Johnson's offer on UN deadlock dismissed by Red

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union's UN delegate has dismissed as "empty" President Johnson's overture to resolve the deadlock over financing of UN peacekeeping activities.

Johnson in a message Wednesday said the United States is willing to resolve the U.S.-Soviet dispute "in any number of possible ways . . . consistent with the UN charter."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko told reporters that Johnson's statement was "an empty thing" and that his government would not budge from its position.

Thousands protesting in Japan

SASEBO (Reuters)—Police today clashed with thousands of demonstrators throughout Japan protesting the arrival of the first U.S. nuclear-powered submarine to visit the country.

The 2,552-ton Sea Dragon nosed its way into the U.S. naval base at Sasebo and set off a wave of left-wing protest.

While 1,800 police dealt with some 2,000 Socialists and students outside the base here, demonstrators in Tokyo broke the windows of police armored cars and blocked traffic. About 27,000 left-wingers staged demonstrations in 23 other Japanese cities.

The demonstrations at Sasebo fizzled out before the strength of the police. They arrested 15 students who tried repeatedly to charge the 10-deep police lines. Nine persons were reported injured.

The security measures headquarters of Sasebo City collected sea water in the harbor to check on any possible radioactivity discharge from the submarine.

Later in the day about 100 members of the Sea Dragon's crew went ashore and entered the city in small groups, unnoticed by the demonstrators. The officially-announced purpose of the visit was to provide shore leave for the crew.

The skipper, Cmdr. Douglas Guthe, 37, of Pawling, N.Y., said he had taken no special precautions here that he had not taken in other ports which had included Hong Kong and Naha, Okinawa, in the past months.

Guthe told a Japanese questioner: "The reactor is still running right now."

Meanwhile, the demonstrators outside the base's gate kept up a barrage of chanted slogans as they stood and occasionally sat hemmed in by multiple lines of police.

The Soviet Union refuses to pay $52,600,000 in arrears for the Congo and Middle East peacekeeping operations. It charges the operations are illegal because they were approved by the General Assembly rather than the Security Council where the Russians have a veto.

The United States has vowed to strip the Russians of their voting rights in the General Assembly under a UN charter provision calling for such action if a nation falls two years behind in its assessments. The Soviet Union has indicated it might quit the United Nations if it is deprived of its vote.

The Russians could avoid a showdown if they pay $5,700,000 of the amount due before the assembly convenes Dec. 1.

After a meeting with UN Secretary-General U Thant, Fedorenko referred reporters to a statement from his government Saturday which repeated the Soviet position. It also said if the "colonialists" were allowed to use the UN charter "for their own interests," the Soviet Union would have to "review its attitude towards the United Nations and all its activities."

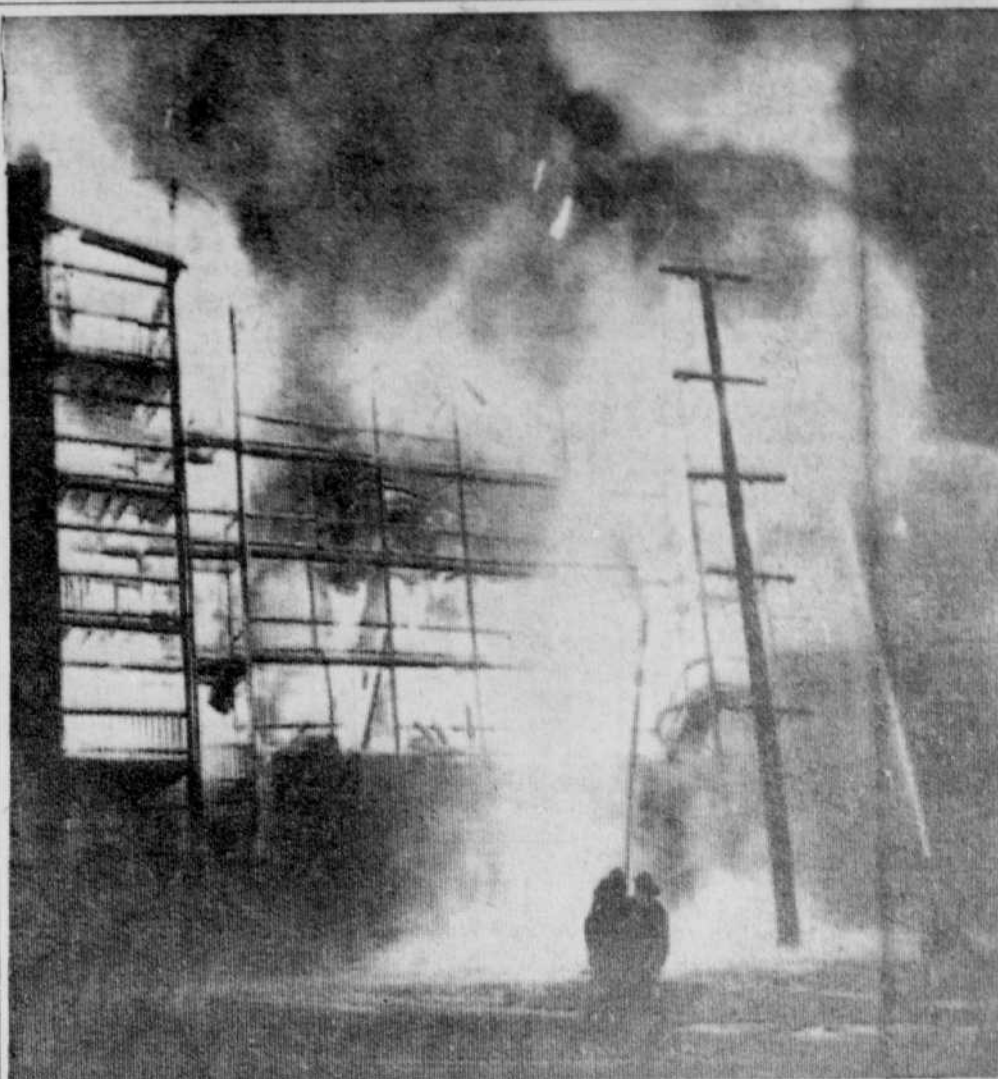

Johnson's statement was in reply to a letter from Chief O.S. Adebajo of Nigeria, the chairman of a special UN committee on peacekeeping finances. Adebajo last week wrote Johnson, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and French President de Gaulle, asking that their governments create a favorable climate for an agreement.

1.5 inches of snow fell

To the discomfort of most everyone, but to the joy of anxious ski fans and children, one and a half inches of snow fell yesterday, in the Sherbrooke area.

The figure of exactly 1.5 inches was reported by the experimental farm at Lennoxville.

The Sherbrooke municipal police force and the Quebec Provincial Police reported no major traffic tie-ups or accidents caused by the weather.

LBJ to cut US tax

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson has decided to recommend a 1965 excise tax cut that may approach $2,000,000,000. It would stretch the spending money of almost every person in the United States.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, an overnight guest at the LBJ ranch near here, reported Wednesday that Johnson had agreed to a basic decision to abolish all $550,000,000 of excise taxes added to the retail price of cosmetics and toilet goods, jewelry, furs, luggage and pocketbooks.

These war-born taxes boost purchase prices by 10 per cent. In addition, Dillon told a press conference Johnson will ask Congress in January to repeal or to reduce still other excise taxes that would add "a good bit more" to the total size of the proposed tax cut.

Dillon said the maximum possible tax saving would be $4,000,000,000. And he emphasized that such a figure was sure to prove too high.

At another point, he spoke of possible action on 65 to 70 different excise levies that net the government nearly $2,000,000,000 a year.

Most experts believe the total tax cut to be recommended by Johnson—and this decision still was up in the air—would amount to somewhere between Including five children Seven die in fire believed to have been set in Mass.

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP) — Seven persons — five of them children — died when a general alarm midnight blaze, believed set, destroyed a five-storey tenement.

Officials said the fire, which apparently started on wooden rear porches, was the worst in the history of this industrial city located in Massachusetts' Connecticut Valley.

Four of the victims were members of one family. The other three dead were two small brothers and a little girl from a third family.

Five persons were taken to hospital. Some 50 to 60 persons either fled the building or were rescued down ladders. None of the five injured was reported on the danger list.

Fire chief William W. Mahoney said the fast-spreading fire "definitely was set." A volunteer rescue worker quoted a first floor tenant as saying he heard what he thinks was an intruder in the cellar of the building shortly before the fire was discovered.

RESCUE CHILDREN

Another volunteer worker, 19-year-old Ronald N. Langlois, said he was able to get into the burning building three times and rescue six or seven children. But, he said, on his fourth trip flames began circling behind him and he had to dash from an upper floor despite the screams of children.

Volunteer rescue worker Robert C. Brooks, 21, said he went to the scene when he got out of work at a nearby factory shortly after 11 p.m.

"I was talking later to this first floor tenant," Brooks said, "and he said he was putting around down in the cellar just before the fire when he heard somebody else. He said he called to him and the other guy said: 'To hell with it' and ran out the cellar door."

Bob Thompson back in Africa finding facts

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Robert Thompson, leader of the Social Credit party of Canada who spent 15 years in Ethiopia as a headmaster and government education official, is back in Africa on a fact-finding mission for the Canadian external affairs ministry.

He is studying the contribution Canada can make to economic and social development in Commonwealth countries here.

Thompson, who arrived in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, Wednesday, spent two days in Nairobi in talks with Governor - General Malcolm Macdonald and Kenya ministers and government officials on various aspects of Canada's aid program.

"I want to find out how Canada's aid program is being administered and find out what other schemes might be financed efficiently by my government," he said.

GIVING AID

Canada currently is giving technical aid to Kenya in education, forestry and geological survey. Twenty-nine Kenya students are studying in Canadian universities.

In Kenya, there are eight Canadian secondary school teachers, six technical advisers, five forestry experts and a professor who heads the zoology department at University College, Nairobi.

Canada also expects to expand its geological survey project soon.

Later this month a study team of Canadian experts is arriving here for a six-month visit to investigate the possibility of extending further aid to the Kenya government in the development of co-operative societies, health plans and education and agricultural programs.

Thompson, a member of the Canadian parliamentary committee dealing with foreign aid, has carried out similar fact-finding assignments in Ghana, Tanzania, Jamaica and several other Commonwealth countries.

Republic of Canada predicted

OTTAWA (CP) — Auguste Choquette, a Quebec Liberal member of Parliament, predicted Wednesday Canada will be a republic within 15 or 20 years.

"The monarchy has fallen into disuse in all countries and if Canada can no longer invite the Queen without provoking an uproar, it will have to come to this solution," Mr. Choquette, MP for Lotbinière, told a French-language service club.

Mr. Choquette said all Canadians should consider Canada as their country and the federal government as the government of all Canadians.

At the same time, he said, French Canada makes up an authentic nation because it has all the attributes of nationhood such as language, religion, territory, history, literature, common interests and consciousness.

"We should fight separatism with a determination as intense as that with which we should spread the French language and culture throughout Canada," Mr. Choquette said.

He said there are three types of separatists: frustrated French-speaking Canadians who curl up within themselves, those who do not believe in separatism but who give free reign to their revolutionary tendencies and those who think separatism is the best solution.

"As for myself, I am a partisan of a psychological reconquest of Canada by French-speaking Canadians by convincing ourselves this is our country," he said. "I believe we can make Canada evolve and that we have a preponderant role to play in it."

Mr. Choquette said co-operative federalism will allow French-speaking Canadians to convince English-speaking Canadians that two nations can exist within one state.

Prefer forgetting

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—Arthur Adams of Toronto, president of the Ontario branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, said Wednesday night the veterans' association is becoming more alarmed by the number of Canadians who show disrespect for Remembrance Day ceremonies by proclaiming the war is past and should be forgotten.

Mr. Adams told the annual Remembrance Day banquet of the legion's Branch 92 that each year "more and more of our commercial establishments do not attempt to observe a moment of silence."

UK ups gas, income taxes for widows

LONDON (CP) — Britain's first Socialist budget in 13 years lifted the spirits of widows and pensioners Wednesday but caused stabs of pain among many others with its increased gasoline and income taxes.

The Tory opposition will open its main attack in the House of Commons today, following up Sir Alec Douglas-Home's initial comment that the budget is only the "tip of the iceberg" in Labor government taxation.

The general newspaper reaction is that the dose of strong medicine is no more powerful or distasteful than had been expected from James Callaghan, 52-year-old chancellor of the exchequer.

Delivering his autumn emergency budget, Callaghan said his main aims were to remedy Britain's big overseas trading deficit, combat inflation at home and apply taxation to ensure social justice for the needy.

The budget slapped a sixpence (7½-cent) tax hoist on a gallon of gasoline, lifting premium prices to about 80 cents.

It also placed a sixpence increase on the basic income-tax rate, meaning that a married couple with two children and an income of £1,600 annually will pay £233 12s compared with the present £224, 6d. The new rate, effective April 6, means Britons will be paying 4¼ per cent of wages in tax.

Callaghan announced he will introduce a tougher capital gains tax in his main spring budget and will also propose a new corporation tax to replace the present 15-per-cent company profit tax and company income levy.

The budget did little to answer the big question of how long Prime Minister Harold Wilson, with a margin of only five in the 630-member House of Commons, is likely to continue before calling a new general election.

"No government would willingly face the country soon after putting sixpence on petrol and income tax," says the Conservative Daily Express.

But the Conservative Daily Telegraph reports many Tories see the budget as the forerunner of an election next May or June.

"The main burden of the April budget is clearly intended to be borne by business and the investor, rather than by the individual wage or salary earner," says The Telegraph.

Callaghan said he is determined to plug tax loopholes and make sure rewards go to workers and diligent businessmen rather than speculators.

He said his measures were important "in creating the climate that will make possible the achievement of an incomes and prices policy. No country in the world has yet achieved this, but great rewards await the country that can first secure such a policy."

Callaghan asked powers to run until Nov. 30, 1965, renewable for another year by parliamentary action. However, he said he intended to review the arrangements well before next November, with a first review probably next spring.

Canada's supplies of newsprint to Britain will remain under the levy although Callaghan made exceptions of books, periodicals, ships and aircraft on imports.

A main object of the budget was to provide the legal background for Britain's recently instituted 15-per-cent surcharge on imports. Callaghan said his measures were important "in creating the climate that will make possible the achievement of an incomes and prices policy. No country in the world has yet achieved this, but great rewards await the country that can first secure such a policy."

'Straightforward', 'bad, bad', 'could be worse' is UK reaction

LONDON (CP)—The British press tasted the Labor government's first budget today and couldn't agree whether the medicine was bracing or repulsive.

"Hit for Sixpence," was the Conservative Daily Mail's headline reaction to the decision of Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan to add sixpence to the gasoline tax rate and the standard income-tax rate.

The Labor Daily Mirror, stressing the benefits to widows and pensioners, says the budget displays "realism, at long last."

"The emergency budget has turned out to be straightforward," says an editorial in The Financial Times, speaking for Britain's business and financial circles where the general reaction was: "It could have been worse."

"Overseas opinion, it is to be hoped, will be duly impressed by Labor's fiscal soundness."

"GAMBLING ON HOPE" The newspaper says Callaghan is gambling on the hope that Britain will soon evolve a workable incomes policy to offset the inflationary aspects of his measures.

The Conservative Daily Sketch says: "This is a bad, bad budget."

But the Liberal Manchester Guardian comments: "The government has given itself the

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A spoof of the U.S. election was a natural for That Was the Week That Was program Tuesday night. It had been crowded out of television screens for several weeks by paid political broadcasts during the election campaign.

One amusing sketch, which I seem to have read somewhere before, was pegged on Senator Goldwater's pre-election expressions of friendship for his Democratic opponents, President Johnson and Senator Humphrey. It had the three of them together over the stinging statements made in the heat of oratory.

Another bright spot was a number which had an actor playing Senator-elect George Murphy of California doing a song and dance routine to a tune played on the piano by a cigar-smoking Pierre Salinger.

However the happiest numbers were on subjects apart from politics.

TW3 has suffered critical slings and arrows, probably because it has not always been as razor keen as many of us would wish. But at least it is on the air and thus should be treasured.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's the changing of the guard," said a guest at a Paramount party this week. Indeed, the event seemed to symbolize the new era of Hollywood film making.

Host of the bash was George Welner, new president of Paramount. The guest of honor was the studio's new production head, Howard Koch. Welner chose the occasion to announce that Koch also had been appointed a vice-president of the company.

The two executives seemed to embody the new breed of movie tycoon. Except for J. L. Warner, the empire builders are gone. In their place are the hard-working men who have climbed from the ranks.

Chicago-born Welner, 63, started with Paramount 42 years ago in its processing lab on Long Island. New Yorker Koch, 48, began in the playdate and contract department of Universal's New York office in 1934, and got a job as a film librarian at 20th Century-Fox in Hollywood in 1935.

In 1944, Koch graduated to second assistant director on Keys of the Kingdom and continued rising to become director, independent producer and head of Frank Sinatra's film enterprises, his last post before his ascendancy at Paramount.

STARS ATTEND

A sizeable number of the town's wheeler-dealers came to the party honoring Koch, including such stars as Sinatra, John Wayne, Yul Brynner, James Garner and Natalie Wood.

Among the dealers was the king of them all, mighty Joe Levine, whose marriage to Paramount has been blessed with a highly successful baby (The Carpetbaggers). Hal Wallis, partner with Paramount for almost 20 years, made a rare appearance.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

OVERBID HAND IS OVERPLAYED
By OSWALD JACOBY

In theory, Bobby Jordan and Arthur Robinson who starred for the United States in the World Bridge Olympiad use sound opening bids. Therefore, Arthur really thought that Bobby would have a slightly better hand than he did for his spade opener.

Hence, he tried for seven and finally settled for six no-trump. When he saw the dummy he wished that he had stopped at game but went on to make the best of a tough job.

He won the first trick with the king of diamonds and led a low club. East won and remy and was delighted to pick up West's queen. Three more spade leads followed rapidly and on the last spade both opponents were squeezed. East had to go down to two hearts in order to hold a club, whereupon Arthur discarded his last club.

This put the pressure on West. He also had to go down to two hearts in order to keep a high diamond, whereupon Arthur made the last three tricks with hearts.

In case you think that Arthur and Bobby overbid, it turned out that at the other table North also opened with one spade and wound up playing a grand slam in that suit. He also played well, but had to go down one.

"We need some good constables here that are willing to do their best for the town and also give the best of themselves under any circumstances, as I myself plan to do," he said.

"I will do my best to keep this a clean town," said Chief Perreault.

FROM ARENA TO KITCHEN — Jean-Marc Lacroix holds the figures skates he used 10 years ago as member of two touring skating troupes, as he tends to his work as kitchen chef. A skater for two seasons, Mr. Lacroix performed across the United States and Canada. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Prepares meals for St. George's Club

Chef with an imaginative touch reminisces about ice show days

From skater with a touring troupe to chef, in ten short years.

That's the story of Jean-Marc Lacroix, chef at the St. George's Club, Dufferin Street.

Ten years ago Mr. Lacroix hung up his figure skates and found a job as kitchen helper in Olivier's Restaurant, Sherbrooke. There he met the woman he married four years ago, and gained the experience that landed him his present job.

But he still likes to reminisce about the old days in show business.

Jean-Marc skated with the Hollywood Ice Revue and toured the U.S. for one season. The following year he toured Canada with the Canadian Ice Fantasy group.

"The training for the shows was hard work," he remembers. "Before the Hollywood Ice Revue went on the road we spent six weeks training. We'd start practicing numbers at 9 a.m. and work till 2 in the afternoon. Then, sometimes we'd strap on our skates again at 3 p.m. and work till 10 in the evening," he said.

After the show started touring it was more fun, Jean-Marc says.

"We'd visit many interesting places and meet all sorts of people. One sees life as it is."

really is, under such conditions," he says.

"I was with the Hollywood Ice Revue for the 1952-53 season," he says, "and in 1953 I joined the Canadian show. We travelled 36,000 miles from Vancouver to Halifax that season."

"In Ontario we must have set some kind of a record," he recalls. "We made 31 consecutive one-night stands."

"It was hard work but I don't regret a minute of it," Jean-Marc affirms. "Often after work the musicians would get together for a jam session and soon the whole group would be there."

Once the routine is learned the whole show falls into place, he says. One of the harder things about performing, though, is keeping that smile on.

How did he get into the business? He replies that he went in on a bet. "I met a friend who had become a skater and he looked pretty prosperous."

"That's the line for me," I told him.

"You'll never make it," "So," Jean-Marc continues, "I bet him that within three years I'd be a member of an ice troupe. And two years and eight months later I did, in fact, catch a berth with the Hollywood Ice Revue."

But in the fall of 1954 the Canadian troupe did not go on the road and Jean-Marc was faced with the need of learning a new trade. So, through his brother he found work in the kitchen at Olivier's.

"I learned most of the trade working there on and off," he said. "I found that there is always work available for an experienced short-order cook."

Relaxing in the lounge of the club where he works, Mr. Lacroix talks easily and with pride of his work as a chef.

One learns something every day, and from all types of people. "I learned how to peel onions without the eyes watering, from a dishwasher. Most people peel the onion from the top down, he says. This is a mistake. If the roots are cut off the bottom and the onion peeled upward, one has a less crying time of it."

Jean-Marc's specialty is decorating cold buffet dishes. "You can let your imagination run wild here," he says. In particular he likes decorating fish mounted on a platter, or roast pig dishes.

"The more fertile your imagination is the more colorful the buffet will be," he says.

"We often serve such dishes as lobster thermidor and steak and kidney pie," he says. The former is made from an old French recipe while the latter is typically English. (About 75 per cent of our recipes were originally French, he says.)

As hobbies Jean-Marc names photography and raising fish. "I must have raised five to ten million fish over the years, mostly guppies and angel fish."

Jean-Marc lives in an attractively furnished house, close to the club. He has two children, a daughter, Lynn 3, (also spelled Lynn and Line), and son Manon, age one month.

Magog services planned Sun.

MAGOG — (Special) — Members of the Magog Unit 203 of the Army, Navy & Air Force Veterans' Association will stage a short remembrance service at the Magog cenotaph on Sunday November 15, starting at 1:30 p.m.

An earlier statement by the Canadian Legion in Magog noted that the observances normally held would be discontinued this year. George Rogers, President of the Army, Navy & Air Force Veterans' Association said he and his fellow veterans saw no reason why the practice should not be continued, and to perpetuate the tradition, would supervise the ceremony this year.

Organizers of Sunday's service have asked that all veterans attend the short remembrance tribute.

Mayor seeks a sales tax increase for city

To pay for new arena

Sherbrooke Mayor Armand Nadeau has proposed that the city sales tax be temporarily raised to seven per cent to finance a new sports centre.

The proposal was made to Quebec revenue minister, Eric Kierans.

Present sales tax rate is six per cent.

Mayor Nadeau estimates that if the tax were raised for two years $1.3 to $1.5 million could be collected—enough to finance the building of the proposed sports centre.

The minister asked for the request in letter form so he could submit it before the cabinet, Mayor Nadeau said.

If the plan was accepted there it would then have to be submitted before the citizens of Sherbrooke in a referendum, he said.

Mayor Nadeau also discussed two other financial questions with Mr. Kierans.

EXEMPTION WANTED

He asked that the city be exempted from the six per cent sales tax for materials for the Lake Memphremagog pipeline project.

Such an exemption would allow Sherbrooke to save about $120,000 on the project.

Mayor Nadeau mentioned that the provincial department of health had requested that the city find a solution to its long-standing drinking water problem.

Mr. Kierans said that the law does not permit such exemption but he would submit the question to the cabinet.

Mayor Nadeau also asked the minister about distribution of sales tax revenues. City officials want to know how much Sherbrooke will receive since, currently the budget for 1965 is being prepared, he said.

Mr. Kierans requested a written query on this.

The six per cent sales tax was generalized for all provincial municipalities this year.

"This year we were getting money from Quebec on the same basis as in the past with a percentage added," said Mayor Nadeau.

"I think the government's policy will change for 1965 and we want to know what the score will be."

Charged in theft of bonds

A 19-year-old Sherbrooke youth yesterday appeared before Judge Benoit Turmel for his preliminary hearing in connection with the theft of $4,000 worth of negotiable bonds.

He was released on bail of $100 cash or $300 in property.

No date was set for his hearing.

Rejean Champagne is accused of the theft of these bonds from L'abbé Alfred Aubert, of Asbestos, who at the time of the theft, July 14, 1964, resided at Coaticook.

Champagne is also scheduled to appear before the criminal assizes in the local courthouse in connection with the attempted hold-up of the Provincial Bank early in June at St. Adolphe de Dudswell.

Paul MacLure, 21 of Sherbrooke another man also charged with theft of the bonds, stolen from L'abbé Aubert, is presently in Sherbrooke Winter Street Jail. He is also to appear before the Court of Criminal Assizes early next year. His hearing was held in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions late in July.

British Labor eyes next election

At first glance, the budget introduced by the British Labor Government in the House of Commons Wednesday appears designed more to improve the Labor party position with the electorate than it does with meeting the critical problems facing the United Kingdom.

Probably with an eye on the next election, expected within a few months, the budget announces substantial increases in welfare benefits, particularly pensions and unemployment insurance payments, estimated to cost $255,000,000 annually, and abolishes token charges for prescriptions under the National Health Service.

To compensate for these increased outlays, it is proposed to boost the standard income tax rate to 41.25 per cent from 38.75; to jump the gasoline tax by nearly eight cents a gallon and increase the levies on corporations.

At a time when the great problem confronting the British economy is to improve its productive efficiency so that Old Country producers will be in a better position to expand their exports in the highly competitive world markets, political considerations alone can account for this expansion of the welfare state.

Many British industries are in need of drastic overhaul but the unwillingness of their owners to make the substantial investment required for modernization is understandable in the light of the already excessive tax rates which prevent any reasonable return on the capital required and the normal business risks taken.

And as taxes increase the opportunities for accumulating capital diminish.

Without modernization, British industry is faced with a further loss of export markets and a consequent limitation on imports.

Reduced exports will cut domestic employment with a consequent increase in the demand for welfare payments.

The inflationary merry-go-round appears in full operation.

Quebec treasury and bankruptcies

The decision of the Quebec Attorney General's department to exercise closer supervision over bankruptcies in this province will be welcomed by businessmen who have become increasingly concerned over the losses sustained from fraudulent bankruptcies.

Quebec's record in the bankruptcy field has been none too enviable in recent years. Official statistics show that on the average this province accounts for more than fifty per cent of bankruptcy proceedings in Canada, both in regards to number of firms seeking relief under the debt laws and the amount of liabilities involved.

Efforts have been made from time to time to explain this condition away referring to the peculiar position of Quebec industry and commerce, as if somehow or another there were built-in conditions that make business in this province more risky than elsewhere.

But, with the provincial treasury reportedly deprived of over $15,000,000 in revenue over a few years because of fraudulent insolvencies, government investigations have indicated that irregularities rather than incompetency have been the reasons for Quebec's sorry record.

Romance returns to Communist life

After many years of extolling its virtues, the Russians are apparently conceding that there's nothing romantic about a collective farm.

In a move that has puzzled Western experts, the Soviet army is urging Russian girls to write more love letters to their boy friends — and the more passionate the better.

Furthermore, Red Star, the army newspaper, says a love letter should actually be about love and not about setting new production records on a collective farm.

The paper goes on to advise: "You know, girls, your letters . . . help him serve better, be cheerful, full of life and confident in himself. Your affection and tender words warm the soul, make a man cleaner, nobler, loftier. Speak about love to your beloved."

Other papers say:

From the debris, a new Republicism

Until the state of shock wears off, there'll be no telling what the true condition is of the U.S. Republican Party. For some time yet, it is likely to remain in a restless coma. Indeed, the virus is still in its system—Senator (until January) Barry Goldwater has defiantly announced that he will try to maintain his control and leadership of the Grand Old Party.

To an outsider witnessing the astounding proportions of Mr. Goldwater's humiliation, his decision to carry on might seem to verge on dementia. But to the Republicans it is not that simple. Or if it is, it still represents a formidable problem. Even in defeat and confronted by national repudiation of all he stood for, Mr. Goldwater and his lieutenants still are in control of the party apparatus. They may take some shaking loose.

The defeated candidate still urges his ultra-conservative philosophy and declares that the Republican Party must cling to it and strengthen it. Its triumph, he says, only needs longer and more sustained effort.

In other words, Mr. Goldwater cannot admit that the experiment has failed. He argued and manoeuvred his way to the Republican nomination by polishing up a brassy old theory to make it look like gold: the theory that, given a clear, hard choice, Americans would flock to the political right and desert the centre area where the main political strength has been. Perhaps the experiment was necessary to complete the lesson provided by President Dwight Eisenhower, who was the choice of moderate Republicanism: that there is no political alternative to the extreme right, that much of the political thought labelled conservatism today is sheer nostalgia for a time when the world was simpler, less crowded and less dangerous place.

No doubt there were special reasons for Mr. Eisenhower's public appeal. The fact remains that in his time the Republican Party was dominated by its moderate influences. So it was, too, when Richard Nixon very nearly succeeded in overcoming the magical appeal of John F. Kennedy. Now with Mr. Nixon's blessings, Goldwater

THE PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room.

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you; not as the world gives do I give to you." (John 14:27, RSV).

PRAYER: O Lord, renew in us Thy peace and use us as ambassadors of Thy gospel of peace in this turbulent world. Help us to lead to Thee those who do not know Thy love for them and the peace Thou canst give. In Thy name we ask. Amen.

conservatism has taken over, and dumped the party into political bankruptcy. What next?
There is hopefully a small group of leading Republicans who have survived the holocaust, either in overcoming the liability of their leadership, or because their offices were not up for election this time. Among them are Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Governor George Romney of Michigan, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, Senator George Murphy of California. A few others failed in the election, like Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio, but did well enough to continue to exert a strong party influence.

It will be for men like these to begin the long work of reconstruction, and to find a broad basis of popular support for the Republican Party. A great deal that had been accomplished during the Eisenhower period was destroyed by the nomination of Mr. Goldwater and the campaign that followed. But now the reactionary forces have been thoroughly discredited. Demolition has been completed; perhaps for the first time in a generation the way has been cleared to build a modern conservative movement in American politics, and restore the respectability of conservatism, not only as a political philosophy, but as a coherent action program for the problems of modern government.

Farm Forum broadcasts invaluable

Dear Sir:

In view of reports that changes are being contemplated for National Farm Radio Forum, we feel urged to offer our observations.

Our group has been meeting for seventeen years and during that time we have seen some of the results of this National Organization. According to our belief, it has been largely responsible for a National Agricultural Program which maintained a reasonable price structure during long periods of surpluses.

This has been done by supporting C.F.A. and helping East and West to understand each other and thereby giving a National farm voice to such things as price maintenance for wheat and other products in surplus years, and a feed grain policy for the East. This understanding could not possibly have been created except by the Nation wide study of these problems and by the reported findings.

It has supported and given guidance to both the C.F.A. and the Governments in trying to meet difficult problems and needs of farmers everywhere.

These National Broadcasts have helped more than any other program to create understanding between farmers and urban people.

We therefore suggest that a very real effort be made by the farm broadcast department of C.B.C. and especially by the C.F.A. and all other farm organizations to encourage and maintain this program on a National scale.

Letters to the Editor must bear the signature and address of the writer. If a nom de plume is desired, the identity of the writer will be kept confidential.

We predicted that Farm Radio Forum would decline sharply when the policy of leaving all organization to local people as suggested by the sponsors in 1956. It seems to us that every educational program requires help and guidance from their national and regional offices if they are to be kept alive and healthy in all sections of the country.

We feel it is quite imperative to have field workers both in the national and regional fields if any degree of understanding both on the part of the officers and sponsors and especially by the ordinary members is to be created and maintained. Leaders are not now being inspired and instructed as in the days when Floyd and our Provincial secretaries were allowed to travel and meet local groups.

Is it not possible for the Adult Education Dept. or the Canada Council to provide at least a part of the cost of fieldmen? It might create greater interest if Forum members were to assume some of such an expense.

There is no educational program which does so much with so little money.

We believe Farm Forum has been very largely responsible for policies which avoided the disaster of the early thirties.

Farm Forum can share with all people without losing any of its usefulness under its own name National Farm Radio Forum.

North America's oldest city

St. John's, Nfld., gets new look

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The new look is spreading over this oldest city in North America.

Steel and concrete buildings faced with plastic and glass overshadow old wooden dwellings huddled in the heart of St. John's.

The days of remaining Georgian architecture and Gothic columns are numbered. Stark modernity is gradually replacing the peculiar blend of Old World architecture bent to the methods of New World builders. The city's newer sections are carbon copies of other Canadian centres of comparable size.

Actually, the trend away from the old started eight years before Newfoundland entered Confederation in 1949. At that time the city, perched on a steep hill sloping down to its beautiful harbor, extended only a short distance north of the top of the hill. All major commercial establishments were close to the water, mostly beside the harbor on Water Street.

Strings of attached houses climbed from the downtown area to taper off eventually into more fashionable residential districts on level land behind the top of the hill.

In 1941, the Americans arrived, and the housing shortage, already aggravated by the Second World War, became impossible.

BUILT MILITARY BASE
Studies seeking ways to improve the housing situation and erase the ugly slums already were under way.

The U.S. government began building Fort Pepperrell at the city's eastern end beside Quidi Vidi Lake.

Hordes of American servicemen and their families poured into the city, paying exorbitant prices in some cases for rented accommodation.

Meanwhile, demand for workers to build Pepperrell and other defence installations brought an influx of men from Newfoundland outposts. Overcrowding was awesome. Beds had to be shared in some boarding houses.

St. John's, bursting at the seams and sensing correctly that population growth would outlive the war, took action. The St. John's Housing Corporation was formed under Sir Brian Dunfield.

Farmland, woodland and wasteland on the northern fringe of the city were bought and cleared. Lots and streets were laid out and building of houses began. It hasn't stopped. At the end of the war, St. John's proper had a population of 50,000. Today it is 63,833, although the metropolitan area has nearly 100,000.

Downtown, modern buildings have begun to replace crumbling brick structures, many more than 100 years old. The worst slums have been cleared from the city centre to be replaced by office buildings or concrete-brick dwellings.

TALLEST BUILDING
City council is planning another redevelopment project in the downtown area. About 140 homes and small business places, all in wooden buildings, will have to be razed.

The city's tallest building was opened this year. The 14-storey nurses' residence of the St. John's General Hospital cost $5,000,000. It provides accommodation for 341 student nurses and contains classrooms and a swimming pool.

Another imposing structure is the 11-storey Confederation Building, seat of the provincial government, situated on a knoll north of the city. Opened in 1960, it commands a view of historic Signal Hill and the narrow leading into the harbor.

The problems of modernizing a city more than 400 years old are obvious, but they're nevertheless trivial to some of the difficulties St. John's has faced in the past.

The city was never properly "founded," it just grew. Tradition says its name stems from John Cabot's first visit to the harbor on St. John's Day in 1497.

Some accounts say there were 40 to 50 buildings along the "Lower Path" in 1520. Present-day Water Street is laid on the approximate route of the path.

A fishing merchant named Bute from the West of England built the first permanent residence in 1528.

In later years, permanent settlement in Newfoundland was forbidden by Britain but the town continued to grow. The law was repealed in 1830.

St. John's was captured once by the Dutch and three times by the French, was levelled several times by fire and prostrated by famine and disease.

It survived them all, and as the modern shopping centres, housing developments and pavements spread north and west, there is only optimism.

HISTORY IN TODAY

General Richard Montgomery took Montreal after a fight with the aid of British forces under Benedict Arnold, 189 years ago today—in 1775. Montgomery, who died six weeks later at Quebec, was commissioned in the British Army in 1736 and was sent to America the following year. He returned to England at the end of hostilities and later emigrated to New York. He became a brigadier-general in the revolutionary army and was killed New Year's Eve while attempting to link up with Arnold's forces at Quebec, then fighting the Americans.

1955—A landslide caused $5,000,000 damage at Nicolet, Que.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — The hostility of some opposition MPs to policy decisions being made by dominion-provincial conferences can be likened to the old power struggle between Crown and Commons that cost King Charles his head.

The sovereign's personal power as ruler of the kingdom long since passed to his ministers, who hold power only as long as they have the support of a majority of the Commons. But in the circumstances of the 26th Canadian Parliament, where the ministers exercise power only by leave of their political opponents, the opposition is emboldened to demand more real power than it wields in the normal circumstance of a government with a parliamentary majority.

The flag issue is an example. If we disregard the reason why Opposition Leader Diefenbaker blocked adoption of the triple maple leaf flag — which I assess as his personal political ambition — there is in his action an element of conflict between the Commons and the ministers of the Crown. And the government's capitulation on the question of one maple leaf or three is a victory for the NDP section of the Commons.

To this extent the opposition, comprising those MPs who are not beholden to the minister, has succeeded in asserting its will while refraining from destroying the ministry.

However, the analogy between the current clashes and the 17th century conflict between King and Commons is sharper on the question of the policy-making powers of conferences of the sovereign's first ministers in Ottawa and the provinces. Prime Minister Pearson and his provincial counterparts are the repositories of the real power wielded by the King in olden times — a power over which the majorities in the national and provincial legislatures have a check that is usually more theoretical than practical.

Conservative MP Marcel Lambert, a former Commons speaker, described federal-provincial conferences as "a fourth level of government . . . a form of superparliament . . . at which major agreements were made which were then presented to the House as something already binding upon the House because the government was bound". He declared that "the hands of this Parliament must not be bound".

Mr. Lambert sees this development occurring in "the last two years", which is sheer partisan nonsense. The practice of holding dominion-provincial conferences goes back to the 1830's, and the aggrandizement of cabinet power at the expense of the Commons has gone on for decades.

Moreover, it is ridiculous to contend that the hands of this Commons are bound by anything the government proposes or does, because the opposition majority can defeat the government at will.

When the government asks the Commons to approve a measure to provide for the amendment of the BNA Act in Canada, embodying the government's agreement with the provinces, Mr. Lambert and other MPs are in no way bound to vote for it. All government agreements with the provinces and with other nations are predicated on parliamentary approval which may not be forthcoming.

Aside from the partisan politics that Mr. Lambert is playing, the issue is the very old one of the Commons' jealousy of the cabinet's power, and the Commons' anger and frustration at being treated at times like a rubber stamp.

But if there were ever a Commons that deserved no derision as a rubber stamp, it is this one.

145th anniversary service held for Phillipsburg United Church

PHILLIPSBURG — During the afternoon of Sunday, November 1, 1964, at the Phillipsburg United Church, service was held marking the 145th anniversary of the church, which is considered to be the oldest in the Eastern Townships.

Near the church doors is a finely-hewn wooden cross, while beneath are the words: "Holiness Becometh Thine House, O Lord For Ever."

These are inscribed on the wall of the chancel, which was decorated for the occasion with potted chrysanthemums and greenery, as were the window sills of the edifice.

Mention should be made of the artistic, stained glass windows, which had been cleaned and "re-leaded," in order to preserve their beauty. The cost of so doing was around $500 (to which members of the congregation and others, some former residents of Phillipsburg, had contributed).

The entire church has been well-preserved throughout the years. With Mrs. G. L. Kidd as organist, the service opened with the singing of the processional hymn: "All People That on Earth Do Dwell," led by the vested choir moving in a body, up the aisle of the church.

Following the choir in the procession were members of the clergy who took part in the service: Rev. Peter Macaskill, pastor; Rev. Kenneth Trickey, (Anglican rector); Rev. T. F. Duncan, (retired minister formerly of Bedford Pastoral Charge), and Rev. Dr. K. G. MacMillan, Superintendent of Home Missions.

The service then continued as follows: Rev. Dr. K. G. MacMillan, the speaker of the evening, delivered an address, based on the Biblical account of the prophet Ezekiel, and his experience when he and his followers were taken captive by their oppressors.

Dr. MacMillan compared events of that time of life as it is today. . . when God-fearing people are literally surrounded by the captive forces of evil, crime, lawlessness, immorality and the disregard for decency and the finer things of life.

"It is time," the speaker stated, "that we who are trying to lead good lives stand firm and proclaim our belief in the power of the Almighty, as did Ezekiel."

"We must be ever-mindful of the words of the great truth: 'In the beginning — God'."

Subsequent to the service, there was a gathering at the church hall, where afternoon tea was served by the women of the U.C.W., and a pleasant social hour was spent.

By MARION SAWYER

Indeed, it was the occasion when many old friends met and chatted about former days, the joys and sorrows, the burdens and blessings, which had befallen them.

Noticed amongst the assembly were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of St. Catharines, Ont. They were married in Phillipsburg United Church forty-three years ago. Mrs. T. S. Allan, Montreal, and daughter, Mrs. J. Cadham, of Ste. Adele, Que. Mr. Edward Morgan Jr., and Mrs. J. Caverley (the former Madeline Morgan), all of Montreal.

Greetings and a substantial donation had been received from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morgan Sr., of Torrance, California. Members of the Morgan family were, at one time, residents of St. Armand.

The many members and adherents of Phillipsburg United Church, who through the years have helped to maintain the upkeep of the church, either in a monetary way or by voluntary service, are to be sincerely congratulated and thanked for their untiring efforts.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—I hang my head in shame to think that I enjoy the column so much and have never contributed a thing toward it.

To make candles stand like little soldiers in their holders, I polish the holders and put the top part that holds the candle in very hot water and leave it there until it is hot through and through. Then I take it out, dry and put the candles in and hold them for a bit until they are firmly set. This heat melts the wax enough to hold them in place until the next cleaning or replacing time.

I am such a particular ironer that people often ask who does my table linens. When I am doing doilies and table linen, I save the handkerchiefs to do at the same time and when I come to a dry spot on the linens that does not iron out as I would like, I iron a dampened handkerchief on top of it and everything is taken care of.—MRS. R. E. B.

Woman is only Negro in senate; was target of assassin's bullet

come does not appear a likely candidate for the central role in a political assassination plot.

But Mrs. Welcome, the only Negro in the Maryland Senate, was an assassin's target last spring.

She was returning from a late meeting April 10 and had stopped her car in front of her home. Just as she bent over the back seat to retrieve some posters, shots rang out.

Two bullets grazed her heel and back. The gunfire stopped.

At first she didn't realize what had happened. "Then it began to dawn on me slowly."

Someone had tried to murder me.

Most persons at first thought some kind of racial issue was involved because Senator Welcome had led a successful drive to pass a state-wide public accommodations bill.

Then arrests were made.

Five Negroes were charged with conspiracy to murder the senator.

One of the accused was Ernest Young, a member of the House of Delegates who belongs to a rival political camp in Mrs. Welcome's 4th Legislative District.

Three of the men have been convicted. Young and the fifth man have yet to be tried.

Now a detective accompanies Mrs. Welcome whenever she goes out in the city and a patrolman guards her house 24 hours a day.

"What of the future?" Says the 48-year-old former school teacher:

"Politics is my life. Regardless of what has happened, I will never discontinue my work."

Her work in the political arena began in 1958 when the 4th District, 58 per cent Negro, elected her to the House of Delegates.

"It never dawned on me I would run for political office," she said in an interview, until a friend suggested she file for the House.

The political novice confounded the experts and won the Democratic primary, which in the 4th District is tantamount to winning the election.

She was elected to the state Senate in 1962 despite opposition from the party organization.

Her greatest accomplishment during her years in the general assembly, she feels, is the passage of a state public accommodations law in 1963. Although the measure finally was an administration measure, Mrs. Welcome was a leader in the four-year campaign for its passage.

Mrs. Welcome says she has no plans to seek a higher office, such as Congress.

NO CHANCE TO WIN

"If I run, I run to win," and in her congressional district, "the whites have never voted for a Negro and never will."

There is no possible way under the sun for a Negro to be elected, unless there is a great change on the part of the whites.

However, she is known in national political circles. Mrs. Welcome was honored this year as one of the 12 outstanding women in politics at the New York World's fair. President Johnson named her to the national committee for community relations.

Senator Welcome's family gives her wholehearted support in her political adventures and misadventures.

Her surgeon-husband, Dr. Henry C. Welcome, is "very interested in politics and is one of my most respected advisers, although I don't let him know it all the time. If I didn't have his support, I wouldn't be in it."

Respect toward privacy

Privacy is a cherished possession. And the mother who must live with her married son or daughter should never forget its importance to the young couple.

Here are some ways in which she can help the situation.

Don't ask too many questions. Never ask how much they paid for this or that. If they go out in the evening occasionally don't ask like the parent of a teenager, "What time will you be home?"

Don't ask "Who was that?" when they receive telephone calls. Don't try to find out what's wrong when husband and wife have obviously had a quarrel.

Another way to give the couple privacy is by making your own friends instead of trying to share their friendships.

If you don't have friends, get out and go places by yourself so that the wife of the family has her house to herself occasionally.

When they entertain in the evening, let them have their own living room. You can always go to a movie, announce that you have a book you want to read or that you want to watch television in your own room.

Don't be afraid that you'll be shut out of all family living because you withdraw from the family now and then. By giving husband and wife a chance to be alone occasionally, you will really be making yourself more welcome.

Their desire for privacy isn't selfishness and certainly it isn't a sign that you've lost their love. Respecting their right to their own life is the nicest way you can show them how pleased you are to share their home.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON LODGE

The monthly meeting of the Duke of Wellington Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held on Thursday November 5th, at the rooms on Moore Street, with regent Mrs. P. Dauncey presiding.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Hough, educational secretary, reported that she had attended the commencement exercises at Sherbrooke High School, and presented the prizes on behalf of the I.O.D.E., and at a later date had received some very nice thank-you letters from the recipients.

Mrs. G. McRae read an interesting article on "Look at Canada's Prime Minister."

Services secretary, Mrs. Cohen reported one family receiving one quart of milk daily and a baby sweater and one pair of Korean socks had been knitted.

A rummage sale is to be held on Friday morning at 9.00 a.m. at Trinity United Church, all rummage to be brought in Thursday night.

Mrs. Hough made mention of the fact that she had the I.O.D.E. calendars for sale at 50 cents each.

It was moved by Mrs. Munster and seconded by Mrs. Kenally that there be no December meeting, the next meeting will be January 7th.

There being no further business the meeting closed in the usual fashion with the National Anthem. The hostesses serving refreshments afterwards were Mrs. R. L. Bishop and Mrs. R. Stewart.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

Play to win but learn to lose gracefully.

ACTIVE AT 105 — This is Mrs. Hilda Erickson who was 105 years old Wednesday. She's still healthy, happy and active and is pictured here at her home in Grantsville, Utah, at her sewing machine. She's the last of the Mormon pioneers who trekked across the plains and settled Utah before the railroads came in the middle and late 1800s. (AP Wirephoto)

Tropical fish hobby turns to business

LONDON (CP)—"She simply won't get at it and have her babies," said Clare Slater, peering in at the mother. "There she is, the one with her nose down and her posterior up."

Miss Slater moved on to another of some 100 tanks in the room and started dipping out what looked like swimming pinheads.

"I've got to get these babies into another tank before their mother eats them."

Breeding tropical fish commercially in the centre of London is a far cry from Miss Slater's more immediate writing and theatre background, both in Canada and England.

However, it does tie in, at least indirectly, with her studies in the sciences at McGill University. And she has been interested in tropical fish since high school days.

Every time she has settled down for any length of time she has bought a few tanks and some fish. And although she never expected to commercialize this hobby, last spring she found she had a sudden need for ready cash.

At present Miss Slater is selling only the surplus but by Christmas she hopes the business will be on its feet and self-sustaining so that she can go back, part time at least, to her real career of writing.

Clare Slater has already finished a novel and a TV play, written during a stay in Sicily last year, and has finished a stint as assistant to J. Hutchinson Scott, the English stage designer well known to audiences on Ontario's Stratford Shakespearean Festival.

Miss Slater originally had no intention of going either into the theatre or tropical fish business. In fact she was 24 before she saw her first professional play.

Born and brought up in Oakville, Ont., she was always being urged to do things athletic. And she showed no interest in theatre as she worked toward her BSc at McGill, served with the Canadian Women's Army Corps during the war and served as assistant editor of the Community Planning Association of Canada magazine in Ottawa.

After several stays in London, during one of which she set up an unsuccessful business in liturgical art called Bode House, she found herself in Toronto.

She had always thought of writing as a possible career and began by doing some documentary films for television as well as radio and TV plays.

It was Canadian comedian Araby Lockart, now also a London resident, who launched Miss Slater's theatre career.

Araby decided to do a revue at Toronto's Hart House Theatre. This was the first Clap Hands and Miss Slater became business manager and publicity agent.

PRODUCED PLAY

She worked two summers in the same capacity with the Red Barn Theatre at Jackson's Point on Lake Simcoe, then produced a play herself, The Tunnel of Love.

The lure of London was still strong and in 1960 she returned. Laurence Olivier was just opening the theatre at Chichester, patterned after Ontario's Stratford Theatre, and Miss Slater became assistant to the general manager.

It was after she bought her little house that she got back to tropical fish.

She gets her breeding stock from Florida and plans to concentrate on special types of fish, introducing new, stronger strains.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Town Hall in Brome, the bride's table being decorated with gladioli with a three-tier wedding cake. Later the couple left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls, Tuxen.

The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Roberts. The flower girl was Miss Debbie Crittenden, niece of the groom.

The best man was Mr. Michael Clark. The ushers were Mr.

Came to Utah by covered wagon

GRANTSVILLE, Utah (AP)—Hilda Erickson came west in a covered wagon when Johnson was president and voted last week to keep Johnson in the White House.

She was teaching the Indians how to read, write and sew when Geronimo was leading the last of the Apache uprisings in the southwest in 1886.

She was a midwife and acting doctor and dentist for Indians and whites near the Utah-Nevada border when army troops killed Chief Sitting Bull of the Sioux in South Dakota in 1890.

Mrs. Erickson, 105 today, is a pioneer in every sense of the word.

Her eyes are brown, with still a sparkle and her grey hair still has lively touches of the original red.

She talked politics during an interview. She still has a strong interest in what's going on in the world.

Questions readers ask

Q—Is skimmed milk really very much lower in calories than whole milk?

A—Yes. Skimmed milk runs around 350 calories a quart to about 665 in a quart of whole milk. In an 8-ounce glass of skimmed milk there are only about 88 calories but the same glass filled with whole milk would have about 165 calories.

Q—How much water should I drink every day?

A—Most nutritionists and doctors recommend from six to eight 8-ounce glasses a day. Tea, coffee, fruit and vegetable juice, carbonated beverages also supply large amounts of water, too, remember. Furthermore, practically all food contains some water, with a few exceptions such as lard.

Fashion Tips

Fur-lined coats and suits are a major fashion influence that gain distinction through new semi-fitted shapings and the use of long-haired furs introduced as linings.

RACE FOR WOMEN

Women descendants of Basque settlers in the western U.S. still take part in a traditional foot race which requires the contestants to run with a bucket of water on their heads.

BACKACHE

When kidneys fail to remove excess acids and wastes, backache, tired feeling, disturbed rest often follow. Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate kidneys to normal duty. You feel better—sleep better, work better.

IT STANDS TO REASON that the most popular wines are bought by—guess who?—the most popular people! As a friend of mine says—"the best-sellers are always found in the 'best cellars'—wine cellars, that is. He's talking about BRIGHTS WINES, of course. There's a Brights wine to suit every taste—whether it's 74 Port, a dessert wine that's so good with a snack after dinner; Manor St. David's Sauterne; or Mazel Toy—a rich, 'heady' wine that even non-lovers of wine will like. What price popularity? ...far less than you'd think for something as sure-fire as a Brights' wine cellar! And Brights wines are made right here in Canada!

News flashes from around the world

OTTAWA (CP)—Auto industry layoffs triggered a 40,000 increase in unemployment to 258,000 between mid-September and mid-October.

A joint report today by the bureau of statistics and the labor department put the mid-October jobless rate at 3.7 per cent of the labor force. It was 3.1 per cent in September and 3.9 in October of 1963.

Total employment stood at 6,704,000, down 50,000 from September. The drop stemmed largely from the seasonal dip in farm jobs but was bigger than usual because of the auto industry layoffs, caused by the General Motors strike in the United States which cut the flow of essential parts.

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario is powerless to act against a wave of hate literature spreading across the province, Attorney-General Arthur Wishart said Wednesday.

He said in an interview that under present law it would be almost impossible to win a conviction against disseminators of literature attacking Jews, Negroes and so-called Communists.

And, the attorney-general said, it would be difficult to add teeth to the relevant sections of the Criminal Code without infringing on the traditional rights of freedom of expression.

NEW YORK (AP)—A British Overseas Airways Corp. pilot collapsed and died in the cockpit of his jet liner Wednesday night minutes after he had landed the craft with 64 persons aboard after a flight from England.

Kazimierz Fraser, 50-year-old wartime RAF fighter pilot, was waiting for taxiing instructions after landing the huge plane at Kennedy International Airport when he slumped over in his seat.

Co-pilot Michael King took over the controls. The passengers were led from the plane, unaware of the incident.

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—Grand Duke Jean today became the first man to rule Luxembourg in 52 years.

The 43-year-old grand duke succeeded his mother, Grand Duchess Charlotte, who abdicated after ruling her tiny country of 330,000 people for 45 years. It was the longest reign of any living European monarch.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Cafeteria owner Lester Maddox, whose fried chicken and other southern victuals are not for sale to integrationists and interstate travellers, said Wednesday that federal agents are running his business by tracking down and questioning his customers.

"Unless this harassment by the FBI is stopped, it is going to put me out of business," Maddox complained. "There won't be any need to go back into court."

PRAGUE (Reuters)—Antonin Novotny was re-elected president of Czechoslovakia for another five years at a special meeting of the National Assembly (Parliament) today, the Ceteke news agency reported.

Novotny became one of the few men to lead both party and state in a Communist country when he was elected president in 1957, following the death of Antonin Zapotocky.

REUNITED — James "Bucky" Welch, who lost both arms in a railroad accident in August, is back home today with the puppy that figured in the accident. The 7-year-old boy was injured when he reached beneath a train to pull "Smokey" away from the wheels.

Bishop's Gaiters move to Ottawa Saturday to meet Gee Gees for OSLAA football championship

Bishop's University football Gaiters, faced with the impending graduation of 14 seniors next spring, go into Saturday's OSLAA championship game against the University of Ottawa Gee Gees determined to win.

Coach Bruce Coulter is primarily concerned about the Gaiters' ability to contain the high-scoring Gee Gees. "We're going to have a real good storming defence," he said. "They are a team that likes to run the ball, then draw you in and throw the bomb."

Tackle Bruce Walker, who Coulter described as "a real powerhouse all year," may miss the game because of an elbow injury sustained two weeks ago, while Bill Mitchell, one of the toughest tacklers on the Gaiters roster, will definitely not dress.

Fullback Brock Thomson will play two ways, taking Mitchell's corner-line-backing slot on defence.

Under the direction of Athletic Director Coulter, the Gaiters have lost but three games in three years; an exhibition loss this fall to the N.D.G. Varsity football field in Ottawa, defeat by Ottawa in the OSLAA championship, and a 52-14 pasting by the Loyola College Warriors three years ago.

The Bishop's attack will feature the passing of quarterback Willie Mitchell, with fullbacks Clem Chapple and Brock Thomson, and halves Mike Sommerville and Alan Gratiot carrying the rushing load.

The offensive line, composed of center Roy Cullen, guards Doug Calhoun and Don Harris, tackles Rick Cannings and Pat Lafferty, and ends Nils Bodiker and Keith Mills, will have their work cut out for them against the tough Ottawa defence.

The game, which is slated for 1:00 p.m. on the Carleton University football field in Ottawa, will be broadcast live over local radio station CKTS, through the efforts of Bishop's Radio Club.

EXERCISES 1 — THE SIDE BEND

The side bend strengthens the muscles of the waist and hips, which are instrumental in controlling the movement of the lower body.

Standing with feet 12" apart, hands clasped behind the head and elbows out to the sides, bend from the waist only and directly to the side as far as you can. Straighten out and repeat to the other side. Begin this exercise by bending five times to each side and increase three on each side, each week.

Worsley back, stops Hawks, Leafs edge Wings

MONTREAL GOALIE FIELDS A GOAL ATTEMPT — Montreal goalie Lorne "Gump" Worsley, right, reaches out to bat aside puck on second-period scoring attempt by Chicago Hawks last night. In center is Bobby Hull (9) of Chicago, and at left is Montreal defense Terry Harper (19). (AP Wirephoto)

It took Gump Worsley a year, but he finally made the return trip to the big time.

Twelve months ago the pudgy netminder was shipped out to the minors through no fault of his own. Sidelined with an injury, he watched Charlie Hodge steal his job and keep it all season.

Now the skate is on the other foot. Hodge is on Montreal Canadiens injured list and Worsley is making gestures towards recapturing his old position.

The Gumper, playing his first National Hockey League game in a year, turned in a superb performance Wednesday night and sparked Montreal to a 4-1 triumph over Chicago Black Hawks. The win was Canadiens' first in five games.

Toronto Maple Leafs, meanwhile, snapped Detroit's unbeaten streak at nine games with a 3-1 victory and New York Rangers handed Boston Bruins a 4-2 setback in the other two NHL games played.

The results left Detroit atop the standings with 16 points

Jones is settling the pace for individual honors with his average of 155. C. Descoteaux and J. Menna are slated with 152 in second while A. Carrier is fourth with 150 and R. Breton has 149.

Deluxe Auto is in second spot with a total of 11 points while Independent has eight and Lee Cafe trail by one point in fourth spot.

Ottawa defense faces tough chore Saturday

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa two-game, total - point Eastern Rough Riders' defensive team Football Conference final they has sparked in its last two may not have as much help games, and will have to con-front their offense as they would time to muzzie opposition teams like.

The Riders held Montreal Dave Thelen and halfback Ron-Alouettes scoreless in their last nine Stewart to carry the load, two games, but when they meet but they'll be missing regulars Hamilton Tiger-Cats here Saturday in the other two backfield position in the first game of their tions.

Halfback Bo Scott, a late season addition, and speedy flanker Whit Tucker will be among the spectators Saturday, and Ottawa Coach Frank Clair will have to juggle some defensive backs to help plug the holes.

ANKLE FAILS SCOTT

Tucker's loss was expected earlier, but Scott was still a possible starter until Wednesday night's workout when his injured ankle failed to respond to continued treatment.

With Tucker out, Len Sparks will get the nod as flanker, with Peter Quinn and veteran Joe Poirier available as back-up men.

Scott's absence means Clair will have to go with another Canadian, Rick Black, as a running mate for Stewart and Thelen. With Black as a starter, Ed Ulmer will take over as reliever for the offensive halfbacks. Defensive half Tommy Neck, who managed only one game with the Riders before running into back trouble, will be back in the lineup, and will probably spell Ulmer and Poirier when they see offensive action.

Hamilton Coach Ralph Sazio has no worries about injuries after a two-week layoff, but has kept his club working each day so "we're not going to Ottawa with any complacency at all."

PRaises DEFENCE

Sazio paid tribute to Ottawa's defensive team Wednesday and gave much of the credit to tackles Bill Siekierski and Bill Quinter.

Sazio hasn't released his starting lineup yet, but it is not expected to vary much from the team that finished in first place in the Big Four in convincing style.

The game starts at 2 p.m. AST, and will be carried over the CTV network.

Magog Curling Club to open Saturday night

MAGOG—The Magog Social and Curling Club will open activities this Saturday with a dinner at the club house commencing at 5:30 p.m.

The ice may be ready to do some curling if the members wish after the dinner. There will be no schedule games and members can form their own matches.

Plante, playing his second game in place of injured Marcel Paille, turned away 16 shots in the first period to keep New York in the lead. His second straight fine performance followed his 1-0 shutout over Toronto last Saturday.

Down Pirates 6-4 in high-scoring battle, Georges Guilbault pots his first goal, meet Gauls this evening

Sherbrooke Beavers extended their lead in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League last evening when they ran out a 6-4 win over the Verdun Pirates at the Arena before 2,400 fans.

This evening Coach Georges Roy moves his Beavers into St. Hyacinthe for their second game within two nights. This is a game which was slated to be played Oct. 22. Following tonight's tilt the Beavers will be at home to Granby Vics Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. This evening Granby moves over to Drummondville to tangle with the up-and-coming Rockets.

Georges Guilbault, Beavers' hard-working centre, who has been searching for his first goal this year finally made it. He deflected a shot from Simon Nolet into the meshings. It caught Don Monette by surprise.

Guilbault came right back and just missed potting his second tally of the year. He missed the corner by inches when he had Monette beat. Following this the Beavers kept the pressure on and the Pirates had trouble in clearing their own zone.

The Beavers came up with a new player last evening in Gilles Cartier, a centre player. He turned in a good job for his first game with the locals. The Beavers went along with only four defencemen since Coach Roy is still on the sidelines with a suspension.

Coach Roy shifted Rene Pepin back to right wing and it paid off as the shift winger came up with two goals in the high scoring affair. Ronnie Racette, Gilles Cartier and Simon Nolet accounted for the others.

Serge Aubry was his usual steady self and time after time he was forced to extend himself in keeping his citadel clear. His mates at times had trouble in clearing their own zone, especially towards the end of the game.

Sherbrooke's second goal was a fluke as Racette fired a hard shot which hit the back-board and bounced over the net in front. Skipper Burchell in trying to clear knocked it into the net and Racette received credit for the marker.

In the middle session Rene Pepin came up with the nicest goal of the evening. He broke in alone on Monette and trying to deke him he fell but when falling he lifted a back-hander which caught the net behind the surprised Verdun goalie. Pepin was down on the ice at the time.

Pepin potted his second goal just after the half way mark. He broke in on right wing and fired a hard low shot which Monette outguessed and it caught the corner of the net. The Beavers were short-handed at the time.

Jean Levesque drew a charging penalty and his mates kept things under control with good clearing. He no sooner returned when he got tagged for using his elbow but Serge Aubry and company kept the Pirates at bay.

Poirier went off for holding and during his enforced rest Chuck Poxon caught Sherbrooke's second goal.

Stamps hope this is the year they travel East to Grey Cup classic, meet Lions at home on Saturday

CALGARY (CP)—Since Calgary Stampede set the East back on its heels and the Grey Cup on its feet with a special brand of western fun in 1948 and 1949, bad times and bad luck have blocked the trail east for the Cowboys.

Every other Western Football Conference club since has played in the Canadian final and as the years passed Calgary fans have become increasingly impatient for another opportunity to blow the lid off the Grey Cup festivities.

For many 1964 has started to take shape as the year Calgary might go all the way again. Not a seat remained to be sold in 21,500 - seat McMahon Stadium for Saturday's opener in the best-of-three series against the British Columbia Lions.

Kickoff time is 5 p.m. AST and the game will be seen on the CBC's national network. The second game will be played in Vancouver Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 12 p.m. and the third, if necessary, in Vancouver Sunday, Nov. 22, at 6 p.m. Both Vancouver games will be seen back on its heels and the Grey Cup on Canada's two national TV networks.

Frustrations began to cause unrest in Calgary after a last-second fumble in the third game of the 1962 WFC final gave Winnipeg Blue Bombers the western title. A year ago Saskatchewan Roughriders bounced Calgary in the two - game total - point semi-final with a miracle finish that overcame a 28-point deficit.

Coach Bobby Dobbs, whose clubs have won more games in the last three years than any other team in Canada, now is in his fourth year at Calgary. The 41-year-old coach said he has not heard about rumors that he would lose his job if Calgary didn't get the Grey Cup this year.

Present cheque for restoration of school house

STANSTEAD — W. Q. Scott, M. Ed., president of Stanstead County Protestant Teachers Association, in a brief ceremony, held Oct. 30, at the historic Red Brick Schoolhouse, presented a cheque for $75 to Mrs. W. H. Rudd, chairman of the School House Restoration Fund, in the presence of Mrs. Douglas Cooper, the School House Building committee chairman, and Mrs. George Hatch, president of Stanstead North Women's Institute, the custodians of the school.

This year the P.A.P.T. of the Province of Quebec is observing its 100th anniversary. To commemorate the historic event, the association endeavours are: Restoration of historic schoolhouses; bringing up to date local educational histories; and introducing to the Province, leaders of international renown.

It has also been their policy in this centennial year to encourage and assist other organizations pursuing the same aims. Therefore, when it was learned that the Red Brick Schoolhouse was being restored by the Institute branch, the offer to donate to the fund was made and accepted.

In presenting the cheque to the Institute branch, Mr. Scott said: "It is a token of approval and appreciation of this effort of your organization, which is to be complemented for the special interest in the contribution to education."

Mr. Scott was thanked by the P.A.P.T. for the gift and his interest in coming from North Hatley to present it. This was Mr. Scott's first visit to the schoolhouse, which he found most interesting in its historic significance.

In June of last year, Mrs. Janice Soutiere, a teacher of Sunnyside School, Rock Island, taught her class for a day at the Red Brick Schoolhouse and again in October, the same class, with Mrs. Soutiere, returned to the school for an afternoon, where they were photographed, later appearing on an educational television film from Montreal.

Farm Forum Activities

GALLUP HILL

The Gallup Hill Farm Forum held its first meeting of the season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coddington, Melbourn, on Nov. 2. The topic for the meeting was The Price of Life, a discussion on the Hall Commission's recommendations for overall medical care.

We in this forum, feel that the recommendations have been well prepared and would provide a great improvement in medical care in our own locality, which we feel is inadequate at present.

It is felt that there is a great need for more doctors and that they should be allowed to pursue their medical vocation, and not be held back so as to keep it the highest paid profession.

There is a great need for an investigation into the high cost of drugs and also in the manner in which they are distributed. Many drug stores in rural communities are inadequate. We feel that there is a place for a well equipped clinic in the area, many people are not getting the medical attention they need.

We hope that this plan can be carried out without the serious abuse that has affected such programs as social welfare and unemployment insurances. Also that once the plan is in effect, the cost will not soar way beyond present expectations, and that the premium will be suitable for everyone.

IVES HILL AND DRAPER'S CORNER — The first meeting of the year of the Farm Radio Forum was held recently at the home of the secretary, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green.

The broadcast was heard and a lengthy discussion period followed, all agreeing on question No. 1. What Do You Think of the Recommendations of the Hall Commission?

Question No. 2, Do You Have Any Serious Reservations About the Main Recommendations, the answer was, No.

It was decided that the secretary write a letter to Provincial Office regarding suggested changes in the Farm Forum. The next meeting will be held at the Bernard home.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and an enjoyable hour was spent, bringing the evening to a close.

The 1964-65 Farm Forum reopened with a well attended meeting at the home of Arthur Learned and Miss Katie Learned.

The broadcast on the findings of the Hall Commission on a health plan for Canadians, produced a lively discussion.

It was generally agreed that there is a need for continuous effort to improve the health of all the Canadian people. However, it was thought that the immediate adoption of all the recommendations of the Commission would hardly be wise. This is due to the heavy costs involved at a time when education seems to have a priority over everything else; also the scarcity of doctors and health facilities such as would be required.

Therefore, it is believed that a gradual adoption of the plan would be more in line with the means presently at the group's disposal.

PINNACLE

The Farm Forum held its first meeting of the season on Nov. 2, in the Danville Anglican Church hall, with the subject of the meeting, The Price of Life.

The Green Leaf was read and some business discussed before the radio broadcast. After the broadcast three discussion groups were formed. One group approved the recommendations of the Hall Commission. A similar health plan has proved successful in England and we could profit from studying their plan and the difficulties which they overcame there.

Another group agreed that the recommendation required further study.

The third group thought the recommendations of the Commission inadequate. There should be restrictions to eliminate inflation in medical costs; for example, doctors charge less to the individual than to those with medical insurance. More stress should be put on reduction of drug costs, with less profit to druggists.

It was thought that more grants should be given to Universities, rather than to students, and thus provide more space for training more students. Students given grants to medical school might take advantage of free education, and not be dedicated doctors.

It seemed also that the new plan might put all doctors, regardless of their capabilities, on the same level.

To summarize, it was thought that the recommendations required considerable further study.

One idea mentioned was that in the present mode of life, medical demands will be greater in the psychomatic diseases, unless more emphasis is placed on the moral and religious aspects of man.

3RD RANGE

The members of the Farm Forum were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Clark, Sherbrooke, with Mrs. Elgin Decoteau, secretary, reading the green leaf.

The broadcast was interesting, the subject being, The Price of Life.

The following questions were discussed and answered: Question 1: What do you think of the recommendations of the Hall Commission?

Answer: It is the opinion of this Forum that the recommendations of the Hall Commission are good, but will require a lot of study.

Question 2: Do you have any serious reservations about the main recommendations?

Answer: It is the opinion that student nurses and internes do not have enough financial aid. Plans were made to hold a card party at the Brompton Road Community Hall on Nov. 23.

At a recent meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Richie Harrison, who moved to Burroughs' Falls, were presented with a table lamp, from the members.

Officers named were: chairman, Lemuel Clark; secretary, Mrs. Elgin Decoteau; treasurer, Herbert Winget; publicity, Mrs. Lemuel Clark.

Following the business meeting cards were played at three tables.

Later refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the ladies.

The next meeting, Nov. 9, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Brown, Scotch Road.

Youths studying the operation and maintenance of heavy construction machinery will have the real thing to work with—30-ton trucks, cranes, graders, bulldozers and other equipment loaned by the government or private enterprise, or rented.

The student city idea was conceived three years ago by Education Minister Paul Gelin-Lajoie.

Citizens of Vaudreuil-Soulanges, his riding, took it up and formed a seven-member corporation to build it, with the support of the Vaudreuil regional school commission, the department of youth and the apprenticeship commission for building trades in Montreal.

Presence of Cite des Jeunes has already attracted one industry which foresees availability of skilled labor, and the student city isn't even completed.

du MAURIER

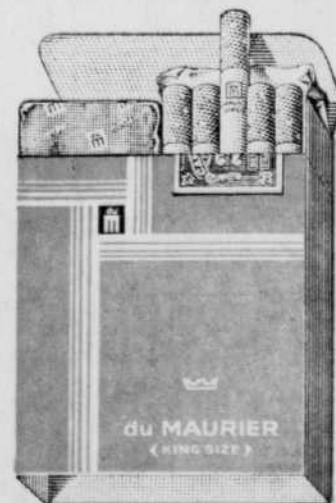

Symbol of Quality

testing never ends

Through this door passes the most-tested cigarette paper in the world. This is a special furnace (temperature inside 1500°F). The scientist is inserting a sample of paper that has been burned over a gas flame. Inside the furnace, the combustible material will be seared away leaving a quantity of fine ash.

By studying this residue, our technicians keep tabs on the paper we buy for du MAURIER cigarettes. We have rigid standards. If a shipment of paper does not meet them, we reject it. And each part of a du MAURIER cigarette receives equally intensive scrutiny.

If you are a du MAURIER smoker, you are now enjoying the benefits of this control—if not, make a test of your own. Smoke du MAURIER—full King Size or regular size—for one week. See if the last cigarette isn't every bit as satisfying as the first. Meanwhile, we'll carry on with our own testing. Like a circle, it never ends.

Gay mad world of sewer students will graduate men much in demand

By GERALD McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP)—The boy who studies sewage treatment at Vaudreuil's Cite des Jeunes will also find himself in a social and recreational swirl aimed at developing a whole man, not just a sewage treatment expert.

Furthermore, he will have a job waiting when he graduates. There is a growing demand for sewage plant technicians in Quebec and scores of such plants will be built in the next decade.

With $300,000,000 available for new facilities in secondary education in the province between now and 1967, the student city in Montreal's western suburbs may be copied in other regions.

At least 20 communities have expressed interest in the idea. A Hull 2,000,000 square foot land have been set aside for a high school campus. At Riviere-du-Loup, a student city not quite as elaborate as that at Vaudreuil is approaching completion.

While the water purification, heating and sewage treatment plant will be the specialty at Vaudreuil, student cities in other regions probably will be tailored to their own industrial needs.

HAS COMMUNITY CENTRE

In the Sorel-Tracy district east of Montreal, for instance, such a school likely would turn out workers skilled in steel-making and industrial machine use.

In Montreal itself, the demands of the chemical and communications industries may result in two such educational centres.

The Cite des Jeunes at Vaudreuil offers a broad program. The campus includes high school facilities for Grades 8 to 12 and the students may go on to the technological institute or the building trades apprenticeship centre on the same 400-acre tract.

Roman Catholic and Protestant, English- and French-speaking students will mingle on the campus because of its community centre which allows the specialized peripheral buildings to share communal facilities at the heart.

This heart has a physical culture centre, arts centre, cafeteria, library and public square.

The young man who takes the sewage treatment option will not only have superb football fields and swimming pools at his disposal, he will also be able to take extracurricular courses in everything from photography to nature lore.

TO COST $9,000,000
When completed in 1966, at a cost of $9,000,000, the student city is expected to have 3,000 students, rising to 5,000 by 1971. Costliest facility is the $2,500,000 water purification, heating and sewage treatment plant. It
