Few votes- but Gross victory

Westmount voters — those 2,511 persons out of 7,673 eligible — showed their confidence last Monday by putting Fred Gross in aldermanic seat No. 3 with a majority of 1,915 votes over his opponent in the race, Mrs. Renia Nilski.

Mr. Gross polled 2,213 votes in the 31 polls, versus Mrs. Nilski's 298.

Mrs. Nilski was defeated at every one of the polls, although she got some votes at all but one, poll No. 2 at the St. George Snowshoe Club.

A. W. D. Swan, returning officer for the election, said the poor turnout at the polls was probably due to the especially bad weather experienced throughout the day Monday.

Actually, there were only 130 less votes than in the 1960 municipal election.

Strict principles

Mr. Gross, accepting the fact that he had won the election, reiterated his stand that his sponsor, the Westmount Municipal Association, was run on strictly democratic principles.

"There's no pork-barrel politics here," he said.

Mrs. Nilski, gracefully admitting defeat, said, though, that the WMA "made a bogey" out of the fact that she was backed by the Westmount branch of the New Democratic Party.

This was the first time in the history of Westmount that a federal political party entered a candidate in a municipal election race.

"What possible harm could come out of 'one splinter person' on Westmount City Council?" she asked.

Mr. Gross obviously disagreed.

"To bring the socialist party into Westmount is ridiculous," he said.

"There were no real issues in this election," he added.

Vacancies on Westmount Council have, more or less, been traditionally filled by nominees of the Westmount Municipal Association, who go in by acclamation.

In 1960 two candidates were put up by the now-defunct Westmount Voters Association, but were soundly defeated by the WMA candidates, much like Mrs. Nilski was in this election.

Westmount was chartered 67 years ago and has had only four elections in that time, one in 1920, again in 1950, 1955 and 1960.

The last woman to run,

Mrs. Helena Reusing, was defeated in the 1960 election.

The seat Mr. Gross took was one vacated by Laird Boivard, who declined renomination due to pressure of private business. The other seat, No. 4, was given Peter M. McEntyre by acclamation. He replaced Frank B. Common, Jr., who also declined for the same reason as Mr. Boivard.

Although generally acknowledged as the best-run city in Canada, Westmount's voters have been notoriously disinterested in the running of Council, which has been often accused of conducting affairs in a realm of secrecy, as has the WMA.

Mr. Gross, though, Monday night denied these allegations and said there was nothing secret about these business meetings.

He then pledged himself to continue, as a member of Council, to contribute to the business-like way Westmount as a city is run.

Mrs. Nilski declined to make any commitments on whether she would seek election next year when two other seats will be up.

Next week's weather

January 20 to 27

By ERIC NEAL

Bright this fall moon week and really cold with persistent below zero temperatures nearly everywhere. Mainly sunny to start the week with strong winds and 2 to 4" of powder snow.

Easing a little in the middle of the week for morning fog, freezing drizzle and more snow, 5 to 7". Clearing and extremely cold again. This is the weather week we saw nearly 40°F below zero back in 1957.

Windy and still very cold to end of the week, even down to Florida. Stormy around the Great Lakes and along the border into the Maritimes. Ski conditions good.

Between you and me

The making of a president

By Margaret Aitken

One Christmas present has enthralled me ever since receiving it. Needless to say, the present was a book. Theodore White's "The Making of the President, 1960."

Mr. White is a 47-year-old novelist and reporter par excellence. Like so many U.S. writers his background includes a stint with Time Magazine (in the China bureau) and with the now defunct Colliers. What makes his latest book, which is described as "a narrative history of American politics in action," so fascinating is his sensitivity, his eye for detail, his complete lack of bias and his superb skill as a reporter.

The author begins his book with a chapter titled "Waiting" wherein the Kennedy family are gathered in their Cape Cod summer home at Hyannisport waiting for the 1960 election returns. Here is some of Mr. White's finest writing as he describes the tense moments of uncertainty and how John F. Kennedy reacted.

Those who thought

Then we are taken back to 1959 when seven men thought they could be presidential candidates and why.

First to declare himself was Hubert Humphrey, Democrat. His hopes of becoming a candidate for his party in the presidential election were frail but he decided to try anyway. Then came Stuart Symington, Democrat. He thought his chance was to be a compromise candidate when the big guns became deadlocked.

Lyndon B. Johnson, Democrat and now Vice President, relied on his strength in Congress. Another Democratic potential candidate was Adlai Stevenson, "willing yet unwilling to be President." And finally, there was John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Democrat. "On Jan. 2, 1960, to the surprise of no one, John F. Kennedy announced to the press that he, too, was a candidate for the President of the United States.

In the Republican arena only two giants emerged as potential candidates, Nelson Rockefeller Governor of N.Y. State, and Richard Nixon, Vice President of the U.S. In the end, after many polls and surveys across the nation, Mr. Rockefeller withdrew because he did not feel he could win over Mr. Nixon.

The famous debates

One of the most interesting of all chapters is on the TV debates which 70 million Americans saw. Undoubtedly a comparable number of Canadians saw those four debates, too.

The Republicans were especially keen to have the television debates, which would highlight what they had been preaching — namely, the brash immaturity of Kennedy. They did the opposite.

Mr. White's description of the day of the first TV debate is so vivid, you live through it yourself.

Kennedy and his brain trust spent the day battling questions back and forth. Nixon, on the other hand, went into solitude with his wife. Still suffering from a painful knee, which had hospitalized him for a time, he was tired and tense. He arrived at the TV studio "white and pasty" having just knocked that same knee a nasty crack against the automobile door.

Kennedy came out of the first debate with colors flying; the Vice President came off poorly, very poorly. . . . "And in 1960 television had won the nation away from sound to images and that was that."

Mr. White has written a magnificent book which will live long after him.

Talented youngsters make their TV debut

By MAURICE MARIASINE

The Unity Rockettes, the Break-a-way ensemble, Hawaiian dancer Judy Matthews and three-year-old Lindsay Johnston, all members of the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade, made their television debut on Channel 12 last week on the Junior Talent Show, the first of a series which will run for 13 weeks.

Other performers from the Unity Talent Parade who have been auditioned and will appear in subsequent shows include: Matthew Velli, Ricky Johnston and George Luker. The Rockettes and Lindsay Johnston appeared as special guests. It is expected that other Unity acts will be featured as the weeks roll by. They are: The Charleston Group, Earlane Fraser in a modern jazz number, Diane Cahill in an Afro-Cuban dance production.

Last Wednesday evening, the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade presented a two-hour variety show for the patients of the St. Anne's Hospital in St. Anne de Bellevue. On February 7, the group will travel to St. Vincent de Paul, to perform for the inmates of the Federal Training Centre.

In the meantime, rehearsals and auditions continue every Tuesday evening at the Club under the direction of Musical Director Fred Johnston, dance instructor Danny Smith and stage manager Louana Amirault. A local boy, Lee Bryant, was auditioned last week, and will join the group in the not too distant future.

JET FLIGHT OUTING PLANNED

Fifteen boys, from 10 to 14 years-of-age, will be selected to join another 45 boys from the other MBA affiliated Clubs, for an exciting flight in a jet aircraft on Saturday, February 3. Full details are not available at the moment; however, it is expected that the program for the day will include: a conducted tour and a special luncheon as well as an hour-long flight.

Club members interested are asked to register with Jacques McCormack at the Club. Members of Unity's Model Aircraft Group will receive first consideration for eligibility.

MAJORETTES TO MAKE DEBUT

The Unity Majorettes will make their debut as a performing group on Sunday, January 28, at the Yvan Coult Institute during the half time interval of a Can-Am Basketball Tournament game. The girls have been working diligently for the year under the capable direction of Carole Gill and Margaret Smythe, former Alouette Majorettes.

The group will be smartly dressed in Unity colors, blue and gold. The Unity Majorettes consist of the following: Anne Marie Williams, captain; Sharon Crothers, Cheryl Hogan, Geraldine Galley, Rosaleen Mullen, Susan Warren, Sharon Molloy, Marie Gallant, Marlene Doherty, Sylvia McManus, Linda McCrea, Lise Boulanger and Judy Mackereth.

Of all the heavyweight boxing champions in history, Rocky Marciano had the best knockout record, scoring 43 knockouts in 49 bouts.

PLATE N'PENNY: Westmount members of the Kiwanis Club of Montreal got together last Saturday to give the seventh annual campaign a boost. The idea is to get motorists to contribute in pennies the sum of all the digits on their 1961 licence plates. For example, 999-999 would cost 54 cents. In addition, the old plates will be sold by the club for aluminum scrap and proceeds will help welfare services for needy and crippled children. Those shown here are R. M. ## Diefenbaker for Temple gathering

The Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, Prime Minister of Canada, will be guest of honor and speaker at the Temple Brotherhood Dinner Meeting, Wednesday evening, February 14 at 6.45 p.m.

"Every Brotherhood and Temple Member is requested to bring a non-Jewish friend as guest," a spokesman told The Examiner. "Those who reserve first will be accommodated accordingly and all seats at dinner tables must be reserved and names of guests indicated," he added.

"For the past 35 years the Temple Emanu-El Men's Club has sponsored annually in observance of Brotherhood Month these dinner meetings between Catholics, Jews and Protestants in the cause of better understanding," he said.

The name is still Fred

"The name is Fred," new Westmount City Councillor F. W. Gross said with a broad smile as he accepted the congratulations of his supporters when the official result of the by-election for seat number 3 on the council became known, shortly after 9 p.m. on Monday.

Mr. Gross had just soundly beaten Mrs. Renia Nilski, his sole opponent for the aldermanic seat.

Scoring those who wished to bring a 'socialist' party into the city, he declared that there are no partisan politics in Westmount.

"It is gratifying to know that I have the support of the electors," he added.

"I feel that it was a good battle, but right now I am very deflated," defeated candidate Mrs. Nilski said. She was backed by the New Democratic Party.

A good fight

Accepting defeat philosophically, Mrs. Nilski said the whole thing was a salutary experience for her.

Her five children were very disappointed she was not elected, the youthful-looking mother said. "But my husband was really glad I didn't get it," she laughed.

"I was surprised at how well-organized the elections were, considering how rarely they are held in Westmount," she commented. "I was interested to notice the scrutineers were paid for their services."

Mrs. Nilski believes the council should have a broader representation, and felt her presence on the council would have been of value if only as a dissenting voice.

"But people were scared of the 'bogey' of the new party in Westmount," she said.

"What is really needed is a broader outlook on the social needs of the community," she said, "and broader representation."

70 percent missing

Approximately 70 per cent of Westmount residents did not vote, though they were eligible to have their say at the polls.

"If only the middle and lower classes had voted, perhaps we would have known who the people really wanted — there is no way of knowing how 70% of the population would have voted," said Mrs. Nilski.

"As soon as we saw the kind of people, from the upper echelons of Westmount who were casting their vote, we knew we didn't have a chance," she said smiling.

Perhaps a longer and better-publicized campaign would be in order should she decide to run again, was another opinion voiced by Mrs. Nilski.

"Westmount people need a little more prodding," she explained, "those we phoned were interested in the issues but in a passive sort of way."

She conceded, however, that civic affairs in Westmount are not "so bad," but she wondered what possible harm she as a representative of another group on city council could have done.

But, as one WMA member who was leaving Victoria Hall, the scene of the final count-down, remarked, "Well, that's that!"

THE SEPARATISTS

In the Province of Quebec that old bugbear Secession of the Province from the rest of Canada has appeared once again with a new "separatist" movement. It is hardly likely that this will succeed for it involves far too much than just this province going off on its own to look after itself. However, the move is on foot . . . — Huntingdon (Que.) ### PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR TO ALL

'Twas the day after Christmas
 And all through the store
 What a sight did confront me
 When I opened the door.
 There were footprints of doggies
 There were footprints of boys
 The shelves were all empty
 We'd sold all the toys.
 It's nice to have Christmas
 It's nice to be busy
 But the day after Christmas
 Sure made me dizzy.
 But now it's all over
 We've had our good cheer
 And are now looking forward
 To a Prosperous New Year.

WE SAY YOU SAY

Westmount's voters showed good sense

CONGRATULATIONS, Mr. Gross, on your victory in the election and your ascent to Westmount City Council.

And congratulations, Westmount voters, for your good sense in forbidding a federal political party on your municipal level.

It was a wise decision.

But shame, those 70 per cent of eligible voters who did not turn up at the polls.

Westmount is the best run city in Canada. This cannot be denied.

The citizens, though, have become their own victims of this efficiency of good government.

They stay away from council meetings; they stay away from the polls. They prefer to have their wishes made known through the executive of the Westmount Municipal Association.

But here there is still room for thought.

It would seem that the WMA executive would be better off to call more general meetings to hash over their problems, whatever they may be.

Perhaps too much is being done on this strict executive level.

But maybe Westmounters prefer it that way. Perhaps they don't want to be bothered with such details as the running of this city.

This must be the case. So many did not even bother to get out to the polls.

Those who did, showed again their confidence in their WMA by electing its candidate with an overwhelming majority.

And, as Mr. Gross said, there is no place in Westmount for a federal — or provincial — political party.

Defeated candidate thanks all voters

Sir: Before the recent electoral campaign is dead, buried and forgotten, may I say a sincere thank-you to a number of my Westmount co-citizens.

First, to the small and gallant band who were ready to give me their confidence and their vote. Here, I should like to include not only those who actually voted, but also those who would have done so, had the weather been a little kinder.

Secondly, a word of appreciation to all those who expressed their sense of democracy by going to the polls despite freezing rain and down-pour, whichever way they voted. Many of them may perhaps share some of my regret that nearly 70% of the Westmount voters failed to profit from this opportunity to make their wishes known.

Last, but not least of course, a very special thank-you goes to everyone who contributed hours of disinterested work on my behalf, before and during election day. I feel this generous contribution of time and effort (for which not a single dollar or cent was paid out) is not entirely wasted in defeat. The Council, as well as the Municipal Association, will doubtless benefit from some, at least, of the ideas we stressed in our campaign.

Please accept my best wishes for yourself, your family, and every other family in Westmount.

Your defeated candidate,
Renia Nilski

Christmas campaign went 'over the top'

Sir: Our Association would like to thank you for the publicity which was given to our 1961 Christmas Gift Campaign for the "Forgotten" Mental Patient.

Your co-operation has been invaluable, not only in helping us exceed our objective of gifts for the patients, but in stimulating the interest of the public of our Province in mental illness and in the promotion of mental health.

Such interest is vital if we are to succeed in our various education programs and you may rest assured that we fully appreciate the support you have given us in the past and which we hope you will give us in the future.

Paul-Marcel Gélinas,

I SAY

Although Rodger Pickeldorf insists that the pun is the lowest form of wit, he was quite taken with a motto published by those staunch men who have the task of painting the rear end of mischievous bears in the Banff National Park. The motto: "To leave no stern untuned!"

Some reflections on living in the country
By Pierre Berton

I LOOKED OUT from my bedroom window a few mornings ago and got one of those small bonuses, which are granted occasionally, like free coupons in a Lucky Pop, to those of us who live in the country:

The world that morning was chalk white, like a high-key photograph, each pointed cedar in our valley tipped with frost, each apple tree in the wild orchard etched in alabaster against the pale blue of the sky. A spectral mist rose delicately from the ashen ground through the white trees; nothing else moved. It is on mornings like these, I thought that one has no regrets about the rural life.

I have been living in the country for almost 11 years and I cannot conceive of any situation that would make me dwell again in the city.

"But that terrible drive!" my friends are always saying. "Twenty-five miles, twice a day! I don't know how you do it."

I do it gratefully, for I consider it a boon to be locked up in a car for two hours every day, alone with my thoughts, safe from the insistent knock on the door and the unremitting jangle of the telephone. For much of this time I pass through a rolling countryside which is never the same one day to the next. When one lives long in the country one becomes alert to the changes of nature, and so the wayside seems always to be alive. The first russet tinge on the gray limbs of the apple trees, the first glow on the red ozier, the first yellowing of the willow branches, all these are observed and noted and compared with previous seasons. One can tell almost to the day when the blue chicory will flower in the ditches, or the sumac reach the sensual peak of its autumn scarlet. The sight of a red-tailed hawk on a treetop, or a catbird in the thicket sets up one's day. Even the frequency with which the jackrabbits bounce in front of the car or the field mice scurry from their grassy tunnels takes on significance, for these, too, have their cycles and the country dweller knows which years they are at their peaks and their ebbs.

Back to the soil

When I first moved to the country I announced in my naivete that I would have nothing whatsoever to do with the land. But when you live close to the soil, and all around you the glistening fields are being tilled and seeded, you cannot long resist the urge to create. A tree becomes as sacred as a wayside shrine after you have planted one or two of them; topsoil becomes more precious than any treasure; composte, which has been the subject of endless comic essays, takes on a truly mystic quality.

We throw nothing away in our house which can be returned to the black earth. Dead leaves and old grass cuttings, the discarded tops of frost-killed annuals, kitchen refuse of all kinds (from coffee grounds to apple peelings), lumps of old sod, the carcasses of ground-hogs and rabbits — all these are piled in one corner of the lot and covered in earth and turned over every so often, until they assume the consistency of mush and are spread out, at last, to renew a tired plot that has had the sustenance drained from it. To this day I cannot pass a city garbage pail without flinching at the thought of all that potential plant food gone to waste.

I began gardening during my second summer in the country when I did not know a hyacinth from a tuberose. One learns by trial and error, like a Sunday will open and the fruit ripen when they are ready and not one moment sooner. Every amateur, when he begins, tends to plant things too large and too close together. He soon learns to plant them smaller and farther apart and to bide his time; they will grow.

At odds with elements

Before I lived in the country I was at odds with the elements. Snow and rain were my foes. I have long since learned to welcome them both. At the moment I have a pond slowly filling up and each heavy snowfall brings it that much closer to completion. As for the rain, there are summers when I have prayed for it. In the city where the plots are small and the gardens smaller, one can afford to water with a hose. In the country there is just too much space and you learn to leave the watering to nature. Thus, there is no sweeter music than the rumble of thunder on a hot summer's eve, and when the small rivulets of water stream across the cracked and wrinkled surface of the soil, like tears on an old man's cheeks, the heart leaps.

I would not recommend country life for all. Some people are urban to their fingertips, and the long silences that we experience in the night — the absolute absence of brake-squeal for instance — would only unnerve them. We cannot pop into the supermarket next door, for there is none — only a general store a mile or so away; nor is there a neighbor just across the fence: There is no fence, only a rolling expanse of pastureland dotted with small trees which will in time become big trees. But there is also a valley with a river winding through it, and a clump of pointed cedars and a wild orchard; and when they turn chalk-white, as they did one morning last week, and the ghost of a mist rises through them, soft as a maiden's breath, then I would not trade the country life for the fanciest penthouse on Park Avenue.

This week in Westmount

by Valentina Rahr

Last week a notice of motion was carried that at a subsequent meeting of the Westmount Council it is intended to move first reading of a by-law entitled "By-law concerning public safety and police and fire protection."

As usual members sitting on the council adhering to the traditional manner of looking after necessary changes, will go into these problems with thoroughness.

In fire protection there are many things that a citizen can do without calling on the fire department for advice. Training your family in what to do if fire breaks out is very important.

Plan and discuss especially with your children definite ways of getting out of the various rooms in the house. The most dangerous area is usually on the upper floor. Stairways may become impassable. Roofs of porches or attached garages may be reached by climbing out of a window. In some instances an escape ladder is a good means of exit.

For the basement you could suggest standing on a chair, table or wooden box to effect an exit by the basement window. Alternate escape routes are very important and should be planned by parents ahead of time.

You can have fun by practising a fire drill at home and placing your children in different parts of the house to see whether they would remember how to get out, in case of fire. You may even mark a likely place as the "blaze" and retreat from there.

If you are away leave address and phone number where you may be reached with baby sitter — and don't forget written instructions on how to get out of the house. The rewards for the time and care put into this drill are as we all know — priceless.

Located on Pine avenue west, the new health restoring project will be equipped with toys, sand boxes, a garden, books, and outdoor and indoor attractions to help youngsters forget their harrowing experience of a long illness . . . Westmount Armoury training a second batch of men from 18 to 25, recruited from firms, in civil defense to be prepared for any national emergency. These chipper youths stroll along St. Catherine street early in the morning whistling and enjoying the brisk cold Canadian winter morning air, and then pitch in at the armoury to train in all types of rescue from bailing people out of damaged buildings, lowering patients from windows in case of fire, shoring up weakening walls, and on the spot first aid. Voluntary recruits are welcome for these courses lasting six weeks each, and the next two courses will commence as soon as the present one is completed. Men ranging in ages from 18 to 51 are welcome. Just contact the Westmount Armoury for further information, at WE. 3-3362.

High School carnival set for Lake Placid

The 19th annual Lake Placid High School Winter Carnival will be held February 1-2-3 this year with events scheduled that will include skiing, skating, ski jumping, hockey games, with 400 or more participants from all over the State of New York.

Great excitement prevails within the Lake Placid High School as the campaign to choose a King and Queen generates all the excitement of a big city political campaign.

Hockey teams will be the first to arrive in town for the A. & B. Tournament that will open Thursday, February 1 with afternoon and evening games in the Olympic Arena winding up on Saturday evening. Five Class A Teams have been entered from Clinton, Potsdam, Massena, Canton and Lake Placid. The Class B teams are from Alexandria Bay, Salmon River, Manilus and Norwood-Norfolk.

General chairman Bob Connelly has received entries from 137 skiers from schools as far away as Richfield Springs, Johnstown and Albany. The Lake Placid Ski Club will assist the school in the organization of these events.

School ski jump

The 40-meter ski jump on the high school grounds will be used for the Saturday afternoon competition which provides fine vantage points for spectators. The hill is floodlit for night practice sessions.

The Saturday night dance with the King and Queen presiding is the highlight of the three day Winter Carnival. This event was photographed by LIFE Magazine last year. The parade through town to the ice palace is usually great fun and this year will pass a whole series of figures carved from snow and ice by the students in a special contest.

"Somewhere Winter is Fun" is an advertising slogan being used this year by an International air carrier. It is a term that certainly can be applied to Lake Placid during the annual High School Winter Carnival.

'Mikado' casting complete

For its 23rd annual production, The Montreal West Operatic Society will present one of the most popular of all Gilbert and Sullivan productions, The "Mikado". Under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris, formerly of The D'Orly Carte Company, this delightful operetta will be staged for four performances in the month of April at the West Hill High School auditorium.

Notwithstanding the recent release of all restrictions on performance rights of the Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, lovers of traditional G. and S. will be treated to the usual authentic production given in true Savoyard manner. The

Ice Follies promises big show

Ten lavish production numbers and internationally-famous skating stars are featured in the 26th annual edition of Shipstads and Johnson's "Ice Follies of 1962" which will open at the Forum Sunday, February 4 for a limited eight-day engagement.

Richard Dwyer, Carol Caverly, Ina Bauer from Germany, Janet Champion, Lee Carroll, Barbara Myers and Montrealer Jean Wrigley are among the featured performers in a cast of 167.

The productions are set in a variety of locales ranging from a canal scene in Venice to an old-time baseball game, a visit to the Indians' Happy Hunting Ground and a gay circus number.

Comedy, as usual, plays a prominent part in the two-and-a-half hour show. Veteran Mr. Frick, the zany Scarecrows, Wall & Dova, the acrobatic Kermond Brothers and the animal act team of Sears and Cooper are among the comedians. Also featured are: Donald and Andrée Jacoby, three-time winners of the U.S. dance championship; the synchronized pair team of Frank Carroll and Betty Jean Clark; the Beattys; Dusseau and Doris and the talented Meldrum Twins, Marlene and Margaret, from Saskatoon.

"Amore d'Italia," the opening Venetian production, is set in vivid hues of orange and red and establishes the pattern for the symphony of colors in the 47 original costumes created by Rennie, internationally-famous Hollywood designer.

Graceful Barbara Myers is featured as La Contessa and teen-aged Janet Champion as a court jester in this beautiful presentation. Ina Bauer, attractive 20-year-old redhead from Krefeld, Germany, displays a sensational free skating style. Miss Bauer is one of Europe's fastest rising film stars. She recently returned from Germany where she made her second motion picture. She is spotlighted in a captivating winter scene climaxed by a 40-second "snowfall" in this coming edition of the "Ice Follies."

"INCH OF CANDLE"

Candle auction, or sale by "inch of candle" was a phrase used in England and the American colonies to designate a public auction at which persons were permitted to bid until a small piece of candle burned out.

Montreal West Operatic Society has always followed to the letter every traditional detail.

Rehearsal have been under way since October and casting of principals is now complete. Once again, a substantial donation will be made by the Society out of income from ticket sales to support the Cardio Vascular Department of The Montreal Children's Hospital.

Something new and better

By Giveon Cornfield

This is the time of year when newsreels and magazines look back on the past year and point out the highlights. The hi fi industry, however, looks ever ahead, with many new devotees and an increased field of products to satisfy the consumers' insatiable appetite for something new and better. While no major breakthroughs have been reported (nor, for that matter, are they very likely to be), there have been some very interesting developments.

35 mm. tapes

Several record companies have introduced a new recording technique, on 35 mm magnetic film tapes. This means that the sound is recorded on a wider track, more than twice as wide as conventional tape. The film is considerably thicker than tape, which means less danger of print through, and all this adds up to a better sound track—far louder than has been possible until now. In terms of listening pleasure this also means reduced surface hiss and a higher sound level on disc. Volume levels can be set lower, resulting in a cleaner sound.

The high and mighty, namely companies that until now have catered to the professional field or to the very wealthy hi fi fans only, are now taking a hard look at the working class, saleswise. Scott and Fisher, for example, were hallowed names that few could afford. Now these companies offer their exceptionally fine merchandise in kit form. Labor being one of the major factors, the kit enables the manufacturer to make a healthy slash at the price. FM tuners are pre-aligned, taking the guesswork out of this very critical stage.

Fine new tables

1961 was the year that Garrard introduced its new Type A laboratory series turntable. The new models feature a dynamically balanced and beautifully designed tone arm with adjustable sliding counterweight and a built-in calibrated scale, as well as a heavy 2 piece turntable, an improved motor, and all this at an extremely attractive and down to earth price. In changers, too, Garrard offers its new Autoslim model, the table that will "fit anywhere" (it should, the height is only 6 1/4") and the price is under $40. The Swiss firm Thorens have expanded their line and now offer a choice of four- or single-speed tables, featuring 3% variable speed control. The

Platter Matter

Some excellent discs in the vocal field, each recommended as tops in its own particular category.

London: The Art Of The Prima Donna. Joan Sutherland. A 4241. The presentation of an authoritative 16-aria program is a formidable task even for a seasoned soprano, but the dazzling performance of Australia's Joan Sutherland in this two-disc album removes any doubt one might have about her rightful place among the elite of operatic nightingales.

Miss Sutherland carries each number with poise and aplomb, using admirable control of range and tonal color, and superbly capturing the various moods in arias created by Bellini, Handel, Gounod, Mozart, Verdi, Thomas, Meyerbeer, Delibes, Rossini, and the rare 'The Soldier Tir'd' from Thomas Arne's Artaxerxes.

This is an interesting and ambitious album containing photos and biographical sketches of 16 great prima donnas of the past, in addition to Miss Sutherland.

Mention should also be made of the fine accompaniment complementing the artist, by the orchestra of the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, conducted by Francesco Molinari-Pradelli. An operatic feast!

Telefunken: The Voice Of Erna Sack. TH 97004. Collectors will welcome this reissue of one of the most unusual voices of our time, the fabulous soprano who could reach the C above high C with ease. Miss Sack also had the appropriate round tone for the Viennese music of Johann Strauss, and this disc includes her truly amazing pyrotechnics in 'The Voices Of Spring,' as well as 'The Blue Danube' and 'Roses From The South' by this composer.

We particularly enjoyed her in the 'Parla-Waltz' by Arditi and Silcher's 'Jubilate,' and on side two in an uninterrupted recital with the Berlin State Opera Chorus and Orchestra in ten great favorites such as: — 'Draussen In Sievering,' 'Under The Lime Tree,' 'Glowworm,' 'Zigeunerlied,' Toselli's 'Serenade,' 'I Give My Heart,' etc., etc.

London, Handel — Great Tenor Arias. Kenneth McKellar, Orchestra of the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, Sir Adrian Boult conducting. 5603. Another fine artist, particularly well-known to Montreal Scottish citizens is tenor Kenneth McKellar. Mr. McKellar shows his early operatic training to good advantage in a program of eight Handel arias, including the familiar 'Ombra mai fu' from Xerxes, 'Comfort ye, my people' and 'Every valley shall be exalted' from The Messiah, and 'Where'er you walk.' All beautifully sung in the best oratorical tradition.

Hussars Legion installs officers

A. J. Lepiez, 4310 Beaconsfield avenue, has been elected president for 1962 of the 6th Hussars Branch (Quebec No. 118) of the Royal Canadian Legion.

First vice-president was J. Lomasney; second vice-president, A. Howe; secretary-treasurer, J. W. Hardie; executive committee, J. Ostapuk, W. Gills, G. L. Jones, J. G. Black.

Sergeant at arms, W. Ball. C. Prestley and E. Round were the installing officers, J. G. Trimble is immediate past president.

Largest of the African antelopes is the eland, which grows as tall as six feet at the shoulders and often weighs 1,000 pounds.

Other products

The British made Richard Allen speakers are now offered in a complete range of prices and sizes that seem to me very reasonable. The highest priced item on the list is a full range three way system, featuring a 25-17,000 cps woofer, an 8" midrange unit and tweeter, with a matched crossover network, all for $88. Shure Brothers, of cartridge and microphone fame, have added two new cartridges to their catalogue, the M-33, that tracks at 1 gram, and the M-77, heir to the famous M7D tradition, but with improved performance. The Argos Co. boast a new line of ThinLine baffles with specially designed Jensen speakers that hang on the wall almost anywhere and are almost flat (3 1/2" is the slimmest model) — the answer to many a decorating problem.

These are but a few samples of the crop produced by the electronics industry over the past year, with the promise of more and better things to come.

Color photographers hold meet

The opening meeting in the New Year of the Montreal Photographic Club was held Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in King's School, 4740 Western avenue, opposite Roslyn avenue.

Henri Vautelet, a member, showed slides on "A Safari in East Africa." Mr. Vautelet is a Four Star Exhibitor of the Photographic Society of America.

Meetings consisting of workshops, slide competitions, lectures, outings, etc., are held most Tuesdays. This club, a member of the Color Photographic Association of Canada and the Photographic Society of America, is an informal group of amateurs, interested chiefly in color photography. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

THIS CONCERNS INCOME TAX SAVINGS and your financial security on retirement

Canadian taxpayers are permitted to contribute annually up to 10% of their earned income (to a maximum of $2500) to a registered Retirement Savings Plan and deduct this contribution from their taxable income for the year. All contributions to a registered plan made after the end of the taxation year and before February 28 are applicable to the taxation year. The benefits are substantial:

Annual Earned Income	Maximum Allowable Contribution	Your Tax Savings	Tax Savings as % of Contribution
$ 7,500	$ 750	$ 165	22%
10,000	1,000	260	26%
12,500	1,250	395	32%
15,000	1,500	570	38%
25,000	2,500	1,125	45%

Based on 1961 Income Tax Rates for married taxpayer with no dependents.

It is impossible to say with absolute certainty that any retirement savings plan established today will assure adequate purchasing power 20 or 30 years from now. If, however, historical evidence is an acceptable guide one must consider that surplus savings placed in a well managed Mutual Fund offer a good means of safeguarding your retirement income against the consequences of inflation.

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS

- SLOWED is preferred. A construction worker may be fired if he SLOWED up when a job was nearly finished, for it may be apparent that he is trying to stretch out the work. If he SHOWED up when it was nearly finished, he may have been ill.
- GUEST is favored. A social climber's GUEST may suffer a rebuff at a conservative resort, for her hostess is not likely to be able to do anything to gain her acceptance in charmed circles. QUEST is not as sure; a social climber's search for status may not be overt and no rebuff could be given.
- FACER, yes. A politician who is pressing for municipal reforms may find his plans held up by a FACER, or defeat, whether of only one FACET of his program or a greater portion.
- SWAT is the choice. A single SWAT, or blow, may cause two boys to become enemies, for inability to retaliate could cause the hurt one to nurse a deep grudge. A SPAT, or petty quarrel, need not even lead to temporary hard feelings. SCAT, SEAT and SLAT are remote.
- VERSE is better. A lampoon may best lend itself to repetition if it is VERSE, for a rhyme is more easily remembered than prose. No matter how TERSE, or concise, such a satire may be, it could still be difficult to remember and repeat without rhyme and meter to help.
- REIN, to be sure. A REIN, or curb, such as may be imposed by his doctor or parents, may keep a boy who has been ill from going out.

RAIN may not if he is free to do as he chooses.

- POKE is selected. There are times when even a good-natured person might resent a POKE, as when the nudge may distract him from something important. What distinguishes a good-natured person is his ability to take a JOKE, even when it is on himself. YOKE is vague.
- AMUSED is wanted. It could be a mistake for an ambitious young politician to have AMUSED an important office holder, for he may no longer be taken seriously, and his career could be in jeopardy. He is not likely to have ABUSED a member of his own party; he would reserve his abuse for its opponents who wouldn't help his career anyway.

21. TEARS is chosen. It may be best not to take a woman's TEARS seriously, for they be no more than an expression of sentimentality, or even joy. The mere expression of her FEARS may indicate that they are serious and well-founded. It would be up to her to take SEARS, or burrs, seriously. DEARS, as terms of endearment, is remote.

24. TAXIS, yes. A salesman may wish he could include

TAXIS on his expenses account, as to avoid public conveyances or to save his own car in getting around to his customers. TAXES is not as good; he can include any TAXES on bills that can properly be charged to his expense account.

DOWN

- SHOOTER is preferred. It may be best to show a little boy how to use a SHOOTER, as a toy gun, so he won't pinch his fingers in it or break it. Only practice will show him how to use a SCOOTER.
- WAVERING is chosen. His WAVERING might make a man seem undependable, for it could indicate a basic indecisiveness. His WAGERING may be on an insignificant scale and a matter of fun rather than compulsion.
- UNSEWN is the word. A careless girl may forget about an UNSEWN tear in a hem, whether it is UNSEEN or perfectly visible to everyone.
- TOTTER is favored. A host may be annoyed if one of his guests should TOTTER for it could be an indication of his having imbibed too freely. TITTER is less certain, for even a surreptitious laugh would indicate that some were having a good time.
- BANKER is favored. A producer may count on a BANKER to come to his rescue if he runs short of money, as when he may be able to offer collateral for a bank loan. A BACKER may have put all the money he had available into the show. BARKER is remote.

By Larry McInnis

Are Jewish and Irish people more patriotic than others, especially when it comes to using their national airlines?

Yes!

Although El Al, the Israeli airline, and Irish Air Lines are small, they had the highest average load factor on the North Atlantic route last summer.

Officials stated that a large number of their travellers were American Jews flying to Israel and American-Irish flying to Ireland for holidays.

Here's one for the books: Latest word is that the RAF and Royal Navy may be flying fighters of basically French design within the next few years.

Australia is already ordering French Mirage IIICs. Last year they turned down the F-104 in favor of this supersonic aircraft.

The plane is a Delta-winged aircraft that has high altitude characteristics at speeds in the vicinity of 1350 mph.

Still another model, the Mirage IIIV, is a straight-off-the-ground fighter.

Actual building of the aircraft would be done in England by English Electric, and the engines would be Rolls-Royce jets.

And still in England, a stainless steel aircraft called the T188 is supposed to make a test flight soon.

Of course, it was supposed

Baptism by immersion set for January 28

Negotiate from strength is the present world philosophy and so we build armies and stock pile atomic warheads. Dr. E. J. Bailey of Westmount Baptist Church will preach on "BE STRONG" on Sunday morning, and at night on "SING O EARTH", the Christian ministry of music.

The quarterly evening communion service will be held on Sunday night to accommodate those not able to attend the morning celebration of the ordinance of the Lord's Supper.

A service of baptism by immersion is planned for 11 a.m. on Sunday, January 28, when three candidates will pass through the waters as Christ did in the Jordan.

The mid-week service of the church will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m., continuing the Bible Study of the Book of Romans with "Human Achievement and Faith", led by the pastor.

The BYPU meets on Friday night in the Lower Hall of the church under David Gibson.

A network televised broadcast of the morning church service will be given on Sunday, February 18, over CBC-TV.

"What can the individual Christian do with regard to the unity of the church?"

Held as part of the world-wide observance of the Week of Prayer for January 18 to January 25, these services are backed by the World Council of Churches and by Unité Chrétienne who sponsor much of the Week of Prayer work.

Chairman of the interdenominational service of witness held recently at Trinity, Rev. George Moore of St. Luke's United Church said, "This service emphasizes unity and understanding among churches of different denominations. We pray for God's guidance for the year that lies ahead."

The Week of Prayer has become one of the most significant acts of the life of the church in Canada.

Demands of life can be resolved

How spiritual understanding will resolve the conflicting demands of life in the hurly-burly world of today, is to be set forth at the services in the Westmount and Montreal Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's lesson-sermon on the subject "Life".

Emphasizing the view that eternal life can be glimpsed right here and now, is the selection of this verse from John as the Golden Text: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Explanatory citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes."

The contest is open to girls in grades 10, 11 and 12 of all public and private schools in the Province of Quebec. The 1st prize is a $100.00 Canadian Savings Bond. The 2nd prize is $50. cash and 3rd prize is $25. cash. The 1st prize winner will receive a miniature silver cup and silver rose bowl to be displayed in their school for a year. The remaining finalists will each receive a silver spoon bearing the McGill Crest.

Semi-finals will be held January 23, at 1:30 p.m. in Westmount High School and January 24, at 1:30 p.m. in Outremont High School. Each High School in the Montreal area will send a representative. Judges will be Miss Ann Fraser, Mrs. B. M. Adair and Mrs. E. M. Gibaut - Municipal Regent of the IODE.

Regional contests are being held in schools from the St. Maurice Valley; District of Bedford; St. Francis Valley; Valleyfield and Saguenay - Lake St. John.

"Daisy" is derived from the Anglo-Saxon word and means "day's eye," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

MRS. JONATHON WOLFE, editor of the 10th edition of B'nai B'rith Womans Work Book, announces that the theme this year is "A Glimpse of the Arts". As in past years, this national publication will feature sections such as "Dining around the Clock", "News, Views and Cues", "Artistry Underfoot", "Calendar and Diary", "Your Child & Music", etc. The theme article is dedicated to the men and women who have fostered the numerous arts which enrich our lives. Presentation of this Book, to the public, will be made at a Donor Dinner which will take place on March 19 at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Women's Division to present awards

The presentation of awards for outstanding campaign services will highlight the annual meeting of the Women's Division of the Joint Campaign for Combined Jewish Appeal, United Israel Appeal and the Rescue and Survival Fund. This meeting will take place at a dessert luncheon on Tuesday at 1 p.m. in the Normandie Room of the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel. Mrs. Irvin Gertsman, chairman, will report on the record-breaking results attained by the Women's Division during the 1961 Joint Campaign.

Mrs. Jack A. Klein, a past chairman of the Women's Division, will serve as convener and chairman of the arrangements committee, assisted by Mesdames Gerald Caplan, Ralph Cummings, Ellis Leiter and George J. Streat.

The election and installation of officers for 1962 will take place during this meeting which is expected to attract some 200 women.

Dear Abby...

He'll be sorry!

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How do you pick a "best man" for a wedding? I always thought the best man should be the groom's best friend. My son grew up with a certain young man in this town, and those boys were like brothers. That fellow was in my home as much as he was in his own. He is getting married and I know my son felt hurt when he wasn't asked to be best man. The "bride" asked her fiance to ask her brother (whom he doesn't even KNOW) to be best man because he is six feet two and will look better in the bridal party than my son, who is five feet six. Can you beat that? I'd like your comments.

VERY VERY HURT
DEAR VERY: A man who lets his bride select his best man is starting down the aisle on the wrong foot. Look for a double-ring ceremony - one for HER finger, the other for HIS nose.

DEAR ABBY: The man I love is married to someone else - but not by choice. He has begged his wife for a divorce ever since he met me eight years ago, but she will not give in. She uses her children as her first line of defense. I would like to surprise him with a divorce as a gift, but don't know how to go about it. I have plenty of money for the lawyer, and am willing to pay whatever it costs to get this done in another state fast, without any public notices. In what state can I do this?

NO TIME TO WASTE
DEAR NO TIME: The only state in which a woman can "surprise" a married man with a divorce is the state of delirium. If you want to give him a present, why not give him something his whole family can enjoy? His freedom - from you!

DEAR ABBY: My problem is lending clothes to my girl friends. I am 16 and have very nice clothes, all bought for me by my very generous parents. A few months ago a girl asked me if she could wear one of my sweaters. I let her wear it. When she didn't bring it back, I asked her for it. She told me she had already given it back to me. (She didn't.) Another girl asked to wear my stiff petticoat. I let her, and then she told me she rang my door bell and no one answered, so she left it on the porch. (I never found it.) Now another girl wants to wear my car coat to a football game out of town. Should I punish this girl because the others were dishonest and tell her no? My parents refuse to replace what I've lost through lending.

TOO EASY
DEAR TOO EASY: Since you appear to have rather poor judgment in sizing up your "customers," you'd be wise to lend nothing. It's frequently the nice people who must suffer because the not-so-nice ones abuse friendships.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a young married couple who deliberately go out of their way to keep from having children because they "don't want to be bothered"? They are very frank in telling their friends that they enjoy their freedom and independence. When they are asked what they intend to do in their old age, they reply, "We'll spend our money on clothes and travel." I would like to know if you think this couple is cold and selfish because my husband and I are that couple. We fail to see any point in having children. They are nothing but hard work and misery.

BEING CAREFUL
DEAR BEING: Please continue to be "careful." Children born of such a union start life with a heavy burden.

The New Era

As sent from heaven, the age old dream of Peace,
So let our ancient wrongs and warrings cease,
We need strong men, to make the Nation great,
Who for their banner, blazon love, not hate.

Men who are builders, those who dare and do,
To make this heaven-sent dream of peace come true,
They need no sword, but honor, truth and love,
To make this world a place like that above.

— DOROTHY SPROULE

Jewish General Hospital Aux. re-elects Mrs. Bernard J. Lande

The annual report of the Jewish General Hospital Women's Auxiliary was presented recently at the Nurses' Residence. Mrs. Bernard Lande, Auxiliary president, said the Hospital had received contributions amounting to $1,000,000 from the Auxiliary since the group's inception and in 1961 $95,000 was disbursed throughout the hospital.

Expenditures in the WA's "life saving" department amounted to about $28,000 with the purchase of pressure point pads, respirators, drugs and oxygen, along with the provision of services of a social worker in the Tumor Clinic, special nursing care and ambulance transportation for indigent patients.

Along with 190 new members the Auxiliary also embarked on some new undertakings. It inaugurated a mobile library which operates in the wards two days weekly. Brith Catering Service came into being as a convenience for patients and a source of income for the hospital. In its first year the project realized over $3,000.

Another first in 1961 was the volunteer workshop, organized to interpret the role of the volunteer in the hospital. In accordance with its aim of education within the hospital, the Auxiliary also gave $5,000 to the general research fund, completing its pledge of $25,000.

As the new services began, an old one disappeared. The Nursery Fund was integrated with the Children's Chai Fund. To commemorate the closing of a chapter in Auxiliary history, funds remaining were used to purchase isolettes and special equipment for the Nursery Clinic.

The Canteen, which kept 126 workers busy, ended the year with a profit of $18,000. The Gift Shop, which completed its third year of operation in its new quarters, realized $15,000. In November, items available were displayed in a "Look Ahead Show" which also included an antique boutique. Proceeds from the Shop were divided between the general fund, the department of hematology and medical research fellowships.

The Outlet Shop in St. Laurent which employs a committee of over 30 volunteers had total receipts of $17,000, of which $10,000 was given to the psychiatric department.

Besides financial help the Auxiliary contributed many hours of voluntary effort. Six hundred and fifty volunteers gave a total of 60,000 hours to the Hospital. The WA also spent many hours planning and carrying out its Seventh Annual Blood Donor Clinic which broke previous records.

Other activities during the year, included the tribute fund, the diaper service, cradle pictures, a training program for volunteers and the publication four times during the year of the Auxiliary bulletin.

Sixty-five new patronesses were added to the ranks bringing the total of 1,047. Honorary Patroness is Madame Vanier.

Family appeal for Minor Hockey Week

"Don't send — take your boy to the arena." Minor Hockey Week's slogan will be enacted by fathers in hundreds of communities, from St. John's to Victoria, from Niagara Falls to Whitehorse, as some 200,000 Canadian youngsters take to the ice in organized minor hockey this year.

More and more fathers are taking their boys and staying to help coaches and league officials keep pace with the rapid growth of new or expanded leagues. Minor hockey officials, who are finding minor hockey to be a good training ground for character building and citizenship, can use more help. "Make Minor Hockey time, father and son time," is their creed. An important contribution to the character building aspect of minor hockey, and a proven incentive to good junior citizenship, is the Robin Hood Trophy, which is again being presented for competition during the current season. The creed, in addition to urging every boy to train and keep fit in order to play to his peak capacity, emphasises the important of good behavior at school, at home and in the community at large.

The world's first space fighter plane is expected to take to orbit within another nine years — and it will be British made.

The plane, backed by the Air Council and financed by the government, has already been blue-printed.

Actually, if successful, it would jump way ahead of work now being done by the U.S. and Russia on special aircraft to carry nuclear weapons.

The fighter would have a crew of three and would orbit the earth at an altitude of up to 500 miles for long periods of time. It would be capable of intercepting nuclear bomb-carrying satellites.

Furthermore, it will be vertical takeoff, so it can use any existing airfield.

New developments in the field of jets, especially ram jets, will make the plane possible. It would have rather conventional engines for normal flight, but would be boosted into orbit with ram jets.

A HELPING HAND could be given to young ski enthusiasts like these, if the plan masterminded by instructor Gordon Carter is approved by the Montreal City council. He has outlined a scheme that could bring dollar-a-day skiing to Montrealers, and turn the Mountain slopes into a booming winter sport resort. Gordon Carter is a qualified ski instructor, and a former sports director of the City of Dorval. Our shot shows him instructing some young children at his Gerry Snyder Ski School at Beaver Lake. ## New scheme to propose dollar-a-day skiing here

A scheme that will benefit ski fans in the Montreal area, and turn the slopes of the Mountain into a regular winter sport resort will be put before the Montreal City authorities shortly.

The plan, devised by well-known local sportsman Gordon Carter, is for a City run ski resort on the western slopes of the mountain, which could bring top class facilities to Montrealers at cheap rates.

"I think we could even offer top quality skiing at a dollar a day," Mr. Carter told Monitor this week.

A former sports director for the City of Dorval, a term he held for five years, Mr. Carter suggested that the City take over one of the western slopes and set up a regular ski school, with facilities for all sportsmen, from the learned to the expert.

"The school could be called 'The City of Montreal Ski School,'" he suggested, "and should be run by city officials."

Mr. Carter went on to suggest that the authorities should install a T-bar, chalet and restaurant at the summit, to attract enthusiasts.

"A good T-bar would cost maybe $40,000, and by the time they had erected the other facilities, the project would prove fairly expensive," he continued.

Cost refunded

"However, I feel that if they offered skiing at a dollar a day to the general public, and hired some good instructors, they could soon get back their money.

"People who hadn't either the time or the cash to go to the Lau-rentians to ski would soon flock to the mountain resort. This, remember, is a sport that is on the increase in popularity, and Canadians as a whole want to participate in their sports now-a-days, not just sit back and watch," he added.

"I think that the City should appoint a Director of Skiing, decide upon a site, and go the whole hog into the project," he said.

The plan has been forwarded to Councillor Snyder, who has suggested various minor improvements, and it will be presented to the City council shortly.

"I think the big advantage of the plan will be that it will provide Montrealers with good and cheap skiing. Many people who cannot afford to spend the sort of money needed to ski regularly in the Laurentians would welcome a chance for some sport locally," Mr. Carter said.

"If a good T-bar, a chalet, and a pro-shop were built, we could have some fine sport here, and help to establish Canada as one of the foremost ski countries."

rentians to ski would soon flock to the mountain resort. This, remember, is a sport that is on the increase in popularity, and Canadians as a whole want to participate in their sports now-a-days, not just sit back and watch," he added.

After leaving his post with the Dorval recreation department, Gordon Carter became sales manager in the sports store owned by Gerry Snyder, and became interested in skiing again, a sport he had loved as a young man.

Snyder school

"After a while, I became a qualified ski instructor, and took over the Gerry Snyder ski school at Beaver Lake, which then had six pupils," he recalled.

"The school now teaches about 100-120 students, and has several instructors on the staff," he added.

He is proud of the success of the school, and the fact that he has taught many adults.

"We have never had any accidents, and I was delighted recently, after we took a group of young skiers up to a Laurentian resort, to be congratulated on the politeness and good behavior of my pupils," he said.

Like Toronto

Getting back to the scheme, Mr. Carter pointed out that Toronto,

Unity sportsmen active

Three out of four Unity Basketball teams fared well in competition last week. The midget team divided a series with the Clark Street Sun winning at home and losing away. The Bibby Hoopsters defeated Negro Community Centre and the Senior "B" quintet defeated the Point St. Charles Boys' Club.

Spring training has started for the Little Leaguers. Head coach Manny Barnoff of Unity's baseball team, the Indians, is getting an early start... he has called practices for Saturday mornings. A selected group of boys will attend for special instruction.

Hockey and skating continues to attract large numbers at Staynor Park. Unity has entered a Bantam team in the Montreal League and is conducting a Pee Wee Hockey House League.

The Midget basketball team, currently being coached by Ed Washington, has a good chance of copping the Montreal title, if at full strength at every game. The team is as follows: Billy Standing, Hudson Alleyene, John Atherton, Arthur Driver, Truman Neilson, Douglas Norris, Robert McDonough and Blair Melancon.

Unity's Biddy Basketball cage squad under coach Ken Annable are: Lawrence Crouch, Roger Harte, Richard Atherton, Bradley Syvret, Steve Alleyene, Randolph Dash, Mattista Missori, Peter Fonseca, Jimmy Hotton, Maurice Tremblay, Edward Oxford, Blair Marshall, Brian Adams, Derek Gaucher, Andy Smith, Ronald Ryan and Charles Warren.

Curling playdowns announced

St. Leo's Academy will compete in the first round of the Montreal regional (city section) high school curling playdowns which will take place Saturday.

The Montreal region is divided into city and Lakeshore sections. The winner of each section will meet in a best-of-three playoff for the right to represent the region in the Provincial Championships at Arvida, Feb. 8-10.

A double knockout competition will be held in each section. The city and Lakeshore winners will play off Jan. 30 and Feb. 1 with a third game Feb. 2 if necessary.

Following is the draw for the city section.

Termite Wings suffer first loss as Municipal loops resume play

Activity in all categories resumed this week after a holiday lay-off in the City of Westmount Recreation Department Municipal Hockey Leagues.

In the Termite section, Wings lost their first game of the season bowing to the Regals by a 2-0 score. David Tunis and David Bryson scored for the winners, Robert McRae was credited with the shutout. The Regals are now tied for second place with the Beavers and Rams, Beavers having edged Bulldogs 2-1 as Rams blanked the Dukes 5-0. Beavers' scorers were Douglas Mitchell and Ernest Christmas, Drew Williamson got the Bulldog's goal. Ivor Black scored twice, Rickie Musto, Chris Tokarski and Paul Symons, singles for the Rams.

Crowns hold lead

In the Mosquito division Crowns remain on top with 8 points in 5 outings. Raiders and Cadets are tied for second with 6 apiece, while Dragons are winless in 5 starts, help is underway as Phil Lecouffe who is playing in the Pee Wee circuit but still of Mosquito age will rejoin his teammates to give them a life.

Results of the last Mosquito encounters showed Cadets defeating Dragons 2-0 on goals by Michael Clapham and Ian Purtil. Crowns had to come from behind a 2-0 deficit to tie Raiders 2 all. George Musto and Geoffrey Scott got Crowns' markers. Wayne Colomb and Brian Malloy tallied for the Raiders.

Pee Wee race tight

The six team Pee Wee League is well balanced with only 4 points separating the first and sixth place teams. In recent games, Bulls with doubles by Gordon Holland and Grant Sherriffs beat Guards 4-1, whose lone goal was scored by David Galt, while Brones managed a 3-2 win over the previously unbeaten Huskies. Jonathan Churcher, part-time goaler, scored a hat trick for the winners, Wayne Barrow and John Ojalammii scored for Huskies.

Owls and Vics played to a 4 all draw. Owls went into the third period with a 4-0 lead, Vics put on a spirited third period performance climaxed by the tying goal by Barry Josephson on a penalty shot, his second goal of the afternoon, Phil Lecouffe and David Beasant also scored for the Vics, Brian Hoffman with two, David Tanner and Paul Ono were the other Owls' scorers.

Red Wings take over

Red Wings have first place to themselves in the Bantam section, after they outplayed the Leafs who were also unbeaten, by a 5-3 margin, John Shayer got a triple for the Wings, Jon Pottel and John Donnelly rounded out the scoring, Roger Lefebvre blasted 2 from the blue line and Allan Ingram tipped in the third goal for the Leafs.

Bruins and Rangers tied 4 all in another Bantam Fixture. Billy McJannet was Rangers big man with 2 goals and 1 assist, Arthur Driver was top man for the Bruins with 1 goal and 1 assist.

Badgers who lead the Midget League with 2 wins and 2 ties in 4 games were held to a 3 all draw by the Spartans, Peter Brabant a durable and steady performer but seldom spectacular got his team's 3 goals, while J. D. Tilley scored twice for the Badgers, and Andre Camilli got the tying goal.

Red Smith on sport

Defence of the space cadets

Some years ago, the tenant in this literary flophouse had the happy experience of learning at first hand how a treed raccoon feels when the hunt has closed in and the hounds are circling, snapping, leaping, and yelping just below. It was during a World Series, not long after some admiring comments had appeared here regarding the ring-tailed wonders of radio and television who can perch on a cloud far above a ball park and confidently advise the listener that the shapeless blur he has just seen on his screen was a knee-high slider which just tickled the outside corner.

Far from appreciating this tribute, the masters of space were furious. They closed in at the bar in press headquarters, yapping that they could too tell a screwball from a knuckler at long range, even though the pitch might completely deceive the professional at bat, and it might be all the umpire could do to decide whether it was a strike or a ball.

It was fun facing that angry semi-circle and trying to placate them with a soft response: "What are you so sore about, fellows? I only called you a bunch of pretentious fakers."

Well, things have reached a pretty pass when this space is devoted to a defense of the space cadets of sports. Yet a magazine piece has come to attention which abuses the sportscasting clan so unfairly, with such unsightly disregard for truth, as to make martyrs of the victims and strip the criticism of validity.

Biting the hand

The piece appears in a magazine of the performing arts called "Show." It is entitled, "The Big Mouths," and carries the byline of Bill Davidson, a reformed hurdler from New York University, who served a hitch as ghost-writer for the great fictioneer of radio, Bill Stern. Naturally, the author pads out the indictment by blowing the whistle on his former boss, but even there, where he ought to be on firm ground, he disqualifies himself.

"One day," he writes, in an effort to illustrate Stern's renowned indifference to facts, "I decided to see just how far Stern would go. I made up the wildest cock-and-bull story my imagination could conceive. It was about a college track athlete who went to Finland to fight the Russians and defeated a whole battalion by throwing javelins with hand grenades tied to them.

"Then he was captured and escaped from the prison camp by pole-vaulting over the barbed-wire fence. He outran his pursuers (who were on skis) and just made it across the border into Sweden—after which he decided to become a priest. He taught philosophy and was track coach at an American Catholic college and rose to be a Cardinal in the Church.

"As I told this monumental series of lies, Stern became ecstatic, and I'm sure he would have used the concoction on the air. But when we came to the point where Stern ended most of his stories with the declamation: 'And that man is . . . the only name I could think of was that of Alfred Paea, who also did coolie labor for Stern. So that was the end of that.'"

All and sundry

Lord knows, there was ground for complaint when Stern was abusing the credulity of adolescent sports buffs across the land, but this chump thinks the way to do the job is to put himself away as a fraud whose brazen fabrications were too strong for even Stern's stomach.

In this book, there are precious few sportscasters with professional standards higher than those of a fourth-rate vaudeville ham on the old Pantages circuit, but when this self-confessed humbug singles out individuals for attack, he unerringly impugns them for faults that aren't theirs.

Thus he declares that after Walter O'Malley decided to move the Dodgers to Los Angeles, Vince Scully, the Brooklyn broadcaster, "went through an entire half-season in Ebbets Field without once mentioning to his public that the team would not be there the following spring." The fact is that Scully went through entire seasons without mentioning this, because O'Malley kept his plans to himself — and even denied repeatedly that he had a plan — until after the World Series.

Don Dumphy, the most honest and accurate reporter on the air, is accused of talking "about the power-laden left hook of an over-matched middleweight who does nothing but paw feebly with that appendage for ten rounds."

Yes, the prose is as rancid as that throughout.

Not a moment too soon

Out of 2,000 words or so, it isn't easy to pick out the most outrageous misstatement, half-truth, or unvarnished lie, but a personal favorite is this:

"The entire sports field has long been noted for its payola. Back in my Bill Stern days, I used to sit in the waiting room of Mike Jacob's old Twentieth Century Sporting Club and see some of the most respected sportswriters in town walk in and openly receive their weekly pay envelopes from the cashier's window."

This has got to be a bald lie, because sportswriters on the take aren't respected by anybody.

"I resigned my apprentice membership in the Sports Broadcasters' Association," the author concludes, implying that his ethical standards were the reason. This may have been a step in the right direction, but then he turned to writing.
