Thieves take nothing cause costly flood

After thieves had broken into business premises at 4930 Sherbrooke street west over the weekend and ripped a radiator from the wall, water cascaded down a flight of stairs and flooded the basement shoe store of J. Walter Cross causing between $500 and $1,000 worth of damage.

According to Mr. D. Eve, an employee at the store, the water reached a depth of 3 or 4 inches and damaged a considerable quantity of shoes in a stockroom as well as floors, walls, ceilings and records.

After the Westmount Fire Department had been called out to help conduct salvage operations, extra staff were hired to complete the clean-up.

"When we got to the store to start mopping up the mess" said Eve "we found odds and ends which had been lying on the floor floating on about 4 inches of water."

The flooding followed a breaking and entering by unknown men who broke a skylight on the roof of the building and dropped 14 feet into a tiled bathroom in the Westmount Health Studio on the second floor.

They forced the door of a room which contained only equipment and proceeded downstairs where, on the right hand side, they found the radiator which they tore bodily from the wall.

They then forced a hole in a plywood partition, got into Miss Brown's Dry Cleaning Store and rifled the till of $16.

The store keeps no cash over the week-end and finding nothing else they considered worth removing, the thieves walked out of the main front door on Sherbrooke street and made their get-away.

Firemen take First Aid course

Fire Department personnel have begun their annual 1st Aid training under the guidance of St. John's Ambulance instructors in the department.

Lasting for six weeks, with periods held two or three times a week, the course concentrates on treatment of burns, cuts, broken bones and artificial respiration.

According to Fire Chief Harper, this training has paid off in the past and he can recall two cases where the training received quite possibly saved lives.

At the end of the six weeks' course, St. John's Ambulance sends one of its doctors to test proficiency in a series of theoretical and practical examinations.

Every member of the force goes through the tests once a year and refresher courses are held periodically to bring practice up to date.

Woman struck

A car driven by Dennis Lett, 20, 3614 Decarie boulevard, struck a woman as she was crossing the street at Atwater and Tupper, Monday. According to the police report the victim, Miss Maden, 50, 333 Desmarchais boulevard, Verdun.

Three parking specialists start out with chalk

After a week of instruction by a Westmount Police Constable, the three members of the Corps of Commissionaires, deputized by the City to act as parking inspectors, are getting to know the duties they will have to perform and the area they will have to work in.

Interest in the scheme is evident from the press stories and TV interviews which have spotlighted the plan, first in the history of a police department in the Province of Quebec.

The three men, however, seem to be taking it all in their stride.

Under the supervision of Constable David Clark, the commissionaires, John Capell, 65, John McMurtrie, 59 and Carey Cole, 55, have been working the section between Roslyn and Claremont from just above Sherbrooke street down to Western avenues and Saint Catherine street.

After they've covered that part of town, they'll move on to another section and probably by the end of next week will be on their own.

They work the usual policeman's hours, in this case from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., with an hour for lunch at midday.

So far, they've not heard any comments from local residents, either for or against the scheme, but as Capell says "Up to now we've had the constable with us. It might be different after we're on our own, but I don't think so."

Word from City Hall confirms this opinion. Neither the Mayor, nor the Police Chief nor officials at City Hall have had any phone calls or letters protesting the scheme. The fact that the Mayor's phone has remained on the hook so far encourages them to think the plan is acceptable to everyone in and out of the City.

The impression is that people realize the move is for their own protection since it releases the police force to clamp down on more serious traffic infractions.

City officials further point out that they want to issue as few traffic tickets as possible and this new scheme is not an excuse for overdoing it. They feel that, with the recent increases in traffic irregularities, they are obliged to curb traffic offenders in order to protect lives and property.

District Governor visits Westmount Rotarians

Westmount Rotarians welcomed their District Governor at their weekly meeting at Victoria Hall, Wednesday, when S. Herman Macy of the Lake Placid, N.Y. Club was the guest speaker. Mr. Macy is on a tour of the clubs in his area which number just over fifty and his round of visits will end with the District conference at the Windsor Hotel, November 9th, 10th and 11th.

Mr. Macy, who has never missed a Rotary meeting in the last twenty-three years, talked briefly on a number of subjects, ranging from the benefits of continuous inter-club visits to the changes which had taken place in the field of education in the last years.

He commented that U.S. educators have lost what he described as the three fundamentals of education during the past twenty years. They were discipline, attitude and skill and they had only begun to be re-emphasized since the advent of the Sputnik era.

An educator himself, Macy gained wide experience in Philadelphia for over twenty years

Guy gets pen for gun grab

Denis Trudel, 38, 2535 Iberville street, Montreal, who was arrested by Westmount Police after he had attempted a get-away by grabbing a sergeant's revolver and holding him and a passer-by at bay, was sent to prison for two years after he appeared in Westmount Magistrate's Court, Friday.

Facing a total of seven charges sentence was passed as follows:

Assault with intent to escape the custody of the sergeant and the passer-by, 2 years on each charge; pointing a revolver at both men, 6 months on each charge; theft of the revolver, 2 years; going through a red light and failing to stop at a 'Halt' sign, $10 on each charge.

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

November 1 to 8

Bright and quite cool, then clouding for heavy rains or snow. Two inches in the south, and five inches in the north would be normal, in several storms. Temperature range 25-45°F in the south, and 10-40°F in the north, with only 40 sunny hours.

Sunny intervals with some fog, freezing drizzle or wet snow mid-week with thunder for some places. Roads probably icy and dangerous at this time.

Sunny again with cold gusty winds, freezing mists or snow flurries to end the week. Heavy snowstorms in the north from eastern Manitoba to Quebec.

SHELLOUT FOR UNICEF

Eight years ago in October 1950, one small Sunday School class celebrated a "UNICEF" Hallowe'en. It was their idea and they loved helping other children. Other youngsters liked the idea too, so each year many more joined in the fun, from cities, towns and villages across North America. In Canada alone last year their combined gifts of pennies, nickels and dimes rang up an amazing total of $75,000. This collective gift was converted by UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, into protective vaccines, penicillin, antibiotics, milk, vitamins, and many other things to make and keep children well and strong.

UNITY PARTICIPATES

Some 35 boys and girls, members of the Unity Boys' Club, have offered their services. They will don costumes and ring door bells—all the traditions of Hallowe'en will be retained but the youngsters will sparkle with the inner glow that comes from doing something for others.

A LITTLE GOES A LONG WAY

Just 1¢—provides enough vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis.

Just 1¢ — provides 5 large glasses of milk for an undernourished child.

Just 1¢—provides enough penicillin to cure a child of yaws, a deforming tropical disease.

PARTIES TO BE HELD

The Unity Boys' Club will hold parties for some 500 club members on Hallowe'en Night, Friday, October 31. The parties start in the afternoon with a series of Hallowe'en games. In the evening, Louis Thomas will tell stories and the Jazzarama Club and the Friday Nite Club will combine for a Masquerade Party Dance.

TICKETS AVAILABLE

Tickets for the Sixth Annual Father and Son Banquet and the Fifth Annual Mother and Daughter Banquet are now on hand, and boys and girls who are planning to attend with their parents are urged to get them as soon as possible. It has been the Banquet policy that in the event that there is more than one child in a family the Mother or the Father is asked to bring only one of the children —the others however, will be allowed to come and they will be sponsored by some adult — the same goes for youngsters whose parents are unable to attend.

The Banquets will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18, and 19, at 6.30 p.m. sharp. Tuesday for the boys and their dads and Wednesday for the girls and their mothers.

Special guests will include top personalities from the "World of Sport".

CAREER CLUB

Mr. Kenneth Perkins, a member of tahe Montreal Symphony Orchestra, is the newest volunteer worker to offer his services to the Club. Last Monday night, the first of a series of meetings was held under the chairmanship of Mr. Perkins, with the following boys in attendance: James Roguski, Peter Doherty, Bill LeGressley, Buddy Foley, Danny O'Shea, Michael Barnaby, Michael Tagieff, Stuart Adams, Michael Crouch and Billy Stewart.

The purpose of this "Career Club" will be to provide its members with an opportunity to conduct group discussion in relation to a variety of topics. These topics will be presented through the medium of selected films from the National Film Board and also through special speakers from Industry.

SPORTS

Basketball: The Club has entered three teams in the Montreal Basketball League Golden Ball Tournament which starts next week. The teams are: Seniors under playing-coach Ulric Brown, Juniors under Coach Morton Bain and Juveniles under Coach Bob Neal.

It is expected that two teams will be entered in the Montreal Ladies Basketball League (Senior Section) and one team in the Junior Section.

Teams will also be entered in the City of Montreal Basketball League in the Bantam and Midget Sections. The Bantams are coached by Richard Cessford and the Midgets are coached by John "Bugs" McDonaugh.

One Biddy team will be entered in the City of Montreal Biddy Basketball League.

SHORT ITEMS

Fifteen members of the Club have been invited to attend the Children's Theatre performance of "Beauty and the Beast" at Victoria Hall on November 22 . . . Lord Rowallan "Chief Scout" will be a special guest of the Rotary Club of Westmount at the Unity Boys' Club on Wednesday, November 19 . . . Unity Club members are very proud of one of their former fellow - members, Terry Gray of Montreal Royals Hockey Team, who is having a sensational start in his pro career.

Obituaries

CHARLES CALHOUN

The funeral of Charles Kingsley Calhoun took place on Monday, October 27, in St. Andrew's United Church. He died Saturday in the Montreal General Hospital at the age of 86.

Mr. Calhoun, for fifty years an elder of St. Andrew's United Church, was former superintendent of the Old Brewery Mission in Montreal, and for more than 41 years participated in YMCA work in Canada and the United States.

Born in Fenelon Falls, Ontario, he moved from there to Lindsay, Ontario, and thence to Toronto, where he took up YMCA work. In 1895 he came to Montreal to join the late D. A. Budge at the YMCA, then located on Dorchester St., and during the First World War became general secretary of the organization.

Later, Mr. Calhoun moved to New York, where he worked with the International Branch of the YMCA, and from there to Bridgeport, Conn., where he was general secretary of the Bridgeport YM CA. Here, Mr. Calhoun was largely responsible for the substantial increase in YMCA membership, and the expansion of their quarters.

In 1933, Mr. Calhoun returned to Montreal to become superintendent of the Old Brewery Mission, and continued in this work until his seventy-eighth year. He was also connected with community activity in St. Marguerite where his summer residence was located.

His wife, the former Effie Margaret Budge, died in May of this year.

Mr. Calhoun is survived by his son, Robert, of Beaconsfield; four daughters, Mrs. A. Sedgwick (Margaret) of Orange, Conn., Mrs. J. N. Leathem (Kathleen), of Ottawa, Mrs. H. J. Russell (Eileen) of Toronto, and Mrs. A. J. Nancekivell of Montreal; a brother, Alex, of Calgary; three sisters, Bertha, Mrs. S. C. McLean, and Kathleen, all of Ottawa; and ten grandchildren.

TOBIAS GLICKMAN

Services were held on Monday, October 27, for Tobias Glickman, 73 years a resident of Montreal, at the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, Cote St. Antoine Rd. Mr. Glickman died Saturday in the Jewish General Hospital in his 93rd year, after a brief last illness.

Mr. Glickman was lay board executive responsible for religious services in the Congregation Shaar Hashomayim, and was accorded the distinguished tribute of a synagogue funeral. He is the fourth person to be so honored by the congregation, where for many years he filled the office of "Parnass".

Mr. Glickman was a trustee of the Jewish General Hospital, a governor of the Montreal General Hospital and the Verdun Protestant Hospital, and many other organizations to do with community welfare.

He was among the founding members of the Hebrew Free Loan Society and the Jewish General Hospital.

Born in Bialystok, Poland, in 1866, Mr. Glickman acquired an extensive religious education. In 1885, he came to Montreal, and here established the woollen jobbing firm of Glickman and Glickman with his brother. Until recent years, Mr. Glickman was still active in the firm, as well as his many philanthropic interests.

Mr. Glickman is survived by four sons, Nathan, Isidore, Lawrence and Joe, one daughter, Mrs. Philip Garfinkle, and a sister, Mrs. Zelda Sloan of Montreal.

5 missionaries feted on way to new fields

Eagerness to return to the work of evangelism was the general sentiment of a group of five Canadian missionaries given a farewell party at Westmount Baptist Church Thursday, on the eve of their departure for foreign fields.

A gathering that filled the lower assembly hall of the church pledged their loyal support to the group in their work of spreading the Gospel in their respective fields. Mrs. B. Nasmith presided at the service of worship. Rev. Aubrey Hunt, pastor of Mount Royal Baptist Church and representing the Baptist Missionary Society of Montreal under whose auspices the meeting was held, presented the missionaries. The pastor, Rev. E. J. Bailey, spoke briefly.

Miss Grace Anderson of Westmount who is returning to the Southern Cross radio station in Bolivia after a year's furlough recalled her emotional reaction when she first entered the mission field. She believes every new recruit has a sense of inadequacy but she had asked God for wisdom and strength to carry on the work she had been called to do. She felt God calls ordinary people that the excellency of power may be of God and not of the person.

Miss Matilda Findlay of Hamilton, Ont. is going back as principal of Reekie College in Oruro, Bolivia. Her love for people led to her decision to become a missionary. She compared a missionary on furlough to a football player put on the bench for a while. She was anxious to do a better job when she gets back.

Miss Clara Riggs, London, Ont. will be commencing her fourth term at Yellamanchilli, India. Her previous work had been mostly tducational but she is now going into direct evangelism. She explained that the people of India go into their weird rites and pilgrimages to holy shrines because of their intense desire to know God. They are eager to hear the message that God is a God of Love.

Miss Irene Cochran, Burlington Ontario, is returning to her work as nursing instructor at the mission hospital in Pithapuran, India; a hospital with 150 beds. "Fear, superstition, poverty and dirt," she said, "are the daily companions of millions in India." She though of furlough as a kind of discipline, as a missionary feels it is time stolen from urgent work.

Rev. Donald Foster, Mimico, Ont., with his wife Shirley, are going to the mission field for the first time. They are taking their three young children with them. Mr. Foster has just completed a course in oriental religions at Hartford Seminary Foundation.

After a course in language study, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will be stationed among the Oriya who are a hill people in India. Mr. Foster described the Saurists of the plains as an agricultural people who are animistic and worship the spirits they believe to inhabit trees and rocks. The Oriya tribes of the hills are traders and merchants who originally went from the plains. They are definitely Hindus.

Explaining the factors that would lead a family man to leave a comfortable land like Canada to go to India, Mr. Foster listed the influence of a basically Christian home, his brother, Rev. Charles Foster at Grand Ligne Mission, his pastor, his young associates who also planned on being missionaries and another brother, Rev. Arthur Foster at Chatham, Ont.

Hallowe'en party tonight at Westmount YMCA

John Rodgers, president of the Westmount Boys Hi-Y club announced the plans for the Annual Westmount YMCA boys and girls Hallowe'en Party.

This year's party will start tonight at 6:45 p.m. with a gigantic parade complete with drum, bugles, clows, a police escort and all the boys and girls who wish to come. Following the parade all boys and girls will pass through a tunnel of horrors into a party room where they can play all the 24 games set up for their pleasure. The highlight of the evening will be the annual costume judging with the winners receiving prizes. To round out the evening a movie will be shown followed by a hallowe'en story. And as everyone leaves there will be a hallowe'en sherriff on hand to pass out hallowe'en bags to all who want them.

The boys and girls Hi-Y clubs are the co-sponsors of this event and any and all Westmount children are invited to participate provided they appear in costume. Parents may also come down and join in the fun. There will be a 15¢ donation collected to help offset a portion of the cost of this venture.

Current events meet draws 150 students at Westmount Senior

More than 150 Westmount Senior High School students gathered on Wednesday, October 29, to attend the third meeting of the Current Events Club, highlighted by a thoroughly enjoyable and stimulating speech by Pete Jacobs.

He spoke about the prospects in education which a high school senior faces. Among other points, he rapped the lack of help offered by high schools to students wishing to enter college, and he compared the virtues of small and large colleges.

Jean Simpson opened a lively round-table discussion on the situation in the Formosa Straits. Brenda Fisker then spoke on the political situation in the Middle East and discussion followed.

Mr. Hutchison, our advisor gave further information concerning the four-day trip to the United Nations and New York City which forty-one members of the club will begin Thursday morning.

Hesill Boultbee holds 2nd show at central YWCA

Hesill Boultbee, 605 Roslyn avenue, is holding her second one-man show of paintings at the YW CA on Dorchester street, opening today and continuing until November 30.

Mrs. Boultbee is donating 20% of the proceeds of this sale of paintings to the Victorian Order of Nurses.

She is showing paintings in oil and in water color and some ink and rush drawings. There will be 37 pictures in all.

The subjects include the hills and forests of the Laurentians; the derelict ships, fishing gear and bays of the St. Lawrence ports and Atlantic seaboard; old houses and stables in Montreal; still life; flower and figure studies complete the show.

This summer Hesill Boultbee was invited to show her work in the exhibition of Montreal Women Artists held at the YWCA and in the open air exhibition of Contemporary Canadian art.

She has exhibited twelve paintings in all at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts in the Spring Exhibitions and in the Royal Canadian Academy shows there. Her first one-man show was held at the Arts Club in 1956.

MARGUERITE O'REILLY of 332 Olivier avenue, a member of the teaching staff of St. Patrick's Boys' School in downtown Montreal, who was recently created an officer of the Order of Scholastic Merit at the Province of Quebec Catholic Teachers' Convention. Thomas P. Healy, 76 Bruce avenue, was also invested in the Order by Omer Jules Desaulniers, Superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction at Quebec.

YOUNG UNICEF workers pose for the Examiner before beginning their charitable rounds tonight. They are, left to right: Andrea Davidson, Anne Heayberch, Susan Sadler, and Willa Magee. Young people's groups who will be combining UNICEF work with 'tricks and treats' tonight include the Unity Boys Club, St. Matthias Brownies and Junior Girls group Dominion Douglas cubs and Sunday School, Western School, Park Emmanuel Church. Anyone interested in enlisting their services is asked to call Mrs. Gordon Davidson at WE. 5-1885 or Mrs. Grant Fletcher at HU. 8-5069.

Former principal takes issue with author over question of student drop-outs

"I simply cannot believe that 90 per cent of high I.Q. students fail to finish High School," C. H. Savage, former principal of Westmount Junior High School, and former secretary-superintendant of the Westmount Protestant School Board, writes in the October issue of the "Quebec Home & School".

In an article entitled, "Just To Keep the Record Straight", Mr. Savage gave his answer to a conclusion put forth by Willson Woodside in his recent book, "The University Question", in which, after quoting figures to the effect that ninety percent of the most intelligent students fail to even finish High School, Mr. Woodside concluded, "This seems on the face of it to be a most serious commentary on our High School curriculum, and its failure to hold our most talented yougsters."

From his long experience in the education profession, Mr. Savage felt this statement to be completely at variance with the opinion formed by him, and backed this statement up with some impressive figures of his own. These figures are taken from the records of one of the suburban school boards on the Island of Montreal, and show that: "In September 1951 and 1952 there were 476 pupils in Grade Seven,

Westmount moves against trucks

WESTMOUNT'S city council, in a recent move, has banned trucks from certain streets, in order to preserve their residential character. These streets include: Grosvenor, between Sherbrooke and the northern limits of the city; Roslyn, between Sherbrooke and the Boulevard; Victoria, between the north city limits and the Boulevard.

The three thoroughfares, in the areas mentioned, are steep hills. In addition to preserving the residential character of the area, the move will doubtless save lives.

Heavy trucks, moving up and down these hills, and particularly facing forced stops at intersections on the brow of the hill, are a definite menace.

It will be difficult to enforce this new council decision, but it should be enforced and rigidly enforced.

On Grosvenor and Roslyn avenues particularly there are many children travelling to and from Roslyn school several times each day.

Despite a 20-miles-an-hour zone which has been in operation on these hills for some time now trucks have broken the law and increased the possibility of accidents.

The council has moved in the only way open.

The law must be rigidly enforced, now, at the start, and it is suggested that extra steps be taken to advise truck-drivers that these streets will be costly to them in the future.

Watch schools at this time

WITH the Protestant and Catholic schools teachers both staging annual conventions in the past few days, it has been possible to get a clear cross-section view of what is in the minds of these men and women who have the care of our children in their hands for many hours, five days a week, for several years.

Mainly, they want a high quality of teachers to fill the gaps in the ranks of the profession, and they see the need for more money for many things of an educational nature.

A high quality of teacher to fill the gaps is necessary. No doubt about it. And if a higher wage will increase the quality — then who can seriously be against it.

But let us make sure that calls for large amounts of extra educational funds are made for cash that will be well and wisely spent.

Much has been said against the so-called 'frills' and apparently there was no possibility of sober rebuttal, for to our knowledge, no one ever did rebut successfully the suggestion that the super-frills were a needless extravagance.

Some may have changed the subject — in fact many did — but no one has ever beaten the arguments against the frills. So let's watch closely.

More funds for legitimate needs in education. A must.

More funds for things like hair-dryers to dry the hair of high school girls who have been swimming in school hours when they might have been learning to read, write or spell — let's not.

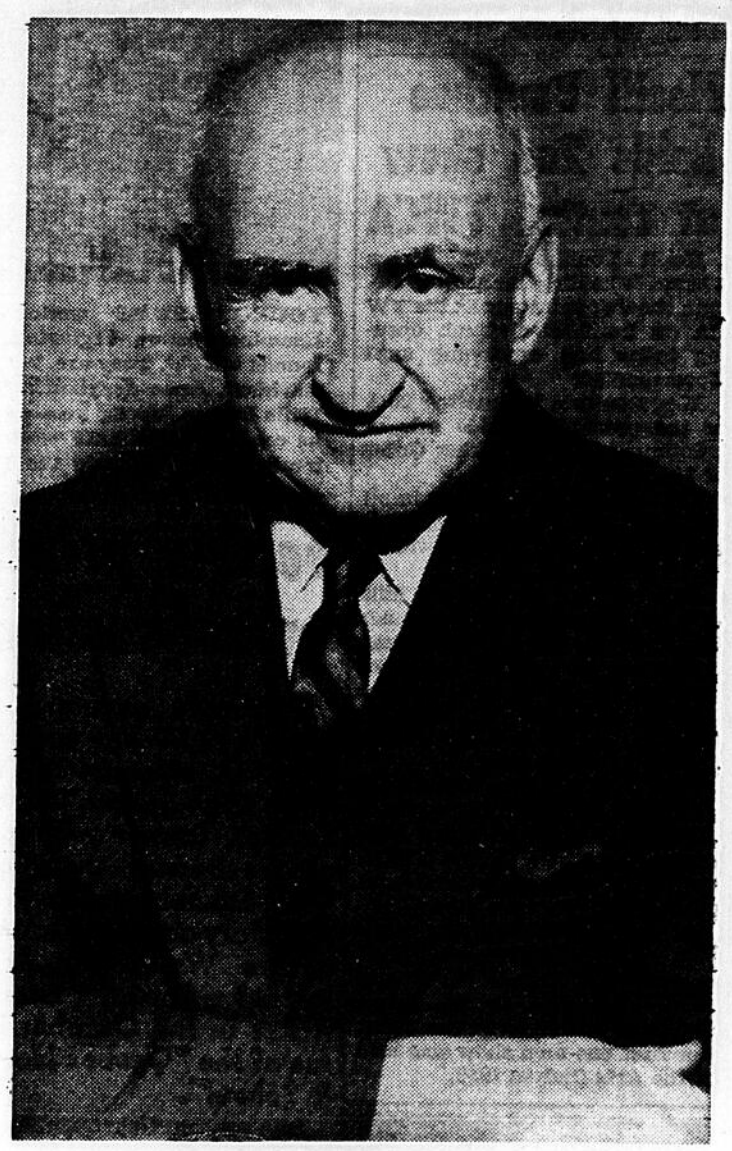
Arthur Lang carries on

Hundreds of Quebec school children over the years have been taught by Arthur William Lang. Both in his hometown, Ormstown, and in Montreal's N.D.G. schools — Kensington and Willingdon — Mr. Lang was reputed to be a stern but just disciplinarian who, on knowing, turned out to have quite a sense of humor.

Now 69, retired for the past 10 years but as spritely as ever, Mr. Lang still finds himself very involved with Quebec education in his role as executive secretary of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards. "I took on the job in the fall of 1951 and find it is a full-time one which I like very much because it keeps me on the go and in touch with people — attending school board meetings and teachers' conventions, addressing service clubs and school groups and commencements," he said during an interview at his comfortable home, 4245 Oxford street. "My home is my office and I conduct my affairs from here."



ARTHUR LANG

Of the 270 school boards in this province, 116 are under the jurisdiction of the QAPSC. "Of the 104,000 Protestant pupils in Quebec, 87,000 are under the care of QAPSC," he said. "I have found that in Ontario they think our Protestant school population in Quebec is dwindling but that is not the case. Fifteen years ago it was 65,000 and today it is over 100,000 which represents a fair increase.

"You know the little red school house has almost disappeared now that we have central boards and consolidations with buses picking up children for miles around and taking them to school. The motto of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards is to assist school boards in their many problems, both financial and educational. All across Canada school boards have two main problems.

"The first is to obtain sufficient money to carry out programs the times demand and need and secondly, getting enough reasonably good teachers. The more immediate and pressing need is the financing for maintenance on up-to-date schools everywhere but the fundamental problem is a supply of good teachers."

'On permit'

Mr. Lang regretted that there were 100 teachers "on permit" in Quebec. "It isn't easy to find well-qualified teachers who are willing to go to remote and sparsely-populated areas and the Board has not the money to offer inducements," he said.

What had induced Mr. Lang to take up teaching in his youth? Perhaps it was his mother's influence. A widow, with four children — three girls and Arthur — to bring up, she went back to teaching at her husband's death in 1905 when her son was 15. Some years later Arthur was appointed principal of the school where his mother taught. "It was a unique situation but it worked out well," laughed Mr. Lang. "I remember my mother's teaching salary in those days was $250 a year."

Mr. Lang was born and brought up in Ormstown where his father was a wheelwright. In 1906 on graduating from school he got himself a teaching permit and taught in a country school a few miles away. "I made $190 that time," he said.

That same fall he received a $100 scholarship and went off to Queen's University in Kingston, graduating in 1911 with an arts degree. "Our university fees in those days were $100 for four years tuition," he said. "During those college summers I went West and taught in Saskatchewan and British Columbia."

Here in 1919

In 1912 he was appointed principal of his hometown school and stayed there until 1919 when he was made principal of Kensington School. "I succeeded Herbert Atkinson, my lifelong friend who went to West Hill High School," said Mr. Lang. "I stayed at Kensington for 10 years and in 1929 became the first principal of Willingdon where I stayed for 20 years. In 1949 I was retired although I was a few months short of the retirement age of 60."

Mr. Lang has been married for 36 years to the former Lillian Duncan of Ormstown. "My wife taught for several years in Ormstown and before that in Shawville," said Mr. Lang.

The Langs have one daughter, Jean, who is Mrs. Peter Brewer, of Rosemere, and daughter-in-law of Orlo Brewer, who was principal of Hampstead School for some years, and is now in one of the St. Laurent Schools.

A member of Wesley Church, Mr. Lang served as corresponding secretary of the Notre Dame de Grace Community Council for a number of years. He also served two years as president of the Headmasters' Association of elementary school principals of Montreal and as corresponding secretary of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. He is a past master of the Masonic Lodge in Ormstown.

After a 38 year teaching career, Mr. Lang finds himself in good health. He likes gardening at his summer cottage at Port Lewis. "I still have a great liking for the country and frequently visit my hometown where my youngest sister still lives," he said.

IT'S A FACT

EVERY village, says my paper, should have a pillar-box in a conspicuous place, as strangers, passing through, may wish to post a letter.

Nobody will support this more warmly than the short-sighted man who stopped his car on a dark night in Sopton-under-Builth, got out, and pushed a vulgar seaside postcard into the mouth of a rather silly woman who had paused on the kerb to look at the car.

IN PASSING

IT is odd that so many people are offended by a discarded paper bag, and so few by the metal goalposts which disfigure the roofs everywhere.

Children's world in Westmount Park

By JANE BARTLETT

If you should wander into the Westmount Children's Library at three o'clock any Friday afternoon, you would be greeted by the sight of twenty-five to thirty small children between the ages of two and a half to seven, gazing with the rapt attention which is nowadays usually reserved for television sets, at the small, lively woman who is talking to them.

This modern-day storyteller is Catherine Jenkins, head of the Westmount Children's Library. She and her young listeners are engaging in the weekly children's hour, only a small facet of the work being done in the Westmount Children's Library, but a very important one, for here is where the very young become interested in their library, and more important, in books. Miss Jenkins or her assistants never read to the children, although they may show pictures in context with the stories told, but after the hour is over, they are free to browse about the library.

Situated in Westmount Park, facing busy Sherbrooke street, the Westmount Children's Library was established in 1911, when a special wing was added to the already existing Westmount Library in answer to the growing need for such a place in the city. Since then, the organization has expanded steadily, so that the 1957 Annual Report showed a membership of 1,596 children, and a circulation of 46,855 books. By the time the Children's Library celebrates its bicentennial, it should be housed in the proposed new wing, there, in a large room well lit by picture windows overlooking the Park, the library will be able to contine its service to the children of Westmount to an even greater capacity.

In a special interview with Miss Fraser, we ware able to see the wide range of books, from fiction to enclopediae, many of them covered with bright and appealing jackets. Mis Fraser stated that in many cases an eye-catching jacket will ensure a good book being read. She also said that the children have ample and equal opportunity to read for pleasure, or to inform themselves, and that most children are eager for information, both for projects on which they may be working, and for their own satisfaction. The librarians find that practical books on subpects ranging from jets to drawing and handicraft, and books on wild life, strang animals, and other phenomena are much in demand.

A children's magazine called "World Affairs," published in Toronto was well thumbed.

FAVORITES

For their own pleasure, the members still have a great liking for the old standbye such as "The World of Pooh" by A. A. Milne, or "Alice in Wonderland," but science fiction, Miss Jenkins said, was holding its own too, and she commented that the flying carpet of the "Arabian Nights" may yet be replaced by the flying rocket. Books or jokes, magic, and games are popular, but books on fine arts, and poetry, with the exception of humorous limericks, do not enjoy a large circulation.

In spite of the pessimistic view which is sometimes taken that our children are deserting books for television fare, Miss Fraser and her fellow librarians find that since the advent of television on a large scale, children are reading more books than ever. Statistically, the demands on the Children's Library have increased greatly, in spite of the fact that the membership has not been radically enlarged.

Whether television can be said to have definitely stimulated the child's desire to read, or enlarged the scope of his imagination is not certain, although Miss Fraser felt this was possible. It was noted that during the weekly children's hour, the younger children were very interested in having pictures shown with a story.

BACK TO BOOKS

The children themselves seem to have the most mature approach to the problem, if indeed it exists. Miss Fraser told us of one solemn ten-year-old who approached her desk and announced, "I've gone back to books; I'm rather old for TV." Another enterprising young lady reported that she kept a book handy while watching television, so that she could "read through the commercials." According to Miss Jenkins, Chief Librarian of Westmount library, it was more the adults who generally read romantic fiction that were foregoing books in favor of television.

Miss Fraser felt that one of biggest tasks facing the child's librarian is to see that the development of the child from one stage of his reading to another has been carefully planned for, so that no boy or girl, whatever

FROM CHILDREN

OFTEN one hears droll stories, jokes and intellectual surprises from the young. Youth gives new ideas to age — age gives experience to youth. Some people are always young in spirit and others old before their time.

A bright pre-teener, David Rosenblatt told me this one last week which he had heard listening to adult conversation . . . A Texan was visiting New York for the first time and not knowing his way around, asked the porter at his swank hotel if he knew of any good shows and concerts. The porter said, "If you want good music, go to Carnegie Hall." "How do you get there?" asked the Texan. "Oh, just take the uptown subway," responded the attendant. The Texan followed his advice, got on the subway and travelled uptown. Having forgotten, to ask when to get off, he saw a little old lady with a babouska covering her head sitting not far from him and asked her. "What's the easiest way to get to Carnegie Hall?" The woman looked at him kindly and answered . . . "The easist way to get there is to PRACTICE."

SOMEHING else that drew smiles when I repeated it is the following. The next lesson after a pupil got a new sheet piece I asked my usual questions before hearing it . . . What is the name of it? Who composed it? What key is it in? What do you count? After receiving correct answers to these I added "And what else can you tell me about it?" I thought I would get one of the following. "It's a smooth piece since there are mostly slurs" or "It's quite fast" or "There are many contrasts, some places are loud and immediately change to soft," or "There are nearly all eight notes with a few sixteenth." The answer I received, "I like it."

SOMETIMES one child in a family overshadows the other members with his brilliance, such was the case of Johann Strauss, jr. "The Waltz King" who had two musical brothers, Eduard and Joseph Strauss. One rarely hears of them but both were

Mayor opens new ice rink November 7

Mayor Sidney Bruneau will officially open the city's new artificial ice rink in a ceremony Friday evening, November 7th, at 7.30 p.m. The hockey and the skating rinks will be open to children and adults for general skating at 6.45 p.m. and everyone is invited to attend as participants or spectators.

Admission to the rink is free to Westmount residents and their families. During next week the Recreation Department will issue to children the required season ticket for admission to the rink through the schools. They will be similar to those issued for tennis and other recreation activities.

The season ticket for adult admission, similar to the children's, will be obtainable on application to the Recreation Department at the rink.

A letter will forwarded soon to every householder containing more details concerning the programme. Because the adult season tickets have not been issued as yet, the letter addressed to householders may be used for admission to the rink on the occasion of the opening.

Decca: Wayne King Hi-Fi. Wayne King and His Orchestra. DL 8751. "Waltz King" Wayne King wields his baton in one of the smoothest 'mood music' discs of the current season. This collection is played in his familiar slow waltz tempo, ideal for dancing or just listening, with the strings spiced by pleasant sax solos by Wayne, trombone solos by Tommy Shepard, and some soft muted trumpet all enhanced by bell-clear recording. The programme includes such great standards as 'Sweet And Lovely', 'L'Amour, Toujours L'Amour', 'Silver Moon', 'Sleepy Logoon', 'They Say It's Wonderful', 'Harbor Lights', 'Ah! Sweet Mystery Of Life', 'The One Rose', and a rarely played oldie, 'Laugh! Clown! Laugh!'.

The Borodin 'Dances' are also well-known as music from the Broadway musical 'Kismet'. The short Moussorgsky item is a quiet, tuneful prelude in direct contrast to its breathtaking predecessors. By LAURENT PRICE

A SHORT SAGA OF THE SEPCHUKS

The Quidi Vidi restaurant rests gracefully on a knoll along the Ste. Marguerite highway off route 11 at Ste. Adele in the Laurentians. Here is probably one of the foremost restaurants in North America, and Montrealers visiting the familiar hills accept its distinctiveness with much the same unconscious appreciation as one would a mother's care. That might be stretching a simile, but in our travels we've found its fame to be international, and few to equal it. And, unlike Topsy, it didn't "just growed."

Sweat, some tears — and maybe a little blood — plus the combined Sepchuk family ability, imagination and perseverance, all contributed to its deserved popularity and success.

Papa Paul Sepchuk, now a young 66, came to Canada from Europe at the age of 13. Since his arrival all

TONY AND PAUL SEPCHUK

Paul's working efforts have been stepping stones in the direction and creation of the enviable Quidi establishment.

Starting as a busboy and apprentice at the Windsor, he left to become head steward and chef at the old Corona Hotel on Guy street. When that old Montreal landmark went the way of other nostalgic memories — to become a parking lot — Paul Sepchuk moved to the Samovar as top chef, where his tenure lasted 19 years.

During this period the Sepchuks (Paul's wife, Jenny, died in 1937) raised a family of goodlooking, smart and personable youngsters.

Tony, the second eldest and the spark plug of the clan, patterned his career after the father's, and by the same practical working experience became second only to Sepchuk senior in restaurant magic.

Prior to World War II, in which he served with the RCAF, Tony was in charge of the dining and bar facilities at the Domaine D'Estrel, and fell in love with the nearby location where Quidi Vidi now stands.

At the war's end, Tony persuaded pere Sepchuk to join him in building and operating a restaurant of their own. The place opened in 1946.

With them in the project went attractive Tina and Rosalie, two of Tony's sisters, and younger brothers Robert and John. According to Tony, they all worked hard and long hours — and still do — but the dawn is beginning to show, and when the sun shines it does so on a very commendable accomplishment.

Rosalie has since married Vincent Massive, a Chantecler Hotel executive, and resides close by in Ste. Adele; but the other Sepchuk originals are still functioning expertly with chops, steaks and shastlik flowing from the open grill with mouth-watering regularity.

Tony chose the name Quidi Vidi from a spot first settled by Portuguese about 1678 near St. John's, Newfoundland, where he was stationed during the war. He informed us that it roughly means "that which divides," and that orthographers have come up with at least 12 spelling varieties. Here, we dodged further research, but you have our assurance it hasn't split the Sepchuk one iota.

PEOPLE AND PLACES

Various local charities benefitted by another hundred dollars from Jerry Daoussis' FONTAINE DE TREVI'S lucky fountain. Harriet and Larry Heyer welcomed a new 8 lb. host for their SKI INN at Stowe and will name him Clifford Curtis. Paul and Tony Sepchuk off for a short vacation while the Quidi Vidi undergoes refurbishment and temporarily closes from Nov. 2 to Dec. 15. Colonel George (insurance) Machum and his attractive wife, Bertie, dining at Fred Cloutier's THORNCLIFFE restaurant. Genial Bob Vautour starts as ski instructor at Manly Bourke's FAR HILLS INN, Val Morin, Dec. 15.

Cyd Charisse, wife of singing star Tony Martin, elected honorary Queen of Sir George Williams' College student body, being presented with a bouquet at the Bellevue Casino where Tony Martin is currently heading.

Harry Holmok and Jack Suz getting out-of-town newspaper accolades for the big time acts they're bringing in to the BELLEVUE CASINO. Tony Martin, the current attraction, a very strong draw with a great performance, fine material and wardrobe . . . and, of course, lovely Cyd Charisse, his wife, for offstage encouragement. Post card from Uncle Beauregard informing us that he's on the way back. "Get out your pretty blue suit," scribbles he, "we're covering the Montreal restaurant and supper club beachheads like two wild waves." So if you notice a couple of tired trickles around next week, it's us.

New York Philharmonic, Leonard Bernstein, conductor. ML 5293. The musical artistry of both composer Maurice Ravel and conductor Leonard Bernstein are superbly demonstrated in this performance of three Ravel compositions by the New York Philharmonic. Bernstein's reading of Ravel's famous 'Bolero' gives the work a refreshing grandeur, also enhanced by a more vivid orchestration; 'La Valse' has never been given a finer performance in presenting the delicate waltz introduction or in the sheer brilliancy of the ballroom scene; while the four movements of the 'Rapsodie Espagnole' are played to the hilt to display one of the most colorful compositions in the Spanish idiom. fine composers and conductors and were recognized in their era. Alas the genuis of Johann minimized their talents. Eduard, 1835-1916) also a harpist composed 318 dances and Joseph, (1825-1899) an architect, studied conducting then formed his own orchestra. His known compositions included 283 opus numbers so he certainly was not idle.

Mark Navy Day with ceremonies at St. Stephen's

Navy Day was commemorated at St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Dorchester Street, last Sunday morning. Naval detachments from H.M.C.S. Donnacona, H.M.C.S. Hochelaga, Palais Militaire Royale C.N.R., St. Johns, H.M.C.S. D'Iberville, Quebec and the R.C.S.C. Victory paraded to the church.

The band of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps headed the parade which also included the Sea Cadet Corps band.

Rev. A. T. Love, rector of St. Stephen's conducted the service with Dept. Chaplain General (P) Dr. E. G. B. Foote O.B.E., C.D. giving the address.

An outstanding feature was the dedication of the white ensign of H.M.C.S. Crusader by Dr. Foote who came to Montreal for that purpose. The Crusader has just returned from England.

Following the church service the units paraded to the Westmount cenotaph where the salute was taken by Commodore E. W. Finch-Noyes, Hamilton, Ont., commanding officer of all Canadian naval divisions. With him was Mayor A. S. Bruneau of Westmount.

Backs the plea for UNICEF aid

Sir,

As the mother of four children, I feel like telling everyone I can how desperately UNICEF needs funds for the prevention of disease and malnutrition among the children of the world. So I heartily endorse the 'Shell Out' for UNICEF drive that is being organized for Hallowe'en. It adds a joyful plus to the fun of the children to feel that they are giving as well as getting; and I feel that they can never learn too young the privilege of belonging to a world family.

I hope that it will be an unqualified success in this district.

Sincerely,
K. B. Davidson (Mrs. P. V.)

The Sunday Morning Service of Westmount Baptist Church will be televised over the network of the CBC. TV. Assisted by Dr. J. A. Johnston, Minister Emeritus, and the Choir under Galt MacDermot, the Rev. E. J. Bailey will conduct the service and preach the sermon.

Introducing to the cameras five new members, Wesley Hunt (West Indian), David Griffiths (English), Richard Johnson (Canadian), Annie Young (Chinese), and Mona Ajram (Lebanese), the Minister will speak on "Fatherhood and Brotherhood" dealing with the problem of integration and race relationships.

This will be the first Protestant Network TV Service out of Montreal on the new CBC. TV Network. Westmount Baptist Church did the first tri-city TV Protestant Service five years ago under Dr. J. A. Johnston who also conducted the first radio coast to coast service originating from Montreal.

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper and reception of new members will follow the Morning Service.

By
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There must have been a good many people dissatisfied with the article of last week. I was the one who was most dissatisfied. I think the article was characteristic of a good deal of our rather muddled thinking at the present time. We are puzzled about the world situation, both by the democratic world and its shortcomings and by the Communist world and its inconsistencies. We keep on talking about Communism, and quite rightly, for there is a great deal to be said both bad and good.

The confusing fact, however, is that there are two Communisms and they cannot be made to harmonize with one another. One is simply an economic theory which is an aberration from Capitalism, and in fact is State Capitalism. Christianity could exist under it. For Christianity can accommodate any economic theory, from the extreme of Capitalism to the extreme of Socialism, just as it can accommodate any political theory from an extreme Democracy to Autocracy. You notice that I do not say that Christianity can be accommodated. It is Christianity which takes in the political or economic theory and transforms it.

However, there is another Communism which is not in the first place an economic theory but a theory about the nature of things in general, and a theory absolutely opposed to Christianity. Christianity says that the universe is God's universe. His handiwork, and that we are His creatures. The Communist on the other hand says there is no God and that the universe is a purely physical thing. Those two points of view cannot be reconciled; and when the Communist turns his assertion into a creed he has made a new religion. It is not a pagan religion, because the pagans believed in a spiritual universe; it is rather a religion which recognizes nothing but the physical world, and the animal world of which man is a part.

When that materialist religion is accepted as the official belief of a great and expanding imperialism the combination becomes as great a danger to the Christian world as Mohammedanism was in its heyday. It must be resisted. War is truly a horrible thing, but if Charles Martel had not been ready in 730 to meet Saracen Mohammedan aggression in battle, it is hard to see how France and Western Europe could have been saved from being overrun.

War is a horrible thing, and incompatible with the mind of Our Lord, but as the Anglican Bishops said at Lambeth in 1948, war may be the lesser of two evils. And it is just possible that the cold war has not been entirely futile. There has at least been no major war since 1945 in spite of all the threats; and in the thirteen years we may have learned that two incompatible philosophies can at least exist side by side, even if it is only because each side is afraid to attack.

I am quite convinced that the best thing that has happened to the western Democracies is that they have not won the cold war. For the weapons with which they fought the war were purely material; they were money and hydrogen bombs. And when the Russians countered with Sputnik the western complacency was completely shattered. When that happened the redemption of Democracy could begin. There is still hope for us.

I shall say one last thing on this subject: that is, that the ultimate crime on the part of Democracy would be to try to destroy Communism in Russia and China. There it has taken root and must be allowed to bear its own fruit. Herein I probably fall foul of the thinking of many of my friends, but I cannot help finding a parallel between Communism and Mohammedanism. In 632 A.D. Mohammed began his great work. It was a catastrophe for the Christian world, but in the course of time the two religions reached some sort of working arrangement. Then the Crusades came to destroy that working arrangement, and the relations of the Mohammedan Near East and the Christian West have been hostile ever since. The containing of Islam by armed resistance was necessary; the assault on Islam was a calamity. I believe we can learn a lesson from the history of the past 1,300 years which might save us from disaster.

of whom 41 had I.Q.'s of 140 or better. Of these 41 three moved away from the city before graduation and could not be traced: while two others suffered long absences from school and did not write their final examinations until a year after their classmates."

Mr. Savage went on to say that of the thirty-six remaining students, all passed final examinations giving them matriculation standing at McGill University. "Thirty of the thirty-six received first class honors (80% and over) and eight had marks in the 90's."

Although these figures are taken from the records of one school board, Mr. Savage felt unless the curriculum and teaching standards elsewhere were greatly inferior, this could be taken as a typical example.

Having shown that far from failing to finish High School the bulk of high I.Q. students complete their courses with flying colors, Mr. Savage then defended the curriculum of schools against the current opinion held by some that "gifted pupils leave school because they have no interest in a curriculum that has been watered down". He stated that during the last thirty years, he has followed the careers of many thousands of pupils, all of which have had carefully kept records, and in most cases, adequate intelligence ratings. In his experience, students prefer the basic disciplines necessary to University entrance to any easier courses which may be offered.

Pupils, he found, were not unduly bored by their work, nor had they too little to do.

On the whole, Mr. Savage feels that he is justified in placing his confidence in the present system, and that, in his experience, there is no lack of stimulation for either the average or highly intelligent pupil.

Statistics released for the refrigeration plant indicate that there are 14 miles of refrigeration pipe. The liquid ammonia circulation system is operated by two 100 h.p. compressors and is pumped through 34 circuits with 6 pipes to a circuit. When the pipes have been cooled to freezing the water is sprayed on several times to get the thickness of ice required, usually half an inch to an inch.

The rink has been designed for players and not for spectators, being without audience seats. However, 1200 seats can be set up and dismantled on need.

Love Never Dies

A rose today — tomorrow, something else,
For it's but made of earth, and rain, and sun,
Today its lovely petals charm the sense,
Tomorrow — its bright happy day is done.

Though systems often fail, and symbols wane,
Life leads us on — for love can never die,
But lives, to light Eternity for us,
Swings open Heaven's gate, to lift us high.

Westmount High Alumnae opens fall program

"My only venture into the world of cooking has been to stew tea for three hours," said Mayor Sydney Bruneau, as he officially opened the Westmount High School Alumnae's fall program, "Cooking With The Stars," at Victoria Hall, Wednesday evening.

About 350 women and a few solitary males gathered to watch the event which was emceed by Doris Clark of CJAD, only assisted by such CJAD celebrities as Mac McCurdy, Ned Conlon, Bill Roberts, and Rod Dewar.

Miss Carol McKibbon of J. Walter Thompson gave the cooking demonstration, with the emphasis on the large variety offered in Canadian fish, and its correct preparation.

Despite minor hitches — "We have a hot fridge and a cold stove," quipped Miss Clark — the hall was soon filled with the pleasant aroma of fillets of haddock, delicately fried in Creole sauce.

Portible microphones enabled the audience to participate, and many prizes, ranging from large baskets of fruit to a clock adio won by a Mrs. Harper, were given out during the evening.

A large orchid, specially flown from British Columbia and donated by Mr. Bernard Fogle, was presented to the oldest graduate of Westmount High School present. Boxes of roses, also donated by Mr. Fogle, were given away, Miss Adria Barclay being one of the lucky winners.

The purpose of the event was to increase funds for the annual scholarships that the Alumnae provides for graduates of Westmount High School.

Catholic Mothers' Club

The Catholic Mothers Club of Westmount will hold a general meeting at 8.30 p.m. November 3, in St. Leo's Hall, 350 Clarke avenue, Westmount. All members are urged to attend.

Presbytery WA meeting hears Rev. V.C. Rose

The fourth regional meeting of the Montreal Presbytery Woman's Association of the United Church of Canada was held on Friday, October 24 in St. Luke's United Church. More than 100 women attended from Montreal and the surrounding region. Mrs. A. McK. Porritt was in the chair and the ladies were welcomed by St. Luke's WA President Mrs. Campbell Morris.

Group conferences on various phases of women's work were held and a skit on "Reports" was presented under the direction of Mrs. Meadows and Mrs. L. Whyte. The speaker at the morning session was the Rev. V. C. Rose of Cedar Park United Church on the theme "Proclaim God's kingdom" Mr. Rose said that although this is an age in which men live in fear, that is all the more reason that we should have convictions that endure, that all these events which we have lived through show the need of the timeless Gospel of Love; real and eternal and undiscouragable. The women of the Church must be the witnesses to the Church in action.

The afternoon session followed after luncheon in the Church hall, the Devotional period being led by Mrs. Murray Hall and songs by Mrs. G. C. Appleton. There was then a question and answer period based on the findings of the morning conferences. Mrs. B. K. Watson thanked all those who had contributed to the success of the meeting.

Toastmistress Club hears discussion on history of India

The meeting of the Mount Royal Toastmistress Club at the Windsor Hotel October 20 was devoted to a discussion of India, its history, resources, art and religion.

At the conclusion of the speeches, Mrs. Durga Rao of Andhra, now studying for her doctorate in nuclear physics at McGill, spoke briefly of a few of the common misconceptions of the Hindu religion. Also, she delighted the members with her description of how to don a sari.

Professor Koilpillai J. Charles, Phd., of Madras, presently with the Department of Economics at McGill, enlarged on each of the four subjects and concluded with a brief comparison between Indian and North American universities . . . at the graduate level.

Record crowds mark 'Pound Day' at Orange and Protestant Home

On Saturday the largest attendance in the ten-year history of the Orange and Protestant Home for Children, at Rosemere, Que., visited the children and brought with them thousands of pounds of tinned foods, cereals and dried foods, fresh vegetables, fruits, jams and pickles, honey, meats — in fact just anything eatable. They filled the ground-floor room which is lined with shelves, and also the freezer and basement storage room.

Rev. Mr. Norman, of Rosemere United Church, was guest speaker. Mr. Crobar, grand master of Quebec, LOA, grand mistress Mrs. Glenna Holt of Quebec LOBA, and past grand mistress Miss Gertrude Hoyle, president of the Home Auxiliary, thanked all present for their support throughout the year and asked them to convey their thanks to all lodges, friends and organizations who had assisted in any way.

Provincial grand treasurer Harry Butler, treasurer of the Home, reported that the finances were sound and that besides the material gifts brought and sent in, he had received in cash and cheques $376,000 on "Pound Day". The Home Auxiliary had also contributed $200.00, purchased sweaters for all the little residents and provided camp equipment for them.

A handmade quilt was on display, the white blocks of which had been gaily embroidered with the names of its contributors, and this was won by Mr. Clifford Butt of Montreal.

To close a very pleasant afternoon refreshments were served by the Home Auxiliary.

Many toured the building and noted all the changes made and the new equipment installed. The kitchen has been enlarged, a clothes dryer installed, and a large cloakroom built on the ground floor.

Beth Sholom Sisterhood plans 'The Workshop'

On Tuesday, November 4, the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Sholom will hold a Workshop on Reform Judaism under the leadership of Mrs. LeRoy Glauber, a leader of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods, one of the world's largest Jewish Women's organizations, with a membership of more than 100,000 women in eight different countries of the world. NFTS is the parent body of all Reform Jewish women. And for this occasion, the Sisterhoods of the two nearest Reform Temples, that of Temple Emmanuel of Montreal, and that of Temple Beth Israel of Plattsburgh, N.Y., are being invited.

Mrs. LeRoy Glauber, who is coming to Montreal especially for this event, will give the main address of the workshop. Entitled "The Open Hand", the Workshop will have as its theme, the open hand of Sisterhood, and how the individual member benefits from being affiliated.

For purposes of discussion, the theme has been sub-divided into the five fingers of the open hand, — 1. The Vein of Education, 2. The Lifeline of Home, 3. The Pulse of Temple, 4. The Artery of NFTS, 5. The Palm of the Community.

Following Mrs. Glauber's address, there will be separate discussion groups for each of these five categories; after which questions, which will be formulated by the groups, will be answered by Mrs. Glauber.

The Workshop has been planned by and is under the direction of Mrs. Martin Rubin and Mrs. Jack Halperin, Co-Chairmen of Program for the Temple Beth Sholom Sisterhood, and is taking place at the Temple, 6666 Terrebonne avenue.

Festive tables and tableaux feature Sisterhood meeting

The Sisterhood of Shaare Zion Congregation held its opening meeting with a presentation of the Jewish Home Beautiful. Israel, Sabbath and the festivals in the home were portrayed in a series of tableaux, with poetical commentary and musical accompaniment.

In keeping with the presentation, the festive tables were beautiful decorated. The gleaming silver and china, the artistic floral arrangements, the traditional dishes appropriate to the occasion, and the symbolic treatment, expressed the significance of holy days and of important historical events in the history of the Jewish people.

On the Passover table, the traditional three loaves of unleavened bread, the Afikomen, symbolized the three divisions of the Jewish peoples. The table of Tu Beshvat, the "Birthday of the Trees," was adorned with fruits and flowers, Honoring the Chanukah table was the Menorah, the sacred lamp of Israel, source of the victory of freedom over oppression, the lamp whose kindling each year is inspired by the event, thousands of years ago, when the holy Temple lamp, stripped of its oil, burned miraculously for eight days.

Around the Thanksgiving table, the Succoth was hung with citron and willow branches, and filled with the produce of the land. The presence of the Succoth in the Jewish home recalls the shelters used by the Israelites in their wanderings from Egypt to Canaan, and marks as well the harvesting of the crops and the giving of thanks to the Lord for all His bounty. Of equal interest was the Israeli table with a presentation of the products of Israel, as well as were the tables of the Sabbath and the Shaare Zion. The remaining Festivals were symbolically represented in very imaginative ways and with authentic expression.

With the artistry of the tables, the drama of narration, and the rich quality of the musical setting, the Jewish Home Beautiful was revealed as an inspired tribute to the Jewish woman, who makes her home a sanctuary and a shrine, perpetuating the highest ideals and the noblest traditions of the Jewish heritage.

Interpretation of this presentation is credited to the cooperative efforts of Sisterhood members under Mrs. C. Goldstein, vice-president in charge of proggraming, and co-chairmen Mesdames G. Shubin and N. Labow. The script was adapted by Mrs. Irving Shapera. Narrators were Mrs. Nat Labow and Mrs. Irving Shapera, and musical accomponiment was by Mrs. Geo. Shubin. Musical selections were by Cantor S. Gisser and Passover Kashas by Stephen Shubin. A record audience in attendance reflected the widespread interest of the program.

The opening prayer was offered up by Mrs. Maurice S. Cohen. Mrs. Sydney Schwartz, the president, welcomed the members and paid tribute to the chairmen and their committees who had cooperated in making the undertaking successful. Among the guests was Mrs. Joey Richman, representing the Combined Jewish Appeal.

The audience was later invited to have refreshments and to view the Festival tables.

Those responsible for the tables were as follows:

Rosh Hashanah table, Mrs. H. M. Lazar, Mrs. A. Benjamin, Mrs. H. B. Miller. Yom Kippur table Succoth table, Mrs. M. Caplan, Mrs. H. Caplan, Mrs. M. Kanigsberg, Mrs. C. Goldstein, Mrs. S. E. DeZwirek. Purim table, Mrs. J. Monaker, Mrs. W. H. Cohen, Mrs. L. J. Rosen, Mrs. H. Schnaar, Mrs. G. Berenbaum, Mrs. S. Berenbaum, Mrs. J. Tietolman. Passover table, Mrs. M. Gross, Mrs. C. R. Gross, Mrs. I. Romoff. Shavuoth table, Mrs. F. Pollack, Mrs. H. H. Diamond. Sabbath table, Mrs. J. Rosenblatt, Mrs. Wm. Gavsie, Mrs. W. Gradinger, Mrs. H. Lazarus, Mrs. L. Weber. Israeli table, Mrs. L. Steinman, Mrs. Wm. Guss. Shaare Zion table, Mrs. D. Cummings, Mrs. H. Cummings.

Cancer Society plans demonstration meeting

Dr. D. D. Munro, thoracic surgeon on the staff of the Royal Victoria and the Royal Edward Hospitals and Dr. Roger Dufresne, vice-dean of the faculty of medicine of the University of Montreal and on the staff of the Notre Dame Hospital, will be the guest speakers at the open meeting of the Canadian Cancer Society's Education Committee on Tuesday, November 4 at 8:30 p.m., 1523 Bishop street, Headquarters Boy Scouts Association.

The education committee is the only complete bilingual committee in Montreal. Red Feather Drive short of objective

The 1958 Red Feather Campaign, which held its closing report meeting last week, raised a total of $1,807,902 the chairman, John H. F. Turner, announced. Mr. Turner said this figure included estimates on subscription cards still outstanding and urged canvassers to clean them up as quickly as possible.

The drive fell short of its $1,921,000 goal by $113,000 although it raised $23,000 more than was collected last year. Mr. Turner said that the goal represented the minimum needs of the 31 Red Feather agencies for 1959 and he was disappointed at not being able to assure the agencies of the minimum financing they needed. He praised the splendid work done by the volunteers in the drive—their efforts had been outstanding in spite of not reaching the objective.

Volunteer canvassers with Mrs. A. K. Glassford, Mrs. H. E. Whipps, Mrs. A. Ross Webster and Mrs. Harry Chapman as Chairmen raised the sum of $63,999.00.

There are approximately 2,000 different varieties of sausage meats.

RED FEATHER CAMPAIGN: The 1958 Red Feather Campaign held its final report meeting last week and Campaign Chairman John H. F. Turner announced that the workers had raised 94.1 per cent of the total goal — $1,807,902 out of the $1,921,000 asked for from the citizens of Greater Montreal. Shown here at the adding machine at the final meeting are Mr. Turner and Mrs. Stuart R. Townsend, Chairman of the Women's Division.

VON Art Show set for Nov. 5

Dr. Charles H. Best, of Toronto, known throughout the international medical world as the co-discoverer of insulin, will be a contributor to the VON Art Show and Sale, on Wednesday, November 5, it was announced this week by Mrs. J. M. McGillis, of Westmount, chairman of the show. Dr. Best, whose work was featured earlier this year in a national magazine article entitled "An Album of Amateur Art", paints very few pictures, but he has contributed one to be sold for the benefit of the work of the VON's Central District Committee, organizers of the annual Montreal event. The painting which will be on view on Wednesday will be of Passamaquoddy Bay.

The VON Show, which is supported annually by amateurs and well-known professional artists alike, for the sake of the VON, will be held in the YWCA Building, and will be opened on November 5, at 11 a.m. by Mr. Jack Pembroke, CBE, national president of the VON. The show will remain open until 9 p.m.

In a new move, this year's committee sent out letters to West End doctors, as well as to doctors in other parts of the city, advising them of the unusual opportunity presented by the VON Art Sale to acquire a new painting for office walls and help a nursing cause at the same time. No matter how well known the artist, no painting is permitted to be sold at more than $100., and prices range downwards to $5.

DANGER MONTH

July is Canada's peak month for drownings. During this hot season, water is a great attraction but only those who are good swimmers should swim for long distances and even these people should be accompanied on these occasions by someone in a boat, especially after dark or in rough weather. Anyone who cannot swim should take swimming lessons through their local Red Cross or other faculties.

his or her age should find a trip to the library unrewarding. The most obvious example of how this problem is handled in the Westmount Children's Library is the special Teenage Section, now headed by Miss Barbara Mackey, where fiction and fact, and even selected adult literature interesting to this age group are to be found. Also such in demand in this section are the books on personality-forming subjects such as grooming, etiquette, and choosing a career.

In the Children's Library proper, this bridging of gaps is not so obvious, but just as effective. Changing and development tastes must be satisfied too. One small borrower is quoted as saying, "It is very hard to make me laugh." The librarians must be on constant watch to see that the child who has outgrown the humor of, let us say, "Barbar the Elephant," is provided with something more mature, but equally imaginative.

Children of all ages are encouraged to ask questions and become familiar with the library. It is with this in mind that Miss Fraser and her colleagues hold morning sessions with classes up to Grade IX from the surrounding schools. Here children learn the use of reference books, and how to find the books they want. Miss Fraser stated that two of the main objectives of these sessions were to introduce the library to children who might otherwise be too shy to come alone, and to make the library an easy and familiar instrument of gaining knowledge and pleasure to new and old members. Miss Fraser also made the interesting point that these, and in fact all children who are members of the library, take far better care of the books loaned to them than most adults, that most of them consider it a privilege to belong to the library, and that they take the responsibility of having books in their care more serious for this reason.

CANADIANA

As well as learning about the world in general, Miss Fraser feels that young Canadians should be given an opportunity to inform themselves about Canada, and to read books by Canadian authors. Recent additions to the Children's library include the "Encyclopaedia Canadiana," Farley Mowat's "The Dog Who Wouldn't Be," and a children's series on famous Canadians. These books, said Miss Fraser, are of interest not only to native Canadians, but to those children of their membership who have recently come to Canada.

Miss Fraser and her co-workers appear to sincerely love their work. According to them, the cartoons on bright sayings of children in libraries are very true to life. Miss Fraser has made a habit of jotting down these small vignettes as they occur, ranging from. "I'm only taking this book for the sake of reading it," and "I didn't like to leave without a book. It seemed impolite," to "There's another book at home; I'm 'overduing' it."

Between these pint-size witticisms, and the real desire of the children for knowledge and imaginative reading, Miss Fraser and the staff of the Westmount Children's Library feel that their position offers a never-ending variety, as well as making a solid contribution to the maturing and educating of the children of Westmount.

BUTCH GIROUARD, now starring in motion pictures and TV. He has made over one thousand TV performances and played with well known actresses, including Judy Garland, Sarah Churchill and others. Butch, formerly of Girouard avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, moved to Hollywood with his family at Betty Speirs suggestion. He is now ten years of age and was trained at the Speirs-Miller Studios, in acting, modeling, dancing and singing.

2 local girls perform in U.S.

(Special To The Examiner)

Newton, Massachusetts: — Two Westmount girls, Maureen Slattery, 470 Mt. Stephen avenue, and Sara McManamy, 31 DeCasson road, are performing Tuesday night in an original production of "Beauty and the Beast," which will be presented by students of Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

Miss Slattery will play Beauty, the good princess who becomes a prisoner of the Beast and later frees him from enchantment, while Miss McManamy will play one of her unpleasant sisters.

November 20 the Newton Players will present scenes from Greek, French and Spanish versions of the Electra story.

2 promotions are announced at Steinberg's

Nathan Steinberg, executive vice-president of Steinberg's Limited, announces the following appointments.

Jack Genser, 5197 Mayfair avenue, formerly vice-president in charge of sales, will become vice-president in charge of operations, and Jack Levine, 636 Algonquin avenue, formerly meat merchandiser, will be sales manager of the company.

ONLY ONE DRY

It is now possible to buy alcoholic beverages on Canadian National Railweys' trans-continental trains in all provinces except Saskatchewan. Latest province to give permission for the sale of beer and spirits on the trains is Alberta. The service will be available from 11 a.m. to 11.30 p.m. in the dining and lounge cars with or without meals.

Schering Corp., finds new drug

New hope for many arthritic and allergic patients is contained in the announcement that Schering Corporation Limited, of Montreal, is marketing a new drug, Deronil — a potent synthesized analogue of prednisolone, thirty to forty times more potent than cortisone and with a concomitant decrease in side effects.

Steroids are substances secreted by the adrenal glands and are found useful in the reduction of painful joint swelling associated with rheumatoid arthritis and allied ailments.

The new drug, dexamethasone, has shown high anti-inflammatory properties in clinical tests. coupled with fewer side effects than those found to occur with any of the previously available steroids.

First major breakthrough in the steroid field was announced three and a half years ago by Schering and as a result many patients have experienced tremendous benefit and have returned to normal, useful lives.

However, the use of steroids has been a closed door to some patients, due to troublesome side effects — and it is to this group that Deronil should appeal most particularly.

Marketing of Deronil is a culmination of years of work in synthesis and testing of the product by scientists whose principal aim was to develop a more effective steroid with reduced side effects.

Clinical tests reveal a decrease of sodium and water retention at therapeutic dosage levels, Schering scientists affirm.

District Govenor...

before he moved to Lake Placid.

After the meeting, Mr. Macy announced that a study of employer-employee relations would be made by the Rotary District in New York State, Quebec and Ontario.

This would make it possible for local businessmen to compare their practices with the average of communities in their district.

These would include weekly hours of work, holidays, pension plans, incentive and training programes, civic co-operation and retirement policies.

In a message directed to all Rotarians in his district. Mr. Macy stated: "You are leaders in your community. You can make the future come faster and build on a more solid foundation by establishing guide posts for sound employer - employees relations. And most important, you can take the leadership in your community by putting into daily practice the spirit of co-operation, of unselfish service and of individual and club dedication to the best interests of the area.

The survey would be a valuable aid to small businessmen in meeting the changing needs of the fast-growing north country whose business he predicted would be doubled by the Saint Lawrence Seaway and Power Development, the Northway Highway and closer co-operation between the U.S. and Canada.

New Testament style lauded

Someone has said that it is impossible to read Shakespeare or Tennyson intelligently unless one knows the Bible. Charles Dickens was once asked where he got his wonderfully natural literary style, and he replied "from the New Testament to be sure".

The result of constant and careful Bible reading is always the moulding of great thoughts. We are all interested in the men who made the Bible, — men like Paul, the Gospel Writers, Jerome, Luther, Wyclif, Tyndale, and others; but what a story could be told if we could know of all whom the Bible has made.

It will be close but scribe calls Cats and Argos

How do you like the Big Four football race?

Tight as a drum so to speak and the outcome may not be known for another 10 days when the teams clash in their last games of the schedule.

But, what about Saturday?

You fans know and have most likely figured out the whys and wherefors during coffee breaks. The picking is going to be hard.

We'll take Toronto over Montreal. Argos are hungry for that playoff position and will go all out to insure them of one week of safety, leaving the fans on the end of their seats until Nov. 8.

Now, what of Hamilton? Do they care enough to beat Ottawa?

Judging by their loss to Montreal last week, they did not have much desire to win. We'll pick them to beat Ottawa, but the Riders are another hungry team who don't want to be on the outside looking in when playoffs start.

Mules, huskies clash on Saturday for crown

Westmount Recreation Department Eight-Man Tackle Football League climaxed its 1958 schedule last Saturday morning.

One game was completed but the second was called at half time due to bad weather. Bulls won out in the first 13-6 over Broncs.

Mules and Huskies will meet Saturday morning in a sudden death encounter for the 1958 championship and the Alderman Seybold trophy.

This game, should good weather conditions prevail, will be an outstanding contest. Huskies will feature the running attask of Buddy McKaig and Claude Servant, with Don 'Mr. Dependable' Grant and Robert Gales, the hard core of their defensive unit.

Mules have the league's leading scorer, Tony Tyrrell, hard-running Gary Duncan as their main offensive threats and also the best defensive lineup of the league.

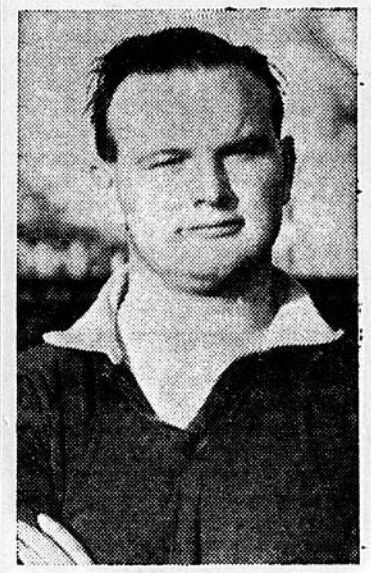
Kicking to the fore as Quebec rugger stars beat Ontario 12-6

TORONTO: With sure fire tackling holding both sides to only one touchdown between them, it was left to the kickers to provide the margin of victory in Quebec's 12-6 win over Ontario in the Jubilee Trophy Inter-provincial rugger tilt.

Cyril Fagan and Jim Adam were the sure-footed men for the winners as they booted the team to its win by counting two penalty kicks each. Ontario's score was made up of a penalty goal and the game's lone try which went unconverted.

If Bert Reed, Ontario's fullback and a former star for the Montreal Barbarians, had been in his usual dead-eye kicking form the result could have been much different. He missed four kickable awards in the first 10 minutes alone before putting his side into a 3-0 lead at the 15 minute mark as Ontario dominated early proceedings of the match played at the Upper Canada College before an enthusiastic crowd of 1,000 people.



CYRIL RAGAN

Following this reverse Quebec came back into the game and twice Doug Mitchell and Tom Reid were almost away for tries, this pressure was rewarded when Ontario were caught offside near their own line and Cyril Fagan booted the goal to level the count after 25 minutes of play.

Quebec continued to dominate the late stages of the first half and with only minutes left in the stanza Jim Adam vaulted his team to a 6-3 lead with a 40 yard boot from far out near the touchline.

JIM ADAM

Shortly after the resumption Fagan connected on the second of his two kicks to increase the margin to six points.

Ken Talbot, the Ontario outhalf found a chink far out on the right and went over near the corner for a good score which made the count 9-6 for the visitors as the convert was no good. Before Ontario could gather themselves together for a final surge which could have brought victory Jim Adam stepped up and booted a 35 yarder which bounced over via the cross-bar to salt the game away for Quebec.

Colin Hudson, of the Wanderers, was the man of the match with his devastating tackling and good offensive work and Ian Thompson, youngest member of the squad, who gave a masterful display at scrum half both made impressive debuts. These first caps awarded to these players should be the first of many if they remain in the district. Tony Smith skippering the province for the first time was also a standout defensively. Tom Reid was the most impressive member of the hard-working pack of forwards.

Rugger teams in last drive

Because of the inter-provincial rugger match last Saturday there were no games played in the Quebec Rugger league but action resumes Saturday as seven of the nine clubs round out their schedules with the league championship still undecided.

Westmount, last year's runners-up, and Montreal Barbarians the defending champions, deadlocked at the top of the standing each with one loss in seven games meet in the feature attraction of the day at Westmount Park with a 2.30 start scheduled. A win would guarantee either club of at least a tie for the league championship..

Montreal Irish, possessors of a 5-1 record, can then tie the winners if they wrap up their two remaining games. This week they go to St. Hubert for a game with the RCAF station team and finish out their schedule when they meet McGill Redmen under the lights next Tuesday at Molson Stadium, 8 p.m.

The provincial championship will be decided in a four team post season play-off. Draw for the play-offs will be announced next week as the assignments for the semi-finals will be determined by draw.

In other matches this week, Wanderers can assure themselves of a play-off berth by taking Canadair at Barre Park in Ville St. Laurent at 2.30 p.m. McGill Redmen play hosts to the Ottawa side.

QRFU players asked to give blood at Red Cross clinic

The Quebec Rugby Football Union teams from senior to juvenile are sponsoring a Red Cross blood clinic at the Canadian Legion Memorial Building, 1191 Mountain street, November 6.

The clinic will be held from four to six and from 7:30 to 11:00 p.m. All players are asked to give to this worthy cause and even bring a pal.

McGill grid team of 1938 and Coach Kerr to be feted

Doug Kerr, of Vendome avenue, and members of the McGill 1938 football team, last Redmen to win the senior intercollegiate football championship, are to be honored at a pre-game luncheon at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium Saturday.

The event has been designated Doug Kerr Day and following the noon luncheon, Kerr, incidentally the last Canadian born coach to lead a grid team to senior college title, is to attend the Queen's vs. McGill game along with the players.

Invitations by the sponsors, McGill Society of Montreal, have been accepted by Howie Bartram, (Chip) Drury, Bob Kenny, G. A. McGibbon, Ronnie Perowne, Chuck Smith, Dr. (Prestie) Robb. Kenny Wilson, and Eddie Tabah, all residing in Montreal and environs, though others will likely attend from outside points.

Lorne Gayles, secretary of McGill Graduates Society, says it's remarkable to find that this group included so many men who have in recent years become highly established in the professional fields as well as in mercantile and industrial spheres.

At the same time, Gayles notes that the McGill football team of '38 showed a very high standard of patriotism. To a man the line-up that clinched the football championship on that November Saturday in 1938, later served in the armed forces.

Six held ranks in the Royal Canadian Navy. Four were in the Canadian Army and eight served in the RCAF.

Three American born players upon returning to their own country, served in United States Armed Forces.

Six, including line-coach Fred Wigle were killed in action or died of war wounds; one was a prisoner-of-war in Germany, another was interned in Eire later escaped and flew again in the RCAF.

Warriors, St. Pats play here Sunday

Loyola Warriors meet St. Patrick's College of Ottawa in a crucial Ottawa-St. Lawrence league game, Sunday, at Trenholme Park starting at 2:00 p.m.

The game is a big one for the Warriors who, if they win, will be well on their way to a possible championship. At present, they are unbeaten, leading the league with six points. All other teams in the league have dropped one game.

The game will mark the second encounter between these two teams. Loyola edged St. Pat's 8-0 in the opening game of the season and the Irish, undefeated since then, will be trying hard to keep their championship hopes alive. They won the league title last year.

Warriors will be out to stop St. Pat's powerful ground attack which piled up yardage against them four weeks ago.

The Ottawa squad run out of a single wing formation which can feature some tricky reverses and powerful end sweeps.

Gordie Ventura, a hard running halfback, is the big gun in the Irish backfield and his long gains hurt the Warriors in the last game.

McGill, Wanderers in rugger game victories

McGill University Redmen rugger squad made it a double over the neighboring province as they took the inter-collegiate rugger title over Toronto Varsity Blues for the eighth successive year winning the home and home series 18-8. Last Saturday in Montreal they downed the visitors 9-3 after winning the opening encounter 9-5 in Toronto the previous week.

In an exhibition game played last week at the Monklands High School ground Wanderers edged Westmount 3-0 in a mud-bath game as both squads fielded weakened sides because of injury and inter-provincial calls.

The annual pessimistic prediction: "Royals are loaded" is being shouted in all points of the Quebec Hockey League outside of Montreal.

Verdun Shamcats meet Cornwall in Sunday playoff

VERDUN Shamcats, who have outplayed their opposition in the QRFU intermediate schedule this year will face the toughest road trip of the season with three playoff games five days. If they come through that grind, then they move into further CRU intermediate playoffs against the Ontario winners.

Firstly Cats have to get by Cornwall, and although they have beaten the Emards every time out, they could still be tough to beat. The first game of the two game, total points series will be played in Cornwall Saturday night at 7:30 and the second game at the Verdun Stadium at 2:00 p.m.

The winner, either Cornwall or Verdun and the Cats are favored, will move against Lakeshore Baby Als on Wednesday, Nov 5 at the Verdun Stadium in the first round of the CRU battles.

Rangers, Bromwich soccer plays here

West Bromwich Albion of the English First Division and Glasgow Rangers, Scotland's leading soccer club will be the two touring Old Country teams to play in Montreal next June.

It was learned that the Canadian Soccer Football Association has extended an invitation to West Bromwich to tour Canada while the American Soccer League will sponsor the Rangers tour of the United States.

It is proposed to follow the pattern set last year when Hearts and Manchester City played against each other in four exhibitions, one in New York and the other three in Canada; at Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal.

It would be hard to find two better clubs to tour here than West Brom and Rangers.

Luton Town is also anxious to play here but it is understood that the Birmingham team got the nod because of their more colorful background.

YMHA sport clinic set for wrestling Tuesday

The next clinic in the sport series presented by the YM-YWHA will be held Tuesday at the Snowdon building. It will deal on wrestling and with fundamentals and personalities, film slides and movies. Starting time is 8:15 p.m.

Olympic group

Canadian Olympic Association will hold a special directors meeting at Toronto, November 1, at which time several important details pertaining to the 1960 Winter and Summer Olympic games will be determined.

High on the agenda is an offer of financial assistance from a

St. Leo's hockey Drill on Friday

St. Leo's junior and senior 'B' hockey candidates stepped out on the frozen surface of Verdun Auditorium last Friday for the initial practice of the season.

At present, the hockey picture at the Academy represents quite a puzzle for coach Andy McGillis. The opening practice should go a long way in deciding what category in the GMIAA the school will be able to ice a team.

A junior meeting was called and only eight candidates attended and this lack of interest was a severe blow to any junior hockey plan. It is quite likely now that junior hockey plans will be shelved in favor of a senior 'B' club.

With the City of Westmount getting ready to open their new artificial rink, prospects are bright for a full season of hockey for the school's eight hockey squads that will benefit greatly from the generous time alloted to the schools by the City of Westmount.

St. Leo's always had difficulty catering to the 130 students that participated in the vast competitive hockey programme undertaken.

In addition to the competitive programme an intermural league will be formed for students who like their hockey in small quantities.

Jottings: St. Leo's will play in Lake Placid N.Y. December 12 and 13 against Northward School. The games will be played in Olympic Arena . . . Peter Johnson's Lions are still leading the Westmount midget six man touch league. Maroons, led by John Donnelly are tops in the pee wee section.

Lower Canada grid lose to Rennie 29-6

Tom Drew scored four touchdowns, one of them on a 70-yard pass interception to give John Rennie a 29-6 win over Lower Canada College in a High School Senior "B" football contest.

Drew tallied his other three majors on end runs. He scored once in the second quarter, twice in the third and once in the fourth.

John Gray and R. Burns gave John Rennie a 4-0 first quarter lead when they both were credited with safety touches.

John Rennie's other point was on a fourth quarter convert by Ed Poole.
