REMARKABLE VICTORY FOR CONSERVATIVES

Many Trapped In Theatre Fire -- Amend Election Act

Liberals Retain But Three Seats In Nova Scotia

Nova Scotia Found Itself This Morning in Hands of Conservative Administration-Elect for First Time in Forty-Three Years, While Liberal Forces Which Had Wielded Uninterrupted Power During that Period Found Themselves With But Three Survivors in an Assembly of Forty-Three—Premier Armstrong Went Down With Government When Shelburne County, Which He Contested, Returned Two Conservative Members With Safe Majorities—Only One Liberal Member of Last House Returned, Hon. William Chisholm, Minister of Works and Mines.

(Associated Press Despatch)

HALIFAX, N.S., June 26.—Premier E. H. Armstrong was today en route to Halifax from his constituency of Shelburne where he yesterday suffered personal defeat in the general election which swept his Government out of office and elected a House of Assembly consisting of forty Conservatives and three Liberals. While constitutionally a Government may remain in office until the opening of the new legislature, it is anticipated that Premier Armstrong will call an early meeting of his administration and, placing his resignation in the hands of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, will recommend that Hon. E. N. Rhodes, leader of the victorious Conservatives, and a former Speaker of the Dominion House of Commons, be called upon to form a new Government.

With the exception of Quebec, Nova Scotia is the only province in Canada, operating under a bi-cameral system of Government. Yesterday, the regular issue of the Royal Gazette announced four appointments to the Legislative Council, bringing the membership up to eighteen in a House of twenty-one. Of the present incumbents only one, Hon. William H. Owen, is a survivor of the last Conservative (Holmes-Thompson) administration.

In the event of Premier Armstrong falling to fill the three remaining vacancies, and it is not anticipated that he will make further appointments to the Council, this means that the new Government will face an adverse majority of thirteen in the Legislative Council. Whether or not this will have the effect of tying the hands of the new administration remains to be proved; but for years there has been a popular demand in Nova Scotia, officially backed by both parties, for the abolition of the Council. At the last session of the House a bill was introduced by Premier Armstrong, which, if passed in its original form, would have provided the machinery for the wiping out of the Council, but the Upper House amended it in such fashion as to render it innocuous so far as the immediate future of the Council was concerned. Under the bill as finally enacted all appointments are for a ten-year period and any new appointees automatically retire on reaching the age of seventy-five. The present president of the Council is Hon. Jason M. Mack, who holds his commission from the Government and who with two others, Hon. William H. Owen and Hon. Robert Drummond, have passed their seventy-fifth milestones.

PEOPLE DETERMINED TO ASSERT THEY ARE REAL MASTERS, SAYS MR. RHODES

(Associated Press Despatch)

HALIFAX, N.S., June 26.—Last night Hon. E. W. Rhodes gave out the following statement: "The magnificent victory achieved by the forces of the opposition in today's contest, I do not regard as a victory for the Conservative party alone, but rather a victory of the whole people—Liberal, Conservative, Labor, Farmer and Independent—who have risen in their might to wipe out a government which through the long tenure of office has regarded itself as all powerful and in consequence has lost touch with the people.

"This expression at the polls is evidence that the people are determined to assert that they are the real masters, and in consequence their verdict means the restoration of responsible government to our province, which has always prided itself on the fact that we were the first of the British colonies in North America to secure the right of representation which led to responsible government.

"It will be my endeavor, when called upon by His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor to do so, to form a government which will be truly representative and composed of men who will command the confidence of the people. I am deeply sensible of the great responsibility which has been placed upon my shoulders and, though fully conscious of my limitations, it will be my earnest endeavor to cope with the many and grave problems confronting the province, which today finds itself in a sorry condition.

"It would be too much to expect that immediate results can be obtained, but the province may rest assured that the new government will address itself seriously and vigorously to the varied and important questions which await solution.

"A particularly gratifying feature of the campaign has been the consistent and persistent course pursued by our candidates and those who assisted them on the platform in discussing the true issues. That there is a sound body of public opinion in the province is demonstrated by the size of the unprecedented majorities given by an electorate who so readily discerned and therefore turned in disgust from the changes of the government in their varying attitude upon so many important questions.

"In its struggle to retain power the Armstrong administration and those who supported it made the mistake of attempting to play politics at a time when we were confronted with a grave situation, with respect to which a serious-minded and tax-burdened people had the right to expect, at least, an effort at some reasonable solution.

"To the candidates, many of whom made very great sacrifices in presenting themselves, to the great body of loyal workers who gave of their best unsparingly, to the press as a whole and to the electors of the province I tender my grateful thanks."

BANGOR, Me., June 26.—A rum syndicate backed by millions of dollars at the command of British and French financiers and operating in the United States through the influence of wealthy United States citizens, is revealed in the ship's papers of the schooner Cherie, it is disclosed. The Cherie was seized off the Maine coast with a half million dollar cargo of high grade liquors. LITTLE GIRL WAS POISONED AT COMPTON

Two-Year-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roboin Died as Result of Drinking Caustic Soda During Absence of Parents.

(Special to the Record)

COMPTON, QUE., June 26.—A sad incident claiming the life of the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roboin, occurred on Friday last when, in the absence of her parents, the little tot drank from a tin containing caustic soda and shortly afterwards passed away. The father of the child is a butcher in this vicinity and he and his wife were selling at the Sherbrooke market. During their absence the child came across the tin containing caustic soda and in childlike fashion tasted it. As soon as the affair was discovered a call was sent to Sherbrooke for her parents, and they immediately returned to their home. Dr. Marin was sent for, but regardless of all that was done for the little sufferer by Dr. Marin and kind neighbors, it was no avail, and after three days of suffering she passed away.

The little body was laid to rest on Wednesday afternoon, June 24th, from the Roman Catholic Church, with Rev. Father Audet officiating.

At the candidates, many of whom made very great sacrifices in presenting themselves, to the great body of loyal workers who gave of their best unsparingly, to the press as a whole and to the electors of the province I tender my grateful thanks."

Senae Committee Recommends Merging of Canadian National and C.P.R. Systems For Purpose of Administration And Operation

Would Place Two Railways Under Management of Board of Fifteen Directors—Guaranteed Dividend for C.P.R. Stock and Recapitalization of C.N.R. Is Suggested in Report Presented to Upper House Yesterday.

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, June 26.—Merging of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway systems for purposes of administration and operation is recommended by a special committee of the Senate on railways, which made its report to the Upper House yesterday afternoon. The committee recommends: That both the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways should be placed under the management of a board of fifteen directors, five to be named by the C.P.R., five to be named by the Government and these ten to choose five proven, capable business men to complete the board; these last five directors to hold office for ten years, and to be removed only for cause.

That a recapitalization of the Canadian National Railways from the point of view of earning capacity.

That the C.P.R. be guaranteed an agreed dividend on its stock.

That, in the event of the joint management producing a surplus, a dividend at the same rate as is paid to the C.P.R. be paid to the Government on the capitalization placed on the Government railways.

After payment of these dividends, any surplus earnings available for distribution be divided between the C.P.R. and the Canadian National Railways, in proportion to the valuation of the two systems.

The report says that the addition to the national obligations through the Canadian National Railways has, for the last six years, averaged about $100,000,000 annually, amounting in the aggregate, according to the Government and railway reports, to $710,943,247, or to $395,943,247 in the last five years. "There is no assurance that under the present system this expenditure will materially decrease in the future," the report adds.

The report outlines different schemes discussed by various witnesses such as: Co-operation between the C.P.R. and the Canadian National; acquisition by the Government of the C.P.R.; transfer of the Canadian National to a private company; merging of the two systems for administration and operation. The committee strongly recommends the last-named scheme to the attention of the government. It refers to heavy expense entailed as the result of competitive immigration practice as between the Dominion Government and the Canadian National and the C.P.R.

"It was also stated to the committee," the report proceeds, "that no inconsiderable part of the expenditure of the Canadian National Railways is attained no other end than dividing existing traffic.

"Your committee is of the opinion that unless energetic means be adopted to reduce our national debt and the income tax, as is rapidly being done in the United States, we will be unable to command the foreign capital absolutely necessary for the development of our natural resources.

"The merging of the two railway systems for purposes of operation and administration will remove or dispense with duplication in railway tracks and rolling stock, in passenger and the freight services, in railway stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in telegraph, express and other services, in offices, in accounting and bookkeeping, in numerous other special offices and staffs, in administration boards, etc., and

Plan for Polar Exploration by Airship Was Under Way During Lifetime of Count Zeppelin.

(Associated Press Despatch)

BERLIN, June 26.—It is the opinion of Dr. Hugh Eckener, director of the Zeppelin works, that Zeppelin airships as they now are constructed can successfully cross the North Pole.

It was originally planned, he added, if Amundsen's Dornier planes were successful in reaching the North Pole, to repeat the flight next year with an airship. If the funds were forthcoming, an airship for traversing the North Pole could be constructed in fifteen months. Dr. Eckener admitted that a plan for polar exploration by airship was under way during the life of Count Zeppelin, inventor of the Zeppelin airship, but the collection of funds for the air voyage was suspended by the world war.

thereby and otherwise save an enormous amount of money to the country.

"On unification of the railways taking place, your committee recommends that the powers of the Railway Board be increased, if necessary, to secure the safeguarding of the interests of the public.

"Your committee is of the opinion that the railway question is one of extreme importance and of the utmost urgency; that the constantly-increasing public obligation on railway account is approximately $2,000,000 per week, and that until this problem is settled in some way which will reduce the present enormous expenditure, there can be no relief from taxation, which is bearing so heavily on all classes, nor can there be any move towards the reduction in rates and fares so essential to the prosperity of every inhabitant of Canada."

MEGANTIC MAN DIED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Mr. James Worcester Was Struck by Baseball During St. John Baptist Day Activities and Passed Away Shortly After.

LAKE MEGANTIC, Que., June 26.—Mr. James Worcester, about thirty-three years of age, residing at St. John, N. B., met his death in a very unfortunate manner on Wednesday, St. John the Baptist Day, when, while practicing before a baseball game which had been arranged as part of the day's celebrations, he was accidentally struck on the head by a baseball and later died on its effects.

It appears that Worcester was a player on the ball team and was practicing with some of the other players before the game. While practicing he was struck under the ear by a ball and quite badly stunned. He, however, began the game and played several innings. He later left the field and returned to the hotel, where he suddenly became very ill and unconscious. He was removed to St. John's, but it was impossible to save his life and he shortly afterwards passed away. Mr. Worcester was employed as a passenger brakeman between Megantic and St. John, N. B., on the C.P.R., and was married, his wife residing in St. John. While here Mr. Worcester made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Allan McDonald,

COMMONS TO ACCEPT HOME BANK MEASURE AS AMENDED, EXCEPT PREAMBLE AND ONE AMENDMENT

Vote of $500,000 for Department of Immigration, Empire Settlement Scheme, Provoked Some Discussion in Commons—Reduction in Time Between Nomination Day and Polling Day in Federal Elections Met With Considerable Opposition.

(Associated Press Despatch)

OTTAWA, June 26.—The report of the conference between the Senate and the House of Commons in regard to the Home Bank action, which was read in the Senate earlier in the evening, was read in the House last night by Hon. G. P. Graham shortly before the House rose at 2.20 a.m.

At a conference between Senate and Commons managers, the latter agreed to accept the Home Bank bill as amended by the Upper House with the exception of the preamble to the bill and one minor amendment.

The House of Commons last night voted a sum of $668,000 to cover deficits in operation and capital expenditure of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine for the present fiscal year. There was no discussion.

A vote of $500,000 for the Department of Immigration, Empire settlement scheme, provoked some discussion in the House last night. Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, explained that under the agreements between the British and Canadian Governments, assisted passages were provided for household workers and agricultural families. The passage assistance was provided by the two Governments on a fifty-fifty basis.

The vote carried. In all, $3,092,000 for the Department of Immigration and Colonization passed the House of Commons.

Rural credits legislation was given second reading, and progress was made in the committee stage with the amendments to the Dominion Elections Act. A vote of $50,000,000 for the Canadian National Railway was passed, and the day was mostly spent in consideration of estimates for the Labor Department, the Immigration Department and the Department of the Secretary of State. In all, estimates totalling approximately $56,000,000 were passed.

In the Senate yesterday the Grain Act, as amended, was given third reading and referred back to the Commons, the Australian treaty was given second reading, and a bill to amend the Canada Temperance Act was given six months hoist.

REDUCE TIME BETWEEN NOMINATION AND POLLING

OTTAWA, June 26.—Reduction in the time between nomination day and polling day in Federal elections met with considerable opposition in the House of Commons yesterday. The bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act would reduce the interim between nominations and polling from fourteen days to five days. Several Progressive members and several Conservative members opposed. Hon. Hugh Guthrie (Conservative, South Wellington), who put the present act through Parliament in 1920, said that it was generally considered then that seven days was not sufficient for the performance of all the duties of the returning officer after nomination day. Candidates and their agents also had found it inconvenient, and the time then was placed at 14 days. Personally, Mr. Guthrie was in favor of the seven day clause, but it appeared to have been established that this very amending bill now under discussion called for routine performances which actually could not be carried out in seven days.

Hon. A. P. Copp, who was in charge of the bill, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, both disagreed with Mr. Guthrie on the point.

H. A. Stewart (Conservative, Leeds) spoke at some length, urging the necessity for a longer period after nomination day. Mr. Stewart finally moved that the clause be struck from the bill, but his motion was declared out of order.

G. G. Coote (Progressive, McLeod), then moved that the word "seven" be struck from the bill and the word "fourteen" be substituted. The amendment by Mr. Coote was lost without division.

On a standing vote the section of the bill relating to the time between nomination and polling from fourteen to seven days carried, by 60 to 48.

When the section concerning voters' lists was taken up, there was some discussion on the accuracy of

Thirty-Five Killed And Scores Injured When An Explosion, Followed By Flames, Wrecked Kansas City Theatre Building

Firemen Today Organized Volunteer Party of One Hundred Men to Search Smoldering Wreckage for Bodies—Flames Enveloped Structure Almost Immediately Following Blast, and Roof and Floors of Ancient Building Collapsed.

(Associated Press Despatch)

KANSAS CITY, June 26.—An indefinite number of persons, probably thirty-five, were killed and scores were injured when an explosion, followed by fire, destroyed the Gillis Theatre, a burlesque house, here last night. About a hundred persons were viewing a motion picture at the time.

Hours after the destruction of the five storey theatre building today, no definite estimate of the number of dead could be made, although police and fire officials said they believed from thirty to thirty-five of the hundred or more persons in the theatre and restaurants and stores of the building had been trapped in the debris.

Firemen today organized a volunteer party of one hundred men to search the smoldering wreckage for bodies.

They predicted it would take many hours of digging before an accurate appraisal of the casualties could be made.

A fireman, John Hogan, was killed on his way to the scene when a fire truck overturned. Two other firemen were injured.

Only a few members of the burlesque company were in the theatre, the rest being in nearby restaurants. When the entire centre section of the building collapsed it sent bricks and debris into surrounding streets and broke windows in buildings nearly a block away.

Thirty minutes after the explosion the south wall of the theatre fell, crushing several small stores.

Henry Schraider, who was in the theatre, said the roof and floor seemed to give way about the same time.

"All I could see was wreckage and everybody swearing, screaming and shouting," he said. "I don't know how I got out."

Stories gathered from a survivor were that the front exit must have been cut off by the collapse of the theatre floor, but none of those

The sermon was delivered by Rev. E. S. Logie, of Windsor Mills, who took for his text Proverbs 29-18, "Where there is no vision the people perish; but he that keepeth the law, happy is he," which, when translated into more ordinary language, means that "where there is no revelation of facts the people run wild."

He stated that the fundamentals of Masonry are based entirely on the sovereignty of God—atheists or those who do not recognize God's sovereignty cannot become Masons. He said that the confession of faith, "I believe in God the Father, maker of heaven and earth, and in His son, Jesus Christ," was a good foundation on which to build character.

FARMERS URGED TO CULTIVATE BUCKWHEAT

Buckwheat is Real Money to the Bee-Keeper, and May Mean Considerable Revenue, Government Official States.

"Buckwheat is a valuable addition to the general run of farm crops. It often serves as a means of making extra money, by rounding out the farm business rather than replacing some other important crop. Undoubtedly more buckwheat would be grown if its advantages were better known and understood."

"Buckwheat has sturdy traits which make it valuable in many ways. It is one of the most successful poor-land crops that can be grown. It has the added advantage of generally being sown in early spring when the usual rush of summer seeding is over, and at the same time requires about as little labor to handle as any crop worth growing. It is practically immune to insect and plant-disease pests.

"On account of its rapid growing habits, buckwheat makes an excellent green manure and for the same reason is valuable in checking the growth of weeds. The Cereal Division has found that by growing two crops of buckwheat in succession and ploughing each under as soon as the first flowers bloom, we can control couchgrass almost invariably.

"Buckwheat is a real money crop to the bee-keeper and a few acres of this crop will mean a considerable source of nectar for the bees. The average yield of buckwheat runs from fifteen to twenty bushels per acre but yields of thirty-five and fifty bushels have been recorded under very favorable conditions. The prices paid for seed do not vary much and the demand is usually quite steady.

"Buckwheat requires a cool moist climate and under average weather conditions a crop will mature in from eight to eleven weeks. As far as soil is concerned, buckwheat does well on almost any soil, as long as it is well drained, but it does its best on sandy or light loams. While the seed germinates and grow on light, dry soil, the yields will be reduced, especially during periods of drought. On heavy, rich soils, it is inclined to lodge, and this tendency makes the crop difficult to handle at harvest. The yield is not lowered, however, if the crop is grown on good land.

"There are three main varieties generally grown, but the ones most commonly found are Silver-Hull and Japanese. The amount of seed to sow varies from two to five pecks depending on the type of soil it is sown on. The lighter soils require more, and the better land less, seed. The crop is generally sown any time from the middle of June till the middle of July, the earlier seeding is more and is in

THE UNWELCOME EGG. By Thornton W. Burgess. When you're imposed upon by quick To register a lively kick.

Little Mrs. Red-eye the Vireo felt much as your mother would feel if she discovered a strange baby left on her doorstep. To be sure that egg wasn't a strange baby, but unless there was some way of getting rid of it it would be a strange baby by and by unless her home and those three beautiful eggs which were really her own should be deserted. She really thought of doing this very thing. Yes, sir, she did so. But there had been so much hard work put into the building of that dainty nest, and it was so exactly the home she wanted, that somehow she couldn't make up her mind to leave it. Besides there were those three eggs. Of course she could hatch out this unwelcome egg which some one had left in her nest, but that would mean an extra baby to feed. Mrs. Red-eye was sorely tempted to drive her bill into that egg and break it right away. But that would spoil her nest. She tried to pick up that egg, but it was too big for her. She tried to poke it out of the nest with her bill, but the nest was just a little bit too deep. Though she tried and tried, she didn't succeed. Finally she gave up trying. Perhaps her own eggs would hatch out first, and then she wouldn't have to sit on that unwelcome egg and hatch it out. So with a sigh little Mrs. Vireo resumed her household duties. The next morning she had a fourth egg of her own in the nest, and now the nest was rather crowded. That big, unwelcome egg left there by Sally Sly the Cowbird took up altogether too much room. It made Mrs. Red-eye uncomfortable.

Mrs. Albert McKenzie. Mr. and Mrs. E. Paquette, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Page, Miss Ethel Page, and Ray and Gerald Page, of Sutton, were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. John Page. Mrs. O. J. Lavery, of Cowansville, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorhey. Mr. and Mrs. R. Graves and two sons, Frank and Vernon, motored to Waterloo on Sunday and Mrs. Ashton returned with them for a visit. Mr. Joseph Gagnon spent Tuesday in Farnham. Mr. J. R. Then she explained how she had kicked it out, and they both flew down for a look at it. She shifted about, trying to find a more comfortable position. In doing this she found that egg resting against one of her feet. She knew it was that egg by its size. The very feel of it caused her to lose her temper for a minute. Lifting herself slightly she suddenly kicked out and up with all her might. Really she hadn't meant to do it. It was done in a fit of temper. And then as she settled back she missed something. She didn't feel that big egg. She got up and looked in her nest. There were just four eggs there and all were her eggs. Then she looked down on the ground, and there lay the unwelcome egg, broken. Excitedly she called to Mr.

Red-eye. He was not far away, and he came hurrying over to see what new thing had happened to excite Mrs. Red-eye so. "I've got rid of it! I've got rid of it!" she cried. "What have you got rid of?" demanded Red-eye, looking puzzled. "That egg that Sally Sly laid in our nest," replied Mrs. Red-eye. Then she explained how she had kicked it out, and they both flew down for a look at it. Afterward Red-eye sang and sang for pure joy, while Mrs. Red-eye once more sat on her three eggs. And this time she had no difficulty in making herself comfortable. Meanwhile, unseen by Red-eye and Mrs. Red-eye, a feathered person dressed in brownish-gray, who was much bigger than the Vireos, had been spying and had seen that egg kicked from the nest. It was Sally Sly the Cowbird, and she had been watch for a chance to lay another egg in that nest. But now she suddenly changed her mind. She must find the nest of some one smaller than herself, but who was not smart enough to get rid of an extra egg. (Copyright, 1925, by T. W. Burgess)

Exams. in Pitman's Shorthand will be held tomorrow afternoon. Messrs. J. A. Barrie, J. Rennie and J. R. Sangster having kindly consented to be on the board of examiners. Immediately following, an informal reception will be held by Mr. Dudley, (4.15 to 6.00 o'clock), Mrs. F. S. McKay and Mrs. F. F. Smith having kindly consented to act as patronesses, and thus one of the most successful years in the annals of the school will come to a close.

Both day and evening classes have been filled to capacity since last September, and a happy feature is that a very large percentage of the graduates have obtained positions in the city, at Rock Island, East

Each pupil receives individual lessons, and for this reason the number of students is limited. Large and airy rooms are available for study—usual school hours are in force—and what is perhaps most important, strict discipline is one of the features of the school, and this doubtless has a great deal to do with the brilliant successes attained by graduates of Dudley's Business School.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS' CAMP

The Y.M.C.A. boys' camp, which is to be located in one of the finest and best sites for a camp to be found in the Eastern Townships, will be opened on Monday, June 29th.

Howard's Island was originally bought by an American philanthropist for the purpose of looking after and giving a pleasant time to boys from the South. The camp will be located on the northern end of the island, only a short distance from the landing stage, and should make an ideal place for an outing for any boy.

Special arrangements are being made to take a few boys who are unable to pay the regular fees, and the secretary will be pleased to hear of any who are not in a position to pay the full amount. All applications must be in by Saturday afternoon at four o'clock.

TRINITY CHURCH S. S. WILL HOLD PICNIC

The annual picnic in connection with Trinity United Church will be held tomorrow afternoon at North Hatley. An invitation has been extended to all the pupils of the school and their parents to assemble at Wesley Hall at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning, where cars will be waiting to convey them to the picnic grounds.

It is hoped by all concerned that the weather man will furnish his best, as an interesting programme has been drawn up by the officers and teachers of the Sunday School.

One of the features of the day will be the sports programme, which is in the hands of Messrs. Jack Lunn and Gordon Armitage. Dr. E. A. Tomkins and Mr. W. S. Armitage have charge of the finances, while Messrs. Geo. Parsons and Colin Campbell will look after the provision of automobiles.

The picnic will be a basket one.

THE NEW CALL OF THE YUKON

The old call is silent now. For a while it rang out over the continent and was heard in the home of prince and pauper, priest and peasant bidding them come and feed fat their ancient craving for gold. They came and some of them went away again; some richer, some poorer; some happier, some sadder; and some there were who never came back at all. But that is past and done with.

And now the Yukon calls again. Offering not gold, but beauty; finding its echo not in the greed of man but in his yearning to understand the mysteries of the northland and to come under the magic spell of the spirit of Alaska; to behold her grandeur, and to be among gleaming glaciers which "hem you in with a silence you most could hear."

The Canadian Pacific Railway is operating a service of steamships up the coast of British Columbia from Vancouver to Skagway, Alaska, and trains through the famous White Horse pass, connecting with inland steamers on the Yukon River to Dawson. It is a fascinating trip from the moment the palatial Princess boat leaves Vancouver and threads its way, hugging the picturesque shore, through apparently impassable channels, formed by countless islands, northwards till she docks at Skagway. The scenery is indescribably impressive and the Company has prepared a profusely illustrated booklet describing the entire route which will gladly be sent on request. Write or phone to any Canadian Pacific Ry. agent or to J. A. Metivier, C.P.A., C.P.Ry., 91 Wellington Street North.

FIFTH ANNUAL JUNE JERSEY JUBILEE HELD

Some Four Hundred Present for Event at Lennoxville Experimental Farm Yesterday.

Coming by automobile and team from all parts of the province, some four hundred people, an attendance which passed all expectations considering the unsettled condition of the weather, gathered at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lennoxville, yesterday afternoon to attend the fifth annual June Jersey Jubilee of the Quebec Jersey Cattle Breeders' Association and the third annual auction sale in connection.

From the large number in attendance and the enthusiasm and interest which prevailed throughout the course of the whole afternoon, it may be safe to say that the breeding of pure bred Jersey cattle is taking an important place in the minds of farmers, not only in the Eastern Townships, but throughout the whole province, and as a matter of fact, the entire Dominion Live organizations, such as the one that met yesterday, are important factors in putting pure bred stock on the market, and are largely responsible for keeping Canadian cattle up to a standard which it is difficult to excel.

Prior to the auction sale, which was held in the yard, the members of the Association and their friends gathered on the upper floor of the implement shed, where, with Mr. J. A. McClary, superintendent of the Lennoxville Experimental Farm, as chairman, several interesting and instructive addresses were heard.

Mr. H. S. Arkell, Livestock Commissioner was first called upon by the chairman. Mr. Arkell spoke with reference to farming in general, and the effect is has with relation to stock breeding. He stated that where one finds good farming, there also will be found good cattle, but where poor farming is discovered, poor cattle will also be found.

The speaker emphasized that several farmers are inclined to consider their lot a hard one, and are always grumbling about "hard times." "Good farming," said the commissioner, "is not dependent on the weather or the soil, but it is dependent on the man himself, and the sooner the farmer realizes that the better."

Mr. Arkell went on to explain the numerous advantages that Eastern Townships farmers are privileged to possess, stating that in the Townships is found some of the most fertile soil in the world.

Turning to the subject of cattle, Mr. Arkell stated that the real success in the production of milk flow is (1) clover, or alfalfa, (2) roots, or mangels, and (3) corn, oats, peas and vegetables, and that the men who are today making the most profits are not buying much meat.

In speaking of the question of keeping the boys and girls on the farm, Mr. Arkell said: "Unless we can introduce a system whereby there are a few leisure hours on the farm, we cannot keep the boys and girls from leaving. There are ways of finding solutions to the problems of farming, but it is not a thing that a single farmer can think out, but must be done by a community."

Secretary's Report.

Mr. F. G. Gale, owner of the Grayburn Farms, Waterville, as secretary of the Association, was next called upon to present his report. The report read as follows:

"This is the one day in the year when all or nearly all of the members of the Quebec Jersey Cattle Breeders' Association meet together, and as secretary, I wish to make in a brief manner to indicate the progress the Association has made to date, and the outlook for future development."

"Formed in January, 1921, this Association has had a steady growth. We had fifty-five members in 1921. Last year, in 1922, three years after the organization was started, we had one hundred and sixteen members. This year we show still another increase. We ought to have one hundred and fifty members before the year is over."

"The funds we have at our disposal are used in making known the merits of the Jersey breed primarily in the Province of Quebec but our mailing list has names in practically every Province and also in many states of the United States. Our disbursements have averaged somewhat over $1,000.00 per year since our inception, and have included maintenance of field work, donations to the Canada Jersey Cattle Club, grants to agricultural fairs and last year we developed the idea of the monthly News Letter. (These have been and are very popular and do their share toward the great progress the breed is making in Quebec.) Membership fees have supplied one-tenth of the money we spend, the remaining nine-tenths was raised the first two years by direct contributions from generous breeders. The last two years and this year breeders have donated heifer calves instead to an auction sale the proceeds of which have gone to the Association. These sales have been very popular on account of the splendid calves sold, but we believe that in the sixteen calves we are offering you today we have by far the best lot we have ever had. We recommend them to your selection and purchase with every confidence."

"As a new feature this year we have put on a guessing contest. You are all familiar with the conditions. Just before the auction sale the winner will be announced and the calf presented. We can state right now, however, that the contest has been very successful

Coaticook Will Be Scene of This Year's Meeting—Many Expected to Attend from All Parts of Townships—Prominent Speakers Will Be Present.

Following the secretary's report, the Rev. Mr. Rose, who had spent nine years in India in the mission field, gave an interesting word picture of the conditions of farming in that country. Rev. Rose is a graduate of Guelph Agricultural College, and is at present attending the summer school at Bishop's College.

Others who spoke during the course of the afternoon were Mr. A. Randolph, from across the line, who stated that interest in Jersey breeding has tripled in the last year; Mr. Roy, who represented the Provincial Minister of Agriculture; Mr. Martin, of Warden, the oldest Jersey breeder in the Province of Quebec, who bought his first Jersey fifty years ago this summer.

An interesting feature in connection with the meeting was the awarding of a calf to Mr. A.R. Carson, of Danville, who was the winner of the guessing contest mentioned in the secretary's report. This contest was open to all members and non-members of the Association, and consisted of guessing the present number of Jersey cattle in the province. The actual number is 3050, Mr. Carson's guess being 3040.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL

Enjoyable Programme Presented by Class of '25—Rev. W. O. Rothney, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., Gave Brief Address.

The commencement exercises of the class of 1925 of the Sherbrooke High School were held last evening in the Assembly Hall prior to the annual June dance. A large number of parents and friends of the graduating students were present, and a most creditable programme was presented.

The programme opened with an address by the class president, Mr. Frederick Sangster, who, on behalf of the class of 25 congratulated and thanked the Board of Protestant School Commissioners for the splendid building which had been erected last year, and which would remain dear to the hearts of the 1925 class for years to come.

The president traced briefly the history of the 1925 graduating class, including the moving of the High School grades to the new High School, and also the activities of the class throughout the year, much to the interest of his listeners.

This was followed by a salutatory essay "The History of Canadian Railways," composed and given by Mr. Boydell Montgomery. The essay included the birth of the Canadian Government Railways, and later the building of the C. P. R. in 1854. This proved to be very interesting, and was listened to with marked attention by all.

Another equally enjoyable item was a valedictory essay on "Scenic Quebec," by Miss Catherine Martin. Miss Martin pointed out the advantages and the natural beauty of the province, taking first the province as a whole, then dealing with the Eastern Townships and lastly with the city of Sherbrooke itself.

A pleasing feature of the evening programme, and one which received an encore, was a violin solo by Mr. Neil Tracey, "Cavatina." (Raff), the accompaniment being played by Mr. Norman Tracey.

Following this Dr. W. O. Rothney, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., delivered an interesting address, taking as his theme the things which constitute an education. Mr. Rothney spoke in general terms on the kind of a pupil that a high school should send out into the world.

In speaking of the local High School, the speaker stated that the tone of the institution is excellent. In closing, Mr. Rothney emphasized the fact that there is no place in a school for anyone who does not intend to work. The speaker also mentioned the importance of the need of a change in the present course of study. The next item on the programme was a presentation to Miss Catherine Martin, for efficiency throughout the year, of a medal awarded by the Superintendent of Public Instruction at Quebec. The presentation was made by Mr. H. G. Hatcher, superintendent of Protestant schools in the city, who, in a few words, congratulated Miss Martin on her success.

The 1925 honorary pupils are: Miss Catherine Martin, first, and Mr. Boydell Montgomery, second. The class officers for 1924-25 were: President, Messrs. Frederick Sangster; vice-president, Hugh Skinner; and secretary-treasurer, William Rosenbloom.

DIXVILLE

The funeral service for the late Hilda Willis whose death has been already reported, was held at the home on Wednesday and was largely attended by friends and neighbors, who gathered to show love and respect for the one deceased, and kind sympathy for the family sadly bereaved. The service was conducted by Rev. J. C. Tannar, rector of St. Cuthbert's Church, who spoke from the words, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not." The hymns rendered were "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" and "Jesus Is All In All To Me," while some of the girls of the "Jolly Club," of which Hilda was a member sang "Jesus Loves Me, This I Know." Mrs. A. W. Bailey presided at the organ. Mr. Will Parker acted as manager and the bearers were Messrs. Fred and Bernard Bailey, Gordon Bellows and Herman Cutler, and the interment was in the Dixville cemetery. There was a large number of beautiful floral offerings, among them being a spray of pink sweet peas from the Jolly Club, and carnations from the Sunday School, where Hilda was a regular attendant when strength permitted. Deceased, who was twelve years of age, was beloved alike by young and old. In school she was a diligent student and will long be missed by her schoolmates and friends. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Willis, the sisters, Mabel and Audrey, and the other relatives in their deep sorrow. Among those to attend the funeral from out of town were Mrs.

A CANADIAN FLAG.

While the Union Jack is good enough for most Britishers there is something to be said in favor of a design which, while embodying the Union Jack, would have some distinctive feature, marking it as the flag of Canada within the British Empire. Other self-governing Dominions have such flags, while the British red ensign, with Canada's coat of arms, now generally used in Canada has not been formally authorized for this purpose and is not regarded as quite suitable.

The Manitoba Free Press approves the idea and observes: "The Dominion Government has just passed an Order-in-Council appointing a committee to select a design for a flag in Canada. This indicates that Canada may presently have what has been overdue now for some time a distinctive national flag which will be regarded at home and abroad as the standard of the Canadian people. Much confusion exists at present regarding what constitutes the Canadian flag, and where it can properly be flown; but if the committee now appointed manages to produce a suitable and acceptable design this confusion will be definitely ended, and Canada will have a flag which is its own without any restrictions or qualifications."

Other papers have voiced general approval. It is understood that the Union Jack would figure prominently in any new design, but that there would be some outstanding Canadian feature as well.

RIGHT HONORABLES.

The Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, and Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, have been made members of the Imperial Privy Council. A number of other prominent Canadians, also, have this honor. The Toronto Globe thus summarizes:

In the present Parliament those entitled to the prefix "Right Honorable" are: Premier King, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Meighen and Sir George Foster, the latter being in the Senate. Other resident Canadians wearing a similar honor are: Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, formerly of the Supreme Court; Sir Robert Borden, former Premier; C. J. Doherty, former Minister of Justice; Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance; Mr. Justice Anglin and Mr. Justice Duff of the Supreme Court.

Canadians living abroad who are also "Right Honorables" are: Dr. T. J. Macnamara, Sir Gilbert Parker, Lord Beaverbrook and Sir Hamar Greenwood.

Regardless of party, the people in this country can congratulate Sir William Mulock and Mr. Graham upon these latest honors. Besides attending to the exacting duties of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario, Sir William participates in numerous public duties. Only the other day he appeared before the City Council of Toronto appealing for aid for the Dr. Banting Research Fund, which activity may be taken as a fair sample of his public-spiritedness. In fact, few public functions in Toronto in which all classes of citizens unite their efforts are complete without the presence of Sir William Mulock, Sir William's Parliament experience dates back to 1882, when he was elected to the Commons. He was a member of the "Cabinet of Talents" under Laurier from 1896 to 1905. Mr. Graham's first successful election was in Brockville in 1896, when he was sent to the Legislature. Previously he had contested Dundas against the late Sir James Whitney, and was beaten by only 156 votes. He entered the Laurier Government in 1907. In the King Administration he was given the portfolio of Minister of Militia, and a little more than two years ago assumed his former position as Minister of Railways and Canals. It is doubtful if any member of the Commons has more friends among all parties than Mr. Graham. There has been some gossip in political circles that Mr. Graham would be Canada's first Minister to Washington, an appointment which is to be made shortly. As to the truth of the rumor we have no definite information, but it is unlikely that a more tactful or persuasive man could be selected from among the Canadians now in public life.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SCOTSTOWN CHURCH

To the Editor Sherbrooke Record: 2 Sir:—Referring to Scotstown notes in last Saturday's issue, your correspondents are respectfully requested to remember: that, although St. Andrew's Church here, recently voted union, it has not thereby changed its traditional principles, order of services or methods of government. It is now, of course, in the Presbytery of Sherbrooke—note the compliment by U.C. Council to your city—in the Conference of Montreal and Ottawa, of the United Church of Canada; but, all the same, it is the "continuing Presbyterian Church" of this town. In any case, "St. Andrew's Church" continues to be locally, our proper, apostolic title—which nobody can deny.

With thanks for space,
J. W. MACLEOD,
Minister.

LORD BISHOP PAID VISIT TO LAKE MEGANTIC

Eleven Candidates Presented for Confirmation—Other General Newsy Notes.

LAKE MEGANTIC, Que., June 26.—A most important and enjoyable event in the church life of St. Barnabas Anglican Church here took place on June 19th, the occasion being the annual visit of His Lordship, Bishop Williams, of Quebec, for the purpose of administering the rite of confirmation. A most promising class of eleven candidates was present, having been carefully prepared by their rector, Rev. Phillip Callis, and duly presented to the Bishop and confirmed.

The church was filled to overflowing by a very interested and enthusiastic congregation, who witnessed the beautiful service of the laying on of hands. The Bishop, whose sermon was taken from the text, "Behold I Knock at the Door", drew a very clear mental illustration of our great opportunities in listening for His knock, and of gladly obeying the call of Jesus. Also his address to the candidates was most earnest and helpful.

The candidates were as follows: Mrs. Riley, Mrs. William Wood, Mrs. A. Roland, Mrs. Walter Latt, Miss Gladys Andrews, Miss Jean Thompson, Miss Dorothy Parker, Messrs. Everett and Percy Mills, Harry Wood, Lorne Andrews. After the service a congregational reception was given by the Guild at the parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Callis welcomed the large congregation present, who were thus privileged to come in closer touch with their much loved Bishop. The Bishop, with his usual gracious and genial manner, managed to shake hands and say a few words to each. Delicious refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cake, lemonade and hot coffee were served by the young people of the church to the guests before dispersing.

General Notes.

A most enjoyable social event took place on Friday, June 12th, when a reception was given by Mrs. Phillip Callis at St. Barnabas' parsonage, with Mrs. A. H. Plummer as guest of honor. Mrs. Callis, who received, was gowned in black flat crepe. The rooms were prettily decorated with early summer flowers, the tea table looked especially attractive with a centre of pansies and lilies of the valley. Tea was poured by Mrs. G. M. Stearns. Those serving refreshments were Miss Albro and Miss V. Callis. The entire number of guests, Mrs. Plummer most pleasantly responded to their welcome by replying that it seemed good and like old times to be with them all again. The social hour was most thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. Alan McDonald and Miss Dorothy have returned from a trip to St. George. Miss Florence Bailey has returned home, having spent some weeks in Lowell, Mass., the guest of her sister, Mrs. Tesson and Mr. Tesson. Rev. J. J. Bernier is again a patient in Sherbrooke Hospital, having suffered another severe attack of illness.

Rev. D. B. Morrison, of Kirk Hill, Ont., was calling on friends and relatives here before returning home. Mr. and Mrs. S. Beaton have returned from a motor trip to Saranac, N. Y. Reports from Mrs. Dew, who is under medical treatment at Brunswick, Maine, state that her health is improving.

Mr. Hugh Pope McDonald, of Toronto, was a recent guest of his sister, Mrs. James Wood, and Mr. Wood. Mr. and Mrs. Duplissea, of Sherbrooke, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Danie Matheson.

Mrs. Fraser, of Cookshire, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Patton, and Mr. Patton. Rev. Phillip Callis is leaving for a three weeks' mission to the Indians on the St. Lawrence.

Mrs. Norman McLeod, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm A. McLeod, has rented a house in Agnes, and moved there. Work on the new buildings being erected by Mr. Choquette and Mr. John E. Morrison is proceeding rapidly, and when finished these will add two fine houses to the south ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Collin McRitchie, of Scotstown, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McLeod, and visited friends in town.

A number from here attended the Sacramento services at Milan over the week-end. Mrs. Findlay McDonald has returned home after spending a few weeks in Boston with her daughter, Mrs. Sprague, and Mr. Sprague. Mr. Malcolm McDonald and the Misses Mary and Catherine McDonald accompanied their mother home.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald have arrived home, after spending the week end in Lower Ireland. Mrs. Andrew Forbes, of Lower Ireland, has been spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Donald, and Mr. McDonald.

The Misses Ila Dolley, Catharine Dillon and Gertrude Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McLeod, of Brownville, were in town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdo McLeod, of New York, who are visiting friends in Marsboro, were here on Wednesday.

Mrs. John McAskill, of Plenty, Sask., with her sister, Mrs. Peter K. McDonald, were calling on friends here this week.

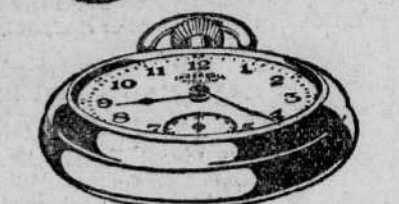

ISLAND BROOK

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Trearmer was the scene of a very pleasant event on Monday evening, June 15, when about fifty old friends and neighbors gathered there to wish Mr. Richard Matthews many happy returns of the day, the occasion being his eighty-ninth birthday. The evening was spent in social intercourse and a few old-time dances. Mr. Matthews was presented with a purse of money and other gifts from the family and friends, to which he very suitably replied, the event being a great surprise. Lunch was served at midnight and all left wishing Mr. Matthews many more years of health. Those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Waite Matthews, of Belvidere; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patton, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. George Sample and baby Douglas, and Mr. Edgar Stewart, of Lennoxville.

Rev. W. P. Wornell will hold farewell service in the Methodist Church on Sunday next at 2.30 p.m. standard time. Mr. Wornell leaves for Coaticook on Thursday, July 2, and his successor, Rev. E. C. James, B.A., B.D., will take up the work on Sunday, July 5.

Sidelights on Men and Women in the Public Eye

SIDELIGHTS ON PEOPLE NOW IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Wanted—Six Educated Women to Milk Canadian Cows—William Jennings Bryan Protests

It takes educated women to milk Canadian cows. At least that is the inference to be drawn from a plea for help issued by Miss Carlyle, who ranches near Calgary. If this is indeed the state of affairs, it is a matter for the wildest enthusiasm. A healthy interest in educational matters is something for congratulation at any time, but when it goes this far it must be particularly gratifying not only to Canadian cows in general but to all milk drinkers as well.

Miss Carlyle wants six educated Englishwomen to come and ranch with her. "The life I can offer any woman who is suitable is a wonderful one," she says. "She would milk the cows at 5.30 each morning, feed the pigs, feed and groom the horses before breakfast and then work on the fields till 12 noon.

"After an hour for lunch, she would work in the fields till 7 p.m.," she continues. The remainder of the day's program consists of feeding and bedding the animals, then dinner, followed by bridge or dancing. Milking seems to be the main job, but aspirants must love riding, shooting and all sports.

Miss Carlyle guarantees to make her assistants "as fit as I am, which is saying something." "I divide my time between farming and writing," she says, "and I want to find six other women with tastes like my own."

Unfortunately, further data concerning Miss Carlyle herself is not now available. On the face of things a typical western movie heroine compares with her as President Coolidge's electric gas-gee would loom up against a thoroughbred Clydesdale.

She mentions the fact that she writes. If Miss Carlyle cares at any time to contribute a sketch of herself to this page its columns are herewith thrown open to her.

It is a sad thing to note the way the world is becoming commercialized. Take Gabriele d'Annunzio, for instance, D'Annunzio, the fearless airman, the wild and mad politician, the sophisticated poet, the great Italian idol of a few years ago. His very soul shook with a series of intellectual shudders at the thought of financial bickerings or common trade.

And what is D'Annunzio doing to-day? He is boosting a new kind of cherry cordial made from his own recipe.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN is indignant at the stories that he made himself a millionaire by boosting Florida real estate and crating from high places for high priced lots. He says he only made half a million.

DR. WILHELM MARX, Republican candidate for the German presidency, prefers beer halls to any other resort, according to pre-election news despatches. According to the returns, he will continue to do so.

JACOB BEN AMI, the noted Russian stage star, has been spending the last month or so in Canada. Shortly before he came north, and while he was finishing up a Broadway engagement, Benny Leonard, the star of the less obese battlers, paid him a visit in his dressing room. Ben Ami is almost an ultra-intellectual while Benny Leonard is an unusually smooth boxer. They found it hard to find any common ground for conversation. Ben Ami couldn't talk fights and Leonard didn't want to attempt a discussion of the intricacies of literature. The silence grew more and more embarrassing.

Finally Leonard rose to go. He cast about in his mind for some suitable and trite phrase of farewell. Finally after an age of hesitation, he slapped Ben Ami on the back and said hurriedly, "Well, it takes the Bens to do it, eh?"

DOROTHY DALTON is giving up her screen career. Now that her husband, Arthur Hammerstein, is coining money on two continents with the famous Canadian musical play, "Rose Marie," there seems to be little or no financial reason for continuing it. The opera is said to have cleared a cool million in a seven-month run.

Miss Dalton, incidentally, partially answers the absorbing question of the disposition of all these profits. "I have bought a lovely place on Long Island," she says, "and I'm building a fine old English home there."

Building an old English home, with the accent on the old, must be quite a task in 1925, but it just goes to show how clever some architects and contractors really are.

Two Discards Appear on the Top of the Pack Caillaux and Hindenburg Loom Up Again

They Were Supposedly Consigned to Oblivion, Now They Appear as Two of Europe's Greatest Leaders—Does Their Return Indicate That the Post-War Period is Now Over?

It came as a severe jolt to Canadians. The average Canadian is a busy man. The time at his disposal for rumination and analysis of world problems is not large. And one morning recently he picked up his paper to find staring at him the hard and beefy visage of General von Hindenburg, while unusually large black headlines conveyed the information that the aged blood-and-iron militarist was the new president of Germany.

It came as a severe jolt and it left a thrill of uneasiness. The fact that he was a candidate in the elections was no secret, but foreign correspondents, as a whole, conceded his opponent Marx, the victory. Then out of a clear sky came the announcement. The stock markets went temporarily crazy and the man on the street thought back a few years and remembered what the name Hindenburg meant to Canadians then.

Five or six years ago, an autobiographical sketch of sorts declared that this man had a greater sense of humor than any commander in the German army. Since that date other news despatches have referred to him as a sawdust-stuffed idol whose popularity was really artificial and largely due to press-agenting. He was described as a wooden idol, the owner of a bubble reputation, a busted phenom, a deified dummel, a ruthless brute, a broken-down old man who could not stand the strain of an election campaign and a puppet hero now tossed aside and discarded.

If that first sketch of his life is a true one and von Hindenburg remembers the uncomplimentary appellations of these last years, he must now be laughing a long series of grim chuckles.

And laughing with him is a Frenchman, another discarded public idol, a man whose career was believed to be blasted, a man who was cursed up and down the length of his country, labeled as a traitor and banished—M. Joseph Caillaux.

Caillaux presents himself as a patriot who has been basely slandered. He was, he declared, a lofty-minded pacifist. He was, his many enemies averred, a low-down pro-German. He is, beyond a doubt, one of the world's most astute politicians and a person of amazing resiliency.

Blows that would ruin any other person seemed to affect him little or not at all. As soon as he was out of prison, he began to prepare for a come-back. He became a high and mighty prophet and wrote somewhat ambiguous articles. His ambition and thirst for power are limitless. Compared to him Caesar was a piker.

Fruit of the Same Tree
ROLLIN KIRBY, cartoonist who won the 1924 Pulitzer prize, pictures Hindenburg and Caillaux as fruit of the same tree. The tree is the Versailles treaty, and these two remarkable returns to prominence are given as one of its results.

There does seem to be a certain analogy in this dual return. France has passed through two financial crises. In each case a financial policy has been tossed on the scrap-heap. The republic began to look about anxiously for a way out. Caillaux had always had a reputation as a financial wizard. He has been carefully, assiduously and deftly boozing himself as the one and only wizard.

The situation was approaching the desperate stage. Caillaux was called in. Reparations were not collected as expected. What he can do remains to be seen.

In the case of von Hindenburg, the circumstances are somewhat similar. In war-time the German adoration of the army leader came close to idolatry. He stood out as the perfect strong man. He brought about military solidarity. He welded an effective fighting machine.

With the end of the war came the revolution and the republic, but the solidarity was lost. It was never regained. The Germans were a people accustomed, in the mass, to be led and to follow. They worshiped the strong man.

Many writers claimed that the attempt to transform Germany into a democracy was an unnatural operation. The Germans had always been accustomed to be bossed. The short history of the republic was a troublesome one and the people longed for the peace and calm of the old days.

Then, too, they were angered at the failure of the allies to evacuate Cologne and this anger was reflected on their leaders of the moment.

They hailed Hindenburg, their old-time idol, out of retirement and flocked to his aid.

There are some who ascribe the Hindenburg triumph to sentiment and the glamor surrounding the war-time hero. The history of the United States with its list of war leaders who became post-war politicians is given in support of this as well as the present semi-worshiping of General Daves.

Laurence Stallings, co-author of the war-play, "What Price Glory?" discussing the matter, refers casually to the almost certainty of a war here as the American president in the near future. Who will it be? he wonders. Pershing, he thinks, is too blunt and outspoken. General Wood has the oratorical persuasiveness without the glamor that surrounds Pershing.

The Sentimental American

BUT the Americans, it must be remembered, seem to be the most sentimental race on earth in some ways. At least, they are more sentimental on the whole than the Germans are.

A well-known Canadian journalist who is in close touch with European affairs takes quite another view of the whole situation. "To me, the return of Hindenburg and Caillaux marks the end of the immediate post-war period," he says.

Von Hindenburg

Joseph Caillaux

"Paris after its first spasm of Germanophobia seems to have experienced a revulsion of feeling and sees a spark of hope in the stability that Hindenburg's election heralds. The return of Caillaux marks the cooling of one of France's most passionate war-time hatreds.

"Beneath the popular excitement that these two developments have evoked, it would appear that the resurgence toward more conservative and quieter times is progressing." These are the opinions. Future events will testify as to their accuracy.

Their Work Is Noble If You Can Stand It

"I Couldn't," Says Maria Hirst, Who Leaves the Convent After Fourteen Years' Seclusion

FOURTEEN years ago, Philadelphia society was surprised to hear that one of its most popular debutante members, Miss Maria Hirst, was giving up the world for a convent.

To-day her friends are even more surprised to hear that she has obtained a dispensation of her vows as a religious and will marry Webb Levering, a prominent Baltimore banker.

Miss Hirst, after her decision to forsake the pleasures and gaieties of the society world, became a full-fledged nun in the Sacred Heart Sisters. She was recognized as one of its most brilliant teaching members. But she found her health going under the strain of a secluded life and petitioned Pope Pius XI. for release from her simple, perpetual vows.

A request of this nature is no light thing, but the fact that the Sacred Heart Sisters imposed only simple vows, added to the fact that health, and possibly a life, were at stake, resulted in its being granted.

At first she was fearful of re-entering the social life of her home city after fourteen years of seclusion, but gradually she did so. The next thing that happened was the announcement of her engagement.

Speaking of her convent life, she says: "The sisters are splendid—among the finest in the world, and the work they do is noble, if one can stand it. I couldn't."

A brilliant lawyer, Miss Hirst's father was one of the most distinguished Catholic laymen on this continent. He was genuinely happy when his daughter announced her decision of giving her life to her church, and died some years ago, still happy in the knowledge that she had consecrated her life to its service.

SHERIFF WAGNER PERHAPS

WHAT has become of Hans Wagner, asked a sporting writer only the other day. Wagner will always be remembered as one of baseball's bright and shining shortstops. He made himself famous as a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Hans Wagner to-day is blossoming out in another line, and if the election returns go the right way will be the next sheriff of the city where he formerly played.

HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL

BECAUSE, as Federal Minister of Agriculture, he is the leader of the largest and most important group of hard workers in the Dominion, the farmers.

Because his agricultural broadcasts in the House of Commons are practically always lighted with well-timed bursts of humor.

Because his opinions on any given subject are usually decided ones and he has plenty.

Because he is still a farmer despite the fact that he is also a politician. He is a leader among farmers as well as a farmer among leaders.

Because he is known as the father of the grain growers' movement.

America Only Nation That Can Afford War

Gloomy Dean Astounds Blase Gotham Interviewers With Brilliant Come-Backs

SHIP news reporters covering the New York waterfront can mark with red the date of Dean Inge's arrival on this continent. They asked the gloomy British dean the time-honored questions and the answers they got were refreshing to the utmost degree.

This may be taken as a popularized and condensed version:

Prohibition. "I should worry. I shall be here only three weeks."

The Next War. "America is now the only nation that can afford a war."

Are Flappers Worse Than Their Grandmothers? "I don't know their grandmothers."

Is Civilization on its Last Legs? "I am not sure that it has ever yet been on its feet."

Fundamentalism. "As long as a monarchy can be made absolute, it is immensely profitable to the management."

Lady Patricia Turns Journalistic Critic

Former Princess Pat Lauds the Weird Originality of Part of the English Press

CANADIANS look upon Lady Patricia Ramsay, who surrendered her title of Princess to Cupid, as a daughter of the dominion. Her popularity seems to be amazing and undying. Of late, she has been buying clothes. That, in itself, is no particular item of news as almost every woman has been doing the same thing, but the attendant circumstances are a bit unusual.

On her shopping tours she met a young journalist, who duly recorded the fact, but said nothing whatever about Lady Ramsay's costume. The reason for this is more easily understood when part of the conversation on the occasion is known.

"I am always interested in looking over the newspapers," said the former Princess Pat, "if only to see how wonderfully original they can be in wrongly describing the costume I was wearing the day before."

Still Lady Ramsay does not write and correct the reports as Arnold Bennett is reported to have done. When he was once accused of wearing a blue shirt, he replied promptly and stated the true facts in no uncertain terms.

It seems the shirt was green.

Fishing for Sharks Is Now Big Business

Rothschild Family Funds Back of New and Weird Commercial Venture in the Red Sea

SHARK fishing is the latest commercial venture of that great family of financiers, the Rothschilds, and due to their business acumen the sport bids fair to develop into big business. Large scale exploitation of shark skin, shark oil and other by-products is now being carried on under the direction of an expert named Dr. Alfred Ehrenreich, who has charge of a fishing station at the lower end of the Red Sea and a tannery in Paris.

Shark fishing has all the earmarks of a very paying industry. The choice parts of shark meat, salted and dried, find a ready market. The remainder of the carcass is made into fertilizer or glue. The eyes, when boiled, furnish beautiful, translucent, pearl-shaped jewels. Shark fins are a particularly high-class table delicacy in the Orient.

Last but not least, there is the skin, which is three times as lasting as ordinary leather and sells for fifty cents a square foot. For the meat, the average price is $300 a ton, but the fins bring in $150 a pound. The fertilizer is valued at $60 a ton and the oil at $1 a gallon.

The infant industry of the Rothschilds reports no lack of sharks and no lack of markets, conditions which seem to spell certain success. This famous family has embarked on many a weird venture, but few as unusual as this, and many which may not prove nearly as profitable when all is said and done.

Ex-Kaiser is Jealous Of Wales' Popularity

Collects Pictures of the Prince by the Dozen—Wants to Be a Popular Figure

THE nonentity who was once the all-powerful Kaiser of Germany is developing a chronic streak of jealousy. He collects photos of the Prince of Wales by the dozen, and follows his movements like a hawk.

Barteld H. Ibelings, a Dutch journalist, recently visited the little village of Doorn where the ex-emperor is living, and his article on the subject throws additional light on Wilhelm's complexes.

Wilhelm II. would like very much to be a popular figure among the people of Holland. He has contracted the habit of lifting his hat to villagers and making jovial remarks in Dutch. He is almost frantic in his attempts to become friends with children, and makes occasional calls on the members of the Dutch nobility living near him.

He reads the newspapers from cover to cover and watches the different political moves in Germany with feverish interest, discussing them at length with the former crown prince.

His passion for sartorial elegance and his love of having his portrait painted still linger. He keeps his tailors busy and is dressed according to the latest decree of the designers. Recently he has had two more paintings of himself done, one in a general's uniform and one in a long fur coat.

And he still saws wood.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"Anyway, I'm tired of it, and she's got to come home."

"I think she is quite happy here," Eleanor said gently.

"Well, it's not the sort of happiness I want her to have," he insisted. "She might as well go and bury herself in a convent with a pack of praying nuns as stay here. I want my girl in London. I want her to mix with all the best folks, and let 'em see that she can do just as big things as they can."

"Diana has made quite a lot of friends here since we came."

Mr. Grantham snorted.

"Yes, and what sort of friends? People I could buy up and never miss the price. A down-at-heels parson without two half-pennies to rub together, and a few dowdy women who run after her and ask her out to tea because they know who she is, and that she's got a

MAGOG

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver are in Montreal attending the annual meeting of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star for this Province, as both Mr. and Mrs. Oliver are Officers in the Grand Chapter.

In accordance with a proclamation issued by Mayor Hamel, Wednesday, June 24th, St. John the Baptist Day was observed as a Civic Holiday. This being the first occasion that this has been observed in this province as a legal holiday.

The annual June examinations at the Magog School were completed on Tuesday of this week, and the School closed for the holidays, the teachers and students having returned to their homes. The results in the higher grades will not be known for some time, as some of these are corrected at Quebec and some at McGill.

Miss Vivian Conners, a member of the Magog High School Staff, who has been in Montreal suffering from typhoid, underwent an operation at hospital there, the first of this week, but in spite of her double ailments she is progressing favorably.

The Magog Tennis Club journeyed to East Angus and in spite of the rain, played the home club there with a score of five to two in favor of Magog.

Mrs. Allan E. Smith leaves Magog this week for a two months' trip to Europe, she being a member of the Henry Historical and Educational Tour. While away she will visit England, Wales, France, Holland and Belgium. The trip across will be made on the steamer Ausonia.

Mrs. C. E. G. Jenks, principal of the Magog High School, left on Tuesday of this week for Montreal, where she will undergo an operation at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mr. A. E. Smith and three children and Mr. H. J. Cordy and son are spending a week motoring in Ontario, returning through the United States via Niagara Falls and Rochester, N. Y. They are carrying a complete camp outfit with them and will enjoy "tent life" in place of hotel life.

Although the season is still quiet, there is quite a number of cars seen on the streets of American registry, and indications are that this number will increase.

rich father."

"Don't you think that's rather unfair, Mr. Grantham?"

He looked at her sideways, and his frown unbent a little.

"All right, go on and scold me," he said, good humored once more. "I don't mind what you say! I think you do me good; you've got a nice way of saying that what you really mean is that I'm a common old devil."

She broke in laughingly.

"I don't think anything of the sort."

He regarded her suspiciously.

"Well, what do you think, then?" he asked, almost sulkily.

She touched his sleeve with her slender hand.

"I think you've got a heart of gold," she told him, and was amazed at the dull color that flooded his face to the roots of his fiery hair.

Twice he tried to speak, but could find no words, and at last he ended up with a helpless—

"Well, I'll be—" he caught back the last word before it passed his lips, and apologized clumsily.

"I'm sorry, I don't always remember that I'm talking to a lady who isn't used to swear words."

Eleanor made a little dry grimace; she did not like to tell him that Donald was a past master at such achievement.

They walked some little way in silence, then he burst out again:

"And this invalid girl Diana's always after! Who is she? I'd like to know?"

"I don't know that she's anyone particular," Mrs. Colman said doubtfully. "She seems a nice sort of girl, and she'll, Diana has been very good to her."

"Diana is good to everyone," he agreed quickly. "But what I say is, why can't she be good to people that are worth knowing, instead of messing about in a sleepy place like this?"

CHAPTER XXVII.

A Meeting Unexpected.

Eleanor hid an amused smile. There was something very young and boyish about stout cumbersome Mr. Grantham. It was quite true that she had grown to like him during the past few days.

Diana turned suddenly.

"You two are walking very slowly and talking very much. What about, may I ask?"

"You!" said her father bluntly. "I am asking Mrs. Colman if she cannot persuade you to come back to London with me."

Diana's color rose, and her eyes shot a distressed question at Eleanor.

"I thought you liked it down here," she protested. "Daddy, you're a dreadful old humbug, you know."

"All men are," Eleanor said.

Joe Banstead laughed.

"The cynic again! Miss Grantham, you wouldn't believe what a dear, unsuspecting, trusting little soul Eleanor was when I first knew her. The way she has changed is simply astounding!"

Eleanor flushed.

"Perhaps I might give secrets of yours away in the same manner," she said with lightness she was far from feeling.

"Oh, spare me!"

Diana's eyes twinkled mischievously.

"Tell us, Eleanor, I love hearing about people's wicked pasts." They were all walking abreast now, Diana with her hand in Mrs. Colman's arm, when suddenly round a bend in the road came a man, pushing a girl in an invalid chair.

Diana broke off in what she was saying, the merry smile dying away on her lips, for the man was Rolf Scott-James.

There was a moment of terrible awkwardness, then Rolf raised his hat, keeping his eyes steadily ahead of him, and passed on.

He like a man in a dream Rolf heard Jean speaking.

MRS. ARCHIBALD BROCK, SWEETSBURG.

SWEETSBURG, Que., June 26.—There passed away on June 15th, 1925, an old and respected citizen in the person of Mrs. Archibald Brock, (nee Miss Hannah Beattie).

The late Mrs. Brock was born in the County of Tyrone, Ireland, in 1840. She came to Canada with her parents in 1841. The greater part of her life was spent on her late father's old homestead, where she passed away at the age of eighty-five years. She married Mr. Brock in 1891.

After prayers at her late residence the funeral service was held at the Methodist Church, at Farnham's Corner, Rev. Mr. Ford officiating. The remains were laid to rest in the Union Cemetery at East Farnham.

The pall bearers were Messrs. W. C. Beattie, of Sweetburg; W. J. O. Beattie, of Cowansville, nephews of the deceased; and James A. Brock, stepson, also of Cowansville.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral included: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brock, of South Troy, Vt.; Mr. Horace Holcomb, of North Troy, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jones, Miss Hildred Larocque and Rev. W. H. Brock, of Glen Sutton; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hazzard and son, Milton, of West Sherbrooke; and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Miltimore, of Iron Hill.

MRS. H. D. TAYLOR, WINNIPEG FOSTER, QUE.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 26.—This whole community was shocked on Tuesday morning, June 16th, when it became known that Mr. and Mrs. George Durrell had received news of the death of their daughter, (Loila) Mrs. Horace D. Taylor, Winnipeg, Man., after an illness of only a week with what was supposed to be scarlet fever. She was taken to the General Hospital on a Sunday and on June 13 removed to the infectious hospital, where she passed away the following Tuesday morning at 4.40. The funeral service was held at Gardner's undertaking parlors on Wednesday morning, June 17th, where there was a very large attendance of church associates, O. E.S. members and friends, the body remaining in the hearse during the service.

The burial took place in the beautiful Elmwood Cemetery, where three years ago she laid her little daughter, Frances. The officers of her chapter of the O.E.S. conducted their beautiful service at the grave. There were six pall bearers, one of them being Mr. Willard Purdy, formerly of Waterloo. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Fisher, pastor of the Methodist Church, where she was a very active worker in every branch of the church work. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Deceased was in her thirty-fifth year, the oldest child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Durrell, of this place. She received her education at Waterloo Academy and later her diploma at Macdonald College, and taught five years before her marriage to Mr. H. D. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Taylor, formerly of Eastman, now of Waterloo, in October, 1913. They left immediately after their marriage for Winnipeg, where Mr. Taylor held a position. She leaves a husband, two children, Louise, aged five years, and Kenneth, eighteen months, her father, mother and two brothers, Leslie and Raymond, and a host of relatives and friends here as well as in Winnipeg.

HARRIS AGAIN SUCCESSFUL IN BATTLE OF WITS

Coveleski Has Turned in Brilliant Pitching for Senators—Tigers Climb into First Division.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, June 26.—Bucky Harris, youthful pilot of the world champion Senators, has once more triumphed in a battle of wits in surrounding himself with seasoned players while other managers are chasing young recruits.

Believing that the veteran spitballer, Stanley Coveleski, was nearly finished as far as major league baseball was concerned, Tris Speaker traded him at the close of last season to the Washington club. Today the Indians' Mogul has ample opportunity for post-mortem regrets.

"Covey" yesterday marked up his eighth victory out of nine starts this season, allowing the Yankees but four hits, while the Senators were winning 1 to 0.

Detroit finally broke into the first division in the American League by faining a 3 to 2 victory over the Browns, Cobb leading the attack with a homer in the first inning.

The Red Sox faltered before the Mackmen by 3 to 2, giving the Athletics a clean sweep of the three game series. Bill Lamar hit safely for his twenty-fifth consecutive game.

Rain postponed the first engagement between the White Sox and the Indians, but the last half of the scheduled double-header was concluded with Chicago on the long end of a 7 to 2 count.

Downpours at New York and Boston forced the postponement of National League games and the only other scheduled for the day was at St. Louis, which the Pirates tucked away to the tune of 4 to 3. Dickerman issued two bases on balls with the bases full, in the seventh, allowing two Corsairs to score.

CHARITY CUP GAME BILLED FOR SATURDAY

Richmond and Quebec Central Will Meet on Parade Grounds in Semi-Final Charity Cup Game Tomorrow Afternoon at 3.30 O'Clock.

The semi-final round for the Sherbrooke Hospital charity cup will be the only game staged in senior football circles tomorrow afternoon, when Quebec Central and Richmond will face each other on the Parade Grounds at half past three o'clock.

Charity cup games in the past have always provided keen competition in Eastern Townships football, and it is expected that tomorrow's game will be no exception.

The teams scheduled to meet tomorrow afternoon are in first class condition, and will place their regular men on the field. Each team is planning to make a determined bid for victory, which will put the winners in the running for the finals.

Quebec Central will line-up as follows: McGinty, Jarvis and Webb; Allan, Scott and Twyman; Milnes Shand, Wootton, Morrison and Leach; reserve, Johnson.

This game will be handled by E. Croft.

TWO GAMES IN E. T. JUNIOR LEAGUE TOMORROW The schedule calls for two fixtures on the Eastern Townships Junior Football League tomorrow afternoon.

Circus-Rangers will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at half past one o'clock when they will meet the team from that place, while the Elasco Juniors will be at home to the Beebe aggregation on the Parade Grounds.

The following players will carry Elasco colors in tomorrow's game: Stoyles, Frearson, Stocks, Stewart, Conley, Memory, McGinty, Pearton, Joiner, Dwyer and Grime.

ROTARY LEAGUE STANDING The standing of the Rotary Baseball League to date is as follows: Teams Won Lost P.C. Rotary 3 0 1.000 Royals 2 2 .500 Cubs 1 2 .333 L'Intrepide 0 2 .000

ST. JOHNSBURY WILL NOT JOIN LEAGUE It now appears rather doubtful if the newly organized baseball league composed of Sherbrooke, Barre, Berlin and St. Johnsbury will go through with its proposed schedule.

A news despatch from St. Johnsbury, Vt., quotes Charlie Hoerne, acting manager and coach of the Fairbanks factory team as saying: "Our team isn't going to have anything to do with a league. We don't want to be tied up with any set schedule."

If Barre, Berlin or Sherbrooke want to play us, we will play. But we have simply a local team and we want to play other local teams around here."

This statement was made in connection with the issuance of a schedule of games to be played between Barre, Berlin, N.H., Sherbrooke, and St. Johnsbury. According to the decision reached at a meeting here in St. Johnsbury last week, this schedule was to have been ready the first of this week.

If it were to be followed at least four games a week would be on the bills for the St. Johnsbury nine. Manager Hoerne says that this is more than he would want to play. He intends to have two games a week for his team, at least until it is rounded into shape.

COMMONS WILL ACCEPT BILL

existing lists in rural constituencies. W. D. Euler (Liberal, North Waterloo) suggested that these objections might be met by providing that an entirely new voters' list should be prepared in the rural parts.

This suggestion was supported by Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster-general, who suggested also, as an alternative, that the last municipal list prior to an election might be used as a basis for the Dominion list. It was finally decided to allow section five to stand over.

Premier Opposed Amendment.
C. W. Stewart (Progressive, Humboldt) moved that a clause be added to the bill amending section twenty-one of the Elections Act. The original section provides that the writs for a general election, and the day of polling shall be left to the determination of the Governor-in-Council. The amendment provided that the period between the issuance of the writs for a general election and the date of polling should not be less than sixty days.

Premier King opposed the amendment. He pointed out that since Confederation there was only one Dominion election, in which a period of 60 days had elapsed between the issuance of writs and the day of polling. The chief electoral officer had informed him that 45 days was the least possible time in which preparations for an election could be made. Therefore this time must be allowed to elapse between election day and the day of issuing the writs. But it would be foolish for the House to confine itself to 60 days, especially if a shorter period would be sufficient by long.

The Stewart amendment was defeated on a standing vote of 78 to 45.

A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni) moved a further amendment which would exclude Oriental returned soldiers from participating in Dominion elections. The province of British Columbia, he said had placed itself on record as being opposed to Orientals voting in election.

Mr. Neill declared that the amendment proposed by him would not lead to any friction with Japan, while, on the other hand, if Oriental returned soldiers were permitted to vote in federal elections, it would probably lead to trouble in British Columbia. The white man could not vote for the most trivial office in Japan; and the changes proposed would simply put the Orientals on the same plane in Canada as white men were in Japan.

Question of Orientals.
Hon. H. S. Beland, Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, believed that Orientals who joined the colors and fought in the Great War should not be denied the exercise of Canadian citizenship. He thought also that returned men generally would interpret such action as was proposed by the amendment as a reflection upon them; and steps to deprive these men of the exercise of the franchise might result in friction with Japan.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg Centre) supported the stand taken by Dr. Beland. The effect of irritating these Orientals by discriminating against them might be serious.

T. G. McBride (Progressive, Carleton Place) interjected that a Japanese, upon assuming Canadian citizenship, did not give up his citizenship in Japan. His first duty was to the country of his birth.

Mr. Neill declared that naturalized citizens in Japan were not allowed to vote, even though they had served in the Japanese army. The question was merely whether the wishes of British Columbia, as expressed by the Legislature of that province, were to prevail in the holding of elections.

L. W. Humphrey (Progressive, West Kootenay) disagreed with Dr. Beland that the amendment constituted a reflection on returned soldiers. The returned soldier members of the British Columbia Legislature had opposed the giving of the franchise to Asiatics.

A vote on the Neill amendment resulted in its defeat by 40 to 18. When the result was announced, Mr. Neill remarked that he would have to appeal to the Senate, which, he understood, was supposed to safeguard the interests of minorities.

When the conference of "managers" of the two Houses began on the question of the Home Bank bill, the secretary of state moved that consideration of the Elections Bill be postponed until later in the day. The House then proceeded to

LIBERALS HAVE THREE SEATS

statement: "Latest information unmistakably indicates that a substantial majority of the electors have come to the conclusion that a time for a change has arrived. The outstanding majorities in many of the counties clearly show that a popular verdict has been rendered against the Government. It is quite impossible at this distance and without the full facts before me to arrive at any well reasoned cause for the defeat of the Government. The Liberal party had as fine a line-up of candidates in the field as ever presented themselves to the electorate for support, and that they put up a gallant fight against overwhelming odds will be admitted. The decisive character of the verdict would seem to indicate that there is no very practical desire for a redress of our economic ills. I am satisfied, however, that the determination of our people to secure a redress of their grievances will have to be dealt with."

"I wish to express my sincere and warmest thanks to all candidates and party friends for their splendid support and hard work during the campaign. The Government appealed to the people with a constructive programme that we felt deserved support. It can only bow to the popular will. I am convinced, however, that the policy which the Government put forward and supported must, in the interests of the province, some day be ripened into action."

"There is little doubt that there were many causes contributing to our defeat for which the Government was held responsible. It was more than evident that many irrelevant issues were raised by the opposition for which the Government was neither directly nor indirectly responsible. These all had their effect. The opposition have sown to the wind—they must now reap the whirlwind."

other business.
A proposal to extend to 21 days the interim between nomination day and polling day in the most northern constituencies was voted down when the bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act came up again in committee. D. M. Kennedy (Progressive, West Edmonton) said that he would like to see the Athabaska and Peace River constituencies given more time in which to carry out the routine provisions of the act. It had been found difficult for returning officers and candidates to comply with regulations within the 14 days provided for in these constituencies. His motion to make it 21 days was defeated, 68 to 28.

He had entered public service a poor man and he was a poor man today.

Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, joined with the Minister of Railways in tribute to Mr. Fielding as a colleague from his own province of Nova Scotia. The vote was carried amid general applause from all sides of the House.

"Yes, Sir, these brown shoes have discolored, haven't they, but then you have been using unsuitable and probably inferior dressing. Take my advice and use only 'NUGGET' Dark Brown Polish, it keeps shoes in condition and restores them to an even tone when they are rubbed or knocked."

Made in Black, Tan, Toney Red, and Dark Brown.
Also White Dressing (cake) and White Cleaner (liquid).

"NUGGET" Shoe Polish

"For economy's sake I buy a supply and let it age" -

says Mrs. Experience, speaking of the economical use of soap.

"I always keep a good supply of Sunlight Soap on the shelf because I find that Sunlight actually improves with age. It becomes harder and so goes much further."

"With this added economy of lasting longer, I've learned that Sunlight is by far the most economical soap I can buy. The reason is that every particle of Sunlight is pure, cleansing soap—a little of it does a lot of work. Sunlight, you know, is guaranteed to contain no injurious chemicals or harsh filling materials to make the bar large and hard. These filling materials, of course, are just so much waste as far as cleaning goes.

"To any woman who wants to get real cleaning value out of a soap for her money, I decidedly say, 'Use Sunlight,' and keep a good supply on the shelf." Sunlight is made by Lever Brothers Limited, largest soap makers in the world.
