ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James McDivitt and Edward White, now close enough to home to see their own historic space walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

With almost all the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

The Gemini IV twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released Tuesday in Houston, Tex., and the astronauts saw a television version late Tuesday night.

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem Tuesday: McDivitt had a nosebleed.

FACE BUSY SCHEDULE

The astronauts' schedule: Thursday—Arrive in Houston at 1:30 a.m. EDT for a parade, visit with their families, press conference, further debriefing.

Friday or Saturday—A likely visit to President Johnson's ranch in Texas.

Monday—Ticker-tape parade in Chicago.

Tuesday—Honors by the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Both men are graduates of the university.

Red probe moon bound

MOSCOW (Reuters)—A 1½-ton Russian unmanned space station winged silently toward the moon today on a 3½-day journey that may once again give Moscow the lead in the space race.

Observers here speculated that Luna VI, the latest Soviet space probe, would attempt a "soft" landing on the moon, which the Russians tried and failed to accomplish four weeks ago. Luna VI is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

While the Russians kept silence on their hopes for Luna VI, the observers said that if it can land gently, keeping its instruments intact to relay information back to the earth, Russia will once again be ahead in the race to put a man on the moon.

The automatic station, Russia's sixth moon probe since 1959, was launched from the final section of a multi-stage rocket placed in a "parking orbit" around the earth.

Until now the United States could claim a slight lead in the moon race because of the success of last March's Ranger 3, which telecast close-up pictures of the moon's surface before crashing into it.

CMA head lashes Gordon

TORONTO (CP)—The retiring president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association lashed out Tuesday at Finance Minister Walter Gordon for failing to make an immediate reduction in corporation income and sales taxes.

A. A. Cumming, president of Union Carbide Canada Ltd., told delegates on the final day of the association's two-day annual meeting that manufacturers are seriously disturbed because Mr. Gordon did not include any tax relief for corporations in his recent budget.

He added that the CMA will not relax its efforts to get a decrease for corporations next year.

A Montreal economist said Canada, making new advances through research, can easily achieve a higher growth rate than the average of 5½ per cent called for during the next five years by the Economic Council of Canada. Economist R. B. MacPherson of Du Pont of Canada Ltd. suggested a seven-per-cent growth of the Canadian economy is not unrealistic.

'DRAG ON PROSPERITY' External Affairs Minister Paul Martin told the meeting that any depressed area "is a drag on the prosperity and well-being of every country in the world."

Quebec moves for future-Kierans

Quebec is taking steps to prepare the economy, by public investment where necessary, to withstand the shocks of a possible recession which some experts are predicting after the anticipated boom of 1967.

Revenue Minister Eric Kierans said this in a departure from a text he was delivering yesterday in Sherbrooke at the final meeting of the annual convention of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Quebec.

Mr. Kierans noted that the possible slowdown just after 1967 is not a certainty, but a possibility genuine enough that the cabinet is taking steps to cushion the economy to withstand it.

He added that the impact of such economic slowdowns is always more severe on weaker than on stronger units of the economy, and hence the impact of a Canadian slowdown in 1968 likely being more severe in Quebec than in, say, Ontario.

Consequently, said Mr. Kierans, "there is some sense of urgency in many cabinet discussions in Quebec today about economic matters, notably public investing."

"Although Quebec has seen considerable economic growth he said, it still has an unemployment rate higher than the national average; therefore it falls to the government to inject more growth into the economy, to industrialize, and to decentralize business."

"Government activity is absolutely necessary if the problem which Quebec must face right now are considered," he said.

He stressed that government participation in the economy, which he said would be "increasingly aggressive" in Quebec, had aims other than just that of making profit, the goal to which private investment limits itself. Such aims include the diversification of production, the making useful of the chronically unemployed, and the long-term improvement of various regions in difficulty, increase in per capita income, and the improvement of the economy in general.

The achievement of such objectives justifies public investment by the government even where returns may be minimal in size or slow in coming, he added.

For justification of this sort of government action, the minister appealed to "our system of values," which places the needs of people to have productive and gainful work above the privileges of established businesses, he said.

Small, underdeveloped centres of the province may never improve solely by waiting for the voluntary establishment there of private businesses, he told the accountants; it is better for the government "actively to encourage the development of such regions by constructive financial assistance, by a system of mixed enterprises, or even by means of Crown corporations."

The revenue minister went on to stress that "a policy of social investments does not mean that there exists a hostility toward private capital," and said that it would be inappropriate to a time later than the nineteenth century to conclude that the liberties of individual entrepreneurs were in any way denied by this policy.

"Economic liberalism of the nineteenth century will not help Quebec to take her rightful place in the present group of nations," he said.

Record survey finds farmers in squeeze

Most Eastern Townships farmers are caught between falling farm income and increased prices for farm labor, machinery, land and supplies, according to replies received in response to a questionnaire launched last month by the Eastern Townships Colonization and Settlement Societies.

The questionnaire was contained in a story and advertisements that appeared in The Record in April and May.

The response to the questionnaire was not heavy. A total of seven letters was received. However nearly all of these went into considerable detail.

Letters represented all areas of the Eastern Townships with the exception of Compton. Brome county produced the most replies.

All farmers agreed that low income was at the root of farming problems.

Some suggested more direct aid, both in the form of subsidies, and extending unemployment insurance to summer-time farm hands.

Light Saving Time every summer.

All farmers agreed that profits from farm produce were going to middlemen, and not to the farmer. "A cow hide sold last winter for $1," pointed out one farmer. "Think of the profit someone made on the leather. There is too much profit made by the middlemen."

This same point was made by the Royal Commission on Price Spreads a few years ago which reported that the growth of a host of "middleman" operations — mostly processors of one kind or another — has helped to increase the price of food, while at the same time, forcing down the prices paid to farmers for their produce.

Most of those replying to the questionnaire said that young people no longer want to go into farming. Hours, they said, are long. Pay is low. Holidays are hard to come by. Today's young people, they said, cannot be blamed for leaving the farm to work in shops or factories at wages up to $3 an hour.

One young man who did go into farming told this story: "I'm what you might call a young farmer, as I am 25 years old. I started farming full time at 17. Then I milked 12 cows at my father's place, and received $3.05 a hundred for my milk. When I was 21 years old, I bought my own place, and now, as then, I milk 20 cows and up until now I have got $3.05 for my milk. When I started farming, my friends all started working in factories, etc. They got about $1.25 an hour.

"Since then, I have talked with these same men, and they are receiving $2.25 to $2.80 an hour.

"So number one problem is the farmer's wages have not gone up according to the cost of living and laborer's standards. Now some people might argue this point in saying, well, expand your enterprise. This takes more land. Number two problem is that land in my district is very costly, and taxes are high. The government cut our school taxes by 25 per cent last year, so our school board put our taxes up 25 per cent, so we can't win..."

"Number three problem is the high cost of machinery. Three

Canada wages capsule size cold cash war

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and Communist China are engaged in a capsule cold-war contest in the new East African nation of Tanzania.

Each is giving economic and military aid to Tanzania but, informants say, China is increasing the ante so that Canada must consider a speed-up in its own effort.

Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai has just completed a visit to Tanzania which has given rise to the possibility of a Canadian counter-visit by a senior cabinet minister. It is unlikely to be Prime Minister Pearson who has so far been unable to find time for a call on West Germany after Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's visit here last year.

Tanzania has zoomed to eighth place on Canada's foreign aid list of 64 countries. Last year this country gave the African state $821,468 in economic help.

China has given Tanzania a cash gift of $1,500,000 and is supplying the same value in goods. Chinese loans totalling $42,000,000 are reported in the planning stage.

Other Western countries besides Canada, of course, are providing economic aid to Tanzania.

Canada has sent Tanzania, a union of the former states of Tanganyika and Zanzibar, about 30 military advisers under the command of Col. Hector Price of Quebec City.

Besides this, Canada has agreed to provide Tanzania with some transport planes—likely Toronto-made Caribous—and with air force advisers on how to establish a military transport service.

Communist China has delivered more than 1,000 tons of arms to Tanzania since last fall and has at least 300 "technicians" there.

Shastri in Cairo

CAIRO (Reuters) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India arrived here today for a 24-hour visit after which he will fly on to Canada.

While in Cairo he was met by President Nasser of the United Arab Republic for talks, concentrating on the forthcoming Afro-Asian conference in Algiers.

Shastri is to make a four-day visit to Canada where talks with Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson are expected to centre on Viet Nam and Commonwealth problems.

2,500 army engineers begin big supply area

SAIGON (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply centre there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

The new base is expected to play a key role in the war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

The engineers bring the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

CASUALTIES WORST YET

A U.S. military spokesman announced that the government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,975 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, six were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured.

Commons approves supply debate rule as leaders agree

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons approved new rules to limit supply debates Tuesday and seemed close to agreement on proposals for other major rule changes.

The break came on the 12th day of a deadlocked debate that threatened to build up into a parliamentary crisis similar to last year's flag battle.

The sitting began with an exchange of compromise suggestions between Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker during the question period.

This led to emergency meetings through the afternoon and dinner adjournment between House leaders of the five parties. At the night sitting, government House Leader McBrath announced a gentleman's agreement and the legislative wheels began turning.

The House passed a resolution unanimously setting a limit of 30 days each session on discussion of the government's main spending estimates and interim supply bills.

The resolution also reduced to eight days from 12 the time that can be spent each session debating supply motions, which open the way for non-confidence amendments by the opposition.

The House decided that henceforth all estimates will be sent to committees for detailed study before they are debated in the chamber itself.

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker charged Tuesday that government acceptance of the Quebec legislature's request for an address to the Queen would "strike a body blow" at the Canadian constitution.

He said in the Commons the proposed address is in clear violation of the British North America Act and, if submitted to Buckingham Palace by the government, "cannot but bring Her Majesty into the political arena."

OTTAWA (CP) — Traffic flowed with surprising smoothness, even at the peak morning period today, as commuters faced the second day of a Montreal island-wide bus strike.

Instead of the paralysis that had been anticipated, the strike of 3,900 employees of the Montreal Transportation Commission for higher pay was causing little more than discomfort.

QUEBEC (CP) — Counsel for Amedee Bellemare, standing trial for attempting in 1960 to bribe Rene Hamel, then Quebec labor minister, said Tuesday his client has been detained in bad prison conditions.

Counsel Yves Gabis said Bellemare, 48, a contractor from Shawinigan, Que., has been kept in a Quebec City jail cell under worse conditions than that of a prisoner serving a life sentence.

Mourn miners

KAKANJ (AP) — A national day of mourning today memorialized 126 coal miners, killed in Yugoslavia's worst mine disaster in 31 years. A mass funeral was planned this afternoon.

Release US men

SANTO DOMINGO (CP) — The Dominican rebels said they would release three captive U.S. soldiers today to the Organization of American States.

The three soldiers were captured when they drove into rebel territory by mistake Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Col. Francisco Caamaño Duno, leader of the rebel "constitutionalist" forces, rejected proposals for an interim government which he said had been brought to Santo Domingo by an OAS mediation team that arrived June 4.

But the government cites manpower shortage

Quebec influence is charged in Firestone Joliette move

The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. had considered Sherbrooke before deciding to establish its $14 million tire plant at Joliette, near Montreal.

By DAVID WEBSTER
 (Record staff reporter)

This fact has become something of a political hot potato for Sherbrooke and Quebec government authorities.

Sherbrooke Mayor Armand Nadeau declares that Firestone went to Joliette because of Quebec government recommendations.

The government can promise concessions; it can say it will become a good client of the company that follows its suggestions, he adds.

"As soon as we get a prospect Quebec takes it away," declares Mayor Nadeau. "We can't compete with the government."

"This has happened four times in the last year," he continues. "In one case an industry interested in locating at Sherbrooke went to St. Jean because the government considered it a depressed centre."

"This didn't happen before the 'sixties years," he says. "It's going to make the municipalities stop all industrial production work and wait for Quebec to do things."

Quebec cabinet minister and Sherbrooke County MLA Carrier Fortin, on the other hand, has said that Firestone went to Joliette because of a lack of manpower in Sherbrooke. He denied that the government had exerted any pressure on Firestone to Joliette.

Mr. Fortin added that Sherbrooke municipal authorities had not given him any information on the negotiations with Firestone.

Industrial promotion officials say, however, that there are a great number of factors determining location of a company.

There are factors of land, municipal services, manpower productivity and stability, wages, productivity, transport facilities, financing, and taxation.

One official says that, in the Firestone case, transportation costs between Joliette and Montreal are half costs between Sherbrooke and Montreal.

Joliette is located 35 miles northeast of Montreal while Sherbrooke is about 90 miles west.

The Firestone announcement was made May 3 in a joint statement by Quebec Premier Jean Lesage and Firestone of Canada president, T. M. Mayberry. According to the Montreal Gazette Premier Lesage said the choice of Joliette as plant site "contributes to the industrial decentralization which the Quebec government strongly encourages among those who wish to invest in our province."

Premier Lesage also said that Firestone's decision to establish in Quebec was an "indirect consequence" of the General Motors move to Ste. Therese.

Mr. Mayberry said that many factors were taken into consideration before selecting the Joliette site for the plant.

"We had to examine very carefully such factors as transportation and shipping facilities, proximity to the major regional markets, soil conditions and the availability of a dependable source of water," he said.

"I feel in Joliette we have an ideal location for our new plant," he added. "Geographically it is located within a short distance of all the major markets of Quebec and Eastern Canada, with excellent transportation facilities provided by two railways and modern highways."

Construction is starting immediately at the 150-acre plant site, says the Gazette.

The one-story building will cover 12 acres and employ about 350 men mainly local residents, when the plant is in full production.

The Joliette plant will be the fourth Firestone plant in Canada. The others are located in Hamilton and Woodstock, Ontario and Calgary.

Summer theatre in North Hatley hoping for productions in August

The smell of greasepaint and the roar of the crowds will return to North Hatley this August when it is hoped the Piggery Theatre will open for four weeks of plays, Pierre Beaudry, vice-president of the Townships Playhouse Guild, told Rotarians at the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night.

Canadians have their own cultural tradition to develop and continue. The guild will endeavor always to reach a high standard, Mr. Beaudry noted.

"Why not establish a small Stratford here?" he asked. The Piggery Theatre is a gem of a little theatre snug in the surrounding hills. The building, five acres of land and $5,000 were donated by Arthur Virgin of North Hatley who is honorary president of the guild, Mr. Beaudry said.

Final figure for converting the piggery into a theatre was $30,860. Two hundred and ninety-nine seats plus all facilities needed for smooth productions are included in the theatre.

During the 1966 season the playhouse will be rented by professional companies he noted.

A non-profit organization, the Playhouse Guild aims to promote interest in theatre and the dramatic arts in the Eastern Townships, Mr. Beaudry said.

The Guild was formed by a strong core of culturally minded and community spirited people deeply interested in controlled growth of a theatre in North Hatley.

Great interest and a tradition of summer theatre in this district is seen in the history of theatre at North Hatley.

The Old Homestead, the Community Players from 1935 until 1950, the Brae Manor Players and the North Hatley Players in 1956 have been popular with town people and summer visitors.

North Hatley became the breeding ground for some of Canada's most successful players. Great interest in this area has been expressed by efforts of local people to contribute to Canada's dramatic art, Mr. Beaudry said.

Essentially the theatre will belong to Eastern Townships residents and their support is needed to help finance details in the building and running of the playhouse, he explained.

A financial campaign for community support will be launched, Mr. Beaudry said. Head table guests were Bill Fuller, Roger LeBaron, Bruce Bishop, Walter Sutherland who thanked the speaker, president Bill Richardson, Pierre Beaudry, Tom Leonard who introduced the speaker, Cliff Bryant and George St. Pierre.

CPR must pay share of Stukely overpass

OTTAWA — (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada has upheld the power of the board of transport commissions to order the construction or reconstruction of railway crossing structures and to determine how their costs are to be divided among interested parties.

The court made the decision in turning down a CPR request to reverse a decision by the board ordering it to pay $42,000 towards the cost of a new $341,800 highway bridge over its tracks at South Stukely, Que.

Under the transport board order, the railway grade crossing fund pays 50 per cent of the cost of the new bridge. The CPR will pay $42,000 and the Quebec government the remainder.

The new bridge, part of the Quebec highway between Montreal and Sherbrooke, replaces a subway carrying the highway under the tracks of a railway bridge built by the CPR in 1908.

The board approved construction of the new bridge after the Quebec highways department said the subway was inadequate to handle increased traffic on the highway.

In apportioning the costs of the bridge, the board said the CPR is required under the Railway Act to maintain adequate facilities for all traffic using its structures.

The CPR argued that it should pay only $15,000, the amount it said it would save when relieved of the cost of maintaining the subway.

Boy killed

ISLAND BOOK (Staff) — The Cookshire detachment of the Quebec Provincial Police reported this morning that a five-year-old boy from Island Brook was killed when struck by a car on the road between Island Brook and La Patrie last night.

Georges Goddard, 5, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilles Goddard was killed when struck by a car about 7 p.m. last night.

The boy was struck by a car on the road between Island Brook and La Patrie last night. The car was driven by a driver whose name was not disclosed.

The driver was charged with manslaughter and driving without a license. The case is being handled by the Cookshire detachment.

Mid-June start expected for Rock Island sewers

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — The way is cleared for the building of the sewer system in Rock Island, with the Mayor, Albert Tremblay, and the secretary, Mrs. M. Masse given authority at the Rock Island Town Council meeting to sign the contract with Bosco Construction Co., Magog, at the Town Council meeting held on Monday evening.

It is expected work will commence by mid-June. A complaint was registered about vandalism done to the IOOF lodge hall, windows broken, a light smashed and defacing of the building. The delegation from the lodge asked that the police check this building more closely.

Starting July 1st until Labor day the Town office will be closed on Saturday mornings and remain closed until Tuesday morning.

A donation of $40.00 was made to the Red Cross committee wheel chair fund. This chair is free to persons in the Three Villages of Beebe, Rock Island and Stanstead.

The car which was stolen on Christmas day 1964, was the property of Jacques Rousseau, of Sherbrooke.

Also stolen by the two was a canoe, valued at $125, from Plage Raimbault, a recreation centre in the upper Magog River area, Sherbrooke and a pair of skis from a North Hatley resident in March of this year. A 17-year-old Lennoxville is being held in the Winter Street jail today after being found guilty yesterday of the theft of a car. He is expected to appear for sentencing Thursday.

The youth is accused of stealing the car from Gerard LaFrance, of Sherbrooke on May 19.

Following the theft of the car he drove to the United States to join the Marines. He was "told" following questioning that it would be necessary for him to have a paper from the Sherbrooke Social Welfare

Sherbrooke - Portland flights are offered

Statewide Airlines is ready to offer flights between Sherbrooke and Portland, Maine during the summer, says airline counsel Stanley Steinman.

The service would depend on the number of Sherbrooke area residents interested in making the flights, he adds.

The New Hampshire-backed company last fall announced plans to link Sherbrooke with New York City and Boston via Berlin, New Hampshire.

This proposed service has hit a snag in the U.S. customs department. The department doesn't want to put a man in Berlin since it contends that there is not enough traffic there, he says.

This is the only obstacle to the beginning of the service, says Mr. Steinman. Other U.S. commissions have approved it and Canadian government approval is merely a formality.

Flights from Portland to Sherbrooke would be made in the small nine-seater De Havilland aircraft made in Toronto. The 125-mile distance would be flown in about 45 minutes, he says.

The airline may advertise in local newspapers asking persons interested in taking the flights to contact them by mail. The service will depend on the number of replies received.

Flights could be as often as once per day with two trips Friday and Sunday for weekend traffic.

The service would attract people travelling to resort areas near Portland, including Old Orchard Beach and Hampden Beach.

Provided response is favorable flights could begin for July, says Mr. Steinman.

At present U.S. government regulations specify that the airline must use the small De Havilland aircraft on all its routes.

However, the airline is applying for exemption from this law, he says. If it obtains it 35-seater planes will be used instead.

Mr. Steinman says he suggested that a U.S. customs officer from the Stanhope border service could drive to the Sherbrooke airport before each flight arrival to make his inspection.

Thus, he says, the customs department would not have to base a man in Berlin.

Construction value increases during May

The city of Sherbrooke issued 135 permits for $1,562,450 in construction in May, a jump of over $400,000 from May 1964, according to the monthly building report.

In May 1964, 118 permits for $1,104,000 in construction were issued.

Fifty-four housing permits for $869,500 were issued last month a small rise from the 48 permits for $847,000 issued in May 1964.

The value of building permits from January to June this year is about $2 million ahead of the first five months of last year: 398 permits for $7,617,238 have been issued this year compared to 447 permits for $5,817,295 for last.

However housing construction has dropped this year compared to the corresponding period last year: 174 residential permits for $2,524,100 have been issued from January till June this year compared to 193 permits for $3,228,000 issued last year.

During May this year 35 permits for $637,900 were issued for the North Ward, 48 permits for $335,100 were issued for the East, 47 permits for $385,600 were issued for the West, three permits for $2,200 were issued for the Centre and two permits for $1,650 were issued for the South Ward.

All of the Centre and South Ward permits were miscellaneous. The report shows Centre and South Ward construction at its lowest level in some time.

In residential construction the East Ward led the way with 26 permits for $361,500. Seventeen permits for $305,000 were issued for the North Ward and 11 housing permits for $203,000.

$3,886 in damages are awarded

St. Francis District Superior Court has awarded $3,886.35 in damages to Mrs. Denise Vachon Bolduc of Lambton injured in a 1963 accident in which two men were killed.

The judgment, handed down by Mr. Justice Louis-Philippe Cliche, describes the accident as follows:

One the evening of January 11 two trucks were parked on the side of the road between Bury and Gould; one belonging to Osborne Dougherty of Bury and the other owned by Fernand Gilbert also of Bury.

A second car, driven by Gerard Lecours of Sherbrooke and bearing Mrs. Bolduc, collided with stopped vehicles shortly after.

Judge Cliche assessed one-third of the responsibility to Mr. Gilbert. He had left his headlights shining brightly and thus created a hazard for motorists, the judgment said.

Another third was assessed to the heirs of Mr. Rancourt, Leopold Rancourt of St. Georges de Beauce and his wife Mrs. Maria Letourneau Rancourt, living in Montreal. He should have slowed down when he saw the headlights in the distance.

The other third of the $3,886.35 sum was assessed to Mr. Lecours. He also should have slowed down when he saw the headlights, said Judge Cliche.

The plaintiff also held Mr. Dougherty responsible for the accident but Judge Cliche rejected this claim.

Judge Cliche reduced the claim from $12,036.35 to the other $3,886.35 total.

Border GA and JA present program and fashion show; badges awarded

STANSTEAD — The Girls' Auxiliary and Junior Auxiliary of Christ Anglican Church presented a program in the Parish Hall on May 25 after school hours, to a large group of Women's Auxiliary members, and other guests.

With Joyce Hyatt, president of the G.A., carrying the blue and silver banner, the two youth groups marched into the hall. The G. A. girls, wearing their new uniforms of navy blue skirts, white blouses with dark tie and beret, looked very smart, while the J. A. girls were in navy blue tunics and white blouses with green skull caps and ties.

Joyce Hyatt and Linda Huitson announced the program, which opened with the Lord's Prayer and prayers of the youth groups. Miss Hyatt welcomed everyone. Two hymns, Merbecke selection, arranged by Healey William, and a song, Lark in the Morn were sung.

The Junior Girls Auxiliary presented a fairy like English Country dance with much grace and charm. The Juniors sang the National Anthem of Sierra Leone.

With Linda Miller as commentator, a fashion show was given by six of the G.A. members. Jasmine Espert and Diane Prangley modelled school clothes, Linda Huitson and Pamela Greer, what they would wear to a dance. Sharon Miller and Joyce Hyatt, going to church outfits. One girl was chosen from each of the three groups to represent the church at the Festival at Quebec Lodge on May 28, 29, 30.

Mrs. C. H. Alger, president of the W.A., complimented the girls and their leaders, Mrs. Joan Peirce and Mrs. Adelaide Prangley, leaders of the senior group and Mrs. Thelma Middleton, the junior group. Mrs. A. H. Searth, the teacher of the seniors and Mrs. P. M. Poops, Sr., who assisted with the art work. She presented W.A. honorary membership and pins to Mrs. Prangley and Mrs. Middleton and a pretty corsage of mauve mums to Mrs. Peirce, in appreciation of the wonderful work they are doing with the girls.

Mrs. Peirce also welcomed visitors present, and spoke on the work of the young people. She noted that by selling peppermint patties in the spring, with girls across Canada who are W.A. members, and raising money in other ways, they are able to pay costs of three missionaries, one in India, one in Saskatchewan and another in Japan.

Mrs. Alger presented fashion and form badges to Sharon, and Linda Miller, Joyce Hyatt, Diane Prangley, Dora Cunningham, Linda Huitson, Jasmine Espert, Pamela Greer, and Gloria Whipple. For the dance they had presented, four girls wore their new skirts with white blouses and another four blue jeans, all with red cummerbunds which they had made. Also on display were drapes which they had made, as well as woven purses and the banner.

Afterward a silver collection was taken and afternoon tea was served by the leaders and girls, assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Kezar.

Among those attending were Rev. Carl Gustafson, of Standed South Church, Miss Ethel Brownlee and Mrs. L. N. Pratt, of Ottawa, both G. A. Leaders, Mrs. Ruby Berry, Richmond and others from the Boundary Villages.

Graduates of Ayer's Cliff School are honored guests at annual prom

AYER'S CLIFF — Grade XI pupils of Ayer's Cliff High School were honored guests at the School Prom with Grade X being hosts for the occasion.

A musical theme was carried out in the decorations with musical instruments and bars of music depicted on the gymnasium walls. Small tables with vases of spring flowers were placed around the hall. The music for the evening was provided by Jerry Haselton and his orchestra.

The receiving line consisted of the school principal E. Doll-off, Miss E. Little, Grade XI teacher, Mrs. Gordon McHarg, of the support received from representing the Home and School Association, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cooper for the School Board. Mrs. Morrill, grade X honorary member of the class teacher and her husband, and Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon True representing parents of the graduating class.

The girl graduates received corsages of red roses and the boys boutonnieres, given by the Student Council.

Introduction of the graduates and presentation of prizes was made by Christine Lafond. Joyce Gale read the last will and testament for the class. James Thompson gave the valedictory address.

Mr. Doll-off thanked the graduates for their untiring efforts during the year and also spoke of the support received from the parents.

Miss Phylliss Cass read the class poem. Miss Cass was an honorary member of the class and having taken extra subjects this year after graduating last year.

Pink and blue shower honors Melbourne lady

MELBOURNE — Mrs. Wayne Griffith was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower given by Mrs. Gordon McKeage. Upwards of 33 guests were present.

On arrival Mrs. Griffith was welcomed by the hostess and escorted into the living room, where she was presented with a prettily decorated crib, full of gaily wrapped gifts.

Mrs. McKeage pinned a corsage on Mrs. Griffith following which she opened the gifts and expressed her thanks.

During the evening a game was enjoyed, with Mrs. George Morrison being the winner.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted in serving by Mrs. R. Bedard, Mrs. M. Wentworth and Miss Karen McKeage.

Vermont Girl Scout Council holds meeting

DERBY LINE — The May meeting of Neighborhood No. 2, Vermont Girl Scout Council was held at Merrimack Girl Scout Camping Area, on Pelow Hill, here in Derby Line, on May 22.

Mrs. R. Quigley was in charge of the registration as Mrs. Macaluso prepared the tinfoil stew.

The Newport leaders, Mrs. Garrand and Miss B. Clark conducted the Flag Opening Ceremony, after which Campcraft workshop instruction in the use of the hatchet, lashing and basic fire was given by Mrs. Ann Aldrich, Derby Line, Mrs. Farrand, Newport, and Miss Gullipe, Burlington.

Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Wright, of East Craftsbury, were the hostesses at the six o'clock supper hour. Afterward Mrs. Robitelle, of Newport, presided for the retiring of the flag, with Mrs. Lanquest in charge of the impressive candlelighting ceremony. Then all adjourned to the home of Mrs. Ann Aldrich for a short business meeting and the movie on the Roundup in Vermont.

This pleasant get-together was attended by Mrs. Gloria Farrand, Beverly Robitelle, Betty Clark, Cadette Leaders, all of Newport, June Quigley, Junior Leader, Mrs. Gertrude Macaluso, Brownie Leader, both of Derby Line; Annie Wright, Junior, Arlene Daniels, Senior, Sandra Wright, assistant, all of Craftsbury; Lorraine Landquest, Cadettes, Ruby Hitchcock, Junior both of Derby; Miss Emily Groupp, Field Director, Burlington; and Mrs. Aldrich, home. Thus every town having scouts in this neighbourhood was represented.

Waterloo UCW holds meeting

WATERLOO — The general meeting of St. Paul's United Church Women was held on May 27 in the church. Mrs. Sturtevant gave a very complete and interesting report on the annual meeting held in Lennoxville.

The Macdonald College Summer School for United Church Women will be held from August 17-20.

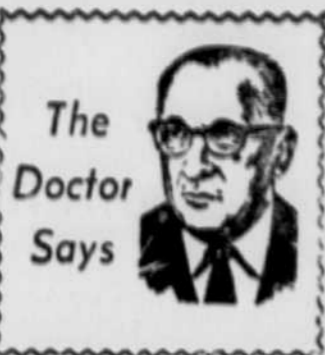

There will be rummage sales every Saturday in June beginning at 1:30 p.m. on June 5.

The annual Birthday Party was the special attraction for the May meeting. Mrs. Lloyd Maynes read a poem titled Mr. Get Up and Go Has Got Up and Went. An arrangement of old favorites was presented Mrs. Jack Black, Mrs. Gilman with Mrs. Bruce Heath playing the guitar and Mrs. Allan Norris on the piano. The members enjoyed a song-song.

The birthday cakes were donated by Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. John MacAskill.

Refreshments were served by members of the Afternoon Group.

Complicated Reaction Causes Blood Clotting

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—What causes blood clots and why do they kill some persons while others recover?

A — When the lining of a blood vessel is injured a complicated chemical reaction that leads to clotting occurs. When you cut your finger this protective mechanism prevents your bleeding to death. If, on the other hand, the clotting occurs because of a severe arterial disease rather than a cut, the blood supply to the part supplied by the diseased artery is cut off.

How serious this is depends on the size of the artery occluded, whether the artery is supplying a vital organ, whether other arteries in the region can supply the affected part and the general condition of the victim. Sometimes other arteries establish a collateral circulation almost at once and sometimes it requires weeks or months.

If a large clot occurs in the brain (stroke) it may cause death or it may cause paralysis from which the victim may eventually recover.

Q—My knee fills up with water and has to be drained about once a month. My doctor tells me that if he removes the tissues that secrete the excess fluid my knee would become stiff. What do you advise?

A—In some persons, predominantly young adults, fluid may collect in a joint, usually on one side only, every 7 to 11 days. The cause is not known, but in some victims it appears to be a food allergy because, when the offending food is eliminated from the diet, the condition clears up. Unlike other forms of allergy, however, antihistamines are of no value. In other victims this collection of fluid is a part of their arthritis.

Your doctor is right not to want to perform an operation that would leave you with a stiff knee. Injections of hydrocortisone into the joint have helped many victims.

Q—I have heard that chocolate is bad for persons with sinus trouble. Is this true?

A—Not unless you have an allergy caused by chocolate.

Q—Would the oil of turpentine, for medicinal use, cause permanent albumin in the urine?

A—Although oil of turpentine has been used in the past for worms and to relieve abdominal cramps, this preparation has been discarded because it damages the kidneys. The resulting albuminuria would be expected to clear up, only if it was discovered before much damage had been done.

L'AVENIR

The sudden death of Mr. Alfred Fleury a well known resident of this place occurred at his house here. Mr. Fleury, who had been in failing health for some time died in his sleep.

Miss Unis Kelly, who has spent the winter months in Sherbrooke with her sister, Mrs. O. Legare, has returned here for the summer.

Mrs. Mildred Hamil, Vancouver, B.C., is spending an indefinite time visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. Graham and family. Mr. Franklin Graham, Montreal spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Graham.

Friends were sorry to learn of the death of Mr. Joseph Bisillon of Drummondville. The deceased was a former resident of this community and well-known in the surrounding district.

At the annual meeting of the Richmond County Historical Society held in St. Francis High School auditorium recently, the following from this district were among those who received certificates in recognition of living on property which has been in the family for a period of a century or more. Mrs. Hilton Lyster, Jean Louis Charpentier, Ambrose Lynch and Candlish S. Bogie.

BROOKBURY

Miss M. M. Ross of Lennoxville was a weekend guest of Mrs. F. Hugh Vintinner.

Miss Barbara Allison and friend of Montreal were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Allison, Garry and Larry.

Summer federal vote chances cut

If Prime Minister Pearson really believes that the position of his minority Liberal Government would be improved by an early general election, the surprise compromise over the legislation providing for parliamentary procedure reform has removed one possible excuse for an early appeal to the people.

Some weeks ago it was hinted that supporters within the cabinet of the idea of a general election believed the show-down would come when the bill for amending parliamentary procedures was under debate in the Commons. Certain proposals in the reform program would be unacceptable to the Official Opposition, they hinted, which would offer extended protest to the changes.

When the opposition to some particular feature of the streamlining proposals had gone on for some time, the Government in its wisdom could declare a filibuster was in effect. The Prime Minister could dissolve the House and call an election on the basis that a recalcitrant Opposition was preventing the transaction of the nation's business.

The return of the Liberal party with a substantial overall majority would be offered as the only alternative to stagnation.

Events have followed fairly well their predicted course.

The streamlining program was introduced.

As anticipated most of the suggestions had been approved, with the Government kindly watering down many of its suggestions in the face of general criticism from all Opposition parties.

But finally a show-down had come. The Conservatives had flatly refused to accept the debate-limiting "guillotine" clause, even as amended by the Government.

George McIlraith, Privy Council President and Government House Leader, had warned that a prolonged hold-up on the bill could bring a general election.

But suddenly the Opposition Leader took control of the situation. He advanced a face-saving formula that permitted the Government to proceed with the measure at the same time curbing the much-criticized guillotine clause.

And, apparently, the chances of a summer election are much reduced.

Safety advice for power mowers

Power lawnmowers may be a boon to homeowners who formerly found that maintaining their lawns in order was a back-breaking task.

But they also present a safety problem unless handled properly, the National Safety League of Canada warns. Injuries from power mowers are becoming a major problem, but because few of them are fatal and thus go unreported no reliable statistics are available.

However, spot surveys have shown that hundreds of severe injuries to hands and feet occur every year because mower owners ignore simple safety rules.

The first rule suggested is that the mower operator, before starting work, check the grass for debris that could become a dangerous missile if hurled by the blades.

Bystanders should be warned away so flying twigs and stones will not harm them. Heavy shoes should be worn to protect the toes. The operator should keep in step with the machine's progress so complete control can be maintained. Hilly areas and banks should be cut from side to side, not up and down. The motor should be cut off before making any adjustment and children should never be allowed to operate a power mower.

By taking proper precautions, a power mower can be made helpful, not harmful.

Decentralization the key

To solve public service problem

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is taking steps to eliminate some of the "organizational nonsense" a royal commission found in the operation of the public service.

When in full swing, the efficiency-stimulating program should save the government—and taxpayers—millions of dollars a year.

Key to the program, based on the first report in September, 1962, of the Glassco royal commission on government organization, is the modern management concept of decentralization.

In brief, it means shifting detailed day-to-day responsibility for finances and personnel away from central bodies such as the Treasury Board and Civil Service Commission and giving it to individual departments or, even further, to individual section heads in the field.

The former system of centralized control, said the Glassco report, led to a "dilemma of controls" producing duplication, waste and frustration.

It is hoped the new system will replace this with a modern, streamlined organization less costly to the government and more attractive for its employees.

CONSULTANTS HIRED

The general concept of the Glassco report was formally accepted by the Pearson administration in November, 1963. Since then, it has been a case of finding the best method to implement the idea and putting it into effect.

The starting point, in most cases, has been the hiring of a private management consultant to tackle individual departments. The objective of each team has been to lay out a detailed program by which each department can adjust to the new concept.

The first four such surveys began in the fall of 1963 and were completed in June, 1964. They covered the agriculture, veterans affairs, transport and northern affairs departments.

Three more surveys by management consultants now are under way in citizenship and immigration, public works, and health and welfare.

More are in the offing. Government planners hope, however, that as the department-by-department program progresses there will be less reliance on outside consultants and more emphasis on a do-it-yourself approach taking advantage of the experience of other departments and studies.

Another problem is to find the right personnel to exercise the in-field responsibility and to train them accordingly.

In general, however, responsible officials are more than pleased with the results to date. "You know," said one of them, "this government now employs 200,000 persons and spends $7,500,000,000 a year. That requires a different kind of organization from 20 years ago. With this program it looks as if we may finally get it."

Mr. Lamontagne is having problems of communication with centennial commissioner John Fisher, and assurances to the contrary have impressed no one. It is questionable whether the Secretary of State has either the ability or the energy to be in charge of this project.

Uncertainty and lack of co-ordination are manifest at the very heart of the federal effort. Difficulties have arisen with industry whose response to participation in Expo 67 is less than ideal.

This response will continue to lag as long as there are doubts and uneasiness about the unrest and riots in the city of Montreal, the site of this country's first world fair. There is no question that the apparent failure of New York's World Fair has contributed to the lack of enthusiasm for Expo 67. This is unfortunate but, nevertheless, a fact.

At the Toronto level, the city's intended centennial showpiece, the St. Lawrence Centre for the Arts, is faltering.

Canada's 100th birthday celebration was meant to be imaginative and original, with lasting testimonials in brick, stone and communal service across the country. But realization is falling short of the vision.

Two things must be done immediately: The Cabinet at Ottawa should undertake a thorough examination of the management of the centennial observance. Is it in the best possible hands? The Telegram doubts that it is.

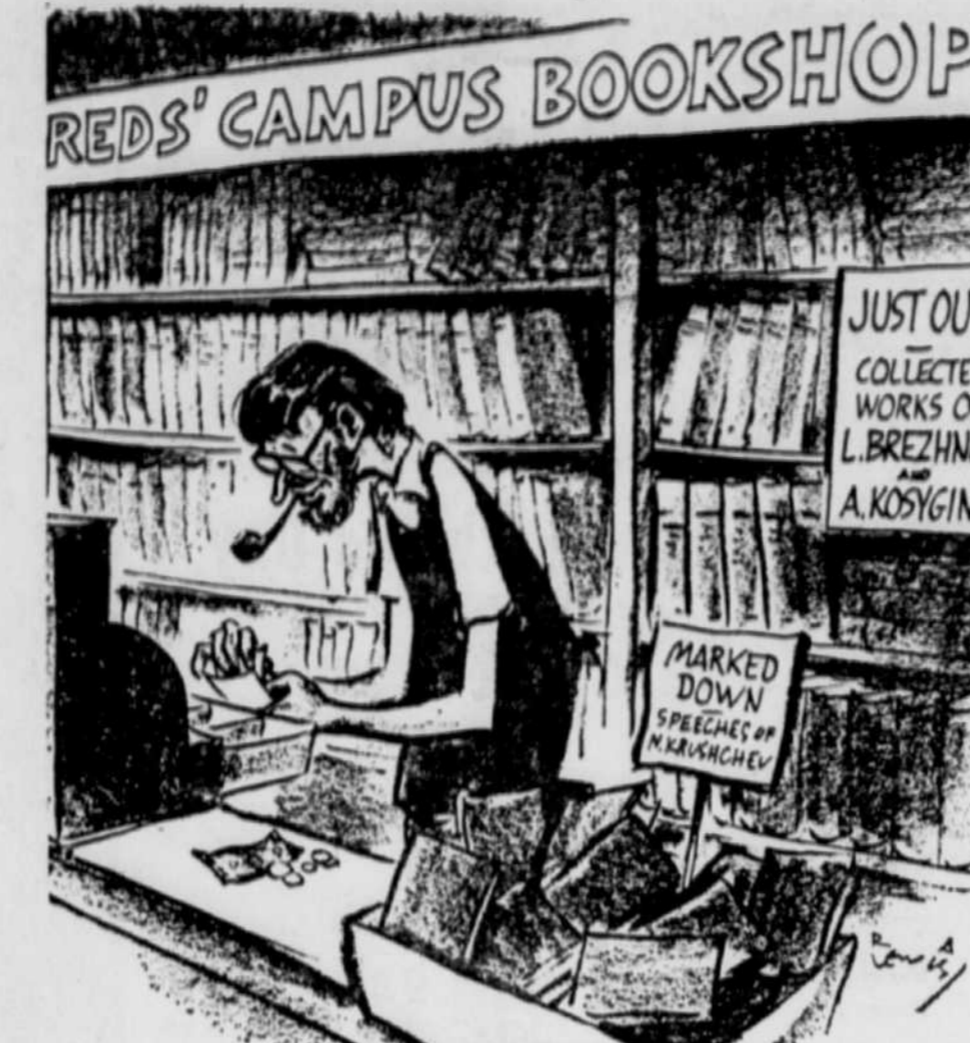

City Council should scrutinize local plans and consider the overall obligation of Toronto. It should estimate realistically what can be done

Commercial sponges are taken from the bottom of the sea from tidal level to a depth of about 200 feet. In shallow waters they are picked with a two or three-pronged hook. Diving for sponges without any equipment is still practiced in Greece, along the Libyan coast, and in the Philippines. Sponges are the simplest animals known to man and have been in use from ancient times. Greek mothers pacified their babies with sponges soaked in honey.

People, the decisive factor

Russian soldier is formidable but not super-human in power

MOSCOW (TNS)—Brigadier General Sam Griffith of the U.S. marines once observed: "Man is far more complex than any of his machines."

And Russia's Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky says: "People are still the decisive factor in winning victory."

So the make-up of the Soviet soldier — the ryadovoi — is of considerable interest to the West. He is the man our soldier would have to face in a war. What, then, is he like?

First, he's a peasant in uniform. He's young, trained to obey long before his three-year army stint begins, and he is tight-lipped and traditionally suspicious.

He gets from $7 to $15 a month, works from dawn to dark training and learning a technical trade, has virtually no time for leisure and has an exceedingly high morale. Communism, which has replaced religion in Russia, is drilled into the soldier from the day he joins the army to the day he leaves it. His latent reverence for authority has been channelled into respect for the party and its spokesmen.

Under the British system of military there's considerable effort to keep soldiers out of politics — and politics out of soldiers.

Not so in the Red Army. Political ideology is the core of Soviet training — a substitute for battlefield training and an instrument to keep morale high and patriotism alert.

Newspaper reading is compulsory and this brings the views of the Kremlin down to the grass roots; the press is the party bible.

Patriotism has always been a characteristic of the Russian. With Communist indoctrination superimposed, it makes him a dedicated creature — and a formidable opponent.

He's considered a moody, mercurial, erratic soldier. He can work for short periods with incredible bursts of energy and enthusiasm, then sink into apathy.

Perhaps due to Russia's long history of wars, revolutions and ruthlessness — of secret police and intrigues — the Russian soldier is suspicious and secretive, and his security rating is exceedingly high.

Since most conscripts are from the country, the soldier is accustomed to physical hardships. He excels in fieldcraft, the use of ground and camouflage. His needs are small, his courage large.

He is given to fits of bravery but lacks the stolid stubbornness of the British Tommy — unless, of course, his native soil is threatened. Being a creature of moods he's unlikely to be a fanatic. There is little of the Japanese suicide courage in his make-up.

His mechanical aptitude is considered above average. Russians make good technicians and mechanics.

Proportionately, the Red Army has more officers than our forces, since this is the main source of continuity in a conscript army.

While junior officers have prestige they haven't much authority. Canadian junior officers have far more responsibility and powers of decision than Russian. So have our soldiers, which means we may have more individual initiative, resourcefulness and versatility.

Promotions depend more on qualifications and vacancies than on seniority.

Western experts observe: "The Soviet offensive creed fits well with the temperament of the troops. Morale will be high when winning, despair is likely with the unexpected or when losses occur."

The Russian soldier is even more paradoxical than his western counterpart. He changes quickly from simplicity to cunning... from inordinate kindness to excessive cruelty... from optimism to despondency.

He is as unpredictable as his country's politicians.

For the United Nations

Vale of Kashmir vale of tears

OTTAWA (CP)—The Vale of Kashmir has been a vale of tears for the United Nations for nearly 17 years.

But the UN bravely dries its eyes with the hope that some day India and Pakistan will settle their bitter feud over their claims to that state in the western foothills of the Himalayas.

Canada agreed to participate in an 11-month, 40-man UN observer mission in Kashmir. Since then nine Canadian Army officers have been crawling up mountains and stumbling down into valleys of "wing breaches of the UN ceasefire line which have cost the lives of hundreds of Indian and Pakistani soldiers."

The Kashmir mission was the UN's first peacekeeping venture and in one respect it has been a resounding success. All UN members contribute collectively to its cost without the objections and refusals that have brought on the current UN financial crisis over peacekeeping costs.

The Kashmir issue was touched on by Prime Ministers Shastri and Pearson during the Indian leader's June 10-14 visit to Canada—but probably only in passing during a discussion of UN problems.

It is generally regarded as unspoken to try to intervene in disputes between India and Pakistan unless invited to do so by the two countries.

Though there have been periodic reports that Canada might be asked to mediate the Kashmir dispute, nothing has developed and nothing is expected during Mr. Shastri's visit here or during the London Commonwealth prime ministers conference opening June 17. Certainly Mr. Pearson isn't

Young Frenchmen broader

Common market coming of age

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS — (NEA) — The only barriers remaining today between the countries of the European Community — France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Luxembourg — are mainly psychological.

Gradually, the customs barriers between these Common Market countries are disappearing. Tariffs on industrial products today represent only 30 per cent of what they were in 1957. And by 1967 free trade will be established and customs formalities will be a thing of the past.

But for some of the members of the older generation there still remain those barriers uncontrolled by a man in uniform, barriers carried in a look, a tone of voice, a hand not extended in welcome.

There are intangible walls erected on battlefields and consolidated by undying memories and accumulated resentment of each succeeding generation.

But France's youth seems eager and willing to shake off this heritage.

Recently, the French Institute of Public Opinion conducted a poll of girls and boys under 20 to gain an insight into their attitude toward and knowledge of the Common Market. The Institute posed two questions.

The first was: "Would you be willing to go and live, for professional, sentimental or other reasons, in a foreign country within the European Community?"

The reply: 57 per cent YES, 36 per cent NO and 7 per cent NO Opinion.

The willingness of students to adopt a new country is explained by the fact that all have studied at least one foreign language, an important factor.

Generally speaking, a French boy or girl feels at home in any other European country. Distances are negligible, with Strasbourg (Alsace) nearer the Iron Curtain than Paris. Communications are so easy and rapid today that youngsters no longer feel exiled when they cross the Rhine or the Alps.

The second question posed by the Institute was directed to young men only. This was: "Would you be willing to do your military service in a European army where all the nationalities of the Common Market countries would be represented and where you would be under the orders of Italian, Belgian, Dutch, German or Luxembourg commanders as well as French?"

For the builders of One Europe the response was gratifying. 62 per cent replied YES.

According to psychologists, the implications here are that young Frenchmen have abandoned their ancestral traditions, together with their vision of past history. Often politically aware, they are also endowed with a more concrete vision. They have realized that the earth beyond the Rhine is the same as theirs, bearing the same fruits and following the same cycle of sowing, reaping and harvesting.

An educator recently pointed out that what characterizes the younger generation is its often precocious awareness of the problems of its times. A devil-may-care attitude is no longer its privilege. This augurs well for the future of Europe. The youngsters will want to build something better than "Papa's Europe."

attempt to apportion blame. And the UN reports are not made public. They go privately to India and Pakistan.

The observers live as best they can in the mountainous country, sometimes in houses, sometimes in huts, sometimes in tents or in the open. In recent months, the situation has become worse, with almost daily incidents. India and Pakistan make charges and counter-charges but the UN says nothing.

Scores of new nations have come into being since the UN task in Kashmir began, some of them, like the Congo, with the help of a UN peacekeeping force. The UN has more than doubled its membership since 1949. But the Kashmir problem remains, apparently as insoluble as ever.

USE CANADIAN PLANE Since June, 1964, Canada has also supplied an RCAF Caribou transport plane with a crew of seven for support of the UN mission. This plane operates for six months of the year from Srinagar on the Indian side of the ceasefire line and for the other six months from Rawalpindi, Pakistan.

So fruitless is the task of observing breaches of the ceasefire that the UN doesn't even

Personals Guides honor officer at bridal shower

Congratulations are being extended to Mrs. Mary Worster, 750 Argyle Street, who is observing her 92nd birthday today.

Mrs. L. A. Graham, Westmount, and Mrs. O. H. Parker, Lachine, who spent the weekend with their sister, Mrs. S. A. McVetty, Woodward Avenue, have returned to their respective homes.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Byrne, of Biggar, Sask., who are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Butler, Argyle Street, will also visit Mrs. Byrne's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Flanders, Magog, while here.

Mrs. C. P. Leonard, of Bishop, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Saunders, Lennoxville.

Engagements

The engagement is announced of Miss Margaret Anne Tector, of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, daughter of Mrs. Tector, of Lennoxville, and the late Albert David Tector, to Mr. Phillip George Delfeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Delfeld, of Brownsville, Wisconsin. The wedding has been arranged to take place in Sherbrooke, Saturday, July 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sims, of North Hatley, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Joy Louise, to Mr. Eugene Andrew Halverson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olof Halverson, of Detroit, Mich. A late August wedding is planned.

Friday, June 4, was a special evening for the girls of the Second Sherbrooke Guide Company, when they entertained at a miscellaneous shower in St. Paul's Church Hall, for their Lieutenant, Miss Molly Brown, a June bride-to-be. The guests were greeted by Miss Cheryl McAuley, who convened the shower as one of her challenges for her Gold Cord.

The Guides invited the guests into campfire, where a special chair was arranged for Miss Brown beside a table laden with gifts, under a blue and yellow umbrella. The campfire consisted of songs, games, and a brief summary of Miss Brown's achievements in Guiding called, 'This is your life.' After Miss Brown had told about her meeting with Lady Baden-Powell, it was to the delight of all when she was presented with her Lieutenant's pin and warrant by Mrs. R. Brand, Division Commissioner. After receiving congratulations, the guest of honor opened her gifts assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. Brown, and Mrs. W. Lavallee, the prospective groom's mother.

Following the conclusion of campfire, lunch was served by the Guides. The bride's table was attractively arranged with the Guide colors of blue and yellow table cloths, the centerpiece being a bride-doll cake, flanked by blue tapers in silver holders. The pourers for the evening were the Misses Claire Verlinden, and Nora Sjodin, assisted by Maureen Bresse. The bride's cake was made and decorated by Mrs. A. Roy.

GENERAL GUIDE NOTES

Preceding the shower, Mrs. R. Brand, Division Commissioner, enrolled Sue Roy and welcomed her into the sisterhood of Guiding. She also presented the following with badges: Claire Verlinden, Laundress, Needlewoman, Homemaking, Little House Emblem; Penny Taylor, Keep-Fit, Athlete, Child Care, second year service star; Nova Sjodin, Laundress, Keep Fit, Athlete; Rosemary Ellis, First Aid; Nancy Hutchinson, Emergency Helper, Laundress; Barbara McAuley, Laundress, first year service star; Melanie Reed, Rabbit Keeper, third year service star; Carol Thompson, Child Care.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

Pineapple-spiced loin of pork

5 pounds loin of pork
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
1 can (10 oz.) crushed pineapple
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Salt (about 2 teaspoons)

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Score diagonally with sharp knife. Rub spices into fat surface and place on rack in roasting pan.

Bake in rather slow oven 325 degrees until well browned all over. Then mix pineapple, sugar and salt and pour over meat. Continue roasting, basting often, until well done — about 3 to 3 1/2 hours of total roasting, or until meat registers 185 degrees on a meat thermometer. Makes 8 servings.

For and about Women

Less dress, more tan

The cool look for a hot summer is less dress, more you.

It's a look that sings of easy living — relaxing the sun, picnicking, swimming, lazy playing, discothequeing.

The dress that has the immediacy of pop art of summer fun is the shift designed on easy fitting relaxed lines.

You find it in stores in rest- less silks for women on the go; crisp fabrics for those who like to look cool, and zany designs that go over big with the young crowd.

The perfect little hot weather dress for town is in white pique cut on skimpy lines all over the body. More fit. Sleeveless, of course, to show off tanned arms.

COOL WHITE

Later on in August it will be replaced by the little black linen dress or suit. But for June and July white pique never had it so good. For there's nothing like white to take the steam out of a hot day.

Watch for color in ravishing bloom, though. The most sought-after shades are sun- flower yellow, bright green, geranium, sunny coral, all blues, jade green.

The magic-making team for travel and going places is the coat and dress that match, harmonize or contrast.

A textured navy coat and white silk petite print, for instance, can give you an international passport for good looks anywhere. Or a white linen coat and matching dress.

The short evening gown returns for summer in clouds of silk or swirls of chiffon. It arrives with low décolletage or sometimes baring one shoulder. Again, part of that "less dress" look.

The trend to watch for in holiday wear is action: swingy pleats in skirts, breezy fullness in sailing jackets and hooded jackets for wearing over skinny pants.

Sleeveless little blouses team up with A-lined skirts for the casual look that goes with summer. And cool, crazy, tank tops with trim Jamaicas. (T.N.S.)

ICE CREAM SQUARES
To finish any meal with a flourish, Golden Ice Cream Squares reveal a surprise inside; they are actually deep fried ice cream! The secret is in their insulating coat of chif- fon cake. They must come quickly to the table ready to be topped with hot Chocolate Fudge Sauce, or your own favorite fruit sauce.

GOLDEN ICE CREAM SQUARES

(Makes 8 Servings)
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 chiffon cake, day old

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon baking powder
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter, melted
fat for deep frying

To Prepare Squares:
Cut ice cream into eight equal cubes; freeze until very firm on cookie sheet. Wrap each cube in 1/4-inch thickness of chiffon cake; freeze.

For the Batter:
Sift together the flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat eggs well, add milk and butter. Make a well in dry ingredients and add liquid all at once. Beat until smooth.

To Fry:
Heat fat for deep frying, in a deep saucepan or fryer to 360° F. (a 1-inch cube of bread will brown in about 1 minute at this temperature). Dip ice cream squares in batter. Drop into heated fat. Fry for 2 minutes, turning with slotted spoon until golden brown on all sides. Carefully lift out of fat; drain thoroughly on absorbent paper. Serve immediately with hot Chocolate Fudge Sauce.

CHANGING STYLES — Two young Toronto office workers demonstrate the vast difference between office attire worn at the turn of the century and at present. Christine Maleta (seated) wears a high-collared shirtwaist with leg of mutton sleeves and a long full skirt that was fashionable in the early 1900's. Sally Potter is dressed in a suit of raw silk, the preference of today's female office worker. (CP Photo)

From turn of century to modern office wear

Leg of mutton sleeves, a high-collared shirtwaist and gored skirts hardly sound like an emancipated woman to the career girl of today.

But at the turn of the century this was the costume worn by the young woman entering the new world of office work. Once the office girl married she retired again into home life.

Today the situation is far different. There's even a new career superimposed on the accepted office pattern — temporary office help. Many married women now wish to keep on working to supplement the family income or, with their children grown up, to provide outside interests.

However, many of them are not looking for permanent employment. Others like the challenge offered by different office routines. So they prefer to work on a part-time or temporary basis. They have actually become an important labor reservoir.

The Toronto branch of Office Overload, one of the firms devoted to filling openings for part-time work, recently arranged with Simpson's, a Toronto department store, to stage a White Collar Girl fashion show for its temporary employees and their friends.

DISPLAY OLD COSTUMES
The difference in office dress between the turn of the century and the present was highlighted by four staff members modelling costumes from the early era. Here was the office uniform of white shirtwaist with the huge billowy sleeves, the gored skirt trailing the floor.

A street costume combined the long duster-style coat and the large feather-laden hat. For sport, there was a "bathing" costume of Mack Sennett comedy type, with tightly belted tunic, bloomers and black stockings.

An elegant evening gown was probably out of the picture for the office girl of that period. It was unlikely that she would be invited to formal parties. She wasn't quite socially elect. Working women were still in the minority. Man was the breadwinner.

Married women only went to work because of poverty or widowhood. Gradually the stigma of working for a living or returning to work after marriage began to disappear until today the reverse is true.

Until the 1890s unmarried women were relegated to a life of unpaid help in their own homes or had to live off the charity of relations. Married women had only social obligations to hold their interest.

'BLOOMERS' ARRIVE
The first stirrings for a more active life began in the 19th century. In 1849 Mrs. Amelia Bloomer of Seneca Falls, N.Y., introduced the idea of clothes freedom with her Turkish-style trousers. The idea didn't catch on, however, until the year after her death, in 1894.

Patio butter flake rolls

It's so easy to serve hot rolls with a variety of refrigerated rolls available at the food store. Butter-flake rolls become particularly interesting when the leaves are partly separated before baking, and spread with one of the mixtures below:

1. Soft butter mixed with celery seeds, sesame seeds or poppy seeds.
2. Mayonnaise mixed with garlic salt.
3. Soft butter blended with a very little curry powder and finely-minced parsley.
4. Soft butter blended with a little onion powder.

Historical tour on Saturday

STANSTEAD — (Special) The annual pilgrimage this year of the Stanstead Historical Society will take place on Saturday, June 12. For those attending from Stanstead, Magog and North Hatley areas, it has been planned they take Route 80 at Burroughs Falls and proceed to the new picnic area between Barnston and Coaticook, to arrive there about 9:15 a.m. A guide will be waiting there and will escort the tour to the town hall from where the tour will commence.

Busy Bees earn $167 at supper in East Clifton

EAST CLIFTON — The Busy Bee Society met in the Community Hall.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Chilton Lowry acted as secretary pro-tem. The treasurer, Mrs. Victor Bell, gave a report on the turkey supper recently held. The amount of $167. was realized. Plans were made for the annual cleaning of the church. The amount of $10 was voted to the Community Hall.

For the members and friends who will be attending from the Sherbrooke area and East of Coaticook, they should be at the Town hall in Coaticook between 9:30 and 9:45 a.m.

As the tour will take most of the day, those joining the pilgrimage should bring a lunch. All are invited to the Coaticook Golf Club for lunch between noon and 1 p.m. Tea and coffee will be provided by the Town Council of Coaticook.

Copies of the tour have been completed and will be given out at the commencement of the tour.

the students said they were not protesting against the Gemini space voyage. (NEA Telephoto)

OBITUARIES

MRS. S. E. DESMARAIS, OF RICHMOND

RICHMOND — Final tribute was paid to Mrs. Josephine Janelle, wife of the late Stanley E. Desmarais, M.L.A., of Richmond, who died May 7, 1965, at the Youville Hospital, Sherbrooke, at the age of 94 years, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Desmarais was born in Richmond, the eldest daughter of the late Octave Janelle and his wife, Delphine Bedard. She was a graduate of Mount St. Patrick Convent.

She was married to Stanley E. Desmarais, who predeceased her a few years ago. They spent all their married life in this community.

Mrs. Desmarais had been an active member of St. Bibiane Church and later Holy Family parish. The local Catholic Women's League was organized by her and Mrs. A. J. Hudon. She held the office as High Trustee in the Order of the Catholic Women's Foresters in Chicago, Ill., where she attended four meetings during the year regularly until her retirement from office. She also held the office as Chief Ranger of Maple Leaf Court No. 762, which she also organized.

Left to mourn her loss are her three sons, Antonio, of Montreal, Gerard, of Richmond and the Hon. Justice Gaston Desmarais of the Supreme Court of Sherbrooke; a daughter Fabiola, Mrs. L. R. Vezeina, of Quebec City; two brothers, James Janelle, of Detroit, Mich., and William Janelle, of Duluth, Minn., 15 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and many other relatives.

Sunday evening prior to the funeral the following organizations visited the funeral home; Ste. Theresa Council of the C.W.L., Mount St. Patrick Alumni, Knights of Columbus, these organizations also being represented at the funeral.

The remains rested at her residence, Clevefont Avenue, where the funeral took place on Monday morning, May 10. The long cortege proceeded to Holy Family Church, Richmond, where service was held, and which was largely attended by relatives and friends.

The body was received by Rev. Antonio Dupuis, parish priest, Rev. Armand Gauthier, parish priest of St. Bibiane Church, officiated at the Requiem High Mass, assisted by Father Bilodeau as deacon and Rev. Germain Vincent, s.m.m., as sub-deacon. The choir of St. Jean Baptiste Church, Sherbrooke, rendered the mass music.

Seated in the sanctuary were: Msgr. Joseph Veilleux, p.d., rector of the Sherbrooke Seminary; Msgr. Napoleon Pepin, p.d., spiritual director of the Sherbrooke Seminary; Msgr. Raoul Bruneau, c.s., priest of St. Joseph Church, Sherbrooke; Canon Lorenza Ferland, priest of Danville; Fathers Antonio Dupuis, priest of Holy Family Church; Real Veilleux, of St. Colomnan, Sherbrooke; Charles Henry Doyle, of St. Adrien; Paul Authier, professor at Sherbrooke Seminary; Pierre Gaudet, s.s.s., of Sherbrooke; Jean-Marie Landreville, s.m.m.; of Melbourne; and Brother Edgar, director of the Sacred Heart College, Richmond.

The honorary pall bearers were: Hon. Emilien Lafrance, Hon. Justice William Mitchell, Hon. Justice Evender Veilleux, Judges Redmond Hayes, Jean-Louis Pelouin, Benoit Turmel and Roger Bouchard; Paul Desruisseaux, C.R., president of La Tribune, Sherbrooke; Mayors Georges Savoie, Richmond, and Gerard Lafrance, Danville; Jean-Guy Blanchette, battalionier of the District of St. Francis; Patrick Asselin, M.L.A.

The casket was borne by her grandsons, Jean and Andre Vezeina, Roger, Gerald, John and Jerome Desmarais.

His Excellency Archbishop Georges Cabana, of Sherbrooke, officiated at the Libera service, assisted by Msgr. Rosario Moisan, p.d., priest of St. Patrick's Church, Sherbrooke, and Msgr. Maurice Vincent, p.d., of Sherbrooke University.

Interment took place in the family plot in St. Bibiane Cemetery.

Among those present were relatives and friends from Montreal, Detroit, Mich., Sherbrooke, Quebec City, Windsor, Danville, Brompton, South Durham and from the surrounding municipalities.

GERALD KNUTSON, OF WATERVILLE

WATERVILLE — The death of Gerald S. Knutson occurred suddenly at this home on May 6, 1965.

Mr. Knutson was born in Waterville in 1898, the third son of the late Mathias Knutson and his wife, Emma Larsen, who had come to Canada from Sweden. Two brothers, Axel and Edward predeceased him.

At the time of his death he was employed by the Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Company in Sherbrooke. For many years he worked at the Dodge plant in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Knutson is survived by his wife, the former Myrtle Cunningham, a daughter, Geraldine, Mrs. Leonard Swallow; and four grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Waterville United Church on May 8. Rev. James Brooks conducted the service and the choir sang, The Lord Is My Shepherd and Unto the Hills.

The bearers were Eric Swanson, Elton Parkinson, Stuart Blier, Sam Hopper, Meredith Barber and Wilfred Crowley.

Interment was in the Greenwood Cemetery.

Among those present were relatives and friends from Toronto, Perth, Trenton and St. Catharines, Ont., Hartford, Conn., Berlin, N.H., Pennsylvania, Mechanic Falls, Me., and Montreal.

MRS. HAROLD WING, OF FOSTER

FOSTER — The death of Mrs. Harold Wing, the former Wilhemina Alexander, occurred at the Brome-Missisquoi Perkins Hospital, Swetsburg, on April 28, after an illness of only a few hours.

The deceased was born in Scotland on October 27, 1904. She was married to Harold H. Wing on February 8, 1954, and they made their home here following Mr. Wing's retirement.

Mrs. Wing leaves two brothers and other relatives in Scotland.

The deceased was an ardent worker in St. James Church and an active member of the Ladies Guild.

Mr. Wing, who was seriously ill at the time of Mrs. Wing's death, died seventeen days later.

The funeral service was held in St. James Anglican Church on April 30, Rev. T. J. W. Liggett officiating. The hymns, I know that My Redeemer Lives and The Lord Is My Shepherd; were sung by the choir, with Mrs. Liggett at the organ.

The bearers were Heman Wing, of Waterville, Roscoe Mizener, Arthur Mizener, Al Williams, Alfred Wing and Baxter Williams, of Foster.

Burial took place in the Wheeler Cemetery, Knowlton.

Among those present were: Mr. Archie Wing and Mr. Chester Wing, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Wing Sr., Mr. Royce Wing Jr., Mrs. Gordon Long, Mrs. Wm. Wing, Mrs. Breux, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wing, Mr. Norman English, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell, Montreal; Mr. Edward Wing, Montgomery, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grant, Hyde Park, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mizener, Miss Sharon Mizener, Lennoxville; Mr. Gary Mizener and Miss Helen Bowen, Montreal; Mrs. Gerald Decker and Mr. Robert Christian, Farnham.

NEWTON KEZAR, OF STANSTEAD

STANSTEAD — Newton Kezar, for many years a resident of Stanstead, died at his home on Tuesday, May 4, following an illness of two months.

The funeral held on the following Friday afternoon at two o'clock at Cass Funeral Home, Stanstead, was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Carl Gustafson, pastor of Stanstead South Church, officiated, paying tribute to the deceased and offering comfort to the family.

The bearers were Walter Keeler, Leon Parnell, Carroll and Sterling Dezan, George Coburn and A. R. Hunting. Interment took place in the family plot in Ayer's Cliff cemetery.

Born at Katevale on February 20, 1887, Mr. Kezar was the son of Chauncey Alexander and Cynthia Melvina (Knowlton) Kezar. Most of his life was spent in McConnell, Ste. Catherine de Hatley, where he was a farmer and a carpenter.

May 23, 1900, he married Edith M. Howe. In 1942 the couple came to Rock Island to live and following the death of his wife on January 11, 1943, Mr. Kezar purchased a home in Stanstead, where he resided until his death.

Mr. Kezar is survived by a daughter, Enid Victoria, Mrs. James Tobin; two sons, Alvin Newton Kezar and Lawrence Delbert Kezar; a sister, Charlotte, Mrs. Gordon Macgowan, of Maine; nine grandchildren, fifteen great grandchildren, a great-great-granddaughter and several other relatives. Two daughters, Helena and Hester, died some years ago.

Among those attending the funeral were his children, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tobin, Rock Island, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kezar and son, Brian of Winona, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. L. Delbert Kezar, Chateaugay; grandchildren, Mrs. Gwen Beaver and daughters, Darlene, Mrs. Victoria (Beaver) Milmine and her daughter, Terry Lee, all of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. William Kinney and son, Richard, Newport, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kezar and Mr. Gerald Kezar, Chateaugay; also Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clough, Mrs. Irma Woodard, Mrs. Thelma Taylor, Mrs. Grant LeBaron, all of North Hatley; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert LeBaron, Magog; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Kezar, Waterville; Mrs. Ella Johnson, Minton, Miss Mildred McBain, Stanstead; and many others from the Boundary communities and Ayer's Cliff.

Brigham

The social club held its meeting on May 22 with six tables being played. The prize winners were Mrs. G. Patterson, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Allan, W. Crawford, A. Mailhot and Irving Snodgrass. At the close of the game, refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Carl Leonard and Mrs. W. Bentley, Bishopton spent a few days here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Powers.

Mrs. Joseph Bessette is home again, after some time in the B.M.P. Hospital in Swetsburg. Her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. M. L. Doyle and Miss Rosemary Doyle, Montreal, were recent visitors of Miss Marion Hawthorne. Other guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Bancroft, West Shefford, and Mrs. W. S. Rodger, Cowansville.

The salad tea and food sale held in Brigham Church hall on May 22 was well attended. The tea tables were attractive with centre-pieces of spring flowers. As usual, the food table was well patronized and the results most gratifying to the society.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Tempest in a teapot—fortunately that's all most toddler tantrums amount to. Most toddlers have an occasional temper storm because the very business of growing up is bound to bring frustrations. Tantrums may also result if a child is overtired or overstimulated.

To fight anger with anger, hardly ever works. Good ways to calm an overwrought child who's not old enough to reason with:

- Try to distract him tactfully. A quick hug 'n' kiss often smooths away the sore spot.
- If he's failed at something, try to show him the way and be quick to praise new attempts.
- P.S. It's unwise to bribe or threaten a toddler back to good behaviour. Bribes beget bad habits... threats beget bigger tirades.

Mealtime tantrums almost never happen when you spark your toddler's menus with something extra-special. Like Gerber Junior Meat Dinners... famous for savoury flavour interest. That's because they have 3 times as much meat (and therefore more protein) as our regular vegetable and meat combinations. Add to this extra meat, the goodness of selected garden vegetables and you get the tastiest dishes that ever perked up a palate. Strained versions for pre-toddler tykes. 8 varieties.

Nutrition bulletin from Gerber. Every mother knows that excessive cooking sometimes reduces the nutritive values of food. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are cooked in just a few seconds to retain a high degree of natural food values. Flash-cooking does a lot for baby's eating pleasure, too, because it helps preserve the true-to-nature colours and flavours so appealing to little ones. Gerber Fruits, (and other foods) come in Wide-Top jars with re-closable Twist-Pop caps for safe refrigeration of unused portions. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

New Canadian, headmaster of hairdresser school and Granby man up before Sweetsburg court

SWEETSBURG — (Staff) — Hayes said he would exercise Judge Redmond Hayes exercise the greatest clemency in this case and gave the sentence and gang Schlick at the Sweetsburg fine. If the accused does not Court of Sessions yesterday, pay the fine within 15 days an The Eastman resident received additional month will be given, a day in jail and was fined $50 for stealing lumber valued at $350.

Mr. Schlick had appeared before Judge Hayes on May 9 and pleaded not guilty to the charge of stealing 25 pieces of wood, 15 pieces of plywood, nine tins of veneer and one ruler during the night of April 27 in Eastman.

When Mr. Schlick appeared before Judge Hayes this time, he changed his plea to guilty pointing out most of the stolen merchandise owned by Andre Lacoste of Eastman had been "recovered."

The accused pleaded for clemency as he had undergone hospital treatment for the last few months and had practically no money left. Added to this, he was a new Canadian who had trouble getting employment as he spoke little of either official languages.

Under these circumstances Crown Prosecutor Gilles Theriault agreed with the defense but nevertheless the minimum sentence must be given in this case as it was mandatory, he said.

Hearing the testimony, Judge months and fined $50 each and costs when they pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Onil Gauthier pleaded guilty to impaired driving and succeeded in having his driver's license suspension reduced from six months to three months when he told the court he needed the car for business.

The second man who is from Knowlton pleaded guilty to impaired driving during the night of May 21 along route 1.

The accused claimed he "just" scraped a truck causing no damage to it and this resulted from his car brakes not functioning properly.

Two men were fined, $100 and one $50 for failing to complete income tax forms.

Herbert Irwin pleaded guilty to four charges of failing to complete federal income tax forms and for each charge was fined $25.

Leslie Gallacher pleaded guilty to two charges of failing to complete provincial income tax forms and for each charge he was fined $25. Both men had one month to pay the fine or receive a jail sentence.

A Granby headmaster of a hairdresser school who is charged with receiving stolen goods was set free on $900 property and $200 bail yesterday when he appeared before Judge Hayes to make the customary voluntary statement.

Gerard Boulet, of 171 St. Andre Street did not make a statement and so the judge set the bail and the case will now proceed to the criminal assizes.

The accused is charged with receiving some of the liquor bottles and cigarettes stolen during the night of March 13 from the Granby Golf Club.

This robbery was committed by the Granby trio of Gabriel Stringer, Robert Denis and George Millette who were sentenced last Monday to a total of 61 months in prison for committing this robbery and several others.

A Granby man, Arthur Valieres, was fined $50 and ordered to post a bond of $500 to keep the peace for a year after he pleaded guilty to assaulting his aunt.

The incident occurred on May 28.

Two men had their drivers' licenses suspended for three

SELBY LAKE — (Staff) — A 37-year-old teacher from Selby Lake, 14 miles west of Buckingham, was honored at the recent annual reception given by the Cowansville High School Board for its staff.

Mrs. Grace Howard was presented with an inscribed silver tray in recognition of 37 years of service where she has remained as a Grade 1 teacher since.

Clarence Hamilton, chairman of the Cowansville School Board, presented the tray to Mrs. Howard for her unflinching pleasant attitude towards her pupils and said he had never heard a derogatory remark against her or her work from either pupil or parent.

First graders in Cowansville for many years have indeed been fortunate to begin school under the guidance and instruction of so exceptional a teacher as Mrs. Howard, he said.

Her kindly manner and understanding of little ones and their first year problems have made her an invaluable teacher in the primary department.

This past year, he continued, marked her first year teaching a third generation in one family. Teachers with whom she has taught can readily testify to her wonderful example of gracious participation in all staff and school projects, he said.

It was also pointed out that Mrs. Howard's excellent teaching ability was recognized in 1941 when she was awarded the Order of Scholastic Merit.

FOUR TEACHERS

Mr. Hamilton then called upon members of the School Board to present gifts to the following four teachers who are leaving the staff: Miss Joan Morgan, who has been one of the Grade 4 teachers for the past two years; Mrs. J. Werbski, teacher of elementary French this past year; Miss Mildred Parsons, who has been one of the Grade 6 teachers for eight years; and Mrs. H. Dougherty, who has been Cowansville's first commercial teacher for the past two years.

Mr. Hamilton expressed regret at their leaving and extended the good wishes of the School Board for success in their future work.

Gordon Bown, the principal of Cowansville High School, then congratulated Mrs. Howard on her wonderful record of 48 years in the teaching profession, remarking that since the school was built in 1923 only five years had not seen her on duty in the school.

Mr. Bown then called upon Mrs. E. Lewis to present Mrs. Howard with a gift from the staff, which was a silver flower bowl with matching candlesticks.

Vice-principal Robert Douglas also paid tribute to Mrs. Howard stating how grateful he was that his own youngsters had begun school with her and how interested and excited they were about school as a result.

Mr. Douglas also took the opportunity to thank the other teachers on the staff who had assisted him with the extra-curricular program throughout the past year.

The chairman of the Bedford District Regional School Board, Dr. M. C. Mooney, also attended the reception and made a few remarks concerning the progress of planning for the new Regional High School.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Hamilton expressed the School Board's appreciation of the staff's good work done in overcrowded conditions, stating that in two years' time the building of the new Regional High School should improve the situation.

Dunham couple has own art gallery

Way of life centred on life long hobby

By DAN KARON (Record staff reporter)

DUNHAM — A life long hobby becomes a way of life centred around an Art Gallery for a Dunham couple.

This is the story behind the opening last week of the mountain chalet styled Claremont Studio art gallery five miles outside Dunham towards Frelighsburg.

Born in Belgium, Leo Plomteux, grew up to become a notary with a great love for painting. This did not change when he married, rather the Plomteuxs took painting more seriously as both of them like to paint and do well at it.

In 1951, they immigrated to Canada with their three sons and settled down on a farm about three miles outside Dunham where they kept on with their painting hobby.

"But now with our sons grown up and married," Mr. Plomteux explains, "We have the time to devote most of our time to painting."

Normally an oil painting would take about three hours to sketch out on the scene and a few hours to touch up at home, he said.

With this systematic schedule in operation, the Plomteuxs have been able to produce many colorful and professional paintings to fill a gallery. And this is exactly what they have done.

One of their sons, who is in the building construction business, built them a mountain chalet of white washed walls, a black wood roof, tilted in alpine style. It's across the highway from the Plomteuxs farmhouse.

The Plomteuxs call it the Claremont Studio and it consists of a large stone tile floor room for exhibition of paintings and an art studio.

In the studio which is located on a lower level to the gallery, the Plomteuxs hold classes for art students.

THE ARTISTS AND THEIR PAINTINGS — Leon and Raymonde Plomteux of Dunham pose in front of the door leading from the art studio into the gallery where about 60 of their paintings are currently on exhibition. This exhibition of their paintings from Italy, Mexico and the Eastern Townships is open to the public until October 31. (Record photo by Studio Eclair)

Last week in the gallery, the Plomteuxs opened their first exhibition, consisting of about 60 of their own paintings, mainly landscape scenes.

In this exhibition the Plomteuxs show their best of the last few years, including landscape oil paintings of Mexico, Italy and the Eastern Townships.

The Mexican paintings are mainly from the San Miguel area which they have visited four times now and Mr. Plomteux mentioned that many Canadian artists live there all year around.

The Italian paintings are from the sun soaked middle and lower regions of Italy, he explained. While the Canadian paintings consist of the picturesque landscape scenes of the Eastern Townships such as Brome, St. John River Valley and Dunham itself.

What seems most impressive about their exhibition is the fact that the paintings are true replicas of beauty and not some wild blotches of assorted colors.

The Plomteuxs make the most of the gay lighter shades rather than the drab darker colors of pessimism. Another point which stands out is that the subject of their canvases are not bizarre figures or structures but true images.

The exhibition is open to the public free of charge.

Visiting hours to the gallery are Friday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. and this exhibition will be open until October 31.

THE ART GALLERY — This alpine chalet styled building located on the Dunham road towards Frelighsburg houses an art gallery of a Dunham couple. Studio Claremont was built by one of Leon and Raymonde Plomteux's three sons. The couple have opened their first painting exhibition consisting of about 60 paintings and it is open to the public until October 31. (Record photo by Studio Eclair)

Friends honor bride-elect at Hatley shower

HATLEY — St. James' Guild Hall was the scene of a community shower on May 25, when over 70 friends and relatives of Miss Corinne McIntyre gathered to shower her with gifts and good wishes on the occasion of her approaching marriage. The hall was decorated with spring flowers. The bride-elect was escorted by her twin sister, Mrs. Keith Morse and her cousin Miss Helen Ann Bogie, to a seat beneath an arch, decorated in turquoise and white, with two wedding bells in the centre and apple blossoms on the lattice work. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Beaver Bowen.

Mrs. Denton spoke a few words to the guest of honor and members of the Girls Auxiliary sang several songs. Two readings, Sweet Corinne and The Top Kitchen Drawer were given by Mrs. Nellie Hartwill.

The Misses Pamela McIntyre, sister of the bride, and Valerie Cutler carried in the gifts, in a decorated basket which was filled several times.

After the gifts had been opened and passed around for all to view, Miss McIntyre thanked everyone, and also the Ladies Guild, for the shower.

Refreshments were served by the members of the Guild, assisted by several of the G.A. members.

The bride's cake, made in the shape of an umbrella, was iced in white and decorated with pale yellow flowers and green leaves by Mrs. William Cutler.

GENERAL NOTES

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Little were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Little, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Roberts, East Ryegate, Vt., Mr. and Mrs. John Currie and Mrs. Harold Harroon and Laurie, Lennoxville.

Friends of Mrs. Gerald Johann will be pleased to hear she is progressing favourably after undergoing surgery in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

KNOWLTON LANDING

Miss Elaine Gately, Mansonville, who has completed her first year at Macdonald College, is employed at Pine Lodge.

Miss Bibiane Deslandes, Miss Nicole Provencher, and Miss Francine Briere, Granby have been spending several days with the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ethier.

Weekend guests of Mrs. George Drummond at her cottage were Dr. and Mrs. Lauder Brunton, and Miss Warda Drummond of Montreal.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — While many of his fellow stars are making deals to produce films for their own companies, Canadian-born Glenn Ford is negotiating a multipicture contract with MGM — strictly as an actor.

Glenn, who was born in Portneuf, Que., figures his place in the movie business is before the camera.

"Oh, I had my own company once—for Pocketful of Miracles with Frank Capra's Company," he said. "But no actor is going to tell Frank Capra how to make a picture. He has forgotten more about movie-making than most directors remember."

For nearly all of his 26-year career—that's right; he started in films in 1939—he has been a company man. His first contract at Columbia lasted 21 years minus 3 1/2 for the U.S. marines. His deal with MGM, which overlapped his Columbia contract, recently finished after a dozen years.

ISN'T DOCILE

Glenn has not been a docile employee; he has earned battle stars for his encounters with the brass. But he retains a philosophy that runs counter to his producer-star brethren:

"I think film actors are better off when they are in the hands of a strong director. When actors are coddled and catered to, they lose their sense of reality. If you don't applaud after their closeups, they go into their dressing rooms and sulk."

"An actor needs strong control and that means a non-nonsense director who'll tell him to do. John Ford and John Wayne are the best example of that; they've both been good for each other."

"I've always had my best luck with strong directors. Take a man like George Marshall. We've done five or six pictures together and he's great for me. When I start to tighten up, he says, 'Stop thinking, Glenn,' and I snap out of it."

WORKED FOR TOUGH ONES

"I've worked for some of the toughest directors in the business, and I've profited from them. I'd love to work for some of the other tough ones—guys like John Ford and Henry Hath-

Scotty Morrison replaces Voss as chief referee

Tigers claw Red Sox 19-0, Twins edge Senators 6-5 in Little League last night, two games this evening

Amedee Roy took his Red Sox out on a Tiger hunt last evening but to his dismay he discovered that you can't shoot Tigers with blank ammunition as the Tigers had a field day clawing their way to a 19-0 win. In the other tilt played in the Little League, Twins upset Senators 6-5. Tonight the Yankees visit White Sox and Indians and Orioles clash.

Tigers started their man-eating tactics early as they took a 5-0 lead in the top of the first inning. Four walks, hit by pitch, infield error and a single by Paul Ducharme sent the tallies across the plate. Richard Roy was on the mound for the Sox when all this happened.

Sox played away below their usual but will bounce back. It was tough and go in the tilt between the Senators and Twins. Senators needing one run to tie the game in the last inning couldn't put it across even with the bases loaded, with Twins winning it by a narrow 6-5 score. Hits by Ken Baker and Dale Ross set up the first Twin run in the top of the first inning.

They added three more runs in the second. Scott Planché, leading off with a double, David Pankovitch and Andre Roy with singles driving in the runs. Senators were still being kept off the score sheet by Baker.

Senators did hit the scoring column in the last of the third coming up with two runs. A home run by Roy was the big hit. Two in the top of the fifth for Twins made it a 6-2 ball game this time it was Scott Laforge and Dale Ross doing the hitting.

Senators big chance came in the last of the sixth as they got three runs on hits by Romeo Dumas Alain Bolduc and Jean Robitaille. They still had the bases loaded with none out but they couldn't bring in another run as the Twins pulled out a double play young Scott Laforge starting it.

Twins are still climbing and the youngsters are always in the game. Senators must get more hits in the clutches but will still win games.

Tigers 5-17 3-3-19 17
R. Blais, A. Drouin (3), R. Nicol (5) and R. Cuff; Paul Ducharme and Jean Proteau.
Senators 0-0-2 0-0-3 5 9
Twins 1-3-0 0-2-x-6 8
J. P. Robitaille and G. Bolduc; K. Baker, Scott Planché and Dale Ross.

Ducharme, the Tiger hurler, gave up two hits in the last of the third, Blais and Cuff were the hitters. A double by Bill Mullin and a triple by Denis Dussault gave the Tigers another counter in the top of the second. It was still nothing showing in the run column for the Sox in the bottom of the second as Ducharme struck out two in this inning.

A big seven-run inning in the third settled the issue. Six hits did the damage. Mullin hit a triple, Richard Duval a home run, with two on, Goupil, Raban, Cabana and Ducharme, with singles, doing the hitting.

Red Sox were still being held scoreless by Ducharme as he was continuing to strike out an average of two men each inning. Tigers finished off the scoring with three runs in the fifth and sixth.

Ducharme came up with his third hit, a home run with two on in the fifth. Ducharme allowed only seven hits and had 12 strikeouts in his win. The Tigers were out for this one and each man did his job. Red

Joe Horlen paces White Sox to 7-2 win over Boston, Indians stop Twins, A's edge Yanks 3-2

Joe Horlen has begun phase 2 of his attempt to overthrow lefty Gary Peters as strong man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Horlen, 27, pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston Red Sox.

The right hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned-run average away from Peters. Now he is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horley's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often is used as a pinch hitter.

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team against three defeats.

END WINNING STREAKS

In other American League contests, Minnesota's Twins stopped Cleveland Indians' five-game winning streak 6-2, Kansas City Athletics ended New York Yankees' four-game string

Horlen, 27, pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston Red Sox.

The right hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned-run average away from Peters. Now he is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horley's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often is used as a pinch hitter.

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team against three defeats.

If your beneficiary dies first, what will happen to your life insurance benefits?

When the unexpected happens, as it sometimes does, it's important to know what steps to take. That's why the competent advice of your Manufacturers Life representative is so valuable. Here are some of the practical points he'll cover.

1. Unless you originally named an alternative or contingent beneficiary, the money from your policy would be payable to your estate. This may tie up the money and subject it to creditors claims and unnecessary estate costs. In the end, it might not even go to the person you would have chosen unless your will is up to date.
2. If young children were also originally named as beneficiaries, and they are still under age, another problem arises. Unless you make special provision, the policy proceeds at your death would have to be paid into court and held until they reach their majority.

But don't wait until something like this happens. Call your Manufacturers Life representative to-day. He will review your beneficiary arrangements—and suggest changes if they are necessary. He is experienced in matters of this kind, and he offers you the kind of counsel you can rely on.

Pirates stopped, Dodgers win as Giants edge Mets

Hal Woodeschick, who used to be the National League's safest late-inning risk this side of Al McBean, has become accident prone.

Houston Astros' southpaw reliever specialist, who led NL pitchers with 22 saves last year and was a close second to Pittsburgh's McBean for fireman of the year laurels, handed the streaking Pirates a 7-6 victory Tuesday night by committing a two-out, bases-loaded balk in the 11th inning.

It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and 16th in 18 starts, vaulting the Pirates into the first division for the first time since April 25.

In the cellar two weeks ago, they now share fifth place with St. Louis Cardinals, one game under .500.

The Astros, meanwhile, dropped their ninth extra-inning decision and 12th one-run game of the season. Woodeschick, 33, has been the villain in the last three one-run losses.

The first-place Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Philadelphia Phillies 2-1 on Maury Wills' run-scoring single in the ninth, Cincinnati Reds edged St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 on successive sixth-inning homers by Le Ardanas and pinch-hitter Art Shamsky and a two-run double by Willie Mays carried San Francisco Giants past New York Mets 2-1.

Als post 12-9 win over Plessisville, host Quebec tonight, sign new player

Sherbrooke Alouettes defeated Plessisville Braves 12-9 last night before a small crowd of 611 at the Park Avenue Stadium, in a tilt that featured one home run with two aboard, a steady performance by Dick Todd and seven errors, costly for the Braves.

This victory puts the Als in sixth position in the Provincial Baseball League, three and one-half games behind present leader, Acton Vale. In other PL games under the lights last night, Lachine dropped their first place hold as well as an 11-6 decision to Coaticook Canadiens, while Acton Vale Braves edged Granby Cardinals 5-3, and Drummondville dumped Theford Mines 4-1.

Sherbrooke hosts Quebec Indians this evening, gametime slated for 8:30 p.m. As well, Drummondville travels to Plessisville and Coaticook at Lachine in three more encounters that will alter the standings considerably.

ALS SIGN AMERICAN 'ON CONDITION'

Len Cote, general manager of the Sherbrooke Alouettes, announced last night that Luke Lamboley has been inked to a contract on a temporary basis. Lamboley, 21 years of age, hails from Madison, Wisconsin, and has had ball experience in college and later with a New York Yankees farm club.

Luke has attended the University of Wisconsin, for three years, and gained his experience there. He bats left but throws right, and occupies shortstop on the field. However, any other infield position can be filled by Lamboley, as he has had infield experience.

Lamboley arrived in Montreal by plane last night, and saw the Als in action. He will be in uniform against Quebec tonight, and will replace Dick Todd, who has been put on the inactive list for fifteen days. The American import has had benefit of spring training. He is 6' tall and weighs 180 pounds.

Todd started off against the Braves and retired them in order, with the help of his infield. The first was to the left of the Als, as they opened wide on a six-run, six-hit barrage. Andy Pratte's homer over the left field fence, with two aboard, and St. Vincent's double, highlighted this outing.

Meanwhile, Len Gray, playing shortstop with Plessisville, couldn't get a grip on the ball, and committed two miscues in a row. No damage was done, as the Als were retired in the bottom of the second.

It was Gray again, attempting to make up for his boos, as he got the first hit off Todd and later the first walk as well. Gilles Marotte and Serge Tanguy blasted two consecutive triples in the fourth, scoring three runs on as many hits.

Maurice 'Kimo' Hurtubise brought the fans to their feet in the sixth, as he proceeded around the bases on two steals, after singling to first. An error also helped him on his way. Guy Robichaud and St. Vincent both connected for singles while Lias Poole whacked out a two-bagger for an RBI. Robichaud scored the last runs for the Als in the seventh.

Four pitchers shared respective duties for both clubs, as Tressider relieved Todd in the eighth after allowing seven hits and seven runs. He walked five and whiffed as many. Al Diez left the mound after five innings, as the Als were too much. Nine hits, seven runs and two walks was his performance.

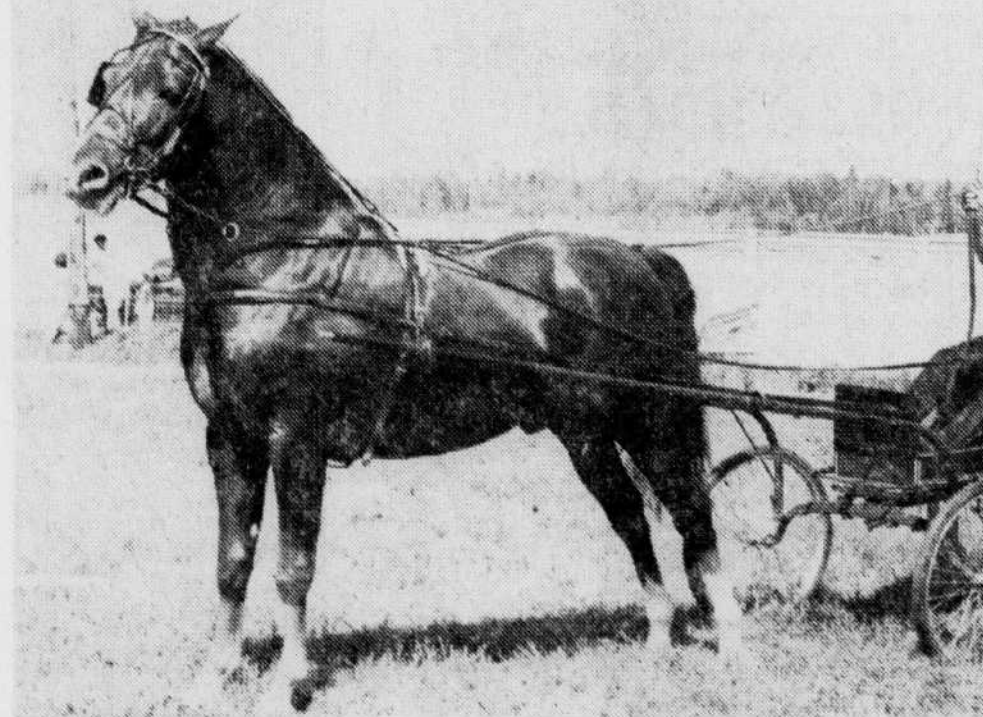

Offensively for the Als, Andy Pratte, Bob Champoux, Claude St. Vincent and Poole stood out. Champoux had four singles, while Poole connected for three and a double. Pratte's homer set the Als on their feet, with St. Vincent bringing in the power at the plate when needed.

Best for Plessisville was Gilles Marotte, with a triple and single.

Morgan Horse Club holds Field Day at Foster

FOSTER — The Quebec Morgan Horse Club staged a field day here at the Colbrook Morgan Farm and a large crowd was on hand for the event.

A. H. Fahrni, president of the Canadian Morgan Horse Club, of Abbotsford, B.C., was present. The judges for the show were, Dr. Donald J. Balch, associate professor of Animal Science at University of Vermont, Burlington, Vt., and Leonard Wales of the Wales Morgan Farm, of Waybridge, Vt.

Graham Bockus and Mrs. Bockus, owner of the Colbrook Morgan Farm, played hosts to the show and competitors. Seven classes were held and prizes for the winners of the various classes was awarded.

The final class of the show was a parade of all horses, who had competed in the event. A drawing of a beautiful painting by Mrs. Gilbert Rhicard was held and the lucky winner was G. M. Hill of Knowlton. Mrs. Stanley Heradaker of Knowlton and Mrs. Frank Bockus of Waterloo won subscriptions to the "Morgans in Canada" magazine. President Fahrni and the two judges, Dr. Balch and Leonard Wales officiated at the drawing.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Pitching — John O'Donoghue, Kansas City, pitched a three-hitter as the Athletics halted New York Yankees' four-game winning streak with a 3-2 victory.

12 players involved as Habs get Ingarfield, Watson goes, Wings grab McKenney, Stewart to Bruins

MONTREAL (CP) — Appointment of a new referee-in-chief, three trades involving 12 players, two $30,000 waiver claims and an unusually heavy inter-league draft session were features of Tuesday's National Hockey League meetings.

The second day of the four-day sittings opened with a board of governors meeting. From this caucus Ian Scotty Morrison emerged as new referee-in-chief, replacing Carl Voss who is retiring after 15 years service.

Of the dozen players involved in the three trades, only a trio can be considered established NHL performers. One of the trades caused Portland Buckaroos of the Western League to sever its relations with the NHL.

In other developments, a veteran and a rookie were claimed on waivers, while the inter-league draft leaned heavily to goaltenders.

The appointment of Morrison, 35, is for one year. Termination of the agreement between himself and the NHL would require another year's notice. Voss will continue to work with his successor until he gains a knowledge of the administrative work involved.

Morrison started refereeing 15 years ago in junior competition. He worked in the NHL for two years. Morrison quit eight years ago because of the travel involved, only to resume the career in the WHL when a business transfer sent him to Vancouver.

Last season he worked as a linesman in the NHL, following the dismissal of George Hayes for refusing to take an eye examination.

On the trading and drafting front, Emile Francis, freshman general manager of New York Rangers, continued to wheel and deal in an effort to improve on his club's fifth-place finish last year.

Francis was left without an experienced NHL netminder by the retirement Monday of Jacques Plante. Montreal Canadiens gave him Cesare Maniag, a travelling netminder who played 21 games in the NHL with Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal. Maniag spent last season with St. Paul of the Central Pro League.

On the same deal Montreal centre Gary Peters moved to New York, while Earl Ingarfield of the parent Rangers, minor leaguers Noel Price, Gordon Labossiere and Dave McComb moved to the Stanley Cup champions. Price and Labossiere were with Baltimore of the American League last season, while McComb was in the CPHL.

The Habs got Don Johns and an undisclosed amount of cash from Chicago Black Hawks in return for Bryan Watson, who split last season between Quebec Aces of the AHL and the parent club. Both are defencemen. Johns started with the Rangers last season but wound up in St. Louis with Chicago's CPHL farm club.

A deal that had repercussions on the West Coast saw Toronto's 13-year-veteran right winger Ron Stewart move to Boston Bruins. In return Boston sent Orland Kurtenbach to bolster the Leafs and threw in Andy Heberton and Pat Stapleton from the Buckaroos.

The inclusion of Heberton in the deal caused the Buckaroos' managing director, Harry Glickman, to sever all ties with the Boston club. He tied the pair of WHL all-stars were the only players on his club the Bruins owned outright, but he had asked Boston not to consummate the deal, or at least to exclude Heberton from it.

Before the inter-league draft meeting opened, Toronto left centremen Don McKenney open and he was picked up by Detroit Red Wings for the $30,000 waiver price. A similar deal occurred when Boston asked centre Bill Knibbs and he was picked up by Rangers for the same price.

Liberal group unites forces

A new federal Liberal organization, incorporating young Liberals and women's Liberal groups, was formed in the federal riding of Richmond-Wolfe Sunday night.

Federal MP for Richmond-Wolfe, Pat Asselin, said that the object of the newly formed organization is to unite the Young Liberals, women's sections, and the senior liberal group. Officers of the organization were elected at the meeting. The permanent honorary president of group is Ben Husk. The president is Leonard Boisvert, of Asbestos. The vice-president representing English-speaking members is Steve Perkins and the vice-president representing French-speaking members is Henri Bolduc.

LAW GRADUATE — Twenty-two year old Eric M. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith of Sherbrooke, received his Bachelor of Civil Law at McGill University's convocation on May 28. He is believed to be the youngest graduate of the Faculty of Law at McGill. He was educated in Sherbrooke at Mitchell School, Bishop's College School and Sherbrooke High School.

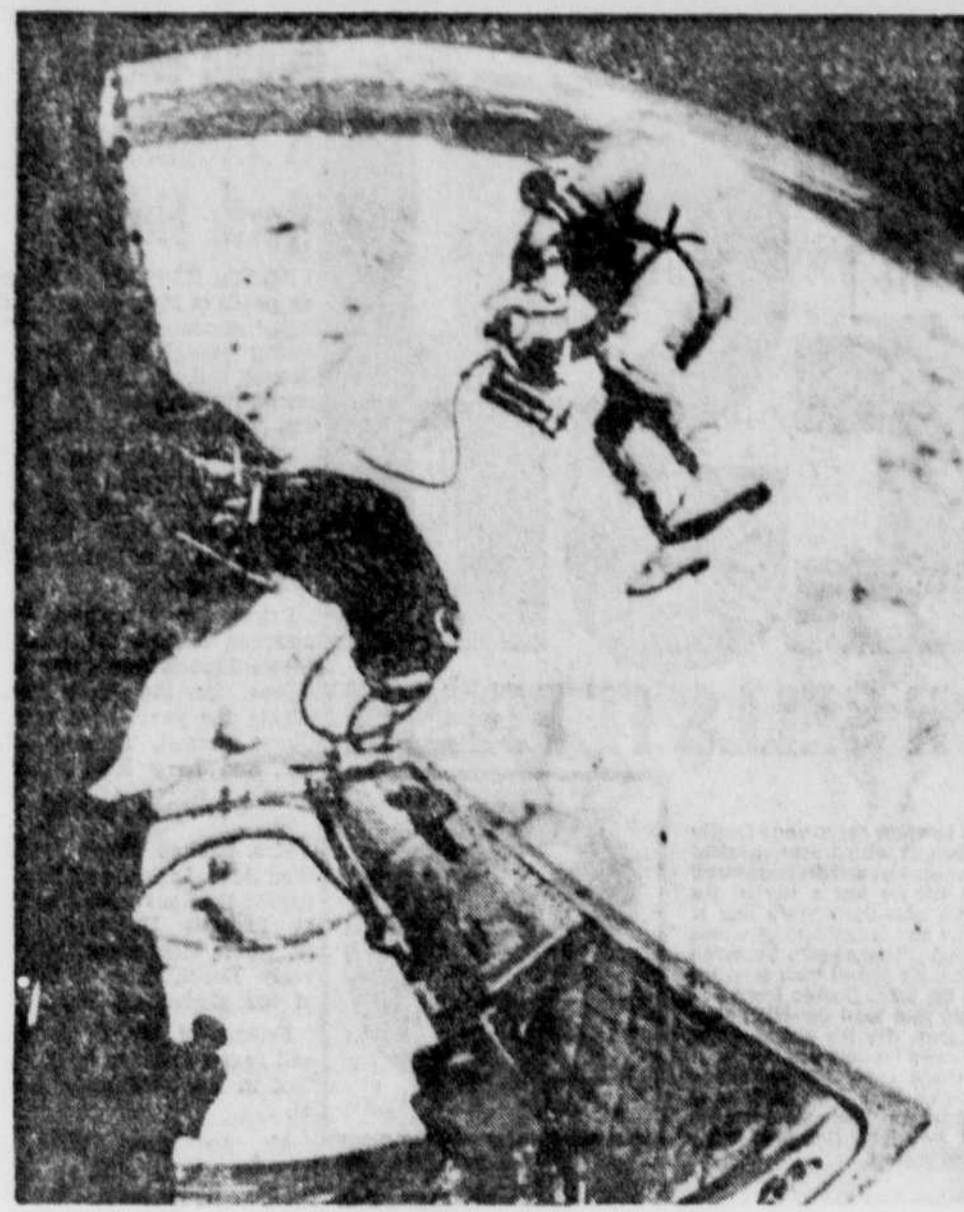

Dedications are set for East Angus

EAST ANGUS — At the 11 a.m. service in Christ Church on Sunday, June 13, Rev. D. J. Eustace will dedicate the Memorial Endowment Board, also a name plate for the cemetery gate and a processional cross.

Names of deceased members of the congregation have been placed on the brass plates of the Memorial Board through contributions by their families and will serve as a perpetual reminder of the former members' devotion to the church.

Flowers on the altar will be given by the ladies of the W.A. in memory of the members of the first W.A. branch formed in 1903. Many of their names are now on the Memorial Board and a good number of their families are planning to attend the service.

In order that the guests and congregation may enjoy a visit together, a lunch will be served in the Parish Hall by members of the local W.A. immediately following the service.

of industrialized societies," he said.

The greatest aspect of the contemporary change of the Quebecer is "his aptitude to create new systems and new structures, especially in political and economic areas." In this, the province is experiencing "a renaissance," he declared.

Profound changes in Quebec are occurring in the two areas of "ourselves" and "our environment," said Mr. Kierans, and consequently also in the third area of relations between the two. Economic changes in this province fall largely in the third area.

The heavy investments of the present government in educational reforms is improving the supply and quality of our "human capital," the cabinet minister said, so action by the government in other domains is necessary to ensure that this "human capital" is best used.

Young French-Canadians are especially interested in the changes thus required, he claimed, and they "have decided to experiment with an energy which bears the stamp of their belief in new solutions, and these at the expense of existing systems and institutions."

WHITE UNREELS TETHER AND TAKES OFF — Astronaut Ed White moves away from his Gemini 4 capsule as his golden tether unreels from a black bag in which it was kept until he emerged from the spacecraft. He somersaulted away for most of the tether's length, then maneuvered back with the aid of an oxygen rocket gun. This picture was made by White's fellow astronaut, James McDivitt, with a Hasselblad camera. (NASA photo via AP Wirephoto) years ago, I bought a new tractor. It was in the $3,000 class. The government gave me a loan to buy it, as with my low income, I couldn't finance it. This winter, I used my tractor in the woods a little, and I scratched it and broke the muffler and a few little things. Now here is number four problem, and in my mind the worst one. As my tractor cost so much now, I thought I would try and keep it that way, so I took it... to get it painted. This cost me $300... So you see, repairs are much too costly.

"Another problem is the low price of wood products. This winter, I cut about 25 cord of hardwood and 25 cord of softwood pulp. What wood I sold I received $9.50 a cord for my hardwood, and $17 a cord for my softwood.

"My father cut wood in 1949-50 and he received $24 a cord for his pulpwood. Now, with the rise in the cost of living, wood should not be worth less than ten years ago. Elm logs sold for $45 a thousand. I sold some this year at $35 a thousand, and had a hard time selling them."

"(The pulpwood) market here is no good. Of the wood I cut, one half has gone to (a local paper manufacturer). The other half is still in my hay field. I have tried a couple of brokers, and they all tell me they have no passes for wood. This shouldn't be so. I think the companies should buy the farmer's wood locally before they cut their own, or buy it from up north.

"Another problem is the cost of m. al. to produce beef, pork or what have you. Meat that used to cost around $3 a bag is now four dollars. Poultry, beef and pork are all very low in price.

"I could go on indefinitely telling you of farm problems, such as seeds to plant, fertilizers, bulldozing, all things the government helps on, but they still don't meet the farmers' pocket-book."

The problems outlined in this letter are similar to those in all the other letters.

And not all farmers think government help will remedy the situation. One farmer wrote dryly:

"I think generally farmers are wary of expecting solutions, because, if we get a solution, it usually forms two or three more problems."

Another said the trouble with government programs is that they are surrounded with confusing amounts of red tape that often hinder the farmer.

Waterville Guild makes plans for July 8 social

WATERVILLE — St. John's Church Ladies' Guild met at the home of Mr. C. Howse on May 26.

Several business items were discussed and final arrangements were made for the ice-cream social to be held on July 8 on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Howse or in the event, of rain, in the Jubilee Hall.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bauer paid a short visit and were surprised when presented with a crystal cream and sugar set from the members of the Guild. Best wishes for the future were extended to the newly married couple.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Williams.

Anglican W. A. holds meeting at East Angus

EAST ANGUS — The meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church was held May 27 at Mrs. R. J. Westgate's home with two visitors present.

Rev. Eustace opened the meeting with the singing of a hymn the Litany and prayers.

Mrs. A. Rowland, Dorcas Secretary, read a letter from Rev. J. E. DeWolf, who is in charge of the Indian Residential school at LaTuque. He thanked the W.A. for assistance and gave a review of over 200 children's work, activities and reports.

The W.A. planned to place flowers on the altar in Christ Church on June 13 for the memorial Endowment Board service at 11 a.m. in memory of the ladies who first started the W.A. in 1903. Many of these ladies will have their names on the Memorial Board plaques, given by their children in their memory.

The members also planned to serve lunch in the Parish Hall following the service for relatives and friends, who are coming from a distance to attend the service.

Two guests were present and Miss Alice Rennie at close of the meeting gave a splendid talk about her work with the Daughters of the King, in New York City.

GENERAL NOTES

Melbourne couple mark twenty-fifth anniversary

MELBOURNE — Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Fowler were surprised guests of honor on Saturday evening, May 29, at the Belle View Club House here, after being entertained at dinner in Sherbrooke by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fuller, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was given by their daughter, Linda Ann, and close friends. Upwards of 100 gathered to extend congratulations and best wishes to the couple.

On arrival at the club they were greeted by Linda Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rattray and presented with a corsage and boutonniere by the ladies. Corsages were also given to those to be seated at the head table.

To the happy sound of For They are Jolly Good Fellows, Mr. and Mrs. Fowler were escorted to their seats of honor at a large table, centred with a three-tier wedding anniversary cake beautifully decorated, flanked by white tapers in silver holders, silver 25 motifs and other small silver decorations.

A large basket of summer flowers, vases of flowers, white and silver streamers and a large "25th Wedding Anniversary" on the wall completed the club-room decor.

The guest book was in charge of Russell Bedard and Leslie Rattray. Lloyd Fuller, who acted as M.C., proposed a toast to the couple and presented them with a few personal gifts and a substantial purse of money. Mr. Fowler expressed thanks on behalf of Mrs. Fowler and himself for the celebration and gifts.

A social evening and dancing was enjoyed, after which refreshments were served. Seated at the head table were the guests of honor, Miss Linda Ann Fowler, J. O. L. Michaud, mayor of Melbourne, Mr. and Mrs. George Michaud, Quebec City, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Corner, of St. Catharines, Ont.

Out of town guests were from Quebec City, St. Catharines, Montreal, Sherbrooke, Danville, St. Lambert, South Durham, Uxverton, Upper Melbourne, Richmond, Asbestos and St. Hilaire.
