WESTERN CONSERVATIVE DEMANDS GOVERNMENT CLOSE RELIEF CAMPS

Col. Harry Mullins Declares Prairie Farmers Unable to Obtain Help Owing "to Pap Handed Out" on Relief Projects—Denies Future of Agriculture Is Dark—Farm Debt Compromise Act Flayed as Socialist Measure by British Columbia Liberal—House Approved Public Works Estimates of $13,000,000.

Ottawa, March 1.—At seventy-three years of age Col. Harry Mullins, veteran Conservative member from Marquette, Manitoba, pioneer prairie rancher and champion of the cow and the land, is not through with politics. He served notice last night that he was coming back to Parliament at the next election and at the same time treated the House to a lesson in farming and its opportunities.

"Marquette tells me I have a mission in this House," he said, "and I have got to serve them."

Col. Mullins rose just before the House passed through the committee stage the amendments to the Farm Loan Act to provide the farmer with more and cheaper money. He approved the move, for in his opinion the great need of western farmers was cheaper money and lower freight rates. But he emphatically disagreed with those who claimed the western farmers were in a bad way or that the future of agriculture was dark.

"There is a new era coming," he told the House, "for we have a Government that is doing something. For goodness sake wake up and help solve this country's problems and bring back Canada to its feet. Stop your calamity howling and spread a little sunshine."

The Government was maintaining men in relief camps which should be closed, said Col. Mullins. Farmers could not get hired men as the men were all in camps having "the time of their lives with hockey games and boxing bouts" and menus fit for a high class hotel. The farmers of Manitoba were going back "to horses and farming as the Almighty intended them to farm." They needed men and that was why the United Farmers of Manitoba had asked for the closing of the camps. The pioneers on the prairies had had "no such pap handed out" to them as men in these camps.

On the prairies, said Col. Mullins, eighty-five per cent. of the farmers owned their own farms and only forty-five per cent. of the farms were mortgaged. This compared favorably with Ontario where eighty-eight per cent. of the farmers owned their farms and forty-two per cent. of the farms were mortgaged. This showed farmers were not in such desperate straits. In fact, he said, many a struggling young professional man in town could buy a western farm cheaply now, and if he farmed as the "Almighty intended" could make a home for himself.

Although rural members generally approved of the measure, one dissenting voice was raised before it was approved. Wilfrid Humphrey, Liberal, Vancouver Centre, declared: "I am opposed to Socialism in any form and I look upon legislation of this type as a form of Socialism."

He also criticized the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act of last session and claimed it was using private credit channels it was using to the disadvantage of the best type of farmer.

Other classes as well as farmers had gone through troubles in recent years but were not being supplied with government loans, he said, describing the bill as "class legislation." Although a lumberman, he would have opposed making such loans to the lumber industry.

"By placing in the hands of producers the funds to increase production," he said, we are simply emphasizing the unfortunate condition now prevailing. One must interpret this measure through which we are enabled to loan the farmers $200,000,000 as one which would have the effect of encouraging increased production. The fact is that today we have over-production in many lines of farm produce."

Before the bill left committee Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, had a change made in the definition of "farmer." The Act will now define farmer as "a person whose principal occupation is farming."

Mr. Rhodes said he conceived of a wider definition and insisted the determination of whether a poultry-raiser or a bee-keeper should come within the definition be left to the Farm Loan Board.

Hon. Hugh Stewart, Minister of Public Works, massed his estimates in committee of supply. With little discussion the House approved all items for the Public Works Department chargeable to income, aggregating some $13,000,000.

Today the House will consider an amendment to the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act, also sponsored by Mr. Rhodes, and other items in the estimates.

Pandemonium broke in the House when George Spotton, Conservative, North Huron, referred to J. L. Bacon, Liberal, Kingston, as "a hot-baked clergyman." It came during a fierce attack by Mr. Spotton on the Hepburn Government for its alleged abolition of the farm loan scheme, and before the fight ended Mr. Spotton was obliged to retract his descriptive phrase.

It was Ontario day in the House, Conservative members scoring the new Liberal Ministry in Toronto for its attitude toward the farming community, and Liberal members contradicting these assertions and defending the Ontario Premier. Conservatives declared the farmers had been let down, and that no loans had been made under the scheme established by the Henry Government; while Hon. J. C. Elliott, Liberal, West Middlesex, told the House that 231 loans had been made since the Hepburn Government assumed power.

The atmosphere warmed considerably, though, when Mr. Spotton opened fire on Premier Hepburn and some of his colleagues, particularly Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES TO MARK KING'S JUBILEE.

Ottawa, March 1.—The Canada Gazette today carried a proclamation requesting special thanksgiving services in all Canadian churches on May 5th, the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession, as a "day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing on the occasion of our silver jubilee."

The thanksgiving services on the Sunday before jubilee day were described as giving an opportunity for "appropriate expression of gratitude to Almighty God for the manifold bounties and great mercies which our loving subjects, the people of Canada, have enjoyed during our reign."

NEW BRUNSWICK PREPARING FOR SMALL DEFICIT

Provincial Secretary-Treasurer Hopeful that Improvement in Business May Wipe Out Deficit of $489,203 in Provincial Accounts.

Fredericton, N.B., March 1.—Bringing down the budget in the New Brunswick Legislature today, Hon. A. J. Leger, Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, expressed the hope that continued improvement in conditions, coupled with a favorable award by the White Commission would turn an estimated deficit of $489,203 into a surplus.

Mr. Leger estimated receipts for the present fiscal year at $5,781,660, or $345,152 above a 1934 revenue of $5,436,508. Expenditures were estimated at $6,270,863, or $42,197 less than 1934 expenditures of $6,313,060.

No new taxation was forecast in the budget speech.

"While we do estimate a deficit of $489,203," said Mr. Leger, "yet we are confident that the improved conditions through the province will be reflected in our provincial finances, and if we do not reach near normal condition in revenue, we may yet count on a balanced budget. In all this, we make no credit allowance for a prospective increased subsidy."

This latter reference was to the anticipation which the Provincial Government has that an increased allowance from the Dominion Government will be the outcome of the submission which it presented to the Commission presided over by Sir Thomas White and appointed to consider revision of the financial arrangements between the Dominion and the three Maritime provinces.

Snaksman announced: "The delegation of the Dominion Government to the Maritime provinces was contained in the budget speech, mostly given over to a review of conditions within the province and a defence of the administration's stewardship. It painted a glowing picture of recovery in different lines of industry."

In 1934 a deficit of $153,842 was budgeted for. The actual 1934 deficit was $876,551. Reference to this is made in the budget speech, which points out that unforeseen and unavoidable expenditures were incurred by forest fire damage and disastrous forest fires. At the last session of the Legislature, Premier L. P. D. Tilley predicted a balanced budget for 1935.

TERROR REIGN MARKS PASSAGE OF COMMUNISTS

Missionaries Report Many Atrocities as 25,000 Communists Pass Through Southwest Shensi Province in China.

Sian, Shensi, China, March 1.—A reign of terror, accompanied by wholesale executions and looting of towns, marked the passage of 25,000 Communist troops through southwest Shensi province during the past fortnight, missionary reports disclosed today.

Some twenty-five missionaries abandoned their posts to escape the menace and fled through ice and snow-covered mountains in quest of sanctuary.

A portion of the scattered Christian workers, many of whom carried their children in their arms as they abandoned their stations, has been accounted for. About one half the number was reported to have reached Fengtsing to the westward and Ankang, in southeastern Shensi.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. C. French, Australian missionaries, believed to have been kidnapped by the invaders, were still unreported, but Miss R. V. Thompson, of Nevada, Iowa, and Miss Alma R. Artibey, of Chicago, are reported safe.

STERLING TOOK ANOTHER SLUMP THIS MORNING

Against U.S. Dollar Pound Dropped Three Cents Below Old Gold Parity—Various Reasons Advanced for Downward Trend.

London, March 1.—The pound sterling slumped again today against foreign exchanges, with no early prospect of stabilization in sight.

For the first time it touched eleven shillings, eightpence against the French franc. Against the United States dollar it dropped three cents below the old gold parity.

At the same time, gold rose a shilling a fine ounce to a new high in terms of the "paper pound."

The causes were variously ascribed to continental nervousness over the future of sterling, the British deficit on the international balance of payments, the commodities gamble, an unfavorable foreign view of the large increase in Government subsidies, and a belief the adverse trade balance would be reflected in a further drop in the pound—either naturally or politically.

The depreciated sterling so far has not seriously affected the cost of living. The index figure is slightly less than when Britain left gold in September of 1931.

Echoing the brief remark of Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain yesterday, that the fall in the pound was a different matter from internal purchasing power, Mr. Chamberlain said today: "In Britain there is neither nervous nor any cause for nervousness in the state of the pound. The stock market are in a healthy condition."

REMAIN SILENT ON CONTROL OF WHEAT MARKET

Traders and Officials Refuse to Comment on Plans of Government to Establish Grain Trading Board.

Winnipeg, March 1.—Extent of control over marketing operations was the question before farmers and grain traders alike as details of the Dominion Government's grain board were awaited today.

The announcement from Ottawa of intention to establish the grain board was welcomed by farmers while grain traders deferred comment along with some government officials until the set up had been announced.

Pegging of prices last November and charges of foreign bear raids were recalled with the discussion on the grain board. Because of the bear raids, the board of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange fixed the minimum price of May wheat at eighty cents and July at 81 1/2 cents at the request of the Dominion Government. At the market close yesterday, showing a loss on the day's trading from 1/2 to 1 cent, May futures sold at 83 1/2 cents and the July at 83 cents a bushel.

Alberta Legislature Approves Project

Edmonton, March 1.—Winding up a long debate which threatened at times to become stormy, the Alberta Legislature last night unanimously adopted a resolution welcoming the announcement from Ottawa that a national wheat board is to be formed.

ROYAL COUPLE GUESTS OF JAMAICA GOVERNOR TODAY

Duke and Duchess of Kent to Make Two-Day Stay in Historic Capital of British Island on Honeymoon Trip.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 1.—Socialites of Kingston's old capital made ready today to welcome royalty as the Duke and Duchess of Kent arrived in honor of the honeymoon trip.

The King's son and his beautiful bride, deeply tanned from a fortnight's stay at sun-splashed Montego Bay, were to be guests of Governor Sir Edward Denham tonight at a dinner and dance at historic King's House, the administrator's residence.

They were expected to go back tomorrow to Montego Bay, 120 miles away on Jamaica's north coast, where they have been holidaying by the Caribbean since February 16, enjoying all in relaxation of a couple of ordinary tourists.

They broke up their stay in the quiet resort yesterday by coming to the capital for a two-day interval. Last night they were guests at a dinner aboard the British warship York.

Once back at Montego Bay, early next week, the Duke hopes to go on an alligator-hunt. So far he has failed at a shark-hunter, but he looks for more success with the alligators.

NATIONS REACH AGREEMENT ON FUTURE ACTION

Believed that Great Britain and France Have Agreed that Germany Should Make Clear Attitude on All Points in Security Pact.

London, March 1.—Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, arrived today at Croydon, flying from Paris after conversations held there with Foreign Minister Pierre Laval. Sir John was met by Lady Simon.

Interest in the European scene, so far as the move to establish an extensive system of security pacts is concerned, shifted today from Paris to Berlin as the brief visit of the British Foreign Minister at Paris came to an end.

It was learned that his forthcoming trip to Berlin would be a "visit of exploration." The general scope of the trip, it was learned on high authority, was mapped out yesterday at the British embassy in Paris where the Foreign Secretary and Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, were in conference.

Although no formal statement was issued, the impression in informed French quarters was that Britain and France still were in agreement that Germany should make clear her attitude on all points of the projected security agreement.

FLANDIN GOVERNMENT GIVEN VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Paris, March 1.—The government of Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin today won another huge vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies. The legislators voted 427 to 126 to support the government.

The vote was a triumph for the government, which had been in power since the fall of the "Peasant Front" government. The vote was a triumph for the government, which had been in power since the fall of the "Peasant Front" government.

MINISTER OF NAVY DECLARES JAPAN INSISTS ON NEW NAVAL TREATY BASED ON FAIR AND JUST PROPOSALS

Tokyo, March 1.—Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the navy, told the House of Peers today there was no foundation for reports Japan is considering a proposal for a three year naval holiday.

"The Imperial Navy has given no thought to such a scheme," he said. "What Japan wants is a new naval treaty based on the fair and just proposals we presented to the United States and Great Britain in the London conversations."

REPORT OF RAPPROCHEMENT WITH CHINA HIGHLY IMAGINATIVE

Shanghai, March 1.—A Japanese legation spokesman today described as "highly imaginative" reports that Japan had submitted terms of a rapprochement to China, declaring "no concrete proposals for a rapprochement have been made by either side."

GREAT BRITAIN AND U.S. IN AGREEMENT

London, March 1.—Great Britain has accepted the United States proposal for regulation of armaments as a basis of discussion, although she has different ideas on some phases of the subject under discussion at Geneva, Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, has told the House of Commons.

AVIATRIX FEARED LOST IN AFRICAN JUNGLE COUNTRY

Lady Margaret Young, Wife of Major Sir Hubert Young, Governor of Northern Rhodesia, Reported Missing.

Livingstone, Northern Rhodesia, March 1.—Lady Margaret Young, wife of Major Sir Hubert Young, Governor of Northern Rhodesia, was missing today on an aeroplane flight over African jungle country teeming with lions, rhinoceroses and other wild animals.

Lady Margaret, who was just recovering from an attack of malaria, was accompanied on the air trip by a government physician.

The plane was last seen near Kalomo, one hundred miles along its route. Observers said its engine appeared to be functioning improperly at that time.

Two planes unsuccessfully surveyed the area yesterday and one continued the search today.

PLEADS FOR UNITY OF EMPIRE

Christchurch, N.Z., March 1.—Lord Bledisloe, retiring Governor-General of New Zealand, appealed for elimination of the huckstering spirit between the different units of the Empire, speaking at a farewell function in his honor here. It endangered the unity of the Empire, he contended.

Lord Bledisloe is returning to Britain shortly.

THREE MILLION CHINESE STARVING TO DEATH.

Wuhu, Ahwei, China, March 1.—Three million inhabitants of southern Ahwei province, scattered over an area of six thousand square miles, were reported today to be starving to death in the worst famine this section of China has experienced in recent memory.

Missionary advices received here said the death list is appalling and growing day by day.

A succession of tragic events has afflicted this same district, starting with severe political upheavals last December and climaxing with the murders of the American missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stam, following the pillage of Tsingteh.

The famine is the result of the almost unprecedented droughts which extended over virtually all China last summer.

GERMAN FLAG HOISTED OVER SAARBRUECKEN

Hitler Joins with Jubilant Throngs in Celebration Marking Official Restoration of Saar Basin to Fatherland After Fifteen Years.

Saarbruecken, Saar Territory, March 1.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany, arrived here today from Berlin to share in the jubilant ceremonies marking official transfer of the Saar Basin back to the Reich after fifteen years.

The Saar Basin was officially returned to the Fatherland today in a frenzy of patriotic enthusiasm which swept Germany from its western border to the Polish corridor.

As the gay throngs prepared to welcome Chancellor Adolf Hitler, flying here from Berlin, Baron Pompeo Aloisi transferred control of the territory to Joseph Buerckel, Reich Saar Commissioner.

Geoffrey G. Knox, president of the League of Nations, left the Saar for London and knighted last night because Nazi officials refused to go to the Saar until the "Dictator" had departed. Baron Aloisi became the temporary successor to Knox in the ceremonies.

President Knox was appointed Commander by King George in recognition of his skillful governing of the territory during fifteen troubled years.

The German flag was hoisted up on the flagstaff of the government building, former headquarters of the Saar Governing Commission. Tumultuous cheers and "Heils" burst from the throng as the red, white and black banner fluttered above their heads and proclaimed the existence of German sovereignty.

Simultaneously with the transfer, seven columns of storm troopers, each a thousand strong, crossed the obliterated frontier which until today separated the Saar Basin from its homeland.

BERLIN IN GAY MOOD.

Berlin, March 1.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, reaching a last minute decision, went to the Saar Basin territory today to welcome the Saarländers back into the Reich's fold.

As the Reichsfuehrer departed Berlin was joining exultantly in the Saar celebration.

Cheers and hymns of victory greeted the act of transfer, while vehicular traffic stopped and church bells rang merry peals at the moment when the territory formally became part of Germany once more.

INVENTORS ARE VICTIMIZED BY PATENT RACKET

Witness Tells Senate Committee That Large Sums Are Taken from Inventors by Unscrupulous Promoters.

Ottawa, March 1.—Urging a safeguarding provision be inserted in the Patent Act against the issue of patents for frivolous, unfeasible and valueless inventions, J. H. Van Koolbergen, of the International Bureau of Inventions, Montreal, told the Senate Banking and Commerce committee that Canadian inventors were being fleeced by unscrupulous United States concerns.

A "deplorable" condition existed in certain communities in encouraging inventors to take out patents in this country, said Mr. Van Koolbergen. One firm of patent solicitors, he alleged, sent out circulars of encouragement in the value of inventions to prospective patentees. Of almost 1,000 patents examined by his organization only about 25 were considered valuable by his company.

Total expenditures on these patents for Government fees and service charges had amounted to approximately $100,000 while the money invested on the strength of these patents by the inventors or their backers amounted to a minimum of $500,000, he claimed.

"If these inventors had been given honest advice by experienced and practical men before being encouraged to apply for patents," said the Montreal man, "or, if the Patent Bureau had demanded a statement under oath by competent authorities as to the feasibility and commercial possibilities of the invention, the results would be different."

His organization had proof, said Mr. Van Koolbergen, to substantiate the statement "that unscrupulous concerns across the line fleece holders of Canadian patents, and especially the holders of valueless patents, of great sums of money by stating that the nature of their patents is such as to promise fabulous returns if given in their hands to promote a sale of them. Sums ranging from $15 to $250 are demanded as advance payments from the Canadian patent holder for the sales help they offer. As a rule, once the payments are made this is the last the poor inventor hears from them."

The Montreal witness said one large concern with ramifications in Canada and the United States had an elaborate pamphlet printed inviting inventors to submit their inventions. "And whoever can read between the lines," he claimed, "will learn from these instructions the fact that the company will use without regard to the rights of the inventor, the patents or inventions as it pleases."

He referred, said Van Koolbergen, "to a pamphlet issued by the General Motors Company under the signature of the president."

The measure should contain a clear provision Canada inventors may import the article of their invention so long as it was economically impossible to manufacture in this country. The three-year clause calling for commercial manufacture within Canada and within three years after issue of a patent would work a hardship in many instances, he said.

SEEKS INDEPENDENT COMMISSION TO ADMINISTER SETTLEMENT PLAN

Hull Member Fears Great Danger Would Arise if Choice of Settlers Under $10,000,000 Plan Was Left to Members of Legislature—Provincial Secretary Urges Action Be Taken to Brighten Country Life—Retaining Farmers on Land Favored to Back-to-Land Move.

Quebec, March 1.—Creation of an independent commission to administer the $10,000,000 Government is about to ask the House to vote for colonization purposes was urged upon the Quebec Legislature yesterday by Aime Guertin, Independent Conservative, Hull. Mr. Guertin was continuing debate on the bill of Minister of Colonization Irene Vautrin calling for the voting of the $10,000,000. Progress was reported on the bill.

Mr. Guertin foresaw grave dangers should the choice of settlers be left with members of the Legislature. A commission of independent men to include a few clergymen he believed would exercise the proper control over the spending of the money and the choice of the settlers.

He had no fault to find with the Vautrin plan. He hoped, however, it would be implemented by action and would not be marred by any "political manoeuvring."

Edouard Fortin, Liberal, Beauce, spoke of the colonization work accomplished by the Government during the past fifteen years. During that time, he said, 30,000 acres of new lands had been turned over to settlers and seventy-five new parishes incorporated of which thirty-five were in Abitibi alone. The sincerity of the Government in offering to spend $10,000,000 could not be doubted, he concluded, when it was remembered its revenues had decreased considerably due to its contributions to relief. These, he said, amounted to $21,000,000 during the depression years.

"If we cannot make our English-speaking compatriots love us we should at least strive to have them respect and admire us," Provincial Secretary Athanasie David said in continuing the debate on the bill.

Mr. David's statement came in reference to efforts he thought should be made not only to promote a return-to-the-land but to improve the facilities for all citizens for intellectual development.

Declaring there was no Chauvinism in his remarks and that he spoke as a realist, Mr. David added: "Each time we are about to have a more than normal increase in population in Quebec there has been an increase in immigration. History proves it. We may as well make up our minds we will never be in the majority in this country." His remarks concerning the efforts to be made to have the English-speaking population admire the French-Canadians followed.

Another topic stressed by Mr. David was that while tremendous efforts were being made to send people to the land little thought was given to "brightening up the country." He remarked that the country "is sad," and that in view of this was not to be wondered that young people in the country were lured to the bright lights of the city.

"It should not be hard to create proper amusement for country folk," he continued. "They do not ask for wild pleasures but merely for the right to amuse themselves in a moral way."

Mr. David urged Mr. Vautrin to worry more toward keeping young men on the land than placing urban residents upon it. "Because," said he, "I have more confidence in the result of sacrifices made to keep one man on the land than in sending ten men from the city to the country."

In conclusion the Provincial Secretary said the $10,000,000 should be voted without any political party-swaying because "what is $10,000,000 compared to the future, the salvation of a race." He hoped to see the day when the $10,000,000 for colonization would be implemented by a like sum to be spent on the education of settlers' children.

DIRECTS AVIATION SCHOOL BUT WILL NOT FLY

Dallas, Texas, March 1.—C. E. Harman directs the Dallas aviation school, but he will not go up in a plane.

It is his stomach, he explained, which just will not agree with the swaying of a plane in flight. It makes him "slightly ill" even to think about going up.

The New Yorker, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, hit the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's crop production policies with the statement that "we are importing wheat and other foodstuffs that ought to have been produced here."

The three-year clause calling for commercial manufacture within Canada and within three years after issue of a patent would work a hardship in many instances, he said.

The question was asked by J. A. Francoeur, Liberal, Dorion, whether it was true that out of $4,000,000 yearly profits from chain stores in Canada $3,000,000 was sent to the United States. Mr. St. Laurent said he was not prepared to answer.

Premier L. A. Taschereau was in favor of imposing the tax. There was no doubt, he said, the purchasing power of the chain stores had caused many a small grocery shop to close. He refused to see the proposed levy.

CHAMPIONS OF BANTAM HOCKEY LEAGUE NAMED

Upper School Students of Bishop's College School Captured Eastern Townships Title by Defeating Preparatory School Squad Yesterday Afternoon.

Bishop's College School annexed the Eastern Townships Bantam Hockey League championship yesterday afternoon by scoring a five to one victory over their intra-mural rivals, the Preparatory Department. Two goals in the first and second periods and the fifth tally in the final frame gave the Upper Schoolmen their triumph. The Prep boys saved themselves from a shutout by notching a point in the last session.

The Preparatory squad, following its three to one victory over North Hatley, needed a victory over the Upper Schoolmen to finish on top of the standing, while the latter aggregation required only a draw in yesterday's encounter to capture the pennant.

Henry Grinstead opened the scoring and furnished the pass on which Stuart made the second goal in the initial canto. Charlie Kenny raised the count to three-nothing as the middle chapter started and a few moments later a three-man combination play featuring Grinstead, King and J. Kenny accounted for the Upper School's fourth marker.

Captain Freddie Whittall saved his team from a shutout before the middle session ended and Stuart concluded the scoring in the last chapter on assists by Grinstead and J. Kenny.

The champions made a fine showing during the season. In addition to the Bantam League games they played three exhibition matches with outside teams and two friendly games with the Preps. They defeated Selwyn House School, of Montreal, by four to three; the Sherbrooke Imperials by one to nothing, and the Mitchell School by eight to two. In the fixtures with the Prep pupils the title holders emerged with victories by scores of six to nothing and five to two. Patrick's Academy handed the titleists their only defeat of the season, winning by one to nothing on the Sherbrooke School's ice.

In the Bantam League schedule the B. C. S. boys scored thirty-seven goals, while Ian Sewell, their stellar netminder, was beaten but five times. The team carries only seven players, there being no other candidates of eligible age in the Upper School.

The line-ups in yesterday afternoon's games were: B. C. S. goal; Sewell; defence, C. Kenny and Tyndale; forwards, Montgomery, Grinstead and J. Kenny.

Prep. School: Goal, Day; defence, Stoken and Huggess; forwards, Whittall, Molson, Moreland; subs, Spafford, Crichton and Collier.

BLUENOSE WILL MAKE TOUR OF BRITISH ISLES

England Will See Champion of North Atlantic Fishing Fleets Even if Gloucester's Gertrude L. Thebaud Is Not Entered in Proposed Trans-Atlantic Race.

Lunenburg, N.S., March 1.—England will see the Bluenose, champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleets, even if Gloucester's Gertrude L. Thebaud is not entered in a proposed trans-Atlantic schooner race.

That was decided at the annual meeting of the Bluenose Schooner Company, Limited, shareholders, who figured their famous wind-ship would make more money on a barnstorming tour of the British Isles than on the Grand Banks.

Directors of the company were instructed to interview Captain Ben Pine, one of the Thebaud owners, regarding the prospects of an ocean race.

Captain Pine, now in Newfoundland, will visit Lunenburg on his return to Gloucester and should he favor a trip to the other side the American and Canadian schooners will race from Boston to Plymouth in May, then the Islands until August, when they will enter a series under the auspices of the Royal Ocean Racing Club of England, and the Atlantic from Plymouth to Halifax, later meeting off Gloucester if a series for the International Fishermen's Trophy can be arranged.

The English club has offered prizes for a race out of Plymouth around Fastnet, Ireland, and if the United States and Canada will put up money for the ocean contest, owners of both vessels will be eager for the fray. The prize-money appears to be the only consideration now, as far as the Gloucester schooner is concerned.

Captain Angus Walters, who was re-elected managing director of the Bluenose Company, will be at the helm of the Lunenburg racer when she pulls up anchor in the spring, with or without her old rival Thebaud.

SCHOOLS READY FOR VILAS CUP ELIMINATIONS

Four Eastern Townships Schools Are in Running for Championship of Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards Hockey League — Play-Offs Start Tomorrow.

Seven of the fourteen teams which started in quest of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards Hockey League are today awaiting the play-offs which will begin in some sections tomorrow afternoon. Still in the running are last year's finalists, Shawville and Lennoxville. Shawville captured the championship last year by scoring a two to one decision over the Eastern Townships contenders in a "sudden death" fixture in Montreal.

The original objective of this inter-school league is to provide an opportunity for students under twenty years of age to enjoy hockey for the game's sake. Sectional arrangements are largely left in the hands of the boys themselves, while Dr. C. L. Brown, of Ayer's Cliff, a member of the executive of the Provincial Association, is completing the plans for the play-offs. Dr. Brown assumed these duties this winter when Rev. Errol C. Amaron, principal of Stanstead College, found that extra work prevented him from devoting the necessary time to the project.

The Vilas Cup, comparable in size and value to many trophies of international repute, is the emblem of the championship.

At Minto rink, Lennoxville, tomorrow afternoon two play-off matches will be staged. In the opening encounter, the Chateaus, victors of a series with Bedford, will oppose the St. Francis College High School, Richmond, which emerged ahead in the group which included Asbestos, Danville and Windsor Mills. The second contest will bring Lake Megantic and Lennoxville together. Lake Megantic was the only school entered in its section, while Lennoxville earned a berth in the eliminations by finishing ahead of Ayer's Cliff and North Hatley. The survivors of these two fixtures will qualify for the Eastern Townships final.

Shawville, the defending title holders and survivors of the Shawville-Ayer's Cliff, will clash with either Shawinigan Falls or Three Rivers and the winner will occupy one of the berths in the final round.

DANVILLE AND WINDSOR GIRLS IN DRAW.

Danville, March 1.—The return match between the girls of the Windsor Mills and Danville High Schools resulted in a scoreless draw. Two weeks previously the local girls had travelled to the Paper Town and scored a three to one victory.

Ice conditions caused a slow game here. Both teams were evenly matched although the visitors had a decided advantage in substitute material. The Danville squad had only six players who went the entire route, while Windsor had five players in relief roles.

Jack Cleveland, of Danville, handled the game in which no penalties were imposed.

The teams were: Danville: Goal, K. Brown; defence, P. Adams and M. Peletz; centre, H. Wilson; wings, B. Findlay and C. Matthews.

Windsor: Mills: Goal, M. McCubbin; defence, E. Moore and A. McCubbin; centre, M. Robinson; wings, R. Barnall and C. Castonguay; subs: D. Sundberg, Mildred Varney, D. Sundberg, Muriel Varney and E. Perkins.

STRONG MARITIME BID FOR WOMEN'S TITLE.

Summerside, P.E.I., March 1.—Summerside is all agog over the prospect of scoring their favorite team, the famous Crystal Sisters, undefeated champions of Maritime women's hockey, clash with the winners of the Quebec-Ontario series, on local ice next week.

Here is a group of girls, some of whom have played together for years, ready to pit their strength and skill against Canada's best women stock handlers. Since 1929 the Summerside Crystal Sisters have never known defeat.

According to their coach, Clifford Montgomery, they have a stronger team this year than ever before in their long career as premier Maritime lady hockeyists. They have their eyes fixed on the Lady Beasborough Trophy and the Dominion title and are out to win.

The detailed results of the match follow:

DANVILLE

Word has been received of a former resident of this place, Mr. J. R. Gibson, celebrating his nineteenth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elmer Smith, in Ashland, Oregon. To celebrate the occasion his daughters, Mrs. Smith and Miss Nell McDiarmid, gave a dinner. Those present to honor Mr. Gibson were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith and son, Jamie, Mr. Isaac Bailey, Mrs. Belle Schivier, Chester Smith and Mr. John Freeman. Mr. Gibson went to Ashland just after a century ago, after selling his farm and holdings at Nicolet Falls.

The many friends of Mrs. L. Adams will be pleased to hear that she has recovered from her recent illness.

Mrs. Norris Perkins celebrated her eighty-third birthday on Friday, February 22. Her daughter, Mrs. Adelbert Webb, arranged a party for the occasion. There were twelve guests present, one being Mrs. Perkins' niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, from Montreal. The afternoon was spent in social chat with Mrs. Perkins, followed by a most delicious five o'clock tea, one feature of which was a handsomely decorated birthday cake. The guests left, wishing Mrs. Perkins many happy returns of the day.

CLEVELAND

The Cleveland Women's Institute held their monthly meeting with Mrs. Astell at her home in Melbourne with a large attendance of members and visitors. Miss A. J. Pease, president of the Institute, was in the chair, opening the meeting by all repeating the Club Women's Creed. Miss Alta Pease, secretary-treasurer of the Club, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting. This meeting was in the hands of the convener of publicity, Miss Alta Pease, who read a fine paper on this work, and Miss Darcey Pease recited a fine monologue which added greatly to the meeting. Miss Pease responded by a recital in her fine way. Then Mrs. Robert Hall was asked to come forward and give a demonstration and talk on first aid. This was one of the finest talks and demonstrations the Institute has ever listened to. Miss Pease thanked Mrs. Hall at the close of the meeting.

The Richmond Hill Women's Institute held a card social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Healy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fowler, of Melbourne Ridge, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. G. Healy, and Mr. Healy on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Dionne entertained the Cleveland Women's Institute at a card party and dance. A fine time was reported by those SHERBROOKE, FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1935.

Are Acclamations Good?

J. S. Giles, Editor of the Municipal Review of Canada, notes the fact that there are fewer elections in the municipal field than there were in bygone years.

Contests are becoming fewer every year, and he questions why. That partisan politics are being discarded in municipal affairs is the first cause he ascribes, whilst another reason is the higher grade of service by civic officials.

The golden years of graft, which brought the worst type of selfish men into service have passed away. The years of depression have focussed the gaze of the taxpayers upon civic affairs, and they watch expenditures too closely for the merry grafters to get away with it.

There is coming forward the selfless man with his community close to his heart.

Mr. Giles does not think that so many acclamations are a sign of public indifference; for a healthy interest in public affairs is everywhere self-evident. Rather, too, having confidence in the better class of men, there is more harmony, more real civic spirit, and lesser uproar.

The phalanx system of electing half a council one year, and half the next season, has not worked out to the advantage of continuity of service for which it was advocated. Rather would a complete two-year service for the whole Council be more effective. This is not the expression of Mr. Giles.

A City's Best Advertisement Is Its Newspaper.

What can a newspaper do for its own town or city? It is the mirror of its place of publication. It is a day-to-day advertisement of its own town, and whether it be a good advertisement or an indifferent one depends on the editor and publisher and the staff.

We have held that the yearly Review Number of the Record travels all over the English-speaking world, and that any name or any announcement goes down to posterity. Many copies are laid away in the family archives to become treasured reference records for future generations.

The Editor of the Montreal Star has some nice things to say about the Record and about Sherbrooke in the Wednesday issue of this week, under the caption of "An Encouraging Outlook."

"Judging by a special anniversary number of the Sherbrooke Record, things are going very well with both Sherbrooke and the Record. On every one of the forty-eight pages which make up the three sections of this special number there is evidence of the steady return of 'good times' to the leading city of the Eastern Townships. Local merchants and the long list of important industries located in Sherbrooke give hearty evidence of the faith that is in them and their confidence in a future that is brightening daily. The Record has got together a great deal of interesting material going back into the early days of the Eastern Townships, material for which the historian of to-morrow will be grateful indeed, and which even to-day leads the reader back into forgotten fields. There is a sturdy and common-sense optimism about the general outlook, as represented in this paper, which is as encouraging as anything can be at this particular time."

Could anyone of our readers conceive or produce a better advertisement for Sherbrooke, going as does this editorial to 120,000 subscribers, or an estimated 700,000 readers. For that is the proven circulation of "Canada's Greatest Newspaper."

The Probity of the Press.

Once in every little while one hears some shallow-pated little man exclaim, "You can't believe anything you see in the newspapers!" The last man who said it publicly was a member of the C.C.F., a party which indulges in generalities.

These diatribes are usually ignored as coming from some irresponsible dunce with but one sense of volubility, the man who thinks too little and talks too much.

Canada had reason to be proud of the Canadian banking system and of the Canadian press. The banks wobbled in the face of unfair attack, and did not even show fight when their gold was being extracted from them in the manner of the smoothest confidence men of the age.

The newspapers of Canada, particularly the hundred dailies embraced in the organization known as "The Canadian Press," send the news of the world to each other. It is a news-collecting medium operating in co-operative exchange with the two thousand newspapers in the United States, and with the British, French and European press.

There is neither temptation nor disposition to distort the news of the world in any branch of the news-gathering system. It is impartial and truthful. It must be so, and the founts of news must be independent. To assure freedom from the colour of environment the Canadian Press maintains many special correspondents in such centers as London, Paris, New York and Washington.

Newspaper readers in Canada can be assured that the general news presented to them each day is honest and impartial, for such are the instructions sent out by the directors chosen to supervise this great news service.

Partizan newspapers may employ special correspondents or writers to give colour to the news, but such items are clearly marked at the origin whether they are a press service or a personal service. The press service of Canada, which reaches the world over, is sent out under a pledge of impartiality, and it is an interchange system which can only be maintained on that basis. There can be no bias.

What does rile the little fellows is that they are ignored and denied news value to readers because what may seem momentous to them is judged of no importance or interest to the average reader.

Did people accept as a fact the unreliability of its daily press, it would be a sad day for Canada and for its people.

There are independent newspapers which in the true sense of the word means that behind the editorial and news presentation there is no hidden interest to which the editor is tied. We all know that a "tied" newspaper cannot carry conviction or exercise influence any more than does the man who bleats an untruth as did the C.C.F. man who libelled the probity of the press of Canada.

Editor's Note Book.

Whether or not a Dominion law is an infringement on provincial rights does not concern the populace. It has been an over-worked political wish-bone. Of all those who still chortle over the way little Sir Oliver Mowat in the days when he wrestled with the Privy Council against Sir John A. Macdonald not one man in fifty can recall what the issue was at stake in that legal fight of fifty years ago. All that is remembered is that David slew the Giant in legal combat. Raising the issue of provincial rights is quite childish nowadays.

WHAT EDITORS SAY

PLAIN TALK FROM THE BANK OF FRANCE

The Bank of France has occupied so notable a position, in these times of erratic monetary ideas, through upholding sound-money principles and asserting its purpose to maintain the currency's gold valuation, that its report on the chequered economic year 1934 was bound to attract attention. The full text of this report, submitted at Paris a week or two ago, has now reached us. It is a reassuring declaration of principles and purposes. In many respects, 1934 was for France a year of economic hardship. It witnessed rapid increase in French unemployment, difficult times in trade, repeated recurrence of predication (mostly in other countries) that the gold standard in France, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy was about to break down and the gold valuation of their currencies sink to unknown depths.

The official comment on this prophecy, as contained in the annual report by the Governor of the Bank of France, is spirited. After frankly setting forth the trying situation which exists in world trade and industry, he remarks:

It does not rest upon us here to bring this situation to an end, but it is our duty not to contribute toward aggravating it. Maintenance of the franc's stability is not solely a national necessity. In our view, it represents a duty of far wider scope; a duty which we have no wish to avoid.

In other words, resistance to depreciation or devaluation of the present franc is resistance to tendencies toward world-wide monetary and economic chaos. But, in the present confusion of outside conditions and ideas, is effective resistance possible? This is the Bank of France's answer:

Our money standard is safeguarded, more than ever heretofore, from external pressure. Its lot depends only on the courage of the French people. Their choice, in that regard, is made already. As between certainty and illusion, thrift and speculation, productive work and the profit of a moment, they do not hesitate. It remains only for us to declare again our own determination to remain strictly faithful to the only monetary policy which we believe conforms to the national interest.

To a good many people, this forthright declaration of faith will seem like a gust of fresh air infused into the controversies of the timid British Exchequer spokesman and the repudiators at Washington.

To those who know something of our own previous economic crisis and our own old-time battles over the monetary standard, the language will possibly bring to mind the sturdy public declarations of President Cleveland, when the money standard was attacked in the hard times of 1894 and 1895. History records pretty plainly what the longer sequel to that episode of the Nineties was.

The Governor's report for the Bank of France recognizes frankly the demoralizing influences at work on the international situation, but it has something definite to say about them:

It is not, in our judgment, political unsettlement which is the essential cause of so long and widespread a depression. It is rather that the normal play of economic forces, whose beneficent action ought to insure progressive disappearance of the crisis, has been constantly blocked by arbitrary interference. Above all, the trouble is the uncertainty that continues to prevail in the monetary field. Impeding the exchange of goods as it impedes the free movement of capital, this monetary instability arrests every movement of recovery in international commerce. It condemns every country to withdraw into itself and, by entirely artificial expedients, to seek in its isolation an illusory prosperity.

FATHER RUSHES NORTH TO HELP WANDERING BOY

Twenty-Three Year Old David Irwin Yesterday Telegraphed Story of Months of Adventure and Hardship in Sparsely Inhabited District of Keewatin.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 1.—W. T. Irwin, of Grand Rapids, was on his way to the Northwest Territory of Canada today, hoping to meet his twenty-three-year-old son, David, who telegraphed yesterday a story of months of adventure and hardship in the sparsely inhabited district of Keewatin.

Irwin started his trip yesterday after receiving a telegram from the youth briefly recounting the hardships that had overtaken him near the end of a three year journey with a motion picture camera through Alaska and the island dotted waters around the Hudson Bay Region.

Irwin and his wife said the telegram, delayed in transmission had come from Baker Lake in the Northwest Territory, and was the first communication they had received from him in more than six months.

"Sorry to have made you all this worry," said young Irwin in his message. "Went through rotten ice. Haven't seen human being in six months. Have lived on frozen fish. Heading south."

MISFORTUNE OVERTAKES ADVENTUROUS YOUTH.

Churchill, Man., March 1.—Misfortune today had overtaken David Irwin, happy-go lucky world traveler, in his latest joust with the northland.

Word from ice-locked Baker Lake, four hundred miles north of this Hudson Bay port in the Northwest Territories, said Irwin was ill.

From Grand Rapids, Mich., came news that W. T. Irwin, David's father, had started northward. Financing his travels through use of his motion picture camera and his violin, Irwin had previously made four trips to Alaska, four to Europe and once around the world. His present journey through the frozen Arctic started two years ago when he left the herders led by Andy Bahr guiding reindeer to Canadian Eskimos under contract with the Canadian Government.

Two routes homeward lay open to him from Baker Lake. One was to head eastward from Baker Lake to Chesterfield Inlet, Hudson Bay, and a steamer. The other was to keep going south until he came to Churchill. Travelling either route, his break from the north virtually was barred until spring.

MONTREAL WILL SHORTLY HAVE THE WORLD'S LARGEST CLOCK

The world's largest clock, with a total dial area nearly seven times as great as London's "Big Ben," is now being designed and constructed in Montreal and will be erected next summer at the top of a sixty-foot steel tower, on the roof of the Dow Brew House, Notre Dame street west.

This giant time piece, which will be known as the "Dow Clock," will be visible to all people in Montreal and the surrounding districts day and night, wherever a clear view can be obtained, and can be read at night at a distance of about ten miles. It will be brilliantly illuminated with a special Neon lighting system so that at every hour, day or night, all of Montreal and surrounding districts will be served by the "Dow Clock."

Mr. Dawes, vice-president of National Breweries Limited, also states that the entire clock, with the exception of the master clock which comes from England, together with all steel frame work for the tower, lighting equipment and all other parts of the structure will be made with Canadian materials by Canadian workmen.

The "Dow Clock" will have three dials facing three ways, the diameter of each face being sixty feet, which is forty-two feet larger than the big clock on the Ottawa Peace Tower. The immensity of this mammoth clock will be realized by the fact that the mechanism of the clock will weigh approximately six tons. Nine thousand feet of tubing, tons of other equipment and materials will be used in making and installing the clock. The distance on

DAMAGE ACTION ACQUIRING AN INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR

To Previous Testimony that She Had Dined at Monte Carlo with Sir Basil Zaharoff and David Lloyd George, Mrs. Wilma E. Gould Has Added Name of Assassinated Louis Barthou.

New York, March 1.—Mrs. Wilma E. Gould's $50,000 damage suit is acquiring an increasing international flavor—something more definite than the pseudo-sauce of "Prince Michael Romanoff."

To her previous testimony that she had dined at Monte Carlo with Sir Basil Zaharoff, mystery man of European Munitions, and David Lloyd George, the plaintiff has added Louis Barthou, assassinated French Foreign Minister.

Not even that, however, could keep "Prince Michael," known to the police as Harry Gerguson, interested. He was not there to be identified when Mrs. Hannah McDowell, a witness with a brogue, testified that a man who gave the name of "Welden or something" rented a room and used it only one day. She identified Gerguson's photograph.

It was in that room and on that day, Mrs. Gould alleges, that Prince Michael put her to bed after drugging her so that her husband could obtain evidence for a divorce. She is suing his brother-in-law, former representative Norman J. Gould; a lawyer and a detective for conspiracy to have Gerguson provide the evidence.

CANADIAN EMPLOYMENT IN JANUARY RECORDED GAINS

Index Figure of Employment on February 1 Was 94.6 Compared with 91.4 on Same Date of 1934.

Ottawa, March 1.—Reports from 8,992 employers indicated there were 885,556 on the payrolls on February 1, an increase of more than 2,000 compared with 883,525 on January 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported.

The crude index, rose from 94.4 on January 1 to 94.6 at the beginning of February, as compared with 91.4 at the same date in 1934. On February 1 in the other years for which data are available, the unadjusted index was as follows: 1933, 77.0; 1932, 89.7; 1931, 100.7; 1930, 111.6; 1929, 110.5; 1928, 102.9; 1927, 96.6; 1926, 91.8; 1925, 87.1; 1924, 81.7; 1923, 90.6; 1922, 79.9; and 1921, 91.2.

An analysis of the returns by industries shows that the most pronounced recovery on the date under review was that of a seasonal character in manufacturing, in which there was an increase of 13,749 workers, or 3.1 per cent, as compared with January 1, 1935; this improvement was below the average indicated on the same date in the fourteen preceding years for which data are available. Within the group of factory employment, the iron and steel, textile, leather and non-ferrous metal divisions showed the largest gains. Among the non-manufacturing industries, logging, coal and metallic ore mining, steam railway transportation and railway construction and maintenance also recorded heightened activity; the increased employment in railway construction and maintenance was chiefly caused by snow-clearing operations following severe storms.

GERMANY REDUCES INTEREST ON COMMUNITY BONDS.

Berlin, March 1.—The German government has put into effect a law cutting the interest on community bonds totalling $1,600,000,000 in value from six per cent, or more to four and one-half per cent, excepting loans floated abroad. Bondholders may protest within a period of ten days, but in view of the difficult market for unsecured bonds, the majority of holders were considered likely to accept.

The dial between the minute marks will be 3.14 feet, and the space between the hour marks, 15 feet. Each of the three minute hands will be thirty feet in length from centre to tip and weight 2,500 pounds, the hour hand being twenty feet in length and weighing 1,500 pounds. As the minute hand is going around the dial each hour, it will travel a distance of 188 feet. In the course of a year it will travel 312.85 miles or about the distance between Montreal and Toronto.

FOUR THOUSAND YEAR OLD TOY IS DISCOVERED

Egyptian Expedition of the Metropolitan Museum of Art Also Probes Mystery of Girl Buried in Set of Borrowed Coffins.

New York, March 1.—A clever mechanical toy almost four thousand years old, and the mystery of two borrowed coffins have been unearthed by the Egyptian Expedition of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Excavating near the royal cemetery at Lisht, the Egyptologists dug their way into a tomb containing the mummy of a young Egyptian girl named Heny buried in a set of borrowed coffins, says the first report of the expedition, by Ambrose Lansing.

Admitting that the mystery of Heny has not been solved yet, Mr. Lansing congratulates the expedition on the rare objects which the tomb has yielded.

The tentative solution is that the owner of the ancient tomb was buried before his monumental tomb was finished. And then, still before the structure was finished, vandals plundered his body and buried the girl Heny—who was she?—in his coffins. The owner's name was blotted off the outside of the interior coffin, and Heny's name painted on. But the plunderers did not bother to alter the lining of the coffin the same way, and there the original owner was proclaimed.

Gold ornaments worn by the girl around her waist, neck, arm and ankle were found badly scattered. These were no funeral adornments, but her actual jewelry worn in life, as dents in the goldwork prove.

Four dolls are among objects found embedded in sticky clay and mud in a passage leading to the tomb. But the discovery which startled Egyptologists was to find four figures of dancing dwarfs, a mechanical toy almost four thousand years old, and very cleverly made. When wound up with threads the ivory dwarfs whirled briskly on spools set in holes in an ivory base.

There is an Egyptian inscription from the pyramid age telling of a small boy Pharaoh overjoyed by the gift of a "dwarf of the divine dances" brought back by an expedition beyond the Upper Nile. The mechanical toy seems to portray the exact type of dwarf that delighted the child Pharaoh.

Mr. Lansing links the ivory one of quadruplets.

dwarfs with pygmies of Central Africa in their physical traits, and says: "It is therefore quite possible that in these figures we have the first representation of the Central African pygmies, which until recently were considered an invention of classical writers."

The dancing men, with knees bent, and arms upraised as if to clap hands, have expressions of violent emotion on their faces. For Egyptians in art to wear anything but straight faces is so rare as to be astonishing, Mr. Lansing points out. Whether the mechanical dwarfs belonged to the girl Heny or to the man Seti-Waset—who owned the tomb, is part of the mystery that the Egyptologists have not fathomed.

The expedition completed fourteen years of excavation at Lisht, this season, and having investigated the royal cemetery and some outlying graves, will not resume work there.

A HARD RECORD TO BEAT

Kincardine, Ont., March 1.—Bearing nineteen lambs, all normal in every respect and all but one living, is a record for one ewe, claims Reece Ronald Cameron, of Tiverton, near here. Yesterday his ewe gave birth to its third set of triplets to bring the total to three sets of twins, three of triplets and a hard record to beat.

FOUR COUNCIL VACANCIES ARE TO BE FILLED

Nominations in East, South and Centre Wards to Be Held on March 19 with Voting, if Necessary, Following Week.

The East, South and Centre Wards will be affected by municipal elections this year. Nominations will be held on Tuesday, March 19th, and elections, should there be opposition, on the following Tuesday.

The East Ward rate-payers will be called upon to elect representatives to both seats in their ward. Alderman J. Bourque, who is the only East Ward representative at present, was elected by acclamation on December 10th last to complete the unexpired term of Alderman Fortier, who resigned.

The death early this month of Alderman Lorange has caused the second vacancy in the East Ward. Alderman Sangster is completing his term as Centre Ward representative. A largely signed petition has already been presented to him asking him to return for another term. He has consented to comply with their request and it is not likely there will be any opposition.

A petition is also being circulated in favor of Alderman Sylvestre in the South Ward. Alderman Sylvestre was elected to the Council on April 12, 1932, and began his municipal career the same day as did Alderman Sangster.

THIRTY-THREE ARRESTS MADE IN FEBRUARY

Large Majority of Arrests by Municipal Police for Drunkenness—Bluecoats Had Fairly Quiet Month.

Thirty-three persons ran foul of the law and were taken into custody by municipal bluecoats during the month of February, Chief of Police H. C. Camrond's monthly report issued today indicated.

Twenty of these prisoners were arrested for drunkenness and seven for infraction of municipal by-laws. The others were taken in on charges of vagrancy, theft, simple assault, non-support and indecency.

Nineteen paid the fines imposed by Recorder Lionel Forest, eight were committed to jail for non-payment of fines and four were released on suspended sentences. Two cases were referred to the Magistrate's Court. Municipal firemen answered fifty-nine alarms during the month. There were fifty-seven cases of protection and 850 loads of wood were distributed to indigent families. Fifteen doors were found unlocked after closing hours and fifty-four lights were reported defective. Eleven dangerous places were noted and referred to the proper authorities.

Collections for February amounted to $437.70, consisting of $153 for the Recorder's Court; $119.80 for scales; $94 for rent; $50.90 for the Police Department and $20 for the Poor Account.

DEGREE WORK AT ODD-FELLOWS LODGE

There was a large attendance of members at last night's regular meeting of Unit Lodge, I.O.O.F., when degree work, under Past Grand James Johnston, comprised the chief agenda of the meeting. Several of the visiting brethren were called upon during the evening to make brief addresses.

Following the business portion of the meeting the members adjourned to the recreation room, where carpet bowling was enjoyed until a late hour.

ST. DAVID'S DAY

Today Welshmen the world over date the name of St. David, their patron saint, to whose honor and memory the first day of March has been ascribed.

The people of gallant little Wales and their descendants, who have made their homes in all quarters of the globe, are justly proud of their native land, its history, traditions and their institutions.

It is on St. David's Day that they are afforded an opportunity of proclaiming their love of country. The other peoples of the British Empire are also happy of the occasion to wish well to their Welsh compatriots.

INCREASE REGISTERED IN BANK CLEARINGS

Bank clearings for the past month, as well as for the past week, registered a substantial increase over the corresponding periods in 1934 and 1933, according to statistics issued today by the Sherbrooke Clearing House.

The clearings for the month of February amounted to $1,970,806.07, an increase of $137,706.21 over the total of $1,842,099.86 for the corresponding period last year. Last month's clearings also recorded an increase of $138,643.24 over those for the corresponding period in 1933.

Bank clearings for the past week totalled $500,810.57, an increase of $38,879.57 over the total for a similar week last year and of $99,971.14 over the 1933 total.

MEN'S SOCIETY FORMED IN ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

The fulfillment of a long-felt need in St. Patrick's Church has been accomplished through the formation of a men's society. Through the initiative of Rev. Canon J. C. McGee this organization has been founded with a membership embracing all the male members of the Irish congregation. The aims of this body is to foster and develop religious and social relationship and furnish whatever assistance is required in the management of the Church.

The slate of active officers this year includes J. L. Foley, president; Hugh Crochetier, vice-president; L. W. Greenland, secretary; Austin Workman, treasurer; and Charles Crosby, sergeant-at-arms. Circulars were forwarded to the members last night requesting a full attendance at the first monthly communion Sunday morning. Other functions are being planned and will be discussed at the short meeting at breakfast in the Church hall after early mass on Sunday.

ADDRESS BY MRS. HOWARD ENJOINED BY ASCOT W. I.

Members of the Ascot Women's Institute were privileged to have as their guest speaker at "this week's meeting Mrs. Charles B. Howard, wife of the member of Parliament for Sherbrooke. The February session, at which there was an unusually large attendance, including visitors from the Milby and Lennoxville branches, was held at the home of Mrs. J. A. McClary, Experimental Farm, Lennoxville.

The opening of Parliament, was the subject of Mrs. Howard's interesting address, this impressive and dignified ceremony being graphically and minutely described by one well versed in every detail. The speaker also gave a description of the beautiful Parliament Buildings, especially the more recent addition to the seat of Government erected in memory of our heroes of the Great War, the stately Peace tower. Photographs of many beauty spots in the Capital City of Canada lent additional interest to Mrs. Howard's enjoyable address.

During the short business period $5 was voted for a case in the Department of Education and Better Schools, and Mrs. McElrea and Mrs. Smiley were appointed to the programme committee. It was announced

WHEN MOTORIST IS BLINDED HE SHOULD STOP

Interesting Judgment Handed Down in Superior Court Today by Mr. Justice Hector Verret — Alfred Nichol Awarded $122.60 Damages.

When a motorist is blinded by the glaring headlights of an oncoming vehicle it is his duty to bring his own car to an immediate stop. Mr. Justice Hector Verret declared this morning in Superior Court when he partially upheld the claim for damages of Alfred Nichol, of Brompton, against C. R. Healy, of Lennoxville.

Nichol claimed $336.50 for damages sustained to his rig and horses on August 11 last when they were struck by an automobile operated by the defendant.

"The proof presented in this case establishes the following facts," Justice Verret commented. "On August 11 last the plaintiff's hay cart, drawn by a team of horses and travelling without any tail light or reflector on the public highway leading from Windsor Mills to Bromptonville, was struck in the rear by the defendant's automobile, which was headed in the same direction. As a result of the collision, the horses were frightened and bolted, one of the horses suffering a bad cut on its hind leg.

"The defendant, who was driving his automobile when the accident occurred, admits that he was blinded by the dazzling headlights of an oncoming automobile and, instead of stopping at once, kept going and was only within a foot or so of the plaintiff's vehicle when he noticed it. "It is the duty of every automobile driver, when blinded by the headlights of an approaching car, to stop immediately. Although it would be advisable for every horse-drawn vehicle to carry a light, nevertheless, inasmuch as the Motor Vehicle Act has no provision to that effect, no fault can be imputed to the plaintiff for not carrying any light when the accident occurred."

Justice Verret awarded the plaintiff $122.60.

The action of Adelaide Collard against William Farrar, both of Melbourne, in which the plaintiff claimed damages of $503.90 as the result of an accident which occurred to his fourteen-year-old daughter, Bernadette, was dismissed with costs in another judgment handed by Mr. Justice Verret this morning.

The plaintiff claimed that on August 13, 1934, his young daughter, accompanied by several companions, was gathering blackberries on the farm of Charles Farrar, father of the defendant. The defendant appeared upon the scene and chased the children away. While she was running the girl fell and fractured her arm.

Judgment was also rendered today in the case of Arthur Boisard and Adrien Durand against E. H. Standish, all of this city, defendant; Dame Mary Elizabeth Hawkins, opponent, and Boisard and Durand, contestants.

This case involved the seizure by the plaintiffs of an automobile from E. H. Standish. Mary Elizabeth Hawkins — Mrs. Standish, mother of the defendant — opposed the seizure on the grounds that she owned the car in question. Justice Verret declared Mrs. Standish the proprietor of the car and annulled the seizure. However, he condemned Mrs. Standish to pay the costs of the contestation of the opposition.

UPWARD SWING IN DOMINION CONSTRUCTION

Contracts awarded during February for the Dominion of Canada, amounted to $10,672,200, as compared with $10,220,100 for January and $5,635,100 for February, 1934. The total for January and February is $20,892,300 or 69.5 per cent. increase over the 1934 total of $12,338,000 and 221.2 per cent. increase over the 1933 total of $6,511,700.

More than half of the month's awards, so far as value is concerned, is made up of Ontario jobs amounting to $6,792,100. Quebec follows with $1,484,500; then British Columbia, $911,000; Manitoba, $397,300; Nova Scotia, $370,200; Alberta, $305,000; Saskatchewan, $277,900; New Brunswick, $133,700. Needless to say, all the provinces register substantial gains over February, 1934.

Contemplated work reported for the first time in February totalled $23,709,300, and this, together with the January figure of $29,996,900, brings the total for the year to date to $53,706,200. It is interesting to note that in 1933, when construction was at low ebb, contemplated work reported in the first two months amounted to only $16,734,000.

ed that a sunshine box containing thirty articles had been sent to a member who is ill. The roll call was answered by comments on "Outstanding Canadian Women," and the subject of competition in the "Laws of Quebec Affecting Women." Correspondence included several letters of thanks, and prior to adjournment conveners of departments were urged to have their annual reports prepared for the next meeting.

Following Mrs. Howard's address, a delightful social hour was enjoyed, during which the hostesses, Mrs. McClary, Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Gilby, served delicious refreshments. Assisting were the Misses N. Gilby, D. Woodward, Patty McKinnon, E. Gilby and Marion McKinnon.

HOSPITAL WINS CASE AGAINST LOCAL LAWYER

Action in Disavowal of Sherbrooke Hospital Against C. C. Cabana Maintained in Judgment Handed Down Today by Mr. Justice Hector Verret.

C. C. Cabana was not authorized to institute Court proceedings against William Desruisseaux in the name of the Sherbrooke Hospital. Mr. Justice Hector Verret ruled in Superior Court today when he upheld the hospital's action in disavowal against the local attorney.

If Mr. Cabana had been under the impression that R. A. Bartlett, secretary-treasurer of the hospital, authorized him to take proceedings he was "not justified," the Court held. The Court also held that Mr. Cabana had the necessary authority to instruct him to take action.

Mr. Cabana remarked to a Record reporter, shortly after the judgment had been rendered this morning, that he would carry the case to the Court of Appeals.

Three actions were originally instituted in the Superior Court by Mr. Cabana against William Desruisseaux. One of these was on behalf of Dr. George Hume for medical treatment accorded Desruisseaux's wife, another on behalf of the Sherbrooke Hospital for hospitalization costs, and the third on behalf of Miss Desruisseaux's attorney, claiming that involving Dr. Hume, and in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Charles D. White the physician was awarded the amount claimed from Desruisseaux. The latter, however, appealed the award and the judge reversed. Considering that the principle in the case of the hospital against Desruisseaux was the same as that in Dr. Hume's action, Mr. Cabana realized that it would be useless to proceed. Consequently, Desruisseaux was awarded judgment against the hospital for discontinuation of the case. His lawyers then presented their bill to Mr. Cabana, who passed it on to the hospital for payment. The Sherbrooke Hospital, however, refused to pay the costs of Desruisseaux's attorney, claiming that Mr. Cabana had never been authorized to institute the action against Desruisseaux for the hospitalization costs of his wife.

Justice Verret, rendering his judgment today, remarked that Mr. Bartlett had testified that during the course of a conversation with Mr. Cabana he had told the attorney not to take any action against Desruisseaux and that Mr. Cabana had assured him that he would collect the bill for hospitalization costs without any cost to the hospital.

This phase of Mr. Bartlett's testimony, Justice Verret commented, ran as follows: Question: "Was anything said in reference to taking an action against Mr. Desruisseaux?" Answer: "I told Mr. Cabana that we did not want any action taken, it was not the usual custom of the hospital to take action."

Question: "What did Mr. Cabana say?" Answer: "He replied that there would be no charge, no costs to the hospital, and we would get our money."

This testimony, the Judge said, had been corroborated by two witnesses, Miss Cann and Miss Downing. Furthermore, Mr. Bartlett testified that it was only several days before receiving a letter from Mr. Cabana dated December 15th, 1933, informing him that he had dropped proceedings against Desruisseaux taken in the name of the hospital, that he, Mr. Bartlett, learned that such an action had been instituted.

Justice Verret declared valid the disavowal made by the plaintiff and annulled, for reasons of law, the action taken in the name of the plaintiff in disavowal, the Sherbrooke Hospital, against the mis-cause, William Desruisseaux, as well as all proceedings made in the case, the whole with costs against the defendant in disavowal.

Social and Personal

Dr. George Hume, Montreal street, and his son, Mr. Jack Hume, of Granby, returned yesterday from a holiday cruise to Havana.

Miss Katharin Macadam, who has been the guest for a week of Miss Katherine Edgell in Lennoxville, is returning tomorrow to her home in Ottawa.

Mrs. Thomas Flaherty, Magog street, has gone to Windsor Mills to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Henry Desaulniers, which is taking place tomorrow morning.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Cohen, Gillespie street, are leaving this afternoon for Montreal to attend the marriage of Margaret Cohen, to Mr. Charles Goldstein, which takes place on Sunday.

A very enjoyable and successful card party was given at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sanders, King street west, for the benefit of the Princess Reheka Lodge. The convivers were Mrs. C. Coombs, Mrs. M. Johnston and Miss Alberta Campbell. During the evening bridge was played at seven tables, and at the close of the game a pretty prize was awarded at each table, following which delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. Kelly, Mrs. W. Kenalty, Mrs. T. Angers and Mrs. S. Steben were hostesses at the tea hour yesterday afternoon at the tea hour given under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild in St. Patrick's church hall. Spring flowers and green candles adorned the pretty table, presiding at which were Mrs. Francis Hove and Mrs. J. R. Samson. The prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. R. Alexandre and Mrs. L. Barlow, and at "500" by Mrs. T. Grondin and Mrs. L. Simoneau.

FINED FOR DOING PLUMBING WORK WITHOUT LICENSE

Adelard Beaudoin, of this city, was fined $10 and costs in the Magistrate's Court this morning when he was found guilty of having done illegal plumbing work without a license. The action against Beaudoin was taken by the Department of Labor.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely

Read the following unsolicited letter:

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me." — Mrs. J. S. Maneely, Jr. Address upon request.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

EVEN THESE SHEEREST STOCKINGS DON'T GO INTO RUNS SO OFTEN NOW

Here is my secret—

"I simply adore those awfully sheer stockings that flatter one's legs so, but I used to feel I couldn't afford them. They went into runs so quickly. "Then I heard how Lux cuts down runs. Now that I use Lux, my stockings wear so well I can afford the sheer kind I love."

LUX cuts down runs because it saves stocking elasticity. Cake-soap rubbing and soaps with harmful alkali weaken elasticity, then ugly runs start. Lux has no harmful alkali—safe in water, safe in Lux!

MAPLE LEAFS CAPTURED EASTERN TOWNSHIPS INTERMEDIATE TITLE

East Angus Paper Makers Dethroned by Local Champions in District Hockey Final Last Night—Largest Crowd in History of Arena Witnessed Action-Packed Contest Which Leafs Captured by Score of Four to Two—Ronnie Mooney Supplied Three Assists for Goals Registered by New Monarchs—East Angus Staged Desperate Third-Period Rally in Last Attempt to Save Title.

Eastern Townships hockeydom today saluted a new monarch—a ruler worthy of all the honors heaped on the pretender who deposes a king in the manner which the Sherbrooke Maple Leafs dethroned the East Angus Paper Makers last night in the arena. Before the largest crowd to invade the arena since it became the centre of local hockey in 1929—a crowd which paid a stellar tribute to the new champions and accorded a striking farewell to a courageous but unsuccessful defender—the Leafs returned Eastern Townships intermediate supremacy to Sherbrooke by scoring a brilliant four to two victory over the Paper Makers, aggregation which astounded Quebec circles last year by reaching the provincial finals.

There was no one today to dispute the Leafs' right to the highest honors this district can bestow on its intermediate title contenders. In a game which bristled with action from the opening whistle until the last gong, the local puck-chasers played the game of their lives to leave no doubt about their superiority over the best the Eastern Townships can offer in opposition. Defeating East Angus is no ordinary feat—a feat which added glamor to the Leafs' triumph.

But although the Leafs emerged with the victory which catapulted them into the provincial semi-finals, the visiting Black Shirts did not hard over the sceptre they won last March without one of the most stubborn defenses ever witnessed on local ice. They fought grimly for two periods and appeared out on their feet before the final frame had reached the halfway mark. But, despite the play-off schedule which necessitated three games in five days and the grueling pace to which they had been subjected by the Leafs, East Angus had enough reserve left for their customary third-period comeback. It was merely a dying gesture, however. The Leafs were prepared for such an eleven-hour revival and matched stroke for stroke with their opponents to protect the meagre margin which spelled the championship.

Although many golden opportunities were missed in the players' over-anxiety to make the red light blink, the final score was a fair indication of the trend of play. There was sufficient scoring in the three periods to keep the capacity crowd on edge, and the only lulls in cheering occurred on the rare occasions when the whistle blew and a player was thumbed to the penalty box.

Penalties, although they were only eight minors, played a considerable role in the scoring. Wallie Heber's proteges potted their two tallies while the Leafs were short-handed and Bert Anderson's fellowmen registered once while a visitor was paying his compliments to the penalty taker. Once once, however, was a team bereft of two players at the same time. In the third period the Leafs had Art. Foley and Yvon Dugre in the "cooler" at once and there were three men in front of Ashley Hibbard for forty seconds.

There was drama packed into the three frames. In the opening chapter East Angus was provided with a chance of assuming a lead when the Leafs' "iron man" defence, Foley and Bob Dunsmore, took most of the stanza to get the feel of the. The Sherbrooke defence was taken off its feet nearly every time it tried to hand out a body check and Hibbard had more shots to handle than did Leo Lamoureux. The backchecking of the Leafs' forwards, however, relieved the pressure until their defence could find itself.

Play in the opening stages of the fixture was very cautious as both teams awaited the first "break." Paul Paquin almost opened the scoring when he trickled through the defence, but the Angus winger stick-handled too much and his backhand shot nicked the goal post with Hibbard sprawled in front of his cage. Lamoureux was the first to give ground and Glen Gould was credited with the Leafs' first tally. Ronnie Mooney was the playmaker. As the astute centre slipped inside the visitors' blue line, he shoved a pass through the Ralph Hayes-Emile Drapeau rear-guard to Gould. Lamoureux could not get into position to meet the new threat and Gould pushed home a shot which never left the ice.

A few seconds after the resulting face-off Foley drew the first penalty of the game, and it was while he was a guest of Gaston Authier that East Angus equalized. Maurice Gendreau stood outside a melee in front of Hibbard and accepted a pass from Armand Desruisseaux. Hibbard's vision was partly obscured as the Black Shirts' veteran right winger lifted a shot which rose over Ashley's knee into the draperies. Hibbard was overworked until Foley longer at a stretch weakened the Leafs' second line, but Harry Griffiths worked effectively to form a strong line with Dugre and Prefontaine. Hibbard was again outstanding, turning aside many shots which might have beaten him easily.

Gendreau and Desruisseaux were the sparks behind the East Angus attack, while Lamoureux proved his team's saviour on more than one occasion. Hayes and the Drapeau brothers showed the effect of too much hockey although they were quite effective and Paul Therrien, the East Angus star against Windsor Mills, was in better form than his team mates as he led the "kid line" on several menacing sallies.

The teams lined up as follows: Maple Leafs: East Angus: Hibbard goal Lamoureux defence Dunsmore Hayes Foley defence E. Drapeau Mooney centre Desruisseaux Gordon l. wing Gendreau Gould r. wing King

Maple Leafs subs: Kirby, Dugre, Prefontaine and Griffiths. East Angus subs: Therrien, Paquin, Labarre and G. Drapeau.

FROM THE SIDELINES

The arena was jammed for the first time in its five-year history. There were 2,511 paid admissions and the total attendance, including the children, was well over the 3,000 mark.

It was the first time also that the ice surface became the waste paper basket for empty bottles and programmes. The game was held up several times while the debris, tossed on the ice by poor sportsmen, was cleared.

Officers of both clubs found it hard to believe the report that the neutral referee, Walter Small, of Montreal, had missed his train. Many were of the opinion that no steps had been taken to secure the services of an outsider.

There was no protest, however, over the way Eddie Wolfe and Danie Towne acquitted themselves. They teamed together to handle an important fixture in a highly capable manner.

A wooden rattler emerged from the "Leafs' nest" in the opening section when Foley was penalized in the second period. Thoughtless fans little realize what chances they are taking of injuring players, officials and the spectators who occupy the promenade standing room.

The presentation of the trophy emblematic of the championship of the Sherbrooke County League was made at the end of the second period. Louis Renaud was the donor. Ronnie Mooney accepted the beautiful cup on behalf of his team mates.

East Angus was perfectly satisfied with the outcome, openly admitting after the game that they had been beaten by a better team. It was a very sporting gesture from a valiant loser.

The visitors' request for a change in goal judges was granted at the end of the first frame. The Paper Makers claimed that Paul Paquin's shot at the beginning of the game was a legitimate goal.

The Leafs argued with the second goal judge when Maurice Gendreau was credited with the goal which Bob Dunsmore accidentally scored. There was no doubt, however, about the point.

Larry Pergau bemoaned the injury which kept him out of last night's game. "Perg" played the game over and over again as he watched from behind the Leafs' bench.

Fred Kirby caught cold on a week-end excursion and got out of a sick bed to play. He was used but sparingly, Harry Griffiths being fitted in at centre on the second line.

Pat King's haircut was the talk of the spectators before the game. King was exhausted midway through the final chapter, but continued gamely until the last bell sounded.

The elimination of East Angus meant two new provincial finalists. The conquerors of the Paper Town team last spring, the Quebec Aces, have been barred this year by the Quebec Association.

There was another hitch in the arrangements. The timekeepers were provided with only one stop watch.

LENNOXVILLE'S CURLERS WON ANOTHER CUP

Defeated Sherbrooke in Inter-Club Event by 114 to 101—Rink Skipped by W. J. Lane Carried Off Individual Prizes—Lennoxville Rink Playing in Montreal Today.

Increasing their lead by another six points in the five games last evening, the Lennoxville curlers carried off the Canadian National Trophy, defeating the Sherbrooke Club on the series by a combined score of 114 to 101. This trophy is played for annually on the basis of club strength, the number of rinks participating ranging from ten to fifteen from each club.

The individual prizes, provided this year for the first time by the trustees of the cup for the rink scoring the highest net victory, were carried off by William Lane's Lennoxville quartette comprising Bob Bright, John Burton and Reg Baker, who defeated Bill Moore's Sherbrooke aggregation last evening by fourteen to five. In the other two encounters at Sherbrooke the Lennoxville fours walked off with the honors, Rupert Atto taking the measure of Will Harris by ten to eight and Roy Clarke defeating Les Sangster by fifteen to eight.

The invading Sherbrooke quartettes registered a double victory at Lennoxville, Louis Rouleau skipping a sixteen to nine win over Alfred Campbell's combination and Lee Hyndman outpointing Arthur Speid by fifteen to eleven.

By virtue of their seven point wins the rinks skipped by Rouleau and Roy Clarke divided the prizes presented by Norrey Hunting for the runners-ups.

The rinks and scores in last night's games were:

ELGIN TROPHY COMPETITION TO BE INAUGURATED TODAY

Montreal, March 1.—C. P. MacDonald's Granby quartette meets the Lennoxville rink skipped by Henry Downs in the opening game of the Elgin Trophy granite competition this afternoon. The second set will be played tonight and the third tomorrow morning, the rink's with the greatest number of wins among the twenty-eight entries playing an elimination series for the cup. The Sherbrooke club is not represented in the competition.

The Lennoxville rink comprises: C. Crawford, F. McLean, R. T. Atto and Henry Downs, skip.

The instrument being supplied by Dr. Henri Veilleux, of East Angus. The game was delayed twenty minutes while a fruitless search was made for a second watch.

While Mooney and Art. Foley were helping the Leafs to the Eastern Townships championship, their Alma Mater, St. Francis Xavier University, was annexing the Nova Scotia intercollegiate title. In their last year at St. F. X. Foley was captain and Mooney was first lieutenant.

There was little attention paid to the "no smoking" warnings. A haze hung over the surface as early as the start of the second period.

"Sunshine" Dugre and Foley shared the "bad man" title. One of Dugre's penalties, however, was the result of the referee catching the wrong man for tripping.

The players stuck to their knitting and played so cautiously that several minutes elapsed on numerous occasions without a whistle halting the proceedings.

MAROONS AGAIN CONQUERED NEW YORK RANGERS

No Change in American Section Standing as Result of Defeats Suffered by Patrickmen and Chicago Hawks—Canadiens Practically Clinched Play-Off Berth.

It is up to the Boston Bruins now to do something about the deadlock race for leadership in the National Hockey League's American division.

The New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks both tried to break things up last night and had to accept defeat, leaving the stretch drive for first place still a wide-open affair.

The Hawks moved in to Detroit last night expecting to pick up two badly needed points from the down-trodden Red Wings. They found Johnny Sorrell, Larry Aurie, Eddie Goodfellow and the rest of the boys working as though they were headed for the Stanley Cup and came away with the short end of a five to one count.

Lester Patrick's Rangers figured that after their three to one defeat of the Maroons on Tuesday the law of averages or something should reverse the procedure last night. But the Maroons knew no law and 10,000 fans in Madison Square Garden saw their hopes for the world championship beaten by five to two.

The beatings handed the Hawks and the Rangers left the division standing unchanged with the Rangers and Boston on top and the Hawks only a point behind them. Boston got the first crack at taking the lead Saturday night when they play the Maroons. Chicago have a game with the Canadiens on Sunday but the Rangers do not get back in to action until Tuesday when they meet the Bruins.

The Montreal Canadiens made themselves almost a sure bet for the play-offs by defeating the St. Louis Eagles by four to two in Montreal. The New York Americans, who trail by seven points in the international division, can pile up only forty-six points if they win all their eight remaining games. The Habitants have ten contests in which to pick up the ten points that would assure them of a place in the extra-money series.

Their chances of making the play-offs gone, Detroit players probably were thinking of next season's contracts when they gave everything they had against the world champions. Outplaying and outskating the Chicagoans, they tied up an early goal in the first period and rammed four more shots past Lorne Chabot in the second frame.

Johnny Sorrell and Larry Aurie led the attack with two goals each and Eddie Wiseman got the other tally. Eddie Goodfellow gave three assists and Sorrell two. "Mush" March got the Hawks' only goal.

The Maroons and the Rangers equalled the performance of Toronto and Chicago last Saturday when they staved the New York game without a penalty. The Montrealers got two goals in the first period just as they did in Montreal on Tuesday but last night they added more in the final session. Bob Graie scored two of the third period goals and Jimmy Ward got the other marker, after "Baldy" Northcott and Herb Cain had given Tommy Gorman's team their first period lead.

Bill Cook, working the old Cook-Boucher-Cook passing attack, opened the third period with a goal and Cecil Dillon got the other point with Murray Murdoch's help when the score stood at four to one.

Although he had only twenty-four shots to stop, Wilf Cude, the Canadiens' goalie, was the hero of the game at Montreal. Most of the drives the Eagles sent his way were from close in and he saved the Habitants repeatedly.

Leroy Goldsworthy and Roger Jenkins scored for Leo Dandurand's team in the first period, George Martha slipped in a pass from brother Sylvio in the second stanza and "Black Cat" Johnny Gagnon finished off the Canadian attack in the third chapter. Frank Jerwa and Pete Kelly got the Eagle goals in the middle frame.

JOHNSON AGAIN ON ROAD TO COMPLETE RECOVERY
New York, Mar. 1.—Ivan "Ching" Johnson is the hockeyman they can not keep out of the play-offs.

The big rock of the New York Rangers' defence was well on the way to complete recovery today from the last of the score of injuries that have threatened to puncture his lengthy career, and it seemed the only thing necessary to see him in another National League play-off was for the Rangers to land a berth.

The man who is aptly called "The star of a thousand stitches" still is wan after fighting the infection which set into a seemingly minor leg injury. He lost twenty pounds while holding down a hospital cot, but he is mending superbly and was full of fight and hope in Madison Square Garden last night.

From the sidelines he watched the Rangers go down by five to two before the passing of the Montreal Maroons. The defeat in nowise dimmed his optimism. He said: "That is just one game. We are still helping lead the American section, aren't we? They cannot possibly keep either of us out of the play-offs—the Rangers and myself, I mean."

If the good-natured big Winnipeg guard had all his injuries at once, he could well be mistaken for an uncooked hamburger. However, he permitted none of them to keep him out of championship games, despite these narrow escapes.

In the 1928 play-offs a broken hand puffed like a balloon but he finished the game.

In 1929 a smashed ankle had him on crutches a little before the play-offs. They braced him up and he was a Gibraltar on the defence.

The next year he refused to stay out with a broken jaw. A metal guard over the fracture and Johnson was out on the ice, looking like a deep-sea diver but smacking over attackers like a demon.

ST. F.X. CAPTURED NOVA SCOTIA COLLEGE TITLE
Antigonish, N.S., March 1.—St. Francis Xavier University's puck-chasers, Nova Scotia intercollegiate hockey champions, made ready today for their play-off series with Mount Allison University for the Maritime title.

The Xavians gained the right to meet the New Brunswick champions last night by handing out a five to two defeat to Acadia University, last year's Nova Scotia titlists, in a "sudden-death" game for the provincial crown.

It was the Antigonish team's game all the way. "Shorty" Mitchell shoved home two goals in the opening period, assisted by McNeil, and Ken Barbridge made it three to nothing less than a minute after the second session opened. McCausland notched one for the Acadians at the ten-minute mark, but O'Flaherty put St. F.X. further ahead a short time later with two quick tallies.

Antigonish, adopting defensive play in the last period, nevertheless allowed Bligh to go through for a goal. Doug Ralston, of Saint John, in the Acadia nets, held the Xaviers scoreless this period. For the game he had nineteen stops as compared with McDonald's fifty-two.

JAPAN LEADING CANDIDATE FOR 1940 OLYMPICS

Oslo, March 1.—The Olympic Games Committee today deferred allotment of the 1940 Olympiad until the meeting at Berlin in 1936, during the next Olympic Games. Japan is the leading candidate for the 1940 series although Finland also has a claim in.

BIRDS FIND COMFORTABLE HOME FOR THE WINTER.

Weston, Conn., March 1.—Mrs. Charles E. Broch got two birds with one storm. During a recent snow-fall, she opened the living room door and in flew a sparrow. A minute later, she opened the door again and in flew a wren. Both birds were placed in a cage and will be released when the snow melts.

He won't "get by"

Jim complains that his good work on the job doesn't get him anywhere. But it's his own fault. Employers today won't place confidence in a man who tries to "get by" without shaving.

A tender skin is no excuse for neglect. Today's Gillette "Blue Blade" is especially processed for fast, smooth work on sensitive faces. Even two shaves a day, when necessary, are entirely comfortable. Buy a package of Gillette "Blue Blades." See how pleasant shaving can be.
