GOVERNMENT ADOPTS PIPELINE

Before Senate Today; Senator Hackett Hits At Rule Suspension

OTTAWA — (AP) — Parliamentary battleground for the government's controversial gas pipeline bill shifts to the Senate today. The measure's passage in the upper chamber is expected to be calm in comparison with the three-week storm it weathered in the Commons.

The Senate must pass the bill no later than Thursday, if it is to meet the government deadline.

SENATOR JOHN T. HACKETT

The upper chamber Tuesday approved a government motion permitting speedy passage of the controversial bill. The motion suspended certain rules to allow all stages of legislation to be passed at a single sitting, if necessary. The chamber also agreed to meet at 11 a. m. EDT today, instead of the usual 3 p. m.

The rule suspension was passed only after barbed criticisms by Progressive Conservative senators John T. Hackett, Quebec, and Ralph B. Horner, Saskatchewan.

Senator Hackett, who last July became the first Conservative ever appointed to the senate by a Liberal prime minister, said it would "fetter" senators.

Senator Horner said the senate was being "gagged."

Solicitor-General Macdonald, government leader, denied the allegations. The rule suspension would simply allow the Senate to get at the pipeline bill as soon as it arrived from the Commons.

Pointing out that there is no time limit on debate or sitting hours in the Senate, he said, "debate will be curtailed in no way whatsoever."

Under Senate rules there is no motion of closure, which the government used at four stages in the Commons to limit pipeline debate.

In the Senate, there are only seven Conservatives, and no CCF members, compared with 80 Liberals.

In sharp contrast to the situation in the Commons, where Progressive Conservative leader Drew was one of the leaders in the opposition fight against the bill, Senator John T. Haig, Conservative leader in the senate, gave no indication he would follow suit—at least to the same extent.

The 78-year-old Winnipegger said Tuesday the Senate's job was to determine whether, all things considered, the proposed pipeline should be built in the manner proposed by the government.

Senator Hackett said the bill was important, but the Senate was being asked to "rush it through." This brought a denial from Senator Macdonald.

But one of Senator Hackett's own colleagues, Senator Felix Quinn (PC—Nova Scotia) said he could see nothing wrong in suspending the rules. No curtailment of debate would result.

Senator David Croll (L—Ontario) and Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot (L—Quebec) said the same thing.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) said he was amazed at Senator Hackett's "overheated" language.

Coffin Case Inspires Gov. Legislation

OTTAWA — (AP) — The government Tuesday gave notice of legislation to have more than one judge to the Supreme Court of Canada hear applications for leave to appeal in capital cases.

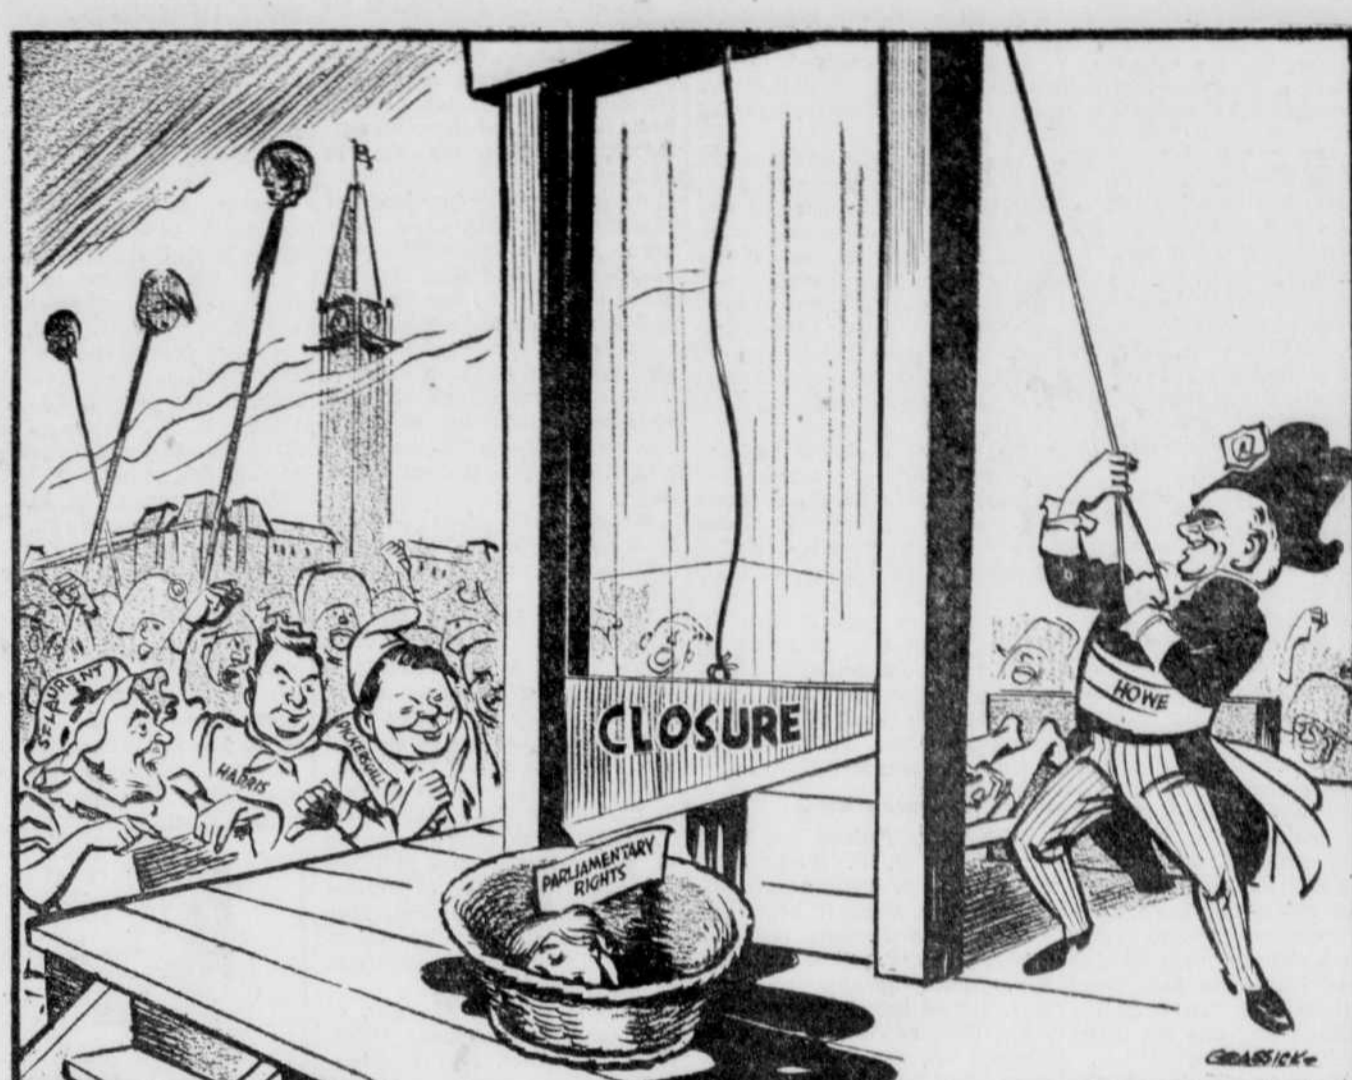

The step is believed to stem from the case of Wilbert Coffin, Gaspé, Que., prospector hanged Feb. 10 for the murder of one of three American bear hunters in 1953.

A resolution placed on Tuesday's Commons order paper by Justice Minister Garson proposes amendments to sections of the Supreme Court Act and the Criminal Code dealing with applications for leave to appeal in capital cases. It also proposes the establishment of the office of deputy registrar of the Supreme Court.

At present, applications for leave to appeal murder convictions are heard in chambers by one Supreme Court judge. It is understood the government proposes to have three judges hear such applications in future.

Last-Minute Barrier Fails; P.C.'s Attempt Supply-Bill Blockage

OTTAWA — (AP) — The government's gas pipeline legislation gained final Commons approval early today on the 70th vote of its stormy three-week passage.

A last-ditch opposition barrier — a procedural argument — was thrown up after closure had clamped off debate on the bill itself for the last time at 1:13 a. m.

It delayed for nearly an hour the final step needed for passage. Then the barrier crumbled and with a succession of roll-call votes the bill was cleared through to the Senate.

The Commons, torn since May 14 over the most bitterly-contested issue in decades, adjourned at 3:20 a. m. after a sitting of nearly 11 hours.

Opposition leader Drew fired the parting shot: "The fight for freedom of Parliament has just started."

It was a clear indication the bill's passage meant only a brief truce and not a peace treaty.

Finance Minister Harris said he hoped the Commons today would start to deal with an interim supply bill which would replenish the treasury's nearly-bare coffers. The opposition may block the step on grounds formal notice of the bill was not given.

The government hopes the Senate will pass the pipeline bill no later than Thursday.

Thursday is the government's deadline for enactment of the bill to lend up to $80,000,000 to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to build the Prairie section of its long-delayed $375,000,000 natural gas line from Alberta to Montreal.

If the deadline is missed, Trans-Canada is free from its agreement to build the line to Winnipeg by Dec. 31.

Commons members vented their emotions as the final votes were taken. Liberals add Social Credit members teaming up to back the bill against the Progressive Conservative-CCF minority.

Liberals pounded their desks wildly and cheered Prime Minister St. Laurent, Trade Minister Howe, the bill's sponsor, and Mr. Harris, House leader who guided the measure's closure-aimed passage.

The two opposition parties gave similar ovations to Mr. Drew and CCF leader Coldwell and to the two procedural experts who captained the counter-strategy: Stanley Knowles (CCF Winnipeg North Centre) and Davie Fulton (PC Kamloops).

The bitter fight also produced a motion by Mr. Drew—still unresolved—that Speaker René Beaudin be censured for "subordinating the rights of the House to the will of the government."

The hard feelings of recent days were subdued but still present as the House voted 150 to 61 to carry the closure motion by Mr. St. Laurent, then debated in the early hours of the morning and finally went through the final motions of passing the bill.

After the debate ended the House defeated a motion by Mr. Drew to redraft the bill along lines proposed by the Conservatives and then voted 153 to 56 to give the bill third and final reading.

That was not the end, however. Mr. Knowles raised a point of order that under closure rules the Commons could not take the final step of declaring that the bill should pass.

The CCF member admitted it was a technical point, but said

Urge Fish Import Restriction

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Representatives of the ailing New England fisheries industry Tuesday urged the United States tariff commission to consider restricting imports of groundfish fillets from Canada and other countries by raising tariffs and establishing quotas linked to the average U.S. consumption.

The proposals were advanced by the Massachusetts Fisheries Association and the protectionist nation-wide committee of industry, agriculture and labor on import-export policy as the commission opened a hearing on an industry request for protection against imports.

Thomas D. Rice, executive secretary of the Massachusetts group, suggested that the duty of 1 1/2 cents a pound which now applies to the first 15,000,000 pounds of Canadian imports be abolished and the full duty of 2 1/2 cents be levied on all imports of groundfish fillets, blocks and slabs.

He also proposed a quota system limiting imports to 37 per cent of the average aggregate annual consumption in the U. S. during the five calendar years immediately preceding the importation.

O. R. Strackbein, chairman of the committee on imports-export policy, urged a similar quota system to give "the domestic boat-owners, fishermen and processing plant operators an assured share of the market." He suggested a tariff increase would do little to halt the imports.

Both argued that the imports which come principally from Canada, are threatening the New England industry with destruction and cited figures to show that imports have risen from 64,800,000 pounds in 1950 to 130,000,000 in 1955. In the same period, the domestic catch dropped from 148,800,000 pounds to 96,800,000.

Strackbein questioned whether international relations were improved by "harsh treatment of our own people in order to permit foreign economic interests relentlessly to absorb and enjoy our market, a market which they did not produce or develop."

Rice recalled that President Eisenhower two years ago rejected a tariff commission recommendation for groundfish quotas with the suggestion that the growing fishstick industry would give the fishermen a new market. This market had not materialized.

Members of the Canadian Fisheries Council, an industrial organization, are expected to present a Canadian defence Friday.

Observe 12th Anniversary Of Invasion

OMAHA BEACH, France — (AP) — Today's anniversary of D-Day found residents and visitors again making the annual pilgrimage to the channel-washed strip of brown sand where the Allies landed on a cloudy morning 12 years ago.

The "biggest celebration of the anniversary was the 10th, two years ago. Now the ceremonies are smaller, but as heart felt."

Today's military observances were largely confined to the cemeteries — French, British and Canadian — scattered along the coast. The schedule called for the usual speeches, rifle salute and sounding of the Last Post before the visitors moved quietly through the ordered rows of graves along the beaches.

Omaha Beach now shows almost no trace of the invasion. A rusted landing ship can be seen, at low tide the broken skeleton of sunken ships poke through the channel waters. That's about all.

While the foreign visitors renew their memories along the coast, many French villages fill their churches and city halls to commemorate the days that freed them from German occupation. This tradition has grown strong in the channel region, and local observances will go on for several days.

The official British party at the D-Day ceremonies was headed by Housing Minister Duncan Sandys, a son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill.

One notable absentee this year was Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy supreme commander of European NATO forces. Montgomery has made the D-Day pilgrimage every year since, but this year is touring Canada.

The California fight overshadowed primary voting in three other states. In one, Governor Averell Harriman was assured in advance of getting most of the 86 convention delegates being chosen in New York.

Harriman, who says he is "not an active" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is regarded as a dark-horse possibility in the event of a convention deadlock developing.

Kefauver got a consolation prize of 24 convention votes in primary voting in Montana and South Dakota Tuesday. He was unopposed.

Threat Of War Removed

LONDON — (Reuters) — Russia's Premier Bulganin today hailed an era of world peace with a Moscow radio statement explaining that Russia now is disarming because the threat of war has vanished.

"There is nowhere a possibility of war breaking out," the broadcast said.

Bulganin offered this as the explanation for Russia's recently announced intention to cut the Red Army by 1,200,000 men without awaiting an international disarmament agreement.

"In Europe, Britain will not start a war, the French do not want it," he said.

"We hope that the Western powers will follow our example and do likewise. If clear indications of understanding are given and there is goodwill, the results will be positive."

The official Soviet broadcast was of an interview Bulganin gave last Saturday to Hugo LaTorre Cabal of the Mexican newspaper Excelsior.

He recalled Russia's rejection of President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan to safeguard a disarmament agreement by means of Soviet air patrols over the United States and vice versa.

"We do not accept air inspection as a form of control because it is impossible to fly over territories as large as the Soviet Union and the United States—all over the world, in fact, since the United States have military bases everywhere."

"If any country has aggressive intentions, these can be hidden from air control."

Stevenson Trounces Kefauver

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson crushed Estes Kefauver in a crucial primary election in California Tuesday, handing the Tennessee senator a severe setback in his battle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kefauver conceded defeat in California early today, but said he would continue his fight for the nomination. The California test primary clash before the national convention in August.

The Democratic nomination, now seemingly much closer to Stevenson's grasp, will pit the challenger against President Eisenhower in November.

The victory gave Stevenson all of California's 68 Democratic delegate votes in the national convention, and a publicly pledged or preferred total to date of 259 1/2 to Kefauver's 166. Nomination requires 686 1/2.

The California fight overshadowed primary voting in three other states. In one, Governor Averell Harriman was assured in advance of getting most of the 86 convention delegates being chosen in New York.

Harriman, who says he is "not an active" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is regarded as a dark-horse possibility in the event of a convention deadlock developing.

Textile Parley Continues

QUEBEC — (AP) — Labor Minister Tremblay of Quebec Tuesday continued talks with representatives of opposing sides in a strike of 6,000 textile employees in four Quebec towns.

It was the second consecutive day the minister presided at a conference of union and company officials striving to end the walkout which hit on different dates in Drummondville, Magog, Sherbrooke and Montmorency.

The strike coincided with a provincial election campaign but there have been no serious incidents since the first men walked off the job at Drummondville April 27.

Employed by Dominion Textile Company, the strikers are represented by the National Syndicate of Textile Workers CCCL. Wage negotiations began more than a year ago, but the walkouts began when the company instituted time and quality surveys. Magog mill was struck May 8, Sherbrooke May 11 and Montmorency May 18.

Rene Gosselin, president of the CCCL union, said the mass rally was called to draw public attention to "deliberate sabotage" by Dominion Textile of union efforts to improve working conditions.

Meeting here with Mr. Tremblay were Jean Marchand, CCCL secretary-general, and R. D. Archibald, secretary-treasurer of the mill at nearby Montmorency.

OTTAWA — (AP) — A total of 70 votes, possibly a record on a single piece of legislation, were needed in the Commons to bring about approval of the government's pipeline legislation.

Twenty-four of the votes in the three weeks of debate were the result of opposition appeals of rulings from the chair.

The breakdown: Government motions to advance the legislation: 24.

Opposition motions to delay or change the proceedings: 14.

Procedural questions raised by the opposition: 5.

Appeals from rulings of the chair: 24.

Total: 70.

Copy The Russians?

TORONTO. — (CP) — Canadians should take a leaf from Russia's handbook of five-year plans to meet its educational problems, T. A. Rice of Hamilton, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, suggested today.

Addressing the association's annual meeting Mr. Rice said we should set some sort of target as to the number of graduates required by a specified time.

Industry generally, said Mr. Rice, must give the problem of education top-priority rating. Expansion of investment in education by industry was going to grow more costly, but, "when we think of the cost, let us face up to the fact that ignorance is definitely more expensive than education."

Five-Year Plan For Education

With a view to helping resolve the shortage in the whole range of skilled personnel — technicians, scientists, engineers and executives—the association was setting up a special committee to cooperate with federal and provincial governments, education authorities and other interested parties.

Mr. Rice said that despite any temporary setbacks, the economic tide is still on the flow for Canada and Canadians.

The current upswing, however, could not help but contain elements of further inflation. He added:

"National acceptance of the theory that annual wage boosts are vital to the expansion of purchasing power and that management can keep fattening the rate each year for the rest of time, is exactly the same as national acceptance of a permanent economy of creeping inflation."

Mr. Rice outlined various responsibilities as follows:

Labor—Common-sense in its wage demands, coupled with some consideration for the fortunes of the consumer and more internal emphasis on productivity, the only real gateway to plenty.

Management—Continued ingenuity in devising ways and means of cutting costs and improving efficiency.

Government—A closer look at everything that concerns its national housekeeping bill and in avoidance of restriction of the competitive market.

Public—"To wake up to the fact that it is their pocket which will be picked if persistent inflation becomes the order of the day."

He also urged the buying of made-in-Canada merchandise.

Beauty And The Cameraman

Most of us who live in this sophisticated age of television and cinema-scoped know by now that the world is not always what it appears to be — especially when it comes to curves (in women), and faces (also on women). No one can pull the wool over our eyes, we scoff knowingly, mentally checking off the lengthy list of aids to nature now at the fingertips of even the most underpaid office stenographer.

We even like to think that we know what lies behind the tricks a Hollywood photographer can play on our eyes. We are no longer bewildered by what appear to be ghosts appearing eerily on the screen; the sight of a movie personality talking to an identical image of himself in a particular scene is now a childish contrivance.

But even with this tremendous store of knowledge, the poor theatre goer is still a rank amateur. The film cameraman is still miles ahead of us — and successful movie stars know it. They don't insist on particular cameramen, as Marilyn Monroe does, out of pure whimsy. (And Marilyn, of all the movie queens, would seem to be least in need of trickery).

For example, we have always thought that Ava Gardner was, well... Ava Gardner. But look what the expert cameraman's log book says about her: "Watch her nose. It has a slight twist and a scar line." And of Ingrid Bergman, he cynically remarks: "Here is a trouble-free face — no problems at all." Trouble-free! What a let down!

And then there's Moira Shearer, completely unaltered, we were always so certain. But the nasty little log book says: "Watch those apple round cheeks — they won't take certain kinds of cross-lighting." Again, we always thought that Gina Lollobrigida was Gina Lollobrigida, no matter how one looked at her. But not so the cameraman. His log warns: "Watch those cheeks and those lips. A false light, and they will film badly."

It is quite clear that someone (probably ambitious publicity agents) has been hoodwinking us poor Hollywood devotees. The most important people in the film business are not the actors and actresses at all, but the cameramen.

Obviously, he can make or break an actor or actress simply perhaps, by forgetting to take his little log book to work. Obviously, too, fan loyalty throughout the world has been misplaced — though with thoroughly good intentions. We suggest that a re-aligning of loyalties must take place — let's boost the cameraman with the best log book, and then we can forget about actors and actresses.

Today's Frontiersmen

Since the 1920's, a training organization backed by little more than the enthusiasm of a few nationally minded people has been supplying trained pilots for every type of flying undertaking.

Graduates of this group may be piloting you in Trans-Canada Airlines, in Royal Canadian Air Force transports and jets, in northern latitudes as bush pilots, charter flight operators or in your executive aeroplane.

These are today's Frontiersmen, a product of our national flying clubs, all members of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association. This week they mark their annual observance of National Flying Club Week and will play host to the general public at airports from Halifax, N.S. to Victoria,

B.C.

During the war, this Association of clubs conducted the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan for the RCAF. Thousands of aircrew poured into the war effort from this plan and, as the peacetime cycle again approached, these training units organized to bring flying training within every civilian's reach.

Today, Canada boasts 39 flying clubs, flourishing all. A non-profit undertaking, the clubs are training hundreds of men and women each year to private and commercial licence standard. We wish them well in these times of unrest, for it is comforting to know that the machinery of wartime training does not lay rusting in times of peace.

This And That...

Support the Sherbrooke Hospital Campaign!

One thing about the Municipal Court's refusal to give out names in connection with drunk charges: it makes a good guessing-game.

Sherbrooke's new TV station has announced a delay of another month before it will open. This means another month of suspense among viewers who are wondering whether the local channel will interfere with reception from Mt. Washington.

Wouldn't it be nice if one — just one — Liberal member at Ottawa opposed the methods being used to push the pipeline loan through parliament?

Interesting that the Police Department announces the locations of its car-checking squads. Anyone knowingly operating a defective car can certainly be expected to travel miles to avoid these spots. Even with this advance information available, one in four cars is found to have faults.

Just to prove how really crazy he can get, the weatherman gave Sherbrooke its heaviest rainfall of the year and beautiful clear skies — all within the space of an hour yesterday.

Would That Quints Would Smile

(Owen Sound Sun-Times)

Marie Dionne recently opened a flower shop in Montreal. And one of the publicity shots on that event showed the four surviving quintuplets posed amidst flowers on the occasion. One person in the photograph was smiling happily... and it wasn't one of the famous sisters. It was an unnamed lady in the background. The Dionne girls looked pretty grim, although the expression on the face of one indicated she would have liked to have smiled. Her mouth was a bit twisted as if she was trying to suppress such a show of pleasure. The others were just plain dour. They were just plain dour. They were just plain dour. We'd like to see a really happy picture of the Quints. (Perhaps that name is the reason for their sornbreness.) They should be happy girls. True, their life has been marred by a certain amount of undesirable publicity. But, for the most part their life should have had at least the average amount of happiness. They have been well cared for financially. They had escaped the poverty which might well have marred their early years at least had they been born singly rather than five at a time. It is indeed unfortunate if they are not getting pleasure out of life. The

In the language of newspapermen a "pipeline" is a direct connection with a specific source of news. Thus reporters in Ottawa recently have been trying to fit a pipeline into the pipeline.

Press Comment

INTERESTING INDEED!

Ottawa Journal
After the University of Toronto had presented a brief to the Royal Commission on Broadcasting advocating an independent wave length to provide French language programs for the Toronto area, Chairman R. M. Fowler remarked:

"It is interesting for me to come to Toronto where I formerly lived and hear a plea by a primarily English-speaking community for more French programs."

Interesting, and more. For what this Toronto brief revealed was a civilized understanding by people who are adults, grown beyond the stage of foolish prejudice.

And such understanding is contagious, will have its impact on other Canadian communities which perhaps have been too quick to look upon Toronto as a city of bigots, as the home of people who regarded their French-Canadian fellow citizens as almost aliens.

It is perhaps but fair to say that 50 years ago, even 25 years ago, this sort of thing could not have happened; all of us, English and French, have a past about the language question we can hardly remember proudly. It has happened now, however, and we can but hope that wide note will be taken of it, especially in quarters where there may be need for such notice.

ACCIDENTS DON'T JUST HAPPEN

(Brockville Recorder & Times)
In most cases on the highway "accidents" don't just happen—they are caused by human misjudgment. So too is the situation the same in respect to most "accidents" on the water. This summer will see numerous "accidental" drownings from overturned boats, caused sheerly by human misjudgments.

These misjudgments usually consist of a lack of appreciation of a boat's safe capacity both in regard to passengers and size of motor, and to a lack of understanding of the elementary rules of seamanship. On the water as on the land, accidents don't just happen—they too are caused.

AFFRONT TO HONESTY

(Hamilton Spectator)
Four 25 cent pieces was the "reward" given a Kitchener postman who found a $500 Canada savings bond. The owner, it seems, had carried the thrift creed to sheer greed. But his affront to honesty ended in some measure of humiliation when the postman called at his house again—and returned the four quarters.

INCONSISTENCY

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)
Parents are usually careful not to allow their children to play with matches or with guns. But many of them do not seem to mind their immature teenagers taking out the family car, charged with high-octane gas, and tearing along the highways by day or night.

AMAZING PLANT

(Brandon Sun)
Grass is that amazing plant which is not hurt at all when your children trample it in the neighbor's yard, but is ruined by the neighbor's children walking on it in yours.

LIGHT MUSIC

Ninety per cent of the 31,000-000 phonograph records produced in West Germany in 1955 were light concert and dance music.

INSIDE RUSSIA

Jacoby On Bridge

THREE TRUMP LEADS FATAL

Ten bids were needed to get South to a slam in diamonds when today's hand was played in the 1956 World Championship in Paris last January. If as much thought had gone into the play, the slam would have been fulfilled.

West opened the five of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer next led a low heart from dummy, and East took the king. East should have returned a club, but his choice was a trump.

Declarer won with the ace of trumps, cashed the queen of hearts, and led a second trump to dummy. So far so good, but now South made the fatal mistake of leading a third round of trumps. The hearts didn't break, and there just weren't enough tricks.

Instead of leading the third trump, South should have led the ace of hearts. If the suit broke, this play would get by safely and declarer could then draw the last trump. If the hearts failed to break, the only chance was to find the last trump in the same hand as the four hearts.

The rest of the play would have to be precise, but it would all work. The ace of hearts would reveal the situation, and South would next ruff a heart. He would get back to dummy with the king of clubs and would ruff a club (having discarded a club on the ace of hearts). He would cash the ace of spades to discard dummy's last club, ruff a spade to get back to dummy, and only then would it be time to draw the last trump. Dummy's last heart would provide the twelfth trick.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Record of Saturday, June 6, 1936.

Tempers again became frayed at the sitting of the Quebec Legislature with the Premier charging the Opposition members with being a "crowd of howlers". More charges of irregularities are being exchanged at the Public Accounts Committee sessions.

Leon Blum, Socialist leader recently named Premier of France, has made a direct appeal to half a million French strikers to return to work and seek their demands for higher wages and shorter hours by legal means.

Officers elected at the annual meeting of the Richmond County Women's Institute were: Mrs. W. J. Wright, Kingsbury; Miss Alice Dresser, Richmond; Mrs. R. Grant Harris, Asbestos; Mrs. Charles Tozer, Richmond; Mrs. John Hawkes, Richmond, and Mrs. Fred Armstrong, Danville.

With damage already amounting to $150,000,000 United States Department of Agriculture officials declare that the continued drought is menacing the crop of the nation.

About 100 employees of the Montreal Cottons Limited plant in Valleyfield returned to their jobs today. There were no disturbances as the returning workers, only a small portion of the 3,000 mill employees, passed through the picket lines.

Members of the Beebe Players who took part in a three-act play presented in Confederation Hall, Ayer's Cliff, were Jock Lees, Martha Bronson, Mae Scott, Bessie Bachelder, Clayton Beerworth, Robert Smith, Jean Lovelace, James Miller, Doris Cowlan and Harold Taylor.

Grade 8 Pupils Entertained At Windsor Mills

WINDSOR MILLS. — Students in Grade 8 of the Consolidated School were entertained by the Home and School Association. Michael Planidin, president, welcomed those present and turned the meeting over to program chairman, Cliff Allan, who had arranged a musical quiz of students versus audience, piano duets by Kathleen Dubuc and Sherrill Wheeler, and a sing-song. Mrs. B. Watson, president of the Women's Institute, spoke briefly and called on George Witty, chairman of the school board, to present books to the students. These books are joint gifts from the Institute and the Association and were received by Beatrice Coriveau, Willa Watson, Marilyn Daigneault, Karen Sundborg, Tinie Hockstra, Katherine Dubuc, Sherrill Wheeler, Franklin Brock, Bruce Houghton and Ned McLennan. Marilyn Daigneault expressed the thanks of the girls for the gifts and Larry Finley voiced the appreciation of the boys. The president, on behalf of the Association, presented a gift to Miss Thelma Mills, who is retiring after teaching grades 3 and 4 for a number of years. He also expressed the regret of those present at her retirement and thanked her for her many years of service. SUMMER BONSPIEL The 4th summer bonspiel is just a pleasant memory. For the first time the women's section sent out invitations and 21 rinks accepted. Mrs. D. Jondreville, president, Mrs. H. Finley, Mrs. W. Houghton and Mrs. E. McLennan were in charge of arrangements. A new trophy, donated by E. Howard Smith was carried off by a rink from Lacolle, skipped by Mrs. R. Smith. *The prizes were sterling silver large cut glass vases and hors d'oeuvres trays. The men's section had 66 entries with Victoriaville winning the main event and Mount Royal in second place. In the consolation round, Windsor was lucky on both counts, Dube Doucet's rink of Cliff Robinson, Alex Potter and Ian Federson requiring an extra end to edge out Earle Blain's rink of T. Cumby, Pete Champoux and J. Bagnall. The prizes were chairs, silver dishes and blankets. Mrs. Frances Robinson looked after the catering until Saturday, when the Women's Institute took over.

HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN The local campaign for the Sherbrooke Hospital got under way at a meeting called by the chairman, A. J. Phillip. John Robson and R. Foisey are joint treasurers, with Miss A. Brady secretary. Group captains are E. Rice, J. Bagnall, G. Gerard, D. Doucet, H. Finley, W. Houghton, R. Foisey, J. Robson, A. Brady and J. Witty. WILD LIFE TALK The boys of the 1st Windsor Cub Pack played host to Earl Blair, game warden for the Watpaka Fish and Game Club. Mr. Blair, an ardent hunter and fisherman, spoke on wild life conservation and covered very fully the fish and game laws of the Province of Quebec. Later he showed colored slides taken on hunting expeditions in Northern Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. GENERAL NOTES Mrs. Ira Huxtable of Granby, is spending some time with her father, Mr. M. W. McCourt, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCourt. Mrs. J. McCabe was a guest of Mrs. William Colligan, of Dixie, for the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. C. ## Dramatic Group Presents Play At Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND — The Newport Barnstormers Dramatic Group presented a delightful three act comedy "The Male Animal" at the Haskell Opera House at the Boundary. The play, a Samuel French production, was one of fun and laughter from beginning to end. The cast gave an excellent performance taking the parts like professionals. The story centered in the living room in the home of Professor Thomas Turner in a mid western university town. The professors, students and past and present football stars, gathered on the eve of the big game at the Turner home. About the same time it is discovered that Mike Barnes, has written an article for the school magazine which is not too well received by the University trustees or by the Dean of the University, and this gets not only Mike into trouble, but Professor Turner as well. There were complications a plenty for Professor Turner and his wife and Joe Ferguson, a former football star, and old flame of Mrs. Turner's, before the performance concluded happily for all the players. The cast of characters were Cleota, the maid, Sally Chase; Ellen Turner, the professor's wife, Miss Joyce Selby; Tommy Turner, the English professor at the University, Fred Carlin; Patricia Stanley, Ellen Turner's sister, who has her boy friend troubles, Miss Vivian Alexander; Wally Myers, football star of the game and admirer of Patricia's Merlin Davis; Dean Frederick Damon, of the University, Wilfred Boulanger; Michael Barnes, the magazine writer, also and admirer of Patricia's, David Pierce; Joe Ferguson, a former football star, and admirer of Mrs. Turner, Bill Daimond; Mrs. Blanche Damon, the wife of the Dean, Janet Valley; Ed. Keller, trustee of the University, Frank Hapenny; Myrtle Keller, his wife, Eileen Lovering; "Nutsy" Miller, the school band leader, George Durocher. Director, Mary Lou Cole; technical advisor, Thomas Coleman; make up, Miss M. Meader; lighting, L. O. MacPherson, Eddie Simpson and Cyril Lynch; music, Seguin Music store; properties, Mrs. T. Meader and Mrs. M. Hilliker. Musical recorded selections were played while the audience assembled. Although the attendance was not as large as usual for local talent plays, they were most appreciative of the performance. It has not as yet been decided if the play will be taken to other towns for presentation or not. MYSTIC— Mrs. George Moreau entertained the Women's Association when reports were given of a successful get-together in Phillipsburg. The treasurer stated that $100.85 was cleared at the recently held food sale. Tentative plans were made to hold a lawn social during the month of July. ## FOR AUTOMATIC WASHERS

NOT THIS... See how thick, sticky Suds Scum clings to clothes after water has drained. This dulls the lustre of just-washed clothes—can blotch them when you iron.

BUT THIS... No sticky Suds Scum here. Clothes washed in all come out sparkling clean and white every time because its "controlled suds" rinse out completely.

FOR WRINGER WASHERS, TOO

NOT THIS... When you lift clothes from your wringer washer, Suds Scum still clings, carries over to the rinse. These suds can leave clothes grey, dingy. You'll use more rinse water, too.

BUT THIS... With all there's never any stubborn Suds Scum to rinse out. These clothes washed in all rinse far whiter, far easier. And you'll save gallons of hot rinse water, too.

British Civilian Killed

NICOSIA, Cyprus - (Reuters) - Cypriot rebels shot to death a British colonial official early today. His Turkish Cypriot driver was wounded.

The victim was Thomas Mylrea, 28. Gunmen shot him down on the steps of the Limassol gymnasium (school) as he was entering to conduct an examination there.

He was the 40th Briton - and the fourth British civilian - killed since terrorist activity began in April last year in support of the campaign for union of the island with Greece.

The Briton had picked up his briefcase and left the car, with his Turkish driver holding the door, when they were fired on from behind by automatic weapons.

Troops cordoned off the area and extensive searches were launched.

The school was closed by governor Sir John Harding after a student riot last December during which a bomb thrown from the school grounds killed a British soldier.

Meanwhile, British troops today enforced a strict round-the-clock curfew in the "blackspot" village of Klorakas, west Cyprus, after terrorists flung a bomb at a truckload of soldiers enforcing a nightly curfew there.

No one was hurt by this explosion, but six British soldiers were injured when mountain terrorists ambushed two trucks on the other side of the island.

In Paphos, yelling Turks brandished knives as they hunted for an attacker who threw a bomb at their club Tuesday night.

Famous Designer Lets Cat Out Of The Hatbox

By RUTH MILLETT

Lilly Dache, the woman who designs the kind of hats that women yearn for, admitted to a reporter the other day that women's hats are designed to make people laugh.

For heaven's sake, let's try to keep this bit of knowledge from the men.

They've been laughing at our hats for years — and what has been our answer to their loudest guffaws?

"You just don't know enough about women's clothes to appreciate a chic hat when you see one."

And if the hat that was laughed at happened to carry the label of a famous designer — like Lilly Dache — then we women really felt we had the men cornered.

With a haughty look and a superior smile we would say, "For your information, this just happens to be a Lilly Dache."

That usually managed to put a mere man in his place.

So let's hope the men don't find out that a hat designer, and a woman hat designer at that, has finally admitted that women's hats are designed for laughs.

With the price they cost and the rapidity with which they go out of fashion plus a woman's penchant for buying a new hat whenever she feels blue, the men are sure to think the laugh is on them.

After all, they have to look at the hats and they have to pay for them.

Besides that, we won't even be able to act haughty or insulted when our men laugh at our hats in the future.

For if they are up on the Dache quote they can simply come back with, "Well, that's the purpose of a woman's hat isn't it, to make people laugh?"

Miss Dache, how could you have been so frank?

Unless you are a school teacher in a classroom, don't correct another person's grammar or pronunciation. It won't be appreciated. It isn't even good manners for a wife or husband to correct each other in front of others or for parents constantly to correct their school-age children when there are other people around.

It's never good manners to embarrass others.

Not-So-Timid Tigers Have Seven-Game Win Streak Going, Belt Red Sox As A's Trim Yanks; Indians Win 8-3

It's been a long haul, but Detroit's not-so-timid Tigers have the American League by the tail at the moment, sprinting along on a seven-game winning streak.

Three weeks ago manager Bucky Harris had a last-place club. Now he's still 5 1/2 games out of the lead, but up in the first division and only a skip and jump out of third.

Every Tiger has put his bat to work in the seven-game success story—longest in the majors this season—although Harvey Kuenn, batting .441 in that span, and Ray Boone, at .407, are the big guns.

Kuenn was 3-for-6 and Boone hammered home five runs with a homer, double and two singles in five trips Tuesday night as the Tigers outpowered Boston Red Sox 14-11. Frank House, batting .571 on a part-time basis in Harris' platooning system, muscled in with a three-run homer as Detroit broke a fourth-place deadlock with Boston.

New York's first-place lead dwindled to 3 1/2 games, meanwhile, as Kansas City handed the Yankees—who made five errors their fourth straight defeat, 7-4, despite homers by Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle, who hit his 21st. Cleveland, with Bob Lemon winning his seventh, took over second by belting Baltimore 8-3 as Chicago White Sox slipped to third with a 3-1 loss at Washington.

Things are much cozier in the National League, despite a 7-3 defeat at Chicago, has a four-percentage point hold on the lead over Cincinnati, which trounced Philadelphia 9-4. It's a virtual three-way tie for first, with St. Louis three points back of the Redlegs after beating New York 3-1 while Brooklyn Dodgers tripped Milwaukee to fourth 6-1 on Roger Craig's two-hitter.

The Tigers had a ninth-inning scare as the Red Sox scored six times before losing their 10th decision in the last 14. Don Buddin socked a three-run homer in the rally off reliever Walt Masterson. Billy Klaus and Jackie Jensen also homered for the Sox, off starter Virgil Trucks won his second.

Bob Porterfield was the loser. As the Sox turned the Yank errors, three by second baseman Billy Martin, into four runs. Lou Kretlow the veteran righthander, gave up just two hits until the young season 11-9. Lachance and Cadieux showed up well for the White Sox, while Leveck Roy and Addis starred for the losers.

White Sox got only four hits in the game but a generous gift of 13 free passes by the Red Sox hurlers was a big factor in their 11 runs. They jumped off to a four-run lead in their top of the first inning and added four more in the second. Red Sox got four of these back in their half of the second inning and clicked for four more in the bottom of the third. This tied the game 8-8 after 3 full innings.

White Sox pushed home three runs in the top of the fourth taking a 11-8 lead. Young Addis, the Red Sox catcher, got one of these back in the last of the fourth when he slammed a home run. Both teams went scoreless in the fifth and sixth and White Sox chalked up their first victory of

Sugar Ray Loses Decision To Traffic Cop

NEW YORK —(AP)— Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson lost a decision Tuesday to a traffic cop.

Robinson parked his flamingo pink convertible in Harlem and when he returned found patrolman Daniel Kane writing a ticket. Robinson protested. He said he was just getting ready to deposit a dime in the meter.

The cop couldn't be persuaded. So the two took the case to a desk sergeant, who upheld the cop.

Fans Will Pick All-Star Team To Meet Braves

Montreal — (AP)— President Frank Shaughnessy of the International League has announced that baseball fans will pick the all-star team which meets Milwaukee Braves of the National League in Toronto July 23.

Shaughnessy said newspapers and radio and TV stations will be asked to conduct fan polls for all-star players. The fans will select a 10-man squad, including right-and-left-handed pitchers.

Results of the poll will be turned over to league headquarters for general release July 10. Balloting will start June 15 and continue for three weeks.

Manager Greg Mulleavy of Montreal Royals, 1955 International League pennant winners, will pilot the all-star team. In addition to the 10 players named by the fans, Mulleavy will choose 15 others and will also name two fellow managers as coaches. Milwaukee has pledged its share of the gate to the Canadian Cancer Fund.

Doug Smith To Be Guest Speaker At Annual Reunion Of Sherbrooke Athletics Football Tomorrow Night

Doug Smith will be the guest speaker tomorrow evening at the first reunion of the Sherbrooke Athletics Football Club which will be held at the Hotel Sherbrooke. The banquet is slated to commence at 6:30.

Smith one of Canada's outstanding sports casters is well known throughout the country for his broadcasts of the Montreal Alouettes games. He also has Dow's "Big Time in Sport." His subject will be "Football, Canada's new major league sport."

Much effort has been made to contact former team members, and it is hoped that the response to the invitation to former members and sportsmen in the district will be an indication of the support the club may expect in its effort to revive football in particular and sports in general in this City.

The Sherbrooke Athletics is the oldest sport's organization in the City, and as such the Club feels it is their duty to assume a leading role in the revival of local sports that have been on a decline in recent years.

The local team is again entered in the Q.R.F.U. Senior "B" circuit with Three Rivers and Quebec after a layoff of one year during which Three Rivers participated in the Montreal Loop.

The local Club has been in operation since 1924 with the exception of the war years. In 1945 the first effort of revival began with the Sherbrooke gridgers playing only exhibition tilts. The interest shown prompted its entry in the Q.R.F.U. League in 1946. In 1948 following a change

Master Your Game...No. 21 Swing Club With Feet

By JACKIE BURKE
Master of Masters
Good footwork finds the left knee pointing behind the ball on the backswing and the right in front of the ball on the down.

To impress yourself with the importance of footwork, try swinging the club flat-footed. Then try it with the addition of the footwork.

The feet are the motor of the swing.

If your feet propel you, you'll never slice. A slice is caused by hitting from the waist up without benefit of the feet. This throws the club outside the line of flight, cutting across the ball at impact.

Without utilizing the feet you are likely to shift the weight incorrectly, hitting behind the ball at impact as the weight transfers from left to right.

The feet move you into proper position at the top, that critical junction between the backswing and the down from which all good shots are sprung.

Swing it there with the feet. This prevents steering or placing it, neither of which will permit you to arrive in position naturally.

Nails Pompey 14 Times In Ninth; Floors Him Three Times Before Referee Stopped Fight In Tenth

LONDON — (AP)— Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore came from behind Tuesday night to floor Yolande Pompey three times in the 10th round and win on a 10th round technical knockout in a bloody battle for the title at Harringay Arena.

The victory virtually assured the 39-year-old, 174 1/2 pound Moore of a September showdown fight for the heavyweight crown against the winner of Friday night's Floyd Patterson-Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson 12-rounder in New York.

Moore, rated as the No. 1 heavyweight following the retirement of champion Rocky Marciano, already has claimed the prized heavyweight title for himself.

The unofficial time of the TKO was 2:50 of the tenth. Times are not officially announced in British rings.

Going into the eighth round, Moore was behind on points. As if on a signal, the champion smoothly slipped into high gear and went to work on the 27-year-old, 171 1/2 pound Trinidad challenger.

Moore stalked Pompey like a hunter and nailed him 14 times in the ninth. Pompey was hurt and he bled from cuts around both eyes and from his nose.

In the fatal tenth, Moore bombed Pompey down for an eight count, a nine count and another eight count.

Pompey was dazed, his legs were quivering and blood was gushing from his cuts and referee Jack Hart shoved Moore away and motioned Pompey towards his corner.

For a couple of minutes there was confusion among the 10,000 customers. Cheerful Noman, Moore's trainer, reached into the ring, tapped Hart on the shoulder and pointed to Moore. Moore then was officially declared the winner.

Archie scored his first victory of the day when he weighed in one-half pound below the light heavyweight limit. He came directly from a Turkish bath to the scale ceremony and weighed exactly what he said he would. He took off 15 pounds in 36 days.

It was the first time Pompey had been stopped in 36 pro fights and it was his third defeat. He and it was his 31 and drawn in two others.

Moore racked up his ninth straight victory since he was knocked out by Marciano in the ninth round last Sept. 21. Moore has scored 87 knockouts. His record is 129-20-5.

The champion began unloading his big guns from the eighth on, and Pompey, a boxer but no hitter, could not cover up and peddle out of danger. By the ninth, the Pompey blood was flowing fast, and Moore was going in for a knockout.

The only one who could stop him was referee Hart, who did just that in the tenth by calling off the massacre.

On the same card, Peter Waterman, of London, won the British welterweight championship when Wally Thom retired after the fifth of a scheduled 15 round fight with an inch long gash over his right eye.

One Pitch Ruins Perfect Game For Leafs' Don Johnson, Blanks Jets; Royals Down Richmond; Havana Wins

What's one pitch in a ball game? Plenty. Ask Toronto's Don Johnson. One pitch cost him a perfect game in his 2-0 no-hitter against Columbus in the International League Tuesday night.

The righthander had retired 11 in a row in the seven-inning game before Ben Downs stepped into the batter's box. The Columbus left fielder worked the count to 3-2 and Johnson lost him with a walk. Then the 25-year-old ex-Baltimore pitcher set down the next 10 men he faced.

It was the fifth victory against two defeats for Johnson and started the Maple Leafs on a doubleheader sweep as they reclaimed third place from the Jets with a 6-5 decision in the nightcap after losing nine of 12.

First-place Montreal continued to roll, defeating Richmond 6-3 while second-place Rochester stayed 2 1/2 games back as John Mackinson won his ninth without defeat 3-0 over Miami. Last-place Havana battered Buffalo 10-6.

Johnson struck out seven, including Downs and cleanup hitter Russ Sullivan in the last frame, to ease in after Lew Morton's two-run homer in the fifth off loser Art Ceccarelli. It was the third time the Jets had been no-hit in two seasons.

The second game was a nine-inning affair with Sam Jethroe and Mike Goliat each driving in two runs. Jethroe homered and tripled in five trips. John Hetki was the winner, Floyd Woodridge the loser.

Mackinson struck out eight and walked away only two, one intentionally, in his five-hitter against the Marlins while gaining his first shutout.

Richmond ganged up on southpaw Fred Kipp, making what probably was his last start for the Royals before moving up to the Brooklyn Dodgers, for two runs in the ninth.

Reliever Bobby Walz got a strike past Bob Kline on a 3-2 pitch with two out and the bases loaded. Three runs in the fifth against loser Niles Jordan packed it away for Montreal with Rocky Nelson, also headed for Brooklyn, hitting a two-run double.

Nino Escalera, with four RBIs, and Woody Smith each homered in Havana's 12-hit attack under

Second Annual O'Keefe's Golf Tournament To Be Held At Mt. Orford

$1,100 To Be At Stake For Pros In Three-Day Event In August; Special Prizes For Hole-In-One Features

MAGOG — The second annual O'Keefe's Open Golf Tournament will be held at the Mount Orford Golf and Country Club Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 3, 4 and 5, announced president Gil Ethier and Henri Lapointe, local representative for Canadian Breweries.

In releasing the statement the co-sponsors of the event said that the sum of $1,100 will be at stake for prizes for the professionals while special prizes will be up for the amateurs. The amateurs play on Friday and Saturday while Sunday is reserved strictly for the professionals.

A special attraction will be the sum offered for a hole-in-one made during the contest. The pros accomplishing the feat will pick up the tidy sum of $500 while any amateur will be given a special prize the value of $100.

This is the second staging of the tournament and President Ethier and his committee with the help of Mr. Lapointe hope to make it one of the outstanding golfing events of the Eastern Townships. It is open to all golfers, regardless of handicaps. The only restriction is that the amateurs must play on Friday and Saturday.

Prizes offered for the professional entries are: $350 for the first, $200 second, $150 third, $100 fourth, $75 fifth, $25 each for those placing sixth to thirteenth, $15 for the fourteenth, and $10 for the fifteenth.

Ernest Pouliot, of Magog, who is acting as publicist for the event, said that they expect to have fifty-five pro entries, and well over two hundred amateurs taking part in the three day event.

Sixty Professionals To Compete For Dow Trophy And $3,500; Local Pros To Take Part In Event Friday

Sixty pros and Class "A" assistants, the best shotmakers in the province, will be competing in the second annual Quebec Professional Championship at Marlborough Friday. The official draw was released yesterday by Jim Swarbrick, captain of the CPGA of Quebec and pro at Marlborough.

Among those entered in the 36-hole medal play tourney for $3,500 and the Dow Trophy are Stan Leonard and Pat Fletcher, two of Canada's better-known golfers.

Expected to draw most of the attention from the gallery is the threesome made up of Leonard, Bill Kerr and Jack Kay, and another composed of Fletcher, Jules Huot and Stan Horne. The veteran Huot will be seeking defence of the title he won last year when the Dow-sponsored tourney was held at Lachute.

Cubby Birse of the Sherbrooke Country Club is slated to play 8.44 in a threesome with Bill Glass and Bob Dean of Cornwall. Jim Fowles of Lennoxville will tee off at 9.05 with John MacPherson, of St. Johns, and Ray Haines, of Elm Ridge. Harry Fowles will play with Gerry Huot of Granby and Nick Besner of Bellevue. They will follow at 9.19 with the afternoon round booked for 1.34.

Hal Laycoe Is Interested In Taking Coaching Job With Minor Club And Bruins Willing To Help Him With It

MONTREAL — Hal Laycoe, veteran defenceman with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, will probably become a coach or player-coach with a minor league club next season.

Laycoe was something of a surprise visitor Tuesday at the annual NHL gatherings. But he wasn't talking, publicly at least.

General manager Lynn Patrick of the Bruins admitted Laycoe wasn't here as a tourist and said further the Bruins thought highly of him and would be willing to help him to a minor league coaching spot if Laycoe wanted it.

Victoria and New Westminster of the Western Hockey League were mentioned in grapevine talks as prospective bidders for Laycoe, Quebec Aces of the Quebec Hockey League will also be looking for a coach. Laycoe possibly could land there, but so far as known there was no indication the Aces had yet approached Patrick.

Laycoe, 34 years old this month, played in the NHL with New York Rangers, Montreal Canadiens and Boston. He hails from Sutherland, Sask., but now lives in suburban Boston.

Little more than a year ago he figured in the Rocket Richard affair. Montreal Canadiens' Rocket conked Laycoe with a stick, punched a linesman and wound up with a suspension for the three remaining NHL games of the season and all the Stanley Cup playoffs. Then came the big riot in Montreal Forum, a few nights after the affair in Boston Garden.

Western Hockey League Willing To Play Guinea Pig For One Rule Again This Year; Minor Penalty Is Change

MONTREAL — The Western Hockey League, willing guinea pig for one rule change last season, will try out another.

Next season the WHL will experiment with substitution when there are coincident penalties. If a player for each team is penalized at the same time, the club won't play five a side. Substitutes can be sent in.

The WHL last season tried out a rule that permits return of a player from a minor penalty if the opposition scores a goal. The National Hockey League rules committee agreed Tuesday to put this rule in practice in the major circuit next season. WHL representatives said the change worked out all right.

The new rule means a penalized player can return although only a few seconds may have elapsed between the two-minute penalty and a goal. The rule does not apply in case of a major penalty.

If two players of a club are in the penalty box when the opposition scores, the first penalized one returns. If there is another goal, the second returns.

If the rare case occurs of two players of the same club having been penalized at the same time, their coach would designate which returns first if a goal is scored.

Yanks Still Team To Beat But Are Not Impressive, Good Hitting But No Pitching, Says Manager Boudreau

NEW YORK — The Yankee bandwagon — the same one that carried almost every manager in the American League two short weeks ago — suddenly has become deserted.

Lou Boudreau, manager of the seventh-place Kansas City Athletics jumped off today.

"Yes," he mused, "I'll concede the Yanks still are the team to beat. But they are not going to make any runaway of it. Their pitching hasn't been impressive. They've gone into the lead mainly on good hitting."

Boudreau perhaps was the most surprised person Tuesday night when his club battered the Yanks, 7-4. Lou Kretlow, a pitcher who had beaten the Bombers only once before in his major league career, stopped them, with the aid of Bobby Shantz.

Like most of the other pilots, Boudreau thinks Detroit Tigers have snapped out of it after their poor start and are a club to be reckoned with.

"They impress me as a real contender," he said. "Bucky Harris' pitchers have been going well, and with guys like Al Kaline beginning to hit, they look like a solid all-around club."

Boudreau said he didn't consider his own club a contender. "We're admittedly building this year," he observed. "But we do have spirit and hustle and we'll prove a problem to some of the contenders."

Fifteen Players Drafted From Three Minor Circuits; Hawks And Rangers May Get Together To Swap Goalies

MONTREAL — (CP) — The National Hockey League's governors wind up the major circuit's annual summer meeting today with an agenda that includes consideration of a proposed new sponsorship arrangement.

For the last two days committees representing the NHL, American, Quebec and Western hockey leagues have been busy. The annual draft was held Tuesday and NHL clubs picked 15 players from the three minor circuits and the AHL drafted four from the QHL and WHL.

Speculation about deals picked up today with the presence of club owners for the final meetings. One of the most persistent reports has had it that goalie Harry Lumley may figure in a deal between Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers.

Within recent weeks the Hawks, tail-end team last season, have picked up players from Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens. Lumley was traded from the Leafs to the Hawks.

Acquisition of Lumley gives the Hawks three goalies, including Al Rollins and Hank Bassen. The Rangers already have two, Lorne Worsley and Johnny Bower. Rumors have it that there would be more than a swap of goalies if the Hawks and Rangers get together.

No one connected with the clubs would admit a deal is imminent but it is known that general manager Muzz Patrick of Rangers has always regarded Lumley highly. Also, since last season Worsley has had a knee operation.

It was problematical also whether any actual deals would be made known when today's meeting ends. Announcements may come later from the home cities of the clubs.

All clubs get a peek at each club's protected list today — 18 players in addition to two goalies. Any one not on the protected list can be snapped up for $15,000.

Representatives of all the pro leagues Tuesday talked over possible revisions in the joint affiliation agreement in effect among the four circuits.

One of the most important proposals came from the AHL. It would drastically change the method of sponsorship of amateur clubs, particularly junior A clubs.

Pro clubs now sponsor certain junior clubs and have rights to the players. Under the new proposal, professional hockey as a whole would look after sponsorship. It would be pooled sponsorship and the pros would contribute directly to development of players from minor leagues up.

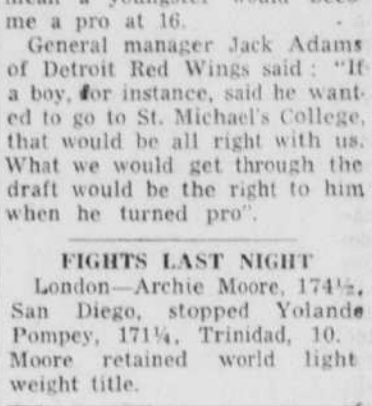

Youngsters eventually would move into pro hockey — if they wish to take a crack at it — through a universal draft. Choice would start with NHL teams, then AHL teams and finally the QHL and WHL. So long as players are chosen, the rounds of the draft would follow that order.

The proposal was also put forth that the age limit for signing players be dropped to 16 from 18. This wouldn't necessarily mean a youngster would become a pro at 16.

General manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings said: "If a boy, for instance, said he wanted to go to St. Michael's College, that would be all right with us. What we would get through the draft would be the right to him when he turned pro."

McDougald At Short Helps Block Big Hole

NEW YORK (AP) — For about three weeks after the season got under way, New York Yankees had one weak link in their armor—shortstop.

On May 3, Gil McDougald took over the position and, in the words of one veteran umpire, "made" the team.

McDougald had been a full-time second baseman and part-time third baseman with the Bombers, and when he performed at short-stop during the Yanks' trip to Japan last winter, almost no one took him seriously.

Manager Casey Stengel did, though, notwithstanding the fact that there were at least a half-dozen players battling for the spot.

As a second baseman last year, McDougald led the league defensively, and he could do the same thing as a shortstop this season. In the 29 games he has played at the position, he has made just two errors. And he's rolling along at his normal .275 batting clip.

Stengel gave the shortstop job to Jerry Lumpe at the start of the campaign only to see the youngster throw away a couple of games. Lumpe was demoted to the minors.
