Now if only CBC's Mike Duffy could find a cause

Now it all comes out. Ferdinand Marcos, former saviour of the Philippines, has broken his vow of silence. With a "Let the chips fall where they may" attitude, Ferdie wrote a letter to the Filipino press this week pointing out that Corizon Aquino was the actual plunderer of the island's economy. Marcos' chief complaint centred on the way Aquino allowed the rabble to ransack his former residence where about two thousand unruly peasants each tried on a pair of Imelda's shoes — left behind in the rush to pack no doubt. Marcos' rationalization will probably make the history books right up there along with Idi Amin's claim to be a member of the British royal family and Baby Doc Duvalier's denunciation of the Ton Ton Macoute.

Join the Navy and see the world — or at least learn how to behave at a cocktail party. According to a classified military manual recently smuggled to the press, Canada's naval officers are receiving the best in etiquette instruction along with the more mundane aspects of weaponry and navigation. The book, entitled Military Knowledge Manual, contains such gems of wisdom as "Ladies expect to have the door opened for them, to have their cigarettes lit, bless them!" and "Help them on and off with their coats and be prepared to do anything for them except lend them money." Funny, when I was in the Polish navy sailors didn't lend money to the ladies they met. The book goes on to outline exactly how to meet and impress a "dish" and the benefits of sitting beside "an old geezer" at dinner. Sort of makes you quietly proud eh?

I'm glad to see Senator Jacques Hebert has given up his hunger strike in support of Katimavik. Now if only the CBC's Mike Duffy could find a cause. Seriously though, it's nice to see that a sense of justice and responsibility still exists. It's about time somebody showed those silly Tories that just because the majority of the nation elected them to govern the country doesn't mean they're actually in charge. After all what good is democracy if it means the majority is going to get its own way?

News Flash! The Record's own Bobby 'Take the ditch' Fisher, will be off to the CBC later this month to take up the position of researcher for Quebec AM. Not part of the 'flash' but every bit as exciting, former staffer Mickey McDevitt has announced his plans to marry — which amounts to the same thing as joining the CBC.

For you diehard wrestling fans out there, Donald K. Donald — no relation to Donald K. Duck — announced this week a wrestling extravaganza that will include Mr. T, Refrigerator Perry, Hulk Hogan, Joan Rivers, Ozzie Osbourne, Herb Berger King, G. Gordon Liddy and Cathy Lee Crosby to name but a few. The way I see it, Mr. T will probably grab Herb by his whopper, Joan Rivers will faint with excitement, and Gordon Liddy will hold his hand over the open flame which emanates from Cathy Lee Crosby no matter what she wears. Be there.

1985 Italian wines will be splendid

Time for a few odds and ends. Why is that in the midst of ever rising prices for wine in La Belle Province, the Ontario Liquor Control Board can announce a reduction in the prices of some Canadian and American wines? Perhaps the gentlemen who run things in Toronto realize that penalizing wine drinkers is neither necessary nor just.

One of the unfortunate side effects of South Africa's apartheid system is the necessary boycott of that nation's excellent wines. Admittedly, being deprived of South Africa's fine table wines and its equally palatable fortified wines is a minor inconvenience when placed in the context of the injustices visited upon black Africans, but it is a shame nevertheless.

This fact was brought home recently when I tasted and excellent Paarl Riesling — my first in a number of years. A dry, fruity wine with lots of character, it is unfortunately not available in Canada.

If anyone can afford them, the 1985 Italian wines are going to be splendid. Almost every region is reporting excellent quality. The problem, however, is that almost every region is also reporting a reduction in quantity which will mean another increase in price somewhere down the road.

Look for a large number of restaurants to close their doors in the next year or two. Already hit by an extra tax on wine and liquor, many restaurants will just not be able to survive the latest price increase. Since much of their profit comes from the sale of wine and liquor, restaurants will be forced to either reduce profits or pass on the increase to their customers. Either way, it doesn't look good.

Finally, one quick hint. Yugoslavia, Chile, Argentina, Hungary and Greece — to name but a few — are all countries which produce quite decent wine on the whole. They are also countries where the Canadian dollar has managed to hold its own. It may take a little more searching, but they can be found. Cheers!

Quiet, quality show opens Blue Armoire 1986 season

By Merritt Clifton

DUNHAM — The Blue Armoire Gallery opens for the 1986 art season Friday night with a quiet, quality showing by hometown painters Mary Martin and Tiziana Tabbia Plomteux, together with Gordon Ladd of Knowlton and Sunshine Taylor of Richford. New paintings are few, but Martin's selections especially represent her best in oils — her primary medium until last year.

'Blouin's Saw Mill', 'Barn Door, Dunham', 'Concord Barn', and 'Barn Door, Cowansville' could all hang anywhere. Each is subtly unconventional — 'Saw Mill' centers an otherwise bucolic country scene about a sawdust heap looming over even tall trees, while the others are close-ups, stressing texture and composition ahead of scenery.

For those who prefer scenery, Martin presents 'Mt. Mansfield', depicting cows grazing alongside a creek. The variations in color are such that it would make a great jigsaw puzzle — are any puzzle-makers reading?

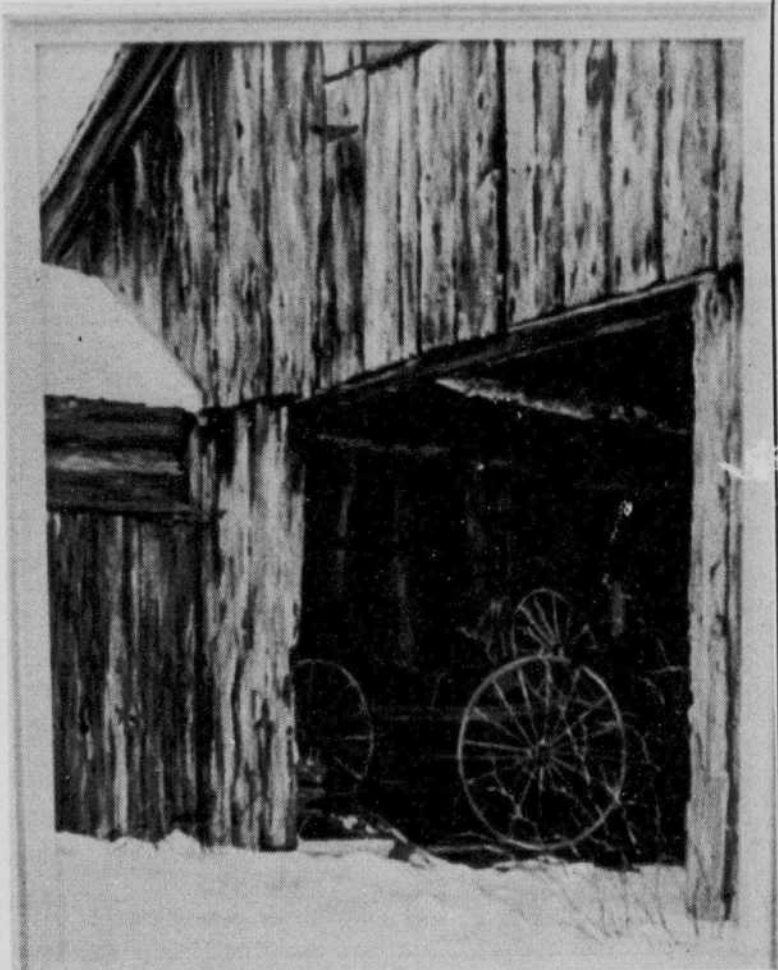

Gordon Ladd's 'The Smell Of Syrup' should appeal to those who missed this year's short, unhappy sugaring season. The view is a sugar-shack in full operation. Some of Ladd's spring scenes are blurred and muddy, but another, 'White River', stands with his best work.

Plomteux's contributions come from among the greater collection she showed in Cowansville two weeks ago. Some of Taylor's watercolors are new, but she hasn't yet unveiled her big surprise for '86. When she does display her main winter's work, it'll make headlines.

The Blue Armoire keeps regular business hours and is also open afternoons on Saturday and Sunday. It's located on Main Street, Dunham, almost in the very centre of town.

The Smell of Syrup, by Gordon Ladd, may appeal to those who missed the short sugaring season.

Mary Martin's Concord Barn is one of a set of subtly unconventional scenes featured.

The first airplane ride over Newport

First Lieutenant Samuel P. Mills of South Ryegate, Vermont decided to tour his native state in a plane in June 1921. It was a two-seated airplane known as a "Liberty DeHaviland 4 Plane". Lieut. Moffat, an aviator, asked to be his passenger. A pilot always feels pleased overtime complimented when some one who is also a pilot is willing to ride as his passenger.

An article was written by Mills in The Vermonter, (1922), entitled Touring Vermont by Airplane and I will relate his flying over Newport and his landing at Coventry:

"In order to add to the interest of our trip, we passed straight over the crest of Jay Peak and then on a long gradual descent approached Newport City. The first object visible was the immense sand bank on Pine Hill. This we could see even before Lake Memphremagog, due to our approach from the west in the afternoon. A moment later Newport itself came into view and I gazed down on the most beautiful town scene I have ever witnessed from the air. The business section is located upon a projection of land which nearly divides the lake proper and the Back Bay."

"The entire scene is laid out in clear relief with a clean white street apparently cutting thru the very heart of the town. The lake lay to the north in a perfect calm, its surface ruffled only by the wake to the 'Anthemis' as she headed for Magog. Vainly did we look for the Lady but the 'Lady of the Lake' had passed on to Avalon. In fact everything was quiet save for a little group of boys on the roof of the Yatch Club, who pause in their diving to wave a welcome as we glided by.

"A quick descent over the town with motor wide open, a sharp climb and a 'wing over' or two were made ere we headed for a large field in Coventry. In the center of this field stood a lone figure who waved his arms frantically and leaped into the air in sheer delight — and who do you suppose it was? Well, it was none other than my old former Air Service officer, Lieut. Walter C. Cleveland, more widely known as "Grove". Here again I must relate a little personal incident which is interesting. Before our machine had stopped rolling along the fields, after landing, 'Grove' was on the plane imploring me not to stop the engine, and at the same time tearing goggles and helmet from my passenger and finally taking the place of Lieut. Moffat altogether. 'Give her the gun, Sam! Give her the gun!' I heard a heavy voice should about an inch from my right ear, and without argument, I opened the throttle wide and headed for Coventry; for 'Grove' could not be denied the honor of being the first aviator to cleave the air above his native village. When our little 'Jazz-ride' (which means a flight of 'cutting-up' without visible useful results) was over, we rolled again into the field and received a warm welcome to the hospitable home of Judge Cleveland."

The pilot continued his trip throughout Vermont and he gives an example how advanced the aviation is for its time: "At a conservatively rated average cruising speed of 90 miles per hour for the airplane the distance from Newport to Montpelier via the railroad is 103 miles compare to 54 miles by airplane and from a train ride of 4 hrs. 15 minutes it is reduced to 36 minutes."

Next time you see a plane in the sky, imagine what a sight it must have been in 1921... over "Beautiful Waters"

Easy to see why novel Briarpatch would win awards

Briarpatch by Ross Thomas (PENGUIN): $4.95, 370 pp.

For detective fiction lovers there's only one thing that can match the excitement of discovering a writer who can be talked about in the same breath as Elmore Leonard, and that's the pleasure of learning that a novelist such as Ross Thomas has a healthy list of back titles to gobble up.

Actually, reading Thomas's Briarpatch as an introduction to his handling of this genre is a double treat, due to this book having been chosen as the winner of the Edgar (named after American Edgar Allan Poe) Award as Best Mystery/Suspense Novel of the Year. Once the reader falls under the spell of Thomas's easy storytelling, it's easy to see why this book would win awards.

It begins in a rather violent fashion, with a female homicide detective being killed by a car-bomb, and her Washington-based brother, Ben Dill (called Pick), returning to the scene of the crime. That scene just happens to be the city in a state in the Sunbelt where Dill grew up, and it is Thomas's leisurely descriptions of the locales that bring Briarpatch into such clear focus.

Dill begins the sad task of attending to his sister Felicity's funeral, and encounters along the way a number of strange acquaintances that the popular woman had made. A failed N.F.L. linebaker, with a gruesome countenance and a heart of gold, turns out to be one of Felicity's admirers, and Dill renews the friendship with his old schoolmate Jake Spivey, who he learns has made a small fortune in running munitions into Vietnam. His sister's lawyer and friend, Anna Maude Singe provides the love interest in the book, and she and Dill engage in a torrid affair that bubbles under the surface of this suspenseful novel.

Thomas catches us up in a rather casual detection narrative, with Dill going about the task of getting to the bottom of Felicity's murder, but there is an added element of a sub-plot which involves Dill's work as a consultant to a Senate subcommittee and his assignment to get a valuable deposition for the Boy Senator from Tucumcari, New Mexico. When Dill learns that the deposition he needs from his childhood pal Spivey is a little more complicated than he first considered, the plot thickens with discoveries that the death of Dill's sister, the sordid affairs of bon vivant Spivey, and his nefarious dealings with one Clyde Brattle, an ex-C.I.A. spook that everyone in Washington is looking for, all appear to have some sinister connection.

Thomas's forte is to get you interested in Dill, his sister and the set-up job that appears to have been done on her, mix in a great feel for atmosphere and some exceptional, memorable characterizations, and before you know it you are hooked on some of the smoothest crime fiction since Detroit brought the crackling prose of its protégé Elmore Leonard into the world. Ross Thomas, who has written 19 previous novels, some under the pseudonym of Oliver Bleck, has a recognized gift for his vocation as crime novelist, but he continues to be discovered and appreciated by the uninitiated.

RECORD REVIEWS
ROCK OF AGES (CAPITOL)
The 12-album historical compila-

Kaleidoscope

By RICHARD LONEY

tion of hits of the fifties and sixties just recently released on Capitol Records makes some fairly obscure and some usual favorites from Oldies shows available to nostalgia devotees. The Stone Poneys, Linda Rondstadt's original vehicle into stardom, sing the hit "Different Drum", and The Four Preps, who had a string of novelty and harmony songs in the late fifties, perform the catchy anthem "26 Miles (Santa Catalina)", a song that paved the way for the craze for folk and vocal groups that played such a large part in the popular music of the next decades.

Another trend of the early years, that of the R&B songs that made into popular hit parades, is represented by the Clovers doing "Love Potion Number Nine", Maurice Williams and the Zodiacs singing the classic "Stay", or Ernie K-Doe regretting the presence of his "Mother-In-Law". Lesser hits, which must have been relegated to local, regional big records, include Wanda Jackson's "Let's Have A Party", the Cornelius Brothers and Sister Rose's "Treat Her Like A Lady", and the Isley B rothers' "Who's That Lady".

A few of the Capitol label's stable of biggies, such as the Beach Boys, contribute their "Surfin' U.S.A.", and the other blasters from the West Coast, Jan and Dean do their "Surf City". One of the earliest of all of the rock songs that started the trend in the mid-fifties, Gene Vincent's "Be-Bop-A-Lula" stands the test of time thanks to a couple of dynamite guitar solos and Gene's mock-Elvis, breathy vocalizing.

Other definitive tunes on this set include Fats Domino's "Blueberry Hill", the gritty Eddie Cochran teen lament that's survived a number of covers over the years, "Summertime Blues", Jerry Lee's "Great Balls of Fire", and Johnny Rivers' simulated live version of Chuck Berry's "Memphis". A few other songs that helped to define what the sixties were all about before the onslaught of the Beatles and the British Invasion, are Gary Lewis and the Playboys doing "This Diamond Ring"; the instrumental champs The Ventures playing "Walk, Don't Run", the song that sold a zillion Stratocasters; Ike and Tina Turner's "Proud Mary"; and regional hits such as The Standells with "Dirty Water", or the Classics IV with "Spooky".

The 28 selections on the sampler from Capitol Records heralding the release of the entire 12 album package merely act as a teaser for those who like to stroll back through the years with musical friends. If the cross-section of artists and styles only hinted at on ROCK OF AGES is fully realized on a true "album" collection of 24 sides of recorded gold, it would appear that this package will become an indispensable part of any serious rock historian's discography.

Glen Burtnick TALKING IN CODE (A&M)

When he wasn't getting roped in by his older brothers to sing doo-wop or Everly Brothers harmonies, Glen Burtnick was performing in a number of bands such as Jan Hammer's group HAMMER, singing with Marshall Crenshaw, writing tunes with Cyndi Lauper and winging along on tours with Little Steven and The Boss, which adds up to a pretty impressive musical apprenticeship.

With the release of TALKING IN CODE, Burtnick gets to be the solo voice on ten very strong songs that must be a stark departure from the songs he was doing as part of an outfit known as La Bamba And The Hubcaps, where the horn-inspired R&B group only allowed him to work on one of his compositions. There'll be a few bands around who would wish that they had a voice as powerful as Burtnick's to help pay the freight — his ear for good tunes is impeccable on this rockin' debut album.

"Crank It Up" comes burning out of the lead cut slot, setting the tone for this collection of potential single records assembled by Producer Richard Landis (who has worked with Canada's Red Ryder), and the most powerful contender is "Brave Hearts", which uses what Landis calls "backwards reverb", in which the sound comes right at you instead of trailing away from you. With this letter point as the key, it's clear that Glen Burtnick's strategy on the songs is to hit the listener right between the eyes with the intensity of a Bryan Adams, and the soulful voice of a Don Henley. For a debut album that's not a bad pair of targets for a young artist to set sight on.

VIDEO SCREENINGS
THE BREAKFAST CLUB (MCA HOME VIDEO)

With critics and moviegoers alike using this film as a meas-ring device against which all other recent teen flicks are evaluated, it's a good idea to check this one out on video. You won't be disappointed.

The limited cast just happens to bring together five of the most interesting younger stars of the cinema caught in performances that they will long be remembered for. In one of those isolationist, last survivors in a lifeboat, Lord of the Flies scenarios, five average teenagers have been hit with a weekend detention at a high school in Anywhere, U.S.A. Their cruel keeper, played by a sneering, mocking Paul Gleason, assembles the quintet on a Saturday morning at 7:00 a.m., and asks them to stay quiet, well-behaved and orderly and to put together a 1,000 word essay about "who they really are".

The film that grows out of this is an emotional, memorable experience thanks to the acting of wunderkind such as Anthony Michael Hall, as the Brain; Emilio Estevez as the Athlete; Ally Sheedy as the sulky, spaced-out Basket-Case; Molly Ringwald as the pampered Princess; and Judd Nelson as the malcontent, hostile Criminal. Left to their own devices, the teens prove to be a revealing set of role-models against whom just about every teenage type can be stacked up.

Perhaps it's because of the emotions which are transmitted by the superb acting in THE BREAKFAST CLUB that the film has become to the teen set what THE BIG CHILL was reputed to represent to the lost ones of the sixties. Contrary to popular belief, the film does not make its impact on the strength of a droning rock soundtrack — the music John Hughes uses is really unobtrusive, and has spawned fewer hit spin-offs than any number of similar films. THE BREAKFAST CLUB proves that the teen epic need not be an update of BEACH BLANKET BINGO and that a bright, talented, new generation of players is poised to take over the silver screen.

New lifestyle magazine spotlights Townships' charms

By Laurel Sherrer

SHERBROOKE — "Why Estrie?" asks the editorial in the first issue of a new lifestyles magazine, Vie en Estrie/Living.

The "Spirit of the Townships" is publisher Richard Petersen's answer.

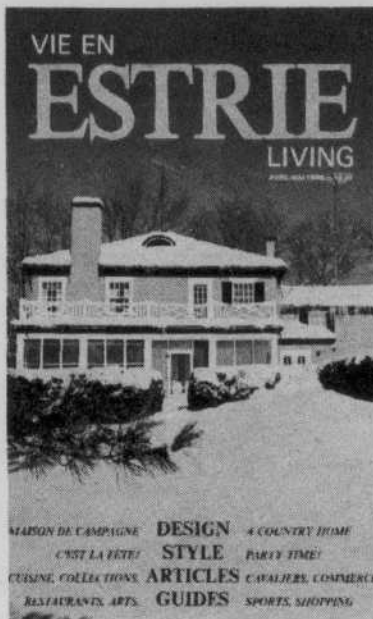

"I continue to be amazed at our region; the people I meet — interesting, controversial, successful, real characters in every field," he writes. He goes on to say that the architecture, fashion and the choice of activities available here also make the Townships special, and create the need for a magazine all our own.

The first issue of Vie en Estrie/Living went on the newstands all over the region and in downtown Montreal, Westmount and the south shore Easter Sunday.

Petersen and his wife Chantal Boulé-Petersen, editorial assistant, have been thinking of starting up a lifestyles magazine for the Townships for about two years, they revealed at a press conference last week. But they wanted to test the waters a bit first.

HUNGRY FOR IT

They found that advertisers, and Townshippers as a whole, were hungry for this kind of publication.

But exactly what kind of publication is it?

It's based on a style of magazine that started with Texas Monthly, and has come to be known as a "city" magazine, Petersen explained. The main focuses of such a magazine are fashion, architecture, personalities, individual sports, leisure and arts and entertainment. "Virtually every city in North America that has grown to a certain size has one," he said, pointing to Western Living and T.O. as examples. "Each has to adapt it to its own needs. This is the first bilingual city magazine I know of."

The Petersens had 5000 copies of the April/May issue printed, and for the June/July issue they hope to raise that number to 10,000. Fifty per cent of the pages are filled with advertising, and they hope to keep it at this ratio. The first issue is 56 pages, and the magazine will become thicker or thinner depending on the ads.

The first issue's glossy, full-color front cover features Ivasleigh, the weekend home of the J.H. Price family near Georgeville, and a color photo essay and brief historical background of the property are featured on four pages within.

OTHER FEATURES

Other articles, all written by either Richard or Chantal, include one on a collector of antique runabout boats, a profile of a North Hatley stained glass artist, and a look at some of the more interesting "horse people" in the Townships.

It also features a restaurant review and a calendar of coming events.

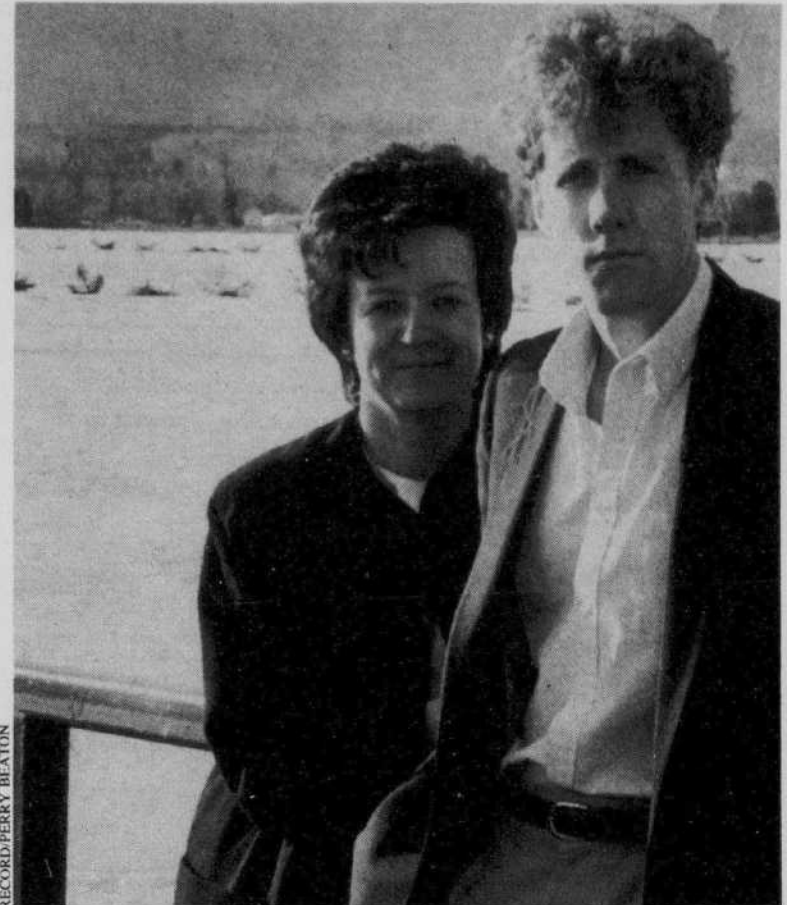

The Petersens did most of the work on the first issue, including selling ads and designing the issue, but hope to get more people involved as the magazine catches on.

It is published by Petersen Communications, based in Magog, totally from private investment, and printed at Publications Progressives in Sherbrooke. All the people involved in its production are from the region, said Petersen.

He stressed that it is not a review of the Townships as a touristic region, although this is one aspect of it. It's meant to "celebrate the quality of life in the Townships and protect our heritage", he said.

This is part of the reason they decided to make it completely bilingual. To ignore the English-speaking minority would be to deny the strong Loyalist and other anglo-saxon roots of the region, said Chantal Boulé-Petersen.

Vie en Estrie/Living is on sale now at newstands for $2.50.

Chantal Boulé-Petersen, a Townships native, and husband Richard, originally from Vancouver, want to "celebrate the quality of life in the Townships" through their new bi-monthly publication Vie en Estrie/Living.

First on the list of repairs at St. Stephen's was a recently completed straightening and reinforcement of the tall steeple.

Rev. Peter Blunt, rector of St. Stephen's, points to weather damage in the church's 166-year old fieldstone masonry.

Historic Chambly church threatens to crumble away

By Charles Bury

CHAMBLY — Work on St. Stephen's Anglican church began in 1820 and isn't finished yet.

One of the oldest Protestant churches in Quebec, this modest fieldstone house of worship was built as a garrison chapel for the British soldiers who manned Fort Chambly, the even more historic military complex across the road.

Still serving this Richelieu River town's small Anglican community 166 years later, St. Stephen's is badly in need of major repairs. But even with federal and provincial help, the renovation bills will add up to way more than the parish can cover on its own.

Rector Peter Blunt took time out from a busy day recently to show a journalist around the church and explain a little of its history.

St. Stephen's has a list of 229 parishioners. They come from Chambly and the neighboring towns of Richelieu and Carignan, named after the famous French Carignan-Salières regiment, whose men in 1665 built and occupied the wooden Fort St-Louis, first of many at Chambly.

NEEDED FORTS

By 1812 the British had taken Canada away from France. The upstart Americans were threatening from the south and British colonial authorities felt the need — as the Indians and French had before them — to build a series of forts on the Richelieu and man them with garrisons of 'regular' soldiers.

The soldiers and their civilian followers (war was somehow more civilized in those days) needed a place to worship; in 1820 work began on the church. A bell was bought in England and presented to the parish by Sir John Johnson, leader of Quebec's early United Empire Loyalists.

Soon St. Stephen's was ready for the faithful. The fieldstone and masonry exterior and white pine interior have changed little over the years, aside from the addition of electric lights and oil heat after the first hundred years or so. But nothing is forever and in recent years St. Stephen's has been slowly falling down.

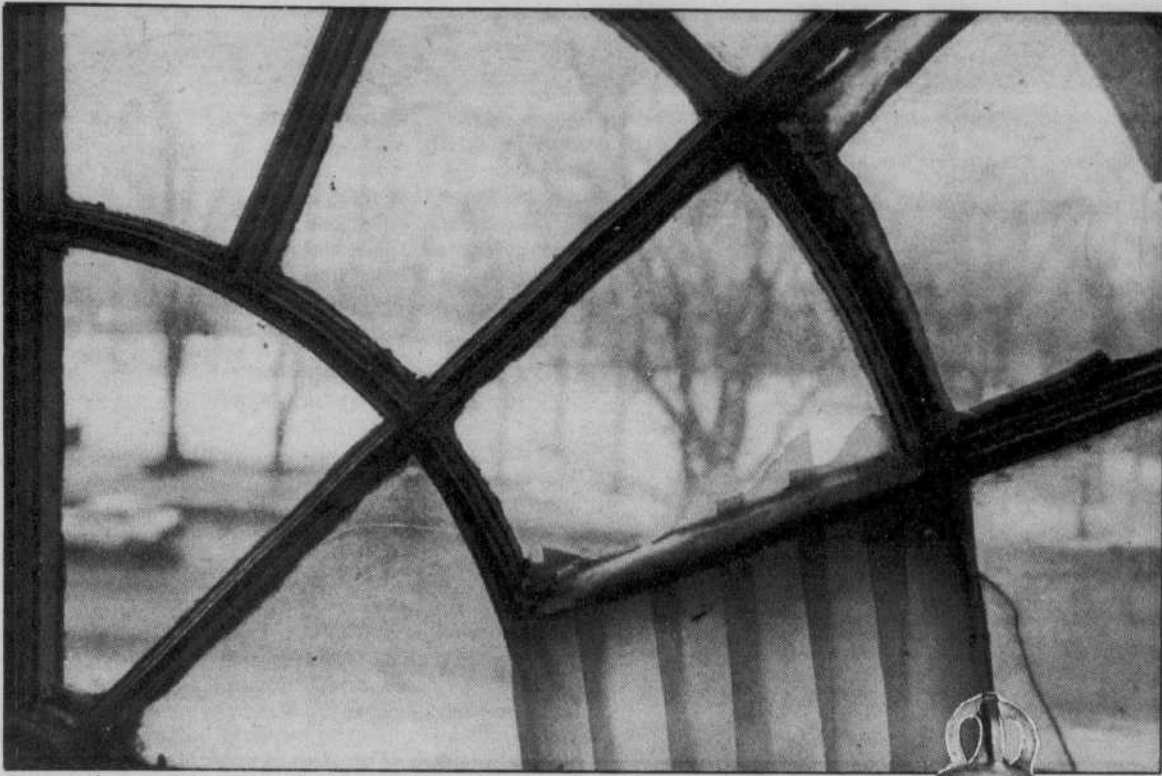

Outside, the wooden steeple gained a dangerous tilt. Bits of masonry have gradually come loose and some of the stonework is crumbling. Inside, the woodwork needs repairs, the furnace is substandard — perhaps dangerous — and the dim lighting seems archaic.

PROTECTED AREA

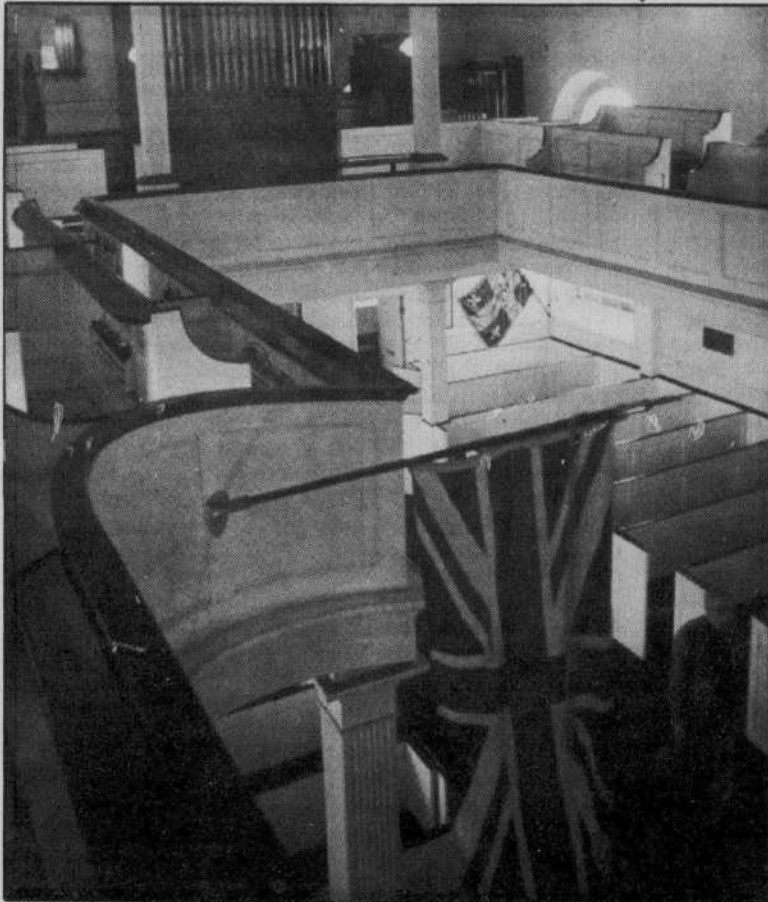

The Quebec government's historic assets commission has declared St. Stephen's to be part of the province's rich cultural heritage. As such, it and a 500-foot circle around it are protected from unseemly development, unfaithful alterations inside and out, the threat of demolition, and even sale to the wrong people.

Along with the protection comes a provincial undertaking to pay up to 60 per cent of some of the current renovation cost. However, not all the work is covered (heating and electrical for example), and then there's the remaining 40 per cent that the parish must pick up.

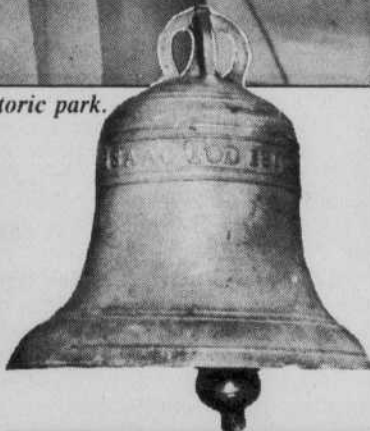

But St. Stephen's means a lot to more than just the parish members. Parks Canada includes church tours as part of the animation program it runs at the fort across

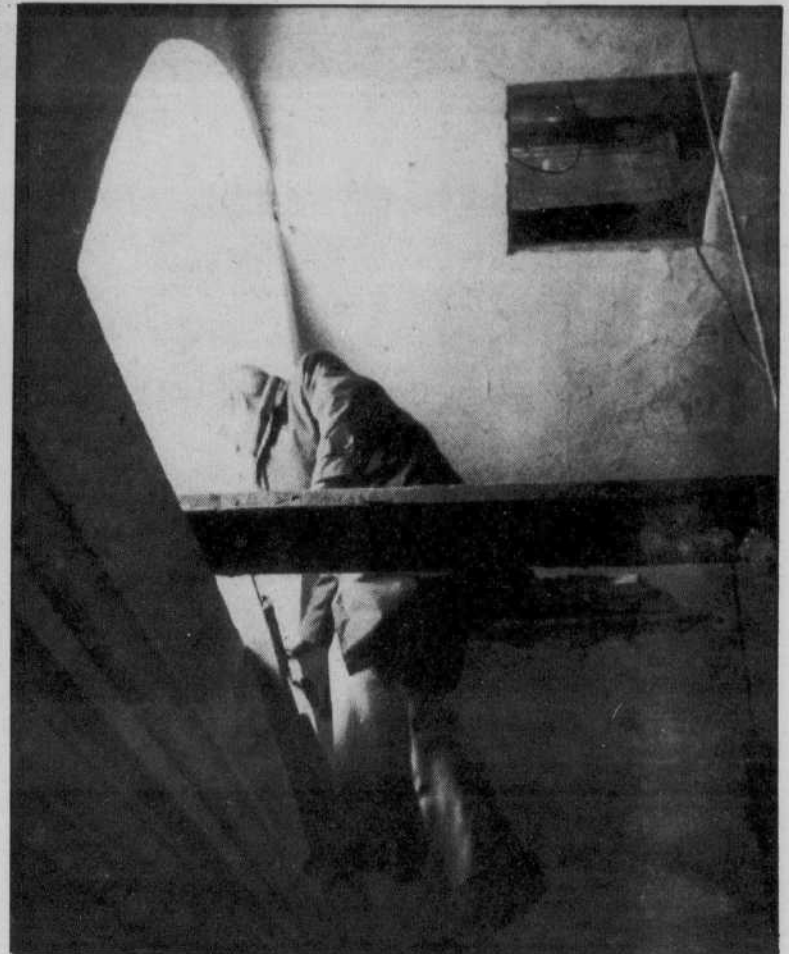

Across the road from the Anglican church is Fort Chambly national historic park.

St. Stephen's stands proud and formal but feels small and warm.

British army chaplain Rev. Brooke Bridges Stevens was among the church's founders. Cast in England in 1812, the original St. Stephen's bell was a gift to the parish from Loyalist leader Sir John Johnson.

Rector Peter Blunt takes a look in the St. Stephen's attic, where broken wooden beams have been replaced with steel.

St. Stephen's stained glass windows are badly in need of repair.

the street. The two local historical societies, Le Cercle Joseph-Octave Dion and La Société d'histoire de la seigneurie de Chambly both see the church as a kingpin of regional heritage. The Chambly business community eyes the dollars of tourists who come to see it.

INVOLVES EVERYONE

All the people of Chambly have joined in the St. Stephen's restoration project. Its board of directors includes private citizens, church leaders, representatives of the historical societies, financiers, merchants, the three mayors, and a delegate from Parks Canada. "It's a big project for the whole community," says rector Blunt. "Even the town itself will contribute as much as it can."

But all the donors in Chambly (population 12,000) couldn't pay the $400,000, not including the heating and electricity, that engineers and architects say it will take to restore St. Stephen's properly.

Wisely, the restoration trustees have decided not to wait until the last nickel is in the bank until they start the work.

Phase 1 is underway. The steeple-straightening is nearly done; repairs to the roof, the wooden framework, stained glass windows and massive doors will take place this summer.

"This short-term work is simply essential," Blunt said. "The government has given the go-ahead and it's underway now. The broken beams have been replaced (a hole had to be broken through the two-foot stone wall to get the steel replacements in) and we hope to complete this work by the end of summer."

The Phase 1 bill: $140,000.

Phase 2, also to be undertaken this year if funds permit, will include remaking many of the cement joints in the building, repairs to the masonry walls, the steps, the treacherous walkway to the road and the exterior trim. "It will cost $95,000 for the masonry alone," Blunt said.

The Phase 2 bill: $125,000.

Phase 3 of the restoration, set to begin this autumn, will complete the budgeted work with interior repairs, to the floor, the gallery (choir loft), beams, organ, paint and woodwork.

The Phase 3 bill: $80,000.

Add on an estimated $55,000 for the fees of engineers, architects and other professionals involved, and the grand total hits the $400,000 mark. And that still doesn't count the heating and electricity.

Donations have begun to come in, but it isn't enough. The St. Stephen's renovation needs more help. As Blunt puts it, the church is "a monument to our parish, to Chambly, to the province's English-speaking community and to all Quebec. Please do what you can."

Anyone interested in helping the historic project is invited to write to: St. Stephen's Restoration, 2000 Bourgogne, Chambly, Quebec, J3L 1Z4; or to call (514) 658-5882. Don't call collect.

On the cover:

Rev. Peter Blunt is leading an appeal for financial help in the restoration of Chambly's historic St. Stephen's Anglican Church.

WHAT'S ON

Music

If you're into 18th century music, a special concert at the St. Peter's Church this Sunday is a must. The Heidelberg Chamber Orchestra is stopping there as part of a tour through the United States and Canada. Led by Dr. Klaus Preis, their repertoire includes Vivaldi's Summer, from The 4 Seasons, and the Piccolo Concerto in C Major; Bach's 4th Brandenburg Concerto; Purcell's Music for the Fairy Queen; Mozart's Flutequartet D-Major KV 285 and Teleman's Concerto for Recorder, Flute and Orchestra in E minor. The church is located at 200 Montreal St. and the concert starts at 4 p.m.

Les Vivaldistes de l'Estrie are putting on their annual concert this Sunday at 11 a.m. at Centennial Theatre in Lennoxville. This will feature over 150 young musicians on violin and cello. All those attending are invited to meet with members of the Vivaldistes after the concert to find out what they're all about.

Coming up April 12 is the third and final concert of the Sherbrooke Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra will perform a wide variety of music, including Grieg's Peer Gynt, suite no. 2, Saint-Saëns' Danse Macabre, Op. 40, Gershwin's An American in Paris and Williams' Return of the Jedi. The concert is at 8:30 p.m., and tickets ($10 for adults, $7 for students and seniors) may be reserved by calling (819) 821-7387.

Also April 12, the Centennial Theatre will feature the Tudor Singers of Montreal at 8:30 p.m. The 20-member ensemble will present a program including both classical and contemporary works: Mozart's Regina caeli, Poulenc's Gloria and arrangements of songs and spirituals by Copland and Porter. Tickets for this concert are now on sale at the box office for $12, $6 for students and seniors. You may reserve by calling (819) 563-4966.

In the meantime, you can see and hear the Tudor Singers this Sunday at 8 p.m. in Redpath Hall of the McGill University campus. They'll be performing Georges Bizet's Les Pêcheurs de Perles (The Pearl Fishers). Tickets are $12 and $7 for students and senior citizens and are available at all Ticketron outlets or by calling (514) 288-2525 with a Visa or Mastercard number.

The Vieux Clocher in Magog features the jazz duet Miroslov Vitous and Jean Vanasse this Saturday in a show starting at 8:30. Vitous is particularly well-known in the jazz world, having played with Chick Corea and Weather Report. The Vieux Clocher is located at 64 Merry St. N. in Magog.

We've turned the corner on another month, which means

René St-Jean's recent work is featured at the Beaulne Museum in Coaticook starting this Sunday and continuing until May 11. St-Jean presents a hopeful messages, often using of faces of different ages to show that "man remains man" regardless of his age. See Exhibitions column.

By Laurel Sherrer

the local country and rock bands have done their monthly musical chairs routine. I did my best to follow their movements, and here's where you can find them all now:

Mike Goodsell is now back at the Shady Crest in Ayer's Cliff, playing his pleasant commercial music, ranging from soft rock to country. It should be nice there at this time of year, with the picture windows looking out over the lake. Mike plays Friday and Saturday from 9:30 to 2:30 and Sunday from 3:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Salle Jean-Paul in Bury has Country Fever, featuring Steve Aulis, playing for a dance tomorrow night from 9 p.m. until 1:30 a.m.

At Station 88 in South Stukely the Kon-Kordes will be playing country music through the months of April and May, Friday and Saturday nights from 9:30 until 2:30.

A band called New York is back for the fourth time at the Del Monty in Rock Island, playing rock and roll music tonight and tomorrow night from 10:30 on.

This Monday popular Lennoxville musician Dave Lapp plays at the Golden Lion Pub starting at 9 p.m. He plays what he terms "techno-folk", because he uses an acoustic guitar and yet his rhythms are more complex than what we generally expect from folk, and he sometimes uses some kind of amplification. I've never heard him live, but his recent album, Night Life is good listening. The following week at the Lion, another big name, Harmonica Zeke, will be featured.

The F.L.Hideaway outside Lennoxville features Raymond St. Laurent and Lydon Sheldon playing country music tonight and Saturday night. Stop by for happy hour from 8 to 10 and you can hear the duo while they're still fresh, starting at 9 p.m.

The Hall Brothers continue on at the Georgian in Lennoxville, playing tonight and tomorrow night.

All month long, the Maples in Stanstead features Tennessee Rider playing Friday and Saturday nights from 9:30 on.

I haven't been able to contact the guys at Hee Haw Country for a couple of weeks, so I haven't a clue what goes on there this weekend. What gives?

Whiteliner continues at the Motel Bretagne in Waterville this weekend, playing their country music starting around 9 p.m. tonight and tomorrow night.

Saturdays from 9 p.m. to 1:30 The Sun Set Boys with Jim Bailey play country, and some old rock tunes from the 50s, at the Foster Hotel.

The multi-talented owner of the Burning Log Bistro near Mansonville provides the entertainment there this Saturday. Jim Lawrence says he had to "scrape the bottom of the barrel" to come up with an act for this weekend, and he'll be playing "songs that most people won't want to hear very much" — in the country-folk-bluegrass vein (Do I detect a little self-image problem here?). Next week Borderline will make an appearance at the Bistro.

Last, but not least, Rod Bray and the Countrymen play this Saturday from 9:30 to 1:30 at the Legion in Danville. They're a fairly versatile band that's been around for a long time playing country as well as old rock'n'roll tunes and rhythm and blues, depending on the demand.

Exhibitions/Events

To begin with, there are a couple of talks around the region you might like to take in during the coming week:

Artem Melikyan, TASS correspondent in Canada, will be on the Bishop's University campus next Monday, along with Vladimir Shelkov, a journalist for Pravda. At 7:30 p.m. in the Mackinnon Lounge, Melikyan will speak on The Soviet Union: Today and Tomorrow.

Also on Monday, Claude Lafleur will talk about painter and publicist Toulouse Lautrec in the Sherbrooke Museum of Fine Arts' series of monthly conferences on art. This will take place at 86 Wellington North at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Elinor Kyte Senior will speak to the Quebec Family History Society next Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. at La Maison du Brasseur, 2901 St. Joseph in Lachine. A native of Nova Scotia and a newspaperwoman-turned-historian, Senior will talk on Resistance to Rebellion: The Role of the French, English and Ethnic Loyalists of Montreal during the 1830s. Everyone's invited.

Until May 11, the Centre Léon Marcotte at 222 Frontenac in Sherbrooke features an exhibition entitled Crac! le musée, put together by 6th graders of the Commission Scolaire Catholique de Sherbrooke. Objects of fantasy created by the children are presented along with the traditional objects which inspired them. The Centre is open from 12:30 to 5 p.m. every day except Monday.

On the art scene, the offerings in the coming week are endless. Here are just a few:

The Beaulne Museum in Coaticook features the recent paintings of surrealist Townships artist René St-Jean starting this Sunday and continuing until May 11. Using predominantly earth tones in his oils and pastels, St-Jean paints messages of hope for humanity, says the museum's press release, often using silhouettes of faces of different ages to show that "man remains man" regardless of his age. The museum is open Wednesday to Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Laurier Museum in Arthabaska features work by Jules Michel until April 13. Michel has exhibited in Paris, as well as Sydney, Melbourne, Canberra, Adelaide and Brisbane in Australia. The press release describes his paintings as "full of power, movement and liberation".

Traditional Chinese paintings by Bonnie Ngan Siu Mui are on display at the Bishop's-Champlain Art Gallery in Lennoxville until April 9. Inspired by Chinese literature and philosophy, Ngan's paintings exhibit the four main characteristics of the Lingnan school of painting: brilliant, strong coloring; the use of voids to convey an atmosphere of emptiness and spirituality; the use of 'broken ink' and 'dry brush' harmonised with the technique of water and pigment infusion, and an emphasis on portraying nature as it is, seeking essence or spirituality in appearance. The gallery is open weekdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Starting Sunday, photography by Brigitte Ostiguy is featured in the foyer of the University of Sherbrooke's Salle Maurice O'Bready, along with an exhibition entitled Peindre le ville in the main hall of the Cultural Centre, dealing with murals painted in Great Britain in the 70s. Both of these continue until May 4.

Meanwhile, in the art gallery attached to the main hall, Présent-Antérieur goes on until April 20. This features work by A & B associés, Richard Purdy, Bernard Rousseau and Hélène Roy with the common theme of a return to one's roots.

Éléments-Fiction is a new exhibition by Lise Landry opening at the Horace Gallery in Sherbrooke with a conference tonight at 8 p.m. by Rose-Marie Arbour. According to Arbour, Landry makes use of the mirror as a metaphor and symbol of sight, and examines how this common object has been portrayed through the ages. The gallery, at 906 King W., is open Wednesday through Sunday afternoons, and by appointment. Bicyclette is another exhibition opening at the Horace this Sunday, wherein (according to art historian and gallery curator Michelyne Caouette) Jacques Marcotte examines the role of all objects as mediators between man and the exterior world.

Until April 11, oil paintings by Granby artist Jos Lajeunesse are featured in the foyer of the provincial government building at 77 Main St. in Granby. The exhibition is accessible during business hours.

And finally, (are you still with me?) stipple engravings by Johanne Proulx may be viewed during banking hours at the gallery of the Caisse Populaire de Sherbrooke-Est at King and Bowen in Sherbrooke until April 25. Dedicated to the artist's grandmother, this show features a predominance of portrayals of elderly people, scenes from the past and landscapes of western Canada, where her grandmother spent 30 years.

Television

The Front Row Feature tonight on Vermont ETV is the 1940 hit comedy by Neil Simon, The Odd Couple. Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau star. The movie airs at midnight.

Saturday at 9 p.m. Mario Thomas, Ray Baker, Caroline Kava and Kathy Baker star in Nobody's Child, airing on CTV Television. This is based on the true story of Marie

WHAT'S ON

Batler's courageous battle to overcome a lifetime of mental illness.

CTV's Sunday Cinema features a courtroom drama exploring the defense of a father who took justice into his own hands when the self-confessed killer, who brutally raped and murdered his daughter, is set free on a technicality. Outrage airs at 1:30 p.m.

The award-winning film To the Lighthouse, based on Virginia Woolf's novel, airs Sunday on at 2 p.m. on Vermont ETV. Rosemary Harris plays the indomitable mother whose love for her family keeps it together even after her death.

In the Shakespeare Hour Hosted by Walter Matthau, Sunday at 4 p.m. on Vermont ETV, part two of All's Well That Ends Well is featured.

One for the Pot, airing on CBC Television Sunday at 8 p.m., is a comedy special starring Heath Lamberts. Lamberts plays identical triplets who are all after the same family legacy. The promotional material calls it a "side-splitting farce".

Peter Ustinov's Russia continues on CTV Sunday at 10 p.m. This week he evokes the tumultuous moments precipitating the October Revolution and Russia's involvement in the First and Second World Wars.

Later Sunday night CTV is offering a couple of old black and white films. At 1 a.m. it's the 1936 drama Camille, Dumas' classic story of a consumptive parisienne courtesan who finds true love too late. This stars Greta Garbo, Robert Taylor and Lionel Barrymore. Then, at 3:15 a.m. (of course I stay up that late! Don't you?) it's the 1949 drama Command Decision with Clark Gable, John Hodiak and Walter Pidgeon. An air force captain battles his superiors and congressmen for permission to send bombers farther into Germany where their airplane factories are located.

Next Wednesday at 8 p.m. while I'm churning out What's On, my colleagues Phil and Bill are sure to be found getting reacquainted with their favorite small town in the CTV special presentation Return to Mayberry. Based on the successful television series The Andy Griffith Show from the 50s (before my time), this stars Andy Griffith, Ron Howard, Don Knotts and Jim Nabours.

At midnight Wednesday CBC Television telecasts the 1942 movie All Through the Night, starring Humphrey Bogart, Conrad Veldt, Peter Lorre, Judith Anderson and Jackie Gleason. This is supposed to be an interesting blend of spy, gangster and comedy genres "with memorable double-talk scene".

Theatre

Just a slight error to correct this week: the Théâtre Option-Animation presentation of Monsieur Fugue ou le mal de terre will continue Wednesday through Saturday (not Sunday) nights until April 19 (not April 9) in the Petite Salle of the University of Sherbrooke's Cultural Centre. This drama by Lilian Atlan depicts the last few hours of a group of Jewish children being transported to a death camp, and how, with the help of Mr. Fugue, they are able to escape into the world of the imagination for awhile. The play will be presented each night at 8:30.

If you get your paper on time, you can still go to see the Massey-Vanier High School student production of The Merchant of Venice, by William Shakespeare tonight at 8 in the school auditorium. They've been hard at work at this, their first Shakespeare production, since the end of January, so would certainly appreciate your turning out. It only costs $4 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

Tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30 the Théâtre le Pigeonnier at 138 Wellington North is presenting La Petite Bourgeoise. This comic, but touching play deals with a 200-pound woman in her 20s who's preparing to meet her blind date at a Halloween party. It's a humorous, but thought-provoking look at how women, and obesity are regarded in our society. The play will also be presented next Thursday through Saturday (April 10-12) and tickets are $10 for the general public, $7 for students and seniors. Thursday and Friday, and Saturday everyone pays $11.

April 10-12 the Royal Winnipeg Ballet will appear at the Salle Wilfrid Pelletier, Place des Arts. The 26 dancers of Canada's oldest professional ballet company will present a mixed program of four works: Aimez-vous Bach?, by Montreal choreographer Brian McDonald; Translucent Tones, a Nils Christie creation set to the music of Bela Bartok; Lento A Tempo E Appassionato, choreographed by Vincent Nebrada to three Scriabin pieces and Symphony in D, choreographed to Haydn's "Clock Symphony" by Dutch choreographer Jiri Kylian. Performances are at 8 p.m. and tickets (ranging from $12 to $24) are available at the Place des Arts.

RECORD/PERRY BEATON

Massey-Vanier High School students are presenting The Merchant of Venice, by William Shakespeare tonight at 8 in the school auditorium. Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Following the play, the costumes will be on display at Farfelu Crafts in Knowlton until April 30. They were designed by drama teacher Doug Hooper, art teacher Diana Dyer and Eve Lambert, formerly an animator with the National Film Board.

And don't forget the Alexander Galt High School student play coming up April 21-23. The production of Arsenic and Old Lace is their first full-length production in a few years, so they're giving it their all.

Movies

The one totally new movie in the area this week is Hannah and Her Sisters, now playing at the Merrill's Showplace Cinemas in Newport. Written and directed by Woody Allen, this is the story of a woman whose two sisters have affairs with her former and present husband. This shows nightly at 6:45 and 8:45.

The Color Purple, nominated for many, but selected for not a single Oscar, is now playing at Merrill's, nightly at 6:30 and 9:15 with matinees at 1:30 Saturday and Sunday. This is the story of a rural black woman in Georgia in the early part of the century. Through letters to God, and then to her sister, Celie (Whoopi Goldberg) tells a tale of suffering at the hands of men, and rejuvenation through the love of women. It's a complex film that has left more than one person I've talked to rather befuddled. I was impressed with it, even though I'm not sure I totally understood what director Steven Spielberg was trying to do.

Also at Merrill's, you can see Police Academy 3: Back in Training. This is supposed to be hilariously funny, with the graduates of the original Police Academy returning to save the school from being closed down, which they attempt to do by discrediting their rival school. Police Academy 3 shows nightly at 7 and 9:25 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Care Bears 2 also continues at Merrill's, as a weekend matinee only, Saturday and Sunday at 1:45.

The Money Pit, a comedy starring Shelley Long and Tom Hanks, continues until Tuesday at the Cinema Princess in Cowansville. This deals with a young couple's trials and tribulations when they undertake the renovation of an old house. It plays at 7:15 and 9:15 Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and at 8 p.m. only Monday through Tuesday. Wednesday, Out of Africa takes over there, showing nightly at 8 p.m.

Until then, you can see Out of Africa at the Cinema Capitol in Sherbrooke. They tell me it will be the sixth and final week for Africa there, so go see it now. It plays at 7:30 every evening, and at 1:30 Sunday and Tuesday as well. Winner of the Academy awards for Best Picture and Best Director among others, this Sydney Pollack film tells of a Danish baroness (Meryl Streep) who experiences a passionate and frustrating romance with a dashing hunter and adventurer (Robert Redford), while managing a coffee plantation in the hills of Kenya.

The schedule remains the same at the Cinemas Carrefour in Sherbrooke, with The Color Purple showing at 2, 5 and 8 p.m. Friday through Monday, and at 8 p.m. only Wednesday through Thursday, and Police Academy 3 showing at 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 Friday to Monday, and at 7 and 9 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday.

Radio

The children's entertainment industry in Canada is one of the few that seems to be having considerable impact on the United States, rather than vice-versa, and Bruce Steele will take an in-depth look at this phenomenon on The Entertainers on CBC Stereo Saturday at 10:05 a.m. and on CBC Radio Sunday at 1:33 p.m. Steele was creator and first producer for the children's series Anybody Home? which ran five years on CBC Radio. The show will also feature Sharon, Lois and Bram, Raffi, Bob Schneider, Fred Penner, Ken Whitely and other recording artists and TV stars, who will share their feelings on performing for children.

April Fool's day is past, but CBC Radio has decided that the whole month of April should be dedicated to fools—or at least those who like to play the fool. Every Saturday in April from 1:08 until 5 p.m. The Radio Show will feature five contestants selected to tell their jokes on the air. Then listeners are invited to phone in and vote for the Fool of the Week. Send your joke to The Radio Show Joke-Off, Box 160, Winnipeg, Manitoba, R3C 2H1, and tune in on Saturday!

CBC Stereo's Stereo Theatre this Sunday features a drama about a woman's coming to consciousness regarding the arms race and her obligations to the women's peace movement. Woman on the Wire by Margaret Hollingsworth, looks at how a young Canadian mother gets caught up in the Greenham Common protest in Britain. The program will be broadcast at 7:05 p.m.

CBC Radio's Morningside, Monday at 9:05 a.m. features a drama about two young women from Cape Breton who set out for what was then seen as the land of opportunity—"the Boston States". The Boston Belles, by Marjorie Whitelaw, tells how one woman marries the son of her rich employer, while the other seeks to better herself through hard work and education. This is a five-part drama serial, continuing all week.

CBC Stereo's Vanishing Point, at 11:10 p.m. Monday features the first in a four-part series of contemporary Indian short stories. The Blackmailer, by Anwar Azeem, portrays the seedy side of Bombay as seen through the eyes of a young artist-photographer turned blackmailer.

Making Our City Blossom Is Beautifying It

I'm a gardener with some 28 years of experience. As director of our municipal gardens, each year I oversee the planting and care of 500,000 plants.

In my role as president of the committee charged with beautifying Sherbrooke, I'm gratified to see that many others are adopting my passion.

Throughout the city, I've seen an increasing number of landscaped yards and flower-decked balconies, making the setting of our homes much more attractive. Our committee is doing all it can to encourage Sherbrooke residents to participate in the "Ville Fleurie" contest. After all, making our city blossom is beautifying it. And what more original way to contribute to making Sherbrooke more than a city?
