seems, is a victim of a supposed mysterious murder.

VINCIAL LAND SURVEYORS are now in progress here.

the North Shore Railway ran off the track near Pointe-aux-Lacs yesterday, and did some damage, and the down train was delayed several hours.

THE MONTREAL HARBOUR COMMISSIONERS arrived here this morning, and were taken around to see the harbour by the Quebec Commissioners. The steamer "Arctic" was chartered and gaily decorated for the occasion, and notwithstanding the cold day the gentlemen had a good time of it. They returned home by the evening boat.

NO ASSISTANCE NEEDED.—Mr. Trudel, Chief of the River Police and Shipping Master, wants to abolish the office of deputy, and offers to do all the work himself.

JUDGE ANGERS and general lawyers left town last night for St. Helene to attend the Circuit Court which opened there yesterday.

has called from London a message from Mr. C. Schreiber, chief-engineer of the derstood that the case of Laval University was being reconsidered at Rome.

OTTAWA—October 4.

PERSONAL.—Sir Chas. Tupper returned to the city today. He was accompanied by Mr. C. Schreiber, chief-engineer of the International Railway.

MANITOWA SCHOOL LANDS.—Mr. Scott, M.P., of Winnipeg, today had an interview with Sir John Macdonald in relation to the sale of Dominion lands advertised for the 19th instant at Winnipeg. It will be remembered the sale was postponed for a month. Mr. Scott, on behalf of the settlers on school lands, asks that the Government abandon the sale and instead fix a reasonable price on the lands which they will willingly pay. He states that many of the parties affected have been in possession of the property for years and have made valuable improvements. They are in every sense of the word bona fide settlers, and he argues that they should be treated as such by the Government. Mr.
Scott, M.P., is expected here shortly to interview the Government in behalf of the Red River settlers. He will ask that their claims be submitted to the Commission now inquiring into the validity of other claims at Winnipeg.

THE WETHERAL MURDER.—In his charge to the jury today, Justice Wilson spoke strongly on the evil results of chari-vats. Referring to the Wetheral murder, he said that, in the case in question, there was but a step between the victim's marriage and his grave. Charivats seem to be generally confined to a piece of licensed sport, but there was not the first time that which had begun in sport had ended in death. The practice was at best a senseless, idle and vicious one. It was frequently carried on by the use of firearms and other dangerous weapons.
Cost what it might, the practice must be put down. It was unbearable that people cannot marry who they please, but must consider the wishes of all the wicked and idle among them, and that the precious lives should be lost by such a foolish custom. He expressed surprise that, notwithstanding that the noise made by the crowd had continued for so long a time in a populous part of the city, there was no interference on the part of constables or other constituted authorities; and that none of the neighbours made any effort to give the alarm, but allowed the crowd to hold un-disrupted sway. Surely somebody was very much to blame for this. He knew of no way to put a stop to such practices but a rigid enforcement of the law, and it rested with the Grand Jury to call all who had participated in the affair to a strict account.

LIFE INSURANCE SUIT.—The case of Russell vs. the Etina Life Insurance Company was then commenced. This is a suit brought by the late Alexander Russell to recover the amount of insurance policy of $2,000 on his life in favour of his wife. The insurance was effected in 1872, and the policy was payable on the death of the plaintiff or on the expiration of twenty years. The plaintiff died within the twenty years. The premium began at $90, and the insurance being of the kind in which the insured participated in the profits, the premiums yearly became smaller. It is claimed by the plaintiffs that the premiums were regularly paid up to the death of the insured, amounting in all to some $900. The defendants declined to pay the amount of the policy claiming that it had been obtained owing to the insured making fraudulent representations of his habits and to his being intemperate contrary to the provisions of the policy. Much evidence was taken, but no decision has as yet been arrived at.

SUPREME COURT OF CANADA.—To-day, October 4th, is the last day for filing appeals for hearing at the session of the Supreme Court of Canada, to be held on the 25th inst. Saturday next is the last day for filing writs of Habeas Corpus, and Monday, the 10th, the last day for inscribing the appeals for hearing.

SIGNAL GUN REGULATIONS.—The Government have directed that all the signal guns in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Straits of Belle Isle be fired in future every half-hour. The guns at the following places are already firing every half-hour:—Greenly Island, Straits of Belle Isle, Pointe-aux-Lacs, Gulf of St. Lawrence; Green Island, River St. Lawrence, the places changing to half-hour are:—Belle Isle, Straits of Belle Isle; Cap Rosier, Coast of Gaspe; West Point of Anticosti; Point des Monts, north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and Bequet Island, River St. Lawrence.

THE TREASURY BOARD held a meeting today, Sir Alex. Campbell, Sir Leonard Tilley, Hon. Mack. Bowell and Hon. Mr.
Aiken being present. It is said that promotions were made, superannuation disputes concerning duties and other matters settled, Customs duties reversed, and other routine work completed. A Privy Council meeting will be held on Wednesday, and it is reported all the matters to-day arranged by the Treasury Board will be brought up.

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC RAILWAY COMPANY held a meeting today, and it was decided to employ more engineers and begin work at some point without delay. Mr.
Hubert's claim was brought before the Directors, and referred to a Committee composed of Hon. Peter Mitchell and Hon.
Mr. Thibault.

TORONTO—October 4.

MR. JOHN SHIELDS, whose wife and daughter recently died at Rat Portage and were buried at Winnipeg, will return here in January with their bodies, and have them re-interred here in compliance with a wish expressed by Mr. Shields.

TYPHOID FEVER.—There are 20 cases of typhoid at the hospital. During last month 17 deaths were recorded from typhoid. Of the 12 deaths recorded among the vital statistics, 3 lived on premises where there were wells, and 10 where the city water is used. One of the three is said to have succumbed to diarrhoea.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The inquest on the body of the late John Smith, twice adjourning in order that every facility should be afforded to enable the jury to reach the facts of the case, was closed last evening.
One witness, Andrew Jeffrey, who it was believed had been the last person to see Mr. Smith previous to his death, was examined. It was then learned that it was not Mr. Smith whom the witness had accompanied in the street car. Rev. Jas. Edgar testified that two weeks ago he had seen Mr. Smith on the street suffering from incipient paralysis. A number of other witnesses were examined, but their testimony furnished no important information. After mature deliberation, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the late John Smith had been accidentally killed by being run over by a street car, but how he came to the place where he met his death had remained a mystery. They recommended the Street Railway Company to place strong headlights in front of the cars, and instruct conductors to call out all the cross streets; and they further recommended the City Council should see that these recommendations are carried out.

IMMIGRANTS.—There were 1,400 immigrants arrived at the sheds here this morning. 330 from England, 260 Irish, 160 Scotch, 290 Germans, and 290 Scandinavians.

Governor Robinson has received from the Acting-Secretary of State a letter acknowledging the sympathy shown by the people of Ontario with the sorrowing family of President Garfield.

APPLICATION FOR EXTRADITION.—Mr. I.
Branch, Financial Manager of the American Trust Co. of Bradford, Pa., accused of having abstracted over $100,000 by forged alterations of the books, was up before Judge Mackenzie on an application to extradite him by the County Crown Attorney Fenton and Mr. W. G. Falconbridge.
Messrs. N. Murphy and M. G. Bigelow appeared for the prisoner. An adjournment was made till 2 o'clock, when Mr. Fenton said that an arrangement had been made under which the prisoner would be confined in the State Prison. As he had no evidence to offer his Honour discharged him.

THE STOCK MARKET.—There was an active business in banks this morning, and values were somewhat irregular. Montreal, Ontario, Commerce and Imperial were easier, while Dominion, Merchants, Standard and Federal were higher. Montreal sold at 204 for 15 shares, and closed at 199 bid. 10 shares at 191, and 15 at 189; Imperial was quiet, with sales of 150 shares in 3 lots at 72½, and closing at 72½ bid; Commerce was lower, with sales of 30 shares at 145½ and 55 at 145; Dominion was active and higher, falling to 187 for 50, 188 for 50, and 188½ for 40 shares, and closing at 188 bid, an advance of 2½ per cent. on yesterday; Standard was also higher, with a sale of 33 shares at 112, and closing at 111½ bid; Federal was firmer, with sales of 10 shares at 149, and 15 at 149; Imperial was quiet, with sales of 3 shares in 2 lots at 131, and closing at that price bid, a decline of ½ on yesterday's price.

THE CUSTOM SHOE MAKERS, who have been on strike since Thursday last, will resume work to-morrow morning. A joint conference of employers and employed was held this afternoon, when the former agreed to the 10 per cent. advance.

THE LACROSSE CLUB.—The split in the Toronto Lacrosse Club team leaves them in a bad position, and it is altogether likely that their proposed match with the Shamrocks, which was to have taken place on the 15th, will fall through. The trouble appears to exist between some of the old members of the team, who, on the dissolution of their club, went over to the Torontos.

BELLEVILLE—October 4.

CANADIANS LYNNED IN MICHIGAN.— News has been received here that John Macdonald, of this city, and F. McDonald, of Deseronto, had been lynched by a mob at Menominee, Michigan, on the 3rd of September. They had been arrested on a charge of murdering a man in a row, and a mob took them from the gaol and hanged them. John McDonald was about 24 years of age. His widowed mother and several sisters live on Wharf street. He bore a

an unqualified denial.

today in connection with some difficulties existing between prominent officers on the staff of the Royal Military College.

HAMILTON—October 4.
THE GREAT CENTRAL FAIR opened here today and promises well. As yet things are in confusion, but every one is working hard and order will soon prevail. In the Live Stock Department there is a good exhibit, and they are nearly all on the ground.
The Agricultural Implement Department is full, and the others are rapidly filling up. The air is cool, but not unpleasantly so, and clear. If it continues throughout the fair as at present it will be satisfactory.

VISITORS are not numerous to-day.
The greatest attractions will be to-morrow, when the 7th Battalion Band of London will be present and play on the grounds, and on Thursday the 13th Band of this city will play.

ST. JOHN, N.B.—October 4.
ESCAPED.—McCarthy, who is thought to be implicated in the murder at Ottawa, of which the man Dunn is arrested, has disappeared and another man has been apprehended to the position of "Train Boss" of Cole's Circus. It is likely that McCarthy has fled for the States. Clark, the in-former, is still in St. John.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Yesterday afternoon, at Bald Hill Settlement, Wicklow Parish, Queen's County, Alex. Cox, an aged resident of the Settlement, went out of his house to see if a walk in the air would ease him from an unpleasant feeling that had come upon him. He was found dead on the road. Apoplexy probably was the cause of death.

HALIFAX—October 4.
THE MUTINEERS.—Four seamen who belonged to the ship "Calista," which was abandoned off Shelburne last week, while on a voyage from New York to Tientsin, and afterwards fired, left today for Liverpool, G.B., with deals.
The exception of three others, the balance of the crew of the "Calista" are in gaol at Shelburne. It is reported that there were fourteen feet of water in the vessel when it was abandoned.

Clements, Annapolis Co., died suddenly at his home yesterday, in his sixty-eighth year.

WINNIPEG—October 4. closed between the Times and Free Press offices. The match was for one hundred and fifty dollars each side, and continued six days between six compositors from each office. Fifty dollars on each side was paid to the two best men, McCaw of the Times and Leay of the Free Press. The Free Press compositors scored 64,017, the Times 62,749. Leay, Free Press, 11,810; McCaw, Times, 11,552. The two rivals were locked in a room each day for seven hours, and the key held by the referee. Nearly two thousand dollars changed hands in the city.

THE PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION opened today with about 1,500 entries. The weather is promising, and a successful exhibition is predicted. The staple products, grain, roots and vegetables are prominent features. The C.P. Railway land bureau pyramid is a prominent feature of the fair. Trains run at reduced rates and are expected to bring visitors to-morrow and next day from all parts of the Province.
Live stock, implements and machinery are in Dufferin Park, and the other exhibits in the Municipal Pavilion.

THE STEAMER "PRINCESS" is completed, gineers now surveying Kootenay Pass for

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON—October 4.

SIR STAFFORD NORTHOTE, in a speech at Hull yesterday, said:—There are those who think the commercial superiority will, as the Premier himself has said, pass from England to America. I do not, at least, believe this will be in our time if we make use of the existing means to support our commercial interests. If we resort to false remedies, we may do irreparable mischief.
I do not believe in some of the suggestions put forward by the friends of our own side, nor in the Liberal suggestion that the state of agriculture is remediable by a radical change of the land laws, although they are susceptible of amendment. In regard to the Irish Land Act, he asked whether the Government did not mean to insist that the League must submit to the authority of Parliament and the Executive to give the Act fair play. The Government, he said, should exert an amount of courage necessary to put down defiance of the law.

IRELAND.

CORK—October 4.

PARNELL AND THE LABOURERS.—Some delegates of farm labourers interviewed Parnell yesterday. O'Leary submitted a manifesto prepared by the Committee in accordance with the resolution of the recent National Convention. Parnell said the Land League intend to form a labour department, and with this object a number of labourers would meet in a few days.

LONDON—October 4.
FRESH OUTRAGES.—A farmer named Leary, living near Rathone, Leinster, was fatally shot last evening by men who warned him not to pay rent. Two more suspects were released from Galway Gaol after five months' detention. A man who was carting Boycotted oats in the Parish of Doon, County Tipperary, was shot, probably fatally.

A ROTTEN BRANCH LEAGUE.—Parnell addressed a large meeting at Mallow today. He said he found that one of the worst cases of land grabbing existed in their midst. The Mallow League had the audacity to apply for a grant for an eviction, while they had sanctioned the eviction. Parnell said he would cut off this rotten branch and take steps to establish a branch in keeping with the principles of the League.

A STRIKE AGAINST RENTS.—The Clare-morris Land League has resolved to pay no rent until the Land Commissioners have decided their test cases. Arrangements have been made to build wooden houses for all tenants evicted in the meantime. The authorities have instructed the police to closely watch the movements of the League.

RUSSIA.

BERLIN—October 4.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.—Alexander III. of Russia becomes more independent and arbitrary every day. Even General Ignatieff is now frequently left in the dark about the plans of his royal master, until the latter has definitely decided on them in his own mind. The projected interview between the Emperor of Austria and the Emperor of Russia is entirely the idea of the Czar. The two Emperors are friends of long standing. Years ago they often shared the pleasures and excitement of the chase, and though since those days circumstances have caused them to drift apart, Alexander has never forgotten his imperial comrade, and has always had a wish to bring about a meeting with him.

On his return from Dantzic, the Czar instructed M. de Giers to sound the Austrian Government on the subject of the proposed representative took similar steps, and like M. de Giers, received replies which showed that the suggestion was viewed with favour. Up to this time the Emperor of Austria had taken no part personally in the negotiations. On the 11th of September, his fete day, however, the Emperor Alexander received, among other royal and imperial messages of congratulation, one from his cousin, the Emperor of Austria, in this phrase:—"I was happy to hear how very glad you were to embrace your uncle, who loved your unhappy father so well."

This despatch was written in German, and, in accordance with imperial custom, was familiarly addressed in the second person singular.

Alexander replied by a confidential despatch, lately published in Hungary, and soon after sent another message proposing a meeting which should form, so to speak, a counterpart of the Dantzic interview.
The Emperor did her best to encourage her husband to abide by his project, but with this notable exception, the idea was abandoned.

MR. PARNELL AND THE LAND ACT.

Mr. Parnell seems determined that peace shall not be restored in Ireland if he and his lieutenants can prevent it. Finding that the land question has been pretty effectually settled by Mr. Gladstone's Act, the Parnell faction are about to take up the cry of "National independence." This, it is calculated, is the only means by which the excitement can be kept up and funds drawn from America. The funds question seems to be uppermost always in Land League Councils, and it is evident that if the "sinews of war" began to fall short, Mr. Parnell's agitation would quickly subside. The new activity on the part of the League reveals its utter hypocrisy. If the agitators really desired Ireland's welfare they would allow the Land Act to be fairly tested before condemning it. The sympathy of the world, we may say, was with the Irish party while they struggled for legitimate reform in the land laws; but that object having been achieved, through Liberal statesmanship, Mr. Parnell cannot presume that the same sympathy will follow him in promoting mischievous disturbance. The greatest calamity which could happen to Ireland just at present would be the failure of the Land Act, either through defects of machinery or the belief on the part of farmers that its provisions will not benefit them, and the attempt of Mr. Parnell to prove to the Irish farmers that they should not take the fullest advantage of the Act is most dangerous to the interests of the country. The farmers who supported the Land League in order to obtain the security which the new Act and the new Court confer, will receive with some surprise the intimation that they must do nothing for themselves which would endanger the organization of the League. There is good reason to believe that the League influence is fast declining, though of course there is some danger lest even that waning influence should retard or obstruct the working of the Land Act. Mr. Parnell's zeal on behalf of the labourers was only aroused when they threatened to form a League of their own, and it is not likely that either farmers or labourers desire that Mr. Parnell shall interfere with their relations. It is more than probable that the more the people of Ireland come to see the working of the Land Act, the more they will be satisfied with the measure. The object of the Act was to improve the condition of the tenant farmer. It goes almost to the utmost limits possible to legislation in his behalf, and for the people to reject such a measure would be the height of folly. If the Land League can assist the people to avail themselves of the advantages offered by the Act, well and good, but if it cannot do that, there is no further reason for its existence. It is certainly encouraging to find the Catholic Church ranging itself on the side of the defenders of law and order. The Irish Bishops have pronounced the Land Act a great boon to the Irish people, and their resolution has been approved by the Pope. This is highly significant. It means the growth of a more patient and conservative feeling in Ireland, which may be expected, ultimately, to counteract the lawlessness which has sprung up since the release of some leading "suspects." It is generally believed that the Government would be only too glad to set all the political prisoners at liberty, but for the fact that each release appears to be followed by increased lawlessness. The stories telegraphed to us on Monday morning about Mr. Parnell's having left Dublin in the morning and returning in the evening in order to enjoy a "grand reception" from his followers—and of his apostrophizing the old Houses of Parliament on College Green—are highly amusing. They serve to illustrate how ridiculous a man is capable of making himself for the sake of a little temporary notoriety, but the fact that Mr. Parnell has been obliged to resort to such tactics in order to excite sympathy for his cause, shows what we have already stated to be true—that his influence with the Irish people is fast declining.

It is no joke to get married, but it is even less of a joke to be disappointed when one is intent on being married. This was the ill fortune, however, of an English clergyman, named Bruce-Kennard, who was kidnapped on his bridal morning, it is believed, by a baffled rival. The bridegroom might be supposed to be old enough to have taken care of himself, but allowance must be made for the rustic simplicity induced by several years' occupancy of a quiet rectory in Dorsetshire. His arrangements for the ceremony were made with due care; his son was engaged to act as "best man"; the wedding breakfast was all arranged. But the wedding was fixed for did not come off, and for this reason. As he was sitting in his hotel room the evening before the eventful day, waiting for dinner, a message arrived to the effect that a relative wanted to see him on a matter of great importance. He got into a carriage which was in waiting, and he was driven away to a house in the suburbs, into which he was dragged, despite all the protestations he was capable, in his perturbed state, of making. He was not ill-used it appears, but was driven half-distracted by the detention, which lasted considerably over the hour for which the ceremony in church was fixed. It did not add at all to the worthy priest's peace of mind to be informed that a doctor would be in presently to judge on his sanity. To a prospective bridegroom such an intimation must be especially painful and agitating. The poor clergyman was liberated later in the day, and his explanations proved so satisfactory to the bride's family, that the deferred nuptials came off the next day.

ONE of the hitherto unsolved problems of social life in the old country, is the finding of proper employment for young women of what may be called the upper-middle class who find themselves thrown upon what may, by mockery, be called "their own resources." This class is a numerous one, and the circumstances of a good many comprised in it are sad enough. One of the leading Scotch journals—the Glasgow Herald—devotes nearly two columns of its valuable space to the exposition of a suggestion for the relief of females of this class. It is that they should hire out as head nurses in well-to-do families, and the inducements are set forth very elaborately. Some of them sound strange enough in Canadian ears. For instance—"a head nurse's wages are good, never lower than £20, and they rise up to £30, 'all found'"; "a rate of pay at which any Biddy on this side would turn up her nose in disdain. Among her 'many comforts and indulgences' are:—A bed to herself; rare exposure to bad weather, as when that prevails the children are kept indoors; absolute authority in the nursery, etc., etc. The best thing young women of this class can do is to come over to this side. If they are fit to take control of the younger members of first-class English families, they are fit to be in charge of which one is responsible for all, without chiefs and without government, where all contribute to the welfare of every one and every one to the welfare of all." This is "ideal" with a vengeance. It assumes not only human perfectibility, but human perfection. The idiosyncrasy of the hair-brained exiles who are going in for this thing would be amusing were it not for the fact that idiosyncrasy sometimes develops into lunacy and results in mischief. There is reason to fear that in a later sentence of the prospectus which these out-of-the-elves friends of humanity have issued, and which reads as follows:—"All that furthers and facilitates insurrection is good." This is wild talk, of course, but wildness has often danger and disaster as its fruits.

In addressing a meeting of his constituents at Berwick-on-Tweed, Mr. Trotter put before his auditors what he considered the only two methods by which the country could maintain its position in the face of foreign competition. These were lower wages or an import duty on manufactured goods. It would be well if, when such orators mount the platform, there were always present somebody capable of telling the truth about Canada. There is no reason in the world for a skilled English workman earning less than he has been doing heretofore. In Canada he will find his labour far more remunerative than it is in the old country at the best of times. As to the import duty on manufactures, it is equally absurd to offer this as a specific. It is like blistering a man from head to heel to cure him of fever. There is abundance of room in Canada for competent workers of either sex and of every class.

THAT old barbarian Sitting Bull has not had a very pleasant time of late. As a noble red man he is as completely "played out," as Pinocchio, or anything else that once was popular. The latest glimpse we have caught of the venerable savage is in the last stage of his humiliation. Since he and his band crossed the lines he and they have been pushed about from pillar to post. He experienced pretty rough treatment on his removal from Fort Yates, which he was extremely unwilling to leave. The commandant, however, told a private to "shove him along," and he was accordingly "shoved" by the application of the butt-end of a musket to his lazy old ribs. He was indignantly punched into the steamer which was in waiting for him and his band. Sitting Bull's prestige has waned, his glory gone. Canada is not likely to be troubled any more with him.

SOME adventurous Americans recently landed on Wrangell Land, somewhere near the North Pole, and imitating the earlier discoverers, they raised the Stars and Stripes, formally took possession of the region in the name of the United States, and re-christened it New Columbia. Their right there was certainly none to dispute, for the land is uninhabited. Some excitement has, however, been caused in Washington, by a suggestion that possibly Wrangell Land may belong to the Dominion of Canada. This idea is warmly resented, however, because "the colours of the Dominion have never been raised upon the territory." We do not suppose the majority of Canadians will grieve much over the affair, but there is no predicting what course our paternal Government may take. Possibly the "Charybdis" may be sent to recapture Wrangell Land.

An amusing debate took place recently at the Richmond, Eng., Board of Guardians. It was as to the advisability of continuing the subscription for a paper for the use of the paupers in the workhouse, which advocated the abolition of the House of Lords. The debate was long and furious; the Conservative element was persistent, the Radical firm and sarcastic, and in the end the wiser question was adjourned. What harm it could possibly do the British Constitution to let the poor beggars have a dish of sedition we cannot conceive. The inmates of an English workhouse are not the sort of stuff of which social disturbers are made. Before they gain entrance to such places of shelter they must have long passed the point at which they might cause trouble or have any mind of their own.

SOME five hundred persons might have been seen at an early hour the other morning in the Gael Court-yard at Menemense, Wis. Their object was to relieve justly of the responsibility of "doing to death" two men who were lying within on a charge of murder. The prisoners had not been convicted or tried, and were under the protection of the law. That protection did not amount to a deal in their case. The prison was stormed, the two wretches were dragged out into the yard and literally trampled to death. After this the mangled bodies were strung up to a tree in front of the house in which the alleged murder had been perpetrated. The climax of horror was reached by the firing of the house, the flames from which threw a ghastly glare on the hellish crowd and deed.

THE SCOTCH LAND AGITATION.—The Pall Mall Gazette notes that the agitation for land reform in Scotland is gathering volume and intensity as it advances. Begun in Aberdeenshire, it has now taken practical shape in Kincardineshire, Banffshire and Rosshire. In addition to the general determination not to stop short of a complete revision of the Land Laws, decided Land League symptoms are appearing here and there. Another combination of Aberdeenshire tenantry has refused to pay rent except on terms of considerable abatement; and in Rosshire they are posting threatening notices to tenants against paying rent without substantial reductions. Feeling in the North is "evidently aroused," and the proverbial obstinacy of the people is not likely to allow the movement to die away in nothing.

We have within the last few days received reports of the lectures by the Rev. A. J. Bray on Manitoba and the North-West at Plymouth, Reading and Ipswich, and we have since heard of his final lectures at Leeds on the 20th of September and at York on the 22nd of September, the Lord Mayor being in the Chair. From the full newspaper reports and editorial criticisms we believe that Mr. Bray has made a most successful lecturer on Canada, and especially the new Territory, bringing into prominence on the other side of the Atlantic the great prairie lands of the North-West.

WINNIPEG is modest: for the time being it will be content in the way of local improvements, with a plentiful supply of pure water, well-paved streets, and an efficient system of sewerage. If it will comfort our Winnipeg friends at all we may remark that there is hardly a city in the world which has attained to the possession of all the three. Some which have an abundant supply of good water lack sewerage; others which are well drained have poorly paved streets. Winnipeg must have a little patience. It may be the ideal city in course of time.

THERE is a rare chance for a man to prove his faith by his works. The editor of the Medical Record says that if he were shot to-day in the same manner as the President was, there is no surgeon in Washington to whom he would sooner trust his case than Dr. Bliss. Would it not be a generous thing in his place to clear Dr. Bliss's professional reputation by getting all but fatally shot and then calling in that eminent practitioner?

It is hard to keep track of all the "Congresses" these days. A Geographical Congress at Venice, a Medical Congress in London, a Literary Congress in Vienna, an Americanist Congress at Madrid, a Chess Congress at Berlin, an Antiquarian Congress at Tiflis, a Socialist Congress at Barcelona, a Geological Congress at Bologna—this should result in enough to satisfy the curiosity of a generation as desirous of a sign as our own even.

THE Boston press announces the death of the Hon. E. R. Mudge, one of the foremost residents of that city. The deceased was a son of the Rev. Enoch Mudge, the pioneer native preacher of the Methodist faith in New England. He came one of the oldest families in America, his lineage being traced distinctly to the year 1638, when the first of the name landed in this country.

The news from the Transvaal continues to be unsatisfactory. The Boers are losing English friends in official circles and in the press. It is generally understood that if the Convention is not ratified, the English Government will resume its previous authority. Troops are held in readiness for that purpose.

The French commander in Tunis has been ordered to march and take the holy city of Kairouan and thus crush the revolt.

LETTERS published in Copenhagen state that the crops in Sweden have failed, and famine is impending.

The Washington Grand Jury, yesterday, made a presentment against Guiteau.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE

COURT OF QUEEN'S BENCH.

The Court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Present: Hon. Justice Monk and Justice Goss. Messrs. C. P. Davidson, Q.C., and J. A. Goss, Q.C., representing the Crown. In re Duval, charged with breaking into a store and stealing therefrom. Mr. W. A. Goss made a motion for arrest of judgment, on the ground that the indictment was defective in the particulars. The motion was fixed for Friday morning.

THE HAYVEN MURDER CASE. The case continued, Mr. J. J. Curran, Q.C., appearing for the defence.

Rev. Father Knox was sworn, and testified to having gone to the prisoner's cell after the stabbing and obtained the knife. The prisoner, while in his cell, asked if he was mad, and talked rambling nonsense about Kingston, etc. Witness, after he obtained the knife from the prisoner, accompanied him to the sacristy, where prisoner continued to talk nonsense to himself, and then to the dungeon where he administered the sacrament of penance. During his several visits to the dungeon prisoner acted as if he was mad.

In cross-examination, witness again said that the prisoner acted as if he was mad while in the cell.

Re-examined by Mr. Davidson—The prisoner, when he spoke of Kingston, said "I will go there." Witness did not pay much attention to the prisoner's words, from the first he believed he was a madman. During the seven days in the dungeon the prisoner seemed to be a man possessed of a brain on which education or education could have no effect.

On the 10th day, the Deputy-Warden of the Penitentiary was the next witness examined. He testified to having met the prisoner walking past him very quick after the stabbing. When told of the affair, he sent a doctor and accompanied him to where Salter was dying.

Leon Macneil, Steward of the Penitentiary, gave evidence relative to the deceased's clothing, which he said were burnt after the stabbing.

H. B. Mackay, Acting-Warden, was recalled, and testified to the fact that the prisoner was sentenced on the 30th of October, 1879, by the Hon. Justice Monk, to five years imprisonment in the Penitentiary for robbery, and that the deceased was sentenced on the same day, by the same Hon. Justice, to two years imprisonment for perjury.

The prisoner and deceased knew each other intimately, and by the nature of their occupation they would occasionally communicate. The prisoner, when in the Penitentiary, was in the same gang as the deceased, and the latter was the first to tell of the occurrence by Dunbar Browne, while he was in the dining hall. Witness then went up-stairs, and seeing Salter dying, he ordered the Deputy-Warden to take the prisoner. The latter returned shortly and told that the prisoner had the knife which he could not get from him. He then went himself, but the prisoner would not give the knife, and said the only way they could obtain it would be to shoot him. Witness remarked to the prisoner that he did not think that Salter was seriously wounded, but the prisoner said that he thought he was, and then his own account went further and said that he had stabbed Salter with his knife.

Cross-examined by Mr. Davidson—The prisoner, when he refused to give up the knife, appeared to him to act like a man in a great passion.

The Court adjourned until 2 o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Mr. Ritchie, Q.C., entered a plea of justification in the case of the first bill against W. B. Sills, and in the second a plea of "not guilty," requesting a postponement of the case till 5th. The case was then continued.

Dr. Pomerville deposed that he had treated the prisoner frequently during his stay in the Penitentiary. He had been informed by a fall while attempting to escape from the city gaol. He was sent to work after a short time, but complaining again of pain in the stomach, a medical examination was held and it was discovered that the prisoner was suffering from an affection of the lungs. The witness also knew the deceased Salter but had not met him professionally until he received the fatal wound last July. He found prisoner lying in a bed unconscious, pulseless and breathing, and did not disturb him until he examined the wound for a short time. He found a wound five lines long and one wide in the left side. Deceased died in about six minutes. The wound was evidently inflicted by a sharp pointed instrument.

After the inquest he made a post mortem examination. He found that the wound had penetrated the chest between the fourth and fifth rib, and that the pericardial cartilages were cut. Blood was found in considerable quantity in the left cavity of the chest. The envelope of the heart was also found to be pierced, and on removing the envelope a cut was found in the left ventricle corresponding to the wound in the chest. All the other organs were in their normal state. The cause of death was internal hemorrhage. After Salter's death one of the convicts came and told him that Salter had cut his throat. On going to his cell, he found him before the glass.

The Warden was sent for, and the knife was produced. Mr. Knox took the knife from the prisoner and led him to the vestry, where the wound was dressed. Only the skin was cut.

MARY QUINN, wife of Patrick Hayven and mother of the prisoner, deposed that the prisoner was 28 years old. In his childhood he had epileptic fits for long periods. He suffered from epilepsy from the time he was five, but the symptoms of simplicity. From the last 16 years prisoner had been drinking hard, being sober only when in gaol. He never had any companions. Drinking made the prisoner mad for the time. In one of his drinking fits he had a terrible fall, which injured his head and laid him up for several days. During some of his drunken bouts it was necessary to tie him.

JOHN HAYVEN, uncle of the prisoner, knew him since he was born, and had seen him in his time after time. They extended over a year at least. He acted in a foolish manner after his recovery. He was sent to school, and his schoolmaster returned him home as a hopeless case. He could never go to the prisoner using intoxicating liquors for 16 years. When sober, during the last four or five years, he was occasionally mad. Witness remembered nine or ten of these fits when his nephew was not intoxicated, and much greater number when under the influence of liquor. Even when a man, his only companions were children eight or ten years old.

MARTIN MANSFIELD was acquainted with the prisoner's family, and knew the prisoner for the last ten or twelve years. Had often seen him walking about in delirium with a lot of children about him. His general impression was that the accused was mad.

MICHAEL LYNCH (convict) knew the prisoner by sight. About seven weeks before the inquest he had some conversation with Hayven. The prisoner asked witness for poison to put an end to himself.

HENRY HOLDEN (convict), knew the prisoner for years before he went to the Penitentiary. Had frequently conversed with him. While using a knife one day in the hospital Hayven had walked up and asked Holden to kill him. Subsequently he had endeavored to obtain from him muriatic acid for the same purpose.
