Farming in Inferior Position Must Be Made More Attractive

Use New System To Pack Apples

PENTICTON, B.C.—(CP)—A new system of packing apples, similar to the manner in which eggs are packed in cartons for retail use, is being tried out by British Columbia Tree Fruits Limited. More than 20,000 containers have been used this season.

These first shipments have been sent to all parts of Canada, shipped under normal conditions. The new method is named the Friday Pack, named after its inventor, Paul Friday, of Portland, Ore. Each apple is nestled just as an egg is nestled in its container. A corrugated carton is used. Wooden posts in each corner take the weight when the carton is stacked.

The inventor claims the new system eliminates contact bruising, speeds packing, requires no protective paper wrapping and makes inspection easy. Water-proofed, specially oil-treated trays check scald and other storage diseases and permit more rapid cooling of fruit in cold storage.

The new containers used for the experiment were made in the United States, but if it proves successful they can be manufactured economically in Canada. Several millions have been used in the United States and good results have been reported.

57 Farmers in Hemmingford Use Bulldozer

20 Hours Allowed to Each on 50-50 Basis

During the season of 1945 the Union Nationale Government at Quebec placed at the disposal of the farmers in Hemmingford district an International Tractor T.D. 9. Land was cleared, ditching done, burying of stone walls, with marvelous results. Twenty hours work was allowed on each farm on a 50-50 basis as to cost. This is the first time such a service has been at the disposal of this community.

The following is the list of names of the 57 farmers who took advantage of the service.

Subsidy Evidence Farm Prices Not Good Enough

Have Been Producing at Cost of Good Soil— Cheap Labour Oftentimes Most Expensive

THE following is an address given by Mr. Gilbert McMillan, of Huntingdon, Que., before the 13th annual meeting of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, held in Toronto, Ont., on January 4. Mr. McMillan is vice-president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada and the text of the address is taken from a report appearing in the Ottawa Farm Journal of January 8. The article holds much of interest to the farmers of Chateauguay Valley and tends to show the importance of farming to the Dominion of Canada.—Editor's Note.

While the Utopia that many had hoped for at the close of World War Two is nowhere in sight, it is pretty generally accepted that the world will not again drop quietly into the grooves in which it formerly travelled. With the development of atomic energy, of which we as yet know so little, it would appear that mankind is once more on the threshold of opportunity, where he can either build a world where humanity can enjoy fuller life than it has ever known or he can destroy civilization as we have known it.

Apart altogether from the fundamental effects of this new scientific discovery, there are many known factors which guarantee a change from what we have had in the past. The immense developments in transportation and means of communication have made the world so much smaller that what happens in practically any part of the world today may have an almost immediate effect all over the globe tomorrow.

The world is so much more integrated that it is nearly impossible to have a serious disturbance in one part without affecting the whole. All Together

It is the same within our own country. There can be no permanent prosperity if any large part of our population is in a depressed condition; no single branch of agriculture will be permanently prosperous if some other branches are insolvent. To get even closer to home, it is the same in our own industry of milk production.

As a group of cheese producers, I find it impossible to separate you economically from the other men who produce milk. If your own outlet becomes highly unprofitable, you are going to look for another, even though it may be encroaching on some other branch of the industry.

The whole scheme of agriculture or food production is on the same basis—if one particular branch is in difficulty we will all sooner or later feel the effect. It has always been difficult in the past to get agriculture, even in this country, speaking with one voice, as there were apparently conflicting interests. The dairyman was interested in buying cheap grain without thinking too much of the chaps who grew it; the beef raiser cursed the dairyman for flooding the market with cheap cow beef, a by-product of our own industry, and so on. We were a bit jealous of Australia and New Zealand.

I think we have now reached the point where we have to get away from such thinking. All food producers have in common a very much greater interest than the seeming conflicting ones, viz., the farmers' job to feed and clothe the people of this old world; a job which from the reports we have, never has been fully done.

This is not the fault of the farmer. Farmers were not to blame if pigs were destroyed, cotton plowed under and coffee dumped into the sea at times when some people needed such products very badly. These things were brought about mainly by selfish economic restrictions, and improper financial and distribution systems over which the producers had no control. I think it was Sir John Boyd Orr, now Director General of the Food and Agricultural Organization, who a year or so ago made the statement that "for the past 60 years the world has been fed by depleting the agricultural land of the world of its natural fertility; and he might safely have added, by the unpaid labor of farm women and children. If the proper value has been placed on these things the world food producers have never received their cost of production. To produce under such economic conditions was only possible because the fact that the civilized world was still expanding and with this expansion new and virgin lands were being brought under cultivation.

The development of all new countries seems to follow the same pattern. Settlers arrive and at first carve themselves out a livelihood from the land, a bit difficult at first, but still a livelihood in which they feel they are free and no one to call master. As conditions improve and more land is cleared they begin to look for markets for their surplus products. As the returns from nature become much greater than the needs of the domestic population, an export market is developed and cheap foodstuffs are shipped back to the denser centres of population. Industry follows in the wake of the first settlers and the manufacture of articles needed to increase production, and also to provide some of the comforts of life which the settlers had to do without at first, begins. For industry to get on its feet, however, and successfully compete with goods that might be imported from other countries, a system of tariffs or duties was imposed on imported goods, the proceeds of which were used to help the industry.

United Kingdom Cotton Mills Encourage Young Labour

LONDON—An outstanding feature of the Grange Shed cotton mill in Bradford, England, is the training school where young recruits are received when they "enter the mill". There is a special room for them, with brightly coloured rooms and skilled instructors. Juveniles work here for about three months—all the time being paid the standard rates of wages for young people. Until they are twenty-one trainees attend evening classes, the fees being paid by their employers. It is the proud boast of the firm that there are no blind alley jobs at Grange Shed. Parents are encouraged to visit the mill to see their children in training and all that is being done for them. This welfare effort is not peculiar to this one firm, it is only one of many in the United Kingdom cotton industry today.

First of 1946 Model Cars Here in Town

J. M. Leehy Gets First New Car in Showrooms

There is an old story that when a man bites a dog, that is news. But there are going to be many things in the new future that will be news to make news and they won't be dogs or who bites who! For instance, the news of the week is that there is a new 1946 model car in town.

Mr. J. M. Leehy, the General Motors dealer for Huntingdon, received the first new car on Thursday to be shipped here since the ban was placed on making cars in 1942. It is a brand-new 1946 model Chevrolet—a blue sedan. No, no, don't rush unless you have a top-notch priority, because you won't be able to buy it—just look at it and wish. Maybe if you are a doctor, or something of that sort, you may have high enough priority to say, "I'll take it—if you haven't, then you can only put your name down on the waiting list and hope that the priorities will come around to you, or the restrictions will be lifted.

However, this new car is a honey and being the first one in town for so many years, it makes the news story of the week. It can be seen at the showroom of Mr. Leehy, on Dalhousie Street, and it is worth taking a look at.

Appreciates Work of Red Cross Group

Letter of Thanks Sent Athletan Ladies

The following letter received by the Athletan Red Cross group will be of interest to many readers and tells the story of suffering experienced by Mr. John B. Ross, a recipient of some of the articles made by the group.

Ladygill House,
Abington, Lanarkshire,
21st Dec. 1945.

Dear Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Gillies: I am just back from Sumatra, where I was a guest of our Japanese friends for 3 1/2 years.

While visiting my native town, Lochgilblair, Argyll, the ladies kindly gave me some much-needed things, which I noticed came from Canada. Miss Sarah Carmichael, "Invershena," Lochgilblair, Argyll, told me she had given you a letter and she said, "I promised to write and let you know that the work is not only appreciated but much admired. I understand Miss Carmichael is not allowed to write herself so I must do it for her."

I was much impressed by the Mercantile Bank of India Ltd., Singapore, and my wife was nursing wounded there. We were both ordered out on 13th February, 1942, at a few minutes' notice, and the ships carrying us were sunk the following day. I was taken to a "floating" stage, and the small ship which took me to my wife was sunk on 17th February, and there is no news of my wife since then.

My elder daughter (now 24) was in the W.A.A.F.s and married a Canadian airman nearly three years ago. She is now in Liverpool two months before I got back to this country. She is now Mrs. G. S. Brown, 2230 Arad Street, Niagara Falls, Ontario. I would be very grateful if some of you ladies would take an interest in her. She was at school in Edinburgh when I was last home in 1938. She could not take many things with her when she sailed and under present conditions I cannot send her anything.

Things feel very strange and the Old Country appears to be passing through a "red-hot" stage, but I look for good days ahead. Wishing you good things in 1946. Yours sincerely, John B. Ross.

Education Held at Fault

John McLeish Holds Stimuli of War as Essential For Peace

Would Devote More Time to Citizenship Training—Urges
Schools as Community Centres

Expressing dissatisfaction with the present educational status quo, John McLeish, principal of the Gault Institute, Valleyfield, Que., on Wednesday told the luncheon meeting of the Women's Alliance of the Church of the Messiah in Channing Hall, Montreal, that "we have got to find a dynamic of democracy as stirring in peace as in war and as moving in its grip on youth."

Years ago we abandoned formal civics under the fond illusion that we were going to teach youth democracy by living it, continued the national chairman of Community Standards of the Canadian Federation of Home and School, but the only results is that we are now in the main neither living nor teaching it. There is room and urgent need for a systematic teaching of the processes of democracy in theory as well as in action, he emphasized. An unannounced questionnaire circulated in the Grade Eleven classrooms of this province, which eloquent testimony of the illiteracy and indifference of most of the students in the facts and needs of democratic theory and practice, he held.

In this connection he was of the opinion that the uncritical adult adulation of democracy, vaguely defined, should also be replaced by frank and critical discussion of democracy's ultimate aspirations as against its actual achievement. "We should study those who prostitute it just as thoroughly as those who personify it."

Mr. McLeish expressed his conviction that less time should be devoted to pure entertainment in order to divert youth from delinquency and much more to the constructive possibilities of citizenship training.

That a large section of Canadian youth is "hungry" for the chance to learn democracy by participating in its responsibilities was his belief. Community youth councils with actual community responsibilities, model assemblies, and citizenship publications, he said, are only a few of the roads to this end, adding that the youth ought to be brought into contact with community officials so that they may have a practical insight into the workings of local government.

Role of Education

In making the democratic process more real to adult citizens, Mr. McLeish believed that education can play a vital role. "Let us take the schools and make them the community centres they ought to be. Let the 'lighted schoolhouse' be the power-house of democracy where citizens irrespective of race, religion or other discrimination can come together in the evenings to participate in programs of group discussion and practical community projects in the home community. This would have the effect of toning up the flabby muscles of our national democratic thought."

Schools in the post-war world must help in the breaking down of racial and religious barriers and have a real democracy, Mr. McLeish stated. In this connection he pointed out that "a veritable mine of potential citizenship and training in tolerance lies unexplored in the kaleidoscopic racial patterns which make up so many of the schools in Canada."

Pointing out that the future will "certainly bring a complete reorientation of our relations toward vast sections of the human race," he maintained that our attitudes toward "races and colors must become much more practical than the world culture of tomorrow; and here would be the greatest charity to the world to begin in Canada."

He warned against the "tragic process of disintegration provided by Canadian sectionalism both of race and geography which appears to me likely to grow and feed upon itself now that the artificial stimuli and cohesive of war pressure have been removed."

In conclusion the speaker noted that tomorrow cannot be considered without re-appraising the nature of personality training which the schools must provide. He expressed belief in the possibilities of the adolescent personality's ability and right to creative and constructive living within the essential dignity of his youth and "to elevate him at one stroke to an adulthood for which he has neither the emotional nor the physical qualifications is a form of youth training to which those who want for the nation and the world the best cannot subscribe."

Mrs. Wilfred Barnes, vice-president, introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Mr. Angus de Mille Cameron.

Ross Pringle Injured While Working in Bush

Mr. Ross Pringle suffered a rather nasty accident on Friday afternoon when a branch of a tree fell on him while he was working in the bush at his farm. Just how the accident happened is not known, but Mr. Pringle saw the branch falling and tried to get out of the way. It struck him on the head and he tried to roll away from it, and it struck him in the back. His head was injured and he suffered a compression fracture of the body of the fourth dorsal vertebra. After being treated in Huntingdon by Dr. F. G. McCrimmon, he was transferred to the Montreal General Hospital. He is progressing as well as can be expected.

Howick Red Cross Annual Meeting

Decide to Maintain All Departments

The Howick branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society held its annual meeting on Monday, Jan. 14, in the clubrooms of the Howick Curling Club at 2 p.m., with the president, Mrs. Clifford Fletcher, in the chair. The reports from the various units of the branch reflected the faithfulness and devotion of the members to the many heavy calls made during the past year to sustain the Red Cross relief. The report of the supply secretary, Mrs. W. E. Logan, showed that an aggregate of some 31,850 articles of knitting, sewing and hospital supplies were made, prepared and shipped during the year. A report on mobile blood clinics showed that a total of some 780 donations were made through the Howick branch during the period in which the clinics were held.

It was unanimously agreed by the membership that the Howick branch should fully maintain all departments of its organization built up during the war. W. F. Welch, reported for the committee on veterans' Affairs, and Mrs. Wilfred Watson for the disaster and preparedness committee.

The large audience was addressed by Col. J. T. E. Gagnon, O.B.E., Commissioner of Red Cross House, who warmly congratulated the branch, both on the splendid record throughout the war and on the unanimous decision of the membership to carry on peace-time work as required from time to time. He reported that over 200 branches of the Society were in operation during the period of the war, throughout the province, some 60 of which were in the metropolitan district of Montreal.

Tells of Conditions

Colonel Gagnon was accompanied by Captain Rogers, air reconnaissance officer attached to the Canadian Army in Northwest Europe, who had recently returned from overseas. Capt. Rogers spoke graphically of conditions on the continent as he encountered them just prior to his repatriation, as well as throughout the campaigns following the Allied invasion. He spoke vividly of how the civilian population of each beleaguered country sought to grapple with the problems which war brings, and paid high tribute to the capable manner in which the organization of the Red Cross carried on its relief work. Capt. Rogers stated that, in his judgment, a principal element in the high morale of Allied troops was the knowledge that Red Cross food parcels were regularly going forward to war, and actually reaching prisoners of war, wherever they might be.

A report of much interest to the meeting was that of the Junior Red Cross of the Howick Consolidated School, presented by Miss Eileen Ness, which showed that a sum of $199 was raised and sent forward during the war for the general work of the Society.

The officers and executive of the Howick branch for the ensuing year are as follows: Hon. president, Mrs. Roy Younie; president, Mrs. Clifford Fletcher; 1st vice-president, Mrs. G. E. Bingham; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. R. C. Morrison; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Chester G. Gagnon; John G. Gagnon, treasurer; Mrs. E. McKell; supply secretary, Mrs. W. E. Logan; work convener, Mrs. Sydney Stewart; wool convener, Miss Gladys Ritchie; executive members without portfolio, Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. James F. Stewart, Mrs. John G. Gagnon, Mrs. Joseph Desrosiers, Mrs. DeCrosse, Rev. G. E. Bingham, Rev. Father John Downes, W. G. McArthur, Dr. Wilfred Watson, W. F. Welch. The work convener for 1945 were re-appointed for the present year.

Storm May Close Highway No. 4 if $1,500 Not Raised Before

Government Engineer Informs Meeting Service to be Discontinued if Money Not Paid

Mr. Racicot, district engineer for the Quebec Department of Roads, and Mr. Archambault, district engineer, met at the Court House, Friday afternoon, with Mr. J. J. Tannahill, county warden, Mr. James Barrett, secretary, Mr. D. J. O'Connor, M.L.A. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the contributions of the municipalities and individuals to the fund required for maintaining the No. 4 highway.

Mr. Dan Faubert acted as chairman. Present also were Mr. Roger Turcotte and Mr. Lawrence Brown. Figures were read by Mr. Faubert of the sums contributed last year. The various municipalities have indicated that they will make the same contributions, but Mr. Faubert said there was still the sum of about $1,500 required to be collected. He demanded that the Government of $75 per mile from Trout River to Chateauguay Basin road.

Mr. Racicot called Mr. Faubert earlier in the day, asking him to arrange for a meeting of those interested in keeping the No. 4 highway open. Owing to the very short notice few were able to attend.

Mr. Racicot informed the meeting that his instructions were that unless the money was paid the No. 4 highway would not be kept open through Government effort.

Mr. Lawrence Brown said that he had contacted several local truckers inviting them to be present. Those who expressed an opinion were opposed to making personal contributions to the fund. For the past five years more or less the majority nothing at all. It is the opinion of some that the total of some $1,500 will have to be adopted so that the burden can be evenly distributed.

New Equipment Available

Mr. Racicot also informed the meeting that new equipment, including trucks and parts, is now available and he felt much better service would be possible.

The discussion which followed brought up many interesting suggestions. All present seemed to favor the idea that a special gas tax from November to March to be applied to road maintenance would be the fair way to collect. Another idea was that the municipalities pay all demands and in turn issue bus-

Youth of England Interested In All Things Canadian

N. Mackintosh, C.P.R. Public Relations, Gives Rotarians Splendid Address

Mr. Norman Mackintosh, representing the C.P.R. Public Relations Department, spoke before the Rotary Club in Huntingdon on Monday. Mr. Mackintosh recently returned to Canada from England where he had spent several years promoting Canada through addressing the scholars attending schools, and also showing moving pictures of Canada.

Mr. Mackintosh's story on the youth of Britain and their displayed interest in Canada was most encouraging to those of this land who would like to see a large number of such stock to augment the population of Canada. The general conception of Canada by these young people of Britain is that Canada is a wide open country with lots of bush, lakes, rivers, a plain in the West and mountains in the East. The youth visualize the country as the wpt disagreeable variety; they just don't visualize it being dry and powdery. It was Mr. Mackintosh's lot to explain these wrong interpretations of Canada that were foremost in the minds of these young Britons.

He told of the "blitz" attacks, school carried on. The young ladies were keen to do what they could to fight the destruction, taking a great interest in gathering up live bombs and putting them away in basements in place of having them destroyed, but of course such is the life of a boy.

Children who were evacuated to Canada and returned home to Britain are proving themselves to be amazing ambassadors of friendship between the two lands. Five out of six of these young people want to come back to Canada and the sixth would come, too, except that he or she feels they would like to stay with their parents.

Believed First to Make Syrup in 1946

To Mr. Chester C. Waddell, Franklin Centre, Que., goes the possible distinction of being the maker of the first maple syrup in this district for the 1946 season. Mr. Waddell reports that the weather was so mild during the past week-end that he tapped a few trees near his house and made some syrup on Monday, Jan. 7. The sap was very sweet and the syrup was clear and had a wonderful flavor.

The Gleaner has not heard of anyone else in this district making syrup this season, and therefore believes that Mr. Waddell is likely the only one at this time.

Visit Old Friends in Huntingdon

Major Michael Felton and Mrs. Felton, of Montreal, spent Thursday in Huntingdon visiting a number of their old friends. Mrs. Felton had a busy day of it, for as she met her many friends they all asked about her twin sons, now 22 months old. The snap shots produced of the twins indicated they are sturdy boys and evidently much interested in aeroplanes when the snaps were taken.

Quick Changing Weather

In the last issue of The Gleaner it was our privilege to report that spring weather was prevailing, and we added that we did not know how long it would last. This week below-zero temperatures are the order of the day and the sudden change came on Sunday, after a swirling snowfall of Saturday evening and some rain. This type of weather made for very dangerous walking on Sunday and Monday and also the high wind kept most people by their firesides. The wind has dropped but the temperatures are still in the lower brackets. One needs to be prepared for these sudden changes and not be too optimistic at this time of the year.

Scroll Presented to The National Breweries Limited

The illuminated scroll reproduced above was recently presented to The National Breweries Limited in Montreal by the more than 500 war veterans on the company's payroll, in recognition of the excellence of the company's rehabilitation plan. The scroll was offered to Norman J. Davis, president and managing director of The National Breweries Limited, together with a volume containing the signatures of the veterans who contributed to the testimonial.

Getting Off On The Right Foot

An interesting little book for servicemen, which as its title suggests is designed to help members of the Armed Forces get off to a good start as they shed their uniforms and enter civilian life again, has just been published by the Bank of Montreal and is being distributed to service personnel by W. K. Pope, Huntingdon branch manager.

Done in two colours and illustrated with pictures in a light vein which will appeal to servicemen, the booklet will probably reach an audience wider than the service personnel to whom it is addressed because it contains much down to earth information which can be just as valuable to civilians as to those being discharged from the forces. In publishing the book, the Bank of Montreal recognizes that the destiny of a million Canadian veterans returning to civil life is of vital importance to the country that the future success and prosperity of the Dominion will be fairly well determined by the success and prosperity of this vast throng of young people. In taking this view, the Bank does not attempt to divorce all sentiment from veterans' problems, but is recognizing a well known fact that sentiment alone will not accomplish the tasks of rehabilitation. There must be a practical programme as well.

The fact that the rehabilitation programme offered to the veterans of this war is vastly superior to that which was offered to them after World War I may easily be traced to this type of common sense. Like all other progressive business organizations, the Bank of Montreal is anxious to have these young men and women make a success of their civilian careers, and is trying to help them do it. Early in the booklet the veteran is cautioned to be on the lookout for schemes who would relieve him of his service earned savings and of the mistakes which often lead to bankruptcy, and in this chapter the schemes now in operation and suggests that, by recognizing the pattern of a number of swindles, the veteran may learn to avoid all dealings of this kind.

The question of keeping a living is also discussed, and attention is given to the pros and cons of going into business for oneself. In addition the booklet covers the major considerations of how to run a business to avoid many of the mistakes which often lead to bankruptcy, and in this chapter are contained many hints which can be most useful to all small businessmen.

Servicemen, thinking of seeking jobs at home or elsewhere will find in the booklet some useful pointers about where to look for a job, how to apply for it and how to present their story to the employer in such a manner that he will be interested in their application. The entire tone of the booklet, which incidentally is of a size to fit conveniently into the servicemen's pocket, is summed up on the fly leaf where it tells the veteran "It is Your Time... It is Your Money Be careful with them," advice which most people could take to heart.

Financial Standing County Hospital Said Favourable

Hopes Entertained That Accommodation May Be Increased in 1946

At the quarterly meeting of the Board of Governors of the Huntingdon County Hospital, held on Monday, it was shown that the financial standing of the hospital for the year 1945 is going to be favorable. While the draft statement was not complete in all details, it conveyed a favorable impression. The financial statement to the end of December 1945 will be presented at the annual meeting which will take place around April 1.

During the latter days of December, Popular Rugs Limited made a donation of $200, and ten days later a cheque from Huntingdon Woollen Mills Limited for $500 was received. The proceeds of these two cheques, along with some other funds raised during the year, means the hospital refrigeration system, which is located in basement, kitchen and nursery and costing upwards of $1,500, will be paid in full. The hospital has all its debts paid but its amount of funds presently in the treasury is low. During 1946, if building conditions permit, the hospital should be enlarged so as to provide extra accommodation and a few private rooms. Such hopes can only be attained if funds are available and building supplies at hand.

Donations Received

Other donations received of recent date and which the Huntingdon County Hospital wishes to here acknowledge, include:

Ten dollars each from the following—Granville Holiday, Dr. J. E. Caza, Mrs. Sadie Boyd, George Paul, Patrick O'Connor, George Boyce, Miss M. Scott, A. Kelly, John Macrow, Miss M. Goodfellow, Miss M. Will, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hunter, Mrs. Grace Kerr, W. A. Churchill, A. H. Cruchfield, A. W. Elder, Mrs. T. B. Pringle and Fry-Cadbury Limited.

Pasteurization Said Only Sure Milk Safeguard

Cleanliness Essential in Milk Producing and Handling—Clean Milk Not Dependably Safe if Unpasteurized

In its current campaign to obtain compulsory pasteurization of milk throughout Canada, the Health League of Canada emphasizes that clean raw milk, even if produced under ideal conditions, is not always dependably safe.

Clean milk is essential from a sanitary viewpoint and safeguards health to a certain extent in that from it is eliminated much disease-carrying dirt. Many safeguards can be taken to assure clean milk, but even clean milk, if unpasteurized, can carry germs.

Dr. John R. Fraser, a member of McGill University's medical faculty, says that milk is "one of the most difficult foods to produce, draw, keep, handle and deliver in a clean state. Most foods usually are cooked well enough to kill any harmful or disease-producing germs that are in or may get in them, whereas milk to a great extent is consumed in the uncooked state."

Dr. Frank Pedley of Montreal, another authority, in a radio broadcast a few years ago, told about a father who did not believe in pasteurization. This father arranged to have his baby fed certified milk that was always obtained from the same cow. After a time the baby contracted bovine tuberculosis. The cow was tested and was found to have tuberculosis in an advanced stage.

Dr. Pedley commented that infectious diseases in cattle often occur and contaminate milk between tests which are made only about twice a year. The same is true in regard to milkers and handlers of milk.

Milk must be clean and must be

LETTERS To The Editor

Huntingdon, Que., 1946.
The Editor, Huntingdon Gleaner, Huntingdon, Que.

Dear Sir: On Friday afternoon, Jan. 12, a road engineer of the Quebec Government Road Department came to Huntingdon for the purpose of warning this district that unless a certain sum of money was collected and paid, within a short time, highway No. 4 would not be kept open for the remainder of the winter.

During this meeting, which was held in the County Building, I understand, from Mr. Racicot's remarks, that the reason the expense of opening roads had to be paid for in part by the municipalities and others concerned was in order that the good sports subscribers be getting to the first time, they be told that if they will pay half of the cost for a period of five years, as evidence of good faith, after that the Government will bear the entire cost, provided the tax from gasoline collected during the five years previous warranted the expense of ploughing that road.

Some of the local taxpayers and other people interested in good roads here have borne the expense of opening highway No. 4 for about 10 years. Surely by now the Revenue Department at Quebec must know what sum of money is derived from gasoline tax, or could find out if it wished to know.

Agitation for a more up-to-date and fairer method of opening highway No. 4 is long overdue. This matter of a yearly canvass to which the good sports subscribe is getting to be very unpopular, even with the good sports, for they are tired of paying in order that their rivals in business may travel free. I would like to urge all who have any interest in our winter roads to think this over, then write a letter to their local representative, giving him the benefit of your suggestions as to how this difficulty could be overcome. Yours truly,

LAWRENCE T. BROWN.

Farm Forum Meetings

R.R. 3 HUNTINGDON
O'Neill's Corners Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. Ovide Duhamel on Monday evening. Due to the severity of the weather only about 18 members were present. The broadcast was listened to, and a discussion followed. Cards were played and refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Dinneen.

TROUT RIVER FARM FORUM

The Trout River Farm Forum group met at the home of Mr. Wm. A. Arthur on Monday night, Jan. 14, with an attendance of 22. The subject of the radio broadcast, "Are National Farm Organizations Effective?" was discussed in two groups and agreed that in these days, when every farmer has a stake in national and international farm policies, he can only have a voice in affairs when he stands united with his fellow farmers nationally.

We are pleased to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell as new members of our group. Cards and checkers were played. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Arthur and Mr. Arthur. The next monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mr. Wilber Arthur, on Monday night, Jan. 21.

THE GORE GROUP

The weekly Farm Forum of the Gore Group was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ord Taylor with a fair attendance. The radio broadcast was "Are National Farm Organizations Essential?" After the usual discussions led by Mr. W. McCarty, a social hour was spent in playing cards, with Mrs. Willie McCarty holding high score. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

FERTILE CREEK GROUP

The Fertile Creek Farm Forum group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Roy on Monday night, Jan. 7, with a good attendance. The subject of the radio broadcast, "How important is rural community organization?" was discussed with the usual interest and enthusiasm. An interesting part of the evening was a visit from some of the Riverfield group, and Mrs. G. Roy asked Mrs. Janet Reddick to give an impromptu talk on her trip to Visalia, Cal., which was much enjoyed by all.

On Jan. 14 the Fertile Creek Farm Forum was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Orr, with a large attendance. The subject of farm organization was discussed. At the close of the discussion, Mr. Gerald Roy, on behalf of the Fertile Creek Farm Forum, conveyed congratulations to the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Orr, on the occasion of their 43rd wedding anniversary. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

RIVER OUTARDE GROUP

The River Outarde Farm Forum met this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCaffrey with the usual attendance. After discussing the subject, "Are National Farm Organizations Effective?" all were in accord in saying that it is only through a larger and stronger membership and a greater working capital behind them that they can command a hearing at Ottawa. The social hour was spent in playing cards and games. Mrs. John McCaffrey and Mr. George Collum were the prize-winners.

Farm Forum

Last week the Dundee Farm Forum group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson. This was the first meeting of the second series following the Christmas and New Year lay-off, there being no broadcasts the two preceding Monday evenings. As the topic of discussion was some special project that the group might undertake, ways and means were discussed of getting the warble fly under control. At least one other group in the County is trying to initiate warble fly control in their Municipality and are trying to interest their Council in the project. The matter was discussed from all angles and will come up for more discussion later on. A pleasant evening was spent after the discussion hour cards and music, following which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Dundee Forum group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fraser. Although weather conditions were rather stormy, there were a dozen members present for the broadcast, the topic this week was most important one, "Are National Farm Organizations Effective?" The broadcast originated in Edmonton, Alberta, and was very clearly presented and showed very clearly the need for farm organization. Years ago farmers were wont to take the attitude "Oh, what's the use? we can't get everyone to stick together so the result was next to nothing was done. Gradually however farm people are beginning to accept the idea that the farm organization is the only way to obtain legislation in the interest of farmers and general welfare. Business and labor have been at it for years and have strong organizations to plead their cases. Farmers in all countries are still poorly organized although the tide of farm organization is slowly rising. In the U.S. about 30 per cent of the farmers are organized while in Canada the figure is slightly greater. In spite of the difficulties of securing and maintaining membership, the farm organizations of Canada, U.S. and Great Britain are a potent force in rural agriculture.

During the war years C.F.A. proved an invaluable aid to the Government in the matter of planning production and maintaining and adjusting the agricultural policies of the Dominion.

In the years that have passed since 1940 when the Pres. H. H. Hannam made his address on the hopes and plans of C.F.A. and as its leader has helped to bring about the following accomplishments:

- (1) C.F.A. has won unchallenged recognition as the voice of organized agriculture and as such is recognized by all governments.
- (2) The Federation has had much to do with the development of the program of subsidies which put much money into farmers' pockets to help meet rising wartime costs.
- (3) Besides being represented on the Canadian Food Board and Parliamentary Committees on Reconstruction, Health Insurance and Income Tax, it has also been able to represent the farmers in the International Field at such historic conferences as the United Nations Food Conference and recent Food and Agriculture Organization Conference at Quebec.

In this way Canadian Farmers through their organizations are helping shape national and international policies to an extent never before achieved. But to make C.F.A. as effective as it should be it is hoped more and more farmers will accept the challenge to throw in with the other brothers and give the organization that exists for their benefit, a big boost during the coming years. Next week the topic is very important also and revolves around the subject "Do we need an International Farm Organization?"

Dundee

Mr. and Mrs. Brodie Gordon left early the past week for their home in Willow City, N. Dakota, after spending nearly two months visiting at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fraser and Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming and Mrs. Jessie Vass and other relatives in Dundee and Huntingdon.

Mr. Arthur Gordon, who recently spent a few weeks at Low, Que., returned home in time to bid his brother and sister-in-law goodbye, before their departure for the West. Miss Shirley McElwain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McElwain, of Fort Covington, N.Y., whose family are well known in Dundee, has again been selected a winner in the girls division in the New York State farm fire prevention contest. Miss McElwain will receive a free trip to Syracuse and a $25.00 bond. This is Shirley's second State Championship win in 1945 and gives Franklin County a state winner for the past three years. Her achievements have been outstanding in other fields. She has accumulated from prizes and project returns $300.00 towards her first year of college. She plans to enter Cornell University.

Last Friday Mr. Archie Colquhoun, visited his cousins, the McGibbons, at Summerstown, Ont.

Mrs. Harold Scott, of Massena, N.Y., recently visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Smellie.

A report was given by Mrs. Gardiner, who with others had charge of installing the new stage curtain in the church. It was decided to donate $20.00 to the General Fund of the church for this year. The committee in charge of the games: Mrs. A. H. Fraser, C. Gordon McGibbons and Miss Sloan and Mr. George Collum planned some interesting games for the evening which were much enjoyed. Valleyfield Takes Long End of Score From Huntingdon

Valleyfield Intermediates topped Huntingdon 7-5 Saturday night in the third hockey game of the season played at Huntingdon Skating Rink. The play was fast from the start although the visitors had a four-goal lead before the local aggregation made their first point at the 13-minute mark in the second period.

Valleyfield Goaler Injured
A high-flying puck directed at the Valleyfield net struck the goaler above the upper lip and the last few minutes of play in this period were held up while Leach's manager, Charlie Paille, patched up the cut. Bougie returned to finish the game and seemed none the worse for his experience, although a couple of stitches were later needed to close the cut.

With the score 5-2 at the end of the second, Leach players worked hard to tie the score. The "kid line" scored at the nine-minute mark with Gordie Grant beating the Valleyfield goaler on an assist from Brisebois. Doug Stewart followed up with his second goal of the game. With less than a minute to go Mons Duke made the final counter on a pass from Charlie Grant.

The visitors proved a hard-playing club with Jourdain and Godbout the outstanding forwards. Veteran player Howie Grant was the lone referee on the ice and his decisions were accepted on both sides without comment. A good brand of hockey was played with neither club having players in the penalty box.

Merle Smith Back
Local players were glad to welcome Merle Smith back. Merle played for the Canadian Army Overseas for the last 3½ years and returned to Canada less than a month ago and is again with Leach Textiles Ltd. Jackie Kerbie is also back and is expected to be on the ice in the next game.

School Notes

HUNTINGDON HIGH SCHOOL
The following letter is an acknowledgement for a Christmas box sent from the school. It was expected that a better contribution could have been made, but due to the prevalent sickness at the time and the sudden closing of the school, the plans miscarried somewhat. The acknowledgement follows:

Quebec

January 11, 1946.

Dear Mr. MacMillan:
Here I am once again to thank you all for sending in that splendid Christmas donation. We were just delighted to get those wonderful books and games for boys and girls and I can imagine how they are still enjoying them. We were glad to see so many little toys as we had a lot of empty stockings and these were just the things we wanted for them. The crossword puzzle books were a real success and, of course, they were sent to one of our veterans' hospitals. I hope that your branches will make some more of these books for us as it is hard to keep up with the demand for them as they are a great source of amusement for men who are in bed in hospital week after week.

There was, then, all that knitting and sewing. Such a lot of it and all so well done. The perfect face cloths are very much in demand and we were glad to see them. It is hard to keep an adequate supply. Altogether your grades have done a great deal of lovely knitting and sewing and we were just as pleased as we could be. All this lovely work has been packed and is on its way across the sea to Europe, and I can imagine what it will mean to the boys and girls over there to get all these lovely things, for I am afraid they have little but rags and tatters to wear. We were very glad, too, to get the good used clothing as it is always very useful.

A Happy New Year to everyone, and very many thanks again.
Yours sincerely,
(Mrs.) RUTH B. SHAW,
Director.

The senior boys are trying to get the school rink in shape. The mild weather played havoc with it and they must begin from scratch, with very little snow to help. Arrangements are under way to secure a couple of hours at the town rink for senior hockey.

School attendance seems back to normal after the flu epidemic.

Many new books are being added daily to the classroom libraries. These provide excellent reading for all students who have an opportunity to read in regularly appointed periods.

Acknowledges Donation of Trophies

Leach Hockey Club wishes to acknowledge the donation of two trophies from Mr. Arthur Lallemand, Huntingdon. The larger of these two silver cups is to remain the property of the club from year to year, while the smaller duplicate will be awarded at the end of the season to the best all-around player. Three non-prejudiced hockey fans will be chosen from the spectators at each local game to name three players who they think played the best game. At the end of the season, the player with the highest number of points will be awarded the smaller trophy with his name engraved on it. The larger cup will also be engraved with the player's name and remain the property of the club. Mr. Lallemand's generosity is greatly appreciated by the club and the trophy will afford interest to players and spectators alike. The trophies are on view to the public in one of the display windows at Pringle, Stark & Co. store. Charlie Grant, Doug Stewart and Leon Tessier were judged the three best all-around players of this game and were each awarded one point.

Play at Ste. Martine
The Huntingdon team journeyed to Ste. Martine, Sunday, and played with the Ste. Martine team at that point. There is an open-air rink there and as Sunday was so cold, it can be imagined that no time was lost in standing around. The game resulted in a win for Huntingdon to the score of 7-1.

Ormstown Loses To Huntingdon 10-4

Huntingdon hockey team met Ormstown players on home ice Tuesday evening and the fans were treated to a fast and interesting game. Although Huntingdon was on the long end of the score, it was no indication that the players had it all their own way. The Huntingdon goaler, Lecuyer, was well on his toes at this game and saved many a dangerous shot that could easily have been counter. Both teams were on the job, but the breaks were against Ormstown so far as the scoring was concerned. Huntingdon did all the scoring in the first period, which was of 25 minute duration, and two penalties were handed out to Ormstown players, J. Campbell and Provost, for two minutes each. In the second period Ormstown put in two counters for Huntingdon's one, to make the score 5-2. G. Oulmet, Ormstown, was handed a penalty in this period. The third period saw Ormstown score twice more, and Huntingdon pile in five more to make the total score 10-4 in favor of the home team. Penalties were handed to Huntingdon players in this period, Brisebois and Hayter, while three more were handed to Ormstown, Provost, G. Oulmet and C. Oulmet.

Storm May Cause

ashamed of being assessed in this manner and show their resentment by refusing to contribute, even ridiculing those who have year after year submitted to the demand.

Perhaps the greatest cause for irritation is the lack of information. The middle of January is not the time to make appeals as there is no official organization with means to travel and secure donations. During the past ten years, if expediency required certain willing individuals to devote time and money to the cause of public roads, there is no reason to expect such sacrifices to continue for ever. The pioneers in highway improvement deserve the thanks and whatever rewards their efforts may have secured.

Highway Assoc. Needed

It is time now to organize a representative highway association that will assume responsibility for the yearly program with authority to act in emergencies. This is what is taking place in better informed communities.

Montreal and Central Quebec Highways Association held a meeting at Windsor Hotel on January 11. J. R. Bailey, of St. Lambert, is president. On the board are representatives from Drummondville, St. Hyacinthe (the mayor and Hon. T. D. Bouchard), the mayor of St. Lambert, Longueuil, etc. Special committees were appointed to deal with bridges, tolls, roads, etc.

The situation in Huntingdon is quite embarrassing. Through radio and press the public were encouraged to believe that the Department of Roads would take care of highway No. 4. The voluntary committee active in the past are now on the spot when contributions equal to those of other years are said to be necessary. Unless such demands are met, after the next snow storm Huntingdon may be a "ghost town." The element of drama in the 1946 comedy is to be increased by the dispatch of a "ransom note." During the discussion, Mr. Racicot was asked whether a complete unit for snow removal could not be maintained in Huntingdon County, so that a plow could start out from Trout River Lines towards Montreal. He didn't think this would be necessary as sufficient equipment is now available to do the job with speed and satisfaction.

$75 a Penalty!

Explaining the $75 a mile charge, the engineer said it could be considered a penalty in return for special services imposed to discourage demands on the Department from other sections. He denied that the Department kept roads open any place without contributions from local sources. On some roads where there was heavy traffic only commercial trucks paid the extra levy. He stated also that an order-in-council is passed each year to cover the special funds collected to supplement revenue required for snow removal.

The history of private contributions to open roads goes back more than ten years when enterprising truckers got together and purchased snowplows. A milk trucker explained what can happen when a road is closed for any reason. In 1934 he contributed $100 to the snowplow committee and three days afterwards the bridge at Ormstown was closed and all milk from this side had to be shipped on the train. When milk flow came on in the spring ten of his shippers to one dairy were shut off permanently. The dairy manager said he was getting the milk nearer to Montreal in future so that they wouldn't have to meet trains during the winter months.

It is evident that farmers and everybody else should be interested in the matter of open roads in winter. Whether to give a donation to the cause is for the individual to consider seriously from all points of view.

Ormstown

W.C.T.U. Meeting

The Ormstown W.C.T.U. met at the home of Misses Bazin, on Thursday. A distinguished guest was Miss Bowron, on her way home to Victoria, B.C., from England, where she spent the war years in London, having volunteered for service in the Beaver Club. This Club, founded by Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner, is estimated to have given hospitality to more than 15 million servicemen; not all were Canadians as any man in uniform was welcome. There was no sleeping accommodation but several lounges, canteen, a library and reading room where the boys were overjoyed to find home newspapers, over 100 Canadian papers being on the racks, also a post office where hundreds of pounds were sent sending flowers to their mothers.

Miss Bowron also spoke of the smart, neat appearance of the Canadian soldiers, often their first enquiry being for a dry cleaners or pressing facilities. She spoke of the wonderful spirit of the people of London getting only snatches of sleep between air-raids and in constant danger of their lives or losing all their possessions, would go about their work calmly and cheerfully, many of them having lost all but their courage. Miss Bowron's father was born in Huntingdon and she is a niece of the late Col. MacEachern, of Ormstown, where she is now visiting her cousin, Mrs. Loy.

Miss Maude Welch thanked Miss Bowron for her splendid address. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss E. May.
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Caza and their son, Mr. Gerald Caza, recently discharged from the army, Mr. Stanley Caza, Jr., and Miss Evelyn Hellday, all of Massena, N.Y., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Duval over the week-end.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson who recently celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Luxury Cabin Amazes Seamen

British Shipping Company Plans Topnotch Quarters For Crew

LONDON—(CP)—Salty tars used to the crowding and discomforts of the fo'c'sle—traditional crews' quarters in ships from time immemorial—gaped with amazement at the quarters in the new 540-ton motor vessel Stork here.

When Able Seaman Bob Smith joined the Stork he expected to find the usual dark and narrow fo'c'sle, with hard wooden benches and rows of three-tiered bunks. Instead he had a cabin to himself, with upholstered seating, a radiator, modern ventilation, a comfortable bunk, a basin with hot and cold running water, a writing table and a steel locker.

Said Bob, "It's wonderful to find all this in a small ship. We even have fresh-water showers and a drying cupboard. Any seaman would want to stick by a ship where the accommodation is so good. Meals are good too."

Said a director of the General Steam Navigation Company: "Such improvements in living accommodation we have put into the Stork cannot be made to all ships yet. Provision of a cabin for every man means a slight loss in cargo capacity, but it will be well worth it."

Canada Aims to Maintain World Trade

Government Laying Cash on Line in Gigantic Program to Hold War Gains

OTTAWA—(CP)—Canada is out to maintain her pre-war place in world trade and hold as much as possible of the huge increase in productive capacity developed during the war. In a gigantic program, involving multi-million sums, the government is laying hard cash on the line to achieve this objective.

Parliament has approved an increase in funds under the export credits insurance act to $750,000,000 for loans to allied countries to enable them to make purchases in Canada. Under the Bretton Woods international monetary agreements Canada would provide a total of $625,000,000, partly in gold and partly in national currency.

Of this sum, $300,000,000 would go to the international monetary fund to stabilize currencies and facilitate revival of world trade and $325,000,000 to the international bank of reconstruction which will aid war-devastated nations in getting back to normal.

A great part of Canada's trade has always been with Britain, now in the throes of an austerity program and restricting imports, especially from countries on a dollar currency. Trade minister Mac-

Kinnon and Agriculture Minister Gardiner plan a visit to Britain early next year to discuss this vital factor in Canadian prosperity. Austerity Worries

Experts here doubt that the recently-negotiated United States loan will ease the British position enough to end "austerity", which has caused worry among Canadian industrialists over the future of their British market and inspired comments like that of Senator Thomas Vien of Quebec who has charged Britain with a "brazen violation" of Ottawa reciprocity agreements in refusing import licences to Canadian manufacturers.

A British mission is expected to come here early in the new year to negotiate a junior partner to the U.S. loan and no serious difficulties are expected. Canada's announced policy is to advance Britain all she needs to purchase Canadian goods and commodities. A loan of $500,000,000, at least in the first year, has been mentioned as a possible figure.

If the United States trade convention modifies Empire preferences and agrees on a general worldwide lowering of tariffs, some Canadian officials believe the Dominion position will be improved. They contend Canada can meet world competition, if tariffs against her do not preclude mass production. They calculate low-cost hydro-electric power, an abundance of raw materials, Canadian ingenuity and the efficiency of the Dominion's workers will permit exports to compete successfully in many fields.
