

World News In Brief

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Truman yesterday asked Congress to appropriate $400,000,000 for rehabilitation and relief of sufferers from recent floods in Kansas, Missouri and nearby areas.

Berlin, Aug. 21.—(AP)—An armed anti-communist partisan movement is spreading in Russian-controlled Poland, a young Polish refugee said here yesterday. Josef Kowalski, 19, was presented at a press conference in west Berlin by the anti-communist congress for cultural freedom.

London, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Britain is preparing to release $25,000,000 of Egypt's blocked sterling balance in the next month or two in an attempt to ease the tension between the two countries, official sources reported yesterday. The release will include $14,000,000 which the Cairo government will be free to convert into dollars.

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 21.—(Reuters)—Immigration officials today confiscated the passport of the communist general-president of the Australian railways union, J. J. Brown, when he arrived by air from a European trip which took him behind the Iron Curtain. While abroad Brown attended the conference of the world federation of trade unions and later visited Moscow.

Tokyo, Aug. 21.—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida will fly to San Francisco Aug. 30 to attend the Japanese peace conference. About 70 Japanese reporters, radio men and cameramen will be covering the proceedings.

United Nations, N.Y., Aug. 21.—(Reuters)—The meeting of the United Nations security council scheduled for today to decide on the Suez canal blockade dispute has been postponed until next Monday. The postponement came after negotiations yesterday among various members of the council.

London, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Constant Lambert, 45, British composer, conductor and critic, died today.

Lambert who sometimes conducted at London's promenade concerts, was musical director of Sadler's Wells Ballet for many years. He wrote a ballet for Diaghilev at the age of 20.

Last month he conducted the first performance of his own ballet "Tiresias" before an audience which included the Queen, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

Joliet, Que., Aug. 21.—(AP)—A coroner's jury last night found Jean Pelletier, 52-year-old farmer from nearby St. Felix de Valois, criminally responsible for the shotgun slaying of his 72-year-old neighbor, John Lewery.

Crown prosecutor George Sylvestre said following the inquest that Pelletier will be arraigned here today on a charge of murder.

Canadians' Trial Indicates Pressure On Unruly Troops

New York, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Correspondent George Barrett says in a dispatch from Seoul to the New York Times today that many Koreans are watching the case of three Canadian soldiers charged with murdering a Korean as possible proof that United Nations authorities have decided to crack down on unruly troops.

The Times correspondent says the Canadians, members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, are coming up for court martial in Seoul next week in connection with the murder of three Koreans and wounding of another as the aftermath of an attempted rape. The Times writer said two British soldiers also were involved in the murders.

Writes Barrett: "One of those killed was a Korean army lieutenant, Yi Chang Sun, and it is his murder specifically for which the three accused are to be tried. "Five other Canadians are said to be involved in the crime, but to a much lesser extent, and these already have been punished. The two Britons also have been punished but the three Canadians now up for trial apparently will be the real test."

Barrett in his dispatch lauds "the forthright and determined decision" of Canadian authorities to track down the criminals. He says most observers view it "as a sign that a badly-needed campaign to shock some United Nations troops into awareness of basic human decency has begun."

North Korean-Chinese Split Is Reported As Conferences At Kaesong Are Continued

Japanese Tells About Espionage

Washington, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Senate investigators promised today to explore fully a story that a communist spy ring with some Americans in its ranks assured Moscow before Pearl Harbor that Japan would attack the United States.

Mitsusada Yoshikawa, director of special investigations for the Japanese attorney general, told the story yesterday in sworn testimony before the Senate subcommittee on internal security.

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep.-Mich.), a member, and Robert Morris, counsel to the group, said the entire matter will be gone into deeply at further hearings.

The case of the fabulous spy ring first was made public in February, 1949, when the U.S. army released a 32,000-word report on the operation. Parts of that report were deleted for security reasons. It was written under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's direction. Almost immediately after making the report public the army withdrew it.

Yoshikawa said Richard Sorge, whom he sent to the gallows as head of the spy ring, named the late writer Agnes Smedley as a U.S. member of the ring. But Sorge never gave the names of a "young officer connected with the American consulate at Shanghai."

The witness said Sorge confessed that his mission was (1) to spy on Japanese and German war plans, and (2) to induce Japan to strike at the U.S., Britain, France and the Netherlands, but not at Russia, if she struck at all.

He said the ring thus not only had advance information of Japanese plans, but had helped to shape them through the exercise of influence on "brain trusters" in the Japanese government.

The lean, spectacled witness, speaking in Japanese through an interpreter, described the capture of Sorge in November, 1951, a few weeks before Pearl Harbor.

He said Sorge "felt relieved that he had just about completed all the work he had set out to do" before his arrest.

Hoshikawa said he saw a message relayed to Moscow in 1941 by Sorge advising that a Japanese mobilization then under full steam meant an attack aimed "to the south."

He said the message did not specifically mention an attack on the United States or Pearl Harbor, but that any power would know such a move "would necessitate going to war with America."

He said that Sorge, although a Russian agent and a communist, also was a member of the Nazi party so fully trusted by German ambassador Eugene Ott that Ott denounced his arrest.

Details of the crime of which the Canadians are accused are particularly shocking. The greatest ill effect from this crime is its seizure by the Koreans as a symbol of the widespread contempt held by many United Nations soldiers for the people of this country, a contempt emphasized every day in the way the Koreans are being pushed around."

Here is how Barrett describes the incident: "Those up for trial are accused of invading of Korean home last March 17 and attempting to attack two women occupants while members of the criminal party restrained the men of the house who tried to protect the women. Finally the Korean men succeeded in freeing themselves and throwing out the troops."

"As the Canadians and two British soldiers withdrew from the house, somebody threw a hand grenade inside and killed three of the occupants and injured a fourth."

Barrett says Canadian investigators roamed the fringes while he gathered evidence. They discovered a grenade handle with the fingerprints of one of the accused on it. Also, reports the Times correspondent, a 45-calibre bullet was dug out of the clay wall of the Korean hut and was found to fit the gun of one of the accused.

U. N. Spokesman Says Two Communist Forces May Be Getting Instructions From Different Sources.

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Korean war armistice sub-committee met in its fifth round table discussion today as a United Nations spokesman hinted the Chinese and North Koreans do not see eye-to-eye.

The four sub-committee members—two allied, two communist—devoted more than half their two-hour-and-four-minute session at Kaesong to map reading in an effort to draw a military dividing line for a cease-fire.

There was no report on results. They scheduled another meeting for 11 a.m. Wednesday, (9 P.M. EDT Tuesday.)

Meanwhile, Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior U. N. delegate, rejected communist charges that U. N. forces ambushed a Chinese patrol in the neutrality zone, killing one Red soldier and wounding another.

Joy informed North Korean Lt.-Gen. Nam Il, his communist counterpart: "Your message of Aug. 19 is hereby acknowledged. I will reply fully to you when I have received a complete report of the investigation of the alleged violation of the neutral zone on Aug. 19. A preliminary report does not substantiate the charges you have made."

The official U.N. stand is that "partisans from either side" North Koreans or South Koreans "may have carried out the attack in an effort to disrupt peace talks."

The possibility of a growing divergence of views between Chinese and North Korean peace negotiators was raised by Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. command spokesman.

Nuckols said he believed the Chinese were receiving instructions from Peiping, capital of Red China, while some directives to the North Koreans were handed down from "the communist hierarchy."

His use of "communist hierarchy" was interpreted to mean communists in Moscow.

Nuckols made this statement only 24 hours after he reported the U.N. authorities in Korea felt the ambush of the Chinese patrol was the mark of the North Koreans trying to sabotage armistice talks and make the Chinese fight the war for them.

Coincidental with Nuckols' comments, members of the U.N. motor convoy to Kaesong Tuesday noted for the first time several scores of men of military age wearing the white garments of farmers.

Heretofore peasants seen working in the fields along the way were mostly old men and women.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert B. Tuckman reported these men Tuesday were healthy young men wearing leather military belts and blue sneakers, as those worn by soldiers in the North Korean army.

Since truce talks started July 10, Chinese delegates have appeared anxious to end the shooting and less interested than the North Koreans in where a buffer zone is created.

Location of the buffer zone is the current stumbling block. The sub-committee, consisting of two U.N., one Chinese and one North Korean delegates, is trying to find an acceptable solution. The Reds want it on the 38th parallel; the U.N. on present battle lines.

Gen. Nuckols, talking to correspondents Tuesday, pictured Gen. Nam Il as the spokesman for the "communist hierarchy" at Kaesong negotiations. He said he believed Nam Il is a Soviet citizen.

On the other hand, Nuckols said, the two Chinese generals on the five-man Red delegation "show traces of national patriotism to China."

"China," he added, "has greater powers of resisting the pressures of the communist hierarchy than the North Koreans."

Correspondent Tuckman reported the four delegates talked for about an hour at the flower-decked round table around which they normally meet. Then they moved to another table where they stood for more than an hour looking at a map and discussing it.

As the delegates talked, the thunder of artillery could be heard in Kaesong.

The U.N. command reported that Nam Il charged Monday that U.N. aircraft for the third time attacked white-flagged communist jeeps attached to the armistice delegation.

Nam Il asserted allied planes "set fire and entirely destroyed a liaison jeep" of the Red delegation. He said it was marked "with white flag and white cloth." It was travelling between Kaesong and Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Nam Il charged this was a violation of the neutrality agreement.

The U.N. command has insisted that the Reds must give prior notification of the time of departure and the proposed route of travel to be immune from air attack.

Canadians Spurn Chinese Invitation To Hold Party Between Battle Lines

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
West-Central Section, Korea, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A group of Chinese today invited a Canadian patrol to call a cease-fire during the Kaesong peace talks and hold a party between the battle lines.

The invitation was not accepted. The patrolling Canadians, to whom a Korean woman civilian delivered a letter from eight Chinese infantrymen, were ordered not to let the message interfere with their assignment.

The letter, written on plain paper and sent in a glazed yellow envelope, was sent back to headquarters. It surprised high army officers.

(The Associated Press reported yesterday that the Chinese have sent other notes in similar vein to United Nations troops. It said possibly the notes are aimed at breaking down morale and leading U.N. troops to relax their vigilance.)

The message suggested that casualties could be avoided on both sides by ceasing hostilities pending completion of the Kaesong talks which have been going on for a month.

It told the Canadians that, despite the peace talks, "still you are forced to be here carrying on this war, to do every day such senseless bloody affairs." Every moment, it said, "you have a danger of getting killed if unfortunate, then you never be able to see your loved ones."

"We are willing to meet you so that there may be something good for peaceful settlement of Korean problems and make the obstinacy of the peace talks slow down. Before the peace talks can be continuation and meantime casualties on both sides may be eradicated while the peace talks go on."

The letter proposed that a white flag indicate that one side was willing to talk to the other. It asked that the U.N. reply be sent by a Korean civilian with a safe conduct guarantee and in the "leave message box," a reference taken to mean that the Chinese wanted the answer enclosed in their original yellow glazed envelope.

The Chinese suggestion concerning a party read: "We scheduled a time for a temporary ceasefire and shall see a spot in the middle of both positions for holding a party. Those who want to join us will be welcome. All delegates all the same (presumably delegations of equal rank and number). Both sides should guarantee delegates security on basis of military honor, ceasing all military activities."

Signed by battalion commander Ching Che of the Chinese people's volunteer forces and by Don Quie on behalf of a "delegation of the privates," the note ended.

"Hail the immediate realization for battlefield friendly entertainment."

Battle For Ridges Is Continuing

U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 21.—(AP)—South Korean troops attacked strongly held ridges north of Yanggu behind a curtain of artillery fire today, but made little headway.

Frontline dispatches and official announcements reported the South Korean seized the ridge of one hill but were swept off two others by Red counterattacks.

Associated Press correspondent George McArthur reported from the east-central front that battles raged throughout the day north-east and northwest of Yanggu.

On the Far Eastern flank, McArthur said, attacking South Korean troops secured north-south ridges near Kamsong except for one hill recaptured by a communist counterattack Tuesday.

Large numbers of communist troops were reported massing a few miles north of the battlefield above Yanggu. McArthur said there were reports the Reds have committed some of their reserve strength to defend the craggy ridges.

Only light contacts were reported along the rest of the Korean front. South of the Kaesong neutral zone on the western front, Reds hurled 100 rounds of mortar fire at a U.N. patrol.

The only significant action was above Yanggu, eight miles north.

Britons Around World Greet Margaret On 21st Birthday

BY DONALD SCHWIND
Balmoral, Scotland, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Princess Margaret, vivacious sweetheart of the British Commonwealth, came of age today. Her 21st birthday was greeted by Britons everywhere but the celebration at Balmoral castle was a quiet family affair.

Tourists and local folk made it a festive occasion as friends of the Royal family—including some who may be eligible for Margaret's hand—came to take part in the birthday party.

Presentations, telegrams and letters showered on the Princess.

Grandmother Queen Mary phoned from Sandringham where she is holidaying. Court circles reported her gift to the Princess was a diamond tiara.

The King and Queen gave another pearl for a matched string. Princesses Margaret and Elizabeth each got a pearl a year from their parents.

The King and Queen also gave Margaret a pair of turquoise bracelets and later this week they will give her a sporty green car.

There were presents also from two young men who are Margaret's particular friends and who are guests at the castle, 24-year-old William (Billy) Wallace, polo-playing stepson of American writer Herbert Agar, and the 27-year-old Earl of Dalketh. Margaret hasn't told yet what the young men chose for her.

The day was a mixture of sunshine and fleecy clouds. Shortly before noon the Princess and several guests went out on the moors where the King and his party were shooting grouse.

On the program of Margaret's big day were a picnic, a late afternoon tea and a house party, at which the Princess will wear the white and gold evening gown on which dressmakers worked six months.

There will be no booming of guns throughout the Commonwealth since Margaret is only fourth in line to the throne.

U.S. Defence Chiefs Visit Dominion

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A series of visits from top American defence leaders is underlining one of the most remarkable military alliances in history: the alliance between Canada and the U.S. for the joint defence of North America and now of the free world.

Latest is today's visit by U.S. army secretary Frank Pace and army chief Gen. Joseph Lawton (Lightning Joe) Collins.

Saturday, defence secretary George Marshall will fly up from Toronto for a day but mainly to take it easy. Two weeks ago, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, was here for talks and fishing.

Both Canadian and U.S. sources here say there is not a single major issue clouding military relations between the two countries although there are plenty of minor headaches in working out the details of broad decisions.

This harmony is all the more remarkable because it is doubtful if history has ever seen two countries working in closer or more constant co-operation.

The original alliance was forged 10 years ago, during the war, and extended into peacetime. Its aim was the joint defence of this continent.

In the last two years, a larger concept—the joint defence of the North Atlantic area by 12 nations—has developed and both countries are backing it heavily. But the original alliance remains.

Any enemy who attacks this continent might well find himself fighting Americans on or over Canadian soil and vice versa.

The plans are already laid for joint defence. Each country knows broadly what is expected of it. Each has men serving with the armed forces of the other to learn how they do things.

This alliance has done some major works, not always without friction, in the last five years. Examples:

A year ago the U.S. was irked over Canada's small contribution in Korea. Canada has since launched a considerable twilight mobilization, become the second largest contributor in Korea.

The absorption of Newfoundland raised problems about three U.S. military bases there. These have been solved by compromise with neither country getting all it originally wanted.

Canada has been beefing about relative scarcity of U.S. arms orders here. The U.S. has given the green light for Canada to go after a lot more.

A joint radar network is being built. Some U.S. stations will be built here.

The Canadian army is shifting to U.S. arms. The U.S.-British split over a rifle has seen Canada step forward as a rather candid referee.

The R.C.A.F. has adopted two types of U.S. planes. The U.S. is buying at least one Canadian type.

Even on a per capita basis, Canada's forces are considerably smaller than those of the U.S. but if that is worrying Washington there is no sign of it.

PRINCESS MARGARET

Grey old Balmoral castle will be the scene of a Royal birthday ball over which the King will preside. But outside the walls of the famed old Royal hunting lodge, there will be toasting and flinging of highland kilts.

Scotsmen feel they have a special claim on Margaret because she was born in Balmoral castle.

The Royal birthday sparks new speculation as to when Margaret will announce her betrothal. Legend has it that girls born at Balmoral castle marry, or at least become engaged, by the time they are 20.

Coming of age for this blithe-spirited Princess means acceptance of new Royal responsibilities. She gets the right to vote—a privilege she probably never will use, since the Royal family traditionally does not take sides in politics.

Instead of an allowance out of her father's pocket, Margaret gets her own income of $6,000 a year. And she becomes qualified to be a member of a council of state which would take over sovereign duties if her father became incapacitated or left the country.

The watchmen of British tradition also will expect her to drop some of the quick-witted impishness which has enlivened family

DALE ROBERTSON DRAWL TO STAY, AT LEAST FOR 'LYDIA BAILEY'

Hollywood—I'm a-shivering in my boots over what's bound to happen to the new crop of burning-eyed lads around Screenland now that I've talked to Dale Robertson.

Dale's six-foot package of husky manhood with the Terry Curtis-John Derek sweep of black hair who's been strapped into the space ship over at 20th Century-Fox for the excursion known as "Destination Stardom."

They're going to jet him up to those wild astral areas as the star of "Lydia Bailey" without bothering to comb the black-eyed peas and green corn pudding of Oklahoma out of his voice.

The lads who flash the white teeth, the cleft chins and the chiseled nostrils just aren't gonna take it lying down.

Instead of using the Ronald Colman technique in front of a tough casting director, some lad with a bloodhound sense of which way the wind's blowing will stick his thumb in his belt and say:

"Pardner, I gotta hankering to play opposite that there filly name of Joan Crawford."

Drug Store Cowboys And around Schwab's drug store and Hamburger Hamlet on Sunset Strip, the would-be heart-flutterers will be talking about the smell of purple sage and spinning ropes.

Come to think of it, I had to restrain myself from rushing over to Warners to test for "The Life of Will Rogers" after being exposed to Dale's pure Oklahoma lingo.

"Folks are telling me to get rid of my accent," Dale grinned. "Just about everybody but that man up there, who's smart enough to know what he wants."

He pointed to a picture of Darryl F. Zanuck in a mural of flying cameras, curlicues of celluloid and swaying microphones. "The front office told me to just be myself and talk natural."

"That's what they bought and that's what they want, by heck. A lot of fellows around this town are six feet tall and have gray eyes and dark hair. But I'm the only one that talks like me."

Dale said he'd never thought of himself as a movie actor and wasn't too sure about it now.

Not that his acting career had been handed to him on a silver platter.

The first notion he had that anybody would even consider putting down the shins on his nose with a powder puff was when he had a photograph taken in his army uniform by Hollywood lensman Amos Carr.

"He must have had the thing blown up and put it in his window or something," Dale snarled. "Anyhow I started getting letters from movie agents. When the Army decided that I was to get my discharge, I came back to Hollywood. It was four years before anything happened."

A test that he made at Fox—"I did a scene from 'Duel in the Sun'—turned out to be what Dale terms "pathetic."

"I wanted to do it in a western outfit and they insisted on modern dress. Look, when I put on a suit and tie nothing happens. Why, I never wear a tie. I'd as soon wear a noose around my neck."

Hits Big Time

It was after his click in Nat Holt's "Fighting Man of the Plains" and "Caribou Trail" that Fox finally signed him up and began to groom him for the big time in "Two Flags West," "Call Me Mister," "Take Care of My Little Girl" and "Golden Girl."

Now it's "Lydia Bailey," which may sound like a drawing room drama, but isn't "a good action movie," Dale said, "and I get the Hades beat out of me."

Dale's married to Jacqueline Wilson and can't be dragged to the big glitter affairs around Hollywood.

He explained it: "I hate to dress up, I hate parties, I hate society, so to speak. Take cocktail parties. They're the biggest waste of time that man has come up with yet."

His best friends are Chuck Robeson and Carroll Henry, movie stunt men, and Delman Blair, a studio grip.

"This," grinned Dale, "is my 400."

MASSAWIPPI

On Tuesday, September 11, in the afternoon there will be a meeting of the "Christmas Club" at the home of Mrs. Walter Pierce. Miss Sandra Downing from Laconia, N.H., is spending a few weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Schoolcraft.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. E. Corey were, Mr. I. Corey, of Booe and Mr. and Mrs. David Turner, of Val'dor, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Sutton, of Barnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shipway and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brown and Joan and Robbie from Beebe, Vt., accompanied Miss Mae Bean, of Derby Line, Vt., to Howland, Me., where they were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Sweet.

KNOWLTON LANDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Fryer, Miss Mary Fryer and Master Billy Fryer have returned to Drummondville after spending two weeks here guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Jones.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Keith have returned to Ottawa after being guests of Col. and Mrs. O. B. Rexford, at "Rockledge."

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Munro and daughter, Betsy, are at their cottage again after spending a week at their home in Boston.

Miss Lois and Gale Hickey, of Boston, are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hickey.

Mr. L. P. Knowlton, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Knowlton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Tibbitts, and attended the Waterloo Fair. They were accompanied home by Mrs. A. Davidson and grandsons, Peter and John Davidson, of Davidson Hill.

The Hon. D. C. Abbott, Mrs. Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McKindsey spent a day in Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cota, of Mansonville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knowlton.

August Meeting Of Women's Institute Held At Bury

Bury, Aug. 21 — Bury Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Tailon for their August session, and entertained members of Scottstown W.I. Mrs. Eric Fisher, president, welcomed the guests.

Business included a report by Mrs. E. A. Stokes of the recent one-day round-trip to Quebec, sponsored by Bury W.I. and enjoyed by thirty-five from Brookbury, Canterbury, Scottstown and Bury. Highlights of the excursion were the cordial welcome extended by the Honorable J. A. Duplessis, Premier of Quebec, at the Parliament buildings; lunch at the Chateau Frontenac; as guests of the Honorable C. D. French, Minister of Mines; tour of historic points of interest under guidance of Mr. Wood, Quebec Department of Education. The journey was made in a Provincial Transport bus.

Communion Breakfast Held At Derby Line

Derby Line, Vt., Aug. 21 — At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, August 12, following the 8 o'clock mass at St. Edward's Church, Derby Line, twenty-seven members and guests of the Altar Society, gathered at Kelley's, Crystal Brook Farm, for breakfast.

Rev. Father Armand Fortin was a guest and also gave a brief address, thanking the members for their efforts on behalf of the parish, also asked them to take for their project this year the instruction of the fundamentals of our holy religion to neglected children in the home. Father Fortin also stated that in the near future our society will affiliate with the National Council of Catholic Women. Mrs. Gabrielle Paine and Miss Zelma Vigneau thanked Father Fortin for being the guest and for spiritual advice and help that he gave us so willingly. The new slate of officers were presented for the new year, as follows: Mrs. Gabrielle Paine, president; Mrs. Joseph Fortin, vice-president; Mrs. Ronald Young, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Francis Roderer, retiring president, and Mrs. Arthur Poulin, retiring vice-president, welcomed the guests as new members of the society. They also thanked the members for their splendid cooperation this past year. Mrs. Gabrielle Paine was chairman of the successful event.

Free Baseball Night For Youngsters Is Scheduled For Stadium Tomorrow

Ken Ross announced that 1,500 free tickets for the Optimist night baseball game Wednesday have already been distributed to stores and individuals to be given away to boys under 15 years of age, at the weekly Optimist Club meeting held last night in the LaSalle Hotel.

By this time the ticket supply may have been exhausted but youngsters without tickets will be admitted free anyway, the difference being that boys with tickets will be entitled to special treats such as receiving the autographs of all the players on the Sherbrooke team. In case of rain the "night" will be held Thursday.

Youngsters wishing tickets may get them at the following stores: Cyr and Allard garage, Belmont Street; Sherbrooke Motors, Minto Street; Betty's Snack Bar, 72 Wellington Street; Walter Blue and Co., King Street West; J. S. Mitchell's, Wellington North; Codere Ltd., Wellington North; Ivan Codere Shell Station, Wellington South and Depot; H. L. Blais, grocery, Short Street; Marcel Bernard grocery, King and Murray; Nadeau and Son Jewellers, seven King Street West; Leo Laliberte and Son tailors, 61 Wellington Street North; Don Clowery repair shop, 10 Bowen Street; Kossy Sweets restaurant, Montreal Street; N. Scheib, 43 King Street West.

The game, which is the last regular league appearance of the league-leading Drummondville Cubs, will have special features including a slugging contest before the game between the best hitters of the Cubs and the Sherbrooke team and the music of the Sherbrooke Harmony Band who will stage a short parade downtown before driving up to provide selections at the stadium. Fatal Accident At North Hatley

Shown above is the wreckage of the car in which O. John Gorman was killed last night at North Hatley. Gorman's vehicle was struck by a train, then dragged 60 feet and toppled into Lake Massawippi.

Level Crossing Crash At North Hatley Takes Life Of O. John Gorman, 40

O. John Gorman, 40, of Ottawa, was killed almost instantly last night when his car was struck by the south-bound Quebec Central Railway train at the level crossing in North Hatley.

Headed towards Magog after leaving the Pleasant View Hotel, Gorman was a little more than half way across the track near the bridge in the village when his car was struck.

The 1951 Chevrolet was dragged 60 feet along the lake side of the track and then toppled upside down into the water. From the extent of Gorman's injuries it was apparent he was dead before the car went into the lake.

Mayor Clifford Reed, of North Hatley, who had crossed the bridge in the other direction just a few minutes before the accident saw the car struck. He said Gorman was travelling very slowly. He apparently either failed to hear the approaching train or misjudged its distance from the crossing.

Mr. Reed notified Provincial Police as soon as the crash occurred and residents of North Hatley quickly gathered to lend whatever aid was possible. John MacKay's jeep, Gordon Hawes' truck and tackle belonging to Vernon Packard were used to raise the badly-smashed car from the water.

Gorman's body was brought to Sherbrooke by Johnston's ambulance and the remains are resting at Johnston's Funeral Chapel, Melbourne Street, where the inquest was opened this morning for identification. Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, said he expected the inquest will continue this evening or tomorrow.

A chinchilla farm representative, Gorman was well-known throughout the Eastern Townships district.

Provincial Police traffic officer Rosario Bergeron and Sgt. Detective Charles Perreault investigated the accident.

Q.C.R. officials in Sherbrooke said this morning that there was only slight damage to the pilot, or "cow-catcher," of the engine of the train.

Scouts Will Usher At Local Fair

The Boy Scouts of the Sherbrooke District will again usher on the grand stand during the Sherbrooke Fair, August 25th to September 1st. Through their president, Maurice Parsons, the local Scout Association have accepted the new propositions made by the Exhibition authorities and have also made suggestions of their own which were found acceptable by the grand stand committee.

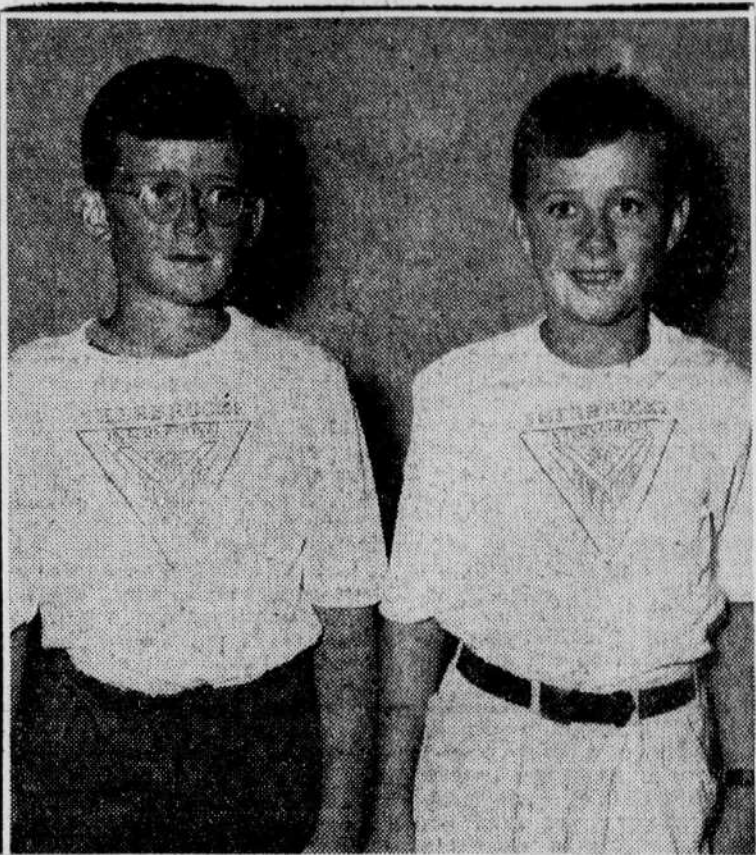

It is expected that Scouts from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, East Angus, Cookshire and other towns affiliated with the local Scout Association will turn out in large numbers and at least sixty Scouts will be present at each performance on the grand stand directing people to their seats in quick order and preventing bottlenecks at each gate.

Arrangements are being made to give supper to each Scout attending the afternoon performance so that the boys will not have to go home. Bus fare will also be provided. Only Scouts in full uniform will be allowed to usher in order not to confuse the public.

This year an old custom will be followed when all Scouts will meet at the fair grounds on Friday evening at 7 o'clock and will be given their instructions and duties to perform during the week. Roll call will be taken each day at 1 o'clock and 7 o'clock and special prizes will be drawn amongst those having a 100 per cent attendance. This drawing will be held at the last performance. This is a new innovation and it is hoped that local merchants will co-operate.

The Scouts will be under the general directions of the local Scout Association president, Maurice Parsons, and the Scout Leaders. A meeting of the Scout Leaders will be held on Wednesday evening in the offices of the St. Patrick's Academy "Old Boys" West, above Rouillard's Florist shop, where final plans will be drawn up. All Scouts are asked to report at the fair grounds in front of the grand stand on Friday evening at 7 o'clock to be given their instructions and positions for the week. Good ushering improves a customer's disposition and helps him appreciate and enjoy more fully a grand performance such as will be presented this year.

Win Camp Awards

David Tector (left) of Asbestos and Alec Rogerson of Knowlton won "best camper" awards at the Y's Men's camp whose four-week season ended Saturday. Tector received the camp tomahawk, given to the best first year camper, and Rogerson won the Ed Bryant propeller as the best camper of the year. (Gerry Lemay photos)

Awards Are Presented As Y's Men's Camp Ends Its Successful Season

Alec Rogerson of Knowlton and David Tector of Asbestos received "best camper" awards when the four-week Y's Men's camp at Little Lake Magog came to an end last week.

At the closing ceremony, members of the staff and the campers were hosts to their neighbors at Shore Acres. Awards were made, names of crest winners were announced and a sprightly amateur hour was conducted, with most guests and campers participating.

Young Rogerson received the Ed Bryant propeller award for the best camper of the year. This award was made for the first time this year and the winner's name will be inscribed on a plaque which will be permanently fixed on the propeller, a relic of the last war.

David Tector was given the camp tomahawk, awarded to the best first year camper. Merit crests, given for outstanding camping qualities, went to 12 campers. They were John Perkins of Waterloo, Sydney Engler of Asbestos, Mike MacPherson of Sherbrooke, John Wall of Sherbrooke, David Audet of Lennoxville, Jeffrey Lucia of Waterloo, Raymond Clouthier of Foster, Ronald Pearl of Cowansville.

The boys were one of the best groups ever handled at the camp and the Y's Men are now looking ahead to bigger and better camps.

In 1941. The village of Drummondville West had 1,261 inhabitants on census day. Comparative figures for 1941 are unavailable as the community had not been incorporated at that time. Inverness had a population gain from 212 in 1941 to 276 in 1951.

Populations listed for other Eastern Townships villages, with the 1941 figures in brackets, were as follows: St. Germain de Grantham, 854 (not incorporated in 1941); St. Gerard, 594 (501); St. Ludger, 262 (255); St. Sylvester, 318 (295); Upton, 796 (735); Warwick, 2,079 (1,504); Wickham West, 344 (369), and Wottonville, 616 (476).

In a statement accompanying the preliminary report, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that the figures shown in this report are subject to revision. Changes due to circumstances such as the enumeration of individuals away from their normal place of residence and the enumeration of individuals in dwellings which were "closed" at the time of the census have yet to be made. Final figures will be released at a later date.

Council Will Study Tax Bill Revision

The revision and homologation of the special valuation roll covering business and personal taxes heads the list of items to come before the special session of the Sherbrooke City Council this evening.

As usual a substantial number of protests against the decision of the special valuation board were received before the time limit for the receipt of these protests closed last evening. In most cases these concern the taxes levied against concerns who own their own property although some individuals believe they are being treated unfairly in connection with the tenant tax.

These protests will be dealt with by the Council as a whole tonight and after they are disposed of the special valuation roll will be homologated.

Notice of the special meeting the second to be held this summer, states that committee reports will also be submitted for approval.

City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers, who started his annual vacation yesterday, will not be present at tonight's session.

Large Crowd Turned Out Yesterday For Opening Of Fair At Cookshire

By LOUIS CASSAR

Afternoon showers failed to put a serious cramp in activities at the Cookshire Fair yesterday with only one harness race washed out and the remainder of the program going on as scheduled.

Large crowds were on hand for the afternoon events which included judging of swine, poultry, sheep and exhibits in the main building. Calf club competitions were also held with Gaston Marcoux, federal livestock fieldman, in charge. All calf club members were entertained at a special banquet yesterday evening, when prizes were awarded to the winners.

The first grandstand performance was presented yesterday afternoon before a near capacity crowd. All the acts offered are of the highest professional caliber.

Rain forced the cancellation of one of the two harness races scheduled for the afternoon. A highlight of today's program, which includes two harness races and an afternoon and evening grandstand performance, is a big dance at the Victoria Hall in Cookshire tonight with Tj-Blanc Richard and his orchestra on hand. The dance has been sponsored by Branch No. 139 of the Canadian Legion.

Sunday afternoon's harness results follow:

Population Increases In Townships

Substantial increases in population for many Eastern Townships municipalities over the past ten years are reported in the preliminary census figures issued in connection with the 1951 decennial census.

The only city listed in the first report is Drummondville which showed a total of 14,351 residents in 1951 as compared with 10,555 persons in 1941.

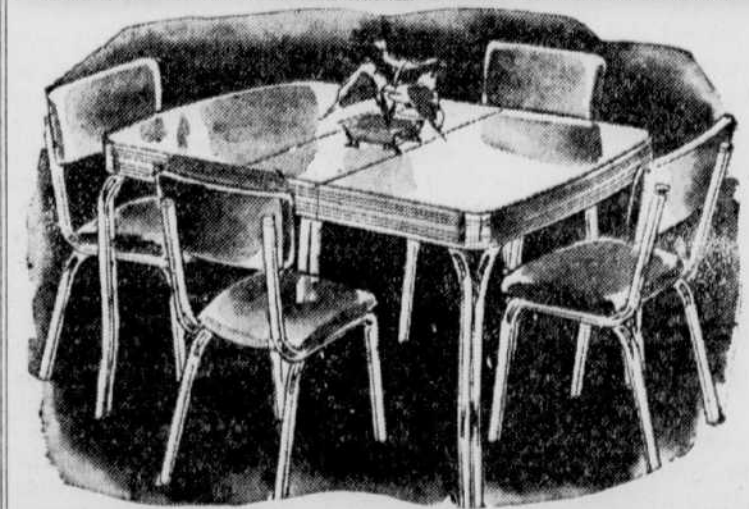

Maple Grove, in Megantic County, is the only Eastern Townships community listed as a town for which preliminary figures are provided. Its 1951 population is placed at 841 as compared with 378 in 1941.

In the village station Ayer's Cliff is credited with 688 residents, a gain of 223 over the figures of 465

Dale Mitchell Big Cog In Indians' Pennant Drive; Yanks Split With Tigers As Cleveland Moves Ahead

Dale Mitchell, a bench warmer every spring, is one of the leading lights in Cleveland's stirring drive for the American League pennant. Mitchell, who has never failed to hit .300 in the big top, sits on the sidelines down south while rookies battle for his left-field job.

But sure enough, before the season is well under way, Mitchell is the regular left-fielder.

This year Mitchell got off to a horrible start after all aspirants for his berth failed but he started to click and so did the Indians.

Mitchell reached the 300 mark in batting last night as the Indians opened a crucial 18-game home stand by beating Washington Senators 5-3.

The triumph enabled the Tribe to pull a game ahead of the runner-up New York Yankees who divided a two-night doubleheader with the Tigers in Detroit.

The Tigers won the opener 6-3, but the Yanks grabbed the night game 12-5.

Mitchell opened the Indian half of the first inning with his ninth homer, only two shy of his output in four previous complete big league seasons.

He ended Al Rosen boomed his 22nd homer with a mate on the Indians never were headed. Home runs by Bob Avila in the third and

Joey Maxim Predicts He'll Handle Bob Murphy With Ease In Tomorrow's Light-Heavyweight Title Fixture

Summit, N.J., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim says he's not worried over the title jinx that has hexed five boxing kings this year.

"Jinxes ain't going to help anybody in there Wednesday," said Maxim, who defends his crown against Irish Bobby Murphy in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. "I'm more concerned about some of the rough stuff he likes to pull."

"If he pulls any dirty stuff on me, I'll give him some of it right back," said Joey.

Maxim has been fighting pro close to 12 years and knows all the tricks.

"It is all or nothing with me," said Maxim. "I'm on the spot and I'll give it right back to him. Thumbs, if necessary."

Joey didn't go into the details of his complaint but Manager Jack (Doc) Kearns was more specific.

"I don't want to bring up low punches," said Kearns, "but Murphy hits a few low ones. Let's have a fight instead of a wrestling match. If Murphy fights according to the rules, Maxim will beat him easy. He'll beat him anyway. Probably will knock him out at that."

of the 38th parallel. A U.N. briefing officer said two attacking battalions of Red drove South Korean forces off one hill. Two other communist battalions won the top of the second.

Other Reds attacks U.N. lines north of Kunhwa on the east-central front for the second straight day. The attack again was repulsed. Two Red companies were involved.

The Red attack northwest of Yangu attempts to break up a U.N. attack launched last week. The allied briefing officer described Red resistance as "extremely heavy." Red forces apparently received reinforcements.

Further east in the battle of the hills near the coast town of Kangson, communists fought stubbornly to hold two hills against attacking Reds.

Air forces concentrated on blasting the Reds' battered western Korea rail transportation system Tuesday, a U.N. communique said.

A North Korean communique said Red anti-aircraft batteries shot down five American planes which it accused of moving "barbarous bombardments" on "peaceful towns and villages." Tuesday's U.N. air communique made no mention of losses.

St. Louis Still Talking About Bill Veeck's Acts

St. Louis, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The town is still talking about St. Louis Browns' midge and club owner Bill Veeck promised yesterday that there would be more surprises.

"And why not?" Veeck asked. "Didn't every one enjoy the show we gave 'em Sunday?"

Highlight of the show was the use of a midge, Ed Gaedel of Chicago, as a pinchhitter in the second game of a doubleheader against Detroit Tigers.

Gaedel, three feet, seven inches tall, was signed to a contract Saturday. He appeared for rookie Frank Saucier in the first inning of the nightcap.

"Oh, I had some squawks from the league on that, but why the heck?" Veeck said. He didn't elaborate on the squawks.

"When we go to Boston and play in that tricky little park the Red Sox bring out their giants like Ted Williams and Vern Stephens and the rest of 'em, and those guys beat our brains out. Why can't we offset them with a little strategy?"

Gaedel returned to his Chicago home today. "Does that mean that he's through for the Browns?" Veeck was asked.

"Nope," he said, "we just gave him the day off on the open date."

The midge stunt man didn't swing at the ball, but it probably would have been a mistake—he was using a midge bat."

George Kell Takes Over A.L. Batting Honors

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Detroit's George Kell took over the American League batting leadership last week by a slim two-point edge over Orestes Minofo of Chicago White Sox.

Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, who a week ago was only eight points behind the leading Minofo, was ousted from the list of top 10 hitters after computation of averages through games of Sunday.

Kell, who ranked third a week ago with .331, improved his average to .339. This gave him the lead over Minofo with .337.

Ted Williams of Boston, who took over the home-run leadership from Gus Zernial of Philadelphia, stood third among the 10 best hitters with 325. Gil Coan, Washington, was fourth with 322. Larry Doyle, Cleveland, fifth 313; Bob Avila, Cleveland, sixth, 309; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, seventh, 307.

Bill Goodman, Boston, and Hank Majeski, Philadelphia, tied for eighth, 304, and Nelson Fox, Chicago, 10th, 303.

Williams added three home runs during the week to make his total 26 and increased his lead in the runs-batted-in department to nine over Zernial. Williams' total R.B.I.'s is 107.

Minofo has the most runs, 95; the most triples, 13, and is tied with his teammate, Jim Busby, for most stolen bases, 22.

Dom DiMaggio has the most hits, 153, and Irv Noren of Washington the most doubles, 31.

Tom Morgan of New York and Ellis Kinder of Boston took a tie for the pitching percentage leadership with .800 averages on eight victories and two defeats. Vic Raschi of New York continued to lead in strikeouts, 125.

Twenty Four Are Killed In Crashes

Fort Dix, N.J., Aug. 21.—(AP)—A flame-enveloped jet plane—losing fiery death as it fought a losing battle for altitude—plowed into a group of soldiers yesterday. Thirteen men were burned to death. Of the 20 injured, one died today.

Two of the victims were in the plane, a T-33 air force trainer that had taken off only moments before from nearby McGuire air base.

The dead were part of a 54-man army detail that had just finished learning how to lay communications lines in a belt of scrub pines at the edge of the base.

Lieut. Bertram Brinley, Fort Dix public information officer, said a blazing wing-fuel tank, apparently jammed loose by trees, dropped onto the truck, turning it and its passengers into flaming torches.

Bombay, Aug. 21.—(Reuters)—An Indian air force plane crashed last night near Poona, India, killing 11 air force personnel, including five officers.

Fire Director Announces Two Promotions

Fire Chief W. P. Donahue has announced two promotions in the Department, both effective last week.

Lieut. Charles Audet is promoted to Captain and fireman Theo. Degraze rises to the rank of lieutenant.

Capt. Audet, 41, entered the service of the local police and fire departments in December, 1934, having been an electrician and radio technician before he entered municipal employ. In 1941, he was promoted to corporal and to sergeant approximately two years later.

When the police and fire departments were divided, Capt. Audet chose service with the latter and became a lieutenant in September, of 1946. He now, serves at No. five station in the west ward.

Lieut. Degraze is 36 years of age and entered departmental service more than 10 years ago. In 1942, he was transferred to No. 4 station in East Sherbrooke where he served as constable and fireman until the departments were divided and he chose the life of a fireman.

$3,000 Loss In Magog Fire

Magog, Aug. 21.—Damage estimated at $3,000 was caused yesterday by fire in a two-storey residence owned by Theophile Garneau and located at 829-831 John Street.

The fire started in a bedroom in Roger Renaud's apartment and was confined to two rooms. Other rooms, however, suffered from water damage.

Mr. Garneau's residence was unoccupied as the owner had moved to Montreal last week.

122nd Annual Bedford Fair Starts On Thursday

Early Entries Indicate Competition In All Departments Will Be Keen

A combination of fine exhibits and top-notch entertainment promises to make this year's annual Bedford Fair one of the best in the 122-year history of the Missisquoi County Agricultural Society. Oldest of the county fairs in the Townships, Bedford's exhibition starts on Thursday and continues for four days.

There will be something doing every day and they all add up to the best in entertainment and showmanship. Bedford has always been noted for the quality of its exhibits, being in the centre of fine farmland, and this year will be no exception. Brdaway shows will provide the midway, the "heart" of the entertainment part of the fair. Exciting rides, novel sideshows and many amusement booths will combine to provide fun for the whole family, from the toddlers to grandpa.

There will be harness races in front of the grandstand on Friday and Saturday. Friday's races will be for $500 and $300 purses and on Saturday the two races will be worth $300 each. With three heats in each race, the competition will be keen.

For the first time in the history of the Fair, judging will take place in the Arena, a fine new building that was opened officially during the winter. Judging will be on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

There will be a horse show in the Arena on three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday while the judging of beef cattle and demonstrations by the 4-H Clubs will be another feature of the opening night program.

Horses will be judged in front of the grandstand on Friday and Saturday. On Sunday, closing day of the Fair, there will be a baseball game in the afternoon.

For the horse races, there will be an electric gate, with Mr. Bombardier of St. John's the starter. Some of the best herds from the Brome and Iberville districts will be on exhibit at this fair and among the early entries were the following.

Ayrshires, Murph Chamberlain, of Venise en Quebec, Canadians, Mr. Eddin, of St. Armand, Jerseys, Mr. Monahan, of Clarenceville, Pierre Veillon, of Brome, Guernseys, Percy Fox, of Brome, beef cattle, Senator Adelard Godbout, of Freilighsburg.

In addition to cattle and other farm exhibits, there will be displays of the field and garden for the Bedford Horticultural Society's fair is held simultaneously.

Judges at the fair are: Horses, Mr. Stewart, of Lachute, beef cattle, Mr. Hamilton, of Macdonald College, Holsteins, Mr. Sansfacon, of St. John's, Ayrshires, Douglas Ness, of Howick, Jerseys, Mr. St. Pierre, of St. Hyacinthe, Canadians, Mr. Deschene, of St. Hyacinthe, poultry, Mr. Pigeon, of St. John's, farm products, H. S. Brown, of Ottawa.

Minister Farms On Barren Soil

Preston, Ont. — Norman O. Hipel, a former Ontario lands and forests minister, is busy these days practising what he used to preach.

Shortly after his retirement from active politics, the former member of the Hepburn Liberal cabinet bought a run-down 100-acre farm near this western Ontario town.

It was so hopeless a proposition that he got the land for only $25 an acre.

Now, through practice of the conservation rules he helped devise, he's reaping his harvest.

In one field last year, rye grew to a height of six feet before mid-June. This field had been abandoned because the topsoil was gone. Mr. Hipel dragged the topsoil back from the gullies and ponds at the base of the field.

This year it will produce three crops of clover.

Another barren area has produced a flourishing walnut grove that has a record of 100 per cent growth of the original seedlings. Another is covered with a heavy, healthy stand of mixed evergreens. Still another plot bears 400 of the original hardwoods planted there nine years ago.

Mr. Hipel credits his success to proper planting—near water, with a good leaf mulch—and the building of ponds wherever possible.

The proof of success is in Mr. Hipel's profession—he's now a prosperous lumber dealer.

Briton who married his family's housemaid in Quebec.

The court's judgment also had the effect of dismissing a petition for legitimacy by 50-year-old Philip Gatty of Preston, Lancashire, whose counsel said the decision would have a bearing on death duties paid on the estate of Gatty's mother.

Evidence in court brought out this story:

Frederick Gatty, whose family owned a flourishing dye works, emigrated to North America in the 1890's when the family objected to his engagement to Margaret Baker, a young housemaid employed at his home. Frederick sent a gift to Miss Baker and she used it to buy a ticket to Canada.

In November, 1895, the couple was married in Quebec. Two years later Gatty was granted a divorce in North Dakota on the ground of desertion and subsequently married Francis Irwin in Winnipeg. They had two children, including Philip Gatty who brought the petition of legitimacy.

The court ruled that Frederick Gatty had shown no intention of living in North Dakota and that by English law the decree of divorce could not be recognized.

Gospel Is Airborne In Hudson Bay Area

Hearst, Ont. — Some 300 members of a Toronto church supplied the wings which are carrying religious teaching and aid to Indians and Eskimos in northern Ontario.

In August of last year the members and pastor, Rev. H. J. McAllister, of the Pentecostal Church in Toronto raised $7,000 to purchase an airplane for Rev. John Spillenaar.

Mr. Spillenaar, of this town, a clergyman of the Pentecostal Church in Canada, has been known for many years for his missionary work in the northern part of the province, travelling by car, train and often by foot to outlying districts.

When "the flying minister" learned to fly in 1949 he was advised by Mr. McAllister that the church would supply him with a plane equipped with pontoons and wheels.

Other Pentecostal churches in Canada contributed the cost of his flying lessons, purchase of equipment and the construction of a hangar here. Total cost of the project was $10,000.

So far Mr. Spillenaar's single-engine monoplane, "Wings of the Gospel" has carried him far up the shore of Hudson Bay and across to the coast of Labrador to isolated trading posts and Eskimo and Indian villages. He has made several mercy flights, flying sick Indians to centres where medical help was available.

Mr. Spillenaar tells of a service conducted at a lonely Hudson Bay Company post at Eastmain on the east shore of James Bay:

"That night we gathered at the post and held a church service. There were 18 Eskimos in all. They knew some of the same hymns I did, so they sang in Eskimo, I in English. I read portions of the scriptures in English and Sam Crowe—the Eskimo Hudson Bay Company post manager—read in Eskimo and interpreted the message.

"The next day I was off and crossed the mountain range to the coast."

Fans Are Pals Of Umpire

Vancouver. — "Nobody shouts 'kill the umpire' which Ab Mortimer officials at baseball games.

The 62-year-old Negro, once a star player, has won the affection of fans and players alike. He was voted "most popular umpire in the Kingsway Baseball League." Vancouver's senior amateur body.

Fans and players alike know him by name and by sight. But more especially they know him by sound with his bull-throated call of balls and strikes.

He works five or six games a week and enjoys every minute. "If I wasn't working 'em, I'd be watching 'em," he says.

Born in New Westminster, Mortimer played with Hanbury Mills in the old Terminal League, hitting over .360 in every one of the four years in the league.

Then he played eight years with Kansas City Monarchs. Then came a stretch with the Canadian Forestry Corps in the second world war.

After that he came to Vancouver and began umpiring. And everybody in minor league baseball is glad that he did.

Needy Persons Get Foodstuffs Free Of Charge

Victoria, B.C. — Mrs. Barbara Green has set up a stall in city market where she distributes donated foodstuffs to needy persons, without charge.

She says the plan in which commercial firms are co-operating has proved successful, and she would like to see it operated in other cities.

Cards are distributed to eligible persons by the city welfare department and nearly all have been used to get supplies from Mrs. Green's stall.

In one day Boy Scouts delivered 15 hampers filled with fruit, meat, home baking, butter, eggs and other goods. About 600 pounds of tomatoes, 200 pounds of beans, crates of lettuce, watermelons, carrots, apples, cherries, potatoes and other produce were received.

Probe "Lost City" Of Ancient Tribes

Johannesburg. — An expedition is preparing here under Francois Balsam for another search for the "lost city" of the ancient Kalahari desert in northern Cape Province.

Balsam said that on his last trip to the region three years ago he believes he came within 30 miles or so of the ruins. These were first seen in 1885 and roughly located northeast of Kijiki.

J. D. Herholdt, one of three Johannesburg men who claim to have discovered the city, said that on their last visit to the ruins they saw two huge tombs cut out of the solid rock on a hillside, and in front of each tomb was a huge rock door covered with strange carvings.

The region between the Zambesi and the Orange rivers is not entirely desert, for at different times of the year large tracts are covered with grass and scrub providing cover for game. Natives of the region, including Bushmen and Balakharis, number about 50,000 and live chiefly by hunting.

put a "curse" on him is told by E. E. Jacobs of Verndale, Minn. Jacobs, a 62-year-old poultryman, gave his version of why the late James McQuaig built the "castle" on the shore of White Otter lake, about 80 miles northeast of Fort Frances.

Jacobs, who said he met McQuaig in 1912 and again in 1913, recalled that when McQuaig and a partner quarrelled while prospecting in northwestern Ontario the partner left with a taunt that McQuaig would die in an old shack.

"McQuaig accepted his partner's challenge as a curse," Jacobs went on, "and that is the reason he built his castle. He wanted to prove he would not die in a shack."

McQuaig, who raised 24-foot logs three storeys high without help, worked on the castle for five years. It burned down and he started again.

His only tools, Jacobs said, were a wooden block plane, a handsaw and some wood chisels made from flat files. Despite this he built a four-storey tower, a three-storey main section and a three-storey

CHICAGO BLACK HAWKS PAY $75,000 TO DETROIT RED WINGS

Revers Expelled From Q.S.H.L. For Raiding

Montreal, Aug. 21.—(P)—New York Revers, inactive member of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, last night were expelled from the league for non-payment of a $2,000 fine imposed for raiding players of other Q.S.H.L. clubs.

The expulsion came at a monthly meeting of the league during which a 60-game schedule was adopted and an inactive franchise was extended for one year at the request of Boston Olympics.

Revers have played the last two seasons in the Eastern United States Amateur Hockey League after dropping out of the Q.S.H.L. in which they played the 1947-48 and 1948-49 seasons.

The club was fined last year for signing Bill (Wiggie) Wylie, property of Quebec Aces at the time.

Englishman Sets 16 New Racing Records

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Aug. 21.—(P)—Lt. Col. A. T. (Goldie) Gardner thundered across these sun-baked salt flats in his tiny "Magic Midget" automobile yesterday to set 16 class-F American and International land speed records.

The 60-year-old Englishman registered 139.3 miles an hour in a one-hour run from a flying start. This was his best time, and one of 10 American records. It more than doubled the old standard of 66.04.

He set a one-hour International record of 137.4, topping the old record, set by a French car, of 119.01 M.P.H. His five other International marks ranged down to 127.8 for 50 kilometres.

Largest Cash Deal In History Of N. H. L. As Six Players Involved In Trade; Detroit To Get Youngster

Chicago, Aug. 21.—(P)—Chicago Black Hawks made a bid yesterday to rid themselves of the National Hockey League last-place stigma by pulling off the largest cash deal in N.H.L. history—$75,000 for six players.

The Hawks paid that sum to Detroit Red Wings for forwards Jim Peters, Jim McFadden, George Gee and Max McNab and defencemen Clare Martin and Clare Raglan. The Red Wings also are to acquire a young Black Hawk player to be named later.

It was the largest cash deal since Toronto paid Ottawa, now defunct, $35,000 for King Clancy in the 1930's.

The largest estimated deal was believed to be the one in which Toronto gave five players worth about $100,000 to Chicago for centre Max Bentley in 1947.

Johnny Gottselig, Chicago's coach, said the deal was designed to plug up the Hawks' leaky defence, a weakness which has plagued them for more than a decade.

Since 1938, when Chicago won its last Stanley Cup, the Hawks have been known as a high-scoring aggregation, but one which couldn't back check or body check well enough to prevent the opposition from scoring too.

As a result, they have wound up in last place four of the last five seasons, and last year, after a promising start, won only 13 games to land again in the cellar.

Black Jack Stewart plugged the Hawk defence well enough to help win nine of those games before Christmas, but he injured his spine and the Hawks sank to their former level. Stewart was acquired from the Wings just before the season started.

In addition to bolstering the Hawks, Gottselig thought that the Wings, among the league's best, would be weakened by the loss of Gee and Peters, stalwarts of the second line which relieved high scorers Gordy Howe, Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay so effectively.

"We should be strengthened offensively by 60 or 70 goals, which should make us a powerhouse," Gottselig said. "Martin and Raglan will bring our defensive line up to the rest of the league's."

Of the newcomers, Peters with 38 points is the top scorer. That would put the Verdun, Que., boy second only to veteran Roy Conacher, who had 50, in the Hawk scoring parade.

Martin, a native of Waterloo, Ont., spent the last two seasons with the Red Wings after playing with Boston Bruins. He's 29, five feet 11, and weighs 185.

Raglan, 23, is six-one and weighs 180. Born in Pembroke, Ont., he was a rookie with the Wings last season after a spell with Indianapolis Capitals.

Irish-born McFadden was named "outstanding rookie of the year" and was awarded the Calder Trophy in his first season in 1948-47, while Gee, from Stratford, Ont., is a veteran centre who will return to the Hawks after two seasons with the Red Wings. He's a high scorer with 37 points notched last season.

McNab, 26, a centre from Watson, Sask., has suffered frequent injury since joining the Wings four seasons ago, and may be ready to show his best for the Hawks.

DAUTHVILLE-HAIRSTON POSTPONED
Montreal, Aug. 21.—(P)—Rain late today forced postponement of the middleweight fight between Laurent Dauthville of France and Eugene Hairston, New York, deaf.

The bout will be staged in the Baseball Stadium here tonight.

Home-Run And Fungo Hitting Contests To Feature Tomorrow Night's Game; Optimists Club To Be Hosts To Kids

If the steady stream of the youngsters after tickets for tomorrow night's game when Drummondville visits the Athletics is any indication, then a sell-out crowd of kids will be on hand.

At the same time a "Home-run" and "Fungo-hitting" contest will be staged and the local merchants be on hand to live up to matters. A parade will be formed in front of the Old Central School and will march down to the market where the musicians will emboss for the park where they will supply music during the game.

The fence-busters of both teams have played in normal dimension parks this season and their home parks have had to travel regulation distances before being called home runs. Duany and Davis are considered as the two longest ball hitters in the league and are favourites in this contest, but they will have plenty of opposition from their fellow players, Garcia, Perez, Arkins, Gladu, Ballester, and Metzger.

Once again the management has obtained some wonderful prizes as rewards for the winners:

HOMERUN HITTING CONTEST

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Down Toronto Argos

Winnipeg, Aug. 21.—(P)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers last night walloped the Canadian Champion Toronto Argonauts 13-1 in an exhibition football game before 9,600 fans.

It marked the first time that Winnipeg had beaten a Toronto club either in Grey Cup or exhibition play. It gave Bombers a small 1950 Grey Cup final over a sloppy Varsity Stadium last November.

Australia Names Three Players To Cup Team

Melbourne, Aug. 21.—(P)—Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose were named yesterday as Australia's preliminary squad for the Davis Cup Challenge round tennis matches at Sydney Dec. 28.

The council of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia also said Harry Hopman again has been chosen as captain-manager.

The Selection Committee was given the right to add players when the final squad is named Dec. 8.

Two Lady Golfers Tie Qualifying Round Mark

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—(P)—An 18-year-old mite from Sacramento, Calif., and a tall, willowy 25-year-old Tiffin, O., yesterday tied the 18-hole qualifying record in the United States Women's Amateur Golf Tournament at identical 36-36—74, a score unmatched since 1939.

Finishing only a short time before a thunderstorm drenched the St. Paul Town and Country Club, Barbara Bomack, promising West Coast youngster, and seasoned Carol Diringher equalled the 12-year-old meet mark.

Pollard Turns Down New York Yankee Offer

Los Angeles, Aug. 21.—(P)—Al Pollard, Army fullback who was expelled from West Point in the recent cribbing scandal, has turned down a $7,000 offer to play for New York Yanks in the National League.

Pollard, who formerly played Loyola University here, was reported to be holding out for $14,000, which the Yanks refused.

Bedard And Gaudreault Carry Match To Limit; Finals In Ladies' Singles To Be Played This Evening

Dr. John Hibbard and Roger Roy retained their E.T. men's doubles tennis title last evening when they defeated Robert Bedard and Amedee Gaudreault in the finals played at the Fraser Street courts.

The thrilling final went the limit. The champs copped the first two sets 7-5, 6-4 but dropped the next two sets 4-6, 6-3 to tie the match. They used their experience to great advantage in the final set and won 6-0 to wrap up the match and the championship.

The five-set battle was one of the best matches witnessed in the city for some time.

Tonight the E.T. ladies' singles title will be at stake. Miss Gertrude Julien of Victoriaville, will tangle with Miss Pierrette Emond, city champion. Miss Julien is city champion at Victoriaville so it will be a battle of champions.

The Sherbrooke Invitation Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Sherbrooke Tennis Association, will start Saturday, August 25.

Entries close Friday at 5:30 and may be made at Codere's Ltd. or J. N. Boisvert. Ask for the sports department. Players from Montreal, Quebec, Sherbrooke and other points in the E.T. and province are expected to compete.

There will be five events.

Australia Names Three Players To Cup Team

Melbourne, Aug. 21.—(P)—Frank Sedgman, Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose were named yesterday as Australia's preliminary squad for the Davis Cup Challenge round tennis matches at Sydney Dec. 28.

The council of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia also said Harry Hopman again has been chosen as captain-manager.

The Selection Committee was given the right to add players when the final squad is named Dec. 8.

Two Lady Golfers Tie Qualifying Round Mark

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 21.—(P)—An 18-year-old mite from Sacramento, Calif., and a tall, willowy 25-year-old Tiffin, O., yesterday tied the 18-hole qualifying record in the United States Women's Amateur Golf Tournament at identical 36-36—74, a score unmatched since 1939.

Finishing only a short time before a thunderstorm drenched the St. Paul Town and Country Club, Barbara Bomack, promising West Coast youngster, and seasoned Carol Diringher equalled the 12-year-old meet mark.

New A & P Super Market Will Be Opened Thursday

Romantic Story Of A. & P. Reaches Back Through Nearly A Century

Behind the famous A & P signs, on 130 super markets in Canada, in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, where all A & P stores are located, there is a romantic story which reaches back through 90 years of merchantship, right from the general store to the modern self-service super market. It is not an often told story, as the directors of The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company are not prone to taking the spotlight for themselves. However, the whole history of A & P, the good things and the bad things about the two-nation organization, have been well told in Time magazine (November 13, 1950).

Readers of Time and patrons of the community A & P stores now know for the first time that the company which is a part of the personal lives of millions did not just grow. They now know of George and John Hartford, the divergent personalities who are the company's top brass, and they know a lot of other things that they never knew before about the food stores that help them keep ever-tightening budgets.

Time has told the story thoroughly and in detail in its business and finance department. In this space we only intend to tell part of it, with one important addition—the development of A & P in Canada.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, a name characteristic of its beginning but a misleading description of the firm's present nature, is the world's largest grocer. In the United States—where the first A & P store was opened by George Huntington Hartford (father of the present board chairman) and George Gilman—A & P gets 10 cents out of every dollar spent on food. This amounts to $2.9 billion, which places A & P next to General Motors as the world's largest goods salesmen.

The A & P is a part of the average citizen's regular routine. Few organizations take a such constant, important part in the individual's home life.

George H. Hartford was born in Augusta, Me., and first entered the dry goods business. When he was 26 he and a partner decided that they could make a living by purchasing tea (being sold in 1859 for $1 a pound) right off the boats and selling it for 30 cents a pound by eliminating the middleman. (This has always been one of the basic principles of A & P marketing, and the chief reason why their quantity buying can allow them to sell as low as any competitor. On Vesey Street in Manhattan the Great American Tea Company came into being. Its introduction was on a par with something which might be expected of the great P. T. Barnum—flashy colors and glittering windows. Much of their early publicity was sensational.

In short time the business expanded into neighboring towns, and rural routes were started for the purpose of selling tea and spices to farm folks. By 1880 George Gilman had made his fortune in the enterprise, had sold out to Hartford, and 16-year-old George Hartford, son of the boss, entered the business as cashier. There were about 100 stores at that time.

It was George, says Time, who started trimming costs by getting A & P to manufacture its own products. When George learned that baking soda consisted only of soda and a carbonate, he screened off part of the Vesey Street store and set a chemist to turning it out.

But it was John who spread the A & P name across the continent. While John, the younger brother, busied himself with promotion and expansion of A & P, George settled himself to a successful lifetime of keeping the accounts and stabilizing enthusiasm on the part of his partner.

In 1912, John suggested to his father and brother a new idea in merchandizing. The Hartfords didn't create the self-serve market, but they were quick to see its possibilities, and it was not long before they stopped running charge accounts and deliveries. Their idea was to sell volume and in so doing sell at the lowest possible prices. It was an added convenience to the housewife who was becoming more interested in saving pennies than energy.

The first "economy" store—which was actually the first in America embodying all the features of self-service and low price buying—was opened near their most profitable store in Jersey City.

In two years the energetic John Hartford opened 1,600 stores, using just $1,000 for equipment, $1,000 for groceries, and $1,000 for working capital. The layout of every store was the same. In 1916, A & P sales had soared to $76 million.

In 1915 the elder Hartford turned the business into the capable hands of his sons and in 1917 at the age of 84 he died.

From that point the A & P seemed to leap forward, expanding in all directions, setting new and sometimes revolutionary precedents in sales and operations. The company began to make more of its own products and "Ann Page" became a familiar A & P trade name. And later they set up their own buying commission for the purpose of buying more

Official Opening Will Be Preceded By An "At Home" Tomorrow Evening

At 9.30 a.m. on Thursday, possibly a little earlier, the doors of the A & P store on King Street bringing to Sherbrooke this city's first super market.

There will be an open house on Wednesday evening, from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m. to which the general public is invited. Light refreshments will be served and there will be music by Jack Lenaghan on the organ.

A tour of the new building will be made. Roland Boisvert, manager of the Wellington Street A & P store for the last six years who has been appointed manager of the super market, gave out some details about the new building in an interview with the Record today.

All the counters are refrigerated and for the first time the A & P will sell frozen foods. There is a self-service meat centre and a service meat centre. There is a fish counter which is the only one of its kind in this city.

This fire-proof building is 175 feet long and 45 feet wide. There will be seven cashiers, to speed service, and between 35 and 40 clerks.

A complete line of groceries, fruits, meats and dairy products will be stocked, including several lines which are not available at the present store.

The super market is as attractive as it is new. The ceiling has been painted white and the walls are green, with black stripes. The counters, of arborite panel, are white. Mr. Boisvert, a native of Rock Island, is a veteran of A & P service although still a young man. Before coming to the Wellington Street store six years ago he was manager of the company's Rock Island store for 11 years.

Temporary assistant manager will be Julien Menard of the A & P store in Magog.

In announcing details for the official opening, Mr. Boisvert said it is planned to open the store at 9.30 a.m. on Thursday, but if the early morning crowds are unusual cheaply by eliminating the middleman and buying in quantity. Then came the "combination" stores in which meats as well as dry, canned and bottled groceries were carried.

The Hartfords weren't just interested in making money—which they were doing—but they were also interested in making food selling a science. They experimented and they promoted research campaigns. They found that New Englanders ate most of the corned beef in the U.S., preferred their corn yellow, their eggs brown, and liked a wider, fatter bacon than most other Americans. They found that prim mouthed Philadelphia was the nation's biggest market for dried prunes, and ate more ice cream per capita than any other city in the world.

Up to this time all these stores were being operated from a central headquarters, but George and John decided that it was time to decentralize, and seven regional divisions were formed, each with its own president and directors. But the cash remained under the inimitable George.

By this time the financial crash of 1929 was looming on the horizon, but George was prepared for that too. A & P lost nothing of its accumulated surplus. The crash brought on the super-market, and for the Hartfords it brought on also pre-packaged meat and produce, weighed and price-tagged.

The number of stores dwindled, however. As each new super-market opened about six combination stores closed down. It was a centralization of service and amalgamation of effort. There are only 4,682 stores today, but volume of sales and employees' payrolls has risen steadily.

The empire grew, but here and there was a dark spot in A & P's relationship with the public. The books were kept so strictly that store managers were almost forced to cut "honesty corners" once in a while in order to counter-balance loss from spoilage and breakage. Mr. John tackled this problem in 1936 and assured every A & P patron of full measure for his money, with 40,000 jobs as security for this service.

All through the years in which A & P has served the community the family-owned company has been content with low profits—about 1½ cents on the dollar. That is the general background of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. But there is a Canadian story too.

A & P's first Canadian store was opened on Sherbrooke Street in Montreal in 1928. For the next two crucial years the division expanded rapidly, during which time the economy stores were changed into "combination stores" in which meats as well as groceries were sold. By the time the depression hit Canada, A & P was well established in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, where all of their 127 stores are now located.

Near the end of the depression, A & P decided to expand again, having remained more or less static from 1930 on. The first indication of a forward surge was noticed in London, Ont., where A & P opened its first Canadian combination store.

In St. Catharines the first super-market was opened. This marked the beginning of the Canadian concentration of service in larger stores. Between 1930 and 1935 many small A & P stores were closed down and in larger centres larger stores rose up.

The current program of expansion includes 14 new stores in the two Canadian provinces.

Ordinary combines, with inexpensive attachments, are being used at the southern Manitoba plant to harvest the sunflower crop. Mr. Astorga intends to investigate them with a view to buying some for experimental purposes in the South American country.

Russia was the first country to discover that the flower's oil could be used for industrial purposes. Canada began experiments in the '30s and since then research has developed better hybrid varieties.

Hybrid Sunflower Sought By Chile

Winnipeg. — Mario Astorga of Santiago, Chile, research director for the Chilean department of agriculture, is beginning a three-month stay at Altona, Man., in the hope of finding a hybrid variety of sunflower seed that will grow successfully in all parts of Chile.

During his stay at Altona, where Canada's only sunflower oil industry is situated, he will confer with Dr. Eric Putt, chief agronomist of vegetable oils for the federal government. Between them they hope to improve the situation in Chile.

Ten years ago Chile imported all its vegetable oils. Then the government launched a $40,000,000 corporation for the promotion of production, including funds for research into the possibility of growing its own oil producing plants.

The scheme was a success and now Chile imports only 15 per cent of the edible oils for its 5,709,000 population. Within two years they should be self-sufficient.

Chile's main problem in the sunflower oil industry is finding a seed that will grow in its different climates. Another handicap is that picking by hand is becoming increasingly difficult as

A & P Store Opening Completes Fine Shopping Centre

Many Other Stores On King, Adjacent Streets Make For Convenient Buying

Official opening of the A & P super market on King street west will complete a valued addition to what already is becoming one of the major shopping centres in Sherbrooke.

Residents of that section of King street and of adjacent streets now will be able to make purchases in almost every retail line without having to travel more than a few blocks from their home.

Some of the other stores in the immediate vicinity to the new super market are the Darby Baby Shop on King street where baby wear is available, Frechette and Blais, Inc., dealers in electrical appliances, three fur stores—Chez Marie-Antoinette, Eng., of King street, E. Singing Used In Bid For Ottawa Aid

Prince Albert, Sask. — Mayor J. M. Cuelenae sang "If You've Got the Money, Honey, I've got the Time" to Resources Minister Winters at a recent banquet.

The mayor jokingly adopted the new approach in a reference to civic attempts to get certain construction projects approved by the federal government.

Mr. Winters replied it was a "beautiful sentiment," but he was glad the mayor had left the word "if" in the sentence. "It's all a matter of taxes," the federal minister said. "You know how the people like to pay additional taxes."

When a permanent marine research station is erected on the reef shortly.

Among research subjects that are expected to attract Australian and international biologists are the study of slimy coral secretions in connection with influenza virus and research into venomous reef life such as shell and stone fish, of which almost nothing is known.

A £3,750 grant from the Queensland state government has paved the way for construction of the station on Heron Island, in the heart of the reef area which extends more than 1,200 miles along the northwest coast of Australia. The Queensland government also will pay £750 a year toward operating costs.

Dr. I. M. Mackerras, secretary of the marine station sub-committee, said the grant meant that erection of the station could proceed immediately.

"Australia has the greatest single extent of reef in the world, one of the richest in animal and plant life," he said.

The station will cost from £8,000 to £10,000 to build and equip, and will be made of coral brick on the spot.

It will have laboratories, sea water circulated tanks, and living accommodation for biologists. Field work will be done in two dinghies with outboard motors.

Only permanent staff will be a technician-caretaker to look after equipment. Scientists and university student groups will visit the station to do research.

"We know they will come from Queensland, Sydney, and Melbourne. There is keen interest in London and the Royal Society sent us £1000," Dr. Mackerras said.

Norway Vessel Using Science To Chart Fish

Oslø, Norway. — A scientific hunt for the elusive herring now being conducted by a Norwegian research vessel may have big effects on the world's fish catch.

The C.O. Sars, equipped with the latest in electronic depth and distance detectors, is plying the deep waters of the North Atlantic trying to chart accurately the movements of the big herring shoals.

Main object of the present search is to find out whether the bulk of the herring are heading for the fishing banks north of Iceland, or in the direction of the Antarctic island of Jan Mayen where they were found last year.

This is the third expedition in a year to be launched by the Norwegian director of fisheries to track down the herring. Last summer the crew of the Sars traced the herring way down south with help of the radar device known as "asdic." Three large fishing vessels which followed their directions made good catches.

Further research discovered the general route taken by the herring in its search for food during the summer months. Last December the Sars again sailed to the cold waters off Iceland and vast shoals of herring found in that area were followed to the Norwegian coast.

Fishing fleets lying in Norway's coastal waters are kept constantly informed of the progress of the survey and recently, for the first time in history, big catches were made more than 100 miles off shore.

By these voyages Norway hopes to be able to locate the herring from May until the shoals return to Norwegian coastal waters in January. But no one has discovered what makes the herring take these annual migrations.

Zoologists of the 19th century believed the herring which came to western Norway to spawn during winter months, spent the rest of the year in deep water off the Norwegian coast.

About 1870 however the Norwegian expert, Georg Ossian Sars, proved the amount of plankton found at such depths was not enough to feed the herring and reasoned their home mould have to be the large expanse known roughly as the Norwegian ocean.

Since Sars advanced this theory it has been the dream of marine zoologists to determine the home

Says Scientists Showing Concern Over Travel Ban

Oxford, England. — Scientists engaged in vital research are becoming increasingly concerned about restrictions on their freedom of movement, Sir John Cockcroft declared here.

Sir John, director of the atomic research establishment of Harwell, was addressing the sixth annual Question Conference in session here.

He said that at least 95 per cent of the fundamental Nuclear physics information which was kept secret during the war, now is free and scientific progress was in no way restricted by secrecy regulations. During the past year 125 papers from the Harwell establishment alone had been published in various scientific journals.

"There are, however, signs that the freedom of movement and discussion in the western world, may be subject to more restriction in the future," he said.

Because of the internal security act, 1950, scientists were experiencing long delays in obtaining visas for the United States. It was the future of this freedom which gave scientists most concern at present.

Sir John said that scientists from Britain and North America who worked on the atomic bomb project when it had become practicable, had acted with a full sense of their responsibility to civilization.

The government, he continued, had chosen the policy of containment by strength. As an essential part of that policy Britain had decided to rearm and the United States had pressed on with its program of atomic armaments. Scientists had been faced with the question of whether or not to accept the policy of their government and to work for it, and most of them had made their choice.

Dr. J. Bronowski, director of the of the herring before and after the spawning season. Only within the last few years have instruments been produced which offer hope of finding the solution.

The echo depth sounder made possible the locating of herring at great depths, but was limited to shoals directly below the ship. Development of effective horizontal radar during the second world war presented greater possibilities.

With this device it is possible to locate herring shoals some distance from the survey ship.

National Coal board's central research establishment, thought present-day scientists were suffering a feeling of "great unease."

They found society unorganized, administrations making a fearful mess of human arrangements and no governmental talent for organizing society on anything larger than a village scale.

But the politicians, he said, took a far different attitude. He summed this attitude up as follows:

"We have to use these scientists because if we do not, we shall not have any bombs. However, we will not trust them an inch and what a dirty job they are doing."

The responsibility of finding a cure, Dr. Bronowski said, was not that of the man who made the bomb, pulled the trigger or voted the credits. The responsibility, he contended, was primarily communal and must be accepted by the people who marked the election ballot papers.

Museums Borrow Indian Relics

Saskatoon. — A "share the relic" program is in full swing around Saskatchewan Indian camps.

The responsibility of finding a cure, Dr. Bronowski said, was not that of the man who made the bomb, pulled the trigger or voted the credits. The responsibility, he contended, was primarily communal and must be accepted by the people who marked the election ballot papers.

Officials of the National Museum in Ottawa and the Provincial Museum branch of the Natural Resources department have begun a survey to find out how early western Indians lived. To ensure complete coverage, they're asking local collectors to lend them their relics to help piece out a comprehensive Indian history.

After compiling a photographic record of the relics lent by the local collectors, the archaeologists will do a little digging themselves around known Indian camp sites.

Then they will retire to their museums to study their trophies and prepare reports.

New A & P Super Market Will Be Opened Thursday

A. & P. Super Market Empire In Canada Is Unit In The New England Division

Organization of the mighty A & P super market empire in Canada is unlike organization of other chain companies. There is only one headquarters, no sub-administrative offices in the various districts in which the 127 Canadian A & P stores are located.

Although John and George Hartford, the heads of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, broke the company up into divisions when it became unwieldy to handle from one central office there is still only one centre of authority in Canada.

A division consists of seven units, and Canada is one of the units in the New England division. Boston is the centre of this.

Each division is a business in itself, making its own plans, building and extending, and conforming with general company policy. There is a divisional president and treasurer, and each division depends on its own success for expansion. The two chief executive men in each division are responsible to the president of the company and at least one of these men sits on the board with the two Hartfords. (John is the chairman of the board and George is treasurer for the entire company).

There are 130 stores in two Canadian provinces where A & P stores are now located, Ontario and Quebec. The general manager of this unit is L. W. Beebe, who is vice-president of the division. His assistant, E. H. Capstick, has had 22 years' experience in Canada. Other officials of the unit are called "Key Men." They include the office manager, Alec Grubb, buyer; George W. Bird, sales manager; G. N. Provost, and F. C. Todd, operating superintendent.

All Canadian operations are directed from the Toronto headquarters. Working under instructions from headquarters are the territorial supervisors, one in each of the provincial divisions. They do not maintain territorial headquarters but spend a good deal of their time travelling around the stores under their jurisdiction. Working with them are two specially men, whose work involves the handling and sale of meat and produce, the latter term applying to fruit and vegetables. These men also spend their time promoting their departments and investigating problems.

A & P does not go in for elaborate offices. Even their headquarters in Toronto are plain and businesslike. Volume is the important thing in the A & P administration, and attention is placed in this direction rather than in over-organization.

Most A & P buying is done in big lots, the company's method of obtaining merchandise at the lowest price and selling it at the lowest possible profit price. Store managers occasionally do buying, particularly in the case of fresh fruits and perishables.

Welfare Leader Stresses Needs Of War Victims

Ottawa—Is there a service club looking for a job? A Canadian welfare-project—the Canadian children's club in Vienna—needs a lot of help right now. The Unitarian Service Committee, which has looked after this organization for more than two years, feels it must have more assistance if the project is to expand.

"If more funds were available for the Canadian Children's Club we could employ more personnel, buy more food," says Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, Canadian director of the U.S.C. Dr. Hirschmanova is touring Europe to get at first hand a picture of the welfare work being done with the help of Canadian contributions.

In a letter to U.S.C. headquarters here she says more funds would mean that more children—there now are 200 youngsters in the home—would have a place to spend their spare time instead of on the streets.

"I dream of the day when some Canadian service club will make this truly Canadian project their own," writes Dr. Hirschmanova.

During her tour of Italy Dr. Hirschmanova found Rome and the whole of Italy filled with tourists "who are having a wonderful time sightseeing, eating and shopping." "When I see whole autocrats full of them pass me I often wonder how many of them try to look beyond that dollar curtain which is so skillfully drawn to hide the real squalid conditions in which a very large part of the Italian people live."

Dr. Hirschmanova says 45 per cent of the population has a living standard below normal. Prices have risen in the last year 23 per cent—but not incomes.

Dr. Hirschmanova tells of meeting Pasquale La Valle, a 17-year-old Italian boy now working hard on his English to improve his chances of coming to Canada this fall.

She first met Pasquale two years ago when she visited the "Colonie," a home for orphan boys, all victims of the second world war who now are getting a scientific and practical training in farming and gardening.

Pasquale has already been furnished with passage money by a Toronto couple who heard Dr. Hirschmanova speak there two years ago about the European projects. The Toronto couple actually met their protégé when they visited Rome last year.

Blind Woman Leads Scottish Wolf Cub Pack

Edinburgh. — Elizabeth Gardner of Balmgreen Park, a handsome 36-year-old woman who is blind, has taken over leadership of the 126th Edinburgh Wolf Cub pack, junior branch of the Boy Scouts.

She trains the boys, putting them through their tenderfoot tests, and takes them to summer camp.

Miss Gardner is also a qualified Red Cross worker. She lost her sight 10 years ago and then took up voluntary work for the Red Cross and the Wolf Cubs. Her regular job is as secretary to the matron of a home for blind women here. She can take shorthand fast on a braille machine and typewrites with accuracy.

In any spare time from her job and her activities with the Red Cross and the Cubs, she is taking sewing lessons.

Says Prince Philip Likes Hair Long

Toronto. — Leslie Higgins, Liverpool-born barber, says the Duke of Edinburgh likes his hair "a bit long, but neat."

And it suits him perfectly, says the 45-year-old hair snipper. He should know—he cut the Duke's hair in England for 14 years.

Higgins, once barber to the Duke of Kent and the Duke of Gloucester, and to King Carol of Roumania and Paul of Yugoslavia, now is working in a Toronto barber shop.

He plans to offer his services to the Duke during the Royal tour.

"It would be nice to get back to the artistic side of hair-cutting," he says. "Canadians just jump into the chair and shout: 'short, front and back.'"

Fire-resistant! Storm-sturdy!
Low-cost and Lovely!

Johns-Manville
ASPHALT SHINGLES

Your assurance of many years of trouble-free protection.

IF YOU were allowed the choice of one feature in a roof, you would probably say "It must be weather-tight". And for over 90 years Johns-Manville roofs have been just that.

But when you choose the modern J-M Asphalt Shingles you ALSO get colourful beauty (in eye-appealing blends and bright solid colours) . . . PLUS a selection of styles to suit all types of architecture . . . PLUS fire resistance . . . PLUS a most attractive low first cost and an assurance of long years of trouble-free protection.

For extra protection at little extra cost, choose J-M Flexstone Shingles. Made on a base of fireproof asbestos felt, they minimize the danger of roof-carried fires.

FREE! For informative literature on J-M Asphalt Shingles, see your J-M dealer or write Canadian Johns-Manville, Dept. N-15, 199 Bay St., Toronto.
