I find it so easy, with Lantic Sugar Cartons, to keep my sugar clean and free from contamination. I do not have to use so much Lantic Sugar as the extra fine granulation dissolves so readily and distributes the sweetness. The Red Ball Trademark on the carton or bag is a guarantee of receiving Pure Cane Sugar, unadulterated and of high quality. Lantic Sugar—of extra fine granulation—is put up in 2 lb. and 5 lb. cartons and 10 lb. and 20 lb. bags. You can also get either a fine or coarse granulation in 10 lb. bags.

The Huntingdon Fair

Held on Thursday and Friday, was up to the usual standard, without any outstanding feature of the excellence. It was a good all-round show, of which our farmers have cause to be proud.

Miscellaneous Extra Miss M. B. Leehy—bedroom set, initial, 30c; sideboard set, 50c; washstand, 40c; washstand, 40c; washstand, 40c; washstand, 40c.

Of the other contents of the big building mention is called for in the fine display made by Mr Lunan of auto accessories. The Overland he exhibited was sold to Mr Irvine for $1080, making the 8th of this season.

What of the attendance? It was not quite up to that of last year. The first day was especially hot, threatening to end in a thunderstorm, which kept many at home.

Dr. Beland Hopes for Liberty. A letter received by members of his family gives interesting though sad-sounding news of Dr. H. S. Beland, M.P. for Beauce County, who is now a captive in a German fortress.

H. D. Miller of Montreal held that Canada had as much interest in overcoming Germany as either Belgium or France, for if Germany was victorious we would face a like fate. If at this stage of the war we do not put forth our best efforts we run the risk of Germany annexing us and leaving on us a war tax.

The feature of the battlefront in France is the continuance of the bombardment of the German lines. For nearly 23 days thousands of shells have been hourly dropped on the German trenches.

There have been two Zeppelin raids on London. The first killed 28 and the wounded were 100. The second was not fully realized at first but the great nations had at last wakened up to what was required of them and Canada for her own preservation had to do what she could.

Mr Robb, M.P., considered that the visits of our public men to the annual fairs was of advantage in enabling them to put their fingers on the public pulse and judge what the country required. He rejoiced in the patriotic demonstration made by our people.

The majority of the city visitors have returned to the city, so the services conducted at Maple Grove Woodlands, and Melocheville on Sunday have been discontinued.

The despatches from the battlefront are more favorable for the Allies. At the southern end of their long extended front the Russians have checked the advance of the Germans and gained several battles.

BASE-BALL The game between North Burke and Huntingdon proved to be one of the most interesting of the season for several innings there were no runs scored; apparently there were good players on the field but they either were not in condition or were playing in hard luck a good deal of which can be attributed to the roughness of the diamond. Rowat started on the bat for Huntingdon, it proved to be one of his off days and the game was lost before he retired and Dawson took his place; at the end of the second the score was 9 to 1, Masten having got control and receiving good support. The Huntingdon team also apparently undefeated stuck to it and holding down their opponents gradually drew up till at the first of the 7th the score was 10 to 9. For a moment it looked as tho they could yet win out but the Burke boys made it safe by netting five runs in their half. The game ended 19 to 11, which is the most decisive score that has been made here for years. The hitting was hard. Brown replaced Masten in the 7th. Many errors were made by both teams. Dawson deserves credit for his pitching altho a helpless game he stuck with it and at no time was he hit hard, had his team mates given him the backing he deserved, and hit as they did, he would have won his game even with a lead of eight against him. The teams were—

North Burke—H. Hunter, Masten Wing, Brown, E. Hunter, Johns O., Dechambeau, C. Hunter, Duffy.

Huntingdon—Rowat, Dawson, Sellar, Stark, Kelly, Smith, Cappallo, Lascar, Chaplins.

Score by Innings Huntingdon—001131320—11 North Burke—7210054x—11 Umpires—McNaughton and G. V. n

HUNTINGDON A recruiting party of three, Lieut. Pedley of the 73rd Royal Highlanders, Lieut. Corbett (better known as Percy Corbett) and Archie Beattie, pitched their tent on the lawn overlooking the Bank of Commerce. They remained four days and had eight volunteers, seven of whom passed the medical examination, and have joined the regiment at Montreal. Their names are Chas. Munn, Jos. Lockman, Fredk. Daryanc, Chas. Goldberg, Jas. Walsh, Herb. Woodgate, Thos. McDowell. Much to the regret David Higginson was unable to pass examination, a weak heart debarring him from so strenuous a life. The doctor, who came from Montreal, remarked that Thomas McDowell has the strongest physique of any man he had yet examined. Before leaving, Lieut. Corbett gave authority to C. H. Lamb to act for the department in enrolling all those who wish to serve, and gave him the papers.

A sensation was caused here on Sunday morning when Jos. B. Francoeur, known as Joe Hart, John Lefevre and Alex Lefevre, were arrested by Geo. H. Rioux, inspector of the Dominion police, on a charge of assisting alien enemies to leave the Dominion. The accused appeared before Justice Stephen on Monday afternoon, when the following evidence was heard:

Jos. Prohaska, I am an Austrian, met Jos. Hart, or Francoeur, and an old man Friday, Sept. 10th, at the N. Y. C. station about 10:30 p.m. I told him I wanted to see him at his shop. I went to the house of Jos. Hart with another man I did not know. I told him I wanted to go to the United States. I told him I was an Austrian. Hart said he could not go then if I gave him $1000. I pled with him. Finally he told the other man to drive me over the lines with a horse. I said no, I wanted to go in an auto. Hart said, give me $40 and I will take you. I said that is too much. He said he would drive 100 miles, 50 there and 50 back. I said I had not enough money, so he would go and see my cousin at St. Agnes. Hart told me to come Saturday night at 12 o'clock. I went to St. Agnes and returned at ten o'clock on Saturday night. At 11 o'clock I went to the back of his shop and spoke with him. He said "Wait a minute till the boys are out of the shop." I said, "I have not much money, I will give you $35. He said, "No! I take nothing less than $40." I got the money from Mr. G. H. Rioux. There were three $10 bills and two $5 bills. I went with Alex Lefevre, we walked by the river on the street until an auto came. There was a young man in the auto. I sat down in the auto with Alex Lefevre to go to Cherubusco, in the United States. There were three in the auto. I don't know the chauffeur; it was dark and I could not recognize him. I cannot say whether it was Jonnie Lefevre or not. We arrived at Cherubusco at about 2 o'clock in the morning. They left me at the railway station at Cherubusco and went back. A detective met me at Cherubusco and took me to Malone. I was put on the train at Malone and was taken off at Athelstan coming by auto to Huntingdon. I came from Athelstan with Groux, G. Porteous, and Mr. Gouindrey, immigration inspector. Two officers brought me from Malone to Athelstan. The witness was cross examined by Hart. I told you I was an Austrian and had my registration card. The card was filed as exhibit P. 1. On Friday night you gave me this piece of paper (exhibit P. 2) on which was written "Please would you show me the way to Mr. Vass's Crusher." I told you I was going to see my cousin to get some money. Re-examined by Mr. Laurendeau—I told Hart I was going to see my cousin to make up the $40 I wanted to pay him.

Geo. Hector Rioux, I am inspector of Dominion police, I live in Montreal. I know Jos. Prohaska. I told him I wanted to make a case against Joseph Hart, one of the accused in Huntingdon. Jos. Prohaska is registered as an Austrian subject at the registry office in Montreal. I told him we would give him the money, and he was to go and see Hart and get him to take him to the border of the United States. I gave him $20 and he went by the N.Y.C. station, Huntingdon, and saw him a few words to Hart who had a car. Prohaska and Hart got into the car and drove away, with another man in the car. This happened at 8:35 p.m. on Friday, 10th September. When Mr. Porteous, a government officer, who was with me, saw that they had left in the car we went down to the main street and watched whether Hart's car would come out of the garage. We remained there until 12 o'clock. Saw nothing, so came back to a house where we met our man Prohaska. He said "He won't take me for $20, he wants $40." So I told him to go to St. Agnes and he went and returned on Saturday night. We paid him $40. We gave him three $10 bills and two $5 bills, all marked with letter H on the lower right hand corner, now filed as exhibits. Prohaska left for Hart's and was to get in by the back. We saw an auto leave Hart's garage about 11:50 and stop at the barber shop. We walked on and the auto passed over the bridge a minute before we got there and we got a motor car followed, but lost track of them. I next saw Prohaska at 4 p.m. on Saturday at Athelstan. Prohaska was in charge of Mr. Cull, an American officer, who gave him into our charge and brought him to the Moir Hotel, Huntingdon. In the hotel he related to us how he got over to the States. We looked for Hart and found him at the house of Chas. Lefevre. We called him outside saying we wanted to see him. We took him to the county building and placed him under arrest; then we looked for the two men that were in the car. John Lefevre came and gave himself up. Then we went and got Alex C. Lefevre, at Herdman's Corners. After having John Lefevre we asked him where he was on Saturday night, before asking we told him all he would say might tell against him. He made the declaration of his own accord, stating he took a man to Cherubusco on Saturday night, at 12 o'clock the 11th with his brother Alex C. Lefevre; his declaration is only now. We took Hart to his place of business. In the presence of a Magistrate, myself, Mr.

Porteous, Mr. Gouindrey and Mr. Cogland, we asked him to open the safe, which he did. We asked him if there was any money in the safe, and if so, told him to hand it out. The money was handed to the magistrate and the numbers of the bills were called by myself. I now file a document with the dates and numbers of the bills, signed by the magistrate. I had the numbers of the bills in my book, and they correspond with the numbers on the bills as marked. They are the identical bills which had been given to Prohaska on the 11th. I asked Hart how he got this money; he answered that he did not know; he had been getting lots of Fair money and had cashed a check for $50 on the Merchants' Bank on the 11th. I seized the money. Cross examined by Hart. There was more money, as well as checks, in the safe when it was opened. I don't know how much money there was. Magistrate Stephen considering that there had been sufficient evidence taken, committed the three prisoners for trial and they were taken to jail at Valleyfield.

The announcement that a patriotic meeting was to be addressed by two soldiers crowded the Methodist church Sunday evening. The audience was disappointed in having a regular church service. Rev. Mr. Nuns of Franklin conducted the devotional part of the service, and the Rev. A. E. Rollit preached. Mr. Scott, a city lawyer who went with the first contingent to France and was retired on account of a shot destroying the sight of an eye, declared that the population of Austria and Germany was 110 millions, and all the men fit to bear arms were enrolled in the army. For the past 20 years preparations had been going on for war. Germany had agreed in 1911 to the rule that no stupefying gases be used at that date she was making the instruments for them. Several captured bore the date 1907, and others 1912. He had no doubt if Germany proved victorious Canada would be invaded and made a slave like Belgium. The men at the front gave no thanks for sympathy that did not get expressed in acts, and the feeling among them was that they were not being supported as they should. The pay of a French soldier was 2 cents a day, of a German 5, of a British regular 28, but the Canadian got $1.10. Mr. Scott described the trenches and the daily routine of duty. Lieut. Percy Corbett dwelt on the duty of enlisting. The collection for the Red Cross amounted to $42. Rev. J. B. Maclean presided.

A concert was held in the Majestic theatre on the second night of the fair. The chief attraction was Mr. Dalving, who did slight of hand tricks, and gave representations of the historical and prominent characters. His performance was clever and was appreciated. Mrs. Angel from Montreal sang twice. Lieut. P. Corbett made an appeal for recruits for the 73rd. The remainder of the program was made up of moving pictures. The hall was well filled and Mr. Rufage must have done well. The dance which followed was well attended. The Malone orchestra furnished music at both concert and dance.

The prize-list is so long, and so short time given to get in type, that part, flowers and poultry, has to be left over. Correspondents will understand the cause of the valued notes not appearing.

Prevented "War Taxes" and Revenue. It is perfectly obvious that the Customs tariff changes made by the Conservative Government last February for the express purpose of raising additional revenue have failed of their purpose. In introducing these changes in the House of Commons, the Finance Minister said that their effect would be to raise from 25 to 30 million dollars more revenue, or at the rate of from two to two-and-a-half million dollars per month. The changes have been in operation for a full year, and the result is that the Customs Revenue instead of increasing by about eight million dollars, has actually decreased by over half a million dollars.

The result is only what might have been expected, and is as predicted by the Liberal Leaders. At the best these tariff changes constituted a monumental piece of political folly and one of the gravest blunders in fiscal policy ever committed by any statesman or Government in the history of Canada. They were conceived in absolute ignorance. Customs rates were imposed which are prohibitive in their nature and per se defeated their avowed object. THE PREMIER GETS A NOTABLE RECEPTION

The return of Premier Borden from his visit to England was made the occasion on Friday evening of a reception the like of which Montreal has rarely known. The address of welcome was not in the best of taste, being wordy, inflated, and laying on flattery too thickly. Sir R. Borden's reply was calm and told a good deal of what he saw and the conclusions he had arrived at.

His Visit to the Front I have had the privilege—and I considered it a great honor—of visiting at the front those gallant Canadians who have a ready cut a field of battle won such glorious distinctions for themselves and for this great Dominion which they have represented so worthily. From His Majesty, the King, from the President of the French Republic, from the great heroic figure General Joffre, from Sir John French, who is commanding the British armies in France—from all of these I have had a magnificent tribute to the valor of the Canadian forces in several engagements in which they have participated in this war. Besides seeing the men at the front—men who have fought as valorously, as courageously and with as great tenacity as ever men fought and for as great a cause as ever men fought—I have had the privilege at Shorecliffe in the county of Kent, which was the native county of my ancestors in Great Britain, of seeing 40,000 Canadians pass under review and of hearing one of the ablest soldiers in the British Isles tell me at the conclusion of the review that after having seen no less than 400,000 men within the past four or five months he had seen no finer body than the 40,000 Canadians whom he saw on that day.

Praises Men's Spirit Let me tell you of one incident which will illustrate the spirit of these men. When I crossed the English channel in the good destroyer, Crusader, I found near Boulogne 1500 Canadians who had come over two days before. And they told me that among their number they found no less than 12 Canadians from regiments not sent to France who had stowed away on board ship that they might take their part in the fight to meet the enemy of us all. That shows the spirit of the men at the front. But if the opportunity of speaking to those who were facing the enemy in the trenches was great, even greater, perhaps, was the privilege of visiting the convalescent homes and of speaking face to face with the men who, had come back, as it were, from the valley of the shadow of death, men who had passed through as trying an ordeal as ever soldier passed through since the days of the Crusades, and who did not shrink from the historical and prominent characters. His performance was clever and was appreciated. Mrs. Angel from Montreal sang twice. Lieut. P. Corbett made an appeal for recruits for the 73rd. The remainder of the program was made up of moving pictures. The hall was well filled and Mr. Rufage must have done well. The dance which followed was well attended.
