Royal audience with Pope John

ROME (Reuters) — The Queen and Prince Philip today met Pope John at the Vatican. The Queen, temporal head of the Church of England, wore a long black gown and veil with a diamond tiara for the private audience in the throne room of the Vatican Palace.

It was the first time a reigning British sovereign had visited the pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church since 1923 when Elizabeth's grandfather, the late King George V, saw the late Pope Pius XI.

The Queen had a private audience with the late Pius XII 10 years ago while still a princess.

A crowd of about 10,000 watched the Queen and her husband drive in a closed car at the head of a motorcade across the boundary line between Italy and the 110-acre Vatican State. The sun shone brightly as they entered St. Peter's Square in the Vatican. Lined up in the square was a colorful group of papal troops.

The Queen wore the blue sash of the Order of the Garter while Philip was dressed in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet.

The Queen was accompanied in her car by Prince Leone Massimo, superintendent general of papal hosts. Prince Carlo Pacelli, a nephew of Pius XII and counsellor-general of Vatican State, welcomed her and her party.

The motorcade then crossed the huge piazza and halted in the wide courtyard of St. Damascus within the Pope's palace.

Fanfares of trumpets greeted Elizabeth. Top figures of the papal court welcomed her as she stepped from her car to inspect the guard and enter the Vatican Palace for the long procession to the throne room where Pope John waited.

Thursday she attended the 78th running of the Italian Derby at Rome's Capannelle race track.

Consider welfare measures

QUEBEC — Quebec's Legislative Assembly today was to start processing three social welfare bills.

The first bill would provide for an increase to $75 from $60 of the basic allowance to needy mothers who kept their child or children with them.

The second would provide for an assistance allowance of $65 a month, payable according to their needs, to widows and spinsters of 60 years or over. The bill also would provide an assistance allowance of $10 a month payable, according to needs, to those entitled to a disability, blind persons' or old age assistance allowance or to an old-age security pension.

The third would provide a $10-a-month family allowance system for children 16 and 17 years old still attending school.

The assembly adopted the 1961-62 estimates in five categories Thursday.

It adopted estimates for legislation amounting to $1,896,544 compared with $1,793,530 for the 1960-61 fiscal year, for the revenue department at $9,690,000 against $9,168,000, for the finance department at $3,529,000 against $2,333,200 and for the public debt at $25,132,000 against $22,347,117.

Estimates for the trade and commerce department at $3,397,500 against $3,000,000, study of which was started earlier, were also adopted.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States' first spaceman, Alan B. Shepard, rocketed briefly across the threshold of space today and landed safely.

The 5,100 mile-an-hour journey carried him 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

The pickup occurred at 10:53 a.m. EDT, 19 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 10:34.

The flight reached an altitude of about 115 miles and lasted 15 minutes.

The 37-year-old navy commander's good condition was evident throughout the flight when Shepard reported such things as:

"What a beautiful sight!" in describing the earth below.

He radioed back that he could see the outline of the entire east coast of the United States.

"EVERYTHING OK"

Throughout the rest of the journey, he said everything was "OK."

Ships, planes and helicopters raced to attempt recovery of the astronaut when his cabin plopped into the water.

Shepard immediately was transferred to the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain, flagship of a seven-vessel recovery fleet.

Crew members of the Lake Champlain were told not to speak to the astronaut. Doctors and psychologists wanted him to tell his story without having it colored by ideas conveyed to him on his return.

BACK IN RACE

The successful shot appeared to put the United States back into the space race with Russia.

Soviet scientists copied the first prize 23 days ago when they boosted the world's first space traveller, Yuri Gagarin, into a 188-mile-high orbit and returned him to earth.

Simulate nuclear warfare

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sirens screamed today as mythical aircraft dropped — in theory only — hundreds of nuclear bombs on Canada's major cities.

Only the sirens were real, but the giant exercise Tocsin which they heralded was deadly serious for thousands of civil defence workers and government leaders across the country.

Political leaders — including some premiers — raced to provincial "wartime" headquarters to map the survival of the country at the outbreak of nuclear war.

Tocsin—the alarm bell—was rung to help national survival experts determine whether organized government can survive and continue operations after a major nuclear assault.

Civil defence officials remembered as they worked in the urgency of an "unreal" attack that the five-megaton nuclear bomb, the nominal weapon of war today, has the destructive force of 5,000,000 tons of TNT.

COULD CRIPPLE CITY

One of these bombs could cripple the average Canadian city and kill thousands.

Slow typist given choice

PENZANCE, England (AP) — The slow, haphazard girl typist had her choice, the boss testified in his defence Thursday: she would be fired for slovenly work or take a spanking across his knee.

She replied she didn't want to be dismissed so, said company director Kenneth Norman Harvey, 45, he spanked her.

The girl, 16, and unidentified by name in court, said he told her afterward, "don't go back into the office making a fuss and don't tell anyone about it."

He was fined £20 ($36) for common assault.

Killed her mate

LONDON (AP) — Fifi, the Whipsnade Zoo's female hippopotamus, killed her 5,000-pound mate Neville, Thursday, and then gave birth to an 85-pound bull calf. Fifi, who weighs 4,500 pounds herself, apparently was made irritable by the approaching birth. She broke Neville's back.

Sails stern first

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The royal flagship Wasa made her first and only successful voyage in her 333-year history Thursday. She sailed stern first under tow for several hundred yards through Stockholm Harbor. The 1,400-ton man-of-war sank in the harbor on her maiden voyage in 1628 during a storm. The ship was raised last month.

Death fall only 25 feet

Navy balloonist dies after setting record

WASHINGTON (AP) — A navy medical officer soared higher than man has ever gone in a balloon—113,500 feet up — and then met a tragic death in a 25-foot fall from a rescuing helicopter.

LT-Comdr. Victor Prather, 34, fell backward from the sling of the helicopter that had picked him up Thursday in the Gulf of Mexico. He died aboard the carrier Antietam 7½ hours after he and Comdr. Malcolm Ross soared to their record height.

Ross was lifted to the carrier by one of three hovering rescue helicopters without injury.

Shortly before reaching maximum altitude, Ross, the pilot, had radioed the carrier that he could see the Atlantic on the other side of Florida.

LAUNCHED FROM CARRIER

The huge plastic balloon had been launched from the carrier's flight deck off the mouth of the Mississippi. It reached its maximum altitude of 21½ miles two hours and 36 minutes later.

The balloon ran into trouble on descent. When the balloonists had dropped to an altitude of about 40,000 feet the rate suddenly and alarmingly had increased to 1,000 feet a minute.

Prather, father of two, and Ross, jettisoned everything including their radio and a drag line which would have been a key facility in an attempt to land aboard the carrier. Loss of the drag line made the planned landing on the carrier impossible.

Navy officials reported the gondola landed on the water "almost perfectly" and that the huge balloon detached itself as it had been designed to do. While the gondola floated on the surface, about 1½ miles from the Antietam, the three helicopter fliers toward the balloonists.

FELL FROM SLING

As Prather was being hoisted into the helicopter he fell from the sling. He was encumbered with a spacesuit and instrumentation weighing about 25 pounds.

A navy statement said Prather fell backward into the water and went under when the pressurized suit apparently became water-logged. Prather died aboard the carrier 80 minutes after being pulled out of the water.

This was the ninth major high altitude balloon flight for Ross, 41, who added to his record of more than 100 hours in the upper atmosphere. For Prather, it was only his third balloon flight.

The previous record for open-gondola balloon flight was 102,800 feet, set by air force Capt. Joseph Kittinger in August, 1960.

Non-ops stick to demands

MONTREAL (CP) — CPR President N. R. Crump and CNR President Donald Gordon said Thursday night they offered the non-operating railway unions a three-year contract but could not reach an agreement on its terms.

The joint statement issued by the two presidents several hours after the settlement of the rail dispute was announced made it clear the railways and the unions will be back in negotiations over a new contract before the year is out.

The statement said the railways proposed a three-year contract offering a total 14-cent-an-hour wage increase.

The unions stuck to their demands that the 14 cents be given over a two-year period retroactive to Jan. 1, 1960, in line with the recommendations of the Milvain conciliation board.

For the third year of the proposed contract they demanded a further 10 cents hourly, making a total of 24 cents.

COST GIVEN

"In round figures the unions' proposal would result in an added cost to the railways of $27,000,000 a year . . . The railways had no alternative but to refuse this exorbitant demand," the statement said.

"The unions were unquestionably determined to enforce their strike call for May 16 next regardless of the consequences . . ."

"In the result, if a nationwide strike were to be avoided, we had no alternative but to accept the Milvain recommendations despite the fact we completely disagree with the reasoning contained in the report."

"It is only fair to say that the public will have to realize that the power of these unions cannot be resisted by the railways so long as existing legislation gives no protection against arbitrary action on their part."

Prepare election

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey's constituent assembly approved a new constitution Thursday night in preparation for general elections expected not later than this fall. The constitution—described by political observers as "democratic and liberal as a whole"—must be approved by the ruling 23-man military junta which governs Turkey.

Constable is killed

MONTREAL (CP) — Constable Marcel Lacombe, 44, a veteran of 20 years with the Montreal police force, was shot to death early today by a rifle-wielding youth who was released from jail only two days ago.

The 17-year-old was arrested May 2 for possession of a rifle. He was released the next day and the rifle returned to him.

Today, police sources said, he apparently returned to the main police station in downtown Montreal and took the elevator to the fifth floor detention cells where he asked to speak to another prisoner.

When Constable Lacombe, who was on duty on the floor, told him to leave the youth reportedly took the rifle from a box and fired point-blank.

Constable Lacombe, the father of three children, died shortly after.

His wife reported today there is nothing seriously wrong, adding: "Brendan is in good form, but it's a good idea to have him spend three or four days in the hospital — whatever the doctors say."

Behan, who came to San Francisco for his play, The Hostage, recently spent some time in a Toronto hospital, and doctors warned him that his next drink might be his last.

6-man truce team in no-man's land

By BRYAN DOODY
VIENTIANE (Reuters) — A six-man government military delegation flew into the no man's land near rebel front lines today in a bid to arrange details of a general cease-fire in this Buddhist kingdom's jungle war.

The delegation, headed by Gen. Sing Rattanasamay, the inspector-general of the Laotian armed forces, was flown in an American-piloted helicopter to the village of Hin Heup, the scene of earlier contacts between government and left-wing negotiators.

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the defence minister and strongman in the government, proposed the meeting Thursday. He said the military delegation took off that he had not received a reply to his proposal but that he was hopeful the mission would be successful.

He said he hoped the delegation would return to Vientiane later today.

FIRE ON TROOPS

Phoumi charged Thursday that pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas had ignored a cease-fire order broadcast by their leaders and opened fire on government troops north of the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

He also claimed that rebel troop movements were continuing along the Nam Ou and Nam-soung rivers north of Luang Prabang.

Phoumi said the cease-fire had been "carried out and strictly observed" on the government side. But, he said, the leftist attack north of Luang Prabang "makes it seem that opposition forces respect neither orders nor advice."

Two government soldiers and a civilian were wounded in a gunfight 10 miles east of Vientiane early today. Reports here said they were ambushed but it was not known whether the attackers were Pathet Lao guerrillas or bandits.

SENTENCED FOR SPYING

— British diplomat George Blake, 33, pleaded guilty in London May 3 to spying for Russia since he emerged from Communist North Korean captivity eight years ago. Blake was serving as vice consul in Korea when invading North Koreans interned him in July, 1950. He was sentenced to 42 years in prison — the sternest such sentence ever imposed in British peacetime history.

Britain-USSR agree on Laos commission

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain and Russia have agreed to instruct the international control commission for Laos, now meeting in New Delhi, to go to the Indochina kingdom immediately a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the text of an Anglo-Soviet reply to last weekend's communication from the control commission might be delivered in New Delhi today.

The agreement was reached at a meeting Thursday in Moscow between British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin.

Britain and Russia are acting in the Laotian dispute as co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference which ended the Indochina war and set up the Laos commission.

The British spokesman said at today's press conference here: "Sir Frank Roberts had a talk with Mr. Pushkin yesterday. The meeting was satisfactory and we believe that the international commission should now be able to return to Laos in the very near future."

Trial hears of 'death Commandos'

JERUSALEM (AP) — The terror of the "einsatzgruppen," the Nazi death commandos who rounded up the Jews during the war for bloody massacres, was resurrected today by prosecution witnesses in the trial of Adolf Eichmann.

He said the report spoke of killing more than 100,000 Jews as if it were "speaking of the canning of sardines or of herding."

Four survived

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Indian Defence Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said today an Indian Air Force Dakota aircraft, missing since last Monday, was found in the Himalayan foothills near Lamora. Four of the nine persons aboard have survived.

Attorney-General Gideon Hausner told the court he had evidence that "Eichmann's department was in the very center of this plan."

An official report on the einsatzgruppen activities in the Baltic, made by Eichmann's "old friend" Franz Walter Stahlbecker, was introduced by Hausner.

Eleazar Kashat testified on atrocities in Latvia, where Stahlbecker was in charge. He said 5,000 Jews were shot the day after the Germans occupied Riga, the Latvian capital. Kashat said a woman who had survived an einsatzgruppen massacre told him:

"Those who were lucky got a bullet and those who were not of lucky fell into the pit and most of them suffocated."

Kashat told the court that out of 100,000 Jews in all of Latvia, only 800 survived.

Died of asphyxiation

Death of Richmond girl, 5 ruled accidental by jury

RICHMOND — (Special) — A verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation was returned by a coroner's jury here Thursday in the February 19 death of five-year-old Linda Chady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Chady, Richmond.

The jury, presided over by St. Francis District Coroner Dr. Georges Letendre of Danville, returned the verdict after less than two minutes of deliberation.

First to testify was Mr. Chady, 44, who gave details of his afternoon's activities and told of arriving home about 5 p.m. to find Linda apparently dead in the bath tub and his wife asleep on a bed.

He said he tried to awaken Mrs. Chady but she appeared to be in a semi-conscious state.

HUNTING RABBITS, NOT DEER, FARMER IS ACQUITTED

A Coleraine farmer, Omer Grenier, 48, was freed of charges of violating the Fish and Game laws Thursday, when he appeared in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions before Judge Joseph Marier.

Grenier was charged with hunting deer out of season, but he testified he had been hunting rabbits — in season at the time specified in the charge.

He said the men he had been accompanying for a time had shot a deer later, after he left them.

Judge Marier ruled that a person may accompany another or others who are hunting deer out of season without necessarily committing an offence.

Crown Prosecutor Benoit Turmel, told the jury that she had been very tired and nervous on the day of her daughter's death.

After her husband left in the afternoon, she started to prepare her two small daughters for an afternoon bath and nap, she said.

Before starting, however, she said she took a number of pills with a barbiturate base and consumed a small glass of liquor. After that she could remember nothing until her husband attempted to awake her in the evening, she said.

"Did you ever have any intention of killing yourself?" asked Prosecutor Turmel.

"No, never," replied Mrs. Chady.

Medico-legal expert Dr. Jean-Paul Valcourt testified that an autopsy performed the day after the girl's death showed that she died of asphyxiation caused by food particles lodged in her windpipe.

The body showed no signs of violence and there was no evidence of foul play.

He also noted that the pills and liquor which Mrs. Chady had consumed could render a person unconscious for 24 hours.

Considers driving case

The case of Jean-Marie Maurice 29, of St. Claude near Windsor, charged with driving while his faculties were impaired by alcohol, was taken under deliberation by Judge Joseph Marier in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday.

Maurice was arrested by P.P.P. Officer Conrad Leach in Windsor April 29 and was brought to Sherbrooke to undergo a medical examination. The examining physician, Dr. Roland Gauthier, testified that Maurice was inebriated at the time of the examination.

Officer Leach testified that he was called into the case by Windsor municipal police after they found Maurice asleep in the cab of a truck parked on Main Street and were unable to awaken him.

Maurice testified that he had parked his truck on Main Street because he thought it had run out of gas. He said he phoned a friend in St. Claude to bring him some gas. The friend informed him that he would not be able to do so for a couple of hours, Maurice said.

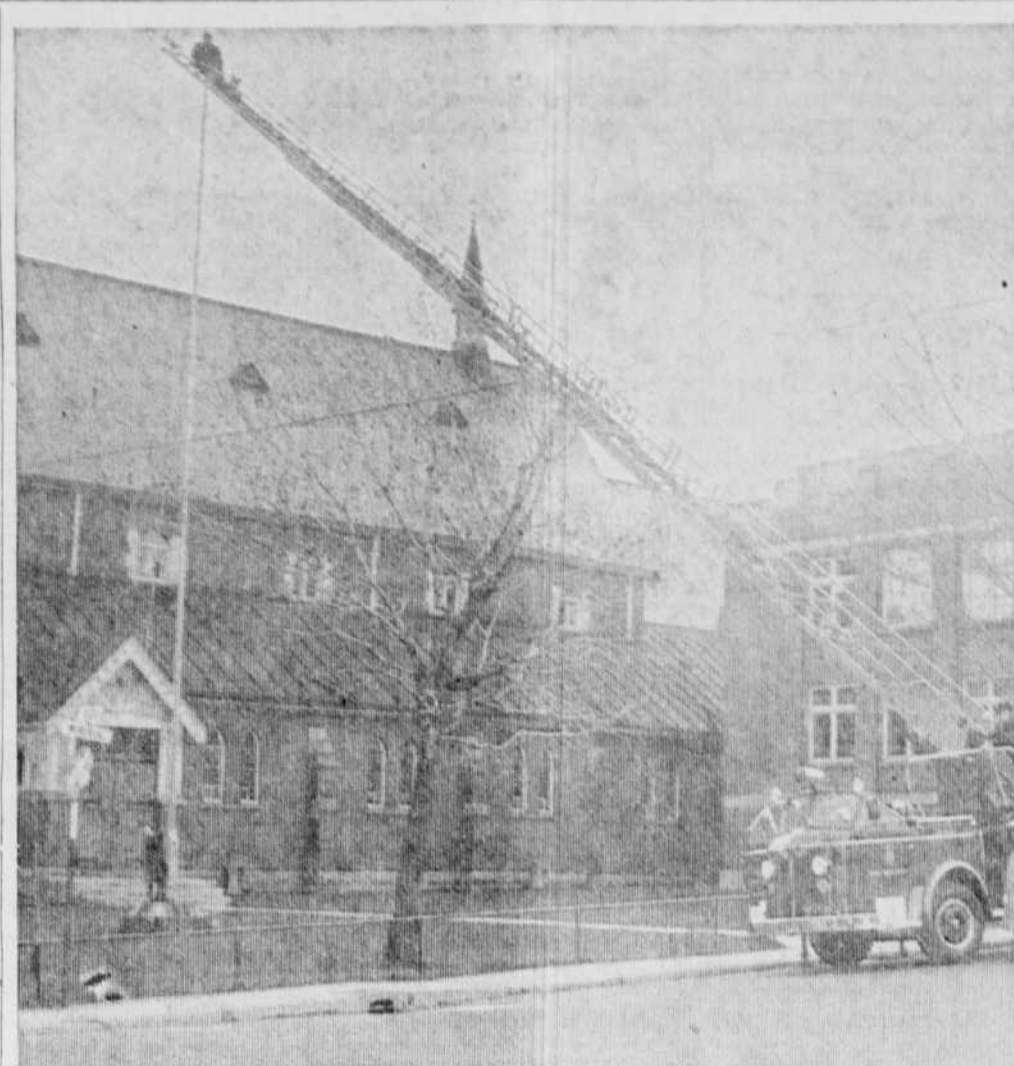

"I had a cold, so I went in the hotel and had two hot gins," he said, "then went back to my truck and went to sleep."

Attorney Paul Gervais based his defence on the fact that Maurice was not driving when he was arrested, that he was not behind the wheel and that testimony showed that Maurice had no intention of driving the truck immediately since he thought it was out of gas.

Sherbrooke court cases

Youth damages city property, is given a suspended sentence

An 18-year-old Sherbrooke youth who pleaded guilty last April 14 to a charge of causing more than $30 in damage to city and private property was given a suspended sentence when he appeared before Judge Joseph Marier in a Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Thursday.

Frederick Hurley admitted at his first appearance that he had wilfully broken two traffic lamps, valued at $15, and two spot lights also valued at $15 and owned by Donat Chartier. The offences occurred between March 21 and April 1 of this year.

At that time Judge Marier advised him to pay for the damage he had caused and remanded his sentencing to Thursday.

A charge against an East Angus man of driving an unregistered vehicle was dismissed by Judge Joseph Marier in Court of Sessions Thursday.

after the defendant presented proof that he had applied to Quebec for his license plates on February 8 but had not received them until six weeks later.

Albert Godbout was stopped by Provincial Police on March 13 and received his license plates on March 22.

He showed Judge Marier a receipt for a money order made out to the Quebec Motor Vehicle Service in payment for his license and dated February 8. The money order was cashed February 13.

A Katevale man who was arrested last February 3 and charged with criminally negligent driving was acquitted in Court of Sessions Friday.

Quebec Provincial Police Officer Donald Begin, 32, told Judge Joseph Marier that he had stopped Denis Choquette, 25, Katevale, after following Choquette's car for a short distance near Omerville and observing it swerve to the left-hand side of the road twice.

A second Q.P.P. officer, Ernest Breton, Drummondville, testified that on the same night he met a car fitting the description of that driven by Choquette near Sherbrooke.

Breton said that he had been nearly forced off the road in order to avoid colliding with the other car which had swerved onto the left-hand side of the road.

Since he was off-duty at the time and driving his own car, he informed the local Q.P.P. office of the incident and did not attempt to stop the other car.

Both officers testified that Choquette's car was travelling at a normal speed at all times. Choquette testified that he had consumed two bottles of beer during the evening and that he was driving his girlfriend home.

Involved in series of thefts

City police arrest 3 fugitive youths

A Sherbrooke municipal police detective Thursday helped arrest three youths, reported to have escaped recently from the Shawbridge correctional institution, and believed involved in a rash of burglaries, stolen car cases and break-ins through the Eastern Townships over the past few days.

The trio was spotted cruising the city in a car which proved to be a stolen taxi cab from Montreal, Sherbrooke police Capt. Armand Genest said.

The detective—not named—saw the car, apparently a taxi—had no dome light.

He stopped the youths and asked for the car registration. When they could not produce it, a check was made and the car proved stolen.

They were immediately turned over to Provincial police in Sherbrooke who jailed them until picked up by a Montreal QPP hold-up squad detective.

The three are believed involved in break-ins in the Rock Island-Stanstead-Beebe district, as well as some in cottages on Lake Memphrémagog, and stolen car cases.

First a car was stolen Tuesday in Montreal and driven to Beebe where another car was stolen and damaged before being abandoned.

A third car was stolen and believed driven to Ayer's Cliff where it was reported seen.

In Ayer's Cliff, McHarg's hardware store was broken into, but no theft has been reported. Later a break-in at the Pigalle Restaurant showed

He also spoke on the modern methods used today for fighting various types of fires, such as gas, oil, etc., and said there is great need in the Boundary Villages for an extension ladder to reach high buildings and to fight fire from atop a structure.

Canada and China

Having fully recognized China in the market place Canada must now follow through.

She must recognize that country diplomatically and she must lend her support to future proposals for her recognition by the United Nations.

Recognition would in no way mean that Canada condones China or her policies any more or less than we condoned those of Soviet Russia. But any future opposition to recognition must now rest on purely emotional or academic grounds.

Few in Canada were critical of Canada's decision to sell $362,000,000 worth of grain to China; few would be justified in taking exception to this logical consequence.

External affairs minister Green has already conceded that the grain deal and Canada's future attitude to Red China are 'inter-related'. They are more than that, they are inseparable.

To a considerable degree the economies of Canada and Red China are to be 'inter-related' for the next few years at least. And we would be very foolish indeed if we were not to avail ourselves of the considerable advantages to be achieved through full diplomatic representation in that country.

And once we recognize Red China and exchange diplomatic missions with her there will be no justification for our opposing her recognition by the United Nations.

Eat the honey but not the bee

The expression may not be original but certainly the Income Tax Appeal Board in a judgment this week could not have voiced more appropriate sentiments when it advised tax collectors that "You can eat the honey but not the bee."

The Board was rejecting an effort by the National Revenue Department to tax profits made by two Montreal men on the sale of property as income and not capital gains.

With the current high rate of taxation on private and corporation incomes, the only means whereby a Canadian can amass any substantial amount of extra capital is through the fortuitous purchase of assets which may increase in capital value over a period of years. The Income Tax Act specifically admits this by exempting capital gains from tax levies. But over-zealous tax collectors have sought to circumvent the exemptions by ruling that more and more transactions represented normal business operations and were therefore taxable rather than being capital operations.

Apparently impressed by the fable of the busy bee, the Tax Appeal Board commented the tax collectors were eating more and more of the honey, but warned against eating the bee which produced the honey.

Canada needs large sums for investments in its growing economy and it is preferable that as much as possible of this money be found within the country. But it is unlikely if any substantial amount can be accumulated if the tax collectors remove all incentives to speculative or semi-speculative investment.

Investment logic

A short time ago a dear old lady called on the Toronto Better Business Bureau to complain about lack of promised dividends on a security she had purchased.

Upon investigation, the Bureau officials found out the whole scheme in which she had invested was a fraud.

"Why didn't you consult us first?" the Bureau officials asked. "We might have saved your money for you."

"I know," said the old lady, "but it sounded so good I was afraid you wouldn't let me buy it."

WON AND LOST

(Windsor Star)

War in the Arctic is a possibility for the future. Major-General G. Kitching, C.B.E., D.S.O., C.D., of the Canadian Joint Staff, told a London, England, audience that if there is a third world war, it might not be won in the Canadian Arctic, but it is up to Canadian security chiefs to make sure the war is not lost there.

The Arctic route to North America is becoming more common all the time. Planes fly over the roof of the world on regular passenger flights.

There would be a real sensation if Canada woke up some morning to find the Russians had established bases in the Canadian polar regions.

It could happen.

Caught without bomb shelter?

New book outlines means for survival

By JAMES NELSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Survival of people caught on the fringe of a nuclear blast without proper fallout shelters may depend on precautions outlined in a booklet published today by the Emergency Measures Office.

The booklet, entitled Self-Survival, is the second issued by the federal agency which coordinates civil defence measures to meet a national disaster. Its first told how to build a basement fallout shelter and another is expected soon on building a garden shelter.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker says in an introduction that despite all the efforts of peace-minded nations to prevent war and maintain defences to deter aggression, "nuclear war is possible either by the intended actions of evil madmen, or by miscalculation."

While death and destruction may be heavy, "many hundreds of thousands of Canadians who would otherwise perish could survive a nuclear war if preparations are made," he adds.

The booklet urges all Canadians to begin 11-step survival plans now for themselves and their families.

"Hope and pray that you will never have to put your family plan into actual operation, but if you do, remember that your chances of survival are much greater than if you had done nothing."

The booklet, to be distributed to the public through provincial civil defence organizations, says the greatest danger is from fallout, but protection can be improvised in a home basement.

Fallout drops like snow on everything exposed to it. Its radioactivity, which fades away as time passes, can penetrate most substances. A properly built shelter is therefore the best protection.

The most likely target areas in Canada, the booklet says, might be St. John's, Nfld., Halifax, Saint John, N.B., Quebec City, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Niagara Falls, Windsor, Ont., Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria.

It outlines the siren warnings to be used in many communities—a long steady note for "alert," and a rising and falling wail for "take cover." In some areas, telephones and bells may be used and the warning signals explained locally.

Wherever a person is, he will need a battery-operated radio to receive broadcast signals. The "all clear" will be given only by radio. Extra batteries should be stored and the set tested for reception inside the shelter.

Food and water supplies for 14 days should be kept on hand. The booklet says that fallout could be the greatest danger to the largest number of Canadians because it can travel so far on the wind and cover such a large area. Even if Canada were not hit directly, bombs exploding in the United States could result in serious fallout in many parts of Canada.

For those who lack a fallout shelter but have a basement in their homes, it advises:

"Block your basement windows with earth, bricks, concrete blocks, books or even bundles of newspapers.

"On the floor above the corner of the basement you select as your refuge area, pile any heavy objects you may have available—for example, bricks, trunks filled with clothes, books and, if at the right time of year, even earth from outside."

For those without a fallout shelter or basement, it advises:

"Go to that part of the house (centre hall or clothes closet) which will keep you the greatest distance from the fallout dust accumulating on the roof and ground. If there is time, you could increase your protection by piling books, trunks, dressers as deeply and as high as you can."

Persons caught in a likely target area without a blast shelter could build a lean-to in their homes with such objects as bed springs, boards, work benches, heavy tables and mattresses.

"Or you could, if you had sufficient warning of attack, dig yourself a trench in the yard—not too close to any buildings which could collapse into it."

But these people, if they survived the blast and heat of the explosion, still would have to find other protection against the later fallout. Those five to 15 miles from the centre of the explosion would have about half an hour before fallout started coming down.

However, the booklet strongly advises building a proper shelter.

"If you stay in a shelter during the first days after an explosion, you escape the strongly because of the weather.

But Rev. E. J. Roche, registrar at St. Dunstan's University, Charlottetown, says the job picture on Prince Edward Island is always desperate.

"Students seeking employment have to leave the island and seek jobs in New Brunswick or Nova Scotia. Some find jobs but many return without any luck."

For many, a summer job spells the difference between returning to university in the fall and quitting altogether, says B. G. Wells, placement officer at the University of Western Ontario. Even some who do find work may not earn enough money to get through another year.

Engineers heading into the north can earn up to $500 a month—with nowhere to spend it until they return to class.

For some 1,300 who find employment at railway resort hotels in the Rockies, the pay is between $80 and $100 a month with room and board provided. Tips fatten the amount considerably.

At the University of Toronto, students are encouraged to try for jobs associated with courses they are taking. The trend, says J. K. Bradford, director of placement, is away from menial work such as ditch-digging.

Most Toronto students have a chance to take on selling jobs on commission but they're unattractive because "the company takes no risk on a straight commission basis," Mr. Bradford says.

"We usually get a lot of these jobs offered, especially when the economic climate is like it is today. These firms have the impression that students will accept the jobs because they are finding trouble getting better jobs."

Michael Ansoski, a national employment officer working with Montreal students, says many employers aren't committing themselves yet—partly because of business uncertainty, better jobs."

George Beck, placement officer at Dalhousie University, Halifax, says "more jobs are open in the hotel and resort field than in any other single field."

Forestry students at the University of New Brunswick have good chances of getting work in their field, particularly those in third or fourth years. Freshmen foresters aren't as fortunate.

In Quebec, the provincial government has a special committee working with students seeking government jobs for the summer. About 2,000 jobs are open—600 of them in forest camps. Basic pay ranges from $150 to $300 a month.

For 30 third-year medical students at Laval University, their summer work is far afield—in Ceylon and Southeast Asia. They are going there as part of Canada's contribution to Medico, a charitable scheme. The federal government pays their fare and the provincial government puts up $200 a month to cover living expenses.

A few medical students at McGill are heading north instead of abroad—as first-aid men in construction and lumber camps.

Out west, engineers have the best hopes of landing vacation employment.

Job opportunities in general have tapered off for students, says one Winnipeg official of the National Employment Service.

He calls it a "matter of prime concern," with more than 10,000 Prairie students registered for work so far.

At Saskatoon, Bill Fayder of the National Employment Service says employment prospects are favorable for University of Saskatchewan graduates but not as good for undergrads seeking temporary jobs.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TRUMP LEADS SET SOUTH

Here is another hand where the bidding was the same at both tables and would also have been the same in almost any normal bridge game.

At one table West decided that heroic measures were called for and opened his singleton diamond. After a low card from dummy East played the ten and South won with the jack.

A low heart was won by West's ace and West led a trump. South won in his hand; ruffed a heart; came back to his hand with a club; ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump; ruffed a club to get back to his own hand; drew trumps and conceded a diamond for five odd and plus 650.

At the other table West opened a trump. South won in his own hand and led a heart. West took his ace and led a second trump.

South won that trick; ruffed one heart in dummy; led a diamond and finessed the jack; drew trumps and eventually lost two diamond tricks to wind up down one and minus 100 for a net loss of 13 IMPs.

The man who led the trump is certainly to be congratulated on his lead. Of course, South could have still made the hand by finessing the nine of diamonds, but South was not looking at all the cards.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 Club Dble Redble 1 Spade
Pass Pass 2 Spades Pass
2 N.T. Pass ?

You, South, hold:
Spades A-8-7, Hearts K-Q-J-4,
Diamonds A-2, Clubs J-8-3-2.
What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. You have 15 points, but your hand is balanced and a slam appears most unlikely.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump over two hearts your partner has bid three clubs. What do you do now?

NATION IN THE NEWS Sierra Leone

The Place

Area — 28,000 square miles.

Capital—(About the size of New Brunswick) Freetown (port). (Population 64,576.)

Terrain — A hilly land covered with dense bush and jungle.

Climate — Hot and wet. Tornadoes are common. Annual rainfall ranges upward from 150 inches.

Chief Products — Palm oil, palm kernels, cola nuts and ginger. There are immense forests of teak, ebony and rosewood. The mining of iron ore is increasing. Some of the world's largest diamonds—one of 770 carats.

Sierra Leone's is essentially a subsistence economy based on rice grown either on upland slopes or in swamps and estuaries. Dry rice cultivation quickly exhausts the soil. Efforts are being made to expand the number of crops and improve primitive techniques.

Sierra Leone is really two areas: the moderately-developed area of the old colony, about 256 square miles around Freetown, population 130,000; and the undeveloped protectorate area, largely under tribal rule.

The country was settled in 1787 by Britain as a haven for escaped slaves. It was once known as the White Man's Grave because of tropical diseases — especially sleeping sickness — which are now being controlled by medical and sanitary advances.

Cape Canaveral man-in-space launching site

Rocket on pad ready to go. Astronaut enters capsule by way of gantry elevator before gantry is withdrawn.

"Everything O K"

108 minutes later. Today's suborbital shot was a major step toward orbiting an American, which the national space agency plans to do later this year.

The purpose of today's flight was to determine whether man can perform useful chores in space.

Shepard proved conclusively it could be done.

He reported constantly throughout the flight that he was able to do certain tasks, such as pushing levers and buttons and operating manual controls.

REPORTED ALL WAY

All the way through he told the control centre at Cape Canaveral by radio that everything was okay.

During the flight, Mercury officials said Shepard was reporting facts and figures as a test pilot normally would.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration made this official announcement:

"Test No. 108 is terminated. This was the pioneer U.S. man in space flight. The Mercury spacecraft is on the deck of the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain and the helicopter is about to land. Shepard is about to come out of helicopter."

Shepard's reports on the "beautiful view" came only three minutes following launch, after a periscope in the capsule protruded to give the space pilot a view of the earth.

ENTERED AT 6:18

Shepard had entered his space cabin at 6:18 a.m. after a final medical examination and a breakfast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs, sherbet and peaches. He remained there four hours, 18 minutes, during a countdown that had been delayed several times by technical troubles and weather.

The slender rocket, stretching 33 feet tall with the capsule and 15½-foot escape tower on top, flew a true course as it knifed into a clear sky before the anxious eyes of thousands.

Millions of others watched on live television.

As the missile accelerated, forces six times the pull of gravity pushed the astronaut against his couch.

ESCAPE TOWER OFF

At 141 seconds after launch, the capsule separated and the escape tower — designed to jerk the capsule free and parachute it safely to earth in case of trouble — was jettisoned.

Automatic controls then flipped the nine-foot tall capsule over 180 degrees so the blunt heat shield faced the way with the pilot riding backwards.

About four minutes after launch, Shepard tumbled, as though over a precipice, into a weird and weightless world — an exhilarating experience that lasted about five minutes.

Riding a column of orange exhaust fire, the Redstone rose into a hazy sky in view of thousands watching from nearby beaches and untold numbers of others glued to television sets.

As the rocket blasted off, two F-106 jet planes zipped over the Cape. At the controls were two other members of the astronaut team, Walter Schirra and Scott Carpenter.

They were to observe the launch from above and then speed to the recovery area to watch operations there. The rocket shot into a large cloud hanging over the Cape briefly, then the exhaust flame diminished until it became a pinpoint in the sky.

A buff 140 seconds later indicated the booster burned out as planned.

WORKING OKAY

The astronaut reported the fuel system was functioning properly.

At the time of launch, Shepard had been in the space cabin four hours and 16 minutes, all but 52 minutes in isolation.

The launch originally was scheduled for 8 a.m. EDT but was held up several times for weather and technical reasons.

The pilot reported he was switching to manual control.

"What a beautiful view," he said. He reported partial cloud cover obscuring the view up to Cape Hatteras.

At two minutes and 10 seconds after launch the medical monitor at the control centre reported the pilot's condition appeared to be excellent.

FIRE ROCKETS

The pilot then began the process of firing his reverse rockets.

"Everything very smooth," he reported.

The No. 1 reverse thrust rocket fired and the second and third retro-rockets fired.

The pilot prepared to jettison the retro-rocket gear. The control centre reported excellent voice communication with the pilot and said medical reports were satisfactory.

The retro-rocket packet attached to the capsule was jettisoned.

The Mission Mercury control centre reported after the mission was six minutes and 40 seconds old that Shepard was reported in the normal procedure of test pilot — with the automatic control system operating properly.

The spacecraft began to enter the atmosphere and pilot reported the beginning of gravity pressure.

At peak gravity forces he still reported all well.

Pilot reported he was at 30,000 feet on the way down.

The pilot talked to Grand Bahama Island and they were readying him.

First parachute out.

Pilot reports all systems in the capsule OK.

Control centre says pilot OK as he approaches the Atlantic.

The main parachute now has been deployed.

The capsule was floating in the water 600 seconds from lift off.

COMING IN

Shepard reported from 7,000 feet and coming in for landing.

Communications at this point were reported a "little rough."

Control centre people said they expected this.

Recovery forces downrange reported seeing the capsule.

The pilot reported he was coming down 30 feet a second.

The minutes of the April meeting were read and approved and the treasurer gave her report. A pointed humorous poem was read by Mrs. G. Young.

After the singing of another hymn, a chapter of the study book "The Ship Under the Cross" was read, and the president then dedicated the offering.

It was decided to respond to the appeal of the Temperance League for funds, by holding a Food Sale in the summer and sending the proceeds to this organization.

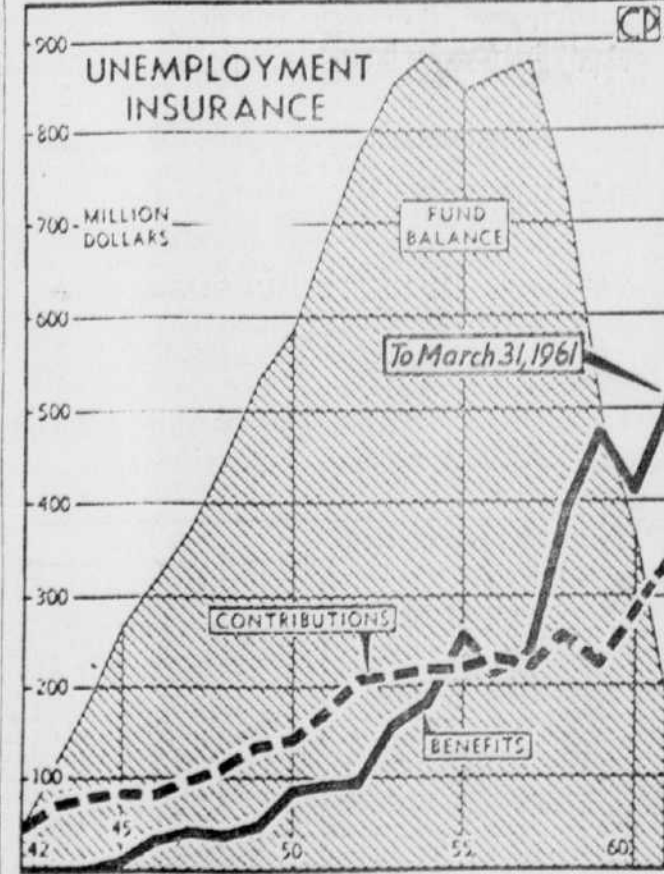

The news letters for Associate Members which were ordered had arrived and were ready for distribution. It was moved by Mrs. Purdy, seconded by Mrs. Marshall that the bill for these newsletters be paid.

Delegates appointed to the Presbyterial meeting on May 9 in St. Paul's United Church, Waterloo were Mrs. J. Noble and Mrs. Marshall.

It was moved by Mrs. Marshall, seconded by Mrs. O. Young that the meeting be adjourned, and a basket lunch was then enjoyed by all.

The Record's Farm Report

Ottawa politicians are not happy these days. Events beyond their control are pushing them around, forcing them to test public opinion rather than take a clear stand on big issues. The reason: a federal election looms on the horizon but opinion polls show an increasing number of voters uncommitted in their party allegiance.

The uncertainty of voters also indicates their views on policy are in flux. So all parties are floating out new tests planks hoping the doubtful voters will settle on theirs.

The Liberals have gone farthest in this. Mr. Walter Gordon, head of that party's policy committee has in the last few weeks brought out leftward-moving plans for government spending and welfare that approach the old CCF policy. But little of Mr. Gordon's views are heard in the House from the Opposition led by Mr. Pearson. The House Liberals seem quite loath to depart from the safe anti-inflationary policies of the other Walter, ex-finance minister Harris. Mr. Gordon's policies could still be rejected by the Liberal stalwarts.

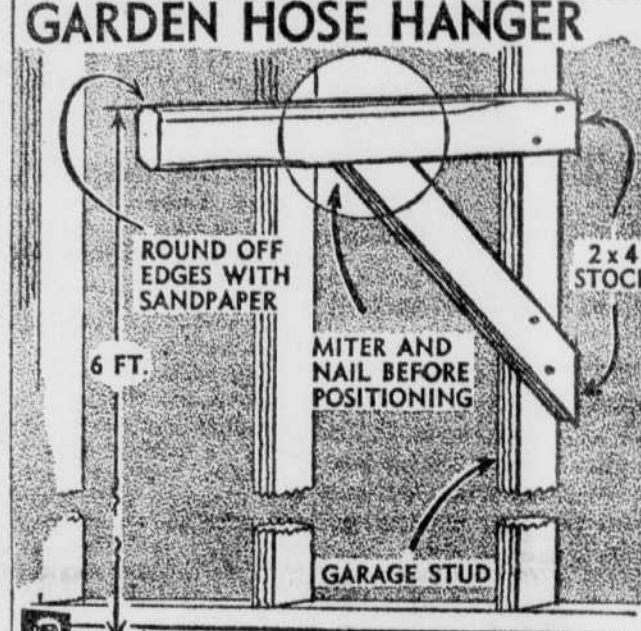

On the other side, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been testing the political ground in the CCF direction. The main issue in the next election, he told a PC meeting might be free enterprise versus socialism. This stand of Mr. Diefenbaker's may be his way of justifying his hands-off policy as far as taking action to solve unemployment is concerned. His followers have since responded with enthusiasm to his idea. The CBC has recently had a tougher than usual hearing in the House committee on broadcasting. Mr. Diefenbaker recently supported U.S. action in Cuba, both in the Commons and in the U.N., although it was fairly evident the U.S. blunder posed a threat to Canada. Last week government members in Ottawa were labeling Monday's march of some hundreds of unemployed to Capitol Hill as Communist inspired.

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan has outlined what might well be the New Party's platform for the next federal vote. In calling for policies that would stimulate domestic consumer demand, expand export trade and establish an integrated social security system, Mr. Douglas seemed almost to stand nearest of all to the middle of the road. Perhaps this was because he may have most to lose if Mr. Diefenbaker's free enterprise campaign proves popular.

Do-it-yourself

Tips for the amateur

By MR. FIX
You could spend a small fortune on garden tools and still be poorly equipped. Don't be dazzled by big displays of fancy equipment while your mind pictures lush harvests of vegetables and the gorgeous colors of abundant flowers.

Concentrate on what you will need to do a complete job. Avoid spending the biggest part or all of your budget on a single-purpose item.

EXTRA DOLLARS
Highly efficient pressure sprayers for insecticides are wonderful items and you should plan on owning one some day, but for the time being a hand sprayer and a dust gun will do nicely and will leave you extra dollars for rakes, shovels and spades.

To begin with, get a spade, a spading fork, shovel, hoe or possibly a cultivator hoe, steel rake, lawn rake (broom style), hose, nozzle, sprinkler, and the insecticide equipment mentioned above. A lawn mower comes before a lawn sweeper, and so does a fertilizer spreader.

Later on you will want to get a variety of hoes for cultivating and weeding and a long handled spade.

HOSE CARE
A hose reel will be a later purchase. Meanwhile, coil your hose in a bushel basket, or hang the coil on a piece of scrap lumber nailed at right angles to a garage wall stud.

Round off the sharp edges of the wood with sandpaper first. Grass shears, small pruning shears and perhaps hedge shears should be high upon the list. Special pruning shears and saws can come later.

You'll want a few small hand garden tools—cultivators and trowels. Buy heavy duty items, not tools that have been stamped out of sheet metal.

A square spade, kept filed to a sharp edge, can double as a lawn edger until you are ready to invest in one.

HEFTY TOOLS
When you pick your tools heft them to see that they are not too heavy. A tool that's uncomfortable to use is useless.

Good tools will last a good many years if cared for so skip the so-called bargains—you'll be replacing them in a year or two.

Examine wood handles carefully for flaws. Don't buy tools if the wooden handles have been painted. Don't paint them yourself. An occasional rubbing with a linseed oil-soaked rag will keep them in condition.

A young mother writes: "I just came from my doctor who tells me I have rheumatoid arthritis. The only advice he gave me was to take aspirin, do exercises and apply warmth to my joints."

"Now my mother has been an invalid because of this disease for many years. I've seen her suffer and frankly I'd rather be dead than go through what she goes through each day."

"Her doctors told her if she had come to them earlier in the disease they could have prevented her from being crippled. Yet I went to my doctor at first in suspicion of the disease and I've been given nothing except measures to relieve my pain. Please help me. Or tell me what I can do to get help."

I can only suggest a frank discussion with the physician in charge. And, for further information, write the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation at 10 Columbus Circle, New York City, 19, N.Y.

Q—"I have an eruption inside my cheek and on one side of my tongue. Doctors call it lichen planus. It's only on the side where I have a partial denture. Can this turn to cancer?"

A—No. Lichen planus is a nuisance disturbance that is resistant to treatment. It is unrelated to cancer. But, if it is only on the side where there's a partial denture it is quite possible that mechanical irritation from the appliance might contribute to the disturbance.

Q—"My mother complains that when she sleeps on her right side, her left arm becomes numb. Then, if she turns on the left side, the right arm becomes numb. Either way, it wakes her. Is this serious?"

A—I doubt that it's serious. Usually the complaint goes the other way around. As in the "Saturday night paralysis" that follows overindulgence in alcoholic beverages and the resultant heavy sleep. If your mother is very stout, it's possible that she has some interference with circulation in the upper arm when she lies on her side. Why doesn't she try sleeping on her back?

Artichoke hairdo is based on expert cut

The artichoke hairdo is here, a hair style based on expert cutting. Its shining layers are set to frame the face, working from a point at the back of the head.

By ALICIA HART, (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The successor to the bouffant hairdo may just prove to be something called the artichoke.

This is a fairly accurate description of this new hairdo. The layered hair surrounds the face just as the leaves of an artichoke surround its heart. There is no part. The hair radiates from one point at the back of the head. A slightly turned under back stops just above the collar line.

It's a style that depends on artful cutting, careful setting and a permanent or naturally wavy hair for necessary body. In order to set it yourself between professional sets, watch the placement of the rollers when you're having your hair done. Rollers are placed on angle and staggered, turning to the face on the top and sides, down in the back.

After a vigorous brushing, the hair is back-combed slightly to separate it into layers.

The artichoke needs frequent shampoos to keep it shining and to keep the layers of hair in place. There's nothing tousel or casual about this new style. Brushing, morning and night, is a great help.

Tips for parents

By EDITH HENRY

Parent Education Associates How long each week does your child watch television? Research into this question yields appalling figures.

TV OR TIN MINES

I have no quarrel with children's enjoyment of TV in moderation, with reasonably suitable programs, but the figures stacked up by studies remind me of stories about the exploiting of child labor in England in the 18th century and more recently in the tin mines of China.

After all, sitting for hours curled up with bent head and curved back before a TV screen could result in the same unwholesome physical growth as standing at looms or working in mines for long intervals.

Let us look at the figures which research workers have provided.

Probably the first study, well designed and competently carried out, was done by Himmler and her group in England. It was sponsored by the Nuffield Foundation.

Dr. Himmler found that TV was watched from 11-13 hours a week by children in each of two groups — those aged 10-11 years and those of 13-14 years.

In the current issue of Maclean's, Sidney Katz reports the results of what seems to be the first large scale American study.

It has been carried on for three years at Stanford University by Drs. Schramm, Lyle and Parker.

Their subjects were 6,000 children and 2,000 parents. Of this number 1,200 were Canadians in two British Columbia communities—one with TV, the other without.

They report that "the average child during the first sixteen years of his life spends as much time on TV as he does on school, and more time than on all other media of communication (radio, newspapers, periodicals, books, etc.).

Children in the early grades watch 14 hours a week Those in Grades VI-VIII (11-13 years) as much as 24 hours a week.

These studies cost money and are only of use if their results are applied in your home and mine.

KEEP OWN RECORD

If you find the figures hard to believe, keep your own record for a week. Sunny or rainy weather will affect the results for so short a period.

This is the time of year to make an effort to adjust a fair share of leisure time to other activities. (TNS)

Kaffeeclatch dessert

Pie—cake—a little of both delicious. No doubt you've made this lemon cake pie time and again in a little different version. With its delicate layer on top of the fresh lemon filling—kind of an upside down affair but a pretty dessert suitable to serve the gals at the next kaffeeclatch. I like it—hope you do.

LEMON CAKE PIE

1 cup sugar,
1/4 cup flour,
1/4 cup butter or margarine,
1/2 tsp. salt,
2 eggs separated,
2 lemons — juice and grated rind—about 1/4 cup,
1 cup milk
9-inch pie shell.

Combine sugar, flour, melted butter or margarine, salt and egg yolks. Beat until smooth. Beat in lemon juice and rind. Add milk, beating slowly. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold into the mixture.

Bake a good rich pastry shell in moderate oven 5 minutes. Pour in filling and bake 40 minutes or until filling is firm. When cut there will be a delicate cake layer on top of the pie filling.

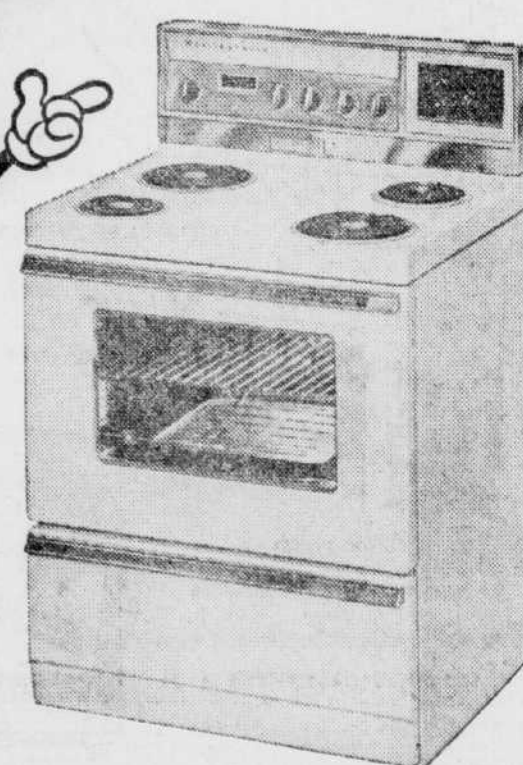

This is the kind of a dessert to serve with a fish dinner.

RUN FOR THE ROSES

Jets Pound Out 106 Hits In Last 12 Games

Columbus Jet players are shattering enemy pitching, according to International League record books.

After the Jets bombed the hapless Syracuse Chiefs 14-1 with a 17-hit attack Thursday night, the club record showed these figures for 12 games: 67 runs — an average well over five per game, 106 hits, 15 doubles, eight triples and 13 homers.

It adds up to a 9-3 record for Columbus and a two-game lead over Toronto and Richmond in the standings.

Rochester Red Wings pushed Richmond's Virginians down to third, trailing the idle Toronto Maple Leafs on percentages, when Herb Moford pitched three-hit ball for a 5-1 victory.

Cold weather caused postponement of the San Juan-Buffalo game.

ALLOWED TWO HITS

Coupled with the Columbus power was the two-hit pitching of Earl Francis, a big right hander who won his second straight decision.

The Jets drove Hal Griggs to cover with six hits and five runs. And they went on to bomb Syracuse pitching for seven runs in the sixth. Larry Elliott belted two home runs and catcher Don Leppert hit two singles and drove in three runs to lift his league-leading batting average to .500.

Ron Samford accounted for three Rochester runs with his second and third homers of the season.

Plastic Helmet Blamed For Rise In Injuries

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The plastic helmet and its rigid face guard are to blame for a rising incidence of serious or fatal brain and spinal cord injuries to football players, a University of Michigan neurosurgeon told the Wisconsin Medical Society.

Dr. Richard Schneider said Wednesday 14 of the 18 football deaths in the U.S. in 1959 were caused by head and spinal injuries.

Schneider said the face guard acted as a lever, forcing the player's head back sharply when the guard is grabbed or struck by an opponent. At the same time, he said, the hard back edge of the helmet is jammed into the neck. This sometimes dislocates and fractures neck vertebrae and damages the spinal cord.

Ready To Race If Cash Is Put Up-Schoenith

DETROIT (AP)—Powerboat owner Lee Schoenith challenged the mayor of Pictou, Ont., Thursday night to put up a cash prize to preserve the 1961 Harmsworth Trophy race.

"Let him put up $40,000 and I'll go to Pictou," barked Schoenith, whose Gale V was beaten by Canada's Miss Supertest III in last year's international challenge race on the Bay of Quinte near Pictou.

Schoenith said earlier this week he wouldn't enter his powered Gale VI in the Harmsworth scheduled for Aug. 5-8 and that other American boat owners also wanted to compete in the Seattle Sea Fair the same weekend.

"American boat owners can't afford to pass up the Seattle race which has $40,000 in prizes to compete in the Harmsworth which carries only prestige," Schoenith said.

He said Canadian officials should change the dates of their race to allow an American challenger to enter.

At Pictou, Mayor Harvey McFarland said American drivers want the date changed because they have cold feet.

THE 87TH RUNNING OF THE KENTUCKY DERBY FINDS A BUNCH OF FELD OF THREE-YEAR-OLDS SNIFFING FOR RACING'S BIG PRIZE

Longden At 54 Is Leaving Nothing To Chance As He Shoots For His Second Kentucky Derby Tomorrow

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Johnny Longden, the little man who has been in the winner's circle more times than any other jockey, is leaving nothing to chance in a bid for his second Kentucky Derby victory.

Johnny, 54, and his youthful rivals will pilot 15 finely-tuned three-year old horses over 1 1/4 miles at Churchill Downs Saturday in quest of fame and fortune.

Longden, winner of 5,509 races in his 34-year career, will be astride the well-regarded Four-and-Twenty when the field breaks from the barrier at 5:30 p.m. EDT. Four-and-Twenty is the better liked half of the entry from Alberta Ranches, directed by Frank McMahon and Max Bell of Calgary. The other half is Flutterby and both are trained by Johnny's son, Vance, 31.

Hardly a morning has passed this week without grandpa Longden taking a walkout tour of the Downs track, around which some 100,000 people will congregate for America's No. 1 glamour horse race.

"Riding is the only way to keep in shape," said Johnny, who grew up in Taber, Alta.

VANCE IS SATISFIED

In the draw Thursday, Vance said he couldn't be better satisfied if he had been asked to name his own position. He said: "I like Four-and-Twenty in No. 4 because he's a fast breaker. And I like Flutterby in No. 13 because he can come from behind."

Johnny forecast a swiftly-run Derby — perhaps faster than Whirlaway's record of 2:01 2/5. However, the weather man sees the possibility of showers, which could hamper such speed demons as Four-and-Twenty, L. P. Sasso's Globemaster, Fred W. Hooper's Crozier and Jacob Sher's Sherluck.

Four-and-Twenty, Longden's ninth Derby mount (he won with Count Fleet in 1943) since 1937, and Flutterby are rated no better than 5 to 1 against the two-prong attack from Florida of Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back and Crozier.

Carry Back remained the 5 to 2 choice. Crozier was held at 3 to 1. Sherluck (6 to 1), Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs's stretch-running Dr. Miller (10 to 1) and Globemaster (12 to 1) were the only other horses given much consideration.

If all 15 parade to the post, the race will gross $183,000 with $120,500 going to the winner.

Leonard "Red" Kelly Wins Lady Byng Trophy

MONTREAL (CP)—Leonard (Red) Kelly, 33-year-old centre of Toronto Maple Leafs, was announced Thursday as the player best combining ability with sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct during the 1960-61 National Hockey League season.

This marks the fourth time Kelly has won the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy and the $1,000 award that goes with it.

Kelly received 106 of a possible total of 180 points in the voting. Closest, with 59 points, was Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings. Andy Hebenton of New York Rangers, a former winner of the trophy, was third with 50 points.

Kelly is the only player ever to win the trophy both as a defenceman and a centre and is one of the few to win it as a member of different teams. As a defenceman he won it in the 1950-51, 1952-53 and 1953-54 seasons while with Detroit.

AID TO BIG M
In the 1960-61 season he had 70 points on 20 goals and 50 assists and was considered a big factor in the 48-goal production of linemate Frank Mahovlich.

The veteran redhead played in 64 of his team 70 games and served only 12 minutes in penalties. During his 14 NHL seasons he has served only 273 minutes an average of less than 20 a season.

Voting for the award was done by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities. Points were awarded on a 5-3-1 basis for first, second and third choices and the voting weighted to give each city equal voting strength.

With the signing of Nugent the local hurling staff now consists of Claude Prud'Homme, Jean-Guy Mathieu, Billy Robinson and Jacques Palardy. The Alouettes now have 13 players under contract and they are working out in preparation for Sunday's debut in the loop.

Manager Yvon Ellyson stated he has confidence in the team and that they should figure well with the rest of the teams. It will take a few weeks to settle down and the strength of the rest of the circuit is still unknown but Manager Ellyson claims if they need reinforcements they will go after them.

Nugent is 20 years of age and is a product of the Sherbrooke-Lenoxxville Little League where he commenced his baseball. He lives in Lenoxxville and is the second English player to join the ranks of the Alouettes. Billy Robinson was the first.

He played in the Sherbrooke Junior League with the Indians and Fuller. He stands 5'11" and tips the scales at 180 pounds. He possesses good control and is a right-hander and last year was one of the top hurlers for Fuller in their march to victory.

Nugent has been attending the University of New Brunswick.

Als Sign Harvey White, Former Quarterback From Clemson, Was With Boston Patriots Last Season

MONTREAL—The Montreal Alouette Football Club announced today the signing of Harvey White to a 1961 contract.

White, 6'2", 210 pound quarterback, graduated from Clemson in 1959. At Clemson he led the total offense gained for three years in a row. In his senior year he was named as Co-Captain of the team. Last year he was used as a reserve quarterback and offensive end by the Boston Patriots of the AFL.

In his three years at Clemson, he led the Tigers to three Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and to a three-Bowl appearance: Orange Sugar and the Blue Bonnet. His total passing offense was 2,026 yards, including 141 completions in 280 attempts for a 50.1 per cent.

While Whites was at Clemson, the Tigers had their best years. In 1957 they went 7 and 3 for the season; in 1958 they compiled an 8 and 3 record and in 1959 Clemson went 9 and 2 for the season.

With the signing of White, this brings to five the number of Quarterbacks coming to camp this year. The others are: Wes Gideon, Tom Dimitroff, Nelson Yarbrough and Primo Villanueva.

Kentucky Colonels Will Splutter If Canadian Invader Should Win Derby, Sir Barton Did Trick In 1919

By JACK SULLIVAN

The Kentucky colonels will splutter in their mint julep if Canadian-owned Flutterby or Four-and-Twenty wins the 114-mile Derby this Saturday at Louisville. They can't believe a Canadian invader would be bold enough—or good enough—to take the marbles in this U.S. turf classic.

It's been done before, but you won't hear any Americans shouting about it.

The year was 1919 when the stakes were small and the tracks were in the leaky roof era. A three-year-old colt named Sir Barton and owned by Col. J. K. L. Ross of Montreal won it when the purse was a measly $20,845 compared with the present $125,000 added.

And just to show disbelieving Americans that there was no fluke about it, Sir Barton went on to win the Preakness and Belmont Stakes. That gave him the distinction of being the first triple crown winner.

RARELY ACHIEVED
Only seven others have duplicated this somewhat remarkable feat and the last to do it was Citation in 1945, a million-dollar winner from the famed Calumet Farm stable.

A few Canadian-bred or Canadian-owned horses have tried their luck at the Derby in its long history dating back to 1875, but only Sir Barton has won it.

Victoria Park, Canadian-bred colt owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, made a real run at it last year but finished third. The colt went on to win the 101st running of the Queen's Plate at Toronto and shortly after was injured and retired to stud.

There's a distinct Canadian flavor to Four-and-Twenty and Flutterby. They are owned by Max Bell and Frank McMahon of Calgary and Four-and-Twenty, bay son of Blue Prince and Sixpence II, will be ridden by English-born Johnny Longden, who spent his boyhood in Taber, Alta.

WON TRIPLE CROWN
If the 54-year-old Longden can get home in front, it will mark the second Derby victory for the craggy-faced reinsman who has been in the game longer than he cares to remember. He was aboard Count Fleet, 1943 Derby winner and later that year piloted the son of Reigh Count-Quickly to Belmont and Preakness victories to take the triple crown.

With all the hoopla surrounding Saturday's Derby, it might be timely to recall Sir Barton. He ended his racing career in 1920 after being beaten by Man O'War, famous colt owned by Sam Riddle, in a matched race at the Kenilworth track at Windsor, Ont. A purse of $80,000 was offered and, so the story goes, more than 37,000 spectators were on hand.

Sir Barton died Nov. 11, 1937, at a ranch at Douglas, Wyoming, at the age of 21. He had won purses totalling $116,857 on 13 victories, six seconds and five thirds in 31 starts.

NEW YORK (AP)—Attendance at major league baseball games this season, plagued by rain, cold weather and even snow, has fallen off alarmingly.

The over-all attendance of the eight National League and the 10 American League clubs shows a drop of 31 per cent from last year's figures in games through Thursday, despite the addition of Minnesota and Los Angeles to the American League.

In this season's first 97 games, the majors have drawn 1,347,452 cash customers. Last year, in 93 games (minus the four 1961 home games of Minnesota and Los Angeles) the majors drew 1,946,202. That's a drop of 598,750.

The National League has been affected the most. Its drop is 35 per cent from 1960 as compared to a 25-per-cent slide by the American.

CROWDS UP AT BALTIMORE
Fifteen of the 16 clubs show a decline from last year's figures. The only club with a plus sign is Baltimore, which has drawn 157,023 in 11 home games, an increase of 20,494.

The biggest loser is Los Angeles but that's because the Dodgers have played the most home games. In their first 15 games, the Dodgers have drawn 333,504 compared to last year's 473,456.

Cars Face Mountains Today Nearing End Of Trans-Canada Auto Rally On Sixth Leg, Trotter-Millan Leading CALGARY (CP)—Drivers and navigators faced new problems of teamwork today as they headed into the Rocky Mountains and the sixth leg of their Trans-Canada auto rally.

Early starters were to rise in darkness and drive through mountain passes, back into darkness before they reached Penicton, B.C.

An eight-hour stopover in Calgary followed a relatively easy 184-mile stretch from Edmonton Thursday night where the 93-car field passed through its fourth spot test.

The rally began with 106 cars in Montreal Sunday. By the time they reach Vancouver Saturday, they will have travelled 4,100 miles over the longest rally course in the western hemisphere.

The over-all leader after standings were compiled at the Regina stop was Homer Trotter of Watertown, N.Y., and navigator R. Millman of Ohio. They were without a penalty point in a car entered by Mercedes-Benz of Canada Ltd.

A Record Will Be Set In Tonight's Memorial Cup Between Edmonton, St. Mike's No Matter Who Wins Tilt

EDMONTON (CP)—A record will be set in tonight's sixth game of the Memorial Cup finals no matter who wins—Toronto St. Michael's College Marjors or Edmonton Oil Kings.

If Rev. David Bauer's Marjors win, it will be the first time that any club ever won the Canadian junior hockey championship four times.

If Buster Brayshaw's Kings win, it will be the first time since the best-of-seven series began in 1943 that a team has tied the series after losing the first three games.

There will be no tie. If the score is deadlocked at the end of regulation time, there will be a 10-minute overtime period. If the score is still tied, the game should help.

Move For San Juan Marlins Kind Of Premature, Says Club Official

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—A spokesman for the San Juan baseball club of the International League Thursday described as premature an announcement that the Marlins would be moved within a couple of weeks, probably to Charleston, W. Va.

"There has not been sufficient time to know whether or not Puerto Rico is ready for triple A baseball," said Joe Ryan, general manager of the Marlins.

The club moved here from Miami at the start of the season.

MacLaren And Moss Setting Pace In Trial

SILVERSTONE, England (AP)—Stirling Moss, Britain's famed auto race driver, and New Zealand's Bruce MacLaren set the pace in Thursday's trials for the intercontinental race Saturday.

Both piloted British-built coopers and both whipped around the curving track, once an airfield, at 110.6 miles an hour. The track was slippery from rain.

The inter-continental is open to cars much bigger than the 1,500 c.c. engines allowed for Grand Prix races.

John Mentis Signs For Waterloo Club

WATERLOO — Manager Rolfe Morrisseau and his squad will make their debut in the Provincial Eastern Townships Baseball League Sunday afternoon in Drummondville.

Manager Morrisseau is very confident and has had his staff hard at work for the past several weeks. When the inclement weather held off the diamond they staged practices in the gym of St. Bernard's College and they are in top shape.

The team has added new players in Bayeur, St. Vincent and Rousseau and they have played a big role in building the team's confidence. The club's moral is very good and they are anxious to get the season started.

Jubenville, Corbiere, Peak, Malouin and Mentis are others who should play a big part in the team's march to a league championship. Manager Morrisseau is expecting tough opposition but he claims his club is strong enough to remain in the thick of the battle for league honors. He is counting a lot on Plourde and Morin, both hurlers, to carry the team along.

It is expected that prior to Sunday's game a new pitcher will be added to the staff.

WHIFFS 18 IN ROW AS REDLEGS MOVE UP, GIANTS EXTEND LEAD OVER PACK BY STOPPING CUBS, BRAVES WIN

In three starts for Cincinnati, slam homer. The Reds scored in two-run in which the Reds didn't score a run in 18 innings. Joey Jay bursts in the first and third innings lost three. But the young right hander finally won one Thursday night by pitching a one-hit National League shutout.

He barely missed a perfect game in a 4-0 victory over Philadelphia. The only hit by the Phils was a one-out single in the first inning by Johnny Callison. And the only other man to reach base for the Phils was waukee's first baseman. The Ruben Amaro, when drew Jay's homer capped a five-run 10th off lone walk, leading off the third inning.

After that Jay retired 18 in a row, with Amaro rubbed out as losing pitcher Art Mahaffey hit into a double play. He struck out seven.

The lone night game gave the Reds their fifth straight victory—four against the Phils—since plunking into the cellar last Sunday. Now fifth and back at .500, the Reds are 2½ games behind first-place San Francisco.

ADDED THEIR LEAD
The Giants padded their lead over idle Pittsburgh to a full blanking the Cubs on two hits game by rapping Chicago Cubs after they scored their three in 9-3. Milwaukee grabbed third place from Los Angeles by beating the Dodgers 10-6 in 10 innings. Banks, a walk and Ed Bouie on Joe Adcock's grand chee's two-run triple.

Bob Cleroux With Added Sharp Left Appears Headed For Bigger Things, Batters Carter To Win Via TKO

MONTREAL (CP)—Bob Cleroux, 23, has added a sharp left hand to his attack and appears set for bigger things as a professional boxer.

The young Montreal heavyweight wielded the left with telling effectiveness Thursday night for the first time, battering Harold Carter helpless to post a technical knockout.

Referee Tony Mancini stepped in to halt the scheduled 10-rounder at 1:06 of the second round with the Linden, N.J., batter floundering on the ropes, unable to ward off Cleroux's vicious punching flurries.

Carter, a onetime big name in the division who has faded, was the first fight for Cleroux since he dropped the Canadian heavyweight title to Toronto's George Chuvalo in the same ring last November. He stripped Chuvalo of the crown four months earlier.

The knockout was the Montrealer's 21st in 28 bouts. He has fought one draw and lost twice. Carter, who'll be 27 later this month, suffered his seventh setback in 36 fights and his sixth knockout. He has two draws.

STAN MIKITA TO ENTER HOSPITAL
ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Stan Mikita, sophomore centre with the Stanley Cup champion Chicago Black Hawks, will enter hospital in Toronto Tuesday for an operation on his shoulder.

Mikita suffered a severe shoulder dislocation during his final year of junior hockey (1958-59) with St. Catharines Teedpees in a game in Hamilton and missed the last 10 games and playoffs.

An operation was performed at the time but the shoulder slipped again slightly during the 1960-61 National Hockey League season.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Hitting: Ron Hanse, Baltimore Orioles — drove in four runs with a homer and a game-winning, two-run single in the 13th inning for 8-7 decision over Los Angeles Angels.
