Huntingdon Restaurant and Bowling Alley Now Open

Mademoiselle Dress Shop Also Opened in Same Building

An event took place in Huntingdon on Saturday that attracted a deal of attention and wrote success to a large undertaking. The new Huntingdon Restaurant and Bowling Alley was opened to the public on Saturday and people were allowed to view this really up-to-date and modern restaurant for the first time. The general concensus of opinion seems to be that it is just what Huntingdon has been wanting for a long time. The soda fountain is the equal to any found in any one of the cities in Canada and is the last word in modern equipment. The arrangement of the seating and other equipment is such that provides the utmost for comfort and service. The interior is quite striking with seating provided at tables, or at the lunch counter. Modern electrical equipment is used throughout and the kitchen is equipped with the very latest in cooking appliances with an eye to fast service.

The front of the building presents a great improvement to this end of Chateauguay Street, it being stuccoed in white and having an aluminium trimmed overhanging sign with the words "restaurant" and "bowling" in red letters. The bowling alley has also been greatly improved this year and its entrance is gained through the restaurant, but it is separated and does not need disturb the patrons of the restaurant. It is expected that this alley will be even better patronized this year than before and it will be handy for patrons to be able to obtain lunches and drinks and so forth in the restaurant as they desire them.

NEW DRESS SHOP ALSO OPEN

In the same building is located the Mademoiselle Dress Shop, which opened just a few weeks ago with a modern and up-to-date store that is a pleasure for any woman to shop in. The stock consists of the latest styles of ladies dresses and these are attractively displayed on models. The window itself is quite attractive to the passerby and one cannot but stop and look, it is so distinctive to anything here in Huntingdon. The floor of the store is nicely carpeted and the furnishings in the store give one a feeling of quality and distinction and there is a feeling that here one will see dresses that really will distinguish the wearer.

Those who have not already visited these new premises in Huntingdon are urged to do so at the first opportunity. The personnel of both places will be pleased to welcome you whether you come to buy or just to become acquainted.

On another page of this issue will be found a full page advertisement in which are some photographs of the new restaurant and bowling alley, these will give some idea of the arrangement and equipment that goes to make the most up-to-date new business in Huntingdon today.

Huntingdon Progressing Steadily

New Businesses Starting—Many Making Improvements

At least one other business will be opening in Huntingdon very soon, this time it is a Baby's and Children's Wear Store. It will be located at the store recently made vacant by the death of the late Mr. A. N. McDonald, on Chateauguay Street. The building was recently purchased by Mr. N. E. Bourgon, who was manager of the Pringle, Stark & Co. groceteria and who is now managing the Dominion Store.

The store will be redecorated on the outside and the interior will be fitted suitably for the business mentioned above. Two offices will be made on the floor above and also an apartment for living quarters. It is understood that the living quarters are already rented and one of the offices. Mr. Budd, who is presently employed by the Henri Robert Transport will operate the Baby Shop.

Work is also proceeding on the warehouse at the rear of the W. E. Lefebvre Store and it is being built for storage purposes in connection with this store. Messrs. Marchand Freres are remodelling the upstairs part of their store to make another large showroom for the household furnishings. The lower part of the store has been enlarged to accomodate the increasing large stock that this enterprising firm is bringing into the store.

Almost everywhere one goes in Huntingdon today, improvements and renovations are being proceeded with. The warehouse at the rear of Braithwaite Bros. Hardware Store is being refitted to show to better advantage the huge stock of hardware goods that this store is always noted for. With an idea of showing some of the many new buildings and improvements in the Town of Huntingdon, The Gleaner will from time to time show such constructions and the finished work. In another part of this issue will be seen a photograph of some new houses being installed on Fairview Road, by Mr. J. Cluff.

Pond's Open Modern Premises in Malone

To the many visitors from Huntingdon to Malone, Pond's Service Station and Store would like to bring to their attention that they are opening their new, modern and up-to-date premises in Malone today, Wednesday, October 1st. An announcement to this effect appears elsewhere in this issue and an account of the opening appeared in the Malone daily newspaper. The new premises are all that modern facilities and improvements can provide and all visitors are cordially invited to visit Pond's when in Malone.

BREAKING GROUND FOR MORE NEW HOUSES

Here we see the bulldozer owned by Mr. F. C. Moore and operated by Mr. Lowden, breaking the ground for a new foundation for a house being erected by Mr. J. Cluff. Standing watching the bulldozer at work are, on the left Mr. Cluff, and on the right Mr. Moore. Inset top right hand corner is one of the barracks buildings purchased by Mr. Cluff already set up on its foundation. This building was the chapel that was used at the barracks and has now been made into two very nice houses. Inset below, left hand corner is the bulldozer cutting its way for a new foundation for another building that Mr. Cluff is converting into a residence. This is only part of the various new dwellings that are being readied and the Gleaner intends to show the progress in successive issues of this newspaper. We understand that these houses have already been spoken for and will be occupied as soon as ready.

Impressions of A Visit to Scotland and England

Gilbert McMillan Gives Further Facts on Visit in Second Part of Series

PART II

Our first experience of train travel was not encouraging and would not sell a stranger on the benefits of nationalization. We were told, however, that this was not the primary cause, as the Government took over an undertaking completely worn out under the strain of war, which the owners were quite willing to sell to the Government.

Whether it is because people have nothing else to spend their money on that they decide to travel or not I could not tell, but trains are badly crowded and whether you have a first or third class ticket makes no difference and those who get in first claim the seats, the balance stand in the corridors, which run along the side of the coaches.

We spent a week in England and had an opportunity of seeing just how people live in the cities, and also covered a lot of rural territory.

The territory visited was largely in the Midlands, which is a highly industrialized section and you are never out of sight of several smoke stacks. Farming is carried on right up to the edge of the towns, and there is no waste land being held by speculators awaiting development like that we see around Canadian cities. The countryside is simply studded with villages made up to a great extent of people with business and executive positions in the city who try to get away from the cities to live. As in Scotland, the roads are narrow and winding but with good surfaces, but in many cases it would be hard to distinguish the road from a private driveway.

We saw several of the celebrated residences of some of the most noted English families, immense structures and beautiful architecture, but in many cases now, more a liability than an asset. In some cases they are maintained in trust and for a small fee are open to visitors and on holidays and Sunday are thronged with people. The village "pub" is also an institution in England of which we have no counterpart. It is a sort of club where the villagers gather for a chat and a "pint of bitter" or something stronger. Throughout the country they are legion, and seem to get their distinction from their names and their antiquity. Here are some samples of their names—"Slow and Easy", "Puss-in-Boots", "The Setter Dog", "Horse and Farrier", "Cat and Fiddle", the latter at the top of the Pennine Mountains supposed to be the highest licenced house in England. They appeared to be operated with the strictest decorum and no brawls as are generally associated with a barroom. Tradition is still something to be proud of in England, and while it may have its drawbacks it also has its balms. We were shown through a school in Staveley, Yorkshire, where I have a relative as Headmaster and whose house still adjoins the school, and there is a room nearly 400 years old. It was of particular interest to note that even in those days boys carved their names or initials on the woodwork. The land in the Midlands of England is decidedly rolling and some of the hills extending to a considerable height, but it is farmed right up to the edge of the woodland and we saw beautiful pastures and good crops at an elevation of over 1500 feet. The outstanding feature to a visitor from Canada is the solidity and permanence of the buildings, which are either of stone or brick. Wherever a roadway cuts through a grade, or the approach to a house cuts through an incline, the sides are protected with stonework of splendid workmanship. There is evidence that previous to the war great plans were underway for the improvement of the country. Slums were being broken up and a very fine type of workmen's houses being built all around the larger cities. We noticed this particularly in both England and Scotland. Building is now being extended in rural areas and there is a decided confliction of opinion where rural workmen's houses should be built, the Government in keeping with its socialistic leanings insisting they be built in villages where they would be independent of their employers; farmers insisting they should be on the farms where the workers are employed. Looking to the future, we think the latter place will be much more likely to furnish a supply of skilled farm labour. Much regret is expressed that wartime conditions brought the pre-fabricated houses into existence (pre-fabs for short), and the fear is that they will become the slums of the future, as dwellers will lose pride in their surroundings. We understand they are much more comfortable inside than their appearance would indicate, but they certainly do not fit in with the landscape of Britain nor compare in appearance with the brick cottages.

There is also evidence that Britain was preparing to face her road traffic problem and we saw short stretches started before the war, of these highways for the future, and they were just as ambitious as our own. They are laid out with two two-lane motor strips with a green strip in the centre, a narrow green strip on either side, then a cycle path, with a sidewalk for pedestrians on both outsides, the whole being about eighty feet wide. We understand this type of highway was to be used between cities where through traffic also entered the picture. We are sure the motorist will vote for the cycle path, as bicycles are legion and obey road regulations about as closely as they do in Canada.

The sizes of farms in England vary considerably and range from the small family farm of 50 acres up to over 1000 acres. We covered a number of them and they are almost invariably well farmed and neatly kept. Long used to cheap labour, they do not appear to organize their work to save labour as well as we do, but with the increase in wages this will change. Minimum rates for men now are £4-10 ($22.50) for a week of 48 hours, ordinary overtime 2/4 per hour (56c), week-ends, which means from noon on Saturday until Monday morning, and legal holidays, 2/10 per hour (68c). Women and boys are about 10% lower. They are becoming more and more mechanized, but we still see a very much larger number of people working on the land than you would in Canada. There has been an immense drive to increase milk production and dairying is in many cases driving out beef raising altogether, and even yet milk is still rationed to about three pints a week for a non-priority consumer. The entire milk supply of the country is marketed through milk marketing boards, an immense undertaking, and we believe very well done, as it was one organization of which we heard little criticism. They have not been able, and perhaps it is not humanly possible, to do a perfect job, for we still find considerable milk being manufactured, when it could readily be consumed in fluid form. As the prices are all poled, and the farmer paid for his manufacturing costs where he makes cheese on the farm, the producers are not worrying. The care of the production of milk on the farms is of a very high order, and strict cleanliness observed, and milk water-cooled as soon as it is milked, but I was surprised to note that the good effect of this must be largely lost by the way it is handled afterwards, as far as bacterial count is concerned. We saw no provision on the farms for holding it overnight in cold storage and it is transported sometimes considerable distance in open trucks without a canvass and we even saw bottled milk being distributed from large trucks to the retail wagons, and being left sitting in the open in wire crates. We did hear complaints in the

Fall Meeting of Girl Guides, Sat. Oct. 11th

Mrs. Gordon McCrimmon attended a conference for Commissioners, Secretaries and Guiders of the Girl Guides Association held over the week-end at Pleasant View Hotel, North Hatley, when ninety women and young girls from Quebec Associations were present. Mrs. McCrimmon gave her report to the local Association held on Tuesday in the Academy. She said that a revision of policy, organization and rules had been adopted and a new book of instructions is being issued. The Morse Code is being dropped but Semifore instruction is compulsory. On Friday night and throughout Saturday the groups of Commissioners, Secretaries, Guides and Brownies held informal discussions and training periods and did nature work outdoors. The necessity for first class work and more outdoor activities were stressed. A Guiders Own Service was held at the First Universalist Church on Sunday. Mrs. McCrimmon was warranted as Captain for the Company of Guides in Huntingdon.

Plans were made at the meeting to resume regular Girl Guide classes and to support the efforts of the new Captain. The Fall meeting of Girl Guides and Association members will be held on Saturday afternoon, October 11th, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon McCrimmon.

Community Fire Loss $8,440 in 1946

Oct. 5th - 11th Fire Prevention Week

Huntingdon suffered a total property loss of $8,440 in 1946 according to latest figures issued by the Dominion Fire Commissioner in Ottawa. A further breakdown of figures puts the per capita fire loss for 1946 at $3.28. Total fire loss for 1945 was $1,425. Property loss for the whole Dominion amounted to nearly $50,000,000, with 166 men, 78 women and 164 children dead as a result of fires in 1946.

Smokers' carelessness accounted for the largest percentage of fires, with defective stoves and furnaces, electric wiring and appliances, and overheated flues and chimneys following next in line.

Hospitals Issue Annual Thanksgiving Appeal

Gifts of Vegetables, Fruit, Etc., Taken to Churches Serve Twofold Purpose

As is the usual practice at this time each year, an appeal is being issued on behalf of the Huntingdon County Hospital and the Barrie Memorial Hospital, for gifts of harvest goods at Thanksgiving. It has become established that the people of Huntingdon and Chateauguay Counties bring to their various churches at the Harvest Festival Thanksgiving Services many gifts of produce and preserves which provide a suitable decoration for the services and then in turn make acceptable gifts for the two hospitals.

With this in mind the Gleaner has been asked to make this annual appeal for a bountious supply of the above things which will serve a two-fold purpose. Ministers of the various churches are asked to appeal to their congregations along the above lines at about the time they have planned their services of Thanksgiving. People reading this appeal are asked to make a check of what they feel they can give and be ready to take these to their churches when the time arrives.

It has been found in past years, that gifts received by the two hospitals in this manner have been a considerable help in stocking the larders with vegetables, preserves and pickles, and fruit. Canned goods and cash donations are also very acceptable. While this year has been a poor one in regard to vegetables, it is hoped that those who have an abundant supply will share their harvest with the hospitals to the best of their ability.

Annual Drama Festival Held At Ormstown

Georgetown Group Wins High Honors

The Annual Drama festival, sponsored by the South Shore Presbyterian Young People's Union was held on Friday evening in the Ormstown Presbyterian Church Hall, when the auditorium was filled to capacity. Three societies entered the competition and the judge was Mr. Max Ford, of Montreal, who has had a very wide experience in dramatics. Athelstan Y.P.S. presented a play entitled "The Dummy", Ormstown the play "Buddy Buys an Orchid" and Georgetown presented "The Closed Door". While preparations were being made for the various plays, Rev. Bingham of Georgetown rendered two solos, accompanied by Miss Marion Greig, and the Riverfield Young Peoples' group gave a musical number which brought down the house entitled "MacNamara's Band" conducted by Mr. Lawrence McClenagan.

At the close of the evening Mr. Ford gave his decision, Georgetown group winning the highest points with Ormstown second place and Athelstan third. Mr. Ford congratulated the winning group and gave helpful suggestions in the field of dramatics. Special mention of a good performance in the various groups was given to Miss Elsie Atcheson of Athelstan, Miss Marion Craig and Mr. Larry Cowper of Georgetown and Mr. Clifford Sollows of Ormstown.

At the request of the Dramatics convener, Miss Lois Elliott, Mr. Ford presented the shield to the winning group. Mr. P. D. McArthur, of Georgetown, director of the play "The Closed Door" accepted it with thanks.

Brief remarks from Rev. H. A. Pritchard, Ormstown, Rev. G. E. Bingham, Georgetown, Rev. R. McMillan, Athelstan and Rev. W. McBride, Riverfield and an expression of thanks to Miss Lois Elliott and Mrs. McFarlane brought a very entertaining and interesting evening to a close. Proceeds amounted to about $80.00.

Polio Drive Reaches $800

Legion Members Attend Memorial Unveiling

The Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion reports that the amount so far collected in the Polio Campaign in this county is $800 and the amount of the objective is $1,300. There are several more districts in the county to make reports which will no doubt increase the amount of collections, but it is felt that the total amount of the objective will fall short unless more contributions are received. Many persons have not been contacted due to several reasons and the members of the Legion are asking that anyone who has been so missed, please make their contributions to Mr. Jack Heald, Box 515, Huntingdon.

It has already been stressed the need for all the help possible in this drive and it is hoped that no one will be backward in sending in their contribution to this worthwhile apeal.

DESIGNS OWN BOAT—PROVES ITSELF IN TRIALS

Whether Huntingdon is aware of it or not, it has a really excellent boat builder and designer in the person of John Smaill. To prove it, is shown above, various views of teh boat that Mr. Smaill designed and made. It was not made in a day, in fact it took him two years before he was satisfied to take it to the lake and give it a trial. Just a few weeks ago it was completed and the centre view shows the boat in the workshop at the rear of Mr. Smaill's residence on Chateauguay Street. Standing with the boat is the designer and builder himself. He is no stranger to the people of Huntingdon as he has been prominent in the public life of the town through being secretary of Huntingdon Fair. The true beauty of the boat cannot be appreciated by looking at the picture above, the actual thing must be seen. Readers can take our word that this boat is really a superb job for an amateur and one that any professional boat builder would be proud of. It is 18 feet long with a 5 ft. beam and is made from cedar and ash taken from trees grown on John Smaill's own farm in Huntingdon. The sides are laminated and glued together and all bolts and screws are countersunk and plugged to make a real, water-tight job. When the boat was first tried in the water there were no signs of leaks whatever and such have never shown up since. The boat is powered by a 4 cylinder Durant car engine geared to a clutch and marine propeller. This is specially housed in an easily dismantled box just behind the seat. The gasoline tank is at the rear just above the rudder. The steering mechanism is controlled by a car type steering wheel and all the speed controls and meters are placed in front of the driver as in a car. Metal fittings are attached for the purpose of tying the boat to a wharf or pier as well as rings for the purpose of hoisting it out of the water. The boat is nicely stained and varnished, the two woods giving it a two-tone effect. A glass shield in front of the driver keeps the flying spray from wetting those inside the boat.

During the past few weeks since the boat was taken to the lake, trials have been made and various small adjustments made until now the boat is about as perfect as could be desired. Its speed so far has been judged at 25 miles per hour and it rides steadily in the water at this speed and cuts its way with ease. Various views in the above picture show the boat actually under power on the lake, with Stanton Smaill, son of John Smaill at the wheel. There is no doubt that this boat is sturdily constructed and it appears to be a perfect handler under power and in the hewater. The design is by Mr. Smail himself as he did not construct the boat from any prepared plans, but from ideas of his own. He told the Gleaner representative that he had always had a notion to build a boat and finally he succeeded—and we would say with a great deal of success.

National Newspaper Week

WE are at this very moment still suffering from the results of a war that had the potential of ruining the whole world, even at that, it had a decided upsetting value on the whole world and there is still chaos and suffering abounding. But before this war started there were dictators taking over various countries and whole nations to force their will and ideas on the peoples of these countries and if possible on the whole world. One of the first liberties that these dictators sought to suppress was the freedom of the press. They knew that the dissemination of news would aquaint the people with facts that would be against their policies and thus their schemes would never go into effect. The method of the dictator is to rule by fear, and the newspaper will not work under such conditions while control remains in their hands. So under penalties of all kinds and even death, the newspapers in dictatorship countries were suppressed.

We are fortunate under our democratic rule to have newspapers that are free to print the news of everything as they see it and to print editorial opinions that help the people to understand what is going on. Oftentimes editorial comment goes against the ruling powers, but as long as there is no liable, the newspapers have the right to print what they wish without other restriction. During the war, certain news was censored for security reasons, but this was for the good of all and the newspapers observed this ruling very strictly. Through our newspapers the people have learned what happened in the dictator countries and the way they handled the people of their countries. To us the stories were of stark horror and the fact that such news was brought to us made us beware of anything that even smells of control.

The newspapers had to put up a fight in the early days in order to secure the Freedom of the Press, but once gained it has been jealously guarded even though many attempts have been made to take it away.

Newspapers belong to the people, even though they may be privately operated. They belong to the people because it is the people who make the news, it is the people who want to know what is happening, it is the people who read the advertisements, it is the people that the advertiser desires to reach. When something is wrong, it is the newspaper that the people turn to to find out why and to voice their own opinions on controversial issues. Newspapers are the source of information on all kinds of matters and there is hardly a person today who does not take at least one newspaper into the household. They have become firmly established in all our lives and we would be sadly ignorant if it were not for the fact that we can read most all we want to know in the newspaper.

Most people have come to take the newspaper for granted and really pay little attention to the true value of it. When reviewing the knowledge of those people who had been subjcted to a controlled press, it was easy to see how these people had lost contact with the things that make life worth while. They had become regimented and feared to express their own thoughts. Not only that they had become to look upon newspapers with disgust because they only printed such news as was allowed and often highly colored at that. The newspapers in this country print the news for what it is whether it be good or bad and it is shown in the true version so that people can form their own opinions of what is going on.

Newspapers work for the good of the people in promoting worthwhile projects and in seeking to improve the lot of the communities in which they circulate. This is true of The Gleaner and we can point with pride to many a project that has come about through the efforts of The Gleaner promotion and publicity. We do not feel that we have to stress the value of the newspaper in the Chateauguay Valley, for the people are fully aware of it and make every possible use of its facilities. However, we do not think we should let Newspaper Week pass without bringing it to the attention of the public. It is being celebrated from today, October 1st to the 8th and many special references will be made to it throughout this week. This week gives all newspapers a chance to rededicate themselves to the cause of freedom for all people because the freedom of the press is not just given to newspapers alone, it is a protection to the rights to freedom of all people—it is your right to read and be informed.

Fire Prevention Week

AT about this time every year a special nation-wide campaign is conducted to bring to the notice of the people the danger of fire. It is at this time of year that activity in preparations for winter are at their height. Heating facilities are being started in the homes and business places because the chilly weather is with us and we feel need of warmth. But often as not the proper precautions are not taken to see that the hazards that may cause fire are removed. It may be that during the summer months a certain amount of accumulation has been allowed to gather and it may be in such position as to be a menace toward causing a fire at some time.

Fire prevention week has been set this year for the week of October 5th to the 11th. Before or during that time people are asked to check on their premises and see if there is anything that may be a possible hazard during the coming winter. If they find anything that they think may be a danger, they are asked to remove it or to repair it so as to remove the possibility. Of course there are many things that cannot be removed or repaired, because they are not there—such things as people's carelessness or thoughtlessness. It is only by continually keeping in mind the possibilities and taking the proper precautions that fires can be prevented. A number of people have the habit of smoking in bed, some fall asleep with lighted cigarettes in their mouths or in their fingers. These fall on the bedclothes or on the floor and smoulder away until they ignite these things and a bad fire is caused. Better to finish your smoke before you go to bed, or if you must smoke in bed, be sure that the cigarette is rendered harmless before you go to sleep. In the past year many bad fires have been caused from just this.

Fires are still common from the fact that people use inflammable liquids for cleaning clothes in the home, starting fires or coaxing fires in the stove or furnace, and in many other ways. While continuous warnings are being issued about these practices, they still are the cause of a great number of fires. Defective electric wiring is another cause of fires, especially in barns on the farms. This wiring accumulates dust and cobwebs and the insulation of the wire becomes perished and cracked, shorts are caused which in turn cause the fire. People have a habit of tying knots in the cords of lamps if they happen to be too long and this is another possible source of danger. Rubbish allowed to accumulate around or near the furnace is another danger threat. Chimneys should be cleaned and stove pipes cleaned often during the winter months. Depending on the type of fuel burned, stove pipes and chimneys can quickly become fouled, thus causing a considerable hazard for fire.

During fire prevention week Fire Chief Vallee is planning several demonstrations and it is expected he will visit the various schools, mills and business places to inspect the premises and to offer advice on fire prevention. Where fire drills are practiced, it is more than likely that several will be held during this particular week.

In view of the number of farm fires that have occurred, we would especially suggest that people living in farm homes make a special effort to check on the possible hazards around their premises. It is particularly desperate on the farm to have a fire because the chances of saving the buildings have the odds against them. Fire fighting equipment cannot easily reach the farm dwellings and there is no alarm system such as used in the towns. It is therefore very important that all farm dwellers or people remote from fire fighting equipment take the extra precautions of checking over their premises and watching their actions at all times. Smoking in or around the barns should be forbidden and not indulged in.

Do your best to prevent fires at all times and make a special effort during fire prevention week to remove all possible hazards.

Immunization Week

THE first few weeks of October seem dedicated to various national observances of one kind and another and while in these columns we have already recounted some of them, still another bobs up which we feel is worthy of some publicity. This one is National Immunization Week which is during the week of October 5th to 11th, the same dates as Fire Prevention Week. It is sponsored by the Health League of Canada and should certainly be taken notice of.

Our medical scientists are always busy discovering new ways to combat disease and one of the most important forms is by immunization. That is a vaccine injected under the skin that is capable of fighting the disease germs of certain types of communicable diseases and thus destroying them before they can do serious harm to the person. In other words they immunize the germs and thus save the person from becoming affected, or if affected, make the disease less dangerous. It has been proven that such diseases as diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough, can be guarded against by injection of vaccines and thus make the person immune when epidemics prevail. The injections should preferably be made in childhood days, as the reaction is almost nil. These injections should be repeated at certain intervals or during an epidemic according to the advice of your doctor. There is now a preventative and safe vaccine for tuberculosis and the Health League is advising persons exposed to this disease to consult their doctor with regard to it.

While one week of the year is set aside for recognition as immunization week, this does not mean that that is the only time of the year that any heed should be paid to it. Constant thought should be given to immunization against diseases wherever there is a known preventative. In this way there will be less suffering and deaths from these diseases and it may be that in course of time they may even become extinct.

The advice to mothers of young children is that they have their children given these injections before they are 12 months old. Later it should be followed by further injections as advised by the doctor. Such precautions will save much worry in future years and perhaps be the means of saving the life of the child. Up to the present there is no vaccine for polio, but it is hoped that the research work going on will produce one that will be effective.

Britain May Give Up Palestine

THERE seems to be a tendency on the part of Great Britain these days, to give up her protectorates and colonies that are giving her too much trouble. In some ways one cannot blame her. She is having much trouble at home trying to keep her people fed and clothed and working at production of vital exports. If she has trouble in her various assignments in other lands, this costs her money and requires men to control and look after the situations. This money comes from the pockets of the British taxpayer and increases his burden to the point of an overload. When a business man finds he is carrying along a useless article or something that is costing him money and giving no returns, he unloads it and casts off the trailing ropes before it is too late. Great Britain has rid herself of India which has been a millstone around her neck for many years and which has cost many British lives in order to keep order. Palestine is the latest bone of contention and Great Britain has announced that she is ready to quit this mandate and to withdraw from there within two months as soon as someone else is ready to take over.

Knowing all the trouble Britain has had with Palestine and especially the past few months, it is no wonder that she is ready to quit. It may be a sorry day for the Jews if she ever does and they may find that the chances for making Palestine a land for the Jews is among the remote possibilities. Their chances of succeeding in inhabiting this land as their own were greater if Britain had to do with it so long as they would be content to let Britain handle it in her own way. The Arabs have already stated that they will fight if mass emigration of Jews is allowed and they do not agree with the partition of Palestine as outlined by the United Nations.

Some may say that Britain should hold on to what she has and do the best she can to keep order so that the Empire will not suffer. But we believe that the time will come when the various countries urging their own independence will come to Britain and ask to be again taken under her wing. One can read of the trouble in India now that this country is on its own. Under British rule these disturbances were kept to a minimum and without a great deal of bloodshed and the country prospered. Britain can now sit back and feel no responsibility and at the same time be spared the expense of the administration. It will also have the effect of proving under which protection the people got the best results. It will also show to the world that the so-called British Imperialism was not working to the disadvantage of these countries and in effect they were as free as they are supposed to be now.

Obituary

The Late Mrs. Gustave Monat

The population of the Village of Chateauguay and its district was shocked and surprised to learn of the death of Mrs. Gustave Monat, née Ailce Hébert, who died suddenly at the residence of her nephew, Mr. Edgar D. Lefebvre, in Verdun, last Thursday evening, September 18th, in her 57th year.

Mrs. Monat had not been in the best of health during the past three years, but nothing indicated that death would strike so soon and so violently. The many persons who paid final tribute to this gallant lady in the parochial Church at Chateauguay, on Monday morning, was only a feeble indication as to the esteem in which the deceased was held in her community and surroundings.

During the last war, Mrs. Monat was always in the lead when it came to worthy organizations who needed her capacities and knowledge to help alleviate the lot of our soldiers or prisoners-of-war. She occupied the post of president of the Red Cross in the Chateauguay area for a number of years,. She never relented when it came to help. The Legion and the Roman Catholic Church at Chateauguay considered Mrs. Monat amongst the leaders.

Her husband predeceased her three years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mrs. J. H. Lefebvre of Chateauguay, her only son, Pierre, of Montreal; one sister, Mrs. Phil. J. Lefebvre, of Huntingdon: one brother, Edgar Hébert, of Chateauguay; two step-brothers, Ludovic Lefebvre, of Quebec City, and Hervé Lefebvre, of Montreal; one step-sister, Mrs. Ernest Laberge, of Montreal; and many other relatives.

Burial took place in the family plot at Cote-des-Neiges, in Montreal.

Community Fire

roofs caused the loss of roughly 1500 homes, approximately three a day. Lightning, spontaneous ignition and incendiarism increased that total by another 1600.

Smoking in bed, fire authorities claim, kills more people and causes more property loss than any other single factor. Roof fires are the chief cause of conflagrations and the greatest hazard to life because in many cases the occupants don't know the house is on fire until it is too late. This danger would be substantially reduced if home-owners would surface their roofs with fire-resistive asphalt shingles or some other fire-resistive material.

Canada's fire loss for 1946, reports the Dominion Fire Commissioner, shows an increase of 11.7 percent over the previous year. Overcrowding is one good reason for this increase, but carelessness is still the prime fire-bug in any community and citizens everywhere are asked to make an extra effort this Fall to eliminate fire hazards in the home and help to save their property, and the lives and property of others.

cities of milk not keeping, and which we think not surprising; this does seem too bad, after the particular care taken in the milking stables. There is much that is satisfying and encouraging in rural life in Britain. Here we see three sons following in the fathers' footsteps and farming land which has been in the same families for over a hundred years, and still in the highest state of productivity. There is a permanence and security in the whole outlook and should this chaotic phase Britain is passing through do anything to permanently destroy it, the world will be the poorer.

Britain Ready to Pull Out of Palestine

Will Stay Only if Arabs and Jews Agree to Such Course

Specially Written For The Huntingdon Gleaner
E. M. Chantler

Palestine finally came before the United Nations last week when Britain told its special committee on the Holy Land that she was ready to pull out of the troubled country.

Palestine, torn between Jews and Arabs, has been the chief trouble spot of the Midle East for many years. Although Britain has controlled the government of the country, increased attacks by underground Jewish organizations, coupled with Britain's weakened financial position, have made the British position difficult.

On Friday, Colonial Secretary Creech Jones took the question to the United Nations. The British plan indicated that the United Kingdom will stay in Palestine only if both Jews and Arabs agreed to such a course. In the light of recent statements from both Jewish and Arabic leaders, this is unlikely.

With Britain ready to give up her mandate, the United Nations faced another headache. Creech Jones made it clear that Britain was ready to turn the whole problem over to the world body. Should the United Nations fail to take over Palestine, the possibility loomed that Jews and Arabs might be left to fight it out for the country.

Already the world has had an example of what such intrafraternal strife can mean—in India and Pakistan. Although Moslems and Hindus of India indicated that they intended to try to get along together, as soon as Britain stepped out in July, tragic and bloody communal strife broke out.

Sikhs, Hindus and Moslems since then have been battling erratically with the loss of thousands of lives and no immediate solution in prospect.

To some extent, Palestine parallels this situation. However, conditions are different there because hundreds of thousands of Jews are seeking sanctuary in the Holy Land. These Jews—fragments who lived through Nazi pogroms—would swell the Jewish population of Palestine to the point where the Arabs might become a minority group. This, the Arab states have bitterly attacked.

Whether Jewish immigration to Palestine would be continued or increased under a United Nations mandate still is a problem which no one can clearly state at present. The six Arab states in the United Nations have been vociferously opposing any such move.

For Britain, financial as well as strategic considerations are involved. The British government, faced with a decided economic crisis, is attempting to cut down occupation forces wherever possible—in India, Palestine and Greece notably. Thus pulling out of Palestine would be a logical sequence.

In London, a Reuter's political correspondent reported Saturday that Prime Minister Attlee will announce a "wholesale reshuffle" of his Labor government a week hence. However, semi-official sources thought the changes will not involve the "big five" now directing Britain's fight for economic recovery.

Attlee himself, Deputy Prime Minister Morrison, Foreign Secretary Bevin, Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the board of trade, and Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, are certain to retain their posts.

The correspondent said other ministers who are technically outside the cabinet, and junior ministers, will be affected by the switch.

One "hard" prediction is that Defence Minister Alexander, who has been subject to much criticism by a section of the Labor government, will be created a peer and become government leader in the House of Lords.

Meanwhile, India and Pakistan counted their dead last week, and perplexed leaders openly expressed fear of a war between the new dominions unless a solution could be found to halt raging communal fighting.

Mohandas Gandhi, outstanding exponent of non-violence, spoke out again during the week and warned of possible war. He said that if Moslem Pakistan "persisted in proved error" in her relations with Hindu India and attempted to minimize today's conditions, the alternative is war.

If there were no other way of securing justice from Pakistan, he said, the Indian Union Government would have to go to war to prove to Moslems the error of communal carnage.

No one wanted war because that way led to destruction. Gandhi said, but he could never advise anyone to put up with injustice. If all Hindus were annihilated for a just cause he would not mind.

Sardar Vallabhai Patel, India's home minister, added his voice to the talk of war. In an address to representatives of the Punjab states, he said mob attacks upon Hindu and Sikh refugees fleeing in great droves from Pakistan constituted "a direct challenge to the authority of our state—and no government will tolerate this for a moment".

There are millions of such homeless refugees huddled on both sides of the border awaiting protected transport to India. Cholera has broken out in some of the wanderers' camps, although it has officially been reported brought under control. Camp officials point to the filth and malnutrition in which tens of thousands live while making their marches and say it is a miracle there has been no frightful pestilence—but the danger is still there.

No it is not too early to order your CHRISTMAS CARDS as the earlier you order the better selection can be obtained. Some persons last year delayed ordering their cards and were disappointed when substitutions had to be made. We have again this year the 25 for $1.00 Personal Greeting Card line complete with envelopes. There is no better value than this and those people who have ordered these in previous years will vouch for this fact. There are ten designs to choose from which can be had in individual card design or as an assortment of the ten designs. Cards cannot be individually chosen for the assortment. Persons ordering and wanting cards sent to them by mail, please add 5c to cover postage. All orders are at the rate of 25 for $1.00 thus if 50 cards are required they would cost $2.00. A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE FRANK DELISLE

Saint Chrysostome has suffered a severe loss in the death, on Monday, Sept. 22nd., of Mr. Frank Delisle. Citizens who take a real enterest in all things which are a benfit to their community are only infrequently found and when such a one is called away by death, their place cannot be readily filled.

Mr. Frank Delisle gave of himself without stint to all activities which made for the benefit or general welfare of the community in which he lived. He was a strong believer in the possibilities of his village and organized a Board of Trade and became its first president as he felt that such an organization could, and would, be a great help in the bringing about that prosperity which he desired for the Citizens of the Village. He worked quite hard in this connection and had the satisfaction of knowing that his efforts to this end were being successfully consumated.

He was known in the Community also for his pains-taking efforts in giving Telephone service at the Saint Chrysostome Exchange. 27 years with the present Telephone Company, and the large attendance of both French and English at his funeral, attested to the high esteem in which he was held by the whole community.

Mr. Delisle had a wholesome philosophy of life, one that could with profit be held by us all. His interests in life were for his Church, his community and his home, and those who knew him well, found him ever active in putting his philosophy into practice.

The whole community is full of sympathy for the bereaved family, who will sadly miss him, but it will be a source of comfort to them to know that one of their own has meant so much to the community into which he was born and with whom he had spent the whole of his life.

The measure of a man's value in a community is not in that which he has succeeded in amassing from it, but by that which he has been able to do for it. Mr. Frank Delisle was a valuable citizen.

The Womens' Missionary Society of the United Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. T. J. Graham. The meeting opened with the usual worship service conducted by the President. A special program entitled "The Nations Get Together", was used and found most interesting. The main purpose of this program was to give some simple facts about the United Nations Organization, to underline Canada's important role in the organization, and to suggest ways in which individuals can strengthen the peace machinery. Various parts were taken by the members present. Plans were discussed in regard to the Autumn Thank-Offering Meeting. The hostess served delicious refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

CHURCH NOTES

Rally Day Service was observed by the United Church Congregation on Sunday morning when the program entitled "Crusading in our Church School" was used as the order of worship. The story "The Church of the Friendly Heart" was most acceptably given by the Superintendent, Mr. George Boyce, who also presented Master Russell Forget with a copy of the Hymnary for perfect Sunday School attendance for the past six months. Rev. W. W. Conrad gave the address. The offering is towards the purchase of a new boat for the Pacific Coast Mission and also to provide Christian Education in Canada and Overseas Mission Fields.

Beginning Sunday, Oct. 5th., the hour of service is changed for the winter months. Sunday School will meet at 1.30 and Church Service will be at 2.30 p.m.

Mother Braves Cement Incline, Fast Current, in Daring Rescue

WINS DOW AWARD

Mrs. JESSIE MAUDSLEY
OF LONDON, ONTARIO
saves life of 7-year-old boy

The two young boys had been wading in the shallow water of the Thames River at Cherry Avenue in London, Ontario, when the current caught them by surprise and carried them into mid-stream. One of the lads was able to fight his way safely back to the shallow water, but 7-year-old Bobbie Nestie was carried farther and farther away by the current.

WOMAN HEARS CRIES

Hearing the shouts of onlookers, Mrs. Maudsley, mother of two children, ran from her house to the river. By this time the boy had been swept almost 100 yards by the current. Mrs. Maudsley raced along the sidewalk, climbed through a fence and then, disregarding the risk to herself, scrambled down the 60-degree-angle cement embankment and leaped into the rapidly-flowing river. Within a few minutes she had reached the frantic youngster and dragged him safely to shore.

GALLANTRY RECOGNIZED

Due to the prompt and daring action of this brave Canadian mother, young Bobbie Nestie's life was saved. We are proud indeed to pay tribute to Mrs. Jessie Maudsley of London, Ontario, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

From her home near the embankment, Mrs. Maudsley heard the shouts of spectators. Immediately, she raced to the rescue of the drowning boy.

After an exhausting swim through the swift current of the Thames River, the brave woman managed to get the youngster safely to shore.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers.

Most of the members of the community school were present at the third meeting on Sept. 24th, because once again they anticipated a treat, with Mr. Corey Thompson as speaker. Mr. Thompson, well known as Uncle Troy, is a very busy man as he manages one radio station and also has his own radio programme. All this involves a great deal of work, so we feel indebted to him for coming once again to address our community school. Apart from the ease with which he handled his subject, one was fascinated by the smooth flow of language. He described the construction of a broadcasting station, and the staff employed, then the steps involved in presenting play or musical program.

Every minute of the day telephone calls are made to find out what type of program listeners enjoy. The present high being the thriller type of drama. Popular also is the programme made outside of the studio. For this a special type of tape is used, which, after broadcasting, can be wiped and used again.

During a holiday down Mexico way, Mr. Thompson visited many radio stations en route. While in New York he saw several television programs and predicts their general use in Canada within four or five years.

Lady Minister Preaches at St. Andrew's United Church

Miss Anne Graham, a student in her second year in the United Theological College in Montreal preached from the pulpit in St. Andrew's United Church Sunday morning. Miss Graham, who has a Master of Science degree from the McGill University, is the only woman student in Theology in Montreal, although there are a number of others in colleges across Canada.

A member of the Staff of Westmount High School for 6 years, Miss Graham left the teaching profession in June, 1946, and entered Divinity Hall the following October..

She has spent the past five months on a United Church Mission Field at Thurso, Que., where she will return as week-end pulpit supply for the winter months.

Miss Graham mentioned some of her experiences on her field and spoke especially of the roads over which she had travelled this summer, using her description to illustrate her sermon on the subject "I am the way."

She spoke of the characteristics of roads which would have led Jesus to call Himself "the way", calling attention to the fact that roads make the countryside clear to follow, that they join things together, that they are to be shared and that they are not always smooth.

She closed with an appeal to the congregation to look at the entrance to the Christian road and to enter and follow it with Christ as Companion and guide.

Miss Graham took her text from St. John Gospel 14-6.

RECIPES

Putting away the garden produce for winter requires considerable effort but keeping these vegetables in good condition is relatively easy, if a few simple rules are carefully followed.

Change in storage arrangement within the available space will make a great difference in the life and nutritive values of vegetables.

Temperature is important. Potatoes, if chilled below 35°F., will be sweet and waxy when cooked but will sprout and wilt if kept above 41°F., therefore they must be stored at between 36 and 46 degrees F. Other root vegetables such as beets, carrots, turnips and salsify, keep well if packed in sand and at temperatures between 33 and 38 degrees F.

Tomatoes picked when almost mature, yet green will keep for some time if they are free from insect injury or skin punctures and if they have not been touched by frost.

Hard and heavy heads of cabbage are in prime condition for storage. Left in the field too long the heads will burst and become too crisp or brittle, while heads cut when soft or immature will wilt badly.

Before placing in storage, outside leaves should be stripped off, as these interfere with ventilation which is one of the most important essentials in the storage of cabbage.

Cabbage heads should be well cooled before placing in storage.

One method of storing cabbage is to bring the heads into the storeroom with roots attached, and place these roots in moist sand on the floor with heads in an upright position as closely together as possible.

Another method is to cut the heads from the roots, leaving about two inches of shank attached, and place these trimmed heads on the side shelves of the storage with two tiers on each shelf.

A third method is to pile trimmed cabbage heads on the cellar floor in the form of a long pyramidical heap with a six or eight head base, and stack to one head at the top, extending pile to length desired.

Perfect heads of cauliflower may be stored for a considerable time by lifting each plant with root attached, leaves tied up over the head, and planting close together in moist sand or soil on the storage floor. If late plants are available they will keep in this manner until January or early in February.

It has been found that cauliflower cut slightly before reaching full maturity will keep better than fully matured heads.

Temperatures of 33 to 40 degrees F. have been found to be the most satisfactory for cauliflower. High temperatures cause the surface of the head to harden, turn brown, and become loose very quickly.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that those broken heads of cabbage, over-ripe cucumbers, slightly browned cauliflower and small green tomatoes that are not good enough to store will be perfect for pickles and Winter Salad is one that is excellent.

Winter Salad

3 cups chopped cabbage
3 cups chopped cauliflower
3 cups chopped ripe cucumber
3 cups chopped green tomatoes
3 cups chopped onion
2 cups chopped celery (optional)
1 cup salt
8 cups Cider Vinegar
1 cup flour
3 cups brown sugar
4 tablespoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon turmeric
1 teaspoon celery seed
2 cups cold water

Prepare vegetables by putting through the food chopper. Mix with salt and let stand over night. Cook 10 minutes stirring often. Drain well.

Bring vinegar to boiling. Mix all other ingredients to a smooth paste. Add slowly to hot vinegar, cook stirring until thickened. Mix well with vegetables, re-heat. Bottle while hot.

● Cleaning the toilet bowl isn't a stoop-and-scrub job any more! Just pour in Gillett's Lye—full strength—and flush. Brown stains disappear. Toilet bowl is gleaming white quicker than you can say "Gillett's is wonderful!"

Make Gillett's your handy helper for cleaning drains, cleaning greasy pans—all the dirty household jobs!

SHOWER FOR VERN. GRAHAM

On Saturday a very pretty shower was given at The Maples, home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hamilton, in honour of Miss Vernice Graham whost marriage is taking place shortly. The hostesses were Miss Wynita Hamilton and Mrs. Jack McAllister, bridal attendants of Miss Graham, and the guests included neighbours and relatives of the bride. Before the presentation a mock wedding ceremony was conducted, those taking part being: Miss Phyllis Nussey, Mrs. Bruce Hamilton, Miss Alice Kelly, Miss June McGerrigle, Mrs. R. Marshall and Mrs. Wilfred Bryson, with Miss Maud Parkinson at the piano. After this hilarious event, a pink and white trunk was delivered by willing porters to Miss Graham. The contents consisted of a great variety of mysterious parcels containing utensils and gadgets for the kitchen.

Delicious refreshments were served the hostesses. The tea-table, which was appropriately decorated in pink and white, was presided over by Mrs. George Graham and Mrs. James Angell.

Mrs. Stanley Elliott contributed to the pleasure of the evening with a number of piano-accordion solos. After Miss Graham had expressed her thanks for the delightful surprise and the many useful gifts, the party closed with the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" and "Auld Lang Syne".

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Purvis Hamilton and little daughter Beverly, of Huntingdon, and the Misses Alice Kelly, Annie Hamilton, and Janie and Jessie Norris of Montreal.

Howick

Howick United Church W.M.S.

A joint meeting of the Howick United Church W.M.S., the Evening Auxiliary and the C.G.I.T. was held on Thursday evening, Sept. 18th in the Howick United Church. Mrs. Edwin Knox presided and opened the meeting with prayer. The Roll Call was answered with a verse containing the word "Unity". At the conclusion of the business meeting, the Evening Auxiliary assembled in the church, having had their business meeting in the basement. The devotional was taken by the C.G.I.T. whose leader is Miss Catterson. Miss Jean Younie announced the hymns.

The Bible reading was read by Miss Evelyn Ness, and Miss Anita Chisholm gave a prayer. A story, entitled, "The Gold and Silver Shields", was read by Miss Margaret Ann Ness. It told how two Knights met by a shield, the Knight looking from the one side declared the shield to be silver, and the Knight on the other side, said it was gold. This dispute ended in a duel, where both Knights were wounded. A passing doctor stopped and applied healing ointment on the wounds. He reminded them that had they taken the trouble to look at both sides of the shield there would have been no quarrel. The Misses Evelyn Ness and Thyra McKell took up the offering. Beautiful violin selections were rendered by Mr. Golden, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Russell Stewart. The speakers for the evening were secured by the Evening Auxiliary. Mrs. Douglas Ness, President, introduced them, Mrs. Smith, R.N. of Montreal, and Miss Jacobs, R.N. of Travancore, India. Mrs. Smith spent three years nursing in five different mission hospitals. She related many different interesting experiences, how keenly the medical and missionary work was needed and how thankful those were who had been helped. The ambulance or truck in its daily travels for Roadside Service in one day treated about five hundred patients, mostly lepers.

She explained fully, the founding and growth of the Christian Medical College and Hospital at Vellore, India.

Miss Jacobs, R.N., a native of Travencore, India, and dressed in the Indian costume, spoke very fluently in English. She is, at present, in Montreal, taking a course at college, which will prepare her to be superintendent of the Hospital at Vellore, when she returns to India to teach Indian nurses. She told how difficult it is for an Indian girl of non-Christian family of good class to become a nurse due to the belief that the nursing profession was regarded as fit for only the lowest class. That is overcome in Christian districts and over four hundred Indian nurses have gone from the college at Vellore. Miss Jacobs said that in the hospitals the children are taught to read and write, and devotional periods are held for the patients. She felt that the gospel message reached many outsiders through patients of the hospitals. Thanks were extended to the speakers by Mrs. Roy Younie. Miss Cunningham, Treas. of Presbyterial, read very expressively a story entitled "Aunt Sue's Bible Day", taken from the Mission Band Book. The meeting closed with a hymn, followed by repeating in unison the Mizpah Benediction. A social half-hour was enjoyed when refreshments were served.

Howick

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Jane Elliott were Mr. and Mrs. K. Pearce.

The second meeting of the Community School was held on Thursday, Sept. 18, with a fair attendance.

Mrs. Gerald Roy presided over the womens' section. Miss Alice McEwan, dietician at Ogilvy's Store, Montreal, gave a most interesting talk. Mrs. Jas Stewart introduced the speaker, whose talk concerned buying of food, preparation, serving and other points. We were reminded to use our head to save our feet and some amusing examples were given. The need was stressed that children should be taught to like many foods then if they boarded or ate in restaurants they could always select a balanced meal from the menu. She found that her staff worked more efficiently when they ate a hearty breakfast and felt that such a breakfast was essential to all workers and school children.

Many questions were asked and information given about boxes for overseas. Mrs. Mattice thanked the speaker. The men were fortunate once again, to have as their speaker, Dr. Crampton from MacDonald College. His subject was Feed Problems of the Coming Winter. He advised early cutting of hay, before the blossom forms, to be used as ensilage prepared with molasses. Later in the season hay could be cured in the usual way. Commercial feeds cannot be obtained in quantity and are prohibitive in price. Numercus questions were asked and a lively discussion followed the address. Mr. P. D. MacArthur moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Crampton, and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Hometown Boy Meets Hometown Girl.—

To begin at the ending of a One Night Story—Major J. G. Rennie, M.L.A., and Lieut. Lillian Rankin, ex-Army and U.N.R.R.A. Nursing Sister, after attending a Grange meeting, recalled some events they witnessed in Europe.

Gil and Lil were school mates at Huntingdon Academy, both from Godmanchester. Their separate paths in the meantime have crossed and re-crossed, through the operation of world events. In Montreal, Briefing Officer Rennie, handed Lillian Rankin her papers for overseas. England, France, Italy were stepping stones in her progress towards war's end. Then U.N.R.R.A. claimed her services in Germany as Public Health Officer to institute the reconstruction programme. Confusion and no transportation. So to the O.C. of the British Occupation Force for a solution of the No. 1 problem—to get about a strange district the size of Huntingdon County.

Presto! the Commanding Officer was Major Rennie, a hometown boy. For half an hour I got an earful of some of the more lurid details of Occupation and Reconstruction, not to be mentioned in public addresses.

Before leaving for the meeting I grabbed a notebook and when I opened it found that it was the very one I used at a Grange meeting three months ago when Lillian Rankin was the guest speaker on the subject of UNRRA. Once again I drove with Lillian in her car to get the record of an address by Major Rennie, down in the same book.

European Episode

"A great many people are under the impression that a Displaced Person is an individual of no culture, no education and no consequence. A statement has been made that D.P's. represent the dregs of Europe. If this is the case", said J. G. Rennie, M.L.A. "I am happy to have known the dregs of Europe".

Major Rennie is in a position to know the facts. As Commanding Officer of a Unit in the British Army of Occupation responsible for two counties in Germany, he witnessed the good as well as the bad side of the situation. About 21,000 D.P.'s were in the area. People from outside Germany who had been conscripted to do forced labor by Hitler. When war ended they "down tools", and many proceeded to exercise revenge on the Germans.

"Picture what you would do yourselves given this opportunity, if your wives, husbands, children had been killed or tortured and homes destroyed. What is your reaction? To take revenge—and that is exactly what happened. These people were not at first law-abiding. They thought it was good clean fun to kill and rob the Germans. They did not think it sporting when we said: "You must not do these things".

"But British law and justice had arrived. We put these people into camps so that they could not make inroads upon the German population. Our responsibility was feeding, outfitting, maintenance of law and order, medical and hospital care and repatriation.

There were 7400 Italians all clamouring to get home, but delayed for months. Railway lines down and no motor transport. Such people are not easily kept quietly in camp. Sometimes we had to be a little forceful. 3,000 Russians, 28,000 Yugo-Slavs, some Poles. Then the so-called "Stateless" persons—those who had no home to go back to because their countries had been taken over and their return meant danger of further internment, even death.

At Potsdam it was enacted that no Displaced Person should be forced to return to his country of origin if he might be charged as a war criminal. Boards were set up to settle such cases and many thousands stayed in Germany. But this presented a long time responsibility. U.N.R.R.A. had done a marvelous job in establishing this work and maintenance of permanent residence required a complete change of policy. Better health arrangements, increased rations, more and better clothing, schools, theatre groups, shops and places for training. The organization that took this over did a splendid job.

"There are now schools complete from kindergarten to University affiliated with German Universities that confer degrees. Instruction is given by the resident Displaced Persons themselves. A great many of these men and women had a greater degree of education and culture than you and I have secured", declared Major Rennie. But still tragedy pursues these unfortunate people.

British authority has disappeared. U.N.R.R.A. has packed up and departed and now no organization of any consequence protects half a million helpless and starving people. It is not right to leave them in Central Europe. But where to find a permanent home for them".

"I have been asked if these people are potential Canadian citizens. The answer lies outside my jurisdiction. I have every confidence in the ability of the Government to make a wise decision. I do believe we would be well advised to screen them carefully in the hope we might find some potentially useful citizens—and we may find a large number".

Booster Night

This interesting address was given at the Booster Night meeting when Maple Leaf Grange held Open House. The visitors were welcomed by the Master, Andrew Elder and a varied and interesting programme presented by the Lecturer, Mrs. George Paul. Singing of "O Canada" and "God Bless America" was followed by a solo and guitar accompaniment by Harold Arthur.

Two delightful solos, "Clarissima" and "Little Brown Owl" were given by Mrs. Raymond Ross accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Conrad.

"Selling the Farm" was an amusing dialogue by the Lecturer of Westville Grange, Mrs. Riendeau and Wellington Rockhill. Malone Grange Young People presented a humorous pantomine, "The Lightkeeper's Daughter", directed by the Lecturer, Mrs. Lester Dumont. Mr. Harry Dear's recitation, "Mike's Donkey" was much appreciated.

Referring to the guest speaker's graphic description of Europe's condition, Mr. Roy Jarvis of Malone said: "We must realize our responsibilities. This Continent will be called upon to play its part in the near future and I have every confidence that your nation and mine will meet that challenge of a new day throughout the world".

Radio Broadcast

Mrs. Roy Jarvis said that Maple Leaf had achieved wide fame in the United States as the second Grange in Canada. Mrs. Jarvis announced that the regular Grange programme on October 18th, Saturday at 11 to 11.15 a.m. over WIGY, Malone, would feature members of Maple Leaf Grange. The Lecturer, Mrs. Geo. Paul, will speak on the subject of "The Grange as a Fraternity", and Miss Margaret Wilson of Glenelm, will be the soloist. This radio station may be heard between 149-50. It is possible to get better reception on short wave at 1.5.

Other guests of the Grange who were introduced and spoke briefly were Rev. John Douglas of Winnipeg, Mr. James E. Barrett, Secretary of County of Huntingdon, Mr. R. G. Stevens, Mayor of Dundee.

FARM NOTES

On the first of July 1937, D. M. Rowat and the late Mr. Steele of the Martin farm went to the farm of Andrew Rowat, near Ottawa, and brought back a pure-bred unregistered Jersey cow, one of the best on the farm. In July, 1947, seven descendants of this cow were sold to Archibald Rowat. Two others had been sold otherwise, so that from the original purchase of one cow, ten were sold in ten years which would appear to be a good record. Mr. Archibald Rowat, a few days later went to Richmond and brought back five registered Jersey calves purchased from a good herd there. He now has a herd of some 22 Jerseys. He and his son Watson are now owners of the James Bell farm on Trout River in Elgin. Archie and his two sons, Allan and Watson served overseas in the last war. Allan was in the Dieppe raid and Watson in the Normandy engagement.
