

NEW COUNCIL ADOPTS 'MUTUAL AID'

— Approves 7 point program

THE WESTMOUNT

VOL. XXXVII No. 3, MONTREAL, THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1968 16 PAGES 5c

Aldermen J. Birks and P. McEntyre were sworn in officially at a meeting of Westmount's City Council on Monday evening. The swearing in served to welcome newcomer Birks to municipal service.

At the same meeting Alderman Birks was appointed Commissioner of Planning and Re-development. In taking office as commissioner he takes the seat of former alderman Gross.

City fathers also gave their approval, with qualifications, to the proposed "Mutual Aid Program", a program of reciprocal fire fighting aid between the Cities of Town of Mount Royal, Outremont and St. Laurent. Approval was given subject to the approval of the other three cities concerned. The program as outlined in the resolution passed Monday evening provides that:

1. Each participating municipality shall have at least two first class pumpers with a combined capacity of 1680 gallons per minute.
2. Each municipality shall be capable of supplying a crew of not less than five qualified firemen with the vehicle and equipment in response to a request for assistance from another participating municipality.
3. Each municipality shall standardize its firefighting procedures with those of the other participating municipalities.

4. The senior officer on duty of the municipality requesting assistance shall be in charge of operations.

5. The "Fire Service Training Manual" shall serve as the basic training manual for all personnel concerned.

6. The City of Westmount in rendering assistance to any of the three other participating municipalities shall do so without charge for:

(a) the use of its apparatus and equipment, (b) the regular salary of fire personnel, (c) the initial fuelling and lubrication of apparatus, (d) the insurance policy covering damage to its vehicles and equipment and injuries to Fire Department Personnel.

7. The City of Westmount when receiving assistance shall pay to the participating municipalities who provide such assistance the following costs:

(a) the difference between the regular rates of pay and the overtime rates, should the assisting personnel be required to remain on the scene after they have completed their regular shift, (b) the salaries of back-up crews at the established rates in force in the municipalities who render assistance, (c) the refuelling and lubrication of apparatus.

Elder, Mr. R. Tilley, Dr. L. Mussells, Mr. A. Mount, Dr. D. Solomon and District Superintendent B. Schaffelburg.

Gifted classes found in Westmount

Unknown to many, but operating in an efficient manner, are a group of Special Education services provided to Westmount youngsters by The Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal. These services are offered to a wide variety of youngsters and permit them to reach their true educational potential.

At Westmount Park School are classes for the educable mentally retarded. Under the guidance of Miss B. M. Billingsley and Mr. J. C. McCrea, these youngsters are receiving a basic education. In many cases, progress into more advanced academic work within specific subject areas is not uncommon. The net result is that these pupils are better able to cope with life's daily problems, and they are in a position to be productive citizens of their nation.

Follow-up for these students appears in Westmount High School. There in practical (Continued on page 7)

Despite the frigid air of last week every day saw members taking part in the Club program - perhaps they were seeking refuge from the freezing weather. However, chess was the order of the day every afternoon and evening with some very hard fought games being played. Weight lifting and gymnastics have been popular events too.

Girls Volleyball:

Practices have been taking place in the evenings for the forthcoming Inter-Club Volleyball tournament. We are hoping to be able to field a first rate team for this event. Some of the Club members who have turned up on a regular basis for practices and will be assured a berth on the team, are: Gail and Eileen Galley, Patty Anne Fernandes, Cheryl Anne Moore, Margaret Morrissey, Vicky Rountree and Debbie Standing. Any other interested member will be welcomed.

Volunteer Meeting:

Last week a very interesting and stimulating meeting was held with many of the Club volunteers taking part. The meeting took the form of an exchange of ideas between the volunteers and the under thirteen members with the latter informing the volunteers the type of program they desired and the volunteers assuring them that these ideas would be implemented if possible. It is also hoped that the volunteers will form a committee amongst themselves with election of officers and regular meetings.

Basketball House League:

This is a regular event at the Club every Tuesday night from 7:30-10:00 p.m. Kenny Annabelle has volunteered to supervise this activity. Many club members are participating in this sport, members who are not on a regular team seem inclined to join in either on a regular or irregular basis. There is always room for others so come along and warm up in the gym.

Judo:

We are most grateful for the services rendered by Hugh Ballantyne during the first term of the winter season in this ever popular sport. However, he has not been able to continue so in future Allan Bechard will be conducting the Saturday morning Judo classes. Allan is the Boys' work supervisor at Unity and has had previous experience and success in Judo instructing.

Redecorating:

There has been a flurry of Spring refurbishing at the Club recently with the repainting of Allan Bechard's office by Allan assisted by Chuck Tyler, Club Director, supervising the operation and doing plenty of roller wielding and finishing the fine points. After all Chuck has had lots of experience. He painted most of the Club assisted by Doug Wright a former Club member, during last summer.

Board of Directors:

A meeting of the Board of Directors of Unity was held at the Club last Tuesday. Members of the Board are all busy business men in many different lines of endeavour and we do appreciate the time and effort they expend on the management of the Club.

Seminar:
 A seminar in Club Management is taking place this weekend at Victoria Harbour to which The Montreal Boys' Association personnel has been invited. Chuck Tyler will be attending from Unity. Incidentally for those who do not know, Victoria Harbour is approximately one hundred miles north of Toronto. We hope it warms up for you boys.

Rotary holds Bonspeil

By E. C. Gannon

Rotary's 14th International Bonspeil to be held at the Alpine Inn, St. Marguerite, Que., on January 25 to 28 is expected to be a popular feature event of the year according to Frank Starr and Les Stuart who have been drumming up enthusiasm for the occasion. A Ladies' Bonspeil will also be held in conjunction with the Men's and a special rate is being offered to participants for the occasion. Announcement to this effect was made at the regular weekly luncheon held in Victoria Hall.

The speaker for the occasion was Dr. Leslie G. Humber, B.Sc., Ph.D., who was the winner of a Rotary Scholarship from the Westmount Club in 1949. Since graduation he has achieved outstanding success as a Research Chemist and at present occupies an executive position with one of Canada's larger drug companies. Dr. Humber spoke on "Some Aspects of Drug Research" and gave his listeners an interesting insight into the discovery and development of present day drugs.

Members were still commenting on the success of Past Presidents Day at which they were able to renew acquaintance with many of the older members. Bill Clark's talk on Vocational Service was considered a classic in which he dealt with aspects of this avenue of service to stimulate future action, proposing the organizing of visits by Rotarians to the plants and places of business of fellow members; after dinner speakers by such persons as a member's favorite salesman; the promotion of a competitor's day; and the enlistment of professional help to assist in a practical application of career counselling in the High Schools.

Ron MacKay's talk was equally appreciated in which he placed emphasis on the ingredients in any adequate definition of what Rotary is. These ingredients, he said, were Service, Cooperation, and Fellowship. He reminded his listeners that Rotary was born out of a desire for fellowship, but fellowship with a purpose, namely, to render service. Committee work was a tangible illustration of fellowship combined with service. The results of such an ideal in action, he said, can be seen at Rotary International level in such activities as the Rotary Foundation Fellowship and Interact Clubs for boys 16-18, and at the local level in such activities as Rotary's contribution to the Children's Memorial Hospital, the formation of the Unity Boys' and Girls' Club.

We Say

An incredible canard for students in need

It is utterly incredible that there are 4,000 crooked youths pursuing higher education in this province.

The allegation of the department of education at Quebec is that this number is guilty of fraud or attempted fraud through false declarations in government assistance applications.

We refuse to believe it.

The burden of proof lies with the bureaucrats responsible for this pointless smear.

However much some of us of more advanced years may find it difficult to understand and even deplore some of the more extraordinary traits of the younger generation, we simply cannot credit young people intent on gaining an advanced education to equip them for leadership tomorrow with wholesale dishonesty.

For that is what this charge implies: that almost six percent of the 68,000 applications for loans or scholarships were fraudulent!

Our guess, rather, is that the application forms were so ineptly drawn up, complicated and involved, that many an applicant has simply been trapped into wrong or ambiguous answers. Ten thousand forms returned for being incorrectly filled out amply supports this suspicion.

Let's face it: these wild charges have all the earmarks of a shameful smoke-screen by an incompetent education department which, mid-way through the school and university year, have yet failed to make good on the majority of the applications, even those clearly valid and worthy.

A craven, cowardly answer to the mounting bitter complaints that many a student, in urgent need of proffered and promised support from the taxpayer to improve his future worth to society, is in desperate and distracted straits.

Transplants concern more than doctors

One need not be a physician or surgeon to have valid views on the morality of heart transplants; or, for that matter, of other human organs.

Thus the lay public must view with jaundiced eye the attitude taken and freely expressed by some members of the medical profession toward the dramatic operations performed in South Africa, New York and California.

Edmonton Heart Surgeon J. C. Callaghan, for example, scores Dr. Christiaan Barnard for behaving like "an actor" in telling all to the world rather than confining himself to reporting to the medical profession. He accuses Barnard of sensationalizing in the world press.

Dr. Callaghan and his like-minded colleagues are to be respected for their respective skills and knowledge and are entitled to dissent.

But their dated claim that medical knowledge belongs to a mutually exclusive and closed profession won't do in this century, least of all the late nineteen-sixties.

What Barnard and the others accomplished was a sensational thing which the lay world rightly sensed to be of great potential importance to mankind, whether success or failure, whether right or immoral.

It is folly to think that an accomplishment of this magnitude could have been kept from public notice or that Drs. Barnard, Kantrowitz and Shumway should have been barred from explaining to the public.

The great names of medicine - indeed, the achievers as well as the failures in all fields of human endeavour - belong not only to their own disciplines but to the world.

Bulletins from Birdland Variety in Feet

By Winifred Wilson

We cannot imagine a Robin walking up a tree trunk at a verticle angle like a Woodpecker or swimming like a Duck. Mother Nature supplies feet to suit the need. And so a Woodpecker has well-hooked claws and a Duck's toes are webbed. Horned Larks are great walkers and runners, therefore they have been given long toes - particularly the hind toe; Hawks' feet are powerful and their talons long, strong, sharp, and curved for both capturing and holding live prey.

Kingfishers excavate tunnels in banks for nesting places, and in consequence their two outer toes are joined for half their length, making the sole of the foot broad and flattened - in fact, somewhat like a shovel. Ospreys are fishers of a different kind, catching the prey in their feet instead of in their bills as do Kingfishers. Therefore they have been given feet that are large, strong, and equipped with a rough, scale-like surface. Their claws are long, sharp, and powerful, and the outer toe can be moved around to the back to better aid in carrying a fish.

Winter brings a real foot problem to our heavily built birds of the ground type. The ordinary feet of Grouse and Quail are quite similar to those of our common barnyard fowl. Designed for scratching the ground in order to obtain food, they are strong and compact, with three toes pointing forward and one backward, and the claws are blunt. These birds are found across Canada and far down into the United States. But those living in the northern section where deep snow covers the ground for some months are supplied with snow-shoes just for the snowy period. At the right date, their feet grow fringe-like scales along the sides of each toe. When spring comes, these appendages are shed.

The Ptarmigan travels about quite a bit, and mostly on foot, but it never actually leaves its home in the far north. It is an Arctic bird. For this reason its feet are thickly feathered for warmth, to the very ends of the

You Say

Mayor of Westmount comes first to mind

Sir: In reply to your recent editorial, it would appear that The Examiner misjudges the citizens of Westmount. Many of us are keenly interested in our city, and when we think of a mayor, it is the Westmount mayor that we think of. Having been brought up to appreciate the high standard of everything in our city, we think our form of government is the best. The test is in the result.

We all need to express more gratitude for the first class citizens who serve this community without pay. Isn't it clear that this method of choosing candidates produces a better type of candidate?

Our only reason for subscribing to The Examiner is our deep interest in our fair city.

(Miss) N. M. Burnett

toes. In mid-summer a moult takes place, and these feet feathers are shed; but the new ones are growing at the same time. Accordingly, the toes are bare for a remarkably short period or really never quite feather free.

We should not worry about our birds in winter weather. They will be properly provided for because Mother Nature never neglects her children.

Are all bills alike?

Importance of Bills

Have you ever stood in the extreme quiet of a forest and suddenly heard a tremendously loud hammering? This startling, resounding noise comes from a Woodpecker, and its intensity depends upon the species. An especially strong bill is necessary, and especially strong neck muscles too, in order to do this drumming. But Woodpeckers' beaks must also be formed so that they are able to carve out holes in wood because they are carpenters, making their own homes in tree trunks. And so their bills are straight, stout, and chisel-shaped at the tip for drilling into wood. Naturally, nest cavities are not being drilled in mid-winter, but as most Woodpeckers winter with us their drumming is heard when they are working to find insect food buried beneath bark.

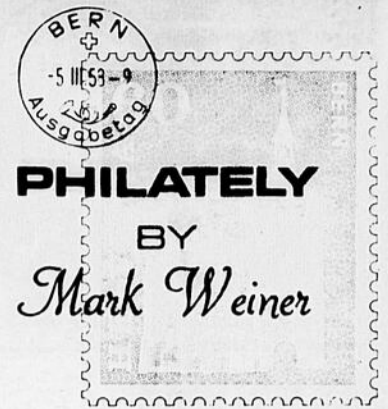

As the Nuthatch is also a year round resident in Canada, wherever we have a good sized tree (in forest, orchard, or even a town) we might come upon this "upside down" bird making its way, head first, down a trunk. The bill, formed somewhat after the pattern of a Woodpecker's, points somewhat upward, like a turned-up nose. A chisel point is unnecessary because a Nuthatch does not carve out its home, but uses cavities discarded by Woodpeckers or natural holes in old trees. The strength and shape of the bill are needed for digging insect life from bark crevices. Travelling downward on a trunk it must see well into little holes, and surely the up-turned bill must be good for digging out from that position.

But the Brown Creeper has a rather down-curved bill, long, slim, and sickle-like, because it travels spirally up a tree trunk, head up, tail down, looking for insects hidden in the bark.

People who first see a Cross-bill often think that the poor bird has received an injury. Nature has given it this specialized bill for the purpose of taking the scales off cones to get at the seeds underneath. Cross-bills fly around in flocks, and we can never be sure when they will visit any one place. However, they are quite often seen in settled Canada in winter if we are near conifers.

Grouse and Quail, which continue to live in our cold, snowy climate throughout the winter, have rather small, conical bills suitable for eating seeds, buds, and berries left hanging on bushes.

Another bird we might find here in winter is the Shrike, with a cruel-looking bill. A tooth near the tip of its upper mandible is designed for tearing the animal prey.

For the stamp collector who is not too familiar with the various terms used in describing the type of printing used for postage stamps, a simple explanation follows. The methods usually employed in producing postage stamps are (1) embossed printing, (2) intaglio printing (taille-douce) and (3) surface printing. These terms indicate clearly the methods used. The picture on the plate stands out in embossed printing, appears in depth in intaglio printing and is completely flat in surface printing. These three groups can be subdivided as follows: (1) embossed printing - (a) typography and (b) hand-stamp printing; (2) intaglio printing - (a) copper-plate engraving, (b) steel-plate engraving and (c) photogravure; (3) surface printing - (a) lithography and (b) offset.

For several years the Swedish Post Office has been issuing postage stamps honoring Nobel prize winners. The most recent set issued was two stamps on Dec. 9, 1967 to commemorate the Nobel prize winners of 1907, and were printed on fluorescent paper in one color by steel engraving: 35 ore, red, Eduard Buchner (Germany) for chemistry and A. A. Michelson (U.S.A.) for physics; 45 ore, blue, Rudyard Kipling (Great Britain) for literature and C.L.A. Laveran (France) for medicine. Both values were issued in coils of 100 stamps (2-sided perforation) and in booklets of 10 stamps (3-sided perforation).

The Norwegian Mountain Touring Association was founded in 1868 as the first association of its kind and since then it has been a model to similar associations in other countries. To mark the centenary of the Norwegian Mountain Touring Association three postage stamps will be issued on Jan. 22nd: 40 ore, violet-brown, - "Alpinists"; 60 ore, brown-lilac, - "Mountain scenery"; 90 ore, grey-blue, - "The peak Glitretind". The stamps have been printed on phosphorescent paper by steel engraving and perforated: 13.

The Republic of South Africa issued two special stamps on Jan. 2nd in honor of Advocate Charles Robberts Swart, the first State President. On Jan. 12, 1960, Adv. Swart was appointed Governor General of the Union of South Africa and on May 31, 1961 he was sworn in as State President of the Republic of South Africa. The stamps are unilingual and printed in Afrikaans, English and German: 3c - a full bust photo reproduction of Adv. Swart wearing the Sash of Office; 15c - a full bust photo reproduction of Advocate and Mrs. Swart, with Adv. Swart wearing the Sash of Office. The stamps were designed by the artists and staff of the Government Printer, Pretoria.

Career Week at W.H.S.

By VICKI PERCIVAL

Graduating students will be getting a glimpse of life beyond the high school level in the next few weeks. Questionnaires concerning jobs and careers have been handed out to students and returned to the guidance office. These questionnaires show the approximate interest of students in various careers and help the school to get appropriate speakers for the up-coming Career Day. Several fields of work, however, have already made plans and will be visiting the school at certain times. The first such field that students will be able to get an insight into is that of accounting.

The Institute of Chartered Accountants will be at the school during the coming week. To interested students a movie about work in accounting will be shown. This will be followed by a short talk on The Many Careers Open to Chartered Accountants. A question period will follow.

In keeping with the growing demand for Trade Schools and Technical knowledge, the Home and School Association of Westmount High School and the Guidance Department of Westmount High School will be presenting a Technical Education Evening at the school on January 22. This evening will be concerned with the courses offered at the Montreal Institute of Technology, the Laval Institute of Technology and the Montreal Trade School (West End Division). Both parents and students will attend this informative session.

Along these lines radio station CJAD is also offering an unusual hobby and perhaps, a very interesting career. Entitled Radio Career Exploring, that it is exactly what this project is. CJAD is giving an opportunity to boys to investigate this fascinating field of radio. This project will encompass the entire field. Information will be given as to the work of an announcer, programme director, as well as the work behind the scenes in electronics and advertising. Perhaps, the voice of Westmount will be heard throughout Montreal.

It was a pretty nice new year's present for four girls as the winners in the Vox's annual literary contest were announced. These along with other good prose and poetry works comprise the literary section of Westmount's yearbook. In the Senior Section first prize went to Diane Beresford while Betsy Tulley was awarded second prize. Karen Dixon won first prize in the Junior Section with Heather Solomon coming second. The prizes will be awarded at the Annual Winter Carnival during the Purple 'n' White Review. Speaking of the carnival and its activities, the Carnival committee has already started its long and strenuous plans. Several willing girls have offered their services in the Carnival Slave Auction. Creativity and loud voices are mixing at Westmount, to form a winning combination in the Carnival Cheering Contest. Each class tries to write a cheer and then cheer it and, of course, win the prize. With the Purple 'n' White Review being put together again the search for talent has begun and Tina-May Isenmen has announced that auditions are being held.

The world of entertainment has not been the only way of life busy at Westmount. Allan Silverman, President of the Red Cross has announced what students will be doing this term in the matter of good deeds. Health kits and community chests will be made up and shipped out by Westmount. Their destination will be underprivileged children here and abroad. The health kits will consist of toiletries, while the community chests will help provide educational equipment for them. Each class will be responsible for collecting certain articles and then certain students will have the task of packing them.

Cub Louis Gialloreto of St. Leo's Cub Pack recently completed the requirements for the Black Star, thus becoming the first Cub in the Pack to earn all five stars in the recently-revised Cub training program. District Cubmaster Jeff Weissler was on hand to offer congratulations and presented Louis with a compass on behalf of the Pack. Dr. and Mrs. O. Gialloreto were also present. Louis' accomplishment is all the more noteworthy as he only joined Cubs in September, 1966 and he has several proficiency badges to his credit as well as the stars. Left to right: left D.C.M. Mr. J. Westmount Square complex to have French atmosphere

Westmount shops will soon be taking on a French look showing exclusive French styles in boutiques located in Westmount Square's two 21 storey apartment building and office locations according to Irwin Leopold of the Mondev Corporation owner of the $25 million complex recently opened.

According to information given out, space has already been leased in the shopping area by several prominent couturiers to open shops which will be replicas of the famed overseas shops which will be exclusive to Montreal.

Among the branches of the French stores to be opened are Prenatal, France's largest infants' and children's chain; Loris-Azzaro, which carries women's co-ordinates; and Celine-Sorias, which carries women's ready-to-wear.

They will be joined in March by Carvil, a French men's and women's shoe chain.

The shopping complex, which is approximately two-fifths the size of the Place Ville Marie centre, will contain an estimated 50 stores when it is fully leased, said Mr. Leopold.

Tenants have already begun moving into the apartment and office towers.

School Commissioners set meeting schedules

On January 15th at their first 1968 meeting the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount resolved to hold their regular monthly meetings on the second Tuesday each month in Westmount High School at 8 o'clock in the evening.

These meetings are open to the public and the Board appreciates the increasing number present from the three Home and School Associations and the Westmount Municipal Association. These opportunities for dialogue are mutually profitable. The next regular meeting is fixed for February 13th.

Laurier Lapierre on warpath

By Jack Trent

Ottawa - (Special to The Examiner) - Laurier Lapierre, Westmount resident and vice-president of the NDP nationally and former co-host of TV's controversial 'Seven Days' program was in Ottawa on the weekend and lit into opponents of Ottawa's 'capitol district' in a no-holds-barred all-out attack.

Ottawa civic officials who oppose a national capitol area for Ottawa should be impeached, Lapierre said.

He was speaking at St. Patrick's Parish Centre.

Ottawa's Mayor Ron Reid and other Ottawa civic officials have been more-or-less opposed to many phases of the capitol area suggestion - and Lapierre said he was 'ashamed of such an attitude and added that in his opinion it was 'despicable'.

"It is about time" he said, "that the council wakes up - let's stop this bloody nonsense".

Those who oppose a bilingual Federal district, said Lapierre, should be impeached if they hold office, or at least be thrown out at the very next election.

classes, pupils receive a greater degree of individual instruction, and they are permitted to advance at a rate that is consistent with their ability.

However, Special Education services available to Westmount youngsters is not limited to these classes. Hard of hearing, aphasic, distractible, emotionally disturbed, perceptually handicapped children, or those with poor vision may attend special classes within the P.S.B.G.M. system. Wherever necessary, transportation for these youngsters is provided.

Commenting on the wide variety of Special Education classes which are to be found throughout the P.S.B.G.M. system, Mr. S. B. Montin, Co-ordinator of Guidance and Educational Services, claims that the intention of these classes is to cater to as wide a geographical area as possible while at the same time maintaining a very low teacher-pupil ratio in order that each child may receive maximum attention.

"At the same time, we want these pupils to fit into the normal school pattern as much as possible," continued Mr. Montin. "For this reason, we do not concentrate all our Special Education classes in one or two specific schools. We place them in a variety of schools serving all areas of the Board."

A reflection of the P.S.B.G.M. intention to maintain low teacher-pupil ratios is found in a comparison of per class enrolment in P.S.B.G.M. Special Education groups with similar statistics at the national level. The Canadian average for educable mentally retarded classes is 17 pupils per high school class while within the P.S.B.G.M. system the average is 15. At the elementary school level, the Canadian average continues to be 17 while within the P.S.B.G.M. it drops to 11 pupils per class. The national average for hard of hearing classes is 12, while within the P.S.B.G.M. it is 6 youngsters per class. In all other areas of Special Education classes the P.S.B.G.M. compares favourably with the national averages.

Also to be found within Westmount Schools are Adjustment Teachers who give remedial work to small groups, or individual pupils, in reading and arithmetic. Mrs. R. C. Storr at Roslyn and Mrs. A. R. Cote at Westmount Park are part of a sizable P.S.B.G.M. corps of Adjustment Teachers who offer such services to selected children. In addition, other services in the form of speech therapists, guidance specialists (at elementary and high school levels), psychologists, contacts with appropriate hospitals and institutions are also available.

Westmount Cubs hold joint meeting

The Cubs of Westmount Park Cub Pack were the guests of St. Leo's Pack at a joint meeting recently. After the opening ceremony and a welcome had been extended to all guests, several games were played and were thoroughly enjoyed by all the boys. An indoor campfire followed, with songs led by DCM Jeff Weissler and Cubmaster Alan Dean of Westmount Park. To close the program, refreshments were served by St. Leo's Ladies' Auxiliary, and the boys showed their appreciation by lining up for seconds and even thirds!

Career Week at . . .

The Westmount girls were talking this week but not as usual. Their purpose was the Alumnae Public Speaking Contest. The winner this year and Westmount's representative at McGill is Ellen Lupovitch. "Man's Alienation from God" was her topic and it left many people thinking. Helen King was second with her speech on War. Both left many thoughts and much to be thought about.

Relaxation and pleasure are not at all lacking at Westmount.

. . . P5

This is proving to be one of the biggest week-end yet, with two big activities coming up. The first is the Inter-School Dance which is being held on Friday. This is a new innovation and is a dance sponsored by the combined efforts of certain schools. The schools which are forming the dance are Westmount, Montreal West, Wagar and Monkland. The dance itself will be held at Westmount and tickets are being sold not only at Westmount but at all the schools involved. Prefects have been appointed for duty so with everyone's co-operation this should prove to be the biggest dance the school has ever seen. For all the energetic people at Westmount there is no better way to end a dance than a ski trip. So Saturday morning Westmount will be heading for Mt. Echo. A big turn-out is expected for one of the biggest week-ends of the year.

Neither will the students of the school be lacking in the practical ways of the world. The Political Club, formerly the Model Parliament, will be meeting this week. A resolution for the meetings to be shortened has been passed so business should be almost a fait accompli. The bill up for this week is the Unification of the Armed Forces. Whether students will be plowing or driving through the snow is questionable, but thirty students will be put in the driver's seat.

Water giving you a hard time?

Buy a water softener and lead the soft life.
Install a water softener: you save both time and money.
Install a water softener: you'll see a BIG difference in your cooking and washing.
That's because a water softener in your home removes harsh minerals—leaving the water soft and easy to get along with.

When you have soft water on tap your wash will be brighter. Babies' clothes will be softer and your dishes will sparkle. Minerals in hard water make soaps and detergents far less efficient. They cause the grey scum you often see as a ring around tubs and basins. So, when you wash clothes in hard water the scum gets into fabrics leaving them dull and rough. Imagine what this scum does to your hair and skin. Try a bath in soft water to see and feel the difference—you'll step out of the tub soothed, smoothed and really clean.

Minerals in hard water solidify and cause all kinds of problems: they build up in pipes, humidifiers, kettles and even dish washers and washing machines. Result: costly repairs and replacements. None of this will happen with a water softener. Everything will come clean quickly, easily—you will use less soap and detergent. The food you cook will be more tender! The tea and the coffee you drink will have a flavour you never knew. Be a "softie"! Buy a water softener, and enjoy a softer life. No matter who made your water softener, no matter where you bought it, no matter how it works, Windsor has a salt that's right for it.

Right: Mini-suit gets a total look by the addition of swash-buckling boots that end at mid-calf.

It's not what you buy, but the way that you wear it that counts now in fashion. Never before has fashion, and your face and your hair been so much part of a total look. With a little cunning you can still make last year's clothes and make-up look completely new. Take a sweater for instance. Last year you wore it tucked into your skirt, this year you wear it outside, pulled well down over the hips and caught in at the waist by a chain belt (another hangover fashion from '67).

That tent dress with a zip up the front that you lived in last year takes on a new lease of life in '68 as a coat dress. You wear it over a white polo necked sleeveless skinny sweater, leave the zip undone from the waist up, add a beret for extra impact.

The head-scarf that you wore all last summer also takes on a new look. You wear it with the ends wrapped around and tied at the nape of the neck, not bow-tied under the chin, and you add a beret on top in a matching shade and, for an extra sporty look a pair of sunglasses with the same coloured frames pushed up on top of your head where the beret joins the scarf.

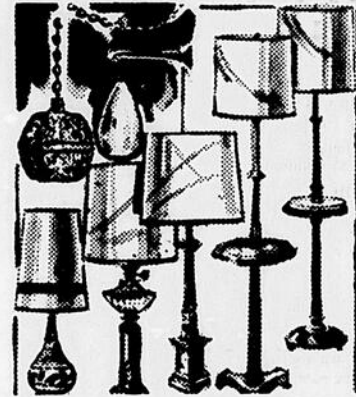

The black velvet dress that has been lurking in your wardrobe for years, waiting for another airing, gets a brand new Little Lord Fauntleroy touch by the simple addition of a white lace jabot, collar and cuffs, which you will find in the haberdashery department of your local store - if you hurry, for they are being snapped up.

The plain suede coat that you've grown tired of because it needs shortening will just make the winter scene if you get it out now, leave it the same length and turn it into a maxi-coat by adding a band of fur down the front, around the hemline for trimming. Best fur to use for this is raccoon, one girl we know succeeded in trimming her coat from four raccoon collars bought in a sale. Add a black frog fastening, Dr. Zhivago style, instead of buttons down the front, and you've a brand new, expensive looking maxi-coat to go with your boots.

The suit which looks too tailored for words can be softened up, thirties style, in a minute if you add a blouse in chiffon with a floppy bow at the neck.

Women's Federation hold meeting

Mrs. Irvin Gertsman, 3 Sunny-side avenue, was elected president of the Women's Federation of Allied Jewish Community Services at the fourth annual meeting held recently. Other new officers are the Mesdames, Alan H. Finestone, first vice-president; F. Victor Elkin, Arnold Fisher and J. A. Lyone Heppner, vice-presidents; Theodore D. Lande, corresponding secretary; Jack E. Zittler, financial secretary, and Joseph Waxman, recording secretary.

Retiring president Mrs. Bernard J. Lande, 4333 Westmount avenue, in her review of the activities of the past year reported a successful year in all departments. She reviewed the committee reports of all the chairmen and singled out the work of many community members whose efforts contributed to the numerous successes of the programs undertaken.

She pointed out that, "every woman ... has an obligation to give something of her energies, capabilities and time to the community of which she is a part."

"A fulfillment" she continued, "is a constant seeking and searching, learning and changing, a continuous process of growth and maturity."

Mrs. Lande called on all women "to endeavor to create a positive atmosphere, since all we do speaks for the community, and it is our duty to see that what we do speaks well." She pointed out the great strides and changes that have taken place in the community and the necessity for Women's Federation to keep pace with the rapid progress.

Special guest speaker at the annual meeting was Mrs. John Bird (Anne Francis), chairman of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women in Canada.

The newly elected president Mrs. Gertsman is the third president of the organization and was vice-president of the Women's Federation since its inception in 1964.

Also elected at the annual meeting were a board of directors who will serve for three years, they are Mesdames Reuben Brasloff, Ralph Cummings, Charles Eisenstat, Max Feldman, Rubin Feldman, Abe Goldberg, Herbert Paperman, Barney Pollock, M. Rosenthal, Norman Shacter, Alan Shauber, Leo Yaffe.

MacKinnon
Graham

The marriage of Elizabeth Diane, daughter of Mr. Arthur Joseph Graham, and of the late Mrs. Graham, to Mr. William Lloyd MacKinnon, son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Joseph MacKinnon, of Westmount, took place recently in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, the Rev. Peter Timmins officiating. Mrs. Lucien Arel played the wedding music and Mr. Louis Lecours sang during the ceremony. Standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was in a short gown of white wool having a jacket. She wore a head-dress of flowers in shades of pink, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Roger Mayhew, as matron of honor for her sister, was in a frock of pink lame flecked with gold. She wore a headdress of pink velvet flowers and carried a nosegay of white daisies and pink roses.

Little Miss Heather Mayhew and little Miss Katherine MacKinnon, as flower-girls, were in A-line frocks of pink shantung trimmed with malibu, and carried nosegays of white daisies.

Mr. John Kubacki acted as best man for Mr. MacKinnon, and the ushers were Mr. David MacKinnon, Mr. Roger Mayhew and Mr. Graham Nevin.

Mrs. MacKinnon, mother of the bridegroom, was in a gown of deep rose silk trimmed with silver, and wore a hat of lily of the valley and a single white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. L. R. Meech, of North Sydney, N.S., grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a mauve and gold wool suit, with a matching hat and a single pink cymbidium orchid.

Following the reception which was held at the Mount Royal Club, Mr. and Mrs. MacKinnon left for Antigonish, N.S., the bride travelling in a frock of brown wool, having an off-white bodice and a softly gathered skirt with a jacket.

Come and watch an interesting film:- "Technical Schools across Canada" with a commentary by Wayne and Shuster.

Do you know that, roughly, only 30% of students completing Grade 11 in the Protestant Schools of the Greater Montreal Area, enroll in universities, and of these, a proportion do not continue after the first year?

Many young people to-day are stimulated by the more practical challenge of the new Technological Colleges. These Colleges offer specialized training in Electronics, Computers, Biological Chemistry, Electricity, Data Processing, Mathematics and countless other subjects.

Also, there is a new training category being introduced - Assistants to the Professions - which is, mainly, for Social and Group work, at present, but will be extended to other fields in the near future.

A very warm invitation is extended to the teachers, parents and students of St. Leo's and St. Paul's Academies, both English and French Departments, and it is hoped that many will join us to hear about the latest developments in education and the new opportunities for young people to-day.

Trouble on the road: What should you do?

What should you do if you're driving along and see someone who needs help? Should you stop and ask what's wrong, or should you drive by and report it at the next town?

Many drivers face this problem every day and the Police offer these suggestions for the driver wanting help.

Summoning professional help is the best service you can render. Don't administer first aid if you don't know how or move an injured person unnecessarily.

What is the problem seems to be only a disabled car? The problem is probably legitimate and the man at the roadside really needs help. In that case Police advise you to:

1. Check traffic and slow down as you approach the disabled car and examine it closely. If the situation looks suspicious, drive away.

2. If you stop to help, pull well off the road. Keep your doors locked, your motor running and your windows rolled almost to the top. Ask what is wrong and what help is needed.

3. Note the location and drive to the nearest service station to telephone to report the disabled car. If you decide not to stop, report the stalled car the first chance you get.

ST. LEO'S SPORTS

By ANDY MCGILLIS

St. Leo's senior hockey club gained their first league point after two starts with a four-all draw with West Hill High at Westmount arena. The Saints held a wide margin in play and outshot their opponents 27 to 11 but a few soft goals and more than a few cheap penalties changed the complexion of the game, with the result the Saints had to settle for a tie game.

Desio Fernandes showed the way with two smart goals, another by his brother Neil and a single by Wayne Colomb accounted for the four goals. It was a very tame affair but in spite of this, it did not deter the officials from handing out thirteen penalties and this led to a very unusual game that must be reported in a very unusual way.

One official in particular seemed more intent in supplying a large crowd of fans with more action than the two teams, as he skated all over the ice dishing out penalties with reckless abandon and it seemed the quality of the penalties did not bother him, only the quantity, with the result a few players were left freezing for the want of ice time. It is too bad hockey has not its own academy awards, as this official's performance would rate an Oscar.

The highlight of a rather crazy game, came with about eight minutes left to play, when coach McGillis over in the players bull pen, frustrated at the sight of a double chippy penalties that cost his team the game, wound up with a slow curve, using a roll of adhesive tape; it left his hand hitting the boards in front of him and then rolling out harmlessly across the ice but justice triumphed as this alert official spotted coach McGillis rushing the baseball season and with a dramatic sweep of the hand, that had a little of the Shakespearean touch to it, thumbed the villain coach from the player's bench.

It is not known what the coach's next move will be but he could disguise himself as he has a beetle wig to start with but this may not be necessary as we hear this official is leaving town and this could be the happy solution as the players and fans are not anxious to see episode number two of this drama of the ice lanes, known as the vanishing coach.

Monday afternoon at Westmount arena, the Saints will encounter Lower Canada College team. The collegians are rated strong contenders for the senior hockey crown and this game will determine pretty well the future hopes of St. Leo's.

Gift campaign is a success

The Canadian Mental Health Association announces that more than 30,000 gifts were distributed to the mentally ill in 20 mental institutions of this Province.

The Provincial Chairman of this Campaign, Mrs. Andrée Champagne said: "The results are most encouraging. The campaign is a success beyond expectation and I wish to thank the population for its remarkable support. I only hope that this interest will continue all year long."

The Association has already received acknowledgement from the hospitals showing their satisfaction for the distribution of gifts to each mentally sick person.

The CMHA seeks to develop a better understanding of the mentally ill amongst citizens. The Association is not only working towards better treatment of the mentally ill but also promoting the importance of mental health. It encourages the decentralization of psychiatric services in order to make them available in each milieu through a general hospital, a health or welfare community agency.

What other investment can offer you these advantages? Is it any wonder why such large investors-financiers such as Holiday Inn (10 million), two Montreal companies (30 million) US Steel (62 million) K. Ludwig (100 million) have invested and these are only a few of the investments from all over the world including hundreds of thousands of dollars from Eastern Canada.

Many residents from your area have visited this island paradise and are now in on the ground floor. This is your opportunity to do the same. The island is expanding faster and in the midst of a financial boom far greater than the Florida boom of past years and this is a quote from the Miami Herald Dec. 6, 1964. Land purchased in the path of progress is the formula used and practiced by 9 out of 10 of the world's wealthiest people. Seldom does the opportunity arise where people can invest side by side with some of the world's largest investors.
