GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE AND ITALY REACH COMPLETE ACCORD ON ARMS

Question of Penalties Believed Only Matter Still Unfinished—United States Support of Pact Expected Following Conference Today—Preliminary Unofficial Negotiations Have Laid Important Groundwork for World Disarmament Parley.

Paris, September 22.—A complete three-power accord between Great Britain, France and Italy on disarmament and arms control was authoritatively said to have been reached today, but the question of penalties still was unfinished.

Norman H. Davis, American Disarmament representative, was expected by the French to give general support to the plan, thus making possible a four-power front at the impending Geneva Arms Conference.

EARLY DISCUSSIONS PAVE WAY FOR MAIN CONFERENCE

Once more the nations are sending diplomats to Geneva where they will try to balance demands for armaments with pleas to reduce the burden of arms.

With the resumption next month of the World Disarmament Conference they will again consider Germany's cries for equality, France's insistence on security and other nations' requests for reductions.

There will be many difficulties, it is agreed, in the path of a compromise—difficulties greater than any before at similar conferences. Frontier and political incidents have left Europe so tense that its peace may be at stake in the conversations.

Preliminary discussions have been going on in Paris by governmental leaders and representatives about a new French arms plan which, its sponsors hope, may solve the delicate problem.

This and other related matters are discussed in the following despatches received today from Associated Press correspondents in London, Paris, Rome and Berlin.

London.—The British Government, considerably closer to the American viewpoint on disarmament as a result of the conferences here of United States Ambassador Norman H. Davis, now appears ready to go far toward meeting the French demand for a trial period of arms supervision.

While it is pointed out in authoritative quarters that Great Britain has made no commitment for the supervision scheme, she has never opposed the French plan.

Recent conversations in Paris, furthermore, have had the purpose of ascertaining the specific desires of the French government.

Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and Captain Anthony Eden, Under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, planned to fly to the French capital today to renew conversations preliminary to further talks in Geneva with Mr. Davis and the German and Italian representatives.

Earnestly insisting that reaching an agreement to disarm at the earliest date is necessary, Great Britain is sympathetic with the American view as expressed by Mr. Davis that any disarmament plan is not practical without a demonstration of practicability as the first step.

British authorities, too, support the view that an agreement to disarm must be bindingly assumed to become effective at the end of the supervision period.

The British, however, are anxious to avoid any form of control that might have a humiliating aspect for Germany.

It is the feeling in some quarters here that supervision is aimed particularly at Germany that has caused Great Britain to be slower than the United States in accepting the principle.

The French method of supervision received strong editorial support in the Times today, which regarded it as "by far the most efficacious and, indeed, the only one whereby verification will have real value."

The newspapers admitted that the difficulties are "immense," but insisted that arms control is absolutely necessary.

Paris.—The French plan to effect a united four-power front to avert an armament race approached a critical stage today with a meeting of French and British Ministers.

Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and Lord Privy Seal, entered the preliminary arms negotiations for the first time and he, with Sir John Simon and Captain Anthony Eden faced Premier Daladier and Foreign Minister Paul-Boncour in vital negotiations to get British support for a vast scheme to transform Europe's arms.

Berlin.—A continental peace on a reciprocal basis of mutual concessions and equal rights, it is authoritatively stated, will be Germany's proposal to what is regarded here as the "fish or cut bait" session of the Disarmament Conference.

That Germany will not hesitate to

SLIGHT DECLINE TODAY IN BRITISH CURRENCIES

New York, Sept. 22.—Canadian dollars along with pounds sterling, French francs and other gold currencies were again weak in relation to the United States dollar during the early dealings on the foreign exchange market here today.

Dominion funds declined one-half of one per cent to 97½ cents as American premium on Canada money rose to 2.827 per cent.

Sterling dropped back 2½ cents to $4.76½ and French francs 5½ points to 6.02½ cents in a quiet and thin market.

SENATOR BORAH CONFIRMS RECOGNITION OF SOVIETS

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 22.—Senator William E. Borah said today he is "of the opinion the report that the President is soon to recognize Russia is well founded."

Referring to an Associated Press dispatch from New York stating "usually well informed quarters" expected recognition before Congress convened, the former chairman of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee said: "I was so advised before I left Washington. Of course I do not mean to say I was so advised by the President."

DESPERADOES STILL ACTIVE IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 22.—A band of five desperadoes held up and robbed two Federal Reserve bank messengers of three or four bags of currency early this morning and a few minutes later shot and killed a policeman while making their escape.

ADMINISTRATION ADVISORS STUDY PLANS FOR STABILIZING DOLLAR

President Roosevelt Understood to Favor Plan to Maintain Constant Purchasing Power of Dollar—Varying Gold Content of Dollar Plan Most Generally Favored—Wall Street Prepares to Receive Stranger with Mixed Welcome.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Administration economic advisers are giving close study to methods of controlling United States dollar fluctuations to the end that a constant purchasing power and stabilized price levels might be achieved.

The subject, it was discussed authoritatively today, has been under consideration for weeks with the managed currency system of Sweden as a practical guide, but how President Roosevelt feels toward such an experiment remains for him to disclose.

Administration sources have indicated the executive wants a stable dollar, but has yet to decide the best course to attain it.

One administration economist, when asked his views, summed up his own and the views of some others as follows:

"To so manage the currency that the buying power of the dollar would be substantially stable is a desirable aim. The idea of a stable dollar is to prevent fluctuations in prices that are due to fluctuations in the gold dollar."

MANAGED DOLLAR SEEN AS ANSWER TO INFLATIONISTS

New York, Sept. 22.—The managed dollar is a stranger which Wall Street is preparing to receive, on the basis of Washington gossip, but with mixed emotions.

This dollar under consideration in some United States administration quarters would be a gold dollar, but of varying gold content.

After commodity prices had been restored to a desirable level, a further rise would be prevented, in theory at least, by increasing the gold content of the dollar slightly as the economic price index started to advance. A decline in price level would be prevented by moderately lowering the gold content of the dollar, as the price index started to sag.

Wall Street has been hearing repeated rumors this week that this sort of a dollar may be President Roosevelt's answer to the inflationists.

The theory is not difficult to understand. The general commodity price level would still be measured in gold, but on a sliding scale. Should prices start to decline, the scale would contract, so the same number of dollars would buy as much goods as before. Of course, individual commodities would continue to fluctuate in response to supply and demand, but the general or average level, as reduced to an index figure, would be kept relatively stable.

BREAD PRICE INCREASED

Montreal, September 22.—A general rise in the price of bread will go into effect Monday morning in the city, it was learned yesterday. The Bread and Cake Bakers' Association has announced an increase of one cent for the standard 24-ounce loaf, following the substantial rise in the price of flour and other bread ingredients.

RUSSIA STANDS FOR INCREASED EXPORT QUOTA

Soviet Attitude Threatens to Break Up International Wheat Export Agreement—Another Meeting Next Week.

London, Sept. 22.—Russia stood pat today on her demand that she be allowed to export about twice as much wheat as has been allotted to her under the international wheat agreement and a meeting between the representatives of the Soviet Government and of the "Big Four" exporting nations at Canada House broke up without getting anywhere.

The original figure set for Russia was 14,000,000 bushels. The Russian delegate, having mentioned his claims, departed before the conclusion of the meeting, leaving the others to decide what they were going to do about it.

Other nations participating were Canada, the United States, Argentina and Australia.

After the meeting it was said, in an authoritative quarter, that the Russian stand presented the hardest nut the conferees have yet had to crack.

Representatives of the exporting nations expect to meet again next week to see if they can get any further with the problem. Meanwhile some of them may consult their governments for guidance.

WOULD REFORM CONDITION OF RURAL SCHOOLS

Council of Education to Discuss Methods of Forcing Payment of Higher Salaries in Country Districts.

Quebec, Sept. 22.—Important changes in the educational system of the Province are expected to be proposed following a meeting of the Catholic Committee of the Council of Education, which is to be held here September 27th.

The main question at issue is that of the salaries to be paid teachers in rural schools. At the present time, a considerable number of schools in the province are closed, it is stated, for the simple reason that the teachers refuse to work for the salary offered. They are usually paid from $209 to $300 a year, but it is common knowledge around Parliament Buildings that in recent cases as little as $150 a year has been offered—and in some cases accepted.

A sub-committee appointed to inquire into the question of rural education will report to the main committee next Wednesday. Besides that there are several important questions on the agenda.

LINDBERGH MAKING TRIP OVER RUSSIAN AIR LINES

Flying Couple Leave Helsingfors on Trip to Study Possibilities of Inter-Continental Travel.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 22.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off for Leningrad at 11:30 a.m. today, 4:00 a.m., E.S.T.

The purpose of the trip, the Colonel said, was to examine the possibility of establishing regular air routes between North America and Europe. The Lindberghs hitherto have surveyed possible routes over Eastern Canada, the North Atlantic and Scandinavian countries.

Colonel Lindbergh, in an interview, said he would have to return to the United States before giving final judgment on the project. He said there were difficulties, but believes such air connections can be arranged.

ROOSEVELT TAKES STAND AGAINST FURTHER INFLATION OF CURRENCY

U. S. President Hopes to Restore Prosperity Through Expansion of Credit Facilities—Move to Purchase Large Quantity of Staples for Distribution to Needy—Believe Ford Will Provide Working Conditions Better Than Under Blue Eagle.

New York, Sept. 22.—The cry of outright inflation increased in volume today, but President Roosevelt, for the time being at least, chose to travel a road where the sign post read:

"The credit expansion route to better times."

Conservative and quasi-conservative elements applauding the President, said his course was preferable for the long haul.

The step seemingly directly ahead of the President in his drive for a prosperous United States was an energizing of the heavier, capital-goods industries. Such a method of expanding credit in a productive branch admittedly out of step with the lighter industries received Washington's serious consideration.

A careful step already decided upon was the purchase of up to $75,000,000 worth of foodstuffs and staples for distribution to 3,500,000 needy on the country's relief rolls. Beef, dairy and poultry products, cotton and cotton seed were among the items on the charity list for tiding jobless over the approaching winter.

In this matter the President believed he might overcome the paradox of want in a land of plenty. Glutted markets, he said, could be stabilized and unemployed fed in the one stroke.

It was also at least a partial answer to an agricultural bloc demanding issuance of new money.

Cotton farmers who spoke with Roosevelt Thursday muffled their cries for fiat money at the Presidential command. Inflation talk was still while the group suggested the government purchase 5,000,000 bales of the staple at twelve, possibly fifteen cents the pound. As a means of lifting the price of cotton, the President was described as giving the proposal sympathetic consideration. The purchased bales could be converted into clothing for the out-of-workers.

For Eighteenth Successive Week Official Returns Show Employment Is Growing.

Paris, Sept. 22.—The ebbing tide of French industry has reached the turn, survey today shows. For the eighteenth successive week official returns show employment is growing.

The week ending September 16th showed a drop of twelve per cent. in the number of unemployed receiving relief as compared with last year, and this despite the fact that local relief funds operating in 1933 number 608 against 595 a year ago. The total of registered unemployed is given at 231,487, but this figure covers only those receiving direct relief.

MINES MINISTER TO TOUR NORTHERN QUEBEC FIELD

Quebec, September 22.—Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Roads and Mines, accompanied by A. O. Dufréne, director of the Provincial Mining Service, will shortly undertake an extensive inspection tour of mining districts in the north of the province.

Leaving on October 4, Mr. Perrault will visit Rouyn and Noranda, Que., and Kirkland, Ont., to inspect the road work which has been done in opening up the mining districts in that region.

At Amos, Que., the minister will be joined by Hector Authier, M.L.A. for Abitibi, and at the Ontario border, Hon. W. Finlayson, Ontario Minister of Mines, will join the party. On the evening of October 7 the visitors will be entertained at a dinner at Chiminish.

HISTORIC VALLEYFIELD CATHEDRAL AND CONVENT DESTROYED BY FIRE

Damage in Worst Disaster Ever Suffered by Catholic Church in Canada Estimated at $1,600,000—One Fireman Badly Injured and Several Less Seriously Hurt During Conflagration that Started in Church Steeple—Five Hundred Inmates of Convent Had Narrow Escape.

Valleyfield, Que., Sept. 22.—Fire that raged throughout the night in Roman Catholic property here doing property damage of $1,600,000, causing serious injuries to a fireman and lesser injuries to several others, was extinguished today.

A survey of the disaster, one of the worst ever suffered by the Catholic Church in Canada, showed the following:

Convent of Jesus and Mary gutted and two upper floors of the adjoining Normal School ruined, loss $1,000,000.

Historic cathedral completely destroyed, loss $600,000.

Fireman badly injured, seriously injured by a fall from the top of the convent and several others less seriously hurt.

One hundred nuns and four hundred pupils fled to flee from the convent in the night and seek refuge in homes throughout the city.

The Sacred Host was saved, but beautiful paintings and priceless relics were lost. The church furnishings alone were valued at $100,000. The Bishop's Palace across the street was not damaged to any extent.

Delisle, a volunteer, swept from the roof of the convent by a fire hose which got out of control, fell four stories to the street. His fall was broken, however, and at hospital today his condition was pronounced not critical.

Flames for hours, before they were subdued. Not until the fire had ruined the top floors of the Normal School, an institution for training teachers, was it conquered.

Pupils whose parents live at some distance from Valleyfield are to be sent to their homes for the night, church authorities announced.

The ruined buildings were in the form of an "L," of which the cathedral is the short arm. The Bishop's Palace is directly opposite the cathedral. Valleyfield is on Lake St. Francis, about thirty-five miles from Montreal. The Beauharnois hydro-electric development is a few miles away.

Complete mystery faced church authorities as they sought the cause of a disastrous fire.

"The cause of the fire is a complete mystery," said Bishop Joseph Langlois. "Last year all the wiring was inspected by the fire underwriters, who passed it as being of the most modern type, steel conduits

VALUE OF HIGH SCHOOL TRAINING STRESSED BY HON. W. G. MITCHELL

Addressed Annual Meeting of Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards in Stanstead Last Evening—Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Education, Declared High Schools Had "Saved the Day" for Protestant Education in This Province by Maintaining Teachers' Salaries at the Same Level as Last Year.

Stanstead, September 22.—The outstanding feature of the annual meeting of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards held here yesterday was the banquet tendered in Centenary United Church Hall last evening, when the principal speakers were Hon. Walter G. Mitchell, K.C., D.C.L., chairman of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction of the Province of Quebec, and Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Education.

Dr. Percival, in an address that dealt with current educational problems, declared that the High Schools had "saved the day" for Protestant education in the Province of Quebec by refusing to lower the salaries of their teachers.

"I admire the High School Commissioners for what they have done in the past year more than I have ever admired them before," Dr. Percival exclaimed. "I admire them because they made a tremendous effort to keep the salaries of their teachers up to the same level as the previous year. On a general average, High School teachers today are receiving a salary that compares very favorably with that which they received a year ago, and for that the Commissioners are deserving of high praise. The intermediate and elementary schools have not been so good. But the High Schools saved the day for Protestant education in this province. These are real words that I am speaking, and I am addressing them to you—Commissioners and members of the school boards.

"I am not radical about this question of salaries. I understand that they have to be adjusted to suit the times. But once the schools on the Island of Montreal and outside reduce the salaries of their teachers they will obtain a lower class of teachers. And that must not be if your children are to be well trained and carefully guarded during the formative period of their character."

The consolidation of schools formed the basis of Hon. Walter Mitchell's address. He pointed out that the merging of more than a hundred schools into thirty-eight institutions had provided scholars with superior educational facilities and had made possible a High School training for many boys and girls who would have been unable to obtain the course by the old method, or, that is to say, in the rural schools which they would have been obliged to attend.

Previous to the banquet, two sessions of the Association were held, one in the forenoon and another in the afternoon. The election of officers resulted in the re-appointment of the same members as last year, with D. R. Wilson, of Shawinigan Falls, as president, and A. E. Smith, of Magog, as secretary. A new member, T. S. Allan, of Philippsburg, was added to the executive committee. The other officers re-elected are: Honorary president, Dr. C. S. Harris, of Magog; honorary vice-president, W. J. Ewing, of Richmond; vice-president, M. H. Bede, of St. John; executive committee, Dr. R. H. Bede, vice-president; E. R. Stevens, of Bedford; A. A. Hall, of Coaticook; and Dr. C. L. Brown, of Ayer's Cliff; athletic committee, Dr. Erle Draper, of Bedford; Rev. Errol C. Amaron, of Stanstead, and Jas. E. Connors, of Magog.

Mr. H. Bede, vice-president, presented the report of the committee on teachers' salaries, in which it was proposed that the minimum salary for rural schools be $600 per year.

Only one resolution was passed during the two business sessions. This was that steps be taken to permit, if at all possible, someone representing the Association upon the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education. A matter that was discussed at considerable length during the afternoon was the prescribing of taxes. The pros and cons of this question were dealt with during a lengthy discussion, but the Association took no definite stand.

D. R. Wilson, the president of the Association, was appointed representative to the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers' convention to be held in Montreal next month.

During the afternoon A. H. Martin gave a demonstration in the teaching of musical appreciation and J. D. McFadyen gave an excellent and interesting demonstration of penmanship, rapid calculation and public speaking. Later, the International Chamber of Commerce led the numerous delegates to different points of interest in the vicinity of the Three Villages.

The supper last evening in Centenary United Church Hall was prepared by the ladies of the congregation and was largely attended. Featured by the addresses of Mr. Mitchell and Dr. Percival, the gathering was also addressed by D. F. Scott, of the faculty of Stanstead College, on "Adult Education in Denmark," and by C. N. Crutchfield, past president of the Teachers' Association of the Province of Quebec, and now principal of the Shawinigan High School and of the Shawinigan Technical School.

Rev. Errol C. Amaron, B.A., B.D., principal of Stanstead Wesleyan College, who was the official host of the evening, also spoke a few words, expressing his pleasure that the association had met in Stanstead this year and hoping that it would do so again in the near future.

The advancement of education was the duty of "every breathing individual," declared Hon. Walter G. Mitchell at the outset of his address. "I do not pose as an educationalist," he continued, "but I do pose as one who has been interested and is deeply interested in education. It is the foundation of our civilization, and as long as it is possible for me to do so I will devote myself to that great cause."

The whole idea of education, to his mind, was the creation of citizens qualified to fulfill their duties. "You

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, September 22.—One of the world's largest diamonds, a stone of 540 grams or more than 2,000 carats, was reported today to have been found in a diamond field in Minas Geraes province. Its value was placed at $780,000.

A prospector named Bahia Ninhos is credited with the find, which compares favorably with the great Cullinan diamond, found in South Africa in 1907, from which two stones were cut for the British Sceptre and Crown.

FAMINE TOOK A HEAVY TOLL IN RURAL RUSSIA

Heavy Crop This Year Precludes Possibility of Repetition of Great Suffering Experienced Last Year.

Moscow, Sept. 22.—Soviet Russia now has a grain crop so rich as to preclude a possible recurrence this year of a food shortage that recently caused a large loss of human life and livestock.

This was apparent during a week's tour just completed by the Associated Press correspondent in the Ukraine and North Caucasus, Russia's huge bread baskets.

Alexander Asatkin, chief of the political section in the Ukraine, and as such one of the highest Communist party officials in that region, in a formal interview at Kharkoff, estimated the percentage of deaths in his area last winter and spring from causes related to undernourishment.

The censor in Moscow, however, refused to permit the transmission of Asakini's figures to Canada and the United States on the ground that they were "not official," although they were considerably less than the "millions" reported abroad.

"The mortality of cattle and horses was extremely heavy," said the official.

"An unusually large number of peasants left the region, seeking better conditions, but many of them have now returned."

But all official sources approached regarding the probable death toll in North Caucasus refused any information beyond saying that "conditions were bad."

Nevertheless, it is known that the government had sent thousands of tons of grain to provide food and seed for the collective farms both in the Ukraine and North Caucasus.

Those peasants who remained, furthermore, subsisted through the winter and spring on the scantiest of bread rations, with little, if any, meat and potatoes.

Cities seemed to have escaped acute distress, although in Kharkoff, the Ukrainian capital, a large industrial center, the bread rations were cut to one-third in the early spring.

REBELLION AND HUNGER MENACE CUBAN CAPITAL

Opposing Groups Open Parleys, However, in Effort to Settle Critical Political Situation.

Havana, Sept. 22.—With outward calm today this capital sat on a tinder box of rebellion and hunger.

The government of President Ramon Grau San Martin was still at odds with its political foes, but expected to reply to the opposition's demands for his resignation.

Soldiers still had trouble with rebel forces of Juan Blas Hernandez, veteran campaigner against former President Machado, in Gamaqueque province.

And, as available stores of foodstuffs dwindled, residents of Havana checked their supplies as warehousemen continued on strike. Estimates were made that the capital would go hungry if the strike continues another week.

Representatives of the Student Directory, leaders of the pro-government factions, conferred last night and early today with Miguel Mariano Gomez, leader of the Marianistas, one of the five leading opposition groups.

The first actual conflict between the government's soldier-student army and the rebels occurred at Las Cuevas in Camaguey, and reports said, two of Blas Hernandez's followers were killed. Several members of the Government's forces were said to have been wounded.

leave the Conference table if what Germans call "the spirit of the Versailles Treaty" hovers over the discussions has been frequently repeated.

Spain's no German disarmament delegation has had such a united and militant internal support as that behind Foreign Minister Von Neurath and Minister of Propaganda Goebbels, who will outline the Reich's viewpoints at Geneva.

Von Neurath, it is remembered, told foreign correspondents last Friday that the crux of the German contentions is: "The aim of the four-power pact cannot be achieved by the submission of one nation by the other partners but, on the contrary, an understanding between partners of equal rights."

The newspaper Der Angriff, after surveying the scene, said Soviet Russia can be depended on to support the German contentions and that the Little Entente nations were treaty interpretations with the uniform shipping law; closer relationships through the clothing of High Commissioners with diplomatic powers. Interchange of speaking and scenic films and the exchange of professors between dominion universities were suggested as methods of increasing understanding.

In the realm of foreign policy the conference affirmed its belief in the collective system as typified in the League of Nations, the Briand-Kellogg peace pact and the permanent Court of International Justice. Co-operation with the United States was called a vital factor.

PREMIER DENIES RUMORS OF EARLY ONTARIO VOTING

Ontario Does Not Want General Election at This Time, Premier Henry Tells Kenora Voters.

Kenora, Ont., Sept. 22.—Ontario does not want a general election at this time, Premier George S. Henry declared here last night. After full consideration the Government has come to the conclusion an immediate general election would not be in the interests of the province.

"I will not say any more here about the date of the election than I have said elsewhere," Mr. Henry told a large audience, "and that is that it will come within five years from the last general election."

JEW'S BARRED

Wuerzburg, Germany, Sept. 22.—Jews have been forbidden to enter the villages of Bertholdsdorf, Wollersdorf and Veitsaurach, in the province of Franconia.

The province is under command of the Nazi leader Julius Streicher, former country school teacher, who Hitler chose to organize the Jewish boycott. His headquarters are in Nurnberg.

The boys and girls we are sending to school today. What you are doing for them will typify the class of citizens of the next generation."

Some people believe, Dr. Percival said, that because of the depression there should be a forward step taken in education. This, of course, was wrong—and education was moving ahead in spite of the opinion of these few short-sighted individuals.

The Provincial Government, Dr. Percival pointed out, had come forward with its grants to the various institutions last year. There had been no retrenchment. "The Government of Quebec has stood well behind you," he said, "and I am telling you that as a Government official."

School buildings, Dr. Percival remarked, were being re-built and renovated, and the old type of school-house is rapidly disappearing, especially in the Eastern Townships.

"The depression," he said, "has taught us the value of education, and today there are more boys and girls attending High Schools than ever before. And they are remaining longer. If a child has the brains and ability, everything should be done to see that he or she receives a High School training."

There will always be a place in the world of affairs for a well-trained man, the speaker concluded—"a man who can think and act."

"The farmer in Denmark," stated D. F. Scott, of Stanstead College, who spent the summer studying educational conditions in Denmark, "are today an alert, prosperous and happy people, in fact the recognized leaders in rural life throughout the world."

Seventy years ago, the speaker continued, they were illiterate and as unhappy as most peasants in Europe. What has happened? By common consent, Mr. Scott explained, in Denmark the honor is given to the Folk High Schools, the practical application of a high and pure ideal. That ideal is to awaken youth to the joys and responsibilities of living. It must be borne in mind that the Folk High Schools are intended for farm youth, with the exception of two schools for industrial preparation and one for handicrafts for those who are not on a professional or academic life.

For these latter there is, of course, a very splendid system of schools similar to those of other European countries. There are also agricultural, domestic science and other vocational schools for young men and women who have only finished elementary school. We must remember then that there are other types of schools each with its own purpose, when we speak of the simplicity of a high and pure ideal in the Folk High School.

A technique of proved effectiveness towards that ideal, Grundvig discerned and seventy years have confirmed his belief, that boys and girls were most responsive to appeals, moral, domestic, civil, religious and patriotic at the age of eighteen. The boys and girls in a number, for five months in the winter, at eighteen, and the girls for three months in summer—one year in one school, though many attend other schools later. The curriculum is extremely simple. There are lectures on history, very much in Carlyle's vein, that is seeking inspiration from the great movements and personalities of history. Literature is considered of equal importance with history, helping youth to enjoy life or endure it. Political science is a simple form of instruction to open the minds of youth to the current economic and political trends. Only competent and earnest teachers are accepted. Geography, composition and arithmetic are reviewed for those who need them. All this is enriched by a great deal of singing, folk-dancing and gymnastics. There are no examinations.

3. Freedom of organization. The schools are privately owned, in Denmark usually by the principal, in Sweden by a committee. But they are supported largely by the state and municipality. The fees are only about fifteen dollars a month, and if this is a burden scholarships are readily available. In spite of this, the state allows each school complex freedom in every respect, curriculum, teachers, discipline and all. There is one old gentleman who makes a casual survey once a year or less. This freedom is best illustrated by the words of a member of parliament who won the decision for the free school in Sweden: "What is the use of feeding hens corn in the yard if you tie strings around their necks?" The direct concern of the school is its usefulness as judged by the pupils and parents and their friends. If a boy or girl comes home keen and enthusiastic for his work on the farm and in his community, with better manners and deeper purpose his school is known as successful," concluded Mr. Scott.

have to teach a child to think, and to think properly," he declared.

Speaking as the chairman of the Council of Education, Mr. Mitchell believed that they had accomplished a great deal during the past few years towards the improvement of education in this province. He felt that the Association of Protestant School Boards held an important place in the realm of educational endeavor because it afforded an opportunity to the various boards to exchange ideas and pool their knowledge for the benefit of the educational system of the Province. "And it is only by getting together and by co-operating that we can do our duty by our little boys and girls," he declared.

The programme that had been drawn up by the Council of Education several years ago, and which has since been followed, was reviewed by Mr. Mitchell. This programme embraced chiefly: 1. the simplifying of the curriculum in the elementary and intermediate schools of the province; 2. consolidation; 3. to endeavor to have the "strongest" men on the Protestant Committee; and 4. to encourage a movement for the improvement of rural school buildings and grounds.

He stressed consolidation as the most important of these, and consolidation, he believed, had made firm headway in this province and today afforded numerous boys and girls with advantages that would otherwise be denied them. "Ten or fifteen years ago," he said, "I advocated consolidation. I urged that there be a High School in each district, equipped with the best teachers available." It was imperative, he continued, that children should have the advantage of High School training and that they should be taught by efficient teachers. "We have tried to accomplish this, and tonight I ask the support of your Association to further this movement." Well over a hundred schools have been consolidated into thirty-eight, he said. "Jealousy and rivalry will be problems you will have to face in bringing about consolidation," Mr. Mitchell continued. "They are problems that you will have to face if you are to obtain the very best for your children. And the very

MINING HAS EVER BEEN THE BAROMETER OF RECOVERY.

It has been said that after all trade depressions the first industry to revive is mining. Though too often such a revival is marked by the skyrocketing of mining stocks in glory holes. Undeveloped prospects are hurled on the market by the sharks who will take advantage of the unwise and unwary, and it will all end in enough embossed shares to injure the wall paper trade.

The mining industry in Canada now stands second among the largest primary industries, having superseded the lumber trade in volume. The premier position is still held by agriculture.

Forestry or lumber production fell off owing to a recession in building and construction.

About one-third of the freight tonnage of the railways originates in the mines.

A large part of the mineralized area in Canada lies north of the settled districts, and this has invariably meant the building of new towns and villages. Many of these mining communities of mushroom growth are not permanent settlements, but in cases where the mine has not fulfilled expectations, or has become exhausted, a residue of the population, probably representing numerically the colonizing efforts of years, remains to develop the other natural resources of the region, just as did the early lumber operations in the northern counties open up new agricultural areas.

Canada stands second to the South African Rand in gold production, but not a close second, as the comparison is as three to ten millions of ounces.

Silver production fell in 1932 by thirty-five per cent., and in Canada the production showed a decline of eleven per cent.

Copper, lead and zinc, basic metals in industry, did not represent the same production as in the after-war boom year of 1929, but they did show a tremendous increase over the previous year.

Nickel productions, of which Canada has a virtual monopoly, are now showing a sharp increase, after a continuous decline since 1929.

The world output of asbestos has fallen off fifty per cent. since 1928. Canada's production has fallen off by sixty per cent. as compared with high, and this is attributed to the construction depression in the United States, and cheaper asbestos from Russia and South Africa. A goodly upturn began in the month of May.

Since 1929 the output of the Canadian coal mines fell off over thirty-three per cent, but the suggested increase of costs in the United States has already made a brighter outlook for Canada's coal regions, both in the Rockies and in Nova Scotia.

The full capacity of production has not been reached, but with the preference extended by all countries of the Empire, and with exchange rates rapidly travelling towards par, the year 1934 appears to have a gold-lining for Canada.

WE CAN HEARTILY JOIN UP WITH AMHERST.

Amherst, in Nova Scotia, naturally objected to the ill-fame of having two young men hanged in that city, and at a recent meeting of the Council of Pictou a resolution was passed and ordered to be sent to the Attorney-General of the Province. "It is not in the public interest that executions should take place in the midst of our people," resolved the Acting Mayor, and "steps should be taken to have all executions at some central place remote from the public."

The petition as worded was passed and it clearly urged that the law be changed so that all future executions should be held at some central place.

This is an idea with some reason behind it, and we can venture the assertion that no municipality in Canada will offer any bonus to be selected as Tyburn Hill.

Perhaps a petition to the press of Canada would be effective if it urged that persons once sentenced to be hanged should have a curtain of silence drawn across them, and that no mention whatever be made of the final expiation.

Few newspaper men approve the publication of the details of a hanging, and yet it is done. The disgrace punishes the innocent relatives of the convicted person. It does not serve as a lesson to the hanged.

IN THE NAME OF TRUE POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Ontario announces a provincial deficit of three millions against Quebec's loss of seven, and we shall have to cease holding Ontario up as a "horrible experience." But, under a ten-year term the Ontario deficits were $17,300,000. So we can still say "fie."

There may be re-assurance to some people in the province in reading Premier Taschereau's statement that all the services will be maintained, even those paternalistic grants which have a tendency to enervate the people. But we do believe that there had been more reassurance to the people in the relation of some things which should be discontinued.

In advertising and upholding the spirit of sanity in government we could wish for the deletion of some expensive ventures which should never have been undertaken.

There is the Employers' Liability Insurance, which last year cost the province around one million dollars. There was no logical reason for Quebec entering into such a risky business as accident insurance, when even those with skill and experience in such insurance hesitate to enter it.

We do not require a Department of Labour in Quebec, where we have skilful workmen who are content to work under existing protective laws. That is another expense which could well be done away with. The Federal Government erected such a department in Laurier's time, chiefly for political purposes, but it proved to be a boomerang.

We have other departments for the continuance of which we pay Federal taxes. Why should any provincial government parallel or duplicate the work of another? Some municipal governments may follow suit and have a Committee of Labour under a chief Councillor of Labour, and thus triplicate taxing costs in practising parish politics.

When British Columbia was at the zenith of its extravagance, and before it became the most heavily taxed of all the provinces, the government of the day, the same government which began to build the ruinous railway which has shattered the credit of the Pacific Coast province, erected a Department of Labour, and placed the widow of a coal miner at its head. They still have a Department of Labour. This province still has forty-eight members in its Local House, with a Cabinet of ten members, and a population of but 600,000.

We could well do with sixty-five members in the Local Legislature of Quebec, with electoral divisions as they are fixed in the Federal elections.

There are many grants, and many services which could well be disposed with in the name and on the unanimous call for Political Economy in Government.

Our cousins across the border are still in doubt as to whether the N.R.A. will be a bonanza or just a boom; and we all know that a boom is a balloon which bursts. We are awaiting word from Ottawa as to whether our government is vigilant in sensing that the N.R.A. is assessing Canadian motorists $10,000,000 as their share of our tourist money spent in Canada. This is done by raising the price of the raw petroleum, from which our gasoline is distilled.

Press Comment

THE GHOULS IN NOVA SCOTIA.
 Wolfville Acadian.

Following a change in government in this country there is common general demand that the victor belong to the spoils. Those who have been filling public offices be turned out in order that others should fill them as a reward for partisan zeal. According to report, the newly elected representative are being overwhelmed by requests of this kind. A brother newspaper man in the Eastern part of the Province, who happens to have been a successful candidate in the election, rather suggestively states that "in every constituency there is a demand for a job." Such a condition is doubtless largely due to the present state of unemployment, but as well to the lavish pre-election promises that were made. So far as the fulfillment of such promises is concerned the politicians have only themselves to thank for their dilemma.

Letters to The Editor

OPPOSE TRANSFER OF MYTHICAL FUNDS

To The Editor,
 Sherbrooke Record.
 Sir:—Property owners, members of the Federation des Ouvriers de Sherbrooke, with the other members of the Federation, are strongly opposed to the proposed transfer of funds as presented by the president of the Finance Committee, Mr. Langis.

At a meeting of the Federation des Ouvriers de Sherbrooke, held on the 14th instant, a resolution was approved by all the members, to the effect that they were unanimously opposed to this transfer of funds as outlined in a motion presented by Alderman Langis.

This balance consists of certain amounts left over from by-laws and was voted by the proprietors for certain specific works and should not be used in opening new streets on property not owned by the City. Land owners must open these streets themselves and make them passable before they are accepted by the City; whereas the City has already opened up in the vicinity of thirty new streets with the taxpayers' money. This work is going right along and has the approval of certain aldermen while some of our old streets are not fit for traffic. Many of them have to be levelled, enlarged and new sidewalks put in.

There is undoubtedly plenty of room for improvement in the City's administration. They are asking the unemployed to work five or six days a week to build new streets on property not owned by the City and which do not have to be built and the cost is being charged to the taxpayers, the idea being more to help those who sell the material to the City and deposit this amount into the general account, without stating to what purposes or how this money will be spent. Certain aldermen were forced to admit that there was at a time a balance of $126,000, left over from these by-laws for three or four years which could either have been spent for the benefit of the unemployed with the authorization of the property owners or else deposited to the sinking fund. Yet, this is not real money, but must come out of taxes gathered.

The "Federation des Ouvriers de Sherbrooke" is strongly opposed to this transfer of authorized expenditure. We request that this money be used in giving work to the unemployed and paying them in cash with the authorization of the property-owners.

The Federation des Ouvriers de Sherbrooke is asking the support of all the property-owners of the City to help them in obtaining a square deal for all the citizens of Sherbrooke.

We are giving below an extract from the law governing all moneys borrowed through by-laws by municipalities in the Province of Quebec: In Chapter III, section V, it clearly states:

Of the use of funds borrowed through by-laws: Funds secured through a loan contracted by a bond issue or otherwise, must be used exclusively for the purposes for which they were intended, with the exception where the loan is in excess of the amount required, in which case the amount in excess may be spent for other purposes through a subsequent by-law approved in the same manner as the original by-law.

Any member of the Council who authorizes such a transfer of funds otherwise than stated above is personally responsible for all sums transferred. The same responsibility applies to the secretary or any other municipal employee who does or takes a part into this transfer of funds.

For this reason we are opposed to this transfer and we are asking the support of all thinking property owners of the City. We understand that there is now a balance of approximately $69,000 left over from these by-laws since 1922. This amount cannot be seen in the auditor's report for 1932 and we feel that the better way to make the whole thing clear to everyone would be to have an audit by the Municipal Commission.

We sign on behalf of the Federation des Ouvriers de Sherbrooke of St. Gordon street.

JOSEPH LEROUX, Secretary.
 AMEDEE LAVIGNE, President.

RESULTS OF HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTEST ANNOUNCED

The results of the home improvement contest conducted by the Sherbrooke County Women's Institute during the summer months were announced today, the winners being: 1, Mrs. Fearon; 2, Mrs. W. Pearson; 3, Mrs. C. Drummond, Jr.; 4, Mrs. H. McLeod, and 5, Miss M. Lamb.

The contest was conducted with the assistance of W. G. MacDougall and his staff, of the Lennoxville Experimental Farm. Two inspections to each of the twenty-seven homes were made. The prizes to the winning ladies will be awarded by the Institute at the county meeting in November.

Another contest is expected to be held next year, while at the same time the Institute hopes to branch out on a new subject, namely, "Home Surroundings." This will include the home improvement, no way including the home improvement, for during the last contest it was discovered that many homes ranked eighty and eighty-three points, leaving little opportunity for betterment.

CHIEF PREPARES TO DISTRIBUTE WOOD TO POOR

Total of 3,038 Loads or 1,519 Cords Distributed to Indigents in City During Past Twelve Months, Statistics Reveal.

With the advent of fall and winter weather, the "wood yard" at local police headquarters on Marquette street is being rapidly stocked in order that Chief Camirand will be in a position to meet the heavy demand for wood expected to be made by indigents and unemployed during the next few months.

The distribution of wood to the poor families of the city is an important feature of the unemployment work being carried out in this city, and is in charge of Chief H. O. Camirand.

There are already about five hundred cords of wood in the yard behind the station headquarters, but this is only a fraction of what it is believed will be needed. During the past twelve months, 1,519 cords of wood were distributed throughout the city, and the year before 1,229 cords. The Chief, estimating the need for the coming winter, is purchasing heavy amounts of wood regularly and the yard at this time presents a scene of bustling activity.

The responsibility that is attached to the distribution of wood is by no means a light one, but the Chief in the past has succeeded in executing this particular phase of his numerous duties with care and consideration.

The past year was one of the busiest seasons at the police department in connection with the delivery of wood, and this fact is quickly appreciated when one considers that no less than 3,038 double loads — or 6,076 loads figured by the preceding years' method — were distributed from September, 1932, until the end of the month of August.

The months of June, July and August, of course, were light—the heaviest month being March, when 465 double loads were delivered. As each load is figured to contain half a cord, it is estimated that in the past twelve months 1,519 cords were given away to poor families.

During the same period of the previous year, 1,229 cords were distributed—or 4,918 loads. These loads contained each a quarter of a cord.

The distribution of wood during the past twelve months was as follows:

A special meeting of the City Council is being held this evening to give second reading to by-law 587 authorizing the transfer of certain municipal funds from one account to another. IS SUED AFTER JUMP OUT OF A RUNAWAY RIG

Judge Verret Will Determine Whether Employer Is Justified in Jumping Out of Wagon when Horses Run Away and Leaving His Employee to Handle Situation Alone.

Is an employer justified in jumping out of a wagon when the horses run away and leaving his employee to handle the situation alone? George Lassenbay, of Cookshire, thinks not—but it will be up to Mr. Justice Hector Verret to determine whether his claim of $999 for injuries is well founded or not. The facts of the case were laid before the learned judge this morning and he took the matter under advisement.

Lassenbay, according to his story, was employed by Howard Cook, of Cookshire, on August 31, 1931, during the haying season. On that particular day, Lassenbay, accompanied by his employer and two other men, was driving a team of horses to fetch the last load of hay when the horses apparently became frightened and ran away.

Lassenbay claims he yelled to his boss to help him.

But his boss obviously had other ideas. According to Lassenbay, he, Cook, jumped out of the wagon—and the two other men did likewise.

Lassenbay was left alone. The horses ran wild. The wagon careened down the road. Lassenbay yelled and pulled at the reins. The wagon tipped over. Lassenbay was thrown out. He was dragged by the horses a considerable distance and finally knocked unconscious.

For his personal injuries and the expenses attached he claims $999. He asked for judgment for this amount.

But Cook has another story to tell. His plea is one long page of "denials," and he adds that the plaintiff was to blame for the accident.

Lassenbay, according to the defendant, was leading the horse-drawn vehicle down an incline, and he failed to apply the brakes to the wheels. The wagon gained momentum and the horses were forced to break into a run.

And, furthermore, Cook declared, Lassenbay had placed his coat upon a pole in front of the hay-rack, and this garment frightened the horses.

LOCAL JEWRY OBSERVING NEW YEAR

Sherbrooke's Jewish colony joined today with their fellowmen throughout the world to celebrate the New Year, the traditional festival of Rosh Hashanah. The observance which started at sunset last evening ushered in the year 5694.

Local Jewish stores closed their doors yesterday and will re-open this evening.

The Hebrew New Year originally marked the beginning of the agricultural and economic year in Palestine, which began in autumn because it was then that came the harvest and the gathering of fruits.

The feast is celebrated by resting from all labor, but is distinguished from other holidays by the blowing of the Shofar, the ram's horn—a custom which still prevails.

Rev. Mittleman, rabbi of the local Jewish congregation, was in charge of the ceremonies at the synagogue on Montreal street today. Prayers were said until two o'clock this afternoon, and the observance was concluded with two services after dinner.

A VICTORY OVER ST. LOUIS GAVE SENATORS FLAG

Washington Has Removed Last Lingering Doubt in American League Pennant Race by Nosing Out Last-Place Browns Yesterday—Rain Gave Giants Much-Needed Rest.

New York, Sept. 22.—The last lingering doubt has been removed and the Joe Cronin and his mighty men of Washington against Bill Terry and his bustling New York Giants in the 1933 world series. The Senators, long regarded as a "sure thing" to capture the American League flag yesterday reached the point where they can't be beaten by defeating the last place St. Louis Browns by two to one in a close game, fought out before stands that already were being prepared to receive the series crowds.

Washington has six more games to play and the second-place New York Yankees eight. But even if the Senators lost them all and the Yanks chalked up an unbroken string of victories, the final standing will show Washington with 97 victories and 55 losses, the Yanks with 95 won and 55 lost.

The game which finally settled the pennant chase brought little excitement to Washington fans, perhaps less than there was in New York where a crowd of 5,000 stood in a drizzle to pay tribute to the Giants as they received a civic welcome the day after their return from the west where they clinched the flag on Tuesday.

The followers of the Senators knew all along they had a team of champions and they fought off the challenge of last year's series winners, the Yankees, in a decisive series in August and had piled up an ever-increasing lead through the "dog days" when playing baseball is hard work.

Walter Stewart, southpaw ace who used to pitch for the Browns, held his former team in check to give the Senators the title contest in a duel with Irving "Bump" Hadley, one-time Washington flinger. The deciding run came in the seventh inning, just after St. Louis had led the series, 2-1, when the "boy" manager, Bucky Harris, in 1925, was given a large share of the credit for the triumph.

The Giants, after their damp parade, enjoyed another day of much-needed rest in preparation for the world series duel with another game with the Brooklyn Dodgers, the only one on the National League schedule, was postponed.

The one remaining game saw the sudden and complete downfall of Johnny Marcum, rookie pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, who startled the American League by starting out with two straight shutouts, and a ten to three triumph for the Detroit Tigers over the A's in their final clash.

The other four American League clubs were not scheduled.

BUFFALO NEEDS ONE MORE VICTORY TO CAPTURE MINOR TITLE
Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 22.—Buffalo's Bisons, a mediocre club which could finish no better than fourth in the regular International League campaign, today was on the threshold of the championship as the result of the title play-off series conducted this year for the first time.

WASHINGTON IS MORE SEASONED THAT NEW YORK

Senators Are Older, More Experienced and Better Balanced Club, Outside of Battery Department, than Giants, but National Leaguers Have Plenty of Fight.

New York, Sept. 22.—Chief among the reasons why it should be a hammer and tongs battle between the Giants and the Senators in the world series is that each pennant-winning club has shown the ability to win under pressure. Each has looked good "in the clubhouse."

Washington has an older, more experienced and better balanced club, outside of the battery department, but it has shown no more coolness nor steadiness under fire than the spirited group of young men directed by Bill Terry. If you have ever noticed the look in Bill Terry's black eyes or the jutting angle of his jaw, when he is talking or planning serious baseball strategy, you will realize the influence he has upon his players.

To a certain extent, the fortunes of the Senators in the world series both championship teams. The Senators took advantage of the sharp decline of the world champion Yankees in mid-season, yet it must be conceded the Capital crew helped start Babe Ruth & Company to a rather unsteady start.

When the Yankees, in their last big gesture, took a double-header from Washington early in August, the two clubs were only a game apart. There was a flare-up of the old Yankee enthusiasm again but the Senators promptly rallied, took two games in a row and left the big town with one and all convinced they were the coming champions.

Washington captured the season's series from every American League rival by so decisive a margin that no room has been left for argument.

Although the Giants were first to clinch the pennant, the feeling that the club really was "in" did not become firmly established until they knocked off the Boston Braves in their last game in September. The Braves had been especially troublesome all year for the New Yorkers, winning the majority of games, and were on the crest of a wave. When they took the first game of the "crucial" series in Boston, the Braves accused tremendous enthusiasm. It ended abruptly the next day when Hubbell and Fitzsimmons pitched and batted the Giants to a double victory before 50,000 fans. It vanished when New York made it four straight games left Boston with an eight-game lead.

"That was the real turning point of our season," said Terry after leading his merry men through the west for the last time. "Nothing could stop us after the 'Battle of Boston.' We just went out and took all the games on the enemy's grounds. And that's another reason why the Senators can't scare us."

The Giants and the Senators waged a sensational battle the last time they met in the big series, in 1924, which ended in favor of the Nats until the twelfth inning of the seventh and final game and the Capital City of the United States thereupon proceeded to go mad with celebration. There are not many active survivors of that "Battle of Boston." We just went out and took all the games on the enemy's grounds. And that's another reason why the Senators can't scare us."

This year the Giants had the advantage of starting and possibly finishing the world series at the Polo Grounds. The first two and last two games are scheduled in New York. At home, the use of the National League ball, which undoubtedly is less lively than the American League ball, will be a distinct asset to the Giant pitchers, Hubbell, Schumacher and Fitzsimmons, who are slated to work in that order.

NEW YORK EXTENDED FORMER WELCOME TO GIANTS
New York, Sept. 22.—With all the steaming enthusiasm of the bescher boys, New York formally hailed Bill Terry's Giants yesterday as the second champions of the National League.

Thousands stood and yelled in a drizzle of rain in the City Hall plaza as Mayor John O'Brien, boasting that he once had managed the Georgetown University team, read his eulogy from the City Hall steps and sniped sly at the sports writer who had predicted the Giants couldn't do it.

John McGraw, who brought New York's last National League flag back to town in 1924, spoke briefly and self-consciously, looking and apparently feeling regretfully like a figure apart from it all. John Heydner, president of the league, made a speech, Bill Terry, the lead appearing in business clothes, introduced the equally inoffensive looking team-mates in their everyday suits.

"This is the happiest moment in my life," said Terry, as he blushed in the din of the bands and the cheers and addressed the wrong end of the microphone of the loud speaker system.

Ten, one by one, he brought his team-mates down the steps, Travis Jackson, Frank O'Doul, Freddy Fitzsimmons, Joe Moore, Jack "They Can't Beat Us" Ryan, Hal Schumacher, Mel Ott, Fuzhins, Critz, Gus Mancuso, Roy Parmelee, Adolfo Luque, Herman Bell, George Davis, and finally a weak and wan looking Johnny Vergee, third baseman just out of a hospital after an appendicitis operation.

One and all they murmured "hello folks," and retired to a flutter of hand-shaking back up the steps.

ADA MACKENZIE PLAYS MARGERY KIRKHAM TODAY

Finalists in Open Tourney Last Week, Two Leading Canadian Lady Golfers Clash Again Today with Toronto Star's Close Championship at Stake.

St. Charles Country Club, Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—Holder of the open title by virtue of her defeat of Margery Kirkham, of Montreal, at the Pine Ridge course here last week and four times holder of the close crown, Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto, today sought to retain her Canadian women's close championship as she drove off in the final against Miss Kirkham here.

Both players advanced to the playdown by comparatively easy victories in the semi-final yesterday. Miss Mackenzie downed Mrs. R. K. Bearsto, Winnipeg city and Manitoba titleholder, by four and two, while the Montreal star triumphed by seven and five over the tee-shot star from Toronto, Isabel Peppall, holder of the Ontario junior crown.

Both eastern shot-makers were at the top of their game yesterday. Miss Mackenzie maintained a lead of 41, which gave her a two-hole margin over the local player.

She carded ten pars and a birdie for the sixteen holes of the match, which was played under fair weather conditions, but against a stiff crosswind.

After a rather unsteady start, Miss Kirkham settled down to the game of which she is capable to play the last ten holes against Miss Peppall in par figures. She was out in 42, and came back to equal par for the course until the match terminated on the thirteenth.

Miss Peppall did not at any time play the golf that has characterized her matches in previous rounds. She continually outdrove Miss Kirkham but ran into a lot of trouble by finding trap after trap while her work on the greens was erratic.

Inability to get her putter working smoothly proved disastrous to Mrs. Bearsto's game. She made the turn in 43 and trailed Miss Mackenzie two holes, largely because of her play on the greens. With the Torontonian down to four, the Manitoba first ranker kept the game alive with a birdie two on the fifteenth. But the sixteenth was too much for her and she ran up a seven to lose the game and the match.

While the Julius Kayser softball team, winners of the Sherbrooke Ladies' League, are marking time awaiting the provincial play-off against a Montreal team, the Sherbrooke Cottons Club are filling the breach with exhibition games. Two fixtures have been arranged for the week-end, both of which should produce lively encounters.

Tomorrow afternoon the Cottons aggregation will meet East Angus in the deciding game of a series in which both teams have already won a game. On Sunday the Cottons will oppose a local aggregation, the Independents. Both games will be played on the Parade Grounds.

SCHOOL HOCKEY LEAGUE RULES FOR THIS YEAR

Athletic Committee Report Presented at Annual Meeting of Protestant School Boards in Stanstead Deals with Hockey Situation.

An interesting feature of the athletic committee report presented yesterday at the annual meeting of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards at Stanstead was the formula of regulations that will prevail in the Association's hockey league during the coming winter.

Much interest was centered in the activities of the league last winter, with teams entered from Lake Megantic, Scotstown, Cookshire, Sawyerville, East Angus, North Hatley, Ayer's Cliff, Magog, Waterloo, Knowlton, Covansville, Bedford, Howick, Ormstown, Valleyfield, and Shawville.

Teams from Aylmer, Valleyfield and Ayer's Cliff met in Montreal for their final games and the championship was finally won by Ayer's Cliff.

The committee drew the attention of the Association to a somewhat neglected point of games among girl pupils, and recommended softball as of first importance, with basketball a good second. Some schools, it was pointed out, provide skating rinks on the school grounds for the hockey teams, and certain days are reserved for skating only, in which sport the girls may participate.

In connection with hockey, the following rules will be in force this winter:
1.—No player will be eligible to play in the league when he reached his twenty-fifth birthday.
2.—To establish his eligibility to play in the School League, a player will have to attend the school for which he plays sixty per cent. of the school days of the season.

Several changes were made to clause three, dealing with application. These changes were as follows:
1.—A list of fifteen players shall accompany the application for membership in the league, to which application must be made on or before December 1. Each player shall sign this list himself in his own handwriting, stating his age and the grade in which he is studying during the current year. This list will be attached to the principal of the school. No others shall be allowed to play for that particular school. The burden of supplying satisfactory proof as to the eligibility of the player will fall upon the school.

The sum of five dollars, all of which will go to the league executive, will accompany the application.
3.—The school colors shall accompany each application. This will allow the school winning the cup to retain the colors attached to the cup when they surrender it to the league the following year.

Rev. E. C. Amaron, principal of Stanstead College, was appointed to assist Dr. Erle Draper, of Bedford, in connection with the hockey league. Rev. Amaron will in all probability have charge of districts east of Bedford.

Finals will be decided by the best two out of three sets.
The complete draw is as follows:
Men's singles—First round: B. Dunsmore vs. D. Heaslip; A. Pearson vs. C. Brundamour; H. Leslie vs. M. Echenberg; L. Gagne vs. R. Langin; R. Allatt vs. E. Simonsau; F. Mitton vs. M. Lavallee; A. Bishop vs. M. Wallace; R. Leslie vs. M. Dunsmore. Second round: W. Beck vs. R. Delude; E. W. Armstrong vs. H. Munkittrick; G. McManamy vs. R. Mooney; A. Mooney vs. P. Biron.

COLLEGE SQUAD ROUNDING INTO SHAPE RAPIDLY

Week of Steady Conditioning at Bishop's Reveals Formidable Intermediate and Junior Aggregations—Bruce Munro Elected Captain of Intermediate Entry.

After almost a week of steady conditioning, the members of the Bishop's University football squad are beginning to shape up into looking formidable intermediate and junior teams. Most of the difficulties arising from graduation have been met and conquered by the arrival of new material capable of filling the vacancies. The new coach, Harry Griffiths, is very optimistic about the prospects of the Purple and White entry in both the Intermediate Interscholastic and Eastern Q.R.F.U. circuits.

Wednesday afternoon marked the first appearance on the college gridiron this season of full battle between the Purple and White entries. The Purple were put through a rigorous routine of tacking and blocking, while half-backs and outside wings concentrated on running back kicks and forward pass work. Powell, a sturdy plunging middle, was put out of the scrimmage for a few days by a sprained ankle, and "Chief" Carson, one of the best of Griffiths' outside wings, is in bed for a time through illness. The injury list, however, is very low for this stage of the game. The knotty problem of a quarterback to replace Bill Bradley was solved yesterday when Mac Dunsmore, a star on Len O'Donnell's Sherbrooke High School squad last season, reported for practice and put up a fine showing in this key position.

Among the other newcomers to the Lennoxville gridiron are Lynn Tomkins, who has been a star at various times in past years on Sherbrooke High School and Sherbrooke Athletics teams, John Barber, from Bishop's College School, and Nick, from Lennoxville High, who have infused new blood into the college outfit. Jack Carson, a Hamilton boy, bids fair to play understudy to his brother at outside wing.

Yesterday afternoon brought the boys together for the first talk of the season and series of clever plays were outlined. The plays were later tried out on the field with promising results.

At this same meeting, Bruce Munro, a member of the squad for the past two years, was elected to captain this year's team. Bishop's open their intermediate schedule in Montreal against McGill on October 11. The first home game is fixed for October 28 with McGill providing the opposition.

The intermediate and junior college schedules are as follows:

BUTTER PROBLEMS DISCUSSED
Ottawa, September 22.—Representatives of fifteen firms interested in the manufacture and storage of butter held a conference yesterday with Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture. The subject of the conference was not disclosed, but it doubtless had to do with the export of butter. A short time ago officials of the National Dairy Council laid before Mr. Weir and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, the situation resulting from a surplus of butter in this country in excess of domestic requirements.

PREMIER HENRY DENIES RUMOR OF ELECTION
Addressing Kenora Gathering, Ontario Prime Minister Declared People Do Not Want Election at Present Time.

Kenora, Ont., Sept. 22.—Definite indication an early general election in Ontario is not to be expected has been given by Premier George S. Henry. Continuing his tour of northwestern Ontario, Mr. Henry addressed a large crowd here last night and declared the people did not want an election now but wished an opportunity to take advantage of the trend of improvement now evident in economic conditions.

During the last few months, Mr. Henry said, the Government had given careful consideration to the question of an election which some suggested, should be held now. He had consulted his colleagues and many people throughout the province. Apart from Mitchell F. Heburn, Liberal leader, and his ally, Harry Nixon, leader of the Progressives, he had found no one who favored an early political battle.

As a result the Government had come to the conclusion it was best to do nothing to interfere with the slow but certain economic recovery towards better times and which economize wherever possible without curtailing services vital to the welfare of the people. An enlarged programme of road building and public works to absorb some of those now on direct relief into gainful employment was under consideration.

MANY LESSONS LEARNED FROM BALLOON TRIP

Even Orange Cast Overboard at Proper Time Will Cause Bag to Rise Three Thousand Feet.

Montreal, Sept. 22.—Under certain circumstances a single orange, tossed overboard from a balloon, will cause the bag to rise 3,000 feet. This was one of the many discoveries of their aerial adventure through the clouds, related here today by Captain Hynek and Lieut. Z. Brzyski, who in their balloon the "Kosciusko" won the 1933 James Gordon Bennett race by soaring from Chicago a distance of 846 miles to a point near Riviere a Pierre.

Victory for the Poles gave their government the right to stage next year's race and the two army aviators hope to be chosen to represent their country again. They believed they would have broken the American record of 1,172 miles had a heavy bank of clouds, seen from a height of 19,000 feet, not taken on the appearance of the Atlantic Sea coast and the sea beyond. Fearing they were about to drift with sea they descended in the Quebec forests.

For five days, sustained by eating half an orange each per day, they wandered through the woods, seeking a railway line they had observed in passing high overhead. Eventually they made contact with civilization and their gasbag was brought out and will be taken to New York and home shortly.

Valuable data on the effect of heat and cold upon the buoyancy of balloons and on the importance of discarding ballast, even in little pieces, at the right time was obtained by the Polish army officers who arrived in Montreal yesterday.

The officers could not speak too highly of the effort expended by the Quebec Government in detailing, through the Department of Lands
