PROSPECTS NOT ENCOURAGING FOR CONFERENCE ON INDIAN SITUATION

As Long as Existing Conditions in India Continue, There Does Not Seem to Be Much Benefit to Be Derived from Round Table Conference in London—Boycott of British Products Being Taken Up Seriously by Purchasing Masses.

LONDON, June 5.—Despatches from India today stressed the seriousness of the political unrest there, where Nationalists are waging a campaign of "civil disobedience" to gain Indian independence.

The Bombay correspondent of the Daily Herald said that the prospect of arranging the projected round table conference in London in October to settle affairs in India did not seem very hopeful as long as existing conditions continued.

It was said that the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, had communicated during the past few days with leading moderate politicians, with a view of preparing the ground for the October conference. One of these conferees, described by the correspondent as "a man with an Indian and European reputation for caution and honesty" frankly informed the Viceroy that it was useless to discuss the conference in the present grave situation.

This unnamed informant told the correspondent that not only the All-India National Congress but the Liberals also would refuse to be represented at the conference unless the Government was prepared to give a pledge that the conference would frame, not merely discuss, a scheme for self-government for India with safeguards for the transition period.

Attitude of Moslems in the crisis, it was said, ranged from extreme pro-government sympathies to extreme anti-government feeling, with the vast majority of the Mohammedans between the extremes watching the situation closely and awaiting a lead.

A Bombay despatch to the Daily Mail said that the boycott was being taken up seriously by the purchasing masses and affected not only cloth but a wide range of goods including drugs, motor tires and cigarettes. One importer was quoted as saying that his sales of British cigarettes had dropped off more than fifty per cent, the people buying local or United States brands. This was cited as an example of what was happening to other commodities.

LORD IRWIN ASKS MOSLEM CHIEFS FOR CO-OPERATION

SIMLA, India, June 5.—Viceroy Lord Irwin received a deputation of thirty leading Punjab Moslem leaders yesterday afternoon, and appealed to them to co-operate with the British Government in maintaining order in the Empire.

The Viceroy expressed gratification at the loyal support the Government is receiving from the Moslems in many parts of the country, and admiring their commendation of efforts being made to disturb the peace.

He reiterated the Government's aim to give India eventual Dominion Status, with assurance of full consideration of Indian aspirations and minority rights.

DEMONSTRATION IN BOMBAY BEING CARRIED OUT TODAY

BOMBAY, India, June 5.—A hartal, or cessation of work, was observed by India Nationalists here today in mourning for Mahatma Gandhi, who today ended his first month's imprisonment in Yeroda jail, Poona. Several minor disturbances occurred as processions in commemoration of the day were carried out.

Thirty cotton mills closed and 65,000 workers struck. Two hundred workers marched to one mill and started throwing stones at workers there to compel them to join the hartal. Police officers arrived and were stoned by the mob. Three thousand workers demonstrated at another mill but were dispersed by the police.

Most of the shops in the northern part of the city closed. Another procession and parade ending in a mass meeting was planned for this evening.

UNUSUAL REPORT ADOPTED BY GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF U.S. PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 5.—Marked by an important constitutional change giving women a voice in the affairs of the Presbyterian Church, the 142nd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. was brought to a close.

A report, regarded by theologians as an unusual document, was adopted almost in toto, prevailing upon Presbyterian ministers to give instruction in sex and marriage problems to young people contemplating matrimony. This was the report of the Assembly's special commission on marriage, divorce and remarriage.

EXPORT TRADE IS DISCUSSED BY MANUFACTURERS

Resolution Adopted by Canadian Manufacturers' Association Is Framed With Idea of Aiding Canadian Steamship Lines and for Creation of New Lines.

TORONTO, June 5.—Chief interest concerning activities of delegates attending the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here centres today about a resolution presented at the morning session regarding Canada's export trade.

The resolution has been framed with the idea of aiding Canadian steamship lines and for the creation of new lines to encourage the Dominion's export trade and elevate it on a higher plane with that equal to Canada's competitors, particularly United States.

No definite indication has been given of the steamship lines the association considers in need of help, but at a meeting of the resolutions committee it was reported lines plying between Canada and east and west coast ports of South America should be granted subsidies by the Canadian Government. A resolution asking the Government to investigate the possibility of doing this was favored by the committee.

It was pointed out these lines are carrying on a business that has an important bearing on the race for South American trade between Canada and the United States. The latter has raised certain judicial objections to the terms of the contract now agreed upon by the bankers and until Berlin's consent has been obtained the whole operation must be retarded.

The closest secrecy with reference to the exact nature of the Reich's objections is being maintained, but members of the committee of four asserted the delay, if it occurs, will not postpone the issuance of the loan beyond the end of next week, that is to say about June 14th.

Several German objections were answered on Tuesday and the response now awaited has to do with the manner in which the bankers have tried to meet the German position. The committee sat until nearly 9 o'clock last night, but when it became apparent that the German response would not come before midnight they decided to adjourn until 11 o'clock this morning.

Officially, the bankers hope to be able to sign the contract Saturday afternoon, the first anniversary of the signing of the Young plan and issue the bonds in nine participating markets next Wednesday morning.

The new delay, however, has placed this programme in question and unless the speediest progress is made today it is more likely the signing will not take place until next Wednesday, and the issue the following Saturday. The American banking group is ready to float the American portion in forty-eight hours after the ceremony of signing, but British bankers require that at least three days, and preferably six days, should elapse between signing and the actual public offering.

The matter is further complicated by the Pentecost holidays in Britain, which begin at noon Saturday and extend until noon Sunday. It is impossible, the British point out, to float a $50,000,000 issue that is the final amount agreed to by the British during such a long holiday period.

While the bankers continue to withhold much of the vital information about the loan, latest indications are the price to American investors will be between ninety and ninety-one, to yield well over six per cent. The question of security for the so-called "two in one" loan has been definitely determined and each portion will carry equal security as to principle and interest.

Some uneasiness over the delay in flotation is manifest in French and other European markets and reports here say a number of other important loans are held up pending consummation of the Young plan operation. Among bankers, however, there is every confidence that the issue will be largely over-subscribed. The length of time occupied in arranging for the loan, it is explained, is not unwarranted when it is recalled that the conditions in nine different markets had to be taken into consideration.

CANADIAN LINER TO TAKE LARGE PARTY TO ICELAND

Steamer Montcalm Will Carry Party to Millennial Celebration of Icelandic Parliament.

MONTREAL, June 5.—The first ship to ply between North America and Iceland since the voyage of Lief Eriksson and his companions a thousand years ago, will be the liner Montcalm, which sails from Montreal on June 14th for Reykjavik. The Montcalm will carry a large party of Icelanders now resident in Canada and the United States, and many of other nationality, to the millennial celebration of the Icelandic parliament. The Montcalm will make the call on her regular outward passage to Europe and another liner will make the call later to pick up the visitors at the close of the celebration.

NEW RIVAL FOR STEAM HEAT IS MADE PUBLIC

Diphenyl Foreshadows Sort of Stuff Likely Some Day to Make It Easier to Pipe Heat into House from Central Station.

DETROIT, Mich., June 5.—A rival for steam heat, Diphenyl, the worlds newest commercial substance was introduced to the American Institute of Chemican Engineers here today.

Diphenyl—pronounced dy-fen-ill—is a synthetic chemical, something that probably never existed anywhere in nature, but is better than water for one purpose. This property, scientifically named "heat transfer," was described by Professor W. J. Badger, of the University of Michigan.

Heat transfer is the thing that steam does when it warms the radiator and through it the air in the room. Diphenyl carries great heat without the dangerous, explosive pressure of steam. At 700 degrees the new chemical has only about 65 pounds pressure compared with about one thousand pounds for steam.

Diphenyl is not at present a substitute for steam heat, but it foreshadows the sort of stuff likely some day to make it easier to pipe heat into the house from a central station much as water now is piped. Professor Badger revealed some of the peculiarities encountered in using diphenyl in an industrial or domestic form. For one thing it can leak out of joints impervious to steam and water.

Strangely enough diphenyl is made from explosive benzene. By heat two hydrogen atoms are forced out of two benzene molecules, which thereupon unite to form a new substance, a yellowish, white solid. It melts at about 155 degrees Fahrenheit.

QUEBEC MINES SHOW INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Gain of Nearly $10,000,000 in Value of Mining Production for 1929 Recorded in Report Issued by Hon. J. E. Perreault.

QUEBEC, June 5.—An increase of nearly $10,000,000 in the value of mining productions in the province of Quebec for the year 1929 was announced last evening by Hon. J. E. Perreault, Minister of Mines, who gave out the official report on the production for the preceding year. The report was based on the first official figures supplied by the preliminary report, which will be given out in a few days.

That the year 1929 had been a record one in regard to the mine production is illustrated in the report, which shows that nearly all varieties of mines have produced a greater quantity of ore than usual, while the prices paid as a rule have been quite satisfactory. The increase in the production, as indicated in the figures given out, show that the ore production has been of nearly one-fourth and compared to four or five years ago it has more than doubled.

In February last, a rough estimate of the mining production permitted the announcement that the production for 1929 had been of about $40,000,000 in value, stated Hon. Mr. Perreault. "I am elated to state that not only were my estimates conservative, but that these figures have been exceeded by another $2,000,000 in value, bringing the total ore production to $42,000,000, compared to $37,325,287 in 1928.

"In general there has been an increase in the value of the ore produced. Copper and asbestos, however, are amongst the two which have seen a greater percentage of increase in that period.

In 1928 the value of the copper produced reached a total of $4,000,792, while last year the value was raised to $10,019,901.

"From $11,238,361 in 1928 the value of asbestos mines' production last year reached $18,172,581.

"Gold produced in 1928 was valued at $1,240,435 and in 1929 at $1,876,960."

Among the interesting statistics contained in the preliminary report, covering the period of 1929, is the fact that 14,572 men engaged in the mining industry, including the section known as the construction branch, received in wages $13,544,568.

In that period also 3,266 people found employment in the asbestos mines and received salaries aggregating $4,087,271, while 306,055 tons were produced.

Copper mines gave employment to 1,622 men and wages paid reached a total of $2,308,299.

There was an increase in the production of cement from $6,300,521 to $7,120,374.

DID NOT HAVE PARACHUTE ON FIRST OCCASION HE HAD VITAL NEED OF ONE

Professional Parachute Jumper Died from Injuries Received When Plane Crashed.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N.Y., June 5.—Henry L. (Buddy) Bushmeyer, professional parachute jumper, paid with his life today for going up in a plane without a parachute.

He died this morning from injuries suffered when the plane in which he and Clifford Muchmore, pilot, fell 1,500 feet yesterday.

Both men were pinned in the wreckage when the plane which they had taken up to practice landing, went into a flat spin and ploughed into a field.

Bushmeyer suffered a fractured leg, a punctured lung and internal injuries. Muchmore suffered a fracture of the skull, internal injuries and severe cuts. He is expected to recover.

Bushmeyer had made more than five hundred parachute jumps. He recently broadcast a description of his sensations while descending from a 10,000 foot jump.

NEW REGULATIONS IN CONNECTION WITH INCOME TAX ARE ANNOUNCED

Minister of National Revenue Explains that Taxpayers Are Now Permitted to Claim as a Deduction from Their Incomes Donations Made for Charitable Purposes—Minister Answers Question, "What Is a Charitable Organization?"

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5.—All persons claiming increased exemptions in income tax because of the provisions of the budget, must file additional papers with the Federal Department of National Revenue, Hon. W. D. Euler, the Minister, has divulged. The allowances made in the budget applied to the 1929 income taxation period. Because the tax returns for that year have been filed, it will be necessary for those affected to fill out additional forms.

The Minister of National Revenue explained that taxpayers are now permitted to claim as a deduction from their income, donations made to charitable organizations with the limitation that an allowance will not be made beyond ten per cent of the net taxable income. Before these allowances can be made, the taxpayer must produce a receipt for the money actually paid to the organization.

The question: What is a charitable organization? was answered by Mr. Euler as meaning: (a) trusts or organizations for the relief of poverty (b) trusts or organizations for the advancement of education (c) trusts or organizations for the advancement of religion; and (d) trusts or organizations for other purposes beneficial to the community not falling under any of the preceding heads.

"No doubt it will come to many as a surprise that the phrase 'charitable organization' should be so wide in its interpretation. It will be observed that the organizations to be regarded as charitable in the eyes of the law are those of a public nature whose objects would benefit the community or some part of it as opposed to particular individuals pointed out by the donor. In short, gifts for the abstract purpose of relieving poverty, advancing education or religion are charitable."

The recipient of such gifts must meet two tests. It must be an organization operated exclusively for charitable purposes and no part of the income may benefit any private person, member or shareholder. Under education would come donations for the advancement and propagation of education and learning such as colleges, schools or professorships. Under religious purposes would fall practical all gifts of a religious nature. Public purposes would include a great many charitable organizations in Canada. Mr. Euler admitted that a gift to reduce the national debt would be construed as a charitable donation, together with donations to a country, city, borough, ward or parish.

"There are further allowances in the amendments of this year," Mr. Euler continued, "probably not so widespread in their application. Heretofore certain tax payers supported all parents, grandparents, brother or sister, and received no consideration under the income tax act in respect of any monies expended in their support. It is now provided over and above those dependent persons who are already provided for in the act that any person who also has dependent upon him a parent, grandparent, brother or sister incapable of self-support on account of mental or physical infirmity shall receive a further exemption of $500 and in order that this exemption may be had forms for making claim therefor may be obtained from the inspectors of income tax."

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD IS RESPONSIBLE FOR BIG MUSEUM

Julius Rosenwald Tells How Idea for Chicago Museum of Science and Industry Was First Born.

CHICAGO, June 5.—An eight-year-old boy is responsible for the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry, soon to be housed in the reconstructed Fine Arts building at an initial cost of $5,000,000.

This was revealed yesterday by Julius Rosenwald, father of the boy. Mr. Rosenwald has endowed the museum with $3,000,000. He told how it all came about at a luncheon of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

When Mr. Rosenwald and his family were in Munich twenty years ago his son, then eight, disappeared. There was great consternation and the police searched the city until young Rosenwald was found at the Deutsche Museum, gazing wide-eyed and enraptured at an early type of locomotive that was puffing, steaming and snorting with all the animation of its earlier days.

"I became just as interested as my son in the museum and went time and again to it," related Mr. Rosenwald. "It was then I decided that I ever had the chance I would try to give Chicago something similar."

NEW MODERATOR WAS CHOSEN BY PRESBYTERIANS

Election of Rev. Dr. F. Baird, of Pictou, N.S., at Presbyterian General Assembly Meeting at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, June 5.—Rev. Dr. Frank Baird, of Pictou, N.S., was last night elected moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the opening of its annual meeting.

The only other contestant for the moderatorship was Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, of Hamilton, pastor of Knox Church, in which the assembly is meeting. Although the election of the new moderator took only a few minutes of the opening session of the assembly, the contest was keen. Dr. Baird was nominated by Dr. D. G. McQueen, of Edmonton, and Dr. J. K. Fraser, of Renfrew.

They said the Maritime provinces had not had a moderator since the disruption of the Church at the time of Church Union in 1925 and it was now time to fill the highest office in the Church with a man from the east. Although the other people present were in the hall for the maintenance of the Presbyterian Church as a separate entity, Dr. McQueen said it was Dr. Baird who started the fight and carried it through to a successful conclusion.

Dr. Nelson was described by his nominator, Dr. Robert Johnston, of St. Catharines, as a happy warrior who carried the battle into the foe's camp and forgave his opponent as quickly as he vanquished him. No man, he said, had done more for the rights of self-determination and independence of the church than Dr. Nelson.

Since last year's meeting of the General Assembly the Moderator elected, Dr. David Perrie, of Wingham, Ont., has died. In the absence of a Moderator the proceedings of the 56th Assembly were presided over by a sermon from Dr. John Buchanan, of Toronto, a former Moderator and missionary in India. Taking as his topic the idea of sanctification through sacrifice he bluntly condemned the use of liquor by Christian people and declared the system of Government control of the liquor traffic was bringing "many evils" to Canada. Government control, he said, enabled liquor to assume a sort of respectability which did not belong to it before and elevated it into the position of a public utility.

This suggestion will probably be carried out. Restoration of Williamsburg, Va., Is Expensive Hobby For John D., Jr.

Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, left, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., are shown at the left as they watched work being done on one of the buildings in Williamsburg, Va., which they plan to restore to its early Colonial condition. Upper center is the Garret House, already restored, and below you see the oldest college building in America, now being rebuilt. A right is the monument on the site of the governor's mansion. Excavations here will reveal the original foundations, upon which the structure will be restored.

BY NEA Service

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., June 5. —This sleepy, old-fashioned, respectable shabby colonial town is staging a boom, a ghost boom, if you will, that is making the other towns of the Old Dominion rub their eyes and wonder if they are dreaming or really seeing things.

For Williamsburg, snubbed by Rotary Clubs, high hatted by progress, and allowed to run down at the heels because no one considered it important enough to rebuild, now finds that its dilapidated buildings and the grandfather's clocks that won't run are worth more than factories and skyscrapers, and that there's something in having had a past as well as having a future.

Oh, yes, there's a money in tradition, but it takes money to exploit it, and that is where Williamsburg has the breaks. For back of the restoration of Williamsburg are the millions of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., flowing freely at the direction of Dr. W. A. R. Goodwin, who is pastor of the Bruton Parish Church, oldest in the country.

Times—and Values—Change.

Some of them, now simply can't be bought at any price.

One old house, purchased by a townsman for $100, and sold to Rockefeller, is now selling for $18,000. Another that brought $2,500 a few years ago—with the Colonial furniture and the garden thrown in—recently was resold for $30,000, and then held for an investment. Corner lots are being held for as high as $200,000.

It's Famed in History.

Ever since he came to the town in 1902, Dr. Goodwin has realized the historical importance and the traditional wealth of the town and has felt it should be perpetuated, and it was he who interested Rockefeller in the plan.

When they started to restore the town, it was thought that $5,000,000 ought to do the job, since fine old places then were available at almost any amount of cash in hand.

were received and read from members who had been remembered at Easter. Fruit and flowers were ordered sent to sick members, bills were passed for payment and other routine business was transacted. The meeting closed with prayer. Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Laura Joyce. The June meeting is scheduled to take place on June 5th at the home of Mrs. Alex Dougherty.

The Bury Women's Institute held their usual monthly meeting on Friday, May 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Cathart. The president opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer and the Institute Creed. Eleven members answered to the roll call. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and approved, the usual order of business prevailed. Mrs. R. Wilson gave the Town To Be Rebuilt.

The restoration of the town into a national shrine involves practically its complete rebuilding, and entails work of great magnitude and expense. It is now two years since the crew of architects and builders moved in to start the work, and at present only twelve of the old houses are actually rejuvinated.

In addition to the first $5,000,000, it is estimated by some of the optimistic townsfolk that at least $25,000,000 more must be put into the project, which, assuming greater proportions daily. And they say that at least eight years more will be necessary to buy and plan and rebuild. If these figures were not sufficient to make Williamsburgers realize in to state the present, the great influx of tourists, architects, artists and a small army of workmen would do the rest. After two hundred years, business is looking up.

Of the dozen or more fine old houses in Williamsburg, one-third are not included in the present plans, notably the Galt House, the oldest one in the city, Randolph Peyton House, facing the Court House green, the Richard Bland House and the Benjamin Waller House. The owners have declined to sell. There are five great public buildings to be restored, among which are "Raleigh Tavern," rendezvous of the Revolutionary patriots, the old Capitol building where the House of Burgesses met from 1704

First Theater" Is There.

If the "First Theater in America," built in 1716, is restored, it will be as a part of William and Mary College. The present inadequate colonial court house of 1770 will be converted into a public library after a new $150,000 building has been erected.

Old gardens of historic homes are being replanted and many giant boxwood bushes from 150 to 200 years old from South Carolina have already been planted.

Duke of Gloucester Street will be rebuilt after all the modern buildings on the street have been moved or razed. A new state road will be built along the northern limits of the town, and the railroad tracks will be relaid.

So faithful are Rockefeller's experts in their reconstruction that a plan has been built for the sole purpose of reproducing old Colonial burgs. Some of the structures famed in history are no longer standing, but these are to be rebuilt from written description and whatever traces of them remain.

The old capitol building was marked only by a monument when the workmen began, but excavations have disclosed the complete foundations and from these the original structure has been visualized. The same will be true of the governor's mansion, located now only by a stone shaft.

HATLEY

The chairs at Municipal Hall were filled by an expectant audience, while an actor's impatience was checked, by the parting of the mass green velvet curtains, upon the pretty pastoral scene, showing the young laborers tossing the scented hay, while singing at their task. No more charming musical comedy could have been selected, than Sylvia and the Magic Flower," which was presented, at this time, by the Entertainers' Club of the neighboring village of Massawippi, under the direction of Mrs. Rice.

The cast was especially well chosen, each one suiting his, or her assumed character, as though in the manner born. In most situations in life, there is supposed to be a Prince charming, and in this particular case, it was Mr. George Harrison, who is deservedly reaping much praise for his clever all-round ability as an actor, singer and artist, as it was by his skillful hand that the beautiful stage background of verdant hill, surmounted by an ancestral castle, was painted. Mrs. T. N. St. Dizier, in the title role, quite justified her character of a young girl, singer and actress, who found her match in the cool-headed practical farmer, William, whose content with his humble lot in life, was shown by Mr. Luke Colt. Mrs. C. Sloggett, who, through her musical ability, is a familiar figure here, was accorded a full meed of praise for her conception of the simple country girl, who longed for the glitter and glamor of court life. Though wearied by a constant stream the hand of the Lady Sylvia, is at length won by the gentle court poet, Mr. Cecil Kent, who thrilled the assembly by his lines to the terror of the fields, opening with the appropriate words, "Gentle creature fold thy wings." With the support of the ladies in waiting, Mrs. Wheeler and

How I Lost 28 lbs.

In a Safe, Easy Way

Read how one woman lost 28 lbs. of fat, without diet, without dangerous drugs or exercises.

"I take a daily dose of Kruschen, and I have lost two inches round the waist and hips and 28 lbs. since last summer. I feel very well on it and people tell me I look very fit. I am 5 ft. 4 in. in height, 40 years old, and come of a stout family."

—Miss E. L.

Don't go lumbering about with a burden of unhealthy, excess fat—you can get rid of it easily if you get the Kruschen habit.

Kruschen Salts provides the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat that you can possibly desire. By purifying your blood of harmful acids, helping the liver, kidneys and bowels to throw off waste material, they remove in a natural way the fatty deposits which poisonous waste matter has produced. Not only do you lose pounds in weight, but you lose years in appearance. Little by little the ugly fat disappears—slowly, yes—but surely—and you soon feel wonderfully healthy, vital and energetic—more so than ever before in your life.

How Peter Rabbit Was Surprised

By Thornton W. Burgess

Who doth in haste conclusions reach Hath much to learn and naught to teach.

—Mother West Wind.

Peter Rabbit had not been over by the Smiling Pool for two or three days. He had quite forgotten how his old friend, Miner the Mole, as he supposed, had startled him by pushing up the earth beneath him as he dug a tunnel. He was reminded of it when he came to a little ridge of earth. He saw at once that it was freshly pushed up.

"Hello! My old friend, Miner the Mole, is still at work here," said Peter. "He must have been working around here ever since I have been making his tunnels unusually crooked. Also, these little ridges have a way of stopping every so often, which isn't like his usual way. I suppose that means that, for some reason or other, he went so deep at these places that the surface wasn't pushed up when he dug his tunnel. Miner is a funny fellow. I don't mind going down into the ground once in a while, especially in times of danger, but how any one can want to live under ground I don't see."

Peter hopped around to see what Miner the Mole had been doing and he found several places where Miner had come to the surface. He found several little hills of dirt that Miner had pushed out as he cleared his tunnels. Anyway, that is what Peter supposed. Peter dug down into one of these little hills and just below the surface he found a like tunnel, just as he had expected to. Finally he had satisfied his curiosity so far as these tunnels were concerned and hopped over to sit under some big ferns close to the water's edge near where the Laughing Brook enters the Smiling Pool.

Peter had not been sitting there long when he caught the sound of a faint splash. Instantly he pricked his ears up. Those long ears of his stood straight up and he started very hard in the direction from which that little splash had come. Once more he heard it. Then he saw a small person swimming. At first Peter couldn't see very clearly, for there were some grasses in the way, but almost at once he decided that it couldn't be Jerry, but that it might be one of Jerry's children Mole's Cousin."

MEETINGS HELD AT WATERLOO;
GENERAL NOTES

Waterloo Pupils Made Fine Showing at McGill Track Meet—Ladies' Organizations Gathered—News Notes and Jottings of Interest.

WATERLOO, June 5.—The eighth Dominion and tenth McGill Inter-Scholastic Track and Field meet was held in the Molson Stadium, Montreal, on Saturday, May 31st. The Waterloo High School was represented by eight members, of which three were successful, capturing one second and two third prizes. Ian Hume placed 2nd in junior high jump clearing a height of 5 feet 3 1/2 inches, this being four inches over the former record, which was held by Gordon Macdonald, of Granby High School. Frank Graves made a leap of 17 feet 11 1/2 inches, to capture third place in the Intermediate Board Jump. Chester McKergow, the 12-pound shot a distance of 28 feet 3 inches to tie third place in the senior shot, this giving the Waterloo High School team a total of 4 1/2 points, this totalling but half a point less than last year, when Ian Hume won the junior high jump. The midget class was represented by a splendid relay team but were not successful against more experienced opponents. The standard attained by Waterloo High School is exceptionally good, considering that they were competing with the best high school athletes in the Dominion of Canada.

On Tuesday, May 27th, Lt. Col. Keefe made his annual inspection of the Waterloo High School Cadet Corps. During the past two years, this corps, under the able instruction of Sergeant E. Alan McKergow, has won the trophy given in this district.

The annual meeting of the Waterloo Auxiliary of the Wales Home, was held on Friday evening, May 30th, at the home of the president, Mrs. E. A. Savage. The meeting was opened with prayer, Mrs. Savage presiding. Owing to the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. A. Corcoran, the minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Mrs. W. E. Hills. The financial report was most encouraging, showing increased interest in both members and the collectors, whose work was most praiseworthy. There are sixty-one members this year, an increase of seventeen over last year. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of president, Mrs. E. A. Savage; vice-president, Mrs. Palmer; secretary, Mrs. J. A. Corcoran; treasurer, Mrs. S. J. Irwin; collectors, Mrs. J. J. Irwin and Mrs. Shaw to replace Mrs. F. E. Taylor, who wished to retire. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the collectors for their untiring efforts in furthering the welfare of the Auxiliary.

The regular meeting of St. Luke's Parochial W. A. was held on Thursday afternoon, May 29th, with a good attendance of members. Two quilts were made during the day and a considerable amount of sewing done. The business meeting was opened with the Doxology, Mrs. Bridge presiding. It was decided to have an outside door built in the new kitchen at the rectory, the work to be done immediately. The meeting was closed with prayer and refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Stone, Mrs. Candlish and Miss Harriet C. Wallace.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntosh spent Friday, May 30th, in Montreal.

Miss Marie Joanne Beaumont was home from the Sutton Convent on Ascension Day and visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Beaumont.

Mrs. S. H. Kennedy has returned to her home in Magog, after spending a few days with her sister-in-law, Miss Sarah Kennedy.

CHIEF ISSUES WARNING TO AUTO DRIVERS

New Traffic By-Law in Effect Today Forbids Motorists to Follow Fire Apparatus Too Closely to a Blaze.

After today, the motorist who makes a habit of rushing after the fire apparatus on its way to a blaze is liable to find his pleasure rather costly, as Chief Camirand has announced his intention of strictly enforcing section fifty-one of the new traffic by-law that went into force today.

This clause forbids drivers of vehicles from following fire apparatus on its way to a fire at a distance of less than three hundred feet, while it also forbids a motorist from stopping between the intersections of the streets on which a fire engine is parked.

This latter provision was introduced to stop the practice of many drivers who would come right up behind the apparatus and in many cases prevent the fire fighters from connecting their hose to the hydrant.

A section of the new ordinance forbids a vehicle driver to cross a fire hose without permission of the officer in charge of the detachment. The chief also issued a warning to motorists that the stop signs placed at many dangerous street intersections must be obeyed. Special officers are to be detailed to enforce a stop at the places where these signs are located.

LENNOXVILLE

The Best Incinerator Plant is Not too Good for Sherbrooke

Picture of the Balmer Incinerator Building on Long Island, New York.

This is a picture from a photograph of the $75,000 Balmer incinerator plant erected at Huntington, on Long Island, New York, which was visited by the Sherbrooke civic delegation some weeks ago.

A duplicate of this plant and building has been offered to the City of Sherbrooke for $50,000 which is very little more than is being asked for incinerators which are not of such recent scientific research. In other words Sherbrooke can get a modern plant and the operator's duties are limited to inspection and trimming of fires, with periodical removal of ashes from the garbage consumed by its own heat units.

The Company in Hartford says that every part of this plant will be built in Canada, and that in this way they are willing to put up their first plant in Canada at least cost, as they wish to have an exhibit plant in the Dominion, to the inspection of which they will invite all the municipalities who will see the light in a sanitary disposal of house and street garbage.

The President, General Manager and two Canadian directors of the Industrial Incinerator and Engineering Company, have been in Sherbrooke to look over the site down the Brompton road. Two of these gentlemen are Canadians.

It might be that in good time these executives could be induced to make their Canadian headquarters here, and establish a branch for the assembly of similar plants. Like Sherbrooke, every other city would like to have the best available equipment if the extra cost be so little more, as it is in this case. The proposed advertising and exploitation of Sherbrooke would be worth double the difference.

SCOUTS HELD HOBBY SHOW AT ASBESTOS

Second Annual Hobby Show
Proved to Be Decided Success in Every Respect.

ASBESTOS, Que., June 5.—The Asbestos Scouts and Wolf Cubs held their second annual Hobby Show, on Friday, May 23rd, in the afternoon and evening in the C.J.-M. Hall. The show was opened to the public at two p.m., the models being arranged in groups on tables according to their class. The larger groups were as follows: Meccano and cretor, birdhouses, woodwork, and stamps. The models this year presented a decided effort on the boys' part to make more difficult and models of greater variety.

Among some of the outstanding exhibits were: A dirigible by Scout F. Pinard; a six foot wooden bridge by P.L. John Denovan; a gabled birdhouse by Scout J. Flack; a digger by P.L. John Denovan; a crane by Scout K. Heron and a rowboat by P.L. Robt. Burns. The fiercest competition was noticed in several sections, especially in coins. A new feature this year was the patrol exhibits, each patrol entering an exhibit to demonstrate some part of Scout badge work, the prize going to the Beaver Patrol for map and first class journey report, while the Bulldog Patrol had a fine exhibit of pigeons. The sale table was a centre of attraction, having the following articles made by the Scouts: Dolls furniture, framed pictures, hand painted scenes, fretwork and mats. The fretwork made by the French Scouts was an example of real effort and reflects great credit on Mr. Bergeron, who trained the boys in this work. A great deal of credit for the show is due A.S.M. S. Fredericks, who spent so much time with the boys for material for their sale table. The troop will miss Mr. Fredericks, who has moved away. The patrol leaders are to be congratulated on organizing to carry on when Mr. Fredericks left and upon looking after all details in connection with the opening of the show during the afternoon, under the direction of P.L. Robt. Burns. The judging of the various exhibits was arranged for by Mr. G. G. Clark, chairman of the judging committee, and the troop desires to thank all those who gave of their time for this purpose. At eight-thirty o'clock, Mr. Fred Atwood, vice-president of the troop committee, addressed the audience and distributed the award cards and the badges. The first prize for meccano work, donated by the T. Eaton Company, was won by the following: Scout P.L. John Denovan, Cub M. Wilson. Scoutmaster W. N. Reaks, chairman of the Hobby Show, gave the closing address.

Scout News.
The troop held their weekly meeting on Friday last with a good attendance. The meeting opened with flagbreak and inspection, after which outdoor games were played. The troop then returned indoors for patrol corners after which an interesting contest took place between the troop divided into two sections, under P.L. Robt. Burns and A.P.L. J. Gallup, which proved to be a tenderfoot and second class answer problems. The highest points were scored by the first group, Ivan Gallup being the last Scout to remain. The troop then indulged in a sing-song. The Wolf Cubs were under the direction of Troop Leader D. Kyle, the absence of the Cubmaster. Three new boys joined the Pack, namely, H. Muir, Duncan Kyle and L. Smith, the latter is transferred from the Eighteenth Montreal Pack. The next meeting of the troop will be held at an outdoor hike, leaving Scout headquarters at 7:30 p.m. sharp with "hot dogs, etc. The parents are requested to notify the Scoutmaster if they have any old newspapers which the Scouts will call for, also the Scoutmaster would like to have the names of any people who would care to give the Scouts flowers to be taken to the local hospital once a week.

RECOVER MAN'S BODY AFTER A LONG SEARCH

Body of Earle Findlay, Formerly of Danville, Taken from Waters of Peribonka River, Thus Clearing Up Old Mystery.

DANVILLE, June 5.—The body of Earle Findlay, formerly of Danville, missing since October last, was recovered on Friday, May 30, by Miss Eva Bedard, better known as Maria Chapdelaine, the heroine of Louis Hemon's French Canadian novel "Maria Chapdelaine."

The body was noticed floating down the Peribonka River, some twenty-five miles from the point where it is believed Mr. Findlay and his companion, Mr. Terrence Austin, of Granby, were drowned last October. Both of the men had been working at Arvida, before they set out on a canoe trip into the Lake St. John district. On their return trip they are known to have been speaking with some of Price Brothers' men stationed at Chute McLeod, neither men were seen since then, although a floating paddle and some bits of provisions were all that served as clues to the fate of the missing men.

Search parties failed to discover their whereabouts or to find any evidence to strengthen the theory that they must have been lost in the Peribonka River, north of Lake St. John. On detecting the body, Miss Bedard summoned assistance and the remains on being removed from the river were unmistakably identified as those of Mr. Earle Findlay, of Danville. The remains were later brought for burial from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Findlay. It is believed that Mr. Austin must have suffered the same fate, but as yet his body has not been recovered nor is there any further evidence to strengthen the theory.

Mr. R. W. Snow, a friend of Mr. Findlay's, during his three years in Arvida, accompanied the remains to Danville.

Coaticook, were calling on friends here on Sunday.

Mrs. Marianne and son, and Miss Jennie Marianne, of Sherbrooke, were in town Saturday, on business.

Mr. Hector H. Howe, of Montreal, was the week-end guest of his sister, Mrs. E. W. Damon, at Maplewood.

A pleasant social evening was held on Friday under the auspices of the B.Y.P.U. An appetizing supper was provided by the "Blues" and enjoyed by all present. A short programme was given consisting of dialogues by Miss Carson, Mr. Norman McCoy and Donald Whitehouse; readings, Mrs. Doman and Mrs. Parker; songs, Phyllis and Vera Mayhew, and a brief address by Rev. Mr. Crickington.

Mrs. Fred Bailey left last week to visit her parents at Shawville, Que. Miss Evelyn Wright, of Draper's Corner, spent the week-end at her home, here.

A cheerless pessimist is the man who enjoys misery in prospect, and who is always looking for the worst to happen. Lawyers are pessimists. Sometimes my banker is, but a Banker must be an Optimist full of Faith and Facts—and cheerful notes.

THE DISASTERS OF MINORITY GOVERNMENT.

A minority Government is ever weak and dependent. A leader without a clear majority is handicapped. His hands are tied. He is at the mercy of his own followers, and must bow to every schism, ism and freakish notion of the party with which he may form an alliance.

His Government is a disaster. He finally comes a cropper, and when the inquest is held it is found that the country has paid the price. We have an example in Ontario, where under Drury a minority Government nigh wrecked the finances of that province. The Hydro-Power interests seized the reins of power during the Drury administration and has throttled the province with such a huge debt that the present Government fears to ruin the provincial credit does it in turn untangle the stranglehold.

In Great Britain the Ramsay MacDonald administration lives by the grace of the Liberal party, who, under Lloyd George, have become so distrustful that they dare not place a candidate in the field in any bye-election.

"The present Government of Britain is not only a failure, but a disaster to the country," said one public man. Little Thomas, who came to Canada in footless and futile haste after his election, ostensibly to find means to correct unemployment at home, has seen unemployment increase by leaps and bounds. And they had promised to speedily correct and cure unemployment.

Within two years the army of jobless men has increased by 600,000. The whole Government is a farce. Thomas colloqued in Canada with officials who have not been able to solve their own unemployment troubles, though the solution was plain to the practical men of affairs. Britishers find that the MacDonald Government has been terribly injurious to the prosperity of the country and to the welfare of their people. Even the futile Hindoos are encouraged to rebellion by the sight of such a helpless Government.

Some there are who blame the Conservative leader, Hon. Stanley Baldwin, for the present state of affairs. With a generous gesture he extended the franchise to a million factory girls who were not educated to public affairs, and who did not know the smallest thing about the sources of trade prosperity or of politics. But the British people, and even the young people, with that proverbial common sense which almost ever comes out on top, will realize the errors of a quick and shallow analysis, and will reverse their judgment at the next general election.

In the meantime, as Editor Fielden observes, it is to be hoped that a general election will not be too late to secure that unity between the component parts of the Empire, and to carry out a trade pact which will make us self-supporting against the rest of the tariff-walled world.

GET GOOD TEACHERS.

The Community School has been adopted throughout the land because it offers better opportunity for getting and holding good teachers. The gift of imparting knowledge is born in the teacher. The most learned men often lack the talent of teaching. The Greatest Teacher who ever visited this world used simple language, and illustrated His meaning with story and with Parable.

The "Little Red School House" was quite alright in the pioneer days when roads were impassable and the pupils could trudge along only within a radius of three miles.

The opening of the new Community School in North Hatley should have been a time of rejoicing for the pupils. A great school picnic should have been held to inaugurate the fine new consolidated school building, to and from which the pupils will be easily transported in these days of the open road and the time scheduled busses.

But instead of a day of rejoicing and gladness which a real teacher would have prescribed for the scholars for the official opening of the North Hatley School the Council of Education asked the people to listen to a lot of tiresome speeches. Professor Clark, of McGill, who had diagnosed our meaning that knowledge and training could come only through teachers who had the talent to impart learning, had sensed the true lack in all school systems, but he had expressed his ideas in the obscure language of the professional mind, which does not appeal to the average layman or parent.

School taxes can be materially reduced if the Community School be conducted on logical lines, and on a good business system.

But the best thing of all is the opportunity it gives to the School Trustees to get and to retain good teachers, and to pay them sufficient to convince them that teaching is a worthwhile profession to stick to. As it is now, teaching is but a stepping stone to other and more remunerative occupations.

FROM AGE TO ADAGE.

They tell of a reckless old chap of 112 years of age who lives in Gooding, Idaho, and who boasts that he has indulged in hard liquor, tobacco and generous meals "since he was old enough to hold a bottle." We can speculate on what this venerable old fellow could have done had he lived abstemiously and carefully, and eschewed the growth-stunting, nerve-wracking influence of the pipe that turneth away wrath.

When we sit by the window we wonder whether to order ten pair of spectacles from J. C. McConnell and present one pair to each alderman so that they can see the holes in the pavement along Wellington Street.

After smoking a second pipe we are less wrathful and feel that one pair might do, just for the chairman of roads.

Relighting the pipe, we smoke on, and as the smoke curls upward, the few harsh words we intended to hurl at the whole committee when our back bicycle tire was busted in a hole vanish as the soothing effect of the tobacco makes us placid and peaceful. We have taken time in "thinking it over."

Lighting the pipe once more and smoking until the bowl is empty we are ready to wait until chance brings the road chairman past the window and we can smile upon him.

Ha! he will do it!

Such is the soothing influence of tobacco which makes us think that folks will be worrying about holes in the pavement when we reach our hundred.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

The burning question before the City Council is to be or not to be "an incinerator." Still it may be talked to cremation, for it usually takes a year or so for a municipal body to make up their minds.

Thus far the editor has not had an acceptance from the Honorable J. E. Perrault, our talented Minister of Roads, whom we have invited to go for a bump with us over the county highways.

Unless we get the year 'round open roads which the Hon. J. E. Perrault indicated would prevail through the counties we should be accorded a refund on our yearly licenses. Why should the folks in the country pay for a twelve month license when the highways are open only seven months in the year.

Hon. Richard Bennett refused to counterbalance a last-minute contribution to the Caughnawaga Bridge across the St. Lawrence between Lachine and the Indian reservation on the ground that all such bridges should be free and unencumbered by tolls. He believes that a Dominion grant should not be made to any bridge which was proposed to be a money-making venture on the part of the promoters, and further held that an important matter of the kind should not have been held back until the dying moments of the session. The writer who owns a small ranch on the shore of Lake St. Louis which would have been benefited to the extent of $10,000, may be able to see reason in this view from the public standpoint, but—oh, very well. We are too big a province for toll bridges, and the tourist trade is far more valuable than five-cent pieces.

PRESS COMMENT

IRISH TO DISAPPEAR?

"Sooner or later our historic Irish race will disappear from the earth," asserts Mr. C. B. McKenna, official of the Historical Society of Trinity College, Dublin. The population of the island has decreased more than half, he says, since 1850 and Ireland continues to be drained of its population at the rate of fifty thousand a year. He says the Irish immigrants to America have a much higher death rate than those from any other country. While there are some statisticians who may agree with him, the majority of persons acquainted with the stubborn struggle of the Irish race for existence during many troublous centuries, to say nothing of the traditional Irish fecundity, will laugh his fears away as groundless.—Hartford Courant.

CANADIAN JUSTICE.

A Buffalo girl, seventeen years of age, went over into Canada and did a little research work in law enforcement and swift justice the other day, with results that ought to be impressive to citizens south of the boundary. With her brother-in-law, twenty-eight years of age, she held up a bank in Toronto. Both were armed. That was on Thursday. The two were captured. On the following Monday the man was sentenced to fifteen years in prison and the girl to two years in a reformatory. The girl found out many things. One of them: That, on occasion, Canadian justice makes allowance for sex and extreme youth. The man was sentenced for sex and extreme youth. The sex line is a minor factor, however. It is the lawless that count. They are called exemplary punishment in Canada. Canadians are that way.—Minneapolis Journal.

Letters to The Editor

MR. McKEE NAMES EMPIRE TRADE MOVEMENT.

To The Editor,
Sir:—Having read with a great deal of interest your exceedingly fine editorial under the caption, "All open for Conversion," in your issue of May 31, I would like to take the opportunity of expressing my hearty appreciation of the position you take on this, to my mind, the most important question that is engaging the attention of the different units of our great Commonwealth of North America.

Your editorial, Sir, is a credit alike to your courage and length of vision. While from an economic standpoint there are without doubt many obstacles to be overcome and while some features of the campaign inaugurated in Great Britain by Lord Beaverbrook and his associates, but across the grain of policies and Customs, which have obtained and been generally accepted by the majority of the people in both Great Britain and Canada, for so long a period of time, that they have become considered "circumstances," yet the old saying "Circumstances change" is evidently being recalled by men of great prominence and power, and the issue accepted as one that can be solved in a way that will produce a benefit for every member of our big British family.

This movement, which I believe would be more easily understood if it bore the name, "Empire Trade Preference," had, as you say, its inception in Canada some thirty years ago, and from a small beginning has grown to proportions so great that they are challenging the attention of Great Britain as a matter of prime importance. Canada has without doubt "started something" that will not only rebound to the credit of our country, but will in years to come be considered as a movement, the instigation and promotion of which, brought greater benefits, economic and otherwise, to our Empire than its most enthusiastic supporters ever anticipated.

Success, Sir, to your efforts to promote the Empire Trade Movement. Yours sincerely,
J. W. McKEE.

MANUFACTURERS' IMPARTIALITY OF CANADIAN PRESS LAUDED

When Proper Safeguarding of Interests of Canadian Producers Is Assured, Every Practical Plan to Increase Trade Among British Countries Should Be Supported.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5.—When the proper safeguarding of the interests of Canadian producers, whether industrial or agricultural, is assured, every practical plan to increase trade among British countries should be supported, declares the official statement on British Empire trade, adopted by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their annual meet here yesterday.

The statement said it must be remembered that 2,500,000 people, the industrial employees of Canada and their families, were directly dependent on the thousands of Canadian factories. Their wages, standards of living, as well as the property of Canadian investors, were at stake.

The Canadian manufacturers' statement of Empire trade policy declared that the association looked forward to the Imperial Economic Conference in London next September in a confident spirit, and with a keen desire to extend cordial co-operation in every manner.

"We respectfully suggest," said the statement, "that the Government should consult carefully with representatives of the great department of Canadian production and, further, that business men and others with special knowledge should be invited to attend the Imperial Economic Conference in the columns of these newspapers. Such consultations should produce practical and beneficial trade results. We believe it is possible and desirable to expand largely Canadian trade with those British countries which are prepared to negotiate with us, and at the same time to safeguard Canadian interests."

COUNTERFEIT U.S. CURRENCY IN SHERBROOKE

Several Local Merchants Victimized by Gang Passing Forged Twenty-Dollar Gold Certificates.

Merchants of Sherbrooke and vicinity were warned by Chief Camirand this morning to be wary of accepting large denomination American money, especially the twenty dollar gold certificate, as several counterfeit bills of the above issue have been passed onto local merchants during the last two days.

The gang, which is thought to consist of three or four men, operates in the following manner. Approaching a business establishment, generally a licensed grocery, two of the men enter and order several bottles of beer and a package of cigarettes, the whole coming to the value of four dollars. The forged bill is tendered in payment and good money is taken in change.

These bills, all of the new small size, are considered by American treasury officials to be the most perfect set of counterfeits ever discovered as they are perfect duplications of the original, even to the signature and finest shading. A man handling large sums of money can notice a difference, however, in that the counterfeits are lithographed on a poorer grade of paper than the legitimate money.

REPORTS SHOW LIBRARY YEAR EXCELLENT ONE

Receipts $2,455.33, Compared With $2,221.43 in Previous Year—Number of Books Increased by 3,768 — Ladies' Committee Report.

The fiscal year of the Sherbrooke Library and Art Union, ending April 30th, was the most successful in its history, according to reports presented by the honorary secretary, Mr. David Wilson, and the librarian, Miss W. A. Farmer, at the annual meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Library. Receipts for the year totalled $2,455.33, compared with the previous year's figures of $2,221.43, while the number of books in circulation at the end of the year totalled 21,628, an increase of 3,768 over the preceding year.

Mr. Wilson, following the reading of his financial report, spoke highly of the work accomplished by the Librarian, Miss Farmer, and her assistants, the Ladies' Committee and others, and expressed the opinion that the moving of the Library to its present quarters on Stratcona Square had resulted in an increased patronage.

There were 144 new subscribers to the Library during the past year, Miss Farmer, the Librarian, pointed out during the course of her report, an increase of fifty-four over the past year. At the present time there are 21,628 books in circulation, 10,573 of which are fiction, the remainder being non-fiction. Five hundred and fifty-seven books were added to the Library during the past year, while three McGill Travelling Libraries were used by the subscribers in that period.

The sum of $706.82 was raised by the Ladies' Committee during the year, it was shown by Mrs. J. Leonard, secretary, who reported on the activities of that branch. The committee started the year with a balance on hand of $201.46 and paid out $641.35, leaving a balance of $266.93 to start the new year.

Mr. John Leonard, K.C., was re-elected president, and Mr. David Wilson honorary secretary and manager. Messrs. A. J. Phillips and D. T. Diplock were elected trustees. The remaining trustees, who were re-elected, are: Messrs. James MacKinnon, D.C.L., John Leonard, K.C., W. A. Hale, W. H. Lynch, M. Mitchell, F. Campbell, N. B. Pritchard, G. S. Thompson and David Wilson.

WORTHLESS CHEQUES ARE PASSED BY NOVEL MEANS

Montreal Detectives Report New
Ruse for Victimized Merchants—Telephone Used.

MONTREAL, Que., June 5.—What seems to be a new method of passing worthless cheques on unsuspecting victims was reported at detective headquarters here. The method is an unusual one and in a few days twelve victims have been taken for the wiles of the clever thief.

A telephone message is received by the victim, who is always a merchant. He is told that the person talking is Mr. So-and-So. The name is always that of a person widely known in the city and to date those of a doctor, a priest and an alderman have been used with success.

The speaker announces that he is short of money and that his chauffeur or gardener or employee will go to the store to purchase some goods and will present a cheque. The storekeeper is requested to give him the surplus of cash called for by the cheque. Always the account number on the cheque is 197 though the bank varies.

Detective officials request that storekeepers who are called upon by the telephone by any person whatsoever will immediately notify the detective office. It is also pointed out that the call on the telephone is usually followed quickly by the supposed employee.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. W. E. Paton, Moore street, is in Boston, Mass.

The hostesses for the tea on Saturday afternoon at the Sherbrooke Country Club will be Mrs. E. A. Tomkins, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Oscar Stenson, Miss Margaret MacDonald and Miss Bessie Bryce.

Miss Nellie Lomas entertained informally at the tea hour on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon at her apartment on Montreal street in honor of Mrs. W. Duncan-Smith, of Edmonton, Alberta, who is her guest.

The Misses Jean Paige and Myrtle Cotton and Mr. Harold Cotton motored to Hawkesbury, Ont., for the week-end, where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cotton. Sunday afternoon they motored to Ottawa.

The House Committee of the Sherbrooke Country Club have again arranged to hold a series of dances this summer, the first being on Monday night at the Mount Royal Hotel, when four hundred and fifty guests were present.

Mrs. Frederick Hovey was hostess yesterday afternoon at a delightful party given in honor of Miss Grace Channell, whose marriage takes place shortly. Mrs. Hovey entertained her guests at the LeBaron Inn, North Hatley, where the party of twenty-five motored in the early afternoon. Bridge was played at four tables, in the spacious living room, where quantities of lovely flowers, presented by Mrs. B. C. Howard, were effectively arranged. The prizes were won by Mrs. W. B. Channell, Mrs. C. Spafford, Miss Grace Channell and Mrs. Charles Peterson, of Lennoxville. The bride-to-be was presented with a very lovely pierced sterling silver cake plate from the congregation of her church. A delicious salad supper was served in the dining room, the table being unusually artistic and dainty, done with forget-me-nots.

The regular monthly meeting of King George Fifth Chapter I. O. D. E., held on Monday afternoon in the MacKinnon Memorial Building was well attended. The Regent, Mrs. W. E. Loomis, presided, and after the usual opening ceremonies business was proceeded with. Plans for the bridge to be held in North Hatley at Highland Lodge, the summer home of Mrs. Arthur Spafford were completed. The Chapter gratefully acknowledges the gift from Mrs. S. A. Jones, of a dainty handworked refreshment set, consisting of a table cover and four serviettes, to be sold for the benefit of the chapter. The sum of fifteen dollars was put aside to provide necessities for the young girl for whose education the chapter is subscribing. Mrs. Jones reported on the collection of books for libraries in rural schools, which will be distributed in the autumn. The chapter approved of presenting colors to the Sherbrooke Regiment, and voted fifty dollars as their first contribution to the fund, it being appropriate that the first money given for this patriotic gift should be from the "King's" Chapter and the first chapter organized in Sherbrooke. Mrs. Loomis, the Regent, gave a very interesting report of the National Chapter annual meeting recently held in Montreal, and was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. At the tea hour Mrs. A. G. Sangster entertained the members at afternoon tea, for which she was accorded a cordial vote of thanks.

LIBRARY FUND CAMPAIGN FOR STANSTEAD COLLEGE

The original date for the campaign for funds in connection with the John Celby Memorial Library is drawing near and F. J. Montle, president of the Alumni Association of Stanstead College, says it may be necessary to extend this date. The objective of $5,000 set is still considerably short of being realized. However, subscriptions are coming in daily and the executive are hopeful that they will still be able to reach "over the top" by Saturday night, June 7th. Our friends and students of the College are urged to send in their subscriptions immediately. It would be regrettable that this cause should not have the wholehearted support of the communities which are served by Stanstead College. Additional subscriptions received since the last publication come from these generous-hearted people who have fond recollections of "dear old Stanstead": Rev. P. N. Caven, and Mrs. Caven, St. Laurent, Que.; Mrs. Alice Jen-

Mrs. Murdo MacLeay and young daughter have left the hospital and are spending a few days with Mr. MacLeay's mother, Mrs. Dora MacLeay, Wellington street.

Mr. Antonin Deslauriers, city clerk, is receiving congratulations today on the occasion of his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Black, Quebec street, have returned from Montreal, where they attended the seventy-fifth anniversary banquet of Crane Limited, which was held at the Mount Royal Hotel, when four hundred and fifty guests were present.

Mrs. G. F. Bradford entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church yesterday afternoon at her home on London street. During the short business meeting the president, Mrs. Lewis Bradford, presided. Reports from the Victoria supper showed that it had been a wonderful success. At the tea hour Mrs. Howard Bradford presided at the pretty table, done with lily-of-the-valley. The members assisted the hostess serving refreshments. There will be no more meetings of the Aid until the autumn.

The Union Sewing Circle members held their closing meeting for the season last evening at the home of Mrs. W. Foster, Esplanade avenue, there being a good attendance. Mrs. P. Dunsmore was in charge of the devotional period, after which the members were engaged in sewing. Mrs. B. Grime invited the members to her home on Wednesday evening, June 18th. This is an annual event which is greatly appreciated by the members. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. George Aubrey. The first autumn meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. Hetherington, Camirand street, in September.

Mrs. C. E. Coombs, Mrs. M. Johnston and Mrs. R. Sanders were joint hostesses at Mrs. Coombs' home, King Street West, on Monday evening, when they entertained in honor of Miss Violet Robinson, who is soon to be married. A very enjoyable social evening was spent, during which Miss T. Sanders and Miss Mavis Johnston presented the bride-to-be with a large basket, daintily decorated in pink and white, and filled with many pretty and useful gifts for the kitchen. Later delicious refreshments were served, the same pretty color scheme of pink and white being carried out in the dining room, where Mrs. J. Robinson poured coffee and Mrs. Saunders cut the ices.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS SEND A BOUQUET TO ORANGEMEN

Pleasure Expressed that Two Orders, Popularly Considered Violent Enemies, Should Show Desire to Banish Old and Futile Antipathies.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 5.—At the opening of the annual session of the Orange Association of British America here yesterday a bouquet was received at lodge headquarters with a tag bearing the inscription: "Greetings, and best wishes for a successful convention" signed "from the Knights of Columbus."

Display of the bouquet aroused considerable comment amongst the members. The exchange of bouquets in place of the customary red bricks was looked on askance by some, while others expressed pleasure that the two orders, popularly considered violent enemies, should show a desire to banish old and futile antipathies.

Last week the Knights of Columbus convention here received from Lieutenant-Colonel A. W. Gray, provincial grand master of the Orange Order for Ontario East, a bouquet of flowers bearing a tag with the inscription "Greetings from Grand Orange Lodge to Knights of Columbus at their annual session."

C.G.I.T. RALLY; FARNHAM NEWS AND PERSONALS

Interesting Programme Featured Final Gathering of Yamaska C.G.I.T. — Farnham Ladies' Aid Met — Newsy Items of General Interest from Vicinity.

FARNHAM, Que., June 5.—The Yamaska C.G.I.T. group, Canadian Girls in Training, gave a social evening and entertainment prior to their closing for the summer months, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, May 28th, in the United Church.

A salad supper was held at 5:30 o'clock, in the church parlors, at which Miss Trotter, secretary of the Religious Education Council of Quebec, was the guest of honor. Following the supper a short programme was given by the group as follows: solo by Miss Madeline Cook, with Miss Mildred Patch at the piano; a duet by Miss Betty Smith, piano and Miss Betty Turner, violin; two recitations by Miss Florence Blake, namely, The Nile Expedition and Little Bateau, (by Drummond), after which the guest of honor, Miss Trotter, was introduced by Rev. J. C. Downing. Miss Trotter's remarks were very interesting and helpful and were much appreciated by all. A sing-song followed for half an hour. From this programme until seven-thirty o'clock the time was spent socially. The church parlors were very prettily decorated in red and white streamers and flags with these colors, and lilac as table decorations.

The public meeting of the evening was held in the United Church with a large number present who greatly enjoyed the programme of the evening and the lantern slides given by Miss Trotter. The meeting opened with the singing of the Doxology and a reading of the Scriptures by Rev. J. C. Downing and followed by a Scripture reading by Miss Florence Blake, president of the Yamaska Group of the C.G.I.T. A prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Ritchie, of Brigham, followed by the singing of a hymn. The offering was received by Miss Madeline Cook and Miss Shirley Longtin and will go towards their annual donation to the woman's Missionary Society, with whom the C.G.I.T. are affiliated.

Solos were given by Mrs. H. Hill, "Is An Old Fashioned Tune" and "You'll Get Heaps O' Luckin'". Miss Trotter was then introduced by Rev. J. C. Downing and gave a number of lantern slides of "Cedar Lodge" at Lake Memphremagog, together with very interesting information of the work as well as the pleasures to be had by the young ladies during their stay at Cedar Lodge. So keen was the interest shown by the members of the C.G.I.T. that a large number have expressed their desire to visit Cedar Lodge this summer.

The evening programme continued by remarks from Rev. J. C. Downing, who on behalf of the C.G.I.T. thanked Miss Trotter for being with them during the afternoon and evening and for the lovely views of Cedar Lodge. This was followed by the singing of a hymn, and the closing benediction was given by Rev. R. G. Asch, of St. James' Anglican Church.

Among those present were several from Brigham, together with a representation of about ten from The Girls Friendly Society of Brigham.

Ladies' Aid Met
The Ladies' Aid of the United Church met on Thursday afternoon, May 29th, with the president conducting the meeting and a fair attendance of members present. After the Scripture reading and prayer were given, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted and a number of bills were ordered to be paid.

Committees were named for the rummage, food and apron sale for the following Saturday. At the close of the business, a salad tea was held by the hostesses for the afternoon, Mrs. Albert Beaton, Mrs. Ira Cross, Mrs. M. J. Clark and Mrs. F. S. Dorance. The table decorations were lilacs, and tea was served to about twenty-five.

Provincial Supervisor Reviews Work of Castlebar School During Past Year in Letter.

CASTLEBAR, Que., June 5.—The following letter of appreciation has been received by the Junior Red Cross Group of the Castlebar from the supervisor, Mrs. Ruth B. Shaw, congratulating them for the work done by them during the course of the past year.

Miss Eleanor Bagley, sec'y.
The Busy Bees Junior Red Cross, Castlebar School, Danville, Que.
R. R. No. 4.

Dear Eleanor,
Thank you so much for sending in the annual report of the Busy Bees and for enclosing a donation of $1.75 to the Crippled Children's Fund and also for that fine box of knitting sewing and cardboard toys. Goodness me! I hardly know where to begin. Well, first of all I was glad to see that you had held regular meetings. Then I was delighted with those health improvements of your which resulted in such good attendance. Cleanliness and good diet are the foundation of good health. Good for you! Your school must look very nice indeed with its pretty framed pictures and with the windows and floors so spotlessly clean.

I was very glad to get the donation to our Crippled Children's Fund, as you can imagine for we are looking to help ever so many children in summer and your money will add considerably to our means for doing this. One of our patients is the dearest little girl of four called Madeline who cannot walk. Her parents are so poor to help her and you can imagine their joy when the doctor told them that if the Juniors would pay for the hospital care, he could make Madeline just like other girls. Your money will share in doing this wonderful work and I am sure that you must all feel very happy to think that you are doing such service for others.

Then another thank you! This time for that fine box. I have popped those fine scarves into my cedar box where they will be already for the cold winter months. Those beautiful bibs and dear little jackets will go into use at once. They all looked so dainty and attractive with their pretty edges and neat work. Such a quantity of cardboard toys too, and all so nicely made. The nurses are always glad to get these toys for they are the most wonderful pacifiers and the kiddies who get them soon forget that they are ill and are away from home.

Please give my love to Miss Philbrick and thank her very much indeed for her great big share in making this report possible.

Good luck in the exams and a very happy summer to you everyone.

Yours sincerely,
RUTH B. SHAW,
Supervisor, Quebec Junior Red Cross.

GRADUATES OF COLLEGES ARE STAYING HERE

Attorney-General of Nova Scotia Points to Lessening of Exodus of College Graduates.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 4.—University graduates in the Maritime Provinces are remaining within Canada's borders in rapidly increasing numbers. This tendency was pointed out by Hon. W. L. Hall, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, in addressing the graduating class of the Nova Scotia Technical College this year, when nineteen students, completing at Tech their scientific courses begun at six eastern Universities, were admitted to the ranks of graduate engineers.

With one exception, the entire graduating class of the Technical College, drawn from the affiliated institutions of Acadia, St. Mary's, Dalhousie, King's, and St. Francis Xavier, will remain in Canada to engage in their profession. More than one-half the class will take up their work in the Maritime Provinces.

This, Mr. Hall pointed out, was in marked contrast to the record set in the past, when the complaint was made that nearly all the youth of these provinces migrated to the United States and other countries to earn a livelihood.

While this year's class was normal in numbers, said Principal F. H. Sexton, over two hundred students were now preparing in the science classes of the affiliated Universities for the studies in which these nineteen men had graduated. In order to keep pace with changing conditions, the Technical College had introduced general economic, industrial organization and management as courses to prepare its graduates for taking their part in the revitalized industrial life of the Maritimes.

In a recent analysis of the location of the former students, information was obtained by Mount Allison University to show that of 7,000 graduates of that institution whose addresses are now known, 5,559 or over eighty-two per cent. are in Canada, with 1,053 in the United States. Furthermore, of 124 students graduating since 1926, only thirty-six have crossed the border.

No more dirty floors

You have plenty of work to do without scrubbing floors. So stop it. If you don't, you'll ruin the floor, as sure as water runs wood.

If you're using oil on your floors, consider this: Oil leaves a sticky floor. Dust sinks in. Becomes ground in. How can you possibly get it out? If your floor is dark and lustreless, you already see the result. An oiled floor is bound to be dirty—troublesome.

But when a floor is waxed, it is clean! Transparently clean and sanitary. Radiant. For wax is lustrous, dry and hard. Never sticky. Light dusting is the only care required.

Hard to apply? No. For now you can rent a Johnson electric polisher and do the whole house for $2. There are several dealers near you. Telephone one to deliver a polisher today.

And for a 25c bottle of wax to try, send 10c for postage costs.

REDS HITTING WELL BUT NOT VERY TIMELY

Cincinnati Team Appears to Have Everything But Ability to Make Their Bingles Count—Close Contests in American League.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has become one of the leading experimenters of the National League as well as one of its leading traders, and he has prospects of good results if he can hold the material he now has into a co-ordinated baseball team.

The Reds, as they are now, seem to have everything but the ability to make their hits count. They get plenty of blows, eighty-four of them in their last seven games, and frequently have good pitching to go with them, but still they lose the close decisions and games in which they have the best of hitting.

Howley shook up his line-up again yesterday, putting Pat Crawford in the line-up and making Bob Meusel lead off. The result was good enough to produce fourteen solid hits, but not a victory.

Their opponents, the New York Giants, got but twelve blows, but six of them came in succession from the first six batters in the opening and started the Giants to a six to one lead and an eight to five victory. Pete Donohue continued the act that the former Reds who now wear Giant uniforms have been staging by pitching a fair game and contributing a home run to his first victory for New York.

The hit totals made by the Reds and Giants, big as they were, appeared small when the Chicago Cubs got into action and trounced the Boston Braves by eighteen to ten. The Cubs hit twenty times for thirty-four bases, getting six doubles, a triple and two home runs, and gave Harry Siebold and his two successors a bad time of it. This was the second successive time Siebold has been driven from the mound after starting the year by pitching nine full games.

The Cubs finished only two games behind Brooklyn as the Robins literally threw away a game to the Pittsburgh Pirates by a twelve to six score. The Robins made eight errors, most of them on bad throws, and nearly every bobbie meant a Pittsburgh run. The Pirates made five errors on their own part, but not at such costly points in the game.

The American League reversed the procedure of its elder rival and produced four tight battles, three of them going ten innings, and left the positions of the leaders unaltered. The leading Philadelphia Athletics beat out the St. Louis Browns by four to three in the only nine inning contest as Sam Gray, formerly the star of the Brown mound staff, lost his ninth straight game. The Athletics still used their makeshift lineup with Simmons, Bishop and Dykes missing, and found it adequate.

Washington, in second place, scored three runs in the tenth to beat out the Detroit Tigers by eleven to eight, after Detroit had scored six runs in the last three regular innings to gain a tie. Earl Whitfield was the victim of the rally and became the losing pitcher for the second successive day.

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees remained in third and fourth places, respectively, the victims of upsets. The Yankees dropped an eight to seven decision to the Chicago White Sox as Johnny Kerr followed the example set for him a few innings earlier by Babe Ruth and won the game with a home run after two were out in the tenth inning. The Babe had tied the count in the seventh with his eighteenth homer of the year. Ed Mercer, of the Boston Red Sox, proved better in the long run than Willis Hudlin, of Cleveland, and gave Boston a five to four victory in another ten inning duel.

EXECUTION IS JUDGED MURDER BY CLERGYMAN

Rev. Dr. A. H. Campbell Feels that Hanging of Ingvald Andersen Was Murder as Indefensible as Prisoner's Crime.

SYDNEY, N.S., June 4.—"When I came away from the scaffold I could not but feel that I had been a party to a murder just as indefensible as that on February 8th at the Norfolk Hotel, and carried out with evident grim satisfaction by a hireling whose only motive was the pay he was receiving, but protected by law," Rev. Dr. A. H. Campbell told his congregation in the First United Church here in a sermon against the continuation of capital punishment in the Dominion. Dr. Campbell was one of the two clergymen attending Ingvald "Bing" Andersen at the county jail here and was with him when he went to the gallows, closing the final chapter in the murder of Deleois Rehberg, local hotel porter.

"The day will come," declared Dr. Campbell, "when our descendants will view with wonder and disgust the fact that their ancestors of 1930 practised the old Lex Talionis, an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth."

"Jesus did away with this old law and rendered it forever obsolete. 'Who so sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed,' is another form of this same law condemned by Jesus."

QUEBECKERS TO MEET ST. ROCH THIS EVENING

Chappie Johnson's Team Scheduled to Oppose Saints in Opening Game of Local Season.

Tonight is the night that the ball fans of Sherbrooke and vicinity have been anticipating for several weeks, for at 6:30 o'clock the local State is a rather cowardly way of dealing with murder, when as in most cases, the murderer is irresponsible for his conduct. The day will certainly come when the murderer will be placed in confinement where he will be no longer a menace to society, but when it comes to taking human life, that is God's prerogative, not man's. Human life is a sacred thing given by God, who alone has the right to take it away.

"Some day the State will see it in this way and capital punishment will be a thing of the past."

"There is nothing in the teaching or character of Jesus to suggest this way of dealing with murder, but much to condemn it. Let us hope that the time will soon come when a better way is adopted in the treatment of those unfortunate criminals."

FIVE FARNHAM RESIDENTS HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Picnic Party Received Only Minor Injuries When Car Left Road and Overturned.

FARNHAM, Que., June 5.—Five members of a picnic party returning from Broms Lake on Tuesday evening, June 3rd, had a narrow escape from serious injury when the car in which they were driving overturned.

The car, with Mr. Ennis Edwards at the wheel, was coming down a hill about five miles from here when it struck a stretch of loose gravel, which caused it to leave the road and turn over twice.

The occupants, who were thrown from the machine, were fortunate in escaping with a few cuts and bruises. Mr. Edwards' car is a total loss.

ball park will witness the first game of the season. Two scheduled previous official openings of the local season were washed out, but the management of the St. Roch Club are hoping for better treatment from the weatherman today.

Chappie Johnson's Quebec all-stars will furnish the opposition, and a keen contest is expected.

Due to this being a twilight game, part of the colorful opening ceremony planned for the opening game had to be dispensed with, but President Emile David has extended an invitation to Mayor Skinner to be present and pitch the first ball.

MAN HERE FOR 40,000 YEARS, MATHER AVERS

Harvard University Professor
Outlines History of Man on American Continent—Arrival
Thought to Have Been During or Just After Great Ice Age Climax.

Evidence is now strongly in favor of the conclusion that representatives of Homo sapiens, the modern species of man, reached North America at about the same time that they arrived in western Europe, that is, during or shortly after the climax of the last ice stage, some thirty or forty thousand years ago. Professor Kirtley F. Mather of Harvard University stated in a recent address.

"Glacial Man in America" was the topic of the discussion which, as the lecturer stated at the outset, came perilously close to the classical essay on snakes in Ireland. That essay, as his audience would recall, consisted of the one sentence "There are no snakes in Ireland." Whether or not there were men in America during the Great Ice Age, there were at least enough questions which that idea raised, to permit of an interesting hour.

Mound-Builders and Others
Professor Mather started his discussion by the statement that when the New World of the Americas became known to the inhabitants of western Europe in the last decade of the fifteenth century and the first few decades of the sixteenth, this country was occupied by civilizations of a finer and more varied culture than anyone imagined until a few years ago. During the first millennium of the Christian era the inhabitants of the two Americas were nearly as diversified in their habits, customs and culture as were their contemporaries in Europe and Asia.

There were the mound-builders in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and in the coastal plains of Georgia and Florida, some of which, like the Fisher mounds near Chicago being inhabited by at least three successive groups of people separated from each other by an unknown number of centuries. But little is known of the nomadic peoples of the Western plains whose failure to develop permanent habitations has given them little opportunity for recording their activities.

In striking contrast, the plateaus and canyons of the Southwestern States, Mexico and Central America were the homes of settled communities whose historical record may now be traced beyond the dawn of the Christian era. The Pueblo Indian are the descendants of the cliff dwellers whose remarkable ruins lend interest to Mesa Verde National Park and adjacent portions of Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

"These were apparently a peace-loving people who built their homes in sheltered alcoves and inaccessible canyons for protection from their enemies," the speaker said. "Recent studies of the logs and timber used in the construction of these ancient villages have revealed their chronology. Cliff Palace in Mesa Verde National Park was constructed between the years 1073 and 1262. This growth ring chronology has been carried back to 700 A. D. by Dr. A. E. Douglas and it now appears that the great majority of the cliff dwellings were built subsequent to 900 A. D.

Sequences of Cultures
"The sequence of cultures in the Southwest may also be ascertained from the study of the various artifacts. The typical cliff dwellers was a pottery maker and possessed six or eight different varieties of maize. He had been preceded by basket makers who had not yet learned how to bake clay for their jars and vessels and who had only two varieties of maize. The transitional stage is indicated by people who smeared clay over the outside of the baskets. All of this indicates a long interval of time during which new varieties of maize or Indian corn were developed and the new art of pottery making was learned. All this, however, could have been accomplished in a comparatively few thousand years."

But, as the speaker declared, most remarkable of all the pre-Columbian civilizations of the New World, are those of the Aztec and Maya peoples in Mexico and Central America and the Incas of South America, all builders of cities, architects whose stone work has rarely if ever been equalled.

"Ten thousand years or thereabouts would seem to be adequate for the differentiation of the several American cultures and the development of the many Indian dialects," Professor Mather continued. "Even the so-called natives of North America encountered by the first Europeans were not indigenous to their home land. All the evidence points in forcing the conclusion that North America is not the original birthplace of mankind but is rather a land into which he was migrated in comparatively recent years."

"The cradle of the human race must have been located within a couple of thousand miles of the eastern end of the Mediterranean Sea, most probably in south-central Asia but possibly in northeastern Africa. From this locality the several races have migrated, the Austrians southward through the Malay region, the Negroes southward to Africa south of the Sahara, the Caucasians westward and northward around the shores of the Mediterranean, the Mongoloids eastward and northward across Asia. It was the latter group who first invaded the Americas as they pushed across the land bridge connecting Siberia with Alaska."

When Did Man Arrive?
Professor Mather remarked that from early Tertiary time onward no relics of anthropoids have been discovered in rocks of the Americas, though from time to time specimens have raised interesting speculation. There remains, however, the important question as to the date at which the first Mongoloid member of the species Homo sapiens arrived in North America. Was it before the last expansion of Pleistocene ice or during the recession of those glaciers or after they had disappeared entirely?

The Pleistocene history of North America closely parallels that of Europe. Five separate glacial episodes have been identified in this country. These are named respectively, the Nebraskan, Kansan, Illi-noian, Iowan and Wisconsin glacial stages. Here, as in Europe, the successive episodes of glacial refrigeration were separated from each other by long intervals of comparatively genial climate. During one of these intervals, for example, the pawpaw and the osage orange grew near the present site of Toronto on the north side of Lake Ontario, many miles farther north than those plants can now exist. It was the Wisconsin glacial stage which left the perched boulders in Franklin Park, built the drumlins in the Boston Basin and left the moraines on Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard and Long Island.

Florida Investigation
Professor Mather regards the date of the extinction of the mammoth, the mastodon and the flat-horned bison is of critical importance because it is now known that man lived side by side with those creatures on this continent. In fact, he observed this association of human bones and artifacts with the bones of extinct species of land animals lends great weight to the conclusion that man had entered North America while much of its lands were still buried beneath the Wisconsin glacial.

Among the most important relics of glacial man are those that have been found in Florida, the speaker said. In 1917 it was announced that human skeletons had been found near Vero, that State, in association with the bones of an early or middle Pleistocene fauna. Careful study led by the geologists who examined the place to the conclusion that the relics had been introduced into the layer of early or middle Pleistocene age subsequent to its accumulation.

As usual, in such scientific arguments, the only satisfactory way to settle the dispute was to discover additional facts, and that has been done. Under the direction of Professor Loomis of Amherst College human bones or tools were in 1925 found in at least four localities near Melbourne and Vero, and, according to the speaker, it may be asserted quite definitely that human beings were present in Florida before the mammoth and the mastodon had disappeared from that region. This means that man must have reached Florida at least fifteen or twenty thousand years ago and may possibly have been present there during the climax of the Wisconsin stage of the Great Ice Age, approximately forty thousand years ago.

More Important Data
"Moreover, very important data have been obtained in the last five years by the scientist of the Colorado Museum of Natural History working in co-operation with the experts of the American Museum of Natural History at several localities in the Great Plains," the speaker said. "Unquestioned artifacts, notably different from the flint implements of the North American Indians and resembling closely in workmanship the Solutrean culture of Central France, have been found in association with the fossilized bones of extinct bison near the small town of Colorado, in Mitchell County, Texas, and near the town of Polson, Union County, New Mexico."

"Again near Frederick, Oklahoma, other artifacts of flint occur in sand and gravel layers containing fossilized bones of sloths, horses and a primitive elephant. These animals do not indicate with precision the exact stage in Pleistocene time during which the sand and gravel beds were deposited, but the inference is again a strong one that a man was present in that part of North America somewhat before the close of the Great Ice Age."

"This association of man-made weapons with the bones of horses suggests the interesting possibility that in spite of the usual belief, horses had not been entirely extinct in North America before the arrival of the Indian aborigines in this continent."

NEW YORK PRESS
MARKET COMMENTGOSSIP IN THE
WORLD OF FINANCE

Furnished by Johnston & Ward.

STOCKS FIRMER THOUGH
TONE DULL

New York World.—In such a period of public pessimism and trade depression as now exists, it is worth pointing out that the small daily volume of fresh buying, aside from purely speculative operations, can only be of the strongest character. Whether the volume of accumulation is important enough to suggest an early turning of the scale remains to be seen, but as long as dullness and limited movement prevail this supporting factor is likely to become of increasing significance. It may very well work a rather fast change in speculative sentiment before a visible change occurs in business.

United Cigar Stores dividend seen.
Continental Baking profits grow.
Crop prospects less favorable.
Iron output lower in May.
Glidden net off in six months.

a big expansion programme. These negotiations are still on. Companies of the type of the paper cup manufacturers are reported sought by Continental Can. What might be termed special selling of Continental Can has been completed and this stock is again in strong hands.

The sulphur stocks are reflecting the strong position of the companies. The business of the two major concerns Freeport Texas and Texas Gulf Sulphur is running well up to the volume of 1929 and without any decrease in price.

BROKERS' OPINION

Hornblower and Weeks.—We would prefer to buy leading stocks, feeling that the list will prove inherently cheap from the long range investment point of view and that the present will prove to be a temporary trading reaction in a gradual forward movement, which should characterize the June market, subject to the fluctuation of the reputation bonds.

E. F. Hutton.—We believe sound stocks will meet steady investment absorption.

TRADING FORECAST AND FACTORS

A quiet two-sided trading market is probable today, with sound stocks reflecting a firm undertone.

LARGE SHORT INTEREST

NEW YORK, June 5.—The New York Advisory Service says: The tendency of the list today is toward price betterment, despite the fact that the market has still to receive the benefit of outside buying, is significant. The short interest is about as large as it has been at any time this year. The bear market has been very slow in erasing their commitments for several reasons. Chief among these is their expectation, now almost a forlorn hope, that the market might encounter setbacks, such as was experienced early in May, secondly, that current prices are well above the levels at which most of the short selling was undertaken last month, and third they have been moderately encouraged by occasional trading setbacks into holding doggedly to their short positions. The net result of all this, coupled with their intent to attempt to unsettle the list, has simply tended to add to their short commitments, without in any way improving a condition which, for them, is becoming rather untenable. In other words, it should require but a few more sessions of consistent strength to touch off an active short covering movement which could readily turn into a rout, under present favorable technical market conditions. So again we urge adhering to the constructive side of the market.

Houston Oil, following on the heels of the recommendation of Tuesday, has come through as a feature stock. On June 17th stockholders meet to vote a four for one split up, plus a ten per cent stock dividend. We look for Houston Oil to move up sharply in meantime, and would follow it accordingly.

Westinghouse Electric probably has located in it as large a comparable short interest as any stock on the list. Westinghouse Electric gave a very favorable indication today and can be followed for further attractive advance.

Freeport Texas shows signs of reviving strength and activity as a $4 dividend payer. Freeport Texas more than carries itself and has good speculative attraction as well.

Worthington Pump and Vanadium appear to have simply indicated their current market position and are again as purchase for a momentary advance.

U. S. Steel, Colorado Fuel, and Republic Steel look favorable for further advance.

Air Reduction continues to meet with our buying favor while in this range.

Utilities. We continue to like these stocks as a group and would retain all such issues previously favored.

MORE RUMORS ABOUT BRAZILIAN

MONTREAL, June 5.—The Montreal Financial Service says today: The New York market was easier on Tuesday when the Canadian lists were closed and when, as a result, some hesitancy was noted in the local trading at the opening yesterday. The stocks that are also listed in New York, namely International Nickel and Brazilian Traction, were the chief sufferers, both issues reacting about a point.

The reduction in price announced by Ford of Canada recently has not affected the stock market-wide. Canadian investors have full confidence in the ability of the management and are not worrying over the future success of the company. What will be lost by the cut in prices will no doubt be made up in large part by increased demand.

The many common shareholders of Fraser Companies Ltd., who have the shares at higher levels will read with interest that the recent bringing into operation of the new bleached sulphite mill at Restigouche Company, a subsidiary, wound up Fraser's expansion programme. The company's plants are now more evenly balanced and with construction work out of the way, the result is enabled to weld its various units into a more efficient organization.

From time to time, New York advice have it that Brazilian Traction and American and Foreign Power are steadily interlocking their interests in Brazil. The latest is to the effect that the power systems of these two companies are being inter-connected at two points in Brazil, in the districts of Rio de Janeiro and of Sao Paulo, similar to power inter-connections made with large systems in the United States.

The various rumors that have been promulgated on Brazilian Traction from time to time to the effect that American and Foreign Power will purchase control of Brazilian Traction for cash, has up to the present resulted in a great deal of speculation. Official confirmation, of course, is unobtainable, but it can be definitely stated that the American utility has bought heavily into Brazilian Traction so that in the event of negotiations getting to a stage where a definite offer is made, American and Foreign Power will be in a position to back up their offer as one of the largest shareholders. It seems most reasonable to assume that the American Company has its eyes fixed on Brazilian Traction, but a great many difficulties will have to be ironed out before definite terms are arrived at.

Alberta Pacific Grain has remained dormant for a number of months. The company's financial year ends on the 30th of May and it is certain that a substantial increase in earnings will be reported as compared with the previous two years. However, with a normal crop in 1930, the company should again experience favorable earnings, and its strong financial position entitled to a stage where a definite offer is made, American and Foreign Power will be in a position to back up their offer as one of the largest shareholders. It seems most reasonable to assume that the American Company has its eyes fixed on Brazilian Traction, but a great many difficulties will have to be ironed out before definite terms are arrived at.

NEW INVENTION ANNOUNCED IN RADIO WORLD

Receiver Capable of Adjustment to Compensate for Total Deafness of Individual Listener Has Been Invented.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5.—A radio receiver capable of adjustment to compensate for total deafness of the individual listener has been demonstrated to radio engineers assembled here.

Julius G. Aceves, consulting engineer of New York, inventor of the device, explained its function and performance before a meeting of the Radio Club of America, held in connection with the annual trade show and convention of the Radio Manufacturers' Association.

Explaining that few ears hear all of the notes of the audible scale, Mr. Aceves said that tones, which otherwise would be lost, could be brought out sharply and clearly by the use of the receiver which he has perfected.

He said it also could be used to correct imperfect acoustics in a room which blurred certain parts of the tonal scale. By changing the setting of a control the audio circuit could be tuned to widen or reject certain frequencies so that they issue from the loud speaker with a natural sound.

The device, he said, was applicable also to electric phonograph reproduction where radio amplifiers were used. The same results, he asserted, could be had by use of the device in talking pictures.

Allen By Dumont, radio tube engineer of Montclair, N. J., exhibited a tiny electronic motor rotating at high speed inside a vacuum tube. The motor operates only when the tube is aglow. Electronic emissions from the heated wire striking against a plate fastened to a shaft causes the motor to revolve. He said it could be used for novelty displays or for turning the hands of a clock.

A COMING CONVENIENCE

The next step in the production of small cars is said to be one which can be used as a cigarette-lighter as well.

HOPE TO FIND ARCTIC ROUTE TO DOMINION

Expedition to Set Out for Greenland This Summer to Study Possibilities of Proposed Plane Route — Extensive Surveys Will Be Made.

LONDON, June 4.—The dream of establishing an Arctic air route from Britain to Canada will lead an expedition of British scientists into the desolate ice cap of Greenland this summer.

Making the journey in Sir Ernest Shackleton's historic ship, "Quest," a group of surveyors, airmen and meteorologists will sail down the Thames July 3 bound for the Faroe Islands, Iceland and Greenland, where they will stay the entire year exploring a route to the North American continent. The Canadian Government has shown great interest in the proposal and will undertake a survey of the Canadian end of the proposed route from Winnipeg up through Hudson Bay and Baffin Land.

The expedition which is being sent under the auspices of the Royal Geographic Society, will be equipped for a thorough meteorological and geographical survey of the frozen centre of Greenland. Airplanes, fast motor boats and dog teams for scouting trips will all be at the disposal of the expedition on the shores of Iceland and Greenland and on the vast ice cap of the interior.

As the route is being surveyed, an experimental flight will be made over the entire route from England to Canada and back. Not only is it the shortest route, but has the enormous advantage that the longest stretch of sea flying necessary is only 300 miles. For more than four-fifths of the way there are natural emergency landing grounds and a system of gasoline dumps will be carefully organized.

The Greenland route has already been flown by American navy seaplanes on their round-the-world flights, but never have there been efforts to make a practicable commercial air route of it. Weather conditions of Iceland and the Faroes are well known and flying conditions also have been investigated, but Greenland is comparatively unexplored. The whole centre of Greenland is a vast ice plateau about 500 miles across or a line between Iceland and Baffin Land and rising to 8,000 feet above the sea level. This plateau has only been crossed twice anywhere near its centre and all crossings have been made in summer.

PRIZES WERE PRESENTED AT STANBRIDGE E.

Miss Janette Bullard Took Premier Honors in Essay Competition on "Natural Resources and Industries of Canada."

STANBRIDGE EAST, Que., June 4.—On Empire Day Mrs. Roy Fortin, principal of the Model School, invited the members of the Women's Institute to the school from two to three o'clock, when a short programme was given. The pupils had been asked to write an essay on "The Natural Resources and Industries of Canada," and fifteen of them entered the contest. These papers were numbered by the principal and judged by Rev. Mr. Nesbitt, Rev. Mr. Carleton and Mr. C. B. Gittens. The first place was won by Miss Janette Bullard, and the second prize by Miss Alice Bullard. The first item on the programme was a song, "Land of Our Birth," by the school, with Mrs. Fortin at the piano. Then the prize winners in turn read their papers, which were very interesting and showed great care in the composition. "God Save the King" brought the afternoon to a close. The prizes, in money, were given by the members of the Institute.
