Longshoreman boss sits in on new talk in river port strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Mediator Judge Rene Lippe tries again today to settle the St. Lawrence River longshoremen's strike.

Judge Lippe, after the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) turned down his own plan for a new contract, asked the ILA and the Shipping Federation of Canada to meet again.

For the first time since the strike started last Friday, the mediator said he had spoken to the longshoremen's boss, who is sitting in on the new talks.

Consequences of the strike, which some authorities say is costing Montreal $2,000,000 a day, were being felt Wednesday in various parts of Canada and even as far away as France.

Western Canada will be particularly affected if the strike causes Canada to lose some Russian wheat sales.

Some 60,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were scheduled to move to Russia through Montreal, Quebec, Trois-Rivières and Sorel which have been closed by the strike of 3,800 ILA members.

The strikers appealed Wednesday to ILA locals in Saint John, N.B., and Halifax for an immediate sympathy strike. Locals there said they had not received any request from international headquarters, but members would vote on any such request.

Reputation to survive strike says minister

By MALCOLM REID (Record Staff Reporter) The strike — caused delay to Canada's wheat shipments to Russia will not affect Canada's long-term reputation as an agricultural exporter, because importing lands "have been through such situations themselves," Agriculture Minister Harry Hays said in Sherbrooke last night.

The federal minister, in town to open the Sherbrooke Winter Fair, was commenting on the longshoremen's strike in the St. Lawrence. He said he "would hope this won't last long."

It had stopped wheat loading in Montreal, Mr. Hays said, but there was a bigger-than-ever flow from Churchill, Man., on Hudson Bay, and from the west coast.

As for portions of the sale which will be diverted by the Soviet Union to Cuba, "This is not a war material." For U.S. reaction, however, "You'll have to ask Kennedy."

All the grain sold to the USSR was paid for in cash, he said, and there was no possibility of Canada being forced to accept Soviet produce in exchange.

Mr. Hays was deep in territory which is rumored soon to be placed by the Liberal government under a separate "eastern agriculture" portfolio to be held by Jean Noel Tremblay (L-Roberval).

The question of splitting the agriculture cabinet post was "government policy," and the Calgary member would say only that the decision would be announced.

Kennedy okays sale of 150 million bushels

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy has agreed to allow the private sale of more than 150,000,000 bushels of surplus American wheat to Russia and Eastern Europe with the stipulation that none of the exports go to Cuba or Communist China.

His decision, which in so many words he said was just good business for the United States, drew both bitter criticism and praise.

The reaction ranged from Democratic Senator Strom Thurmond's denunciation that it amounted to "arming our enemy," to Vermont Republican Senator George Aiken's view that "the deal should prove beneficial to both the United States and the people of the purchasing nations."

In announcing his decision at his press conference Wednesday night, the president noted that more such transactions may be in the works.

The Soviet-bloc countries, he said, "may also wish to purchase from us surplus feed grains and other agriculture commodities" and he added:

Engineer killed in crash with West Shefford truck

WEST SHEFFORD (Staff) — A Canadian Pacific Railway engineer from Rock Forest was killed and a local man was injured late Wednesday morning when a truck collided with a Dayliner about one mile west of the Village here.

Killed instantly was 63-year-old Donat Spooner. In good condition at the St. Joseph Hospital at Granby this morning is driver of the truck, Aurele Dominique, 39, of here.

Granby hospital authorities said this morning that Dominique may be suffering a broken jaw. He was to have been X-rayed this morning. Hospital authorities said he should be released within the next day or so.

An inquest into the death of Spooner was opened last night by Dr. N. E. Monast of Cowansville, acting coroner. It was closed and postponed to a later date until after an investigation. No new date has been set as yet.

Granby Provincial Police who are investigating the accident said this morning that the accident occurred about 11:45 a.m. at the CPR level crossing on the grounds of the Inter-Comtes Construction Limited.

The impact of the collision threw the train engineer some 20 feet and killed him instantly. The truck was thrown about 150 feet.

Train No. 201 was a Dayliner "traveling from Sherbrooke to Montreal.

The crossing accident is the second in four months here. In June a 30-year-old Granby man, Jean-Guy Colard, was seriously injured when his car was struck by a CPR train while crossing tracks on Route 13.

Ford workers still strike in Oakville

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Some 4,700 production workers at the massive Ford of Canada plant here continued today a wildcat strike which has paralyzed the assembly line since Wednesday morning.

The strikers, members of Local 707 of the United Auto Workers CLC, planned a mass rally this afternoon at an indoor arena in Hamilton, 15 miles southwest of here.

Near-peak production on 1964 cars and trucks was halted early Wednesday. The production line, stopped with the close of the night shift, failed to start again when day-shift pickets blocked plant entrances.

Edward G. Bruce, president of the union's Ford local, and Jack Taylor, UAW international representative in Canada, appealed to the men to return to work and pursue their differences through normal channels.

The men have demanded improved working conditions before they return to the assembly line. Company officials said earlier in the day they had received no official explanation for the strike.

Chaput arrested

MONTREAL (CP) — Marcel Chaput, leader of the separatist Quebec Republican Party, and two British Broadcasting Corporation men were arrested on the Montreal waterfront late Wednesday by National Harbors Board police and charged with trespassing.

All were released on $50 bail pending arraignment in court today.

BLACKPOOL, England (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan told the annual Conservative conference here in a message today that it would not be possible for him to lead the party at the next general election.

Macmillan's surprise announcement came in a personal letter to the conference read by the foreign secretary, the Earl of Home, a close personal friend of the prime minister.

The message said: "If the operation proves successful it is clear that I will need a considerable time of convalescence and I would not be able to face all that is involved."

Seek staff at U of S

By JAMES DAVIES (Record Staff Reporter)

Canadian-based firms have made increased applications for student employees from the University of Sherbrooke during the past year, and some university officials believe that this is indicative of increased interest in the French Canadian.

Director of the placement centre at the French-language University, Gaetan Beauchesne, said in a telephone interview, Tuesday that the fact that 20 more Canadian firms, including at least one new one from outside the province, had sought employees among his university's graduates this year proved more firms are "out to meet the French Canadian."

Sherbrooke National Employment Service officer Gaston DeLois, agreed that there had been an increase in applications, which bring the total to 50 from 30. He would not necessarily attribute this to a greater interest in the French Canadian, he said.

"When a company with its head office in Hamilton, Ont., comes to Sherbrooke in search of personnel," said Mr. Beauchesne, "this can only be the result of increased interest in acquiring French Canadian employees."

Mr. Beauchesne was talking about a large farm machinery manufacturing firm which has for the first time sought University of Sherbrooke graduates.

"There has certainly been a considerable increase in demands for our people from this university," said Mr. DeLois, "but whether this is because employers are preoccupied with the French Canadian, or the result of our better public relations this year, I cannot say."

He remarked that the university had this year obtained a permanent full-time placement officer, and added that this fact alone might account for the greater number of applications.

In place of this National Employment Service representative (Mr. Beauchesne) the university had previously used only part-time helpers in years past.

Winter Fair gross is up, but average prices down

In three hours of rapid-fire selling last night at Sherbrooke Arena, the Sherbrooke Winter Fair's livestock auction grossed $36,725.67—almost $9,000 more than last year's.

But average prices for beef, hogs and lambs were all down from last year's sale.

There were 112 exhibits of steers which filled through the pen between restaurant and grocery beef buyers and the auctioneer, and the average price per pound when the evening was over was 38 cents. Last year's average was 32 cents.

Stearns and Hereford Angus, Shorthorn and Hereford breeds and overwhelmingly Quebec-bred, but the sponsoring Eastern Townships Agricultural Association made no price breakdown by breed.

Lambs and hogs were also auctioned off last night, however, lambs averaging 25½ cents a pound and hogs 34½ cents.

Last year, lambs averaged 40 cents a pound and hogs 39 cents a pound.

The highest price bid for a steer was $1.60 per pound, drawn by the 841-pound Aberdeen Angus used by Mr. and Mrs. Yule of Pierrefonds Farm at Kirkland, Que., to Steinberg's Ltd.

This steer was the grand champion steer in earlier judging at the fair, and was auctioned by Agriculture Minister Harry Hays, as was the reserve grand champion, a 783-pound Angus bred by Desourdy Farm of Cowansville.

It went for $1.20 a pound, the second-highest price for a steer, also to Steinberg's.

In bacon hogs, the top-priced stock was the three-hog pen of Marcel Sylvestre of St. Hyacinthe, the grand champion pen of three, which went for $1.20 a pound.

The grand champion pen of five hogs, owned by Antonio Sevigny of Princeville, went for 50 cents a pound.

Both the grand and reserve champion market lambs were bought by the auctioneer, Art Bennett of Sawyerville, in final bids, then resold to commercial buyers, with proceeds going to charitable causes.

The grand champion lamb, bred by Mrs. Roger Roux of Melbourne, was bought by Mr. Bennett at $2 a pound. The lower price at which a commercial buyer later bought it will support Maplemount foster home in Cookshire.

The reserve grand champion lamb, owned by N. G. Bennett of Bury, was bought by auctioneer Bennett at 75 cents. Its resale returns will go to the Sherbrooke Hospital.

At one point in his sales chant, the auctioneer warned a noisy section of the general audience its gestures might be taken as bids. "You might own a steer."

Actual buyers were seated in the section of arena seats immediately in front and above the auction pen. They represented chain stores, plus such other establishments as the Queen Elizabeth and Ritz-Carlton Hotels in Montreal, and Ruby Foo's restaurant.

Several speakers at the earlier reception for the agricultural minister, ETAA president Ivan Dugre among them, said the fair had made an effort to recover from a recent slump in stock quality.

The official gross increase last year, the top steer went over last year was $5,832.90.

TOP LAMB — Shepherd Archer Lyster of Melbourne holds the 96-pound lamb which won its owner, his daughter, Mrs. Roger Roux, a grand championship at the Sherbrooke Winter Fair and fetched the top price for market lambs in auction.

Eugenie Francoeur 17, of Windsor died in this shattered wreck.

BROMPTONVILLE — (Staff) — A 17-year-old Windsor youth died in hospital early this morning following a smash-up between the loaded truck in which he was a passenger and a crowded rural route bus on the Brompton Road.

Eugenie Francoeur died shortly after arrival at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, where his brother, 20-year-old Lafleche Francoeur has been admitted with an abdominal rupture.

The accident occurred at 8:20 this morning about a mile north of the city limits, where the truck, coming from Windsor,

3,000 feared killed

BELLUMO, Italy — A mountainous landslide plunged into Vaiont Dam reservoir Wednesday night, causing a gigantic flood that wiped out whole villages and left an estimated 3,000 dead.

U.S. Army authorities—summoned to help in the catastrophe—said this estimate of the toll was given to them by Italian sources.

The cascade of water and mud that overflowed the 873-foot concrete dam—third highest in the world—all but wiped out several villages with a total population of about 5,000.

The U.S. Army's Southern European Task Force SETAF, with headquarters at Verona, south of the disaster area in the Italian Alps, sent helicopters to the area.

A SETAF information office report said world reaching the U.S. command "indicated the toll may run into the thousands."

Italians reported to Maj. Harvey Mayse commanding the U.S. helicopter unit an estimated 3,000 dead.

Italian authorities said 300 bodies had been recovered by dawn, with thousands missing. There were reports that the concrete dam had collapsed.

But Maj. Mayse of Westchester, Wash., who led a squadron of four U.S. helicopters over the area, said the dam 12 miles north of this Alpine city appeared intact.

Trusteeship plans are unwrapped

OTTAWA (CP) — Backed solidly by the three opposition parties, the government today unwraps its legislation proposals for taking control of the Seafarers' International Union of Canada and four other sailors' unions.

Labor Minister MacEachen gave the Commons its first peek Wednesday at some of the unprecedented powers with which he plans to arm a special three-man board of federal trustees for a five-year cleanup of Great Lakes labor lawlessness.

Among their jobs, the trustees could throw out of office SIU president Hal Banks, named by a federal inquiry as the man responsible for violence and tyranny in the long history of lakes shipping strife.

Conservative, New Democratic and Social Credit spokesmen eagerly supported the government's move Wednesday to waive Commons rules and press forward with debate on the controversial issue.

The spokesmen criticized some details of the trusteeship plan but were united in support of its basic aim—to restore clean and democratic unionism to Canadian sailors in the SIU.

MAY GET WORSE Opening debate on the trusteeship resolution, the labor minister warned that the Great Lakes situation is potentially dangerous and may "grow worse before it gets better."

He served notice on the United States government and American labor that Canada will view with "grave concern" any violence or harassment against Canadian sailors or ships in U.S. ports.

He said a boycott of Canadian ships manned by unions under government trusteeship could seriously disturb friendly relations between the two countries.

Mr. MacEachen listed the main powers of the trustees.

They would manage and control five Canadian maritime unions representing some 21,000 sailors, engineers and deck officers.

The trustees would have all the power normally vested in union officers plus additional authority to fire present union leaders, to set up special negotiating committees and a joint sailor-shipowner advisory board on the trusteeship and to advise union members on changes in their union constitutions.

JUMP TO GAME IS WEAK REBID

When you use the artificial two no-trump response to a major opening as a bid forcing to game in partner's suit, opener's jump to game is his weakest rebid and announces a hand so weak that he would have passed an invitational limit raise to three.

The next weakest bid is three no-trump which merely shows a sound opening bid. The rebid of three in his own suit shows a hand big enough to be interested in a slam while bids in any other suit are slam tries that show a singleton or void.

Almost any partnership would manage to get to six spades with the North-South cards, but the Jacoby two no-trump response makes the bidding particularly simple.

South is definitely interested in a slam after the two no-trump response has forced to the spade game. He starts proceedings by bidding three clubs that shows both his club singleton and a good hand.

That three-club bid is enough for North to take full control. He uses the Blackwood four no-trump to check for aces. South shows two aces and North places the contract at six spades. He knows that there is an ace missing and there is no reason to think about seven.

How could South have shown a club void on this sequence? Easy enough! He would have jumped to six hearts over his partner's four no-trump to show two aces and a void.

Limit of half hour is urged for parking on Wellington Street

The Sherbrooke Downtown merchants' Association decided last night to approach city hall with the request that parking meters along Wellington Street North and South, and along King Street West from the Aylmer Bridge to Wellington Street, be readjusted to limit parking to a half hour, instead of the hour that is now allowed.

Describes needs of workers

"Man works not for money alone," Roland Grandpre, director of the department of business administration and marketing, University of Sherbrooke, told the Downtown Merchants Association last night. He told the group that workers have many other needs that must be satisfied on and off the job. To increase production, he said, speaking on human relations, "We suggest that the employer make efforts to see that the job satisfies these needs." He said that the needs are varied, but that there is a definite hierarchy of needs. People basically strive to satisfy only those needs that have a reasonable hope of attainment. "For instance," he said, "I might desperately want to own a yacht, but it is unlikely that I ever shall, so I satisfy myself with something else."

President Eddy Echenberg, explaining the move, said that it was planned for the convenience of customers by making it easier for them to find a parking spot on the street. It would eliminate the habit of "dashing out every hour and ten minutes to put another coin into the meter," he said.

Closed Monday

All stores in downtown Sherbrooke will be closed Monday, Thanksgiving day, the Downtown Merchants Association announced yesterday.

It was also decided to use a more costly Christmas promotion this year. Each of the merchants this year will be assessed one third more to pay for it.

He said that some of the additional money would be saved for next summer's Wellington Street shopping plaza.

"It seems to have been definitely established that the plaza will be repeated next summer on a larger scale," he said.

"The first one, this past summer, was operated on a very small budget. Of the 70 merchants polled, all but four or five were in favor of repeating the plaza."

A second resolution was to ask the city to prohibit parking along Wellington Street between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. for cars, and to permit trucks making deliveries to park there during those hours.

When federal Agriculture Minister Harry Hays pulled his handkerchief from his breast pocket after his speech of official opening at the Sherbrooke Winter Fair last night, it wasn't to mop his brow.

The Calgary minister wrapped the cloth around the microphone in front of him and began in a drone quite different from his speech voice: "We're going to trade cattle for dollars. Who'll give me . . ."

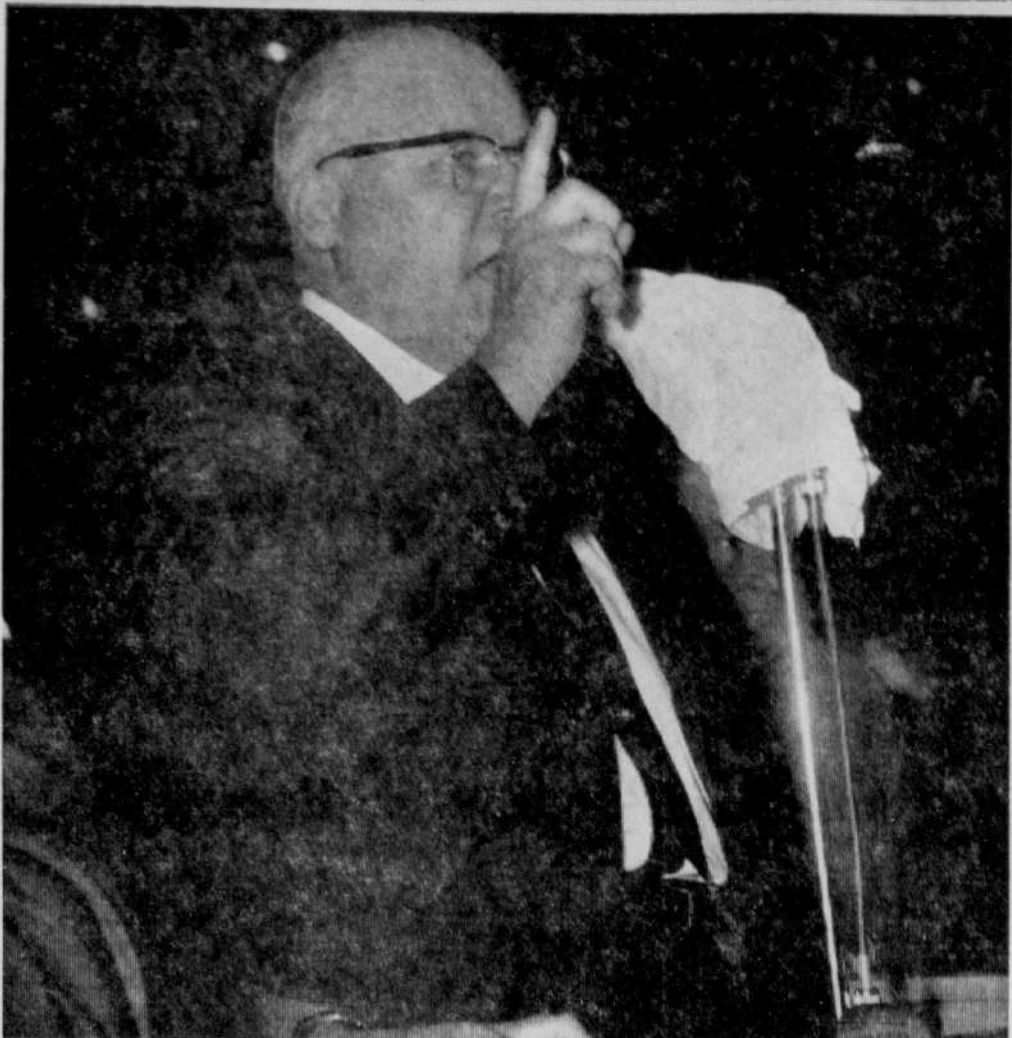

The minister was back in his pre-cabinet trade of auctioneer, "the job I know best," and within a few minutes had brought down the gavel on the two best prices recorded through the evening's selling, $1,345.60 and $936.60 for two fluffy-coated black steers.

Credit for the prices could not go entirely to the auctioneering skill of the minister. The Quebec-bred Aberdeen Angus steers he had auctioned off were the grand and reserve champion animals in the Winter Fair's stock show.

Both were sold to Steinberg's of Montreal, and the minister retained enough memory of the trade to be able to identify the food chain's buyer when he shouted "sold!"

When regular auctioneer Art Bennett of Sawyerville took over for the rest of the evening's selling, the minister's handkerchief was still tucked around the microphone, and Mr. Bennett said he'd keep it as a memento.

He also had praise for the minister's non-partisan professionalism. "In all the years I associated with Harry in the business, I never knew his politics," Mr. Hays has, since his appointment, been quoted as urging buyers at auctions he has visited to bid "Liberally."

Mr. Bennett's performance showed he had been trained in the same school as the minister, except that his spiel was peppered with almost simultaneous translations into French: "I've got 42 — quarante-deux."

There will be no letter carrier delivery Thanksgiving Day, October 14, Sherbrooke postmaster J. C. Cayer announced today. The money order and savings bank wickets at Sherbrooke's post office will also be closed.

The public lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the general delivery, registration and postage stamp wickets will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Letter box collections will be as usual and all mail posted at the office will be despatched as usual.

Bill Richardson, general manager of the Crown Laundry of Sherbrooke was the guest speaker at the weekly dinner meeting of the Sherbrooke Y's Men's Club held last evening at the Mago Hotel. The speaker was introduced by Earl Caunter and used as his topic "Textile Maintenance Industry."

Jim MacKinnon, club president reminded the members of the club's annual visit to the Compton Fish and Game Club which takes place next Wednesday evening. Members are asked to meet at the Mago Hotel at 6 p.m.

Social Welfare Court officials said today that there has as yet been no sign of two youngsters who ran away from their Compton foster home in early July.

Court Clerk Roger Bessette noted that despite efforts of the authorities and the foster parent to locate the two boys — Peter, 16 and Archie 14 — they have not been found.

Property owners who favor a referendum on the Montreal - Terrill, Big Forks Street bridge projects can register their names at Sherbrooke City Hall tonight.

Property owners will be admitted to the public chamber any time between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. and can sign their names on a sheet provided by the city clerk.

Although only French copies of the bylaw will be available at the meeting, the entire council and mayor will be on hand to answer questions from the public.

The city clerk will read the bylaw.

No identification is necessary, and the public can come and go from the chamber anytime between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

If 100 names are signed to the list, then the city will be forced to call a referendum on the $1,800,000 loan bylaw.

Members of the executive, he continued, should maintain close and constant contact with the Exhibition administrators so the regional undertakings would be in line with the operations of the fair itself.

Any project sponsored by the Eastern Townships group should be of a comprehensive nature he said and not confined to the interests of a single group or municipality.

Mr. Asselin felt that such an organization would not only benefit the World Fair but would lead to greater co-operation between the various sectors of the Eastern Townships.

He believed the Fair would lead to new industries entering the area and to the expansion of existing plants through contacts that would be made at the Fair.

Among permanent projects which would result from the fair he listed the construction of the Autoroute, the development of the Trans-Canada Highway and the improvement of other roads in the area.

He suggested that pressure be put upon the railways to establish special passenger train services during the fair with coaches painted special colors to advertise the regions from which they operated.

In closing, he said he was prepared to aid in any manner the information of such an Eastern Townships organization but stressed that this assistance would be as a resident of the district and not as a politician.

Urges immediate forming of ET world's fair group

BROMPTONVILLE — Early formation of an Eastern Townships committee to assure the district receives the fullest possible benefits from the 1967 World Fair in Montreal was urged by Patrick Asselin, MP for Richmond-Wolfe in an interview at his home here.

The committee envisaged by Mr. Asselin would comprise representatives of municipalities, industry, commerce, Chambers of Commerce, farm organizations, labor unions and other public groups interested in promoting the development of the region.

In addition to a central executive, the organization would comprise sub-committees on tourism, industry and agriculture, commerce, transportation, culture and the arts. Each of these would develop projects designed to impress upon World Fair visitors the advantages offered by the district in their respective spheres.

Members of the executive, he continued, should maintain close and constant contact with the Exhibition administrators so the regional undertakings would be in line with the operations of the fair itself.

Mr. Biron, told Sherbrooke high pupils that no less than $41.5 million in damage was done by fire in the Province of Quebec last year and that 117 deaths resulted.

The loss throughout Canada in 1962 amounted to $126 million and a total of 620 human lives were lost, he said.

Addressing the entire school student body in the gymnasium there, Provincial Buildings Inspector Aime Biron and Sherbrooke Rotary Club President Frank Pearson stressed several important things that people should be particularly careful of if they are to avoid fire.

The brief talks and a fire drill conducted the same afternoon by Sherbrooke fire department officials were part of Fire Prevention Week activities which serves to bring to the attention of Canadians tragedies that could be avoided if people were less negligent.

Students were warned to be particularly cautious about using firecrackers, smoking, and warned to always be familiar with the premises that they are in, especially when in someone else's house babysitting.

They were cautioned to know all means of escape, and particularly where the telephone was which should be used in the event that a fire erupted. The fire department telephone number should be memorized, officials said.

Fire Safety Hints — a bulletin — was issued to pupils.

Witnesses convention is held

This past weekend 525 Jehovah's Witnesses ended their largest convention in the Eastern Townships at the Mitchell School in Sherbrooke. The presiding minister of the Lennoxville congregation, Mr. J. Calhoun, noted the assembly theme "Feed my little sheep", stressed the need of daily Bible study as a means of instructing both ourselves and others in the accurate knowledge of God's purposes.

Mr. Calhoun pointed out that reports from the 11 congregations represented at the convention showed 48 new ministers had begun taking an active part in teaching during the past service year.

These contributed to the 13 per cent increase in average hours and the 12 per cent increase in the number of Bibles and Bible aids distributed.

The outstanding event was the Sunday discourse, "The Bible Triumphs in A Scientific World," by Mr. Laurier Saumur, district supervisor of the Witnesses.

Longevity of provincial governments

Nine Canadian provinces have held general elections during the past twelve months and from the overall results one could almost assume that being a provincial party leader is almost a lifetime job.

In each of the nine cases the incumbent government was returned, usually with a somewhat increased majority. But the story of standing pat goes back even further.

Since the end of the Second World War, there have been 50 provincial general elections and in only seven cases has a change of government resulted from the vote.

But if you happen to topple a government you have a good chance of remaining an "in" for a considerable length of time.

The other five in which changes have occurred in the past fifteen years — Quebec, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and British Columbia — appear to have been satisfied with their change of allegiance.

Three other provinces — Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan — have governments which were first elected prior to or during the war, while Newfoundland is willing to go along with the Liberal government it elected when it entered Confederation in 1949.

And apparently policies and ideals have little to do with the longevity of provincial administrations. The right-wing Social Credit party has been in power in Alberta since 1935; in neighboring Saskatchewan that radical left-wing CCF has enjoyed office since 1944.

Ontario's Progressive Conservatives have been a dull and sombre lot, which cannot be said of the Newfoundland Liberals.

So, whatever type of government they may have, the people of each province appear to enjoy them.

It would be a better world if all people would make safety first last.

Le Ralliement a publicity agency

When is a political party not a political party? When it's a one-man publicity agency.

This is the position in which Real Caouette's Le Ralliement des Creditistes found itself when it sought recognition in the House of Commons.

Le Ralliement is registered with the Superior Court of Quebec as required by law but according to evidence adduced before the House of Commons Committee on Privileges, it is not registered as a political party.

According to the registration certificate issued in 1956, Le Ralliement is the property of Gilbert Rondeau, MP for Shefford, and his avowed purpose is to do business alone in Montreal and Quebec as an agency for the purchase and sale of brochures and pamphlets and other means of publicity.

This fact, unearthed by Paul Martineau, PC MP for Pontiac-Temiskamincue, undoubtedly influenced the committee in its decision to accord formal recognition to Robert Thompson's Social Credit group although its membership was inferior to that claimed by Mr. Caouette's followers.

Just stop looking at it for awhile

That weird bit of abstract sculpture in front of the new trade school in Asbestos may or may not be ahead of its time. We leave that for the art experts to decide.

But, as a conversation piece for the citizens of the area, and as means of putting Asbestos on the map, it is without equal.

Let the wheat deal with Russia fall through. Let the Russians and the Chinese sharpen their shooting eyes on border disputes. Let the world population explode. Let the monks in South Viet Nam burn themselves to death.

What do these issues matter compared to the sight of a 13-ton sculpture called "The World We Live In" on the front lawn of a provincial educational building.

work removed, and forthwith, if their petition to Welfare Minister Lafrance recently is a true indication of the feelings of MOM's rank and file.

Not everyone agrees with MOM, of course. In fact, it is reported that car loads of the curious, among whom there are probably some amateur art lovers, arrive almost daily to gaze at the creation.

But that is the price of fame, or of infamy.

If the sculpture remains, we venture to predict it will come to be revered by Asbestosians. They will develop a fondness for the old thing and eventually, a fierce protectiveness that will make today's complaints seem like nonsense.

Meanwhile, a philosophical attitude's the thing. As the school principal said: "I don't look at it and it doesn't look at me."

Premier Manning appeals for reason

Premier E. C. Manning's reasoned approach to the question of bilingualism and biculturalism was applauded this week by a gathering of French and English students in Edmonton.

He advised delegates to a congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students to avoid emotionalism and political expediency when viewing these issues.

The applause that greeted his words may mean that he has won some converts who may spread his message where it will do some good.

Then, perhaps, the questions of bilingualism and biculturalism can be examined dispassionately to determine whether wrongs actually exist and, if so, what can be done to set them right.

This was all Premier Manning suggested in his letter to Prime Minister Pearson, replying to the latter's request for the views of Canadian premiers on the royal commission on biculturalism and bilingualism.

Mr. Manning suggested at that time the commission's objective should be to encourage all citizens, regardless of racial and ethnic origins, to make maximum contributions to the development of an overall Canadian culture. For this, he told the university students, he had been accused of being anti-French.

The accusation, as Premier Manning said, was "completely unwarranted."

It is certainly emotionalism, rather than reason, that can find an anti-French attitude in a view that seeks only the advancement of a truly Canadian culture.

Mr. Manning, like hundreds of thousands of other Canadians, is quite amenable to an examination of the difficulties inherent in forging two cultures into one.

If demonstrable wrongs are discovered, he and a majority of Canadians would want to see them corrected.

But no one wants to be pushed around by a bunch of emotional people who don't seem to know what is bothering them.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

There is no difference between the Jew and the Greek; for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. (Romans 10:12.)

PRAYER: O God, how grateful we are that all men may call Thee Father. In this way under Thy fatherhood those of all Christian faiths are children of one family and united by Thee. Help us always to be thankful for the unity of one faith through the love of our Lord, in whose name we pray. Amen.

Pensioners have enough at $65

Dear Editor: It seems a little hard to just explain this letter in the way one would like to. But, however, it is a letter for the Pearson government to read and think about.

Before the election of course Pearson said he would raise the Pension from $65 per to $75. That's all right. But let them pay it, not raise taxes very turn around.

Now, what interest has any young couple got in working?

If they work overtime in the shops, that much more is taken off them.

I think the old age has plenty at $65. If they are thinking of putting on tax, tax the dollar when they buy and everyone helps to pay the rise.

Look at the family allowance. The government expects a child to be cared for at $6. At the price clothes are if you want to buy a bottle of vitamins for a child it costs you the price of one month's allowance.

I don't call it fair that they give rises all the time to one and nothing extra for the children that for years and years will be paying this tax that is to go on.

In the early thirties there was no pension. They had to get along. Now the more they get, the more they want. Why doesn't the government tax the liquor, tobacco and beer more as a good percent of the pensioners would go on a cane to get their liquor?

But ask them for ten cents towards crippled children donations and they would shut the door in your face.

I'm thanking you, Editor, for the space in your paper. A Fair-Play Reader.

B. C. engineers think so

A suspension bridge for export?

VANCOUVER (CP)—A suspension bridge may seem an unlikely object for export, but two British Columbia engineers think they have a hot item for sale overseas.

Harry H. Minshall and Louis Osipov point out that their new type of suspension bridge is made of concrete instead of the steel traditionally used in such structures.

A prototype bridge will soon span the Peace River at Hudson Hope, about 40 miles west of Fort St. John and near the site of the Portage Mountain hydro-electric project.

Because the bridge is built of concrete it can be fabricated on the banks of any river where there is plenty of sand and gravel.

Thus it differs from steel which has to be manufactured and hauled to the construction site, which may be in a remote area away from good roads and railheads.

There will still be steel in the form of reinforcing bars, cables and suspenders, but only one-third the amount required in a steel span.

Both engineers plan to publish data on the bridge and will talk to government officials on the possibility of exporting the concept.

"With the bridge idea we feel we have something that lends itself to use in other parts of Canada and the world," says Mr. Osipov.

The only apparent drawback to the idea is that it can not be used in spans longer than 1,000 feet because of the enormous weight of concrete that would have to be supported by steel cables.

The two-lane, 680-foot span going up at Hudson Hope will be supported by two 105-foot concrete towers and 40 exposed galvanized cables each 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

The span will be built out of 34 precast concrete sections, each weighing 95 tons.

The span will weigh 3,230 tons, about two-thirds more than a comparable steel bridge.

"The weight of a concrete roadbed any longer than 1,000 feet would reach the point where steel cables couldn't support it," Mr. Osipov pointed out.

The bridge concept came from Harry Minshall, 61, an independent consulting engineer who was looking for a new approach to bridge building when he came up with his concrete structure.

"Often the man who designs a bridge never thinks of the man who must put it up," he said.

Mr. Minshall has even devised a method of setting the heavy concrete roadbed sections in place with an overhead "traveller" suspended by wires strung through adjustable-height pulleys on the concrete towers. The new concept is covered by patents which are pending.

Work on the $1,600,000 bridge at Hudson Hope is already under way and by next September customers will be able to view a concrete suspension bridge.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 10, 1963... The Fathers of Confederation — 33 delegates from Canada, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland — met at Quebec 99 years ago today—in 1864—to discuss the feasibility of a political union of British North America. The conference passed 72 resolutions

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — There is an almost irresistible temptation to look for better performance from our MPs now that they've become $18,000 a year men; to expect that their higher price tag will give us more for our money.

But nine days of the fall session have proven this hope unfounded. The MPs are settling into more comfortable ways of life with their extra money, but if anything the politicizing for partisan advantage has become more fierce and irresponsible.

John Diefenbaker, up from $27,000 to $35,000 in the pay increase that he voted against, has an almost psychopathic obsession to become prime minister again. He considers Prime Minister Pearson an usurper. He dotes on the tongue-slips that describe him as "the prime minister". He interprets the return of the Conservative government in Ontario as a sign that Ontario will go Tory generally. He does not admit that Toronto's Liberal swing April 8 was anti-Diefenbaker, or that Premier Roberts is now a potential national leader.

Nobody expects Real Caouette, the colorful demagogue who leads the Quebec "creditistes", to act responsibly. However, the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition is under the strictures of the traditions of his office to act in a responsible manner. But so far it is a tossup whether Caouette or Diefenbaker is acting with greater lack of consideration for the responsibilities of his office.

Mr. Caouette brought Parliament to a standstill with his group's filibuster of a bill to give the government money it needs to run the country this month and next. And for his part Mr. Diefenbaker has been playing politics with all the caution of a three-year-old playing with a box of matches.

The former PM has missed no opportunity to vent his anti-American spleen, without regard for the effect of his words on good north-south relations. He has wooed the pension vote with a demand that the $10 increase be made retroactive to April 8, regardless of the effect on national finances. He has demanded government disclosure of secret military information on nuclear arms — information of a kind that he himself refused the House when he was prime minister. And he has demanded "government action" on the entirely legal strike of St. Lawrence dock workers — presumably strike breaking action.

It would appear that both Caouette and Diefenbaker are eager for an election. The former's mentor and financial angel, Premier Bennett, has just been re-elected in British Columbia. Caouette would expect money from Bennett to help him make gains in Quebec out of the discord between federal and provincial Liberals. Then he would expect recognition as national Sacred leader everywhere except perhaps in Alberta.

Diefenbaker seems to be trying to stampede Pearson, so that the onus of an unwanted election would be on the prime minister. The Liberals have muddled the budget and pensions, they have fallen out with their allies in Quebec City, and have suffered pratfalls in provincial elections. An early vote, before the wheat farmers see the color of Russian gold, may seem to the old Tory schemer to be his best chance of being prime minister in 1967.

Diefenbaker doesn't dare do a Caouette. But why need he, when Caouette will do it for him?

Parish of Waterloo marks anniversary of 'map-mad' reverend

By ALICE BUCKLAND
(Record correspondent)

WATERLOO — The 40th anniversary of priesthood of Reverend Georges-Edouard Brosseau is being celebrated this month by his parishioners of St. Bernardin's Catholic Church here.

The first event took place October 5, when members and friends of St. Michael's Guild presented Father Brosseau with a leather La-Z-Boy chair. October 13 has been reserved for special masses, dinner and program.

The parish priest was born at the little village of Henryville on the Upper Richelieu near Clarenceville September 4, 1900. His father, Edouard Brosseau, a merchant and his mother, Marie-Anne Arpin had nine children. Five are still living, one is a nun in St. Hyacinthe.

The family life was a religious life. It was the religious atmosphere in the home which contributed to young Edouard's decision to become a priest. He loved the church from his boyhood and took part serving as choir boy and acolyte, he says.

"I remember a teacher I had when I was a boy," Father Brosseau stated. "He had a great deal to do with influencing me to become a priest."

A lover of books from his earliest recollections, the boy saved every penny he had until he could buy a book.

"I am a bookworm. When I was ready to get a book I always asked advice from my teacher. What would be a good book? Not one book have I bought that I ever regretted or must throw away."

Proof of this statement can be seen by the shelves and shelves of books lining the study and reception room in the presbytery. Boxes of books are not even unpacked for lack of space. A problem in any change of his parishes is moving the books, he said.

Love of history has been a great influence in Father Brosseau's life. He has accumulated many fine maps as well. "I am map-mad!" he has been heard to state.

To know his people and understand them, he feels the background of the town is important to know. An example of his thoroughness on historical facts: when asked to speak to a group on the History of the Eastern Townships with Waterloo in particular, his listeners were amazed to have practically a newcomer give facts and figures which the life-long residents did not know.

Father Brosseau's education began with primary school at Henryville and classical school at the Seminary of St. Hyacinthe. He studied theology for three years at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. The fourth year was taken in St. Hyacinthe where he was prepared for pastoral duties. Being bilingual he was delegated to teach the French language to the English-speaking students from the United States and Ontario for another year.

July 25, 1923 he was ordained priest by Cardinal J. M. Rouleau, Archbishop of Quebec.

After his ordination, he was again teacher at St. Hyacinthe's Seminary for a year. He was appointed curate at St. Cesaire, then Marieville, where he is remained over four years, and later at Farnham and Cowans-ville. His work in Northern Ontario in the mission field is worthy of note. He was founder of the Parish of Lac Ste. Therese and was altogether in charge of 54 mission posts. These heavy duties taxed his strength and he was called back to the diocese of St. Hyacinthe. For three years he was Chaplain of the Marist Brothers Provincial House at Iberville. Later he was sent to Ottawa. The Catholic Canadian Conference appointed him as the initial director of the Catholic Immigrant Aid Society, covering all the dioceses of Canada.

"I worked there three years. During that time there came to Canada close to half a million immigrants. To cope with the situation arising from the diversity of nationalities, I deemed it necessary to study a few languages in order to understand better the problems of these immigrants," he said.

He studied at Ottawa University, University of Montreal and the Berlitz School of Modern Languages.

Perhaps Hungarian proved a language the hardest to master, of requiring two years study but very essential as many thousands came to Canada in 1958, he said. Those Hungarians who couldn't integrate themselves after a year went back home in December, 1959. Only 100 returned in the three chartered planes, he said.

The Polish group was of special interest to Father Brosseau, who covered the entire province in helping these countrymen become established. A strange coincidence was the opening of a summer camp for Polish children on the edge of Waterloo, near the lake. About 90 Polish children spend their vacation here each summer. When Father Brosseau went there he learned the nun in charge was one of his Polish immigrants whom he had helped to reach Canada. One hundred and sixty orphans had been brought to Canada and established. Sister Stanislawka of the Sisters of Resurrection was one of these orphans.

Today, Father Brosseau speaks ten languages. He used his knowledge as interpreter in social work. One of his duties was to meet the boats at Quebec and Halifax and at the reception center of St. Paul L'Ermite and contact the immigrants from many countries.

From Ottawa he was appointed as parish priest on the Richelieu River at St. Charles for close to ten years. He came to St. Bernardin's in Waterloo on July, 1960.

The priest continues to have an active program as the cure of St. Bernardin's. He is the founder of St. Michel's Guild for English Catholics. He is also the Padre for the Canadian Legion, Branch 77.

Why is Chevrolet building a fifth line of cars when it builds four great ones already?

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

A fair question. And we could give you a lot of impressive-sounding answers. But basically the explanation is quite simple. It has to do with people. Each year their tastes become more discerning, more selective. They want a car that fits their particular needs. "Almost" isn't good enough. So for '64 we're building the Chevelle — a totally new line of cars that combines some advantages nobody else has come up with yet. Chevelle's ride and room, for example, compare favorably with many of today's bigger cars. Yet it gives you the handling ease and agility you expect in a smaller car. And as for looks — it's styled with a fresh and youthful flair all its own. And, of course, you'll find the kind of quality craftsmanship and reliability you've come to expect of a Chevrolet-built car. Matter of fact, once you really get to know it, we have a hunch you'll come up with some reasons for building the Chevelle that haven't even occurred to us yet.

★ ★ ★ A treat for Thanksgiving ★ ★ ★

For our great autumn feast day — or for a sweet course to mark any day of the year — a gala frozen dessert has many advantages.

We have striking frozen Toasted Pecan Mousse to suggest for Thanksgiving. This dessert, made and frozen in advance, can be unmoulded on the day it is to be served, decorated, and returned to the freezer until close to serving time.

If your freezer is very cold and the mousse is consequently very firm, change it from the freezer to the refrigerator for a few minutes to allow it to mellow a little.

This mousse is based on a combination of custard, whipped cream and meringue. The unusual feature of the recipe is that the liquid in the custard, instead of being milk, is tea that has been brewed with finely-shaved lemon rind. The resulting new and intriguing flavor is subtle and delightful!

By the way, you can use any type of tea you have at hand, be it loose leaves, tea bags or instant; all are covered in our recipe.

TOASTED PECAN MOUSSE
Any attractive mould or a pair of ice-cube trays can turn out a handsome dessert.

Yield — 12 to 14 servings.

ring constantly, until the mixture thickens and will coat a metal spoon.

Remove from heat at once, stand saucepan in a bowl of ice water and stir the custard until chilled.

In a large bowl, beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in the remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Beat in vanilla.

TOASTED PECAN MOUSSE — A border and pecan-topped columns of whipped cream are piped around the frozen dessert. Its subtle and delightful flavor comes from tea.

2 tablespoons loose or instant tea or 3 tea bags, Shaved rind of 2 medium-sized lemons, 3/4 cup freshly-boiled water, 4 egg yolks, 1/2 cup fine granulated sugar, divided, 2 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 pint (2 1/2 cups) whipping cream, 1/2 cup toasted finely-chopped pecans.

Steep the tea of your choice and shaved lemon rind in the freshly-boiled water 5 minutes.

Meantime, thoroughly combine egg yolks and 1/4 cup of the sugar in a small saucepan.

Stir, then strain the brewed tea into egg yolk mixture, stirring constantly as you do so. Cook over low heat, stir-

Beat 1 3/4 cups of the cream until stiff.

Fold cooled tea custard, pecans and then the whipped cream into meringue.

Turn into a 6- or 7- cup mould* and cover closely with a lid or tied-down freezer wrap. Freeze until firm — preferably over night.

Unmould the mousse and decorate it with the remaining cream, whipped, and pecan halves. Return to freezer for a short time if desired. *If freezer space does not permit the use of a mould, freeze the dessert in 2 freezer trays and place one block upon the other. Disguise the join with whipped cream.

You'll never hear...

It's strange that you never hear these comments made to or about men:

"Why hasn't a nice-looking man like you ever married?" (Yet unmarried women hear that comment all the time.)

"Well, that's a typical man driver for you!" (Women drivers have a better safety record than men, but men always call the poor woman driver a "typical woman driver.")

"With all your modern office equipment, you men sure have it easy." (Women are forever being told how easy they have it because they have a few electrical gadgets in the home.)

"You know how a bunch of men gossip when they get together." (The truth is that men trade gossip just as women do, but when men gossip it's called "conversation.")

"You can't blame his wife for finding someone else. He just didn't make the effort to keep up with her." (Today, there are wives who outdistance their husbands socially, intellectually and culturally, but who ever heard of a husband being blamed for not keeping in step with his wife?)

"He has certainly let himself go." (Men may show signs of aging, but it's usually blamed on overwork. It isn't just assumed that they've let themselves go.)

"That's a man's logic for you." (Men can be just as illogical, but when a woman is illogical, it's called "a woman's logic." When a man is illogical, it's never referred to as "a man's logic.")

Polly's pointers

by Polly Cramer

DEAR POLLY — If you are brave enough, try this trick. After you apply your cosmetics, wear sunglasses for about ten minutes. The dark lenses change your "outlook". When you remove them you can see yourself exactly as others see you. If you are like most women you will be surprised at what you see. — SHIRLEY

GIRLS — I am game to try most anything at least once and the result of this was that I am "like most women." — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I always use latex flat paint in custom-mixed colors when I redecorate. Since woodwork and window sills should be done with an oil base it meant extra expense and trouble to try to have the exact shade reproduced. Often I was disappointed, too. The paint dealer would always say he could not get the same coloring due to the different bases of the paints. Now I paint EVERYTHING with the flat paint. I wait 48 hours for a very complete drying and hardening, then put on two coats of liquid hard gloss self-polishing floor wax (with 30 minutes between coats) on woodwork, sills and even metal doors. It gleams as if painted with oil paint, the wax protects, can be easily cleaned with a damp cloth and the paint is all a perfect match. — MRS. F. F.

GIRLS — Be sure to use the liquid floor wax that does not yellow when it dries. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Have you ever tried to use the thread that was ripped out of a dress hem and found it so curly and knotty that you finally discard it or hunt high and low for a candle to straighten it? Here is the neatest trick. Iron the thread, as you will be ironing anyway in order to make a nice hem. — I. P.

GIRLS — A nice idea but I was even more interested in knowing about the candle. What is that trick? — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I have always disliked emptying ashtrays into my wastebasket. Now I bend the edge of a small can into a hook-like shape and hang it over the side of the basket. The ashtrays can be emptied into the can which is easily removed and the wastebasket stays clean. — MRS. R. A. W.

DEAR POLLY — When I painted the house this spring, I used three different sizes of paint brushes. To keep all three brushes handy, I put a hook on each brush that would hang over the can of paint. Whenever I needed a different brush there it was and I never had to look for a misplaced brush or a place to lay a sticky one down. — BILL nounced when it was made.

He said in remarks to ETAA officials and stock buyers that the Sherbrooke Winter Fair was the first invitation he received on being named minister, and he had told his secretary, "I don't want to miss that one."

An east-west note struck in his speech of opening in the arena was his remark that he had been "warned" that eastern beef breeders were catching up on westerners, and would soon be sending their stock to western shows. The Sherbrooke fair had once had to import beef from the west, he recalled.

Mr. Hays was accompanied on his flight from Ottawa into Sherbrooke Airport by the Bury-born director of his department's livestock division, Ralph Bennett.

German objects

BERLIN (AP) — West German Chancellor Adenauer Wednesday night assailed Western wheat sales to the Soviet Union while President Kennedy was approving deliveries of up to $250,000,000 worth of U.S. wheat to the Iron Curtain nations.

"We must connect the wall in Berlin with the sale of foodstuffs," the 87-year-old chancellor declared on his last visit to the divided city before stepping down from the chancellorship. He said the Communist-built wall must go before there is any easing of tension.

METEOR

big beautiful sedans!

Whatever your taste or budget—there's a big beautiful Meteor Sedan just right for you. If you want to make it big in luxury, choose the 2-door or 4-door Custom models. If you want to make it big in extra value you'll like the 2-door or 4-door Meteor models. All give you Meteor's beautifully distinctive big-car styling along with the optional rear window that goes up and down.

big value-packed wagons!

Here is all the style of an expensive sedan plus interior luxury that is quite new in station wagon design. But when you want to be practical, Meteor's extra length and width really pay off. A quick one handed operation folds the rear seat into the floor and you have an enormous 99.3 cubic feet of cargo space behind you. Fill it to the brim with whatever you like. Meteor's strengthened frame and rubber mounted body are designed to take the heaviest load with ease. Choose from the Custom Wagon or the Meteor Wagon in either 6 or 9 passenger models.

People who like convertibles often drive a hundred miles just for the sheer fun of it. If you're this kind of person—the big Meteor Custom Convertible is for you. Its leather-grained vinyl upholstery even smells of performance. Choose the big 390 cubic-inch V-8—pair it off with a slick "four on the floor" transmission: Put the roof down and just nudge the accelerator and you're as fancy free as a summer breeze. And here's a surprise, this fun-loving convertible is priced with the lowest in its class.

That optional Breezeway Rear Window goes down as well as the side windows so just about the only glass around you is the windshield. This open air feeling of bigness is matched by Meteor's extra length and width to give you lots of room inside. Supple vinyls and fashion-plate fabrics cover deep foam-padded seats front and rear. Thoughtful conveniences include padded arm-rest and visors, pile carpeting, crank-operated side vent windows and a specially cowled instrument panel that prevents glare. In luxury, and all the other things that mean extra value in a low-priced car, this Meteor Custom hardtop makes it big for '64.

Certain features shown or mentioned are optional at extra cost.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE — The Minton United Church will hold a Thanksgiving and 69th anniversary service at 2.30 p.m. October 13. Guest speaker will be Dr. J. E. Variety of beautiful stones are displayed at Milby W.I. meeting

HUNTINGVILLE — Mrs. William Sutor and Mrs. Ian Kirby were co-hostesses for the October meeting of the Milby Women's Institute, held here at the home of the former.

Second vice-president's day was observed, with Mrs. Stewart Cairns presiding.

The guest speaker, Mrs. John Cox, of Compton, was introduced by Mrs. William Sutor, Mrs. Cox displayed a most unusual and interesting variety of beautiful stones, some in their natural state, others cut, polished and made up into different types of jewelry.

Of special interest were the "jade" stones taken from Moe's River, some in natural state as well as in polished form. The speaker was thanked by Mrs. Cairns.

All were pleased to welcome Mrs. Herbert Allison, of Grimsby Beach, Ont., a former member and past president of the branch.

UNESCO gift coupon No. 367, which is to promote the project of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, Adult Education, Women's Institutes Northern Canada, was discussed. The branch is purchasing a gift coupon to aid this worthy project.

Plans were made to entertain the November quarterly County meeting at the clubhouse. Mrs. Robert Sutor, convener of the social committee will be in charge of all arrangements.

The treasurer, Mrs. Roy Sutor, gave an encouraging report of the branch's finances. The Cornelia Orr Scholarship will be awarded to Kathleen Draper, Lennoxville High School.

Correspondence included a helpful letter from the provincial president, Mrs. Dorothy Ellard, and several thank-you notes from remembered shut-ins.

CONVENERS REPORTS
Convener's reports were given. Mrs. Allan Sutor, well-known and health, reported remembering shut-ins and sympathy cards sent out. Members were urged to keep in mind the work of the Cancer Clinic. A new schedule for branch workers will be arranged by the convener.

Education: Mrs. Ian Kirby called attention to the free French courses being sponsored by the Lennoxville W.I.

Citizenship: A pertinent article, Home-making Skills Count in Developing Countries, was read.

Home Economics: Mrs. William Sutor asked that more and a greater variety of recipes for the cook book project be brought to the November meeting.

Agriculture: Mrs. William Evans gave a suggestion for the storing of bulbs and tubers, stating D.D.T. dust and moth flakes will repel rodents and help to prevent the development of various pests.

Publicity: Mrs. Robert Sutor read an interesting excerpt from a recent magazine, Livewire Ladies Won't be Stepped On., dealing with the beginning, progress and some of the achievements of the Women's Institutes.

SCHOOL FAIR
A report on the School Fair was given by Mrs. Roy Sutor. In view of the smaller number of exhibits and lack of support and cooperation from former backers, Mrs. Sutor suggested that the feasibility of trying to carry on this department be given serious consideration.

Mrs. Sutor also reported that two catering projects, a reception and an auction, had proved successful and augmented the funds.

A paper drive is planned for this month.

Mrs. George McVety won the floating prize which was donated by Mrs. Kirby.

An apron sale was held and the contents of the travelling basket auctioned.

Sherbrooke High Juniors eke out 1-0 win over Stanstead as Seniors battle to scoreless stalemate

Stanstead Juniors and Seniors took on the Sherbrooke High School in a twin soccer bill on the High School field yesterday afternoon. Sherbrooke Juniors won 1-0 score while the Seniors battled to a scoreless tie.

In the Junior tilt it was nip and tuck all the way. The first half was scoreless as both teams were strictly on the defensive and waiting for the breaks.

Fifteen minutes had gone by in the second half with the score sheet still clean when a Sherbrooke player was upended in the Stanstead goal area with the awarding of a penalty kick. P. Klossner scored to give Sherbrooke a 1-0 lead.

Stanstead tried hard in the remaining minutes to get back on even terms but time ran out, Sherbrooke taking the game 1-0. Ian Dagg, Gary Miller and Keith Hamer stood out for the losers. Klossner and Oxford along with Munkittrick started for the winners.

In the Senior game Sherbrooke had enough chances to put the game on ice before the finish. Fern, under left of the home team, missed three glorious opportunities to put his team ahead when left alone with only the goalie but his parting shots on goal were easily stopped by Pivko.

The teams went through the second half without a goal though both missed good chances. Weintraeger, at center half, and goalkeeper Pivko stood out for Stanstead. Cooper Timmons and Stewart were the Sherbrooke High's stars.

Juniors
Stanstead — G. Miller, P. Nussey, D. Kerbs, I. Hamer, I. Dagg, G. Lusby, W. Brunelle, H. Lebaron, M. Thornton, R. Mills, R. Hardwick, Subs; P. Provost and R. Archibald.

Sherbrooke — Munkittrick, Willard, Carr, Bondurant, Oxford, Lavalliere, Dowd, Klossner, Connor, Cotterell, Stewart, Subs; Garbutt, Haffenden and Savage.

Seniors
Stanstead — Pivko, Balaze, Chapman, Weintraeger, Blanchard, Linsell, Sharp, Gordon, Shore, Roff, Sub; McIver, Beaton and Davies.

Sherbrooke — Cooper, Taub, Cadman, Robson, Steinman, Timmons, Haffenden, Stewart, Warren, Crook, Fern, Subs; Lachie, Leech and Oakley.

Giants' Sam Huff and mates will have hands full with Jimmy Brown, meet Browns Sunday in big battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Violent Sam Huff, middle linebacker of the New York Giants, sat on a bench in the club dressing room and talked about Jimmy Brown. "My wife phoned me in Washington Saturday night and asked me if I'd seen him in the Brown-Steeler game on TV," Sam said. "She seemed afraid for me."

There's a sound basis for Mrs. Huff's concern. Her Sam will be one of the chief agents in the Giants' attempt to contain the 230-pound fullback in New York's key National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns Sunday.

The Eastern Conference lead will be at stake. The Browns, bolting along unbeaten under new coach Blanton Collier, currently hold the lead with a 4-0 record. The Giants, defending conference champs, are 3-1 going into their home opener.

The Giants will be healthy for the first time in three weeks with all hands ready to go. Fullback Alex Webster, former Montreal Alouette who has missed the last three games with a back ailment, will start on offence along with Phil King who injured his left instep last week.

NEED PROTECTION
Coach Alie Sherman, former Winnipeg Blue Bomber mentor, said he wanted two big backs in starting roles to give bald, 26-year-old Y. A. Tittle better pass protection. Tittle, who was on the sidelines for New York's only loss, leads the league in passing with 50 completions in 82 tries for 752 yards and nine touchdowns in three games.

Most of the concern, however, is not with Tittle's protection but with stopping Brown, a five-time league rushing leader who is off to his greatest start. He has gained 664 yards and scored seven touchdowns, both league highs.

"I don't think there's a line backer in the league who can stop Brown playing him man to man," Huff said. "Don't give me that responsibility."

"You don't play him head to head. There are times when he is not involved. There are plays when I do key on Brown, but if we're in a zone defence, my responsibility is the middle."

"If Brown gets outside he's going to hurt you with his speed, but I believe he is more dangerous coming through the line. If you remember 1958 he cut off left tackle and went 65 yards for a touchdown. We're still living with that one."

ANTICIPATED PLAYS
The Giants have had unusual success against the Browns in recent years and veteran defensive players such as Andy Robustelli and Huff say a large part of it has been due to their ability to anticipate the plays former coach Paul Brown sent in from the bench.

It's changed this year. Ryan, the No. 2 passer in the league, now exercises his own judgment in most cases and has opened up the offence. As a result, the Giants have spent the week studying films of Cleveland's four previous victories, over Washington Redskins, Dallas Texans, Los Angeles Rams and Pittsburgh Steelers.

New York has won from Baltimore Colts, Philadelphia Eagles and Washington and lost to Pittsburgh.

The Giants-Browns game is the highlight of the Sunday schedule which also has Chicago Bears at Los Angeles, Detroit Lions at Dallas, Green Bay Packers at Minnesota against the Vikings, Philadelphia at Washington, Pittsburgh at St. Louis against the Cardinals and San Francisco 49ers at Baltimore.

Houston and Mets get chance today to pick up some new players, each club to list four players in draft

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Houston Colts and the New York Mets of the National Baseball League get a chance today to pick up some new players—but chances are even this won't help them much.

Both teams finished ninth and 10th in the league standings and the eight established clubs agreed to help them out by letting them buy some more players.

Weiss said he might buy a couple of players—but wouldn't name any possibilities — but added, "that's an offhand estimate. I still have some calls to make. I want to get hold of some people who know the physical condition of some of these players."

The way this year's plan will operate, a club can close its list after one of its players has been chosen. But it does not have to, and as many as 32 players may be drafted at the price.

Five members of the Cincinnati Reds have been reported as candidates for the draft list. They are pitchers Dom Zanni and Jim Coates, infielder Charley Neal, outfielder Ken Walters and infielder-catcher Gene Green.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS
Teaneck, N.J.—Hose Torres, 161, New York, outpointed Don Fullmer, 158, West Jordan, Utah, 10.

Tokyo — Samsak Laemphafa, 124½, Thailand, outpointed Akira Oguchi, 126, Japan, 10.

Ryder Cup matches open in Jones' home course

ATLANTA (AP) — Professional golf stars of the United States and Britain clash Friday in the 15th biennial Ryder Cup series in an atmosphere dominated by the greatest amateur of them all—Bob Jones.

This is Bob Jones' home, and he still is king—not only to his worshipping neighbors but to the present-day giants of the game.

Arnold Palmer is terrific, Julius Boros is an amazing physical specimen at 43 and Peter Alliss of England is one of the all-time stylists. But all of them look to Jones as the emperor.

"Bob Jones is marvelous—an idea of golfers everywhere," said Alliss. "I am sure he is revered as much in Britain as he is in the United States."

Jones, now 61, confined to a wheel chair by a crippling illness but still keenly interested in the sport which he helped popularize throughout the world has attended every dinner honoring the Ryder Cup teams.

TALKS WITH PLAYERS
He seems to find pleasure in meeting the various players and sharing small talk on the aspects of this exasperating and frustrating sport.

When captain Palmer sends his U.S. team against the British team Friday in the first of 32 matches covering three days, Jones is almost certain to be in the gallery.

As honorary chairman, he will follow play in an electric car, or listen to developments from the club house lawn—"by ear," as he puts it, in referring to the cheers and groans of the gallery.

Bob Jones was born in a modest bungalow which once overlooked the course. It was on this same East Lake Country Club course that he took his first swings as a boy at his father's elbow.

13 U.S. CROWNS
It was here that he refined his game between travels while playing in 31 major championships in Britain and the United States between 1916 and 1930, winning an unequalled 13 national crowns.

Among trophies in the clubhouse one case has exact replicas of the trophies won in the Grand Slam of 1930 (the British Open, Amateur and the U.S. Open and Amateur).

The Ryder Cup competition, won by the United States 11 of 14 times and never lost on American shores, opens with eight foursome matches. These will be followed by eight best-ball matches Saturday and 16 individual contests Sunday.

Despite a slight outbreak of dysentery, both teams are expected to be at full strength.

Bill Casper, Jr., and Dave Ragan, Jr., of the U.S. team suffered mild stomach upsets Wednesday, as did Bernard Hunt, the rangy Englishman who is Britain's leading money hunter.

HUNT READY
"I'll be fit as a fiddle," Hunt said afterward. Casper and Ragan both said they would be ready to play.

Members of the U.S. team, besides Palmer, Casper and Ragan, are Boros, Dow Finsterwald, Tony Lema, Johnny Pott, Bill Maxwell, Gene Littler and Bob Goaly.

British players are Hunt, his brother, Geoffrey Hunt; Alliss; Neil Coles, Tom Haliburton, Brian Huggett, Christy O'Connor, Dave Thomas, Harry Weetman and George Will.

Bo Belinsky signs contract

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bo Belinsky, picked by many as the athlete most likely to succeed in getting traded without really trying, turns out to be the first man the Los Angeles Angels have signed for 1964.

Belinsky is the first player in the major leagues to come to terms for next season.

Until recently, Belinsky was almost certain he'd be traded this winter. If not that, he figured the Angels would perform so much surgery on his salary he'd be exempted from the federal income tax.

However, he discovered Wednesday that the Angels are dropping neither him nor his wages.

"It's a gas," he said.

Belinsky achieved wide public notice last year on two counts: When he pitched a no-hitter against the Baltimore Orioles, he became famous. But when his social engagements kept him from getting home before the morning paper, his employers became furious.

Next year, he promises, he'll be the most changed man in the majors.

Real Madrid belis Glasgow

MADRID (AP) — Real Madrid, five-time winner of the European Soccer Cup of Champions, slammed Glasgow Rangers of Scotland 6-0 Wednesday night to gain the second round of the competition.

The crack Spanish team finished with an aggregate of 7-0 after home-and-away games. It beat Rangers 1-0 in Glasgow two weeks ago.

The tournament is for the champion teams of each country.

Other teams to reach the second round Wednesday night are Jeunesse Esch of Luxembourg, Eindhoven of The Netherlands and Gornik of Poland.

Angotti paces Rochester to 9-1 victory

LOU Angotti, a 25-year-old right wing, was hampered by injuries most of his rookie year with the Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League last season and managed only 31 points on 15 goals and 16 assists.

He got about one-sixth of that total Wednesday night — three goals and two assists — in Rochester's 9-1 rout of Baltimore Clippers in both teams' league opening game.

Pittsburgh Hornets blasted Buffalo Bisons 4-1 and Cleveland Barons beat Hershey Bears 4-2 in other openers.

Angotti, a Michigan Tech product, sat out most of last year with a broken leg and a fractured elbow, getting in only 39 games in his rookie year.

He got off to a blazing start in the opener, opening the scoring at 7:30 of the first period with assists from Bobby Hull and Ken Wharram. Ingarfield got that one back with an unassisted effort at 12:51, stealing the puck from Chicago strongman Howie Young to beat Hull from in close.

At 19:08 Hay set up McKenzie and the Hawks went ahead 2-1. There was no scoring in the second 20 minutes. Murphy's goal rounded it out at 9:24 of the final period. Chico Maki and Eric Nesterenko drew assists.

The Red Wings picked up

Coach Billy Reay gets Hawks off to winning start, Red Wings at home to Leafs, new deal completed

In the regime of Rudy Pilous, the knock against the Chicago Black Hawks was that the club was for some inexplicable reason lethargic at the outset of the National Hockey League season.

They missed that big push-off from the starting line, wasting weeks before rounding into a cohesive unit. Two years ago they won only three of their first seven starts. They were aching for a win the first few times out both years.

Coach Rudy Pilous is gone now and his successor Billy Reay changed the script Wednesday night, making his debut with a 3-1 win over New York Rangers in the opening game of the season for both clubs.

The schedule resumes with one game tonight, sending the Hawks against the Red Wings in Detroit. Toronto Maple Leafs launch their defence of the Stanley Cup at home Saturday night as hosts to Boston Bruins while the Rangers go against the Canadiens in Montreal.

Chicago's two-point effort Wednesday night, before a hometown crowd of 14,651, carried the club to the top of the standings over Montreal and Boston who produced a 4-4 saw-off in the schedule opener Tuesday night in the hub.

PLANTE PEPPERED
Jacques Plante, playing his first scheduled game for New York since a seven-player swap with Montreal last June, was peppered with 43 shots and beaten twice in the first period and once in the final period.

Play was held up for 20 minutes in the third period after he suffered a cut that took seven stitches to close.

Plante said later he was struck in the face by the elbow of Chicago right-winger John McKenzie, an expatriate from the minors who counted the second goal for the Hawks.

Billy Hay and Ron Murphy the other Chicago scorers and Earl Ingarfield clicked for the Rangers who fired 32 shots at Glenn Hall.

The red-headed Hay opened the scoring at 7:30 of the first period with assists from Bobby Hull and Ken Wharram. Ingarfield got that one back with an unassisted effort at 12:51, stealing the puck from Chicago strongman Howie Young to beat Hull from in close.

At 19:08 Hay set up McKenzie and the Hawks went ahead 2-1. There was no scoring in the second 20 minutes. Murphy's goal rounded it out at 9:24 of the final period. Chico Maki and Eric Nesterenko drew assists.

Canada's wide-open spaces attract British tourist, but cost is high

LONDON (CP)—Why would any Briton in his right mind, with all Europe a nearby holiday playground, want to go to Canada on vacation?

Well, many of them don't. But many do, and the Canadians responsible for the campaign to divert tourists across the Atlantic instead of the English Channel say the number is growing all the time.

Figures for the year since the Canadian Tourist Bureau opened here won't be available until November, but it is estimated the number jumped to 60,000 from 40,000 British tourists the previous year.

Until recently, Canada has concentrated its bid for tourists on the United States, the world's biggest market, but the new office here proved so successful plans now are under way for similar offices in Paris and somewhere in West Germany.

But selling Canada, an expensive place to get to, is a tough job in the face of competition from the glamorous and romantic holiday spots in Europe.

Why go to Halifax, Toronto or Vancouver when you can go to Rome, Lisbon or Madrid for one-quarter the price and in less than half the time?

For beaches and climate it's hard to beat the French Riviera, the south of Spain, the Lido of Venice, And Canada can't hold a candle to the historic appeal of ancient Athens, Florence or Vienna.

What, then, is Canada's appeal? Strangely enough, it's nothing as specific as Niagara Falls, the Rockies or the gay night life of Montreal—it's simply the wide-open spaces.

Alan Field, director of the Canadian government travel bureau at Ottawa who recently passed through here after a tour of Europe, said it's the undiscovered comedy writers' performed by professional comedians.

Another panel show, it will be the people of Britain and other European countries, he said, are sick of cities teeming with tourists, crowded beaches and charming, old-world centres ruined by commercialization.

Douglas Palmer, manager of the Canadian bureau here, agrees and adds a few other reasons.

"Going to Canada has a certain snob appeal," he says.

Ten years ago most British families went to Brighton or Blackpool for their two weeks by the seashore and anyone going to Spain was a true adventurer, he says. Now Spain is old hat and North America has the same prestige Spain once had.

MAJOR PROBLEM The growing number of European immigrants in Canada, eager for visitors from home, also has been a boon to the tourist business.

A large number of tourists are people toying with the idea of moving to Canada. But instead of selling out and taking the plunge, they go over first on vacation, have a look around and sound out prospects.

Field says one major problem is getting across the idea Canada "is not a cold country in summer."

"We still get people arriving in Montreal wearing sweaters and coats and finding the temperature in the 90s."

A common complaint among prospective tourists here is that present literature, designed for the Americans, is not suitable. One Englishman complained: "I resent getting in my mail a Canadian tourist leaflet saying, 'Just get in your car and drive up to see us.'"

Field says new literature is being designed and already the London bureau is bringing out material specifically for Britain.

MANSONVILLE — Miss Cecile Cadorette spent Oct. 2 in Quebec City. Sisters Doris Young, Maybelle Cote, Mary Bailey and Heidi Dallenbach attended sessions of Grand Chapter O.E.S. held at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City. Sister Young returned home on Oct. 3. The other three ladies remaining for the duration of the sessions.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY NEW YORK (AP) — After four or five days of soul searching, ABC has decided on the Sunday night replacement for the deceased 109 Grand. It is called Laughs for Sale and will consist of material by "as yet undiscovered comedy writers" performed by professional comedians.

Another panel show, it will have its premiere on Oct. 20 with Hal March, late of the $64,000 Question, as host.

CBS, after full, live coverage of last week's testimony by Joseph Valachi before the Senate subcommittee, quietly dropped the whole thing Tuesday except for a half-hour roundup which pre-empted an afternoon rerun of Love That Bob.

CBS last week let it be known that Valachi hearings had cost it $250,000 daily—and that they got a lot of complaints from housewives about omitting game shows and soap operas.

Ed Sullivan will present What's Going on Here?—satiric sketches with topical themes—next Sunday, with the bright comedy team of Bob and Ray among the satirists. . . ### Boundary drive of Bible Society now underway

ROCK ISLAND — The annual fund drive of the Boundary branch of the Canadian Bible Society is now in progress and will continue throughout the month of October.

In keeping with the program of the parent society, The British and Foreign Bible Society, the goal for this Montreal district is 12 per cent greater than the normally well supported yearly objective. Reasons for this are many, varied and important. Such as the world population increase being three times as fast as growth of the Christian church. The present distribution of the Scriptures is far short of need, and is not keeping pace with the growth of literacy or of population.

While today there are 500 million people between 15 and 60 who cannot read, UNESCO has undertaken to make 350 million of the 500 million literate, in the coming five years. There are also millions of other readers who must be provided with Scriptures in their own language.

Communists, secularists and others are ready to exploit the situation by providing millions of new readers with their brand new literature.

Anyone willing to give a little time or effort in this major effort is asked to contact the secretary, Miss Ruth Hetherington, Standstead, or the president, Reginald Martin, Rock Island.

Field says new literature is being designed and already the London bureau is bringing out material specifically for Britain.

Slides enjoyed at East Angus C.W.L. meeting

EAST ANGUS — Slides of her visit to Beirut and the Holy Land last summer were shown by Miss Dorothy Shattuck at the October meeting of the United Church Women, held Oct. 2, in the church hall.

Miss Shattuck, who also gave a commentary on the pictures, was thanked by the president, Mrs. S. Clout.

A business session preceded the showing. Mrs. J. Macdonald conducted the devotional period. The treasurer, Mrs. C. Damon, reported that the recent turkey supper had been most successful, leaving a satisfactory bank balance.

It was decided to hold the annual Christmas sale on Nov. 16, with a coffee break in the morning. The decision on whether to have a supper or tea at the sale was left to the executive.

After the slides and talk, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. M. Beliveau, Mrs. W. Coates, Mrs. D. Ferguson, Mrs. W. Robertson and Mrs. M. Sutton.

Dessert party at Boundary

DERBY LINE — The Universalist Church Women's society was entertained on Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. Wayne Hitchcock, when members and guests arriving shortly after lunch were served dessert by the hostess.

The afternoon was spent playing bridge and canasta, prize winners for bridge being Mrs. Ida Cooper and Mrs. Rosie Cullins. In canasta, prizes went to Mrs. Elsie Cowens and Mrs. Cyril Cargill.

The next party will be held on Nov. 6.

Sr. Citizens Club meets at Border

ROCK ISLAND — With the Stanstead South Church Aid Unit forming a nucleus for the formation of a Senior Citizens Club, the first of these gatherings took place in the church hall on Oct. 3, and was attended by 28 men and women of the community.

Mrs. Hazel Smith, the Aid Unit leader, conducted a short period of worship and several favorite hymns were sung.

The four members of the Aid Unit appointed as conveners are Mrs. A. P. Bliss, program; Mrs. Arthur Jobel, hostess; Mrs. Harry Goodall, refreshments; and Mrs. Smith, devotions.

The entertainment for the Oct. 3 meeting was a film of the RCMP Musical Ride, and was much enjoyed by the group. Tea was served by the Unit members.

The next gathering will be in the church hall on Nov. 14, and all persons of 65 and over, regardless of where they attend church, are cordially invited to attend, and will be welcomed.
