Accused ALQ member says he helped raid armories, stage holdups

RENE DION

MONTREAL (CP) — An accused member of L'Armee de Liberation du Quebec turned prosecution witness in a surprise move Tuesday and his evidence wiped the smiles off the faces of six co-accused.

Rene Dion, a rangy, 17-year-old calmly testified he and the rest of the accused staged armory raids in Montreal and Shawinigan, as well as a number of holdups.

He said no pressure had been put on him by an RCMP officer who saw him Tuesday morning although he had been told "my case would go better for me" if he appeared in the witness stand.

Dion said he carried arms in both armory robberies, held up a guard at the Shawinigan robbery Feb. 20, and helped tie up a dozen persons in Les Fusilliers-Mont-Royal armory in Montreal Jan. 30.

The vehicles used in both raids were a red panel truck and a small white car of European make, he said.

Co-accused are: Andre Watter, 23, Jean LaSalle, 22, Pierre Nadon, 19, Robert Hudon, 20, Jean Gagnon, 26, and Claude Perron, 20.

PLAN RAIDS IN APARTMENT They had smiled and exchanged jokes, particularly during cross-examination, at preliminary sessions of Hudon's preliminary hearing on an armed robbery charge arising from the Shawinigan raid. Dion said both armory raids were plotted in an east-end Montreal apartment occupied by himself, Hudon and Perron.

In the Montreal raid, he said Watter and Nadon broke into the fortress-like armory and the rest followed. He said he and Hudon were armed with Belgian F-N semi-automatic rifles and Perron with a smaller calibre rifle, obtained from the United States.

Once inside, he said he helped tie up a dozen armory occupants but gave few details of the looting in which a large quantity of modern arms and ammunition were packed into the red panel truck and driven out of the building in broad daylight.

The weapons were first stored in a garage the gang had rented, then packed in crates and moved to an apartment occupied by Gagnon and Nadon. The Shawinigan raid started from his Montreal apartment under the leadership of Watter and LaSalle, he said.

He said LaSalle and Watter broke into the rear of the armory, saw the clear, and called on the remainder to enter by talking to them on a walkie-talkie.

He said he and Hudon were armed with revolvers. The gang loaded weapons into the truck and then split up.

Johnson men win vote in Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—U.S. Senator Daniel B. Brewster, bearing the shield of President Johnson, defeated segregationist Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama in Wednesday's Maryland presidential preference primary that was clouded by a close vote and a murky legal question.

In a torrid Democratic race pinned on his opposition to the civil rights bill pending in the Senate, Wallace drew 212,068 votes, 42.66 per cent of the party total.

It was better than his showing in either Indiana (29.8 per cent) or Wisconsin (33.7), and he claimed vindication in the Maryland vote of his stand against the rights bill originated by the late John F. Kennedy and pushed by President Johnson.

But Brewster was elated by his effort to preserve Maryland's 48 national nominating convention votes for President Johnson.

Brewster wound up with 264,813 votes, 53.23 per cent of the total. The remaining four per cent were cast by voters preferring perennial also-ran Andrew J. Easter, a Baltimore draftsman, or an unstructured delegation to the national convention.

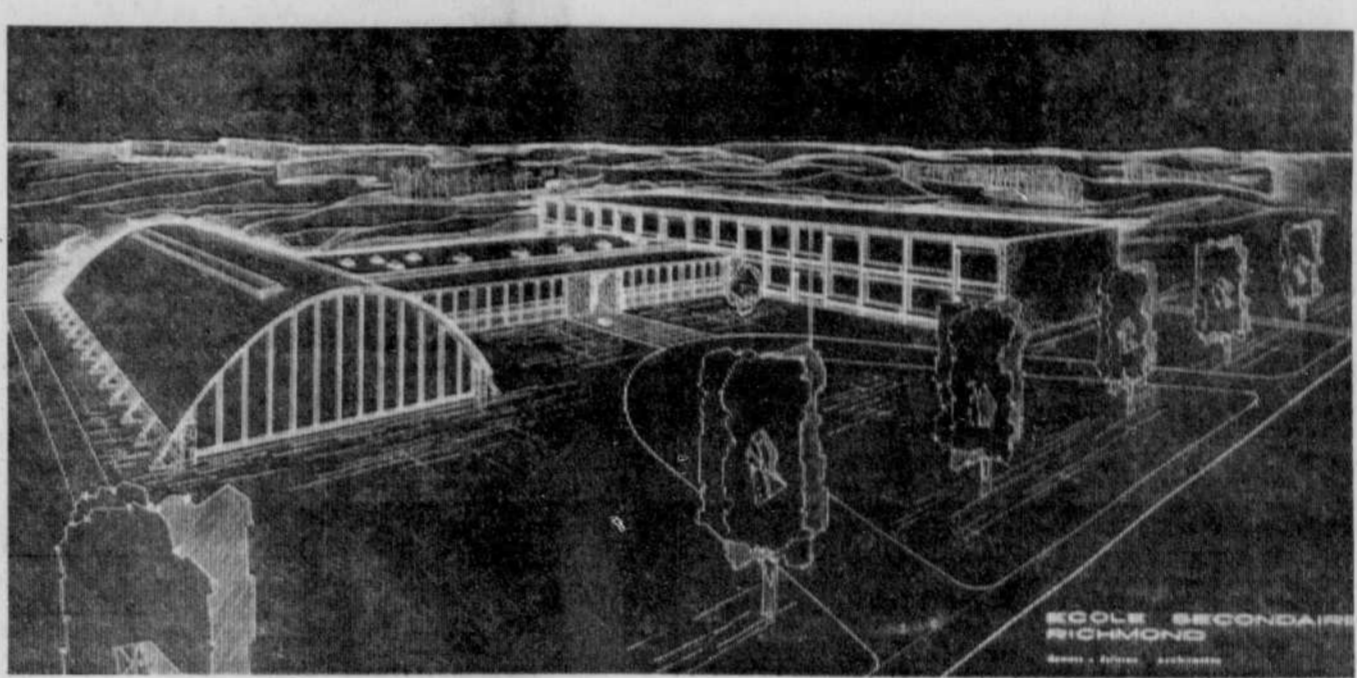

"We made the fight and we won and I'm glad," said Brewster.

He had called Wallace a bigot and a liar during the campaign and aimed this parting shot at him Wednesday night: "In baseball, anyway, it's three strikes and you're out."

Wallace didn't see it that way. "CAN'T GET RID OF US" "This Maryland vote," he said, "should let them know in Washington and in both national parties that they can't get rid of us by calling us bad names."

Laotian Plaine des Jarres falls to Communist force

NEW RICHMOND SCHOOL — Notre Dame High School, a new $630,000 16-classroom secondary school for English-speaking Catholic students at Richmond, Danville, Asbestos, Windsor, and area, stands nearly completed. Construction on the building which will accommodate some 350 students is expected to be completed by July. Work began in September. Included in the building are staff offices, gymnasium, laboratory, domestic science rooms and library. Contractor is Aime Beaudet and architect is Philippe Demers.

VIENTIANE (AP) — The last positions held by neutralist forces in the Plaine des Jarres region have fallen to the Communists, Premier Souvanna Phouma announced today.

Neutralist Gen. Kong Le abandoned his emergency command post and withdrew further southwest of the plain in the face of continuing Communist pressure, a spokesman for Souvanna said.

A government statement said "following massive attacks, prepared well in advance launched by the Lao-Viet (Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese) troops against our (neutralist) position in the Plaine des Jarres and Muong Phanh, the last neutralist positions existing on the plateau of Xieng Khouang have fallen . . ."

Muong Phanh, perched on the western edge of the plain, was Kong Le's original headquarters site which the Communists took Monday after an offensive during the weekend.

The statement did not pinpoint additional neutralist positions that have fallen. Earlier it was reported that the neutralists were clinging to several positions on the fringes of the plain, including Muong Kheung, the headquarters for Kong Le's armored regiment some 20 miles northwest of Muong Phanh.

Kong Le's withdrawal—his second in two days—was not reported caused by a fresh Red attack although two Communist battalions, roughly 800 men, were said to be close behind. It appeared to be that the neutralist general was seeking to avoid a showdown battle.

After the withdrawal from Muong Phanh Monday, Kong Le set up a new command post in a hilltop position at Ban Khong, four miles southwest of Muong Phanh.

The first item on the agenda, an amendment to the Succession Duties Act, was approved in less than a minute. The amendment increases basic exemption from succession duties to $20,000 from $10,000, where the estates involved is worth less than $50,000.

Tax fine is 'too severe'

QUEBEC (CP) — Debate bogged down in the Quebec Legislature Tuesday night when opposition members protested that a 10-per-cent fine is too severe for Quebec businessmen who try to cheat the government on sales tax.

The provision appears in a government bill setting provincial sales tax at a uniform six per cent across the province. The bill says that businessmen who hold back sales tax should be fined 10 per cent of the amount involved.

Opposition members said the penalty is too harsh, especially if it is to be retroactive.

The legislature started out quickly enough Tuesday when it resumed its regular work after a three-day recess to consider a private bill submitted by the Quebec College of Pharmacists.

The first item on the agenda, an amendment to the Succession Duties Act, was approved in less than a minute. The amendment increases basic exemption from succession duties to $20,000 from $10,000, where the estates involved is worth less than $50,000.

2 returned, one elected in voting

Two outgoing aldermen were re-elected and a new alderman was voted in in municipal elections held Tuesday in two Richmond County communities.

At St. Francois Xavier de Brompton yesterday 192 voters placed Leo Gagnon at the council table as new alderman for a two-year term.

Mr. Gagnon fills seat No. 4 left vacant by retiring alderman Emile LaHie.

Mr. Gagnon defeated only opponent, Hilaire Labbee by 43 votes. Mr. Gagnon gained 117 votes in the election yesterday and Mr. Labbee, 74 votes. One ballot was rejected.

Some 535 people were eligible to vote in Tuesday's election at St. Francois Xavier de Brompton.

Two outgoing aldermen were re-elected in elections held yesterday at St. Claude.

Outgoing alderman Roland Richard begins a second two-year term following a 121-vote win over only opponent Adrien Arel. Alderman Richard fills Seat No. 4. Of the 230-vote total yesterday, Alderman Richard received 172 votes and Mr. Arel 51 votes. Seven votes were rejected.

Alderman for Seat No. 1, Eddie Hamel was also re-elected. Mr. Hamel received 158 votes over only contestant, Aime Fonteville who won 68 votes. Four votes were rejected. Alderman Hamel will serve a two-year term also. He has already served four years.

Lawyer testifies

QUEBEC (CP)—A rangy lawyer who helped make Wilbert Coffin's plea "I am innocent" ring across the continent takes the stand again today before the Brossard royal commission in the Coffin case.

Lawyers at the commission hearings here have been questioning Francois Gravel for the last two days about his role in the case.

Tax bill studied

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons largely disposed Tuesday of a complex 25-page income tax bill arising from the March 18 budget, but then bogged down on a banking bill.

The income tax measure, boosting certain tax deductions for students and their parents and plugging various loopholes, was reported out of committee stage, where it was given clause-by-clause study. It is expected to receive final approval today with little or no debate.

Attacks budget

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The 1964-65 budget brought down in the Newfoundland legislature Tuesday by Finance Minister E. S. Spencer was described by Opposition Leader James Greene as "a two-and-a-half hour talk around the fact that there was a $20,000,000 deficit last year."

The budget predicted a $5,103,700 surplus after revenue of $116,123,100 and spending of $111,019,400 on current account. The only tax change affected tobacco with all brands of cigarettes rising in price to 43 cents from 38 cents.

DO IT YOURSELF ARMY — De Witt county deputy sheriff Lou Rempe is shown with some of the weapons seized by treasury agents on a farm near Wapella, Ill. Shown are four mortars, a sub-machine gun, and three 75 mm. recoilless rifle shells. A treasury agent posing as a foreign government agent paid $17,000 for a truckload of weapons which he bought from two men who were then arrested. (AP Wirephoto)

Mike to bear the banner into Parliament very soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Within "a very short time" Canadians will see the maple leaf flag which Prime Minister Pearson is prepared to back with the force of his government.

The cabinet now is in the process of deciding on the design that will be submitted to Parliament, and when this is complete, perhaps by Thursday — Mr. Pearson said Tuesday he is prepared to make it a matter of confidence, he said.

City council favors a distinctive flag

Sherbrooke council threw its support behind the proposed distinctive national flag for Canada at their regular meeting last night.

The city's unanimous approbation is being communicated to Prime Minister Pearson and all Eastern Townships MPs in the House of Commons.

The resolution, introduced by Alderman Marcel Savard asks that the "Canadian parliament adopt a distinctive flag as soon as possible."

"The time has come for this country to have a flag of its own. This request is outside all political considerations," declared Ald. Savard.

"A flag will do a great deal towards advancing the national unity of this country." Ald. Everett Nicol asked if Mr. Savard had any particular design in mind. Mr. Savard didn't.

Pro Mayor Carl Camirand felt the resolution expressed the position of the council. It was unanimously adopted.

Aid liberation

CAIRO (Reuters)—The Arab League today was on record as urging Afro-Asian countries to aid in the liberation of the South Arabia Federation where British and local troops are fighting Yemeni-backed rebel tribesmen.

A resolution of the 3-nation Arab League Council, unanimously approved Tuesday, said "the Arab countries should make immediate contacts with all countries, particularly the Asian and African countries, calling upon them to participate in supporting, materially and morally, the just revolution in occupied southern Yemen."

In a shouted voice vote, the 1,500 delegates at the national convention gave unanimous approval to a resolution favoring the Red Ensign.

Many veterans fought under the flag with the Union Jack in the corner and there were indications the flag question would be raised again today on the convention floor.

In a parallel move, the convention also voted to send telegrams to every member of the House of Commons outlining the stand.

Both moves came at the tail-end of the Tuesday convention session. Only hours before in Ottawa, Prime Minister Pearson disclosed the cabinet had decided on a maple leaf design for the flag.

The prime minister was given a heavy round of applause by most of his supporters when he rose to speak on the flag question. It was the first Commons sitting since Mr. Pearson's Sunday night speech to the Royal Canadian Legion in Winnipeg when he said it was time to unfurl a distinctive new flag with a maple leaf design.

He also told the Commons Tuesday he hoped that O Canada could be declared the official national anthem at this session of Parliament. Both O Canada and a new flag were part of the Liberal party's election platform.

As he had done in Winnipeg, Mr. Pearson threw cold water on the idea that a national referendum should be held on the question of a new flag. "I think it would be better for the government to take its responsibility in the matter by submitting a particular proposal to Parliament and then let members of Parliament, as the representatives of the people, decide it."

He said it had been made clear to members of the Liberal party that they could vote as their conscience dictates without fear of being read out of the party. It was a personal question, close to the conscience and emotions of individuals.

It was still too early to say when Parliament would see the government-approved flag although it would be in a "very short time."

The government had no plans to table the designs now being considered, although Opposition Leader Diefenbaker suggested it was a denial of the rights of Parliament not to see the designs that were shown outside.

Legionnaires waging war for Ensign

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Royal Canadian Legion Tuesday endorsed for the third time the Red Ensign as Canada's flag in a new round of a disagreement with the federal government on the question of a national emblem.

In a shouted voice vote, the 1,500 delegates at the national convention gave unanimous approval to a resolution favoring the Red Ensign.

Many veterans fought under the flag with the Union Jack in the corner and there were indications the flag question would be raised again today on the convention floor.

Find microphones in US Embassy

HIDDEN MICROPHONE IN MOSCOW — A small tube extends to near the edge of this torn wall in the American Embassy in Moscow in this photograph, release to day in Washington by the State Department. The tube, the department said, is connected to one of more than 40 secret microphones discovered at the embassy in April when U.S. security men tore into wall of the building. Officials said the microphones were imbedded 8 to 10 inches deep in the walls. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (CP)—For the last 11 years Soviet security agents apparently have been listening to conversations taking place inside the 10-story United States Embassy building in Moscow—not only in conference rooms but in the living quarters as well.

The state department disclosed Tuesday that after years of effort, security officials finally uncovered a network of more than 40 microphones hidden in the thick walls of the embassy. The first of the microphones was found April 23 by wrecking a room, ripping out the walls and ceiling.

Foy D. Kohler, U.S. ambassador in Moscow, made a formal protest to the Soviet government Tuesday over the listening devices. A statement by the state department's security chief, G. Marvin Gentile, said indications are that the devices were "placed in the building prior to its occupancy by the United States" 11 years ago. The building was assigned to the U.S. by the Soviet government for use as an embassy in 1952 and was actually occupied in the spring of 1953.

Officials said Moscow embassies of Western Allies also have been "bugged" but they declined to discuss details of discoveries other than those in the U.S. Embassy, saying they didn't want to air security problems of their friends.

YOUTH HAS ONLY ONE OPPORTUNITY

Most South players in the Charity Challenge Cup competition will find themselves in four spade contracts. If West opens anything but the ace of diamonds he will have no way to make his contract. Even if he opens the ace of diamonds and continues the suit, he is unlikely to find the winning line of play.

West would not have made that bid with less than seven hearts, therefore, East had played his only heart. Also West had shown the ace of diamonds. If West also held the king of clubs, he would have opened with one heart, not three hearts. Boris was sure that East held the king and plenty of other clubs in back of dummy's queen.

Boris simply led dummy's queen of diamonds. East played the king and Boris discarded a club. East was in the lead.

The bidding went as in the box. West opened the ace of diamonds and continued the suit. Boris ruffed, led a spade to dummy's king and came back to his ace. Then he led a low heart. West's queen lost to dummy's ace and Boris was ready for the key play.

He remembered that West had opened the bidding with three hearts and that West was vulnerable. He was sure with no place to go. A club lead would run around to dummy's queen, a diamond would allow a ruff in dummy and a discard of a club. Either way Boris was going to make his contract.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Alabama-born Dean Jones leaves next month for Madrid and South Viet Nam to play the leading role in The Tom Dooley Story. It's the best chance of his career, but he was reluctant to take it.

"How do you portray a saint?" asked Jones.

Dooley, a dedicated navy doctor, turned his back on the prospect of a prosperous practice at home to return to Laos and try to lend medical assistance.

"I found out that Dooley was an intensely human being," Jones said. "He had a whale of a temper and an ego that was as big as a house. He apparently tried to use his altruistic nature behind a flip image. He seemed to be afraid that people would get maudlin about him. "I had worried that he would have turned out to be a one-dimensional character. He isn't that at all."

Jones has read all Dooley's books. He has seen all the film on Dooley he could find, including two television documentaries and some navy footage.

"The navy stuff was the most useful," said Jones, "because it caught him unposed. The camera panned around and there he was, treating a woman with bound feet. That gave me a chance to observe the real essence of the man."

Dooley was only 34 when he died of cancer in a New York hospital Jan. 18, 1961.

An Asian village has been constructed on the plains outside Madrid, and most shooting days for Tom Dooley will take place there. Interiors will be made at the Bronston studios in Madrid, with a few weeks of exteriors in South Viet Nam and Bangkok, Thailand.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — She has been away for two years, but now Hollywood is seeing a lot of Kim Novak. A whole lot.

After a period of picture-making abroad, Kim came back to town for Kiss Me, Stupid, in which she plays a strip teaser. She made her entrance for her first scene in a costume that is little more than a couple of strategic bandanas.

"I tripped," she related. "I tripped and fell down and, well, I fell out of the costume. The only thing that didn't go awry was the rhinestone in my navel. It's a perfect fit.

"Thank heaven for that—the rhinestone. I wore a ruby in my navel in Jeanne Eagles and they had to glue it in every time. I got a terrible infection from it."

This is Kim's first movie here since Boys' Night Out. She spent a large part of last year making and remaking Of Human Bondage in Ireland, where she had an argument with the director, Henry Hathaway, over her Cockney accent. The accent stayed; Hathaway went.

"I don't know what's happened to the picture," she said. "I haven't heard anything about it. I guess they were having a little trouble with the censors over my nude scene. Silly. It wasn't that much, really."

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency is expected to resume its interest in television's "sex and violence" themes with new hearings soon.

Some of the programs which were under sharp scrutiny, if not attack, during the original hearings four years ago, are still around in reruns.

Sexual themes have been prominent this season in many social drama series—the doctor, psychiatrist, nurse, social worker and even teacher shows.

Almost all the late evening dramatic shows have dealt rather frankly with subjects traditionally considered too adult for youthful eyes and ears, and so—occasionally—has an early-evening program like Mr. Novak.

However, it appears that the days when every action-adventure series ended in a long, messy fight are definitely over.

City organization predicts:

10% to be trained for CD in 5 years

A delegation from Sherbrooke's civil defence organization predicted last night that ten per cent of the population will be trained for civil defence within five years.

By IRWIN BLOCK
(Record staff reporter)

The prediction was made before city council, where the delegation, led by civil defence

The city's business

St. Peter's accepts cemetery land offer

The Corporation of St. Peter's Church has accepted the city's offer of 10 cents per square foot for a section of its cemetery land to be used in connection with access roads to the Montreal-Terrill Street bridge. The city has agreed to construct retaining walls where necessary and that the land be suitably landscaped.

To vote on zone change

Residents of Bryant Street between King Street West and Bryant Street will decide tomorrow whether or not they favour a zoning change to allow construction of multi-family dwellings on three lots in the zone.

Ald. Marcel Savard said last night he hoped city proprietors would follow the city's example and "clean up" as the city has just done in sandblasting the walls of the municipal and Sherbrooke libraries.

He said that a number of persons had expressed their satisfaction with the buildings' facelift.

Council building inspector Aime Gagnon is to study the possibility of enlarging the commercial zones on King West, between Jacques Cartier Boulevard and Don Bosco Street.

A total of 13 proprietors are eligible to vote in the referendum, being held in the Pelletier School on Charter Street. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Electoral officer is Henri Paul Emond, city clerk.

The study will probably result in a number of zoning by-laws to allow for larger commercial buildings to be built on the artery.

chief Col. Sarto Roy was petitioning the city for the use of the basement of fire station No. 2 as headquarters for their training program.

Differentiating between the role of the army and his organization in civil defence, Col. Roy said that the army would re-enter a city after it had been attacked and only then occupy itself with victims of an enemy attack.

The civil defence organization remains in the city throughout an attack, assisting the injured and helping to limit material and human damage, before the army re-enters the stricken city, he said.

He likened its function to that of the Home Guard in the United Kingdom during World War two "blitz" days. In peacetime, the organization is ready to provide assistance in the event of natural disasters, such as floods and fires.

The budget for civil defence is shared jointly by provincial, federal and municipal governments, with the federal government footing 75 per cent of the cost.

Sherbrooke is the center of zone 5 comprising 80 cities and towns in the Eastern Townships and 523,000 people. It is for this reason, Col. Roy said, that the city should provide the civil defence with adequate training facilities at a reasonable price.

They are presently occupying part of the post office basement. The request for the use of the new station No. 2 basement was deemed necessary because of a lack of training space.

He told council it would be in the best interests of the city to allow civil defence to use the city's facilities. A truck for varied rescue operations which is on order would be put at the disposal of the city.

Mayor Armand Nadeau agreed that the work of the committee is for the good of the city. Council had previously decided to ask $100 monthly rent for the use of the basement. The committee was paying $75 in their post office headquarters.

The chairman of the city's protection committee Ald. Everett Nicol said he was not opposed to the use of the fire station basement, but wanted the city to charge $100 monthly rent.

Mayor Nadeau replied that it was "a question of collaboration" rather than money.

"They do a worthwhile job. We could be attacked tomorrow and we would depend on this organization for assistance," he said.

Ald. Antonio Pinard said the civil defence would soon be more efficient than the militia. Ald. Amedee Roy thought it was a question of prestige and that the city should provide the space for it.

The danger of interference with fire fighting operations at station No. 2 was brought out by Mr. Nicol. He said he would not like to see civil defence trainees "all over the station."

Col. Roy assured him that strict orders would be given to stay away from the main floor of the station.

Still, no decision on the rent to be charged was taken last night. Decision was deferred until next week.

The four students who attended from this area were: Ronald Graham, Bishop's College School; Jocelyne Blais, Marymount High School; Jeannine Bertrand, Sherbrooke High School and Norman Lewis, Lennoxville High School. These delegates were accompanied to the assembly by Rotary members, Eugene Fleischacker,

Fire levels Magog chicken farm

MAGOG — (Staff) — A fire of unknown origin levelled Adrien MacLure's chicken farm on the outskirts of Magog on the Ayer's Cliff road yesterday morning about 4 p.m.

The building, valued at about $10,000, was empty at the time of the fire. The building was insured for only $5,000, police said. A man passing through the area in his automobile saw the flames and awoke the proprietor but by then it was too late to save the chicken house. The Magog fire department was called to protect the house and nearby barn from the flames and the fire was contained to the one structure.

Bird watcher's notes

By J. GRAHAM PATRIQUIN

For several observers on the first Wednesday night excursion of 1964, the excellent viewing of a baby Great Horned Owl was a decided novelty. For the night-prowling residents of the lofty hardwoods, our inquisitive visit was an old story. We were told by the hospital owner of the Sutton maple grove that since he was a small boy, owls have invariably nested in the lovely woodlots.

The woods, fields and stream at Kingsbury Slate Quarries revealed no less than 74 species to 37 well-pleased observers on Saturday morning, a third of whom were newcomers to this delightful area. An emerging sun dissipated the nebulous early-morning haze about 10 a.m., and the woods broke into song. Seventeen identified Warblers were among the choristers. Rose-breasted Grosbeaks in quantity decorated the landscape and supplied a strong alto section. A few favored observers had a glimpse of a nest with a single egg of this gorgeous proboscite.

A Solitary Sandpiper and Indigo Bunting got considerable attention, but it was a Yellow-throated Vireo, posing high in a tree, that obliged by staying about 15 minutes under the scrutiny of the Balsope. Mrs. Eric Sullivan, approaching the speculating group around the "scope, remarked casually as she spotted the bird without benefit of high-powered lenses, "Yellow-throated Vireo?"

The Bowers family came through with good stuff; Mrs. Bowers, one of the very best authorities on wildflowers and plants, triumphantly displayed a long-sought — for Walking Fern, the first in her experience, while her husband is reasonably sure that he located the nesting grounds of numerous Great Blue Herons.

Await sentence for a theft with violence

Two Sherbrooke men will appear before Judge Benoit Turmel in Court of Sessions tomorrow for sentencing after being found guilty Saturday of theft with violence to a Deauville man.

The men, Fernand Goyette, 24, and Jean Guy Cimon, 19, were accused of having stolen $14 from Leo Joyal, 66, of Deauville last Friday afternoon.

At present the men are being held in the local jail.

Mr. Goyette and Mr. Cimon had gone to see Mr. Joyal at Deauville to rent two horses for a period of three hours. Each of the men had made a deposit of $7 to Mr. Joyal but upon returning from their ride the men asked Mr. Joyal to return their deposit and also demanded that he drive them to Sherbrooke. In making this demand the men beat Mr. Joyal with their fists and kicked him several times.

GLIDER LANDS IN BURY, PILOT ESCAPES INJURY

BURY — (Staff) — A 30-foot glider en route from Montreal to Megantic non-stop made a forced landing in a field here, Monday, narrowly missing a few houses. The pilot of the one-man glider, Garth Schieb of Montreal escaped unharmed after landing in the hilly field on a farm belonging to Cecil Coates in Bury. He was flying with six other gliders all belonging to a Montreal glider club when he found he was losing altitude and was forced to land. The pilot stayed in Mr. Coates' home until he was picked up by a friend from Montreal. The glider was dismantled and transported in his trailer.

Seek comparison of paving prices

The city will not ask for tenders in connection with an estimated $100,000 in street paving works, which are scheduled for the next few months. Instead, a different scheme was evolved at last night's city council sitting.

Sherbrooke's civic administration will ask Fabi and Sons for its estimate, at the same time, a study will be made of prices paid by other municipalities who had their streets paved by different contractors.

This new system was suggested by Ald. Antonio Pinard. Stiff opposition to the proposal was encountered from Ald. Amedee Roy and Paul Gervais. They wanted to continue with the usual practice of calling for tenders with specifications with a bond guaranteeing execution included in the submission.

To study lights

A study of traffic lights on King Street West between Cathedral and Belvedere Streets will be prepared by police chief Edouard Moreau following a discussion of the present setup at last night's council meeting.

The present system was described as "inadequate" by a majority of aldermen present at the meeting.

Ald. Amedee Roy told council that pedestrians could not cross King Street West as a result of the heavy traffic on the main artery.

A suggestion to synchronize lights all along King Street West was made by Ald. Antonio Pinard. He said that every time a pedestrian ventures out onto the street he places his life in danger.

Ald. J. M. Jeanson told council that Sherbrooke was behind in traffic signals.

Mr. Johnson condemns race prejudice

The address delivered by Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson at East Angus Sunday night differed on one important respect from many of the statements made by prominent politicians in recent months on constitutional problems facing this country.

While many politicians, including Mr. Johnson himself, have spoken frequently of recognizing the "French Fact" in dealing with the broader Canadian problems, Mr. Johnson emphasized the necessity of accepting the "English Fact" in this province.

As citizens of the Province of Quebec, members of minority groups had equal rights before the law, he stressed and indicated there should never be any question of depriving the English-language minority of its linguistic and religious rights.

Unfortunately his appeal for the abandonment of racial prejudices, which he claimed injured both the victims and practitioners of hate doctrines, is not shared by many of the more vocal leaders of the quasi-separatist movements.

To judge by the impassioned pleas of many of these radicals, the elementary purpose of creating an independent state in Quebec is to remove every vestige of English language and culture in this province. Their main claim is that only by removing the safeguards provided for the minorities under the British North America Act can Quebec be made a unilingual French state. And the only method of removing these safeguards is to end the existence of Canada itself, they argue.

Mr. Johnson, who holds strong views on the supremacy of the provinces in most fields, has made it clear he does not believe that strengthening the position of the provinces should be accompanied by any discriminatory attitude towards the minorities within the province.

Sometimes a husband thinks that his wife is a thing of beauty and a jaw forever.

Politicians, not flags the choice

Indications that Prime Minister Pearson will treat the issue of a distinctive Canadian flag as a matter of confidence raises the possibility of a general election being called in Canada within the next few months.

The possibility is admittedly a remote one. But it is a pity that it should exist at all.

The prime minister said yesterday he intends to place his proposal for a flag design with maple leaves to replace the Red Ensign before Parliament tomorrow. Then, he said, he hopes the flag legislation will be passed as rapidly as possible.

We doubt if the thing will be passed over as smoothly as all this. Most of the Progressive Conservative members will be sure to debate furiously against the proposal. Some Liberals will undoubtedly vote against the new flag, if, as the prime minister has said, there is to be a free vote. The NDP and two Social Credit wings will probably vote mainly with the government, but there may be some dissenters.

In short, while the government is unlikely to fall on the issue, the flag will become an even hotter political football than it has been up to the present.

A doctor may add ten years to a man's life, giving him plenty of time to pay the bill.

Sleepy drivers prove daytime peril

In recent weeks there have been several instances in this district of a sleepy driver becoming involved in an accident.

And, according to United States surveys, this is not a local weakness. The survey shows that sleepy drivers of automobiles kill 1,500 persons and injure 50,000 others in the Republic each year.

And most of these accidents occur during the daylight hours and not at night.

The sleepy driver may actually doze off completely or become an easy victim of "highway hypnosis."

Coffee has been suggested as a good means of averting driving fatigue but nothing beats sleep as a cure for drowsiness. A driver who pulls off the road and stretches out for a ten-minute nap awakes refreshed, clear-eyed and alert.

The trouble with the coffee remedy is that the driver who is in too much of a hurry to relax is also in too much of a hurry to stop for a cup of coffee.

Other papers say:

Quebec studies secession price

In its search for an identity, within or outside Canada, the province of Quebec is leaving few stones unturned. Secession of Quebec from Canada is generally regarded (except by a few rabid separatists) as a step to be considered only as a very last resort, if the province does not get from the country what it wants. Nevertheless, even last resorts are being looked at. A special committee of the Quebec legislature has been set up to study the possible political, economic, social and cultural effects on the province of separation from Canada. Mr. Lesage is not on the committee, but two of his cabinet ministers—Mr. Rene Levesque and Mr. Paul Gerin-Lajoie—are; so are Mr. Daniel Johnson, leader of the Union Nationale, and his first lieutenant.

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Canadians—even the 13 per cent which a Maclean's magazine survey indicated were separatist—would for long put up with the disadvantages that inevitably would fall to Quebec if it became a nation in its own right. Some of the consequences of secession were outlined in a speech the other night in Montreal by Mr. Maurice Lamontagne, Canada's secretary of state. Admittedly Mr. Lamontagne is a federal cabinet minister. But he is also a Quebecer and an economist. It is his belief, as an economist and a French Canadian, that the separation of Quebec from the rest of the nation would lead to a substantial fall in the standard of living of the people of that province.

That seems a valid enough argument. If Quebec were by itself, it would have its own immigration and tariff laws. Industries now located in the province and serving all Canada might find their markets curtailed. New industries would be reluctant to establish in the province, while some established industry would in all probability move out. So would the head of fices of some national concerns—banks, corporations, railways, etc.—that are now located in Montreal. That port would become a Quebec port rather than a Canadian outlet and would suffer in consequence. The upshot would be economic stagnation, massive unemployment and lower living standards.

Nor is Mr. Lamontagne any more optimistic about Quebec's chances for survival by itself in the cultural field. He claims, with some justification, that it is quite impossible in today's world to isolate a culture. Even in an independent Quebec the insistent voice of America would continue to be heard. If province (or nation) was economically weak and its people discontented, it would be even more susceptible to this voice from the United States—whether the voice was good or bad. A French-speaking nation of the size that Quebec would be, surrounded by a sea of English-speaking people—those in the United States and the rest of Canada—would retain its cultural identity undiluted only at the risk of complete isolation and stagnation.

Enfant terrible of the West

De Gaulle's independent policy a challenge to US leadership

PARIS — (NEA) — "Why don't you Americans try to understand General de Gaulle, instead of picking him to pieces?" This is the question most frequently asked these days whether the speaker is a Foreign Ministry official at the Quai d'Orsay, or the editor of a Gaullist newspaper. There is no detectable hostility behind the question. The anti-American bias, if any, is soft-pedaled. Instead, the tone is one of gentle reproach. If the Gaullists are to be believed, France is the aggrieved party, its president much maligned. (Harry Truman's reported desire to chop off de Gaulle's nose if he poked it into Latin America, in particular, did not go over well here.)

Among other things, de Gaulle in the past two years has: • Torpedoed British entry into the European Common Market, thereby in the U.S. view, weakening the Atlantic Alliance. • Refused to sign the Moscow nuclear test ban treaty.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS May 20, 1964 . . . The Germans began a parachute and glider invasion of the mountainous island of Crete 23 years ago today—in 1941—to establish sea communications in the Aegean and provide fields for air action against Middle East and Mediterranean shipping routes. Of the 27,500 imperial troops garrisoning the island, 14,580 had been evacuated by the end of May. German losses were estimated at 12,000 to 15,000, including a high percentage of killed.

1927—Lindbergh started the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight. 1948—Buzz Beurling, Canadian war ace, was killed when the plane he was piloting crashed on a flight to Rome.

China it may prove hard to resist Chinese political penetration. Then French attitude is different toward Mexico and South America. Trade considerations, as well as prestige influence French thinking here. French industry is seeking new outlets. Not even fresh trade agreements with Russia and the Eastern European bloc will be sufficient to take up the slack, for example, in the steel industry, which is suffering from overproduction. In the long run, France must look to the developing countries for trade. Recent long-term French loans to Mexico, Greece and Iran provide for the purchase of French equipment and technical services, and de Gaulle is expected to offer similar government loans to the Latin-American countries on his scheduled visit this autumn.

Such aid has its altruistic aspect, but it is intended as a direct challenge to United States interests in the Western Hemisphere. With France taking the diplomatic and economic offensive in Asia, Africa and Latin America, it is hard to believe the picture which the Gaullists paint of her as an aggrieved nation. It is harder still to believe that her president is misunderstood by the Americans.

MAY BE BY BACH BOLOGNA, Italy (AP)—Professor Napoleone Fanti, a music museum librarian, says that after months of study he is convinced he has found a manuscript of three fugues for clavichord by Wilhelm Friedmann Bach, a son of Johann Sebastian Bach, (The Great) Bach. The two fugues were among documents of the G. B. Martini Conservatory.

By recognizing Mao's China, de Gaulle was merely admitting the existence of a 600-million-person reality, this spokesman maintained. He quoted de Gaulle's words: "In Asia there can be no peace nor any war imaginable without China being involved."

What has France itself gained from the recognition of Red China? From a trade standpoint, almost nothing. China lacks the hard currency to buy French products, and France has little need for hog bristles and soy sauce which China might export. On the other hand, by establishing relations with Peking, France has boosted its prestige with those African countries, Algeria in particular, that lean toward a Castrolite socialism. It has also increased the danger of Communist subversion in these same African states, in the view of most Western observers. If the French-speaking African countries follow de Gaulle's example and recogni: Red

OTTAWA — You get a different slant on Rene Levesque by talking to politicians who know him, and who understand the circumstances in which the Quebec resources minister is operating.

Outside Quebec Mr. Levesque has replaced Real Caouette as the most irritating French-Canadian politician in the often angry and intemperate debate on Quebec's and Canada's future. To many English-Canadians he's a demagogue, a rabble rouser, a fanatic, even a traitor.

Inside Quebec he's a student's hero, the voice of the intellectual revolution that is replacing old political ideas with new, and the politician behind much of the push-push from Quebec that Ottawa and the rest of Canada resent and resist.

But what really makes Rene tick? Is it personal vanity, ambition, or perhaps resentment born of a feeling of inferiority? Is he patriot or charlatan? Is he rational? His wilder statements, like his proposal for the partial separation of Quebec into the status of an "associate state", suggest the worst. So I asked those who know him . . .

"Rene's a man searching his way, but he's honest, and he's not a separatist," said a federal cabinet minister. "He's no more than a left-wing liberal. He wants Quebec to have a standard of living like Ontario's, and to administer its own affairs, but the idea that Premier Lesage is Levesque's tool is not correct. Rene's influence in cabinet is more than that of several other ministers. Lesage is the boss."

"Rene's trying to identify completely with young people, to project what they think, and to lead them to vote Liberal in the next election. Especially the 300,000 to 400,000 between 18 and 21 who will vote for the first time."

"Young people in Quebec aren't interested in what goes on outside Quebec. They're most parochial. Rene reflects this. What I want him to do is to lead them to a broader outlook, to give them a Canadian vision so they'll be Canadian nationalists instead of merely Quebec nationalists. As a Canadian that's where his great opportunity lies."

Strong-headed, at times arrogant, always blunt, he is said never to prepare his statements and speeches, but to talk off the top of his head and say what he thinks regardless of consequences.

"Sometimes his statements are appalling," a Quebec Liberal MP told me. "He forgets he's a politician and a minister, and talks like a newspaperman, which he was before 1960. I think he realizes he went too far on that 'associate state' business, and he's trying to slide out from under."

The same Levesque who flatly told Northern Affairs Minister Laing to "get out of Quebec" and leave the Ungava Eskimos to him amazed Laing by his cooperativeness in January's conference on resources. Again contradictorily, Levesque helped materially in working out the compromise between Quebec and Ottawa last month on finances, taxes and pensions, thus reducing the strains on confederation.

"Now if Rene would only shut up for nine months, even six months, and give us a chance to develop this new concord," one of the Quebec Liberals here sighed.

And they're working on him, to persuade him to do just that. Or at least to think before he speaks, so his tongue will echo his mind, not his emotions.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16.) PRAYER: Dear God, our heavenly Father, help us to walk each day that others may see the radiance of the inner light of the Holy Spirit shining through us. By our lives lead others to accept Christ as their Savior, friend, Redeemer. In the name of the Lord, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Two meetings are held to plan for program for Knowlton community school this autumn

KNOWLTON — The Executive of the Knowlton Community School is working on the program for this coming autumn, and two meetings have been held on March 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Dalenbach, and on May 1st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith. Another is planned for June 18, at which time the program should be completed in detail. It is expected to include the following:

Art — Painting for beginners. BCRDO — A 2 hour course on each of the 8 evenings about the expected growth and change in Brome County in matters of economics, educational facilities, population, etc., with discussion about what is wanted or needed.

French — There will be a class for those of last year's elementary division and others who consider themselves beginners — if enough applications are received by the end of June so that this can be planned with the Provincial Government and the School Commission. The course is held from October to early February — 2 nights a week.

Glee Club — There are arrangements for this course which is believed to be of interest to people who enjoy singing in an informal atmosphere.

Handicrafts — 1. Rugmaking; making small articles, and knitting. There is a bilingual instructor for this course.

2. Crocheting; an instructor is available if anyone is interested. Please advise.

3. Chair caning; it is believed this course will be well received by people who wish to restore chairs. Will those interested please remove varnish from chairs they wish to recane.

4. Woodworking; details of this course will be published later.

Music Appreciation — This course will be held in the school for 2 hours on each of the 8 nights and consist of listening to records and discussing them with the instructor.

Photography — Instruction on the use of cameras and the equipment that is needed; the art of taking pictures, and possibly help with movie cameras.

Typing — This has been one of our popular courses and will be continued.

Time for coffee, for those would like it, will be included at each meeting.

There was a general discussion at the executive meetings about the possibilities of having a course on different religious beliefs. This was thought to be worthwhile, but as the present program is quite full it was agreed to consider this another year.

Other suggestions have been discussed and looked into, and one or more may possibly be included in the 1964 program: They are the following: Cooking and millinery (The executive has tried hard to find instructors, but has not met with success. If anyone can help us please telephone one of the persons listed below); physical fitness; legal matters of interest to everyone — wills, property, etc. (No instructor available at present); public speaking and proper conduct of meeting; book reviews; Canadian history with particular reference to Confederation;

Outdoor sports. (Lectures on hunting; fishing; equipment; laws; use and care of guns; conservation; survival in the woods).

Will anyone who wishes to register for the French class, or who can suggest instructors for the miscellaneous suggestions above, please call one of the following: Mrs. J. L. MacKeen 243-6605; Miss A. Fleury 243-5709; Mrs. Albert Smith 243-6395 or 243-5558; Mrs. Harold Knight 243-6245.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Frequent question that pops up in the warm and wonderful letters I get from mothers:

"Are you real, or just a make-believe person?" Well, I'm a very much alive, proud mother of five, and a several-times grandmother, and we're a close and happy family and down to the last one of us, we think babies are the very nicest things that can happen to people.

Mealtine memo. I loved feeding time with all my children. (And still do when I feed my adorable grandchildren.)

BEDFORD — (Special) — On May 25 a series of sewing classes sponsored by the provincial government will start in the hall of La Caisse Populaire at 8 p.m. Classes will be held afternoons and evenings and will be in charge of Miss Hivert.

Any one desiring information regarding the course may contact Mrs. Frank Corey, CH-8-3735, or Mrs. Cyril Chrysler, CH-8-2735.

Posture week is held in Waterloo

WATERLOO — (Special) — Good posture week was recognized in Waterloo with tests among the children.

For the first time in the Province of Quebec, and to emphasize the importance of good posture, particularly in the growing child, six local chiropractors examined three hundred and twenty boys at St. Bernard's School in Waterloo on Tuesday morning.

This was sponsored by the College of Chiropractors of the Province of Quebec and undertaken through the initiative of the local chiropractors.

The physical tests used were to determine the tonicity of the muscles and the balance of the osseous structure.

On the whole the chiropractors were amazed at the lack of physical fitness of the children examined. However, reports of these tests will be published, in order that physical instructors, parents and the school will be able to use them as research in the problem of child handling.

ST. BRIDGET'S PARISH COUNCIL

St. Bridget's Parish Council held its final monthly meeting of the season in the Canon Fiset Memorial Library recently, with 23 members present.

It was announced that the Provincial Convention of the Catholic Women's League will be held in Quebec City on June 26 and 27.

It was decided to purchase C.W.L. buttons which have been made available at the National Office, so that members engaged in League work may be more readily identified.

Mrs. Fred White, who has accepted the convenership of the Spiritual Committee, reported on activities of the Parish. Members were reminded of the daily 4 p.m. prayers which are being held in St. Patrick's Church throughout the month of May. It was suggested that members make a supreme effort to attend Vespers on Sunday evening as part of a special Spiritual Program for the coming year. All members of the C.W.L. are requested to say one Hail Mary a day for the intentions of the national president.

According to the April issue of the League Magazine, the committee previously known as Publicity has been officially changed to Public Relations with Press and Publicity remaining as sub titles.

Mrs. Norman Haddon, Social Welfare Convener, mentioned the need for knitted articles for babies. It was decided that seven members would buy the required wool while seven others would do the necessary knitting.

Mrs. Gilles Leblanc, Girl Guide convener, reported that four Guides and five Rangers were enrolled during the month. The Religion and Life Emblem was awarded to Betty McVeigh and the Little House Emblem to Sharron Sager.

Mrs. Fred White reported on the Diocesan Convention which was held in Magog and attended by three members of St. Bridget's.

Mrs. Gordon Harmer reported on the Mother's Day Tea which proved to be successful and financially rewarding. Mrs. Harmer thanked the members for their splendid efforts on this project.

The president, Mrs. Don Pankovitch, listed the conveners of the Standing Committees for the coming year as follows: Hospital, Mrs. Ralph Owen; Membership, Mrs. Gordon Breen; Spiritual, Mrs. Fred White; Program, Mrs. Roger Lemieux; Social Welfare, Mrs. Norman Haddon; Public Relations, Mrs. L. Thompson; Magazine, Mrs. Clifford Mills and Girl Guides, Mrs. Gilles Leblanc.

All members were urged to read the League book on Constitution and By-Laws, in which the duties of conveners are clearly defined.

A Membership Party will be held in St. Patrick's Church Hall, today at 8 p.m. Mrs. E. Roberts and Mrs. Ralph Owen will convene the party at which bridge and 500 will be played. This presents an ideal opportunity to bring in new members.

Following the meeting the Rev. Father Clark answered questions which had been previously submitted in writing. This proved extremely interesting and informative, and prompted a lively discussion period. Father Clark was thanked by Mrs. Fred White and presented with a remembrance on the occasion of the forthcoming anniversary of his ordination.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. John Gendron, Mrs. Vija Jerumanes, Mrs. Maureen Laight and Mrs. Liz Thompson.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—I carry a brush hair roller in my purse to use as a miniature lint brush for clothes. Anytime I get hair or lint on my clothes, I take out this brush roller, intended for putting up the hair, and brush off my coat or dress.—
BONNIE.

DEAR POLLY — My pointer is for those who use a piece of carpet for an outside door mat. When the wind blows, it always seems to carry away the mat. My husband took a piece of metal as long as the carpet and drilled holes through both the carpet and the metal. He then put bolts through both and nuts on the back to hold the bolts in. The wind no longer blows our mat away.

Jack Sanford tosses four-hitter for win, Dodgers stop Mets 6-4, Warren Spahn posts his 353rd win

San Francisco Giants are wild about Jack Sanford today, but for being wild there's nothing in National League history that tops Ernie Broglio's performance. Sanford, purposely held out of Monday's game against New York so he could open the key series against league-leading Philadelphia, responded with a four-hit, 3-0 victory over the Phillies Tuesday night that moved the Giants into the top spot by one game. But if the Giants were cheering Sanford, Chicago Cubs probably had to muffle their laughter over the plight of Broglio, the St. Louis right-hander who matched a league record by uncorking three wild pitches in one inning. Andre Rodgers started 1, Houston 3. Chicago 7, St. Louis 3. Philadelphia 6, San Francisco 3. New York 4, Los Angeles 6. Milwaukee 4, Cincinnati 2.

That was all for Broglio. The Cubs went on to score three runs in the inning on only one hit, building a 4-0 lead that led to a 7-4 victory. Elsewhere, Dick Tracewski played the key role as Los Angeles Dodgers defeated New York Mets 6-4. Warren Spahn won his 353rd game in Milwaukee Braves' 4-2 triumph over Cincinnati Reds and Houston Colt-45s downed Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1. Sanford, now 4-3, was locked in a scoreless duel with Dennis Bennett until the seventh when Jim Hart collected his third hit, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Del Crandall's single. Sanford drove Crandall in with the second run of the inning, stroking a single that was bobbled by Wes Covington. Hart went 4-for-4 on the night, driving in the final run in the record.

Norm Siebern blasts former mates, Kansas City, with three hits in tilt, Yanks lose in 13 innings

Charley Finley, who is busy suing Kansas City these days, ought to start his legal beagles working on an indictment against an ex-employee on hit-and-run charges. Finley may not have had time to notice but his ballclub ran into an old friend in Baltimore Tuesday night and the collision was devastating—for the Athletics. Norm Siebern, who used to do his stuff in Finley gold and green, saw his ex-mates for the first time and he gave them plenty to tell the old boss about. The rangy first baseman stroked three hits, the last one a game-winning homer in the 10th inning, as the Orioles nipped the Athletics 3-2. His first-inning single drove in another run and he scored the Orioles' other marker on Boog Powell's double after walking in the eighth. The three hits ran Siebern's average to .336. Jim Gentile, the man Finley got for Siebern, went 1-for-4 for Kansas City, dropping his average to .267, as they say in court, "next case." Elsewhere in the American League, Boston Red Sox pushed across four runs in a weird ninth inning to nip Los Angeles Angels 4-3. Chicago White Sox outlasted Cleveland Indians 6-5. Detroit Tigers topped Washington Senators 5-2 and Minnesota Twins went 13 innings before whipping New York Yankees 7-2. Sieber connected against John Wyatt leading off the 10th to win it for Dick Hall, Baltimore's third pitcher. Oriole starter Robin Roberts carried a 2-1 lead into the ninth but Manny Jimenez doubled and Charley Lau singled to tie it before Stu Miller came on and halted the rally. Bo Belinsky was breezing with a three-hitter for the Angels when the Red Sox staged a Hollywood ending to pull their victory out. Leading 3-0 with two out and none on in the bottom of the ninth, Belinsky seemed home free. But he walked Dick Stuart and after Tony Congiario dou-

British racing suffers from two disadvantages, odds in favor of bookie, starting spots change

LONDON (CP)—British racing suffers from two serious disadvantages that tend to make the sport of kings a pastime for paupers. One is the fact that the odds are tilted in favor of the bookmakers, and the other is that the draw for starting positions often edges the formbook out the window. At its best, horseracing in England is a delight. It has a variety and charm that compensates for the absence of Hialeah's flamingos and the amenities of Woburn. British turf fans, contemplating what they regard as the mechanized quality of North American racing, speak contemptuously of "American bingo." Bookmakers and colorful "fi-tac" men, signaling the odds with agitated gestures of white-gloved hands, impart a picturesque touch to British tracks, which often seem primitive by transatlantic standards but nevertheless have a refreshing old-world quaintness. A sight to remember, for instance, is the view at dusk from the tiny bridge at one of Windsor's exits; the pleasant walk through a forest grove just outside Ascot; and the ferry ride across the Thames to Hurst Park, now turned into a housing estate where the thud of hooves comes from the morning milkwagon. All very pleasant—but achieved at high cost. The bookmakers enjoy a built-in bias, partly because of big fields and partly because the difference between the various courses make picking a winner a boon for hatpin manufacturers.

This year nor never, says Alain Caron

DOLBEAU, Que. (CP)—Alain Caron, one of the most prolific scorers in professional hockey, says that if he doesn't make the National League next season he will quit the game. "It is this year or never," says the powerful winger, who scored 77 goals in 72 games with St. Louis Braves during the season that just ended. Though he has had trouble with his legs in the past, exercise has made it easier for him to skate. He has no trouble whatsoever scoring. Jack Adams, president of the Central Hockey League in which Caron played, said last season he believes the St. Louis scorer could count 40 NHL goals "if he was used with a centre able to pass him the puck." Caron, just turned 26, was voted player most valuable to his club and likes St. Louis. He was treated royally when he returned to this Lake St. John centre, his hometown, in April. But his goal is the NHL. "It doesn't matter which club."

Hockey should be Canada's national game

OTTAWA (CP)—It looks as if the idea that Parliament once declared lacrosse to be Canada's national game is a myth. Mr. Beers wrote: "I believe I was the first to propose the game of lacrosse as the national game of Canada in 1859; and a few months preceding the proclamation of Her Majesty uniting the provinces of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, into one Dominion, a letter headed Lacrosse — our National Field Game, published by me in the Montreal Daily News, in April, 1867, was printed off and distributed throughout the whole Dominion and was copied into many of the public papers. . . . "On the day which created the greater part of British North America a dominion, the game of lacrosse was adopted as the national game. . . ."

Billy Backus stops Fraser

UTICA, N.Y. (CP) — Billy Backus of Canastota, N.Y., scored a 10-round decision over Colin Fraser of Toronto, in a junior welterweight bout here Tuesday. Backus, nephew of former world welterweight and middleweight champion Carmen Basilio, weighed 140 1/2 pounds. Fraser weighed 139. On the same card, middleweight Jim Meilleur of Toronto, knocked out Johnny Abbou of Utica, at two minutes and three seconds of the fourth round of a scheduled six-rounder. Meilleur weighed 156 1/2 pounds, Abbou 161 1/2.

American teams to compete for Allan Cup

HOCKEY MEETING — The 50th annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association opened in Ottawa Monday. Key figures in the week-long talks are CAHA president, Art Potter of Edmonton, (left) and Gordon Jukes, CAHA secretary-treasurer. (CP Wirephoto)

OTTAWA (CP) — Today the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association tidies up its plans for a national team. It's also the day when J. F. (Bunny) Aherne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, is expected to explain his mathematics which resulted in Canada finishing fourth and not third in the 1964 Olympics. Tuesday's sessions were devoted to amending some of the association's regulations and rules. A major change was the decision to allow Spokane (Wash.) Jets and Warroad (Minn.) Lakers to compete for the Allan Cup, symbol of Canadian senior hockey championship. Delegates also made another bid to force National Hockey League-sponsored teams playing in the CAHA ranks to follow the same icing-the-puck rule as other amateur teams. NHL teams disagree. A motion was passed to have all teams follow the rule that play stops when the puck crosses the goal line. The report that the CAHA expects a $60,000 drop in gross revenue sponsored clubs following the NHL from the 1964 Memorial Cup must touch the puck before the whistle is blown. A similar resolution has been passed at annual meetings for the last four years. Each time the NHL has vetoed any change during meetings of the joint rules committee. Delegates also heard some bad news from Gordon Jukes, secretary-manager. The Toronto-Edmonton final was a financial turkey as was a playoff round-robin featuring champions of the Maritimes, the Ottawa district and the Montreal Metropolitan League. Operations in the year ending Dec. 31, 1963, resulted in a net loss of $7,228 and the picture probably would be blacker in the 1964 report.

Horton paces Chiefs to win over Leafs

An all-night drive worked wonders for Willie Horton's batting eye. The 21-year-old outfielder, who hasn't hit the size of his hat for Detroit Tigers since the American League season opened, was optioned to Syracuse Chiefs of the International League Monday. He drove through the night to reach Syracuse in time for Chiefs' Tuesday night date with Toronto Maple Leafs. Then he drove in three runs with a triple, double and single in four trips as Chiefs clobered the league-leading Leafs 7-1. Leafs' discomfiture was no help to second-place Buffalo Bisons, who stayed 2 1/2 games back with a two-run homer in the 10th inning but Curt Blefary enabled Rochester Red Wings to defeat them 4-2. Jim Hughes pitched a three-hitter as Jacksonville Suns blanked Atlanta Crackers 4-0 and Jack Cullen's seven-hitter gave Richmond Virginians a 6-0 victory over Columbus Jets in the other games played. Horton's triple with the bases loaded was the big blow of a five-run seventh inning at Syracuse as Chiefs handed Toronto starter Ken Nixon his first defeat in four decisions. Bruce Brubaker, a teammate of Nixon's at Austin last season, was the winner.

Marlene Hard has turned professional

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Darlene Hard, the United States' top-ranked woman tennis player, has turned professional. The 28-year-old star from Montebello, Calif., who won the national title in 1960 and 1961, started teaching tennis this week in nearby Carmel Valley. She said she plans to marry Frederick Shockley in September and "raise a family." Miss Hard has been top-ranked in the United States four years. In addition to winning the U.S. title at Forest Hills twice, she and partners won four women's doubles titles at Wimbledon and the Wimbledon mixed doubles three times. Her last major championship came in September when she won the Pacific Southwest title in Los Angeles, defeating the present U.S. champion, Maria Bueno of Brazil.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Quebec held its 115th annual session in the Masonic Temple, Lennoxville, on Friday and Saturday, May 15th and 16th, with a good attendance of delegates representing lodges throughout the province, from Shawville in the western end to New Carlisle in the east.

Distinguished visitors were: M.W. Bro. George Warren, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America; M.W. Bro. the Rt. Rev. C. K. S. Moffatt, P.P.G.M. of Manitoba, Grand Chaplain, G.O.L. of B.A.; M.W. Bro. Redvers King, Grand Treasurer; R.W. Bro. Rev. Dr. W. B. Perry, Past G. Chaplain of Newfoundland, and W. Bro. H. The service was conducted by Rev. A. B. Lovelace, pastor of the church, assisted by Rt. Rev. Dr. Moffatt, Rev. Dr. Perry, and M.W. Bro. Rev. R. S. Smith, who preached the sermon on the subject, "Tomorrow." The Benediction was pronounced by Bro. Dr. F. R. Matthews.

Later all sat down to a supper put on by Unit 2 of the U.C.W. of the church. This was presided over by R.W. Bro. T. R. Reside, Prov. Grand Master and M.W. Addresses were given by the guest speakers, Rt. Rev. Dr. Moffatt and M.W. Bro. Geo. Warren, Deputy Minister of Public Works of Newfoundland. The latter stressed the necessity of a broad Canadianism and pointed out that no amount of legislation will create brotherly love and good will. These are brought about by putting into practice the Golden Rule, which should create tolerance, patience, diplomacy and tact.

As sweet and as exciting as a spring kiss aptly describes this amorous clinch between Elizabeth Taylor and Peter Finch, who co-star with Dana Andrews in Paramount's brand new powerful Technical romantic drama, "Elephant Walk", due to open today at the Granada Theatre. "Elephant Walk" is set against the background of the dangerous and exciting jungles of far-off Ceylon.

News flashes from around the world

OTTAWA (CP)—British Victor and Vulcan nuclear bombers will begin low-level training flights out of Goose Bay, Labrador, in July.

Authorities say an advance team from RAF Bomber Command now is at Goose Bay making arrangements for the flights.

Canada and Britain agreed at the last annual NATO ministerial meeting at Paris in December that Bomber Command would use Labrador for an exercise area because the RAF has trouble flying low level training routes in the United Kingdom without disturbing the civilian population.

MONTREAL (CP)—A 14-year-old girl testified Tuesday she watched a holdup in suburban Verdun unfold from her balcony across the street and saw a gunman pump two shots into grocer Yvon Tousignant.

She was unable to identify the man who fired the shots. Diane Bedard was testifying at the opening of the trial of Robert Moran, 30, charged with capital murder in the same case, are to be tried later.

John Allen Thompson, 26, and Robert Moran, 30, charged with capital murder in the same case, are to be tried later.

TORONTO (CP)—CBC-TV has sewn up its prime-time evening network programming schedule for next fall, and it calls for a cutback in Canadian-produced variety and drama in favor of a Monday night series of one-hour hour comedy, variety and drama shows.

The full schedule, for the period 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m., divides the number of programs about equally between those produced by the CBC and those purchased from U.S. and British producers. The schedule starts in the first week of October.

The network's afternoon schedule won't be settled for another couple of weeks, but some popular programs, such as Take Thirty, are almost certain to return.

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's present economic growth can be maintained for some time, barring an extraordinary national disaster or an excess of human stupidity, H. Roy Crabtree, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

He told the Montreal Advertising and Sales Club that business activity in Canada is healthy, rather than hectic, and the present three-year expansion "has certainly created a justifiable atmosphere of optimism."

However, he warned, there is no room for complacency. "In an increasingly competitive world, continuing prosperity and economic expansion at home depend above all else upon the ability of Canadian industry to further strengthen its competitive position both at home and abroad."

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has been unable to find any alternative use for a radar station which will be closed shortly at St. Sylvester, Que., Industry Minister C. M. Drury said in the Commons Tuesday night.

But he said talks on the future use of the building are in progress with the Quebec government and other groups. Mr. Drury was replying to Auguste Choquette (L—Loisbriere), who referred to the economic difficulties of the area and asked what the government planned to do with the structure.

AUSTIN — Mr. and Mrs. M. Juby and family, Waterloo, were weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Royea.

Seeks zoning change

City council will study a zoning change proposed by a builder and his architect to allow for the construction of a seven-story bachelor apartment building on Brooks Street. Construction of the 41-unit building is being delayed because present zoning bylaws dictate that spaces of 25 per cent of the height of the building must be allowed on three sides. The size of the lot is 15 feet too narrow to legally allow the builders to erect seven stories.

Roger Couture, architect for the building told council that a reduction in the building's height, would destroy its proportions and would make the project lose its economic advantages.

He said the city must reconsider its zoning regulations which were drawn up before the trend to high-rise apartments became so pronounced.

Council asked the city's Director of Services Charles Langlois to study the advisability of a zoning change to allow for the realization of the project as originally conceived.

Gerber split is proposed

TORONTO — Dan Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., has announced that the directors proposed a two for one split-up of the common stock. The proposal is subject to stockholder approval at the annual meeting to be held here on July 22.

This will result in an increase in authorized shares to 14 million $2.50 par value shares from seven million $5.00 par value shares. The company has 4,246,918 common shares outstanding.

4 STUDENT

There was a delegate from each country within each committee. His role was to present his country's views on the particular problems, she said.

"One activity led to another and on Thursday we attended a banquet presided over by our chairman. Friday we attended a dance with most of the delegates attired in national costume. Before the end of the dance, however, a group of us were sitting in the lobby discussing the differences between the Canadian and American educational system... the serious side of the situation prevailed at all times. Close contact with American students was in itself an experience... they made me feel right at home," she said.

Norman Lewis was the Canadian representative at the assembly and he was directly involved in which way to vote on certain resolutions. Should he side with France in her decisions or side with the United States on theirs.

"I decided the U.S. resolution was ill-worded and a rather negative one so I abstained and voted in favor of another," she said.

"You tolerated the other person's opinion to a certain degree but at the assembly everything had to be down in black and white, with no reservations of opinion. When someone presented his views we had to be tolerant, with no reservation, so that we could move forward together. Anybody who tries to unite has to relinquish something of himself," he said.

"We were also taught diplomacy. Tolerance is all right but in extreme it becomes apathy and we had to learn to bend so as to move forward," he said.

Ronald Graham had this to say: "One thing I noticed was the extraordinary friendliness of the American people but on the other hand there was a great ignorance of Canada. There was among them still the image of the courier de bois, where Canada was concerned and many still thought of Canada as a place where winter remained almost all year," he said. "There is a great thirst for knowledge of Canada and perhaps Canadians are to blame for not quenching their thirst," he said.

The Doctor Says

LUPUS ERYTHEMATOSUS: SUBJECT TO CONTROL

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Since my report of lupus erythematosus, many readers have written asking about a cure. Sad to say, this is a disease which cannot be cured. But, like many other diseases, it can be controlled with judicious treatment so that the victim can enjoy normal living with a minimum of discomfort.

This requires careful adjustment of the dosage of such potent drugs as chloroquine, hydroxychloroquine, and amodiaquin. Short courses of prednisone are often helpful. These drugs cannot be obtained without a physician's prescription.

Q—Is it harmful to take Darvon regularly? It relaxes me and helps me to sleep.
A—Darvon is a brand of dextropropoxyphene. It is a mild and relatively safe depressant and pain reliever. In the usually prescribed dosage it is not harmful. It is not habit-forming.

Q—I have a thyroid deficiency and cortisone has helped me but it has also caused hair to grow on my face. Why is this?
A—This is one of the more common side effects of the long continued use of cortisone.

Q—Will the frequent use of enemas or laxatives cause cancer?
A—No, but by interfering with the normal digestive processes they may lead to colitis and chronic indigestion.

Q—Is Cytran a tranquilizer? If not, what is it for?
A—Cytran is a combination of hormones and drugs. It is used chiefly for premenstrual tension. In this sense it is a type of tranquilizer.

Q—My father died of diabetes at 74. My 24-year-old son has had repeated urine tests—all negative for sugar. What worries me is that he is always thirsty. He can drink a quart of lemonade or ice tea at one sitting. Does this mean that he will get diabetes in later life? Is so much liquid bad for his stomach?
A—If your son's urine was negative for albumin and sugar, he does not have nephritis or diabetes. If his urine is pale and has a low specific gravity (closely approximating that of water) he probably has diabetes insipidus. On the other hand this thirst may be a personal peculiarity with no significance.

The fluids should not harm his stomach. Eating an excessive amount of sweets would be more likely to lead to sugar diabetes in later life than the drinking of a large amount of fluid.

25th anniversary celebrated at Stanbridge East

STANBRIDGE EAST — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stolliker were pleasantly surprised on May 12, when about 30 friends and members of the United Church, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright to celebrate their 25th Wedding Anniversary.

The guests of honor were taken completely by surprise, as they had been invited only to spend a quiet evening with the Wrights.

The evening was spent socially, lunch being served later in the evening.

Seated with the honored guests, were their son, Bruce, Rev. and Mrs. P. Macaskill, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wright and a cousin of the Stolliker's Miss Winnie Douglas.

The table was centered with a wedding cake on which were 25 lighted candles. Mrs. Edna Corey was assisted in serving by Mrs. Bruce Kidd, Mrs. Raymond Boomhower and Mrs. Robert Aylesworth.

Mr. Macaskill made the presentation of a purse of money, to the guests of honor, expressing best wishes on behalf of the group. Mr. Stolliker responded.

Mr. Craig expressed thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Wright for the hospitality of their home and time.
