BRITISH PLAN TO CHECK COMMUNISTS

Allies Invite Germany To Conference To Consider Proposed Security Pact

ALLIED MINISTERS TO MEET GERMANS IN PACT DEBATE

To Hold Conference on Rhineland Security Pact

REACH DECISION

Premier Baldwin to Be Consulted on the Negotiations

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, hopes for Germany's entrance into the League of Nations, before the next session of the League Assembly, in 1926, he told journalists covering the League's activities at a luncheon this afternoon.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The Allies have definitely decided to invite Germany to conference for consideration of the proposed security pact, a British spokesman announced today.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The Allied Foreign Ministers, it was said in official quarters today, have practically decided to meet Foreign Ministers Stresemann, of Germany at Lausanne, about Sept. 25, as a preliminary to the conference of ministers, which will attempt to draft a Rhineland security pact.

SEEK AGREEMENT.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(A.P.) The British Foreign Secretary Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, and the French Foreign Minister, M. Briand, here for the League of Nations meetings, plan to motor to Aix-Les-Bains this afternoon, to consult with Premier Baldwin of Great Britain, regarding the security negotiations with Germany.

The statesmen will seek an agreement concerning the desirability of dispatching an invitation to Foreign Minister Stresemann, of Germany for a preliminary conference, to consider the proposed Rhineland pact.

Tonight or tomorrow, the British and French Ministers will consult with Foreign Minister Vandervelde, of Belgium, and Vittorio Scialoia, representing Italy, on the same subject.

STATESMEN MEET.

GENEVA, Sept. 8 — (U. P.)—Aix les Bains, ancient bath resort of France, is the latest spot selected by European statesmen to further their work on the proposed allied-German security pact.

Premier Painleve and Foreign Minister Briand of France, with Foreign Secretary Chamberlain of Great Britain motored this afternoon to the quaint town, there to consult with British Premier Baldwin on the pact problem.

The group now knows, but holds in secrecy the result of the deliberations of the legal experts of the Allies and Germany in London last week, which gives a foundation from which to proceed with the further construction of the pact. The agreement is intended to bring peace to Europe.

EXPECT MEIGHEN TO RAP PREMIER

Will Probably Sound Keynote for Conservative Speakers

OTTAWA, Sept. 8. — (C. P.)—Tomorrow afternoon, at Wingham, in the constituency of North Huron, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, will open his election campaign. Mr. Meighen's speech will, it is expected, be in the nature of a reply to many of the charges made by Premier Mackenzie King in his initial speech at Richmond Hill Saturday. It is thought, however, that the Conservative leader will do more than answer the charges of the Premier. He has declared that the Prime Minister lacks a policy on four of the major problems of the day. Mr. Meighen will, it is expected, indicate his policy on some, if not all, of these problems in a speech which will sound the key-note for the Conservative speakers throughout Canada.

Mr. Meighen will be accompanied by Senator G. D. Robertson, former Minister of Labor. From Wingham, the opposition leader and his party go to Bethany for another meeting the following day. Meetings are scheduled at Leamington and Amherstburg on Friday, and at Chatham on Saturday. Mr. Meighen will go to the Maritime Provinces next week.

SAYS LABOR AND CAPITAL SHOULD STAND TOGETHER

Havelock Wilson Urges Closer Relations Between Two Forces

AT CANADIAN CLUB

Makes Scornful Attack on Publicity-Seeking Labor Leaders

A strong plea for a better understanding between capital and labor was made by J. Havelock Wilson, president of the National Union of Seamen, when he addressed the members of the Canadian Club at the Windsor Hotel this afternoon on the industrial situation in Great Britain.

"It is what I started to fight for 50 years ago and what I am fighting for today," said Mr. Wilson. "Capital and labor have an affinity, there is a common interest between the two. Some people are foolish enough to say that the interests of capital and labor are not identical. That is sheer nonsense. Capital cannot make headway without labor, nor yet can labor make progress without capital."

It was this he had in view when negotating for his union with the shipowners, continued Mr. Wilson. In this connection he made the statement that he had a mandate from the members of the union to agree to the reduction in wages that has caused the disturbances in the shipping world.

In a scornful attack on labor leaders who sought all the publicity they could get out of labor disputes, Mr. Wilson told of the manner in which the negotiations with the shipowners were conducted. There was no bitter struggle, no brilliant speeches on the part of the labor leaders, but only men gathered round a table in an attempt to settle the question.

"There are some working men," said the speaker, "who like to applaud men ready to fight to any length, ready to carry on great struggles, who applaud brilliant speeches. I am not concerned about that.

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE.

"Speaking of the industrial situation in England Mr. Wilson said: "I was not always good natured. I remember a time when I was one of the hottest men in England. But I was a patriot. I always believed in my country and the British Empire, and what I started to fight for 50 years ago was a better relation between capital and labor.

"I have been trying to find a solution whereby the working man should have what he is entitled to and capital get all it is entitled to receive as a result of a combination of the two forces.

"For the last seven years in the Old Country I have been pleading for industrial peace. I would like the employers to have more faith and confidence in Trade Unions. I know some of you look with a degree of suspicion on labor unions, but I am not going to complain of that because I have seen for many years you have good ground not to have confidence. I have seen labor unions started very favorably, but as soon as they got power they lost their heads and tried to do impossibilities.

MEET AS FRIENDS

Wilson continued that he wanted unions to run on sensible lines, so that when disputes had to be settled representatives of capital and labor would meet as friends and not as enemies.

"At the present time in Great Britain I know of controversies that come on. Instead of settling these ordinary questions in a matter of two or three hours, these conferences are drawn out for two or three weeks, sometimes months."

The result was that trade was depressed as it had been in Great Britain this year by the threat of industrial trouble, so that the value of industrial shares had fallen disastrously in many cases.

"This is due to stupidity, instead of getting together and ending disputes in a few hours there are those who try and make a spectacular display.

Delegates were photographed going into the conference room, photographed again coming out, with a serious look on their faces. They have to be photographed at every angle of the game.

"Sailors may be stupid," said Mr. Wilson, amid laughter, "but by Heavens we have got past that part of the game."

After further references to the publicity given to such matters, Mr. Wilson went on to recount what had happened in the matter of the sailors' wages. They had received an advance of £1 last year, because trade seemed to be improving, but when the reverse happened and trade got worse a reduction was accepted. This did not suit the Reds, but the strike that had commenced was not a strike of seamen, he averred, but a strike of unemployed, aided by the Reds.

Among those present were: R. P. Jellett, president, in the chair; Walter Gower, Charles Jarman, Tom Moore, R. W. Reford, Ross Clarkson, J. M. Macdonnell, C. G. Howard, W. B. Scott, G. A. Morris, T. B. Macaulay, Col. W. I. Gear, Major P. A. Curry, Capt. Walsh, Major Thos. Robb, J. T. Foster, Gustave Francq, Carl Troisgas, Dr. Milton Hersey, Thos. W. Harvie, T. F. Tribey, A. O. Dawson, R. T. Henecker, R. B. Teakle, Emilien Daoust, Joe. Daoust.

MEIGHEN BLAMED FOR NATION'S LOSS IN IMMIGRATION

Premier King Declares Opposition Leader Made Untrue Statements

TALKS OF DEBT

Asks Who Conservative Chief Will Pick for Cabinet

EXETER, Ont., Sept. 8 — (Star Special by Own Correspondent.) —The Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, speaking here yesterday abandoned the measured utterances of his Richmond Hill speech, when he announced the dissolution of parliament and the date of election, and went after Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, and his party without stinting the similes, metaphors or adjectives. He wound up an exceedingly busy day by issuing a statement in which he attacked both Conservatives and Progressives alike, visioning reaction and worse in the former, and the "sinister hand of Toryism" in the presence of the latter in the political battle line.

The Prime Minister evidently intends to make it a fighting campaign insofar as harsh criticisms are concerned, and is apparently ready to "answer with busy pen the broadsides fired by his opponents. The speaking campaign, as at present outlined, indicates strenuous days. He will visit the smaller towns in Western and Eastern Ontario this week, and will then spend two weeks attempting to convince the people of the Maritime Provinces that the results of the provincial elections down there ought to have no bearing on Federal affairs. Thereafter, a return visit is planned for Ontario, ending with an invasion of the Western provinces, possibly as far as Edmonton. It is generally understood that the present Ontario tour is designed to strengthen the candidates in those constituencies where the helping hand is believed to be chiefly needed.

IS WELL STAGED.

The meeting here, like all Mr. King's meetings, was excellently stage-managed. The town was gaily decked with flags and huge banners bearing appropriate texts from the hand book made and provided for Liberal speakers were stretched between telephone poles. The civic reception in front of the town library was typical of all such occasions. Reeve W. D. Sanders, a Progressive partizan, made the speech of welcome. Mr. King replied with a sketch of the trials of the pioneers who settled in South Huron and paid deft compliments to their patriotism in wrestling a living from the wilderness, and in laying the foundation for unity. Subsequently he was introduced to Mrs. Charles (Gidley and Mrs. Edward Christie, who, 50 years ago, assisted in welcoming Hon. Alexander Mac-

QUEBEC READY FOR PRESENTATION

Hon. P. C. Larkin Will Present Shield Tomorrow Afternoon

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—(Star Special). —The Decors in which the ceremony which is to mark the official presentation of the Escutcheon returned to the City of Quebec by the Town of Hastings after 150 is to take place tomorrow afternoon has now been prepared and the Esplanade, a short distance from the monument, erected to the heroes of the South African war, promises to see a brilliant display.

Though, at present, under the custody of the Quebec City Council the Escutcheon will be returned to Hon. P. C. Larkin before the ceremony for the official presentation.

Major Samson will express the appreciation of the city and Rev. Abbe Camille Roy, rector of Laval, Rev. Canon Scott and Baron de Vitrolles French consul will speak on behalf of the various interests they represent.

MANY DRY AGENTS ARE DISCHARGED

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—G. J. Simmons, divisional prohibition chief, and 30 of his agents, were discharged this afternoon by district director Fred C. Baird. The director said the divisional chief and his men had ignored orders to report for duty over the week-end and Labor Day.

Nonchalant

As though his deed were all in a day's sport, Harrison Noel, above, scion of a wealthy and prominent family, posed for his photograph after, police say, he confessed to the abduction and kidnapping of Mary Daly, below, six, while she was at play near her home at Montclair, N.J.

NATIONS' LEAGUE REGISTERS PACTS

Nine Hundred International Treaties Recorded Since Organization

GERMANY SENT 30

Many Topics Covered in Wide Range of Agreements Deposited

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(U.P.) — Nine hundred international treaties have been registered with the League of Nations since its organization in 1920.

This fact developed today from the annual report of the League, which was placed in the hands of the assembly here. With this registration—and publication for inspection by the entire world—the League believes that a large step has been taken toward ending "secret diplomacy" which marched its darkened way through the world before the war of 1914-18.

In the last year alone, more than 250 treaties were registered, and the League has every reason to believe that its members are carefully following the requirement to list their treaties with the League.

Japan, however, has still to register her famous commercial treaty with Russia.

A number of non-League nations are registering their treaties with the League, for instance, Germany alone sent 30 agreements for registration.

America's liquor traffic treaties are all on file, registered by the second parties—Norway, England, Denmark, Sweden and Holland.

To publish all the treaties to date the League has had to issue 33 volumes of about 450 pages each, while private donations from the United States have made possible the placing of the treaties in public libraries throughout the world.

An example of the scope of the agreements made the past year may be seen from the partial list of topics covered—agreements regarding persons of unsound mind; arbitration and conciliation conventions; conventions concerning hunting and fishing; agreements concerning commerce and navigation; economic and financial treaties; treaties of peace and friendship; treaties regarding aerial navigation; telephonic, telegraphic and radio telegraphic conventions.

PREMIER KING IN ERINDALE RIDING

Large Number of Toronto Supporters to Attend Meeting

TORONTO, Sept. 8—(C.P.)—Premier Mackenzie King returned from South Western Ontario to the more central part of the province today in the course of his general election campaign. From Exeter yesterday he proceeded today to Erindale, 17 miles west of Toronto, to speak at a Liberal picnic gathering in support of W. R. P. Parker, Liberal candidate in Peel County.

A large contingent of Toronto supporters of the Mackenzie King Government and others proceeded to Erindale this afternoon to attend the meeting. In the House of Commons just dissolved, Sam Charters, Conservative, of Brampton, held the seat. Peel has for 25 years returned Conservative members to the Dominion House.

NEXT PARLIAMENT MEMBERS WILL BE INCREASED BY TEN

East Loses Two Seats and West Gains by Readjustment

MANY BY-ELECTIONS

Changes Brought About by Redistribution Effect in Rural Districts

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—(Star Special by Own Correspondent)—The parliament just dissolved numbers 235 members. The one that will be elected in its place will comprise 245, the difference being in sequence to the decennial readjustment that follows the census. The ten new seats all go to the West. The East loses two seats, Nova Scotia being the only one whose representation is reduced, but in Ontario several constituencies are wiped out and urban representation is correspondingly increased. In this way also Montreal gets another seat without disturbing the 65 seats for Quebec, which is a fixture by the terms of Confederation.

The late parliament was a curious combination. For four years a Government has carried on, whose majority by itself was only one, that is, if the Conservatives and Progressives had combined against it. In no instance, however, did this happen absolutely. A few times that condition of things was approached but a sufficiency of Progressives always lined up with the Government and saw it through. In the last session the majority on the most vital division was 35.

It is rather difficult to figure out the exact standing of parties because of the flucation of votes and the number in the House who cannot specifically be assigned to any category, but rather profess to exercise an independent vote. The standing, however, as commonly accepted, after the 1921 election, was Liberals, 118, Conservatives, 52, Progressives, 65.

FOUR VACANCIES.

At dissolution there were four vacancies in the House, St. John, New Brunswick, Compton, Quebec, West Middlesex and East Hastings.

Compton was a Liberal Seat, West Middlesex was Progressive and St. John and East Hastings were Conservative.

The standing of the parties at the end of Parliament was as follows:

	Lib.	Con.	Prog.	Labor
P. E. I.	4	..	..	..
N. S.	15	1	..	..
N. B.	4	5	1	..
Quebec	65	..	..	..
Ontario	24	35	21	..
Manitoba	2	..	12	1
Saskatchewan	1	..	15	..
Alberta	..	..	11	2
B. C.	3	7	2	1
Yukon	1	1	..	..

Grand Total—235.

MANY BY-ELECTIONS.

Since the general election in 1921 there have been 41 by-elections. Excluding from this the formal by-elections which were required after the selection of the Cabinet, none of whom was opposed, for re-election, the results were as follows:

Grenville, Ont.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative, elected by 1662, over A. K. Paterson.

Lanark, Ont.—R. F. Preston, Conservative, elected by 1449 majority over D. Findlay.

AMERICAN ROADS SEEKING INCREASE

U. S. Western Railways Want Five Per Cent Freight Rate Boost

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. — (U.P.) — Western railroads are entitled to the same measure of prosperity enjoyed by railroads of the East, L. E. Wettling, statistician, declared today in opening the fight of 73 western railroads for a five per cent increase in freight rates.

Wettling was the first witness presented by the western roads at a special hearing before Chairman Clyde B. Aitchison of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Eastern freight rates in 1924 had increased 76 per cent over 1911, Wettling said. Southern freight rates increased 37 per cent, while western rates rose only 29 per cent he testified.

"This very great discrepancy between percentages of increase in freight rates received by the eastern lines and by the western lines has resulted in the present low level of western railroad earnings, which jeopardizes the continuance and the maintenance of adequate system of transportation," he said.

"This is shown by the fact that in the calendar year 1924 only three western roads of systems earned a return of six per cent, or more upon their property investment; that only three roads of systems in that year earned a rate of return between five and six per cent, and that the average rate of return for the entire western district in 1924 was but 3.75 per cent. on the investment at the end of the year."

"Depressed rates," were blamed by Wettling for slimmer earnings in 1923 as compared with the average for the three years ended June 30, 1917. Eastern roads during 1923 earned $65,000,000 more. Southern roads' earnings were $39,000,000 more, but western roads' return decreased $34,000,000, his figures said.

MONTREALERS ARE RIGHT IN FORM

Miss Mackenzie and Miss McBride Defeat Opponents Easily

MISS VIRTUE WINS

Defeats Miss Evelyn Mills, York Downs, at Twentieth Hole

RIVERMEAD GOLF CLUB, Ottawa, Sept. 7. — (Star Special). — Bright skies faced the starters in the first round of the Canadian Ladies' Closed Golf Championship than had been their lot in the qualifying test; but the scoring conditions were not thought to be as favorable.

A brisk northerly breeze cut down the distance of the drives from the first tee, chilled hands and the necessity of extra sweaters and coats affecting the power of the shots.

Miss Eileen Kinsella, third in the medal round yesterday, amassed a lead of four holes going out against Mrs. Gavin Melroy, Royal Montreal, and the Country Club lady had added two more at the twelfth, being six up and six to go.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, the favorite for ultimate honors in the tourney, was responsible for the elimination of one of the Ottawa entrants defeating Mrs. D. P. Cruikshank, Royal Ottawa seven and six.

Miss Helen Paget, an Ottawa golfer who seems to have an excellent chance of reaching the semi-finals, refeated Miss Dorothy Page of Halifax, six and five after turning three up. Miss Paget won three of the next four holes to end the match.

Miss Molly McBride, of Beaconsfield, runner-up to Miss Cecil Leitch in 1921, defeated Mrs. D. A. Reid, of Thornhill, five and four.

In defeating Mrs. Cruickshank it latter developed that Miss Ada Mackenzie had really been in a most brilliant scoring streak, out in 38, her five holes coming home showed only one stroke off the men's par.

Miss MacKenzie's card

5 5 4 5 4 3 3 5 8—38
5 5 3 5 4 —

The close match which Mis Dora Virtue, Whitlock, and Miss Evelyn Mills, York Downs, gave promise of staging, lived up to all expectations. At the end of the round they were square the 19th was halved and Miss Virtue won the twenty in a well played five. Both were in the eighties for the eighteen holes and the golf was sound throughout.

Disappointment was expressed when Miss Virtue and Miss Mills were drawn together in the first round, representing as they do what is most promising in the younger school of Canadian golf, for their meeting brought about the sure elimination of one who was bound to prove an interesting figure in the championship.

Results of the first round of the championship flight follow:

Mrs. H. K. Pinhey, Royal Ottawa, defeated Mrs. M. K. Rowe, Toronto Golf, 3 and 2.

Miss Ada Mackenzie, Mississauga, defeated Mrs. W. P. Cruickshanks, Royal Ottawa, 7 and 6.

Mrs. Handsombody, Quebec, defeated Mrs. J. W. Ross, Beaconsfield, 2 up.

Miss Frances Sharpe, Royal Ottawa, defeated Miss Mary D. Doyle, Rivermead, 3 and 1.

Miss Molly McBride, Beaconsfield, defeated Mrs. D. A. Reid, Thornhill, 5 and 4.

Miss Kate Robertson, Beaconsfield, defeated Mrs. C. H. Carpenter, Rosedale, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Maude Ross, Royal Ottawa, defeated Mrs. C. C. Ronalds, Mount Bruno, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Sidney Jones, Toronto Golf, defeated Miss K. Chrystie, Lambton, on the 19th hole.

MONTREALERS TO GUELPH JAIL FARM

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—(C.P.)—Ernest Whittick, aged 23, 1747 Papineau street, Montreal, and Richard Rye, 340 Charlevois street, Montreal, both of whom a week ago pleaded guilty to robbing a chain grocery store here while armed, were sentenced by Magistrate Hopewell in police court this morning to a definite term of one year and a half in the Ontario Reformatory, with an indefinite term of two years less one day thereafter.

Whittick pleaded guilty with the Magistrate for his cousin, and stated that the latter only acted on his suggestion.

Government To Take Offensive By Order To Arrest Agitators

Action Of Home Office Presses Scotland Yard Into Service Of Rounding Up Communists —Aroused By Reports "Reds" Are Making Rapid Headway In Great Britain.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(A. P.)—In connection with the Government's reported intention to take action against Communist agitators in Great Britain, Scotland Yard today sent circulars to all police stations in the Metropolitan area, warning them to be in readiness for a window-smashing campaign organized by the Communists.

The campaign, it was stated, would be aimed chiefly against the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, and similar organizations.

LONDON, Sept. 8. — (A. P.)—Report has it that the British Government has taken the offensive to check increasing activities of Communists within its territories by ordering the arrest of agitators concerned in plots to spread propaganda among members of the army and navy.

The action of the Home Office, which has impressed Scotland Yard into the service of rounding up the Communists, is said to follow reports received during the past several weeks, that agitators have been making rapid headway in Great Britain, carrying on propaganda in army centres, particularly at Aldershot and in the navy yards and at shipping centres.

Yesterday at Rotherham, a band of Communists gathered in the public square with the purpose of insulting Princess Mary and her husband and the members of the royal party, accompanying the Princess, who inaugurated a hospital. The temerity of the Communists in working so openly, incensed the people who broke up their meeting, tore up the banners and chased them from the streets before the Princess arrived.

Scotland Yard Reported To Have Handed Out Evidence Of Alarming Spread Of Communist Work

Scotland Yard is reported to have handed the Home Secretary evidence of an alarming spread of Communist work since the late Labor Government of Ramsay MacDonald removed the restrictions against the entry of Russians into Great Britain. It also has informed the Home Office of a plan of the Communist party of Great Britain to commence next Saturday a week of special agitation in troop centres.

The national minority movement, which represents the most active element of the British Communists, and which includes Tom Mann and S. Saklatvala, member of Parliament, in its membership, also is to be the target for a Government attack, says the Daily Mail, principally because of the revolutionary speeches which the leaders of the movement are alleged to have made since the beginning of the present unofficial seamen's strike.

The Government up to the present, has not made any great attempt to round up Communists, despite alleged evidence against agitators in many sections of the country; it has not gone beyond increasing the restrictions against aliens. The Communists are declared to have had a hand in the shipping strike and the recent coal dispute, while the heads of the army are reported to have found thousands of pieces of literature that had been distributed in the army by Communist agents stationed at camps and depots.

Avowed Communists in recent speeches have not disguised the fact that their aim is a revolution by the working classes. Letters distributed among soldiers said:

"When occasion arises in the future and the armed forces are ordered to fire on their comrades they must know what to do and which way to fire. We will teach them this."

Saklatvala in a speech said: "The Union Jack is the symbol of enslaved labor. In the name of British labor I demand that the Union Jack shall cease to function. I say let us abolish the Union Jack."

Communist meeting are being held throughout the country daily, particularly in small towns and labor centres, and disturbances arising from them are frequent.

AROUSES STORM.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(B.U.P.)—The inclusion of Saklatavala, the Parsee Communist and member of the British House of Commons for North Battersea, a London division in the British delegation of the inter-parliamentary union conference which is about to visit Canada and the United States, has aroused the most bitter controversy here and the letter from Col. H. C. Woodcock, Conservative member for the Everton division of Liverpool, declining to accompany the delegation owing to Saklatavala's inclusion is printed with the greatest prominence in all London papers here this morning. In justification for his action, Col. Woodcock quotes from recent speeches of Saklatavala, among them being a statement that the British Empire is "made up of aristocratic and cunning dirty dogs who are willing to assail anyone's country at any time," and his cry, "let us abolish the Union Jack," which he describes as a symbol of slavery.

Col. Woodcock in his letter says that he served about 25 years as a loyal subject of the Sovereign and he would now be disloyal to those whom he served if he consented to be a fellow-delegate with "those whose loyalty and interests are opposed to this country."

Saklatavala, in reply, says that Woodcock's position is illogical since he agrees to sit in the House of Commons with him and the Communist asks: "Why does he not return to his own constituents and resign on the grounds that he cannot sit in the same house."

Other members of the delegation, like Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, Sir Henry Cowan and others share Woodcock's views and it is obvious that unless Saklatavala resigns there is going to be an exceedingly strained situation when the delegation crosses the Atlantic.

LABOR LAUGHS.

Sir Robert Horne has again pointed out that there are only one or two of any political eminence in the party and that there is a call for more representative men on the delegations. Labor leaders here laugh at the controversy, saying "Poor Saklatavala is a harmless little fellow. Why can't they leave him alone. Why can't they keep quiet instead of giving him all this prominence which he has never done anything to deserve."

Whether Saklatavala will be allowed to go on the delegation is problematical, however, because Scotland Yard has decided to take action against those who are spreading propagandist doctrine among the rank and file of the army and navy, and it is hinted that recent speeches of both Tom Mann and Saklatavla are being closely scrutinized to see if they are illegal and if this is so they will be arrested.

Joynson Hicks, the Home Secretary, being spurred on by Rothermere has decided to act against the Reds and there are likely to be plenty of sensations if Scotland Yard's present plans materialize.

OTTAWA PARTY IN MOTOR SMASH

ARNPRIOR, Sept. 8—(C. P.)—Returning from attending a Lutheran congress in Pembroke, a party of 24 Ottawans had a narrow escape when the Cadillac truck in which they were driving sideswiped a motor car driven by John Moran of Arnprior about four miles east of here on the Ottawa-Pembroke highway early this morning.

Rev. L. J. Ebinger, of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Ottawa; Mrs. Max Shane, and Miss Patsy Stewart received a bad shake-up, as did several other members of the party.

HON G. N. GORDON TAKES OVER POST

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—Hon. George N. Gordon, formerly Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, was sworn in as a member of the Privy Council yesterday in the presence of His Excellency Lord Byng, and became Minister of Immigration and Colonization in the present Government. Mr. Gordon, after a brief conference with several of the members of the staff of the Department of Immigration, left for Toronto, where he will join Premier King.

KING'S SECRETARY MADE REGISTRAR

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—It was stated officially last night that F. A. McGregor, who for 11 years has been private secretary to W. L. Mackenzie King, has been appointed registrar under the Combines Investigations Act in the Department of Labor. Mr. McGregor has been associated with Mr. King while with the Rockefeller Foundation, while the leader of the Opposition and since 1921 while Prime Minister. Mr. L. C. Moyer, a member of Premier King's staff for the past three years, will, it is understood, be appointed secretary to the Prime Minister. Mr. McGregor will commence his new work at once.

Little Miss Brenda Reynolds, niece of the bride, will be the flower girl. Mr. F. A. Bussieres will act as witness for his son, and the ushers are Mr. Clive Mathewson, Mr. John L. O'Brien, Dr. Gerald Rankin and Mr. Jack Cuddy.

McIntyre—Gow.

The wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, September 5th, at five o'clock, at Mount Royal Avenue United Church, of Marion Wilson, eldest daughter of Mrs. M. Gow, to Mr. Edwin Earl McIntyre, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McIntyre, of Montreal. The Rev. Telesphore Roy performed the ceremony. The church was prettily decorated by the Ladies Aid Society with autumn flowers and ferns, the bridal party standing under a white canopy of ribbon from the centre of which hung a large white wedding bell. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. John Gow, wore a gown of white georgette trimmed with lace and satin ribbon. Her tulle veil was worn in cap effect with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by Miss Mary Pearce as maid of honor, and by her sister, Miss Helen Gow, as bridesmaid wearing dresses made alike, the former in pale blue georgette and the latter in orange georgette trimmed with cream lace. They wore coats of georgette and large black velvet hats trimmed with flowers to match their dresses and carried arm bouquets of pink roses. Little Miss Esther West was flower girl, and wore a frock of pale blue silk figured crepe, trimmed with lace and rosettes of pale pink and pale blue satin ribbon, and carried a basket of pink roses and carnations. Mr. John Bell acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. A. E. Olding and Mr. J. S. Simpson. The wedding music was played by Miss Edith Rose, and during the signing of the register Mr. William Bacon sang, "Because." Mrs. Gow, mother of the bride, wore an ensemble costume of navy poiret cloth and Alice blue embroidered canton crepe, and wore a black velvet hat. Mrs. McIntyre, mother of the groom, wore a gown of black satin-faced canton crepe with a black velvet hat with osprey and a corsage bouquet of red roses. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Later Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre left for a short wedding trip to Ottawa, the bride travelling in a russet canton crepe dress with a fawn coat trimmed with russet, and a small black velvet hat with ostrich tips. Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Allen, Miss Marion Allen, Mr. Ernest Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Allen McCoy, of Port Hope, Ont.; Mrs. James Blaise and Mrs. Jack Blaise, of Hawkesbury, Ont.; the Misses Jean and Kay McCuaig, of Quebec, and Master Robert Fennel, of Toronto, Ont.

SWITCHMAN INJURED.

Samuel Latanne, aged 64, C. N. R. switchman, of St. John's, Que., is in a hospital there in a serious condition as the result of having been knocked down by an automobile while standing on the corner of the platform of the station, near the level crossing yesterday morning.

A. Davignon, of St. John's, was driving his auto across the tracks when he saw another machine coming in the opposite direction, and swerved to avoid it. His car mounted the platform and struck down Latanne who was standing there. The machine was stopped at once and the victim attended by Dr. S. H. Brosseau, of St. John's who happened to be in the station at the time. He was then removed to hospital, where his injuries were found to include cuts and bruises on the back of the head and neck, with probable fracture of the skull.

Midland witness: He walked straight, but his talk wobbled.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

TWO METHODS.

I talk frequently about the value of getting the liver and gall bladder squeezed, so that the circulation in these organs may be hastened, and the bile get into the intestine. The very inactivity of the liver caused by sitting all day causes the bile to thicken, and the flow becomes sluggish, and gall stones frequently result. Your family physician has used the remedy calomel and epsom salts, or just epsom salts alone, because they have the effect of loosening the opening of the duct from the gall bladder to intestine, and allowing the bile to mix with the food. This, of course, helps digestion and prevents constipation.

However, a New York physician investigating the matter, states that any method that increases the pressure inside the abdomen has a like effect of opening the door of this little tube.

He suggests that the simple act of coughing in which the abdomen is "tightened" to expel the air forcibly from the lungs, would be a simple method of increasing the abdominal pressure inside, and stimulating the liver and gall bladder to action.

For instance if you put your hand on your abdomen as you cough you will feel the tightening of the whole wall.

He suggests further that deep breathing will likewise help because the lungs will send the floor of the chest against the liver and gall bladder and in addition to "squeezing" them and aiding circulation of bile and blood, will also help to open the door of the tube carrying the bile into the intestine. And still further he recommends that bending the body will also help in the above processes.

Now when a physician advises that coughing, deep breathing, and bending exercises will help the bile flow just as will a dose of epsom salts, you can readily see how the simple bending exercises of which I often speak, or the slow running exercises which make you breathe so deeply, are much more desirable from every standpoint if you are not actually sick in bed.

MANY MONTREALERS IN WHITE MOUNTAINS

WHITE MOUNTAINS, N.H., Sept. 8.—Many Canadians are now in the White Mountains, some spending a few days here at some of the resorts en route to Montreal after a summer on the New England coast, others perhaps, motoring here to enjoy the golf and motoring.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Forbes Angus, of Montreal, who spent a few days at the Mountain View House at Whitefield, en route to the Maine coast, were at the Crawford House this week en route to Montreal.

Also at the Crawford House in Crawford Notch, were Dr. and Mrs. L. H. McKim. Mr. F. W. Angus and Mr. Alexander Angus also stopped here and another party at Crawford Notch included Mr. A. B. Brodie, J. C. and A. M. Brodie and Mr. Robert Vaughan. Mr. Brodie was here for a day en route to bring his young sons and their friends back to Montreal from a boy's camp on one of the White Mountains lakes, where they had spent the summer.

Acting as one of three hostesses at the weekly community bridge party at the Mountain View House at Whitefield on Thursday evening, was Miss Lillian Taylor, of Montreal, who is passing the autumn season there. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stanton and Miss Peggy Stanton are others among Montreal society people at this resort and it is expected that Mrs. Morrice will return here from Prout's Neck, while Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith will also be here for a part of the autumn season, which extends until mid-October.

Mr. Percy C. Hart, of Montreal, who has for some years served on the tournament committee at Crawford Notch at its annual tennis tournament, is there for his third visit this season, enjoying the golf and tennis and returning to Montreal this week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Hart and Miss Patsy Hart also motored there for a short visit last week.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

September 8, 1895, fell on a Sunday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Friday, September 8, 1905.)

Tokio.—Excitement over the peace terms with Russia is everywhere manifested. Nightfall brought a verification of the prediction of renewed trouble. The streets in the centre of the city began filling at dark. The first disturbance occurred in the vicinity of the residence of Minister of Home Affairs, Katsura. A mob again attempted to fire the structure, but were restrained by the guards. Considerable roughness and fighting followed. Menacing crowds gathered in the neighborhood of the Metropolitan Police headquarters. They refrained from attacking on account of the presence of a strong police reserve. The passage of street cars through the crowded streets angered the people and they began attacking and destroying cars.

Edmonton, Alta.—Premier Rutherford has presented the names of his Cabinet Ministers to the Lieutenant-Governor, who has approved them. The executive council will be: The Hon. A. C. Rutherford, Premier and Minister of Education and Provincial Treasurer; Mr. C. W. Cross, B.A., LL.D., Attorney-General; Mr. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works; Mr. W. T. Findlay, Medicine Hat, Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary; Mr. L. G. Devebr, Lethbridge, Minister without Portfolio.

Montreal.—Rev. I. J. Kavanagh, S.J., professor of science at Loyola College, has returned from Labrador, where he was a member of the party sent by the Canadian Government to study the eclipse of the sun. The King Edward, which was the vessel used by the party, reached Quebec yesterday morning, and Father Kavanagh immediately took train for Montreal.

Cantentaro, Calabria, Italy.—A violent earthquake at 2:35 o'clock today caused serious loss of life and widespread destruction in Calabria. The towns of Pizzo, Monteleone, di Calabria and Martrano, were almost entirely destroyed.

FIREMEN CARRY GIRLS TO SAFETY

Spectacular Escapes from Laura Secord Candy Factory

FUMES IN BUILDING

Escaping Ammonia Caused 100 Employes to Flee to Streets

While ammonia fumes filled the building of the Laura Secord candy factory, 507 Viger avenue and threatened to snuff out the lives of upwards of 100 employes who were in it at the time, 19 girls, in the most threatened section of the building were brought to safety by local firemen this morning, while the remainder made their escape from upper floors through the scaffolding of an addition to the factory now under construction. Three girls were overcome, and while two of them suffered no serious effects, a third had to be removed to the home of a friend for treatment.

Those overcome were: Edna Donoldson, Queen's Road, Valois, who had to be removed; Dorothy Law, 1200 Messier street whose eyes were affected, and Lily O'Donnel, 2237 St. Urbain street who was able to reenter the building when it had been fully cleared of the poisonous gas.

The 150 employes who work in the building arrived this morning at 8 o'clock. At 8.45 strong fumes of ammonia began to come up from the basement and while those on the ground floor were immediately able to get out to safety, the ammonia pouring through the elevator shafts and staircases made such means of escape impossible to employes on upper floors. The bonbon dipping department on the second floor faced particular danger owing to its proximity to the basement. It was here that the 19 girls were at work.

The office heads realizing the situation sent in a telephone call at 8.47 to fire headquarters and apparatus and men from stations two and seven under Deputy Chief Sarazin were on the spot. Ladders were instantly hoisted to the second floor and a number of girls descended while the three who were overcome, as well as others, were carried down by the firemen.

On the upper floors where the fumes were not so dense the male employes as well as a large number of girls in the other departments climbed out through the windows and escaped by a large scaffolding. By 9 o'clock the building was clear and firemen were able to enter and open the windows. Fifteen minutes later all employes were able to return to work.

PAINTERS UNABLE TO GET GOODS OUT

Convention Proceedings Hampered by Misunderstanding with Customs

Owing to a misunderstanding regarding papers, badges, etc., brought into Canada under bond, the convention of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, in session at the Mount Royal Hotel, has been considerably delayed. George F. Hedrick, general president, said this morning that, previous to the convention, arrangements had been made with officials at Ottawa, whereby papers, programs and other private chatteis of the union, could be brought into the country duty free. The president said, however, that so far the trunks, containing these articles, had not been released and the executive is hampered through not being able to get at their goods.

This morning's session was given over the hearing committee reports, welcoming delegates and clearing off routine work preparatory to the actual business.

At the session today an address on the Brookwood Labor School, at Katonah, N.Y., was given by Clinton G. Golden. The speaker stated that the school, which has two year courses, sought to teach the truth free from dogma. The school, the speaker declared, believed that the labor and farmer movements constituted the most vital concrete force working for human freedom and that by exerting a wise social control labor could bring in a new era of justice and human brotherhood.

STILL DEADLOCKED

Matters between the stage hands and managers of the Montreal theatres are still deadlocked. The members of the Montreal Theatre Managers' Association are expecting notification of a decision on the part of the men early this week, but today the local union is not prepared to make any statement. As long as negotiations remain open the stage hands have agreed to carry on with their work if no non-union labor is employed.

VETERANS MEET.

The next general meeting of the Imperial Comrades' Association will be held at Stanley Hall, Stanley street, on Thursday evening, September 10th, at 8 p.m. sharp. The business of the meeting is the discussion and adoption of the proposed constitution and by-law and the election of officers for the coming year. All Imperial Veterans are invited to attend.

MOUNTAIN VICTIM POSSIBLE SUICIDE

Police Discover Charles Holenstein Had Long Been Despondent

The finding of a 22 calibre revolver on the mountain, by Mrs. C. Thompson, 162 Marcil avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, Monday afternoon, and the location of a bullet wound in the right temple of Charles Holenstein, cook, found dead near the fence at the Mount Royal Cemetery, Sunday, has convinced detectives that the wound was self-inflicted.

This afternoon Mrs. Thompson, accompanied by Detective Bissonnette will visit the mountain top, where the detective will be shown the exact spot, the woman came across the revolver. The weapon was taken to No. 23 police station, by the finder and then its recovery made known to the morgue authorities.

From information concerning the actions of the cook, during the past two weeks, despondency over losses in the sale of an automobile, and other sources, caused the man to take his own life, the detectives believe.

An inquest will be held tomorrow morning, at which time the Swiss Consul is expected to be a witness, in relation to a letter addressed to him, by Holenstein, and found in the latter's room at 25 Concord street. The letter stated that the writer might die soon and requested the Consul to take care of his belongings.

Identification of the revolver found on the mountain, with one Holenstein is known to have possessed at his rooming house will be made this afternoon by the landlord of the rooming house. Holenstein was the possessor of a 22 calibre revolver now missing from his melongings.

FUR AUCTION OPEN

Fall Sale Has Over $1,500,000 in Skins

Between 130 and 150 buyers gathered in the Mount Royal Hotel this morning for the fall auction of furs held by the Canadian Fur Auction Sales. The prospects are brightened by the fact that in past years it has taken a day or two to interest the public while this year has seen crowds in attendance from the start. Skins to be auctioned off are estimated to be worth between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. In the collection there are skins from Australia, Russia, China, Italy and Germany. The great majority are Canadian and American, however, and the silver fox, regarded as the most valuable skin there, is a Canadian product. The first fur auctioned this morning, was the raccoon, of which there are 2,500 skins.

CITY GROWING TO NORTH-EAST

Villeray Ward Developing More Rapidly Than Any Other

BUILDING FIGURES

Activity in Rosemount, Ahuntsic and Notre Dame de Grace

From figures submitted by the various municipalities and wards for building construction work in 1924, it is found that Montreal's greatest growth has been in the north-east section, taking in the wards of Villeray, Rosemount and Ahuntsic and in Notre Dame de Grace in the west end.

In Villeray ward, 695 permits were issued for work valued approximately at $2,302,830. Of these, 333 permits were issued for the construction of dwellings housing 956 families. Only 22 permits were issued in this ward for stores and dwellings. Seventy-two private garages were erected, worth $34,205, a church valued at $261,000 and a school estimated to be worth $117,000.

Next in line in the number of permits was Rosemount where 580 were issued for a total of about $1,659,115. In Ahuntsic ward, where only 220 permits were issued, the value of the construction was said to be $2,380,760. This can be explained by the fact that a $1,800,000 hospital was erected there. There were 285 permits issued for dwellings in Rosemount at a cost of $1,234,250. The list for Rosemount is closed by a school costing $154,000 and a church $130,000.

Going south on the Island to Maisonneuve, the figures for 1924 suffer in comparison with the above wards. Only 162 permits were issued for a total value of $466,935 and other figures show similarly. A hospital was built there last year at an approximate value of $42,400 and a public garage worth $14,000. The dwellings built were worth $360,500.

In Outremont, where 126 permits were issued the value was said to approach $3,500,000. The high value for Outremont can be attributed to the more costly type of house erected in that city. Seven permits issued for apartment construction alone came to $319,500. A convent valued at $1,200,000 sent the figure high as well as a church valued at $218,000. To these must be added flats worth $689,000 and cottages worth $693,500. In all, there were 339 dwelling permits and 16 store permits issued in Outremont last year.

Quite different from Outremont's building growth is that in Notre Dame de Grace. Here there were 447 permits issued for work costing $3,371,120. In Notre Dame de Grace, the duplex house, a two family dwelling, occupies a good part of the list, while in Outremont, apartment houses, housing about six families and semi-detached cottages are more numerous.

Father west in Montreal West where the building lists have not varied much for the last few years, the value of the building construction in 1924 was about $100,000 in excess of the 1923 lists. Fifty-eight permits were issued for dwellings at a total cost of $406,800, twenty-seven garages and an oil station costing $23,225, and a church costing $65,000. The total cost of the work done including alterations was $510,963.

In review of the building situation all about the city, it is seen that dwellings were erected in large numbers wherever there was any building activity whatsoever. This state of affairs is the natural outcome where the population is spreading and increasing. These dwellings take the form of apartments, flats, duplex houses and cottages. Every district has its characteristic dwelling, duplex houses being more common in Notre Dame de Grace, for example. In the city wards of Villeray, Rosemount and Ahuntsic, flat houses are most often built. To cater to the ever increasing number of people, there must be merchants; in consequence, stores, in keeping with the number of other dwellings have been erected. These, as a rule, are three storey buildings with flats in the second and third storeys.

Although it is learned that hospital accommodation is still wanting in the city, figures show several built last years. Schools and churches follow the people and every community that boasted increased population also had a school or two and a church erected.

The trend of the growth in 1924 was north and west where more vacant space is available. This is the logical action of a city such as Montreal where the population is both growing and shifting.

CHANGES HIS NAME AFTER HIS DEATH

That a change of name can be legally made after death was proven in the Coroner's Court here on Saturday morning when a man four years dead and buried was given his real name, instead of the one under which he was buried, and a new death certificate issued accordingly.

On July 12, 1921, John Carroll, rooming at 93 City Hall Avenue, died in the Montreal General Hospital, from natural causes, and was duly buried under that name.

On June 15, 1925 the local Detective Office received a communication from Malden, Mass., enclosing a portrait and claiming that "Carroll" was really one Charles Marshall, of that town. Sergeant Detective Bissonette was assigned to the case, and forthwith took the portrait to the City Hall Avenue house, where it was promptly identified as that of their former lodger "Carroll" by Arthur Racine, keeper of the establishment, and his wife.

Following further correspondence, Chief of Police Owen E. Rooney, of Malden, appeared before Coroner McMahon on Saturday, and after an inquiry into the case was handed a death certificate in the name of Marshall, to be delivered to his widow.

NOTED RABBI COMING.

Rev. Dr. H. Pereria Mendes, rabbi emeritus, of the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue of New York has been extended an invitation by the Spanish and Portuguese synagogue, Stanley street, to preach during the coming holy-days. Dr. Mendes will leave Los Angeles within a day or two for Montreal.

PLEADS GUILTY; SENTENCED

Pleading guilty to having had cocaine in his possession when arrested yesterday afternoon, George Smith, alias Cecil Campbell, chauffeur, aged 25, living on St. Lawrence boulevard, was today sentenced in the Recorder's Court to serve six months in prison, and pay a fine of $200 or serve eight days more.

Victims Of Level Crossing Auto Wreck

When an automobile containing Mr. and Mrs. A. Auclair, of 70 Tenth avenue, Lachine, and Mrs. Auclair's infant child, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Guaron, of 145 Sixth avenue Ville St. Pierre, was struck by a train on a level crossing near Rockland, Ont., on Monday afternoon, Mrs. Auclair and her baby were instantly killed, and her husband seriously injured. Mr. and Mrs. Guaron also suffered injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Auclair are pictured in the upper row and Mr. and Mrs. Guaron below.

YOUNG MONTREAL TROOPS BACK TO WORK; PROTESTANT SCHOOLS OPEN FALL TERM

About 45,000 children trooped back to the Protestant schools of Montreal today to resume work for another year. They went more or less gladly for there is always a certain amount of pleasurable excitement about the first day, when one has a new class room and a new teacher to inspect and old friends to meet again. Many a mother heaved a sigh of relief when she saw her young hopefuls off to the activities which will keep them out of mischief and off the streets for the greater part of the day.

Exact registration figures will not be available for several days but the morning's indications are of an increase in enrolment in almost every district. Accommodation, however, will be available for all and though several classes were overcrowded today matters will be adjusted shortly.

In the 46 public schools and five high schools under the Protestant Board of School Commissioners registration is expected to be much the same as that of last session, 31,707 in the public and 3,404 in the high schools. The high school and four public schools of the Westmount School Commissioners reported a substantial increase today and will probably be filled to capacity. The registration is expected to be over 2,500.

The three schools of the Outremont Protestant School Trustees have registered over 1,300 for the junior classes and about 350 in the high school.

The Verdun School Trustees expect a registration of more than 3,000 before the day is over. There will be one high and four public schools in operation this session. The School Commissioners of Coteau St. Pierre have prepared for an increase of about 100 pupils this year.

MAYOR AND CLERK WILL VISIT PARIS

Possibly Two Others Will Also Attend Municipalities' Congress

Montreal will send two, if not more, delegates to Europe for the International Congress of Municipalities in Paris September 28 to October 4, it was learned at the City Hall today. Mayor Duquette and Rene Bauset, City Clerk, will, it is stated, be asked to represent the city, but there is a strong probability that Montreal will, in addition, have other delegates.

Among those mentioned are H. A. Terrault, Chief City Engineer and Director of Public Works, and when the Executive meets this week representations will be made to the end that the technical side of civic administration should be represented. It was claimed that as such questions as city planning, sanitation, traffic, construction, public improvement, and similar topics will be debated, the city could gain much by having its engineering staff represented.

Ald. Brodeur was mentioned as representative of the City Executive, while Ald. Sansregret was scheduled as Council leader, to represent the aldermen.

The Union of Municipalities of Quebec is sending a delegation, which will be led by ex-Mayor J. A. A. Leclair, of Verdun, while others from Montreal who will join the party at New York will be Recorder Geoffrion, Theo. Bonin, Rev. U. Geoffrion, Mayor E. Forget, of St. Agathe, and J. Archambeault.

Several American municipalities and unions of corporations in Canada and the States will be represented, while the cities and towns of Europe will have delegates in large numbers. It is planned to hold the 1926 convention in Montreal.

FATHER IS ROBBED FOR SON'S HOLIDAY

Filled with desire to join in the Labor Day celebrations, a 13-year-old boy set out early Sunday to make a complete occasion of the event. That holiday was terminated this morning when he appeared on a charge of theft and desertion, before the Clerk of the Juvenile Court Thomas Massie, and was remanded for trial tomorrow morning before Judge Lacroix.

The boy began the escapade by removing $1.53 from the pocket of his father's trousers. He left the house early Sunday, and did not turn up until last night, when his father handed him over to Juvenile Court authorities.

The boy gave as an excuse for his absence the fact that he wanted to see the Labor Day parade.

Holiday Enthusiasm Expensive For George; He Punched Conductor

George Leblanc mounted the steps of a street car yesterday at noon and approached the conductor with a transfer in his hand.

"That's no good," the conductor told him. "You can't go west on a transfer which distinctly indicates that you car only go east."

Mr. Leblanc could not see the point. He insisted on going west. The argument culminated when Leblanc raised his fist, which a moment later he placed violently against the conductor's right eye.

In the Recorder's Court this morning Leblanc pleaded guilty. He admitted that he had celebrated Labor Day by imbibing freely.

"Twenty dollars and costs," said the acting Recorder. "And remember, don't do it again."

RATES FOR CENSORING.

The rates to be charged for censoring placards and posters, according to the by-law before the City Council, have been printed and will be discussed with the new regulations at the next Council meeting. The tariff is as follows: Placards, 11 by 14 inches, one cent each; 14 by 36 inches or 22 by 28, three cents. Photographic posters, one cent each; sheet advertising matter, one to five sheets, three cents; six sheets or over, five cents.

TWO DEAD, 3 HURT ON RAIL CROSSING

Automobile Smashed to Pieces by Montreal-bound Express Train

MOTHER AND BABE

Injured Victims All Said to Be in Dying Condition

A young mother and her new little son of three months are dead and three other persons, two men and a woman, are thought to be dying, as the toll at a level crossing when a motorcar containing a home-coming Lachine-Ville St. Pierre party was smashed to pieces by an Ottawa-Montreal train yesterday.

The victims are:

DEAD.

Mrs. A. Auclair, 32 years of age, 70 Tenth avenue, Lachine; Jean, three months old, son of Mrs. Auclair.

INJURED.

A. Auclair, 32 years of age, 70 Tenth avenue, Lachine, in hospital at Hawkesbury, Ont., with fractured skull and other injuries. Unconscious and expected to die.

Daniel Gauron, 145 Sixth avenue, Ville St. Pierre, owner and driver of the car; in Montreal General Hospital with skull and back injuries.

Mrs. Daniel Gauron, 145 Sixth avenue, Ville St. Pierre; in farm-house at Rockland, Ont., with fractured skull. Unconscious and expected to die.

The train, on the Canadian National Railways, struck the automobile near Rockland, Ont., shortly after midday where their paths crossed. Both were Montreal-bound.

The motor was proceeding from Ottawa to Montreal. The road runs parallel with the railway for some distance near Rockland, and then crosses it. According to the scant information gathered by Doctors Martin Powers and W. C. Tweedie, who were called to the scene of the accident, the driver of the motorcar failed to notice the approach of the train.

Auclair was originally placed on the Montreal-bound train with Gauron, but was taken off at Hawkesbury on medical advice, and is now in Dr. F. J. Pattee's hospital in a critical state.

Dr. Martin Powers, of Rockland, who is the Coroner for the district, empannelled a jury and visited the scene of the accident yesterday. Inquest was then adjourned for a week without any evidence being heard.

KEEP AT SCHOOLS THO' TRADE POOR

English People Making Sacrifices for Children, Say Teachers

"The tendency of leading British Universities, such as Oxford and Cambridge to limit the number of women students to less than 500 is forcing a high degree of scholarship upon women candidates. A man who can pass the examinations is admitted to the Universities, a woman must go further and prove herself an outstanding student before she can enjoy the distinction of being associated with these historic institutions. The barriers, which were the same for women as for men, are being put up higher each year," said Miss Hovey, principal of Penrhos College, Colwyn Bay, North Wales, who, with 60 teachers from secondary schools of the Empire, visited McGill this morning in the course of their tour of Canada.

Although trade has been bad, the great English schools have not suffered from lack of pupils; for the people of the Old Country are placing the education of their children first, and have made sacrifices in order that they might receive the same training which would have been their lot in better times. A great many girls are going into business, some with their fathers, while others are being set up in business such as dressmaking, just as their brothers are established.

The teachers who paid calls at the Redpath Library and the Medical Building are said to be well representative of secondary teachers, four associations having officers and members taking advantage of the trip.

WANT REDRESS.

An echo of last year's strike of Post Office employes is heard here in the action of some 60 or 70 men who threw in their lot with the strikers when the situation developed, and nearly 1,000 men walked out, but who failed to secure reinstatement with their fellows when the strike ended and the time for readjustment came. They claim they were discriminated against, and now plan to organize with a view to petitioning the Government to obtain redress of their grievances.

TWO STORES LOOTED; FURS AND CIGARS ARE PLUNDER OF THIEVES

Burglars after scaling a two storey shed, gained the rear yard at the A. Arsenault cigar store, 2610 Park avenue, Sunday night and commenced work on the three ply brick wall of the store. When the hole in the wall was large enough to admit entrance, the store was visited and cleaned out of $400 worth of cigars, fountain pens, razors, slippers, and barber's utensils.

Two hundred and sixty-three assorted skins, electric seal, Persian lamb, raccoon and fox, and two fur coats, the total value of which is placed at $1,000, were stolen Sunday night from the establishment of Isaac Lerner, 125 Colonial avenue. Entrance was made in the rear where glass in the door was broken to turn the lock.

HUNTING MODERN JACK-THE-RIPPER

Man Who Stabbed Three Girls is Still at Liberty

FROM HOSPITAL?

Two Mental Cases Disappeared and are Being Sought

Montreal's phantom "Jack-the-Ripper," who jabs the keen point of a penknife in the back of young women and slinks away noiselessly is still at large, despite the precautions taken by the police and detectives.

The elusive and cunning knife-wielder is a menace to pedestrians night and day, declare detectives, who are trying to trail the miscreant who three times within as many hours Sunday morning stabbed women in the back and sent them all to the hospitals for treatment.

Examination of the wounds, revealed similar incisions in each instance Flora Corbeil, 2205 St. Andre Street, was the only one of three persons attacked to see her assailant. She has informed the detectives that she was accosted by a man at 4.30 Sunday morning, who asked her what she was doing on the streets at that hour. She gave an evasive answer and passed on a few steps when a sharp pain in the back caused her to cry out. She turned in time to see her assailant running away, and disappear down Cadieux Street. Her wound was dressed at the General Hospital.

In the case of Laura Bouchard, aged 16, of 600 Cadieux Street, and of 13-year-old Cecille Corivean, of 106 St. Dominique Street, the man crept up on the intended victims, used the knife, and walked unconcernedly along the street.

The detectives are working on complaints laid at headquarters in which two men from hospitals are reported at large without permission of the hospital authorities. Both are patients for mental troubles.

NEW JUDGES NOT YET COMMISSIONED

Asked this morning when Joseph Archambault, K.C., M.P., and J. C. Walsh, K.C., M.P., would be sworn in as justices of the Superior Court, Chief Justice Martin declared that the newly appointed judges have not received their official commissions. Until they have been commissioned, there can be no arrangements for swearing in. The ceremony will therefore probably take place at the end of the week or early next week.

COLLEGE BOYS WIN; 'CHARLESTON STAYS

So Declares Shefler of the New Dance Officially Adopted

NOW RESPECTABLE

Minus Knee Dips and High Kicks of Heathen African Product

The college boys have won the day and the "Charleston," of heathen African origin, has been approved by the American National Association of Masters of Dancing. It will be taught in Montreal as a decorous social dance without the exaggerated knee dips and high kicks which have brought it into disrepute, states George W. Shefler, who returned last night from the convention which discussed its fate last week in Cleveland.

"I found them all dance-mad," reports Mr. Shefler; "but all they want is jazz. Teachers and everybody were for the latest dance hit; but the heathen characteristics of the dance have been eliminated by the Association. Well done, the dance is admittedly fascinating."

While the dancing masters accepted the Charleston; they disclaim responsibility for its introduction. Styles in the art of dancing are being set by college boys, according to Mr. Shefler, and when the decree went out from academic shades that the "Charleston" was to be the season's vogue all the dancing masters in the land could not prevent it. The latter must accept the inevitable, but said Mr. Shefler, they could and would teach a Charleston modified into respectability.

"The Charleston is of heathen origin," stated Mr. Shefler. "When it was brought on the stage not long ago in plantation shows, the college boys took it up for ballroom use. They are the ones who set the pace which the young set follow eagerly."

Mrs. Pierre Villeneuve sold to Anne Dufort Nos. 1414 to 1416 Des Erables street, for $6,250.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS

Verdicts of accidental death were rendered this morning in the case of Pierre Jamme, aged 7, of 472 Lepailleur street, killed by an electric train of the Montreal Harbor Commission between sections Nos. 71 and 72. Longue Pointe, on Saturday, and of Armand Deschamps, aged 7, of 341 Des Erables street, Ville St. Pierre, killed by an automobile on St. James street, Ville St. Pierre, on Friday. In the latter case, a rider was added to the verdict asking the municipality to erect danger signs at the scene of the accident, the street being particularly narrow at that point.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

Called from the gas-stove over which she was cooking, late yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Rose Gamache, aged 23, of 95a Burget street, St. Henry, failed to notice on her return to the kitchen that the wind had extinguished the flame and that the gas was escaping into the room. She was quickly overcome, and found within a few minutes by her husband, who carried her into the open air. She was later taken to the Western Hospital, where she made rapid recovery, but was admitted to a ward for the night.

LACHINE CADDIE COLLISION VICTIM

Jimmie Brown Killed in Hull Electric Street Car Crash

OTHERS INJURED

Several Other Caddies Who "Beat" Way From Montreal Hurt

OTTAWA, Sept. 8—(C.P.)—Jimmie Brown, of Lachine, Que., 19-year-old caddie at the Rivermead Golf Club, was fatally injured, and Motorman Domina Presseau, of Hull, may lose his left leg, as a result of a rear end collision between two street cars on the Hull electric railway late Sunday night. Brown was terribly injured and his right leg was amputated immediately on his arrival in hospital, in an attempt to save his life. However, he failed to regain consciousness and died yesterday. Two other caddies, passengers on the car, were seriously injured and were detained in hospital. Seven other passengers, mostly caddies, are nursing bruises and cuts from flying glass.

The accident occurred when the trolley of one car jumped from the wire, stopping the car and throwing it in darkness. The second car, driven by Motorman Presseau rounding a curve, crashed in the rear end of the darkened car. Most of the injured were in the second car.

The boys belonged to a party of ten that walked from Montreal here to caddie in the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship which has been under way at the Rivermead Golf Club. Brown left his home on Tuesday last, while the ten boys arrived in Ottawa in two parties one on Wednesday and the other on Thursday. Their arrival at the Rivermead Club created a problem for the directors to secure sleeping accommodation for them. The first night they were given a room in the club house and afterwards a tent was provided for them in which to sleep.

On Sunday night when the accident happened eight of the boys were passengers on one of the cars. They were returning to the club for the night when the smash occurred. These boys who were on the car were: Jack Muirhead, 140 College avenue, St. Henry, Que.; Thomas Geraldi, Lachine; Reginald Cooper, Lachine; Arthur Wilson, Lachine; Irwin Ellis, 41 Thirty-fourth avenue, Lachine; Andrew McPherson and Robert McPherson, both of 211a Ninth avenue, Lachine.

Robert McPherson and Reginald Cooper are the only two of the boys who are still in the hospital. McPherson has one of the toes of his left foot squashed, while Cooper has a deep cut on the side of his head which took two stitches to close. Andrew McPherson, who was taken to the hospital following the accident, was back today at the golf club. He received a cut over the left eye. The other boys all received minor cuts and bruises but were able to caddie today.

An inquest was opened here last evening into the death of Jimmie Brown and was adjourned until Sept. 15. The body will be sent to Lachine for interment today. A full inquiry into the accident is being conducted.

Jimmie Brown was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown of Stoney Point, Que. He was 19 years of age and for several years had served as caddie at the Royal Montreal Golf Club at Dixie. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers and two sisters.

CANADIAN SHOTS WIN TROPHY ROUND

Riflemen Make Good Scores at Camp Perry, Ohio

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—The Canadian rifle team returned yesterday from Camp Perry, Ohio, where they competed on Saturday in the second half of an International Rifle shooting competition between teams representing Canada and the United States. The Canadian team won the round by fifteen points, having defeated the United States team on Connaught Ranges here in August 1924, by 40 points, but lost Saturday's match by 25 points. The shoot was one of the most interesting of all previous contests between the teams from these countries and resulted in both teams breaking the existing records. The Canadian team made the highest score ever made by a team from this country, and were heartily congratulated on their showing particularly in view of their using United States rifles and ammunition with which they were not familiar. Cuba also took part, shooting against the United States for the Palma Trophy.

The scores were as follows:
United States 1,770.
Canada 1,745.
Cuba 1,715.

Lieutenant Desmond Burke (G.M.) Ottawa, made the highest score on the Canadian team, 222 points, and the average for the eight men was 213.1 out of 225. The coaches were Sgt. James Binnie, Hamilton, Sgt. J. Boriand, Toronto; Sgt. A. F. B. Wilson, Ottawa, and Lieut. J. T. Steele, Guelph. The team was as follows:

Lieut. D. Burke, (G.M.) Ottawa; Lieut. Jas. Boa, Montreal; Sgt. Jas. Freeborn, Hamilton; Sgt. Maj. W. A. Hawkins, (G.M.), Toronto; Sgt. Geo. Emslie, Toronto; Lieut. E. T. D. Francis, Victoria, B.C.; Co. Q. M. S. A. Parnell, Montreal, and Sgt. J. H. Gray, Toronto. The team commandant was Col. R. T. Birdwhistle, of Ottawa, Secretary of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association.

RETIRED OFFICIAL SAYS INDIA QUIET

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—Sir Hugh Trowbridge Keeling, retired from the Public Works Department of the Indian Presidency, passed through Winnipeg Monday en route East.

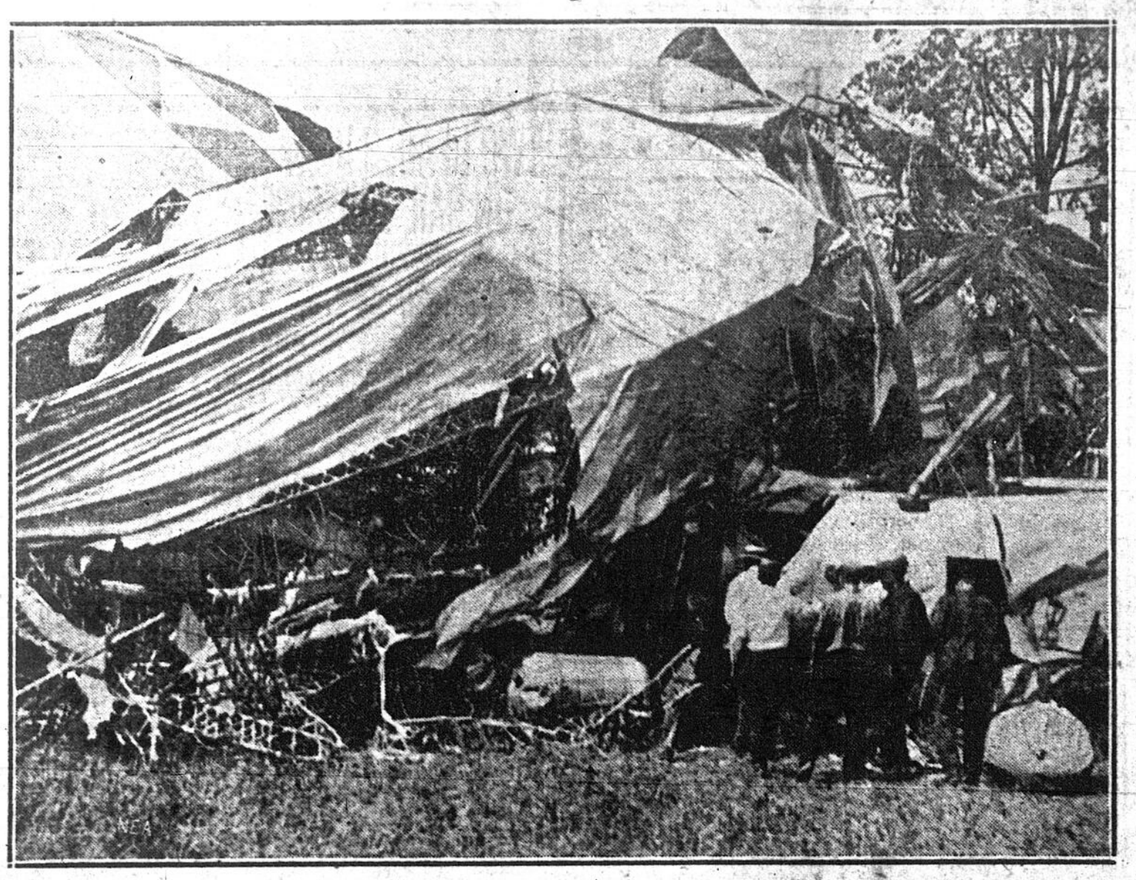
He expressed the opinion that whatever theorists might think, India could never become an independent nation. He declared the majority of the Indian people would agree with him.

"From press reports," he added, "an outsider would imagine that India was in a ferment of agitation. Such, however, is far from being the case. As a matter of fact the country is now comparatively peaceful."

TRAIN KILLS FOUR BUFFALO MOTORISTS

BATAVIA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(A.P.) Four Buffalo persons were killed Monday when a westbound New York Central passenger train crashed into a light sedan at a grade crossing near Batavia, on the Byron road. Three of the dead are women and one a man. All of the women were instantly killed. The dead: Charles H. Simpson, driver of the automobile; Mrs. Florie Simpson, his wife; Mrs. Catherine Myles, a neighbor; Mrs. Duncan Campbell, mother of Mrs. Simpson.

When Airship Crashed



Here's closeup picture of the middle section of the giant ship Shenandoah, taken shortly after it crashed to the ground near Ava, O., early Thursday morning, resulting in the death of 14 men. The steel girders and network of steel supports were crashed. Scores of farmers and townsfolk, seen in the picture, rushed to the scene of disaster and assisted in disentangling the dead and the injured.

MEIGHEN BLAMED FOR NATION'S LOSS OF IMMIGRANTS

Kenzie, the last Prime Minister to visit Exeter. The scene at the library was set off by a number of school children, and the presence of the uniformed Zurich band, the members of which supplied the patriotic music.

The main speech making was reserved for the town park where approximately 2,500 people gathered under the trees. Mr. King went into action immediately after he had suitably kissed two nervous little girls who gravely mounted the platform for the purpose of presenting him with a bouquet. "There are some advantages in being a bachelor," he remarked in explanation.

The Prime Minister touched on four main points, transportation, senate reform, immigration and the tariff, and in each case emphasized that the real need of the moment was to give the Liberal party a sound working majority in the House of Commons. It was difficult to put through necessary legislation, he intimated, without a majority, and while dependent upon the support of the Progressives, No further progress could be made in solving the national problems until that majority was forthcoming.

MANY DIFFICULTIES.

His Government, the Prime Minister maintained, had faced greater difficulties than any other in the history of Canada. Attaining to power during the unsettled aftermath of the war, with the debt increased by the Conservatives he had been forced to consult with the members of the Commons on all policies and much remained to be done, chiefly in increasing the wealth of the country by developing the natural resources, and in developing a policy of efficient and regulated control with regard to competition between the two great railway systems. The railway problem was not completely solved, he said.

"Do you think this country can go on increasing the railway deficits by $50,000,000 a year," he asked when pointing out the impossibility of reducing taxation in view of the enormous railway expenditure.

In the more immediate political arena the Prime Minister asserted that as the Conservatives had failed to secure a single supporter in six of the nine provinces at the general elections of 1921 they could not expect success in the present election. Mr. Meighen and his cohorts were never constructive. On the other hand, the Progressives could not hope to form a Government, and could not expect to play a part in the administration of affairs. Again Mr. Meighen was one of the greatest influences retarding the country. His pessimistic utterances were driving the people to the United States and were retarding emigration from Europe.

Mr. Meighen, he charged, resorted to statements which he knew were untrue. The Conservative leader was putting party ahead of country. The general election was brought on for the purpose of stopping the cry of depression. Mr. King would a thousand times rather give up office altogether than see the country set back by a campaign of detraction.

Another influence detrimental to Canada was found in the rate schedules of the "Greatest shipping combine in the world." The Prime Minister detailed the history of the ocean freight rates fight before Parliament last session and placed the blame for the failure of his scheme to bonus the ships owned by Sir William Petersen upon the "Policy of obstruction" adopted by the Conservatives.

DEBATE POSTPONED.

Sir William's death had postponed discussion of the problem, but Mr. King, promised further action, if returned. The Government, he again emphasized needed a clear majority in order to carry its ocean rates and other policies in the Commons.

The Liberal candidate in South Huron is Thomas McMillan. He is being opposed in a bitter fight by his brother R. J. McMillan who is running under the Progressive colors. The Conservative candidate has not been selected, but it is understood the choice lies between James Merner, W. R. Elliott, and Alex Neeb.

Others speakers at the meeting included Mr. McMillan, Senator A. B. McCoig, J. C. Elliott, Liberal candidate in West Middlesex, and Fred Sanderson, Liberal candidate in South Perth.

OPENS CAMPAIGN

EXETER, Ont., Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—Premier Mackenzie King opened his Western Ontario campaign here yesterday with sharp strictures for what he termed the "detractions" of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the Conservative party. As at Richmond Hill on Saturday Premier King pressed for a substantial majority in the House of Commons that the Government might effectively deal with the problems of the tariff, transportation, immigration and Senate reform.

He spoke of difficulties which the Government had encountered in Parliament—with a nominal majority of only one in the House and with a majority, hostile in the Senate. It was more particularly in touching of difficulties in securing immigrants that Mr. King was most critical of Mr. Meighen.

In a statement issued subsequent to the meeting, Premier King makes sharp rejoinder to Mr. Meighen's reply to his Richmond Hill speech. "What has Mr. Meighen to offer that has not already been proposed and effectively turned down both in the country and in Parliament?" Mr. King asks, adding: "Nothing, absolutely nothing. As leader of the Opposition his attitude from the outset has been a purely negative and destructive attitude.

"I challenge any of Mr. Meighen's following to make mention of one new constructive idea he has put forward in the last four years. I would go a step farther and ask Mr. Meighen himself where, in the four years he has been leader of His Majesty's loyal Opposition he has sought to give to the Government, in any particular, a helpful suggestion in coping with the difficult problems with which the Government has to deal. On the contrary, notwithstanding the difficulties of Government, he has sought to make our path more and more difficult; and to occasion us more and more in the way of embarrassment." In this regard, the attitude of Mr. Forke and of Mr. Crerar had been very different. They had not hesitated to oppose when opposition was called for. But, Mr. King continued, "I cannot recall another leader of an Opposition in this country or Great Britain who seems to have felt it necessary to oppose without discrimination every act and action of a Government.

"I notice in this press," Premier King said, "that Mr. Meighen has some remarks to make about the present Government which, in his abusive way of speaking, he refers to as having been derived from a barren and blundering original. Without taking time to refer to language of this kind, may I ask what Mr. Meighen has to say about the personnel of the Cabinet he proposes to offer to the Canadian people? Does he propose to resurrect the remnant of the old Unionist administration which helped him to keep his head above water from July, 1919, to December, 1921, at the time he usurped the power of Government?"

CANNOT IGNORE

"He cannot very well go back on Mr. Guthrie or Dr. Manion or Dr. Tolmie or Senator Calder or Mr. Ballantyne. All five professed to be Liberals who had joined the Unionist administration only as patriots. Are these the gentlemen the Conservative party proposes to put at the head of affairs? The old Conservative party is in a bad way when its leader is obliged to make up his Cabinet out of Liberal deserters.

"Then there is the group of Nationalists from Quebec with whom Mr. Meighen surrounded himself when he appealed to the country in 1921. Mr. Blondin, Mr. Monty, Mr. Patenaude and Mr. Fauteux, who did not win for him a single seat in the Province of Quebec and who were unable to command the support even of Conservatives of that Province. These are the gentlemen who are Mr. Meighen's lieutenants in Quebec in the present contest. With the exception of Mr. Armand Lavergne, he does not appear to have won other recruits in Quebec in the last four years. Does he intend to take all five into his Government, or which of the lot does he intend to drop? The country has a right to know.

"Finally, there is Mr. Rogers in Manitoba, the Honorable Bob Rogers. He is again to the fore as Mr. Meighen's right bower, asserting that elections are not won by prayers. Does the Conservative party propose to see its affairs controlled by Mr. Rogers? If so, I greatly fear they will have to count out some of their leading men. The country will think twice before it will return to a condition from which it escaped in part of 1919 and altogether in 1921. Again I repeat neither by way of policy nor personnel has Mr. Meighen anything to offer."

Premier King added a word for Ontario Progressives. He asks Progressives who would seek to bring about three-cornered contests to remember what happened to the Drury Government. "If Progressive candidates should offer themselves in any number in our Province," continues the statement, "I should see the sinister head of Toryism at work, and I would advise the innocent elector to beware of the wolf in sheep's clothing."

LABOR MARKS DAY AT TORONTO FAIR

Leaders of British and American Movements Pay Tributes

TORONTO, Sept. 8 — (C. P.) — Leaders of British and American labor joined with representatives of the local Trades and Labor Council in the annual Labor Day demonstration at the Canadian National Exhibition yesterday in paying tributes to the work of the fair and expressing the hope that the unity and co-operation so manifest in conducting the annual event may be continued in other walks of life.

The speakers were A. G. Walkden, secretary of the Railway Clerk's Union of Great Britain; W. D. Mahon, president of the International Street Railway Employes and Electrical Workers of America, and H. W. Higglesworth, president of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council. These three addressed the open air meeting which followed the parade of the various unions to the fair grounds, and later addressed the gathering at the regular noonday luncheon, when they were the guests of the directors of the exhibition. Premier Ferguson also spoke at the luncheon and added his tribute to the concrete display of co-operation which the day had produced between capital and labor. "It is one of the best signs which could be seen anywhere," Hon. Mr. Ferguson declared.

"We see capital and labor gathered about the same board, each seeking to understand the problems of the other; and it seems to me that if the same spirit could be displayed in all walks of life, the same results could be accomplished for Canada that have been accomplished in the building of the exhibition. So far as I am concerned, I have met many delegations from the ranks of labor, and I have always had from them the greatest co-operation; and I have had less difficulty with them than I have had with the representatives of other interests."

Addressing the labor gathering in the open air, both visiting labor men made strong pleas for the unification and co-operation of labor in its struggle for better wages and shorter hours of labor. Mr. Walkden briefly reviewed the recent struggles of labor in Britain, stressing the victory of the coal miners, which he claimed was made possible through the action of the British Labor Council, which had threatened to tie up the wheels of industry if the mine owners and the Government declined to entertain the demands of the two million mine workers.

He believed the time was opportune for united action and a strengthening of the ranks of labor, as a unit and collectively.

Mr. Mahon said labor should expect to make sacrifices to attain the higher and better civilization. "Opponents of the movement in Canada," he said, "tell the workmen they should not affiliate with trade unions because they are tools of Yankee agitators, while in the United States the advice is that the workers are the tools of foreign agitators. It is ridiculous to talk about freedom or liberty within the ranks of labor without organized effort."

BROTHERS BATTLING FOR FEDERAL SEAT IN SOUTH HURON POLITICAL ARENA

EXETER, Ont., Sept. 8—(C.P.) — South Huron into which Premier King carried his campaign yesterday presents in its political candidature a curious spectacle of a family divided against itself. Seventeen years ago two brothers named McMillan farmed in the county side by side. Then one decided to retire. He sold out to his brother who continued to farm the two farms. Today the two brothers are opposing candidates in South Huron. One, Thomas McMillan, is the nominee of the Liberal Party and oddly enough the actual farmer of the two. It was in his interests that Premier King spoke. The other, R. G. McMillan, is the candidate for the United Farmers' of Ontario. These are so far the only two official candidates, but a Conservative nominee is expected any day.

There were three candidates, Progressive, Liberal and Conservative in South Huron last election. William Black, Progressive, won, but with a majority of only 44 defeating the present Liberal candidate. So close was the polling that merely 140 votes separated all three candidates. It is fifty-one years since a Dominion Premier was last officially received in Exeter. That was Alexander MacKenzie, and there were present yesterday two women who were there when Alexander MacKenzie "came to town."

SEVENTEEN INJURED ON QUEBEC RAILWAY

QUEBEC, Sept. 8 — (C. P.) — Seventeen persons were injured last night when two cars on the Scenic railway at the Exhibition Grounds crashed on one of the slopes. The majority of the victims suffered fractured legs and arms.

JUSTICE ARTHUR GLOBENSKY BURIED

SHERBROOKE, Sept. 8 — (C. P.) —The funeral of His Lordship Justice Arthur Globensky, was held here yesterday and was attended by members of the local bar and many prominent business men.

A service was held at St. Michael's Cathedral, following which the remains were buried in St. Michael's cemetery.

ROME, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—General Prince Maurizio Gonzaga has been officially appointed chief of the Fascist militia to succeed General Gandolfo, who died August 30.

Built to combat wear— Fairbanks Globe Valves

The disc and seat in Fairbanks Globe Valves are specially constructed to combat wear: Sediment and scale which lodge on the ordinary flat seat and score the disc cannot lodge on the rounded seat of Fairbanks Globe Valves.

A very superior composition disc is being used in these valves which resists wear. Moreover, the metal of the disc holder is spun over the edge of the disc. Thus the disc cannot break and clog the pipe line.

The integral disc and disc holder can be renewed in less than a minute.

These valves are strong, heavy and well proportioned. Can be packed under pressure when wide open.

SOYA BEAN FLOUR SEEN AS REMEDY

Soviet Officials Expect to Solve Problem of Feeding Millions

WILL AID ARMY

Russia Considers Buying Entire Crop Produced in Manchuria

MOSCOW, Sept. 8.— (U. N.) — A newly discovered foodstuff which may insure Soviet Russia against future famine and enable the Government to approach a solution of the food problem for millions of her population is occupying official attention in Moscow. The new food is the product of a Budapest physiologist, Dr. Ladislaus Berczeller, who is here conferring with the Government regarding the production and distribution of soya bean flour, a foodstuff which is said to possess great nutriment.

Fifteen or 20 flour mills, already in operation but so far unequipped with the proper machinery, would be able, when so equipped, to provide foor for 10,000,000 persons. In nutriment value, one pound of soya bean flour equals two pounds of meat, plus a half pound of wheat flour, and its usefulness above all is as a meat and egg substitute. It is estimated that the introduction of soya flour on the scale now contemplated would enable the Soviet Government to release 600 tons of meat and eggs daily for export.

The military importance of the food is tremendous. The first mill equipped to produce soya flour will provide food for the Red Army. A single freight car, loaded with soya flour, would contain twelve times as much nourishment as the same carloaded with livestock. Thus, the use of soya flour for the troops would vastly increase the Red Army's mobility.

Soviet officials are considering buying the entire soya bean crop of Manchuria in order to launch flour production on a grandiose scale. A supply of soya beans also is available in the Caucasus and thousands of peasants will be induced to abandon other crops in order to raise the beans. A reserve store of the flour would enable the Soviet to carry the peasants through another drought and famine.

Hitherto the soya bean has been used in Europe only for its oil. Excessive albumin and fat content made the soya worthless for human consumption but the Hungarian scientist has discovered a process by which these and other disadvantages of the bean are eliminated. Aside from its 40 per cent. albumin and 20 per cent. fat content, soya flour contains the rare and expensive vitamin "A", the lack of which heretofore has presented one of the chief difficulties in feeding the white races.

While the nutriment value of soya flour is far greater than that of meat, the cost is only half as much.

Soviet officials are endeavoring to obtain Dr. Berczeller's consent to a production monopoly, but so far the deal has not got beyond the stage of negotiations.

Meat and wheat are not likely to be replaced in the International market by soya flour, but Soviet chemists and dietitians believe human consuption of many foodstuffs will be restricted.

GUN-TOTING IN U. S. BLAMED FOR CRIME

Very Few Criminals in England Armed With Revolvers

MURDERS FEWER

Chicago Equals English Yearly Record in Fortnight

LONDON, Sept. 8—(U.N.)—American familiarity with firearms, particularly with pocket guns, and a tendency to be too quick on the draw comprises one of various English explanations for the fact that several murders are committed every day in the United States while the whole of England gets along on fewer than one a week.

Gun-toting is almost a thing of the past in England. There probably is not one Englishman in 1,000 who could shoot from the hip and hit a barn door at 50 paces, because the average man has not enough opportunity for gun play to become proficient at it.

One of the reasons for the lack of practice is that England has a more complete census of revolvers at large than she has of her population. Rigid control of the manufacture, sale and use of pocket guns is believed to be largely responsible for the fact that only 16 persons were murdered in London during 1924—the work of a fortnight for Chicago murderers.

English policemen do not carry firearms except in rare instances when officers are assigned to especially dangerous duties. During the Irish trouble, for instance, the Scotland Yard men who were assigned to protect members of the British Cabinet from assassins were armed with guns. The ordinary patrolman carries a truncheon. Experience has demonstrated that truncheons and a ready fist, of which latter English policemen are equipped with a well trained pair, are sufficient, and that the criminal's knowledge that uniformed men are unarmed reduces the tendency of the criminals themselves to arm. Knowing that he will not be winged in flight, a crook sees no need for a gun which merely would get him in trouble if he were caught.

There is a tangle of red tape ahead of the person who wants to possess a pocket gun in England. The applicant for a license to arm first must complete a lengthy form stating exactly the details of his identity, nationality, address, occupation, and considerable additional personal information including a lucid declaration of the reason a gun is desired.

A thorough investigation of the accuracy of these statements and of the applicant's personal habits and reputation is made before action is taken. Even then the police chief of the district in which the applicant resides may veto the application without explanation to any one. Each chief must keep a record of residents within his district who possess, manufacture, sell, repair, test, or otherwise handle guns or ammunition.

Former convicts are barred from possession of guns until five years after release from confinement in all cases, and thereafter chances to arm are slight. Persons of intemperate habits are not considered suitable owners of guns. Every licensee must be more than 14 years old.

Pawnbrokers dare not accept guns or ammunition.

Every gun in the country is followed in the official report from the day it leaves the factory until it hits the scrap heap. Possession of a gun without license makes one liable to a fine of $250 or three months at hard labor or both.

Of course another reason for England's freedom from murders is that murderers rarely repeat their offence. Quick punishment, usually at the gallows, prevents that.

IRISH JUDGES DIFFER ON DRESS FOR COURT

DUBLIN, Sept. 8 — (A. P.)—Difference of opinion exists among the Free State judges as to the dress to be worn on the Bench in the future. So far since the change of regime the judges have appeared in ordinary every-day dress, though the barristers continue the use of wigs and gowns.

All the judges are agreed as to the desirability of abolishing the elaborate and decorative robes worn by judges during the British regime. Instead all favor simple black gowns, but two of them, including the lord chief justice, are said to recommend the discontinuance of the wig on the Bench though retaining it for the bar.

McLEAY CHOICE FOR CHINESE PARLEY

LONDON, Sept. 8 — (A. P.) —The Foreign Office announced yesterday that Great Britain will be represented at the Chinese tariff conference, which opens at Peking October 26, by Sir Ronald McLeay, British Minister to China, assisted by Lieut.-Colonel Sidney Cornwallis Peel, as financial adviser, and K. D. Steward, director of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. Colonel Peel is a former financial adviser to the Foreign Office. Mr. Steward lived in Shanghai for 17 years and was a member of the commission which negotiated the last revision of the Chinese customs tariff.

FASHION WEEK
At Murphy's

AS THE BRILLIANT PAGEANT of the mode is revealed at Murphy's, the world of fashion looks on and approves. There is no surer way of achieving smartness and individuality in one's coat, one's hat, frock or accessory than to choose from the exquisite importations displayed in our Fashion Salons.

The Coats of Autumn

Be-Furred, Plumage-Hued and Unmistakably Flared.

IT is just as smart and obligatory for coats to flare this season as it is for swirling, swaying frocks. How this novel effect is achieved is best learned by viewing the beautiful Murphy collection of model coats. At a glimpse, the wonderful new velvety fabrics—needlepoint, carmina, gerona and the rest, seem to flow before your eyes into graceful flares or flutter into drapes. Some with their long stoles of fur recall the robes of Venetian doges; others wear their fur in "Queen Anne" effect, shawl collars, wide revers, deep bands or patches.

Then there's the "tailleur" coat destined for shopping and travelling. That is where novelty tweeds and camel's hair come into their own, with fur used in trimly tailored manner. Here, too, the flare appears and clever inverted pleatings.

The new intricacy of cut achieves side flares in a model coat of Tanager Kashmir Imperial. Ringtail opossum forms its notched rever collar and deep tabbed cuffs 275.00

ONE turns instinctively to Madame Jeanette for the smart and original in hats for ensembles and receptions. Thirty-two models in black prince, rust, black, new blues, each a gem of beauty —arrive in time to grace our opening displays. Madame speaks for Paris when she sponsors velvet, fur felt, hatter's plush and combinations of them all. Other Parisian fancies are large drooping capelines and "moyen" hats that roll at side or back. She goes in for feathers, too, and graceful mounts of ribbon appliques are placed with the sure touch of a mistress of her art.

Kashmir Needlepoint

—Rarest and Most Distinguished of the Season's Coatings.

Needlepoint is the aristocrat of the fabric mode. In the finest of cashmere, it carries out the historic and beautiful needlepoint weave adding to it a depth of color, warmth and velvety lustre. The richest of plumage shades — brown, dove, wren, falcon grey, as well as black are displayed at Murphy's. For the luxurious, fur-trimmed coat, needlepoint is an inevitable choice, 54 inches wide.

Imported Silks

Revel in Color

The rich deep hues of Oriental rugs, soft pastels and vivid autumn colorings have been chosen by Paris, Lyons and Zurich for their newest silks. They're as soft and supple, too, as even Paris could demand for the "animated" silhouette.

C. J. Bonnet's Flat Crepe, 2.95

Extra heavy but delightfully fine in weave. Beautiful for gowns and lingerie. Note the new autumn shades—Mosul, deer, arabesque, fog, cherry, korea, almond, trianon, ivory, bokhare, raphael, sandalwood, navy, black, nigger, alcazar, pompadour, sierre, terrapin. 40 inch.

Furs Important in the Trimming Mode

Naturally one would expect them to be, when the smartest modes in coats are fur-collared, fur-cuffed, fur-banded or showing quaint patches of fur. Dresses, too, seemingly can't have too much of fur. Not a doubt but it is effective, edging a flare or outlining a hem. Among the new and exceptionally varied assortment of smart trimmings at Murphy's are:—

Grey Goat, Marten and Skunk, full long hair furs, 3 inches wide. Yard 3.50

Platinum Hare, Blue Hare and Shrimp color trimming, 1½, 3 and 5 inches wide. Yard 1.50, 3.00 and 5.50

Nitza Vernille in a Charming Dance Act a Big Hit at Princess

THE Princess theatre has always made a speciality of highclass dancing acts, and as a result we have seen in Montreal most of the best presentations on the vaudeville stage from season to season. Very few of them have equalled that which constitutes the main feature of the bill this week. Miss Nitza Vernille and her company are seen in "Wonderland," a cleverly conceived and artistically mounted series of spectacles in which interpretative and illustrative dances are executed against backgrounds harmonious in color and beautifully lighted. To deny Miss Vernille the grace, and mastery of poise of a born dancer, the possession of control of the rhythmic line, and striking personal beauty, would be to admit crass ignorance of what dancing means. She is, in my opinion, the most graceful tall dancer I have ever seen in vaudeville. Every movement she makes is instinct with grace, and she reveals an understanding of poise and an alluring elegance in arrested poise seldom to be noted, even in the work of dancers with established reputation.

Her costumes are chosen with impeccable taste, and her work is further enhanced by the admirable support she receives at the hands of her partner, Mr. John Walsh. Her descent from the flies in a sling made by the gigantic hands of a genii painted by the eccentric Willy Pogany strikes an unusual and arresting note at the very outset, and the entire act is marked by distinction, beauty and charm. Dorothy Stephens and Sandy Davis are a clever and spirited team and contribute highly attractive interlude numbers. Miss Vernille in Oriental dancing, in the dainty Midsummer Night's Dream scene, and in the Waltz scene, "Just for Tonight," delighted her audience, and was the recipient of demonstrative and appreciative applause at the close.

Miss Sylvia Clark is a comedienne with considerable ability in character-portrayal. Her visualisation of an East Side family seeing one of its members off at a New York railway station is humorously true to life, and she scored a big success with it.

The Shuffle Along Quartette specialise in jazz harmonies, and win instant recognition. Louis Stone in upside-down dancing shows dexterity. Edwin George is as funny as ever in his comic soliloquy while juggling. Mr. Sam Liebert in "The End of the World," an old favorite in vaudeville, formerly known as "Slovinsky Sayings," or something like that,—shows that a new generation has arisen since the act was first presented, but that its humorous appeal is still strong. Miss May Honeyman's singing is an outstanding feature.

Marjorie Lee and Dick Maxwell contribute a series of dances to music played by Mary Alison (piano) and Irvin Fields (violin). The Apache dance is more spectacular than most of its type, and the whole series goes with a spirit and a speed that provide a whirlwind close to a highly attractive program. A comedy film is now a regular item of the weekly bills at the Princess.

The Great Blackstone Mystifies Audience by Magic at the Orpheum

The fascination of mystery seems to grow, if anything, with the years. Certain it is that tricks of legerdemain and of necromancy have a bigger hold over the public today than ever, when they are executed with finesse and when the setting is artistic and appropriate. The Great Blackstone, who has been seen here before, in vaudeville, now has his own organization, and has prepared an elaborate program embracing upwards of a hundred and fifty feats, not one of which is commonplace and some of which, it must be admitted, are little short of marvellous as illusions.

Mr. Blackstone's arresting personality, his suave and humorous manner of address, the adroitness of his manipulation and the perfection of his technique, all combine to lend his work a distinctive character that very, very few magicians possess. He is always equal to an emergency, and his ingenuity in deliberately leading his audience on to believe it has detected his method, only to find that he has been deceiving everybody all the time, commands the admiration of all who watch him at his tricks.

It matters little whether he is catching pigeons out of emptiness, spiriting guineapigs out of paper parcels, drawing living models out of empty cabinets, or bringing dainty dancers from some seeming fourth dimension of space, Mr. Blackstone always carries out his illusion with thoroughness. He leaves nothing to chance. Consequently, there is neither bungling nor the unpleasant suggestion of half an illusion. The audience is mystified completely and all the time. And there is nothing an audience enjoys more than to be so mystified that it can supply no explanation of anything it sees,—that is, no explanation that is convincing.

The card tricks afford as much entertainment as anything else. The bigger illusions are spectacularly effective and original enough to keep the spectacular guessing—mainly along the wildest and most improbable lines. There is something for everybody, from children to elderly folk, and Mr. Blackstone passes from trick to trick always the polished, adroit, alert, courteous and genial showman, with an apparently inexhaustible store of entertainment and a new way of doing everything you think you have seen before. The whole show, which is staged far more elaborately than any magician's entertainment presented here in the past, is one of highly effective and bewildering illusion throughout.

Olive McClure and Associates in Good Cabaret at Venetian

If the reception accorded Olive McClure, specialty Charleston dancer, who opened the new cabaret show at the Venetian Gardens last night, may be taken as any index to the popularity the Charleston dance is going to enjoy here as a platform or ball-room feature, then there need be no doubt whatever as to its success. Miss McClure is a newcomer to Montreal. She is a skilful entertainer, however, with a style that appeals, and her experience at the Knickerbocker and the Silver Slipper night clubs in New York, where they are very critical of exhibition dancers, has stood her in good stead. She makes of the Charleston a dance of unexpected movements, back and side kicks that are graceful,—a rare thing,—and rhythms of unusual convolutions and smoothly executed poises. She also contributes an Oriental dance with her hands chained together that is a novelty and a remarkable exhibition of sinuous graceful movement and of the possibilities of expressing, through the medium of poise, pose, and physical gestures, a complete tragedy without words.

Associated with Miss McClure in the new Cabaret show are Gardner and Natalia, two whirlwind dancers from Nee Wayburn's school. They provide plenty of sensational moments. Their dancing is speedy, picturesque and graceful, despite its eccentricities, and its speed is only one of several highly attractive features.

Miss Helen Kay Booth, the vocalist, is the possessor of a rich contralto of mellow quality which she knows how to utilize with effective restraint.

Myron Pearl at the Imperial Presents An Eccentric Dance Act

It is doubtful if the modern trend towards extreme eccentricity in dance steps has ever been illustrated on the vaudeville stage here with such expertness as is to be noted in the work of Myron and Harry Pearl, at the Imperial Theatre this week. They seem to defy all laws of grace and balance, and their dexterity is amazing. Of course, there are many people for whom this type of dancing has little or no appeal, and they will find in the other features of the act dances of a different type that possess artistry and the fascination rhythmic motion gracefully executed invariably holds. Dolly Pearl is a dainty dancer who suggests thistledown when she leaps lightly into the air. Her costumes are pretty, and she possesses style, spirit, and an intriguing personality. The trio work well together, and the artistic staging and setting, as well as the music played by Reuben Barnett, serve to emphasize the attractiveness of the act.

* * *

Helen Moretti, a popular vocalist, who is content to sing good ballads and who, to her credit, eschews the nauseating "blues" ditties, wins emphatic approval with her selections. Her voice is well controlled, of pleasing timbre, and utilized always to the maximum of effect. The potpourrie of popular songs with which she concludes, seems to cover the whole range of the favorites of the day.

William Ebs, the ventriloquist, utilizes a novel method of securing an effective ending for his act, and certainly succeeds in creating demonstrative hilarity among his audience.

"Samples," brings John Philbrick and Loretta De Veau in a song and patter act, which develops unexpectedly amusing features, and concludes with a new alphabet game that is likely to prove highly popular.

Robettas and Deegan provide several sensations on a trapeze and in a spin executed by Robettas while hanging on by his teeth that is genuinely thrilling to watch. The Primrose Four, one of the most popular of comedy quartettes in vaudeville, enjoy themselves hugely, and see that the audience does likewise.

* * *

The feature film for the week is "The Little French Girl," which has already been shown in Montreal, but which seems to have a real appeal for Imperial audiences.

Burlesque Stock at Gayety Theatre, "Hello 1926" is Bright Show

The opening of the season at Montreal's burlesque house, the Gayety, is marked by the introduction of Leo Stevens' stock burlesque company in a new show, "Hello, 1926." This is an experiment for Montreal, as hitherto the Columbia Wheel shows have been seen on the Gayety stage. It was thought, however, that public apathy might be more effectively combatted by the engagement of a stock organization and the presentation of guest principals at short intervals throughout the season.

A marked feature of the opening show is the really good work of the chorus. They are pretty girls, they wear their costumes effectively, and they have voices worth hearing. The comedy is bright and snappy, the dialogue smart and full of pithy retorts, and the general atmosphere of good humor created communicates itself to the audience. The principals speedily won the good opinion of the public, and were greeted with generous applause.

Manny Koler, Benn Blatt and Jack Shutta have the leading eccentric comedy roles, and R. Sandberg, R. Lorenzo, Jack Edwards and R. Jones are responsible for "straight" parts. Larry Larivee, of Montreal, contributes a French-Canadian monologue that is enthusiastically received. Several novel features won hearty commendation, and the spiciness of the show was not overdone, but just sufficient to lend it a sauce piquante.

Richard Dix Featured In "Men and Women" At Strand This Week

In "Men and Women," the feature picture at the Strand for the first three days of this week, the leading roles are well portrayed by Richard Dix, Claire Adams, Neil Hamilton, and Robert Edeson. The story which is quite interesting, tells of the struggles and temptations of a young couple just starting in life in New York. Richard Dix is seen as the young husband, who is a cashier in one of the large banks, and Claire Adams plays the part of his wife. She loves beautiful clothes and all the other little niceties that are beyond the reach of a bank clerk's salary. Neil Hamilton, in the role of Ned Seabury, is assistant to Dix in the bank. He has been gambling in Wall Street with great success. He loves Mrs. Prescott (Claire Adams) and presents her with valuable gifts, much to the displeasure of her husband. The upshot of the whole thing is that Dix invests some bank funds in Wall Street, and they are wiped out. He faces prison until his wife pleads with the President of the Bank that she alone is to blame. He is released, and given a chance to start anew in South America. We leave the young couple sailing for their new home, firmly resolved never again to be tempted by the fripperies of life.

"The Fighting Schoolman," with Josie Sedgwick featured, and a comedy called "The Tourist," complete the program.

Big Demand Shown For "No, No, Nanette" Coming Next Week

There was unusual activity at His Majesty's theatre yesterday when the first public sale of seats for "No, No, Nanette" took place. Interest seemed to centre in the fact that this much discussed musical comedy will probably be the only touring attraction to play at His Majesty's theatre this season, and in the desire on the part of many Montrealers returning from Europe who were unable to secure tickets for the Frazee success in London.

Ever since it became known that His Majesty's theatre was to open next week, the mail orders have been pouring in, and the rush demand for seats is in keeping with the general interest that has followed the announcement of the opening of the house for one week only.

Thomas Meighen in "The Man Who Found Himself" at Capitol

The ever-popular Thomas Meighen occupies a superior position in the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre this week, —"The Man Who Found Himself." As usual, he is continually to the fore, and there is little else for the balance of the cast, but the audience appeared to enjoy plenty of Meighen. The plot is laid in a small town and tells the story of a young banker, who assumed the crime of his brother, who is married and the father of a young family. He elects to go to jail and while there, the villain, who did all the dirty work, marries the girl of the hero's heart, portrayed by Virginia Valli. Of course no self-respecting picture would end with Thomas Meighen wearing stripes in a penitentiary, so the wrong is righted and the sterling young man finally achieves his hopes.

* * *

In the principal part Meighen is himself, and no doubt flutters many feminine hearts. He is manly and heroic and what more does the average movie fan ask of any leading man? Virginia Valli is satisfactory as the heroine. The balance of the cast is negligible.

Arnold Becker, Bol Cohns and Marion Paul combine effectively in "The Street Singer," presenting an enjoyable singing and dancing number.

The orchestra again distinguishes itself in the overture, "Paramount Forever," a medley of musical themes. The balance of the program is thoroughly satisfactory.

"Kiss in the Dark" At Palace Theatre is Of Sustained Interest

An enjoyable picture has resulted from the filming of "A Kiss in the Dark," this week's presentation at the Palace Theatre. Adolph Menjeu is the leading artiste, and leaves little to be desired in the role of an amusing philanderer who is continually getting into hot water. The plot centres around the efforts of Walter Graham, whose exploits among the fair sex rank him with Don Juan and other famous lovers, to cure a young lady, Betty King, of flirting. She is his fiancee, and to achieve his purpose and yet live down his own particular reputation becomes quite a task.

Despite the somewhat slow plot, there are some tense and dramatic situations, and interest has been well sustained throughout.

Lillian Rich, Aileen Pringle and Kenneth MacKenna support Menjou, and are real supports,—not of the "fill-in" variety. Menjou himself gives a performance marked by the distinction only an artist of his ability can render.

* * *

The audience is told at the beginning of the picture that "A Kiss In The Dark" was suggested by Frederick Lonsdale's play, "Aren't We All?" but there is very little of the plot of that play in the picture. However, the word "suggested" was used and there is a mere suggestion of "Aren't We All?"

Bobby Vernon is featured in a frothy comedy entitled "Watch Out" full of nonsense, but very amusing. A fashion show adds a picturesque and unusually attractive feature.

AUTOIST SENT TO JAIL

In these by-elections the Party standing was changed in three instances. The Conservatives gained a seat in Halifax by the election of Mr. Black, and another in Kent, by the election of Mr. Doucet, while the Liberals gained one in West Hastings.

PRINCIPAL CHANGES

The principal changes brought about by redistributing are in Ontario and the West. Nova Scotia will have fourteen instead of sixteen seats in the new House. This is accomplished by merging Hants and Kings and electing one member instead of two and by the same process of uniting, Lunenburg and Queens. Shelburne which used to be attached to Queens now goes unto Yarmouth, and that part of Digby which was attached to Yarmouth goes to Digby and Annapolis. There are no changes in New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island The former retaining its eleven seats ad the latter its four.

NEW CONSTITUENCIES.

In Quebec there is a new constituency in Montreal known as Mount Royal, and Brome County disappears, being merged with Missisquoi. Berthier and Maskinonge are joined and will elect one member. A new seat is created in the Saguenay district.

In Ontario there is a new seat in Essex, while the two Elgins and Norfolk in place of having three members will have two. The constituencies are to be Elgin-Norfolk. Dufferin is merged with one of the Simcoes. North Ontario disappears as a separate constituency and is divided between South Ontario and Muskoka. Part of Hastings is joined to East Peterborough. The counties of Addington and Frontenac are joined as one constituency, and Prince Edward Island and Lennox as another. Dundas is linked with Belleville. Stormont and Glengarry are divided, each having a member. In the North there is a new seat known as Kenora and Rainy River, and another, brought about by the division of Temiskaming into North and South Ridings. Toronto gets three new seats, the electoral map of the City and York being extensively readjusted. In the West Manitoba will have 17 in place of 15 seats. Saskatchewan will have 21 instead of 16, Alberta 16 instead of 12, and British Columbia 14 instead of 13. The Yukon retains its representation of one member.

From The Movie Theatres

AT the Regent this week, "Beggar on Horseback," a picture version of the stage play of the same name, heads a good double bill. The leading roles are capably portrayed by Esther Ralston and Edward Horton. The story has to do with the dream of a poverty-ridden musical genius—Horton —in which he is pursued by two fascinating young ladies. "Black Lightning," with Clara Bow and Thunder, the canine actor, is the other attraction.

* * *

Richard Barthelmess' latest picture, "Soul Fire," will close an engagement at the Papineau and Belmont theatres tonight. In addition to this the Papineau is showing "Everyman's Wife," with Herbert Rawlinson and Dorothy Phillips feature, while the Belmont is screening Elinor Glyn's "Man and Maid."

* * *

Some of the most important scenes in "A Woman's Faith," which will be shown at the Rialto tonight for the last time, were taken at Ste. Anne de Beaupre. This dramatic love story is capably presented on the screen by Percy Marmont and Alma Rubens. A comedy called "Short Pants" rounds out the bill.

* * *

Richard Dix and Florence Vidor are the principal players on the Plaza's double program, which will have its final presentation tonight. Mr. Dix appears in "The Shock Punch," while Miss Vidor's vehicle is "Marry Me." The comedy on the bill is "Andy's Stump Speech," featuring The Gumps.

* * *

A dancing revue will be staged at the Corona tonight, in addition to the film presentations, which include "Night Life of New York" and "Stop Flirting." In the former picture the chief roles are interpreted by Rod Larocque, Dorothy Gish and Ernest Torrence, while in the latter Wanda Hawley is the leading player. A short comedy, "The Milky Way," will also be screened.

PAINTERS OPEN BIG CONVENTION

Welcomed to Montreal by Tom Moore, Mayor Duquette and Others

Six hundred delegates to the annual convention of the International Union of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers were welcomed at the Mount Royal Hotel yesterday by Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and Mayor Duquette of Montreal. Many of the delegates also took part in the annual Labor Day parade.

In his address, Mr. Moore referred to labor organizations stating that Canadian members of international unions were perhaps better citizens than others because, in the opinion of the speaker, the international union men had a broader vision of their organization and responsibilities.

Mr. Moore stated, however, that he did not believe it necessary to forget personal convictions to become a good international unionist. The speaker referred to the harmonious relations between English and French-speaking unionists and declared that the organization was flourishing in Canada and through this the country was also prospering.

Mayor Duquette in welcoming the delegates pointed out that it had always been his aim to keep a clear and just impartial attitude towards the national and international unions but warmly greeted the visitors and stated that Montreal was glad to receive them. A welcome was also extended by John T. Foster, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor congress on behalf of local internationalists.

The president of the Painters, Decorators and Paper Hanger's union, George F. Hedrick, also spoke, giving a review of the work of the year and stated that owing to improved sanitary conditions the average life of a member of the trade had been extended. Previously he said, the average life of a member of the trade was placed by insurance companies at 55 years but this had now been improved. After concluding some routine business the meeting adjourned.

Ten American states have among them more telephones than all foreign countries combined.

The wife of the poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was burned to death.

TALKS PROBLEMS OF MARITIMES

A. M. Belding Says Canadians Should Give Thought to All Provinces

"If a man from the Maritimes might be permitted to offer a suggestion," said A. M. Belding of the editorial staff of the St. John Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star, last evening, "it would be that our fellow Canadians give more thought to ways of cementing the larger union, of all provinces, which is vital to this Dominion, than to the question of a maritime union, which is not vital, and at present far beyond the realm of practical politics.

"I was in Prince Edward Island less than two weeks ago," continued Mr. Belding, "addressing the Federated Boards of Trade and Farmers' Institutes at a convention in Summerside, on the relations of the Maritimes with the rest of Canada. They were very keenly interested in that, but entirely cold to the subject of Maritime union. One influential citizen observed that the whole Island had little more population than the city and county of Halifax, while both the Island and New Brunswick would be overshadowed by Nova Scotia. He declared his province would not consider union for one moment. It is conceded that union would reduce the cost of government, and of administration in a number of important directions; but the tendency of the people is conservative regarding changes, and a degree of insular prejudice would have to be overcome.

"Premier Stewart believes, however, that there are a number of ways in which the three Governments may co-operate and reduce expenditures. Premier-elect Baxter, of New Brunswick, expressed to me the same view in a recent conversation, and I have no doubt Premier Rhodes, of Nova Scotia agrees. At all events, the three Premiers will get together after the political excitement subsides, and, I believe, to good purpose. As just one illustration, Premier Stewart would have one set of school books for the three provinces, and thus reduce the cost of printing. The Prairie Provinces and British Columbia are now considering a common course for their territory."

The newspapers with which Mr. Belding is associated, and which last winter sent him across Canada to tell the story of the Maritimes, have now sent him to this province and Ontario to interview manufacturers, exporters and importers, in the interest of trade over Canadian railways and through Canadian ports, with special reference to Maritime Provinces ports in winter. He will be in Montreal for the next two weeks. His mission is endorsed by Boards of Trade and business interests in the Maritimes, and will keep him busy for the next three months.

EXPECT $1,500,000 SPECIAL TAXES

The city expects to collect $1,500,000 in special taxes for ratepayers' share of construction of roads, sidewalks and sewers, etc. In 1924 the city expended $17,862,000 in these works, and an added $6,000,000 was spent this year. These works are spread over ten, fifteen or twenty years, for repayment to the city for money obtained through temporary loans. This year the city sent out 150,000 special tax accounts. Last year's collections reached $1,370,148, on 122,700 accounts.

CHILD SLAYER BELIEVED INSANE

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 8 —(U. P.)—Harrison Noel will probably never be brought to trial for his crimes, police officers said today, as the prosecution paved the way for his examination by a lunacy commission.

The 20-year-old kidnapper and confessed slayer of Mary Daly, six, was termed "hopelessly insane" by Captain James F. Mason, who aided in extracting the confession.

The funeral of Mary will be held today. David Daly and his wife, parents of the child, have secluded themselves since Mary's lifeless body, pierced by two bullets, was brought home from Mountainview. The body had been placed in a clump of bushes.

Watch Out, Madam!

When beauty is at stake use Palmolive

FOR your sake and for ours, we must combat a false idea.

Some people, we learn, think ordinary soaps, claiming to be "for the complexion," have an effect similar to Palmolive.

That is wrong. They don't. Palmolive complexions come only from Palmolive.

In the old days you were told, "Use no soap on your face." For soaps were too harsh.

Then came Palmolive. It was made of cosmetic oils, of olive and palm oils famous as beautifiers since the days of Cleopatra—combined in a secret beauty blend. It was made to be used freely, to be used lavishly on the skin.

Then note what happened. Women tried it, got amazing results, and told others. Palmolive became the leading toilet soap of the world. In France, the home of cosmetics, Palmolive is one of the two largest selling toilet soaps. French women have largely discarded French soaps for Palmolive.

The reason is this: Palmolive is a unique creation, based on 60 years of soap study. It is a scientific soap. A soap made for ONE purpose only . . . to foster good complexions.

It is not recommended for laundry work, nor even for fine fabrics. To make it good for those things, we should have to reduce its cosmetic qualities greatly. And good complexions are too precious to be thus endangered.

So we ask you, madam, when seeking a soap for fabric cleansing, to get a good laundry soap.

But we urge you, above all things, when beauty is your aim, to use Palmolive.

Palmolive is not claimed the only great complexion soap. We know of two others. But they cost you 25 cents, while Palmolive sells for but 10 cents . . . no more than ordinary soaps. Enormous production brings you this modest cost.

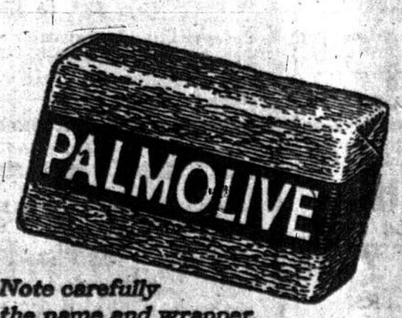
Wash, cleanse, launder with any soap you wish. But for your face . . . take care! . . . use Palmolive, a soap you know is safe to use. It is nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion."

IN PARIS

French women are discarding French soaps for Palmolive

Palmolive is today one of the two greatest selling toilet soaps in France. Parisian beauties are glad to pay almost twice as much for a cake of Palmolive as Canadian women pay. And, in many cases, three times as much as for their own French soaps. Remember this when tempted by "French" claims for soaps.

(MADE IN CANADA)



Note carefully the name and wrapper. Palmolive is never sold unwrapped.

MONTREAL WORKMEN HONORED LABOR DAY

Some 10,000 Montreal workmen turned out yesterday in a parade 20 blocks in length, to celebrate Labor Day in the customary manner.

Leaving Viger Square at ten o'clock sharp, the procession, led by the band of the Carabiniers Mont Royal, passed in review on the steps of St. Sauveur Church, St. Denis and Viger streets, under the inspection of Mayor Duquette, Hon. James Murdock, Federal Minister of Labor, ex-Mayor Mederic Martin, Thomas Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, and other guests, and officers of Montreal Trades and Labor Council.

Several hundred delegates of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers also joined the procession, that body being in convention in the city over the week end. After the review, Mayor Duquette, Hon. Mr. Murdock and others in the reviewing party joined the procession as it marched up St. Denis street, along St. Catherine, up St. Lawrence, along Ontario street east to Amherst, down to Ste. Catherine street east, thence to Papineau and down Papineau to the square where they broke up.

Among those present when the parade passed in review were: His Worship Mayor Duquette, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor; Thomas Moore, president of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress; ex-Mayor Mederic Martin, John T. Foster, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council; J. A. Savard, pro-mayor; Aldermen Emond, Gareau, Legault, Dubreuil, Langlois, Vandelac, Watson, Schubert, Rubenstein, C. R. Rodier, K.C., A. Verville, Raoul Lefebvre, master plasterer; A. CONVICT STABBED TO DEATH AT GAMES

AUBURN, N. Y., Sept. 8 — (A. P.) While inmates of Auburn prison was attending a holiday programme of athletic events in the yard of the institution yesterday, George Wagner, 27, of New York City, serving a sentence of 16 years for robbery, first degree, was stabbed and died ten minutes later in the prison hospital.

Wagner's assailants had not been apprehended up to a late hour last night, and prisoners who had been in the immediate vicinity of the stabbing refused to give any information on it. Neither had the authorities been able to locate the instrument which caused the convict's death.

The portrait of the late President Harding was recently engraved on the head of a pin.

AMERICAN SAVED FROM CHINESE MOB

LONDON, Sept. 8. — (U.N.)—C. C. Elrod, an American, was mauled by a Chinese mob in Shanghai Monday, acording to a despatch to the Daily Mail. Elrod was rescued by the police, who drove the Chinese out of the foreign settlement.

The mob was led by a woman. During the riot, which occurred when the police moved against the Chinese, members of the mob chanted: Kill, kill.

Make the day's work seem like play—Keep in trim the Kruschen way.

"Who's been missing his Kruschen?"

Arthur: Hallo, George, you look sadly off colour. What's the trouble?

George: I don't know what it is; I get so sleepy after lunch — no energy, no "pep" in me at all. Can't understand it. Don't feel fit for work at all — not like you, you healthy hound!

Arthur: Hm! Sleepy after lunch, eh? I know that feeling. Used to suffer from it myself.

George: You! Why you're always simply bursting with health. How on earth do you do it? I suppose you're one of those outdoor-exercise and fresh-air fiends. I don't seem to have any time for exercise nowadays.

Arthur: I don't get any more exercise and fresh air than you do. But at this time of year especially, when the blood gets sluggish, I go in for the regular little daily dose.

George: What, the good old Kruschen way?

Arthur: Yes, Kruschen. It's the little daily dose that does it! Tones you up wonderfully; puts new life into you altogether. Splendid stuff! But I thought you were a convert. You used to take it.

George: I know. So I did. Did me a lot of good too, but latterly I've put off getting a new bottle.

Arthur: Then you've only yourself to thank, you silly ass! You sit there groaning and yawning, when all the time you know quite well that Kruschen would buck you up again. Get a fresh bottle on the way home. I tell you there's nothing like it. I wouldn't miss my Kruschen now for love or money!

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

Kruschen, unlike any other saline preparation, is a scientific combination of the six salts your body needs for its proper health, —to cleanse it of all clogging waste matter, to keep the blood pure and vigorous, to brace up and vitalise the whole system. If you lead an ideally healthy life in the open air, with plenty of exercise and no worries, your body would extract these vital salts for itself from your food. But the artificial life you lead prevents this. Hence the need for the "little daily dose" of Kruschen. Start now taking a tiny pinch—as much as will cover a 10 cent piece — in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning. It's tasteless taken this way, but it makes you, and keeps you, healthy, cheerful and energetic — gives you in fact "that Kruschen feeling." Every druggist sells Kruschen. A 75c bottle contains 160 doses — nearly enough for six months. Get a bottle to-day and begin a new life to-morrow. It's the "little daily dimeful" that does it.

CORN EXCHANGE PROTESTS ORDER ON EQUAL RATES

Claim it Threatens Stability of Whole Rate Structure

DISCRIMINATION

Asks Reconsideration as Part of Whole Grain Rate Probe

Claiming that the attitude of the Board of Railway Commissioners in fixing equal rates on grain and flour going to British Columbia ports or to Montreal, is equivalent to discrimination against Montreal, the Montreal Corn Exchange has appealed to the board to rescind this order, and to make the question part of the general freight rate investigation to be held soon.

J. K. Smith, transportation manager of the Board of Trade, has forwarded the petition on behalf of the Corn Exchange, pointing out that the Corn Exchange of Montreal was never notified of any hearing regarding these rates, nor invited to be heard on the subject. The management committtee of the Exchange entertains a fear that the order equalizing grain freight rates may lead to general disturbance of all the rates on the North American continent.

Mr. Smith's letter to the board of Railway Commissioners follows:

"I am directed to make application to your board on behalf of the Montreal Corn Exchange Association under sections 51 and 59 of the Railway Act, Chapter 68, of Statutes of Canada, 1919, to rescind order No. 36769 of September 2, 1925, in the matter of the application of the province of British Columbia for an order reducing the rates on grain and flour, moving westward for export, to the same rates, proportioned to distances, as the same would carry if moving eastward for export, and for a reconsideration of the case as part of the general investigation.

"Neither the Montreal Corn Exchange Association nor the Montreal Board of Trade, of which this organization is a branch, were notified of the hearing in this case, nor were they given an opportunity of being heard.

"Order-in-Council P.C. 886 of June 5, 1925, directs the board, among other things, to make a thorough investigation of the rate structures of railways and railway companies subject to the jurisdiction of Parliament, with a view to the establishment of a fair and reasonable rate structure which will, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, be equal in its application to all persons and localities, etc.

DISCRIMINATION.

"If the proposed rates are made effective September 15 on grain and flour to Pacific ports for export, your board will readily understand the discrimination created against flour and grain moving eastward from Port William, Port Arthur and Armstrong, Ont., to Montreal, Quebec, St. John and Halifax for export and the Montreal Corn Exchange Association will be forced to demand that the discrimination be removed immediately by the movement above referred to.

"Copy of this application is being mailed today to J. Alistair Fraser and E. P. Flintoff of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways."

Mr. Smith's review of the matter in the memorandum to the Corn Exchange reads as follows:

On the fifth day of November, 1924, the Hon. H. A. McKeown, chief commissioner of the Board of Railway Commissioners, and the Hon. Frank Oliver held a sitting with the board to consider minor cases of a purely local nature. In fact, the railway officials did not consider it necessary to be represented by other than local officials. At some time after the arrival of the commissioners in Vancouver there was added to the list of questions set down for hearing "An application to the Government of the province of British Columbia for an order reducing the rates on grain, moving westward for export, to the same rates proportioned to the distance as the same grain would carry if moving eastward for export."

Under Section 57 of the Railway Act there shall be given, unless otherwise provided, fifteen days' notice of a hearing, but it provides that the board may direct a hearing on shorter notice if it is thought necessary.

No notice was ever sent to the Canadian National Railways, according to the rules of the board, and consequently they have not had an opportunity of presenting their case. Moreover, the notice given was shorter than is usually allowed for the discussion of such a gigantic question, affecting the entire rate fabric of the Dominion. On June 5, 1925, Order-in-Council P.C. No. 886 was promulgated and contained the following extracts:

URGE PROBE.

"The committee therefore advise that the board be directed to make a thorough investigation of the rate structures of railways and railway companies, subject to the jurisdiction of Parliament, with a view to the establishment of a fair and reasonable rate structure which will, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, be equal in its application to all persons and localities, so as to permit of the freest possible interchange of commodities between the various provinces and territories of the Dominion and the expansion of its trade, both foreign and domestic, having due regard to the needs of its agricultural and other basic industries, and in particular to:

"(a) The claim asserted on behalf of the Maritime Provinces that they are entitled to the restoration of the rate basis which they enjoyed prior to 1919:

"(b) The encouragement of the movement of traffic through Canadian ports;

"(c) The increased traffic westward and eastward through Pacific Coast ports owing to the expansion of trade with the Orient and to the transportation of product through the Panama Canal."

As a result of this order the board, on July 9, 1925, issued a circular containing the following extracts:

"The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, in order to effect and carry out as expeditiously as possible the directions of the above in part recited Order-in-Council, keeping in view the specific instructions contained therein, hereby requests the public, both as individuals and organizations, as well as provincial municipal and civic authorities, Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce; trade, industrial and labor organizations; firms, companies and individuals, including shippers and carries, as follows:

"(a) To submit to the Board any statement of facts under which it is claimed that unjust discrimination or undue preference, or unfair treatment exists in connection with the rates of freight charged upon any commodities or in the treatment of any person, city or province by any railway company;

"(b) To set forth the grounds upon which it is claimed on behalf of the Maritime Provinces that they are entitled to the restoration of the rate basis which they enjoyed prior to 1919;

"(c) To make submission as to the encouragement of the movement of traffic through Canadian seaports."

"Testimony now before the board in cases already heard and in which no decision has been given is not to be repeated. New and material evidence in such cases may be submitted in the usual way.

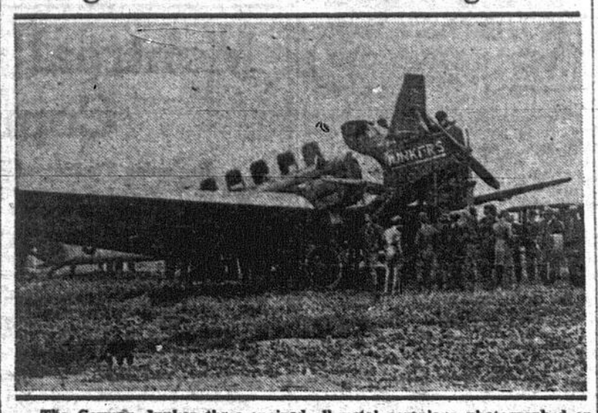
The purpose of the above request it to put the board, as early as possible, in possession of any and all complaints against the existing rate structure which may be put forward for its consideration in the investigation to be held pursuant to the directions contained in the Order-in-Council; and to specifically direct the attention of the board to the subject matter of such complaints, with a view of considering what changes, adjustments and redistribution in rate incidence, in accordance with the law, may be necessary to correct the defects complained of; and to secure to the fullest possible extent the equalization of freight rates, so as to deal equitably with all parts of Canada as well as to facilitate the interchange of commodities between various portions of the Dominion and to encourage industry and agriculture and the development of export trade.

"The board desires to enter upon such investigation with the least practicable delay, and to conduct the same in a manner most calculated to secure a complete and systematic development of all facts material to the inquiry with a minimum of disturbance to business and traffic conditions generally."

The Chief Commissioner, supported by Mr. Commissioner Oliver, on September 2, 1925, issued Order No. 36769, ordering the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways to file tariffs, effective not later than 15th September, 1925, reducing the rates on grain and flour from prairie shipping points for export to the same rates proportioned to distance as such grain and flour would carry if moving eastward under the Crow's Nest Pass rates. On the same date the majority of the board issued a dissenting judgment under the form of a resolution, an extract of which reads as follows:

"Therefore, be it resolved by the board that, in terms of the direction so given to it by Order-in-Council P.C. 886, the matter of export gain rates via Pacific ports, and other matters, if any, pertinent to the investigation in which hearing may have been held, but judgment not rendered, must of necessity be dealt with as part of the general investigation and under the judgment to be rendered in connection therewith."

Huge Fortune Carried Through Air



The German Junker three-engined all-metal aeroplane photographed on arrival at Croydon, Eng., recently, with bullion to the value of £9,966,000, being a payment to England by Germany under the Dawes plan. This type of machine is stated to be the most luxurious in the world.

PRESENTATIONS.

The staff of the Car Accountant's Department of the Canadian National Railways held an informal get-together on Saturday morning to wish two of its members luck, and also to present them with tangible tokens of esteem, on the occasion of their forthcoming marriages, which take place this week.

E. C. Hubbard was the recipient of a case of table silverware. Mr. Hubbard leaves on Monday for Salem, Mass., to marry Miss M. Constable of that city and formerly of Moncton, New Brunswick, where Mr. Hubbard was on the staff of the Car Accountant's Department for seven years prior to his transfer to Montreal in May, 1923.

Miss Gladys Higgs, who has been in the service of the Canadian National Railways for eight years, was also the recipient of a silver tea service. Miss Higgs is to be married on Wednesday to Christopher J. Cobb who has been a member of the Treasury Department at headquarters of the Canadian National Railways, for the past eight years.

At the office of the General Passenger Agent, Harry C. Nevin, excursion clerk, whose marriage to Miss Phylis E. Burns takes place on September 8, was presented with a table lamp and a clock by fellow members of his office. The presentation was made by E. C. Elliott, General Passenger Agent.

APPROVES OUR ELEVATORS.

New York needs elevators similar to those in Montreal in the opinion of Lawson H. Brown, manager of the civic department of the Brooklyn, N. Y. Chamber of Commerce who is in the city preparatory to conducting a party of members of the Chamber on a trip down the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers. He added that Louis Pounds, commissioner of the port of New York, who has studied the elevator system, has expressed an opinion in line with his own.

THE NEW APPOINTMENTS.

THERE is no denying that the King Government has strengthened itself on the eve of the elections by calling Hon. Herbert Marler to its councils. But it would be equally useless to deny that Mr. Marler has not strengthened himself. One of his most valuable qualities as a public servant has been his stalwart independence—his freedom to criticize the Government as well as to praise—and that entirely disappears now he has taken "the King's shilling"—Mackenzie King's.

Still it is only the truth that Herbert Marler remains an almost unequalled Parliamentarian of his sort. We do not mean—as is so often meant by this phrase—that he is a hot air artist. Quite the contrary. He is a man with an overpowering passion for facts. He never takes up a subject without exhausting it to the last detail; and his speeches in Parliament have become famous as carefully documented State papers which are used as political text-books by more superficial or less industrious men.

It is thus easy to explain why great pressure has been put upon him to join the Cabinet. We are only sorry that it succeeded. We preferred Herbert Marler, the Independent, to Hon. Herbert Marler, the Minister. But, of course, his position in the Cabinet will make it much easier for him to hold his constituency.

On the other hand, the King Ministry has at last accepted its loss in the departure of Mr. Fielding—and it is a grave loss. Mr. Fielding was a clean, honest, vigilant and popular public man. He was a real power in the Cabinet and a great strength to it outside. When illness laid its tragic hand upon him, the nation as well as his colleagues suffered a very serious injury.

Some good appointments have been made. Mr. J. C. Walsh has won lasting laurels as Crown Prosecutor and will be an ornament to the Bench. Mr. Archambault and Mr. Ethier have been effective members of the House and will doubtless maintain the high standards of the Canadian judiciary, as will Mr. Stackhouse. It is a comfort that, no matter which party is in power, it commonly realizes its responsibility in the selection of judges.

The newspaper profession will welcome the appointment of Mr. John Lewis to the Senate, though only the party organists will sympathise with him in his "protest" against the decision of the Toronto Globe to cease playing party tunes. Mr. Lewis himself, however, is a very capable and well-informed student of public affairs and ought to be a real acquisition to the Upper House—which body, by the way, never stood higher in public confidence than today. Naturally Mr. King wants to "reform" it out of his way; but the atmosphere of the Senate has hitherto always been able to turn "reformers" into sound Senators.

A GREAT FRENCHMAN.

POSTERITY will not experience any difficulty in placing Rene Viviani. A figure of uncommon brilliance, he occupied for an unusually long period a position of rare distinction among his own people and in the ranks of the world's famous public men. A son of Algeria, of commanding presence, he seemed to have imbibed something of the fierce and penetrating fire of the Algerian sun, and when he spoke it poured forth in the mellow splendor of oratory unexcelled in our day and generation.

Viviani was a staunch and powerful friend of the working man. During his political career, he did much for the French laboring classes, and by his tact, his far-sightedness, and his eloquence he went far in assisting to bring about a better understanding between the wealthy classes and the working people. For that his memory will be held in high esteem throughout his fatherland. But it is as the golden-voiced orator who could at will make thousands weep, laugh, shudder or cheer that he will be remembered by most people in France and elsewhere on both sides of the Atlantic.

None of those who were present in the House of Commons at Ottawa will ever forget the occasion when Viviani, on a visit here with Joffre during the war, stood up and expressed the gratitude of France to Canada for her aid. His gift of oratory was a thing men marvelled at. His voice was of exceptional range and clarity, and he employed it with the skill of a great artist. It will be said of him that he seldom lifted it to ineffective purpose and never in a cause he did not believe to be righteous. A man of extreme views of religious and social problems, he yet held close friends those who were bitterly opposed to his beliefs, such was the charm of his personality and the influence of his passionate sincerity. He filled a unique place in the public life of France, and though that land of orators is never lacking a spokesman of genius, the death of Viviani creates a void none will completely fill.

THE LEAGUE, ITS PRESIDENT AND PURPOSES.

AS we anticipated, Senator Dandurand and Canada have been honored by his election to the Presidency of the Sixth Assembly of the League of Nations. This is at least as much a compliment to the Senator's personality as to the Dominion which he represents, and cannot fail to put Canada in a more prominent position before the minds of the nations concerned in the deliberations of the League. Something is due, we imagine, to what should be the birthright of every Canadian—the facility of the Senator in speaking the two leading languages of the civilized world, English and French.

The League itself is rapidly falling into its proper perspective. It is an instrument in the hands of diplomacy for smoothing the path of peace. Those who have expected more of it, and have raucously advertised it as a power which could command peace and more or less eliminate war, have done it a great ill-service. Many who are quite willing to support it as a donkey-engine to diplomacy — a handy cold storage plant into which inflammable subjects can be laid away until they cool—a well-organized bureau to look after international details—are alarmed by the claim that it greatly minimizes the danger of war. They see in this an argument in the hands of the "pacifists" who want us all to disarm.

Premier Painleve had this idea firmly in mind when he insisted that "security must come before disarmament. This sequence," he said, "cannot be changed. Any change would be highly dangerous to peace." This is entirely true; and—if applied widely enough—is the whole truth. But it will not do for civilization to limit the word "security" in this respect to the "security pact" which only assures security along the borders of one river. There must also be security in Eastern Europe (which the pact pointedly omits), in Western Asia (where the League at this very session will find a thorny question in Mosul), in Eastern Asia (where the British police have just been compelled to fire again on a mob in Shanghai), in the vast new world of the Pacific Ocean (where a cruising American fleet is even now stirring up new issues), in North Africa (where the French find their "black empire" challenged), all about the borders of Soviet Russia (a surging reservoir of hate or envy which may any day overflow in any direction).

Our American friends stay out of the League because they do not want to be involved in Old World quarrels. Leaving the Old World free to fall into quarrels which will inevitably drag America into the cauldron, is the worst possible way for them to keep out of foreign wars. Their clearest thinkers perceive this and try to exercise an influence for peace through extra-League agencies, such as a World's Court, the Dawes Commission and a series of Disarmament Conferences. Canada—having the same objective in view, i.e., escape from Old World quarrels where possible—takes the wiser road to that end by joining the League and working through it.

Every agency that can be employed to assure peace should be used. Every nation that means peace should be encouraged to do as much as it will. Even then it will probably be impossible to preserve peace very long. There are too many erupting volcanoes—too many human forces that make for conflict—too many cases in which trains of aspiration, travelling in opposite directions, must manage to pass on the same track.

A LABOR CRISIS IN BRITAIN.

THE annual Trades Union Congress which opened yesterday at Scarborough marks a turning point in the history of organized labor in Britain. The Communists and extreme radicals, heartened by the seeming indifference of the authorities to their obviously treasonable speeches, have taken their courage in both hands and are challenging the Congress on the issue of whether the moderates of the movement shall continue to direct its policies or whether the small but noisy minority of Reds shall be the arbiters of Labor's destinies.

The successes of the Communists of the last few months have been meagre, but the boastful speeches of the leaders might cause anyone unacquainted with events to credit them with a continuing series of triumphs in those fields on which they have engaged their enemies. Mr. Cook, the fiery and dictatorial ruler of the miners, claims for himself and his group of Reds the victory won in "forcing the Government to its knees."

The efforts of the outlaw organization that has stirred up discord among the seamen and fomented trouble seems to have met with only a fleeting success, for, thanks to the loyalty of the vast majority of the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, their efforts have failed. Mr. Havelock Wilson makes no concealment of the fact that the opposition to the action taken by his union has been inspired by Moscow, "who considers seamen the best propagandists for Communism."

The battle at Scarborough is a real one, for on the decisions there made must rest the question of whether Labor in England is in future going to be guided and directed by the Reds or by the Moderates. It is not without significance that throughout the recent coal strike former Premier Macdonald was never once brought into consultation, while there was practically an open breach between Messrs. Cook and Thomas. The best friends of Labor throughout the world will hope that the delegates are not stampeded by the wild utterances and the gilded promises of the Moscow fire-eaters.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

British

* * *

An Expensive Undertaking.

London Punch: The falling-off in the number of marriages in America is due perhaps to the fear of young men as to whether they can afford to divorce their wives in the manner to which they are accustomed.

The Belgian Debt.

London Daily Mail: The British public would like to know whether, as the effect of the Belgian agreement with the United States, we get money from Belgium only if she gets it from Germany, whereas the United States is paid by Belgium whether or not Germany pays up under the Dawes Scheme.

Boycott of British Goods.

London Evening Standard: In ordinary times China absorbs British goods in immense quantity and variety. Today this market is practically closed to us. The boycott of British imports is general, and it is effective; and, whatever steps may be taken to protect our nationals from injury, or to defend British property in the ports, it is clear that no degree of force can avail against this particular weapon.

The Air Flivver.

London Daily Express: (The London Light Aeroplane Club has been opened at Edgeware.) Up to now it has not been possible, owing to the high cost of heavily-powered machines, to take up æroplaning except for military and commercial purposes. But the steady accumulation of inventions, the improvement in accessories, the adoption of light engines for small machines have brought us to the point where the amateur flier may begin to take a hand in the use of aircraft which presents possibilities that may in the proper course of time make the possession of a private æroplane as simple and easy a matter as that now afforded by the ownership of a small and inexpensive motor-car.

The Menace of Communism.

London Daily Telegraph: The British Communist party grows more aggressive; its numbers are increasing, though to what extent we have no exact means of knowing, and unfortunately no one can trust a single figure which is issued from its organization. It has thrown off a branch—consisting mainly of the same people under another name—which calls itself the National Minority Movement, working for exactly the same end, viz., the triumph of Bolshevism, and kept supplied with funds from the same alien sources. Moreover, the General Council of the Trade Union Congress is now composed largely of members who are in all essentials little distinguishable from Communists.

The Empty Stable.

London Morning Post: (Lord Reading, Viceroy of India, in his speech opening the autumn session of the Legislature at Simla, declared that the British Government could make no surrender to pressure.) It is all very well to talk now about not surrendering to pressure. The surrender has already been made. In his heart Lord Reading must know that there is nothing more for him to do. If any solution of the tangle into which Indian affairs have lapsed is to be found, it will be by others. As we have said, he will leave India having only weakened the hands of his successor—who, to quote his own phrase again, has to grope his way through unexplored regions towards a destination which is faint.

False Economy.

London Daily Chronicle: In a letter addressed to Naval Commands the hope was expressed that officers and men would "cheerfully accept any inconvenience or discomfort" the economies might impose upon them. . . . Is it wise? Is it in the interests of economy? . . . As compared with the year before the war, personnel has been reduced by one-third. The smaller the numbers the more important that the quality should be of the best and that the conditions of service should maintain the supply of the right sort of recruits. While the naval personnel has been reduced by a third, the civil staff has been increased by nearly 50 per cent. Here, surely, is a case in which economy, like charity, should begin at home. What justification can there be for expanding the administrative side in larger proportion than the fighting force has been diminished?

Green Goggles.

London Times: There is little reason why the comfort of these beneficent orbs should be restricted to trips to the desert or climbs among Alpine rocks and glaciers. Sight-seeing in Paris or in London can be as fatiguing as mountain-climbing, and is achieved in a much less invigorating air. Only excessive self-consciousness or a regrettable indifference to the feelings of the brute creation allows the holiday-maker to deck himself in a pair of miniature moons of green cheese where there is nothing to frighten but goats or marmots, yet urges him to stuff them into his portmanteau when he finds himself again in city streets. Human experience and that of the beasts of the field combine to suggest that we might be the better for wearing green spectacles always. Observe how the industrious appetite of the cow, forcing her to gaze continually on green grass, inspires her with the same contented placidity which we feel when we occasionally put on green goggles under stress of weather.

The Leopard and the Kid.

Manchester Guardian: (Zizi, the escaped "leopard," which was at large for some days in the Bois de Boulogne, was finally shot by a group of heavily-armed Parisian big game hunters in the precincts of a school at Auteuil.) Its hasty dispatch in that scholastic sanctuary may be taken as further proof that Isaiah's prophecy of the days when "the leopard shall lie down with the kid" is not yet fulfilled. The kids (or their custodians) remain as untamed as ever. Perhaps it was rather a silly animal to have put any confidence at all in the prophecy, for there seems to be some doubt whether it was really entitled to the status of a leopard, and, therefore, to the prospective privileges of that creature in the presence of a kid. Some say it was a leopard, but the professional zoologists, who have said that it was not much more than a foot high, have preferred to describe it as "a sort of cat." . . . The more the zoologists said it was a sort of enlarged tabby, the more the gendarmes and their supporters protested that, on the contrary, it was a prodigiously extensive leopard. Whatever it was, it is certainly dead now, and no undue risks seem to have been taken.

Clouds.

The breeze within their sails, the clouds drift past,
Afloat upon a vague and lovely sea,
Illimitable wastes of airy blue
That lap the shores of pale infinity;
With heavenly cargoes for some unknown place,

They dream away into the mists of space.
Far, far below, they watch, transparent, large,
Their cool reflections wavering as they go,
In that strange world spread out beneath the sea,
Where dark shapes move and dim earth-gardens grow—
A yellow world of spotted shade and sun,
With purple deeps, and tangled lines that run.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Star are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity.

DID NOT DISPLAY FLAG.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Is the Calcutta a German warship, and is Westmount wholly inhabited by Germans? If not, why was not our flag displayed in Westmount Hall when a most excellent entertainment was given by the officers and men of His Majesty's man o'war Calcutta? The concert was presided over by Mayor McLagan. Such an act showed discourtesy to our British visitors, as well as to all loyal Canadians.

PRO-BRITISH.

ANGRY BRITISH INVESTOR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—The Canadian Government, obeying the will of business and agriculture, during the war, prevented the railways increasing freight and passenger rates in proportion to the prices of everything else. Then your Government, declaring the railways bankrupt, took control of our property. Now, after a few years, you propose to hand these railways over to the Canadian Pacific or some other Canadian interests. At least the Bolshevists pretended to confiscate the Russian railways in the interests of the people.

DISILLUSIONED BRITON.

FAITH AND WORKS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In answer to a letter written by Peace and Truth, I wish to say that I did not mean in my letter that we are saved through good works any more than through faith without the works. Faith without works is dead. If salvation depended on believing alone the Christian's life would be a lazy life, but it is the two together that keeps the Christian busy all the time. Jesus showed us by the way he lived that we have to do something else besides believe before we can enter eternal life. I know that faith has to come first, but to prove that we are saved the works must follow or how would the world at large know that we were saved because if we went around trying to save others and didn't work it out ourselves the world would put us down as hypocrites and they would not be far out, would they? When Paul wrote Eph. 2:8-9 he was speaking to those who were faithful in Christ Jesus telling how through the ages to come they would be saved by their faith in Christ, but I do not believe that to be saved must only have faith in Christ someone would write and explain the verses Eph. 2:8-9 it would help a good many to understand the word salvation. I believe that faith and works are both essential to salvation, because one without the other is dead. Myself I believe faith comes first and then the good works will follow to prove that our faith is not a dead one and so the two together insure our salvation which means that we are being looked after or preserved by God as long as we live.

LET THERE BE MORE LIGHT.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—During a tour of some of the most important cities of the United States I was visibly impressed with the wonderful lighting systems these cities have adopted, particularly on boulevards and motor thoroughfares. It seems a pity that Fletcher's Field should be so poorly lighted, more particularly on Park avenue from Pine avenue to Mount Royal avenue. On this particular street, through which hundreds of cars pass during an evening there are but six lights, at such a height that they do not give sufficient light. Moreover, the sidewalk should also be well lighted as it is used by thousands of citizens during summer evenings. Only recently a young woman was found drugged in this particular district and this would have been avoided if this particular section had been properly lighted.

Sherbrooke street which is one of the finest boulevards in Canada is very poorly lighted and tourists using this thoroughfare are very much surprised at the inadequate lighting of this street.

Cars travelling east on Sherbrooke street usually turn up Hutchison street as far as Pine avenue and this street is so poorly lighted that I have often wondered that there have been no serious accidents there. I think if the City Engineer were to take a trip through the city at night, through the streets above mentioned, he would find that I have not exaggerated the facts.

The proper and adequate lighting of a city is an investment which brings good returns. It is sound business. It beautifies the city and is an asset.

"Let there be more light" is a slogan which should be adopted by our city authorities.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Having recently returned from England I was much interested in reading your Editorial regarding the Seafarers' Union and the very able part Mr. Havelock Wilson took in connection with same.

Perhaps it would interest some of your readers to know that the cause of the trouble in England today in the holding up of ships is being done by a party entirely in the minority and who are making every effort to disband the present National Sailors' and Firemen's Union for no other petty reason but jealousy. Mr. Havelock Wilson organized the present Seamen's Union, of which he is president. He is not only respected by the members of his Union but by the ship owners themselves for his very broad-minded views.

Last year when shipping looked to be on an improvement he secured for certain grades £1 a month extra and for others six shillings and sixpence per week on the understanding that should there come a shipping slump this money would be taken off. On the other hand, if shipping should continue to improve a further increase would be considered. As everyone knows, there is a big depression in shipping and true to the spirit of the arrangement the sailors' representatives, at a meeting, agreed to the cancellation of the increase until such time as an improvement came when the matter would be considered again.

Now this handful of kickers over there are taking this as an excuse to try and disrate Mr. Havelock Wilson and his Union, but they have a long way to go as the British sailor knows, with the National Sailors' and Firemen's Union, which side of his bread the butter is on.

It is a pity that other organized labor parties do not follow the example of Mr. Havelock Wilson by having a joint council composed of half employers' representatives and half the men's representatives to sit down in the spirit of harmony and co-operation and thrash the matter out with the spirit of give and take instead of, at all times, wanting to take without any giving.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Havelock Wilson will be given the opportunity of letting us know in Canada exactly what his Union has done for the men he represents and also what the ship owners are willing to do as conditions avail themselves.

J. P. KING.

THE PASSING HOUR

"According to the Darwinian theory we are supposed to be descended from monkeys," explained the speaker at a local Sunday evening Communist meeting. "And you're the monkey," chipped in an exasperating heckler. "My friend," retorted the speaker, "according to the theory we are only supposed to be descended from monkeys, but when I look at your face it makes me positive of it." The reply, "Have a look in the looking glass, and you will be doubly positive," changed the crowd's laughter to a roar.

SENSIBLE HOWLERS.

Apropos of answers to school examination papers, a question was set at a girl's school asking for the missing words of uncompleted proverbs. One of these was: "People who live in glass houses . . .," to which a girl added the words: "should undress in the dark'! Another one was: "Man proposes . . .," to which another girl added what seemed to her to be a perfectly logical conclusion, though scarcely the right one: "Woman accepts"!

There's another yarn about a vicar who was of a very studious and absent-minded disposition. One day one of his least respectable parishioners asked him to say prayers on Sunday for Anna Bell, the clergyman duly did so, and, meeting the same man a few days later, he asked kindly if he desired the prayers for Anna Bell to be repeated. "No, thank 'ee kindly sir," answered the village reprobate "she won last Monday at 7 to 1, sir."

The meanest man, alleged to be a tourist from Aberdeen, has been found. Arriving in London, this gentleman secured lodgings within full view of Big Ben, and he promptly stopped his watch to save wear and tear on the works.

Briggs: You say business is looking up?

Griggs: That's what it is. It can't look any other way; it's flat on its back.

A LITTLE MIXED.

A Scottish laird used to get befuddled every Saturday night. Then with his servant Saunders, in the same condition, he would mount his horse and set off for the castle. While fording the stream one night the laird fell into the water. He got to his feet and sputtered: "Saunders, mon, something fell off. Did ye noo hear the splash?"

"Thot I did,' admitted Saunders, and he climbed into the water up to his waist. Of course, he soon found his master. "Why, laird, it's yourseld," he said.

"No, no, Saunders," insisted the laird stoutly. "It can't be me, for here I am."

Saunders helped the laird to mount again, but in the darkness faced him the wrong way round.

"Thank ye, mon; now give me the reins."

Saunders fumbled around the horse, finally got hold of its tail and cried in a shocked voice:

"Laird, laird, it was the nag's head that fell off. There's nothing left but the mane.'

Hobson—So your wife is convalescent. That's fine! I heard the doctors made a great fight for her life.

Dobson—They did, and they almost got it too.

At the conclusion of a marriage ceremony in Aberdeen the groom asked the officiating clergyman what the fees were. "Oh, just whatever you think it is worth to you Mr. Buchan" came the reply. Mr. Buchan shot a sidelong glance at his unprepossessing bride and handed the parson one shilling. The reverend gentleman unhesitatingly returned eightpence in change.

"Just this way, sir," said the courteous clerk in the railway ticket-office. Let me show you some summer guides, entitled, 'Where To Go,' and 'When To Go.'"

The man with the modest income shook his head.

"They don't interest me," he sighed, "What I want to know is 'How To Go.'"

He (according to Answers)—I have ordered the ring, dear. What would you like to have engraved on it?

She (a publisher's daughter)—Well, "All rights reserved," I think would be rather nice.

The young Territorial subaltern was attending his first camp. "Well, old chap" said a cheery brother officer as they crawled into their sleeping-bags, "is this the first time you have ever slept in a tent?" "I don't know . . . yet," replied the youngster gloomily.

"Often when conscience tries to speak it finds the line busy," says an exchange. Ay, money is talking.

An amateur cross-country runner was being presented with a silver cup at the conclusion of a race. There were calls for a speech from the victor. "Ladies and gentlemen," said the winner. "I have won this cup thanks to the power of my legs. I hope I shall never lose the power of my legs owing to this cup."

Ad. in Chicago paper—"Widow with five would like to meet widower with four children. Object, baseball."

She (at expensive resort)—How the tide comes in with its long green roll.

He—I suppose it realizes that there's no use coming here without one.

"Well," said the vicar pleasantly as he stopped beside an irascible-looking fellow who had been fishing fruitlessly for hours, "have you had any luck?" "Oh, yes," growled the angler savagely, "when I catch another trout, and one after that, I'll have two."

"It is fortunate for most of us," thinks J. M., "that we don't have to pay income taxes according to the impressions we try to create while on our vacations."

THE USES OF ADVERSITY.

"For goodness' sake," scolded the irate wife after having asked her husband for the fifth Sunday to accompany her to church, "the neighbors will soon be talking about us as they did about poor Mr. and Mrs. Jones. The only time they went out together was when the gas stove exploded."

Nowadays pedestrians stand just as much chance as watches or neurasthenics of getting run down.

Wife—Didn't you say you'd go through fire and water for me?

Hub—Yes, but I'll be blowed if I am going through bankruptcy for you!

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

"So you want a divorce from your wife?" said the Solicitor. Aren't your relations pleasant, then?"

"Mine are," answered the tired-looking man, "but hers are perfectly horrid."

The bore was telling the assembly in the smoking-room how he had made his money.

"When I started in business," he said, pompously, "I resolved that my motto should be 'Get thee behind me, Satan.'"

"Excellent," murmured a quiet voice from the rear of the room; there's nothing like starting life with a good backing."

Goes To Paris

Miss Loretta McEwan, who sails for Paris tomorrow to study singing under Madame Donalda. Miss McEwan was the fortunate choice of the Canadian prima donna, who, following the publication of a letter in The Montreal Star, received ninety-eight applicants for a voice test. Each applicant was given a careful examination, several of them repeatedly. Miss McEwan, a dramatic soprano of exceptional ability, sings in several languages. —(Photo by Rice.)

EXPECT APPLE SHOW TO SURPASS RECORDS

An exhibition of apples will be held under the auspices of the Pomological and Fruit Growing Society of the Province of Quebec in the Windsor Hotel on November 4, 5 and 6, it has been announced. A prize list amounting to $1,827 and a silver challenge cup for the sweepstakes box are being offered. This is the first large apple show attempted in Montreal.

Free storage space for apples intended for the exhibition has been offered by members of the Montreal Harbor Commission in the storage plant on the harbor front.

The exhibition committee is as follows: Professor T. D. Bunting, chairman, Macdonald College; J. F. Desmarais, Iberville; Rev. Father Leopold, La Trappe; E. B. Luke, Montreal; and J. M. Talbot, Dept. of Agriculture Quebec. Information can also be had from the chairman of the special committees: Publicity, E. B. Luke; Finance, T. G. Bunting; Exhibits, W. J. Tawse, Macdonald College; Staging and Arrangements, J. M. Talbot; and Reception, R. Brodie, Montreal.

MONTH FOR HITTING HIM WITH HATCHET

Rodolphe Mauger will spend the next month behind the bars as a result of a sentence imposed upon him in the Recorder's Court this morning after he pleaded guilty to having struck Frank Cormier, 403 Bonsecours street, on the head with a hatchet on August 31 last.

Cormier was struck by Mauger following an altercation in the doorway of a rooming house at 169 St. Paul street and had to go to the Montreal General Hospital to have his scalp stitched. Mauger admitted that he had hit him over the head because he did not want him to enter the house.

FELL FROM MOTOR TRUCK.

Laurent Perotte, aged 9, of 1328 Gertrude avenue, Verdun, is at the Western Hospital suffering from a broken left leg, as the result of a fall from the step of a motor-truck on which he was riding shortly before noon yesterday. The victim was returning home with his elder brother, when, at the corner of Wellington and Church Avenue, the driver of the truck, Louis Laplante, of 1329 Gertrude Avenue, invited the older boy to have a ride on the front seat. Laurent, who escaped the driver's notice, perched on the side step, and was jerked from his position when the truck started, the rear wheel passing over his leg.

IDENTIFY VICTIM.

"Natural death" was written in the Coroner's records today in the case of a man found dead on a rear gallery at 1324 St. Viateur Ave., Outremont, on Sunday afternoon. Identification was established yesterday, when the man was shown to be Joseph Spratt, aged 40, of 3113 Casgrain avenue. He was a watchman for Gadbois and Perrault, contractors, and his duties included showing the house in which he was found to prospective tenants on Sundays.

FALLS DOWN MOUNTAIN SLOPE

While climbing up the face of Mount Royal shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Nick Hackman, aged 6, of 34a Chenneville street, slipped on a loose stone and fell several feet. The alarm was given by his ten-year-old brother, who accompanied him, and Sergeant Dettmers had the child removed to the Park Police Station. He was found to have suffered cuts on the hands and face, but was taken home by his father.

THOUSANDS CAME FOR THE HOLIDAY

Inrush Over Week-end More Than Taxes Capacity of Hotels

BIG MONTH AHEAD

Conventions and Tourist Travel to Continue Throughout Sept.

Last week-end saw a record for tourist traffic to Montreal, say railroad and hotel men.

It is estimated that from 30,000 to 50,000 people flocked into town over Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

At one of the big hotels the staffs were engaged in trying to find accommodation for tourists until 4 o'clock on Sunday morning. Every hotel was crowded, rooming houses were full, and accomodation had to be obtained for many tourists in private houses.

Officials of the Mount Royal Hotel estimate that they had to turn down nearly 1,500 requests for rooms, this despite the fact that every bit of available space in the hotel was fixed up with temporary sleeping accommodation. The Windsor had 1,300 guests, a capacity booking, and turned away nearly as many. A similar state of affairs prevailed at the Ritz-Carlton, Queens and Place Viger Hotels.

Traffic on the railroads was easily doubled. The Canadian Pacific had to run extra trains in all directions, to the Eastern Townships, to Ottawa, and to the west. It was necessary to run the favorite train from the Place Viger to Ste. Agathe and the Laurentians in five sections. The Canadian National Railways also found it necessary to run extra trains and report a very heavy traffic from below the border.

All hotels report that advance bookings are heavy for the rest of this month and well into October. Many conventions are scheduled for these months.

Discussing the tourist situation today, Major S. J. Mathewson, manager of the Montreal Convention and Tourist Bureau, pointed out that steady advertising of the attractions of Montreal throughout the United States was largely responsible for the extended season this year. Many inquiries have poured into the bureau as to the best months here and much has been done to dispel the idea that the season in Montreal finishes at the end of August.

PROBE-FEES CASES JOIN FOR HEARING

A motion was presented in the Practice Division of the Superior Court this morning, by consent of all parties, to unite for purposes of evidence the two cases of Arthur Brossard and J. P. Lanctot against the City of Montreal for $16,500 each, the amount of remuneration and costs allowed them by Mr. Justice Coderre in connection with the inquiry into the administration of Montreal police last year. The motion was accorded, and the case will be heard on September 23.

To be Graceful—be Natural

The Cantilever Shoe encourages graceful foot movement by virtue of the flexible arch. It is flexible like your foot arch and acts harmoniously with every foot motion. Cantilevers are designed to follow the natural lines of the foot. The foot has ample freedom for sufficient circulation, so necessary for comfort in summer.

Cantilevers are especially constructed to hold the ball and heel of the foot firmly and snugly. This saves stockings.

Lace up a Cantilever and feel the pliant arch of the shoe draw up under the arch of the foot. Bend your foot. Walk. You'll then realize how natural grace can be encouraged by the EVOLUTION.

Various writers to this page have tried to ally religion and evolution. Perhaps they can explain why Scopes in his recent trial was defended by the greatest agnostic in the United States. A man who has gained notoriety by his public mockings of God would hardly be likely to defend a belief having anything in common with religion. The writer "Let's Discuss It," affirms that evolution wins in the subject of the earth's strata. Nothing of the kind. I am aware that evolutionists declare that there is an unexplained period of time which makes the earth much older than biblical students allow. But the flood could easily explain this extra layer of stone. About the matter of trees I can't follow the writer. I can't see any advantage to either side. Biblically, the world is 6000 years old. That is quite old enough to credit larger trees as explained by coal. Coal is in layers. How can one tell the size of trees when the wood has gone toward making trees and is already flattened out of all size and shape? Then the matter of eggs. The fish egg hatches—is eaten by another, etc. It is quite simple to trace forward but the solution lies in tracing back. The fish came from an egg, the egg came from the fish and so on until you have to determine whether a fish's existence commenced in egg-form or not. If the former who laid the egg, if the latter where did it come from? And so with all existence. If you like, take it for granted that existence came from vegetable life and vegetable life comes from the earth itself and the earth was a whirling particle separated from the sun. And the sun—well my imagination stops there, but don't let the budding evolutionists get discouraged. Give evolution a thorough trial. Let your imagination keep tracing back until this riddle is explained. Remember the Irishman who fell out of the top storey of a New York skyscraper, and was heard to exclaim when passing the fourth floor: "Well I am more than three quarters of the way down and I am not hurt yet?"

Like "Molly-O" I believe the Scopes trial did a lot of good, and I have a great admiration for W. J. Bryan although I knew nothing about him until the trial.

This question of Cain's wife can be explained by the assumption that Cain either married an angel or a monkey. Angels came down to earth and married human wives in the time of Noah. What was to prevent some of them to have come down before? Hank says that dinosaurs were not mentioned in the Bible. That doesn't necessarily mean that there weren't any. The only reason for the scientists assertion that these animals lived previous to the biblical beginning is that questionable strata. Also you say that man must have changed as well as the other animals but further down you say that the dove and the lion have not changed greatly. Then it is just as feasible to assume that man has not changed greatly. You also say that some countries have the lowest form of man and claim that it is more natural for man to increase his intellect rather than to fall backward. I disagree—it depends solely on environment. Put a keen business man and his family in a jungle and cut them off from civilization and inside of five hundred years you will have a small colony of savages. Physically we are inferior to our jungle ancestors. Why? Because we have no occasion for great strength as we haven't the rough life, etc. So with the savage—he hasn't been given a chance. Educate him and you will find he has what animals haven't—the ability to think and reason. No amount of training or evolution can give an animal that. Physical metamorphosis may be possible but mental reasoning power created out of nothing is the work of God and God only. Re: The many religions in the time of Moses, no person is held by religion. There are many atheists at the present day, but that doesn't discredit religion. Another fault with evolution. Animals with the exception of the monkey (who mimics) have a natural abhorrence of clothes. The human body is capable of standing the present day climate, nude animals still do so. Who originated clothes—not the monkey for there was no one to mimic. When then, if the story of Eden is disbelieved? I quote from David Starr Jordan's "Evolution and Animal Life." "The actual duration of man's prehistoric existence we can make no estimate speaking in terms of the earth's history, man is very recent, the latest of all animals. In the terms of the history of man he is very ancient." "A believer in God and evolution" says that the changing of a hairy, tall and rugged caveman into the man of today in a few thousand years would not be a very material change in a world-millions of years old. According to Jordan, man has not existed since the earth's beginning. Going back to a time 300 or 400 B.C. (that is a matter of 2,000 odd years ago) there is practically no difference on perceptible change. Send a young growing lad into a forest cut off from civilization and inside of a very few years you would have the same heavy, tall and rugged caveman that existed over 2,000 years ago. Prehistoric man is very recent. (It is a pity evolutionists can't give any period of years) in a world millions of years old. The very great difference in the evolutionistic idea of prehistoric man—half-ape, half man and the present day is one out of perhaps 5,000 similar changes necessary for the evolution of man from the earth's surface. Divide the period of millions of years by 5,000 and you ought to have left a sufficiently small period for a space of 2,000 odd years to show some indication of a metamorphosis as regards the human skeleton. Can any evolutionist show any such difference? I think not.

THE MAN IN THE CORNER.

REST FOR THE WEARY.

Every horse trough is closed, due to an epidemic of influenza. Extreme heat is upon us. Refreshing water flows for man at the touch of the tap and many and oft are the times 'tis turned.

As I took a pail of water to the skeleton horse dragging the ice cart through the lane, he turned his dear old head at the sound of the swish of the water, and with his knowing eye, said, "I hope that is for me!" While he then too munched some juicy carrots I gave him, the indifferent driver furnished me with a short diary of the horse's life. He had been watered at 7 a.m. and, as he carried no pail, would not again drink till 6 p.m.—working all the time for "master," helping him to earn his living, upon this scorching day. He had paid Five Dollars for him and apparently was going to get full value out of this skeleton form, for the poor beast's dinner was a few crusts of bread jammed into his mouth. When this was done, with a sharp jerk of the rein and "go along," down through the avenue of lanes they wend their way.

After having served mankind faithfully in many capacities, and faring well perhaps when young and dapper, on growing old, no doubt, he had felt that cruel, torturing check-rein to force his drooping head to the unnatural pose, and which was as unpleasant to him as a twice-too-high collar would have been to "master;" latterly, as his joints became stiffer still he likely felt the lash of whip, the jerk of rein, to force a speed he could not give. His life even yet is dragging on and now his value is the price of a georgette scarf or the cost of a cut glass bowl—yes, valued as equal to a man's silk shirt, a few golf balls or less than an "auto" tire! Oh good old horse, how much you need a kindly master now!

But, alas! there are other phantom forms, with nerves and feelings just as ours, so old and sick and sore and thin, so boney and ill-appearing as to equal only the cost of a box of chocolates or a pack of cards for "bridge." Yes, did you not know that at the slave markets many are auctioned for One Dollar of less?

These latter unfortunates usually pass into the kind hands of the S.P.C.A. who, with part of their very limited income, buy up these four-shilling sufferers, and, using the Humane Destroyer, open for them the door into a Life of Peace.

Those, they cannot afford to buy, tramp out of the horse assembly with some poor purchaser, and on through more miserable months of toil to suffer still in varied ways, till they become so old and sick and sore and thin as to be worth ten dimes. They then return to the auction room where at the hands of their friends in old age they too can earn a welcome rest.

ORA PRO NOBIS.

OUR DRESS

May I add my voice to the great chorus on the subject of the modern woman's dress. I wish it were a voice of such power and feeling that it would move the hearts of all your readers, for I go trembling often, lest the present mode, carried to a foolish extreme leads to an inevitable reaction, and women go again burdened with the weight of unnecessary clothing they carried about when I was a girl. And let no proud young flapper snap her fingers and say, "Impossible! Absurd! Who is to dictate to us what we shall or shall not wear?" Let her sit down a minute and ask herself if she would find it possible to walk the streets clad as she is today unless "everybody's doing it" made her more or less inconspicuous. The Lord knows I hold no brief for the way we dressed thirty or forty years ago. The marvel to me, looking back on my own girlhood is, that any of us are alive to tell the tale. When I remember the precious hours we spent binding the bottoms of skirts and the dust that flew up into our faces and must have been partly at least taken into our lungs, as we ripped off the old worn-out binding. When I remember the hampering weight of three or four petticoats, the skirts made of heavy cloth and lined; and the awful waists, lined and whaleboned and stitched into a shape resembling nothing human, I cannot find it in my heart to uphold any man in his tirade against the woman's dress of today. I feel like saying, "Revenge is sweet; it's your turn to suffer now."

But, Oh, I do wish the girls would be sensible. Let them go clad as lightly as they wish—I think some of our girls and women are both beautifully and sensibly clad. But there are others; girls with little tight skirts, clinging in to the figure and hampering them at every movement they make. Girls with skirts so short that when they sit on the cars there is neither grace nor beauty in them; girls hanging on to straps in street cars and revealing parts of the human anatomy that no one should see. And it's not lovely!—mark that fact, girls. Remember that in a ballroom one does not raise one's arm above one's head, as one is perforce obliged to do when hanging on to a strap in a street car. Remember that one is well dressed when fitly dressed, and for your own sake, for your own children's sake, and for the sake of humanity at large, do be sensible. And in being sensible you will be a thousand times more charming. ONE WHO MIGHT HAVE BEEN, AND OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN, A GRANDMOTHER.

EARRINGS FOR MEN

"Oom Harry" writes in defence of wide trousers for men, and he is quite right. Why should not men have the same privilege that women enjoy—that of adopting new styles?

Not long ago some letters were published in The Star favoring a revival of the custom of men wearing earrings, not fancy creations, but just plain gold circles worn through a small hole bored in the ear lobe. One of the writers stated that he has seen men with such ornaments on the streets of this city. I wondered if it were really a fact and now I have seen for myself. Day before yesterday, Wednesday, I saw a young man on St. Catherine Street, near Victoria, who was wearing such earrings. He was good-looking and well dressed and to me the effect was good.

Earrings have always been a fascination to me and I am sure there are many men who feel that they should be allowed to wear them without unpleasant comment of any sort.

Come on, girls, let us know just what you think of the idea. Plain circles of the finest gold for men who wish to go through inconvenience of having their ears pierced.

TO "HELENE."

I read your letter in The Star and saw right away it was to me. I apologized to the boy as he can now tell you. I did not realize what I was doing until it was over and I was very very sorry and ashamed. The bitter letter hurt me very much, but I really don't blame him for being angry but now I am glad to say we are friends again and have tried to forget that, Helene, you are a very good friend to stay with him the way you did and I send you my best wishes for the future.

1. Amsterdam is the chief city of the Netherlands. It has an area of eighteen and a third square miles.
2. Santo Domingo (founded in 1495) is the capital of the Dominican Republic.
3. Nikolai Golgof (1809-1853) was one of the greatest Russian writers. "Dead Souls" is one of his best-known books.
4. "Ulrica" is the daughter of an old Saxon thane in Scott's "Ivanhoe."
5. The Canadian provinces spend more for education than for any other purpose, according to the "Monetary Times." Debt charges are now, it is stated, about $35,000,000 annually, but these of course represent capital outlay for varied purposes. About $25,000,000 per annum is spent on education alone. Total provincial outlay has advanced from below $4,000,000 in 1870 to $135,000,000 in 1923. In 1910 it was just $33,000,000, and in 1920, $89,000,000.
6. The district of Cariboo in the central interior of British Columbia is the historial cradle of the old Crown Colony of British Columbia. The town of Quesnel was established about 1860 and it and its sister town of Barkerville, about 65 miles due east, were thriving settlements from 1860 to 1870, during the Cariboo gold rush. Quesnel is situated at the confluence of the Quesnel and Fraser rivers.
7. Ontario's population as at the end of 1924 is given as 2,857,000 in the eighth bulletin of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, which has just been issued from the Parliament Buildings. The population is made up of 1,060,490 rural, 563,086 urban, 1,234,005 cities.
8. The Latin phrase, "hac lege," means, "with this condition."
9. Charles Gounod (1818-1893) was a distinguished French composer of sacred and dramatic music.

BRIEF BACKYARD GARDEN NOTES

A BRIEF GLOSSARY OF GARDEN TERMS

Although the average writer in garden topics endeavours to avoid technical terms (even mildly technical) certain rather well recognized words will creep into his writings or conversation. A few of these will therefore follow with definitions and though some may be familiar, others will not.

Accent Plant—a tree or shrub usually, but any plant used to give prominence to its location. Chosen because of its peculiarly interesting habit of growth or characteristic fruit, flowers or foliage.

Ball and Burlap—(B & B) Digging a plant with enough earth adhering to the roots to form a ball. This is then carefully covered with burlap or sacking so that the plant may be safely shipped long distances without losing this earth.

Callus—The new tissue which forms over a wound as a natural protective measure.

Clump—A cluster of roots or bulbs that can be divided into separate plants or it may be considered as one large mass of plants that appear as one single plant.

Crown, of bulbs or other herbaceous plants. The portion of stem which persists and bears the buds which form the next stem.

Dehorn—The removing of a portion of the top of a plant so as to leave only short portions of the main branches.

Fillers—Short lived or rapid growing plants (usually trees or bushes) which are only temporarily planted between the permanent plants. In mass plantings or rows they should be cut out before they crowd.

Flat—A box, usually averaging 3¼ inches in depth. Filled with earth it is used as a receptacle in which to plant seeds or cuttings.

Heave out—the nearly complete or partial lifting of a plant out of the soil due to frost action.

Humus — the decayed vegetable matter or partly decayed organic matter in the soil.

Mulch—A covering of the surface about the base of a plant to retard or prevent the evaporation of the soil moisture. It may also prevent sudden freezing and thawing. Materials like dead leaves, straw or strawy manure may be used.

Opening up—the removal of sufficient growth in pruning to admit sunshine to the centre of the plant. Also admitting sunshine to the area about a group of plants.

Propagation — the multiplication or increasing of plants either by reproduction from seed or from cuttings.

Renovate—the regular pruning of trees and shrubs over a period of two or three years so that at the end of that time they will be renewed with new wood that has developed within that period.

Sour Soil—an acid soil which is usually deficient in drainage and consequently in air supply.

Specimen Plant—Usually a tree or shrub but any plant that is placed by itself so that it will show to greatest advantage and develop normally and without restriction.

Subsoil—that layer of soil immediately beneath the top soil. Unless given special treatment by increasing the air supply, it will not sustain plant life.

Top soil—the tilled surface, four to eighteen inches deep which will sustain vegetation.

Vista—a view or prospect, seen through and bounded by a group of trees or an avenue. In planting, the trees themselves.

Winter killing—the death of plants due to sudden changes of temperature in winter.

How to Keep Well: By Dr. W. A. Evans

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

DRINKING HARD WATER.

Many write, asking about the harmful effects of hard water. Most of these letters to me ask about harm to health. I cannot find evidence that drinking hard water is harmful to health. An old notion, one advocated more by veterinarians than by physicians, is that prolonged drinking of hard water causes stones in the bladder and kidneys. This theory is found in most of the veterinary text books and in some of the text books which treat of human diseases.

Dr. J. T. Myers, of Omaha, has recently studied this question experimentally. He induced the formation of stone in the bladder in several varieties of laboratory animals. While under experiment some of the animals were supplied with hard water, some with distilled water, and some with medium hard waters. He found no difference in the rate of formation of stones between any of these groups. His conclusion was that whatever might be the cause of stone in the bladder, the drinking of hard water was not a factor for or against. Stones formed as fast among the animals drinking distilled water as they did among those in the other groups.

For a long time it was held that goitre resulted from drinking water that was hard because of an excess of magnesium salts. Rather strangely, another theory coming from somewhat the same region was that goitre resulted from the drinking of snow water because such water is very soft and low in magnesium and other minerals. The prevailing opinion now is that there are several causes of goitre. One is a lack of iodine in the water. Neither the theory that goitre is due to drinking hard water rich in magnesium, nor the one that it is due to drinking magnesium-free water is now credited.

The Harrington Richardson text book on hygiene says: "When one changes suddenly from the use of a soft water to another that is quite hard there follows a temporary disturbance of the functions of the digestive apparatus. The most marked effect is alternating constipation and diarrhoea." But this is the result of change rather than of the harmful qualities of hard water, for the text book next says. "Change from hard to soft water is quite as likely to cause unaccustomed looseness of the bowels."

All in all, no harm to health from habitual drinking of hard water has been noted though it is barely possible that a water containing more than 1,000 parts of hardness, one that is getting definitely into the alkali class, is harmful. In fact, low alkalinity or near acidity is now recognized as more of a menace to health than high acidity, provided the water passes through lead pipes anywhere. The colored, soft waters of New England and of Eastern Virginia and North Carolina, and of certain districts in England, are dangerous when lead pipes are used, for this reason. In Panama, lime is added to the water to protect against this danger. Hard waters are wasteful of soap and they cause scale in boilers and kettles. Some vegetables do not cook well in hard water.

The hardness of waters is classified as follows:

Under 75 parts—soft.
75 to 200 parts—moderately hard.
Over 200 parts—very hard.

Houston's "Rural Water Supplies and Their Purification" gives simple methods of purifying waters that can be carried out in the home provided the householder has a little help from a chemist.

TATTOOING CAN BE REMOVED.

F. N. B. writes:

1. Can tattooing be removed?
2. Will it leave scars?

I am a waiter, and during the world war got tattooed. I find it impossible to get decent employment on that account.

Reply.

1. Yes.
2. Not if the operation is skillfully done.

The removal of tattoos should be regarded as an operation. It can be done only by a person with experience and skill.

HYGIENE FOR WOMEN.

L. L. writes: Can you name a book which treats on feminine hygiene? I find I know very little about how to care for myself at certain times. I am 16 years old, and there are times when I do not know whether dancing is harmful for me, or not, and if I had such a book I could read up on these things. I have nobody whom I would like to ask questions of this kind.

Reply.

Send me a stamped self-addressed envelope for a copy of "Personal Hygiene for Women." If all of your questions are not answered in that booklet, you might buy "The Four Epochs in Woman's Life," by Galbraith, or some of the other good books on personal hygiene for women under one title or another.

Marmalade Tartlets

Rounds of rather stale bread, half a dozen or so, barely ⅛ inch thick, one egg beaten well, with a slight flavoring of vanilla or lemon and a little sugar. Mix it with about ½ pint of milk. Soak the rounds of bread for two hours and fry well. Put Shirriff's Marmalade on each piece and send hot to table.

A GOOD product—thoroughly Canadian—backed by national advertising—that's Shirriff's Marmalade.

Never-varying in quality, delicious and wholesome, no wonder it "makes better breakfasts".

That rare flavor only comes from 25 years' experience in better marmalade making.

Young children feel the good effect of orange-juice. You can give your youngsters Shirriff's Marmalade—all they want—because it's crystal-pure and its food value satisfies hungry little folks.

Shirriff's Marmalade is sold in quantities that prevent all waste. Your grocer has it in sizes to suit households large or small. There's the dainty individual jar, 12-oz., 1-lb., 2¾-lb. containers or the big 4-lb. gold-lacquered tin.

Reasonably priced, buy Shirriff's with confidence. Its goodness never varies.

After school today give your hungry girls and boys bread smothered with marmalade—and watch their delight.

Eat Shirriff's Marmalade 365 days in the year because it's economical and good for you.

THE FLAPPER WIFE:

By BEATRICE BURTON

"If I sell my own car, I'll make enough on the sale to pay down something on the new one for you," Dick said. "I don't suppose I really need that old speedster of mine. It would probably do me good to walk to the office once in a while."

"You do look pale, Dick," Glory said, "and I'm not saying that just because I want you to sell your car, ... You really don't look well."

But as the days went by Glory thought that Dick had forgotten all about the little blue car.

On the morning of her twenty-first birthday Dick was gone when she opened her eyes, after a night of deep, dreamless sleep.

"Did Mr. Gregory take his car this morning?" she asked Ranghild when she brought up her breakfast tray.

"He did, ma'am," Ranghild answered. "And an hour ago a man drove a new car into our driveway. It's standing there, now."

Glory leaped from bed. She ran downstairs in her bare feet and looked out of the sunroom window. . . . .

There it was, with the sunshine striking its polished sides. . . . . the little blue Winged Victory! Her very own! Glory thrilled with happiness as she stood looking at it.

While she was dressing the telephone rang.

"This is Miss Briggs speaking," came a cool, low voice over the wire. "Mr. Gregory asked me to tell you that an instructor would be out about twelve to teach you to drive the new automobile."

"Thanks," Glory said shortly. She hung up the receiver with a bang.

What right had Dick to give Miss Briggs a message like that for her?

Why should Miss Briggs have to know that she didn't know how to run an automobile. . . . . that her family had never owned one?

And why hadn't Dick telephoned himself to wish her a happy birthday?

. . . . . There had been a time only a few short weeks ago when he had called her up three or four times a day just to her the sound of her voice.

Oh, well, that was the way marriage changed a man! As soon as he had you, he stopped caring for you . . . . evidently. Or, at any rate, he didn't care half so much for you as he had. . . . .

* * *

The demonstrator arrived a little before twelve and drove Glory to the park. As they bowled along, he explained the mechanism of the car to her.

Around and around the park they drove. And at last he let Glory take the wheel for a few minutes.

"Tomorrow I'll be out at the same time, and I'll let you drive," the demonstrator told Glory as they drove back to the house. He jotted down some instructions for Gloria.

After he had gone Glory stood on the front steps. It was only three o'clock. She hadn't seen her mother for more than a week.

She decided to walk the long mile to her old home.

Mrs. Gordon saw Glory coming up the street, from her arm chair in the bay window. She came out on the porch to welcome her.

"Well, I thought you'd forgotten that you had a mother, dearie," she said, her eyes shining with tears, her lips smiling. With arms linked, they went into the house.

"Well, I've had the busiest time of my whole life so far," Glory explained. "First of all, I gave a housewarming and then I spent a whole day shopping, and I've been picking out a new automobile! . . . And today I got it. Dick gave it to me for a birthday present. . . . . You forgot that today was my birthday, didn't you, motherkin?"

Mrs. Gordon bridled.

"Indeed I did not!" she said. "I called up this morning to ask you and Dick to come here for supper tonight. The maid said you were still asleep. Then I called again a few minutes ago, and she said you were out. . . . But I went right ahead and baked your birthday cake, anyway."

She led Glory out into the little kitchen that was more like a sitting room than anything else.

There was a rocking chair with a red calico cushion in one corner, and the table was set ready for a meal. The family always ate breakfast there.

Glory went into the dark pantry. On the shelf was a brown crock, half filled with baked beans.

"Yum, yum, my favorite food!" Glory smacked her lips greedily.

Mrs. Gordon took a plate out of the cupboard. She put a large helping of beans on it, and a slice of cold roast beef.

"There, dearie, while you're eating that, I'll call up Dick and ask him to come here to supper," Mrs. Gordon said.

In a few minutes she came back into the kitchen.

"All right, he's coming," she told Glory. "Now I'll sit right down here and peel these potatoes, while you finish your snack."

"You don't seem a bit excited about my having an automobile, Mother," Glory complained. "I thought you'd be tickled to death."

"Well, I am," her mother said placidly, "but I'm getting used to seeing you get everything you want, Glory, since you married Dick. After you came home with that new fur coat I was ready for anything. I could see then that Dick was going to spoil you. . . . by giving you everything that you wanted, or thought you wanted. You're a lucky woman, Glory. He's a man in a million."

* * *

Glory laughed knowingly.

"He is not!" she said. "It's like pulling teeth to make him spend a nickel! . . . . But I've just told him that if he wants me to live with him, he's got to come across with the things that other men give their wives!"

"Gloria Gordon! That's a terrible way to talk!" her mother said in a shocked voice. "And you only married a few weeks"

"What has that to do with it?" Glory asked, folding her napkin. "I'm going to start out the right way. Dick's got to know right from the beginning that he can't make a dishmop of me. Look at yourself, Mother! All your life you've worked your fingers to the bone for Dad and what have you got out of it? Not a thing that I can see!"

Mrs. Gordon peeled potatoes silently, for a few minutes.

"Well, you may not be able to see it, but I have a lot of happiness, Gloria," she said quietly. "Your Dad and I get along pretty well, together. I care more for him today, when he's old and broken-down, than I ever did before in my life, I guess . . . . And we're contented, owning this little house of ours. It's paid for, at last, after thirteen years!"

Glory shook her head. Her mother was beyond her comprehension. She had so little, and yet she was happy. Anyone could see that she was happy. . . . with the smile that always lurked in her spectacled blue eyes, and the upward twist of her humorous mouth.

"I'll go out and buy some flowers for your table tonight," Glory said.

"You needn't," Mrs. Gordon answered. "Ive nine geraniums in bloom in the front windows. You can go and cut the blossoms from them if you will, for me. . . . And I've bought little red candles to go on the cake."

Glory went into the dining room to set the table.

The side-board drawers were filled with snowy linen. Much of it was darned but the mended places looked like bits of embroidery done by some expert needlewoman. . . . .as, indeed, her mother was.

At six o'clock Glory heard footsteps on the front porch. She ran to open the door for her father.

He held her away from him, and looked at her.

"Well, my fine lady!" he said, proudly. "Your old Dad never thought he'd have a princess like this!"

A lump rose in Glory's throat. He was so little and old. . . . her Dad! His whole life had been a disappointment. He had spent years writing a history of the world. And after he had finished it no one would publish it. There were two or three hat boxes up in the attic filled with the manuscript of that life-work that no one would ever see.

. . . . And now he was working for a printer far down on a side street, for a tiny salary.

As they stood there under the gaslight in the hall, Dick rang the front doorbell. Mr. Gordon let him in.

"How do you do, sir?" asked Dick, towering above the old man. "How's business, these days, with you?"

"Fine as silk," answered Glory's father, as he helped Dick off with his coat. That had been his answer, always. He and his business. . . . . everything about him. . . . were always "fine as silk." He would have no one's sympathy, and no one's pity. He was as proud as Lucifer.

Mrs. Gordon bustled in.

"We can sit right down to supper as soon as I make the gravy," she said, when she had kissed Dick.

"Glory, you light your birthday candles, please."

Dick followed his wife into the dining room.

"Did you like your car?" he asked.

"Adored it," Glory answered throwing her arms around his neck. "But why didn't you call me up to tell me the instructor was coming, instead of letting Miss Briggs know, all your business?"

"She knows it all, anyway," Dick replied. "A man's secretary has to know his business. . . . . And she's a regular clam, anyway. Never opens her mouth to a soul!"

"Did you have to sell your old car?" Glory asked. "Ranghild said you drove away in it this morning."

"Sure I sold it," Dick answered. "Where did you think I got the money for the payment on your car . . . . stole it?"

"Well, I thought you might have used the money for my car instead of buying that old telephone stock," she said.

Dick put a warning finger to his lips. The kitchen door opened and Mrs. Gordon came into the room with a tray of soup-plates.

After dinner, Glory's father got up from the table and went upstairs.

Presently he came down with a dusty bottle in his hands.

"Port wine," he said, looking at Dick. "I've had that bottle put away for fifteen or eighteen years. Shall we drink the bride's health. . . or her birthday, I should say?"

"This, I suppose," Dick said, before he emptied his tiny glass, "is the moment to give my wife her birthday present!"

He handed Glory a folded sheet of thick white paper.

PERENNIALS FOR SPECIAL PURPOSES

On any home grounds of fair proportions there are usually special situations which require extra consideration in the choice of perennials for planting. In the situations under consideration may be included ground cover in dry and wet places, the wild garden, for the edge of or in front of shrubbery borders and for planting among peonies. Many other classifications or groupings according to the season and color, for cut flowers perpetual bloom, etc., might be mentioned but space will not permit.

Perennials for the wild garden:

TALL TYPES.

Aquilegia canadensis (American Columbine).
Aquilegia vulgaris (European Columbine).
Aruncus sylvester (Goat's Beard).
Asclepias tuberosa (Butterfly Weed).
Aster cordifolius (Starwort Aster).
Aster corymbosus (Wild Aster).
Cimicifuga racemosa (Snakeroot).
Digitalis purpurea (Foxglove).
Echinacea purpurea (Purple Coneflower).
Eupatorium purpureum (Joe-pye Weed).
Fern (in variety).
Helianthus (in variety) Hardy Sunflower.
Hemerocallis (in variety) Day Lily.
Hesperis matronalis (Sweet Rocket).
Iris pseudacorus (Yellow Water Flag).
Iris sibirica (Siberian Iris).
Liatris pycnostachya (Blazing Star).
Lobelia cardinalis (Cardinal Flower).
Lychnis (in variety) Catchfly.
Phlox divaricata (Wild Sweet William).
Polemonium caeruleum (American Jacob's Ladder).
Solidago canadensis (Goldenrod).
Solidago canadensis (Goldenrod).
Thalictrum aquilegifolium (Meadow-rue).

LOW TYPES.

Aspidium marginale (Margined Fern).
Claytonia virginica (Spring Beauty).
Convallaria majalis (Lily-of-the-valley).
Hepatica triloba (Hepatica).
Heuchera sanguinea (Coral-bell).
Iris cristata (Crested Iris).
Myosotis palustris (Forget-me-not).
Oenothera biennis (Evening Primrose).
Phlox stolonifera (Creeping Phlox).
Phlox subulata (Moss Pink).
Polygonatum multiflorum (Solomon's Seal).
Sanguinaria canadensis (Bloodroot).
Trillium grandiflorum (Large-flowered Wake Robin).
Viola canadensis (Canadian Violet).
Viola canina (Dog-tooth Violet).

Planting Among Peonies — These are chosen because they are not too strong growing and do not take up too much room. They will lend a touch of color to the green of the foliage.

Aconitum fischeri (Monkshood).
Aconitum napellus (Monkshood).
Gladiolus (in variety), (Sword Flower). Must be taken up every fall.
Liatris (in variety) Blazing Star.
Lilium (Lily).
Perennials for the edge of and in front of shrubbery:

LOW GROWING.

Corastium tomentosum (Snow-in-summer).
Funkia (in variety) Plantain Lily.
Saxifraga (in variety) Saxifrage.
Sedium (in variety) Stonecrop.

TALL GROWING.

Aster (Starwort).
Bocconia (Plume Poppy).
Doronicum (Leopard's Bane).
Helianthus (Hardy Sun-flower).
Hemerocallis (Day Lily).
Hibiscus moscheutos hybrida (Mallow Marvels).

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

BUSTER BEAR BECOMES INTERESTED!

By Thornton W. Burgess.

Some tongues there are that wag too much.
'Tis well to keep away from such.
—Old Mother Nature.

Buster Bear was feeling in fine spirits. All summer long he had had the best of good living, and you know there is nothing like a comfortable stomach to make one feel in high spirits. Buster had feasted on berries and now wild grapes would soon be ready. And after the wild grapes would come beechnuts and acorns. Do you wonder that Buster felt in high spirits?

And because he was in such high spirits he was good natured. Nothing bothered him. Not even Chatterer the Red Squirrel could tease him into a show of anger. You know, there is no one in all the Green Forest quite so impudent as Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Chatterer is never more impudent than when he chances to meet Buster Bear. Probably that is because Buster is so big and he is so small that he thinks it is very smart of him to be impudent. Anyway, he always is. Just as soon as those bright eyes of his spy Buster Bear, Chatterer's tongue begins to wag, and it is one of those tongues that wags at both ends, as the saying is.

It really is very annoying to Buster sometimes. All the Green Forest within hearing of Chatterer's sharp voice knows just where Buster is, and this isn't always convenient. But on this particular afternoon Buster didn't mind at all how Chatterer shrieked at him or what he said. He just didn't pay any attention to Chatterer. Chatterer might have been a stick or a stone for all the attention Buster paid him. Now, there is nothing in all the Great World so provoking as to have no attention paid you when you are doing your best to attract attention. Chatterer grew so angry that he danced up and down. Yes, sir, he did so. He even tried to drop pine cones on Buster's head. And all the time Buster didn't even so much as glance at him.

At last Chatterer actually tired himself out. There wasn't any satisfaction in scolding someone or in calling someone bad names when that someone didn't even so much as glance at him. So after a while Chatterer stopped. Then for a long time he watched Buster Bear. But Buster didn't appear to have anything to do, and presently he laid down for a nap. You see, Buster sleeps whenever he feels sleepy. It makes no difference to Buster whether it be night or day. But it makes all the difference in the world to Chatterer. Chatterer is indoors at night. Yes, indeed, just as soon as the Black Shadows begin to to creep through the Green Forest Chatterer retires. You see, he has no desire to make the intimate acquaintance of Hooty the Owl. So because he sleeps all night, he is very wide awake through the day, and he cannot understand how anybody else can sleep when he himself is so wide awake. So, after watching Buster a while, he whisked away to see what other mischief he could get into.

Now presently he ran across some good mushrooms. My, you should have seen his eyes sparkle when he say those mushrooms. Chatterer is very fond of mushrooms. Furthermore, Chatterer knows how to take care of mushrooms so he can have them all winter. As soon as he saw the mushrooms Chatterer forgot all about mischief.

He was just in time to see Chatterer scamper up a tree with a mushroom in his mouth.

He began gathering mushrooms and putting them up in a tree where they would dry and so keep. He forgot all about Buster Bear and everything else. Chatterer may be mischievous and may spend a great deal of time idling, but when he works he works. There isn't a lazy bone in that small body of his when there is work really to be done.

Never had he found nicer mushrooms. He licked his lips after leaving each one to dry. He licked his lips and thought of the feasts he would have when the Green Forest was wrapped in snow.

By and by Buster Bear awoke. He heard the rustling of small feet. He heard them going back and forth, back and forth. Quickly and without making a sound he got to his own feet and peeked around a tree. He was just in time to see Chatterer scamper up a tree with a mushroom in his mouth. Right away Buster Bear became interested. He became very much interested indeed.

CANADIAN SENATOR ELECTED HEAD OF LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

Hon. Raoul Dandurand Delivers Inaugural Address at Geneva

IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Points to Canada as Land Which Has Solved Minority Problem

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(Special Star-World Cable, Copyright). — Senator Raoul Dandurand of Canada was elected permanent president of the sixth assembly of the League of Nations Monday on the first ballot. Premier Painleve of France, the temporary President, in summoning Dandurand to the chair, greeted the Canadian as an example of how French and English civilizations could flourish in the same country, solving the troubles on a question of minorities.

Dandurand after thanking the Assembly in the name of all members of the British Commonwealth, declared:

"Our appearance in International life was hardly noticed; our rapid development was recognized by our signatures on the Treaty of Versailles. Our political status was received abroad with some surprise and possibly is not yet understood. History has never hitherto shown an example of six nations equal among themselves having autonomous political institutions and through their respective Governments recognizing the same King in whose name they speak and act both at home and abroad."

More than 50 Americans obtained admission to the opening session and hundreds were turned away. Among the most prominent were Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, accompanied by Miss Belle Baruch of New York, and Senators Walsh of Montana, Capper of Kansas, and Jones, of New Mexico.

Painleve, in opening the Assembly, reviewed the problems facing the world and the League's work in dealing with them, but declared they all paled into insignificance before the supreme problem of security. While viewing favorably the proposed security pact, he made it clear that France has not given up the peace protocol adopted at last year's Assembly and opposed by the present British Government.

He declared France and the other protocol advocates were neither surprised nor discouraged by opposition. A scheme so daring, original and comprehensive, he continued, obviously was destined to difficulties but would be eventually carried into effect. Painleve indicated that France's acceptance of regional security pacts as corollaries to the Geneva protocol rather than substitutes for it.

He emphasized that all security pacts must be under the League and that they are necessary before the problem of disarmament can be considered. Any arbitration treaties provided, he said, must be "complete treaties which do not admit of any exceptions and application of which is not solely dependent upon the good faith and agreements of signatories but on a guarantee afforded by the League of Nations."

POINTS WILL INCREASE.

Painleve spoke at length of the United States. He said: On the other side of the Atlantic is a great democracy which stood at the cradle of the League but nevertheless refuses any official connection. It desires to serve the cause of peace in its own way. But the ideal which the fatherland of Washington and Lincoln actuated is so human and approaches so closely its own that the League and America are impelled by force of circumstances to co-operate freely for the good of humanity. Points of contact will increase in the future."

Undoubtedly the assembly will consider its peace protocol and seek to remove objectionable features. It is understood the subject will be discussed, probably three or four days, and then quietly shelved while the security pact pourparlers are carried on. If by adjournment time no advance with Germany is reported, France and Czecho-Slovakia are likely to re-advance the protocol.

Painleve suggested that disarmament be considered tentatively by the assembly but emphasized that the unalterable sequence must be security and then disarmament. The recommendation that "the council prepare invitations to a conference for reduction of armaments as soon as it considers conditions satisfactory from the point of view of security are well established," is regarded as a move forestalling the possibility of a disarmament conference being called in Washington.

GO TO CANADA.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—Paying tribute to the aims of the League of Nations and expressing the legitimate pride felt in Canada over the appointment of a Canadian to the exalted further of president of the Sixth Assembly today, Senator the Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Minister without portfolio in the Canadian Government, and administration leader in the Canadian Senate, delivered his inaugural address to the League delegates.

"I have not the slightest illusion with regard to the significance of your suffrages and your applause," said Mr. Dandurand, opening his address, "for they go far beyond my own person; they go to Canada, whom you have desired thus to honor. The eulogiums that have been addressed to me by the statesman who is at once president of the League Council and president of the Ministerial Council of France, have touched me deeply.

"Descendant of the heroic Frenchmen who opened the North American Continent to civilization, I feel greatly moved at beholding myself received in this assembly by the representative of a nation whose traditions and language remain those of the ethnic group to which I belong. Your zeal testifies eloquently to your sympathy for the country I represent. Permit me to express to you my appreciation and my pride.

"Canada will not be alone in feeling the influences of your generous well-wishing; her sister nations who pay homage to the same Crown will take a legitimate pride from it. We have scarcely yet made our appearance in the International world. You will understand that our youth rejoices in the high dignity that you have conferred on it. Our birth in the world of affairs passed almost unperceived; our rapid development was marked by the signature which we placed to the Treaty of Versailles; our political status was unforeseen and surprising to foreign eyes.

"History has never hitherto furnished the example of six countries, equal among themselves, possessing autonomous political institutions and all functioning through their respective Governments, the same King in whose name they speak and act both in internal and external affairs.

MADE UNDENIABLE PROGRESS.

"The League of Nations has made undeniable progress in the past five years; the most skeptical have been forced to recognize that its activities have been fertile. Each year my eminent predecessors have travelled further along the road and have indicated the stages attained. At the closing of the last session the distinguished president of the assembly, M. Motta, undertook the grandiose project of substituting the force of right and morality for that of arms. It is in order that the reign of right might be brought about that the schemes of mutuel assistance and the protocol for the pacific regulation of International differences were studied. It is in order that the rule of justice might be inaugurated that the problem of arbitration, of security and disarmament was envisaged. It is in order that the ideal of solidarity, of moderation and of peace might triumph that we are here once more in the hospitable Helvetian Republic. The spectacle of delegates coming year after year from the four corners of the earth presents something exceptional and reassuring in its regularity. Does it not reveal a new orientation of intelligence and conscience? I have the certainty that the work of justice and peace will follow from collaboration in the policies of the jurists and technical experts laboring in an atmosphere of devotion to the well-being of humanity.

"Without a doubt we will experience hesitations along the way and some disappointments, but these groupings and deceptions, inherent in all work of reconstruction, should only stimulate our eagerness and fortify our energies. The effort and the experience of the past gives us a faith in the success and the efficacy of the deliberations to come."

Senator Dandurand has been Government leader in the Senate since 1921. He was appointed to the Senate in 1898, was Speaker of the Upper House from 1905 to 1909, and was appointed to the Privy Council in 1909. Senator Dandurand previously represented Canada at the Assembly of the League of Nations in 1924, together with the Hon. E. M. Macdonald, Minister of National Defence. He was born in Montreal in 1861, educated at Montreal College and Laval University, and admitted to the Bar in 1883. The Government of France honored Senator Dandurand by creating him a Commander of the Legion of Honor in 1912.

He has published a treatise on criminal law and a manual for justices of the peace.

INVITED BY PAINLEVE.

GENEVA, Sept. 8. — (C.P.) — Following his election to the presidency of the League of Nations Assembly, which opened here yesterday, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, of Montreal, was invited to take the chair by M. Painleve. The French Premier delivered a charming speech, in which he congratulated the Canadian Senator on his election to the high office. He referred to the new president's high capacity in knowledge and courtesy, and said that the choice of the Assembly was particularly felicitous, as Canada was on common ground with the British and French civilization.

M. Painleve then formally asked the bilingual orator to advance to the tribute. There was a touching scene as Senator Dandurand left his seat and, with evident emotion, walked forward to the French Premier, who cordially shook him by the hand and escorted him to the president's chair. As he took his seat, the whole Assembly rose and cheered him heartily.

The new president of the Assembly then addressed the gathering in French and English.

Canada constituted "an example to the world of how to handle successfully the problem of the treatment of minority populations," declared Premier Painleve.

M. Painleve paid a tribute to Senator Dandurand as a statesman of high capacity and deep knowledge of juridical questions, and referred to Canada as a common ground of British and French views. In Canada, M. Painleve said, French civilization lives peacefully and in brotherly union with Britain.

KING GIVES OPINION.

TORONTO, Sept. 8. — (C.P.) — Commenting on the appointment of Senator Dandurand to the presidency of the League, Premier King said last night.

"The appointment of Senator Dandurand to the presidency of the League of Nations is indicative of the position which Canada holds today in the eyes of the Nations of the world.

"It is not less of a compliment to our Dominion than to Senator Dandurand himself.

"No finer tribute has been paid our country than this signal expression of the confidence of other nations in Canada's ability to play a leading part in the movement for international conciliation and world peace.

"It will be recalled that Senator Dandurand represented Canada at the Assembly of the League of Nations last year. At that time he impressed the delegates of all countries there represented with his command alike of the French and English languages, his ability in directing affairs, and his wide interest in, and knowledge of, European and world problems. To his fellow Canadians it is, therefore, not surprising that Senator Dandurand should have received this high distinction. On all sides it will be conceded that he may be expected to discharge its high responsibilities and duties with honor alike to himself and to our country."

BUILDS 'PLANE TO CROSS ATLANTIC

PARIS, Sept. 8.—(Special Star-World Cable, Copyright).—A monoplane without fuselage, fitted with two ordinary 9-horsepower automobile engines, is the novelty just produced by a young French engineer, De Monge, who hopes with a larger model to cross the Atlantic.

The fuselage is replaced by two metal shafts connecting the wings with the tail gear. The wings measure 1½ metres from tip to tip and the maximum width is three metres. The machine in flying order weighs less than 1,400 pounds.

Tried out Sunday, it climbed more than 9,000 feet in six minutes. One feature is the unusual range of speed; the pilot flew with equal ease 75 miles and 20 miles an hour. The flying radius of the present model is 575 miles but De Monge says a supplementary fuel tank will enable him to quadruple this.

He proposes to build a giant model capable of carrying ten or twenty passengers, fitted with galley and sleeping accommodations and having a flying range of 3,500 miles. With such a 'plane he intends to attempt a flight to New York.

WAHABITES DENY SHELLING MEDINA

LONDON, Sept. 8 — (A. P.) — Reuter's Agency yesterday received a telegram from Ibn Saud, Sultan of Nejd and leader of the Wahabite tribesmen of Arabia, officially denying reports that his followers have bombarded Medina, "the City of the Prophet" in the Hedjaz.

"Our forces have surrounded Medina," the Sultan's message said, "but our Government has issued strict orders to the military commanders to respect and protect the holy places of Medina and its inhabitants."

EUROPEAN 'PLANE ROUTES MERGED

BERLIN, Sept. 8 — (U. N.) —A Pan-European combine embracing half the world's commercial air routes has been formed under German leadership, according to reports from Dresden, near where Prof. Junker, of the Junker Airplane Works, has been in conference with Fridjtof Nansen and Sven Hedin, the noted explorers. Junker engineered the combination.

It is understood that 16 of the more important European aviation concerns participated in the combination.

Following the conclusion of negotiations, Hedin said airplanes soon would supersede all other means of transport. The railway and automobile, he said, would be relegated to oblivion.

Commercial air routes affected by the combination stretch from Helsingfors, Finland, to London, Geneva and Budapest.

The sign governing this date is Virgo, the Virgin, and the governing planet is Mercury, the winged messenger. The birthstone is a pink jasper or a hyacinth.

Virgo people are usually firm believers in the use of medicine, and seem to be victims of all sorts of maladies, if they are judged by their own accounts and symptoms. They are usually very constant to physicians sometimes changing their aches, but not their doctors.

Order and harmony are very necessary to the health of these people. Food will not be of much use to them as discord and strife prevail.

The ELECTRIC TEAM that drives out every chill

"HOOK UP" these Majestic Electric Heaters, and know a new comfort when the damp days and chill winds search out every room in the house.

Both types are proven chill-chasers. The original reflector style of Majestic Heater directs swift, concentrated, penetrating beams of clean electric heat to whatever spot requires it. The newer grate type spreads genial, healthful warmth in all directions. Each has many uses in any home.

It is an excellent plan to have one of each kind. Then you can postpone "furnace time" for several weeks, and thereby save money and hard work. And even after the furnace is going there's nothing nicer than some "auxiliary" heat during severe weather.

Safe, Handy and Efficient

All Majestic Electric Heaters are easily carried, being light in weight, cool-handled and steady as a rock. They are safe, beautiful, and wonderfully convenient.

If you are buying only one electric heater, choose the size and style of "Majestic" best suited to your needs. The popular "grate fire" type is obtainable in three-element and six-element models. The famous reflector-type "Majestics" come in single and double-coil sizes.

Mass production makes possible the low prices at which Majestic Electric Heaters are sold by good dealers everywhere. Ask the nearest one for a demonstration.

DANISH DELEGATES EXPECT CANADIAN SUPPORT AT LEAGUE

Want Conciliation Commission to International Justice Court

EIGHT ARTICLES

Dominion Has Lead in British Arbitration Proceedings

GENEVA, Sept. 8. — (Star Special) — The active support of the Canadian delegation, under Senator Raoul Dandurand, at the sixth session of the League Assembly, is being counted upon by Heriuf Zahle and the Danish delegation, to secure the adoption of the plan for a Conciliation Commission, attached to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

While the Canadians have not given any indication, as yet, as to their stand regarding the conciliation project, it is unofficially understood that, unless a general arbitration program is placed before the Assembly, which incorporates the features of the Danish scheme, the Ottawa delegation can be counted upon to support the measure.

Canada, more than any other part of the British Commonwealth, has taken the lead in arbitration. If Senator Dandurand comes out for the Conciliation Commission, his lead will bring in a number of smaller nations, as well as influence to a great extent the attitude of the other members of the British Empire Group it is felt.

The essence of the Danish proposal —intended exclusively and primarily to advance peaceable adjustments of international disputes—is simple. In the wording of the draft resolution, which will come before the Assembly for action, it follows:

Article One—A Conciliation Commission attached to the court shall be established.

Article Two—The Conciliation Commission shall consist of three members, viz: one member appointed by each of the parties in each particular case, and one member of the court, who shall act as chairman of the Commission and who shall each time be appointed by the court in plenary session to perform his duties for one year.

Article Three—The seat of the Commission shall be at the seat of the court, unless the Commission itself decides otherwise in any special case.

Article Four—All disputes between states which, in virtue of an agreement between the parties or of other arrangements, are to be submitted to the court, shall first be brought before the Conciliation Commission.

Article Five—The Conciliation Commission shall endeavor to bring about friendly agreement between the parties to the dispute in question. If such an agreement is reached, it shall be drawn up in due form and signed by the members of the Conciliation Commission and by the representatives of the parties having full powers to the effect. An agreement reached in this manner shall have the same legal force as an award rendered by the court.

Article Six — If no agreement is reached between the parties, each of them shall receive a certificate declaring that the dispute has been duly examined by the Conciliation and that no agreement has been reached.

The information supplied and the offers made by the various parties in the course of the proceedings cannot in such case be invoked when the dispute is subsequently brought before the court.

The proposals and recommendations which the Commission may have made during its proceedings shall in such cases have no binding force on the parties.

Article Seven — The proceedings of the Conciliation Commission in respect to any dispute shall be concluded not more than two months after the dispute has been referred to it, unless the parties agree to prolong this period.

Article Eight — The proceedings of the Conciliation Commission shall be secret, unless the Commission, with the consent of the parties decides otherwise. The detailed rules of procedure governing proceedings before the Commission shall be fixed by the court in plenary session.

BELAND REVIEWS WORK OF LIBERALS

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—(C.P.)—A general review of the work accomplished by the Liberals since they came into office in 1921 was made by Hon. Dr. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, in an address delivered at Lotbiniere County yesterday. He pointed out that they had reduced the National debt by a considerable amount while taxes had been cut in order to benefit the farming and agricultural classes, all which the Conservatives were opposed to.

The importance of American markets for Canada's goods was stressed by the Minister. Last year's dealings with the United States had resulted in $800,000,000 of trade being transacted, and this figure would show a considerable increase of new channels of trade were opened.

SONS OF MINISTER LOSE LIVES IN BAY

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Sept. 8. — (C.P.)—Balfour, 18 years old, and John, 10 years old, sons of Rev. R. H. Fotheringham, of Knox United Church, were drowned yesterday in Thunder Bay, at a point about 600 yards east of the city pumping station when their canoe upset in a squal. Una, and Evelyn, their sisters, and a brother, Grant, saw them struggling in the water and later saw the canoe and boys disappear. Although extensive dragging operations have been in progress all day no trace of the canoe or youths has been found. A Government hydroplane searched the entire bay. Fourteen small boats and a steam tug are engaged in grappling for the bodies. The canoe capsized in 50 feet of water, when a huge wave struck it broadside.

SIX JAPANESE HELD IN ALABAMA

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 8 — (U. P.)— Six Japanese and a white marine engineer, L. T. Armour, are held here pending investigation of reports that the Orientals were smuggled into this country contrary to the immigration laws.

Each Japanese had exactly $38 in cash and each carried a passport from Tokio to Havana. A speedboat was found submerged in the harbor. In the vessel were found Japanese literature, rice and other provisions, which led the authorities to suspect that they had nipped a human smuggling plot.

FIVE CASES OF CHOLERA IN TOKIO

TOKYO, Sept. 8 — (A. P.) — Authorities today announced that five cases of cholera have been discovered in Tokyo. Previously 41 cases were reported at Yokohama.

RUSSIAN AGENTS CONTROL CANTON

Communist Heads Army and Another Controls Navy

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(U.N.)—Russian Communist agents have gained complete control of Canton, according to seemingly authoritative information received here.

A Communist agent now is chief of staff of the Canton Army, and another commands the Navy. The concentration of Russian agents in China is so great that there is a noticeable decrease, in some cases a complete cessation, of Communist propaganda elsewhere in Asia. India, Mesopotamia and the Near East are freer of Communist propaganda now than at any time in recent years.

There are indications that the Chinese are becoming angry with the Russians as with other foreigners. This is because the Chinese merchants find that their boycott of the British and other foreigners means that the Chinese themselves lose money.

LOYALISTS PREVENT RADICALS' ATTACK

London, Sept. 8 — (A. P.) —A crowd of loyal subjects of the King, of Rotherham, where yesterday Princess Mary opened a hospital, prevented an attempt by Communists to deliver a verbal attack on Royalty in the presence of a daughter of the British Royal Household.

Prior to the arrival of the Princess and her party, Communists gathered in the town square. They displayed large placards which announced that they would hold a meeting as the Royal party passed and also deliver speeches on the subject: "Does royalty matter? Workers, think!"

The meeting was broken up by angry citizens, who tore up the placards and chased the Communists from the streets before the arrival of the Princess and her husband, Viscount Lascelles.

Not until 1840 were watches successfully manufactured by machinery.

POPE RECEIVES CATHOLIC BOYS

Scouts From Many Countries Presented to His Holiness

ROME, Sept. 8 — (A.P.) — One of the most picturesque of the many ceremonies Rome has seen during the 1925 Holy Year took place Monday when several thousand Catholic Boy Scouts, from a dozen nations of Europe, Asia and America, were received by the Pope.

Dressed in their bare-kneed scout uniforms, and with banners and pennants flying, the youthful pilgrims paraded through the streets, singing their rollicking camp-fire songs.

In the procession were English youths, kilted Scots, boys of Arabia and Palestine in sheik head-dresses, and many others in picturesque variations of the scout uniform.

Assembled under the nave of St. Peter's, the boys gave to the place a spirit of bubbling youth, but they relapsed into quietness as they saw the Pontiff enter and ascend a specially constructed altar to celebrate a special mass. Later the youths demonstrated the results of their scout training, passing in review before the Pope. Then they filed into the interior court of the Vatican where they heard the Pope's address of welcome.

The Pope said that of the many consolations of Holy Year today's spectacle was one of the greatest and most beautiful. He said that he was moved to see before him such a number of youths from all over the world animated by faith and devotion to the Church.

His Holiness recalled Christ's great affection for youths. He praised the Boy Scouts as the hope of the Church and society, declaring that they should have faith in God and obedience to His laws. The Pope asserted that it was necessary to have more than material force, since where force dominated intemperance was present, but where the spirit dominated there was modesty and purity of life.

His Holiness then imparted the Apostolic Blessing to the scouts.

Commodore James Biddle negotiated the first treaty between the United States and China.

PLAN FINAL SEARCH FOR NAVY FLYERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—(A. P.) —An announcement that he had virtually given up hope that the crew of the lost PN-9 No. 1 flag plane of the San Francisco to Hawaii flight would be found alive, was made here yesterday by Captain Stanford E. Moses, United States Navy, commander of the flight project.

"We have virtually given up hope of rescuing the crew," Captain Moses said. "We now have eleven destroyers fueling at Honolulu for the purpose of engaging in a final survey of the waters where the PN-9 No. 1 came down. We have done all that could be done."

CALL WINCHESTER PASTOR.

RENFREW, Ont., Sept. 8.—(Star Special.) —At a congregational meeting of con-concurring Presbyterians held at the close of the evening service Sunday night an unanimous vote was recorded to extend a call to Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, of Winchester, Ont., to become their pastor. Rev. Mr. Glassford was nominated by Brockville Presbytery on September 4, for the position of pastoral and educational lecturer in Knox College, Toronto.

PROFESSOR HOWLED DOWN WHEN HE TRIED TO REFUTE DARWIN'S EVOLUTION THEORY

LONDON, Sept. 8 — (Special Star-World Cable, Copyright).—The Dayton evolution trial had a sequel here Sunday night at a public debate on "Is evolution true?".

Prof. George McCready Price, of Union College, Nebraska, was howled down and was unable to complete his speech.

Price attempted to refute Darwin's theories and claimed that his disciples had twisted scientific evidence to suit their theories. He suggested that apes might have degenerated from man.

From the beginning he frequently was interrupted until finally about half the audience was on its feet, shouting at him and arguing among themselves. One young woman in the balcony kept up a persistent shouting at Price until he sat down. Earl Russell, who presided, then closed the meeting with the remark that Prof. Price should be allowed to finish his speech.

"Well, I couldn't stand it any longer," shouted the same young woman, who still stood glaring at Prof. Price.

Prof. Price, a geologist, has written several criticizing scientists' deductions that evolution is proven by palentological evidence. Among his works are "Outlines of Modern Christianity and Modern Science," "Back to the Bible," and "God's Two Books."

GIVES REPORT ON SHENANDOAH CRASH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 — (A. P.) — Failure of diagonal bracing was held largely responsible for the Shenandoah disaster in an informal report to Secretary Wilbur today by Rear-Admiral C. W. Dyson, who made an independent investigation for the Naval Secretary.

Admiral Dyson reported that some of the diagonal bracing which gives dirigible airships their longitudinal strength, had pulled loose from its support.

AUSTRALIA FAVORS IMPERIAL TRADE

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 8 — (C. P.) — Hon. H. E. Pratten, Minister of Trade and Customs, says the New British preference proposals of the Commonwealth Government are part of a definite policy for promoting closed inter-imperial trade relations in the hope that this policy will be further reciprocated by Great Britain, because every step taken in this direction must assist in cementing the bond between Australia and the Mother Land.

Public support of this policy, Mr. Pratten says, naturally will be influenced by the development of similar action on the part of the Mother Country in favor of Australian produce. Australia, he adds, is watching with considerable interest the results of the preference she has already granted.

Every American President has left office in poorer health than when he was inaugurated.

MANY IN MEXICO ARE BORN SLAVES LEAGUE INFORMED

Peons' Love of Liquor Helps to Maintain Institution

TREATED BRUTALLY

Employment Agencies in South America Move Sections of Population

GENEVA, Sept. 8. — (U.N.) — Legalized peonage amounting to life-long slavery exists in half a dozen tropical countries of America and is sometimes maintained as an institution by the peons' love of liquor which moves them to pledge ten days labor for a quart of whiskey.

Mexico, Columbia, Bolivia and Peru are the worst offenders against the peons. The sixth Assembly of the League of Nations, which convened yesterday will investigate the whole problem of slavery in the New and Old World.

The charges against the American countries have been laid before the League by its advisory commission on slavery. They are based purely upon private information provided by various anti-slavery organizations. The commission's report on slavery points out that all the Government's where this system of peonage exists neglected to make any reference to peonage in their reports regarding slavery to the League.

Under the system which is declared to be still in vogue in the States mentioned, a debtor pledges himself or rather his labor to his creditor, until advances which have been made for the purchase of land or other materials have been paid.

The creditor then, by constantly making fresh advances for everything which the debtor needs from liquor to clothing, manages to increase the indebtedness until the debtor is enslaved for life.

BORN INTO PEONAGE.

In several of the countries and notably in Mexico, if the debtor fails to work out all his debt before he dies, his family is still responsible and thus great numbers of people in these countries are born into peonage and virtual slavery.

The report to the League's advisory commission on slavery by the International Bureau for the protection of indigenous population, cites first the example of Mexico and submits documents dating back as far as 1863, showing that this peonage system was then and is still widely practiced.

The majority of Mexican peons are declared to have been born into peonage, and they are treated more brutally than actual slaves for the reason that a slave at least has a definite market value that must not be deteriorated by abuse.

In South America the system is declared to have taken on a new development that is extremely serious. Employment agencies, or rather professional labor dealers, sign up large elements of the population on this debtor pledging basis and then transport them to other points where labor is needed.

As a result it is declared that large districts of the Andes, where great resources exist for exploitation, have been entirely depopulated in this manner.

LIQUOR FREELY USED.

Liquor is freely used, it is asserted, to keep these people in constant debt, and as a consequence in constant peonage and slavery. A bottle of cognac or whiskey costs one third of a month's wages and a peon's other needs for clothing and necessities are sufficient to keep him enslaved for life.

According to the reports submitted, the professional labor dealers in Columbia, Peru and Bolivia not only engage and carry away the peaceful Indian tribes that are already well advanced in ages, but also forest tribes who live only by hunting and fishing and who have very little productive value as laborers.

The situation is complicated by the fact that as this system of debtor pledging is recognized by the law, the peons, if they fail to meet their obligations, fall into the hands of the police. In many cases the contracts of the profesional peon employer specifically state that the debt can only be paid by labor, and the peon has no other way of redeeming himself.

Still another aspect of the evil will be made public in a report that was submitted to an anti-slavery congress at Montevideo in March of this year and which is soon to be published. According to this report there are various warlike tribes in some of these states where peonage is legalized, who make raids upon other tribes and carry off the women and children who are sold to rich planters in the vicinity.

The southern overland stage route from St. Louis to San Francisco was 2,759 miles long.

MINER DECLARES GREAT PAINTER SEEKS EXPRESSION OF HIS SOUL THROUGH HIM

PARIS, Sept. 8. — (Special Star-World Cable, Copyright.) —The spirit of Leonardo Da Vinci incarnates itself at times in the body of a humble French miner and impels him to paint pictures which, although betraying unmistakable naivete and ignorance of technique, nevertheless bear the imprint of real genius.

This is the explanation of the work of Augustin Lesage, believed in by delegates to the International spiritualist conference being held here.

Specimens of Lesage's work are a source of wonder-to experts. Like Joan of Arc, Lesage says he heard voices while wielding his pick at the bottom of a pit in Northern France. At first he believed himself the victim of fever and delirium, but one day the voices were more insistent than ever, commanding him to draw and paint. So he went home to reflect.

Then a strange force took hold of him and compelled him to go out and buy pallette, brushes, and colors, he says, and although he never had been interested in art before, he seemed to know exactly what to ask for. Back at his cottage Lesage began to paint as though inspired.

His canvasses now are famous. They are signed with two names: Augustin Lesage and Leonardo Da Vinci. The miner unhesitatingly declares he is the instrument of the great Italian master, whose soul is seeking to express itself.

REFUSES TO SAIL WITH COMMUNIST

British Member Will Not go to Washington Parley

LONDON, Sept. 8—(A.P.)—Colonel H. P. Woodcock, Conservative Member of Parliament ,in a letter to the newspapers, announces that he will not go to Ottawa and Washington as a British delegate to the inter-parliamentary conference, if S. Saklatvala, a Communist Member of Parliament, who also is a delegate, intends to make the trip. Colonel Woodcock explains that he cannot associate himself with Mr. Saklatvala.

Col. Woodcock says that he was not aware Saklatvala would be a delegate when he accepted the invitation and quotes typical anti-British sentences from the Communist's utterances. The writer states that he had the honor to serve in His Majesty's Forces for more than 25 years, and as a loyal subject of the King, he would be disloyal to those with whom he served and to his Parliamentary constituents to maintain the integrity of the Empire if he consented to be a fellow delegate with one whose loyalty and interests are opposed to this country.

"The danger of misunderstanding and misrepresentation is too great to those who do not understand the isolated position Saklatvala holds in this country," he writes.

Col. Woodcock expressed deep disappointment at the circumstances necessitating his having to decline the opportunity to make his first visit to the United States and Canada.

UNIONS TO FIGHT TO HOLD GROUND

President Announces Works Have Reached Limit of Concessions

POLICY OUTLINED

Leaders Realize They Must Combat Red Propaganda

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(Special Star-World Cable, Copyright.) — A. M. Swales, president of the Trades Union Congress, in the opening speech of its 57th annual meeting at Scarborough Monday announced the Labor unions' policy that workers have reached the limits of concessions of employers and from now on will fight for improved conditions. The pronouncement from the standpoint of the country as a whole is as important as a statement of major policy by the British Government.

"There is a limit," declared Swales, "to the concessions unions can be forced to make. That limit has been reached. Union policy henceforth will be to recover lost ground, to re-establish and improve our standards of wages, hours and working conditions, and to co-ordinate and intensify Trade Union action for winning a larger measure of control in industry for workers."

This declaration was made to an assembly of nearly 800 delegates representing about 4,500,000 Trade Unionists and, together with political Laborites, a Labor vote in the last general election of 5,250,000.

Swales' emphasis that the time has come when unions not only will not stand for further concessions but are determined to gain better working conditions should be interpreted, it was in an authoritative Labor quarter here, with particular significance in reference to the recent growth of the extreme radical and Communist movement within the Trade Union organization and the Labor Party of the country.

According to this authority the responsible and orthodox Labor and Trade Union leaders now are realizing that in order to maintain their position against reproaches and attacks of this "Left Wing" group they not only must wage a successful defensive campaign against employers to maintain the position Labor has reached but also must be able to obtain for their followers such improved conditions as will put a halt to the advance of Red trade unionism.

In other words it is a matter of keeping the rank and file of Trade Unions satisfied with "constitutional action."

Swales opening speech with its declaration of policy, therefore is calculated to prevent a threatened open outbreak during this week's meeting between regular union leaders and the men at the head of "the National minority movement" a Communistic movement within the Trade Unions.

The most important business the congress will consider is the proposal before it, to which Swales referred Monday to grant the General Council of the Trades Union Congress much greater powers—authority to call out unions in sympathetic strikes and to supervise the financing and strategy of any strike which takes place. This would make the council the real "general staff" of the Labor unions.

This plan was put up a few weeks ago as a counter-proposal to the miners' present attempt to organize a new labor triple alliance of miners, railwaymen and transport and general workers unions, whose joint strike action, which was threatened during the recent coal crisis, would inevitably result in a general strike.

WASHINGTON FLOOD DEATH TOLL FIFTEEN

WENATCHEE, Wash'n., Sept. 8 — (A. P.) — Twelve bodies had been recovered yesterday and five known dead still were missing, as a result of a cloudburst in the Squillichuch Mountains Saturday evening, which sent a flood over South Wenatchee.

That other deaths may have resulted was indicated when parts of half a dozen automobiles parked in the tourist camp at Apple Yard were found scattered in the debris.

The belief here was expressed of a possibility that other motorists may have been buried on the Snake Road which leads from Wenatchee Heights.

URGES FITNESS OF INDIANS TO RULE

Swarajist Leader Threatens to Withdraw Party's Co-operation

SIMLA, India, Sept. 8.—(C.P.) — India's fitness to govern herself was urged by Motilal Nehru, the leader of the Swarajist Party, when the Legislative Assembly discussed Sir Alexander Muddiman's resolution proposing the acceptance of the majority report of the Reforms Act Enquiry Committee which among other things, recommended a relaxation of the control of the Secretary of State over the Government of India in cases affecting purely Indian affairs, joint deliberation between the two sides of the Government on important questions, and joint responsibility of the Ministry. Sir Alexander advised that the House follow the advice given by the Viceroy, Earl of Reading, when opening the autumn session of the Legislature on August 20, to exercise friendly co-operation for the advancement of the country, and urged the various factions to work together to solve "one of the greatest problems of the human race."

Motilal Nehru moved an amendment to the resolution providing for fundamental changes in the constitution and administration. He declared that the Indians looked for a place in the sun for themselves, and strongly urged that a convention, representative of all the interests, frame a scheme for the approval of the Legislature which would be submitted to the British Parliament and embodied in a statute.

Nehru stated that the Swarajists were unable to accept the views of the Earl of Birkenhead, Secretary of State for India, in regard to the Government of India. He contended that the Indians were kept down forcibly and asserted that unless the Government showed a change of heart the Swarajists would not co-operate.

The name Siberia signifies "thirsty."

"I Love to Dance but—OH! MY FEET!"

Try this and forget all your aches, pains, strains, corns, callouses or other foot troubles.

A foot bath in hot saltrated water is all you need tostop any foot pains instantly. Phyllis Monkman says the saltrated water is wonderful for tired, tender, aching feet or any other foot troubles. As for corns—it does not affect sound healthy skin in the slightest degree, but acts only on the dead, hardened skin composing corns and callouses, which it softens just as water softens soap. Then pick the corn right out—root and all—like the hull out of a strawberry. Merely cutting the top off with a razor or burning it off with caustic liquids, plasters, etc., is about as logical as cutting the top off an aching tooth, and is simply a waste of time. Also it hurts, and is dangerous. Millions of packages of Reudel Bath Saltrates (for the preparation of saltrated water) have been sold, and the sale is increasing daily. This means something, as you will understand when you see for yourself the wonderful effects it produces. In packages of convenient size and at low price, from all druggists. Ask them about it.

Obtainable at most drug stores for 50c. or direct from the distributors Macnamara Limited, New Birks Building, Montreal

Perfect Fitting Sets of Teeth Produced by DECARIE

Dr. Decarie has a special department for the making of false teeth. His methods of fitting you perfectly is the cause of remarks on every side. If it's false teeth you want, see

DECARIE

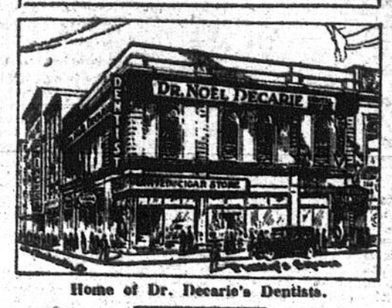
But that is not all Dr. Decarie does?

Every branch of Dentistry is done by graduate, registered dentists of years experience.

NO STUDENTS

If you are timed or afraid, you can be positive of not being hurt here.

90% of the pain experienced in a dental chair is carelessness.



Home of Dr. Decarie's Dentists.

The New Method of Examination

Examination by transillumination, the latest scientific method, is now offered, as a part of Dr. Decarie's Dental Service. A small lamp with very intense rays is used to illuminate the tooth, showing clearly whether the tooth is in an unsound condition. If your teeth need attention, we give you an exact estimate of all costs to repair them—and you will be under no obligation to take any treatment unless you wish to do so. If they don't need fixing we truthfully tell you so. Come when it's convenient for you during regular office hours.

For Painless Extracting

Vitalized Air, Gas and Oxygen

When we say Painless we mean Painless. Just a quiet, gentle sleep for about one minute—your tooth is gone—you feel nothing and there are no ill after effects—absolutely without pain.

We also treat the gums with genuine German Novocain by the nerve blocking method. From twenty to hundred teeth extracted daily. Old or young—one tooth or thirty—it's all the same. NO PAIN.

SETS OF TEETH

With Natural Looking Gums

Artificial Dentures (plates) are offered to render a real health service. Our plates carefully made to wear and to fit. Only the best grade of teeth are used. They are selected to match the color of the hair and eyes as well as the shape of the face. Extreme care is taken to restore the natural lines of the mouth and face. In short, my dentures are made to last for years and to appear like healthy natural teeth. Your new plates can be made the same day if desired.

Pyorrhea Successfully Treated

The remarkable new treatment "Inava" has aided thousands of GRATEFUL patients who were afflicted with this dreaded disease. Your case is not too far advanced. Come in at once.

Save That Broken Tooth By Crowning It.

A broken or jagged tooth is a menace. It irritates the tongue and causes sores which may become infected. Such a tooth usually decays easily and infects other teeth. It should therefore be repaired at once. The most satisfactory way is to have it crowned. Crowns made by Dr. Decarie's dentists not only improve the appearance of your mouth, but preserve your teeth. Crowns made here years ago are being worn by Montreal people.

Your Plate Repaired While You Wait.

Your old plate made anew in three hours' notice. Out of town people can also send their plates by mail to have them repaired. Prompt attention, first class work. Try it once, we guarantee satisfaction.

BRIDGEWORK TEETH WITHOUT PLATES

The result of a lost tooth is much worse than bad appearance. If you neglect replacing it your gums will recede at that point and then you will have trouble. Replace that missing tooth with Dr. Decarie's Dentists' fine bridge-work so that your mouth will not only look clean and attractive, but will be fully equipped to chew the food that nature intended it to do.

ROUNDING CAREER OF HALF CENTURY

Willis and Company, Limited, to Celebrate 50th Anniversary

The fiftieth anniversary of Willis and Company, Limited, will be celebrated by a two day program on the 16th and 17th of this month. The main items include a gala concert on Wednesday evening, the 16th in the Windsor Hall at which Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, of New York, will lecture on "The Common Sense of Music" and Madame Germaine Schnitzer, noted pianist, will give a selection of pianoforte numbers representative of the romantic school and illustrating some of its most interesting phases. There will be a banquet at the Mount Royal Hotel on Thursday evening.

The program opens on Wednesday morning with an exhibition in the Willis Recital Hall at 10 a.m. This will be followed by the presentation of a bust of A. P. Willis, founder and president of the Company to the Board of Directors. The sculptor, Coeur de Lion McCarthy, will make a short speech to which Mr. Willis will reply. A luncheon will be given by the directors in the Windsor Hotel at 12.45 and the afternoon from 2.30 to 4.30 will be taken up with a round table discussion of piano problems of the day in the Willis Recital Hall.

An automobile trip from the Willis building to the factory is the feature for Thursday morning. After an inspection of the works luncheon will be served. In the afternoon there will be a trip around the city and to the top of the mountain with a 20 minutes stop at the Capitol Theatre to view the Ampico picture "Great Artists in their Leisure Moments."

FOUNDERS CAREER.

A. P. Willis, the founder of the company, was born at Mount Dalhousie, Nova Scotia, on May 11th, 1845. His earliest ambition led him to become a school teacher and he made good headway in his profession but after six years he decided to give it up and enter commercial life. This he did as a travelling salesman in 1871. Two years later he came to Montreal and began business in a small way on St. Antoine street. At that time it was thought that the orthodox centre for retail business was Notre Dame street, so in due course a store was opened at the corner of Notre Dame and St. Peter in the building which had been the headquarters of General Montgomery and his officers during the invasion of Canada in 1775. The rental of this first store was $500 a year.

Eight years later, larger premises on Notre Dame street were secured at an annual rental of $1,200. The expansion of the business was not confined to Montreal, for the enterprising young merchant arranged contracts to sell pianos for prominent Canadian manufacturers and took an agency of world-wide renown for the Knabe piano. The business developed throughout the Maritime Provinces and later spread westward until it now includes branches and direct agencies from Prince Edward Island to Vancouver Island. Mr. Willis was named sole Canadian representative for the Knabe, Chickering and Ampico pianos and has also the distinction of having been appointed purveyor to royalty. The latest models of Willis and Knabe pianos are now to be found at the Vice-Regal residence in Ottawa.

A new Willis store was opened in Ottawa by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, of New York, during the recent exhibition. The year 1926 will mark another achievement locally, for the company has purchased two stores immediately west of the present establishment at the corner of Drummond and St. Catherine streets, with the intention of doubling the size of the present store.

Mr. Willis is also a successful manufacturer of pianos. About 25 years ago he established a factory at Ste. Therese on a plot of ground that has been added to three times since the founding of the factory the capacity, of which is now over 4,000 pianos a year. The Jubilee Model Grand Piano produced this year is shown at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and at the Ottawa Exhibition.

FALLS FROM BALCONY.

Isette Besse, aged 4, of 3363 St. Hubert street, is at the Ste. Justine Hospital in a serious condition as the result of a fall from a second-storey balcony at her home shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She is suffering from a fracture of the forehead and injuries to the right eye. The victim and two sisters, Marie Jeanne, aged 11, and Cecile, aged 13, had been left at home while their parents went out calling. Two other little girls came to spend the afternoon, and the party sat togethes on the balcony. When the guests prepared to leave, the victim remained alone on the balcony, and drew a chair up to the railing to look over at them as they left the house. She lost her balance and fell to the cement sidewalk below. She was picked up by passersby and sent to the hospital.

PASSENGER AGENTS PLAN CONVENTION

The 50th annual convention of the American Association of Travelling Passenger Agents opens at the Windsor Hotel on Tuesday next. The association is made up of railroad and steamship agents from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Preparations are being made for their welcome by representatives of the steamship and railroad companies in Montreal. An executive committee has been appointed with C. C. Bonter, Canada Steamship Lines, chairman, and with the following members: F. J. McClure, Cunard-Anchor Donaldson Co.; L. S. Tobin, White Star-Dominion Co.; G. W. Wildblood, Cunard-Anchor-Donaldson Co.; E. C. Elliott, Canadian National Railways; G. A. Walton, and W. Ballantyne, Canadian Pacific Railway.

R. G. Amiot, Canadian Pacific Railway, is chairman of the transportation and information committee; C. P. Goldthwaite, Canadian National Railways, chairman of the Publicity committee; C. F. Mason, White Star-Dominion Co. chairman of Ladies' Committee, and G. W. Wildblood, chairman, Entertaining and Sightseeing Committee.

YOUNG DUCK HUNTER ACCIDENT VICTIM

His chest riddled with pellets from an accidentally discharged cartridge in his own shotgun, while on a duck-hunting expedition on the South Shore just below Caughnawaga, early yesterday afternoon, Andrew Jacobs, aged 16, of Caughnawaga, died before a doctor and a priest could reach his side.

Accompanied by Frank Nolan, aged 17, the victim had started out in a boat about 1 p.m., and was reaching for his gun at a point just below the C.P.R. bridge, when the accident occurred. Nolan told the Coroner this morning that Jacobs was holding the gun pointed to him, when he touched the trigger and the cartridge was discharged. Nolan at once rowed ashore and ran to the village and notified the boy's relatives. The victim was dead, however, when help arrived. A verdict of "accident" was returned.

WOMEN'S WORK

RAISED $600 FOR ASSOCIATION WORK

The last meeting of the Women's Association of Sixteen Island Lake took place at "Liberty Hall," the home of Mrs. Tracy Ludington, recently. Mrs. Ludington was warmly thanked by the new president, Mrs. John Gibson, for her hospitality accorded to the ministers who come to preach at the pavilion. The financial report was read by the secretary and it was felt that the Association had had a very successful year, there being an amount of over $600. This was to be used for the three orphans adopted by the Association, a cot in the Children's Memorial Hospital, and the Grace Dart Home, the remainder to go to the Old Brewery Mission. The result of the election of officers was as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. T. Ludington; president, Mrs. John Gibson; vice-presidents, Mrs. Lockhart, and Mrs. Day; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. Coupland; committee, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Horrall, Mrs. Jeffrey, Miss Jawes, Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Cushing, and Mrs. Coutts.

RADIO CARNIVAL FOR CHURCH.

The annual street fair, under the auspices of the various societies of St. Cyprian's Church, will take the form of a "Radio Carnival," and will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, September 19. The band of Canadian Vickers' Boy Scouts will be in attendance, and Morgan Boulevard, between Lafontaine and Adam streets, will be reserved for the Fair, and will be decorated for the occasion.

TO HOLD MASS MEETING.

The Montreal West Women's Conservative Association will hold a mass meeting with the Men's Conservative Association of Montreal West in the Town Hall tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

HORSE SMASHES SKULL.

Dashing headlong eastwards on Sherbrooke street, from the corner of Clarke avenue where it took fright and bolted, a runaway horse, drawing a grocery delivery wagon ended its wild career by smashing its skull against some iron railings on Elm avenue near the street corner. The driver escaped without injury, and the wagon was not damaged.

A Residential Beauty Spot in Heart of Montreal

Nestling behind Sherbrooke Street, near Mountain Street, is a group of houses, built for homes, known as Richelieu Place. An ideal residential spot that has no equal in Montreal for beauty, convenience and exclusiveness. Richelieu Place is just a step from the winding Mountain trails yet within a stone's throw from the smart shops, theatres, clubs and hotels.

The Geo. A. Fuller Co., Limited, are now completing a group of thirty-six houses which will be ready for Fall occupancy. The building of these houses is one of the largest enterprises of its kind in Montreal; the cost involves well over a million dollars. No better guarantee as to construction and finish could be given an intending purchaser than the fact that the Geo. A. Fuller Co. have included Richelieu Place in their 1925 program.

Houses in Richelieu Place will combine all the conveniences of an apartment house with the privacy of an individual home. Every known improvement in modern architecture and construction, as well as every convenience for the family welfare have been studied and brought out to perfection in these homes.

Central heating, central incinerator, janitor service, private garage and private park: these are a few features well worthy of your consideration.

A limited number will be rented to desirable parties and prospective tenants should make early inspection and reservation. Your own real estate agent will gladly give you further particulars or apply direct to the

ALLEGE COMPANY BREAKING PLEDGE

Nova Scotia Miners Support Clerks Firm Will Not Hire

SYDNEY, N. S., Sept. 8 — (C. P.) —Alleging discriminatory tactics on the part of British Empire Steel Corporation in refusing to re-employ certain clerks and other members of the so-called official staff, who refused to do maintenance work at the collieries during the recent strike, the following resolution, a copy of which has been forwarded to Premier Rhodes and Hon. Mr. Harrington, Minister of Mines, was passed at a sub-district convention of district 26, United Mine Workers held at Glace Bay Sunday.

"Whereas: at the conference held at Sydney July 22-25 and later at Halifax, July 29-31 between representatives of the Provincial Government, the Coal Company and the United Mine Workers of America, regarding settlement of wage disputes, a pledge was given by the officials of the company to the Premier that there would be no discrimination of any employes and,

"Whereas: ignoring this pledge, which was supposedly made in good faith, there are a number of clerks who have been refused employment by the company,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the delegates to sub-district convention representing 12 local unions assembled September 6, 1925 demand that Premier Rhodes be asked to use his good offices to have the company live up to its pledge and have these men reinstated, and be it further resolved that we ask all local unions in district 26 to send resolutions of protest to the Hon. Premier and the Hon. Minister of Mines bearing on this question."

PRINCE OF WALES MADE IMPRESSION

Say His Highness Swung Dutch Opinion in South Africa

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(C.P. by Mail) —F. A. MacQuisten, the well-known Scottish M.P., and one of the humorists of the House, has just returned from South Africa, where he went to inspect a gold-mining property of which he is a director.

Mr. MacQuisten returns with profound impressions of the success of the Prince of Wales' visit, and of its good influence throughout the Union. The Prince, he says, seems to have succeeded in pleasing everybody, while there is no doubt whatever that he has swung round Dutch opinion to an extent altogether unimagined in this country. South Africa had before his visit, no doubt realized the value of the imperial connection, and the Union from self-interest, but the Prince succeeded in influencing sentiment, and the benefit of his visit therefore to the Empire is incalculable. The Prince's energy seems to have struck everybody, says Mr. MacQuisten. He was never wearied and he never seemed to want much sleep. South Africa had never seen anybody like him, and it is amusing that in point of virility and activity the only comparison they could make with him was that of the late Paul Kruger. He had the perfect gift for doing the nice and correct thing. Whenever there was any dance at which girls turned up, not in orthodox evening dress, possibly because they did not have any, he at once made a bee-line for them and invited them to dance with him, where he invariably took the floor with the older generation, with whom he is a pronounced favorite.

SAY CROSS-WORD PUZZLES SIMPLE

National Puzzlers' League Create New "Skull-Crackers"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(U.P.)— Cross-word puzzles are barred as too simple for the 40 men and women, members of the National Puzzlers' League, who gathered in their semi-annual convention here on Labor Day to formulate some real "skull-crackers."

Nearly every section of the country was represented at the convention.

The president of the league, W. D. Flagg, of Holyoke, Mass., said the average cross-word puzzle would be absolutely lost when confronted by the simplest of the "stickers" they were framing.

A new book of "real puzzles" will be issued by the league in October. It will contain squares, diamonds, enigmas, alphagrams, homonyms and anagrams, so graduated that the beginner can work a few of the puzzlers while some will be so difficult that only the old masters will be able to solve them.

When a puzzle worker becomes proficient enough to join the league—whose standards are exceptionally high—he is given a puzzle name, such as Nanki Poo, which is Flagg's appellation, or Gi Gantic, Osaple, C. Saw, Willie Wildwave, Arty Ess, Remado, Miss Fitts, the titles by which some of the other officers are called during executive sessions.

COMPOSER'S WILL CAUSES TROUBLE

Relatives Charge Puccini's Son Not Legally Heir to Fortune

VIAREGGIO, Italy, Sept. 8. — (U. P.)—The charge of an illicit romance will be the weapon collateral heirs of the great composer Giacomo Puccini will use in their announced plan to fight his will.

Under this testament, Puccini — known the world over for his "Madame Butterfly" and the "Girl of the Golden West," left his estate of about $1,000,000 to his son, Antonio, with some income from property to his widow, Elvira.

The other heirs, seeking to break down this disposition, claim that Antonio is a love child, and not entitled to the Puccini fortune.

His position is quite involved. The contestants allege that Antonio was born out of wedlock. They say the mother, Elvira Puccini, was at the time of his birth still the wife of a merchant named Gemignani.

Puccini at that time had an affair with her, it is alleged. The contestants further assert that Antonio was registered as born of an unknown mother. Should he claim Elvira as his mother, according to the claim set up, he is a Gemignani and, consequently, not entitled to the Puccini estate.

Young Puccini explains that his mother married Puccini after the death of her merchant husband, and that his legal status was brought into order by means of a royal decree. Hence, according to his version, he is the legitimate son of Puccini and quite entitled to inherit the composer's fortune.

OPEN VERDICT IN ST. AGAPIT CASE

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—(Star Special.) In returning an open verdict on the death of Francis Fournier, Mayor of St. Agapit, who was killed by a bullet while mowing hay, Coroner Jolicoeur, condemned the use of High Power rifles. "Persons hunting in small woods should not be allowed to use them," he said.

The verdict returned read: "Death was caused by persons unknown."

He suggested that the authorities institute a search for the party who fired the shot.

THE CITY OF MEMORIES AND ROMANCE

The reproach is often levelled against the New World that it is a hard grey world of hard grey facts "with no nonsense about them." There is too much truth in this. But of one city, at least, it cannot be said. That is the city of Quebec. The atmosphere of New France, of the Intendants, of Louise Quatorze, and of the Eighteenth Century saturates the Ancient Capital still. Broodingg on its heights the very aspect of the city inspires thought. It seems to be at gaze across the endless plains which its priests and its sons went out to civilize and colonize. Like old Rome it set its seal on a continent. If any of the old Fathers or the old-time voyageurs could return to it they would find but little change. It is a city of the Old World put down at the entrance to the New. Those who have visited it, return again and again to the charm of it; those who have not yet seen it, should not omit any chance to do so. And the chance of seeing it is always before you. All you need do is to ask any Canadian Pacific Railway Ticket Agent for booklet, printed in both languages.

MRS. FRASER HAD LOW TOTAL IN CANADIAN LADIES' GOLF TOURNEY

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 8.—(Star Special).—Early season predictions to the effect that the present game of Mrs. Fraser was built on sounder foundation than that which she has previously shown on Canadian golf courses, received ample justification yesterday when she led the field in the medal round of the Canadian ladies' closed championship, serving as the qualifying round, with a brilliant effort of 77. Reviving the game which has been hers since her first exploratory trip to Rivermead on Saturday, after a rather patchy outgoing nine of 40, the former American and Canadian champion found it possible to complete the more difficult second half in 37—and that with two three-putt greens on the inward journey.

IDEAL WEATHER.

The weather man's bark proved worse than his bite as the field progressed around the course. Lowering skies, an east wind, and a distinct touch of autumn in the air gave promise of dire things, but the eventual outcome was perfect golfing weather, with the early starters being the only ones to suffer even the slightest inconvenience from the cold.

It was not perhaps the most inspiring of days in appearance, but this was forgotten as the contenders found by experience that the material elements could hardly have been improved upon. Even the wind, usually troublesome, at this season, proved but little hindrance.

On the whole the scoring was good. A larger gathering of the established stars doubtless would have provided a better cluster of scores in the eighties, but, as it was, the scoring was led with something exceptional in the way of medal rounds, and it took 102 or better to make one of the first 32 places, the championship flight. At this figure six players were tied for three vacancies.

Second to Mrs. Fraser, was Miss Ada MacKenzie, of Mississauga, with an 83. At one point the Toronto star was leading Mrs. Fraser by a stroke, her 40 going out with a three at the tenth, leaving her ahead, but, at the point where Mrs. Fraser found her very finest shots, Miss MacKenzie found herself unable to keep an odd stroke from slipping away. Her position in the scoring list, however, more clearly than ever establishes Miss MacKenzie as the logical favorite for the close title.

LOCAL PLAYERS QUALIFY.

Five strokes back of the runner up came Miss Eileen Kinsella, of the Country Club, Montreal, while Miss Haget led the homebred Ottawa golfers with an 89. These were the last to reach the desirable eighty class. Miss Dora Virtue, of Whitlock, and Miss Kate Robertson, of Beaconsfield, missing out by a single stroke. From that point upwards, the scores ran with fair regularity to the deadline of 102, beyond which remains naught but consolation.

While Montreal had only one player in the eighties, Miss Eileen Kinsella of the Country Club, it is thought that the metropolis is more strongly represented than today's scores might indicate. Miss Kate Robertson of Beaconsfield, may always be counted upon to put up stiff opposition in any Canadian field, particularly after the medal round is left behind. Then there is Miss Dora Virtue, of Whitlock.

There is no question that this product of the new school of golfers has made a most favorable impression on these who are looking to the future of Canadian golf. From her first appearance on the course, Miss Virtue's fine vigorous swing, her wholehearted going after of all her shots, has attracted much favorable comment; and the fine long game which results from these efforts shows that Whitlock's entry is on the track of the absolute necessity of modern golf length and power.

Miss McBride is another Montrealer who may be expected to catch her game at match play. Not hitting her shots quite as soundly as she might, the little left hander is on the verge of acquiring the touch of her wooden clubs, the most noticeable weakness in her game yesterday. It was at Rivermead that Miss McBride proved something of a surprise by going to the finals against Miss Cecil Leitch in 1921; and it would be by no means surprising if she were to go some distance this year.

MRS. MUSSEN WINS.

One of the most popular wins was that of Mrs. A. E. Mussen, of Mount Bruno, whose fine nett score of 72 left her in easy possession of the prize for the best nett score. She thus shares the honor with Mrs. Fraser of being a leader in one of the medal play classes.

Mrs. Fraser was not at the best going out, and when she rounded the turn in 40 it appeared that the hopes of a score of better than 80 were not to be realized. What scoring opportunities the Rivermead offers are not to be found on the last nine, its general charge to the average golfer being some three strokes more than its predecessor. That Mrs. Fraser is very far removed from average is shown by the fact that she was able to pull her game together and card an improvement of three strokes coming home, a 37 which might have been a 35 but for two three-putt greens.

By the 10th, Mrs. Fraser seemed to have shaken loose the smother which had troubled her wooden-club shots in the earlier stages; and by the time the 13th was reached, it was a certainty. A fine chance for a three was lost by an overly bold approach to the sloping 10th green, a five came on the 12th when two putts would have resulted in a four, but two beautiful shots took her home on the long thirteenth for a four. This was followed by a perfectly played 14th; but absolute certainty of her breaking through was denied on the 15th when three putts again intruded.

At this point it was to be seen that Mrs. Fraser could err but once—and there seemed plenty of room for error on what remained of the course—if she was to score in the seventies.

Far from erring, she chose this troublesome part of the ccurse to make up a stroke. Considering what had gone before the pair of fours which came on the 16th and 18th were devoid of features but a four on the 17th—usually a particularly troublesome par five—is something else again. A powerful man golfer might play that hole for many a day and be most thankful with what he might be granted in the way of fives; but Mrs. Fraser made a four appear almost easy.

A tremendous drive of 260 yards was followed in turn by a powerfully hit spoon shot, a delicate niblick pitch and a 20 foot putt. This removed the last vestige in par played in true par fashion, two shots to within 15 feet af the cup and two putts.

In retrospect, it might be said of Mrs. Fraser that even more convincing than her score was her manner of hitting her shots. Once she really found the touch of her clubs and took hold of things with a smooth, deliberate swing, the golf was positively professional in its absolute precision. So regularly did fine shot follow fine shot that her display was almost robbed of the spectacular element. Such a successful return to competitive golf establishes Mrs. Fraser as a real threat in her next efforts, the Canadian open and the American.

Miss MacKenzie was not very far away from really fine scoring, would not have been, in fact, had she been able to master the intricacies of the greens. An unusual number of three-putt greens crept in to her card and they were largely responsible for her being unable to do better than 43 coming home.

Miss Kinsella was steady on each half, 43 out, 45 home, but throughout her game she showed difficulties in bettering fives, never was she able to get a three. Miss Dora Virtue could not keep a slice out of her wooden shots which, coupled with erratic putting, kept her out of the eighties. Miss Virtue, however, stands out as one of the most promising prospects among the young golfers.

FORMER MONTREALER WINS ATHLETIC HONORS

W. Wolter, physical director of the Sault Ste. Marie Y.M.C.A., and a former well-known Montrealer and son-in-law of James H. Hartnett, of Ste. Anne de Bellevue, returned this week from the Canadian Y.M.C.A. Summer School at Lake Couchiching, where he won the Stafford Shield, emblematic of the Canadian Physical gymnastic championship.

Mr. Wolter won the Shield last year and he has attained a very high achievement, because the winning of the Shield distinguishes him from all other Y.M.C.A. instructors in Canada, placing him at the top.

The Stafford Shield, for which twelve physical instructors throughout Canada competed, is donated by T. W. Stafford, senior physical directod of the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto.

The total possible points which could have been obtained in the test for the Shield was 90 points, ten points being given for each part. Mr. Wolter obtained 74 marks or over 82 per cent. The runner up was Mr. A. Clark, Physical Instructor of the Central Y.M.C.A. of Montreal, who had 72 points.

The contest included two set movements and one voluntary movement on the low bar, horse, and parallel bars.

PRESCOTT, Ont., Sept. 8.—Playing at Cardinal on Saturday, Prescott baseball team won the championship of the Eastern Ontario Baseball League and the Robert Wright Trophy by defeating Spencerville, last season's champions, by a score of 5 to 4 in a nine innings game. Several hundred baseball fans witnessed the game, which was by long odds the most interesting and important of the season.

Prescott will now play Ottawa Rideaus Sr. champions of Ottawa City League, at Prescott on Wednesday, September 9, and in Ottawa September 12.

Canadian Yacht Second In International Series

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y., September 8— Cleverly handled throughout the five days of racing, Auriga, entry of the English Bay fleet, of Vancouver, British Columbia, finished in second place, with 61 points, in the international star class Saturday. The Ace, defender of the trophy and representative of the Western Long Island Sound fleet, retained the cup for another year by running up 65 points.

In the concluding race Saturday Auriga was the last to get away, after being penalized for crossing the line before the starting time. By the time Captain Phillips put his boat in the race the others had opened a big lead, which he was unable to cut down. Rhody, Narragansett Bay entry, won the final contest.

Montreal's Cricket Team To Play In New York Is Officially Announced

By PLUS FOURS

C. C. "Happy" Fraser, present Quebec amateur champion and former holder of the Canadian amateur crown, is the 1925 champion of the Kanawaki Golf Club. He returned cards of 77 and 80 for the thirty-six hole competition played yesterday and led William McLuckie, who was runner-up, by ten strokes.

Fraser's 69 in the afternoon is the best score to be made in competition at Kanawaki. The gold medal for the winner of the event goes to Fraser, while the silver medal for the best nett score for thirty-six holes, was tied for by J. A. M. Robertson and S. G. Dixon, both of whom had nett totals of 140. They will play off at a later date. J. N. Taylor was second with a nett 142.

Two players tied for third place in the club championship with gross totals of 157. They were G. M. Somerville 75-82, and A. O. McMurtry 80-77.

Fraser returned a nett total of 140 which tied Robertson and Dixon for the silver medal, but owing to having won the gold medal is unable to figure in the play-off between the pair.

Sweepstakes were held for classes "A," "B" and "C" and resulted as follows: Best nett class "A," C. C. Fraser, 66; J. Johnston, 68; A. O. McMurtry, 70; T. H. Taylor, 70; E. M. Wilson, 71; J. A. M. Robertson, 71. Best nett class "B," P. S. Ross, 70; H. F. Roden, 72; M. A. Dawson, 73; F. G. Daniels, 74; L. A. Peto, 74; J. W. Jenkins, 74. Best nett class "C," A. H. Campbell, 60; S. M. Baylis, 68; A. Ballantyne, 69.

At the Summerlea Golf Club on Labor Day, R. Weir was the winner of the Bickerdike Medal with a nett score of 138 for the 36 holes, his gross being 174. J. D. Kearney was second with a nett 143. A. H. Ross won the prize for the best gross score in the morning round with 79 and Dr. Novinger for the best afternoon round, with 80. These two players having already received the special prizes, the prize for the best score for the 36 holes went to W. R. Vining, who was third on the list, with 173.

The Ball Sweepstake nett scores for the morning round were: R. Weir, 69; J. Baxter, 70; L. St. J. Haskell, 72; Harvey Martin, 72; S. R. Campbell, 72; A. H. Ross, 73; F. Llersch, 73; H. H. Walper, 74; W. G. Henderson, 74; R. V. Macaulay, 75.

The results for the afternoon sweepstake: R. Weir, 69; J. D. Kearney, 70; Dr. Novinger, 70; C. C. Lawson, 70; A. H. Ross, 72; T. C. Chown, 72; Harvey Martin, 73; E. M. Pearen, 74; D. H. Stewart, 74; S. C. Holland, 74.

The following eight players qualified for the first round proper of the Club Championship of the Beaconsfield Golf Club yesterday: W. D. Fowler, 79-74—153; H. W. D. Pope, 75-79—154; Jack McBride, 79-79—158; H. J. Kerr, 82-76—158; R. C. Smith, 83-79—162; J. A. C. Colvil, 83-80—163; G. R. McCall, 83-81—164; A. R. Wilson, 78-87—165; J. J. Brunet tied with A. R. Wilson for the eighth place in the draw, but lost the honors in a two-hole play-off.

The draw for the first round, which must be completed by September 13—H. W. D. Pope vs. Jack McBride; J. A. C. Colvil vs. G. R. McCall; W. D. Fowler vs. H. J. Kerr; R. C. Smith vs. A. R. Wilson.

DOINGS AMONGST THE INTERMEDIATE RUGBY PLAYERS

John James Burnfield, the high diver on the squad who has played the snap back position, on the team last year, will be moved to the wing position. He has great speed, and should make good.

Donald Stockton and St. Onge, two newcomers to the team, are making big holes in the line. They have both the ear-marks of developing nicely, and should add great strength to the squad.

Police! Police! Who saw Norman Noel at the work-outs? The big boy is very keen on the game. He is rounding in nicely. Just watch him in a few days.

Will some one page Spud (Zev) Murphy, the little fellow who has played on outside wing position? Is he in the country? Well, he is wanted. His boots are too small for anyone else.

The Junior squad is now in the hands of Teddy Tate, the well-known footballer of the Point. The question of coach has been a great worry to the football committee, but last night the silver clouds were there. He will look after the wants of the boys. There is a great number of the Juniors at each turn-out, and everything looks good for a very good team. Thirty-five made their appearance last night, and from now on they will receive the same attention as the Intermediate squad.

The first game of the season will be on the Alexandra Park, when the last year's champions will be the hosts to the M.A.A.A. team. For the last three years these two teams have opened the Q.R.F.U. schedule, and have always put up a great exhibition, and from present signs the same high grade of football that these two teams have shown in the past will be in evidence again this year. It is beyond a doubt that the Canadian National team will be strong again this year. They will make a great bid for their fourth straight pennant, and from the material that the M.A.A.A. have to pick from, especially in the opening game, they, too, should present a strong team. It will be the first football game of the season, and the Canadian National team will make every effort to handle a bumper crowd.

The new Columbus Football Club intermediate rugby squad will hold a regular uniform practice tonight on the Shamrock grounds in preparation for their exhibition game with the Montfies, which will be played on September twelfth, less than a week away. Full uniform and accompanying equipment will be in order for the practise tonight and the boys on the new squad intend to buckle right down to work. By means of an efficient coaching staff and honest hard work, the Columbus gang is trying to offset the handicap of not having played together before as a team. They have a good bunch of willing stalwarts who are eager for the fray at the end of the week and the coaching staff is composed of some of the best rugby men in the city. The big full-dress workout this evening will get going at 6.15 on the Shamrock grounds.

The Montefiores Intermediates under the direction of Coach Moe Hierscovitch held a good heavy workout the day before yesterday on the Shamrock grounds. The rugbyists piloted by Moe are rapidly wearing off all the soft spots in their "get-up," and are looking forward to a good season, for they are as hard as rocks physically, and have been working faithfully on the big gridiron. With the rapid approach of the opening dates, interest has shown a big increase in the Montefiores Club, and an ever increasing number of old stars is showing up on the grounds. The team will further be benefitted in a material way from the proceeds of the club smoker on the fourteenth, held in the Y. M. H. A.

Practise will be resumed after the holiday when the squad turns out tonight as usual on the Shamrock grounds.

The Westward A. A. A. rugbyists held a practise on Saturday afternoon but were idle yesterday on account of the holiday from all work. Tonight will see the gang in action once more on Royal Avenue Park, where Coach Doug Kerr will slip them back on their training schedule. Adrien Destreismaisons and Sandy Lindsay are both expected to put in appearance tonight, and will be heartily welcomed by the team.

CORONACS WINNER CHAMPAGNE STAKES AT DONCASTER TRACK

DONCASTER, Eng., Sept. 8. — (U.P.) — Lord Woolavington's Coronacs won the Champagne stakes race here today, with J. P. Hornung's Apple Sammy second and Lord Barnby's Review Order, third. Twelve ran.

The betting was 9 to 4, 3 to 1, and 10 to 1 against.

VALOIS BOATING CLUB NOTES

There are just two entertainments of moment remaining on the program, the first of which is the Corn Boil and Barn Dance, which is scheduled for Thursday evening at 9 o'clock. Fires will be lighted, and the corn boiled on the beach which, thanks to the low water prevailing, is quite expansive. Given some of the recent good weather, the anticipated evening's fun should be well realized. Two gold pieces have been offered as door prizes, and everybody present will having an opportunity of being one of the lucky winners. Lorne Marshall's Lakeshore Club Orchestra, who have been a great attraction at the club's dances this year, will provide the music, augmented for the occasion to five pieces.

The ladies' bridge and five hundred arranged for Friday at 3 p.m. is the last event of the season, though, according to plans, it will be the best. The ladies have spared no efforts all season to make these parties popular, and there is no doubt that they have succeeded. The arrangements have just that touch that brings a person back again, and they anticipate the best party of the year.

Jack Lang Equalled Jump Mark

Verdun A.A.A.'s first annual field day provided plenty of thrills and lots of excitement for the large crowd of spectators who invaded Rheaume Park to witness these events. Close finishes were the order of the day and in one case, that of the senior high jump, J. Lang equalled the Eastern Canadian record, held recently at Halifax, when he cleared the bar at 5 feet 5 1-2 inches with ease on his first try. The aggregate was won by Allen Mackay, who placed in sufficient events to win the special prize.

Owing to the non appearance of the Indian Lacrosse team, an exhibition game was played by two teams from the Verdun Club, which was replete with action, ending in a score of 5-1 for the blue and brown team.

The last open air boxing tournament of the season in Verdun, was also successfully carried through, although threatening weather kept some of the participants from turning up. The other boxers kept up the Verdun Club's reputation for good fight programs.

Results.

Boxing, 90 pounds—Bowden, Verdun, beat Fitzgibbons, Richmond; decision. 112 pounds — Macfarlane, unattached, beat Minto, unattached; decision. 126 pounds—O'Brien beat Nadeau, Richmond, decision; Connelly, Verdun, beat Diano, National, decision. 139 pounds—Harry Smith, Highlanders, beat St. Germain, Verdun, decision. 118 pounds—Champagne, National, beat Diano, unattached, decision. 147 pounds—Kelly, Richmond, beat Graham Stockton, Verdun, decision.

Wrestling—McLean, Verdun, beat Angrignon, Cercle Outremont; McGee, Verdun, beat Dufours.

Preparation Started For Dorval Races

Preparations are well underway for the Dorval autumn race meeting, which opens next Tuesday at the lake-side track.

Important announcement as regards officials was made today by the club. Mr. Francis Nelson will, as usual, be in the stewards' stand, representing the C.R.A. For the first two days of the meeting, J. B. Campbell will be the club steward, associated with John T. Ireland, and the latter will serve as steward throughout the balance of the meeting, after the departure of Mr. Campbell for Maryland. Jos. McLellan will act as racing secretary and presiding judge throughout the meeting.

The addition of Mr. Ireland to the force of officials will be welcome news for racing fans. Mr. Ireland is not new to Montrealers, having officiated throughout the initial meetings of Delormier and Kempton tracks this year, and under his watchful eye, racing at both these tracks was particularly clean and well-contested. Later Mr. Ireland was obliged to leave Montreal to take up his duties on the Ohio tracks, but these being concluded, he is in a position to return to this city. A former owner of race-horses, and still the proprietor of a pretentious breeding farm for thoroughbred racing stock, Mr. Ireland is thoroughly conversant with the sport.

Dorval has prepared an interesting list of events for the autumn session, including the renewal of the Lord Shaughnessy Cup, for a magnificent plate presented by the late sportsman, and the renewal of the Dorval Kindergarten. Just at this time, when events for two-year-olds hold possibly more interest than any other age division racing, the Kindergarten is expected to bring about a fine contest. The Ross, Thorncliffe, Seagram, and other leading Canadian establishments are certain to be represented.

The Dorval management has already been assured of the shipment of all horses now racng at Blue Bonnets, and many others will be at the lakeside track.

LACHINE RACING CANOE CLUB HOLD ANNUAL MEET

The nominating committee of the Lachine Racing Canoing Club have completed final nominations or officers and members of the executive committee for the coming year, all nominations having emenated from the nominating committee without further nominations being received from the members at large within the specified time limit. Voting will take place at the annual meeting which will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, September 9, at Tessier Hall, 90 Notre Dame St. Lachine.

Commodore Charles N. Valiquet insists on retiring this year, notwithstanding the members urging that he continue to hold office, and his retirement will cause a general move of all officers, and the inclusion of new names both for officers and for the executive committee.

The only contest will be for the office of commodore of the club, with the present Vice-Commodore, C. W. Taylor, who has also fulfilled the office of chairman of the entertainment committee during the last two years, and Francois Clement, the present secretary-treasurer, both accepting the nomination for the office of commodore and this contest is causing the keenest interest. Additional nominations include the following names: Vice-Commodore, W. M. Ellis; Secretary-Treasurer, W. Will; Executive Committee: R. Brown, Alf. Binns, A. M. Brown, F. Bowman, L. Hearle, R. P. Hepworth. And in addition to these names submitted by the nominating committee, there also remains on the executive committee the names of J. P. Galbraith and H. Marsden, both of whom were elected for a two year term last year. Mr. E. Ellis had also been elected for a two year term last year, but has since resigned owing to lack of time to fulfill the duties required.

The annual meeting is open to members only, and admittance gained by membership card, voting to be in person and no proxies allowed. Keen interest is being taken in the annual meeting and arrangements have been made to accommodate a record attendance.

MOTORCYCLE RECORDS BROKEN.

LAUREL SPEEDWAY, Md., Sept. 8.—Three world's motor cycle speed records fell as the national motor cycle championships were raced for the first time over the new Laurel bowl.

Joe Petrali, of Los Angeles, starred in setting new marks of 5.23 4-5 for ten miles and 14.05 2-5 for 25 miles. He also captured first place in the 50-mile championship and forced Jim Davis, of Columbus, to speed to a new record of 2.42 2-5 in the five-mile solo Class A event in order to win.

Stars Of Long Distance Swim

Mlle. Colombine Goyette, left, the only lady starter in the thirty-mile marathon swim yesterday from Victoria Pier to Repentigny. She swam nearly nine miles before giving up. Omer Perreault, right, winner of the event by 38 minutes over his nearest competitor. He completed the distance in approximately 5 hours and 38 minutes.

NOTED MONTREAL CRICKETERS WHO WILL PLAY IN NEW YORK

Following is the Montreal representative team chosen to meet a team of West Indians in New York this coming week-end. This visit is quite a unique event in local cricket:—

A. Burgess, H. Worm (Verdun C.C.); C. L. J. Rees, V. R. Mustard (Westmount); R. T. Godsell, G. C. J. Potter, F. I. C. Goodman, H. Mitchell, P. Probyn (McGill); S. S. Bowen, D. Bursett (West Indians); A. Bates (Vickers); W. I. Brehner (Lachine); A. Harford (M. & D. Cricket League Secty.

The team will leave Montreal Friday night at 9 o'clock Standard time, on the D. & H., from Windsor Station, returning from New York Sunday night, arriving in Montreal Monday morning, 14th. The members of the team are requested to be on hand at least 30 minutes before train time.

GREAT 3-YEAR-OLD AMERICAN FLAG IS RETIRED FOR SEASON

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. — A.P.) — American Flag, considered by many turfmen, the leading three-year-old of the season, as a result of his victory in the Withers, Belmont and Dwyer Stakes, will race no more this season, his trainer, Gwyn Tompkins, announced today.

After a minor operation had been performed on an injured ankle, of the fleet son of Man O'War, Tompkins said American Flag would be retired to the farm of his owner, Samuel D. Riddle. Hope is held out that he will be able to race again next year.

2 M.A.A.A. Squads May Play Game

If present plans of the officials of the M.A.A.A. Rugby Club are carried out, the fans will be able to witness a game of the great fall sport next Saturday at the Westmount grounds between the "A" and "B" teams of the present squad of the Winged Wheel seniors.

The players now have a week's strenuous practice under their belts and many of them have been kicking the ball for the past three weeks.

With this amount of practice and the conditioning which the players will gain before the end of the week Coach Nicholson is of the opinion that the players will be in good shape for a practice tussle. The affair rests with the officials of the club and they will decide this evening whether to stage the preliminary tussle or not.

Coach Nicholson is desirous of staging as many exhibition games as possible before the regular season starts in and has intimated that competition is the best means of conditioning a team for the season's campaign.

Starting tonight the squad will start an intensive stretch of training which will be uninterrupted until the first scheduled match is played here with Hamilton on October 10.

The Winged Wheel officials intend to arrange mid-week practice games with C. N. R. and Westward Clubs previous to the opening of the schedule.

Twice Winner

Alf. Gross (M.S.C.) won the mile and a quarter swim (open) at the Verdun Athletic Club meet on Saturday, and again at the Verdun 500 Club on Monday.

CHANGE TO IMPROVE TOMORROW'S BOXING

One slight change has been made necessary in the bill of boxing bouts set for decision Wednesday night at Mount Royal Arena. Young Wells of Quebec was found to be too light to make a suitable opponent for Gerald Beaudoin, the former National A.A.A. star, who is going along well as a professional, so Atherley, who formerly boxed in the M. A. A. A. colors will get the job. Atherley has had two or three professional bouts.

The rest of the bill is complete and interest centres exclusively in the clash between Jack Ward, the fast, hard-hitting colored heavyweight, and Wolf Larsen, the sorrel-topped Boston Slugger, who, in his only Montreal appearance, rocked Archie Skinner to sleep. Ward, on the strength of his two quick knock-outs recently, is a favorite to win, but few believe he can stop the rugged Bean-eater.

Elzear Rioux will figure in a six-rounder with the wresler-boxer, Mike Nestor. The latter twice fought Young Spalding, once going the route with him, and in a second match had his jaw broken by the Georgia school-boy.

Ted Cossette meets rugged Willie Rose in another six-rounder.

Bromby Too Strong For National Club

Bill Bromby, on the round for North Branch, was too strong for Nationals in a scheduled City and District Baseball League game at Atwater Park yesterday and held the Frenchmen to 5 hits.

The winners collected fifteen hits off O'Grady, three of them triples—one by Cullen, and two by McEntee. The latter hit a third three-bagger, but was called out for not touching first. The winners support cracked in the ninth and Nationals scored three runs.

Nationals	000	001 003	—4 5 7
North Branch	400	103 03x	—14 15 6

Batteries—O'Grady and Ripley; Bromby and Carr.

WALTER HOOVER WON AGAIN.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 8.—Walter M. Hoover, national champion and former diamond sculls holder, won the Middle States senior singles sculls championship here, under the colors of the Undine Barge Club, of Philadelphia. Hoover's time for the mile was 6.31.

N. A. Burrows won the championship in the handicap singles held by the Westhill club, when he defeated C. A. Brown, 6—4, 6—2, yesterday afternoon in the final.

Pat Lester, Tuscon heavyweight, was given a ten-round decision over Capt. Bob Roper, former champion of the A. E. F. here last night.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Billy Defoe, of New York, defeated Don Tioperrol, of Bingam, Utah, in a 12-round boxing bout here yesterday. They are featherweights.

FARGO, N.D., Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Billy Petrolle, Fargo lightweight, knocked out Carl Leonard, New York, in the third round of a ten-round bout here last night.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Yale Okun, east side light-heavyweight, outpointed Tommy West, of Trenton, N.J., last night in a six-round bout.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Sept. 8. — (A.P.)—Pal Moore, Memphis bantam, decisively defeated Henry Leonard, of South Chicago, in ten rounds here yesterday.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8. — Willie Lamorte, Newark flyweight, got a technical knock out over Clovis Kid Durand in the fifth round here last night. Lamorte held the lead in every round, scoring a knock-down in the second and third rounds. In the fifth round, Lamorte's left got working in good order, and after scoring three knock-downs the referee humanely stopped the one-sided contest.

NOTES OF THE PRO. BOXERS AND WRESTLERS

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—George Chabot, Montreal, fought an eight-round draw with Louis Kid Mitchell, of this city, in the feature bout of a boxing card here. The local man had the edge in the opening rounds, but Chabot came back strong in the latter part and evened matters up.

Jack Ward and Rioux, both of whom are billed to fight different opponents in the Mount Royal Arena tomorrow night, gave a fine six-round exhibition with big gloves, which left the impression that Rioux is improving fast.

Other results were: Battling Sandercill lost on a foul to Joe Demers, of Montreal.

Joe Villeneuve, flyweight champion of Quebec, knocked out Timmy Butt, Montreal, in the initial round of a six-round affair.

LONDON, Sept. 8. — Roland Todd, British middleweight champion, stopped Charley Ring of Australia in the 16th round. The referee stopped the fight to save Ring.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 8 — Mickey Papner, of Philadelphia, outpointed Joe Reno, of Trenton, in an eight-round bout here last night.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(A. P.) — Joe Ray, for years America's premier middle distance runner, has announced his intention of taking up boxing. He won the mile event here yesterday in what is expected to be his last appearance on the cinder path.

MIAMI, Arizona, Sept. 8. — (A.P.)— Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, knocked out Jack Burns, of Denver, in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout here last night.

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 8. — (A.P.)—

VICTROLA MUSIC AIDS PERREAULT TO WIN, LADY WENT 9 MILES

Swimming with smooth consistent strokes at the average rate of thirty-four to the minute, Omer Perreault of the Canadien-Francais Club, won the annual swimming marathon of thirty miles down the main channel of the St. Lawrence River yesterday. The long event started at 1.35 o'clock from the Victoria Pier and ended at Repentigny. The swim was held under the auspices of the Excelsior-Henderson Club.

Of the fourteen marthon mermen who started the race but three finished the complete distance. Besides Perreault the winner, Theo McDuff and R. McDuff were the only starters to beat the course.

To complete the distance and win first honors, Perreault made the thirty miles in 5 hours and 38 minutes. Theo McDuff reached the finishing line 38 minutes later while following his brother 40 minutes later when dusk had fallen, R. McDuff hoved in view around the bend in the river and the large crowd on the pier cheered him on to the echo and the swimmer gamely stuck it out to the finish although apparently in an exhausted state.

Despite the fact that the water was cold, the weather was ideal for the event due to the fact that the sun was not strong enough to hamper the swimmers, the water was calm and better time was made than anticipated.

The river during the course of the swim took on the aspect of a real English Channel venture with the bobbing heads of the swimmers appearing to view to the crowded banks at intervals followed closely by their seconds in rowboats. The event created quite an amount of interest during the whole distance and every pier on the route held a large crowd of interested spectators for the unique test of endurance which is an innovation in local swimming circles.

The Trois Rivieres, a Canadian Steamship Lines boat, was chartered for the event and was crowded to capacity while the crowded decks of an incoming ocean vessel waved an encouraging signal to the swimmers when it passed during the early stages of the race.

TRIED CHANNEL.

Some years ago Omer Perrault who showed splendid form and condition to win the laurels yesterday, once attempted to swim the English Channel and made a great part of the distance before being forced to abandon the swim on account of rough weather. The experience gained in that venture no doubt proved invaluable to him yesterday and when he crawled from the river an easy victor he appeared to be not even fatigued. His manager, Armand Vincent, kept up the courage of his protege with the use of a "vest pocket" edition of a victrola which sent airs of the latest popular songs across the water to the ears of the tireless swimmer.

Theo McDuff who finished second and R. McDuff, third, said to their friends at Victoria Pier before entering the water that they would make the distance or sink in the attempt, showing a decidedly Irish spirit. Encouraging calls from the passing boats of "Come on McDuff" could be heard at regular intervals throughout the afternoon. These no doubt were meant for the two brothers who were making such a determined and gallant effort to beat the icy water of the course.

Of the four young lady swimmers who were originally entered in the race only one started—a handsome one at that.

The solitary young mermaid was Mlle Colombine Goyette who with a smile to her many admirers dived from a boat into the icy water at the pier and started away with her many opponents. The young lady outlasted many of her more hardy antagonists and kept up the pace for nearly 9 miles, outlasting seven of her male adversaries.

The field became noticeably small at the 4-mile post. The first swimmer forced out of the water was Johnny Frisky who after a slow start used up a great amount of exertion in trying to catch the leaders and gave up the hunt at the first mile. At the 4-mile distance Adrien Bolvin, Groulx, George Leblanc and Rolland Baril crawled into their boats quite exhausted swimmers.

Following the passing of the nine mile post Arthur Mongeon, C. A. Barbier and Mlle Goyette gave up the race almost at the same time.

For the first ten miles the race was practically between Perreault, the McDuffs, J. Lyons, a swimmer of 52 years of age—the oldest in the race, and R. Delorme, a youth of 13 years.

YOUTH VS. AGE.

The well known adage that youth will be served was well demonstrated in the competition of the first leg of the journey, a distance of ten miles when the 52 year old swimmer, Lyons, was forced to abandon the race while Delorme, the youth of 13, stuck it out for an additional half mile, outlasting the swimmer 4 times his age.

Two swimmers of somewhat unknown ability were the last two to drop out of contention when Daigneault and Lachapelle after a great effort for their amount of experience, quit around the 15 mile distance. From then on it was just a matter of the amount of time that it would take the three swimmers who eventually completed the distance, to reach their goal.

For a long distance swimming event the contest attracted undoubtedly the greatest amount of interest of any ever held here before.

The swimmers were followed by numerous launches and rowboats while the gaily decorated officials' boat flitted here and there amongst the competitors. A great amount of enthusiasm was in evidence during the entire course of the race. One enthusiastic fellow who was seconding a swimmer, while attempting to enter his boat after paying a visit to the officials' launch, missed his step and went out of sight in the middle of the rushing water. Being specially attired for the occasion the event was not so delightful. He was, however, pulled into the boat none the worse of his accident with the exception of a severe drenching.

It is the intention of the officials of the race to make the event an annual one following the decided success of the venture yesterday.

By winning his first lg of the journey and also the second and final leg, Omer Perreault won the two cups and championship shield presented for competition in the event by Joseph Lamarre, president of the Excelsior-Henderson Club.

Officials For Dorval Meet Named

Manager Joe Cattarinich of the Dorval race track announced today that Joe McLennan would again act as presiding judge and racing secretary of the meeting which will start at the Lakeshore course next Tuesday, after the completion of the Blue Bonnets meet.

It had been previously reported that Mr. McLennan would not be at Dorval, as he would leave for the south following Blue Bonnets, but this report is emphatically denied by the Dorval management.

It is also announced that J. B. Campbell will act as a steward for two days, when he will be replaced by John T. Ireland, who has acted here before. Mr. Campbell is leaving early for the Maryland meeting.

The Dorval plant is in the best of condition, and Manager Cattarinich says that there will be little to do in advance of the meet. No repairs are necessary, and it will be just a matter of cleaning things up. Men are doing that work at the present time.

Arrangements are being made to have all the horses now at Blue Bonnets shipped over to Dorval right after the Montreal Jockey Club shuts up for the season next Saturday. There will be two days to do this in.

NOTES OF THE HARNESS TURF

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 8. — A crowd estimated at twenty thousand persons witnessed the opening of Grand Circuit races at the Indiana State Fair. The track was heavy.

Tommy Murphy, Syracuse, N.Y., piloted two winners under the wire in the L. S. Ayres $5,000 stake race, 2.10 class trotting, and the 2.04 trotting class Pluto Water Stake for $2,000.

The three-year-old pace, the Horseman Stake, valued at $1,776.68, went to Hollyrood Abigail after the Last Deforest took the opening heat.

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—Montrealers were successful in but one of the three trotting races on the opening program of the Quebec provincial exhibition, Sandy Todd, owned and driven by Joe. Brossard of Montreal, taking the 2:18 trot in five heats, thanks to winning the last three heats. Rockland from St. Tite, took the initial race on the program, the 2:30 trot, in five heats, while Tom B from St. Louis took the 2:18 pace also in five heats.

ANOTHER SPEEDBOAT RECORD.

DETROIT, Sept. 8. — Packard Chris-craft 2nd, piloted by Colonel J. G. Vincent, of the Detroit Yacht Club, won the 150-mile international sweepstakes on the Detroit river.

Colonel Vincent's craft set a world's record, covering the course at an average speed of 55.56 miles an hour. The boat also set another new mark when it covered the 33rd lap at an average speed of 57.7 miles an hour.

M.A.A.A. WATER POLO PLAYERS TO MEET TO-MORROW NIGHT

James Rose, swimming instructor of the M.A.A.A., announces a meeting of all water polo players to be held at the Peel street club house, Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The season during which M.A.A.A. will be represented by three teams, senior, intermediate and junior, will start in the early part of October and Jimmy is anxious, that all players report early so as to get into condition for the hard season in front of the Winged Wheel organization in polo.

"The Doctor's" Golf Story

One of the keenest members of a Golf Club not far from Montreal, in the old days, was a well-beloved banker who much enjoyed an occasional spot of "DOCTORS' SPECIAL" Old Scotch Whiskey.

Our friend used to lie in the heavy grass near a blind hole while his friends drove merrily for the cup. Then he stole across and placed one ball or other in the hole.

Warmly he welcomed his victim: "Holed out in one. Well I'll be dashed!" Gladly the Golfer paid the traditional penalty of a bottle of "DOCTORS' SPECIAL."

Though the banker's prank was eventually discovered all golfers still maintain a high respect for his excellent qualities; and DOCTORS' SPECIAL. It always makes good friends.

WALLS RODE 4 WINNERS AT BLUE BONNETS; TWO WINS FOR ROSS BARN

The colors of J. K. L. Ross flashed down in front of two fields at Blue Bonnets race track yesterday. The Montreal Jockey Club president celebrated Labor Day by two victories at his own course, one of them in the featured event, the sixth race on the card, when his Wheatstick beat the best lot of the day including Tamarind, Wavecrest and Goldbeater. The latter was made an odds on choice in the wagering, but failed to figure in the money, running fourth.

Wheatstick off slowly improved his position gradually until he caught Tamarind, which had made most of the early pace, in the stretch and won by more than a length. Wheatstick showed greatly improved form over his recent starts. Tamarind disposed of the early-leading Corenzio in very short order but when it came to holding on when Wheatstick challenged he did not have it left. However, the winner had to be urged to keep the lead once he gained it. Wavecrest was third also coming up from a trailing position.

Goldbeater the favorite never figured better than third and at the finish was unable to hold place owing to the fast coming Wavecrest.

The other victory for the Ross barn was in the two-year-old affair, which was fifth on the card. Hillardo carrying the well-known black and gold silks of the Montreal turfman was off to a good start and raced in front all the way after the break. Hillardo beat Cinderetta, which came from far back to take second place by a nose from Emma Hoagland at the finish.

While the Ross barn had a good day from an owner and trainer's standpoint, the jockey attached to the stable, Petie Walls had a better day in the saddle. For besides riding both the winning horses of Commander Ross, he also was up on two other mounts. Walls had a field day. Four winners does not fall to the lot of any jockey many days. Besides having a leg up on Wheatstick and Hillardo, he also was in the saddle of Barrow which won the opener and Flint, the winner of the fourth.

Another local horseman who scored yesterday was Donat Raymond, who owned the winner of the initial dash. Barrow, racing in Mr. Raymond's colors stepped down in front of a good-sized field, beating among others Prince Theo and Lydia Drew.

There was a good gathering at Blue Bonnets yesterday and despite a certain amount of chill in the air, the enthusiasm never seemed to be lacking. The public started off well when Barrow won, for that gelding was a heavily supported favorite, in fact the strongest of the day.

Betty Maloney, the winner of the second, was also one for the public, as she also was odds on. After that they were second or third choices. The best price of the afternoon as paid for a $2 straight ticket on War Tank, the winner of the third race. This was worth $16.95 when the heat was over.

It was announced that the usual sale of the Seagram Stable, strong Canadian racing establishment, would be held at the paddock at Blue Bonnets on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Among the thoroughbreds to be sold are many horses now in training, including two-year-olds, and a number of brood mares.

Joe Cattarinich, manager of the Dorval race track was a visitor at Blue Bonnets yesterday and was making arrangements for the transfer of horses from Blue Bonnets at the conclusion of the meeting there.

CRAIG CAMPBELL'S SOCCER NEWS AND GOSSIP

The New York Giants, of the American Soccer League defeated a picked Montreal eleven by 2-0, at Alexandra Park. It could not be called a pleasant game as "Our American Cousins," or at least some of them thought it was a cup-final, and not an exhibition match. They roughed it, and handled repeatedly, and "talked back" to the referee, and quite a lot of other things, scarcely worthy of a senior American team. However, more of this, anon.

The crowd did not come up to expectations, not more than 2,000 being present, with the stand about half full. Threatening weather and high prices having a lot to do with it. The visitors made one change, Philips coming in for Parkes, while Montreal were as published in yesterday's Star.

Attired in green shirts and white nickers, the Giants appeared first, and were greeted with the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner," and as the notes died away, the Montrealers came on to "O Canada." The teams lined up in the following order:

Montreal—Brown, goal; McIntosh and Clark, backs; Gibb, R. Campbell and Bell, halves; Cadman, W. Campbell, Hunter, Forman and Ford, forwards.

New York Giants—Genert, goal; Reynolds and Meyerdeirks, backs; Philips, Scott and McKenny, halves; Duggan, Bremnet, Crilley, Cairney and Moorhouse, forwards.

Referee—D. Grundie.

Hunter started operations, and Forman put over the goal line right away. The Giants made a run. Duggan putting over, but McIntosh met and gave to Hunter, who sent over towards Cadman, but McKenny intercepted, and kicked out. Andy Clark put in some clever play, tricking Bremner and Duggan to a turn. Cadman received from Gibb, and Hunter headed the centre into Gendert's hands.

The Giants were a little while settling down. McKenny dropped one in front of Brown, who cleared, and the ball went out to the left, where McIntosh was struggling with Moorhouse and Cairney. McIntosh handled, and the free kick sent the ball to Montreal's goal, and after one or two passages, Bremner scored from short range, Brown having little or no chance to save. Score:

New York, 1; Montreal, 0.

This came after five minutes' play. Montreal had a turn, but passed badly. Cadman missed from Gibb, allowing the ball to go out, with a clear field in front of him. Ford was showing good form, and cheered for some smart work, sending acrss a fine centre. Hunter and Cadman both had pots, but without stint. Gendert saved a beauty from R. Campbell. Montreal's pressure was taken care of by New York's defence. The local halves fed their front rank, but only Ford was making any impression. McIntosh was beaten by Cairney, and the latter parted to Duggan, and Brown saved.

The visitors were playing a rugged game, and not very gentle either. The pace was fast, and went from end to end in quick time. Montreal had as much if not more than their opponents, but either shot badly, or were robbed. Indeed the forwards were not satisfactory. Cadman gave to Hunter, and over to Ford, and the latter sent a foot over the bar.

Some amusement was caused by a policeman requesting two of New York's trainers to move, as they were standing near the goalpost, and one of them was doing a little coaching "on his own." They found seats near the side with their friends.

Ford beat Reynolds and ran well in, but unfortunately handled when not very far from Gendert. R. Campbell was fouled, and Gibb put the free kick over the bar. Scott did not like some of Referee Grundie's decisions, and as the movie people say, "registered disgust." Duggan was another complainer, and wanted to argue, in fact, did.

Disaster near befell Montreal, when R. Campbell let in Crilley, but Clark tricked him. Ford forced a fruitless corner off Reynolds, and Duggan was busy on the right, Clarke looking after the centre. Back went play, and Hunter arrived too late to take Ford's cross, and Meyerdeirks kicked clear. Cadman could do little right, and when he did centre, there was no one to get it. Ford, the only dangerous forward Montreal had, tried again.

There was little mid-field work seen. Duggan received from Scott, and hit the side of the net. McIntosh cleared a free kick from a foul by W. Campbell. Then Hunter sprinted nicely away, and when in good position to shoot, was pulled up for some infringement, and though Montreal had the free kick, it brought nothing else. The locals pressed hard, but were quite unable to break through the defence. Reynolds nipped a nice move in the bud, started by Gibb. A New York back handled the ball in the penalty area, unnoticed by the referee. Just after Brown had saved from Bremner, the whistle blew for half-time, with the score:

New York, 1; Montreal, 0.

A good 15 minute rest was allowed, and then the men went at it again. New York started the second period, with a shot from Moorhouse, which went behind. Montreal returned, and Meyerdierks mis-kicked, which gave Cadman a chance, only he ran it outside. Some pretty passing from the visitors was seen, ending in Duggan sending wide. To escape Hunter, Meyerdierks kicked over his line for a corner. Reynolds was rather fortunate to block Forman's shot. The locals played desperately to draw level, but there was always a green shirt in the way of the shots, and many times, in the way by accident.

Moorhouse broke away and centred, McIntosh fell, Crilley met the ball, and scored the second goal. Brown appeared to touch it, but could not deflect. Score:

New York, 2; Montreal, 0.

The visitors' second success came seven minutes after the restart, and while well-worked for, and fully deserved, the score bore no reflex on the run of the play. The crowd was surprised to see New York playing the one-back and four halves game. Reynolds having moved up, and called on the Americans to "be sports" and play the game. This evidently nettled some of their men, and much rough work was noticed. The spectators howled at McKenny for rushing after Gibb and bowling him over, as a sort of revenge for having robbed him previously. Gibb in turn fouled McKenny. Reynolds proved too good for Hunter and Forman. Brown saved a long shot from Scott. The New York backs were allowed too much room to operate in, though Ford kept Reynolds busy, and Hunter had cruel luck with a header. Ill feeling increased, in particular when Scott, after fouling Ford, kicked the ball away, and was roundly hooted. For an ex-Third Lanark player, accustomed to high class games, Scott's show of temper came as a painful surprise.

And so the game went on to the final blow of the whistle without another goal being scored. On the run of things, Montreal most certainly deserved a goal, but the luck was dead against them, for as already remarked, many a shot was luckily charged down. Cadman improved in the second half, but the three inside men were woefully off color. Gibbs gave Moorhouse too much rope, by wandering, but otherwise was in good form. R. Campbell played well, Clark was the best back, and Brown cannot be blamed for the defeat. Ford was the leading Montrealer. Just before the end, Ford and Reynolds got entangled, and the latter fell, and Ford drawing his boot away seemed to tread on Reynolds' face. This incensed Meyerdierks, who rushed over to Ford, and for a couple of seconds it looked as if there would be trouble. It certainly didn't look nice.

New York deserved their victory, being smarter on the ball, but playing the one-back game and two goals up did not tend to make them popular, quite the contrary. The Giants, as they love to be called, were evidently out to wipe away the memories of the defeat of their countrymen by the Canadians last June, and on this they succeeded, but have not left a very good impression behind them.

Gentlemen of the New York Giants, you were playing an exhibition match, not a league or cup-tie, and that ends that. Final score:

New York, 2; Montreal, 0.

The "Five-a-side" football competition held yesterday afternoon at the Maisonneuve Athletic Ground was won by a team from the Canadian Spool F. C. The winners scored a smart 1-0 win over the strong first five of the SS. Melita and followed this up by winning the finals from the Fourth Divisional Train, 4-0. The latter furnished somewhat of a surprise by eliminating Maisonneuve 2-0 in the semi-finals. Benedict Stone were put out at this stage by the winners.

Spool's win was well warranted, having only one point, a corner, scored against them throughout their four games. Twelve teams contested the issue. Spool's team was composed of Garnet, Whittaker, Fisher, Philipps and Parker.

Spool play Benedict Stone this evening in a semi-final Lalonde Cup game at Maisonneuve Athletic Ground. Kick-off 6.15.

Tomorrow evening, Glen Yards and Victorias will meet at Decarie Blvd., in the semi-final for the Players' Mutual Benefit Society Cup.

Verdun Tri'Mu won the Junior Charity Cup, presented by Col. F. S. Meighen three years ago, defeating R.R.Y.M.C.A. at Alexandra Park, by 2-0, after a well contested game.

By a special "order in council," the P.Q.F.A. have decided to extend the period by which players can be transferred, as far as the Mid-Week League is concerned, so any of their men can complete the season in new company, should they so desire.

TORONTO, Sept. 8. — Carsteel, of Montreal, defeated Toronto Scottish, 2 to 1, in the Glebe Charity Cup competition soccer here.

There was a fairly large crowd on hand when the teams took the field. Campbell won the toss, and MacLaine kicked for Carsteel. The visitors were early on the attack, and the Scottish goal had a narrow escape in the first minute. Brown put the ball across the goal-mouth a minute later with no one up. McKay gave a corner, the kick being lifted over the bar. McDonald got through and forced a corner, which was unproductive. The Scottish got more into the picture, and some dangerous rushes were made into the visitors' territory.

Offside spoilt a good opener for Carsteel. A corner fell to Scottish, and Gilpin was only inches out with a long drive. Hadfield saved well, twice in quick succession from Miller. Again Hadfield saved a good shot from McKenzie at the expense of a corner. Buchanan beating Hadfield from the kick, putting Carsteel one up. McDonald breaking even right from the kick-off, giving Robertson no chance. Miller put in a great shot, which Hadfield cleared.

Burness nearly beat Robinson with a hard drive, the ball striking the crossbar and rebounding into play. McDonald missed an open goal. McDonald restarted, and Burness almost got through. McLaine put in a long drive, while Hadfield tipped over the bar. Carsteel were pressing, and the Scottish defence had a warm time for a few minutes.

The Scottish gradually forced their opponents on to the defensive, and Brown brought Robertson to his knees with a fast grounder.

Adam Smith brought McDonald down when the former was well through. McDonald drove straight for goal, Robertson making a good save. Brown had a try, the goalie again saving. McLaine missed, with the goalie out of his goal.

Black nearly beat the goalie, the latter just tipping over a foul against McKay, let the Carsteel in, and Brown put them ahead.

Carsteel—Robertson, Smith, Harrison, Buchanan, Thompson, McKean, Miller, Brown, Chiffins, McKenzie and MacLaine.

Scottish—Hadfield, Campbell, Brownlie, McKay, Duncan, Reid, Anderson, Burness, McDonald, Brown, Black.

Referee—F. J. McLean.

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Lucien Vinez, lightweight champion pugilist of Europe, announced yesterday that he would sail for the United States September 15, with the intention of fighting his way through to the world's championship, now held by Jimmy Goodrich.

Vinez won the European lightweight championship October 7, 1924, by defeating Bretonnel at Paris. Following the retirement of Benny Leonard, the former champion, Vinez was selected to represent France in the elimination tournament to choose a successor, but was unable to enter the United States. Last month he issued a challenge to Goodrich, who won the elimination tourney and was recognized as Leonard's successor.

Athletics Perform Like Cellar Team

CONNIE MACK'S ball teams are extremists. When they are good they lead the league. When they're bad there's none worse. Connie Mack never has a pretty good ball team.

The Athletics, who lost two more games to the Senators in the Labor Day exercises in Phila, were the best team in the American League three weeks ago. At the moment of this composition they are not as good as the Boston Red Sox, than which there seemed to be none worse until the Athletics went out to demonstrate the superlative degree of terrible.

The Athletics' recent record is worse than any stretch of the Red Sox performance this season. They have lost twelve games in succession and with only 27 games remaining to play they are still trying to progress on their complexions.

In the first game of the double demonstration yesterday, the Senators outpunched them in two critical moments to win 2 to 1. Walter Johnson pitched for the Senators and he was troubled for ten hits, just as many hits as the Senators made against Lefty Groves and Stan Baumgartner of the Athletics. But the Senators won 2 to 1.

In the second game the Senators won 7 to 6, thus taking a lead of nine full games. Henceforth to the end of the season the Senators may lose about half of their games and still win the pennant unless the Athletics win all of theirs.

In the National League, the Giants were rained out of a double header against the Braves and the Pirates divided two games with the Cubs in Pittsburgh, winning the first one, 8 to 5, and losing the second 9 to 8. That leaves the Pirates still 8½ games in front.

THE DAILY ROUND

By COLONEL CLICK

Putting Stance—Jim Barnes, British Open Champion

The stance for putting is a matter of individual choice and admits of considerable latitude, but certain points ought to be born in mind. The eye ought to be pretty well over the ball, and the weight of the body so distributed that there will be as little tendency as possible to sway the body or move the head. If you fulfill these conditions, you can adopt any stance that seems most comfortable and natural.

A RULE WORTH KNOWING.

Please settle an argument for us on the following question: Is there any rule in golf which says that a player can not tee his ball until his opponent has played, assuming, of course, that the opponent has the honor?

No. However, in a few recognized principles of etiquette published with the rules, it is pointed out that the player tees up.

ANSWER THIS.

"When a player puts four balls into a pond," queried a gentleman, "would you call it playing golf or pool?"

DIVING ACCIDENT AND MERMAID RESCUING MERMAN INCIDENTS AT VERDUN FINE AQUATIC GALA

About four thousand spectators witnessed the thirteenth annual aquatic gala of the Verdun 500 Social and Swimming Club yesterday. Close contests were the rule all through the program, and the holiday crowd was kept at a high pitch of excitement. The high and fancy diving shared with the breast stroke event, and the Wharf to Wharf distance race, as the feature numbers of the day. The three first men, in the breast stroke contest, kept well together until the final length in the four hundred yards had been reached, then Ben McNamee reached out into the lead and Lorne McMulien surpised his followers by coming in for second place one stroke ahead of Reg Champion. The high diving was extremely spectacular and required a high degree of daring. Several of the divers reached the rocky bottom and Fred Coleman, after his final from the high platform, was helped away to receive medical attention, as he had received a nasty gash in his upper chest. Miss Ruth Smethurst proved herself a dandy speedster in the fifty yards dash, and although Miss Catherine McCarrick was fouled, she nevertheless put up a pretty race and tied the second place honors with Miss Evelyn Callahan in this event. The Wharf to Wharf mile and a half swim drew out nineteen starters, four of whom were ladies, and all but one of the total reached the finishing line. Miss Elvin Lecours, of the Columbus Ladies' Club, gave up all her chances of winning the big race, and proved herself quite a heroine as well. During the course of the contest Max. Claydon was taken with cramps, and Miss Lecours threw away all her own chances when she gallantly went to his aid and helped him into a boat. Alf. Gross, the M.S.C. star, was an easy winner of the big event in 20.47, and was followed about one minute later by his two team mates, Leslie Mitchell and Charlie Schneider. Miss Ruth Smethurst was fifth to finish, with the boys, and she was the first of the girls to come in. Miss Kathleen McNamee was about one minute later in reaching the mark, and Miss Catherine McCarrick finished up three seconds behind her for the third place honors.

After the prize giving the club announced that the swimmers and their friends were to be entertained with music and dancing in the evening.

The results of the day follows:—

40 yards, free style, boys, 12 years and under; club—1st, H. Barrett; 2nd, L. Parker; 3rd, R. Smythe. Time 28 2-5.

40 yards, free style, gris, 12 years and under; club—1st, Miss Barbara Cartmel; 2nd, Miss Peggy Parry. Time, 42 seconds.

50 yards, free style, boys, 14 years and under; club.—1st, Erskine Young; 2nd, Max. Claydon; 3rd, Stan. Williams. Time .32 4-5.

Springboard Diving, open.—1st, Gerald Monty, M.S.C.; 2nd, Les. Mitchell, M.S.C.; 3rd, H. Bush, Verdun 500.

400 yards, breast stroke, men; open—1st, Ben McNamee, M.S.C.; 2nd, Lorne McMullen, M.S.C.; 3rd, R. A. Champion, Verdun 500. Tme 6.44 1-5.

High fancy diving; open.—1st, H. Bush, Verdun 500; 2nd, G. Monty, M.S.C.; 3rd, L. V. Richardson, Verdun 500.

50 yards, free style, open; ladies—1st, Miss Ruth Smethurst, V.A.A.A.; Miss Catherine McCarrick, Columbus L.C., Miss Evelyn Callahan, Columbus L.C., tied for 2nd place. Time .33 2-5.

Cricket Incident Discussed By Secretary Harford Of District League

A peculiar incident happened in a game recently between Westmount C. and Verdun Vets. The wickets were struck by a ball bowled by a bowler; although a wicket was disturbed considerably, the balls did not fall off the wickets, the batsman was given "not out." Not knowing the actual position of the balls at the time of the incident it is impossible to express on opinion as to whether the decision was right or wrong, in order to do so it would be necessary to be on the ground in a case of this kind. Law 21 says:

"If the wicket be bowled down, even if the ball first touches the striker's bat or person 'Bowled'." A further note states:

"An umpire would be justified in giving the striker out "Bowled" if a stump were bowled down but the balls by some mischance remained in position."

The striker would be out under this Law if any part of either ball is "struck off" the top of the wicket."

By this ruling it would mean that if a small chip was split off the ball and fell to the ground the batter is out even though the rest of the balls stayed on. Further if a ball is disturbed from the top of the wicket and does not rest in the groove of the wicket at the top the batsman is out, after all is said the groove is only placed on the wicket in order to keep the ball in place to allow for a windy day and the balls are placed on top of the wickets in order to have something fall to signify that the wicket has been struck by the ball. For many years it was considered even in first class cricket that the batsman was not out until the balls were off or at least one ball. Today it is more or less a question for the umpire to say whether the bowler has struck the wicket or not with the ball if in his opinion there is no doubt about it, the batter is out. A recent decision made in a match between Essex and Yorkshire is in accordance with the new law as adopted by the M. C. C. The manner of Richardson's dismissal in the second innings was although legal, sufficiently unusual to cause discussion amongst the players of both sides. He was bowled by Crawford, the ball disturbing the off ball without causing the ball to fall to the ground. Until the M. C. C. made a recent official ruling on this point, it was customary for the batsman to be given "not out." The new condition does not make it any too easy for the umpire, it places a further burder on him to see that the balls are in their proper groove at all times. Again we will have further difficulty if a wicket keeper seeing the balls not in proper position waiting for a "near thing" and promptly appealing to the umpire. The old order of things was no doubt the best, but we are playing under M. C. C. rules and must keep up with the times. The captain of the Essex County team protested when Richardson was given out but the decision had to stand. The umpire in the local game no doubt made a mistake the batsman should have been given "out."

SPALDING'S SOFT BALL LEAGUE NOTES

In one of the fastest games played this season in the Eastern Section, Molson's Brewery A. A. A. defeated Macdonald Tobacco Co. by a score of 7 to 5 at Lafontaine Park. Heavy hitting on the part of Molsons enabled them to win this contest. Grenier, Longtin and Lariviere made circuit drives with men on the paths. Earl Guay, secretary of the Manufacturers' League, was umpire in chief, while St. Jacques acted on the bases.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Macdonalds ... 2000300— 5 4 2
Molsons ... 004003x— 7 8 1
Batteries: Lachapelle and Johnson; Innes and Gagnon.

Molsons will play a home and home series with Gurney Foundry Co. team, winners of the Western Section of the league. The first game will take place on Wednesday, and the second one on Friday. If a third game is necessary, same will be played on Monday next, on neutral grounds.

Yellow Cab Co. and Macdonald Tobacco teams, having finished in second place in their respective sections, will most likely play a series of games to decide which team shall be the runners up in the final league standing.

McGill Beat Toronto XI. At Cricket

McGill cricketers won a nice victory over the visiting Toronto Cricket Club eleven in the exhibition match played on McGill campus yesterday afternoon before the biggest gathering of enthusiasts seen on the campus this year. Toronto went in to first innings and ran up a total of 115 runs. After the lunch hour interval, McGill had their innings and declared at 138 runs for four wickets. Though the main event of the day was over when McGill had run up their short victory, it was decided to play on in a second exhibition immediately after tea had been served near the pavilion marquee. Toronto went in again and got off to a beautiful start which would have done them infinitely more good if it had occurred in the previous match. Toronto batted very well in this second match and before the rapidly failing light and the close-held threat of rain had put a stop to the game about 6:30, the visiting batsmen had totalled 120 runs for three wickets, C. Seagram and Davidson were not out.

In the first innings of morning play when the Toronto men were batting, Goodday and Greer, who opened proceedings, were not at the wickets for long. Goodday made one tally before he was caught out by Saunders after swiping at Mitchell's bowl. Greer followed him, leg before wicket, for a total of four runs. Blaikie bowled Ingles after he had made two runs, while Davidson was caught out by Goodman. Davidson's total of 61 was the score that lead his team mates' batting list, as well as that of the local batsmen. Potter bowled the next four Toronto batters who came up. His feat of eliminating four in a row accounted for Logie, N Seagram Saunders and C. Seagram, although Saunders managed to hang up a bag of 17 runs before he was sent to the pavilion. Gawthorpe was not out for two runs, Henderson was bowled by Mitchell, and Leighton was caught out by Godsell after another offering from the same bowler. There were four leg byes and a bye to make a total of 115 runs for the inning.

Davidson played a brilliant innings for his 61, the best record of the match. One of his pretty hits cleared the fence and plunged onto Sherbrooke street. The veteran skipper, Dyce Saunders of Toronto, compiled his runs in excellent style, retiring to a splendid bowl from Potter. His total was seventeen. The McGill bowling was shared between Mitchell, Potter, and Blaikie. Mitchell took four wickets for 24, Potter took four for 25, and Blaikie took two wickets for 24.

When McGill came up to bat it was evident that they were thoroughly warmed up for their part of the scoring. Godsell and Goodman opened the batting for McGill in fine style, the first wicket falling at 69, when Godsell was bowled by Greer for a well-played 19 runs. Munro and Goodman ran the score up to 103 before Goodman went out to a wonderful catch by Greer, who turned a double somersault in completing the catch. Goodman's score of fifty-six runs was compiled by some really splendid batting. Munro was caught on the edge of the boundary by Leighton. His total of 41 runs was very creditable. Blaikie was out leg before wicket when N. Seagram was bowling. His record was eight runs to make up the McGill total of 138, at which point the match was declared. When the McGill eleven were batting, the Toronto team came in for a great deal of admiration aroused by their brilliant fielding.

Ingles and Logie started the innings of the next match for Toronto. Ingles totalled 24 before he was caught out by Godsell after offering at a bowl from Mitchell. Logie was able to hang up 39 runs before he wac caught by Goodman on a bowl from Potter. Greer, a Toronto bowler, was stumped by Probyn after a good bowl from the arm of Mitchell. Greer had made 14 runs. C. Seagram and Davidson were not out, with totals of 29 and 13 runs respectively.

AUSTRALIA WILL NOT CHALLENGE FOR DAVIS CUP IN 1926, HAWKES

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(U.P.) — Because of the heavy expense involved and the lack of funds, Australia will not challenge for the Davis Cup in 1926, and may remain out of the international competition for a longer period, according to Jack Hawkes, manager of the team.

Two doughty sons of France yesterday knocked the Aussies out of this year's competition and won the right to challenge United States for the Davis Cup, symbol of international tennis supremacy. The Tricolor representatives by eliminating Australia from the competition will meet the United States team in the challenge round on the turf courts of the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Australia, winner of the American zone bracket, fell before the dazzling play of France, winner of the European zone tournament in the inter-zone final, 3 to 1. Jean Borotra, of France, Wimbledon champion in 1924, lifted the Tricolor to its place in the challenge round by scoring the third victory of the tournament for his nation when he stroked his way to a smashing win over Gerald Patterson, of Australia on the wet grass courts of the West Side tennis club, 4—6, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Previous to yesterday, France had scored one singles and one doubles victory in the tournament against Australia. Borotra's victory over Patterson elevated the Frenchmen to the challenge round without the formality of playing a fifth match.

In defeating Patterson and eliminating Australia, Borotra rose to heights he never before attained. Only in service did the Australian have any edge on his French rival and only by the accurate use of this offering was Patterson able to force the issue into four sets. Despite Borotra's ability to handle his vicious service, Patterson scored 14 service aces in the match to but three for Borotra. Against an ordinary opponent the big Australian would have reaped a bagful of aces, but the Frenchmen's uncanny ability to meet that service held Patterson's average down to a minimum.

SPALDING'S BASEBALL LEAGUE NOTES

VICTORY LEAGUE.

In a regular scheduled game of the Victory League Points doubled the score on Victorias. The heavy slugging of Spears, of the winners, was the feature of the contest. The final score was 14-7, in favor of Points.

Textile's New High—Brazilian Strong—Asbestos Erratic—Wall Street Easier

BRAZILIAN AGAIN ACTIVE LEADER; TEXTILE STRONG

Price changes on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning presented a practically unbroken list of advances, ranging from a small fraction to 2¼ points. Brazilian continued by far the most active issue with Dominion Textile also prominent, while Asbestos issues, Atlantic Sugar, and Montreal Power supplied fairly large turnovers.

Brazilian Traction opened unchanged after the holiday, but sold off a point to 73¼ during the morning, later recovering the entire setback and moving up an additional ⅝ to 74⅝. Asbestos opened at the new high of 94½, sold off to 91½, recovered to 92½, and finished the morning session at 91¾, a net gain of ¾. The preferred was unchanged at 112½ throughout the session.

Dominion Textile moved into new high price territory. On Saturday it closed at the new high of 87¾, which represented a gain of 2⅜ points. Trading this morning was resumed at 88½ and the price advanced to 90, an additional gain of 2¼ points, this being the largest advance recorded during the session. A good tone was also displayed by other stocks of the textile group. Penmans jumped 2 to 160, while Converters retained Saturday's advance at 89.

Paper stocks, though not very active, displayed a decidedly better tone. Abitibi jumped 1½ to 64½, Laurentide 2 to 79, Price Bros. ½ to 52 after touching 52½, and Spanish River ½ to 99 ½. Dominion Bridge moved up to 99, but later reacted to 98¾, up ¼. Canadian Salt touched a new high at 154, up 2, and closed at the peak. The only stocks to show price declines included Alcohol off ½ at 15½, Cement off ½ at 109¼, Steel of Canada off ⅝ at 88, and Winnipeg Electric off ½ at 49. Montreal Power was up ⅛ at 208 after selling ¼ higher.

Other features included Atlantic Sugar up ¾ at 35¼, National Breweries up ¼ at 53¼. Atlantic Sugar pref. up ½ at 80, Dominion Glass preferred up ⅜ at 113, and Goodyear preferred up 1 at 92¾. Smelters showed no further change at 120, having advanced 2 points to that level on Saturday.

Total number of listed shares traded in was 22,427, as compared with 28,322 on Friday morning, and 23,235 in Saturday's two-hour session.

PREPARING FOR HEAVY TRAFFIC TO ROUYN AREA

ROUYN TOWNSHIP, Sept. 8.—(Star Special).—Preparations are being made for a great stream of freight and people over the winter road to the Rouyn mining fields just as soon as cold weather sets in and the lakes and streams freeze over. The indications are that the trek this fall may be among the heaviest ever recorded in the opening days of any Canadian mining camp.

Now that railway transportation has been assured over a branch to be commenced in October from O'Brien station on the C.N.R., the owners of properties are laying plans for development on a big scale. It will probably be late in the coming summer before the new railway will be in operation. It is planned, therefore, by various operators to haul in considerable machinery this winter so as to carry out preliminary mining operations.

Travel will probably be largely by way of Larder Lake, leaving the railhead of the Nipissing Central Railway at that point, and then by sleigh road of about 35 miles. Fast stages will make the journey in a single day carrying passengers, while freight will move at a speed which will be governed by weight.

Among the mining companies which will take in machinery will be the Noranda, Huronian Belt, Amulet, Quebec Gold Belt, Argonaut, Wate-Montgomery and various others.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE

LONDON, Sept. 8—High grade securities were easy on the Stock Exchange today. Oil shares were quiet, and British industrials moved irregularly. Bar gold 84s. 11½d. Money 3⅝ per cent. Discount rates short bills, 3 13-16 to 3⅞ per cent; three months' bills, 3⅞.

Easy Money Spur to Dealings in Bonds

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. — Bond prices resumed their upward movement today with the re-opening of trading after the holiday. Prospects of continued ease in the money situation encouraged a broadening of speculative operations, which were most effective in the railroad group. Florida, Western and Northern 7's were boosted 4½ points to a record high price at 158½ and Denver and Rio Grande Western 5's were lifted to a new top at 67. Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5's and some of the St. Paul issues also were active.

The sustained strength of foreign obligations, which have recently enjoyed a revival of activity, was one of the features of the forenoon trading. French municipal and railroad bonds were conspicuously strong, several of them establishing new top prices on gains averaging about a point. German and Swedish Government securities joined in the advance.

REACTION IN TORONTO

TORONTO, Sept. 8. — A reactionary tendency was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, though the high level of activity reached at the end of the past week was well maintained. Brazilian was again the leader, and it sold down to 73¼, but recovered to 74⅝ at noon, a net loss of ¼. Atlantic Sugar common advanced ½ and the preferred a point. City Dairy, ⅛ higher, and F. N. Burt ½ higher, were also exceptions to the downward trend. Canadian Canners common dropper ⅞ to 13⅛, Smelters ¾, Winnipeg a point, and Davies "A" ¾. Banks were again active and firm.

DEARER MONEY IN WALL STREET REVERSED TONE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(Special to The Star From Our Own Wall Street Correspondent.)—Prices were firm on the opening of the stock market this morning. Resumption of business after the holiday was attended by a fair increase in activity, but was hardly up to expectations of a big expansion following return of vacationists to Wall Street.

Speculative interest converged on motors and specialties during the first half hour. hTe buying of Pierce Arrow stocks was aggressive, with the result that both the common and the preferred registered new peak prices for the year. Packard also was in demand, gaining a good fraction in the early trading. General Motors was higher and White Motor advanced, but Mack Truck ruled around the previous closing level and was quiet.

United States Steel common opened a fraction higher, but initial advances of from 1 to 2½ points were registered by Allis Chalmers, R. H. Macy, Dupont and Sears Roebuck, respectively. American Can was heavy and neglected.

In the railroad division of the market stocks of roads operating in the southwest were the leaders. Missouri Pacific rallied nearly a point and Missouri, Kansas and Texas gained a good fraction. There also was demand for Baltimore and Ohio and Seaboard Air Line, both the preferred and the common stock of the latter road advancing.

The oils were quiet, but firm, the majority of issues registering small gains. Coppers and steels were quiet, but steady.

After the first half hour the market turned irregular, but persistent demand was perceptible in several individual issues, notably White Motor and American Smelting and Refining. Both these stocks were bid up to new high levels for the current recovery. Fleischmann, Chicago and Northwestern, Mack Trucks and Seaboard Air Line were other strong spots. Call money opened and renewed at 4 per cent unchanged from last week despite the deficit in reserves reported by the clearing house banks Saturday. Later the rate rose to 4½ and at noon to 5 per cent.

Rising prices characterized the resumption of stock market trading after the double holiday. Pierce Arrow common and preferred opened at 44 and 94, respectively, both new high records for the year, and initial gains of 1 to 2 1-2 points were recorded by Allis Chalmers, Chrysler, R. H. Macy, Dupont and Sears Roebuck. American Can was heavy.

Operators for the rise were active in several sections of the list, bidding up their favorites on the theory that fall business gave promise of substantial earnings to most lines. Additional new high records for the year were established in the first few minutes by Flischman, American Agricultural Chemical preferred and Atlantic Gulf and West Indis.

There was a marked absence of the short selling that swept over the market in the early days of last week, but covering operations were again in evidence. Sears Roebuck, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Buffalo and Susque-hanna and Coca Cola soon were quoted 3 or more points above last week's closing quotations.

Retention of the four per cent. renewal rate for call loans despite the large deficit in surplus reserves in Saturday's bank statement, caused a resumption of aggressive bidding up of various stocks. High priced issues were again advanced in striking fashion, Chrysler jumping 9 1-2 points to 148 1-2. International Harvester and Sears Roebuck touched new maximum prices for the year at 133 and 217 1-2, respectively. Texas Pacific Land Trust jumped 55 points, a record figure.

Call Money rose from 4 to 4½ per cent. and around 1 p.m. was marked up to 5 per cent. This had a tendency to check the early strength and prices reacted generally. Features up to 1:30 included: Abitibi, 65; C.P.R., 142¼; Am. Can., 229⅝ to 230⅛ to 227¼; Smelting, 109⅝ to 110½ to 109⅝ to 110; Am. Loco, 118½ to ⅞ to 118; Am. Car, 106⅝ to 108½ to 107½; Baldwin, 119⅝ to ½ to 121⅛ to 119½; Chrysler, 140 to 147 to 145½ to 149½; Gen. Motors, 93½ to 93 to ¾ to ½ to ½; Gen. Electric, 314 to 311; Mack Truck, 206 to 209½ to 205¼ to ½; So. Railway, 105 to 106⅝ to ½; Studebaker, 48½ to 48; Steel com., 121½ to ¾ to 121 to ¼; White Motor, 93 to 94½ to 93 to ⅞.

Quebec Gold Belt Co. Offering of Shares

An offering of 250,000 shares of Quebec Gold Belt, Limited, is being made by I. J. Isbell and Co., Ltd., at $3.50. It owns all of the properties formerly owned by Rouyn Gold Mines, Ltd., Rouyn Quebec Mines, Ltd., Ottawa Rouyn Mines, Ltd., Cadillac Syndicate, Inc., and a number of other properties, comprising approximately 3,000 acres, located in the heart of the Rouyn camp, together with ten claims in Cadillac township and five claims in Bousquet township. About $100,000 has already been spent in development work on these properties and a number of promising veins have been uncovered, showing good values in gold and in copper. Prospecting and development work has been carried on almost continuously for the past year and a half, and the plan of operations, as outlined by the company's geologist and mining engineer, involves a thorough examination, including an extensive geological study of the company's holdings, when development operations will be concentrated on the properties on which conditions appear most favorable.

LONG TERM FINANCING

TORONT(, Sept. 8.—A report is current in financial circles that the Dominion Government is planning to complete its financial program for the year by the issue of long term bonds in Canada. If the current rumor is correct, it will mean that the Dominion Government has continued its policy of placing its long term loans in Canada.

Topics of the Street

Resumption of trading in the local stock market after the two day's interruption brought no fresh developments to influence prices other than the statement issued by Asbestos Corporation officials concerning the progress of the merger negotiations.

Market interests have been figuring for some time back what the present Asbestos shares should be worth based on the probable market value of the new securities and as these have invariably ben well above the current market levels there was a tendency to look for some fireworks today as the result of Mr. Ross' conformation that the new deal is well advanced along the lines foreshadowed in the Star of August 28, which gave the figures which are approximately the same as those given out in the official statement.

The price did shoot up 3½ points at the opening to 94½ but there was a rapid subsidence of such enthusiastic buying and the price soon sagged back very close to the level of last week's close. Later it steadied around 92. The preferred was generally steady around 112½.

The reservation in Mr. Ross' statement at its conclusion to the effect that "there remain several important conditions to be fulfilled before the merger is consummated which will take more or less time," put somewhat of a damper on trading to which the sharp reaction after the opening was attributed.

In usually well informed circles Mr. Ross' reservation is not considered as so serious a matter as might be implied. It is stated that it refers to the difficulty of getting clear titles to the property of a couple of the companies destined to form part of the merger. This, it is believed, can be done but it may take a little time. Even if it should be impossible to secure the clear titles it is claimed that the properties are not essential to the success of the merger and could be dropped out without any harm being done.

In view of these circumstances the Street was more optimistic concerning the future of the combination than the market's action would suggest. A great many traders would be inclined to feel that the recent advance in the common particularly had discounted a good deal and owing to the past performances of the shares would be inclined to take profits, while the uncertainties attached to Mr. Ross' statement would doubtless induce some selling.

The virtual settlement of the deal, for such it is regarded in the Street, is accepted as an important construtive factor with a prospect of putting an important industry in good shape but the first year or so of the new combination's operations gives no guarantee that some of the estimates of the value of new shares will be realized and it is quite evident from the feverish action of the shares for the past week or so that the public which has been speculating largely, is inclined to accept a lower valuation than is usually put on existing shares in some quarters. The chief trouble is that the bull company is too numerous.

Another factor which will largely govern prices is the extent to which traders take profits at the present stage. Will they be satisfied to measure their profits on the present market levels or wait until the merger is completed and the new shares are available for trading? The fact that the stock is largely in the Street has to be taken into consideration.

The two other headliners of the market were Brazilian Traction and Dominion Textile, the latter scoring a new high level at 90 for a net gain of 2¼ points. Brazilian acted well, opening at 74¼, reacting a point and then rallying to 74⅝.

There was no special news to account for the buoyancy in Textile. Insiders have for a long time regarded the shares as representing a considerably higher value than the current market estimate and they have from time to time been accumulating the floating supply.

Elsewhere in the list the tone was generally strong even the paper stocks developing a firmer tone despite the reams of pessimistic literature which has been deluged on the public by writers who appear to see nothing but blue ruin for producers because there is a surplus of production. Many of our leading industries would be "tickled to death" to be able to operate on the percentage basis of the paper industry and make such favorable returns.

Buoyant features of the general list included Salt up two at 154, a new high, Bridge up 1½ at 90, Penmans up two at 160, and Goodyear Tire pfd. up one at 92¾. Among the papers Laurentide rallied two to 79, Abitibi 1½ to 64½. Price one to 52½, the Spanish up ½ to 99½. Power was firm at 208 and Smelters at 120.

Cotton Crop Estimated At 13,740,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — (United Press). — The condition of the cotton crop on September 1 was 56.2 per cent. normal, as compared with 62 per cent. in August and 59.3 per cent. September 1 last year, the Department of Agriculture announced today.

From this condition the department experts conclude the yield per acre will be about 141.1 pounds for a total production of about 13,740,000 bales of 500 pounds gross. Production last year was 13,627,936 bales.

Cotton of the 1925 crop ginned to September 1 totalled 1,892,549 running bales against 947,494 bales in 1924 and 1,142,660 bales in 1923.

U.S. COTTON CROP FORECAST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The United States cotton crop declined to the extent of 250,000 bales in the fortnight ending September 1. The Department of Agriculture today forecast this year's production at 13,740,000, equivalent 500 pound bales from conditions on that date.

Following his usual custom Secretary Mellon will issue $250,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, nine months at 3¼ per cent to take care of the Sept. financing.

TIMMINS GROUP HAS OPTION ON WAITE PROPERTY

ROUYN TOWNSHIP, Sept. 8.—(Star Special.)—Through having been among the first to recognize the merit of the copper-gold deposits of the Rouyn mining field, N. A. Timmins, president of the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines continues to acquire interests on a big scale in this field. It is generally known that Mr. Timmins is involved in a particularly big share interest in the Noranda Mines. Also, it is known that Mr. Timmins is identified with the control of the Amulet. What is perhaps less well known is the fact that Mr. Timmins is now involved in a deal which offers likelihood of control being secured in the Waite-Montgomery property.

Mr. Timmins, though already highly successful and in possession of perhaps more millions than any other man in Canada, is still one of the outstanding pioneers—not resting at ease and in search for sure things, but willing and anxious to engage in new propositions in efforts to establish additional successful enterprises.

The steady stream of millions in profit annually from the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines is not being drained from the resources of the north country without a reasonable percentage being returned toward the development of the remaining latent resources. It was through the Timmins interests that profits realized from the La Rose mine at Cobalt were the means of acquiring and developing the Hollinger mine. It is also through Mr. Timmins that profits from the Hollinger mine in turn are being employed in developing big mines in the Rouyn field of North-western Quebec.

At current quotations for shares in Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, the holdings of Mr. Timmins and associates in that company have a valuation of over $60,000,000. There are close observers who are expressing the opinion, that great and all as is the Hollinger, yet there is already fair promise that it will be rivalled by the Noranda—and with prospects of the Noranda itself being duplicated in the Rouyn field. This being so, the heavy acquisition of interests in the leading properties of the Rouyn district, is looked upon as likely to greatly swell the rising tide of multiplied millions for Mr. Timmins and associated interests.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The Citizen says:

"Emanating from Montreal comes the news that the Waite claims in Rouyn Township, and some adjoining forty claims have been purchased by N. A. Timmins, principal owner, and president of the Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines.

"From reliable authority, it is stated that these claims will comprise the richest copper-gold property in that section of the country, and that work in connection with the development will be undertaken immediately.

"The Waite claims are situated directly north of the Amulet property, and adjacent to claims on which the Nipissing Mining Company of Cobalt, has an option.

It is learned from authentic sources locally that Mr. Timmins and associates have held an option on the Waite claims since June and have been pushing development with highly satisfactory results. Mr. Timmins, who recently returned from Europe, is in Toronto today and could not be reached personally.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK MARKET

TORONTO, Sept. 8. — Trade opened slow with a heavy run of cattle at the Toronto Livestock Exchange this morning. Butcher steers were not moving. A few loads of heavies brought $7 to $8, with an odd steer up to $8.50. Butcher cows brought $3 to $5. Stockers and feeders were active at $3.50 to $6 a hundred.

Calves were steady at $10 to $11 for choice with grassers at $4.50 to $5.00.

The hog market was unsettled with packers bidding $13.50 off car for thick smooths, but the prospects are $13.50 to $13.75.

No early lamb sales were made. Choice lambs were selling at $13.50.

FLOUR COMPANY MEETINGS

SLIGHT GAIN IN JUNE PRODUCTION OF COAL

The output of coal from Canadian mines during June increased 9 per cent. over the production for the preceding month, but was 32 per cent. below the average for June in the past five years. The figures were 732,759 tons in June as against 666,756 tons in May, and an average for the month during the five preceding years of 1,067,731 tons.

Production by provinces in June showed slight gains over May outputs for New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia; but in comparison with the five-year average outputs, it was only in Alberta and British Columbia that June figures were higher.

Comparison of June and May figures covering the total importation of coal from the United States and Great Britain showed an increase of 19 per cent. Imports in June amounted to 1,470,416 tons as compared with 1,237,755 tons in May and the five-year average of 1,604,531 tons; June tonnage was therefore 9 per cent. below the five-year average for the month. For the first six months of 1925 the total amount of coal imported into Canada was 6,601,148 tons or 13 per cent. below the preceding five-year average for the period.

Imports of anthracite totalled 407,521 tons in June. This was 19,375 tons below the tonnage imported in May, but about 8 per cent. above the five-year average for the month. The total amount of anthracite imported during the half-year ending June, 1925, was 2,-935,090 tons: this marked little change from the five-year average for the period.

Exports of Canadian coal for the month of June were 14 per cent greater than in May. The quantities were: June, 43,296 tons; May, 37,894 tons. Comparison of the June exports with the preceding five-year average showed a decrease of 68 per cent. Total exports for the year to date amounted to 294,864 tons, or 64 per cent less than the five-year average.

Computed from figures on output, imports and exports, the quantity of coal made available for consumption increased 15 per cent above the figures for the previous month. During June the total was 2,159,879 tons, as against 1,866,617 tons made available during the month of May but in comparison with the five-year average for the month, the June available tonnage was lower by 15 per cent. The total coal made available for use in the first six months of 1925 amounted to 11,689,998 tons; for the twelve months ending June 30, the total coal made available for consumption this year was 27,519,440 tons, as compared with a total of 33,876,975 tons a year ago.

The total number of men employed in the coal mines of Canada during June was 18,611 of whom 14,195 worked underground and 4,416 on surface, as compared with a total of 14,337 in May, of whom 10,074 worked underground and 4,263 on surface. Production per man was 39.4 tons in June, as against 46.2 tons per man in May. During June, the production per man-day was 3.3 tons, as compared with 2.3 tons in May. The tonnage lost was largely due to "lack of orders" and "other causes."

Production of Wheat In Germany Shows Gain

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The first official estimate of Germany's production of wheat this year is 106,667,000 bushels against 89,200,000 last year, according to a cablegram received today by the Department of Agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture. The other crops of Germany are as follows: Rye, 301,875,000 bushels against 225,575,-000 in 1924, and oats, 355,917,000 against 366,617,000.

The area sown to wheat in Argentina, according to a revised estimate is 18,-829,000 acres as compared with 17,793,-000 last year, and the condition of the crop is excellent.

WHEAT PRICES OPENED HIGHER; CORN STRONGER

CHICAGO, Sept 8—Both wheat and corn showed a decided trend upward today, as soon as the market opened here. A reduction of more than 3,000,-000 bushels of the amount of wheat on ocean passage, together with an unexpected advance in quotations at Liverpool, was largely responsible for the action of wheat. Reports of increased damage to corn had also more or less influence on wheat values. Wheat opening prices ⅜c to 2¼c higher, Dec. $1.51½ to $1.52, and May $1.55½ to $1.55⅝, were followed by something of a sag and then by a fresh advance.

According to reports which were current, 50 per cent. of the corn crop in central Illinois has been prematurely ripened owing to recent excessive heat, with pastures bare and creeks going dry. After opening at ⅛c to 1¼c up, Dec. 86¼ to 86¾, the corn market reacted a little, but soon rose higher than before.

Oats were a trifle firmer, owing to corn strength. Starting at ⅛ to ⅝ to ½c higher, Dec. 42¼ to 42½. Oats held near to the initial range.

Wheat inspections at Winnipeg yesterday totalled 696 cars, of which 164 cars were graded as No. 1 northern, 187 cars as No. 2 northern, 193 cars as No. 3 northern, and 157 cars as lower grades.

Cash spreads at Winnipeg this morning were: No. 1 northern, 12 over; No. 2 northern, 8 over; No. 3 northern, 6 over; No. 4, 5 under.

Veal Calves in Demand On Livestock Markets

There were 181 cattle, 155 calves, 863 hogs and 64 sheep and lambs for sale on the two markets this morning. The cattle offering was made up of common bulls and common cows. Sales were at yesterday's level of from $3 to $3.50 for bologna bulls and from $2 to $3.50 for the canner and common cows. Sales of butcher cattle were made yesterday at $6.50 for fairly good steers and from that downwards to $4 for poorer lots. About 100 steers were sold for export at from $6.25 to $7.25, and these ranged in weight from 1,000 pounds to 1,300 pounds. The ruling price for good cows was $4.50 with one car lot of young cows at $4.90.

There was a keen demand for the few veal calves offered today, and the best were sold from $8.50 to $9.50. Just fair calves brought $7.50 to $8.25 and grassers $3.75 to $4.50.

Good lambs sold yesterday from $11.75 to $12, and the best sales today were $11.75 paid for fairly good quality lots. Common lambs sold for $11.

Hog prices were somewhat uncertain with $13.50 the standard quotation for straight lots of good weight and quality. Selects sold yesterday for $14, but they were not quoted today. A few early sales of mixed lots were made on one market this morning at $13.75 or better. Sows sold at $11.

PARIS BOURSE STEADY

FURTHER RISE IN MONEY FORCED PRICES LOWER

WALL ST., 1:30 p.m.—Responding to reports of expanding fall business, stock prices resumed their upward movement today, under the leadership of the motor shares. Marking up of the call money rate to 5 per cent on the calling of loans to make up the deficit in reserves shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement, caused a temporary setback around the noon hour, which carried many issues off 1 to 3 points from their earlier highs, but the rally was resumed in the afternoon, when Chrysler crossed 149 for a net gain of more than 10 points, to within a small fraction of its record high.

Mail order, merchandising, food, equipment and public utility issues also developed several points of strength with pools again active in a number of specialties. Rails followed in the wake of the industrials, Kansas City Southern assuming the leadership of that group by climbing four points to a record high. Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Gulf, Mobile and Northern common also broke through their previous peak prices.

When money went to 5½ per cent in the last hour, further selling developed and reactions were general. Features around 2:30 included:—Am. Can., 225⅝; Baldwin, 118½; Chrysler, 145½; Harvester, 130⅛; Col. Gas, 73⅝; Gen. Elec., 311⅝; Gen. Motors, 92⅝; Mack Truck, 205; Pierce Arrow, 43; White Motor, 92⅝; Steel, 120⅝; Studebaker, 48.

COTTON REPORT BULLISH

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(A. P.)—A bullish interpretation of the government cotton crop report estimating the condition at 56.2 per cent of normal and the 1925 yield of 13,740,800 bales, today lifted the price of cotton $4 a bale above last Friday's closing quotations.

Prices later reacted about 20 points from the top when hedge selling from all parts of the south was induced by publication of the beginning figures, which were the heaviest on record for this time of the year.

AUCTION SALE OF BUTTER

At the Quebec Federated Agricultural Co-operative Butter Auction, held at the Board of Trade this afternoon, 300 boxes of No. 1 butter sold at 38⅝c per pound, and 1,500 boxes of pasteurized were unsold, 39⅜c bid and 39¾c per pound asked.

STOCKS REACTED IN FINAL HOUR; TRADING QUIETER

Trading became comparatively dull this afternoon and prices tended to sag on the Montreal Stock Exchange. Brazilian maintained active leadership and sold up to 74¾, or within ⅛ of the peak, but towards the close reacted to 73½ for a decline of 1⅛ from the noon close. Asbestos common eased ¾ to 91, while the preferred was not active.

Consolidated Smelters reacted 2½ points to 117½, after opening at 119½, but rallied to 118 at the close. Montreal Power was steady at 208, but Ottawa Power at 98 sold at a decline of 5 points. Paper stocks were steady. Laurentide moved up another ½ to 79½, while Abitibi was unchanged at 64½, and Price was ¼ easier at 51½. Spanish River continued to sell unchanged at 99½.

Other features included Atlantic Sugar off ⅛, Cement off ½, Dominion Bridge up ¼, Hollinger up .15, Breweries off ¼. Steel of Canada up ¾, Tuckett Tobacco up 1⅜ at 65¾, Twin City up ¼, and Quebec Power preferred up ¾ at 110⅝.

Dominion Textile reacted ½ from this morning's high of 90. Winnipeg Electric eased sharply to 47½, the lowest price since June.

NEW ASBESTOS PREFERRED

It was reported in the Street this afternoon that some people had been paying as high as $80 per share for new Asbestos preferred, "when, as and if issued," on the curb whereas the stock was offered at $77 per share by a firm connected with the Montreal Stock Exchange.

SHARP DECLINE IN EARNINGS OF LOCOMOTIVE CO.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—(Star Special). — The annual financial statement of the Canadian Locomotive Company, Limited, for the year ended June 30, 1925, now going forward, will prove a disappointment to the shareholders. Operating profits and total income show a large reduction. Net profits for the year were less than one third the total for the year ended June 30, 1924, while total revenue was less than one-half that of the previous period. An improvement has been made in the company's liquid position by a reduction over half a million in bank loans. Inventories are down and work in process, which at the end of 1924 stood at $850,492, is shown this year at only $14,057.

Robert Hobson, chairman of the Board, makes the following report to the shareholders: "You will note that operating profits for the year amounted to $166,549. In view of the general curtailment of all orders by Canadian railroads, your plant has only been operated to capacity for five months during the current year, so that we feel the results to be very creditable.

"The future should be more promising, as with the improvement now occurring in Canadian conditions, the roads should shortly be warranted in additional equipment purchases.

"Your directors, following out the conservative policy in the past have maintained their investment holdings intact, and you will note that the liquid position of the company today shows a surplus, as between current assets and current liabilities, of $1,334,902."

Net profits for the year, before providing for depreciation and other items, totalled $166,549, compared with $538,411 in 1924. To this has been added $65,020 interest received on investments, and $3,309 profit from sale of investments. The following deductions were made:—Bond interest, $90,000 and depreciation, $100,000, leaving the sum of $78,078 available for dividend, which was not sufficient to meet the payments of $105,000 on preferred and $40,000 paid on the common. An allowance of $15,000 was made for sinking fund and surplus then amounted to $998,227 a reduction from $1,080,148.

Working capital has been fully maintained showing little change from the previous year. Current assets including investments in Dominion and Canada bonds totalled $1,692,479 and current liabilities $101,111 leaving net working capital $1,309,740 compared with $1,367,073 in 1924.

CANOEIST WRECKED ON OCEAN ISLAND

George Smythe, Canadian, Stranded and Starving Near Cape Corse

PARIS, Sept. 8 — (A. P.)—George Smythe, the Canadian canoeist who left Naples, August 19, in an attempt to paddle to Leningrad, is stranded on an island near Cape Corse, according to a report published by the Journal today. The news of Smythe's plight was reported to have been received through a message found in a floating bottle.

A dispatch to the Journal from St. Raphael says that an Italian torpedo boat has picked up a bottle containing a message, signed by Smythe, and Lieut. Brandt, his companion, in the journey to Leningrad, saying they were wounded and starving on an island near Cape Corse.

The message found in the bottle was pencilled on a sheet of paper. It was dated September 1. Cape Corse, is the northern most point of the island of Corsica.

The Italian admiral commanding at Spezia advised the naval authorities of the message, and a party has been dispatched to rescue the two men. The torpedo boat which found the bottle was searching for the Italian seaplane pilots Laporte and Priol, who have been missing since last week.

LAKE FIGUERY MAN INSTANTLY KILLED

QUEBEC, Sept. 8. — (C.P.) — Arthur Turmel, father of five children, was instantly killed yesterday at Lake Figuery, at a short distance from Amos Abitibi, when a mechanical saw he was operating flew off and struck him on the forehead causing a fracture of the skull.

SAY MINERS IN FIGHT TO FINISH

Anthracite Operators Fear Invasion Started by Bituminous Owners

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—(U.P.)—Invasion of the anthracite stronghold of the New England and Middle Atlantic markets by bituminous coal appears a certain development of the anthracite strike. Plans for a widespread publicity campaign in these areas, educating anthracite users to the use of cheaper bituminous fuel, will be undertaken by the soft coal operators of the central and western Pennsylvania fields.

At a meeting here today plans are being perfected for the invasion.

Burial of competitive diferences, and combination of the West Virginia and Pennsylvania soft coal operators in a concerted drive to rout anthracite from its former stronghold, is feared by the anthracite operators, hampered as they are by the miners' suspension.

The stand of the miners that they are in a "finish fight" with the operators was reiterated yesterday by Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine-Workers, addressing a Labor Day celebration near Wilkesbarre.

"The mine-workers," he said, "are determined to win in this contest with the rich and powerful coal companies. We are going get an increase in wages, uniformity of rates, the check-off and improved working conditions."

MONTREAL JUDGE MAY BE PROMOTED

Justice Trahan Mentioned for Superior Court Vacancy at Three Rivers

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—(Star Special By Own Correspondent). — The remaining vacancy on the Superior Court of Quebec is that created by the death of Judge Desy, of Three Rivers.

It is very possible that one of the present Judges at Montreal will be transferred to Three Rivers, and Judge Trahan is mentioned. H. A. Fortier, M.P. for Labelle will likely be attached to the Montreal Bench, while residing in Hull. Since the death of Judge MacDougall, the Hull district has had no Judge. The latter kept his residence in that district although he was one of the judicial Panel in Montreal.

TENSE SITUATION AT HARTSHORNE

Non-Union Miners Carrying Arms—May Proclaim Martial Law

MCALSTER, Okla., Sept. 8 — (A. P.) — A tense situation prevails at Hartshorne today, near here, while a decision is being reached at Oklahoma City, whether martial law shall be declared in the mining district and state troops dispatched.

Sunday night the fan house of mine No. 12 of the Rock Island Coal Company, was dynamited.

Conditions in the Hartshorne district have grown gradually worse the past week. Non-union miners have begun to carry arms, saying that their lives have been threatened.

Canadian Mining News

Week of September 8th

The mining market is still an investor's market and many of the dividend payers are selling below their real worth. Any really substantial movement is started by the high-class stocks and the more speculative issues follow in the procession once the swing is well underway.

Ontario

Dome Mines production for August was slightly higher than the previous month and compared with last year's production for a similar period the eight month's period shows an increase of over $16,000.00. This increase was accomplished in the face of a very vigorous exploration program that to date has been very successful. We look for materially higher prices for this stock.

Mining Corporation—This company is well able to make its interim dividend of .12 1-2 cents per share, a regular quarterly feature. Should this be the policy of the company, higher prices can be confidently expected.

British Columbia

Premier Gold—It is our belief that this mine has a long and profitable future and on its present dividend rate of 8% quarterly it gives a very good return on the invested capital. This dividend is well earned and should be good for many years to come.

Quebec

Noranda stock has had a very good rise in the past week from $510.00 to $560.00 per share. It is expected that shareholders will be given certain subscription rights if and when the company increases its capitalization at its special meeting held today.

Unison Gold cut their main vein at the hundred foot level and found it highly mineralized with sulphides and free gold. This establishes this mine as one of the foremost in QUEBEC and should undoubtedly be one of the first producers in this new field. It is a free milling type of ore without copper content and transportation is of the cheapest—being an all-water route from AMOS.

Bourlamaque Syndicate benefits directly by this development as it is a large shareholder in UNISON as well as other companies in the QUEBEC field.

Quebec looks very promising and we firmly believe in its future.

COL. AMERY TARGET FOR PRESS ATTACK

Opposes Decision for British to Remain in Mesopotamia

LONDON, Sept. 8 — (B. U. P.) — Col. Amery is the target for a concerted attack on the British decision to remain in Mesopotamia and the attackers, who have enlisted J. L. Garvin of the Observer on their side, seem to be able to press home their attacks. In the Observer it is openly stated that there is a Cabinet split and that Col. Amery is absolutely without authority, except by the support he gets from Baldwin, when he decides that Britain is remain.

Amery is described by the Beaverbrook papers as being an Imperialist "tinged with Eastern tyrrany" and the opponents of the Mosul policy are trying by every means in their power to create a Cabinet crisis in order to get the recent decision reversed. It is suggested also that Winston Churchill has not agreed to this decision and certainly the defence of their course, so far presented by the Government, has been exceedingly weak and a contradiction of their previous declarations.

Shrewd observers, however, say that Premier Baldwin will be able to weather the crisis and carry Amery with him although they fear the effect on the Government's prestige and think that while they might be able to ward off the present blow it would leave some damaging after effects.

VIVIANI WILL BE BURIED THURSDAY

PARIS, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The funeral of Rene Viviani, noted French statesman, orator and former Premier, who died yesterday after a lingering illness has been set for Thursday. It will be elaborate and as is the case in the death of so prominent a personage the expenses will be borne by the government.

In a message to the Petit Parisian today, Premier Painleve expressed his sorrow at the loss "to French democracy of one of its best sons and leading defenders."

These sentiments are echoed by the editorial writers of all the newspapers.

A MINING SPECULATION OF HIGHEST MERIT

One of the Most Promising Undertakings in Canadian Mining History

This offering is recommended to investors as a speculation of unusual possibilities.

Important discoveries have been made on the Company's properties. Over $100,000 has been spent to prove up their value. The preliminary work has been done and from now on the campaign will be directed towards bringing the pioneer work to fruition. The high standing of the technical staff and the personnel of the Board of Directors is assurance that no efforts will be spared in this regard.

The Company's holdings in Rouyn, Cadillac and Bousquet Townships are considered as among the most select acreage in the Quebec Goldfields. Combined with the other advantages the possibilities of Quebec Gold Belt, Limited from the standpoint of the investor, are equal to the best opportunities that have become available to the investor at the same stage of development and which have since made good in a big way.

Orders will not be pro-rated but will be filled only in order of their receipt.

From the letter of Henri Jodoin, K.C., the Vice-President, we summarize as follows:

In the formation of QUEBEC GOLD BELT, LTD. (No Personal Liability) the theory that large acreage is essential to success in a big way was followed. This policy has proved itself time and again in Ontario and other fields and mining rights of properties were secured in the QUEBEC Field aggregating approximately 4,000 acres. These holdings are in the form of groups of claims, the bulk of which were staked in the early stages of the Camp's development and can be considered therefore as among the most select ground of the district.

The bulk of these holdings are in ROUYN TOWNSHIP in the heart of the District and are either contiguous to or in the vicinity of properties in which the most important discoveries have been made.

Approximately $100,000 has been spent in exploration and development on the properties on which QUEBEC GOLD BELT, LTD. has secured mining rights. The holdings of this Company in detail are:

IN ROUYN TOWNSHIP—Group No. 1. The first group consists of five claims of approximately 200 acres each, secured from ROUYN GOLD MINES, LIMITED and formerly known as ROUYN GOLD MINES. Four of these claims forming a compact block, are located on what is locally known as The Pelletier Lake fault zone, and adjoin the group of claims being developed with very favourable results by The Huronian Belt Company; the fifth claim adjoins both the Huronian Belt and the Argonaut properties.

Commodious camp buildings have been erected on this property. Development work carried on on these claims over a period of several months. DR. WALTER HARVEY WEED after a thorough examination has reported as follows:

THE HACKER LODE on this property is 35 ft. wide and has a steep dip and consists of platy but rather massive pyritized greenstone cut by quartz in the veins and stringers, typical of the gold veins of the region. Altogether the lode has been stripped and opened by rock trenches at eight different points. The greatest amount of work is at pits No. 2 and No. 3, where channel samples assayed $21 and $10. respectively, across widths of 6 and 7 feet.

"In view of the extent and character of the mineralization and the rich ore in the quartz stringers, I consider that these claims full warrant exploration. The probable extension of porphyry intrusions into the claims is a further and very promising feature.

"The property is a valuable one and its development should be undertaken at once."

GROUP No. 2. The second group of properties in ROUYN TOWNSHIP is that on which mining rights have been secured from ROUYN QUEBEC MINES, LTD. (No Personal Liability). These aggregate approximately 1,200 acres, five claims of approximately 200 acres each, and claims Nos. T1971-1972-1973-1974 and 1975 of 40 acres each. Three of these claims, of approximately 200 acres each, are in a block lying between Pelletier Lake and Osisko Lake, in the vicinity of the Noranda. Two claims of 200 acres each lie to the west of Pelletier Lake and adjoin the No. 1 group taken over from the ROUYN GOLD MINES, LTD. (No Personal Liability). The five smaller claims, of 40 acres each, adjoin the Huronian Belt holdings, and the Gamble-Bathurst property in the southern section of the camp in the formation known as THE TEMISKAMING sedimentaries.

WM. D. COOPER, Mining Engineer, reports on these properties as follows:

"The claims are undoubtedly well located and although a large portion of the favorable formation is heavily overburdened, this is not an unfavorable geological condition. It has been found by experience and admitted in the ROUYN area that some of the most favorable structural conditions prevail in what appears to be very low ground. This condition is explained by the fact that the wide shear zones and schisted belts that strike through the country, usually in an easterly and westerly direction, are much softer and more amenable to Glacial action and surface erosion than is the massive formation. These depressions filled with glacial clays, etc., afford the most favorable location for the deposition of ore bodies."

GROUP No. 3. The third group of claims are those of THE OTTAWA ROUYN MINES, LTD. (No Personal Liability). This property consists of two claims of about 400 acres in extent. They lie in a section of the ROUYN District, which within recent months has been receiving the favorable attention of Mining interests. This property is in what is known as THE SEDIMENTS in the Southern part of the township and lies astride the easterly extension of the porphyry-conglomerate area, in which extremely rich discoveries have been made. They adjoin the GAMBLE BATHURST group on the east, which a few months ago were taken over by the MCINTYRE PORCUPINE Co., on a million dollar option.

In view of the high value placed upon the property adjoining and the strong probability of the existence of the extensions of the rich GAMBLE BATHURST veins being found, this group of claims are considered to be of exceptional prospective value.

GROUP No. 4. Group No. 4 consists of four 40-acre claims in ROUYN TOWNSHIP, formerly known as THE DRANSFIELD CLAIM. Insufficient work has been done on these claims to indicate their value. The fractions recorded as Nos. 2437-2438 and 2439 in the Pelletier Lake Section of indeterminate acreage, complete the ROUYN township holdings of the Company.

IN CADILLAC AND BOUSQUET—GROUP No. 5. In CADILLAC TOWNSHIP—a section which has come into considerable prominence through the operations of the M. J. O'BRIEN interests of COBALT and GOWGANDA fame, QUEBEC GOLD BELT, LTD. has secured the Mining Rights on a group of claims numbering ten from the Cadillac Syndicate. An additional block of claims in BOUSQUET Township, recorded as Nos. A438 to 442, has been secured from the same Syndicate. Comparatively little work has been done on these claims, but they are considered to be of real prospective merit and may develop in a big way under the development of the QUEBEC GOLD BELT, LTD.

PLAN OF OPERATION.

The plan of operation to be followed by QUEBEC GOLD BELT, LTD. as outlined by the Company's consulting geologist and mining engineer, is one which gives promise of placing the Company on a successful footing. It involves a thorough examination, including an extensive geological study of the Company's extensive holdings and of then concentrating development operations on the property, or group of properties, on which conditions appear most favourable.

The widespread holdings of the Company, the location of these claim-groups in the different sections of ROUYN, CADILLAC and BOUSQUET Townships where important discoveries have been made, greatly increases the possibilities for success, minimizing the risk which so often attends mining enterprises.

The personnel of the Board of Directors, and the high standing of its technical staff, will bear testimony that the Company's interests will be safeguarded and that every effort will be made to bring success to this undertaking.

NEW LOW MARK IN DEPTH OF CHANNEL

Lowest Figure in August Below Any for Same Month Since 1907

EFFECT ON BOATS

Results in Steamers Lightening Loads to Come Through Canal

The river level dropped last month to the lowest point it has ever reached in August of any year, since the 30 foot channel was completed, due to a variety of causes, the chief one among which it is claimed, is the diversion of water from the Great Lakes by Chicago.

The 30 foot channel was finished in 1908 and the highest and lowest levels in the channel in August of that year were 32 feet eight inches and 31 feet four inches. Last month the highest and lowest levels were 38 feet eleven inches and 28 feet five inches according to official figures.

Since the lowest mark touched last month, there has been a rise in the channel and the levels reported today were 29 feet eight inches in the harbor and 28 feet eight inches in the channel.

Even taking into account the figures since 1903, covering a period of 25 years, there are only four other occasions on which the channel level has fallen lower in the same month than in August of this year, these years being in August 1903, when the lowest reported was 28 feet four inches; 1905, 28 feet; 1906, 26 feet ten inches and 1907, 27 feet eight inches, but these were the years preceding the completion of the 30 foot channel.

Water in the Lachine Canal is lower than ever before in its history according to the official soundings made this morning. In the lower sill of Canal the water measured 13 feet 9 inches; in the upper it was 13 1-2. It was reported that vessels coming down the canal were obliged to lighten their load in order to go through and that the pulp boats going up were forced to do the same This report was not confirmed at the Government offices, though it was admitted by J. L. Dansereau, engineer for the Department of Public Works that conditions were such as had never prevailed before.

The Chicago Drainage canal is also given as the cause of this condition which menaces traffic. Dr. Dansereau stated. In previous years the water diverted by the Chicago Canal has not affected the Lachine Canal to such a noticeable extent because of the great storage in Lake St. Louis. This surplus of water has now become exhausted, with the above pernicious results.

Shipping interests here are keenly interested in this matter, owing to the affect it has on cargoes and they are awaiting the outcome of the negotiations which have been proceeding between Canada and the United States with more than ordinary interest. A reference was made to this matter here last week by Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals in which he indicated that an early and favorable settlement of this question might be anticipated.

NEW COMPANY.

Cable reports that a new company has been formed to operate between Ireland and "a Canadian port," have attracted the attention of local interests, but no one has any information that will throw light on the "Canadian port" referred to.

RETURNING HOME

Among the distinguished passengers who are on the C.P.S. liner Empress of France, due at Quebec on Friday afternoon is Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, general manager of the Bank of Montreal.

GRAIN TRAFFIC

For the 48 hour period ending at midnight Monday thirteen boats unloaded 1,082,533 bushels of grain in port while total receipts were 1,098,590 and deliveries 958,044 bushels leaving stock on hand of 6,365,852 bushels. There are 14 boats waiting to unload with 1,209,370 bushels in their holds. Receipts to date total 91,942,774 bushels as compared to 77,148,167 at the same date last year deliveries 95,028,071 bushels compared to 72,240,649 bushels at the same date in 1924.

At noon today there were eleven boats chartered to load grain for September 15, but this number is likely to increase daily from now until the close of the mid-month period.

With 403 cabin passengers aboard, the Cunard liner Ascania docked here yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Included in the passengers were the following with Montreal as their destination:

Hon. Mr. Justice Weir and Mrs Weir; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Leach, Mrs. D. A. Booth, with Miss D. V. Booth and Master J. Booth; J. Butcher, Mrs. L. Heald, Miss E. Hearne, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Lafleur, Messrs. H. A. and J. T. Lafleur and Master A. P. Lafleur, J. Letourneau, Mrs. E. Nichols and Miss M. Nichols, the Misses E. M. and M. A. Samuel, Miss H. A. Shaw, Mrs. E. Squire, Mrs. A. E. Stafford, Mrs. H. P. Thornhill, Miss Eleanor Thornhill and Miss Sylvia Thornhill, Miss W. Turk and Master R. Turk, K. Bocheke, Mrs. V. Comble, Dr. E. Asselin, H. P. Bell, Mrs. N. Chabaneau, H. Scott and Miss Scott and Miss A. Sinkins.

The C.P.R. Marloch docked last night and brought back 374 cabin passengers, including 223 American citizens. This boat will not carry passengers on the return voyage as she was only brought back to replace the Metagama, now ready for sailing on Thursday.

Montrealers aboard the Marloch included: Mrs. A. Anderson and Miss Eva Anderson, Master R. Crawford, Master H. G. Donald A. Hannaford, Miss D. Low, Dr. and Mrs. S. T. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Munro, Mrs. Bruce Scott, Mrs. N. Stewart, Master J. Stewart and Miss M. Stewart, and Miss J. Wighton.

CHIEF STEWARD DIES.

John B. Thomson, of Leith, Scotland, chief steward on the SS. Cairnross, died of pneumonia in the General hospital on Saturday and was buried yesterday. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lachlan A. MacLean, minister of St. Mark's church, assisted by J. Ritchie Bell. As the Cairnross was out at sea, none of the deceased's shipmates could attend the funeral. Among those in the cortege were W. Blair and J. J. Howard, representing the Robt. Reford Co., Ltd.; David Isles, representing Captain Isles, marine superintendent of the line, and J. G. Baxter, victualling superintendent; H. C. Holliday, C. Stanfield, Wm. Duncan, John T. Graham, Wm. Harris, Thos. Kingborn, Wm. Pollock, Thos. Martin, Wm. McLean and others. Floral tributes of respect were laid upon the casket from Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris and the Montreal Sailors' Institute.

AIRPLANES START ON EUROPEAN TOUR

Italian Machines to Visit Eastern and Southern Capitals

TURIN, Italy, Sept. 8—(U.P.)—Three Italian airplanes hopped off here today on what was originally intended to be a flight to Moscow, but which at the last moment was converted into a flight to eastern and southern European capitals.

The eleventh hour change resulted from the fact that the Soviet Government refused permission for the squadron to land in Russia.

Making the trip under command of Colonel Bolognesi were three 700-horsepower bombing planes. It had been proposed to send the machines by way of Vienna and Budapest to Kieff and Moscow and thence by way of Odessa and Constantinople home.

Deny Child Beaten With Whip Before Fatal Seizure

Rumors of the alleged beating of twelve-year-old Cecile Bruneau, of 1465 City Hall avenue, prior to her death from peritonitis at the Ste. Justine Hospital yesterday morning, were rapidly dispelled before Deputy Coroner Lorenzo Prince this morning.

Louis Belair, aged 14, of 1445 City Hall avenue, swore that the deceased child was a good friend of his, and that the nearest he had come to her with a whip was when he had cracked one in the yard of his home, and she had tried to wrest it away from him. He had never struck her, nor wished to do so. The whip-cracking incident had taken place on Friday, August 28.

Mrs. Eugene Pigeon, of 1463 City Hall avenue, and Mrs. Lacroix, of 1461 City Hall avenue, told the Coroner that the deceased child had told them that she had been struck by Belair. They had noticed a reddish mark on her arm. This was shown to have been a boil. Medical evidence showed that the child's death had been a purely natural one, and a verdict was entered accordingly.

EXPLAINS STAND ON RAILWAY RATE

Hon. H. A. McKeown Answers Complaint from Maritimes

WHY NO DELAY

Says Board Considered Case of B.C. to Stand Alone

In reference to the question of the Maritime Province case now before the Railway Board, being prejudiced by the late decision in the western grain rates matter, Hon. H. A. McKeown, chairman, has sent the following communication to Col. A. E. Massie, vice-president of the St. John Board of Trade; the president of the Halifax Board of Trade and Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia:

Ottawa, Sept. 3, '25.

Dear Sir,—On my return from the west last Monday I found your telegram awaiting me, and although the matter referred to is closed, I am anxious to remove any misapprehension that may exist regarding the reason and scope of the decision in the western grain rates case.

I am enclosing copy herein, and it will be noted that the British Columbia case stands on a very different footing, as regards its presentation, from that of any other subject of inquiry, because of the fact that after full preparation a hearing was held last November and judgment has been deferred until the scope of the legislation passed in June could be determined.

I hasten to assure you that decision in this matter can have no prejudical effect whatever upon claims from other parts of the country. In fact, I would be inclined to think that the other provinces and districts being now in possession of the views expressed in this judgment, will be better able to frame their cases, so as to bring them in line with the opinion of the Board as therein set out.

I would ask you to please notice what is said on page 9 and following pages of the judgment. My view is that the reference of this whole matter to the Board will be absolutely fruitless, unless some relief is accorded, by which the products of the country can be advantageously exchanged. This, of course, means lower freight rates.

I believe it is the duty of the Board under the reference to work out a series of schedules by which our coal, our fish, our agricultural products, our lumber and our manufactured goods can profitably move.

Sincerely yours,
H. A. McKEOWN.

THE JUDGMENT.

The judgment was on the application of the Province of British Columbia for an order reducing rates on grain and flour moving westward for export to the same rates, proportioned to distance, as the same would carry, if moving eastward for export.

Hon. Mr. McKeown, in opening, said:

This matter was heard in Vancouver in November, 1924, before Mr. Commissioner Oliver and myself, but before the complete record was available, legislation was outlined dealing with grain rates, and a general freight rate revision was called for. It, therefore, seemed advisable that decision await forthcoming action by Parliament. While admittedly this complaint is connected with the general subject above mentioned, yet in view of the fact that the situation is now fully developed as regards the commodities above specified, and, for the reason above noted, the matter has stood until another yearly grain movement is commencing, I think the parties in interest are now entitled to know the opinion of the Board upon the merits of the application, and a present pronouncement should be made.

The part of the judgment to which Hon. Mr. McKeown directs attention (page 3), is as follows:

It is clear that the railways base their opposition to the application upon the loss of revenue involved in acceding the request of the Government of British Columbia.

By a series of decisions of this Board, it had been held that just and reasonable tolls mean tolls reasonable and just from the standpoint not only of the producer, but also from the point of view of the railways—having regard to the revenue necessary to enable them to operate successfully and including a fair return on the investment made.

It is not open to anyone to criticise or find fault with the principle involved in such decisions and, under the conditions which prevailed fifteen or twenty years ago, these two considerations then marched fairly well abreast, but in the dislocation consequent upon the events o. years which have intervened, this alignment, if not altogether lost, is not by any means so apparent.

GENERAL PROBE.

The Board is now upon the eve of a general investigation and inquiry concerning freight rates with certain wel-defined objects in view. If during this work the Board is confronted by the fact that sufficient income for the preservation and maintenance of railway property necessitates freight charges under which business may not be successfully carried on, the Board cannot content itself by ending its journey in an impasse, but, rather in my opinion, by uncovering all the facts and conditions involved in this reference it may assist, to that extent in finding a way out, and while the ultimate steps necessary to such an end may be outside the powers of this Board, yet the consideration of what is involved in this reference should, and I think will help to show some of the things essential to that purpose. If the amount of railway revenue necessary to be raised in order to be fair and just to the railways from their standpoint, imposes upon business generally a burden which stifles industry and makes work unprofitable, an adjustment is necessary somewhere.

The different sections of the country must be enabled to trade, to ship, to carry on business, and a series of schedules must be elaborated which will not fetter the country's industrial activity, but under which it can breathe and flourish. But if in order to deal with the railways in a just and reasonable way and to put them in possession of sufficient revenue to carry on business, having regard to all their obligations, it be shown that extraneous aid should be afforded, the decisive question will be whether such aid should be so provided, or the business of the country be injured and retarded. In the investigation now about to be carried on by the board, many of the necessary facts will, I think, be disclosed with sufficient clearness to assist in a decision upon this matter. In the presumption that the two considerations above mentioned being at the bottom of our rate structure are not now in line it would seem that any relief to business conditions in the form of reduced railway rates must be accompanied by some provision for supplementing railway revenue or by some other action, for the loss of revenue involved in granting applications of this nature, is substantial. It is open to the board to grant rates which will produce sufficient revenue for transportation companies, and subject to legislation, it is to be presumed that the board will be expected to continue such course unless their revenues are supplemented in some other way if that be necessary.

ASK DELAY.

The suggestion has been made from different quarters that the board defer judgment in this matter until the work of the general freight rate revision be completed, on the ground that it is part of the general subject of rate revision and should be dealt with jointly with all other matters and localities involved. Having regard to the wide scope of inquiry it would be unwise, I think, as a rule of procedure, to detach individual complaints and make pronouncement upon them. But the case of British Columbia has already been the subject of inquiry regularly started and carried on by the province interested; a hearing was held nearly a year ago; judgment has been deferred until the effect of legislation then pending might be determined; and I do not see how the general inquiry will be embarrassed by the disposal of this particular subject. I think, perhaps, that many of those so objecting are unaware that in this present case British Columbia's complaint has been already heard as above outlined.

But apart from that, it is quite within the range of probability that action will have to be taken by the board in other directions to meet situations which the interests of various localities in Canada may demand. Before many weeks the coal situation may require that rates from Alberta and Maritime coal mines to Quebec and Ontario be adjusted to meet the needs of the inhabitants of these two last named provinces. A present refusal to deal with the British Columbia situation on the grounds urged would logically entail a denial of coal rate adjustment until conclusion of the general rate revision, unless a different treatment is to be accorded to one province than to another. I am unwilling to assent to the view that pending complete revision, the board must cease to function in necessary cases, or that its action should be fettered as above suggested. If effect be given in this instance to protests from localities not immediately concerned, the board could hardly turn its back upon similar protests from British Columbia, should they be made, protesting against immediate relief which other places might imperatively need.

I think this application should be allowed and the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways should file rates, effective not later than the fifteenth day of September, 1925, reducing the rates on grain and flour to Pacific ports within Canada for export, to the same rates, proportioned to distance as such grain and flour would carry if moving eastward for export, and such order will be made accordingly.

ASK FOR WOMAN ON WAGE BOARD

Do women eat less than men? This and a number of similar problems which men find themselves unable to solve have halted the work of the newly-created Minimun Wage Commission, of which Gus Francq is chairman.

The body called upon to decide what is under-payment and what is not, has found that it must first discover what it costs a woman to live in this Province in order to give an opinion on numerous complaints of underpayment submitted. Not only must it solve the riddle for Montreal, but also for the city of Quebec, for cities and towns of a population of 30,000 and over, for cities and towns of from 5,000 to 10,000 and for towns and villages of still lesser size. For each of these categories a different cost schedule will have to be arranged.

Only a woman member of the commission will be able to give service in making estimates which will satisfy her employed sisters, it is felt, and a number of organizations have appealed to the Government to increase the Board to fill this need.

As yet the Cabinet has not given a decision in the matter. An alternative plan sponsored by the Commission, is the calling together of a number of women's organizations qualified to give an opinion and from their findings draw up a schedule which can be used as a basis for a fair wage, for the Province of Quebec has not compiled statistics which would be helpful in this regard.

The problem which remains to be solved is not just the solution of the simple questions, "How much should a hat cost?" "How many frocks does the working-girl require," but it leads to the settlement of such fine points as "Are paint and powder luxuries or necessities?" "Is one pair of silk stockings an extravagance?" It is the settlement of the fine line which separates need from vanity that has halted the work of Gus Francq and his colleagues.

Work For Stenographers

There are lots of places for stenographers, open in September, for it is during this month that many office changes are made. Some stenographers do not return to their employers after their August vacations, others have already notified their employers they will leave by the end of this month.

One of these good paying positions can be yours for the asking, if you ask in the right place and in the right way and at the right time.

A Food that is Really ALL Nourishment

"These hot, sultry days are particularly hard on children," writes a mother. "It is so hard to get suitable food for their fickle appetites and something that will supply all the nourishment they require."

"I was so perplexed that I took my problem to our family doctor. He recommended JOURNET'S FOOD WITH VITAMINES for our three year old Teddy."

"I have found through actual experience that this food is really concentrated nourishment. No matter how little Teddy eats, these hot days, he keeps vivacious, good humored and healthy on his three glasses of JOURNET'S FOOD every day. I dissolve a teaspoonful of the powder in a glass of milk and rest contented that when he drinks that, he has had the full nourishment of a healthy meal—and he looks it.

If your grocer or druggist cannot supply you immediately, write us, giving his name. We will send you a liberal sample free.

Extra Salespeople and Enlarged Selling Space in Fourth Floor Annex, for Convenient, Comfortable Selection

There are Many things to commend Oriental Rugs

In the first place they are probably the most lasting of all floor coverings.

There is possibly no other single article of furnishing which can so completely transform a room—which can so endow it with distinction.

Their loveliness never wanes. Indeed they seem to grow in beauty, and their patterns have an endless fascination. They afford one the opportunity of perfectly expressing one's good taste, and imbue one with a pardonable pride of possession.

In this group are many specimens of rare beauty, examples of Eastern handicraft —a sheer delight to the senses.

Traditional motifs older than the days of Haroun—living color—the flaming gold of Orient suns—the superb blue of Orient skies—the pure greens of fig tree and palm—the warmth—the glitter, the shadow, the chiaroscura of mosque, bazaar and caravan.

Whether you are a connoisseur who wishes to add to your collection, or whether you are just starting out on this interesting pursuit, you will find many rugs which will intrigue you as much by their moderate prices as by their beauty.
