Go-slow on Bill 65 implementation here

The Westmount Municipal Association is taking a go-slow attitude toward implementation of Bill 65 provisions in this city, similar to the approach taken by city council's Advisory Committee on Social Affairs.

The WMA health and welfare committee submitted a lengthy document to its advisory council Sept. 19 in which it recommended co-operating and maintaining a liaison with various groups in-involved in the social service field, as well as with any which might eventually be formed to promote establishment of a Local Community Service Centre for Westmount.

Present department in question

The report suggests that implementation of Bill 65 provisions here still may be one or two years away, and that in any case it is not clear exactly how the city's own health and social service department would be brought into the new scheme. Westmount probably would come under the jurisdiction of a department of community health operated by the Montreal General Hospital, but what relationship this would have to the city health department and what financial assistance would be coming from the ministry of social affairs are not clear.

The main innovation legislated by Bill 65 is the Local Community Service Centre, which must serve a population of 30,000 and be situated within a half-hour's ride of that population. Already negotiations are under way, according to the report, for establishment of a referral centre in Notre Dame de Grace, perhaps at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital within easy access of Westmount. The committee hopes to work

Plaza dive kills man in 2nd try

A 28-year-old mental patient dove from the fashion to the Metro level floor, three storeys, of Alexis Nihon Plaza, killing himself as he struck the floor in front of numerous pedestrians about 9 pm Sunday.

The man apparently was on leave from the Douglas Hospital, where he had been a patient for several years.

Sunday was the second attempt of the victim to commit suicide in this manner; on Jan. 27, 1973, he had jumped a shorter distance in the same centre court of the big shopping complex but landed on his feet, smashing them and receiving a slight concussion and cut to his head. One of his feet was amputated as a result of that jump.

He was fully clothed this time. Last time, he had worn only pajamas, a top coat, shoes and socks.

Club skips

There was no mid-day luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall for the Rotary Club of Westmount yesterday. Instead of the regular weekly meeting, a ladies' night was held at the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club.

Firemen revive heart in crash on Boulevard

Two automobiles collided at the corner of Victoria avenue and The Boulevard at 3 pm last Thursday, arousing the attention of firemen in the nearby station no. 2.

Boy, 16, lives after bicycle cuts off taxi

A 16-year-old boy escaped serious injury after trying to turn left in front of a taxi while bicycling at the Dorchester boulevard-St. Catherine street intersection Monday evening.

The 5 pm mishap occurred as Peter Jardin of Notre Dame de Grace was travelling northwest on Dorchester to the right of a 1971 Dodge being driven by Ichak Feig, 51, of St. Laurent. Mr. Feig was travelling north toward Clarke avenue as the boy pulled to the left directly in front of him, intending to go west on St. Catherine street.

Peter brushed against the side of the taxi and received minor injuries, but refused medical attention. Westmount Police—who had witnessed the accident— notified his parents of the mishap.

mediately ran to the scene and noticed that the driver of the cars, 60-year-old Solomon Abraham of Notre Dame de Grace was suffering a heart attack. He summoned fire Lieut. Roger Laviolette who helped pull the man from his 1971 Pontiac, and the two fire officers began a cardiac massage. Fmn. Gary Rivard arrived soon thereafter with a resuscitator, which was applied to the man. Lieut. Laviolette noticed Mr. Abraham had no pulse.

Gradually, however, the resuscitator started to revive Mr. Abraham. An unidentified nurse, passing by in a taxi, stopped to help the firemen, and soon the man was in good enough condition to be taken to hospital by police ambulance. Westmount's vehicle, 30-15, was off the road temporarily for repairs so police called an ambulance from Station 14 in N.D.G.

By Tuesday Mr. Abraham was fully recovered and back at work, police reported.

The victim had been moving west on The Boulevard in his car when he had the heart attack, he struck a 1969 Dodge travelling east driven by Karo Pfanner. Both cars suffered between $200 and $500-damage to their front ends, but neither driver received injuries as a result of the collision.

Demolition is hung up

Demolition of the storefront buildings on the northeast corner of Greene avenue and St. Antoine street continues to await submission of an acceptable proposal by Mondeve Corporation for new construction. Mondeve hopes to build a new high-rise tower on the site.

News that no demolition permit would be issued was given The Examiner this week by officials at city hall, who admitted the required permission had been applied for. Mondeve officials said they expect to have plans for the new tower submitted to the city in the next few weeks. They had originally said the buildings would be demolished on July 1, against which deadline the existing tenants were required to move out.

A 300-pound bathtub was stolen from the rear driveway of 50 Holton avenue late Tuesday or early yesterday. The white porcelain tub, which had been painted dark green, was last seen at 6 pm Tuesday and was noticed missing at 8 am yesterday.

Revised zone law near ready

Westmount officials report that the updated city-wide zoning by-law draft is almost completed and might be ready for public scrutiny as early as the middle of this month.

The revision now is being correlated with the old city code so that councillors and citizens will be able to compare the two by-laws and readily determine what changes have been proposed.

It is hoped the new text will be examined by various citizens' groups, including the Westmount Municipal Association, the Urban Renewal Implementation Advisory Committee, perhaps the Somerville Area Residents' Association and the Greene Avenue Village Association, and reactions submitted to council by the end of the year. The city then may have the new by-law enacted early in 1975.

New ideas and needs come up from one week to the next, officials say, which makes it difficult to determine a specific time for presentation of the code. The amalgamation of the past 10 years' zoning changes is particularly timely, however, since the urban renewal designation of the city's lower-level, south of St. Catherine street, ends Nov. 12.

Guns in the park

The cannons in Westmount Park were originally installed there in 1899, it seems, by the Westmount Lodge Sons of England.

A careless reference to First World War artillery pieces in The Examiner two weeks ago led to a letter to the editor and a search of some of the background of the big guns, which re-appeared on the northern lawn of the park last month after two years' absence for carriage repairs.

Westmount's cannons were forged in 1810 and bear the markings both of the reigning George III and of the then Master General of Ordnance, John 2nd Earl of Chatham, who held the post from 1801-1806 and again from 1807 to 1810, according to the British Royal Artillery Institution.

They were built by J. and H. King, brothers who cast metal at Woolwich from 1789 to 1811 and

This is often the showery week in which we have our first serious snow and sleet storms, and the border states have a deep freeze. We may expect 1/2" of rain, 2" of snow, some hail and only 30 sunny hours with a night and day temperature range of 25 and 50 degrees. Some chance of landslides as rivers overflow.

Mostly sunny and mild through mid-week, then clouds scudding before a northwest gale, and a sharp temperature drop to end the week. Scorie or rim ice on northern lakes probable this early season. More clement next week.

TODAY'S WORLD

Art Chesmer retires, closes Hobby Shop

The Westmount Hobby Shop is closing at the end of this month as its owner, Art Chesmer, who lives above the 4926 Sherbrooke street store, moves into retirement.

The store has been ever popular with Westmount youngsters and hobbyists during the past 24 years, selling wooden and later plastic models and supplies, and railroad and road racing sets to both the aspiring and highly-skilled craftsmen of this city.

Mr. Chesmer, a former Westmount policeman and before that a member of the Birmingham, England, police force, started the shop in 1950 after his wife convinced him he should pursue his interests in wood-working and cabinetry more seriously. At the time he began selling wooden models, his was the only store on the residential block between Prince Albert and Claremont avenues.

Loyal following

Since modelling the shop himself and gradually moving from wood to the more modern plastic, many youngsters have passed through the store—some seemed almost to live there!

Mr. Chesmer also noted that many fathers would come to buy models for their children—or that was the premise. One even came to buy a railroad set for his six-month-old daughter.

Mr. Chesmer hopes to keep the store and to use it as his workshop, where he can pursue his own hobbies at his leisure. Before retiring, however, he is selling off his existing stock.

New theatre arts approach by Rathbone at Trinity hall

The Rathbone Theatre offers a new approach to the theatre arts. Emphasis is given to speech and drama, mime and movement, theatre technique, scene study, creative drama, public speaking and play production.

Pauline Rathbone is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, the Guildhall School of Music and Drama, and the Oxford School of Dramatic Art. She is the niece of the late Basil Rathbone, famous screen and stage actor.

Her experience as senior drama specialist with the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal for 20 years is well known, as well as her 20 years' experience teaching with the Montreal Children's Theatre. She also has instructed at Miss Edgar's and Miss Cramp's School for girls, and the YMCA theatre.

Wide repertoire

Miss Rathbone's repertoire in teaching covers a wide variety of comedy, contemporary drama, Shakespearean and classical plays. Her approach to teaching drama is beneficial to children, who learn literature as a living subject, and also learn to communicate with others with ease and ability.

For advanced amateurs the Rathbone Theatre offers the opportunity to work on varied productions commensurate with ability.

Rathbone Theatre students performed this past year before the Protestant School Board and before a convention at the Hotel Bonaventure, following with a series of successful demonstrations with each student taking a major part.

Classes are held once a week at Trinity Memorial Church.

Three injured as auto spins in Glen road

The driver of a 1968 Beaumont travelling north on Glen road from under the CP Rail overpass lost control of his car and crashed into a southbound 1966 Chevrolet at 9:57 am last Thursday.

Maurice Brisson, 18, of Montreal injured both of his hands when his car spun 180 degrees and slammed back-end-first into a tree northwest of the overpass. A passenger in his car, 17-year-old M. Seymour, received facial injuries, while the driver of the south-bound auto, Francois Lasante, 43, of Montreal, received injuries to his neck.

All three were taken to the Reddy Memorial Hospital in the Westmount Police ambulance for treatment of their injuries; the cars, both heavily damaged, had to be towed away.

Hit-run count follows crash on Sherbrooke

A 1973 Austin travelling west on Cote St. Antoine road at Claremont avenue Saturday evening at 8:20 pm was struck in the rear by another car which proceeded west without stopping to report the incident.

Henry Monoz, 30, of Montreal immediately notified Westmount Police of the more than $500 damage done to the rear of his car, and told officers he had noted the six digits—but not the letter—on the license of the getaway vehicle.

Police checked with the owners of autos having the reported digits and the interceding letters A, E or H (those used for pleasure vehicles) and eventually found a 1971 Chevrolet Nova in Notre Dame de Grace, with between $200 and $500 damage to its front end. Westmount and N.D.G. constables got the owner, 47-year-old Douglas Rolling, out of bed, brought him to the Westmount station and charged him with hit-and-run infraction.

Mr. Rolling appeared in Westmount Municipal Court yesterday morning and pleaded guilty to the offence. He was sentenced to a $100 fine and $12.50 in costs or 15 days in jail, and his drivers' license was suspended for 60 days.

Charge account

Someone stole charges for a Ramset gun from the under-construction United Trust storefront at 4945 Sherbrooke street some time Tuesday night. The three boxes of charges, police report, are extremely powerful and could cause considerable damage if exploded either deliberately or accidentally.

who had been appointed government founders in 1788. John King, according to the institution, was also storekeeper at Upnor Castle in 1790.

4.4-in. balls used

The bronze field artillery fired 12-pound balls of a 4.4-inch diameter out of the barrel's 4.62-inch bore, according to charts provided by the Royal Artillery.

While Westmount officials are convinced the guns—numbered DCCLXIX (69) and DCCLXX (70)—were used during the War of 1812, the only record they have that guns were ever fired was on June 21, 1897, by the Second Canadian Regiment of the Artillery on the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria.

Further information about such weapons is available at city hall for study by the true cannon connoisseur.

Vets robbed

Thieves broke into the Animal Hospital of Westmount, 349 Victoria avenue, some time between 6 pm Thursday and 8 am Friday by breaking a rear window. They apparently didn't touch the animals, but took $50 from the cash register.

CESO SWITCH: Romeo Desjardins, QC, (right) 469 Strathcona avenue, retired for the second time Monday—from the vice-presidency of Canadian Executive Service Overseas. Another Westmounter, Maurice Germain, (left) architect and businessman who lives at 2 Westmount Square, succeeds him. Mr. Desjardins was an original staff member of the non-profit, Montreal-based group which finds usefulness abroad for disused senior talent. He retired the first time seven years ago as vice-president, administration, of Catelli Habitant Food Products Limited. He also was chairman of the former Catholic School Commission of Westmount. One of Mr. Germain's accomplishments was supervision and administration of construction of Place des Arts. The president of CESO, Cyril A. Peachey, also resides in Westmount Square.

Five recruits added to police for Westmount

Westmount Police received five new recruits yesterday as a result of the early graduation of new cadets from the Montreal Urban Community Police Academy. Graduation ceremonies occurred Monday—six weeks early—since the academy is being taken over by the Olympic organizing committee for use as office space. The new Westmount constables, who have received neither swimming nor advanced self-defense training, will be used for general duty, according to the Westmount public safety director, Insp. E. C. Harper. He said he was not certain whether they were to become permanent members of the Sector 30 (Westmount) force. "This will give us a chance to put more radar on the street," he suggested, however. The new policemen, whose first names are not available, are Csts. Vairogs, Maj, St. Hilaire, James and Kluka.

Car vandal pleads guilty

A 19-year-old Lancaster, Ont. youth pleaded guilty yesterday morning to vandalizing an auto on the Metro level of Alexis Nihon Plaza and another in the parking lot of 2 Westmount Square in the early morning hours Sept. 17. Timothy Pepperdine, who said he had been drunk, was ordered to contact the owners of the vehicles and to make restitution to them. He will re-appear in Westmount Municipal Court Nov. 12.

Brigade rules stand

The Westmount Fire Brigade has not changed its rules regarding fire calls on the fringes of the City in Montreal, despite the present slowdown and labor strife in that city's fire department.

Calls from the west side of Claremont avenue south of Sherbrooke street or from the Montreal portion of Alexis Nihon Plaza, for example, would be answered as usual by Westmount's men, who would fight a blaze until relieved by the Montreal firemen. Local crews have no special orders to travel further than the bare fringes of Westmount, however.

Home, School meets Monday

Westmount Park Home and School Association will hold an executive meeting in the school library on Monday at 8 pm. Some important items on the agenda include appointment of a fundraising committee and plans for the year's program. The possibility of a "Fathers' Night" (at Home and School) will be discussed. The after-school care program for Westmount Park children of working parents is running well. Art and Judo classes sponsored by Home and School are also under way successfully, and Guitar and Recorder classes are in preparation.

The following building permits were issued at city hall during the past week:

We Say

Democracy has many price tags

FULL marks to the Westmount contenders in July's federal general election in leading the fight against inflation.

Most of all to the Tories' Mr. Michael Meighen, the free spender of the lot, who not only reduced his $59,908.38 expenses in the October 1972 contest to $46,923.46 this time but increased his ballots won from 9,856 to 11,506.

All of which means that Mr. Meighen managed to reduce his "cost per vote" an impressive one-third to $4.08, against $6.08 in '72. Even in the name of priceless democracy, we still think that is a lot of money to put out to get a citizen to put his or her "X" opposite your name on a bit of paper.

The once-again winner, Hon. C. M. Drury, put up the best performance in terms of slashing the actual amount spent: from $42,002.94 last time to $28,917.14 this. He had vowed at the outset to try to keep his campaign expenditure within the limits contemplated in the forthcoming new election act. Even though the minister's vote tally was reduced, from 22,109 in 1972 to 20,817 in 1974, his "cost per vote" came down from $1.90 to $1.39.

Parsimony can be overdone in elections, of course, as in other affairs, as demonstrated by the poor old New Democratic Party. Two years ago, Mr. Robert Keaton, spending a modest $4,204.92, managed to garner 4,717 votes. That's an attractive, bargain-basement-sounding 89 cents per vote.

In July, on the other hand, his successor as NDP standard-bearer, Mr. Peter Berlow, spent almost $1,000 less, or $3,239.62 and dropped more than 1,500 votes, to 3,131, for his party. We are tempted to say, in the face of the possible ire of some of our left-leaning friends, that this result is in keeping with the effect of much socialist theory: The NDP "cost per vote" was the only one here to go up, instead of down. It went to $1.03.

Messrs. Ranger and Tansey, the also-ran Social Credit and Communist candidates with 423 and 192 votes, respectively, have so far as we know not filed expense returns. The chances are they spent little or nothing.

Yes, Virginia, democracy does have a price tag.

Parties go dead between elections

MAYBE there is a political scientist around who can explain why, except for the odd desultory meeting to re-elect officers, nothing much happens with constituency party organizations between elections.

Long-overdue shortening of campaign periods may influence a change—it could be too late to crank up teams, choose candidates and map strategy after the writ is issued in future elections. A party which hopes to get its man elected will have to have its machine oiled, fueled and tested beforehand.

For some reason, MPs and MNAs don't keep their electoral agents on between pollings, sounding and nurturing the electorate.

Still less understood is why the faithful behind candidates who fought and lost do not, immediately the verdict is in, start planning to win next time: reassess their candidates, choose new ones if necessary, keep watch on the sitting members and snap at their heels for their shortcomings.

In short, be constantly campaigning in a myriad of available subtle as well as obvious ways for victory next time.

Personally, we would have much more respect for and interest in a party which did not die between elections.

For not only would such team play deserve support for demonstrably sincere and on-going belief in itself and its principles.

But would make of politics a continuous, absorbing and worthwhile pursuit or hobby for thousands now bereft of any real interest in the nation's and the province's affairs, except during brief, hectic, infrequent scrambles for votes.

Westmount perhaps is no better nor worse than anywhere else in this missed opportunity for participatory democracy. But it would be a great place to try it.

Britannia rules the tea-break

BRITAIN, fighting for her economic life, once ruled the seas.

Not just a naval thing. Her merchant marine provided her with wealth from her sun-never-sets empire and beyond. British shipping was unexcelled for enterprise, innovation and profitability.

In wartime it was fun to twit our RAF friends that, when the NAAF wagon came into view on British airfields, everyone downed tools—the war was stopped for tea.

The tea-break mentality hung on in peace. Industry and business became riddled with it. Too frequently long, costly strikes have paralyzed wide sectors of the British economy because of the tea-mug—if not directly, then an extension of the same idea: that it is the British working man's (as well as the executive's) right to idle instead of produce.

These thoughts are engendered by the

The problem of inflation

As we are well aware, the problem of world-wide inflation is one of the most crucial difficulties we must face and resolve today. This week, I would like to present to you some of the facts about inflation that Canadians are experiencing and the current position of our economy in tackling and overcoming its impact.

To begin, it should be pointed out that during a long period of widespread international upheaval, the Canadian economy has continued to perform relatively well by any measure.

In contrast to the often faltering economic pace of most industrial countries over the past several months, national output in Canada has climbed substantially. Employment has maintained a healthy rate of growth, expanding particularly strongly in the past two months.

In August, the number of new jobs created was up by 5.1 percent over the level of a year ago. The seasonally adjusted employment rate of 5.3 percent reflects a continued strong growth of the labor force, with the proportion of Canadians of working age in the labor market increasing to record level.

experience of a young couple we know, back at mid-summer from a year's study in Britain. They flew home.

This week their car, shipped just 10 weeks ago, arrived at a CN depot in Lachine. Their books and other heavy items, shipped at the end of June, reached them here only a fortnight ago after 13 weeks en route.

The two consignments were through different agents and on different ships indicating that this slovenliness of the British shipping industry was not just an isolated slip-up. In fact, a long and tedious correspondence demonstrated utter indifference, high and low, all along the way.

It's difficult to have sympathy, whatever ones sentimental ties, with a nation of seafarers grown incapable of competing with their forebears of the days of sail.

Walking the plank of party loyalty

WE were looking up something else in our bound files the other evening and happened upon an April 12, 1973, column by Hon. Kevin Drummond (back when he was communicating with his constituents) in which he wrote:

"The members of the government party can't really get too original, as the purpose of the exercise is to stick close to the party line. Without solidarity, a government would be walking the plank toward defeat."

Mr. Drummond appears to stick to the party line, alright. He was struck dumb by his party's Bill 22 and paralyzed into continuing silence by the anger of his electors over the language act.

Yet it must be admitted he was, at the same time, original. A man who ignores those he was elected to represent cannot be accused of conformity with the image of a politician of any party.

Great party loyalty, that, however: walking the plank toward personal defeat.

our M.P.Q.
Hon. Kevin Drummond
says...

The real personal income at the disposal of the average Canadian to spend or save, that is, income after direct taxes including social security benefits, and after discounting the impact of inflation, was up by 7.7 percent in the first quarter and 4.9 percent in the second quarter over the same period a year ago.

The rate of real growth is forecast to be a little less than 5 percent. Whether or not this potential for strong growth will be realized will depend to some degree on developments which occur internationally, but to a greater extent upon the growth of domestic production and employment, and the extent to which businessmen are prepared to invest in Canada's future opportunities in the face of the domestic and international impact of inflation.

In this regard there is, I am convinced, a great deal of underlying strength in our economy. The mid-year survey of private and public investment in Canada, published three weeks ago, indicated that total capital investment intentions have been revised upward since the initial survey from a projected increase of 16 percent to that of 21 percent with a similar increase in business investment intentions from 19 percent to 25 percent. Thus, there is no substantial indication of any slackening in plans to modernize and expand productive capacity, the main driving force behind our economy at the present time.

It must not be forgotten, however, that global inflation remains an urgent and critical difficulty confronting both governments and households. While the rate of price increases in Canada continues to be lower than that of most other industrial countries, it does remain a number-one problem, hitting at every family's purchasing power and savings.

As I have said before, getting our economy through the difficulties imposed by inflation, with a minimum amount of misfortune, is not just a responsibility that governments must accept; it is also the responsibility of all of those who make decisions in the market place every day and of every household in planning its own budget and expenditures.

The government accepts its onus of setting an example by curbing increases in its own spending. At the same time, however, it also accepts the responsibility of easing the burden of inflation on those least able to bear its impact. There remains, however, a necessity for all of us to exercise this same self-restraint, in an effort to seek a consensus or balance between wages, and prices and profits.

It is irresponsible to underestimate the difficulties in this regard. At the same time, however, it should not be forgotten that our economy has performed considerably better than that of any other industrial nation over the past year. It is our responsibility to ourselves to see that it continues to perform in this manner, and that we all participate in directing it toward the constraint of inflation and the increase of unemployment and real income.

"Between 60 and 70 soldiers attached to the Royal Montreal Regiment (M.G.) are now barracked in the clubhouse of the Westmount Athletic Grounds, the majority of them being men who have been recruited from points outside the city, it was announced at the armory of the RMR yesterday. The clubhouse has been altered to meet the requirements of the regiment and approximately 250 bunks have been installed. It was found impossible to provide sleeping accommodation for the regiment's full wartime strength of over 700 men and the remainder will have to be placed in other quarters."

"Formal appeals against the new Westmount property valuations up to noon today had been filed at city hall by just 10 percent of the city's property owners. With 441 appeals entered, City Clerk R. B. Seaman said this week they have been growing at the rate of about 40 per day. Considerably more than that number of persons have been making inquiries and discussing their individual cases with the staff of the city assessor's department."

closely with the N.D.G. Community Council and with French-speaking committee in striving to see these LCSCs established.

Steps required first

Mrs. Muriel Kaplan, chairman of the city's social affairs advisory committee, met with her group Tuesday evening and received a copy of the WMA report, but admitted that Westmount is not actively working toward establishment of an LCSC for the time being. She said an intensive investigation of the need for new services and the resources available in the community would have to take place before any action. Her committee will not undertake the investigation unless so asked by city council.

Already, she said, detailed information about community resources is available at the Westmount YMCA, though there is as yet no easily-read handbook available to citizens.

The main task of the committee, Mrs. Kaplan suggested, is to investigate resources seeking direct aid from the City of Westmount. When asked by council, the committee will make a thorough investigation of specific programs.

Establishment of an LCSC probably will not come for several years, Mrs. Kaplan said, though her committee has talked with provincial officials, people from already-established service centres and members of the Conseil Regional de la Sante et des Services Sociaux de Montreal Metropolitain. To date, only 11 of a possible 69 LCSCs have been established around the province, and many areas have a far greater need than Westmount, she reported.

Fewer buildings, higher valuation feature report of the city clerk

The value of Westmount property increased some $16 million, or more than 4.5 percent, in the 1974 valuation roll, the city clerk's office has announced in its annual report.

The increase includes a rise by $13,923,242 in taxable property to a total of $286,120,292, while non-taxable immovables in the city went up $2,101,370 to $79,768,770. The annual report suggests that the increases—which were assessed in both years by the Montreal Urban Community valuation office—reflect the general upward trend in the real estate market throughout the Montreal area.

While there were eight fewer buildings in the 1974 valuation roll than in 1973, the average price of each (apartment and commercial buildings included) went up from $40,440 to $43,724.

During 1973, 158 came to the city clerk's office to submit appeals of their property valuations, including 119 for the 1973 roll, the first issued by the MUC. During the year 712 certificates of changes were issued for the 1973 roll, 557 for the 1972 roll and another 73 for the 1974 roll, which was submitted in mid-November.

At the same time, 458 persons appealed their 1973 annual rental values and 24 asked for reconsideration of the 1972 determination. Certificates of changes in the rental value roll were issued to 1,309 homes and establishments during the year, including 1,169 for the 1973 roll and 140 for the 1972 rental value list.

More Council Items

The city clerk's office published minutes and agenda of

WMA council on Tuesday

The Westmount Municipal Association's advisory council is scheduled to hold its monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 pm in Victoria Hall.

Special reports on the agenda include: 1) problems of traffic violations and necessity of enforcement of traffic by-laws; 2) the swimming pool and community recreation centre, with inventory of Westmount recreational facilities, and 3) suggested rules of procedure for the WMA council's own meetings.

23 city council meetings, covering 226 items, in 1973, the same number of meetings but 19 items more than in 1972. Council's general committee had three fewer meetings in 1973, down from 29 in 1972, but it considered 579 items last year as opposed to 475 the previous calendar year.

The Westmount legal committee had 36 meetings in 1973, up from 21 the previous year; the city clerk handled another 68 meetings during the year, including sessions of the pension fund committee, the claims review committee, the heads of various city departments, the board of health, the administrative planning committee, the newly-established advisory committee on social affairs, and the newly-established municipal housing bureau.

Nine public meetings were held for the opening of tenders, including one for improvements to the city library ventilation and one for supply and installation of refrigerators and stoves for the Hillside housing project. Public meetings were held to consider two loan by-laws and three zoning amendments.

Fourteen by-laws

In all, 14 by-laws were processed by the city clerk and sent to council including, of course, the by-law to establish and finance a municipal housing project, revising the original costs of the enabling by-law to build the Hillside project, which first had been approved in 1971.

Other by-laws of note during the year allowed the Town of Hampstead to become a part of the mutual aid fire-fighting program between Westmount and three other cities; also the zoning by-law allowing for condominiums in Westmount, and two capital loan by-laws raising $2,603,000 for improvements.

The city clerk passed 446,527 sheets of paper through the Xerox copier at a cost of 3.76 cents each, a reduction in the number of copies but an increase in the cost of copying over 1972. Fewer copies flowed through the office due to a reduction of material from the MUC needing duplication, but Xerox raised its rates for copying, as it has done in each of the past four years.

The postage machine printed $13,000 worth of stamps in 1973, up $1,000 from 1972, mainly due to the increase in valuation roll appeal notices and certificates, which must be sent by registered mail.

Civil status births registered in Westmount last year totalled 81, down one from the number registered in 1972.

Over the top

Final report on this year's campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society in Westmount shows a 25-percent increase in giving here over last year's $9,850.68. This year it was $12,306.26. There was a sharp drop of nearly $1,100 in mail contributions, entirely made up in a dramatic increase in door-to-door canvassing, which went from $1,376.40 to $4,925.13.

The Greene Avenue Village Association now claims 990 members united in their determination to save Greene avenue as a low-rise commercial district.

The group has received 98 contributions totalling $1,841, including $475 from merchants, business people and property owners along the street.

This news was announced yesterday by the president, Mrs. JoAnn Isenman, to show that the organization is alive and well and now conducting an intense study of the area to propose alternative zoning measures to the city's architectural and planning commission in early October.

Architecture Student Ken London has spent the summer building a model of the street and area, with an extra high-rise tower which can be moved around to determine the effects such a building might have wherever placed. He was helped by Architect Timothy Grosvenor, who devoted much of his time during the summer and now is using one room of his 4270 Dorchester boulevard home as offices for the association.

street would change with more development. The team expects that members along the street will be helping with questionnaires of shoppers in the near future, to find out what attracts business to the street.

Meanwhile, the Mondev-owned buildings at the northeast corner of Greene avenue and St. Catherine street still stand, though vacant and with services cut off. Officials of the Westmount Square corporation have indicated they are awaiting further developments from city hall and the village association before moving ahead with demolition of the storefronts.

Quick find

An auto parked in the yard of 11 Hollowell avenue took a short trip to the rear of 3020 St. Antoine street late Friday night. The car was stolen from the yard between 9 and 11 pm, and police recovered it three blocks away at 12:15 am Saturday. No arrests were made. The vehicle was intact.

NDP meets

The Westmount New Democratic Party Association is holding its annual meeting Monday at 7:30 pm at the Westmount YMCA. Principal attraction is to be speakers and a discussion on the Montreal municipal election.

With regard to the election of the association's own officers, the agenda notes "We have only two left from last year!" Peter Berlow, the local candidate, is to report on the July 8 federal election results.

Temple to mark Sukkot

Sabbath Eve worship at Temple Emanu-El takes place tomorrow at 8:15 pm when Rabbi Bernard Bloomstone will address the congregation. An Oneg Shabbat follows the worship in the Temple Sukkah.

Sukkot family service takes place Saturday at 11:30 am. The service will be followed by a family lunch under the auspices of the Temple Sisterhood and Brotherhood.

Simchat Torah and Consecration service will be held in the Temple sanctuary Tuesday at 8:15 pm. Students entering the Temple Religious School for the first time will participate in the Procession of Scrolls. Rabbi Bloomstone will bless the consecrants and present them with Sifrei Torah. A kiddush in honor of the consecrants and their parents follows.

City Singers seek voices and players

The Island City Singers and Instrumentalists, a lively group of Montrealers in their mid-20s and 30s who enjoy each other and making music together, welcome instrumentalists and singers (particularly tenors and basses) to join them at open rehearsals on Tuesday, in Fulford Hall (behind Christ Church Cathedral between Eaton's and The Bay) at 7:30 pm.

The Island City Singers and Instrumentalists have very strong associations with the Westmount area. Prior to last year, when the hall became unavailable, the group rehearsed at Dominion-Douglas Church for a number of years and counted many of Westmount's residents among its members and audiences. The group's Festival Folkmass brought together people of all denominations in services at St. Andrew's, St. Matthias, Westmount Park United and the Dominion Douglas Churches, among others.

For the past two years summer concerts have been given in the auditorium of Westmount High School. The group has also given concerts in prisons, senior citizens' residences, homes for the disabled, etc., and has raised funds through concerts for such organizations as the Montreal Oral School for the Deaf.

Where can one find some pictures of St. Catherine street between Greene and Atwater circa 1900? History of the City of Westmount, printed at the office of "The Westmount News," no date, Westmount Public Library.

Worldwide Communion on Sunday

Worldwide Communion Sunday, observed by many branches of the Christian church, will be marked at the 11 am service at St. Andrew's United Church this Sunday.

The Church School begins another season with teachers selected and employed on a professional basis. Another special feature of the St. Andrew's school program is a modular class for older students. Replacing the intermediate and senior classes of past years, these students will be able to select specific studies having to do with the history, significance and interpretation of the life of Jesus. This new approach has been designed by Rev. Harvey White, director of education at St. Andrew's.

The Brownie pack resumed meeting at St. Andrew's last Wednesday under new leaders: Mrs. Betty Anne Atkinson, Brown Owl; Mrs. Nancy Grant, Tawney Owl; Mrs. Heather Gibbons, Snowy Owl, and Mrs. Nancy Amos, Screech Owl. Presently there is a full enrolment but a child's name may be added to the waiting list.

The Beaver colony, for boys 6 to 7 years, resumes meeting next Monday, Oct. 7, at 5:45 pm.

$80,000 fixing Trainatorium as 'money shop'

A "money shop" is opening in Westmount, late this year or early in 1975, at the corner of Claremont avenue and Sherbrooke street.

No, it's not a federal mint, nor a counterfeiting agency. It's a branch facility for United Trust Company, which is spending $80,000 to renovate the old Trainatorium hobby shop at 4945 Sherbrooke street.

"It's a little local bank," a spokeswoman for the trust firm explained. It will provide normal banking and trust company services, though no experts will be working there—they are all stationed downtown at the company's main offices.

The "shop," the eighth of its kind on Montreal island, will be open longer hours than most banking facilities. Though specific hours have not been determined, it is expected the branch will stay open at least until 8 pm on Thursdays and Fridays, and during the day on Saturdays.

United Trust, which is itself only a few years old, has 36 "money shops" across Canada as far as Calgary, and one for Vancouver now is on the drawing boards. The company also offers separate real estate facilities.

Malowany to chair WPS body

Leslie Malowany, 370 Grosvenor avenue, was elected chairman of the Westmount Park School school committee last night at a combined meet-the-teacher and school election program.

Mr. Malowany is one of only two incumbent members of the 13-member school committee to have been re-elected, along with Dr. J. Denton of 104 Irvine avenue.

Other members of the new committee include Derek Anderson, 303 Grosvenor avenue; J. J. Anderson, 12 Park Place; Mrs. G. Compton, 259 Metcalfe avenue; P. Desjardins, 334 Grosvenor avenue; Mrs. E. Fenton, 232 Metcalfe avenue; M.

Geoffrion, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard;

Mrs. L. Haines, 481 Grosvenor avenue; Mrs. V. Khaner, 368 Grosvenor avenue; Mrs. M. Nemes, 52 Academy road; C. Pickwood, 301 Grosvenor avenue, and C. Schon, 412 Metcalfe avenue.

Elections in other Westmount Schools are coming up soon, including tonight's meeting of parents at St. Leo's Academy. Elections at both Westmount High School and St. Paul's School are scheduled for Monday night, while the school committee at Roslyn School will be chosen next Thursday.

While no candidates at Westmount High School have yet announced themselves publicly, the present chairman, Mrs. Barbara Moore, said her committee is seeking interested parents of newly-entered students coming from Royal Vale School, Roslyn and Westmount Park schools, as well as interested parents of ongoing WHS children who may not have been willing to participate last year. Interested parents can, if they wish, be nominated from the floor during the Monday night meeting by two other parents of WHS.

School committee members would be expected to attend and to participate actively in one meeting a month, and to undertake any other activities related to parental guidance of the school.

The newly-elected committee at Westmount Park School has been invited to meet with the executive of the WPS Home and School Association next Monday evening. The committee's first formal meeting, to which PSBGM School Commissioner Mrs. Joan Rothman has been invited, will take place Wednesday at 4 pm.

You don't blow an extraordinary idea on an ordinary shoe.

By now you're probably aware that Roots are not like other kinds of footwear. The heel is lower to give you the natural kind of walk you'd get by going barefoot in sand. The arch is supported, so if you spend much time on your feet you'll now spend it in much greater comfort. The rocker sole helps spring you off on each footstep, so walking becomes a little less work than it ever was before. But a big part of Roots' success lies in not how they're made, but how well. Only the finest grade Canadian hides are selected. These are hand-crafted into Roots, simply because, for much of our production, the most efficient machine is still the human hand. This is why, of all the reasons we could give you for trying Roots, none would fit quite so well as the shoe itself.

 (at de Maisonneuve)

Q. E. Hospital seeking funds

The Queen Elizabeth Hospital of Montreal Foundation is making its annual appeal from Oct. 2 to 16.

Contrary to the general public impression, there are many indispensable hospital services and essential equipment which are not funded by the government, according to A. Hollis Marden, foundation president, who lives at 22 Renfrew avenue.

To finance these costs several hospitals, including the Queen Elizabeth, have established foundations. This is the second year that the Queen Elizabeth foundation has asked for help.

While the response in 1973 was encouraging it is imperative, says Mr. Marden, to maintain and improve services to the ill, that there be a substantial increase in the resources of the foundation.

Murphy again president of museum

Dr. Sean B. Murphy, 578 Claremont avenue, was re-elected president of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts Monday night for his seventh term.

The museum is expected to re-open early in 1976 after extensive renovations and expansion of the Sherbrooke street facilities which may cost some $8.4 million, more than $2 million more than originally anticipated.

Other officers re-elected include Jacques M. Brault, 467 Mt. Pleasant avenue, honorary treasurer; Neil B. Ivory, 44 Rosemount avenue, assistant honorary treasurer; Maurice Sauvé, vice-president, and Charles D. Gonthier, honorary secretary.

Committee chairmen include (Robert Cummings, expansion committee; Gerald Bronfman, public relations advisory committee; Mrs. J. Malcolm McDougall, 3033 Sherbrooke street, entertainment committee; R. Fraser Elliott, QC, 12 Aberdeen avenue, school of art and design committee, and Mrs. Derek Taylor, volunteer committee.

Club speaker

Mrs. Dian Cohen, economic consultant, columnist and contributor to radio and television, will address the Women's Canadian Club of Montreal on Monday at 2 pm in the Royal Bank auditorium, Place Ville Marie. Her topic will be: "Is the Great Inflation as damaging as the Great Depression?"

Hispano show

A group called Hispanoamerica in Quebec is to hold "Hispanoamerica Week" in the centre mall of Alexis Nihon Plaza next week, opening Monday at noon.

Program of Scouting booming in Westmount

A resurgence of interest and activity has been instilled into the Scouting program in Westmount.

More new leaders have been recruited for the current season than has ever been the case before. This has been brought about at a time when some people have felt that Scouting was fading in popularity.

Also part of the encouraging upturn in the movement in the district this year has been the significant increase in involvement of parents of Scouts, Cubs and Beavers. Many more are taking a direct hand in the operation of the troops, packs and colonies. This includes an active leadership role in the meetings where parents participate on a regular basis, in uniform and with training. Other parents are giving support by turning out on a rotating basis assisting leaders during peak times in weekly meetings.

Parents involved

Beyond that, parents are involved actively at the group committee level as organizational back-up for the scouters.

Finally, and as a new feature this year, nearly 20 parents have signed up as resource people, offering to provide some expertise for Cubs in the expanded badge-examination program.

Organized on a Westmount District basis, this program is intended to standardize qualifications in having boys tested by parents with an interest in the various activities.

In the operations of the weekly meetings of all groups in the district, a surprising total of 18 new people now are involved in active leadership.

There are 10 group committee chairmen, each with another three or four persons working with them. At the district staff level, a further eight try to tie the whole package together.

As at Oct. 1, all group committee chairmen had received registration details and forms and have been urged to file the necessary with HQ soonest.

Re-chartering is to be handled by the district vice-president, Olaf McLure, who is filling in for E & O Chairman Peter Payan. Peter, incidentally, is coming along nicely in recovering from a serious accident. Olaf will be contacting individual group committee chairmen to arrange his visits to meetings where re-chartering will take place.

Swap and sale of uniforms

A return by all groups to full uniforms is being stressed this season for added "esprit de corps." District Commissioner Mrs. Maggie Shaddick, the moving force behind the recent recruiting of leadership in the district, plans to organize a swap-shop exchange cum sales outlet for uniforms still good for a second go-around. She's looking for someone to co-ordinate the

Badminton registration hurry-up is suggested

By MARILYN CHARNESS

Registration for adult badminton is now well under way. Those who haven't gotten down to the artificial ice rink office to pick up registration forms should do so as soon as possible.

Westmount's badminton league always has been successful, with persons from the ages of 18 enjoying the free court space and the opportunity to perfect skills. The games are played in the Westmount Park School gymnasium on Wednesdays starting at 7 pm.

Another sport is in the registration process: boys' hockey, one of the most popular of all the offered activities. The league is open to players who know how to skate, starting with boys of eight years of age. For protection, no player will be permitted to play unless he is wearing the proper equipment, including securely fastened helmet and mouthguard. Jobs coaching or refereeing are open to boys 12 years and over; those operation.

Boy Scout bilingual 1975 wall calendars were distributed to group committee chairmen in September with the recommendation to go ahead with sales immediately. Payment for the calendars to the district by some groups is still outstanding.

interested should get in touch with John Garland as soon as possible. Registration forms can be picked up at the rink, and the last day for registering will be Oct. 18.

Football scoring

The touch football league has seen some change in scoring since last week. In the Mosquito "B" league, the Rams pulled out in front of the Chargers. The point count there is 6-4. The Raiders of the same division now have two points to their credit, and could easily catch up to the Chargers for the second-place spot. That is, assuming the Rams can keep their lead over the Chargers.

In the Mosquito "A" league, the Jets widened their margin over the Bears, 19 to seven. The Cardinals of that league gained three points since last week for a total of four.

In the Pee Wee "A" league, the Stampeders are giving the Bombers quite a run, now only a single point behind them. The Stampeders, who had only four points last week now have eight. The Lions of the same division have only one point.

Since no games were played in the Pee Wee "B" division, the score remains the same, Eskimos five, Ti-Cats seven and Argos nothing.

Senior's home support sought by group here

A group of Westmounters met last Thursday at the Church of the Ascension to begin organizing support for a senior citizens' residence in Westmount, and have begun to marshal support from around the city.

An organizational meeting is being held tonight to begin working on plans for the campaign.

The proposal has been submitted to the City of Westmount as a possible centennial project, and is under consideration along with other suggestions before the city's centennial committee.

Ald. Leeds Nelson, centennial chairman, said council would make public the various worthy proposals for the city's lasting centennial project in about a month, and probably would decide on the final project after receiving public opinion by the end of the year.

School spirit returns to Westmount High

By VICTOR DONNAY and ARTHUR HOLDEN

With the re-instatement of extra-curricular activities at Westmount High School, there has been a resurgence of school spirit, displayed by a renewed interest in clubs and sports.

The Vox Ducum, edited by Julie Bourke, looks like one of the most promising year books in quite a while. As it is always in need of financial support, the staff would appreciate contributions from Westmount citizens. This, incidentally, is Candid Camera Week at Westmount High, during which students bring cameras to school, with the hope of catching their friends and teachers in funny poses.

On the club scene, things are moving well. The Theatre Club, in past years has proven highly successful. This year seems no exception, with more than 50 persons attending the first meeting. Under the able leadership of Ellen Hanbidge, the club now is in the early stages of producing a play. Other clubs this year cover such diverse interests as chess, photography, skiing, French and electronics. The Pep Club is involved in cheering for WHS teams, which range from athletics to Reach for the Top.

Girls' soccer win

This year's interscholastic teams are proving themselves worthy of representing Westmount High. The girls' soccer team has started the season on a winning note by defeating Northmount 8-0. Among the stars of the game were Laureen Davison, Lise Dixon and Melanie Ellwood.

The boys' soccer team also is showing great promise. Led by Richard Bondy, Julian Harvey and Michael Rowland, the team tied LCC 3-3 in its first game of the season. The Bantam footballers, unfortunately, lost both their games by very close margins, but show potential.

This year's Students' Council consists of David Ronald as chairman, Claire Rothman, Heather Black, Chuck Rider, Victor Donnay, Lynne Moore, Merle Bessner, Meg Dafoe, Donna McGraw, Kirsty Flemming, Peter Jones, Phillip Seagram and Joanna Bernstein. In conjunction with the Child burglar

A break-in of the RCA building at 4107 Richelieu street was reported to Westmount Police during the early evening last Thursday. Nothing appeared to have been stolen but investigation by Westmount detectives led to the arrest of a pre-teen juvenile who subsequently was turned over to his parents. Police suspect other youngsters may have been involved in that and other break-ins in the area.

prefects, headed by Merle Bessner, the council is planning a trip this Sunday to the Eastern Townships to pick apples, the proceeds of which will go to fund student activities.

(Victor Donnay, 320 Cote St. Antoine road, 935-5692, and Arthur Holden, 359 Kensington avenue, 937-5653, are grade 10 students at Westmount High.)

School administrators balk:

Noon supervision slated to end Oct. 15

The administrators of Protestant schools in Westmount and the Montreal area plan to withdraw their services as lunchtime supervisors Oct. 15, leaving many schools with limited or no supervision of the buildings while students have free time.

The decision by the Montreal Association of School Administrators (MASA) was taken last April and delayed by request of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal, which since then has been trying to work out a solution.

The withdrawal of supervision—mainly by principals and vice-principals—will mean that no staff will be available at lunchtime to look after the buildings. Teachers, under the contract worked out in 1972 which extends through the present year, have no responsibility for supervision; paid supervisors, who are on hand at many schools, often lack the authority to handle disruptions which may occur and are not numerous enough in any event.

Westmount High School Principal Noel Hamilton pointed out that reduced workloads on teacher contracts have consistently given him and his colleagues a greater workload throughout the day, and the responsibility of keeping watch over the school at lunchtime simply makes his task more difficult. Elementary school principals, who generally do not have vice-principals or assistants to share the burden with them, are even more set upon.

Parents asked to help

Parents are being asked to help come up with solutions to the problem. Already an advisory committee has been set up under the PSBGM and suggestions are welcomed from all quarters, perhaps through local school committees. While government grants are available for supervisors, the questions of authority and of use of government money still are undecided.

Westmount High School, for example, has paid cafeteria supervisors, but Mr. Hamilton noted that the rest of the building still needs to be looked after. At Westmount Park School there are two paid supervisors, but Principal Lee Tedford still finds he is required to be on hand to settle disputes which might arise between some of the 165 children who cannot go home for lunch. Mr. Tedford said the problem was mentioned to members of the newly-elected school committee last night, but the matter probably would not be dealt with seriously until the committee's first formal meeting next Wednesday. Mr. Hamilton promised he will discuss the matter with the school committee

A woman had her wallet containing about $25 stolen from her shopping cart at Steinberg's super market in Alexis Nihon Plaza during the afternoon Friday. She did not report the theft until Sunday, when she told officers at Station 6 on Letourneux street in Montreal, who told Westmount Police.

to be elected Monday night. In the meantime, Mr. Hamilton said, he and the members of the WHS school committee are hoping to hear "something positive for the good of the students" from concerned parents.

DEPARTS FROM DAWSON: Founding director-general of Quebec's first English-language CEGEP, Paul Gallagher leaves Westmount-based Dawson College Dec. 31 at the end of his second three-year term as head of the institution. Board Chairman William McCallum said that Mr. Gallagher's leaving is in accordance with the Quebec junior college system by which most appointments are for fixed terms. Dawson is now the largest Quebec CEGEP with 7,000 students and another 2,000 in continuing education programs on three major campuses, including the Westmount one at 350 Selby street. Mr. Gallagher is reported as finding his six Dawson years "personally and professionally exciting beyond all reasonable expectations." A search committee is seeking a successor.

fire queen

Julie Madden, 16, 4384 Sherbrooke street west, a 9th-grade student at West Hill High School and grand-daughter of Westmount Fireman Dave Clarke, today was chosen the local "Miss Fire Prevention" for 1974. Capt.-Insp. William Timmons said late this afternoon.

No Fire Prevention Week parade is contemplated here next week, as is customary, Capt. Timmons said.

Miss Madden will be "crowned" at Monday evening's city council meeting, the first in five weeks.

Despite the lengthy delay between public meetings, officials could give no indication what might be on the agenda except for routine items, a report on the opening of tenders for salt for city streets, and a report on a public meeting held in connection with back-zoning of 3219-3219a The Boulevard.

Teen vandals club owner
of vehicle

A young man was seriously clubbed and beaten by two teenagers he was trying to apprehend after they caused damage to his motorcycle parked behind 3035 St. Antoine street at about 9 pm last Thursday.

Four youths reportedly had been tinkering with an auto in the laneway, and two of them walked over to the man's motorcycle and began cutting wires. The victim-to-be noticed them, came out and grabbed one, but then was clubbed by the other and knocked over. A hammer and a pipe wrench were used to beat the man on his face and back of his head.

The man was taken to the Reddy Memorial Hospital where he was given stitches and X-rays; later he was transferred to the Montreal General Hospital for dental examination.

The two youths were arrested promptly and charged with grievous assault.

Hit-run culprit
tracked own,
pleads guilty

A 17-year-old boy from Nun's Island was travelling east on Sherbrooke street at 1 am Saturday and stopped his car to make a left turn onto Grosvenor avenue. He was struck from behind by another car which then continued east along Sherbrooke street.

Charles Samuels had been preparing to turn north on Grosvenor when he had between $200 and $500 damage inflicted on his 1968 Imperial by the getaway car, the license of which had been noted by a witness.

Investigating policemen checked out various possible combinations of the number given by the witness, who had been unable to identify the letter included on the Quebec license plate. Eventually they discovered a service vehicle, parked behind an office building on St. Catherine street east of Atwater avenue, which had a smashed front left fender. It was towed to the Westmount Police station on Stanton street.

The car was identified as the property of Data Courier Service, 2052 St. Catherine street west.

Gordon Buchner, 56, of LaSalle, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and will be arraigned in Westmount Municipal Court on Oct. 16.

Archer pleads not guilty

Westmount's Centennial Day archer, who climbed to the roof of 2084 Claremont avenue Sept. 10 and shot steel-pointed arrows onto the street below, pleaded not guilty yesterday morning in Westmount Municipal Court to two counts of public mischief and a charge of possessing a restricted weapon.

John Doherty, 21, of Montreal, succeeded that Tuesday morning in piercing the rear window of an automobile and shooting another arrow through the living room window of a home at 389 Claremont.

The man will appear again in court Oct. 29 for pro forma trials on the mischief counts and for a preliminary inquiry into the possession charge.
