POWERFUL JAP FLEET OPERATES IN BENGAL BAY

Churchill Tells Of Composition Of Jap Flotilla

Fleet Comprising at Least Three Battleships, Five Aircraft Carriers, Heavy and Light Cruisers and Several Flotillas of Destroyers Threatens Supply Lines to India, British House of Commons Told.

London, April 13.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill disclosed today that the Japanese are operating in the Bay of Bengal with powerful naval forces headed by at least three battleships and five aircraft carriers and including heavy and light cruisers and several flotillas of destroyers.

Reporting to the House of Commons on the loss of the Aircraft Carrier Hermes and the Cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall, whose sinking by Japanese bombers in the Bay of Bengal was announced last week, the Prime Minister said the Japanese battleships there included at least one of the modernized, 16-inch gun Nagato type of 32,720 tons.

It was against this vastly superior force headed for Ceylon, he disclosed, that the Hermes, Dorsetshire and Cornwall were preparing to make their stand when they were sent to the bottom by Japanese bombs.

The Prime Minister said that the commander of the intercepting force, Admiral Sir James Somerville, whose hastily gathered fleet of big and little ships rescued the British Expeditionary Force from Dunkerque and who helped stalk the German battleship Bismarck to her end in the Atlantic, had done nothing to weaken the confidence of the Admiralty in his judgment.

Mr. Churchill said thunderstorms and low-hanging clouds which enveloped the Japanese aircraft carriers and warships interfered with British counter-attacks by air. Nevertheless, he asserted, British bombers, torpedo planes and fighters pressed the attack until all available planes had been knocked out.

The Prime Minister's comments were made in response to a series of questions.

Mr. Churchill said he could not make any statement concerning the disposition of the British fleet in this area, which is under command of Admiral Sir James Somerville, without disclosing information useful to the enemy.

He declared, however, that British naval losses in the Bay of Bengal had not weakened the Admiralty's confidence in Admiral Somerville.

It is quite impossible, Mr. Churchill said, to afford continuous air protection by shore-based or carrier-borne aircraft to all British ships at sea.

The Dorsetshire, Cornwall and Hermes were sunk by Japanese planes.

"Many scores" of British ships are at sea every day without air protection, he went on, adding that "unless these risks are taken there is no means of carrying on the immense business of convoy and sea war

CHINESE PRESS URGES UNITED STATES ACT IN INDIAN IMPASSE

Chungking, April 13.—(P)—The Chinese press urged today that China, the United States and other United Nations intervene for a settlement of the Indian question.

The influential Ta Kung Pao suggested that all political issues in India should be settled by a joint agreement among India, Britain, China and the United States, with the last two guaranteeing any British pledges.

MOUNTBATTEN NOW DIRECTOR OF COMMANDOS

Prime Minister Churchill Reveals that Cousin of King George VI is in Charge of Famous Force.

London, April 13.—(CP-Cable)—Mystery figure of the commandos for months, Lord Louis Mountbatten, announced by Prime Minister Churchill today as chief of Britain's combined operations, was the man behind the raids on Vaagso, Lofoten, Bruneval and St. Nazaire.

The appointment had been a service secret until now, but the operations forces, which included Canadians, privately made no secret of their pride that "Mountbatten of the Illustrious" and the King's cousin, was their boss.

At one point Canadian naval officers referred to the chief as "My Lord Looney."

Canadians look to the handsome, colorful forty-one-year-old Lord Louis with somewhat similar admiration and affection as Canadian troops look to Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaghton.

After succeeding Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, Lord Louis went to bat for the commandos, keen and ready for raids along Europe's sprawling coast.

Vaagso was his particular interest for weeks. He fought opposition until he got permission to make the raid, a naval officer well informed on the background said. Lord Louis took a leading part in planning the minute detail. Other raids followed with equal success.

In his new command he holds the acting rank of Vice-Admiral and the honorary ranks of Lieutenant General and Air Marshal.

Lord Louis, who survived the sinking of two destroyers in this war and has seen action in the Norwegian campaign, the Atlantic, the

MOSCOW PAPERS SERVE WARNING UPON JAPANESE

Japs Warned to Observe All Ramifications of Neutrality Pact Signed Between Two Countries Last Year.

Kuibyshev, Russia, April 13.—(P)—Striking at what was called "blabbering" in Japanese "military and Fascist cliques" about war in the North, Soviet Russia today observed the first anniversary of the signing of the Japanese-Russian Neutrality Pact by warning Tokyo to live up to all ramifications of the agreement.

The pact was signed in Moscow on Easter Sunday of last year. The vehicle of the warning today was an editorial in Pravda, organ of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

Although not belligerent in tone, the editorial spoke in firm phrases. "It is necessary," Pravda said, "that the Japanese military and Fascist cliques who are dizzy on military successes should understand that their blabbering about war and invasion in the North might damage first of all the most of all Japan herself."

The editorial came while both the Japanese Ambassador, Naotake Sato, and the new United States Ambassador, Admiral William Slandley, were in Moscow to present their credentials.

The Japanese-Russian pact, a triumph scored by the then Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, on his way home from discussions in Berlin and Rome, said that each party undertook to respect the other's territorial inviolability and that each would remain neutral in case one of the signatories was the object of military action on the part of one or several powers.

The pact provided that such neutrality would be observed throughout any such conflict.

Since its signature Germany has invaded Russia and Japan has gone to war against the United Nations.

HEADS PHYSICAL EDUCATIONISTS

Montreal, April 13.—(P)—J. G. Lang, Supervising Director of Physical Education for the Montreal Protestant Board of School Commissioners, was elected President of the Canadian Physical Education Association at the closing session Saturday of the two-day annual convention. He succeeds Miss Florence A. Somers, Professor of Physical Education at the University of Toronto.

JAPANESE COLUMN IS ADVANCING TOWARD YEN-ANYAUNG OILFIELDS

New Delhi, April 13.—(P)—A British headquarters communique on the Burma front fighting said today a Japanese column was reported to be advancing up the main road from Simbaungwe, seventy miles North of Prome.

Simbaungwe is on the East bank of the Irrawaddy River about fifty-five miles South of the vital Yenanyang oilfields of Inner Burma.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN SHIPSHAW DEATH

Shipsaw, Que., April 13.—(P)—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Yvon Talbot, twenty of Montreal, who was electrocuted at the Foundation Company construction yards here Saturday.

Talbot failed to bend down when the construction train on which he was riding passed under low-strung wires. After striking the wires, he fell under the wheels of the train and was run over.

St. Johns, Que., April 13.—(P)—Georges Fortin, K.C., Mayor of this town about thirty miles South of Montreal, died suddenly last night while attending a banquet of the Southern Townships Hockey League here.

Far-Ranging Royal Air Force Bombers Carry War To Italian Cities

Industrial Centres of German Ruhr Valley and Royal Arsenal at Turin Among Objectives Subjected to Heavy Bombardment by Royal Air Force Craft Last Night—Allied Plane Output Exceeds that of Axis.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT DELAYS STATEMENT ON CRIPPS' MISSION

London, April 13.—(P)—The British Government will make no statement on Sir Stafford Cripps' mission to India before he returns, an official spokesman declared today.

He said it was deemed better to wait and hear what Sir Stafford himself has to say.

He added that within a fortnight the Government would make a statement on the course of the war but it would be confined to a secret session of the House.

London, April 13.—(P)—Britain's far-ranging bombers pounded at Axis arsenals in Germany and Italy early today in a bombing offensive designed to smash the equipment of many German divisions before it is able to leave the factories.

The Royal Arsenal at Turin, where munitions are produced, was reported to have been one of the main targets of the raid against Berlin's Axis partner. It was the first raid on Turin since September and the eighteenth since Italy entered the war in 1940.

An authoritative source said the attack on Italy was carried out without the loss of a single bomber on the 1,500-mile round trip.

The Krupp works at Essen, Germany, were one of the objectives in the forty-five raid on that Ruhr manufacturing city, it was reported. The Ruhr raid and subsidiary attacks on docks at Le Havre, Occupied France, and airbases in France and the Low Countries, cost the R.A.F. ten bombers and one fighter.

GERMAN PLANES FEELING DEPTH OF RED LINES

Accelerated Aircraft Activity Accompanies Light Counter Attacks by German Troops as Weather Brightens.

Kuibyshev, Russia, April 13.—(P)—The German air force accelerated its activity today in support of light counter-attacks with infantry and tanks as the Germans sought to feel out the depth of the Soviet front.

Warm and slushy weather—probably the warmest thus far this year—prevailed in the fighting areas.

A dispatch from the front said that the German aviation arm still was strong, but asserted that the Soviet fliers were overtaking the slower Nazi planes at any height and beating them—with machine guns, cannon and ramming.

Three German counter-attacks were reported on the Bryansk front South of Moscow, but Soviet reports said they definitely were not a major operation.

Russian sappers, extracting all possible aid from nature, have changed the course of floodwaters and washed the Germans out of a fortified village.

Dispatches from the rain-drenched front said the engineers defied German guns and dug trenches through which the flood surged upon enemy positions.

Just as the waters swept over the Germans in the village, so is a wave of confidence in ultimate triumph sweeping over the Soviet Union.

Optimistic Russians give three reasons for their confidence.

1—They believe the expected Spring offensive will be their offensive.

2—They are convinced the German army will be smashed on Russian soil this year.

The thunder of bomb blasts rolling across the Channel could be heard on the English shore.

The skies already were grey this morning when residents on the Kent Coast heard the last crump of exploding bombs on the other side of Dover Strait, and the sun was well up in the sky when the last group of planes winged overhead homeward bound from some distant mission.

There is every indication that Britain is taking maximum advantage of the spring nights—which now provide about seven hours of darkness—to step up aerial operations first developing into the United Nations' first real European offensive of 1942.

The growing strength of the United Nations air force was emphasized yesterday by Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, who declared in a speech at Royston that United States airplane production would be equal to the total output of Germany, Italy and Japan "within five or six weeks."

He said British manufacture of planes already had reached parity with Germany.

The fierce air fighting which marked the daylight phase of the growing offensive yesterday developed when planes made a bombing sweep over the Hazebrouck yards in Northern France.

The raiders were met by swarms of German fighters and the opposing air forces swiftly tangled in a series of swirling dogfights in which the raiders lost thirteen fighter planes and one bomber.

A communique announcing the battle said four German planes were

Retention Of Troops In Canada Demanded At Thetford Gathering

Thetford Mines, April 13.—(P)—Rene Chalouit, Liberal Member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Lotbiniere, after telling an anti-conscription gathering here yesterday to vote "No" in the plebiscite said that the French Canadian forces should be commanded and directed by French-speaking officers.

"There is not an example in the world," he said, "of a people who let themselves be led to war in a language which is not their own. It is first a question of establishing democracy at home before we are asked to make a total effort to establish it (democracy) abroad."

Both Prime Minister Churchill, in his recent visit to Ottawa and Premier Godbout, in a speech to the Legislative Assembly, said that Canada was directly menaced, on the Pacific Coast by the Japanese and on the Eastern Coast by the Germans, Mr. Chalouit said.

"If we are directly menaced," he continued, "we should keep all our soldiers at home and take all means to avoid conscription. If we are not menaced, we should also keep our men at home because we are not in this war to serve as a footstool to other peoples. Neither England, nor France, nor the United States are our country; our only country is Canada."

LEVIS MEMBER URGES "NO" VOTE

St. Romuald de Levis, April 13.—(P)—Maurice Bourget, Liberal Member of Parliament for Levis, main speaker at an anti-conscription meeting here yesterday, urged a negative vote in the forthcoming plebiscite.

Claiming that it was "imperialistic agitation" which forced Prime Minister King to bring up the plebiscite question, Mr. Bourget said, "We have been told that national unity is in danger. But if by national unity they mean national slavery, I will have none of it."

Mr. Bourget, who said that Canada's war effort is formidable and worthy of respect and that the other provinces also are opposed to conscription, added that if the majority of the country gave an affirmative vote to the plebiscite he would be obliged to vote in favor of conscription for Overseas service if such a bill was submitted to the House of Commons.

WAR BULLETINS

Berlin, (from German broadcasts) — The Germans, quoting reports from Tangiers, today claimed a British cruiser "of the Hermione class" has arrived at Gibraltar heavily damaged and with many of her crew wounded after an engagement with Axis planes at Malta.

(Jane's fighting ships list the Hermione as one of a class of ten 5,450-ton cruisers, all built during 1939 and 1940. The others are the Dido, Euryalus, Naiad, Phoebe, Sirius, Bonaventure, Charybdis, Cleopatra and Scylla).

Tokyo, (from Japanese broadcasts)—Japanese Imperial Headquarters claimed today that the Japanese had fully occupied Bataan peninsula.

Headquarters claimed the occupation was completed "after an eight-day general offensive, the main body of the enemy forces which had been offering stubborn resistance being completely annihilated."

GODBOUT URGES CANADIANS TO ACT TOGETHER

Quebec Premier Greet's French-Speaking Canadians Throughout Canada in Opening "National Pride Week."

Quebec, April 13.—(P)—French-Canadian and Acadian national life "is such that it is not our principle to cut off the bridges that we and our brothers of the East, the Middle West and the West," Premier Godbout said in a radio address read for him last night over the French network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

The fifteen-minute address, read by Maurice Hebert, head of the Publicity Department of the Provincial Government, marked the inaugural of a "National Pride Week," sponsored by the government.

Pro-Nazi Groups Use Increased Pressure On Petain Government

London, April 13.—(P)—Advocates of collaboration between Vichy and Berlin exerted new pressure upon the Petain government during the week-end, with one Nazi proponent, Marcel Deat, going so far as to say that France's fate for many years would be determined by the next few hours.

Deat, leader of the French National Concentration Movement, charged that the United States Ambassador, Admiral William Leahy, "acting through intermediaries," had ruled France for eighteen months and said that France had to choose between co-operating with European policies or having Germany use force.

Deat's remarks were reported in German reports as while DNB, the German news agency, reported from Vichy that Petain Laval, former Vice-Premier in the Petain Government, held a long conference Saturday with Petain and Vice-Premier Jean Darian, during which he reopened negotiations with the French leaders.

Laval has been reported eager to re-enter the Vichy Cabinet in his move to increase French-German collaboration but Petain thus far has been said to be adamant.

Four demands on Vichy, attributed to Jacques Doriot, strongly pro-Nazi French journalist, were published in the Parisier Zeitung, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich said today. Said to have an official tinge, the demands were: 1—The Petain regime must immediately adopt a new policy of closest collaboration with the Axis powers by taking an active role against Britain, the United States and Russia.

2—Vichy must fundamentally alter its government and dismiss all ministers, general and political leaders known to be pro-Anglo-Saxon.

3—Petain must give executive power to those "who during the last eighteen months pressed for collaboration with the Axis."

4—Further indecision by Vichy is "intolerable and is tantamount to a decision against the Axis which means the suicide of France."

Meanwhile, the Germans announced the execution of five persons they identified as Communist as reprisal for the killing of a German sentinel and the bombing of the army bureau in Paris April 2. The Germans further threatened that if the authors of the attacks were not arrested by April 17 certain numbers of other persons would be shot.

Enumerators Preparing Plebiscite List Inaugurated Their Work Today

Sixty-six enumerators who will list the voters for the April 27 plebiscite to release the Federal Government from past commitments in regard to conscription, started their task this morning in Sherbrooke and Sherbrooke County, Alphonse Trudeau, plebiscite returning officer for the county, said today.

At the same time, he announced the names of the forty-five enumerators and the twenty-one others for Sherbrooke County. The territory to which the enumerators have been assigned is as follows:

East Ward: Mrs. Leon Lacombe, A. J. Packwood, Albert Blouin, Luc Roy, Wilfrid Denault, J. E. Thibault, Miss Rebecca Trudeau, A. Girard, Maurice Deschênes and Robert Tanguay.

South Ward: A. J. Belanger, L. H. Collet, Albert Fortin, Georges Berard, Miss Cecile Gagne, Romeo St. Cyr, Gerard Bernard and William Audet.

West Ward: Mrs. H. Bolduc, J. B. Boucher, Guy St. Germain, Edmond Levesque, Mrs. P. Brousseau, Ludwig Baker, Mrs. H. Robitaille, Eugène Belanger, Mrs. J. A. Marquis, Mrs. Lionel Lapierre and Mrs. John Daniels.

Centre Ward: Sylvio Lacharite, Adjutor Lachance, Alfred Lemieux, Patrick Gauthier, Mrs. Sylvia Hatch and Paul Croteau.

North Ward: Mrs. David Lepaire, Albert Joy, Aime Sevigny, Gerard Simonneau, Eugene Desève, Laurent Lajoie, Ernest Cote, John Campbell and Gabriel Turgeon.

Sherbrooke County: Lennoxville, James McKelvie and James Balfour; Ascot, Joseph R. Plante; Experimental Farm, Charles Crawford; Huntingville, J. C. Desjarlais; Racey, Leopold Clement; Capelton and Eustis, Mrs. Alcide Ouellette; Colonsville, Octave Doyon; Ascot Corner, Wilfrid Cosselin; Lake St. Lawrence (Village), Jean-Marie Lebour; Rock Forest (Seaswan), Honora Beauregard; Golf Club, A. G. Mills; Bonnard's Mills, J. Emile Plante; Cherry River, E. J. McKelvie; St. Elie d'Orford (Village), Emile Gauthier; St. Elie d'Orford (Rg. 11), J. B. Mailhot; St. Elie d'Orford (Rg. 6), Robert Gauthier; and Suffield, Henri Monjeau.

A qualified voter whose name does not appear on the lists prepared by the enumerators may cast a ballot after being vouched for by a voter whose name is on the list, and taking an oath.

Election officials said that the names of 26,773 electors appeared on the voters' list in this county for the 1940 election. The total number of ballots cast was 18,931. However, it is believed that some 19,000 to 20,000 will cast a plebiscite vote on April 27.

The civilian Canadians who will place their "X" after the "Yes" or "No" on the plebiscite ballot must have the following qualifications:

- 1—Be at least 21 years of age.
- 2—Be a British subject by birth or naturalization.
- 3—Have been a resident in Canada twelve months before polling day.

4—Have been ordinarily residents in the polling division on March 30, 1942.

The general rule is that all with such qualifications may cast a ballot, but there are twelve exceptions, which were pointed out by Albert Rivard, who is assisting Returning Officer Trudeau.

Among those who may not vote are judges appointed by the Governor-in-Council, Eskimos and Indians ordinarily resident on a reservation and who did not serve with the forces in the First Great War or with the present war.

The term "Indian" includes any person of whole or part Indian blood entitled to receive annuity or other benefit under the treaty with the Crown.

Inmates of prisons, persons denied liberty of movement because of mental disease and those detained at internment under Defence of Canada Regulations at the date of the vote may not cast ballots.

All Japanese except about forty who served with the Canadian forces in the last war, are disqualified because of a British Columbia law which denies them the right to vote.

A person cannot vote if he is disqualified by reason of his race from voting in a provincial election and did not serve in war with the Canadian forces.

A further section provides disqualification for a person whose racial original is that of a country at war with Canada, if at the time of the plebiscite he or she would be disqualified by reason of race in any province from voting in a provincial election and had not served with the Canadian forces.

The vote is not available to those who have been exempted or claim exemption from military service because of doctrines of religion making them averse to bearing arms and who, by provincial law, cannot participate in the provincial election voting.

Persons who have applied to national war services boards for exemption from military training under certain sections covering Mennonites, Doukhobors and conscientious objectors are also disqualified.

Inmates of institutions maintained by the Government of a municipality are also disqualified if they are unable to vote in provincial elections and did not serve in the armed forces.

Voting privileges are not enjoyed by those who have been disqualified under any law relating to the disqualification of electors for corrupt or illegal practices.

The returning officer said today that his assistant, Acting Returning Officer Rivard, will within the course of the next several days, name the deputy district returning officers for Sherbrooke County.

Residents of Sherbrooke and Sherbrooke County desiring to obtain further data concerning the plebiscite regulations, can get the necessary information by telephoning the Sherbrooke Plebiscite Office, Sherbrooke 28.

St. Monica's Guild held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Baker, Belvidere Street, Mrs. R. Clarke, the President, was in the chair and plans were made to hold a salad bar and food sale. Mrs. L. Jenne gave a quilt which is to be made up for the Red Cross. Mrs. Lee Watson invited the members to meet at her home for the next regular meeting. Mrs. R. Blake assisted Mrs. Baker in serving refreshments.

St. Monica's Salad Bar, May 7th. Those from a distance who were in town to attend the funeral of Rev. Mr. Kerr which was held at St. George's Church on Friday were: Mrs. Findley Bennett, Mr. George Kerr, Mr. Newton Bennett and Miss Patricia Bennett, of Canterbury; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mayhew, of Bromptonville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayhew, of Bury; Mr. Carl Mayhew, of Montreal; Mrs. Aubrey Godwin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hurley, of Sawyerville; Mrs. Edith LeGallias, of Bromptonville; Mrs. Evelyn Herrick and Mr. L. Berges, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bishop, of Sherbrooke.

Col. Bourque recalled that such men as the late Ernest Lapointe, Fernand Rivet, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Premier Godbout and Hon. Mr. Power had been against conscription for services Overseas and he believed that the country should record an emphatic no vote in the plebiscite.

"I am not addressing you as Johnny Bourque, Member of the Quebec Legislature, but as Johnny Bourque, citizen of Sherbrooke, and I am telling you that I am going to vote 'no' on April 27."

Other speakers included Jean Marc Goulet and Gaston Sevigny, of Montreal.

Keep May 9th for mammoth evening bridge and Chinese auction, Magog House, auspices King George Chapter, I.O.D.E.

Employees of the local division of the Canadian Pacific Express Company and their families, numbering about fifty-five, yesterday afternoon enjoyed a sugaring-off at Fairview Farm, Lennoxville. Leaving the city office early in the afternoon, the party motored to the sugar bush where the afternoon was spent in enjoying the spring-time treat. Among those present at the party, organized by G. A. Ingham, local agent, were H. L. Atte, of Montreal, Assistant Superintendent of the Eastern Division, Lt.-Col. T. R. Mackenzie, former District Representative, and Mrs. Mackenzie, W. F. Norcross, District Representative, and Mrs. Norcross, and Mrs. G. A. Ingham.

Col. Bourque, in urging a no vote, said that in doing so he was not being disloyal to his country. He had fought in the First World War, he said, and he had served in the present conflict, having already done more, he said, "than those in charge of the recruiting office in Sherbrooke."

It was said that Canada was in danger and that the final issue would be decided most likely on North American soil, Mr. Bourque stated. If that were so then Canadian forces should be kept at home for the defence of their country.

Col. Bourque recalled that such men as the late Ernest Lapointe, Fernand Rivet, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Premier Godbout and Hon. Mr. Power had been against conscription for services Overseas and he believed that the country should record an emphatic no vote in the plebiscite.

A "NO" VOTE ON PLEBISCITE IS URGED AT RALLY

Maxime Raymond, M.P. for Beauharnois-Laprairie, and Johnny Bourque, M.L.A. for Sherbrooke, Addressed Meeting Here Last Night.

Maxime Raymond, Liberal Member of Parliament for Beauharnois-Laprairie, and Lt.-Col. Johnny Bourque, Union National Member of the Quebec Legislature for Sherbrooke, voiced a joint appeal here last night for a "no" vote in the April 27th plebiscite by which the Federal Government is seeking release from its commitments on the question of conscription for service Overseas.

Mr. Raymond and Col. Bourque addressed a meeting held in the Immaculate Conception Church Hall under the sponsorship of the Defence of Canada League and presided over by ex-Mayor Joseph Laproque, President of the League's Sherbrooke branch. The hall could not accommodate the several thousand men and women who had gathered for the rally and many listened to the speakers from outside. Since the Laproque School Hall where loudspeakers had been installed, the meeting was orderly throughout.

Mr. Raymond urged for an emphatic "no" vote throughout the Province and he said that if this were done no Government would dare to enforce conscription in Quebec. To vote "yes" he maintained, was to give the Government carte blanche to bring in conscription now and when it desired, and this mandate would apply as well to any other Government that might go into power at Ottawa during the war.

In campaigning for a "no" vote in the plebiscite, Mr. Raymond continued, he was merely being faithful to his pre-election promises that he would combat all measures to bring in conscription for Overseas. The plebiscite, he said, had been called for one reason and one reason only, to wit, to release the Government from its pledges not to enforce conscription and anyone who said that a yes verdict did not mean that conscription would be brought in was misleading the people. In fact, the speaker continued, Premier King himself had stated that the plebiscite was for the express purpose of releasing the Government from its pledges that men would not be sent outside Canada's boundaries, except on a voluntary basis.

When war was declared and the question of Canada's participation was being debated Quebec Province had agreed to it upon condition that there would be no conscription, and the late Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice and spokesman for the French-Canadian population, had declared that Quebec would never stand for any measure for compulsory service on foreign soil. For Quebec today to release the Government from its promises was to discredit Mr. Lapointe's statement, the speaker added.

He said that Quebec was being asked to vote "yes" in the plebiscite for the sake of national unity. But that was an old excuse, he said, for from the days before Confederation Quebec had been asked to make sacrifices for the sake of national unity. It was about time, he believed, that sacrifices were demanded of other parts of the country for national unity.

"If you are against conscription there is only one way to express your opinion and that is by making your ballot opposite the 'no' on voting day," Mr. Raymond said.

He declared that this was Quebec's last chance to take a stand on the matter. If the Province recorded a yes vote then the Members would have no choice other than to approve a conscription measure when it was brought up in Parliament.

The speaker criticized the Government for refusing the plebiscite vote to youths between 18 and 21 years of age and for having banned the C.B.C. to proponents of the no vote.

Col. Bourque, in urging a no vote, said that in doing so he was not being disloyal to his country. He had fought in the First World War, he said, and he had served in the present conflict, having already done more, he said, "than those in charge of the recruiting office in Sherbrooke."

It was said that Canada was in danger and that the final issue would be decided most likely on North American soil, Mr. Bourque stated. If that were so then Canadian forces should be kept at home for the defence of their country.

Col. Bourque recalled that such men as the late Ernest Lapointe, Fernand Rivet, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Premier Godbout and Hon. Mr. Power had been against conscription for services Overseas and he believed that the country should record an emphatic no vote in the plebiscite.

St. Hyacinthe Regiment Moves Out Of Sherbrooke Exhibition Grounds

A new commanding officer has been named by Military District No. 4 for the St. Hyacinthe Regiment, which left Sherbrooke yesterday after having been stationed at the Exhibition Grounds since February 15. Public relations officer for the district announced today that Lt.-Col. J. A. Léclaire, who had commanded the regiment since its mobilization shortly after he returned from Overseas, has been appointed to command the Chateauguay Regiment, now in Montreal, and that Lt.-Col. R. Hamel, who has been in command of the reserve battalion of the St. Hyacinthe Regiment, had been named to the command of the active unit following completion of a course at Kingston. Appointment of Lt.-Col. J. L. Dansereau to command the reserve battalion of the Chateauguay Regiment was also announced.

Some eight hundred men left the Exhibition Grounds barracks at noon yesterday with the St. Hyacinthe Regiment. An intensive recruiting campaign had increased the strength of the unit, which had only about two hundred and fifty in uniform when it arrived here two months ago.

Exhibition officials said that no official word had been received from military headquarters concerning new arrivals of troops here, but that more men are expected.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF INVASION

Speculation increases like spring fever on both sides of the Atlantic about the possibility of opening up an Allied front somewhere in Western Europe in support of the Russians, and something like that might happen in due course, but it must be said that the Axis is making it very difficult for such a project to materialize. The chief difficulty they impose is through the heavy toll of shipping (the three Axis nations are taking. When we talk about invasion across water one of the first things we must think of is ships—in great numbers—and many critics have been overlooking that in demanding immediate invasion of the continent.

Britain and America have men enough for such a project; the British air power would seem sufficient to support the venture; presumably there should be enough land equipment in the not distant future to warrant a start. But the Allies are woefully weak in shipping, a lack which has been hampering operations the world over. United States entrance into the war has increased difficulties in this respect immensely. Not only are there the growing deprivations of the Nazis, Italians and Japanese, but the opening of the Battle of the Pacific has multiplied Allied commitments and the length of sea communications. When it is considered that a convoyed vessel can make only three or four round trips in a year to the Orient from the United States West Coast or from England, one can appreciate what a strain both America and Britain are under.

So thus far the Allies have not had enough ships to stage an invasion, even if they had been prepared otherwise. And it must be remembered that it would require a huge fleet to get troops, equipment and continuing supplies across the English Channel. Also an armada would be necessary to blast open the way and the Anglo-American fleets have been too busy with long-distance convoys for any concerted action like invasion.

Then there is another point: It would be a terrific risk for the United States and Britain to mass their fleets, or any considerable portion of them, for the purpose of invasion now. Should things go badly, they might lose enough warships to throw control of the seas into the Axis pocket, to say nothing of giving the Japs run of the ocean while the operation was in progress.

Thus we see that a full-dress invasion of Western Europe probably would be the most difficult and dangerous operation which could be undertaken. However, there is another area of unestimable strategic importance which must be manned by the Allies—that is Syria, Iraq and Iran. From this Middle Eastern base help could be fed to the Russians through the Caucasus. And should Hitler break down through the Caucasus, or by-pass Turkey in an effort to get into Syria, the Allied forces would be in position to block him.

The Fuehrer's chief purpose in attacking Russia was to reach the fresh supplies of the Caucasus and Middle East. The Allied salvation lies in stopping him at this gateway to plenty. Thus the maintenance of a powerful Allied base there would seem to be an essential—likely more essential than the opening of a fresh front in Western Europe.

Actually, of course, Britain supposedly has large forces in that area already, and the United States is co-operating in building up the Allied strength in this general zone. Both British and American ships can reach the Persian Gulf via the Cape of Good Hope over the long haul and, believe it or not, it would be far easier to move a fully equipped army from Britain to the Middle East over that 14,000-mile route, than to try to put the same army ashore across the twenty miles of English Channel.

A BRIGHT SPOT IN INDIA

While the breakdown in the Anglo-Indian negotiations for the establishment of a Dominion Government for India, designed to strengthen the participation of the natives of India in the defence of their country, is admittedly a setback to the British hopes, one bright factor emerges from the situation. The Indians themselves are determined that everything shall be done to ensure the most adequate possible protection of the sub-continent against Japanese aggression.

The attitude is best expressed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leader of the powerful All-India Congress, principal Hindu political organization, who declared:

"We are not going to embarrass the British war effort in India or the efforts of our American friends who may come here. We want that action to whirl full speed ahead."

Indicating that the Indians planned defence measures of their own, he continued:

"We want the people to hold their jobs and not run away from them. The problem before us now is how, not participating in Britain's war effort but at the same time not embarrassing it, to organize our own war effort on our own basis of a free and independent India.

"I hope that the All-India Congress Committee at its meeting in a fortnight's time will consider the problem and tell us what to do about it. We are not going to surrender to the invader, just as we have not given in to the British in the past twenty-two years."

He referred to "frantic radio appeals from Germany and Japan" in the Axis propaganda on India and continued, referring to Indian sentiment on Britain and Japan:

"I want to fight this idea—that we must remain passive, that we cannot do anything against the Japanese invader, that one is really as good or as bad as the other. I cannot tolerate this conception.

"I feel that it would be a tragedy for the world if Germany and Japan won this war and dominated the world. I do not want this to happen."

If Pandit Nehru is speaking for the majority of his countrymen, and he is apparently doing so, the bulk of the Indian people appreciate that their best interests still lie within the British Commonwealth until such time as peace is restored and that while they may have certain differences of opinion with the rulers of the country, they will be best served by rejecting overtures from outsiders and remain linked with a people under whose guidance they have benefited from many reforms and from whom they have a definite promise of a solution for their political difficulties in the near future.

This should remove the threat of a knife in the back movement designed to interfere in the defence plans of General Sir Archibald Wavell and his associates.

WHAT'S THE USE?

By Grenville Kleiser

You are never too young to start, never too old to continue enriching your life. In youth, guard equally against rashness and blindness; never be too ready with your condemnation or your acceptance.

Don't rush into opinions, nor echo the dicta of others; try to find the golden mean between hot-headed impatience and rebellion against old ideas and ways, and the slavish following of the opinions of others.

Think for yourself; learn to be slow in speech; to see that it is far more intelligent to say, when asked for an opinion, "I don't know; I have not thought it out properly yet," than to reel off a glib dictum culled from a newspaper or an acquaintance.

Above all, learn not to despise as useless those parts of your education which have no immediate commercial value.

It is appallingly common to hear boys and girls fretting, "What's the use of all this literature and history and stuff? Storhand or electricity would be more useful." Too often, all their parents can find to answer is, "You'll need it for your examination," or "It's a social asset," or "Literature and history and stuff" is life. Believe it or not, it is so. It is the record of the thoughts, emotions and actions of the great men of all ages.

Those who study these things intelligently will find in them the picture of themselves, of life, a guide to action, food for thought, and, best of all, the foundation of that treasure which, in old age, will never fail. When you are tempted to be impatient over your books, try to take the sensible view, and see why wise people of all ages and all nations have laid such store by them. Don't just scoff at them as "old stuff."

The big things in life have no age; they are timeless, enduring. To read these things intelligently will help you to keep your mind alert and free on all topics that arise. Cultivate this; don't just repeat opinions, but inquire concerning them.

If you hear a man express an opinion on any big question, don't accept it right away; try to discover why he thinks as he does; if his reply does not satisfy your reason, try to find out more about it for yourself.

Practice debating, taking new views, seeing both sides of things; apply the lessons of sport to other fields, and be as fair, as chivalrous to the weak, as scrupulous about taking an advantage, in everything as you would be in sport.

In middle age, don't let your youthful enthusiasms die. Do not forget those ideals, those speculations on life and men and affairs, which were instinct in your youth; remember them, check them by your ripening experience.

You may often find that the clear eyes of youth saw more truly than the jaded vision of later years. Don't let your young enthusiasms and ideals fade. Keep them, add to them.

FROM THE RECORD FILES

Arrangements have been virtually completed for the merging of the Bell Telephone and People's Telephone Companies, which was recently approved by the Legislature. The physical union of the companies is due to take place May 1.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Granby Rifle Club: James Carmichael, A. M. Johnston, G. Reith, Charles Macdonald.

As the result of the visit of a group of government leaders and business men from the West Indies, a commercial treaty has been arranged between Canada and these British possessions providing for tariff concessions and the establishment of an efficient steamship service. The treaty will be effective for five years.

Although the season just closing has been above average for the run of sap, maple sugar is rather scarce, the price factor causing many farmers to limit their activities to syrup which is in heavy demand for export.

At the annual vestry meeting of the Church of the Good Shepherd, at Bondville, the following officers were elected: J. R. Gillam, W. M. Hillhouse, C. P. Hunter, Charles McClay, George McClay, O. W. Streeter, J. D. Gibbs, John Jones, and A. P. Hillhouse.

Residents of Melbourn and vicinity have launched a strongly supported movement for the erection of a Consolidated High School which should improve the educational facilities of the district.

Coal operators and miners in the United States have resumed talks in an effort to reach a settlement of the strike which is affecting both the anthracite and bituminous fields. Although little progress has been reported, good feeling prevails on both sides.

TIME AND LOVE

When I have seen by Time's fell hand defaced
The rich proud cost of outworn buried age;
When sometime lofty towers I see down-ras'd,
And brass eternal, slave to mortal rage;
When I have seen the hungry ocean gain
Advantage on the kingdom of the shore,
And the firm soil win of the wat'ry main,
Increasing store with loss, and loss with store;
When I have seen such interchange of state,
Or state itself confounded to decay;
Ruin hath taught me thus to ruminate—
That Time will come and take my love away.

This thought is as a death, which cannot choose
But weep to have that which it fears to lose.

THERE'S NO GRANDSTAND IN THIS GAME

proved impossible to get sufficient aid to Greece in time to prevent her overthrow.

Today, the Greeks still carry on courageously in the cause of liberty and democracy, through their Government-in-exile in London. But while Greek ships and sailors help in the Atlantic to carry food to Britain, their people at home are experiencing mass starvation. Due mainly to former looting by the Nazis of all edible reserves, the cutting off of imports which formed the bulk of Greek foodstuffs, and the sharp reduction of milk production due to the slaughter of cattle, 1,500 to 2,000 Greeks are reported starving daily in the cities of Athens and Piraeus alone.

Some aid has been forthcoming. Turkey has been making small shipments of food and medicine to Greece, paid for jointly by the Greek Government and American subscribers. Great Britain has dispatched this month a shipment of 8,000 tons of wheat, and the Greek War Relief Association of New York has sent a vessel with 2,300 tons of flour from the United States to Greece. These are only token shipments, however. The International Red Cross Committee has estimated that 33,000 tons of wheat are necessary to cover Greek requirements for the next three months.

Great Britain has declared that other ships might be sent if it is made certain that the wheat does not fall into Axis hands, and the United States Government has expressed its realization of the "necessity for the prompt use of any feasible means for assisting Greece. The situation is desperate, the need immediate. The Greeks have shown no tendency to collaborate with Hitler. Surely America and Britain should leave no avenue unexplored to provide ship bottoms, secure guaranteed passage, and ensure distribution of food to Greece.

HEROIC GUERRILLAS OF RUSSIA

Toronto Star Weekly

There was a dispatch from Moscow not long ago which said that Russian guerrillas had penetrated Spolensk to burn Nazi warehouses filled with food, clothing and ammunition. Another dispatch told of two Russian guerrilla girls who had ambushed a German supply train, and had destroyed three tanks and seven automobiles. One, a young woman of twenty-three, was a husband in the Red Army, commands a troop of thirty guerrillas. The other, a geography teacher, is twenty-one, and her troop is especially proficient in the destruction of war mechanisms. They have received the Order of the Red Banner for their work behind the German lines.

The heroism of the Russian guerrillas has been one of the most dramatic developments of the war. It is the heroism of people fighting for their homes, and taking the greatest imaginable risks in doing so. And the success of the guerrilla bands has been as remarkable as their courage. If there is one thing that disconcerts an army, it is to be attacked in the rear by fast-moving units which strike quickly and then disappear. The men and women who comprise these units know that if they are once surrounded they are lost; that no mercy will be shown them. Yet they dare to penetrate even the cities occupied by the Nazis, and destroy Nazi stores of food and military equipment.

WEAK LONG SUIT WINS NO TRUMP

The finals of the Eastern States knockout team-of-four event this year brought together two exceptionally strong teams. Winners by 2070 points were B. Jay Becker of New York and his brother, Simon Becker of Philadelphia. George Rapier, Harry Fishbein and Tobias Stone, all of New York.

Becker gained a nice score on the hand shown today. Sitting South, he decided it was important to establish the diamonds before his ace of hearts was forced out. He played the ace of spades on the opening lead and led a small club to the ace. Then he led a low diamond to the jack.

This way of developing the suit was based on declarer's lack of the nine-spot, plus the decision that West was long in hearts and probably short in diamonds.

West jumped in with the queen of diamonds and led another spade, which East won and returned the heart. Becker was sure this was a singleton, so he won at once, and led the jack of clubs. West showed out, but Becker let East win with the queen.

Thus he won three clubs, and the diamond finesse later gave him four tricks in that suit.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

Struggle Of Norwegians To Retain Freedom Forms Broadway Highlight

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
New York, April 12.—One of the year's few serious plays, an anti-Nazi drama from the pen of John Steinbeck, was unveiled to Broadway audiences this week. It is "The Moon Is Down," dealing with the struggle of a Norwegian town against German occupation.

Like Steinbeck's enormously successful "Of Mice and Men" four years ago, which starred the Canadian Barnard Home boy, Wallace Ford, "The Moon Is Down" is a dramatization of the novel of the same name. It marks Steinbeck's first venture outside America for subject matter.

Oscar Berlin has produced the play, his first presentation since 1939. Late in that year he brought to Manhattan the now famous "Life with Father," which a few nights ago passed its 1,000th performance.

In "The Moon Is Down"—the title is taken from the first scene of the second act of Shakespeare's "Macbeth"—Steinbeck undertakes to tell "in personal terms" why free men and women cannot be conquered. While he has succeeded in transplanting to the stage the spirit of the occupied countries fighting Hitler, his Nazis seem to be out of character and hardly representative of the German officer mentality.

The action is centered in the drawing room of Mayor Order's home in a small mining town nestled among the Northern fjords. Aided by a local Quisling, the Germans have quickly overcome the town's garrison. The invaders lose no time in putting the town coal mine to work for Germany. Methodically, the townspeople organize resistance. Rail lines are blown up. Members of the garrison are assassinated. Finally the beloved Mayor, who had won the respect even of the Nazi commander, is held as a hostage.

FINE ADDRESS DELIVERED AT COWANSVILLE

Mrs. B. Mallalieu, of Sutton, W.M.S. Sectional Vice-President, Delivers Inspiring Talk.

Cowansville, April 13.—The members of the Women's Missionary Society were greatly honored by having Mrs. B. Mallalieu, of Sutton, Sectional Vice-President, as their guest speaker at the Easter Thanksgiving meeting in the United Church parlor.

The President, Mrs. A. C. Paintin, presided, and conducted the devotional period, assisted by Mrs. S. W. Boyd, Mrs. L. Stowe and Miss Cleary.

Mrs. Cleary was appointed delegate to the Synod at Richmond, May 20 and 21, with Mrs. W. D. Smith as alternate.

Mrs. Mallalieu, in her address, answered the often-asked question, "Will as much money be required for our work in 1942 as in previous years?" by giving the following facts:

"In India and Angola, W.C.A., the same budget as for 1941 is already approved. Also, in view of the rise in the cost of living, further grants will be needed. In Trinidad additional grants for the cost of living and the opening of kindergarten work, a new missionary teacher and two evangelistic workers have been appointed. In West China the needs are overwhelming, living costs have risen 180 per cent, and already the maintenance grant has been increased over five times the pre-war level. Even this is not enough, for there is a great opportunity for new work.

"Six missionaries of the Japan staff, seven of the Korean staff, and being carried on the Home Mission budget. Twelve others are being carried on the Japan and Korean budgets. Some of these are on furlough and others loaned to Canada. Funds will be needed for reconstruction at the close of the war. Property losses in West China amount to $50,000. The Board is now paying the salaries of three British missionaries who are stranded in Canada.

"Because of the tremendous opportunities in Free China, an emergency Church has been set up in West China to serve all of Free China. It is imperative that the Christian Church should increase rather than decrease its witness in this tragic day which we are living.

"We believe Christ alone has power to bring the peoples of this earth together in love and brotherhood and that His way of life is the only solution to the world's problem, so we must press forward," the speaker declared.

Mrs. Mallalieu was introduced by Mrs. W. D. Smith, and thanked by Mrs. Brown. Lantern slides on West China were shown, and the lecture was read by Miss Mary Dover.

"Today the eyes of the world turn often to West China. The gaze of the United Church people has been focussed particularly on the Province of Szechuan for many years and the feet of hundreds of our missionaries have been directed thither.

"In pre-war days missionaries going to China went across the Pacific direct to Shanghai and then took the long journey inland by travelling up the Yangtze River to Chungking, by native junks through the wonderful but dangerous gorges.

"In modern years the gorges have been traversed by steamers.

"Sadly true it is that just as China was progressing in the use of aeroplanes for commerce and pleasure, devastating invasions brought planes to carry death and destruction to all parts of the land. Chungking's high sandstone cliffs have been the salvation of the population during the dreadful bombings of the Japanese invasion.

"The Government has been out west air raid shelters, and though vast areas of the city have been totally destroyed, it is now possible for the people to get shelter. One Mission hospital in Chungking has been destroyed, but the other still stands, magnificently situated on the South bank of the river, also the High Schools for boys and girls.

"The Chinese Church at Luchow has carried on nobly, doing a great deal to help the homeless and carrying on hospital work in makeshift quarters.

"Today because of the war, China has opened up great many industrial co-operatives, where men and women are being gathered into groups and taught many industries such as spinning, weaving and carpenter work. Several Missions unite in fine institutional work in Chengtu, the West China University is the outstanding instance. Hart College is a Canadian contribution to this work. The first women students were admitted in 1925, in 1940, 240 women students were enrolled.

"The Canadian Mission Press is one of the most important of our institutions; it has been situated in Chengtu for forty years. It prints vast quantities of Christian literature.

"Each summer of the war, large groups of students have gone out into distressed districts where soldiers are in transit. They carry help and cheer, give simple teaching in First Aid and Hygiene, hold evangelistic services and organize children's groups.

Mrs. Mallalieu announced that the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery had an increase of $150 in giving over 1940. Dr. S. W. Boyd closed the meeting with the Benediction. Light refreshments were served.

General Notes

Mrs. Alice Robinson and Miss Audrey Robinson, Montreal, were Easter guests of Mr. Alex. Burnett, Mrs. O. Burnett and Miss Marjorie Burnett.

Social and Personal

Mrs. L. H. Gillies, of Ottawa, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stenson.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BELVIDERE W.I.
The April meeting of the Belvidere Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Gilles on Saturday, with all the members acting as hostesses.

Miss F. I. Drummond, the President, presided and the meeting opened with the Mary Stewart Collect and "God Save the King," following which the usual routine business was disposed of.

A letter was read from Dugouyne W.I. expressing thanks for the recent sent them.

A "Guess Cake" donated by Mrs. W. Dobb, netted creditable proceeds for the War Service Committee, the fortunate guesser being Miss F. I. Drummond.

The following is the Red Cross work completed since the last meeting: Twenty-seven tuck-ins, one square-necked sweater, one abdominal belt, two twelve-year-old kits.

Following the adjournment refreshments were enjoyed. Assisting were the Misses Jean and Peggy Drummond, Eniah Wells and Doris Gilles.

Mrs. P. Tarte presided at the lace-covered tea table, centered with an Easter lily plant.

ORFORD W.I.
The Orford W.I. held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Faith, Mrs. Arthur Mills and Mrs. James Mills acting as joint-hostesses with Mrs. Faith. There was a large attendance of members and visitors.

Miss K. Thompson, the President, opened the meeting with the prayer for the Allied Forces, and all reported the Mary Stewart Collect. The Secretary read a letter of thanks from the Mackinnon Memorial for a donation from the W.I.

Mrs. Mack Ross, Mrs. K. Mills and Mrs. G. Mills drew up the new programme for the year. A petition to abolish the sale of liquor in military camps was signed by the members.

The following articles were knitted during the past month and turned in: Three pairs of grey gloves, one pair of two-way mitts, one child's sweater, one pair of women's gloves, two caps and four turtle-neck tuck-ins.

The convener gave out more yarn for ladies' gloves and children's sweaters. One new member was welcomed.

The hostesses served sugar-olnosh, which was much enjoyed. Later, refreshments were served.

BUSY SESSION OF MELBOURNE RIDGE GROUP

Members of Women's Institute Asked to Do Greater Amount of Red Cross Work During Next Year.

Melbourne Ridge, April 13.—The April meeting of the Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Crack. Lunch was provided by the members who attended the fewest meetings during the past year. Mrs. Elmer Crack, Mrs. Malouise and Mrs. Buchanan were the active hostesses.

There were twenty members present. A quilt was tied for the Red Cross and the members were asked for donations of maple sugar for the Army and Navy League. The minutes of the March meeting were read and approved, and the Treasurer's report followed.

Plans were made for the selling of seeds and slips to be donated by members at the May meeting. Mrs. John Barrington read a letter concerning future Red Cross work in the community. Mrs. Nelson Solomon takes charge of the sewing and Mrs. Gordon Beers takes charge of the knitting.

The President asked the members to put forward a greater effort for the Red Cross work this coming year. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. S. Morrison for her donation of a quilt lining. Mrs. Adamson for having the programmes printed and Mrs. Frank for the donation of the quilt bag. Letters of thanks are to be written to both Mrs. Weed and Mrs. J. Baker for their donations of a quilt each.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which lunch was served.

General Notes

On Easter Sunday there was a special service at the United Church with an extra large congregation. Rev. A. Buchanan conducted. Special music and anthem by the choir added much to the service. There was a reception of twelve new members to the church and two by transfer. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper followed.

Miss Arlene McLean, of Montreal, spent her Easter holidays as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins.

Miss Jessie Miller, of Richmond, and Miss Vera Miller, of Montreal, were at home with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Miller, on Easter.

Miss Ellen Frank, of South Durham, Miss Margaret Frank, of Ulverton, and Miss Jean Frank, of Montreal, were home for Easter week.

Pte. J. R. Chagnon, of Petawawa, Ont., is home on two weeks' furlough.

Mr. Delston Beauregard has gone to take military training at Lauzon.

with Mrs. M. Ross, Miss K. Thompson, Miss M. Richards and Mrs. K. Mills assisting.

Make Braided Rug for Home-like Air

No Special Equipment Needed

Of bright color fabrics, this braided rug gives a homelike charm to your room!

You can easily make it yourself, using materials on hand. A pretty combination—and the right amount for a cozy 24-by-36-inch size—would be 4 yards dark blue fabric, 3 yards figured, 2 yards white.

Now you have to do is tear your fabric into strips, about 3 inches wide by 1½ yards long, and start braiding them! But first turn in ½ inch on each side of each strip, press down, and fold through the middle. Then, as you braid, fold again.

It's a good idea to make your very first strips of uneven length, so that joinings won't occur at the same places. Follow 4 rows of blue by 1 white, 8 figured, 1 white, and 3 blue.

Our 32-page booklet tells in detail how to braid and finish this pretty rug, also has easy instructions for hooked, crocheted, woven tufted rugs. Includes many novel tips.

Send 15¢ in coins for your copy of "How to Make Your Own Rugs" to Daily Record, Home Service, Sherbrooke, Quebec. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- 1.—In wartime should one familiarize himself with Army and Navy etiquette?
- 2.—If you are introducing a second lieutenant what would you call him?
- 3.—What is the formal beginning of a letter written to a general?
- 4.—How should one close an informal letter to an officer in the service?
- 5.—How should a second lieutenant's name be written on an envelope address?

What would you do if—

- 1.—A soldier breaks a date with you because he can't get leave—
- (a) Blame him for ruining your plans?
- (b) Take the news good naturally?

ANSWERS

- 1.—Yes.
- 2.—"Lieutenant Smith."
- 3.—"Dear Sir" or "Sir."
- 4.—"Yours" faithfully" or "Sincerely yours."
- 5.—"2nd Lieut. John Doe."

Canada's Rising Cost Of Living Levels Out Under Daring "Ceiling On Everything" Plan

Editor's Note: The following is the first of three stories written by Fred S. Ferguson, dealing with Canada's all-out offensive against the fearsome wartime foe — inflation. Written from the Canadian angle, Mr. Ferguson's observations tie in with current headlines on efforts of the United States to check the same deadly "enemy within" — spiraling wages and prices.

Ottawa, Ont., April 13.—After four months of toil and sweat, and the enlistment of virtually every man and woman in the Dominion in the effort, Canada is able to report progress today in an unprecedented battle against the country's deadly enemy from within—inflation.

The upward curve of the cost of living index for Canada has been checked. This has been accomplished, not on any piece-meal or partial price-control basis, but through the establishment of an over-all ceiling on all prices, on all wages, salaries, services, rents, and virtually everything that has to do with the life of the nation. It was a daring experiment, but it was presented to the country as the only means of avoiding economic disaster during this hectic war period while employment and buying power are sky-rocketing to new levels and demands for consumer goods, accompanied by shortages, are doing the same.

Employers and wage earners alike were appealed to. The women of the country, who do 80 per cent of the purchasing, were asked to watch their prices. Volunteers from groups representing all leading industries and businesses were called in to help administer the job which is being handled through the Wartime Prices and Trade Board headed by Donald Gordon, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Canada.

The appeal to enlist in the fight on inflation as a matter of patriotism, by bringing about price and wage stabilization, was as direct as an appeal for enlistment in the fighting forces. The country responded, and while there was plenty of skepticism and doubt in the beginning, the degree of co-operation and hope of ultimate success has steadily risen, rather than declined.

SUBSIDIES PLAY VITAL ROLE
A vital and integral part of the Canadian price and wage control is subsidy. Heretofore the Dominion has had a "twice bonus" scheme, which called for the payment of weekly bonuses as cost of living indexes might change. This, it was reasoned, however, merely contributed to the inflation spiral by feeding more money into the race against prices.

Under the price and wage ceiling, the money is paid at the other end of the line, so that prices may remain unchanged and wages remain stabilized. The subsidy is thus for the benefit of the consumer, since payment of any subsidy is accompanied by an examination of profits, and this means profit control as part of the general picture. This, despite the fact that the Canadian income tax on excess profits is 84 per cent.

It is apparent, however, that the Government would be contributing a minimum of 16 per cent in event of any excess profits being shown by subsidy beneficiaries, and this will be kept under control.

As to results to date, the index for the cost of living in Canada was based at par, or 100, as of August, 1939. This figure rose to 107.1 by December, 1940. From April, 1941, to November, 1941, it rose more than 8 points to 115.4. Immediately after this, however, the effects of the new price and wage ceiling policy began to show and the index for last December dropped to 114.9.

In January of this year, it was 114.5 and February showed 114.8. The index thus showed virtual stabilization during four months. There was no marked decline, but at the rate of increase prevailing during the months prior to December, it is felt that there certainly would have been a further rise of from 10 to 15 per cent, during this four-month period, had there been no control.

During the same period, without control, the index of the United Kingdom has soared to 130 and that of the United States has shown a steady rise until it approaches that of Canada.

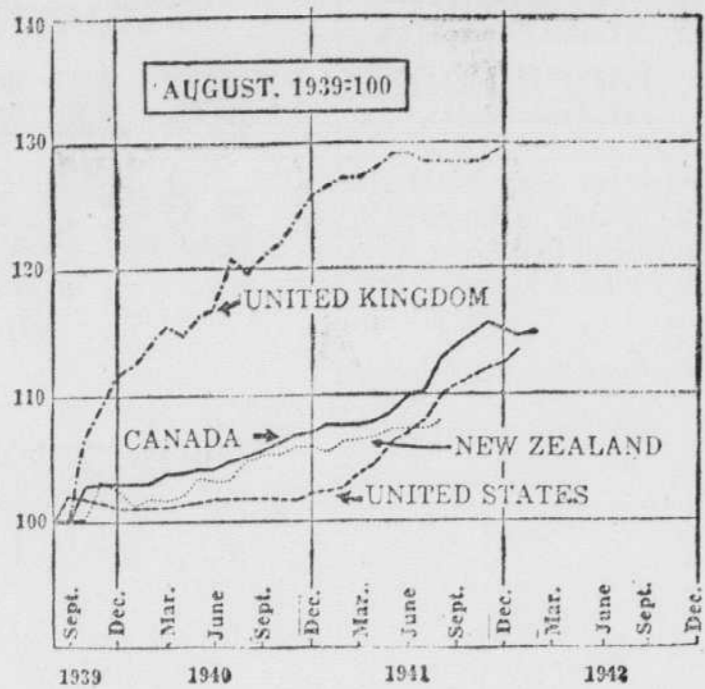

It should be understood that no wages or prices are, or have been, "fixed" by the Wartime Prices and Control Board of Canada. The prices and wages that prevail, and over which there is now a ceiling, were established by sellers and buyers themselves, or by employers and employees.

The time between September 15, 1941, and October 11, however, was established as the "basic period" by order of the Government. Then a ceiling was put over this basic period. Whatever goods were selling or during that period became the price under the ceiling.

Whatever salaries or wages men or women were receiving during that time remain under the ceiling. This goes for the top executive, as well as the man working by the hour. Bonuses are prohibited unless it can be shown that a system of bonus payment prevailed prior to the establishment of the "basic period."

COST OF LIVING INDEXES

Canada and Other Countries

The graph above shows how, figuring August, 1939 as 100, Canada's cost-of-living curve rose steadily until November, 1941, when the effects of the new price and wage ceiling policy began to show. It dropped in December, leveled out at a comparatively stable line going into March of this year. Note that curve for the U. S. continued to rise during period when Canada's dropped.

The boss cannot raise his own salary any more than he can raise the pay of a workman. Whatever the workman was paying between September 15 and October 11 became his fixed rate, and at whatever rate he, and the boss as well, may have been paying for electricity, gas, water, telephone, plumbing, heating, painting, repairs of any kind, laundry, cleaning, tailoring, dress-making, or for a haircut or shave or a hair-do or facial at the beauty parlor for the wife—all these costs come under the ceiling.

There are 12 "services" in all that come under the ceiling. A Canadian can rest easy knowing that it will cost him no more than the rate prevailing during the "basic period," since undertaking and embalming are listed among the 12 services under ceiling. Most professional services, such as doctors, lawyers and financial services are ceiling exempt.

As to clothing and other merchandise, meats, other foodstuffs and canned goods, all prices are not the same even for equal quality. For instance, if one merchant was selling a suit or overcoat for $35 during the basic period and another one offering a similar garment for $40 or $45, each retains his price under the ceiling. The merchant charging at the higher price may have a sale and reduce his price if he wants to, but the $35 price can't be raised.

Or an independent grocer may have been selling beans at 15 cents a can, whereas a chain store was offering them at 13 cents or two cans for a quarter. The ceiling applies to the independent at 15 cents and to the chain at 13 cents. And the disposition as the Wartime Prices and Trade Board is operating, would be to subsidize the independent and enable him to keep his price down, rather than permit the chain to break its ceiling in the event conditions in the future made it difficult for both.

SPECULATION BRINGS ADDED CEILINGS
There are a number of things not under the ceiling, such as fresh fruits and other seasonal items, live animals, birds, flower seeds and bulbs, hay, straw and so on. Onions

FARMERS HOLD GATHERING AT SPOONER POND

Proceeds of Bingo Party at Meeting of Farm Forum Turned Over to Junior Red Cross Branch.

Spooner Pond, April 13.—The last Farm Forum meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blanchard. The broadcast was listened to and the usual discussion followed.

The Secretaries, Raymond Lampron and Orvis Taylor, had interesting findings to report to headquarters. Mr. Beaudin then spoke for a few minutes.

A very interesting feature of the evening was a series of bingo games, which succeeded the broadcast and discussion. Prizes for the games were donated by Fred Newell, M. J. McKee, Fred McKee, Agronome Beaudin, George Cogan, Bigdog Bros., William Bailey, Eddie Rodgers, Grace Blanchard, Mrs. Emily Bailey, Brenda Philbrick, Mrs. Frank Noble, Mrs. Millie Taylor and Elaine Philbrick.

The prizes were won by the following: Oscar Lockwood, Donald MacArthur, Harold Blanchard, Harry McLeod, Lawrence Rodgers, Florence Blanchard, Orvis Taylor, Eldred Blanchard, Mrs. Oscar Lockwood, Raymond Lampron and Frances Lockwood.

The remaining prizes were auctioned off. The auctioneer was William Bailey.

Proceeds of the evening amounted to eight dollars and eighty-five cents, which were donated to the Junior Red Cross branch of Spooner Pond School, from whence it will be forwarded to the Supervisor, Montreal.

The hostess, Mrs. Blanchard, assisted by other ladies, served a delicious supper.

In spite of unfavorable weather, approximately thirty-one members and seven friends were present. The effort taken by Mr. Beaudin, County Agronome, to attend, shows the keen interest he takes in the Farm Forum listening group.

Before the close of the evening a vote of thanks was extended to the host and hostess for entertaining for so worthy a cause and for the pleasant time enjoyed.

FORUM TO CONTINUE SUMMER SERIES
The Farm Forum listening group has decided to continue its summer series, which will take place every four weeks, the first broadcast being on April 27.

PARENTS ASSURE FUTURE OF 1000 More Children with IMPERIAL POLICIES

● Many a young person will start college or buy into a business, this year, with the proceeds of an Imperial Life policy taken out by parents "a little while ago."

Last year, of 8000 Imperial Life policies issued, over 1000 were on the lives of children and students. Thoughtful parents appreciate that an Imperial Policy gives the child a "head start" in life. Also, it teaches thrift, engenders a sense of responsibility, helps to mould character. And, of equal importance, policies covering minors can be obtained now at rates they themselves can never hope to duplicate in future. Why not investigate the liberal provisions of Imperial life Policies today?

7,000 other persons of all ages also became Imperial Life Policyholders in 1941. To a large cross-section of the people of Canada The Imperial Life is "my insurance company."

and potatoes were put under the ceiling only last month.

They were originally exempted as a result of recognition of seasonal fluctuation of price, but when evidences of speculative influences appeared, the ceiling went on. To cover the waste in storage from sprouting, rotting and shrinkage at this time of year, however, an increase in price of five cents per bushel per month during April, May and June was permitted under an order issued April 2. When the new potato crop comes in, a ceiling will be put on that.

Let's show them what a Blitz really is..!

We've heard plenty about Blitzkriegs, even though we haven't felt their sting. Others have stood up to them without flinching. Now, let's produce a Blitzkrieg all our own, right here in our Canadian factories. It can be done and it must be done.

It will take courage and resourcefulness. It will require self-sacrifice and long hard hours of work for everyone. We have to accomplish in months what our enemies have built up in years of stealthy planning. Blitzkriegs begin in factories. Let's show the Nazis and the Japs what a "Blitz" really is.

BOYS' CHOIR IN DEBUT AT SAWYERVILLE

New Organization Heard at Easter Sunday Service in St. Philip's Mission Hall.

Sawyerville, April 13.—The Easter Sunday services in St. Philip's Mission Hall were conducted by Rev. A. E. W. Godwin. A special feature of the eleven o'clock service was the inauguration of a boys' choir, consisting of twelve boys, Donald and Clifford Law, Herbert Lasena, David Waldron, Alfred and Rowland Silverton, Gordon Hunt, Ova Jespersen, Blair and Ronald Macrae, Reginald Reed and Douglas Patrick.

The choir boys were arrayed in robes made for them by the Ladies' Guild, and the Eaton collars and bows were given by Mrs. Fred Lee, of the Cathedral, Quebec. A group photograph of the boys was taken at the conclusion of the service. Ninety-seven persons attended, and of these fifty took communion. Rev. Mr. Godwin was assisted at the Communion Service by Bruce Hunt.

Beautiful brass candle sticks on the communion table were used for the first time, and these were in memory of Rev. A. J. Vibert, and two solid oak offering plates were placed in the church in memory of Henry Hicks. The beautiful flowers on the altar were also in memory of deceased members of the congregation.

A roll of honor was read by Mr. Godwin, giving the names of those from this community who are now on active service.

General Notes A meeting of the Willing Workers was held at the home of Mrs. William Falkner, with seven members present. The President, Miss Esther Brazel, presided over the business session, at which plans were made for the Mother's Day service. Supper was served by the hostess.

The monthly meeting of the Sawyerville W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Hunt with ten members and two visitors present. The roll call was answered with a house-cleaning hint. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Neil for finishing the afghan. It was turned in to the Red Cross. Mrs. L. H. Hunt and Mrs. A. G. Hurd were appointed for the flower and fruit committee. The meeting was then brought to a close by the Club Woman's Creed.

The Sawyerville W.I. held a very successful card party in the Town Hall, "500" and bridge being played. The lucky winners in "500" were Mrs. Zeph Rouseau and Mr. Trombley, and in bridge, Mrs. L. H. Hunt and Mrs. V. Hurley.

LAC Lincoln Matthew and LAC Bruce Wallace, of Mont Joli, were Easter week-end guests of the former's mother, Mrs. M. Matthew.

Ceylon—Where Japanese "Surprise" Backfired

Great swarms of Japanese planes attempted to attack Colombo, capital and main seaport of Ceylon. Its important harbor is shown above. Jap raid was smashed when British defenders shot down at least thirty-two planes and riddled twenty-five more. The Japanese, apparently thinking they could catch the defenders napping, killed a "few citizens" with bombs but met with "utter failure" from a military point of view, spokesmen said. Ceylon, famous for its tea, is only sixty miles South of India and could serve as a springboard for a United Nations' offensive against the enemy or be used by the Japanese to invade India and cut off supplies to China and Russia.

LOYAL CITIZENS DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

MISSISSQUOI CO. C. P. C. GROUPS MAKE PROGRESS

Efficient Units Taking Shape in Bedford and Cowansville—County Units Joined in New Division.

Knowlton, April 13.—F. A. Sutcliffe, Chairman of the Brome-Missisquoi Division of the C.P.C., reports steady progress with Missisquoi County C.P.C. Units. He states that Bedford and Cowansville are developing and that strong and efficient units are in the making in both places.

Following a conference with Colonel D. R. McCuaig, D.S.O., Provincial Commandant of the Mobile Force, Mr. Sutcliffe announces that all Brome County Mobile Companies will affiliate and co-ordinate with the companies now being formed in Missisquoi County. Instead of Brome Division, the Mobile Force will become the Eastern Townships Group (Western Division). Command of the group will be divided between F. A. Sutcliffe and E. R. MacLaren and each County will be assigned a Deputy Group Commander and Group Adjutant.

New training manuals will shortly be ready for Mobile Force training and specialized training in various manoeuvres are planned.

WORLD WAR NAVAL LOSSES

The United States lost 1,150 lives in naval actions and sea disasters during World War I, between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918. Five transports and forty-three other vessels were lost from various causes during the same time. Of these forty-eight vessels, only fourteen were sunk by U-boats.

There are 232 definite forms of mineral crystals.

SALVAGE DRIVE CONTINUING IN SUTTON REGION

Twelve Tons Collected During March and Donated to Salvation Army—Another Collection This Month.

Sutton, April 13.—The Sutton and District National Salvage Campaign has made another collection of salvage and during the month of March twelve tons more was donated to the Salvation Army and taken to their sorting center in Montreal. This includes three team loads collected and brought in by Elmer Johnson from the West Sutton District.

The March collection in the Village of Sutton was made possible by the kindness of G. N. Thompson in donating the use of his truck for a day. The truck was driven by Nelson Thompson and all workers gave their services free.

The building owned by Mrs. Nellie Jenne is still being used as a collecting station and anyone from the outlying district may bring in salvage at any time. A considerable amount is expected from this source as soon as the roads are in a better condition.

The public is co-operating very well but the work of the voluntary helpers would be made easier if bundles and boxes were tied up more firmly.

A total amount of over thirty-tons of all kinds of salvage material has been collected by the Sutton and district organization since the work was started in January. This includes donations from Abercorn, Sutton Junction, West Brome and also the German field gun, a trophy of the First Great War, which was situated on the Common in front of the Town Building, in Sutton.

Another collection will be made during the third week in April, the exact date to be set later.

EASTER THEME AT SERVICES IN WATERLOO

Impressive Services Held on Easter Sunday and Good Friday in Churches of Community.

Waterloo, April 13.—Holy Week services at St. Paul's United Church included a service on Friday night which was well attended, and took the form of a preparatory service to the sacrament held on Easter Sunday morning.

On Easter Sunday large congregations attended the morning and evening services. In the morning the choir sang a special anthem, while at night the Men's Choir, under the leadership of Mr. Roger McKerrow, led the musical part of the service.

In memorial bouquets of spring flowers were placed in the church by Mrs. Ray Atkins in memory of her father and sister, by Miss Lavinia Gravelle in memory of her parents, by Miss Elinor Allen in memory of her mother and brother, and in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harrington, by members of the family.

A pleasing feature of St. Paul's Sunday School on Easter Sunday was the new hymn books, "The Canadian Youth Hymnal," a United Church publication, the books being used for the first time. They were the gift of teachers, officers and friends of the school.

Easter Day was reverently observed by record congregations at the eight o'clock and eleven o'clock services of Holy Communion. The latter was a fully choral service. The Rev. Sidney Wood, gave a very inspiring message from St. Luke's Gospel, 24-34, "The Lord is Risen Indeed."

The impressiveness of the service was greatly enhanced by the special efforts of the organist, Mrs. Murdoch MacIntosh, and the choir, who in addition to the seasonal hymns, very beautifully rendered the anthem, "The Risen Lord," by Greene, the soprano solo being taken by Mrs. Albert Dix.

The church was effectively decorated with spring flowers, including clusters of daffodils and pansies of Easter hues, given by Mrs. Candian in memory of her husband and father, and by Mr. Leland Holden in memory of his wife and daughter. Strikingly beautiful brass candlesticks given by the family in loving memory of the late Miss Frances Lindsay and Master Charles MacIntosh, graced the altar for the first time on this Easter day.

After the weekly practice of St. Luke's Junior Choir the members were treated to warm sugar-on-snow with Miss Geraldine Clark efficiently taking charge.

Miss Marjorie McKenna visited friends in Bedford, over the Easter week-end.

Mr. Horace Hayes, of Fulford, was

An Easter guest of his son, Mr. A. Hayes, and family, Foster Square. Miss I. M. Gillman visited Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill Quilliam and family in South St. John's.

Mrs. John MacIntosh and Miss Mary MacIntosh spent a day in Montreal. Mr. Marcus C. Martin, of Westmount, while in Waterloo during the past week, entertained a number of friends at a supper.

Miss Stella Redmond, of Montreal, was a guest of Mrs. F. W. Colwell. Miss Mary McKerrow, of Warlen, is visiting Mrs. Clara Wells and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Wells.

Mr. Ernest Eboho has been confined to his bed for several days through illness. Mr. Joseph Davis, who is attending a college in Plattsburgh, N.Y., was an Easter guest of his mother, Mrs. Joseph Davis, who is convalescing from her recent surgical operation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hanna, Western Avenue.

Miss Irene McGill, French special, in college at Plattsburgh, N.Y., is enjoying the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. McGill, Foster Square.

BEEBE

A special Good Friday service was held in the evening at Wesley United Church. There was an unusually large attendance. The Minister, Rev. A. B. Lovelace, spoke on "The Seven Last Sayings of Jesus from the Cross."

Large congregations worshipped at both the morning and evening services at Wesley United Church. At the morning service the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Emslie was baptized, received the name of Frances Elizabeth. The following became members of the Church: Miss Mary Douglas, Mr. Malcolm Elliott, Mrs. David Grievie and Miss Martha Bronson. The reception service was conducted by the Minister, after which the new members were welcomed by the Elders into the fellowship of the Church.

The Minister in his sermon on the Easter theme, "The Risen Lord," emphasized the fact that as in the time of Our Lord all efforts to entomb Him by physical force failed, so in all ages the physical efforts to restrict the development of the Christian principles have failed. The price is paid for that truth, and love, and life cannot be entombed, but must be enthroned in the hearts and lives of Christ's followers.

A special evening service "Christ Portraits in the Scripture and the Hymnary" was presented by the choir. Appropriate passages of Scripture were read bearing on the life, death and resurrection of our Lord, which was followed by appropriate hymns in support of the thoughts from the Bible. The table was on the Communion table were in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. Norton placed there by the family. At the morning service Mr. Conrad Haselton sang a solo entitled "They Led Him Away."

How Broad Are Her Shoulders?

WOULD you willingly place too heavy a burden on your wife's shoulders? Care of the family and management of its home are tasks that are naturally hers as a partner. Yet if she were suddenly left without you, burdens that are heavy when shared by both would be hers alone. How could she face them without an income?

There is a way to make sure that she would not have the added, crushing responsibility of earning money to provide the family with food, clothing and shelter. It is to put as much of your income as you can into Life Insurance and to increase the amount as your circumstances permit.

Life Insurance can be arranged to provide a non-cancellable monthly income that will never be uncertain—that fluctuating values or market upheavals can never reduce. Thus your heaviest burden will not fall on shoulders ill-fitted to carry the load.

LEAFS REMAIN IN STANLEY CUP RUNNING

Detroit Manager Given Suspension Following Toronto's 4-3 Triumph

N.H.L. President Frank Calder Punishes Jack Adams for Attack on Referee Harwood—Grosso and Wares, Red Wing Stars, Fined $100 Each—Syl Apps and Nick Metz in Spotlight as Leafs Come from Behind.

Detroit, April 13.—(P)—Hockey's Stanley Cup series, which had the earmarks of a soft touch for Detroit Red Wings with no great excitement about it, was turning red hot today in an aftermath to bad blood and battle.

Toronto Maple Leafs are still in the running after their first victory in four games and President Frank Calder of the National League has suspended Manager Jack Adams for attacking Referee Mel Harwood, fined two Wing players $100 each.

A witness to fist fights after Toronto's 4-3 triumph last night, Calder suspended Adams indefinitely and fined Eddie Wares and Don (The Count) Grosso. All three, he said, had figured in an attack on Referee Mel Harwood.

The suspension of Adams prohibited him from "taking any further part in the bench management" of the Red Wings, but it was debatable whether that would keep the pugnacious Detroit boss from running his team in tomorrow night's game at Toronto.

If Adams does as expected, he will buy a seat back of the Wing bench and carry on from there by shouting directions to Coach Eddie Goonfellow.

When last night's game ended, a melee broke out involving Adams, Wares, Grosso, Referee Harwood and others. The referee had fined both Grosso and Wares in the course of the game. His decisions had been protested by players and booed by fans.

Enraged fans crowded down from the stands, and police formed an escort to get Harwood safely away. Calder, who was here to present the Cup to the Wings if they had won, required protection when he left Olympia later.

The fighting followed a dramatic comeback from the brink of elimination by Toronto. The Leafs spotted Detroit a two-goal lead in the second period, squandered it in a two-minute flurry, fell behind once again in the third period and then put on the clincher with goals by Syl Apps and Nick Metz.

With less than two minutes to play and Red Wings striving desperately to get back in the game, the referee ordered Wares off the ice on a misconduct penalty. Grosso followed him on a penalty for delaying the game, and Harwood fined Wares $50 and Grosso $25 when the players protested too vigorously.

Adams dashed across the ice at the final buzzer to talk to Harwood, and fists flew between them. Many of the record crowd of 13,694 fans rushed down to the ice to participate. Police finally got the referee to his quarters without injury.

Grosso got an assist on Syl Apps' goal for his fourteenth point to equal an individual playoff scoring record established three years ago by Bill Cowley of Boston Bruins. He also has eight goals to match the league record in that department.

While the series goes into extra games, the players share only in the first four contests. The winners' share in this series is estimated at $1,200 each with the losers getting $800.

Winnipeg, April 13.—(P)—A sell-out crowd of more than 5,000 will watch Oshawa Generals and Portage Le Prairie Terriers here tomorrow night in the opener of a best-of-five series for the Dominion junior hockey title and the O.H.A. Memorial Cup. Second game will be played here Thursday.

The Oshawa squad, comprising 15 players, arrived here today and immediately headed for the amphitheatre rink for a light workout. Generals entered the Dominion finals by virtue of their four straight victories over Montreal Royals in the Eastern final.

Addie Bell, Coach of Terriers, announced his team would be at full strength for the first game. Terriers, who defeated Edmonton Maple Leafs in the Western final, played the last game against the Albertans minus two of their stars, Defenceman Bill Heindl and their speedy winger, Joe Bell.

MORTON SQUAD GAINS EASTERN HOCKEY TITLE

Majella Laforest's Outfit Turns Back Sutton Green-shirts 4-3 to Sweep Intermediate Series in Two Straight Games.

Quebec, April 13.—(P)—Morton Engineering, Quebec and Maritime Intermediate hockey champions, captured the Eastern Canadian title here yesterday by turning back Sutton Green-shirts 4-3. The Quebec squad took the best-of-three game series in straight games, having won the opener here, Friday 3-2.

A near-capacity house of some 4,500 fans saw an action-packed, cleanly played game with the home team holding the edge in play. Attention of the crowd however, was mainly centred on Hall, the Sutton goalie who, as in the first game, held the spotlight by turning in a remarkable performance.

Quebec built up a three-goal lead in the first period but the hard-plugging visitors kept pecking away at the lead until Gilbey, early in the third period, tied up the game. A tally by Lepage near the half-way mark, however, rounded out the scoring and gave the Quebec team the game.

Bearcats Spill Dynamiters 7-3 To Lead Western Final

Port Arthur Club Favored to Top Kimberley Again Tonight and Win Eighth Western Canada Senior Hockey Title—Have Outscored British Columbians 16-7 in Three Games—Laprade Brothers Star.

Port Arthur, April 13.—(P)—Port Arthur Bearcats, favorites to beat Kimberley Dynamiters here tonight and win their eighth Western Canada Senior Hockey championship, have outscored the British Columbians 16-7 in the first three games of their best-of-five series. They lead 2-1 in games.

The Thunder Bay champions, a well-balanced mixture of veterans and youth, outmanoeuvred Dynamiters for a 7-3 victory before 3,500 fans here Saturday following a similar 8-2 triumph at Regina Thursday night. They dropped the opener at Calgary a week ago 2-1. The fifth game, if necessary, will be played here Wednesday.

A victory tonight for Port Arthur will send them against the highly touted Ottawa Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers at Ottawa Thursday in the opening of the Allan Cup final.

The Laprade brothers, Edgar and Bert, accounted for three goals and Lindsay McDougall, Jr., notched two quick third-period goals. Other Bearcat scorers were Bill Maki and Bill McKenzie.

"Butch" Swaney and "Sully" Sullivan were the only Dynamiters able to beat Russ Dettell in the Lakehead goal. Swaney notched two counters and Sullivan sank a fast corner drive.

Believe Yankee Stadium Air Would Clear Trosky's Head

New York, April 13.—While Ed Levy hit well on the training trip, no one associated with the Yankees is satisfied with the first basing situation.

Along this line, it is reported that there is nothing wrong with Harold Trosky's head that Yankee Stadium air wouldn't cure.

Migraine headaches drove Hal Trosky to the bench last season, but you hear that one reason why he went on the voluntarily retired list was that he wants to get away from the Cleveland club, where he ran into so many miniature revolutions.

It is said that Trosky, because of seniority, resented the appointment of young Lou Boudreau as manager of the Indians.

As to his ability, Trosky is no George Sisler, but he at least hits the long ball to which Yankee patrons were accustomed until tragic illness forced Lou Gehrig to the sidelines.

MRS. J. MOONEY NAMED HEAD OF LADY CURLERS

Reports Presented and Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of Ladies' Sherbrooke Curling Club.

Mrs. J. S. Mooney was elected President of the Ladies' Sherbrooke Curling Club at the annual meeting and dinner held at the Magor House at which reports covering the activities of the short but successful season were presented.

Mrs. H. H. Ingram and Mrs. F. H. Bradley were named Honorary Presidents, Miss E. Haight, First Vice-President, Mrs. T. C. Hurn, Second Vice-President, Mrs. R. C. Tate, Secretary, Mrs. S. A. Belmont, Treasurer, Mrs. H. MacCallum, Match Committee Convener and Mrs. C. A. Vincent, Tea Convener.

The retiring President, Mrs. H. B. Johnston, conducted the meeting. Following the toast to the King, Mrs. Tate, Secretary, and Mrs. Belmont, Treasurer, read their reports, and Mrs. MacCallum reported on the various competitions. Mrs. Johnston then presented prizes to the winning rink.

Thanks were extended the officers and members for their co-operation by Mrs. Johnston, and Mrs. Mooney thanked the members for naming her President, promising to do her best to make the next season a success.

OLD-TIME GRID STAR SUCCUMBS AT AGE OF 76

John Robert McCredie Was Member of "Big Three" Scrimmage Line, Playing with Tom Clancy and Tom Boucher.

Ottawa, April 13.—(P)—A football star of half a century ago, John Robert McCredie, died in hospital here Saturday, aged 76.

McCredie, a native of Shawville, was one of the "Big Three" scrimmage line back in the 90's. One of the others was the late Tom Clancy, centreman, whose son, King Clancy, later was a professional hockey star and now is a National Hockey League referee. The third was the late Tom Boucher, father of the New York Rangers' N.H.L. team coach, Frank Boucher.

With Edward P. Gleeson, Ottawa lawyer, as Captain, the Ottawa University team won four Canadian championships between 1890 and 1900. Subsequently McCredie played for a team with St. Patrick's Club of Ottawa in the Quebec Rugby Union.

A printer by trade, McCredie worked first at Bryson, Que. Later he came to Ottawa, where he worked for a time in the composing room of the Ottawa Citizen. Subsequently he was for 40 years employed at the Government Printing Bureau here. He retired twelve years ago.

Mrs. Margaret Baker, of Shawville, is a sister.

PREDICTS WIN FOR REDS IN NATIONAL LOOP

Baseball Writer Takes Long View of 1942 Prospects on Eve of Major Baseball League Openers.

By DILLON GRAHAM (Associated Press Sports Writer) New York, April 13.—(P)—Brooklyn has the power and hustle. St. Louis has the balance and speed and Cincinnati has the pitching.

That's how the three apparent contenders for the National league baseball pennant stack up as get-away day approaches.

You can sell yourself on any one of the trio and, while both the Dodgers and Cardinals finished ahead of the Reds last year and seemingly have better balance now, I have a hunch the Reds will hit the wire first.

No club in the majors can touch the Reds' pitching. Derringer and Walters, Riddle and Vander Meer, Thompson and Starr. That I think gives them the edge. With those trustworthy tossers, all Cincinnati needs to win is a slightly improved offensive.

The Reds' punch was pitiful last year. There almost was none. Yet Cincinnati challenged most of the way. There should be more power this season.

Frank McCormick should retain his batting eye. Rookie Bert Haas at their should help the attack. Veteran Ival Goodman looked great when I saw the Reds during my tour of the spring training camps. So did Eddie Joost, who has put on twenty pounds and is hitting the ball hard. Rollie Hensley and Ray Lammanno have strengthened the catching, while the outfield will be better with the experienced Gee Walker in left.

Trenton R.C.A.F. Lads Best Oilers 34-31 To Even Cage Semi-Final

Deciding Game in Montreal Tonight, with Winner Travelling to Halifax to Tackle Dalhousie University in Eastern Finals—Pat Flynn and Eddie Jackson Lead Airmen in Fight from Behind—Johnny Ferraro Oilers' Best.

Montreal, April 13.—(P)—Trenton Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers apparently did a bit of eavesdropping on their Coach, Flying Officer Buff Horton, after they lost the first game of their best-of-three Eastern Canadian senior basketball semi-final to Montreal Oilers.

Horton, who refereed many basketball games around Montreal in the early part of the season, said after the first game that his charges would "be playing basketball" in the second tilt of the series. And that's what the Airmen did Saturday night as they bottled up the Oilers with a 34-31 win over the Oilers.

The deciding game will be played tonight with the victor travelling down to Halifax to tackle the Dalhousie University quintette in the Eastern finals. Dates and length of the series have not yet been announced.

The Flyers had to fight back from behind to win the close struggle after they had lost an early lead. Trailing 16-9 at half-time, Oilers spurred into a 27-23 lead about halfway through the final session, but a late surge by the Airmen gave them the win.

Tight defensive play featured the early part of the battle and after more than ten minutes of play, the count was only 4-3 in the Airmen's favor. But the teams gradually opened up and the Flyers held a 16-9 advantage as the half-time whistle sounded.

Sparked by Johnny Ferraro, the Oilers quickly whittled down this lead as the last half got underway and before many minutes had elapsed the Montreal quintette had gained a 19-18 edge.

The Oilers increased their lead to 27-25 half-way through the period but quick baskets by Norm Phillips and Eddie "Busher" Jackson tied the game up, after Duddy Bloomfield had added a field goal to the Montreal score. Another basket by Pat Flynn gave the Airmen a lead they never relinquished.

Flynn was the leading point-getter of both teams with a total of twelve, five field goals and two free shots. Second on the Trenton in-cup was Eddie Jackson, who was transferred to Trenton by the R.C.A.F. after having played most of the season with the Oilers. Jackson scored three baskets and made good on two of three free shots awarded him for eight points.

Leading scorer for the Montrealers was Ferraro, who collected nine points, two field goals and five free shots. Duddy Bloomfield earned three baskets and two free throws, while Team Captain Joe Richman, who was chased late in the game after committing four personal fouls, got seven of the Montreal points.

"Morning, Henry", boomed Mr. Picobac, pipe in mouth. "Do you get the smell of spring this morning?" Mr. Henry Cotton, proprietor of Essex Centre's leading departmentalized emporium (dry goods, groceries, hardware, boots and shoes), got down off his stool in the little back private office, nothing loth.

"Hard the crows this morning," volunteered he, coming out into the public gaze.

"Do you know how a fine spring morning like this makes me feel?" inquired Mr. Picobac, bringing forth his handy Picobac pouch.

"Yes," said Mr. Cotton. "I feel that way myself. Give me a pipeful of that good Picobac burley of yours and we'll take time for a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke."
