Junior High announces

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

March 18 to 25

Generally sunny and milder, then clouding for scattered cold rains, mists, fog or light snows with some wind. Temperature range 20-50°F with 35 sunny hours. That means a thaw in the south with roads flooded in many places, but freezing drizzle in the east and Gaspé.

Bright and mild into the middle of the week to melt ice and snow. Morning mists and glaze or white frosts, occasional drizzle or even a little soft snow. Ice blocks will cause local floods. Skiing coming to an end, a promise of spring to come. Robins and crows are here to stay.

Warm and mainly sunny for the end of the week, with occasional flurries or light rains and cooling. Exceptionally bright northern light displays will be followed by radio troubles, strong winds and a weather upset. The St. Lawrence will be open.

Quebec towns need airport facilities

By LARRY McINNIS

U. S. AIR LINES are being sued by the Canadian government for $1,300,000, fees not paid for over-flying Canada. Last year the government raised the fee from $20 to $84 to cover the cost of additional, and maintenance on existing navigational aids, etc. The International Air Transport Association opposed the hike in charges, pointing out that the U. S. and most other countries do not have over-flight regulations. It should be pointed out that the charges are levied for non-military flights only. Regular methods of collection failed, so the matter is in the hands of the Canadian Justice Department. A few pertinent questions: what happens if the lines refuse to pay? Can aircraft landing here be seized? Will ticket offices be padlocked until the bill is paid? How high does air traffic control go? If the lines are forced to pay, probably through U. S. government intervention, will the U. S. institute a like charge? Well, the outcome will be interesting!

THE MATS DEAL: Hope is fading even faster now for the Canadair deal with the Military Air Transport Service of the U. S. Air Force. The U. S. Defence Department announced this week that 100 Lockheed SOR-182s have been bought to transport troops. Cost of the contract amounts to $1 billion. The Department said that Lockheed bid against Boeing, Douglas and the Convair division of General Dynamics. Canadair is also a division of General Dynamics, and many of their aircraft designs have general Convair configurations. The range of the SOR-182 will be about 3,000 miles at 500 knots with a 60,000 pound load, or 5,500 miles with a 20,000 pound load.

* * *

EVERYONE IS TALKING aviation these days. Talk last week indicated that Montreal had little hope of seeing a helicopter service from the downtown area to Dorval. At no time in the foreseeable future would this be practicable enough to accommodate all passengers going to the airport — it could only be for those who could afford the rather high charges necessary. But then, the helicopter charges per passenger couldn't be much higher than the taxi rates by road. Also, another spokesman said the world will soon need VTOL aircraft. That means, by the way, vertical take off and landing. There are many types of these being tested now, and they are quite practical — but not yet!

* * *

A WORD ABOUT AIRPORTS: These days people have the habit of thinking big when it comes to airport construction. Not enough thought is being given in Canada to thinking small in this case. Any grass strip 5 - 6,000 feet long will make an excellent landing field for light and medium aircraft, providing it is laid into the prevailing wind. Most planes these days have tricycle landing gear, and cross winds, within reason, are absolutely no problem to landing. The days of ground looping are just about over.

* * *

A NEED for more airfields, even in the Montreal area, is a well established fact. The Bahama Islands have 20 landing fields spread over 13 small islands, a land area of 70,000 square miles. One flying school operator I know applied to have his own strip built in the Vaudreuil - Dorion area, but was turned down by the Department of Transport because flights might interfere with Dorval or Cartierville traffic. Cartierville is a good field for visitors; it has all sorts of transportation facilities available; it is close to many fine motels, hotels and eating establishments; it has all sorts of maintenance facilities; it has fine, long runways — but it's not lighted at night and it has no customs facilities.

DR. RALPH A. HUGHES

Dr. Ralph Anderson Hughes, 7 Park Place, Westmount, a medical officer in both World Wars with the Canadian and British Armies, died last Thursday in Kamloops, B.C. He was 76.

Born in Kingston, Ont., Dr. Hughes attended Queen's University where he received his undergraduate degree and his medical degree in 1908.

At the outbreak of World War I, Dr. Hughes went to England where he joined the Durham Light Infantry. He remained one year with that regiment before joining the No. 7 Field Ambulance train between France and England as the medical officer.

Later in the war he joined the 4th Gordon Highlanders and was associated with the Canadian Corps hospital at Folkestone, England.

At the end of the First World War, Dr. Hughes returned to this country and practised in both Western Canada and the Maritimes.

At the beginning of the Second World War, he again joined the army and became medical officer for Military District No. 7 in New Brunswick. He retired from the army in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Dr. Hughes is survived by his wife, Mrs. R. A. Hughes, of Westmount, the former Isabel Crandall; a son, Derek Millar; and two daughters, Nora Patricia, of New York, and Isabel (Mrs. M. B. Hunter), of Belaire, Ohio.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. J. P. Rooney and Mrs. Ralph Vale.

Burial was at Kamloops.

MRS. FRITZ JESSEN

The mother of Rolf James, 555 Claremont avenue, and widow of Dr. Fritz W. H. Jessen, the former Ernestine Marie Olga Reiser, died in Friedenweiler, Germany Monday night. Mrs. Jessen was the daughter of World War I German general, Rudolf E. E. Reiser. She was 74.

Mrs. Jessen spent several months last fall visiting her son and daughter-in-law in Westmount.

She is survived by another son, Werner, of Stuttgart Germany, and two grandchildren in Germany. She was predeceased by her husband in 1951.

Funeral will be held today in Badenweiler, Germany.

OWSEJ ROSKIES

Funeral service was held Monday in the Paperman & Sons Funeral Chapel for Owsej Roskies, 434 Prince Albert avenue, who died March 10 in Miami, Fla. He was 76.

Founder of the Huntingdon Woolen Mills, Mr. Roskies was born in Bialystok, Poland, and moved to Budapest, Hungary in 1925 where he established the largest textile factory in the country.

In 1939, he came to Canada and founded Huntingdon Woolen Mills. During the Second World War, the mills supplied the Canadian armed forces with cloth for uniforms and blankets.

Mr. Roskies was chairman of the board of Huntingdon Mills and a director of Lindsay Woolen Mill Ltd. and several other corporations at the time of his death.

He took an active interest in many philanthropic organizations both in Canada and Israel. His special interest was the institution of Orthodox Jewish Study (Yeshivot.)

He is survived by his wife, the former Esther M. Weintraub, three sons, Henry, Nathan and Arthur; two brothers, Enoch and Leo; and eight grandchildren.

John A. MacAulay, Q.C., LL.D., of Winnipeg, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, is the first Canadian to hold this position.

Unity NBC Week program at RMR armory April 7

By MAURICE MARIASINE

A gigantic program is being planned by the Unity Boys' Club of Westmount to celebrate "National Boys' Club Week" which takes place throughout Canada the week of April 3.

The date for Unity's Gymkana and Sports Night which takes place at the Royal Montreal Regiment was set for Friday, April 7.

In addition to the Unity Boys' Club, the following Organizations will participate: The Royal Montreal Regiment Band will be in attendance; the American Legion biddy basketball team from Ogdensburg, N.Y. will play an exhibition game versus the Unity Biddy hoopers; The Valcartier instructors will present a gymnastic display; an indoor soccer match will be played between the East End Boys' Club and the Unity Boys' Club; the Royal Montreal Regiment will provide a light rescue demonstration for survival in atomic warfare; there also will be track and field events, tumbling displays, free throw competitions, boys' fitness exhibitions, obstacle courses, tug of war, table tennis exhibition and inter-club volleyball. The Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade will also present a 20-minute performance.

The 10th annual table tennis tournament will also take place during the week. The annual invitational tournament open to all Montreal boys' clubs and recreational centres will take place on Wednesday, April 5.

"Boys' Club Week" provides the opportunity for citizens to see the benefit accruing to youth from the well-planned program, physical vocational, and cultural, that are being operated under the direction of qualified leaders.

During National Boys' Club Week an "Open House" is an invitation to everyone to take an interest in what their sons and daughters are doing to develop into good citizens, irrespective of creed or nationality. The boys and girls are proud of the skills they have developed, of their hobbies and handicrafts, the praise of their elders is an encouragement to even better effort. In those communities that are not fortunate enough to have a boys' club, serious thinking citizens may well use Boys' Club Week to get together and see if they cannot start one.

Unity's "Open House" this year will be at the Royal Montreal Regiment Armory because of the larger facilities. Parents and friends in the community are urged to attend. Admission is by ticket only and is complementary. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Tickets are available at the Unity Boys' Club. See Mr. Bowen for your complimentary ticket.

IN THE MEANWHILE

Activities at the club continue as usual. Nearly 100 boys and girls attended "All Kids Day" at the Montreal Forum and were treated to some goodies through the courtesy of the Dalse Welfare Club and the Montreal Kiwanis Club.

The Travel Club under the direction of Robert Fox-Decent had its inaugural meeting this past week and will continue to meet every Tuesday evening for panel discussions and topics of interest.

HOBBY SHOW

Friday, May 19, is the day set for Unity's Annual Hobby Show Exhibition. Articles produced in the Hobby Workshops during the past program season will be displayed. The Ladies Auxiliary will also conduct their Annual Food Sale and the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade will present "Varieties of 1961" a two-hour Variety Show.

MILITARY WHIST

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Unity Boys' Club will hold a Military Whist and Card Party on Monday, March 20, at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served and a large number of prizes will be available.

Proceeds derived from the card party will be used to purchase equipment and materials for the direct benefit of the boys' club members.

"Cramped" quarters at City Hall

Westmount may purchase old high school: WMA

By Miriam Armstrong

The City of Westmount may purchase the senior high school on Cote St. Antoine road, diagonally opposite the present "cramped" quarters at City Hall, if only to "save it from worse fate", it was disclosed at a WMA executive meeting Tuesday night in Victoria Hall.

Informed sources claim Westmount administrative offices have been short of space for quite some time and could use another 35,000 square feet, 18,000 of which would be for the police and fire departments.

The old high school building, about to be abandoned by the school board as the new high school nears completion, occupies only some 25,000 square feet and may yet be considered inadequate. The price of the building is reported to be $400,000, with an estimated $250,000 expected to be spent on alterations. The alternative is to build west of the present city hall.

The school board is also negotiating to sell the old high school and there is speculation concerning the possible construction of an apartment block on the site. But City Hall states unequivocally that zoning bylaws in the area will not allow the construction of an apartment building on the school location.

It was mentioned at the WMA meeting, however, that Rosemount apartments were not supposed to have been constructed in that area, according to the Housing and Zoning Committee.

"It's difficult to say, off hand, what will be done," said City officials; "the space needs are definite, but it has not been settled how the problem will be resolved."

Westmount 'Y' multi-exhibit April 5 to 8

Marking its 25th anniversary, the Westmount YMCA's Boys' and Girls' Hobby Show — to be held from 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 5, to 8 p.m. Saturday, April 8 — is this year changing its name to the Annual Exhibition of Arts, Crafts, Pets and Athletics, it was disclosed this week.

The exhibit's organizing committee feels the new title is more appropriate, since, in past years, not only hobbies have been entered, but pets and athletics have been featured as well.

General chairman for this year's exhibit is Tony Wood. Committee chairmen are Judy Bryant, art; Gillian Naylor, home economics; Walter Leemans, crafts; Tony Wood, pets; Sharon Allen, photography; Betsy Symons, penmanship and literature; Doreen Connors, opening and closing; Tony Wood, collections; Chris Scott, games; Doreen Connors and Liane Wood, athletics; Judy Bryant, music and entertainment; Cathy Raind, publicity, and Doreen Connors, administration.

Local YPCs seek athletic subsidies, Canadian flag

The Young Progressive Conservative Association of St. Antoine-Westmount will present two resolutions to the national PC convention in Ottawa this weekend, urging that

1) the YPC association of Canada ask the Federal Government to "immediately call upon each Provincial Government to submit an appropriate design for a distinctive Canadian flag, and to adopt before the next Federal election a distinctive Canadian flag from among the submissions," and

2) the Canadian Government subsidize athletes taking part in foreign competitions.

Brian Gallery and Jim Fraser, president and vice-president of the St. Antoine - Westmount YPC's currently in Ottawa, explained the 18-member executive of the local group "felt it was time Canada had a distinctive Canadian flag."

Said Gallery: "We are not trying to put forth any particular design; what we want is for the Government to take concrete measures to see that the Legislature" give Canada its own flag in the near future.

The association executive said a distinctive Canadian flag has been the subject of political promises to the Canadian people by both the former Liberal Government and the present Government."

The association's resolution added: "The apparent inability of said Governments to reach a binding decision is — in a nation of this size and prominence — deplorable and a cause of ridicule in the eyes of other comparable self-governing nations."

Discussing the association's second resolution, Gallery said "we feel that if we are to get the best athletes to represent our country in international competition, we must be prepared to carry a major proportion of their expense."

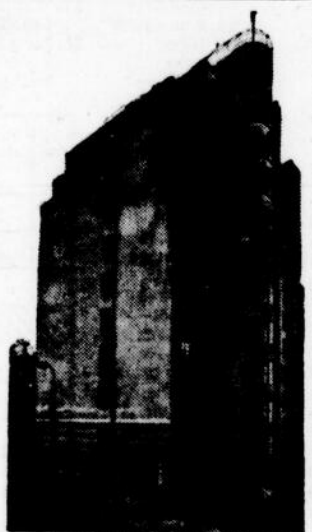

"There are cases now," he added, "where some of the better athletes cannot afford to travel to represent Canada, and, as a result, we are not putting forth strong representation."

WE SAY YOU SAY

Let's get moving on the pool again

It looks as if Westmount's swimming pool is still a long way off.

Certainly, the kids won't be sloshing around in it this year.

This became evident at the Westmount Municipal Association meeting Tuesday evening with discussion on the subject.

It appears obvious that City Council has not been doing much with the matter over the past month or two. The reason advanced: we've been too busy fighting the threat of annexation by Montreal.

But all the blame cannot lie within Council. Outside it, there is no unanimity as to whether the pool should be indoor, outdoor, all-year, or what-have-you. Further, no one has yet come down with a hard-and-fast proposed location which has received universal applause.

The matter has quite properly been brought into the area of public debate. If Council now intends to proceed at some time with a pool, it could do worse than announcing a plan based on what it has now learned, consider any serious objections, and get on with it.

Pink envelopes go out to generous

THIS week the Post Office began delivery of some 450,000 now-familiar pink envelopes to Montreal area homes.

It is a return mailing piece containing 25 rather attractive, arresting Easter Seals calling for help to crippled children. They are produced by the Canadian Council for Crippled Children and Adults for the Rotary Club of Montreal.

The Rotarians have been conducting their work for the crippled for a long time, with ever increasing effectiveness.

It is one of those campaigns which gets whole-hearted support because of Boredom in class wastes our youth

Sir: I am glad the school authorities are finally getting smart and realizing how little is accomplished by compelling a student to repeat ten subjects as a penalty for failing one. I have never been so unfortunate as to have that experience. However, I know from those who have, how completely frustrating and stultifying it is.

My remarks, of course, are engendered by Miriam Armstrong's article on Education in your last issue. Perhaps, one of the greatest wastes of our young people is the result of boredom in school. What should be an enriching, exciting and interesting experience too often is deadly. To repeat and repeat a subject taken and passed could only make it more so. Either an inability to think things through and realize that a bored student becomes an ineffectual and uneducated adult or a lack of positive thinking about the problem is at the root of the school system's poor handling.

I personally know a woman who completed the ninth grade only, solely because she had difficulty with Latin. She liked school very much, did well in all other subjects and would like to have continued. Unfortunately, she attended a school where only the course requiring Latin was available. The prospect of spending a third year repeating the ninth grade was not only embarrassing but boring. And because of this her scope of employment now is limited.

Amelia Christensen

its utter simplicity, sincerity and lack of great fuss.

Recipients are asked simply to tuck a dollar or more in the envelope and mail it back.

Donors can count on probably a greater percentage of actual revenue used directly for the intended cause (crippled) than is the case in most public charity appeals.

Virtually all the work is voluntary Rotarian labor of love.

Watch for your pink envelope and seals. Send it back with your contribution the day you receive it.

THEY SAY

All men are frail but thou shouldst reckon none as frail as thyself.

— Thomas A Kempis

Cote St. Antoine road is one of the oldest streets on the Island of Montreal, and is generally conceded to be the oldest in Westmount. It has been conjectured that it developed originally from an Indian trail. Certainly, it was widely used by the earliest white settlers in travelling from Montreal to Lachine, and was deemed safer from Indian attacks than the lower roads.

The exact opening date of Cote St. Antoine road is unknown. However, the road became an important one very shortly after the "Mountain Fort" was built by priests on land granted to them in 1662 by Sieur de Maisonneuve.

The priests of the Seminary of St. Sulpice compiled the list of owners of land fronting Cote St. Antoine road in 1731. The French families, nestled together in the little mountain farm community of the early 18th century, bore names familiar to all Montrealers. They were Bodria, Leciner, Decary, Lacroix, Leduc, Prud'homme, and Hurtubise.

Desireable for country living

During the early 19th century, the desirability of the location for country living was discovered by the English speaking members of the community of Montreal.

The initial encroachment was made by Charles Bowman, Esquire, a Scottish gentleman, who built a country mansion, styled "Forden", in 1826. It was still occupied by his descendants, the Raynes family, up until a few years ago.

Thereafter, "Monklands," the Governor's country seat was built. This was followed by construction of four houses known as "Metcalf Terrace." They were built to house aides to Governor Metcalfe who governed from 1843 to 1845.

In 1845, William Murray bought the Leduc farm at a Sheriff's sale. He built a gray stone house with a square tower which he called "Westmount." It was from this mansion that the town took its name. The former Leduc farm is now Murray park.

The oldest house on the road, still occupied by a member of the family that built it, belongs not to an English speaking family, but to a descendant of one of the original white settlers. The Hurtubise house at 563 Cote St. Antoine road is still in the hands of the Hurtubise family.

Where tollgates stood

As a matter of interest to modern drivers, during the last century two toll gates exacted tribute on the road, one at Greene avenue and the other at Claremont.

Always — since the 1800s — bilingual, varied in faiths and

Rich in history

Cote St. Antoine road: a cosmopolitan street

By Jane Hendershott

multi-racial to some extent, Cote St. Antoine is still predominantly Protestant and English speaking. Of the 133 households 21 speak French, 112 English. Protestants number 78, Jewish 14 and 40 families are Roman Catholic. One honest chap disclaims any religious affiliation whatsoever.

The leisure, monied and professional classes predominate just as they have since the first inroads by the English.

Of the 32 women listed as heads of households, only four work for a living. The two secretaries, the stenographer and the teacher live in one of the two apartment houses on the road. The rest of the women, presumably, have private incomes of some sort.

Only seven heads of households, all men, admit to being over 65 and of these, six are retired.

Abounds with professionals

One man, a rarity these days, does not give an occupation but lists himself simply as Mister. The professions predominate with two lawyers and a judge representing the legal profession; eight physicians, a psychiatrist and a dentist members of the healing arts; 10 chartered accountants, five engineers, two clergymen, five architects, a professor, a chemist, an editor total up to 38 professional men heads of households.

Assorted corporate executives abound, running the gamut from two presidents down through varied ranks and titles such as controller director, assistant, secretary, manager, sales director to janitor.

Miscellany might be said to include the lone civil servant, two investment dealers, a church officer, a medical photographer, a commercial artist, an advertiser and an importer. Then there is a traveler. Of the five salesmen who live on the road, four sell insurance.

Property values average $40,000

Property values on the road vary considerably from a low of between $15,000 and $20,000 to a high upwards of $40,000 for the apartment house property. Most of the homes on the road, all save the apartment buildings and perhaps three, two-family dwellings are single family buildings. Most of them fall between $30,000 and $40,000 in market value, judging by the assessment valuation rolls.

Most families on Cote St. Antoine road own their own homes, listing them either in the name of the husband or in the name of the wife.

This is not a street of renters or transients. It is a neighborhood of homes, schools, churches and parks. The good life is being lived on Cote St. Antoine road today, just as it has been for many years. The names are different but the tempo is the same for the cosmopolites of Cote St. Antoine.

Prospect House to be ready by late Spring

Prospect House, new residence for the elderly, currently being constructed in Westmount, will be ready for occupancy late this spring, it was announced last week by F. H. Peters, newly re-elected president at the annual meeting of the Family Service Association of Montreal. The home is being built in co-operation with the Westmount Rotary Club.

Mr. Peters also noted a long waiting list for Belvedere, home for the elderly, completed during 1960 adjacent to the new Family Service Association building also finished last year.

John Dobson, honorary treasurer, reported a first time shortage in capital funds. Approximately $29,000 of the cost of Belvedere is currently being met by a short term bank loan which will be replaced by a mortgage if the funds are not found elsewhere.

A change in the type of service supplied by the organization was highlighted by Eliner G. Barnstead, executive director. A reduction in cases needing financial assistance from 68 per cent of the caseload in 1958 to 28 per cent in 1960 pointed up the change dramatically. During 1960, the association handled 1,454 problems involving either profession service of some kind or a homemaker supplied by the Association.

Others elected to the executive were, G. D. Robertson Cooper, Mrs. Louis Drummond and Mrs. G. Ashford Dunn, vice-presidents, John Dobson, honorary treasurer.

The Advisory Board will consist of Theodore Meighan, Q.C., F. G. Rutley, L. J. Scott, William T. Stewart, W. K. Trower, Frank P. Turville, and David A. Wanklyn. Honorary solicitor is H. Larratt Smith, Q.C.

The new Board of Directors includes Mrs. Donald M. Byers, Dr. John R. Martin, Walter K. Molson, Mrs. M. C. Willis, Mrs. Errol B. Clift, C. D. Robertson Cooper, John Dobson, William A. Dudgeon, Mrs. Louis Drummond, Mrs. G. Ashford Dunn, E. A. M. Edson, James Haire, Derek C. Hannaford, Reverend Kenneth B. Keefe, Mrs. Peter F. Kerrigan, M. S. Layton, Mrs. Malcolm B. Co-operative parking space for Greene avenue discussed

How much of the public's money should be spent on providing parking space in Westmount was a question posed by City Hall officials this week it was disclosed at the WMA meeting Tuesday night.

Merchants, particularly on Greene avenue, have been complaining of a lack of parking space affecting their trade, but it has been suggested by the City that the merchants band together and put up a garage or parking lot in the area charging a nominal fee for parking.

"How much should we put up to subsidize merchants?" asked a Westmount official. "And how many merchants will benefit from this help — five, 10 or 100? Perhaps private enterprise, and not the city should do it," he added.

By law every new building in Westmount other than residential must make provision for parking in a garage or in the ground adjacent to the building. Because of this by-law, in effect for 25 years, Westmount does not have as serious a problem as other areas in this respect, according to City Hall sources.

Buildings on Greene avenue are now more active than expected when built prior to the by-law concerning parking space.

Mechanics list new executive

Members of the Mechanics' Institute of Montreal Monday night re-elected Ernest A. Thorne to his seventh consecutive term as president of the 121 year old educational organization.

Originally founded for the benefit of apprentice-mechanics in the days when adult education for the working man was unavailable, the institute has long since abandoned its school and functioned solely as a library in recent years.

According to Miss Sybil Grimson, head librarian for the past 15 years, the institute was founded "to afford instruction in the arts, sciences and industries," and took as its early motto, the aim, "To make the man a better mechanic and the mechanic a better man".

The library, conveniently

Madam, please don't park your car at W'mnt station

Madam, are you parking your car at Westmount Station all day while you do your shopping or visiting?

Well, take a tip from Richard

Coristine, recreation chairman of the Westmount Municipal Association who says he will not allow his wife to park the car at the station for the day.

Retarded children Fossils talk theme

A New Life for Retarded Children and Adults is the theme of a talk to be given by Tom Markey to the Fossils Club of Montreal Inc. March 20.

Mr. Markey is immediate past president of the Montreal Association for Retarded Children and will speak at the Fossils meeting in the Queen's Hotel.

Last year the Canadian Junior Red Cross exceeded its objective of $150,000 to help refugee children.

The reason is that when anyone wants to say farewell or bid welcome to a guest arriving or leaving the station he just can't unless he keeps his motor going! There just isn't any space available for the purpose of parking.

The property belongs to the CPR, so, presumably the City has no control over the matter.

But if you expect to bid a dear friend goodbye, at Westmount station make sure your gas tank's full because you'll have to do it with the motor purring.

The brilliant young conductor Werner Torkanowsky will conduct the next concert in the Montreal Star Dollar series at the Forum on Monday, March 20th. Eugene List will be the soloist, and the program consists of Weber's Overture, the second concerto of Rachmaninov, and Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. This promises to be a great evening, and those of you who have tickets may consider yourselves fortunate indeed. Torkanowsky will conduct another pair of concerts April 11th at Plateau Hall with the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, and details of that will appear in this column.

The McGill Choral Society present "Springsong '61" at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium on Saturday, March 18th, 8.30 p.m. The program will consist of a variety of spirituals, folk songs, sea shanties and excerpts from the Broadway hit "The Sound of Music." The choir will be directed by Gifford Mitchell, and guest artists will be Canadian baritone Jan Simons, as well as "The Martlets", a group of 16 specialized choristers. At the piano will be William Stevens, whose recent record for Laurentian is doing very well. I am told. Tickets are $1.50 and may be had from the McGill Union, International Music Store and at the door. ON CKVL-FM —

A few minor changes have taken place in the March Schedule. Mozart on Sunday, 9.30 a.m. is replaced by Carillon. Carillon also replaces Concerto at 9.30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and Concerto is heard at 11.30 p.m. Also on Monday, etc., Famous Orchestras replaces 101 Strings at 10 a.m. Carillon will not be heard Tuesday and Thursday at 11.30 p.m. Replacing these two programs will be the Music of Mozart. Finally, Concert Stage on Saturday, 7.30 p.m. will be replaced by Carillon.

NEW RELEASES —

Carl Orff: Carmina Burana/The Philadelphia Or. — E. Ormandy, with soloists and Rutgers University Choir / Columbia ML 5498 (M) MS 6163 (S)

The first work of Carl Orff's delightful trilogy is heard here in exciting rendition and excellent sound. The lively rhythms and pleasing harmonies of the work possess an immediate appeal and make for pleasant listening.

Verdi: A Masked Ball—Highlights for Orch. / Rome Sym. Or. — D. Savino / Kapp KCL 9051 (S)

This is the latest in the long list of Kapp's opera without words series. The performance and recording are both up to Kapp's usual high standards.

Beethoven: Violin & Piano Sonatas Nos. 1 & 9 / Zino Francescatti — Robert Casadesu / Columbia ML 5453 (M) MS 6125 (S)

Sheer poetry would seem to be the only description appropriate for such playing. Here is intimate music to delight your heart and soul.

Heart of the Piano Concerto / Arthur Rubinstein and various orchestras / Victor LM 2495 (M) LSC 2495 (S)

The selections (six) are taken from Rubinstein's various albums and present a cross section of romantic concerto literature, including movements from Beethoven, St. Saens, Rachmaninov, Liszt, Chopin & Grieg.

Smetana: Moldau / Liszt: Les Preludes / Mozart: Kleine Nachtmusik / Beethoven: Egmont Ovt. / Radio Sym. Orch. of Berlin — F. Friesay / Deutsche Grammophon LPM 19226

Here is a varied program of orchestral favourites performed by a superb orchestra and with an engineering job second to none.

I Musici-Serata Napoletana / Epic LC 3670 (M), BC 1119 (S)
The four concerti on this delightful disc are by Alessandro Scarlatti, father of the famous Domenico, Leonardo Leo, Francesco Durante and G. B. Pergolesi, who all lived and composed during the height of the Italian baroque. The music is delicious and the playing impeccable, and one cannot recommend this album highly enough.

Prokofiev: Piano Concerto No. 3 / MacDowell: Piano Concerto No. 2 / Van Cibus, with Chicago Sym. Orch. — Walter Hendl / Victor LM 2507 (M) LSC 2507 (S)

Cibus turns in a hair raising, fire and brimstone performance of the Prokofiev, and his playing in the more romantic MacDowell is equally convincing. Both works really deserve more playing than they have been getting.

Stravinsky: L'Histoire du Soldat / Melvyn Douglas, James Mitchell and Alvin Epstein as narrators / Kapp Sinfonietta - Emanuel Vardi / Kapp KDC 6004 (S)

This is the full length version of Stravinsky's Story of a Soldier, and the first class talent in the narration department, plus a very good job of recording, make for some startling effects, particularly in stereo.

Concert Percussion for Orchestra — Works by Cage, Cowell, Harrison, Roldan & Russell / Time 58000 (M), S-8000 (S)

All the works recorded on this disc date from the thirties and early forties, and are certainly most interesting to listen to. What makes the record a standout is the stereo version, where separation of the two channels is so complete that it must be heard to be believed.

McGill choral presentation features 14 local students

The McGill Choral Society, bolstered by the voices of 14 Westmount students, will present its 16th annual spring concert, "Springsong '61," Saturday, March 18, in the Sir Arthur Currie gymnasium on Pine avenue.

Localities featured in the production are Max Berbard, Dave Francis, Gail Parkins, Karen and Ingrid Hall, Mary Lawson, Lynda Raff, David Paterson, Isabel Joseph, Joan Smart, Richard Irwin, Stephen Jasper, Margaret Boake and Sherril Nelson.

In recent years, the McGill Choral Society has built up an enviable reputation on the Montreal music scene through many concerts, recordings and broadcasts.

This year's concert is directed by Gifford Mitchell, who was recently awarded the "Distinguished Graduates Shield" for his contribution to McGill through the Choral Society.

"Springsong '61" will feature a contrast of musical moods, arrangements, rhythms and choral techniques. Blended into the programme will be folk songs such as "Dry Bones", selections from the hit Broadway Musical "The Sound of Music", wonderfully arranged numbers from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" and the "Gondoliers", salty sea shanties such as "Down the Wind" and the hauntingly contemplative negro spiritual "There is a Balm in Gilead". Inspired by the Easter season, the society will sing the inspirational "Cavaleria Rusticiana" from the opera of the same name.

Featured on the programme as guest artists will be Jan Simons, distinguished Canadian baritone, just returned from his triumphant engagement in England's Wigmore Hall; and McGill's own Martlets, a small group of choristers, hand-picked for their exceptional musical interest and talent. Highlighting the evening will be a "Sing Along with Mitch" session Gifford Mitchell, that is, in which the audience will be invited to join with the society in the singing of several spirited old favorites.

The Society's total membership of more than 300 choristers includes students from every faculty and represents a cross-section of the many nationalities on campus.

Tickets are available at the door or from any member of the society.

Westmounter ardent worker for Easter Seals Campaign

A Westmount resident who is playing an important behind-the-scenes role in the current Easter Seals campaign for crippled children is Dr. Arnold F. Jones, a Montreal General Hospital surgeon who lives at 17 Willow avenue.

Dr. Jones has been an enthusiastic supporter of the crippled children's cause since World War II, during which he served with the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas. He is a director of the Quebec Easter Seals Society.

"Like everything else, the cost of caring for the handicapped is constantly rising,"

Dr. Jones said this week. "We hope that all members of the public will respond to our appeal even more generously than usual this year to enable us to reach our increased objective."

The campaign, which runs from March 21 to April 3, seeks to raise $150,000 in donations from the public through the familiar pink envelopes, which have been delivered to almost 450,000 homes in Greater Montreal. This is an increase of $50,000 over past years' objectives.

Money subscribed to the appeal assists crippled children in many ways. It provides them with rehabilitation treatments designed to restore use to wasted muscles and enable the patients to live as near a normal life as possible. It provides needy patients with such things as wheelchairs, crutches and braces. It provides special education for those children whose disability prevents them from attending ordinary schools. And it buys ambulances to take the children to and from hospitals and schools.

Organizations supporting the Easter Seals campaign and benefiting from its proceeds are: the School for Crippled Children; the Province of Quebec Society for Crippled Children; the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal; the Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation Centre; and the Cripples Aid Committee of the Rotary Club of Montreal.

PERSONAL SERVICE

We take pride in the fact that we have been serving Westmount residents since 1928 and we believe that it is because of the dependable, personal service that we have given from the start that our business continues to grow.

For example: During bad weather, our switchboard is always answered. If we have no cars available, we take the phone number and always call back as soon as we can get a car for you. We let you know when we are sending your taxi. This personal service is not exceptional, with us it is standard procedure.

We never take an order and then neglect to send a car while you wait and wait! So for dependable, personal service...

A total of 28 posters by Grade VIII and Grade IX girls, Westmount Junior High School, were chosen to promote the Westmount High Alumnae Association "Pirate Spring Sale", March 29, in the Westmount Junior High Gym, from 4 to 10 p.m. President, Mrs. Isabel Swift, announced the names of the three winners: First prize winner Sandra Moskel, received a certificate from Posen's Photographers. Second prize winner Susan Steward got a Tommy Dorsey record. A third prize Shopping certificate from Jas. A. Ogilvy's store went to Susan Sadler. Some of the posters will be prominently displayed in various parts of the city, the remainder used as background decoration for the sale.

"Any saleable objects will be welcomed" declared Mrs. Swift. "Please deliver these items to Mr. Taylor, Westmount Junior High, any day between 2:30 and 4 p.m. We invite members and friends to help make the Pirate Spring Sale a success." Westmount High, Mr. D. T. Trenholm, Miss Pitts, and members of the Westmount High Alumnae Association have enjoyed extremely good cooperation for many years now in helping to raise funds for the annual scholarships awarded each year by the W.H.A.A.

The Independent Art Association will hold a sugaring party at St. Philomene on Saturday, March 18 (weather permitting). Members will leave by chartered bus. Tickets at $3.75 cover lunch and a plate of la tite. Many rustic spots are in the area for those who wish to paint during the day. For reservations phone: Mrs. Bea Alan, HU. 1-7019.

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS

1. REFUTED is to the point. A REFUTED scholar may be hard put to live up to his billing as a scholar, for, having been proved wrong once, he may find people are skeptical of his learning. A REPUTED scholar, as one who has earned a reputation for learning, should have no problem so long as he continues to be right.

8. POLICY is better. A family may depend on a POLICY, as an insurance POLICY, for security in the event of the death of the wage earner. POLICE is vague without specific information as to the situation.

12. GAUZY, more likely. A woman may try to talk her daughter out of buying a GAUZY dress, as one made of tulle, for she may consider it too delicate to wear well. So far as a GAUDY dress is concerned, they may have the same tastes.

14. CHOLER is preferred. A woman's CHOLER, or anger, may be considered extravagant, or excessive, for she may be expected to exert some self-control. One would have to know more about the CHOKER, or necklace; these come at all prices, from very little up.

17. RICE, yes. RICE may receive greater priority in some areas, as such where it constitutes an important part of the diet. The RICH may receive greater priority anywhere, for they can afford to buy superiority in privileges.

23. WOOL is best. One would want to be fussy about cleaning this, for the proper cleaning technique and materials can prevent shrinkage and retain brightness of color and softness. One is more likely to want to be merely thorough in cleaning a POOL or a TOOL.

25. CHEER, to be sure. A young man's CHEER, or gaiety and animation, may seem frivolous and unbusinesslike to his elderly employer and make him lose his temper. His CHEEK, or impertinence, might anger anyone. CHEEP is remote.

29. WASH over WISH. A mother may WASH her little boy well the morning of his first day at school, as to assist with his scrubbing, to be sure that he makes a good impression. She would WISH him well at any time.

33. TENSE is better. One may wish that a TENSE play had lasted longer, for the sustained suspense will have made it seem all too short. A TERSE play may have little to communicate and one may be glad when it is over.

DOWN

1. RINGER is chosen. People may eye a RINGER askance, or with mistrust, for this is an individual who misrepresents himself. A RIGGER is a scaffolding erected for public protection at a construction site to catch falling objects, and most people appreciate its protection.

3. TOBY, yes. A TOBY, as a jug for ale, has not changed much through the centuries, for it is made in the form of a stout man, the brim of whose hat forms the spout or rim. Like many other things the ,TORY, or conservative, has changed with the times; what appears conservative today may have seemed revolutionary a century ago.

10. FIRING is to the point. An artillery officer is likely to be concerned about how his men are FIRING, for their effectiveness depends on their being on the target. Any officer, anywhere, would be concerned about how his men are FARING.

11. MULCT is desired. A MULCT may produce beneficial results, for it is a fine or penalty that may make a wrongdoer think twice. It would take a MULCH in combination with other measures to produce beneficial effects, as in gardening, rather than a MULCH by itself.

15. OFFISH is wanted. A teacher may try to persuade an OFFISH, or reserved, student to go in for sports to bring him into closer relationship with other students. An OAFISH, or clumsy, student may be headed off from sports where he is likely to find only disappointment and frustration.

19. WAFER is best. A WAFER, as a crisp cracker, is not likely to benefit from a rainfall, for the moisture in the air would make it soggy and limp. A WADER is likely to be wet already, and not mind a rainfall. WAGER, WAKER and WAYER are remote.

21. SIGHT is wanted. A ticket holder at a boxing match who has poor SIGHT may feel he wasn't entertained, for his vision may have caused him to miss seeing much of the action. All the ticket holders at a poor FIGHT may feel cheated. A poor LIGHT also would affect all. NIGHT and RIGHT are vague.

22. POUND is favored. The noise of a POUND, as a dog POUND, could be startling because of the sudden loud barking one's approach would set off. One HOUND might be one's own dog barking a greeting. Precautions are normally taken to see that no one can come close unexpectedly when a ROUND is to be fired. A SOUND may be a mere whisper.

Humane treatment to animals urged in zookeeper's novel

By VALENTINA RAHR

A British-born zoo director, who for more than 30 years has lived in close proximity with the animals he learned to work with and love, recently published a book called "At Home in the Zoo," in which he expounds some of the theories and first-hand knowledge he acquired, but "was not permitted to use while employed as director of the Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Zoo."

Dealing mainly with animals, the book also tells about the author's lifelong wish for implementation of an international law regarding housing, care and treatment of animals.

Gerald Isles, relaxing in his furnished apartment on Windsor avenue, where two tiger rugs are draped gracefully in the entrance hall and living room, declared "animals have sensitive feelings and emotions. They are," he said, "certain to suffer unless given good treatment and kindness. There is a general apathy toward animals here. Over in England, the RSPCA is very powerful. Every year, hundreds of cases are brought by them before the courts, where animals have been mistreated, or not properly housed. Here, although many people are interested in the welfare of animals, very little is actively done about it. In a whole year I have not heard of a single case brought before the court by the SPCA in Montreal," he said.

"In Canada, you can apparently," Isles continued, "do whatever you like with animals today. If you want to keep a leopard or giraffe, you may do so. No one cares about correct housing or food, and animals are generally regarded as so much merchandise. Sending an alligator as a joke is only an instance of the inhumane attitude toward animals."

A strong plea is made in the book urging the implementation of laws regarding the treatment of animals.

International laws, he says, should be made regarding the treatment of animals. Authorities in every country should investigate where an animal is going, and what treatment and housing it will receive before it is allowed to leave the country.

Many animals, he added, are kept in prefabricated houses, which are not adequate. Birds, for example, are frequently not treated properly. In America, monkeys are a favorite pet. But young monkeys need as much attention as a young child.

Another important phase of the international agreement between countries is that not all animals that are caught and exported should be permitted to leave the country unless they are going to approved institutions. This agreement is not widespread enough, he explained. Only two countries protect certain animals, and they are Australia and Sumatra. Australia, he said, has an embargo on birds of paradise. In Sumatra, there are an estimated 40 to 50 rhinos left on the entire island. There is an embargo on rhinos in Sumatra. But Canada does not have such regulation.

"Good zoos play an important part in our history," says Isles. "As time goes by, more areas become civilized, and animals become deprived of their natural conditions. The zoos will play a greater part in the future, by preserving the species. Before too long, countries will wake up to the fact that animals are being exploited indiscriminately," he added.

A zoo director's prime aim, according to Isles, is to protect and try to cover all aspects of an animal's life in the zoo. In his book he tries to show the different work done by different members of the personnel, and the social, medical and humorous sides of life in a zoo. He tries to indicate to the public also, just what wonderful creatures animals really are.

A great animal lover for years, Gerald Isles' first love was the theatre, and for many years he considered this as a possible career.

While on a tour of European zoos with his father, who was originally in charge of the Bellevue Zoological Gardens in Manchester, England, young Isles realized that working with animals was the only life for him. At 17 he left school to learn the business, and various duties at the zoo. Soon after, he resumed his education at Manchester University, where he took courses in Zoology.

When his father retired, Isles, at the age of 21, took over as director of the Bellevue Zoological Gardens in Manchester. He remained there until coming to Montreal just over three years ago. He was, he said, sent for to be in charge of the construction and operation of a new zoo, located in the area between Verdun and Ville LaSalle.

"An area about 130 acres was designated to be used for buildings, zoo grounds, and so forth. In 1957, when I came here, I was very interested in this project which was largely publicized as being the most wonderful zoo Montreal has ever seen."

Subsequent events, however, brought about his resignation, from the position of director, travelling in a train to Manchester.

Zoo directors have their humorous moments too. Once while ter, Isles concealed beneath his coat some snakes that had been given to him as a gift by the director of the London Zoo. They were in canvas bags, and gave him a peculiarly obese appearance. He enjoyed the trip because of the consternation it would cause the passengers if they were to suddenly be confronted with the contents of the bags.

Another incident that he tells about occurred at Manchester Zoo. "Hornbill birds like to be visited by the public," he recalls. "They will perform their spectacular repertoire whenever there is an audience present. One of the birds was a favourite and we called him 'Goofy.'"

One particular day, I was sporting a tightly bound finger which had been crushed by a window when the sash cord broke. After treatment at the hospital, it was most tender. When Goofy approached me at the zoo, he went directly for my pocket where I usually had some grapes for him. I took one grape out and held it out to him. He did not take the grape. He bit on my bandaged finger instead. I would just like to point out here that the bill of the hornbill is very strong, and is used for art carving by the Orientals. The feeling of being held by a hornbill is like being squeezed by a pair of pliers."

Mr. Isles lives with his pet cat 'Smokey Joe' a beautiful short hair, chocolate coloured animal.

"I live here mainly because there is a garden at the back for Smokey," said Mr. Isles. "He can play there and lie in the sun without being disturbed by people or traffic. Smokey is 10 years old and is one of the reasons why I am not considering returning Smokey would have to be quarantined for six months before being allowed to enter the country. That is the law for all dogs and cats entering England. Smokey couldn't stand that."

His future plans? He would like to work for the Federal Government in connection with the preservation of animals in Canada. In the meantime, an unemployed zoo director, finds it difficult to acquire another position. "It is such a specialized field," he states. "And although the air in Westmount is very refreshing, it is impossible to remain alive without an income!"

CLEAN PAINT BRUSHES

A wire coat hanger, a tin can and appropriate solvent can help keep your paint brushes clean and in good condition.

First, bore a hole in the brush handle and pass the coat hanger wire through the hole. Then, suspend the brush in the can by resting the ends of the wire on its sides. Fill the can with the correct solvent to the top of the bristles only. Care must be taken that the bristle ends do not rest on the bottom of the can.

Winter Sports & Resorts

As you like it

By LAURENT PRICE

IT SURE DID SNOW!

The heavy snows that blanketed our beat last week gave lodge owners and lift operators a much-needed, although belated, break for the next three or four weekends. From Mad River Glen and Sugarbush to Stowe, the Eastern Townships, upstate New York and the Laurentians; Jeffersonville and Lac Beauport, the skiers are congregating; and as a recent visitor to Stowe commented, the trails have never been better.

Sleighting and skating rink at the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec City.

The abnormal weather conditions throughout most of the winter have been miserable.

Restaurant and inn keepers in the areas have been hanging on by shoestrings, and these next few weekends are manna from the heavens.

As much as you wanted to ski, the operators needed you more, for their livelihoods depended on the sport and your visits.

The bunk about "separating the men from the boys" among them is nonsense. This season they were all "boys", with very, very few exceptions.

So here's the fluffy stuff, girls and boys, in great quantities! Be sure to get in some of that swell Spring skiing.

PEOPLE and PLACES

A couple we know who cover our pastures as much as we do were high in their praises of Frank Atkinson's way with an organ at the Gray Rocks Inn, St. Jovite . . . We agree wholeheartedly . . .

The La Marquise ski lift at St. Sauveur des Monts attracting family groups and clubs . . .

The Mount Mansfield outfit in Stowe called back a bunch of instructors who were dumped when the rains came, before what is now referred to as "the Big Snow" . . .

The Paleface lift installation at Jay, New York, hosting many Montreal visitors . . .

Pete Roland who runs the Homestead at Lake Placid, New York, one of the better looking guys in that neighborhood . . . Operates a smart spot, too . . .

Leo Graton, the manager of George Bourret's Chatel Boise at Ste. Adele, Quebec, has a bunch of banquets scheduled for this month . . .

Ed Sullivan on his program last week boosted Don Ameche's opening in "The 13 Daughters"; and dear, dear Dorothy Kilgallen said the presentation stunk up the theatre a few days later . . . It's getting to be so we don't know who to believe . . .

Then along comes pretty and talented Joan Fairfax, the Canadian singing star, to start, a battle between Sullivan and Jack Paar . . . Such goings-on . . . All this has nothing to do with Spring skiing, of course . . .

Tips given ski watchers

Robert Aldous, chairman of the races being held at Wildcat Mountain in Pinkham Notch, Jackson, N.H. where the National Ski Champion will be crowned this month, has announced some tips for spectators who will be attending the exciting events on the 17, 18 and 19.

"My first tip, of course, would be to dress warmly, as standing watching a race can be cooler than skiing at the same temperature. Good vantage points for watching and picture taking in both the Downhill and the Giant Slalom would be at the water bar above the T-Bar Slope or in the very steep S-Turn section of the Wildcat Trail.

"The fastest man in these events is not always the one who cuts sharp corners or runs the straightest course. Watch for the competitor who runs the smoothest and skids the least on corners.

Girl, 23, injured in two-car crash

A 23-year-old Westmount girl sustained cuts below her right eye when the car which she was driving was involved in a collision with another at the intersection of Claremont and Western late Friday morning.

According to police, the girl, identified as Germaine Versailles of 330 Kensington avenue, refused medical aid.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Andre Bi-beau, of 1913 de Villiers, south-bound on Claremont, collided with Miss Versailles' auto which was moving east on Western.

Preparing for Lent —
The good soil
by
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

"And another fell on good ground, and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased, and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some a hundred." Mark 4:8. "And these are they which are sown on good ground; such as hear the word, and receive it, and bring forth fruit, some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

In some ways this is the most difficult soil of all to deal with, for it is particularly subject to one weed, which seems to spring up from no seed and from nowhere in particular.

You notice in the interpretation there is no great activity on the part of the receivers. Perhaps our Lord had in mind those devout people who were called "the quiet in the land." They carried on their normal activities and heard the word gladly and waited for God to act in His own good time. It may be that Judas Iscariot's sin was that he tried to force God's hand, to produce a crisis where Jesus would have to act to save the Kingdom of God movement.

Ontario minister visits Baptists

The Rev. Donald Timpany, a dynamic younger Baptist minister from Cornwall will occupy the pulpit at Westmount Baptist Church while Dr. E. J. Bailey, the minister, preaches anniversary services at Bethel Baptist Church, Toronto.

Westmount Baptist members will attend the ordination of Rev. Gerald Hunt on Monday, March 27 at Beloeil United Church. Westmount is sponsoring the Mountain View Baptist Church into which Mr. Hunt is being inducted.

Mid-week meeting of the church for Bible study, prayer and praise with the Pastor, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Westmount Baptist will support the visit of Tom Rees, the British Evangelist, on March 25 and 26 at St. James United and the Salvation Army Citadel.

★ Christian Science ★

How an understanding of God's omnipotence will support and guide man even when material expedients have failed him, will be emphasized at the services in all the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Matter." Scriptural passages which confirm this assurance will include the following from Psalms: "In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me." Pertinent citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew."

We can well imagine that the quiet ones would be amazed themselves as they realized that God was using them for His purpose and was bringing forth in them fruit unto everlasting life.

Then comes the danger — the amazement can easily turn to pride, and pride is one of the great sins. Our Lord rebuked in His parable of the Pharisee and the Publican. The Pharisee boasted of all the good things that he had done — his tithing, his righteousness and all the things that go to make up the good life. He even boasted that he was not as other men were, and he probably told the truth. He had lived a good life and he already had his reward — men spoke well of him.

It is a question how we are to receive the seed which is the Word of God into soil which with God's help we have been able to clear of rocks and weeds; how we are to continue to keep the weeds out, how we are to avoid the sin of smug self-satisfaction when we find God using us for His purposes; how in short we are to avoid thinking of ourselves, to think only of Him "Who worketh in you both the will and to do of His good pleasure."

Eskimo speaker to address Baha'is

Mrs. Agnes Harrison, of Fairbanks, Alaska, who speaks at a Baha'i meeting this Saturday.

The Westmount Baha'is are hosts to a distinguished guest speaker next Monday. She is Mrs. Agnes Harrison of Fairbanks, Alaska, who will speak at an open meeting for Baha'is and friends, 8:30 p.m., Monday, March 20, 201 Metcalfe avenue, No. 1003.

Mrs. Harrison is of Eskimo background and speaks four different Eskimo dialects fluently and is often called upon to act as interpreter in court cases involving Eskimos. A teacher by profession she has dedicated her life to the training of children and youth, and working toward the Baha'i principle of a universal basic educational standard.

In 1960 Mrs. Harrison attended a White House conference on children and youth as representative of the natives peoples of Alaska, and met President Eisenhower.

She is the first of her race to have visited the Baha'i World Centre in Haifa, Israel. While returning from her pilgrimage she did extensive Baha'i teaching in the centres in Europe and is now on a trans-Canada Baha'i lecture tour.

Women's Division CJA
 plans 5th Conference

"In Search of Fulfillment" has been announced as the theme of the Fifth Women's Community Conference, by Mrs. Mark I. H. Kaufmann, 4687 Bonavista avenue, 1961 chairman. The conference is sponsored by the Women's Division of Combined Jewish Appeal and the theme will deal with the personal and social development of the adult woman in our society. Mrs. Martha Selig, recognized authority on social planning in New York City, will be the keynote speaker.

The conference will take place on Monday, April 17, at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

In accepting the conference chairmanship, Mrs. Kaufmann said "satisfaction from community work comes not merely from doing, but from knowing and understanding. This year's conference offers a most important opportunity to gain understanding of the role of women in our society today." Mrs. Kaufmann is an active member of the board of the ladies auxiliary of the Jewish General Hospital, a member of the arts council of the YM - YWHA, and a past president of the Priscilla Rosner Chapter of Hadassah. She is also a member of the women's auxiliary of St. Mary's Hospital.

Mrs. Ernest Shapiro, chairman of the program committee, has explained that the theme will be covered in three concurrent workshops, under the following headings:

"1) CONCERN WITH THE WORLD AROUND US, which will explore our impact on the world around us and whether women are as aware and active as they might be;

"2) THE INFLUENCE OF CONFORMITY AND STATUS-SEEKING, which will investigate some of the forces operating around us and the effects they have on our lives;

"3) REALIZING OUR FULL POTENTIAL, which will study the possible areas of fulfillment in personal development through the family, through self-examination, and through work."

The Women's Community Conference is initiated by the Activities Committee of the Women's Division of Combined Jewish Appeal, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Morrie E. Coshof. There are over 30 organizations represented on the co-ordinating committee and past conferences on such subjects as "youth" and "security" have drawn attendances of more than 500 women.

In addition to all the organizations and agencies associated with the Combined Jewish Appeal, other agencies participating have been the Girls' Cottage School, the United Nations Association, the Boys' Farm and Training School, and the Catholic Girls Information Bureau.

Any woman in the community who is interested in the conference is welcome to attend.

West End artists exhibit at Handicrafts Guild Show

By PAT IPPOLITO

A host of handicraft artists from Montreal's West End exhibited in the "Canadian Craftsmanship Today" show held recently at the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, 2025 Peel street. Artists were allowed to submit two pieces of work to the shop which included handicrafts from all over Canada.

Among those showing were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harold of 5613 Queen Mary road, Hampstead, who work in ceramic stoneware. According to Mrs. Harold, the couple's hobby of making pottery grew from a first love of gardening.

"Stoneware has such lovely subtle colors that the pottery makes wonderful containers for flowers," Mrs. Harold said. "We make all our own bowls. In summer we garden, in winter we work at our potter's wheel and kiln. It's wonderful recreation for us," she added. "My husband and I have been enjoying experimenting with the various clays, oxides and glazes over 14 years.

Gail Lamarche of 3404 Hington avenue NDG represented with batik on silk, is a fine artist who finds handicrafts a nice change in pace from painting. Batik, the artist explained, is a process of dyeing starting with the lightest color and working to the darkest by means of blocking out with a bees-wax. A special brush and tjang, something like a pen, is used to paint on the wax. Three or four dippings into the dye are necessary.

Mrs. J. E. Ramze of 639 Smart street, Cote Saint Luc, is also represented in the exhibit with stoneware. Originally from Poland, Mrs. Ramza has a degree from the Decorative Arts School in Warsaw, studied in London and Paris before coming to Montreal 10 years ago. She works from a studio in her house, and has taught pottery making to various groups in the city.

The Grant Smarts of 339 Oliver avenue, Westmount, work together making mosaic tables and decorated tiles. Mr. Smart does the designing and decorating, and Mrs. Smart the glazing and firing.

The Smarts make their own material for the mosaics, glaze and cut it. Iron work for the tables is made to order. Their painted plaques include interpretations of old French Canadian houses and historic houses and churches in Quebec. Mr. Smart also is interested in decorating tiles with sketches of Canadian wild flowers.

An honorable mention in needlework went to Miss Rosa Ortiz of 4131 Harvard avenue, NDG for her lace mantilla. Other West Enders exhibiting in the show were Mrs. Eileen Reid, 574 Cote St. Antoine road, Westmount, with a ceramic room divider; Mrs. Grace Pickering 4859 Westmore avenue, NDG, with pottery; Miss Ursula Dawson, 24 Chesterfield avenue, Westmount, with ceramic ware; Mrs. Hermina Thau, 6054 NDG avenue, with ceramic ware; Mrs. H. P. Oddie 4968 Ponsard avenue NDG with ceramic sculpture; Mrs. A. Finestone, 5000 Clanranald avenue, NDG, represented in weaving; Mrs. Margaret Romans, 5195 O'Bryan avenue, NDG and Mrs. Virginia McClure 461 Lansdowne, avenue, Westmount, both displaying ceramic ware.

Marriage Counselling

The Marriage Counselling Centre will be holding its fifth annual meeting on Wednesday, March 22 at 4:45 p.m., in the Holden Fisher Hall, YWCA, 1355 Dorchester street, west.

Financial reports, as well as the report of the Centre's activities during the past year, will be received. Officers and members of the Board of Directors will be appointed for the year 1961.

A special feature will be a debate by members of the Speakers Panel, the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, on the "pros" and "cons" of High School courses on marriage and family living.

The Song of Life

My song of life, was mute and stilled,
As I sat pondering on life's woe,
Earth's melody, no longer thrilled,
All that I prized, had been laid low.

When from the tender fields of sky,
A lark, came singing as he flew,
In golden glorious heavenly song,
Forever old, — forever new.

This song of love, and sun and stars,
Brought cheer and hope, to mind and heart,
And now, in life's triumphant choir,
I shall not play, a songless part.

Theft of fur coat

He was her man, but...!

The sad story of a successful fur theft in Westmount last December was recounted by a woman deserted by her man, and by Paul Masson, manager of the fur shop, Bleau and Rousseau Inc., 5014 Sherbrooke street west, in Sessions Court last Friday.

Judge Hurteau took the case of the people against Madeleine Dupre, 30-year-old brunette, under advisement and set judgment for today.

According to Miss Dupre she went to the shop to pick out a fur coat for herself as a Christmas present from her boyfriend, Gerard (she did not know his last name), who accompanied her and became frightened when the manager dashed suddenly toward the front of the store.

Mr. Masson's version differed in that she claimed Miss Dupre came in with two men, not just "Gerard". When he noticed Gerard's manoeuvring to block his view of the other man, then engaged in extracting a brown kid-skin coat worth $319 from the showcase, his suspicion was quickly capped with action. As he attempted to chase the thief, said Mr. Masson, he was punched in the arm by Gerard and jostled by Madeleine.

Armed with a pistol, Mr. Masson set out in hot pursuit. The two men escaped. Miss Dupre surrendered on Claremont avenue when Masson threatened to shoot her.

Miss Dupre denied seeing the fur heister and is unable to shed any light on the whereabouts of Gerard. She has been unemployed for over a year and had in her purse when arrested only 43c, make up and cigarettes.

JPS concert to feature Ida Haendel

Ida Haendel, Polish-born violinist, will be the featured soloist for the fourth annual concert sponsored by the Concert Society of the Jewish People's School, Saturday, April 15, at Plateau Hall.

Miss Haendel first showed her virtuosity at the age of three and a half, when she picked up her sister's violin and began to play a melody which her mother was singing. Her studies began at this tender age at the Polish Conservatoire when she won the gold medal at the age of nine, and the Huberman Prize in a national competition.

Leaving Poland for Paris, she continued her studies, first with Carl Flesch, then with Joseph Szigetti and later with Georges Enesco.

Her professional career started at the age of twelve, when she played the Brahms violin concerto under the baton of the late Sir Henry Wood at Queen's Hall, London. Miss Haendel has been widely acclaimed as Europe's foremost woman violinist and has been enthusiastically received at concerts and recitals in all the major continental music centers, where audience and press have cheered her lustrous tone, exciting technique and sensitive musicianship.

Featured soloist with Europe's most renowned conductors in Russia, Israel and the Americas, Miss Haendel has triumphed whether the composer was Beethoven, Brahms, Schumann, Bartok or Stravinsky, and this versatility has caused her to be hailed as one of the great artists of our time.

UNICEF fund sets record collection

The National UNICEF Committee announced this week that a total of $260,000 had been collected by Canadian children in the Hallowe'en program sponsored by the United Nations Children's Fund last Fall.

Mrs. D. W. Heywood, vice-chairman of the Committee and spokesman in the absence of Mrs. Jean Arnold Tory, national chairman, stated, "This sum represents the efforts of 300,000 children in communities from Newfoundland to British Columbia who added the aspects of sharing to their Hallowe'en fun by collecting coins for UNICEF as well as treats for themselves.

Verdun beats Westmount for bantam title

VERDUN High School bantam hockey team won themselves a championship last week when they dumped Westmount Junior High School, 4-0, in the second game played Friday afternoon at Westmount Ice Arena.

The Verdun crew coached by Jim Goodwin and Ivan Mulligan dropped the Westmount club 5-1 in the first game played at Verdun Auditorium.

This was VHS 14th straight win, of which 12 were in league play. The team registered 94 goals for, 19 against.

The bantam squad made up for all that the senior team lost when they finished third in one of the two sections, after holding onto first and later second, but fell down badly in the latter part of the schedule.

The Verdunites big line of Ken Ekins, Jim Anthony and Larry Meehan accounted for all four goals. Ekins, led the way with two tallies, helped in another, while his two mates each fired one goal.

Captain Bobby Heaney picked up two assists for Verdun and in the net Brian Warr gave a steady display to earn the shut-out.

First game of the two-game total-goals bantam final saw Verdun trounce Westmount 5-1.

Bobby Heaney, league's top defenceman, paved the way for Verdun's triumph with two goals and an assist.

Ken Ekins, Jim Anthony and Larry Meehan also scored for the victors. Bob Tilly clicked to spoil Brian Warr's shutout bid.

Mont St. Louis beat St. Leo's 2-1 for junior puck crown

There was not much to pick between the two clubs, but Mont St. Louis were just a little bit better when they defeated Westmount's St. Leo's 2-1 to win the junior interscholastic championship.

It was the Mounties' first title since they joined the association five years ago. In regular play, St. Leo's had beaten St. Louis once and had the right to challenge.

They did and lost. During the season Saints, in 12 games, won seven, lost four and tied one. St. Louis also played 12 games, won eight, lost three and tied one. LCC and West Hill were the other two members of the junior league.

Serge Godin and Pete Morin were the Mont St. Louis marksmen. Jean-Paul Robitaille scored the lone goal for the visitors, coached by Andy McGillis.

Godin's first period counter was a masterpiece. The tall winger sidestepped two St. Leo's defenders, worked his way into the clear, and blasted the puck past goalie Peter Rassenti from point blank range.

Robitaille pulled St. Leo's even when he converted a goal-mouth pass from Connie Nucci. Rearguard Peter Johnson was also credited with an assist.

Morin, son of the one-time National Leaguer of the same name, slammed home the winning goal with 15 minutes to play on passes from linemate Richard Mongeau and defenceman Jean-Guy Vachon.

St. Leo's often threatened to add to its one-goal output but couldn't fathom the spectacular netminding of Mont St. Louis' Pierre Bissonnette.

Wentworth rink wins Colts title

Mel Deacon's Wentworth rink won the Colts curling competition at Royal Montreal defeating Elmer Black's Howick foursome 8-7 in an extra end.

The team is; Bob Cureton, Larry Top, Glen Williams and Deacon. In the semi-finals at St. George, Deacon beat F. Pouliot of Quebec Jacques Cartier 8-6 and Black downed P. Evans of Shawinigan 9-7.

D. Westphal of Buckingham won the consolation final 15-5 over T. Delaney of Prescott, Ont. In the semis at Town of Mount Royal, Westphal whipped Ab Morrow of Treystone 13-9 and Delaney topped C. Warner of Lennoxville 10-8.

LCC ski team places second

Lyndonville, Vt's Lyndon Institute, led by David Beattie, swept the honors at the "Jack Rabbit" Invitational Ski Meet.

Beattie won the slalom and had two fifth place finishes in the other events to win the Bob Wallace Shield for the outstanding individual performance.

Lower Canada College finished second in the team standings and Ste. Agathe placed third.

Peter Duncan of the Canadian National team won the giant slalom event by 3.4 seconds over Eric Nelson of Proctor Academy. Gregory Peck of Lyndon won the cross country event edging out teammate Brian Beattie by 35 seconds.

Seagram's Ageing Process Makes Extra Dry Martinis

MONTREAL—A special House of Seagram ageing process is responsible for the Extra Dryness found in Seagram's Gin. This special process is the careful ageing in special oak casks to the exact golden moment of perfection.

The noticeable result of this valuable, time-consuming process is the natural golden colour and superb quality of Seagram's Gin. With this fine gin your drink starts drier and stays drier for pleasure that never gets lost in a drink. Its delicious quality gives your drink a unique crispness you get from no other gin.

An exclusive feature of Seagram's Gin is the ingenious Martini-Master in which it is sold. The Martini-Master simplifies the technique of making perfect martinis. And several of them can be used for storing a supply of cocktails when a large group is being entertained. Made from antique glass with a gold-plated cap and easily-removed label, the Martini-Master is a handsome bar accessory. Next time, ask for Seagram's Gin and enjoy its extra quality.

with COOL CONTROL BREWING

Dow knows how to bring out the sparkling zest in beer. Exclusive Cool Control brewing guards the temperature, guards the flavour of Dow—every step of the way 'til the cap goes on the bottle. When you uncop a Dow, you pour yourself the easy-drinking best in beer.

Pee wee Dukes, mosquito Cadets win titles

MINOR QAHA officials are breathing a sigh of relief this week as they have completed in most cases, but the juvenile, two games of the best-of-three playoff series. For the past four weeks, minor hockey officials have been busy securing ice time, mostly indoor as the weather killed their outdoor ice, but for the most part, are not any later than other years. If all goes well, and it will, for the third games are scheduled for indoor ice, all will be over by the weekend.

THERE ARE A FEW Provincial playoffs, which will take place later this month or early April. For all the youngsters playing hockey in Montreal, 5,000 persons saw the first game of the island finals at the Forum last week and that is not good. The total count of the sale of tickets will be over the 7,000 mark, which again is not good, just fair. That is just about half of pucksters, registered on the island of Montreal. This idea of having a Parent's Night during playoffs was to raise the cost of operating the games, not only for these games but also for the ones that are played outdoors.

THE TICKETS which are out early, before the season starts, cost 25 cents, which is not much, but somehow the QAHA minor board do not get the support that they should. With very little money coming in from the pros, this system of selling tickets was a small and cheap way to pay for the cost of operations. Because Montreal Parks do not allow it, the idea of having a boy pay 25 cents when he signs his playing card was not approved, but it is the only way to pay for the upkeep of operating minor hockey on the island of Montreal.

If you had taken a look at the final figures in Metro Juvenile Hockey League, which is Super Midget, you'll see how close the race was, and it was like that all the way . . . The first six teams entered their first playoff round last week end. From sixth to top place team, (27-32) five points was the gap . . . The team that was left out of the playoff, Mr. Royal, also had 27 points, and the cellar club had 17 . . . Verdun Maple Leafs junior club thought about entering a club but put it off, but are really interested in having a club next winter in the Special League.

Verdun High bantam hockey team defeated Westmount 5-1 and 4-0 to sweep the two game total goal series 9-1 and the title. This was Verdun's 14th straight win against no losses and no ties . . . The senior Verdun team failed badly. They were in there for the early part of the schedule but finally finished in third place. . . This bantam team record will stand for some years in school competition.

Junior hockey is big business when the club is backed by a NHL club. Take for instance Peterborough where Coach Scotty Bowman, one time member of Canadiens junior clubs in Montreal was bounced for six games by the Ontario League. Fines were imposed on eight of Bowman's players for a free-for-all in Hamilton. The latter city is where Ron Harris, of Verdun is playing his hockey this year . . . But, Petes now have Kenny Reardon, vice-president of Canadiens NHL

CITY of Westmount Recreation Department minor hockey league playoffs are drawing to a close with some exciting games being put into the record book.

In termite 'A', Barons came up with a 5-2 win to tie the best-of-three series one game apiece. In 'B' section, Dukes won out, beating Beavers 3-1 to capture the series two straight and the crown.

Mosquito title was won by the Cadets when they beat Raiders two straight, winning the second game 4-2. In midget, Mustangs swamped Sparsons 7-1 to eliminate them from the round robin series.

Pee wee 'B', Owls beat Bombers 5-0 and Vics won 4-1 over Falcons in sudden death semi-finals to move against each other in the finals.

Bantam league final playoff series best two of three, Leafs vs. Hawks, Tuesday, March 21, 4:00, Thursday, March 23, 4:30.

Midget League final playoff, best two of three, Mustangs vs. Badgers, Monday March 27, 7:30 p.m., Thursday, March 30, 7:30 p.m., Monday, April 3, 7:30 p.m.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4 p.m., Vics and Owls pee wees will play the second of their best of three finals. The third game if necessary will be played Monday, March 20.

Mosquito champions, Cadets: David Beasant, (captain), Michael Shragge, Jeffrey Rother, Phillip Besner, John Dickson, Christopher Porteous, Douglas Cochrane, Neil Fernandes, Nicky Willis, Bradley Syvret, Gerald Fortin, David Molson, Henry Joseph, Stewart McCowan, (coach).

Termite 'B', champions: Dukes, Patrick Green, (captain), Peter Davis, Pierre Villeneuve, Robert Perlman, James Doyle, David Darling, David Casgrain, David Petrie, Ross Petrie, Jonathan Fisher, James Bonar, Christopher Galt, Michel Logothetis, Peter Thomson, Jamie Fitzpatrick, Ron Taylor, and Pepper Young, (coaches).

Following are the final standings for pee wee 'B' and bantam:

Irish school in 4-3 win

St. Willibrord's kept one step ahead of St. Leo's to post a 4-3 bantam victory.

St. Willibrord's scored first with Donald Whitehurst taking a pass from Terry Washer for the goal. St. Leo's tied the count with Jimmy July tallying on Mike Farrell's pass.

Keith Woodrow put St. Willibrord's ahead 2-1 only to have J. Desjordins tie the game for St. Leo's.

Irish took the lead for the third time with Dave McCarthy converting Craig Patrick's pass. But St. Leo's came right back to knot the count with Jim Fennell scoring on a pass from J. Nucci.

Dave McCarthy then scored a last minute to goal to give St. Willibrord's the contest 4-3.

Travers, Price Wesley winners
