PARIS — President de Gaulle's government split apart on the issue of European union today as all five cabinet ministers belonging to the Popular Republican Party abruptly resigned.

Pierre Pflimlin, national chairman of the Catholic Mouvement Republicain Populaire and a staunch advocate of close European union, led the MRP ministers out of the cabinet headed by Premier Georges Pompidou in protest against de Gaulle's European policies as expressed by the French president at his press conference Tuesday.

A joint statement from the MRP ministers said a caucus Tuesday night decided to ask Pompidou to transmit their resignations to de Gaulle.

'SEVERE SLAP'

The surprise move was severe slap at de Gaulle. It came on the eve of a four-day trip through Central France which de Gaulle has scheduled.

Besides Pflimlin, the ministers who resigned were Maurice Schumann, minister delegate; Robert Buron, minister of public works and transports; Paul Bacon, labor minister; and Joseph Fontanet, public health minister.

Pflimlin was state minister, a rank equivalent to deputy premier, in charge of co-operation with African states.

A joint statement from the MRP ministers referred to de Gaulle's press conference statements on European policy.

It said:

"Yesterday's press conference reiterated his opposition to the supranational framework for European unity strongly favored by the MRP.

Under such a supranational system, most decisions in a European union would be taken by majority vote of the member nations. But de Gaulle told the press conference Europe's nationalistic states should learn to live together in a loose confederation and later tighten their organization.

The MRP decision was the first crack in the government formed just a month ago by Pompidou. It foreshadowed difficulties for Pompidou in the National Assembly, many of whose members oppose the new premier because he is not a member of the assembly.

De Gaulle said the future of Europe is based on Franco-German solidarity.

He leaves tonight on his first provincial tour of the year, which will officially begin Thursday when his train arrives at Figeac in the Lot Department. He will return to Paris Sunday night.

In a press conference Tuesday de Gaulle said world conditions precluded the possibility of negotiation with Russia on the German problem and declared that the future of Europe depends on close ties between France and Germany.

One Moslem dies every 10 minutes

SAO on killing spree

ALGIERS (Reuters) — One Moslem was killed every 10 minutes in a two-hour spate of violence by European terrorists in Algiers and its suburbs today.

By 9 a.m. 12 Moslems had died and two were wounded at the hands of gunmen of the European Secret Army Organization.

Today's incidents followed gun and bomb attacks Tuesday that produced a toll of 67 dead and 40 wounded throughout this North African territory.

It was one of the worst days of violence since the cease-fire March 20. Sixty-one of the dead and most of the wounded were Moslems.

As attacks by European terrorists raged through Algiers Tuesday, French authorities slapped a 6 p.m. curfew on the city.

The curfew choked off much of the violence but helicopters flew low over the deserted streets watching for any breaches of order.

In the western port city of Oran, explosions and gunfire were heard through the night.

Police said a gang of European terrorists attacked a barracks of French riot police in eastern Oran but was beaten off in a 20-minute gun battle.

Tuesday's attacks by the European terrorists were apparently in retaliation for a Moslem terrorist outbreak here Monday, which claimed 18 lives in 90 minutes.

According to unofficial estimates, more than 1,000 Moslems have been killed since the March 20 cease-fire.

Guinea fighting breaks out

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Fighting has broken out between Indonesian guerrillas and Dutch marines on the north coast of disputed West New Guinea, reports reaching here said today.

The reports, from Indonesia's New Guinea Theatre Com mand at Macassar in the Celebes, said four or five Dutch marines were wounded.

Today's reports of clashes over the Indonesian - claimed Dutch - ruled territory followed the landing of Indonesian paratroopers in the southwestern part of New Guinea early Tuesday. The Dutch high command said it would send reinforcements "to destroy them."

Meanwhile, The Netherlands was faced with a new warning from Indonesia made by Foreign Minister Subandrio. He told an international students congress Tuesday night that Indonesia is ready to go to war with The Netherlands over the disputed territory.

He said Indonesia wants a peaceful solution to the dispute, but if the Dutch prefer Indonesia "will go to war."

Defence Minister Abdul Haris Nasution told the students congress Tuesday Indonesia is pouring youth volunteers into West New Guinea by air and sea "and if that is not enough the armed forces will step in."

"We are receiving heavy arms from socialist countries in order to surpass the Dutch strength which is supported by NATO."

Attack bank policies on loans

MONTREAL (CP) — Two of the country's largest finance corporations took hefty swings at their competition Tuesday, while staunchly defending their own position in the capital market.

Appearing before the royal commission on banking and finance, Industrial Acceptance Corporation Limited and Laurentide Financial Corporation made these points, among others:

1. Both companies questioned the role of the banks in expanding term loans—such as consumer credit—and Laurentide went so far as to suggest that the banks should get out of that field altogether, lest Canada's basic banking principles are wrecked.

2. Both sought more control of credit unions, which they said have lost their original "common bond" concept in most cases. Laurentide said credit unions should no longer be tax-free; IAC said they should be confined to a savings operation, prevented from making loans to members.

Fighter crashes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A military jet fighter plane crashed near the greater Pittsburgh Airport Tuesday and bounced into a house, setting it afire. There were no serious injuries. The pilot of the Michigan Air National Guard's F-84, Capt. Victor C. Kalthoff, 32, of Warren, Mich., bailed out at about 300 feet and landed in a tree. He suffered only scratches.

Raw milk in E. T.

95% of district unprotected by proper bylaws

By DAVID TODD
(Record staff reporter)

Louis Pasteur, a French chemist, invented pasteurization in 1885 and today, over 75 years later, hundreds of Eastern Township families are still drinking raw milk, some of them knowing that it may cause disease or even death.

Some Township communities do have pasteurization bylaws but over 95 per cent of the Townships is still unprotected.

FIRST OF A SERIES

On a national basis, the Health League of Canada says that from 45 to 50 per cent of all the milk consumed in Canada is unpasteurized and that 872,000,000 quarts of raw milk are consumed annually.

They have proved that raw milk can carry infection from cows to humans and their surveys reveal that milk, produced under improper conditions has been responsible for more deaths in the country than war itself.

A survey of county health officers in seven Township counties shows that they are agreed upon two things — that every town should have a bylaw which would make the pasteurization of milk compulsory and that raw milk carries diseases, often diseases that could prove fatal,

Some of the diseases listed as those that could be caused from unpasteurized milk are, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, undulent fever, hepatitis, septic sore throat and diphtheria.

On the other hand, among town secretaries surveyed, there was a widespread difference of opinion. Some went along with the health officers in saying that the pasteurization of milk should be forced upon the people while others said they saw no need for such a bylaw.

Some said that they were aware that raw milk could carry and cause disease but added that they had never heard of any cases steming from it and that they saw no need for a change now.

In most Eastern Township comunities there are some families who are serviced with raw milk.

The survey also showed that in the seven counties contacted, only eight towns have bylaws making pasteurization compulsory.

In Sherbrooke county, two towns have bylaws, in Stanstead county, one town has a bylaw, one town in Wolfe county has a bylaw, in Richmond county, three towns have bylaws, in Compton county, one town has a bylaw and in Brome one town has a bylaw and in Missisquoi County no towns have bylaws.

In the whole of Canada, only two provinces, Ontario and Saskatchewan have compulsory bylaws and the Health League says that the reason for this is failure to educate the public properly.

A report on the finding of a survey conducted by them shows that raw milk is in a large part responsible for the prevalence of disease in infants.

Pasterization, not of some milk, but of all milk is essential, they say.

Construction union sends telegram

To ask Hamel to judge

Striking Eastern Townships construction workers plan to ask Quebec Labor Minister Rene Hamel to act as a judge in settling the five-week old dispute.

Arthur Lapointe, strike director for the Confederation of National Trade Unions said today a telegram would be sent to Mr. Hamel this afternoon asking him to study proposals made by both parties and to act as judge in deciding what should be included in any new contract.

"We are asking him to act as judge so we may end this strike because the Builders' Association is acting in bad faith, since they failed to attend the past two meetings called by the minister to try and end the strike," Mr. Lapointe said.

"The Builders' Association said that Mr. Hamel approved of their final offer, but Mr. Hamel told us yesterday that he never told them he approved of the offer nor did he say he would consider it as a final offer."

Jean Marchand, provincial president of the CNTU said yesterday's meeting with Mr. Hamel was a success.

"Mr. Hamel told us it was too bad the Builders' Association didn't attend the meeting since both parties involved in are ready to accept proposals being made," Jean Marchand, CNTU president said.

Mr. Marchand said the union talked with the labor minister over an hour yesterday afternoon and reviewed the new proposals made by the union.

"Mr. Hamel told us he would contact the Builders' Association and outline the new proposals," Mr. Marchand said.

The Builders' Association refused to attend yesterday's meeting called by Mr. Hamel, who has been acting as chief negotiator for the past week.

Builders' Association officials told the minister in a telegram they wouldn't attend the meeting because their proposals presented to him last week were the last and final ones they would make.

J. W. Roy, president of the Builders' Association told The Record today he was called by telephone by Mr. Hamel Tuesday night but nothing had been said about a future date for a meeting between the both parties.

Two weeks ago the Builders' Association failed to show up at the first meeting called by the labor minister.

The association later met with the labor minister and offered new proposals to him asking that he present them to the CNTU.

Mr. Roy told the minister then that the proposals would be the last ones made by the association and asked that the minister act as chief negotiator in the strike.

Last Friday the proposals were presented to the CNTU and were rejected. The union sent the minister new proposals.

During the past five weeks strikers have staged many violent demonstrations in the six E.T. counties affected by the strike.

Satellite up

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. Air Force launched another secret military satellite Tuesday — possibly another in the Discoverer series. A spokesman at Vandenberg Air Force Base said only that it was a Thor - Agena B combination, which means the orbital second stage, known as Agena B, was boosted aloft by a modified Thor intermediate range missile.

Compulsory scheme 'unnecessary'

Health insurance plan unveiled

TORONTO (CP) — A plan which its sponsors, say would make health insurance available to all Canadians at reasonable cost was unveiled today before the Royal Commission on health services.

Proposed by the Canadian Health Insurance Association, the plan is keyed to a pooling of risks among existing voluntary plans to cover the so-called uninsurables.

These are people who cannot at present obtain health insurance because of age or prior medical conditions.

The CHIA represents 114 companies who write 95 per cent of the health insurance sold by commercial firms in Canada.

The Association contended that a compulsory, government-controlled health plan is unnecessary and could seriously harm Canada's economy.

Under the CHIA plan, two standard policies, for individuals and families, would be obtainable by "everyone who can pay the premiums.

They would cover in-hospital services, diagnostic and X-ray services not provided by existing hospital insurance plans, plus obstetrical care and delivery, and a "major portion" of medical care given outside the hospital.

The plan would require no government participation, the insurance association said. But it invited the government to set up a central re - insurance agency "so that the excess of medical care costs of those people whom it has been necessary to insure at maximum premiums can be equitable shared among all others protected for medical care costs . . . "

Show of force

US forces buildup begins in Thailand

(CP from Reuters-AP)

BANGKOK — The United States today began its buildup of armed strength in Thailand, intended as a show of force in the face of pro-Communist military gains in neighboring Laos.

U.S. officials announced that American jet fighter - bomber planes had begun landing in this pro-Western country as three marine-carrying ships of a U.S. 7th Fleet task force steamed up the Gulf of Siam toward Bangkok.

The first arrivals today were a dozen F-100 Super Sabres from the Philippines. Eight more F100s and a squadron of marine A-4D jet attack planes were expected later today.

They were to be followed at dawn (about 5 p.m. EDT) by 1,800 marines to be landed at a Thai naval base south of Bangkok.

TO USE TRANSPORTS

Military sources said C-130 transport planes would be flown into Bangkok's Don Muang Airport to airlift the marines to Thailand's northeast border with Laos.

Meanwhile Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand said an urgent meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) council would be held in Bangkok soon to discuss what he called the threat to Southeast Asian security posed by the Communist military penetration of Laos.

No date has been set for the coming meeting. Thanat added,

MONTREAL (CP) — Prince Philip and the 300 delegates to his Second Commonwealth Study Conference travel today to Ottawa for a quick study session, a look at Canada's civil service and a reception by Governor-General Vanier.

The prince, president of the conference that will tour Canada before ending its deliberations in Vancouver June 6, is to fly to the capital, leaving here about 11 a.m.

The delegates, drawn from 34 Commonwealth countries, leave about two hours earlier by special train, arriving in Ottawa at 11:30 a.m.

After clearing up a bit of business — specifically, a look at the responsibilities of a federal government—the delegates will attend an informal lunch in the National Gallery and view some of the art exhibits.

THE CAMPAIGN TRAIL

Pearson, Dief take potshots at each other

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson took shortrange potshots at each other Tuesday during their neck - and - neck election campaign dash into the Maritimes.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused the Liberal chief of "gunboat philosophy" in pledging a 12-mile territorial limit on the Canadian coasts. Such talk was "too dangerous a sport even for a political candidate."

Mr. Pearson described as "not true" the government claim that its budget deficits resulted from increased payments to provinces. "They happened unintentionally because the government mismanaged our finances."

Both the major party leaders were touring New Brunswick, the prime minister in the south and his Liberal opponent in northerly sectors. Today in Nova Scotia they are due to miss meeting at New Glasgow by only half an hour. Monday both were in Quebec.

Meanwhile, leaders of the other two parties contesting the June 18 vote were about as far apart as their political philosophies.

CAMPAIGN 'GROWING'

At Shawville, Que., Robert Thompson of the right - wing Social Credit party said Canada cannot grow properly on bureaucracy, welfare measures and subsidies.

T. C. Douglas of the left-winging New Democrats was in British Columbia. During a Vancouver interview he said the NDP campaign "is growing every day and is going much better than we planned."

Today Mr. Douglas shifts to New Westminster, B.C., while Mr. Thompson has a speaking engagement at Timmins, Ont.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Canada could not go along with Mr. Pearson's idea of extending the present three-mile limit to 12 miles without international agreement. The government was trying to obtain such an agreement, although "it doesn't look too hopeful now."

An Atlantic development board would be set up by the government and Mr. Diefenbaker said he hoped the Chignecto Canal, proposed as a short-cut route across the isthmus joining New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will be the first study project.

"Fullest consideration" would be given to possible harnessing of the Bay of Fundy tides for power purposes, Mr. Diefenbaker assured his audience of 1,100 in a 1,450-seat school auditorium at Saint John. He spoke earlier to 300 indoors at St. Stephen.

Mr. Pearson, whistle-stopping his way to Dalhousie, assured sidewalk groups of 200 at Newcastle and Chatham that the Liberals are going to win June 18 and start strengthening the economy 'so that we can give work to everybody who wants work."

With Liberal Premier Louis Robichaud at his side, Mr. Pearson told his Dalhousie audience of more than 400 the provinces' share of tax revenues has risen more slowly under the Conservatives than it did under the previous Liberal government.

Hitting at the government contention that its deficits are due to provincial payments, he said the government "has entirely failed to deal fairly among the provinces."

A new Liberal regime would provide equalization payments to ensure that all provinces would receive equal per capita shares of the tax fields shared with Ottawa.

ATTACKS PC POLICIES

"This is the only way the provinces can afford similar standards of service for their people," he said.

He blamed government policies for unemployment and contended that real income is Sentence three for jail riot

Three youths who participated in a minor riot at the Winter Street jail in Sherbrooke over the weekend were given additional jail terms in Sherbrooke District Court yesterday.

The trio, Roger Cyr, 16, Claude Pelletier, 16, and Jean Pierre Patry, 17, all of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to causing $117 property damage to the jail.

Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel told the court the trio went on a rampage and broke window screens and everything they could get their hands on from Friday afternoon to Sunday.

Roger Cyr who was waiting to be transferred to the Laval Pavillion for a two year sentence for theft and attempted theft was given an additional three months jail sentence.

Jean Pierre Patry was given an additional one-month sentence to a six month sentence for theft, while Claude Pelletier was given a month for his part in the rampage.

Pelletier was also given a two year prison term with a recommendation that he be sent to the Laval Pavillion of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary for a breaking, entering and theft charge at a local store.

Judge Evender Veilleux who passed sentences on the trio told Pelletier that what he did while awaiting sentence didn't help him any, especially since his court records were "not very favorable."

Another youth who is believed to be the ring leader of the disturbance will appear in court today to face the same charges.

He was unable to appear in Sherbrooke District Court yesterday because he was appearing before a judge in the Social Welfare court.

US aide is fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another government aide has been fired for his connections with Billie Sol Estes, the free-wheeling Texas financier under indictment for fraud.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman Tuesday dismissed James Ralph, former assistant agriculture secretary, saying an FBI investigation showed that Estes had paid some of Ralph's telephone bills.

Ralph, a Kennedy administration appointee who stepped down last February as an assistant secretary to become an agriculture attache, said his firing was unjustified.

In his year as assistant secretary, Ralph was in charge of the department's crop-control, price-support and grain storage programs.

Estes was one of Texas biggest operators in cotton and grain storage.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, largely for commercial reasons, is engaged in endless study of its viewers—who they are, how they live and, most of all, what they like.

The most recent study undertakes to pinpoint the program preferences of some important "consumer targets," which is the Madison Ave. phrase meaning viewers with money to spend.

For instance, this one purports to show that women buyers of hair sprays prefer mystery-adventure, variety, drama, news and documentary shows, but women buyers of color rinse for hair add situation comedy programs to the list.

Female cigarette smokers prefer mystery-adventure and drama, but male cigarette smokers also enjoy news-documentaries. Both young men (up to 39) and older men (40 plus) particularly like westerns, but in neither age bracket do women have them on their list of favorites.

Families that use more than a dollar's worth of soaps and detergents a week were found to enjoy mystery - adventure, westerns and drama, while families that use more than three cans of scouring powder a month choose mystery - adventure, drama, news and comentary.

This is all pretty fascinating, but I can't seem to figure out a real relationship between scouring powder and a scorn of westerns or, for that matter, see why heavy tea drinkers go for horse operas while coffee drinkers prefer whodunits.

The Bing Crosby Show on ABC Monday night was officially a variety hour, but it was really an hour-long mystery. For instance, where did Bing, Bob Hope and Edie Adams ever find so many non-memorable and tuneless songs to sing? How come the commercials seemed as numerous and as long as the entertainment numbers?

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is a special breed of brave men in movie making called stunt men. One of the most fearless was Bob Morgan.

Stunt men will do anything from falling from a three-storey building to leaping a horse off a cliff into a river.

They are paid well for it. Some can earn as much as $30,000 a year. They bargain with producers for individual stunts. A spectacular one can bring stunt men as much as $2,000.

But they can also get hurt.

Bob Morgan had worked in most of the big action movies for 17 years. Danger came easily to him; he was a squadron commander in navy aviation during the war.

"Bob is one of the top men in the business," said one of his fellow stunt men. "He is a good all-around man who could do anything."

Last month Morgan took a job to go on location with How the West Was Won in Arizona. The assignment seemed like routine stuff—or as routine as a stunt man's work could be. They were shooting some action scenes on an old railroad train.

HIT BY LOG

"Bob was aboard a flat car that was loaded with logs," said a colleague. "The logs were operated by hydraulic lifts and swung out on curves. Bob had finished the shot and looked back toward the camera train. One of the logs knocked him off the car.

"He fell between the track and three railroad cars passed over him. He wasn't run over by the wheels, but the clearance was so low that he was mangled."

Morgan was rushed to hospital in Phoenix, where his condition was grave. His wife, Vancouver - born Yvonne de Carlo, cancelled her engagements to be at his side. The stunt men's association issued an appeal for blood which was badly needed in the fight to save Morgan's life.

Morgan developed a toxic condition, and doctors agreed the leg would have to be amputated to save his life. It was severed above the knee.

Miss de Carlo was back in Hollywood this week and she reported: "He's finally out of the woods."

Now at 46 he is faced with the loss of his profession as well as the end of the vigorous life he had loved.

EAGER TO WORK

"He has accepted it beautifully," his wife said. "He is eager to get in there and start working with an artificial leg as soon as he can."

Yvonne said he would be able to continue straight acting as he has in the past, and perhaps go into the directing of action scenes.

DENISON'S MILLS — At the regular meeting of the Women's Institute on May 3, it was decided to hold a window-box contest similar to last year with the judging to take place in August. The members were also given house plant seeds anecd a contest will take place in the fall.

Plans were completed and committees chosen to cater for the Rexford-Carson wedding, on May 19.

Members were reminded of the county meeting in Richmond and five articles are to be collected for the sales table.

Four members were reported having completed their quilt blocks which were given to the home economics convener, Miss G. Philbrick.

Mrs. Guy Andrews, Sunshine convener, reported a balance of $3.70 in the flower fund. A sale of plants and bulbs netted $2.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Cecil Hannan, with the 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. Carson presiding.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Patterson on June 2, at 2 p.m.

He was accompanied by Major Robert MacDonald, Granby, Corps Commander.

The cadets are members of the only cadet corps in Quebec allowed to wear battle colors because they fought as a unit in the Fenian raid. Only three corps in the whole of Canada are permitted to wear battle colors.

D'Arcy McGovern, CO of the 3rd battalion of Black Watch, Montreal, Lt. Col John Dunn, CO of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke, and Lt. Col. Douglas Ward, CO of the Sherbrooke Regiment.

Following inspection, Major General Fleury presented the platoon and individual awards for the year.

The Harold Anderson Scott Cup for platoon competition was won by Platoon No. 1, the shield for smartness and corps initiative was won by the Guard, the G. W. Hess Memorial Trophy for interplatoon shooting was won by No. 4 Platoon.

Individual awards were given as follows: Best Recruit Medal was won by Cadet O.T.S. Cobbett of Montreal; the medal for the best cadet was won by Cadet K. Child was struck by dull object

BARNSTON — (Staff) — An autopsy report released here Tuesday by the Quebec Provincial Police revealed that six-year-old Edgar Arnold died of a meningitis hemorrhage, a result of being struck several times with a dull object.

A coroner's inquest into the death will be held in Barnston Thursday afternoon.

The child was taken to a Coaticook hospital Saturday afternoon by a priest, after he found him covered with sores and lying on the floor of his home.

The child died Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Corporal Rene Simard, officer in charge of the Stanstead detachment of the Quebec Provincial Police then sent the body to Montreal to determine the cause of death.

Bomber explodes

KNOB NOSTER, Mo. (AP)— Four men were killed and 15 injured Tuesday when a B-47 jet bomber caught fire on the ground at Whiteman Air Force Base and its exploding fuel tanks engulfed two dozen fire fighters in flames after they apparently had the fire out. Several of the injured were reported in critical or serious condition.

Fantastic potential

Paper output grows in Communist bloc

Paper production in the Communist bloc is rapidly growing, the sales manager of the Montreal branch of the Canadian International Paper Company said Tuesday night, but despite this new competition, the tons per capita figure is still in Canada's favour.

Douglas Wilson told members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club that Russia has a potentially fantastic domestic market with present consumption only 30 pounds per capita each year. Canada's consumption is 290 pounds per person.

"But being a controlled economy, she can unload production in world markets in order to win foreign exchange and probably will from time to time," Mr. Wilson said.

Mr. Wilson said nine small nations of the world which had absolutely no newsprint production in 1950 were producing in 1960 at a rate of 225 thousand tons per year.

"This is not a huge figure," said Mr. Wilson, "but it means a potential tonnage that is no longer open to Canada."

Not too many years, ago, he said the only real competition to Canadian Pulp and Paper products came from Scandinavia. In 1954, 80 per cent of the US newsprint was supplied by Canada. In 1959 is was down to 72 per cent.

In the field of dissolving pulps, demand for the Canadian product is low at the moment, Mr. Wilson pointed out, but increasing world population alone indicates a long term demand that cannot help but improve.

"Many people view the advance of plastics as a severe blow to paper as a packaging material," he said, "Plastics are not that new however, and despite their presence, the demand for paper as a packaging material is increasing. Research today has even married plastics to paper and the potential growth in this field is unmeasured.'

Seated at head table were Miller Hall, Richard Park, Jim Wark, Mr. Wilson, Paul Theobald, Clarence Blake, Andy Swan, Ed Powers and John Morgan.

Beautifully blended Messiah presentation

By ALISON SCHOENFELD
(Record staff reporter)

In the magnificent setting of Sherbrooke's St. Michael's Basilica the Sherbrooke Symphony, two choirs and four soloists presented Handel's Messiah Tuesday night.

Directed by the conductor of the Sherbrooke Symphony, Sylvio Lacharite, the many components of the concert were woven into a beautifully blended presentation. The two choirs taking part were the Sher-Lenn Choir, directed by Morris Austin and the Choeur Pie X, directed by Abbe Claude Paradis.

In the overture the orchestra attained a resonance and depth of expression which set the tone for the entire evening. Pierre Boutet, tenor, was the first soloist to perform. Mr. Boutet has a beautifully controlled voice. He managed to combine clarity of enunciation with purity of tone.

Napoleon Bisson, bass, tended to be too overwhelming at times but he certainly put fire of expression into his numbers. Why do the nations so furiously rage together? was particularly memorable.

Miss Denise Parent, contralto, had a pure quality of voice which was appealing. Unfortunately, Miss Parent's voice was not powerful enough to handle the selections and much of her singing was almost inaudible.

Soprano Cecile Vallee had a well trained voice and handled her role competently. The very familiar I know that my Redeemer liveth was one of her most successful numbers.

The choirs and orchestra gave a truly impressive performance. The large choir performed beautifully in spite of the size and the fact that two separate groups were involved. They sang with gusto and with real enjoyment. Their numbers with the orchestra including, of course, the Hallelujah chorus and worthy is the lamb sounded triumphant.

Mr. Lacharite, the conductor, merits great praise for his handling of the varied and demanding score. The tempo never lagged and the audience's interest never failed. He seemed to make every performer aware of his individual achievement without losing sight of the overall effect.

City to force owners to build four foot fences around pools

Sherbrooke city council this week adopted a bylaw obliging property owners to build four foot high fences around all swimming pools inside the city limits.

The bylaw also stipulates that gates to the swimming pools be locked with a key and locked when not being in use.

The bylaw was proposed three weeks ago by Alderman Paul Gervais who suggested that measures be taken to prevent children from playing in the water filled swimming pools and possibly being drowned when their is no one around.

Dangers of teacher evaluation stressed at a Windsor meeting

By MAURICE MALICK
(Record correspondent)

WINDSOR — (Special) — The problems and dangers of teacher evaluation was stressed here by Dr. J. M. Paton, executive director of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, of Montreal.

Dr. Paton was guest speaker at the RDA Teachers Association meet held in Windsor-Brompton Consolidated School Tuesday night where presentation was made to Mr. K. H. Annett, RDA supervisor who will be transferred to the Education Board at Quebec in July. Mr. Annett is being replaced by K. J. Dowd, M.A. principal of Buckingham High School.

Dr. Paton discussed the merit pay of teachers, noting that the average teacher outside of Montreal earns less than the average worker. He told of daily evaluation of teachers by boards, community, friends and fellow educators.

He went on to note reports made on evaluation which showed the old and new schemes of education. The relationship of the staff, he said, would not be disturbed if more work and responsibility were given to the teachers themselves.

Introduced by John Gaw, principal of ADS, Dr. Paton was thanked by N. McNevin of ADS teaching staff.

Prior to the informative talk by Dr. Paton, D. Carroll of the teaching staff at St. Francis High School spoke on his travels and experiences in Pakistan where he taught at the Warsak School in West Pakistan for three years under the system of the Colombo Plan.

Introduced by Donald Roussie of St. Francis High, he was thanked by Ronald Johnston of Drummondville.

Over fifty members of the RDA Schools attended the meeting where supper was served at St. Andrew's United Church by the Women's Association.

I.O.D.E. 50th anniversary banquet

Outlines rights of women

The rights of women in the province of Quebec and The Eastern Townships were the topics of a speech given by Bart Holtham, Q.C., at the 50th anniversary banquet of the Sherbrooke Municipal Chapter of the I.O.D.E.

Mr. Holtham noted that although the rights of women in this province are somewhat limited, nevertheless, they were hard fought for.

In this part of his talk, he made three major points: first, now that the women have the right to vote, they should take advantage of it and use it wisely; second, whether single or married, every woman should have a will. He pointed out that it is not necessary for a lawyer or notary to draw one up, but that a note written and signed by the individual herself is legal.

Mr. Holtham's third point concerned the difference between the marital status of being "community' or "separate" as to property.

In the former case, a widow is entitled automatically to 50% of her late husband's estate, whereas in the latter case, she can only get what his will dictates. Thus, in most cases, the former is the better arrangement, the exception being when the girl, before marriage, is of independent financial means.

In the second half of his talk which was concerned with a history of the Eastern Townships, he pointed out that the name "Eastern Townships" arose merely by accident, as new residents of what is now Quebec wrote this as their address to their relatives overseas to distinguish it from Ontario, which was called the Western Townships.

According to Mr. Holtham the great influx of settlers into this area came in the 1830's when the British American Land Company received the rights to much of this land. Another stimulus to settlement, was the arrival of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1858.

Mr. Holtham then went on to tell the story of General Fredrick George Heriot, and his nephew, R. N. Watts whose names appear on many family trees of many of this area's living residents.

The guest speaker also pointed out that Clark's Hotel once occupied the site of the present the site of the present Lennoxville Post Office.

"In this hotel, for eleven months," Mr. Holtham stated, "lived Jefferson Davis, a president of the Southern Confederacy, and his family."

He concluded his speech by pointing out that the Quebec Provincial Government is presently giving aid to the various local historical societies.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. George Smith, 1st vice regent of the Sherbrooke Municipal Chapter and thanked by Mrs. A. A. Munster, honorary regent.

Head table guests were: Mrs. R. L. Bishop, regent of the Sherbrooke Municipal chapter; Mr. Holtham and Mrs. Holtham; Rev. J. D. R. Franklin; Mrs. A. A. Munster, honorary regent; Mrs. G. Smith, 1st. vice regent; Mrs. D. Macrae, president of the provincial chapter; Mrs. J. R. Beveridge, educational secretary of the provincial chapter; Mrs. A. E. Roodhouse, provincial treasurer; Miss Hope Glass, Echoes secretary of the provincial chapter; Mrs. G. A. Winters, past president of the Provincial chapter; Mrs. H. H. Gibout, of Quebec; Mrs. A. H. Gibbs, 1st. vice president of the provincial chapter; Mrs. G. B. Loomis, 2nd vice regent of the Sherbrooke Municipal chapter; Miss F. Macdonald, past regent; and Mrs. R. M. Loughhead, secretary for Services at Home and Abroad.

Government's role in medical care

The role of government in the hospital and medical sphere is one of the burning issues of the day in Canada. The country appears to be moving in many ways towards some form of socialized medicine. It has begun with hospital insurance schemes in the provinces and could end, as it may in Saskatchewan, with the state playing the leading role in preserving the public health and well-being.

The question has become an election issue, although so far, in a minor way. The Liberals are promising that if elected, they will enact a fairly comprehensive national health scheme.

It seems reasonable at this point to question just how much government participation in health and medical care is necessary.

There are three main groups involved: the indigent and the low-income families; the average families; the prosperous families.

To take the last first, it is obvious that in a modern insurance context, prosperous families do not require extensive government help in their health and medical problems.

For the indigent and low-income families, there already exist a number of schemes at all levels of government. But they need improvement, and in this connection, a portion of a brief submitted to the royal commission on health services by the Canadian Medical Association is of significance.

The CMA said about 1,520,000 indigent Canadians, or eight per cent of the population should have their medical insurance paid for entirely out of public funds. Only partial assistance would go to a second group — "on proof of need." A maximum of 3,000,000 would quality for consideration under this provision. This, the CMA brief implies, is as far as government participation in medical care need go in addition to hospital insurance schemes already in effect. The argument is a compelling one.

It is true that for the average family — that is, the family that is neither needy nor prosperous — serious illness or accident can be a disastrous financial blow. But there are already available large numbers of non-governmental, voluntary insurance schemes, some privately sponsored, some sponsored by the medical profession which, when used in conjunction with hospital insurance plans, provide good coverage. And, as the CMA brief pointed out, the development of these forms of coverage is making steady progress and the "availability of insurance to every Canadian who needs and wants it is in sight." This kind of coverage is far preferable to tax-supported, inevitably costly and wasteful socialized medicine.

There is, in other words, no real necessity for governments to step into the medical care picture above the level of the indigent and needy. As the CMA brief points out, there are many other spheres were government can do far more useful work — in financial support of medical students; in support for medical research, in the provision of more hospital facilities; in improving the mental health and rehabilitation situation.

The CMA position is well-taken, but it is to be hoped that CMA will not let it rest there. While the Association puts the question of medical care fourth on its list of priorities, it is a primary consideration in the minds of the general public. The strength of general support for more government participation in medical services should not be underestimated.

It will not be enough for the CMA to simply state and re-state its position from the traditional aloof and lofty position of the medical profession. The profession had been guilty, in the words of CMA president Dr. G. W. Halpenny, of "not informing the public clearly and forcefully just what we (the doctors) believe is the best form of medical care for Canadians." He placed a large share of the blame for lack of understanding between the public and the medical profession on the profession itself, pointing out that too often, the much-cherished professional secrecy of doctors has been carried too far, to the point even of evasion and half truths.

This has engendered some public resentment, he said, and it cannot be doubted that some large part of this resentment, however unjustified, has made itself felt in the demand for more government-supported medical projects.

The issue, then, is as much a political one as a professional one. The Canadian Medical Association must approach it on both grounds, not the professional one alone, if it is to be successful in stemming the tide towards socialized medicine.

Children adopt dangerous practices

Complaints by Mayor Armand Nadeau against the actions of school children at many protected street crossings, will find strong support from many motorists, including the parents of many of the children concerned.

At some of these crossings, the youngsters apparently have established a well-organized relay system whereby they cross and recross the street in a steady stream while motor traffic piles up in both directions. (Unfortunately one nine-year-old who had made five crossings found out on her arrival home that the first motorist in the resultant line-up was her father.)

Admittedly some sort of protection is needed, especially for smaller children, at crossings in the vicinity of the schools but some safer and more efficient method should be devised to replace the system of stop signs in general use.

The most logical would appear a system of special guards, either adults or senior students, at the hours of school opening and closing. This would assure that the children get across the street safely without undue delay for motorists.

Chamber of Commerce backs JFK

President Kennedy's "new and bold instrument of American trade policy", which is encountering stormy seas as it tries to sail through the U.S. Congress, appears to have received an unexpected helping hand.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, traditionally the mossbacked advocate of high trade barriers, seems to have cut the legs from under many of the protectionist-minded Congressmen by defeating a proposal put forward at its annual convention in support of additional "escape clauses" and "peril points" in the legislation.

In doing so, the Chamber may also have strengthened the resolve of the bill's backers, who have shown an almost supine willingness to placate the protectionists.

Under the terms of the proposed trade legislation, the President could cut all rates — by broad categories instead of on an item-by-item basis as in the past—as much as fifty per cent in the next five years. And he could wipe out tariffs altogether on a wide range of products primarily supplied in world trade by western Europe and the United States.

Partly to reduce fears that a rise in imports would mean loss of jobs for Americans, the President has signed a bill that provides for the expenditure of up to $435,000,000 to teach new skills to unemployed workers.

But other efforts to allay suspicions that a widespread lowering of tariffs would harm substantial segments of domestic industry have resulted in mutterings that President Kennedy has made too many compromises.

Common Market countries, for instance, are angered over the recent raising of the duty on glass and Wilton carpets —action that was taken under an escape clause which permits the President to increase a tariff, once reduced, if there is injury to American industry. Provisions of this sort and others like it are included in the bill now before Congress.

But despite these concessions, still further crippling amendments are being advanced. In voting to limit such hedging, the Chamber of Commerce has thrown its prestige behind the principles of the legislation—to increase trade on a multi-lateral basis.

All this has profound significance for Canada in general and the Atlantic Provinces in particular. If Canadian tariffs are to be lowered and international trade expanded, it will probably have to be done with American and Common Market leadership. Failing U.S. participation, it is entirely possible that the free world could solidify into a few trading blocs—with this country on the outside looking in.

All not well with dictator's regime

Strikes, riots, demonstrations making Spain's Franco uneasy

By RON LAWRENCE

News reports from Spain have told of strikes, student demonstrations and arrests that have taken place in Fascism's last stronghold.

The modest reports, eclipsed by news from Algeria, nuclear tests and Canada's forthcoming elections, may have gone unnoticed by most Canadians.

Because Spain has apparently remained tranquil for upwards of two decades, reports of violence in General Franco's backyard do not appear to merit much attention.

Yet they deserve more than a passing glance.

For the first time in many years, the rotund Generalissimo's censors have been unable to hush up news calculated to show that all is not well with the nation's State-Church-Army triumvirate.

This is significant enough, insofar as countless unreported incidents have been taking place within the country since Barcelona, by falling to Franco's forces in 1939, ended the civil war.

But more significant is the resemblance which this week's happenings bear to events that took place in the summer of 1935.

Twenty-seven years ago the coal miners and foundry workers in Iran, Viscaya and Oviedo walked off the job.

STUDENT MARCH

Simultaneously, students in Madrid began marching in sympathy with the strikers.

In Catalonia, a hot-bed of stubborn independence since before the Napoleonic wars, workers also walked off the job.

The violence then was greater than the violence reported this week, it is true, but the signs of latent mass rebellion have never been as strong.

In 1935 the trouble ended almost as soon as it began and this seems to to be the same pattern that is forming now.

The aftermath of the short-lived rebellion in 1935 came one year later when the civil war got into full stride. It has never really ended.

Spain has been in a constant state of armed alertness since the last Catalan laid down his arms just prior to the outbreak of World War Two.

Armed raiders have descended from the Pyrenean mountains on the French border to attack towns and villages in northern Catalonia.

Some have even penetrated as far as Barcelona, where periodically they have attacked police, raided banks and shot their way back to their mountain hideaways.

Many "political prisoners" are still in Spanish jails; known Republican supporters are arrested and jailed every time General Franco pays a state visit to Spanish cities.

GARBAGE EATERS

After midnight in most cities it is common to see men and women scavenging in garbage cans for food leavings or thrown-out clothing.

Black market has become almost an integral part of the nation's economy, while an underpaid police force is open to bribery at all times.

The Spanish press is muzzled. News reports concern affairs of state, religious reports, news of exports or imports and social events. Not a word of crime or political trouble is allowed in any newspaper.

Within the structure of Franco's dictatorship there are really only two kinds of Spaniard—the very rich and the very poor.

The middle class is a small majority though it is more noted in major industrial centres like Barcelona or in the nation's capital.

Elections became a thing of the past as soon as Franco obtained full control of the country.

Within this structure of dictatorial unrest, an amorphous current is beginning to be felt.

American dollars have been coming into the country for some years.

U.S. service men, and tourists from other lands are showing the Spaniard envied wealth and freedom and he is now saying to himself: 'Why can't I have some of this?'

The events that took place recently are curiously similar to the 1935 upheaval.

Coal miners in the North have struck for higher wages and university students have supported the action of 80,000 of their countrymen.

Riots, woundings and arrests have followed in their wake, while government spokesmen have blandly reported that the miners have been induced to return to work—but without their pay raise.

It is doubtful that a full-scale civil war can again erupt in the nation.

The advent of the United Nations and America's interests in the country make it an almost certainty that some form of intervention would come about in the event of serious rebellion.

But there are two factors that could upset this prognosis.

The first is represented by a legion of ex-Republican supporters (among whom are Communists, Anarchists and Royalists) who are in exile in Latin America, Portugal, France, Britain, the U.S. and even in Canada.

Many of these people are still young enough to take part in any political fight that may shape up.

Most of them have been waiting for just such a situation since they were exiled in 1939.

The second factor is represented by Russia.

Rebellion in the Western world would give the rest an opportunity which they would no doubt be quick to exploit.

Faced with a strong Germany, a well-meaning but bumbling British government that insisted on international neutrality, and her own unpreparedness, Russia could do little to aid the Republic during the Spanish civil war.

She could do a great deal if Spaniards decide to man the barricades once again.

Ironically, the very weapon of which Franco boasted during the siege of Madrid—his famous fifth column—is working against him.

It is a column without a head as yet, and therefore has not achieved definite pattern of movement.

A head may never be forthcoming, but if a leader does rise out of one of the cracks in Franco's dictatorial wall, as matters now stand, it seems certain that the Spanish workers will follow him.

If he is wise, he will try and avoid civil war—but Spaniards are notoriously hot-blooded.

Unemployment in Canada

High school grads most secure

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA — (CP) — If you are married, over 25 and with a high school education or better, you stand the best chance of keeping your job.

If you haven't finished primary school, you're seven times more likely to be out of work than if you ha e a full secondary school education.

Moreover, you'll have a better chance of staying out of the employment service office if you work in some industry other than forestry, fishing, trapping or construction. Last year unemployment rates in those industries ranged from 20 to 30 per cent.

The facts emerge from a detailed study on unemployment during the last decade issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The report, bristling with percentages, charts trends in unemployment and provides some of the main facts about the country's jobless — their sex, age, family status, where they live and what kind of industries they come from.

It finds a 'fundamental long-run upward drift" in unemployment rates running through the up-and-down business cycles of the last 10 years.

In the five years 1951-55, an average 3.5 per cent of the labor force was unemployed. This rose to an average 5.7 per cent during 1956-60 and last year the jobless rate averaged 7.2 per cent.

Job opportunities haven't kept up with the growing labor force —the number of persons who have jobs or want them. Between 1951 and 1961 the number of employed persons rose by 952,000 to an average 6,049,000, a rise of 18.7 per cent. But the labor force increased 24.8 per cent, up by 1,295,000 to 6,518,000.

The report points up one fact —unemployment in a family doesn't necessarily mean an ending of the family's earned income.

Four special surveys last year found that in more than half of the families hit by unemployment—55.1 per cent of them—there were one or more other members with a job. In about 22 per cent of these families there were two or more wage earners.

On the other side of the coin, however, were the 4.9 per cent of families hit by unemployment in which there was no other wage earner. About one-third of these families had two or three members, another third were families with four or five members and the remaining third of the families had six or more members.

Last year, when unemployment averaged 469,000, just over 45 per cent of the jobless were heads of families. One-third of them were single sons or daughters living with their parents and 11 per cent of the unemployed were other relatives living in families. About nine per cent of the jobless didn't live with families.

The report, while concentrating on cold statistics without going into the reasons behind them, indicates two main factors in unemployment rates—youth and lack of education.

A special survey in February, 1960, showed an unemployment rate of 18.7 per cent among persons who never finished primary school and only 2.7 per cent among those who finished secondary school or better. The jobless rate was eight per cent for those who had finished primary but not secondary schooling.

"The joint effect of youth and inadequate education is evidenced by the very high unemployment rate — about 30 per cent—for persons under 25 who did not finish primary school," the report says.

The special survey found that more than nine of every 10 jobless in February, 1960, hadn't finished secondary school.

The Atlantic provinces have consistently had the highest unemployment rates —an average 5.5 per cent during the five years 1951-55 and 11.1 per cent last year. Quebec was next highest with 4.5 per cent during 1951-55 and 9.3 per cent last year. Jobless rates in other regions for the same periods: Ontario, 2.7 per cent and 5.5 per cent; Prairie provinces, 2.2 per cent and 4.6 per cent, British Columbia, 4.0 per cent and 8.5 per cent.

Men have consistently had higher unemployment rates than women. Last year 8.4 per cent of the male labor force was unemployed compared with 3.7 per cent of the female labor force.

The average rate for men under 20 was 16.6 per cent, or just about twice the over-all rate for men.

The jobless rate for single men averaged 14.1 per cent last year, more than double the 6.4-per-cent rate for married men. The same held true for women.

The type of occupation also is related to unemployment. Blue-collar workers had a jobless rate between four and five times that of white-collar workers. The blue-collar group includes manufacturing, mechanical, construction and unskilled laboring jobs. Classed as white-collar are those in professional, managerial, clerical, commercial and financial jobs.

Last year the unemployment rate for blue - collar workers averaged 12 per cent compared with 2.6 per cent for white-collar. Blue-collar workers represented only 29 per cent of the labor force but accounted for 52 per cent of unemployment.

Forestry, fishing and trapping industries, as a group, had a jobless rate of 29.3 per cent and the construction industry had a rate of 21.1 per cent. Rates in other industries: mining, quarrying and oil wells, 9.3 per cent; manufacturing, 6.7 per cent; transportation and other utilities, 6.6 per cent; trade, finance and service, 4.1 per cent.

In Quebec federal election campaign

Little provincial party support is expected

By JULES LAGUE

QUEBEC (CP) — In Quebec, where provincial autonomy sentiment is strong, the main federal political parties can expect little open support from the main provincial parties.

Both Premier Lesage and Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson have made it clear that they personally will not take part in the federal campaign.

Both also have said they are not restraining their followers, but it is evident that the followers are following the lead.

The long legislature session is one reason. Neither the Liberal government nor the Union Nationale opposition has much time to devote to the federal campaign when the legislative assembly is still busy with provincial matters.

DENIES DOMINATION

Premier Lesage has consistently denied Union Nationale charges that his provincial Liberal party is "dominated by Ottawa" and he is out to demonstrate to autonomy - minded Quebecers that this is so.

Nevertheless, the same people organize and work for the Liberal party in provincial elections as in federal elections.

Mr. Johnson, in abstaining personally from giving his support to a federal party, follows the footsteps of the Union Nationale's founder the late premier Maurice Duplessis. He always kept out of federal politics himself, but his party machines and his cabinet ministers heavily supported the Progressive Conservatives.

Provincial Secretary Lionel Bertrand has been the only member of the Lesage cabinet to break the abstention rule. At an election meeting in Terrebonne, he spoke for the Liberals but did so, he said, only in his capacity as a citizen. His position did not commit the provincial party, a bit, he insisted.

Richard Hyde, speaker of the legislative assembly, defended his presence at a Liberal nomination meeting in Montreal's St. George - Westmount riding by saying he attended only to help choose a candidate in the riding he votes in. He did not address the meeting.

OTHERS TO TAKE PART

It is expected that other UN and Liberal members will take part as "citizens" without officially committing their parties.

It is a moot point whether Mr. Johnson will be absolutely out of the picture. His brother Maurice Johnson is running for a second term as Progressive Conservative member for Chambly - Rouville, a riding of Bagot that Mr. Johnson holds.

Observers feel that even if Mr. Johnson doesn't publicly stand for his brother, his own personal organization will be at Maurice Johnson's service.

The Union Nationale announced recently that it has put off forming its county organizations, part of the party reorganization Mr. Johnson promised when elected leader, until after June 18.

Observers feel this is to let Union Nationale organizers freely take part in the federal campaign in favor of the Conservatives, but without any formal attachment to their provincial party.

The general impression is that both parties will supply few soldiers for the battle, but will concentrate more on providing the ammunition: money and organization work.

DELEGATES VISITING

group will visit several federal departments to observe firsthand the workings of government offices and then join Prince Philip and the Governor-General for a reception at Rideau Hall.

TO ATTEND DINNERS

The group then will split up for a series of small dinner parties given by high commissioners of Commonwealth countries, members of Parliament and leaders of various national organizations based in Ottawa.

The delegates are to return to Montreal by private train in the late evening.

The conference, studying the effects on people of changes brought about by industrial developments, is to tour Canada before it ends in Vancouver June 6.

It went into private session Tuesday—something it will be doing frequently from now on as it settles down to daily routine.

Prince Philip carried out one of his few public appearances Tuesday in Montreal not connected directly with the conference.

He officially opened three new residences at McGill University while several hundred people, mostly students, watched.

IGA expansion is announced

It has been announced by the President of IGA (Independent Grocers' Alliance) that expansion plans of independent grocers holding IGA franchises will be approximately 5 million dollars during the present year 1962.

With the steady growth of IGA stores throughout the country the amount of 56 million dollars is divided into the following expansion costs:

New Buildings, $34,285,.00; Building Expansions, $8,600,000.00; New Store Fronts, $2,880,000.00; Interior improvements and New equipment, $10,965,000.00.

There are now over 7,000 franchised independent grocery stores in the United States and Canada which are serviced through 100 franchised Supply Depots. The total sales of IGA stores exceed 3½ billion thus making IGA the largest independent group, and the second largest retail food business in the world.

White regarding the matter. Any one interested in having children attend either of these camps is requested to get in touch with Mr. White, to make reservations.

A chapter in the Study Book, was reviewed by Mrs. Grisdale Gould. A letter was read asking for constructive criticism, on the Study Books provided both for last year and this, to be presented at the Deanery meeting, from the various branches.

Mrs. Jack Paton, Dorcas secretary, reported receipt of a letter from the Sisters of St. John, in charge of St. Michael's the need for winter garments.

TRAFFIC INCREASES

MONTREAL (CP)—A 20-per-cent increase in passenger traffic carried across the North Atlantic by 18 member airlines during the first quarter of 1962 as compared with the same period last year, was reported Tuesday by the International Air Transport Association. This figure represents 58,705 more passengers than during the same three months in 1961.

Y.P.U. holds weekend rally in Richmond

RICHMOND — A group of 30 young people and counsellors met in Richmond and Melbourne United Church, Richmond, on May 5, to begin a weekend Y.P.U. Rally. The primary purpose was to promote fellowship among young people of the 18 to 25 age group in the United Churches in Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery. Young people from six pastoral charges attended, along with a group of officers from Montreal and Ottawa Conference Y.P.U.

The weekend began at 10:30 a.m. and Saturday's activities continued until midnight. In the afternoon a discussion was held on, The Church and World Today. There was also a softball game in the afternoon and a skit and slides showing phases of the Young People's Camp held for eight days each summer at L'Original, Ont.

The three main meals of the weekend were served at the church, with Saturday's evening meal taking the form of a banquet. Rev. Eleanor Carr, of Ulverton was guest speaker and showed slides taken during her recent trip to Africa. She also taught the group an African song. The film, The Dresden Story, was shown in the evening.

From 9 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. a dance was held, the music being supplied locally by a volunteer pianist, guitar player and violinist. The evening closed with refreshments and vespers.

ATTEND SERVICE

The Rally reconvened Sunday morning for the Church Service. George Cram, of Montreal, student minister and president of Montreal and Ottawa Conference Y.P.U. was the guest preacher, assisted by Miss Laurel Healy, a member of the local Y.P.U. Rally Committee, and Mrs. Lyall Simpson, Y.P.U. counsellor for Quebec - Sherbrooke Presbytery.

Sunday afternoon's session was mainly a group evaluation of the Rally, under the title, Where Do We Go From Here? The group enthusiastically criticized the Rally. Plans include another Rally next spring in some central location in the Presbytery, a possible Fall Rally, and the setting up of a semi-presbytery Y.P.U. organization.

As a direct result of their work on the Rally committee during the past few months, young people from Richmond and Melbourne United Church, and the Ulverton Pastoral Charge, along with young people from Windsor, have begun to organize an area Y.P.U. At the present time, only three Young People's Unions exist in Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery.

Talk on missions

Brome-Shefford Anglican W. A. holds annual deanery meeting

WATERLOO — The Brome-Shefford annual deanery meeting of the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary was held on May 9 at St. George's, in Granby. Approximately 100 members of the deanery and executive of the Diocesan Board of Montreal, attended.

Holy Communion was celebrated in St. George's at 11 a.m. with the rector, Archdeacon I. M. Lidstone the celebrant, assisted by Rural Dean T. E. R. Nurse, of Knowlton, Rev. G. E. Norris, Waterloo, Rev. T. J. W. Liggett, Foster and Rev. J. H. M. Brett, Sutton.

Two Life Memberships in recognition of years of devoted service, were presented by Archdeacon Lidstone, the gold emblems being pinned on by Mrs. Kenneth Naylor, of Montreal, Diocesan president. Mrs. Myrtle Allan, of St. James Church, Foster, was honored by her family, and Miss Doris Lewis, of St. George's, Granby, by the branch members.

Luncheon was served in the church hall by the Granby W.A. The tables and hall were decorated with bowls of white carnations and purple lilacs, the W.A. colors.

The afternoon meeting was chaired by Mrs. Nelthorpe, president of St. George's W.A. Mrs. K. Naylor, Diocesan president, Miss E. Watkins, secretary of Deanery Branches, and Mrs. D. Osborne, secretary of this deanery, were on the platform. Archdeacon Lidstone offered prayers. Following greetings from the local president, Mrs. Naylor brought greetings from the Board.

It was decided that an executive committee of the deanery be set up and each branch be represented.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker, Paul Ip, of Hong Kong, a student at the Montreal Theological College, gave a short sketch of the Christian Church in China, and more particularly in Hong Kong. He credited Bishop Hall with bringing in 1932, reform in Chinese missions. Bishop Hall established Chinese training and urged his missionaries to live with the Chinese, learn their language and ways. His work is now showing results. The present bishop in Hong Kong is Chinese. Mr. Ip himself, the son of a clergyman, is sponsored by Bishop Hall. Christianity's great hope, Mr. Ip said, is in Hong Kong, since the Communists control most of China.

On being questioned about clothing being sent to Hong Kong, Mr. Ip suggested perhaps money would be used to better advantage. European styles of women's clothes with low necks are not accepted by the Chinese, and little children's cotton clothes are much cheaper in Hong Kong. The hungry children in the city are fed by the Christians according to their means. Now about 1,500 meals per day are given out, at a cost of only six cents a meal, he said.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Watkins and thanked by Miss Winnifred Buoy.

GENERAL BUSINESS

Mrs. Kirby, chairman of the Education Department, sought an opinion on this year's Study Book, compared to those of previous years. It was revealed few branches studied the book, criticisms showing it was difficult and not of as much interest as study of missions closer to home. Mrs. Kirby announced there would be a training course for Education Secretaries set up at Anglican House.

A heartily applauded suggestion was that some of these

Heart of a home: a cheerful woman

It takes a cheerful woman to make a cheerful house. I found that out recently when I agreed to water the house plants for a vacationing neighbor who lives in what I have always thought of as a particularly cheerful house.

But every time I entered the house during her absence, I was struck not by the cheerfulness of the house but by its empty, deserted look.

All the things we tend to think of as making houses cheerful-looking were still there; the bright, pleasant colors, the growing plants, the inviting comfort of the furniture, the books and pictures and treasured heirlooms.

But the air of cheerfulness was gone. The most important item in a cheerful house was missing — a happy-faced, cheerful woman to give life and meaning to the rooms.

Whenever I had entered the house previously, the door had been opened by a happy looking woman — friendly, hospitable and with a hearty welcome.

The cheerful rooms were only the background for the happy face, the pleasant voice, the welcoming smile and the ready hospitality of its owner.

Too often, women get the idea that cheerful houses are decorating triumphs, when actually the cheerfulness of a house depends mostly on whether or not it is a house presided over by a happy cheerful woman.

Pre-sifted flour a gimmick?

Some milling companies have used the term "pre-sifted" when advertising their flour for sale on the retail market.

This suggests a simplification in using the flour and an economy for the user since the accompanying directions state that, per cup, measured —approximately one tablespoon of flour can be removed and saved.

The information recorded here was obtained from experts, including several cereal chemists who are concerned with the milling of wheat and use of flour.

These are the Main Facts

1. There is a natural variation in the composition of wheat and in the flours produced from it. This natural variation cannot be completely overcome.

2. "Sifting" is part of the milling process and has been for years. The flour is sifted through several very fine silk screens—much finer than the flour sifters used generally in the preparation of baked goods. Therefore all flour is "pre-sifted" before we buy it.

3. When the flour is packaged into bags, it packs down—this is inevitable. If that flour is sifted immediately before use, thus incorporating air into it—it will be of greater volume than before sifting—the difference being about one tablespoon per cup of flour.

4. Recipes for flour mixtures have enough tolerance in them to compensate for some variations in the methods of measuring the flour—just as they compensate for other variables.

5. If "pre-sifted" flour is prepared in the mill by an additional sifting over and above that generally practised, it might produce a more uniform homogeneous product. It is doubtful if this is done, and if so, whether there would be any significant advantage.

6. The cereal chemists consulted were of the opinion that "pre-sifted" was just an advertising "gimmick." They say that practically all milling companies are now labelling their flours pre-sifted.

MISS HAZEL LOUISE GOODFELLOW, R.N., youngest daughter of Mrs. Goodfellow and the late James Goodfellow and CONSTABLE ROBERT DARKER FARNHAM of the R.C.M.P. son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Farnham of Lennoxville, whose engagement is announced. The marriage has been arranged to take place on June 2 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

Barefoot look belongs on beach

With summer comes the barefoot look. And a word of caution won't be amiss. Ten brightly painted toenails, showing through open-toe shoes are a gay sight at a picnic or at the beach. But why is it that some girls lack the good sense to wear them for just those occasions?

Play shoes are exactly what they're called. They have no place in an office. They're especially unsightly when worn without stockings, and bare heels and toes pick up soil from the city streets. Their appearance isn't the only reason why the combination of play shoes and bare feet is bad for everyday wear.

It's not wise to go without hosiery too often. Some kind of foot covering should be worn between the foot and the shoe to prevent skin infection. For the sake of health as well as good grooming, keep the barefoot look for the beach where it belongs.

Beauty Is As . . .

The woman who makes little or no effort to preserve her beauty as the years go by will discover one day to her chagrin that her figure has thickened her skin has become dry and her hair lusterless. She'll wonder when it all happened.

As we get older, most of us hold down jobs that make exercise in the normal course of a day pretty much out of the question. To keep our bodies supple, we must set aside time in a busy schedule for that needed exercise. Our skin loses some of its natural oils as the years pass, and these, too, must be replaced with proper diet and regular use of moisturizers.

Tinting, permanent waving, summers at the beach and winters in overheated rooms will take the luster out of any hair. So constant brushing to stimulate circulation, hot oil treatments when necessary and faithful use of hair conditioners are an important part of regular hair care.

You won't stay lovely just by wishing it so. You get out of your looks only what you put into them.

Try a New You

If you're tired of having the same old appearance every day, give yourself a lift with new trends in make-up. Experiment with a new shape for your eyebrows. Change your lipstick colors. The new no-shine pastel lipstick shades will enhance the colors in your costumes and make them look new again. If you're not accustomed to rouge, try it. Then see if you're not delighted with the subtle change in your looks.

Everything you wear for spring and summer will be fresh and flattering. And this should also be true of your most dynamic accessory — your fragrance.

A flower garden of fashion colors will make you feel gay.

A new sailor, roller or breton will give you a young look. But the right scent is the thing that will create the mood and feeling.

A light, spicy fragrance is ideal for this time of year. It will influence others to say nice things about you.

One such fragrance, inspired by the beauty of French lace, is a mellow mingling of moss and spice that is at once fresh and completely feminine in nature.

Choosing a fragrance is a matter of instinct. It's designed to give pleasure. So when you find one you like, wear it within reasonable limits of suitability.

Learn to get the most from it. Spray it on all the pulse points. Try a little on the hem of your dress so that you'll walk in a trail of scent. Spray the bow on your hair, the handkerchief you tuck in your bracelet. Saturate cotton with your favorite scent and tuck it in your bra. Use it in the last rinse when you shampoo your hair.

You'll get more sheer enjoyment from your fragrance than from any other accessory. So use it liberally.

Girl Guide and Brownies

World friendship tea to be held

Representatives from the Mothers' Auxiliaries of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd Guide and Brownies met recently to discuss the upcoming Overseas Provincial Tour, which is a venture in World Friendship, sponsored by Quebec Provincial Girl Guides Association.

Under this scheme ten representatives from Quebec Province will travel to Europe and meet up with other Guides from all over the Free World, during the month of June.

Sherbrooke Guides were fortunate enough to have Molly Brown of the 2nd Sherbrooke Guide Company chosen to be one of the ten.

In recognition of this honor the Mothers' Auxiliaries are uniting in the organization of a Girl Guide Tea to be held on Thursday, May 24, from 3-6 p.m. in Trinity Church hall.

Mrs. Bruce McAuley will convene the tea and Lennoxville mothers will be responsible for a Food Table. St. Patrick's and East Angus mother's will supply the flowers and table accessories and mothers from the three Sherbrooke Divisions will supply the food and work together as hostesses.

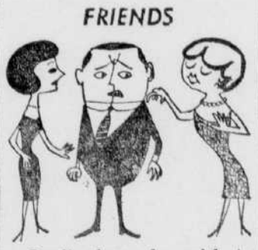
The theme of the tea will be World Friendship and an itinerary of the tour designed by Mrs. Brown will be on display at each table.

Miss Molly Brown will be guest of honor and receiving the guests will be Mrs. A. N. Langford, Division Commissioner, Miss Simone Bailey, Division Acting Camp Advisor, Mrs. R. Boright and Mrs. H. Way.

The pourers for the afternoon will be, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. J. K. Doherty, Mrs. Lloyd Spafford, Stanstead Division Trainer and Mrs. J. Mackintosh, Stanstead Division Commissioner.

All proceeds will go towards the Provincial Overseas Tour.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS



Don't always be quick to point out the fly in the ointment, when you could just as easily ignore it.

Beauty Tips

Time to Lubricate Skin

Did you know your skin is more receptive to a beneficial lubricating cream while relaxing in a warm, steamy bath or used as a follow-up to a facial mask?

Douse That Light

If you've had a particularly exhausting day, don't try to read in bed. You may become so interested in your book that you'll deprive yourself of a much-needed beauty sleep.

Unique Idea

For afternoon and evening, designer Pierre Cardin replaces the conventional coat with a triangular shawl caught at the waist in a huge buckle. It is sometimes faced with printed silk.

Refreshing stewed prunes for dessert

By LOUISE MOORE

Purse up your lips and say prunes gals — that's what teacher is having today and it's a lesson worth knowing—even if you have been "no"-ing it for years.

How often have you turned up your nose at this fine dried fruit so rich in vitamins and minerals. Remember it started life as a plump luscious plum and wound up wizened just as you and I shall do some day. But with a beauty treatment and a few glad trimmings we can look like a million — so can prunes. Here is a dish.

These individual rum prune sponge fluffs are pretty and festive enough for a party. They taste wonderful with a delicious burst of rum and whipped cream to point up the flavor. The dessert is truly refreshing and can be made ahead, stowed away in the refrigerator and out of the way until serving time. Then on, to individual plates, garnish with a swirl of whipped cream and a nutmeat.

INDIVIDUAL RUM PRUNE SPONGE FLUFFS

Dissolve 1 package lemon gelatine in 1 cup boiling water, add ½ cup cold water, 1 tblsp. grated lemon rind, 3 tblsp. lemon juice, ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup rum or 2 tsp. pure rum flavoring. Mix well. Add 1 cup plump pitted chopped prunes and ¼ cup chopped walnuts. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in ¾ cup whipping cream stiffly whipped. Pour into individual molds and chill until set. Makes 6 servings.

Remember how prunes fit into salad and sandwich making. Stuffed with cheese and nutmeats or a bit of ginger they can be served on a fruit salad plate or cooked and combined with such things as peanut butter, cream cheese. Or take equal amounts of dried chopped fruits and pecans put through mincer and to one cup of this add ¼ cup maple sugar and a little cream. Mix to a smooth paste for delicious sandwiches using whole wheat bread.

The Doctor Says

Dr. Hyman

IMMUNIZATION VITAL TODAY WHEN DISEASE RIDES JETS

If you've been careless about keeping up with your immunizations, here's a lesson that may give you cause for second thoughts.

A young student from Pakistan was exposed to smallpox before leaving for college in England. He was perfectly well when he prepared for the trip but he hadn't had a recent vaccination. As time was short, he obtained a certificate from an obliging physician. The certificate was accepted at the Londgon airport where he arrived by jet within the matter of a few hours.

About a week later— the incubation period of smallpox is a week to 10 days or even more — he felt ill and was taken to the college infirmary. It was thought he might have malaria since that disease occurs also frequently in his homeland. When he died, a few days later, a postmortem examination was done by the hospital pathologist. Although this pathologist was an eminent physician, he just hadn't bothered to keep his immunizations up-to-date. At the conclusion of the examination, the doctor-pathologist decided that the young man had died of smallpox that was unrecognized because none of the staff physicians had ever observed the disease and all took it for granted that their patient, because of his certificate, must have been immune.

Within a few days after the examination, the doctor-pathologist became ill. And within the course of another few days, he died despite heroic efforts to treat him with powerful drugs.

Here are some of th lessons that each of us, far and near, must consider in this jet age when flying time from remote countries is days less than the incubation time for serious infections such as smallpox, typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria and other diseases that we once thought we were rid of:

Keeping up with an immunization schedule is a small price to pay for almost certain protection from serious diseases that may be life-threatening.

These include smallpox against which we may be vaccinated every three to five years; typhoid, diptheria, tetanus, poliomyeltis and whooping cough against which, after the original immunization, we may take "boosters" every three to five years.

To argue that such immunizations are a waste, because we live far away from ports of entry and hence may never be in contact with jet travelers, is a mistake that may prove fatal, as in the case of the doctor-pathologist. In this day and age, you never know who is standing in line with you as you check out in a supermarket or who it is that jostles you in a crowded bus, movie or shopping center.

Although our U.S. Public Health Service is undoubtedly the finest medical organization of its kind in the entire world, its officers at ports of entry cannot diagnose infections during their phases of incubation. Nor can they, except when warned of an epidemic, quarantine arriving nationals and visitors until the period of incubation has come to an end. They can, and will, because of the English experience, look for vaccination scars rather than accept certificates of those who've been in countries where smallpox is prevalent.

But it's up to you to protect yourself and members of your family from exposure to jet-propelled passengers who might well be walking down your Main Street.

GLEN MURRAY

Mr. Robert Graham was in Otterburn, May 5, to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. Alton Seale.

Red Sox swamp Yanks 14-4, Indians lose to A's

Suzanne Rousseau named president of Eastern Townships Ski Zone

Miss Suzanne Rousseau, last year's president of the Hillcrest Ski Club, was elected president of the Eastern Township's Ski Zone at a meeting in Sherbrooke Monday evening. Represented at the meeting were clubs from Sutton, Mount Orford, Hillcrest, Victoriaville and Thetford Mines.

Miss Rousseau has worked diligently to promote skiing in the district, especially at the Hillcrest ski club.

A vote taken gave the new presidency to Miss Rousseau. This marks the first time a woman has been elected president of a ski zone in Quebec. Roger Codere, of Sherbrooke, was elected vice-president.

Yvon Roberge and Raymond Houle were elected publicity director and technical advisor respectively.

The E.T. Ski Zone has already started to draw up its program for the new season. This policy will allow them more time to work out competition details.

Australians sweep of Italian tennis championships give clear indication for Davis Cup future

ROME (AP) — The tennis world had a clear indication today that the Davis Cup probably will remain in Australian hands another year.

The Italian international tennis championships, completed Tuesday, were dominated by the Australians.

Players from Italy, the United States, and Sweden—countries considered the best bets for the Davis Cup if anyone wrests it from the Austrlians—were disappointments.

Only Spain produced a glimmer of hope, in the form of Juan Manuel Couder.

The Italian tournament, on clay courts, is the first of the big European tournaments. Observers generally watch it for straws in the wind on the competitions and Davis Cup matches that follow.

Almost the entire Australian, Italian, Swedish and Brazilian Davis Cup teams were entered. So was Jon Douglas, of Santa Monica, Calif., one of the top U.S. Davis Cup hopes.

BEATEN IN THIRD

Douglas was beaten in the third round by young Australian John Fraser, a doctor who is playing tennis this year just to keep his famous brother, Neale, company.

Italy, which reached the challenge round against the Australians the past two years, was probably the biggest disappointment.

The great Italian doubles combination of Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli was upset by Brazil's Ronald Barnes and Carlos Fernandes. The Brazilian Davis Cuppers, however, did little more after that.

Pietrangeli, backbone of the Italian Davis Cup team and generally rated Europe's No. 1 player, was upset by Couder. The Spaniard also upset Neale Fraser.

COULD BE TOUGHEST

If Couder keeps up that play, he and Manuel Santana—Spain's No. 1 player, who did not play in Rome—could be the toughest European Davis Cup team this year.

But the Australians did not disappoint in the Italian tourney. All the men's singles and doubles finalists were Australian.

Rod Laver and Roy Emerson, strongmen of the Australian Davis Cup team were the two singles finalists. Laver won 6-2, 1-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Twins knock over Tigers, Orioles down Angels, John Powell belts two homers, White Sox rally for win

Nobody's pulling away from anybody in the American League race—not New York's seemingly - invincible Yankees nor Cleveland's surprising Indians. Not the way Minnesota, Chicago and Baltimore have been movnig.

While Cleveland and New York were being set back Tuesday night, the Twins knocked off Detroit Tigers 4-3 with home-run help from Vic Power and Harmon Killebrew, the White Sox nipped Washington Senators 3-2 as Al Smith contributed a vital pinch double, and the Orioles swamped Los Angeles Angels 7-1 behind Mil Pappas' pitching and some stout hitting by rookie John Boog Powell.

The ninth-place Kansas City Athletics squeezed by Cleveland 6-5 and Boston Red Sox rocked New York's shaky pitching for a nine-run outburst in the sixth inning and swamped the Yanks 14-4.

As the tightly-bunched race stands now, Cleveland has a ½-game edge on the Yanks, the Twins are just 12 percentage points behind New York, the White Sox are only one game off the pace and the Orioles two. For good measure, the Angels, Tigers and Red Sox are tied for sixth, 3½ back, and the ninth-place Athletics are only five behind.

Power socked a two-run homer as the second man to face Tiger right-hander Frank Lary, sending the Twins off winging toward their eighth win in the last 11 games. Lennie Green's sacrifice fly delivered the clincher in the seventh and Killebrew lofted a high one into the seats in the eighth for insurance.

Lefthander Jack Kralick, supported by some neat defensive work to go along with the Minnesota hitting, yielded only five hits to Detroit before leaving in the eighth with a blister on his hand.

Lary, in his first start since a sore shoulder put him on the sidelines April 26, went eight innings, allowing all nine Minnesota hits.

The White Sox, now winners of six of their last eight, pulled it out against the hard-luck, last-place Senators in an eighth-inning rally keyed by Smith's pinch hit. The double followed singles by Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox, tying the count at 3-3, and Fox came in on Mike Hershberger's ground out.

Two-run homers in the second by Bob Schmidt of the Senators and Jim Landis of the White Sox made it even until the sixth, when three singles gave Washington a 3-2 edge. Chicago launched its uprising in the eighth against loser Tom Cheney, and Smith's double greeted reliever Steve Hamilton.

Powell, with a brace of homers and a single in three at bats, and the four-hit pitching of Pappas highlighted the runaway over Los Angeles for the Orioles.

HOMERS TWICE

Powell's first homer climaxed a five-run first inning as Baltimore stashed it away early by bombing out Ted Bowsfield of Penticton, B.C., before he could retire a man. The big rookie outfielder connected again his next time up, in the fourth. It was Bowsfield's second loss against one victory.

Pappas (4-1) allowed three Angel hits in the first two innings and gave them one more the rest of the way—Tom Burgess' homer in the fifth.

Norm Siebern also belted a pair of two-run homers for Kansas City against the Indians, but two singles and some nifty base running by Dick Howser, plus a wild pitch proved decisive for the Athletics. With the game even at 4-4 Howser opened the seventh with a single, outlegged the throw to second on a fielder's choice, moved another notch on a sacrifice and scored on a fly. He moved Marlan Coughtry to third with another single in the eighth, and the run that stood up as the winner crossed when Frank Funk wild pitched.

Cleveland knocked out winning reliever Dave Wickersham in its one-run ninth, but rookie Diego Segui applied the stopper.

Carl Yastrzemski paced Boston's massacre against the reeling Yankees, who again showed pitching troubles in their third straight loss. Yastrzemski whacked a two-run homer off Ralph Terry in the first, had two singles in the Red Sox nine-run pounding of Terry and Jim Coates in the sixth, and later added another single.

Giants belt Curt Simmons while Billy Pierce gets win, Dodgers move into second, Reds win 3-2

That wind tunnel known as Candlestick Park has turned into a Garden of Eden for San Francisco Giants.

Continuing the amazing run that has catapulted them to the top perch in the National League, the Giants hopped on Curt Simmons and whipped St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 Tuesday night for their 16th victory in 19 games.

It also was the ninth consecutive triumph and the 15th in 17 games at home for the Giants, who apparently have learned to cope with the shifting windy currents in Candlestick Park and made home a paradise.

Billy Pierce posted his fifth win without a loss as San Francisco held its four-game edge over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers and pushed the third-place Cardinals six back. The Dodgers used a six-run seventh inning outburst to subdue Houston Colts 10-7.

Cincinnati's defending champion Reds won their fifth in a row and their 10th in 12 games by beating Philadelphia Phillies 3-2, Pittsburgh Pirates snapped a six-game losing streak with a 5-4, 10-inning decision over Milwaukee Braves and New York Mets outlasted Chicago Cubs 6-5 in 13 innings.

Simmons (5-1), who last week became the first pitcher to throw a complete game at the Giants, was bombed for six runs in three innings and that was it. Pierce scattered nine hits until he tired and needed Stu Miller's relief help in the eighth inning. The decisive runs scored in a three-run third on a double by Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda's single and doubles by Felipe Alou and Jim Davenport, the last of reliever Ray Washburn.

DRIVES IN FOUR

Shortstop Maury Wills drove in four runs for the Dodgers, knocking in the go-ahead run in that wild seventh with a single after pinch hitter Doug Camilli had singled across the tying tally. Trailing 7-4 with two out in the inning, the Dodgers erupted for six hits and a half dozen runs that kayoed Colts' starter Bob Bruce. Larry Sherry (2-1) picked up the win in relief while Bob Tiefenauer was charged with the loss.

The Reds got away in front on home run No. 12 by Vada Pinson in the first, then put it away with two runs in the second on Leo Cardenas' double and a single by winning pitcher Joey Jay (5-3) each knocked in a run. That made Art Mahaffey (2-5) a loser for the fifth consecutive time.

The Phils chased Jay in the eighth when John Callison slammed a two-run triple, but Bill Henry came on to slam the door by striking out Tony Gonzalez.

Dick Groat drove in the tying run for the Pirates with a single in the seventh, then singled and scored the winner in the 10th on a two-out single by Smokie Burgess off Jack Curtis (1-3). Harvey Haddix (2-1) won it. Rookie Denis Menke accounted for all the Braves' runs with a grand-slam homer in the fourth after Earl Francis had walked three consecutive batters.

Rookie Cal Koonce walked pinch hitter Hobie Landrith with the bases loaded and two out in the 13th, forcing home Gil Hodges with the winning run for the Mets. George Altman was 4-for-6 with two homers for the Cubs, who replaced the Mets in the cellar. Tony Balsamo (0-1) was the loser.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Houston, Tex.—Cleveland Williams, 213¾, Houston, knocked out Alonza Johnson, 194½, Rankin, Pa., 1.

San Antonio, Tex.—Ray Salazar, 115½, Los Angeles, and Oscar German, 116½, SanAntonio, drew, 10.

"When Arnie gets mad, he wins," says Gary Player

NEW YORK (AP) — They shouldn't have made Arnold Palmer mad, Gary Player said with a note of resignation Tuesday.

"It was like putting a match to a keg of dynamite," he said.

"You know, Arnie got off to a bad start on the winter tour early this year," added the little golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg. "They began writing his obituary. They said he was too interested in making money, that he had lost his edge and that he'll never be a big tournament threat again.

"That made Arnie mad. I found out long ago that the worst thing you can do is make this man mad."

Palmer won his third straight tournament and his sixth of the year Monday in the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth, boosting his official earnings to $59,308. He's almost certain to become the first golfer in history to win more than $100,000 in a single year.

"This fellow has to be the greatest," Player said. "I get quite ill when I hear all this talk about how good Ben Hogan was and how good Sam Snead was in the old days."

"In my opinion, Palmer is better than Hogan or Snead. He's better than any golfer who ever played."

CFC to decide who owns back Rollie Miles

CALGARY (CP)—George McMahon, president of the Western Football Conference said Tuesday night the squabble over who owns linebacker Rollie Miles must be settled by the Canadian Football League commissioner.

Miles was claimed from Edmonton Eskimos by Calgary Stampeders Tuesday under the league's player equalization draft plan. Eskimo officials protested the draft of the veteran player and Sydney Halter, CFL commissioner said he had turned the matter over to McMahon.

But McMahon said that because of his dual position as president of both the WFC and the Stampeders Football Club he is in a "ticklish" position in the dispute. The decision in this case must be the commissioner's, he said.

Jim Finks, Stampeders general manager, telephoned Halter in Winnipeg Tuesday but would not reveal details of the conversation.

CAHA to honor four members for outstanding contribution to game, Leo Burns of Montreal to be feted

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will honor four Eastern Canadians next week for their outstanding contribution to the national game.

The four winners, the first in Eastern Canada to receive the CAHA "meritorious awards" for their service to hockey, are Dr. S. H. Hutt of Chesterville, Ont.; Leo E. Burns of the town of Mount Royal, Que.; Hanson T. Dowell of Middleton, N.S., and Lorne Miller of North Bay, Ont.

They are to receive their awards during the annual meeting of the CAHA which starts here May 20.

Under terms laid down by the CAHA, the awards "honor those individuals who for many years have served amateur hockey faithfully, having participated as players, served as coaches and association members, and made outstanding contributions to Canadian amateur hockey."

Dr. Hutt, 73, a member of the CAHA's executive committee, has been active in Ottawa and district hockey for more than 45 years.

A past president of the ODHA, he continues to take a leading part in hockey activities in the Ottawa area.

WAS LEAGUE FOUNDER

Leo Burns was among the founders of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association and served as its president from 1926 to 1931.

Among other accomplishments, he presided over many hockey leagues in Montreal—such as the old City and District League, the Manufacturers' League and the Mount Royal Junior League—and selected the Canadian 1928 Olympic hockey team.

Now 78, he still regularly attends QAHA meetings.

Hanson Dowell, 56, now secretary - treasurer - registrar of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association, has held many hockey posts. He was president of the MAHA from 1936 to 1940, was vice-president of the CAHA from 1940 to 1945 and served as CAHA president from 1945 to 1947.

Also active in other sports in Middleton, Dowell has been a member of the Nova Scotia Legislature since June, 1960.

Lorne Miller, now retired, operate hockey clubs in Northern Ontario before becoming president of the NOHA in 1936. He served for two years in that post.

He was also secretary-manager and treasurer of the NOHA from 1951 until 1961 when he retired.

13 --- Putting

PAUL HARNEY
"Rather have ball hole high"

I use what they call the tap stroke in putting, but that doesn't mean you must.

Comfort in grip and stance is more important to performance than the kind of stroke you use.

In the tap stroke, the clubhead does not sweep or stroke the ball. The ball is hit with the clubhead accelerating. The tap stroke does not mean you necessarily shouldn't follow through. Very few good golfers quit at the ball, but if that works best for you—do it.

While putting is subject to wide variation according to the player's individual characteristics, there are a few things I find universally helpful.

Distance is more important than direction. Fine putters like Paul Harney would much rather have a ball hole high and a bit off than one straight for the hole that travels too fast and lips the cup or one that stops short.

Timing is just as important in putting as it is in the fuller swings.

I find that when my timing goes off in putting, I usually am picking up the club on the backswing, instead of taking it directly back from the ball at the proper speed.

I corect this by turning my left hand more toward the top.

A rich man dressed in rags

Duplessis County has rich natural resources but poorest people in Canada

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC — (CP) — Duplessis County, a ponderous chunk of rock, frost and iron in north-eastern Quebec, is a rich man dressed in rags.

Sept-Iles, its capital 310 miles north-east of Quebec City, is a busy town with a swelling population.

Rapid rivers, naturals for hydro-electric projects, flow to the coast. Railway slice through the rock mountains to the iron ore deposist in the interior.

"No one knows yet what other minerals are in there," said Henri Coiteux, Liberal member of the legislature for the riding.

Yet some of the poorest people in Canada live along the Gulf of St. Lawrence coast between Sept-Iles and Blanc-Sablon on the Strait of Belle Isle.

Sea-swept Harrington Harbor has no source of fresh water. Residents hoard rain.

FRESH FRUIT RARE

Some children along the coast have never seen fresh fruit. Their parents are awed by tales of those who have visited cities such as Quebec or Montreal.

Rocky, treeless Blanc-Sablon provides no natural fuel for the residents who sometimes walk eight miles digging roots for the stove. As the years pass, the source of this fuel gets farther away.

The villages aren't connected by road, nor in some cases by radio communication. Nurses staff the scattered mission hospitals; few doctors can be found who will devote their career to the ill in Quebec's outports.

"People are living in conditions unthinkable for Quebec in 1962," says Mr. Coiteux, who was elected on the Liberal wave in 1960.

The outport settlements northeast of Sept-Iles are the homes of Montagnais Indians and Cornish and Breton fishermen, who have changed their habits little in centuries.

EARN LITTLE

"They often make less than $300 a year," said Mr. Coiteux. "They can't afford to improve their equipment or do anything to help themselves."

Mr. Coiteux has high hopes for improving conditions there. First among them is organization of communications between the villages. But the most ambitious is Mr. Coiteux's hope that a road—"even a winter road" — can connect Blanc-Sablon with Sept-Iles.

Mr. Coiteux says this might lead to a ferry connecting Newfoundland and Quebec. Blanc-Sablon is only about 20 miles from Newfoundland at this point.

Third on the Coiteux list is improved fishing conditions and fourth, fresh water for Harrington Harbor. Arctic residents have found that aged ice loses its salt and becomes drinkable.

WANTS POWER DAMS

To provide electricity, Mr. Coiteux hopes to find a way to build a couple of small power dams on rivers along the coast.

This would mean refrigeration for meat and fish, and even more important, an economical means of providing higher education. Televised courses could be beamed to children in the villages, who now must choose between leaving their homes to attend anything but grade schools, or leaving school.

To get support for his projects, Mr. Coiteux, a 52-year-old forestry engineer, hopes to get the Quebec cabinet to go along with him this summer on his trip to the outports.

He says Newfoundland has tackled with some success the problem of paying for costly projects needed to improve poor, thinly populated regions. He hopes Quebec can do the same.

WANTS IMPROVEMENTS — Henri Coiteux, Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for Duplessis County in Northeastern Quebec, wants the government to improve living conditions in his riding's outport settlements. His plans include better communications, improved fishing conditions and hydro-electric developments.

FRESH WATER SCARCE — Some of the most poverty-stricken people in Canada live along the Gulf of St. Lawrence coast in Duplessis County. Residents rarely can afford to travel outside their communities and some children have never seen fresh fruit. This is a view of Harrington Harbor, a sea-swept village where fresh water is so scarce its people catch rain water in barrels and tubs for drinking and washing.

Community Arts and Craft Show is held at Ayer's Cliff High School

AYER'S CLIFF — The second annual arts and crafts show convened May 3, 4, and 5 in the auditorium of the High School. It was sponsored by the High School, proceeds of which went towards the educational tour being taken by the senior students to Ottawa.

Highlights of the Art Festival included works in oil by several painters in Stanstead County. The surrealism of A. Zabinski, of Magog, added variety to the display. Mr. Zabinski paints largely in oils with both brush and palette knife. On this occasion two colorful still life paintings were exhibited along with several land scape types.

Other Magog painters who contributed were Fr. Alfred, (St. Benoit), Mrs. B. Grainger, Miss Bessie Byce, Mrs. W. Conner, and Mrs. Connie Keat. Several of their paintings had been exhibited at the High School in Magog a month previously. Fr. Alfred's realism was reflected in numerous landscapes of the area around Lake Memphremagog. Some of these have already been used and are popular as post cards in that area. Fr. Alfred works in both oils and watercolours; on this occasion the water colour works predominated.

Two artists from Coaticook, also exhibited. The still life brush work of J. Levesque and landscapes of M. Gregoire added interesting variety to the show. Both of these artists work largely in oils though one pastel done by M. Gregoire was on exhibit.

From Ayer's Cliff, Mrs. J. Saanum and W. R. Langley both exhibited local scenes. Some of these were brush work and some done by palette knife.

Numerous drawings and samples of art work were exhibited by students. Prizes went to Sharon Pedersen (First) and Michael Laumaillier, these being offered by the Students' Council. Judging was done by A. Zabinski.

An important addition to the exhibition was the fine samples of homecraft work submitted by various members of the County Women's Institute. Exhibits came from Way's Mills, Tomifobia, North Stanstead and Ayer's Cliff. The home weaving of rugs, carpeting and drapes done by Mrs. L. Galvin was a high point of interest on the display tables. Other items of note included the large hand-crocheted tablecloth done by Mrs. C. Hovey, and the pram and cushion cover by Mrs. G. McHarg. Mrs. Nelson Pierce was the organizer and to her appreciation goes for table display of this homecraft.

The exhibition was convened for the encouragement of art and craft in the County of Stanstead and it was gratifying to see several community art clubs participating. It was felt that one circulating exhibition of carefully selected art work would be of more benefit to the furtherance of creative art in the County than several smaller independent shows, where varied creativity was possibly lacking. At such shows as this the influence of several leading artists would be evidenced. It is hoped that another year such an art festival can be arranged.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

PLAY HAS USES IN SUIT BIDS

The hold up play is designed to cut the enemy's lines of communication. The play usually is made when the contract is no-trump but on occasion it should be made when there is a trump.

West opens the five of spades against the four-heart contract. South studies the hand and notes that if everything goes well he can take that spade trick, draw trumps, finesse for the king of clubs, discard his two spade losers on dummy's long clubs and eventually lose one trick to the ace of diamonds.

He realizes too that the club finesse may not work. In that case East will take his king and lead back a spade whereupon the defense will make a club, two spades, and the ace of diamonds.

Because finesses don't always work, South should duck that first spade. If West started with four spades the hold up play will do no good, but in this case West started with five.

South takes the second spade, draws trumps and tries the club finesse, just as he would have done without the hold up, but there is a difference. When East takes his king of clubs he has no way to put his partner in the lead. He can only take the ace of diamonds and hold South to his contract.
