Municipalities In Proximity To City Watch Anxiously

Westmount, Montreal West, Hampstead and Others Fear Additional Taxes—Armand Mathieu, K.C., of City Improvement League, Explains Position—Need to Plan

Following the hint at the recent Duplessis Banquet by Montreal's Mayor Raynault that the neighboring municipalities would in all probability be taxed additionally to help balance the budget of that city, Westmount, Montreal West, Hampstead, and the other cities and towns bordering on the Metropolis are beginning to consider the matter very seriously. Daily the question is the topic of addresses at clubs and the general subject of conversation among taxpayers.

Armand Mathieu, K.C., Hon. secretary of the City Improvement League, in a recent address stated in part:

Why Should We?

"In a recent address the Mayor of Montreal indicated that the adjoining municipalities might be called upon to contribute still further to the City's finances; in other words to help the City pay its debts. No doubt the mayor had in mind the good temper of the neighbouring communities in accepting without much murmuring the sales and income taxes; but it should be remembered that at the time these taxes were imposed the City's financial position was very precarious, and the credit of the whole metropolitan district was in jeopardy. But there is such a thing as trespassing on good nature, for after all why should Westmount, Outremont, Verdun, Montreal West, Montreal East and the other adjoining communities be called upon to pay Montreal's debts. The big city contracted them, not its neighbours, therefore it should meet its own obligations. These smaller municipalities have their own financial difficulties and obligations, and if by careful administration and supervision they have managed to meet them so much the better for their local citizens. And while it may be true that many of these citizens of outlying communities make their living in Montreal itself, they pay for the privilege in either direct or indirect taxes. If a resident of Westmount or Outremont is in business or has property in Montreal he pays his business or property taxes to the Montreal treasury just as if he lived in the City; in fact he usually pays more to the Montreal treasury than he does to the treasury of the suburb in which he lives. And as for the suburban municipalities themselves their adjacency to Montreal does not help them one iota, for they have to pay a pretty stiff price for any service—such as that of the fire brigade or sewerage facilities—which the city might render, and out of the water service to the adjoining communities the City reaps a handsome profit.

When the legislation was enacted by which the City of Montreal was empowered to collect income and sales taxes from the citizens of the outside municipalities, without their local councils having a voice in the spending of the income derived from such taxes, one of the fundamental principles of democratic government was upset—namely, that there should be no taxation without representation. Now aside from the undemocratic spirit of such legislation it is humiliating to the citizens of Montreal that the city should have to accept aid from other struggling communities. The City should be able to stand on its own feet; but if it cannot, and it has to go outside for its income, then it should

Many Guests At Old Boys' Ann'l Dinner

Westmount High School Graduates Gathered in Windsor Hotel Last Night For Second Reunion

Some 700 graduates of Westmount High schools gathered last night in the Windsor Hotel for the second annual dinner given by the Westmount High School Old Boys' Association in honour of former pupils. The event was even more successful than the first one, held a year ago, and a fine spirit of fellowship marked the gathering.

Education Week Proved Popular; Parents Visited Local Schools

By Melville Senn

Although during the absence of Principal H. B. Parker, Mr. S. F. Kneeland has the supervision of Westmount High added to his already lengthy list of duties as Superintendent of Schools, he found time this week to express his pleasure at the intense interest shown by parents in the curriculum of the different Westmount Schools.

In connection with Dominion Education Week, February 21-27, the doors of Argyle Junior High, Roslyn, Kings and Queens were thrown open and a cordial invitation was extended by the School authorities to parents who might care to inspect the different buildings and note the many classes in session. Mr. Kneeland stated that large numbers of interested citizens were guided through the halls and classrooms and displayed particular interest in the new Junior High. Pleading compliments were paid the School Commissioners present as to the general condition of the schools while the parents, whether commenting upon Argyle, Kings, Queens or Roslyn expressed the highest praise of the work being accomplished by the Principals and their staffs.

A. McDonald Interred In Stratford

Olivier Avenue Resident Was Superintendent Of C.N.R. Point St. Charles Shops

Many friends from all walks of life joined relatives Sunday afternoon at the chapel of Jos. C. Wray and Brother to pay last tribute to Alexander McDonald, Olivier Avenue resident, who died Saturday morning at his home. The body was placed aboard a train Sunday evening for burial in Stratford, Ontario, Mr. McDonald's native town.

He was born in 1887, and began his railroad career as an apprentice in the Grand Trunk Shops, motive power division in Stratford in 1900. He became a machinist in 1906, an outside foreman in 1915, and was made assistant master mechanic the following year.

In 1925 Mr. McDonald was appointed superintendent of the C. N. R. Point St. Charles shops, which position he occupied till his death. He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Elsie, a son James, all living in this city; and two brothers, Charles of Stratford and William of Toronto. Both brothers are employed by the Canadian National.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. Harold S. Laws of St. Stephen's Church. The chief mourners included the widow and family. S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, was represented at the service by E. P. Mallory, executive assistant to the president, and Arthur J. Hills, chief of personnel, George Hodge, manager of the department of personnel, represented the Canadian Pacific Railway. Many others attended.

Scientist On Quacks, Fads In Medicine

Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor of American Medical Journal, Spoke Here On Monday

"Man is still vulnerable in matters of Money, Matrimony and Medicine," declared Dr. Morris Fishbein, noted scientist and editor of the American Medical Journal in addressing a gathering at Temple Emmanuel-El Monday night. His subject was "Fads and Quackery in Healing," and he dealt with the many fads in medicine and the advantages which quacks have always taken on people.

In Money and Matrimony, Dr. Fishbein stated, man often vindicates himself for his errors by proper action; but in medicine there can be no raising from the dead if he goes wrong.

Epilepsy was once considered to be caused by the presence of demons in a person; the popular medical treatment of the day was to drill several neat little holes in the skull to let the demons out, which was the obvious remedy.

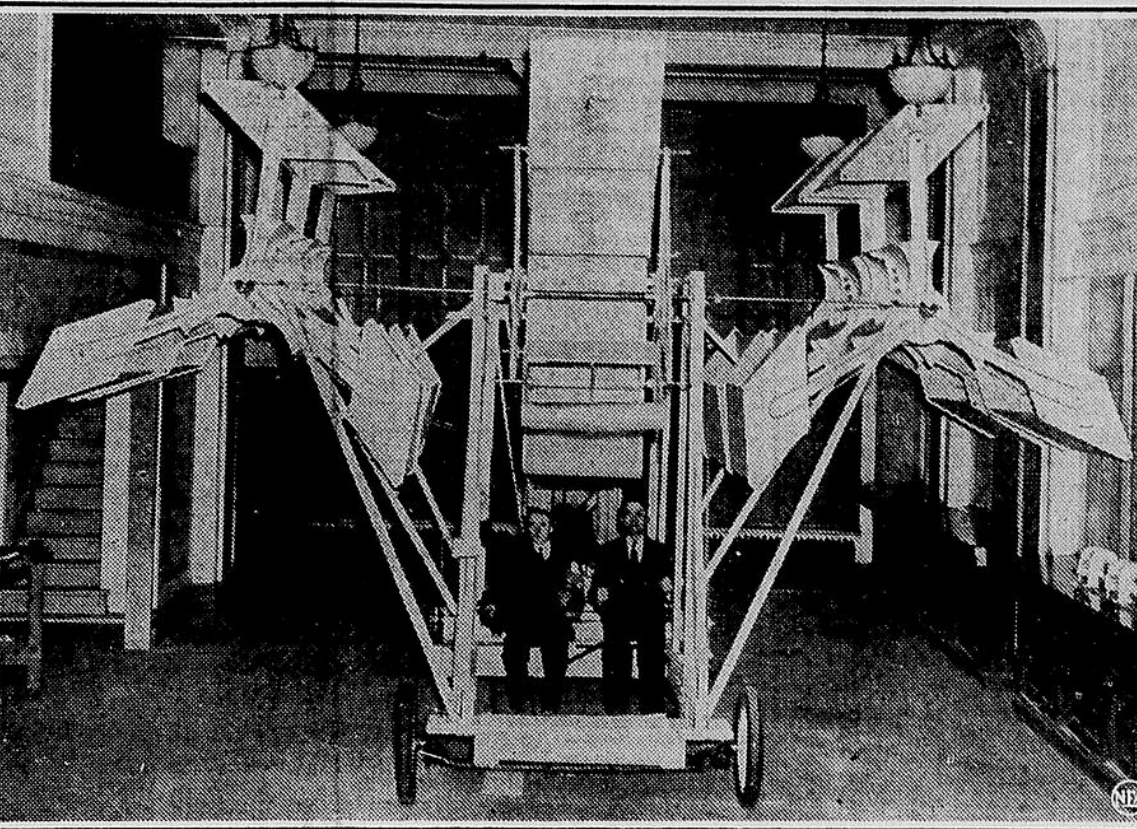

Dr. Fishbein traced the history of quackery throughout the ages, from the experts like Hypocrites and Paracelsus, to the modern era, with the appearance on the scene of Franz Anton Mesmer. His was a fine stunt, thought Dr. Fishbein: he set up a big tank, filled with water and iron filings, and placed in it a number of bottles with iron rods sticking out of them. People grasped the rods and were cured by "magnetic healing."

V. C. Wansbrough To Speak Here

The next meeting of the King's Westmount Home and School Association will be held in the School Auditorium on Monday at 8.15 p.m.

The speaker will be V. C. Wansbrough, M.A., headmaster of Lower Canada College, and his subject will be "New Methods of Education." Mr. Wansbrough is a graduate of Oxford University. Refreshments will be served.

YOU'D HARDLY THINK IT WAS SUPPOSED TO FLY

Even the inventors, Louis Chiquet and Henri van Zandt, call the "Aerial Phantom" revolutionary. Wingless, propellerless, rudderless, they also call it an airship capable of flying. Motive and lifting power, they explained to spectators at New York, are supplied by the revolving drum (centre) and the lifting blades at each side. It looks more like a lunatic's conception of a futuristic windmill than a flying machine.

R. E. Powell Named Head Of Company

Elected to Presidency of The Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd.—Other Appointments

Announcement was made this week of the election of R. E. Powell to the presidency of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., to succeed Edward K. Davis, who has resigned.

Mr. Powell has been with the aluminum industry for 28 years, and has been vice-president ever since the incorporation of Aluminum Limited, the parent company. Since 1899, which marks the inception of The Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., in this country, there have been but three other presidents, R. B. Mellon, Arthur V. Davis, and his brother, Edward K. Davis.

O. M. Montgomery, director of purchases who has been with the company for 28 years, has been elected vice-president. Harold R. Wake, formerly superintendent of properties at Arvida, has succeeded to the office of secretary, following resignation of J. H. Alger. Mr. Wake has been with the firm for over 24 years.

W. R. Bulloch Is Second Of Address

Speech From Throne Moved Adopted By Member For Westmount in Provincial House

Several items of general interest were touched on recently by W. R. Bulloch, M.L.A., in his address to second the Speech from the Throne. Referring to the honor accorded the constituency in the local member's being asked to second the Throne Speech and expressing his delight at recently being able to entertain Mr. Duplessis at a banquet, Mr. Bulloch made reference to several of the main items in the Throne address. Co-operation between the Government and business interests was stressed, the Old Age Pension plan referred to, and a reference was made to the investigation committee dealing with the safeguarding of the small property-owners in the urban centres.

Appeal Is Made By School Board For Used Books

Children's Volumes Required to Aid in Establishment of Library at Queen's School—Pupils For Most Part Live Too Far From Westmount Library—Letter From S. F. Kneeland Asks Co-operation

The School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount are making determined efforts to establish a well equipped School Library for the pupils of Queen's School, on Olivier Avenue just above St. Catherine street. Most of the pupils of this school reside in the Selby and St. Antoine street districts, and are thus largely prevented from taking advantage of the facilities at the Westmount Public Library.

Home Safety Discussed Here Monday

W. D. Simpson Addressed Roslyn Avenue Home and School Association Monthly Meeting

1,174 people were killed in home accidents in Canada during the past year, it was revealed by William D. Simpson, assistant to the secretary-general of the Province of Quebec Safety League at a meeting of the Roslyn Avenue Home and School Association on Monday evening. In the United States, the speaker showed, falls, burns and similar mishaps were responsible for a third of all accidental deaths and almost half of the annual total of 9,500,000 mishaps.

The speaker appealed for greater safety in the home. Parents, he said, should teach their children the valuable principles of safety.

Bad habits and ignorance of first-aid procedure were responsible for many accidents and fatalities in industry as well as in the home, Mr. Simpson continued. Machines, while being responsible for many mishaps, were not nearly as active in causing accidents and fatalities as human carelessness, which accounted for 89 percent of all accidents.

Three films were shown illustrating causes of accidents and showing valuable first-aid information, at the close of the address.

At the opening of the evening, several musical numbers were heard, rendered by the Roslyn Avenue School Choral Society. W. C. Nicholson, president, occupied the chair.

COUNCIL MEETING

City Council will meet on Monday evening, it was announced at the City Hall yesterday. The meeting was postponed from last week, as a quorum was lacking.

No further advance has been made in the proposal to erect a large apartment block on the site of the Nuns' farm, opposite the Athletic Grounds, it was learned.

LOVELL BAKER SPOKE

Lovell Baker of Henry Birks and Sons spoke to the Hi-Y Club on "The Romance of Diamonds." Next week will be mother's night and the speaker will be Rev. Gilbert Oliver of St. Matthias Church.

The annual Hi-Y conference for Montreal and District Hi-Y Clubs will be held at Westmount Y on April 2 and 3rd. Wm. Pepper is chairman of Program Committee.

Woman Appears In Court Today To Face Motor Mishap Charges

Charged with failing to stop following a motor accident, a woman who gave a De Casson Road address will appear in court this morning at nine o'clock.

The mishap occurred early yesterday morning. At 12.40 a.m. Mr. Grenfel Couper, of 506 Prince Albert Avenue, was sitting in his car conversing with two friends, Mr. H. R. Pickens, Jr., of 4324 Sherbrooke street, and Mr. Alexander Foster, 629 Victoria Avenue, the car being parked outside Mr. Foster's residence on the west side of the street.

While they were sitting there, a car proceeding south on Victoria Avenue collided with the rear of the parked vehicle. Not waiting to ascertain whether any damage was done or anyone hurt, the car kept on going down Victoria Avenue.

An appeal has been issued to local residents, asking their co-operation in this matter. The following letter, from S. F. Kneeland, secretary-superintendent of local schools, explains the situation fully, and should bring a generous response.

The Examiner heartily endorses the project, and urges all its readers to give the local school board every assistance in this regard.

March 2nd, 1937.

To the Editor of The Westmount Examiner.

Dear Sir:

May I be permitted, through the columns of your paper, to make the following appeal to your readers:

A School library is being organized in Queen's School inasmuch as many of the children of this school living in the neighbourhood of Selby Street are thus too far away from the Westmount Library to enjoy its many benefits and advantages.

This library is in great need of children's books, the School Board being unable to give all the help it would like to, for lack of available funds. The teachers themselves and their friends have done much to secure suitable donations, but much remains to be done.

May we appeal to all the residents of Westmount to look over their shelves and see what they can spare. Books of fiction, well illustrated and in good condition, for pupils of 5 years of age up to 15 years of age, are in great demand. Story-books which were "favourites" with your children, but which they have outgrown, as it were, will bring pleasure to many kiddies who may not be particularly well provided for in this respect in their own homes. Such sets as the "Book of Knowledge," Popular Science, Wonder Books, and the like, are particularly solicited.

If your readers have books in good condition which they think suitable, would they be so kind as to send them to Queen's School, Olivier Avenue (near St. Catherine St.) or if that is not convenient, if they would telephone the offices of the Westmount School Commission, WE. 5731, the books will be sent for.

It is impossible to overestimate the good which may result through a little thoughtfulness and effort in providing attractive reading matter for these young people, and I can assure your readers that their kindness in this connection will be greatly appreciated.

Yours faithfully,
(signed) S. F. Kneeland,
Secretary-Superintendent.

WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1937

A WORTHY PROJECT

The move to establish a School Library at Queen's School is one that deserves the hearty support of every Westmount citizen. The pupils of this school live largely in the Selby and St. Antoine street districts, and are thus by virtue of the distance of their homes from Westmount Park largely prevented from taking full advantage of the facilities offered by the Westmount Public Library. The placing of library facilities within the easy reach of the pupils is the logical solution to the matter, and is not, as might appear on the surface, a question of taking the mountain to Mohammed. Teachers have been working earnestly towards realization of the project, and local residents are urged to co-operate. Our bookshelves at home contain, collectively, thousands of books we enjoyed as children, but from which we have naturally grown somewhat away with advancing years. These are certainly of little use at home; why not place them where they will be an active factor in letting little minds expand, in introducing children to the vast wealth to be found in books?

Here is a golden opportunity to aid those not so fortunately placed as many of us. We know that the response from Westmount citizens will be more than generous.

MR. BULLOCH AND MR. RAYNAULT

W. R. Bulloch, M.L.A., and Mayor Raynault have been exchanging pleasantries over Mr. Bulloch's declaration that the City must adopt a hands off attitude toward other municipalities in the Greater Montreal area. Mr. Bulloch made a strong case for the municipalities, which are almost without exception efficiently, economically, and honestly run — quite in contrast in most respects to the City of Montreal — while Mayor Raynault made a weak case indeed in his reply in referring to the services the city provides the municipalities. One does not need to delve into records to be convinced that municipal governments such as those in Westmount, Montreal West, and Outremont are better than those which have been in power in Montreal — one only needs to look about him. Observe public works, for example, in the municipalities and in Montreal, and discover which were built in the public interest and which were not. The discovery is quite simple.

MR. DUPLESSIS IS RIGHT

Mr. Duplessis is having his troubles. The resignation of Mr. Drouin and the bolting of several other members of the Legislature adds to the general political confusion in this province, but there can be no doubt in the mind of any fair and neutral observer that the Premier is in the right. He took the moderate and sensible course — the method which, in the long run, is most likely to achieve results. The anti-government rally in the Drill Hall, in Quebec, Sunday, which despite the protests of many of the speakers was anti-English, will not help matters at all. It appears that some of Mr. Duplessis's dissatisfied ex-followers are deliberately raising the race and religious cry for their own political ends. Their utterances are, furthermore, exceedingly ambiguous. They are violently against Socialism on the one hand, while on the other they propose to socialize the natural resources and many of the industries of the Province. As far as the English are concerned, however, we are not moving out of Quebec. And we are not relinquishing anything at the behest of political agitators. We pay too large a proportion of the taxes now in comparison to our numbers—a fact that the "nationalists" seem to have overlooked. It is time we got back to the teachings of Sir Wilfrid Laurier; that we forget our narrower interests, that we work together not as French-Canadians and English-Canadians, but simply as Canadians.

THE BUDGET—BETTER BUSINESS

The Budget presented to the nation by Hon. Charles Dunning was full of good news — so good, in fact, that only from one industry was there any great criticism, and that an industry which, even in its most prosperous days, paid wages which were at best hardly at a decent living standard. So, all things considered, it can be said that the Budget was good for everyone who has the good of Canada at heart. Every student of history knows that there can be no prosperity in a nation when the national finances of that nation are in bad shape. Indeed, the finances of a nation are the most reliable barometer of its general well-being. Deficits breed depression because they impose additional loads on business and purchasers in the form of taxation — and every cent paid in taxation means a cent less to spend in business. This fact is well realized by the present government, as was shown a year ago when taxation was reduced indirectly through downward revision of the tariff, while further reductions on several hundred items were made again this year. Low tariffs not only ease the burden of internal taxation, but they increase government customs house revenue. Increased revenues have enabled Mr. Dunning to show a better national balance sheet than he predicted a year ago, while the tariff revisions now going into effect might well enable him to show a surplus next spring and a reduction in the national debt, and, of course, in taxation. There is not one important country in the world today progressing toward a surplus in the national finances, except Canada.

The Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest

The Westmount Examiner's Hidden Titles Contest is run with the kind co-operation of Mr. Godel, manager of the Westmount Theatre. Each week twelve passes are given to the six lucky winners who comply with the following requirements:—

Simply find the two "ads." in the current issue of The Westmount Examiner in which the names of the two feature pictures being shown at the Westmount Theatre during the first half of the following week are hidden.

Submit all answers to The Contest Editor, The Westmount Examiner, 5384 Sherbrooke Street West, using special coupon provided in each issue for the purpose.

All answers must be in the office not later than Wednesday, and the names of the winners will be published in Friday's issue.

Contestants must be over 16 years of age.

The winners are drawn from among those who submit the correct answers, as, unfortunately, it would be impossible to give passes to every one submitting the right answers.

A convenient coupon will be found elsewhere in the paper.

Winners in last week's contest are as follows, and they will receive their passes in today's mail.

Mrs. J. M. Brown, 4691 Westmount Ave.; Barbara Johnson, 4 De Casson Road; H. Mousley, 4073 Tupper St.; Mrs. Florence Fels, 646 Lansdowne Ave.; Miss A. D. de Bellot, 227 Kensington Ave., Apt. 9; Mrs. L. C. Reid, 222 Redfern Ave.

EXAMINER FORUM

In Which Subjects of General Interest are Discussed

NOTE:—The opinions expressed in these columns are not necessarily those of The Examiner, and this newspaper does not accept responsibility for them. They are published for their general interest, variety and originality of treatment.

By HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

Some time a policy of world peace might be worked out, but it would not be a Canada-first policy. It would be a policy which looked to a solution of problems throughout the world. Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture in House of Commons debate on defence expenditures.

J. T. Thorson, K.C., M.P., Liberal member for Selkirk and prominent Winnipeg lawyer, made an eloquent plea for peace in the debate on additional expenditure for defence.

He proposed to exercise his right to criticize any Government policy. His mind revolted at the thought of Canada participating in another war. The House should review the cost of the last war. Up to last year there had been paid out on account of the last war, on actual war operations, pensions, soldier settlement, care of veterans and interest, a total of $4,357,000,000 which represented only the direct money cost of the last war. It took no account of the loss to individuals, of the loss of 60,000 young men, or of the suffering of soldiers and their dependents.

The last war was not paid for although for the last 22 years Canada paid $200,000 a year. The annual cost of the last war in interest payments, pensions and minor items was $155,000,000. If that sum could be used for purposes of peace, it would mean much in the way of increasing opportunities, particularly for the youth of Canada, at whose door opportunity has not yet knocked. He could not take seriously the suggestion that it was to deal with subversive elements in Canada. If there is discontent the right policy is to remove the cause, not to suppress it by force.

There is no question of Canada's courage; that was demonstrated by the 60,000 who died in the last war. It is often more difficult to stand for peace than to stand at the call of war. If we permit this substantial increase to pass unchallenged this year, I am afraid we shall be met with a further demand next year which we shall not be able to resist.

Common Sense is published monthly at 315 Fourth Avenue, New York. Its editors are Alfred M. Bingham (son of the late U.S.A. Senator Bingham) and Selden Rodman. It has as contributors twenty-five writers most of them with national and international reputations and including John Dewey, Upton Sinclair, Louis Adams, Thomas R. Amie, Theodore Dreiser, Stuart Chase, Philip F. LaFollette, Richard Storr's Childs.

Its platform follows: Common Sense is an independent publication devoted to the interests of the American people. It is not connected with any existing political party. It promotes the building of a new united political movement, resting on the great majority of the people, able successfully to challenge the two old parties of special privileges.

It believes that a system based on competition for private profit can no longer serve the general welfare.

It believes that a system planned on the basis of productive capacity and human needs can assure every family an income equivalent to at least $6000 a year.

It believes in the American ideals of liberty, democracy and equality of opportunity. It calls for their defence against the forces of greed, which lead to war, famine, poverty, graft and crime, death and unemployment.

It demands the calling of a constitutional convention to adapt the principles of the American Revolution of 1776 to modern needs. It seeks to develop a swift but orderly method of transition to an economy of abundance through production for use. As steps toward such a transition it advocates public ownership of the financial system and of basic industries, with a guarantee of work for all in the production and distribution of goods and services.

Westmount Baptist Church Notes

On the week-end of Feb. 28th a team of missionaries from India presented a most inspiring programme. Last Monday evening a cast of twelve carried through a dramatic pageant portraying a worldwide scene on the day when all orthodox Hindus must worship the snake. All who attended these great services were moved and inspired by the truly amazing transformations which are taking place in human lives in India.

On Sunday morning Rev. J. A. Johnston will speak on the text: "He brought them out that He might bring them in." The monthly Communion Service will take place at 12 noon.

In the evening Mr. Johnston's theme will bear the title: "Voices and Visions from the Life Beyond". The teaching of the New Testament regarding the life beyond the veil will be clearly expounded.

Under the direction of Mr. Shirley McKays, the choir will render a fine ministry of appropriate music. Mrs. F. J. Hodgson presides at the organ.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERVICES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, March 7th, is "Man."

The Golden Text is: "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen." (Isaiah 43:10)

The following correlative passages are selected from among those comprised in the Lesson-Sermon to be read from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:—

"Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it; I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded, and I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will direct all his ways." (Isaiah 45: 11-13)

"Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth. Man and woman as coexistent and eternal with God forever reflect, in glorified quality, the infinite Father-Mother God." (Science and Health, page 516.)

POET WHO FOUGHT OUT HIS IDEALS

A CURLY-HAIRED, wan-faced boy was growing up in southern Hungary, about 100 years ago, misunderstood by his parents and shunned by other boys because he was a dreamer. Alexander Petrovics was his name, but due to his love of Hungary, he renounced his Croatian family name for the Magyar name of Petofti.

His father disowned the youth, and Petofti wandered about the country, eking out a scant existence as a strolling troubadour. His lyrics began to be appreciated and, in 1844, when he was on the verge of starvation, a literary society published his poems.

He was 21 then, and soon the public began to hear of him. They sang his patriotic songs and recited his other poems in public. Then came revolution and Petofti took part. And in that spirit he died, in 1849, from wounds he had received at the battle of Segesvar. He was only 26.

In 1923, the 100th anniversary of Petofti's birth, Hungary issued a series of stamps in his honor. One is shown here.

BOOK REVIEW

by HOWARD S. ROSS

Edward A. Filene in collaboration with Charles W. Wood; introduction by Glenn Frank; publishers, Simon and Schuster; price $2.00.

The conditions of our present age are so new it is of the greatest importance to understand and take into account their unique characteristics, their special requirements, and their influence on the world about us.

In this book one of the nation's most outstanding merchants and business leaders presents not only a clear and keen analysis of the machine age in which we find ourselves, but a practical plan for personal adjustment both to it and to the situations which it has created.

The author is president of William Filene's Sons Company of Boston and one of the outstanding retail merchants of the U.S.A.

He has been active in national and international business and public affairs. His work abroad has been recognized by decorations from many foreign governments. He is the founder and president of the Twentieth Century Fund, organized to promote the improvement of economic, industrial, civic and educational conditions, and of the National Credit Union Extension Bureau. He is co-organizer, ex-director and former member of the Executive Committee of the Boston City Club, the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the International Management Institute in Geneva, and other organizations. He is the author of "The Way Out," "More Profits from Merchandising" and "The Model Stock Plan."

This is the fourth printing (10,000 copies) and the volume has also been published in Great Britain, and in translation in Germany, Italy, Holland and Czech-Slovakia. A French edition is in preparation.

The chapters are: Mass Production and (1) Successful Living (2) Buying Power (3) The Consumer's Dollar (4) Credit (5) Unemployment (6) The Second Industrial Revolution (7) The Family (8) Politics (9) Socialism and Communism (10) The Tariff (11) World Peace (12) Education (13) Religion (14) Mechanization (15) Beauty (16) The Profit Motive (17) Personal Adjustment (18) Advertising (19) Health (20) Housing (21) Agriculture (22) Excesses and Perils and (23) Social Planning.

His definition of Mass Production reads: "Mass Production is not simply large-scale production. It is large-scale production based upon a clear understanding that increased production demands increased buying, and that the greatest total profits can be obtained only if the masses can and do enjoy a higher and even higher standard of living. For selfish business reasons, therefore, genuine mass production industries must make prices lower and lower and wages higher and higher, while constantly shortening the workday and bringing to the masses not only more money but more time in which to use and enjoy the ever-increasing volume of industrial products." Mass Production, therefore, is PRODUCTION FOR THE MASSES. It changes the whole social order. It necessitates the abandonment of all class thinking, for tradition, not only by business men but by all who wish to live successfully in the Machine Age. But it is not standardizing human life. It is liberating the masses, rather, from the struggle for mere existence and enabling them, for the first time in human history, to give their attention to more distinctly human problems."

Further Troubles Of Westmount In Days Gone By Are Revealed

Westmount Advertiser For 1905 Gave Graphic History Of Community's Difficulties—Trouble With the Water Supply Arrangements—Witty Scribe Pokes Fun Here and There

This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the Westmount of thirty-two years ago, and taken from files of The Westmount Advertiser for 1905, which recorded local history as it unfolded. Older residents who may recall incidents herein recorded, or others which may have been omitted, are invited to communicate with The Editor. Reminiscences of old times are always welcome, and we will be pleased to print any letters submitted, according to subject matter and space available, and subject to editorial "condensing."

Again we turn the cracking, yellowed-with-age pages of The Westmount Advertiser; again Westmount and its trials and tribulations, incidents and news of interest, unfolds as the kaleidoscope of time turns backwards.

It is Saturday, January 28th, 1905; the newly elected City Council has just held its first meeting, and councillor C. A. Duclos has been elected Mayor, replacing John Rogers, who now becomes a plain Councillor; the righteous—or so we are led to believe—indignation of the editorial staff of The Advertiser is aroused by the obvious (to them) pulling of wires by "the real rulers of the town," and the august body is referred to as "our puppet council," and the first meeting as "a dress rehearsal." A witty scribe has a column headed "Pungent Paragraphs" running down the fourth column of the page—next to advertisements—and he misses no opportunity to poke fun and sarcasm at the politics and politicians of the day.

Under the heading "The Wail of the Water Company" appears an article dealing with "a tale of woe" which appeared the previous Saturday in a Montreal daily on the 'situation existing between the Montreal Water Company and the City of Westmount. If this story were supported by corroborative evidence, states the editorial writer, it would go far to show that "The Montreal Water and Power Company were organized for purely philanthropic purposes and that its directors were actuated by pure benevolence when they undertook to supply Westmount with 'pure and wholesome water.'" Another front page story deals with "The Municipal Ownership of Light and Water Plants," and goes into the subject for fully half a column of Westmount's running her own plants for the supplying of these commodities. Under the heading of "Pungent Paragraphs" appears a joke titled "The Water Does the Rest," and is as follows:—Mike—"Indade,

Wm. O'Donnell Attended Meeting

The Young Men's Intellectual Society met on Friday evening at the home of Mr. Clifford Bond. Mr. William O'Donnell, Somerville avenue resident, was in the chair. (So was everyone else). Mr. O'Donnell opened the meeting with a straight flush—and some of the members also had flushes, which got redder and redder as aces were found up their sleeves.

Mr. Bond, the genial, jovial host, was congratulated on attaining fatherhood for the second time. Mrs. Bond, still in confinement, was sent a bouquet of flowers with the compliments of the group.

During the evening, Mr. O'Donnell was called out on business (oh yeah?) and was extended use of the car of one of the other members. Damages have yet to be settled.

Following an intellectual evening spent shuffling the pasteboards and reading "eskwire," Mr. Bond provided a repast that made the table groan. The members ate so much that presently they were groaning too. Dill pickles were served, and peanuts proved popular, but not with Mr. Bond, as he had to sweep up the shells.

The group broke up at one o'clock. Mr. Bond has not yet finished counting the furniture. Those present were Mr. O'Donnell, Mr. Stanley Booth, Mr. Victor Barfoot, Mr. James Davies and Mr. Lorne Macbean.

ARCHDEACON TO SPEAK

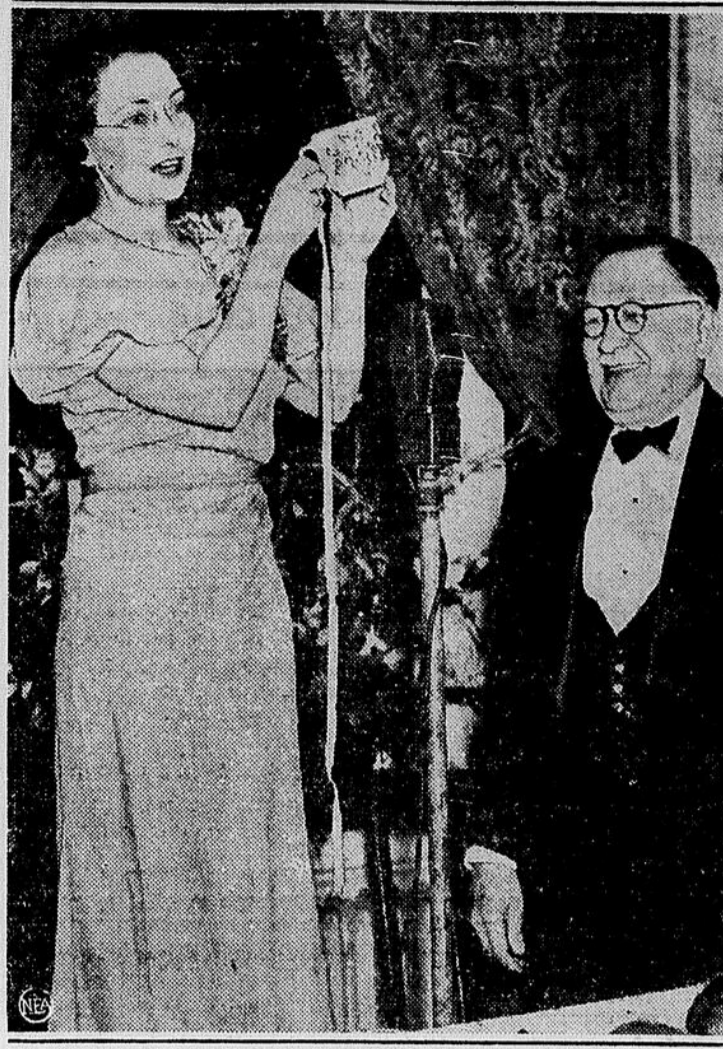

An address will be given by the Ven. Archdeacon Gower-Rees on Tuesday at 8.15 p.m. in the parish hall of St. Stephen's Church, Weredale Park, on the subject "Symbols and Teachings of the Anglican Church." This will be sponsored by the members of the Church Guild.

HER MEDICINE

Two old women were having a heart-to-heart chat. One said to the other, "So you're troubled with earache, too, are you? What do you take?" "Oh, well," answered the other, "I just takes me knitting."

For another week. Next week the financial deficit, the burglary of W. T. Box's grocery store, and "The Reign of Graft" will be retold.

AMERICA'S FAVORITE AUTHORESS

Perhaps they picked Margaret Mitchell for the job because, like the title of her book, moustache cups have "Gone With the Wind." It was a rare occasion, indeed, for the author of the fabulously popular novel to make a public appearance, and it was the Georgia Press Institute, meeting in Athens, Ga., that she honored. Miss Mitchell presented the be-ribboned moustache cup to Percy Miller, managing editor, for delivery to Herschel Jenkins, publisher of the Savannah Evening Press, prevented by illness from attending the gathering.

H. Tuescher, Horticulturist Addressed Westend Society

A large and very appreciative audience attended the lecture held under the auspices of the West End Horticultural Society Friday evening at St. Luke's Church Hall. The lecture was given by H. Tuescher, Superintendent and Chief Horticulturist of the Montreal Botanical Gardens. The beautiful slides, which were very ably shown by Leslie Carson, of the Associated Screen News, presented many of the lovely flowers and shrubs which will appear in the new Botanical Gardens now in the course of construction. The lecture was exceedingly interesting and instructive, and there is no doubt but that many of the varieties of flowering shrubs will be found planted in the home surroundings of many of those present in the near future.

The members of the West End Horticultural Society are deeply appreciative of the courtesy of the minister and members of St. Luke's Church, who so kindly granted the use of their hall for the purpose of the lecture. Following is a resume of the address given by Mr. H. Tuescher, outlining the work now in progress, together with plans for the future.

"Close to one hundred Botanical Gardens have been visited and studied in all parts of the world either by myself or by frere Marie-Victorin, who is the founder and director of this new Botanical Garden. From all the gardens that we have seen, we hope to combine in one all of the most desirable features and also hope to improve on their execution as far as we are able to do so and to avoid the mistakes which have been made before us.

The main purpose of our new garden as we conceive it, will be the edification and education of the general public. Therefore, our garden will be not only a scientific collection of plants but also a beautiful park.

Variety

We propose to lay out a series of gardens within our garden, each of which will be devoted to a display of a different kind. In front of the administration building, at the corner of Pie IX Blvd. and Sherbrooke St., we have started to lay out a flower garden of annual plants which on several terraces, will present a brilliant and colorful show. This garden will contain, instead of a collection of several hundred varieties, a selection of some of the best and most desirable and newest varieties arranged in pleasing color contrasts. All the seeds for this garden have

MAINLY ABOUT SKINFINTS

Skinflints are those people who would rather have a few extra (and usually worthless) pennies than the goodwill of their neighbors, the people with whom they work, and their friends (if any). They go about pinching pennies here, and gyping people there; buying cheap goods to save a few cents instead of quality merchandise that will show its worth as time goes by; and leaving their bills till the last possible minute in order to get the interest on their money in the bank, which usually amounts to about 17/373 of a cent.

This column should be cut out and pasted on the wall, as it applies to so many people we all know. We are all familiar with the man who will go to ten dollars worth of trouble to get ten cents' worth of benefit; the man who will spend twenty cents' worth of shoe-leather to walk to a store where they sell something three or four cents cheaper; and the man who will hold up a long line of people at the cashier's wicket at the grocery store Saturday night to haggle over the price of dog-discuits—usually about one cent dearer than he anticipated.

If all the money saved by skinflints in Canada in the course of a year's haggling were laid end to end it would extend about half as far as would the money, also laid end to end, that they would have saved in expenses by buying better goods the first time. Just what these people do with this coveted money is a matter of conjecture; if they saved it and then gave it to some worthy charity at the end of the year, all would be fine; but so far as we can make out, they save it only to spend later on for cheaper goods than ever... sort of a vicious circle.

A few similes: as tight as the bark on a tree—and just as sappy; as close as the next second; tighter than a frog's eyelids—and they're water-tight; so tight he squeaks when he moves; as close as the big, public-spirited celebrity when asked to contribute to some cause without getting his name in the paper; as generous with his money as a hen with its feathers (and just as hard to get it from!); We'll run a few more if we can think of any.

Contrary to general opinion, the Scottish people are definitely NOT skinflints; they are probably better spenders in their own way than most of us... for when they do spend their money, they get quality merchandise for it, and are usually willing to spend more in the first place to get better goods.

Thriftiness is a fine quality—but, like so many virtues, it can be used as a cloak for vices by certain people. Thrift is usually called economy in ourselves and meanness in others, but is nevertheless a commendable trait. Thrift, however, does not consist of saving money at the expense of goodwill—for goodwill is worth far more than money when the pinch comes; the man who has felt his employer's generosity will be glad to lend him a helping hand when difficulties arise, but if he has felt the pinch of "economy"... he won't be so anxious to help; he'll feel more like paying back in kind.

The skinflint will patronize cheap labour, thinking he is getting a bargain. But does he get up a howl when he has to foot a big tax bill for relief, due to the cheap labour's having put the legitimate workman out of business, and throwing him on the public charity.

We wish that we could think of more, but then it might make some folks sore; for certain people take offense, for jibes we mean for other gent's; but if they're mad, we're glad! we've mentioned there. As we go on with the development of the park, we hope to extend these natural groups to include also the flora of foreign lands and to show woodland and meadow of Northern Europe as well as of Northern Asia. Eventually, we expect to have in our park also an extensive arboretum which will contain all the trees and shrubs of the world which can support our climate.

Since the park will be quite large and a few hours will not be sufficient to see it all, we intend to provide for the convenience of visitors a picnic ground with tables, benches and shelter. For the amusement of children who, of course, can not be permitted to play ball in our gardens, we shall provide a playground.

Special collections of such widely cultivated plants as Gladioli, Iris and others will be accommodated in our nursery and testing field, where the general public will be admitted only on special permission, and where in the future we hope to carry on extensive experiments in acclimatization and plant breeding.

Officers Of Cygnet Club Are Elected

Annual Meeting Of Group Held At Home Of Miss Shaw, Olivier Avenue; Reports Presented

Mrs. F. Ross Johnson, Sunnyside avenue, was named honorary president of the Cygnet Club at the annual meeting of that body held recently at the home of Miss Olive Shaw, Mount Pleasant avenue; Mrs. A. B. Rutherford was elected president, and Mrs. A. S. Bruneau and Mrs. H. C. Pearson, first and second vice-presidents respectively. Other officers included Mrs. E. D. Gordon, corresponding secretary; recording secretary, Mrs. H. C. Pearson; Mrs. Eldridge Cate, treasurer; and Miss Helen McIntosh, Mrs. A. Turner Bone, Mrs. Wilfred Clark Mrs. E. J. Trott and Mrs. G. E. Robertson were named committee conveners.

288 garments were made and distributed by the members during the year; it was revealed in the report; and 240 articles were made for a tea and sale held in November.

The club assisted the Julius Richardson Home in Chateaugay and the Rosemount Centre of the Family Welfare Association; and contributions were made to the Montreal Children's Hospital, The Montreal Bible Society's worker in Rosemount, Tyndale House, and the Family Welfare Association. Christmas dinners were supplied to four needy families; a scholarship was given to a girl student, and several of the members helped with the clerical work during the Financial Federation Campaign.

Let us print the tickets for that play, dance or social event.

Dead After Long Illness

The funeral was held on Tuesday from St. Leon's Church of Raoul Hector Berthiaume, Olivier avenue resident, whose death occurred on Friday following a lengthy illness.

A native of St. Bruno, Chambly County, where he was born in 1881, Mr. Berthiaume was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. X. N. Berthiaume. He received his education there, and his early business training in Montreal.

For the past thirty five years he had been associated with the insurance business, and at the time of his death was an insurance broker.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Eva Dufresne, two sons, Louis and Gerard, all of Westmount, and a sister, Mrs. E. Chevrier and a brother, Oscar, both of St. Bruno.

This evening the Student Council is holding an entertainment. The Girls' Choir will sing and the seventh years will present a play. Other items will be performed by students, and the audience will join in Community Singing.

A splendid offer is being made to pupils concerning the coronation. Forty pupils are invited from the province of Quebec to attend the ceremonies. During their stay in England, the group will be accommodated for three weeks in London and part of the time in residential schools and private English homes. The pupils will see the Coronation procession and attend the Youth rally to be held in Westminster Abbey on May 19th.

At the last meeting of the Astronomy Club, Mr. Mitchell followed up his subject of the week before with a sequel called "Wiser than the Wisest." In his talk he told of the modern theories of the solar system. The members hope to have Dr. Douglas and Mr. Patterson pay return visits in the near future to address them. Lessons have been ordered for the telescope and it will soon be ready for use.

Close Watch On Montreal Being Kept

There is no doubt that the time is approaching when all interurban services—such as fire and police protection, public health and hygiene, town planning and finance—must be centralized and their costs spread throughout the metropolitan district. This will mean a considerable saving of money to the City of Montreal as well as to the surrounding municipalities. In fact so far as the City is concerned the saving will make a considerable difference to the budget. To administer the centralized services there must be a central council or commission to which the several municipalities send their delegates, the number of delegates proportioned to the local populations.

Borough System

Such a central authority may be the present Metropolitan Commission with certain changes to meet the requirements of increased responsibility, or an entirely new administration, but whatever form it takes it must be on a co-operative basis—each community while retaining the autonomy in purely local affairs contributing its share to the common cause. This kind of metropolitan organization is what is known as the borough system—the same system which I have been advocating these last three years from this station. It is not a new system with us, for the Metropolitan Commission itself is based on the borough principle; besides which, we have it in our county system—each county council being composed of the mayors of the townships and villages which comprise the county.

My reason for taking up this question of our local government is that Montreal is slipping from its proud position of being the commercial metropolis of Canada. Toronto is rapidly overtaking us and unless some real action is taken we will soon be left behind. Now the City has lost quite a number of industries lately because of heavy taxes and lack of confidence in the administration. This is very serious and the sooner we get an administration in which all the people have confidence the better will it be for industry and business. And in speaking of the administration I am not referring to those at present in charge at the City Hall who are having a hard time of it because of the impossible conditions they work under, but I refer to the system itself which has created these impossible conditions. And I look forward to the time when the present regime will not only admit that the present administrative system is unworkable, but who will demand a trial of the borough system which has worked out so successfully in the Metropolitan Commission. That would be a worthwhile action, for it would go far to re-establish the credit and fame of Canada's commercial metropolis, thus enabling the City to begin a new era of prosperity.

Need to Plan

I think that all of us will agree that what is wanted in the great commercial metropolis is a plan by which every race, every class and every interest can get together in the common cause. Instead of each one of the fourteen municipalities having just its own interest at heart, we want a community of interests by which all will contribute their share in the advancement and economic and social development of the whole metropolitan district. And it is because the borough system, being constructive in principle, provides the most adequate machinery I know of for the carrying out of such a plan, I have always been in favour of its adoption for the government of Greater Montreal. Its well-adjusted checks on all financial matters keep both the councils and the permanent officials in the straight and narrow path, and makes it well nigh impossible for maladministration or for graft to flourish; the system itself develops with the growth of the district, so that it never becomes obsolete; it encourages the best men and women to come out for public service, because it is mostly a gratuitous service; and it assures to the taxpayer the economical spending of their money.

Queen Anne's Reign Topic At CWL Meet

Dr. G. J. Cassidy Addressed Westmount Subdivision—Group To Hold Card Party Friday

The reign of Queen Anne, and the living traditions of that famous era of English history were told to members of the Westmount Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League at its meeting held last Friday by Dr. G. J. Cassidy. Among the heritages which have come down from that reign were St. Paul's Cathedral and other famous churches designed by Christopher Wren, and carvings and sculptures of Grinling Gibbons, and Lloyd's, the underwriting firm which originated in the famous Lloyd's Coffee House.

Among the articles introduced during that reign, went on Dr. Cassidy, were Chinese porcelain, lacquered furniture from Japan, and walnut furniture. The clothing and house furnishings of the age were described by Dr. Cassidy.

Miss N. M. Howlett, R.N., director of the social service department of St. Mary's Hospital, described medical social work and told of the activities of her department.

Mrs. P. A. Bailly played some piano selections, and Mrs. H. P. Nightingale thanked the speaker and pianist. It was announced that a card party would be held on March 12th.

Local Group Of Brigade Will Parade

Church Service to be Held For Boys' Brigade Company in Maisonneuve Presbyterian Church

The First Company of the Boys' Brigade, connected with Melville Presbyterian Church, will join with the other three west end companies and eleven other city companies of the Brigade in the second Battalion Service of the season to be held in the Maisonneuve Presbyterian Church. The special speaker will be Rev. R. Rowland, Chaplain of the seventh Company, and a number of musical numbers will be sung by a well known boy soprano.

The first Company have had notable success with their Ambulance Squad, and are looking forward to the competitions which will shortly be held. Mr. Lunnie is in charge of this branch of the work.

On Friday evening the boys had as their guest Mr. Robert Kerr of McGill University Medical course, who performed a number of interesting experiments with the aid of a powerful microscope.

The Montreal Battalion Council has appointed its Boards of Examiners, and each company has posted a list of the dates and places at which these will be taken. The Life Boy team, in conjunction with the Company is progressing, and are looking forward to receiving their uniforms, which will be of the "sailor boy" variety. These boys are under twelve years of age, and will be later transferred to the Boys' Brigade.

TIM BUCK TO SPEAK AT CANADIAN CLUB

The Young Men's Canadian Club, following their policy of hearing men of all shades of opinion speak on questions affecting Canada, have invited Tim Buck, leader of the Communist Party, to address them at their next meeting in Queen's Hotel on Monday evening.

Mr. Buck, whose political activities are widely known, has chosen as his subject, "I Was a Convict," and will speak on prison reform, a question much before the public in view of the recent rioting at the reform prison at Guelph. Some years ago Mr. Buck was imprisoned at the Kingston penitentiary on account of his political utterances so that he is in a position to speak at first hand as to conditions in the jails of the country.

GAVE PERFORMANCE

Edward Charles, popular conjurer, was the centre of attraction at the supper meeting held in the "Y" Friday night by members of the Preps, Juniors and Intermediate divisions.

The boys sat wide-eyed while newspapers were torn into little pieces and made to reappear whole; things disappeared and popped back into visibility with disconcerting realism; and the conjurer apologized that he had no elephants to produce for the benefit of the gathering.

To Present Three Plays

Westmount Park Church Drama Group to Give Entertainment This Evening In Webster Hall

Tonight, the drama group of Westmount Park Church Young People's Society are presenting a group of three one-act plays in Webster Hall.

The members have been rehearsing diligently during the past few weeks, and a good evening's entertainment is promised for tonight.

The majority of the cast are comparatively new to dramatics, as this is the first year the Society has had an active drama group. In the fall they presented three one-act plays with great success, and at Christmas time presented a parable in the church.

All are invited to attend to-night's performance.

Additional patrons and patronesses for the Temple Emmanuel-El Tenth Annual Ball at the Mount Royal Hotel tomorrow evening include:

Mr. and Mrs. B. Mortimer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Ostor, Mr. and Mrs. Josh Shapray, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Finklestein, Messrs. Laddy, Kert, Harry Zaritsky, Herbert Silver, Chas. D. Goldstein, Irwin Solomon, Edward Rabinovitch, Lewis Seigler, Victor Elkin, Dr. Jack Boness, David Bezzan, Raymond Bezzan, Joseph Handman, Messrs. Henrietta Eijn, Edith Jacobson.

Jack Benny Signs For Three Years With NBC; "Spotlight Parade" Offers Melvor Music

Lajoie and Kramer To Occupy Podium At Midtown Showplace — Annette Henshaw Made Transcriptions Here — Howard Smith With Dorsey

By Jack Hirschberg

Amidst a general air of festivity enhanced somewhat by grinding cameras and smooth-tongued radio commentators, the new Chez Maurice is scheduled to be unveiled Monday evening at the stroke of seven, and what has been set forth by ambitious press representatives as a super-gigantic, colossal, extravagant, historic, impressive occasion, overwhelming in its magnificence, promises to be just that. Circulars and publicity blurbs emanating from the rejuvenated cabaret spend much valuable space describing the ultra-modern cocktail bar ornamenting one corner of the spacious lounge, and weave many words around the newly-installed air-conditioning plant, the curved walls and indirect-lighting, the novel rolling band stand and the increased kitchen facilities currently in process of installation.

These are highly-explosive activities aimed especially at the seeker after fine entertainment; but, to this observer at least, the flash of the cameras and the chatter of the crowd Monday evening will mean more than the mere ceremonies attendant upon the opening of another night club. The history of Chez Maurice and that of entertainment locally during recent years are intertwined, and with the colourful inauguration celebrations planned for Monday evening both will enter upon a new phase of their existence.

Much water has passed under the bridge since the birth of the original spot called Chez Maurice. Theatres have opened and clubs have closed. Songs have hit the heights and stars have waned. But, somehow, this plucky little organization has plodded on, grown in size, status and importance, undergone several metamorphoses and prospered to see many of the names it originally sponsored gain unhoped-for niches at the top of the ladder. Jack Dempsey, Roger Fryer, Dave Rubino, Harry Richman and Helen Morgan are but a few of the toptouch performers who have graced these midtown boards, and Nan Blakstone, Wini Shaw, Archie Robbins and John Steele were helped to fame largely on the basis of the buildup they were given locally.

One cannot help but congratulate those behind the scenes and wish them well. They deserve success.

According to an agreement reached this week between Jack Benny and his sponsors, the melodious comedian will continue to emote through facilities of the National Broadcasting Company until the summer of 1940. Benny signed papers to this effect several days ago and headed eastward to reunite with wife Mary in New York City tomorrow, shifting the scene of his Sunday evening broadcasts to Manhattan for several weeks. Andy Devine, Eddie Beloin and Bill Morrow—the latter two his script writers—accompany Benny back east, as does Harry Baldwin, the fellow who has been trying to wish him a "Happy New Year" for the past few months. "Mood Moderne" heard on last Wednesday's edition of Rupert Caplan's "Spotlight Parade", is but one of the many compositions reeled off by Alan Melvor, orchestra conductor on the weekly series. Melvor's arrangements are highly regarded both locally and in New York, where he is considered one of the better arrangers of the day. Installation of a new bandstand at the Mt. Royal Hotel has led to great acoustical improvements in broadcasts originating in the Main Dining Room. Dancers this week were also treated to new rhythmic effects by Lloyd Huntley and his orchestra, effects made possible by the elaborate loud-speaking system set in action within the past few days.

Mary Beetles Will Present Moon Magic

On Thursday evening, there will take place on the stage of Victoria Hall, Westmount, an original musical comedy entitled, "Moon Magic," which is being presented by Mary Beetles and under the direction of Miss Margaret Armstrong, director of the department of dramatics at the Mary Beetles School of Dancing.

"Moon Magic" is an hilarious commentary on the modern woman's desire to combine marriage with a career, and it relates the romantic tangles in which several young men and women graduates of a mythical university become involved.

With specially written music by Margaret Armstrong, a dancing line, several solo dancers, a trained singing chorus and principals all of whom have had considerable experience on the operetta stage, "Moon Magic" is being produced on an ambitious scale. The cast will number, all told, about fifty. An orchestra under the direction of Howard Fogg will be in attendance.

"Moon Magic" will be presented for one night only. Tickets will be on sale at the Willis Piano store shortly.

Arthur Treacher with inserts of Virginia Field and David Niven in the story of P. G. Wodehouse's uproarious people, "Thank You, Jeeves," opening a three day engagement at the Westmount United Theatre Sunday.

Belmont Park Prepares For Coming Season

Cartierville, which has a reputation as Montreal's summer playground, needs no robin to tell when spring has returned. When three or four motor cars in one week roll up to Belmont Park then the citizens of Cartierville know that spring is just around the corner.

This week the cars rolled out to Belmont and out of them climbed the park's directors, construction experts and Rex D. Billings, park manager, who has just returned from Florida. The officials made a tour of the property and returned to Montreal to complete their plans for the coming summer.

"Florida is having an old-time boom," Mr. Billings said. "In the east stores and resorts are busy. People are spending money again and having a good time. Prosperity has come back and Montreal has not been left out in the cold. Last summer we saw the beginning of prosperity and, in anticipation, we spent approximately $100,000 on Belmont Park improvements. The people of Montreal showed that they appreciated the change in Belmont Park and visited us in record numbers.

IN GAYEST COMEDY OF THE SEASON . . . !

Brilliant Event As Society Throgs Snowdon Theatre In American Picture Premiere

Film Envoys From Hollywood and England Graced Opening Ceremony — Local Theatrical Figures Also Present—Modernistic Architecture Effective

Amidst the glare of spotlights and the click of news cameras, the new Snowdon Theatre was ceremoniously unveiled Friday evening in the presence of almost 1000 invited guests, including important film executives from both sides of the Atlantic, representatives of the regional press and theatrical world, and a host of leading citizens who gathered to attend the opening of America's newest theatre and the American premier of Gaumont-British's much-to-be-discussed photoplay, "The Great Barrier."

It was indeed a gala affair, the shining top hats and glistening shirt fronts lending an air of distinction to the occasion. Colour ran rampant, blobs of red, blue and white twinkling throughout the entire auditorium as the ladies in their gay evening wraps waved to friends and fluttered from aisle to aisle to exchange hurried greetings. Red was predominant, blending effectively with the scarlet chairs and luxurious surroundings, but blues and greens were well in evidence when the assembled guests took their places at curtain-time.

Much interest was evinced in the technical features of the building, and following the program attractively-garbed ladies rambled backstage and through the several salons while their escorts investigated the mysteries of the projection chamber and listened attentively as projectionists explained the intricacies of modern sound-picture equipment.

Featuring as it did the American premier and the second showing anywhere of an eagerly-awaited screenplay, the occasion brought together representatives of American and British film companies, local theatrical and press figures and a flock of invited guests. Over in one corner Miss Dorothy Davis, of the Children's Theatre, chatted with Mr. George Rotsky of the Consolidated Theatres and Famous Players. Mr. Dave Legate (D.M.L.) of The Star exchanged banter with two young ladies at the entrance to the main auditorium, and Mr. Thomas Archer discussed the New York stage with several guests from Manhattan. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gannon appeared absorbed in the lighting equipment and its complicated control panel backstage, and Mr. George Ganatakos and Mr. Ernest Cousins, the hosts of the evening, seemed everywhere at once.

When the lights were raised, the curtains parted and refreshments were served on the stage. Out in the flower-bedecked lobby there was further refreshment and guests gazed at the strange tropical fish held prisoners in a huge tank illuminated in ever-changing colors.

Amongst the many present were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. A. Berling, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stevens, Mr. Kenneth Hatton, Mr. Kenneth Lyall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lightstone, Mr. Jack Hirschberg.

During the evening wires were received from many film luminaries including Joel McCrea, Richard Arlen and Jean Harlow.

Others who excelled were Phyllis Rowell, Maud Whitmore and Muriel Floud. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris were in charge of the production and handled it in their usual distinctive style. They are also directing "H.M.S. Pinafore" which is to come to Montreal West April 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

The entire show was entertaining. Also in the cast were: John G. Vrooland, Andrew D. Grier, John M. Stewart, Iris Allton. The chorus was composed of Misses Bareham, Colby, Collinge, Colvin, Cox, Ellis, Harris, Lyth, MacDon-

ROMANCE, LAUGHTER HIGHLIGHTS NEW HIT

Enchanting with romance, delighting with laughter, exciting with adventure and intrigue and dazzling with splendor, "As You Like It," the screen version of Shakespeare's gay comedy, opens Sunday for three days at the Westmount United Theatre, a Twentieth Century-Fox release.

Lovers, plotters, forbidden trysts, disguises, duels, jousts, jokes, kisses and surprises are but a few of the highlights of the film, which is truthfully described as the most riotous romance ever written.

Today's most lauded and applauded star, Elizabeth Bergner, has the stellar role of Rosalind, whose romance with the dashing Orlando forms the main thread of the plot.

Orlando is banished from the realm when his rascally brother, Oliver, betrays him as a loyalist and Rosalind follows the exiled youth. In the Forest of Arden, under the greenwood trees, Orlando again meets Rosalind, now disguised as a boy.

The disguise proves the means of causing hilarious confusion, uniting the lovers, and restoring the rightful duke to his title.

Laurence Olivier, Henry Ainley and Sophie Stewart are featured in the production, which was directed and produced by Paul Czinner.

Arthur Treacher appears in the second feature, the story of P. G. Wodehouse's uproarious people "Thank You, Jeeves."

MCGILL STAGES 15TH RED AND WHITE REVUE

Iris Armstrong and Other Favorites Back In Cast Of Musical Extravaganza

McGill's fifteenth annual Red & White Revue will be held on the stage of Moyses Hall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 11, 12 and 13. A matinee performance will also be presented on Saturday, the 13th. The usual custom of opening Wednesday evening is being abandoned, and the extra night will be used for a third dress rehearsal, which will greatly enhance the precision of the show.

Stars of past productions will again take an important part in the musical extravaganza. Jack Waud, perennial favourite, will appear, but this time in the unfamiliar role of orchestra leader. A graduates' skit will also be presented, featuring, among others, Tiny Webb, Bob MacDuff, the front or talking part of Phoebe the cow in last year's performance, Bernice Ashkanase, Lorraine Tasker, John Pratt, Hugh (Eric the Red) Savage, and Wallie (Little Rollo) Markham. The skit is called "The Merchant of Venison."

Six chorus numbers, presented by twenty-six chic coeds, will also be featured. The chorines are, as usual under the direction of Alan Murray, who has been responsible for much of the success of the Revue in the past. Among the soloists are Jim Moore, Libby MacLeod, Mary Louise Crook, Christine Ross, Carolyn Clarke, Joy Hendery, Frances Coghlin, Peggy Morris, and Bob Harvey.

Music writers this year consist of a mixture of the old talent who have been responsible for so many successes and a new crop that promises to do just as well. Bruce Ross, Jack Waud, Howard Simpson, Chip Molson, and Iris Armstrong are all well known to Revue audiences, and their work is ably supported by the newcomers.

The Red & White Revue of 1937, as all preceding shows, is entirely an amateur production, written, directed and acted by students and graduates. Walter K. Molson is the producer.

"The uncertain influences of yesterday," warns an astrologer, "still lurk around this morning, so where possible postpone important matters till the late evening." Why, a good many folks do that all the time!

ald, McLean, Neilson, Primeau, Searwards and Watson, also Messrs Albiston, Anderson, Barker, Campbell, Fleming, Holton, Irving, Haines, Johnston, King, Locke, MacKinnon, Nelan, Patterson, Stone, W. W. Rooney and Henry Amnden in charge of scenic effects and costumes did an excellent job.

Russian Diva Guest Of The Montreal Orchestra March 14

Olga Averino Makes Montreal Debut Under Clarke — Concert Will Be Second To Last This Season — Many Stand To Hear Enesco

Departing slightly from the usual plan of presenting an outstanding instrumentalist as guest soloist at its Sunday afternoon concerts, the Montreal Orchestra has completed negotiations whereby Olga Averino, world-famous Russian soprano, will appear at its concert of Sunday afternoon, March 14, at His Majesty's Theatre. Though extremely well-known to audiences in the United States and Europe, this will be Madame Averino's first concert in Montreal.

One of the leading sopranos of the Russian opera, Madame Averino found her successful career cut suddenly short when the Revolution broke out, and she fled to America in the company of many other gifted artists. A graduate of the Russian Imperial Conservatory, the singer was hailed first as an accomplished pianist and later turned to the study of voice in which she attracted unusual attention among critics and musicians. Her American debut was made in New York, and during the past few years, Madame Averino has appeared as soloist in virtually every important musical centre in America. She is at present confining her activities to appearances with the leading symphonic bodies of the United States, and her visit to Montreal will be her only Canadian appearance this season.

It is interesting to note that the attendance at last Sunday's concert, with Georges Enesco as violinist, was so great that over one hundred people were forced to stand throughout the afternoon. Madame Averino's performance with the Montreal Orchestra will mark the second to last concert scheduled by the Orchestra this season.

WESTMOUNT Y NOW HOLDERS OF FAMOUS LIONS CLUB TROPHY

Grads Win First Game Of Two-Out Of Three Series Defeating Ramblers 5-3

Gain the Edge in Senior Playoffs—Morgan and Cameron Outstanding For Grads—Morgan Tied Score Twice, and Cameron Sank Winning Goal—Game Was Hard Fought—Teams

Grads last Thursday outfought Ramblers at the Westmount Grounds to gain a one game edge in the Senior playoffs, as they won 5-3.

S. Morgan and W. Cameron, were outstanding for the Grads as the former tied the score at 1-1 and 2-2, while the latter sank the tying and winning goals to break up what seemed like an overtime affair. Anderson netted the Grads' fifth goal.

The Ramblers started strongly, and were rewarded for their efforts as at the four minute mark, Hooper slapping home a rebound of Morrison's.

Christmas, defenceman of the Ramblers was penalized for crashing Ostiguy to the boards, and Illsley rose to sensational heights as he bounced, slid and knocked down blistering drives from every angle. At the 18.45 minute mark, Morgan sent one deep in the twine. The period ended with the teams deadlocked at 1-1.

The second period got under way with Grads showing a considerable improvement in their passing. However, Morrison and Priestman broke away and the latter after accepting a pass from his center, stopped dead just inside the blue line and blasted one under Collis' arm whose view was partly blocked on the shot. As the period was nearing the end, Morgan again tied the score on a pass from J. Cameron.

At the 5.24 mark of the third period, Morrison dribbled one in through a maze of legs in a scramble directly in front of the Grad net. Both teams were slowing badly. A. Milne, Ostiguy and Cameron combined for the tying counter, W. Cameron converting a pass-out from behind the net at 3-3. Four minutes later, W. Cameron again scored. J. Cameron and A. Milne also figured in this goal. Finally at the 18.00 mark, Anderson broke away with the entire Ramblers' team in the Grads zone and he lifted one over Illsley as he slid out of his net in an attempt to save. Ramblers fought savagely to overcome Grads lead but were too played out and the game ended with Grads leading the series, one game, score, 5-3.

Line-up
Grads: Collis, J. Cameron, E. Milne, Morgan, Anderson, Fee, Ostiguy, W. Cameron, A. Milne.
Ramblers: Illsley, Christmas, Marshall, Priestman, Morrison, Hooper, Novinger.

Westmount High School Notes

By M. S.
The best news of the week at the school was to the effect that Principal H. B. Parker had sufficiently recovered from his recent operation to return to his home where he is making steady progress towards regaining his normal health. The absence of the Principal has been felt by teachers and scholars alike, and it is pleasing to note that he will soon return to his official duties at the school.

Since the first of the new year girls of the second form have been hard at work preparing colorful Marionettes in connection with their study of Shakespeare's "As You Like It." On Wednesday afternoon the girls erected miniature scenery in the school auditorium when they cleverly manipulated the gaily clad figures in scenes from the play before an appreciative audience of scholars. The preparation of the many dolls representing the characters of the play was under the supervision of Miss E. S. Wardleworth and Miss M. Dyke.

"Resolved that one year of travel is more beneficial to the individual than two years at college." This was the subject debated by the first and second forms. The affirmative was well supported by Gwen Edwards and Ronald Rankin, while the negative was taken by Geraldine Hamlet and Brahm Baitle. The judges, Miss Edgerston and Messrs. Steves and Stewart, rendered a decision favouring the negative, the second form.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dance under the auspices of the Westmount High Senior Hockey Club, to be held in the school Gym Friday evening (next week), are working hard on the project. Howard Simpson's orchestra will be on hand.

Westmount High Down For 1 Game

Met Catholic High Monday and Yesterday to Decide Championship—Lost 1-0 on Monday

DECIDED YESTERDAY
Final Game Too Late For Publication—Details Of First Game Given

by Doug Laing
In the first of two games being played between Westmount and Catholic High for the City Championship resulted in a 1 to 0 victory for Catholic High. The game was on Monday and played at the Mount Royal Arena; the second game, played yesterday, was too late to be included in this week's issue.

Westmount was without their regular defenceman, Col Ross, but Bennett from the intermediates played very well. Wright, Westmount wing, was also absent.

Catholic had the upperhand for the best part of the first period, and it was after eight minutes of play that McDonnell and Pearce Casey broke through the Westmount defencemen and scored the only goal of the game. During the period Jack Fry made several spectacular saves.

Local Y Swimmers Are Now Quebec Province Champs

The Westmount "Y" first team Thursday night captured the Lions Club Trophy for the junior provincial swimming team championship at the Central "Y" pool, amassing a total of 17 points to head the field by a wide margin.

Y.M.H.A. placed second with eight points while Quintal and the Westmount "Y" second team tied for third place honors with seven each. D. McLennan, A. Ross, R. Johnston, were the individual winners for the Westmount squad and they further swelled their teams aggregate by annexing the relay event. The programme was rounded out by a series of events for senior men entrants. The results are as follows:

100 yards free style senior men: G. Castell, M.A.A.A., won; F. Austen, M.A.A.A., second; G. Brebner, M.A.A.A., third; time, 0.59.

With the Boys at The Westmount 'Y'

Water Polo
Hi-Y water polo players suffered defeat Wednesday afternoon when the Yotmots scored nine goals to the Hi-Y's single register. Yotmots play N.D.G. Monday at 5.

Swimming
Several boys have passed their swimming tests during the last few weeks. Swimming certificates will be presented at the Father and Son Banquet in the near future.

Fencing
Westmount Y fencers have entered in the Provincial Fencing Tournament and are expected to make a good showing for their club. The club meets again tomorrow afternoon at 4. Plans are already under way for three sessions a week next year under the leadership of Mr. George Tully.

Speaking
Public speaking has become a popular study for senior school and Hi-Y members at the "Y". Last Wednesday evening Mr. J. C. Bonar of the C.P.R. addressed the group on how to conduct a meeting with special emphasis on rules of order.

Emblem Club pins have arrived and will be presented at the Father and Son Banquet.

Father and Son Banquet — the date will be announced in the near future.

The annual Gymnasium Exhibition will be held on Saturday, March 20th. Tickets are on sale at the office. Boys selling 4 will win a Y triangle crest and boys selling 8 will win a Y circle crest.

Mr. Frank Spence is having a grand time with the boys of the woodworking group every Saturday, 2-4.

At The Athletic Grounds
This condensed schedule of events at the Westmount Athletic Grounds is included in the interests of the ever increasing number of groups making use of the club-room meeting facilities, and the many who take keen interest in the games staged there.

WHERE'S JOE?
McCrae of Toronto, who is a member of the Club, and on March 20-21 a mixed gathering, attracting numerous teams of men and women curlers. Besides all these, of course, there are the impromptu, quickly arranged sports events which are as much fun as the major competitions.

Ralph Knetzer Wins Jennings Hockey Trophy

The beautiful and highly coveted William Jennings Cup, awarded each year to the member of the Wanderers hockey team who has been of most value to his group during the year, this year becomes the permanent possession of Ralph Knetzer, sturdy left winger, whose phenomenal playing has won many a game for the popular local puck-chasers.

According to rules governing the award of this trophy, the player winning it three years shall become the permanent owner of it. Ralph has led the members of the team in scoring points during the past three seasons.

Andrew McGillis, manager of the Wanderers, says "Ralph is a sound athlete and a true sportsman; we are proud to be able to honour him for his loyalty to the team as well as for his value."

Harrison Continues His Undefeated Streak With 3-All Tie Over D.Ellis

Harrison Scored All Three Goals For His Own Side—Harkness and Ellis Sink Puck—McReath's Lads in Quick 6-2 Victory Over Greenshields' Team—Names of Players

The fates seemed to have a little difficulty in deciding whether or not Billy Harrison and his boys would continue their winning streak which has placed them at the head of the Y League, for, in their game with Don Ellis' team, the score saw-sawed. First one team was in the lead and then the other would overtake and pass them. They finally ended up in a three-all tie. Bill Harrison starred by scoring all three of his team's goals. The boys were hampered very much by bumpy ice and several times when practically in scoring position they either fell or lost control of the puck.

Hugh Harkness added his share to the suspense of the game with two very timely goals and Don Ellis scored the third goal. After the tying goal was scored, try as they might, neither team could score the extra goal needed for victory, and the final whistle blew with the teams still deadlocked. This is the nearest that Harrison's team has come to being defeated in the present schedule, and by reason of this, they are firmly entrenched in first place.

The game between Jack McCreath and Tommy Greenshields looked as if it too would be a tie, but with the score at two-all, McCreath and his boys, particularly Don Cameron went to town and ran in four quick goals to make the score read 6-2. It remained so until the end of the game. This was quite a come-back for a team that absorbed such a drubbing last week. Tomorrow Ellis plays Greenshields and Harrison plays McCreath.

The teams were: T. Greenshields, B. Condon, R. Way, R. Finlay, R. Brown, W. McGuire, C. Griffith, B. Johnson; J. McCreath, D. Goode, L. Renault, D. Cameron, D. Phillips; W. Harrison, E. Murray, B. McPhee, G. Harrison, D. Logan, T. Weller; D. Ellis, H. Harkness, R. Rutledge, G. Wainwright, E. Pettford, B. Powell.
