as one of the prominent men of the present day, not only in the Eastern Townships but in the Province of Quebec and Canada. He is one of the pioneer educationalists of the Eastern Townships, a minister of long-standing in the former Methodist and the United Church, a writer and historian who has contributed worthily to the history and literature of Canada and a man whose work to the community cannot be over-estimated.

Born in Pottow Township, Brome County, on January 29, 1848, Rev. Mr. Taylor was educated in the elementary schools of his native community as well as the Mansonville Model School, the Waterloo High School, McGill Normal School and McGill University. His active teaching work began early in his career, and at one time during his Arts course Rev. Mr. Taylor was part-time teacher in the once-famous private school of Dr. P. P. Carpenter, conchologist, under whose direction he catalogued and indexed his reports on Maratitan shells for the Smithsonian Institute of Washington.

In 1873-74 he had full charge of the academic instruction of the Wesleyan Theological College, and taught there for several years while carrying on preaching activity in the district. Rev. Mr. Taylor also has a fine record as a minister, and was one of the organizers of the Brome County Historical Society.

It is of interest to note that Rev. Mr. Taylor is a great-grandson of Daniel Taylor, 1st, whose oath of loyalty to the British Crown was recorded in 1794, and who, in 1797, received a grant of land in Bolton, now known as East Bolton. The great-grandfather was born in Massachusetts in 1767, and moved to Danville, Vt., when a young man. He became one of the forty associates under Nicholas Austin to whom the British Government issued letters of patent to hold the

FLOOD SCENES ON ST. FRANCIS

Two views of the St. Francis river at the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company dam late yesterday afternoon, when ice floes which moved out above Lennoxville a few hours earlier were plunging downstream. At the right of the upper photo may be seen a huge block of ice tossed in the angrily-foaming waters to rocks near the bottom of the dam. In the lower picture is a mass of ice, caught in the swiftly-flowing current, hurtling over the edge of the dam.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE TAKEN UNDER OPTION

Plans for Renovation and Re-opening of Building Adjoining Quebec Central Railway Block Announced.

His Majesty's Theatre, through the wings of which passed many famous figures of the stage and around which is wrapped many a happy memory of older Sherbrooke citizens, is to be transformed into a modern cinema palace and the ghosts which have haunted its empty seats and balconies for the past fourteen years are to be driven out by the recorded chattering of screen stars.

It was announced today by J. G. Gregoire, local architect, that he has secured an option on the theatre, of which he will take advantage at the expiration of the present lease at the end of the year. Present plans call for the renovation of the interior of the building and to double the present 650 seating capacity. The theatre is to be made fireproof and equipped with the latest in sound and screen equipment. It is expected that the new theatre will be in operation by November, 1940.

Present valuation of the building is $50,000 and the lease is held by the Sherbrooke Amusement Company. The theatre has not been in operation since 1925. Mr. Gregoire stated that he does not intend to operate the theatre, but will rent it after the improvements have been completed.

Built in 1900, the structure was Sherbrooke's first real theatre. It was originally known as Clement's Theatre and was operated by F. M. Clement of Berlin, N.H. Boasting one of the largest and best decorated stages in the province at that time, the theatre was the scene of many fine stage presentations, including operatic companies, and opening nights drew the city's top-topped elite.

At that time, when Sherbrooke had a population of about 8,000, the theatre was considered the last word in entertainment and the seating capacity was ample for the number of citizens from which it gained its patronage. D. J. McManamy, then a member of the City Council, was instrumental in bringing the theatre to the city. The building was erected on the site formerly occupied by the Quebec Central Railway Company.

On March 29, 1911, Mr. Clement sold the theatre to William Morris, who, a year later, sold it to his brother, Richard Morris, and his partner, John Duncan. It was purchased by the Sherbrooke Amusement Company, by which it is now controlled.

In addition to stage and vaudeville shows, films were screened in the theatre after they began to gain in popularity. It was also often used for political meetings and during the Great War was the scene of a pitched battle between disagreeing citizens.

Present dimensions of the theatre are sixty feet wide by 120 feet long. Under the new plan the stage is to be made smaller and the orchestra seats and balcony extended. Whether or not the new theatre, when completed, will screen English or French pictures will be decided by the parties who rent the building when the renovation is completed.

WIDELY-KNOWN RESIDENT OF RICHMOND DIES

Mrs. Edmond C. Atkinson Had Resided in Eastern Townships Community Practically All Her Life—Passed Away at Age of 76 Years.

Richmond, April 21.—Mrs. Edmond C. Atkinson, one of the community's most highly-respected citizens, died at her home yesterday in her seventy-seventh year. She was the widow of Edmond C. Atkinson, for fifty years secretary-treasurer of Melbourn Village, who was killed when struck by an automobile last November.

Two years ago yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, thus death came to her exactly two years after the observance of this happy event.

Mrs. Atkinson was born Mary Emily Pye in Albany, N.Y., on October 11th, 1861, and came to Richmond at an early age, where she resided until her death. She was a member of the Women's Missionary Society of the Richmond and Melbourn United Church for the greater part of her life and was president of the Wales Home Auxiliary, an office she was holding at the time of her death.

Her sincere efforts on behalf of these two organizations, coupled with her warm personality and kindly disposition, had won for her a host of friends, who are united today in mourning her passing.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Ewing, of Richmond, and Mrs. E. B. Bearisto of Trenton, N.J., a son, Clifford C. Atkinson, of Edmunston, N.B., a sister, Mrs. J. T. Rowbotham, of Boston, Mass., a brother, Herbert Pye, of Danville, and several grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Sunday at two p.m., conducted by Rev. E. W. S. Costes, pastor of the Richmond and Melbourn United Church. Interment will be made in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Flood Menace In This Area Appears To Be Diminishing

Ice from Upper Section of St. Francis River Moved Out Without Causing Any Trouble Yesterday Afternoon—Level Reported to Have Dropped During Night.

Flood dangers in this district appeared negligible today after ice which broke loose in the stretch of the St. Francis River near the Experimental Farm yesterday afternoon had passed down stream without causing trouble.

Waters of both the St. Francis and Massawippi rivers were still high today, but not at flood level except at the lowlands in some sections. The Massawippi went down two feet during the night and the St. Francis, still carrying some ice, was at a lower level than yesterday.

A street in East Sherbrooke bordering the river was covered at one spot yesterday afternoon and water was seeping through the retaining wall to a field behind it. No stores or business houses near the river suffered flooded cellars, however. For about three hours yesterday afternoon huge blocks of ice packed into a solid mass swept through Sherbrooke and on to Bromptonville, Windsor Mills and Richmond. At Bromptonville the blocks, carried swiftly in the strong current, carried against the bridge supports and went crashing down river to be hurled with spectacular force over the dam of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, at times leaping high into the air.

Although the water was high at the past mill, no jams were formed by the ice and early last evening the mass surged through Windsor Mills. During the night the ice moved through Richmond and this morning the river was comparatively clear.

Along the lowlands between Sherbrooke and Bromptonville the water was flowing near bank level yesterday afternoon and at places had crept over the banks into fields.

Miles of ice still remain in the upper stretches of the St. Francis River, but it is considered likely that this ice will go out in sections as it has so far and that no trouble will result. Ice in the Salmon River, which joins the Massawippi River about two hundred yards from the junction of the St. Francis and Massawippi at Lennoxville, went out during Wednesday night and passed down the St. Francis yesterday morning. The Massawippi was also clear today.

The fact that the flats in the St. Francis at Windsor Mills and Richmond went out about a week ago were largely responsible for the lack of jams, it was pointed out by those who have witnessed the spring antics of the river for many years. Had there been ice blocking the channel at these points when the mass which went down yesterday reached there a damaging flood would probably have resulted.

NEW WHITER PAINT STARTS WHITER... STAYS WHITER

BEFORE developing C-I-L "Trutone" White, C-I-L research chemists surveyed the whole field of white paints. They realized that attractive though white houses are, most white paints soon lose their original glamour... soon become dull and faded.

But now, in "TRUTONE" WHITE PAINT, C-I-L has introduced an exterior finish that both starts whiter and stays whiter! "Trutone" White starts whiter because an exclusive C-I-L formula makes it that way. Stays whiter because it resists dust and grime... actually sheds dirt. Yet in spite of these advantages "Trutone" White costs you no more! In fact, it's more economical because it hides better, spreads farther, lasts longer!

This year, give your home more lasting distinction with "Trutone" White. You'll see the difference at once, and know that the difference will last! Specify C-I-L "Trutone" White to your Master Painter. Be sure you get it. Call on your C-I-L dealer—he'll be glad to help you with your painting problems.

THE RELIEF ISSUE

The proposals of Hon. C. H. Cahan, former Secretary of State, that the Federal Government obtain from the Supreme Court of Canada or the Privy Council an immediate ruling on the respective powers and responsibilities of the Dominion and the provinces in connection with unemployment relief is one of the most logical suggestions yet received in the House of Commons on this critical issue.

Originally designed to deal with the supposed emergency conditions which appeared in 1930, the existing system is at the best a makeshift and before long the Government will have to realize that relief will continue to be a problem for some time to come.

The ultimate effect of this transfer of the burden would amount to little insofar as the bulk of the taxpayers are concerned, as the increased tax and debt burden would have to be met by them in the long run, whether this expansion is federal, provincial or municipal.

Unless fathers coo at infants frequently, says a child specialist, babies may wonder who that man is who comes to see mother. That's what fathers are wondering, too.

THE MINISTRY OF SUPPLY

Although perhaps too much importance has been placed upon the question of creating a Ministry of Supply in Great Britain to speed up products required in the vast rearmament programme, the announcement by Prime Minister Chamberlain that such a department would be established under Leslie Burgin, former Minister of Transport, marks one of the leading developments in British defence policy in recent years.

The powers to be conferred upon the new ministry are extensive and in many cases involve the abandonment of the traditional British policy of "Business as Usual." In its determination to rearm as rapidly as possible, the Government will introduce next week a measure to make it impossible for manufacturers to keep Government contracts waiting while private orders are filled.

Although the scholarly, fifty-one-year-old Burgin is not a man to arouse public enthusiasm, he has been a capable and able administrator in the Transport portfolio, and his experience in this respect may better qualify him to deal with the manufacturers supplying the Government.

Thus the appointment meets with general approval, although the demand continues in many quarters for the inclusion of Winston Churchill and other strong men in the cabinet at an early date.

AUSTRALIA'S POLITICAL CRISIS

In view of the urgency of the large-scale rearmament programme being pressed by the Government of Australia, the new political crisis caused by the break-up of the United Australia-Party coalition is particularly unfortunate. The basis of the fight between the retiring Acting Prime Minister Sir Earle Page and Hon. R. G. Menzies, United Australia Party leader and Prime Minister designate, is the rather advanced social service policies of the latter, which Country Party members believed should be curtailed during the times of crisis.

Menzies resigned from the cabinet in protest against the suspension of certain programmes.

One hope exists, however, that a sensible solution may be achieved and that a stable Government may be created without recourse to a general election. Although slightly outnumbered by the official Labor opposition, Menzies is hopeful that his proposed United Australia Party cabinet may be able to carry along. This is based essentially on the attitude of individual members of the Country party, several of whom have repudiated the attack of Sir Earle Page on Menzies personally.

In this way, the Government could press forward with its plans for expanding Australian defences in face of renewed threats in the Far East while deferring any of its social reforms until conditions are more suitable.

THE U. S. COAL STRIKE

Next to the disturbed conditions in Europe, perhaps the biggest factor in holding back an upturn in business today is the partial tie-up and threatened complete stoppage of work in the United States soft coal industry. Bituminous coal provides the chief source of power for the industries of the United States and considerable output of the United States mines feeds the industries of Central Canada and, besides, any economic loss through failure of the miners to earn wages and spend money, the continuation of the existing situation for any great length of time will force the suspension of many of these concerns.

The issues at stake are in reality too trivial to allow them to menace the welfare of the North American continent to this extent, the essential point of argument being the liability of the union to fines for outlaw strikes, the union seeking to have this clause removed from the new contract.

At the same time, the present strike also serves to emphasize the importance of the Dominion opening up alternate sources of supply through the expansion of the markets for Canadian coal and increasing imports from the Old Country.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. April 21st, 1909.

Foster Creamery and out stations are now in full operation and J. H. Leclerc, proprietor, states that the milk received is of excellent quality for this time of year. It is rumored that the coming season will see a harness shop in Foster and though the statement has not been confirmed it is thought to be authentic.

After completing a successful sugar season, E. E. Temple, of Brown's Hill, had the misfortune of losing his sugar house and contents by fire recently. Believed to have started from a pan of over-heated coals, the blaze had made such headway when discovered that it was impossible to check it.

The annual vestry meetings of the three congregations in the parish of Melbourne were held this week when excellent financial statements were tabled. Amounts raised for missionary purposes outside of the diocese were in excess of the assessment by the Mission Band. Wardens appointed for the coming year were as follows: St. John's—Messrs. O. R. Burt and E. J. Gallup; St. Saviour's—Messrs. James Wright and H. W. Badger; New Rockland—Messrs. J. Hobbs and C. Roster. R. Kingsmill Harris was elected delegate to the Quebec Church Council.

At the adjourned vestry meeting of St. Paul's Church, Abbotsford, held on Wednesday, the following officials were appointed: Record's warden, Morley Honey; people's warden, Edward Harley, sidesmen, George Roach, R. C. Bradford, C. Fisk and Morley Hobe; delegates to Synod, J. M. Fisk and Dr. Newell Fisk; vestry clerk and treasurer, J. M. Fisk.

ARE WE DOWNHEARTED?

(Montreal Gazette) Chancellor Hitler is reported to be surprised and pained at the magnitude of Britain's rearmament programme. According to the usually well-informed Augur, the Reich is in danger of financial collapse as a result of the terrific strain which the Fuehrer's armament madness has imposed upon its resources, and this danger confronts the German people at a time when Britain is setting the pace at a rate beyond the capacity of Germany to maintain.

LOYALTY IS NOT THE ISSUE

(Peterborough Examiner) We have noticed in a number of places they have had discussions regarding the cost of arrangements for welcoming the King and Queen on their visit to Canada. It seems to be a ticklish question and some of those who have thought it advisable to keep expenses down to a point where they were within the ability of the people to pay have been rather sharply brought to task. It has been suggested that they lack loyalty since we do not believe they do, because loyalty is something which is hard to measure by the size of a display.

FOR PRACTICAL EDUCATION (Toronto Financial Times) While we would not expect any broad change in the attitude of the public as to the advantages of spending to the limit for education, we do believe that there is a growing opinion that it may be in order to revise our educational programme with the idea of training a larger percentage of our youths for productive purposes—on the farm, in the forest, in the mine or in the factory—rather than that we should add to the already crowded ranks of the professions. Therefore, proposals to increase appropriations for practical training are more likely to be favorably received than proposals to extend purely academic courses. The trend to vocational training is well regarded in the business community.

ANTI-BRITISH PROPAGANDA IS OLD STUFF (Ottawa Journal) Harold Nicolson, M.P., who writes an interesting weekly page in the London Spectator, tells of his discovery that in 1891, Napoleon used against Britain precisely the same sort of propaganda that now comes by wireless and the written word from Germany and Italy.

Between 1802 and 1809 Napoleon published regularly in Paris, in the English language, a journal called the Argus and it was, says Mr. Nicolson, the Napoleonic counterpart of modern anti-British propaganda.

"There is the same endeavor to ridicule British statesmen and to represent the condition of England as one of almost revolutionary chaos. There is the same tendency to quote the indiscretions of obscure persons while omitting the sober statements of the prominent. The British press is jeered at for its much-vaunted freedom and assailed for its didactic attitude."

There are constant references to impending risings in Ireland and India and much by-play regarding the atrocities committed by Lord Nelson in the kingdom of Naples.

The British Navy, just three months before Trafalgar, was said to be dilapidated, dispersed, incompetent and on the verge of mutiny. Letters from Baghdad announced "in a positive manner" that the British had been "completely routed" in a great battle in India, and altogether, Napoleon's Argus assured the world, Great Britain rapidly was declining to the status of a minor power.

"Nothing can restore to Great Britain the continental influence which she has irrevocably lost. She will no more be seen to figure in the treaties of European powers, as she has always done since that of Utrecht. It is not a little humiliating for the Sovereign of the seas to have today less influence than the powers of the second order; this is a just reward for her repeated efforts to enslave the smaller powers to her own interests. . . Yet the time is past when the appearance of an English fleet was able to change the policy of continental powers." Mr. Nicolson recommends to "jitterbugs" and others an occasional reading of the Argus, but admits its difficulty because the only file of the journal that exists is

NOURISH YOUR BUDGET UPON LOW-COST HAM

Ham is not only good to eat. This spring it is also kind to the purse. But you must be kind to the ham, too, if you want to cook it into tenderness.

First, determine how the ham was cured. That makes a difference in how you should cook it. More and more hams are being cured at high temperatures, therefore they are really partially cooked when sold and, of course, need less cooking at home.

There are other hams on the market that have been smoked and heated so long that they are "precooked" and actually ready to eat. Usually the degree of tenderness is printed on the wrapper.

Well-Rounded Ham Best

Select a well-rounded, thick-through ham for best quality. The shank should be moderately short, not so long that it gives the ham a funnel-shaped look. Don't take a ham with a great amount of fat but a marbling of fat through the lean is an assurance of quality. So is the bright color of the lean.

A ham can be cut in half and roasted successfully. If your family is not large, buy a ham

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Tomato and grapefruit juice, poached eggs on toast spread with ham, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Fresh spinach souffle, French bread, strawberries, ladyfingers, tea, milk.
DINNER: Caramel apple-ham loaf, creamed potatoes, buttered broccoli, romaine salad, rhubarb tarts, coffee, milk.

"half." Keep the ham, cooked or uncooked, in oiled paper in the refrigerator. A thin coat of cooking oil spread over the cut surface will delay drying and moulding.

Strongly cured ham should be soaked overnight in cold water to cover. Mildly cured hams do not need soaking. Bake very slowly (250 to 260 degrees F.) uncovered and without water in the pan. Place rind side up. Allow about three minutes a pound for baking. To boil a ham, simmer it in water to cover, allowing about the same time as for baking.

All hams do not have rinds when sold. Those with rinds are called "regular hams," those without "skinned hams." In baking or simmering a "regular ham," keep rind on. Remove when done, score the fat and spread with brown sugar, honey or some other glaze, then return to oven.

Ground left-over ham can be mixed into potato cakes, used in devilled eggs, spread over toast for poached eggs. Try this dinner dish use for left-over ham.

Caramel Apple-Ham Loaf

Two tablespoons butter, 2½ tablespoons brown sugar, 3 firm apples, 1½ pounds ground cooked ham, 1 egg, ¼ cup cream, 3 slices moistened bread, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1½ tablespoon grated onion.

Melt butter in heavy frying pan. Stir in sugar until melted. Cut apples, unpeeled, into ¼-inch slices. Add to butter-sugar mixture and cook until slightly browned. Dip slices of bread in water, squeeze, and place in bowl with ham, egg, cream, mustard and onion.

Knead well, then spread over top of fruit in pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for forty minutes. Pour off fat. Turn out on platter, apples on top, and garnish with watercress. Serve with creamed potatoes.

Marbleton, April 21.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church was entertained by Mrs. MacLaren at the parsonage with a fair attendance of members and visitors. The meeting was opened by Rev. A. V. MacLaren who led the Litany from The Living Message.

Rev. Mr. Taylor, although retired from the ministry, is carrying on with a vigor and enthusiasm which might well be the envy of many younger men, and finds his greatest happiness in performing any service he can for those among whom he lives and by whom he is respected and beloved.

Rev. A. W. Lachead, of Bala, Ont., and Rev. D. A. Moir, of Hamilton, Ont., were also presented with degrees by Rev. G. G. D. Kilpatrick, principal of the college.

Faced by a paganism that is turned into a philosophy of force, and backed by force on land, sea and air, Christianity, with civilization, has its back to the wall," Rev. D. I. Ritchie, dean of the college, stated in his convocation address.

While the church always had paganism to fight, the new paganism of today could only be met by "out-thinking and out-living" it, Dean Ritchie declared. Much had already been done to discredit the movement by philosophical and scientific reasoning, but at the same time individuals, churches and nations had failed to show the world by their life, true Christian theology, the speaker maintained.

News Of Women's Clubs

Miss Lynda Jackson entertained the members of the Evening Branch of St. Peter's W.A. on Tuesday evening at her home on London street.

Mrs. Jack Grime, vice-president, was in the chair and after the usual opening prayer several items of routine business were disposed of. The remainder of the evening was devoted to sewing. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting, with Mrs. Jackson assisting.

Members of the Weekly Five Hundred Club were guests yesterday of Mrs. F. Shorten at her home on Worthington avenue. Cards were played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Bookus and Mrs. Herriott. At the conclusion of the game the hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Chisley. It was unanimously decided to postpone the next meeting of the Club, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bookus, Fabre street, until May 12th.

Mrs. Andrew Sangster had the honor of presiding at one of the loveliest tea tables of the season in Plymouth Church hall yesterday afternoon, after a meeting of the Women's Association.

The unusual and artistic arrangement consisted of pussy-willows in blue pottery vases with white lilies on either side and lighted yellow candles in antique brass candlesticks.

Mrs. F. S. Rugg and Mrs. J. G. Ranshousen were hostesses for the pleasant tea party which took place at the close of the regular business session, over which Mrs. Walter Sutherland presided. The chief item of business constituted making cake, tea and food sale to be given next week for the Y.W.C.A.

Members of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church, were interestingly entertained at their Easter thank-offering meeting in Wesley Hall yesterday afternoon by their guests, speaker Mrs. A. J. Milligan. Introduced by Mrs. R. Havard, president of the W.M.S., who presided at the largely attended gathering, the speaker delivered an inspiring Easter message, basing her remarks on the first part of the 28th chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel.

Mrs. Milligan especially emphasized that portion of Scripture dealing with the command to women to "go and tell," her words acting as a challenge to the members to do their part in spreading the Gospel message. Mrs. George C. Hall was in charge of the devotional period and gave an impressive reading of Longfellow's "The Legend Beautiful," accompanied softly at the piano by "In a Monastery Garden," played by Mrs. G. Parsons. A lovely solo, "The Stranger of Galilee," was contributed by Miss Thelma Crawford, of Lennoxville, this forming a fitting climax to the messages brought by the speakers during the enjoyable session.

Prior to adjournment Mrs. Havard expressed thanks to all who had participated in making the afternoon long to be remembered.

Later tea was served under the convenship of Mrs. E. A. Tomkins, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Bryce and Mrs. S. McLean. Miss Van Vliet presided at the tea table which was attractively centered with spring flowers in a silver basket.

ANNUAL MEETING OF W.C.T.U.

The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held with Mrs. Carleton, at the parsonage, Mrs. S. J. Small presiding. The meeting opened in regular form and minutes of the previous session were read by the secretary and adopted. Miss W. M. Small, superintendent for sailors, reported four bags ready to pack and to be forwarded to the Sailor's Mission, Montreal. She also presented letters read from J. Ritchie Bell acknowledging four bags sent in 1938, asking forgiveness in the delay and apologies for the oversight. The Institute has a daily attendance of 550 sailors from April 1st to December 31st, and stressed the need of more bags. The death of Mr. Bell was very much regretted by the Union. Letters were received from friends thanking the members for plants received. A letter was read from Mrs. Blake, county president, giving the date of the mid-winter convention and the date set for the county convention, also expressing hopes to visit this branch soon.

GREAT ONE-GUN WAR OF INDIAN FRONTIER ENDS

Owner of Obsolete Field Piece Which Played Important Part in Long Time Struggle Arranges Permanent Peace Between Warriors. New Delhi, India, April 21.—(C.P.-Reuters)—The North-West Frontier's one-gun war is over and the Khans who started it have signed a perpetual peace pact. The Khan of Nawagai won the war, waged sporadically over the past five years. He obtained the only available gun in the region. His vanquished opponent was the Khan of Khar. The gun—an ancient field piece—is owned by a neighboring chieftain, Badshah Gul. He has found it a useful bargaining weapon in his dealings with the quarrelsome Khans. In the war just ended the Khan of Nawagai persuaded the chieftain he needed the gun more than his rival. The Khan of Khar's forces resided stoutly in their hilltop fortress. But Nawagai finally compelled a surrender when he borrowed reinforcements from Badshah Gul. Peace was declared at a great tribal rally where, at the request of the gun-owning chieftain, the two Khans embraced and promised to live in future "as brothers." Though six feet apart, the field of battle the Khan of Khar had the last word. At the peace rally he complained such wars were common on the frontier "and nobody minds them." "I alone am unfortunate," he said, "because everybody meddles in my private affairs."

FINE CANTATA IS PRESENTED AT WATERLOO

Large Number of Music Lovers Attended Programme Given by Choral Society—Notes of General Interest.

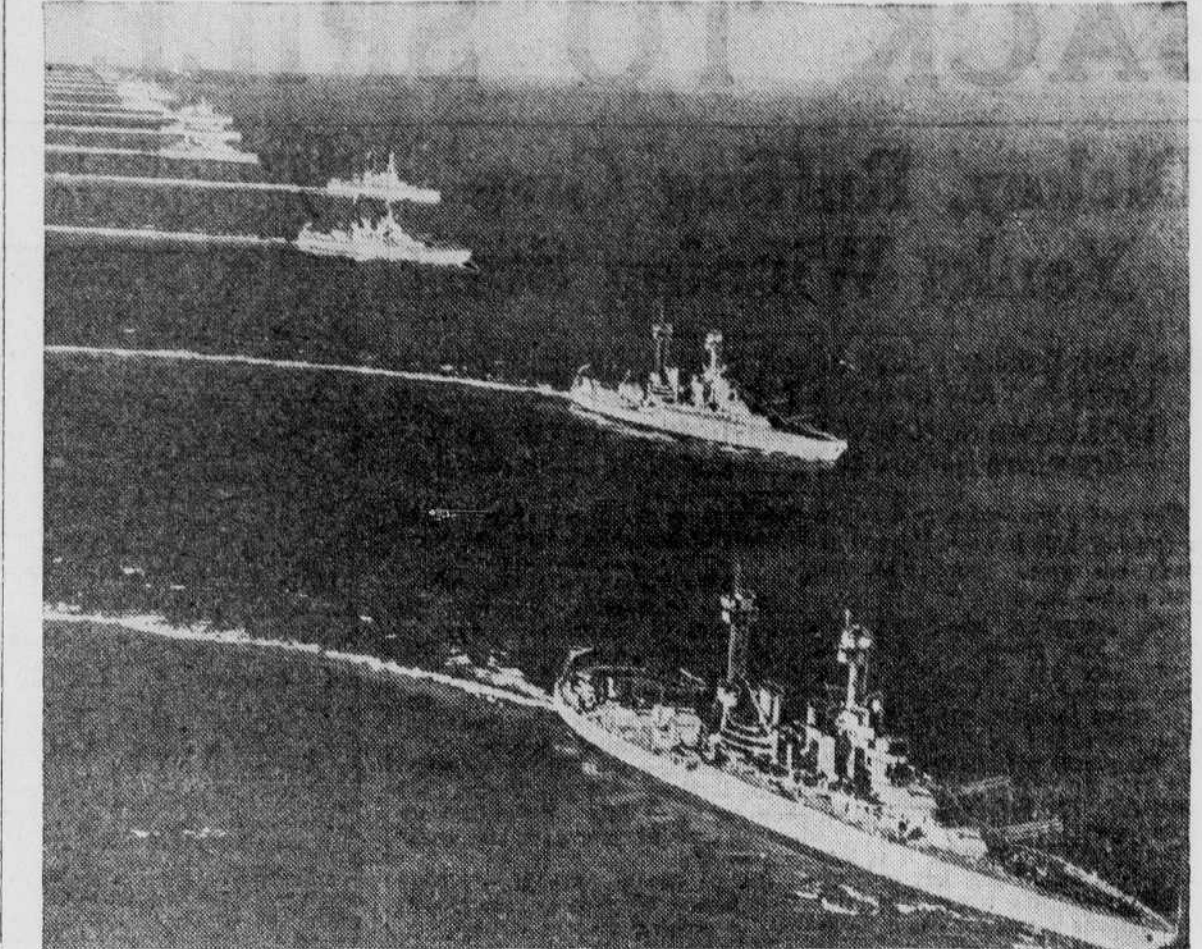

Waterloo, April 21.—Music lovers of Waterloo manifested their appreciation of an exceptionally well rendered cantata by the Chorale Society of St. Bernard College under the training and supervision of Miss Margot Charlebois, musical director, and organist, Miss Lucille Jobin.

In the solo parts of the "Seven Last Words of Christ" the voices of Miss Irene Bessette, Miss Isabelle Charlebois, Miss Lillian Laprade, Miss Jeanne Larose, George Lambert, Rene Jobin, Lionel Lamontagne and Robert Racine were heard.

CANTATA ENJOYED In St. Paul's United Church on Sunday evening Lorenz's Choir Cantata No. 33, "The Gospel of Easter" was masterfully handled by the church choir assisted by Dr. Katz with violin, Mrs. Brennan, and Miss Velma Streeter. The many hours of careful study and preparation, under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Colwell and the organist, Miss Lucia Graves, were reflected in the perfection of rendition before a large and appreciative assembly. The programme was as follows: Organ prelude; "What Song Is This?"; baritone solo and chorus, solo, Roger McKergow; "The Watch at the Door," contralto solo, men's and mixed chorus, Miss Velma Streeter taking the contralto solo with H. Bird, George Young and Roger McKergow in the chorus; "He is Not Here, He is Risen," tenor solo, Roger McKergow; women's chorus, Mrs. Orval Lewis, Mrs. Peter Ginter, Mrs. Velma Streeter and Mrs. Colwell; "Christ Being Raised From the Dead," chorus by choir; "When Christ Our Lord Arose," contralto solo, Mrs. Gunter; "Now Is Christ Risen," chorus by choir; "Behold I Show You A Mystery," baritone solo, George Young; "The Victory," chorus by choir; "I Shall See Him," soprano solo and chorus, solo by Mrs. M. Katz; "The Gift of God," chorus; "All Power Is Given Unto Me," baritone solo, George Young; "Lo I Am with You Always," soprano and tenor duet, Mrs. Brennan and Roger McKergow; "The Gospel of Easter," chorus by choir. During the singing of the choruses the vibrating tones of Dr. Katz's

QUICK TURNABOUT IN WAKE OF WAR CRISIS

The group of Uncle Sam's mighty warships above make a quick turn about, as if in response to one of the most drastic peace-time orders ever issued. With part of the fleet already in New York, and the rest of the 96 ships and 43,000 men speeding up the Atlantic for the opening of the New York World's Fair, the Navy Department ordered an immediate about face and return without delay to bases in the Pacific.

This Grateful Lady Gives Thanks To Mosby's Tonic Feels "Like New Person"

Miss Juliette Lemire Had Indigestion Pains and Stomach Gas—Back Sore and Painful—Couldn't Sleep—She Now Says: "Mosby's Tonic Relieved My Suffering. I Feel Fine!"

MISS JULIETTE LEMIRE, of St. Etienne des Gres, who says: "Mosby's Tonic was what I needed. It is the finest thing of the kind I ever heard of! I gladly endorse it!"

Grateful statements—from many parts of Quebec and this general section—praising and endorsing MOSBY'S TONIC, continue to pour in daily to The Chagnon Pharmacy, 11 Wellington Street North, Sherbrooke, where this "new mixture of roots and herbs and other splendid ingredients" is being introduced and explained to the local public by a Special Mosby's Tonic Representative, known as The Mosby Tonic Man.

For instance, just a few days ago the following grateful statement, describing what Mosby's Tonic can do in certain forms of suffering, was received from Miss Juliette Lemire, of St. Etienne des Gres, St. Maurice County. Miss Lemire has lived in this vicinity 22 years. Her statement reads as follows:

Sharp Pains in Back Due to Sluggish Kidneys "For two years I had been in distress," said Miss Lemire. "Due to sluggish kidneys my system got full of waste and poison and I had sharp pains in my back across my kidneys and often had headaches. My stomach was so disordered that I would have spells of indigestion and gas after my meals and was certainly in a distressful condition if anybody ever was. I couldn't sleep right on account of all this suffering and felt worn out all the time, as though every ounce of energy had left my body."

Says It's The Finest She Ever Heard Of! "I tried many medicines for this suffering, but nothing did me any good, and I was very discouraged, but finally I found Mosby's Tonic, and will say to all who suffer that this medicine is the finest thing of the kind I ever heard of! With the first bottle the sharp pains in my back were gone. My kidneys were cleared away the wastes and poisons and my nights are no longer sleepless; and it acted on my stomach and cleared away the gas bloating, and my headaches and indigestion spells came to an end. LAKE MEGANTIC HOTEL BLAZE CAUSES DAMAGE

Bellevue Hotel Nearly Destroyed in Fire Believed to Have Originated from Defective Wiring—Furniture Saved.

Lake Megantic, April 21.—A fire which almost destroyed the Bellevue Hotel in this Eastern Township centre caused damages estimated at approximately $6,000 before it was finally extinguished. Originating in the attic of the three-story structure, the blaze had made considerably headway when firemen arrived on the scene. As the building was covered with a metal roof the flames were not discovered before smoke started to pour into the main part of the building.

Most of the damage was caused by smoke and water and, although much of the hotel's furniture was carried to safety, many articles were ruined. Two hours elapsed between the time the fire was first discovered and when it was declared under control. Although a strong wind was blowing all during the afternoon the vigilance of the fire-fighters kept the blaze from spreading to nearby establishments.

It is believed that the conflagration was caused by defective wiring and that it originated between the walls in the topmost story. The hotel is owned by M. Drouin and was partially covered by insurance.

ROYALS FIGHT BACK TO SPILL BEAR CATS

Register 6-4 Victory To Force Fourth Game

Return of Slim Buddy O'Connor Provides Impetus for Smashing Performances of Carlinites—Ken Murray Bangs Home Two Goals, Cy Allen, Pete Jotkus, Gerry Heffernan and Pete Morin One Each—10,127 Fans Raise Roof.

Montreal, April 21.—(P)—What ever fate may be in store for Montreal Royals in their Allan Cup series with Port Arthur Bear Cats, no one will be able to question the fighting qualities of the Eastern champions.

They waged an uphill fight to defeat the Toronto Goodyears in a best-of-five series that went the limit for the Eastern crown, and they refused to acknowledge defeat even when two games down to Port Arthur for the Canadian senior amateur hockey crown. They forced their way back into the picture here last night before 10,127 paid customers with a six to four victory in the third game.

And today, Coach Frank Carlin and all his players were confident that Monday night would see them even the round at two games apiece and send the Cup final into a fifth and deciding game. The Bear Cats, striving to succeed Trail Smoke Eaters as Allan Cup holders, won the first game by six to five in overtime and the second by three to one.

Royals were minus centremen Buddy O'Connor, out with a dislocated shoulder, in the first two games but the lightweight star was back last night to provide the Montrealers with the impetus needed for victory. Though he failed to score, culling only an assist on a second period goal, O'Connor undoubtedly was the inspiration behind the Montreal victory.

His return meant the reuniting of the O'Connor-Gerry Heffernan-Pete Morin line, responsible in the main for the team's great march to the Cup final into a fifth and deciding game. Heffernan, at a loss in the first two games without O'Connor to make plays, bagged one goal and his play in general was improved greatly. Morin also accounted for a tally, his fifth of the series.

The winning score came late in the third period while defencemen Hugh O'Leary was serving a penalty. Pete Jotkus snipped home a shot in the seventeenth minute from a few feet out to send Royals ahead five to four, and in the last minute Cy Allen put the game away with a goal on a breakaway. The two other Montreal goals were scored by Ken Murray.

Nineteen-year-old Edgar Laprade, centre of the Port's second line, again led his team, scoring two goals—his third and fourth of the series. Joe McArthur and Stan King tallied the other Port Arthur scores.

The teams: Port Arthur goal Nash; defence B. Laprade, O'Leary, McArthur, King; wing Heffernan, Morin, Gordon, Manahan, Moriarty, Wright, Royals subs.—Crutchfield, K. Murray, Acheson, Allen, Jotkus. Referees: Bert Hedges, Toronto; Dick Davies, Winnipeg.

BRITISH DRILL STEADILY FOR POLO MATCHES

Britain's Crack Quartette Trains for International Series at Meadow Brook, Outside New York City, in June.

New York, April 21.—(P)—If constant practice and grim determination can sway the result, Great Britain should win her first international polo series in twenty-five years from the United States this summer.

For six weeks, with little publicity, the entire British squad trained in California where it arrived in February. Now it has shifted its operations to Aiken, S.C., and shortly will come to Long Island to taper off matches to be held at Meadow Brook, outside New York City, in June.

In contrast with this preparation, the United States squad has not yet assembled, although some members have been playing on various teams. The group will get together at Meadow Brook early in May.

Polo experts believe Britain has assembled her best team since the brilliant outfit of 1914 took the International Trophy home—and almost immediately went to war.

Then the British representatives were Captain H. A. Tompkins, Captain Leslie Chape, Major F. W. Barrett and Captain Vivian Lockart.

The major league baseball season is scarcely half a week old and already has given more tight fits than a shoe store.

The rainmaker cut yesterday's card to five games, but three of these were two to nothing shutouts, another was a fourteen-inning, eight to seven grind and the fifth was a five to three affair.

In the ten games played thus far only two have finished with a margin of more than two runs separating opposing clubs.

If this proves anything it is that there is a lot of life left in some of the old pitching wings. The first performance yesterday was a three-hit stunner by Louis Fette, a durable thirty-two-year-old right-hander who bears much of Boston's hopes.

Fette held Philadelphia Athletics to three singles to acquire one of the season's first shutouts.

Of more sentimental but less intrinsic worth was the way old Bob (Lefty) Grove of Boston Red Sox held New York Yankees to seven hits to emphasize that, at thirty-nine, and starting on his fifteenth term under the big top, he still rates with the best.

George Caster, Athletics: Held Washington Senators to four hits in two to nothing shutout victory.

Luke Hamlin, Dodgers: Scattered seven hits against New York Giants, batted in one run and scored another hit in five to three win.

Montreal's Entry in International Baseball League Rallies to Win in Orioles' Bandbox—Si Johnson Blanks Newark Bears 1-0 in Ten-Inning Duel as Rochester Starts Well—Little Giants Lose 3-2 to Buffalo—Attendance Record Shattered at Jersey City.

It's still early, of course, to start blowing whistles. Yet there seemed to be considerable preliminary evidence on the books today to support recent contentions that this will be a tough season for Newark Bears and a correspondingly better one for the rest of the International Baseball League clubs.

The Bears of 1937, who had run up a twenty-five-and-a-half-game margin at the end of the season, got away to a fast start by winning their first five games. The 1938 edition, which was held to a mere eighteen-game lead, took the first four in succession and won eleven of its first twelve. Even the first Newark team, the 1884 domestics of hallowed memory, beat Allentown in the opener.

But this year's crew, going into action with new material in place of such sluggers as Charley Keller, Buddy Rosar, Jimmy Gleason and Bob Seeds, opened the latest pennant chase by dropping a one to nothing, ten-inning pitchers' duel yesterday to Rochester Red Wings.

Though you always can haul in the old chestnut that the pitchers are ahead of the hitters, Newark's batters were much too far behind Rochester's veteran Si Johnson for Manager Johnny Neun's comfort. Si, a right-hander who has done credible work for the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals, held the Bears to two scratch singles, struck out ten men, walked only two, and generally put an effective damper on a seven-hit effort by his opponent, Marius Russo.

Oddly enough, of the four winning teams the only one that got by without anything exceptional in the way of pitching were the Montreal Royals, now piloted by Burleigh Grimes. The old spitballer's disciples bunched eleven hits effectively enough for one six-run outburst and a ten to four drubbing of Baltimore Orioles, but their own Kemp Wicker was combed for thirteen safeties and saved largely by his fact the Orioles left thirteen men stranded on base.

The hurlers held the upper hand at Jersey City, where a minor league attendance record of 45,112 was set as the Little Giants dropped a three to two verdict to Buffalo Bisons, and at Syracuse, where the Chiefs edged out the Toronto Leafs five to two. Fabian Kowalik scattered Jersey's nine hits for the Bison triumph, and Johnny Gee, working in the face of cold and blustery wind, held Toronto to seven hits and retired the last fifteen batters in order for the Syracuse Si, a right-hander who has done

LET FREEDOM RING

RESUME
Steve Logan returns from Harvard to his home in Clover City, a Western desert town of the '50's to find it victimized by Jim Knox, ruthless Wall Street tycoon who is determined to get land for his railroad. Knox has bought out Underwood, editor of the newspaper, and Bronson, County Judge whom he is running for Governor. Steve's father, Tom Logan, is Bronson's opposing candidate. To outwit Knox, Steve pretends friendship for him and his chief henchman Mulligan. This completely alienates Steve's sweet-heart, Maggie Adams. Steve and the Mackerel, his trusted friend, steal the newspaper press and kidnap Underwood. They print an edition, signed THE WASP, which tells the truth about Knox. Knox and Mulligan, think Underwood is THE WASP and offer a huge reward for his capture. Steve holds Underwood prisoner in the hills; but Underwood has his revenge by wrecking the press. Steve then persuades Knox to buy a new press in order to print a newspaper that will counter-balance THE WASP's accusation. Knox does so and Steve and the Mackerel steal the new press and take it to their hideout in the hills.

CHAPTER EIGHT Return of THE WASP

Around the huge bon-fire in the clearing that served as a natural arena and Town Hall were gathered the brawny foreigners whom Mulligan had commandeered to work on Knox's railroad. The men were relaxing after their day's toil, enjoying an improvised entertainment, being given on the board-covered elevation not yet cleared away for tracks. Steve and the Mackerel watched the proceedings from the shadows of the equipment wagons that stood well to one side of the gathering. Between them stood a huge basket filled with newspapers. "What's our next move, Editor?" whispered the Mackerel. "You get a copy to Mulligan and drop a few more around," Steve answered softly. "Who me?" shuddered the Mackerel. Steve nodded. "I'll get their attention while you're doing it. And above all—don't follow me when I leave—"

I says I never wear neckties. What do you think I am, a banker? And they says, you're gonna wear this necktie—"

He stopped short as a mule sauntered up to them and began grazing. As it bent its head, its halter fell to one side and hung in a loop. The Mackerel stiffened. "The necktie!" he muttered. "Steve—look at that halter—the necktie—it's a noose—" he fell to the ground. "Don't move," he begged. "We're surrounded."

Steve reached out and pulled the mule toward them. "Get up, Mackerel. This mule is heaven-sent. We've a new member on our staff. I've a swell job for him—"

He explained the mule's part in their plot and then sent the Mackerel on ahead to the crowd around the bonfire.

The Mackerel edged up to the gathering just as Mulligan leaped upon the stage, his bottle to his mouth. He took a long pull that emptied it, then flung it aside. "Hey, somebody—give me a drink—"

Steve bounded up on the platform and tossed a bottle which Mulligan caught in midair. Mulligan turned on him with a delighted grin. "Welcome, Steve, me bye." He faced the crowd. "Men—here's a nightingale 'sing for ye," he roared. "But keep yer seat for a minute while I show ye a bit of dancin' first."

He tipped the bottle, then stuffed it into his rear pants pocket. He tore off his coat and flung it to the ground. "Hands off the throttle me boys," he roared to the banjo-players. The music started at a fast clip and Mulligan launched into an elephantine jig, waving his arms and whooping with joy. The crowd bowed with delight, calling his name and applauding wildly. The Mackerel moved along the fringe of the crowd. Under his arm was concealed a carefully folded copy of the newspaper. As he reached the spot where Mulligan's coat had fallen, he swooped down and pushed the newspaper into one of the coat's sleeves. On the platform, Mulligan was giving his all to his art. An overly-ambitious step sent him flat on his back. The crowd shrieked with delight. Mulligan revived himself with another pull at his bottle, then struggled to his feet. "Shut up, ye galoots!" he thundered. "Come on, Steve. Sing 'em a song. Quiet! ye blatherin' apes." Steve leaped up on the platform. "It's music wasted," Mulligan confided. "But I'm soothin' them for the election. I'll be grateful 'ye've a little help in drivin' them cattle to the polls tomorrow." Steve grinned back. "Always glad to work for progress, Mulligan!" He faced the crowd. "What'll it be, boys?"

A half dozen voices answered, calling for various native songs. Steve launched into a rousing marching song. Mulligan peered off the platform. "Where's me coat?" he whispered hoarsely. No one answered, for the men were lost in Steve's song. Mulligan wiped his eyes, moved to tears as always, by the voice of his favorite nightingale. He stumbled off the platform and began looking for his coat, eventually spying it as it lay on the ground where he had thrown it.

The Mackerel watched tensely as Mulligan picked up the coat and thrust his right arm through the sleeve. His hand emerged clasping the newspaper.

Mulligan stared at the paper in his hand, wondering by what magic or by what work of the devil it had gotten there. It was a full moment before he realized what he was holding. As the bonfire light flickered on the newspaper, his eyes bulged, for there, in bold, black print that started him out of countenance, ran the headline:

"MULLIGAN, DESCENDANT OF IRISH HEROES, VOWS TO REMAIN JIM KNOX PUPPET AT POLLS TOMORROW"

Gaelic Ghoul Throttles Freedom For A Pat On The Back From His Boss'

Mulligan let out the roar of an enraged bull. "Who put this in me hand? How did this dirty thing get in me hand? Where's THE WASP? A bray to his left sent him wheeling about. The mule walked slowly up to him. About its neck hung a crudely lettered placard reading: "COMPLIMENTS OF THE WASP." On its back was loaded the basket of newspapers, plus a second sign reading: "HELP YOURSELF! THE WASP."

Mulligan watched helplessly as the workers leaped to their feet to seize the newspapers from the basket. Their action registered suddenly on his befuddled brain. "Get away from him!" he howled. He swung on the mule. "Sick papers in me hands, will ye, ye dumb jackass! An Irish ogre, am I? I'll tear that ugly face off ye!"

Jim Knox, Bumper and Gagan rode up to the bonfire as Mulligan fell upon the animal, belaboring it with the fury of a mad man. "Mulligan!" shouted Knox, as the two others pulled him away from the mule. "I got him!" Mulligan muttered. "You got who?" demanded Knox. "Whoever he is. I got him. I caught him stickin' papers in me hand—" He swung wildly on the mule, but the animal ducked and turning swiftly planted a blow with its hind hooves that sent Mulligan's whiskey bottle flying out of his rear pants' pocket. Knox kicked the bottle to a side. "Pull yourself together, Mulligan," he ordered in disgust. "I've got to talk to you."

"I'm not talkin' to anybody," the other cried. "Not till I murder that jackass."

"There's only one jackass that needs murdering, and that's you, you drunken, bogtrotting, flannel mouth—"

"He came up to me and handed me the papers," Mulligan wept. "Shut up!" shouted Knox. Mulligan moaned with fury. "A Jim Knox puppet, am I? Lickin' his heels like Orangemen—" Knox pulled him forcibly to one side. "Stay over here, Mulligan, and keep your mouth shut." He paused as Mulligan tried to collect himself. "Listen. Get those papers away from the men at once. And tell them Judge Bronson is giving a barbecue. I want them all there. Tell them there's food and liquor for everyone—do you understand?"

Mulligan nodded. "And listen, Mulligan. I want them kept down there. And above all—keep your mouth shut and stop yapping about that mule. Because something tells me I've discovered THE WASP." He smiled grimly. "And unless I'm very wrong, we're going to hang THE WASP tonight."

How have Steve and the Mackerel given away their game to Knox. Don't miss tomorrow's thrilling chapter.
