ZONING PROBLEM

Council scratching heads over hairdresser question

By RICHARD SPALDING

SHERBROOKE — City council yesterday decided once more to challenge the legality of allowing beauty parlors to establish themselves in residential zones where such operations are against existing regulations.

Council sent the whole question of in-home businesses to the city attorney for a legal ruling after listening to a report from the Urban committee, which has been studying the problem this past week.

The committee recommended that city by-laws be set aside to allow beauty parlors and barber shops to operate even in areas where zoning by-laws prohibit such operations.

Under this scheme, individual applications would be studied before permission is granted by city hall.

The argument surrounding beauty parlors in residential zones started two weeks ago when council received a request from a woman to set up business in a residential zone.

At that time, controversy had arisen from the fact that such operations were technically against regulations and should be permitted only upon an amendment of the zoning by-law in question.

Other arguments were that to refuse such a request was stifling private enterprise, which one alderman said "deserved a chance to exist."

Council decided at the end of the meeting two weeks ago to abide by the laws, disallowing any form of private business to operate in residential districts.

But they agreed to send the problem to the Urban committee for study.

At last week's meeting, a delegation of barbers and hairdressers, representing the local union, asked council not to allow more parlors to open in the city, explaining that there were already too many in operation.

At the same meeting, the Urban committee gave its views on the subject. It felt that council should make the decision and dropped the whole mess back in council's lap.

Council, which did not take kindly to the dictatorial attitude of the barbers' association in telling the council what it could and could not do, again debated the question.

Unable to resolve the split, the matter was once again passed back to the Urban committee.

During yesterday's council meeting, recommendations from the Urban committee, chaired by Alderman Hilaire Beliveau, stated that each request would be submitted to council for approval if such were the case.

Although Mr. Beliveau must have been aware of the recommendations, since he directed the meeting, he nevertheless lashed out at council for allowing operations of that nature to continue where regulations prohibited it.

"Are we or are we not mandated to administer the affairs of the city," the angry alderman asked.

For years now, he said, council had been giving in to every kind of request from local residents.

Mr. Beliveau noted that the great number of requests that had been granted originated from individuals who wanted to set up "a little business at home."

The west ward alderman told council to enforce regulations and stop its often undecided way of settling things.

Mr. Beliveau was aided by another alderman when East Ward councillor Romeo Quintal said it was quite illogical to allow businesses to operate in private homes.

Mr. Quintal's statement met stiff reprimand when the other ward representative, Pro-mayor Gerard Deziel, reminded his colleague: "It is not a matter of logic."

"You are quite right," Mr. Quintal replied, "it is not a matter of logic, it's a matter of justice."

Our troubles minimized; future of Canada bright

'Moderates cheer clamp-down on extremists'

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec Monday minimized recent troubles in his province as "the work of a very few extremists."

He told a news conference: "The great majority of Quebecers are moderates who will prove in the next provincial election that they want to remain in Canada."

He said recent violence in Montreal and Quebec City was the work "of about 50 active revolutionaries," backed by more moderate militants "who are always the same people demonstrating."

"When we took strong action, for example in the recent police strike in Montreal, we received overwhelming support from the moderates in the province who disapprove of extremists."

The premier earlier told a joint luncheon of the Canadian and the Empire clubs that he had made "the choice for Quebec to remain in Canada."

He said Canada's survival depends upon "a cleverly-balanced association of capital and creative ability."

English Canada "has an enviable potential in the world of capital" while Quebec "constitutes a powerful pool of resources and creative energy."

READY TO SHARE

"Quebec is ready to share with you, to prosper with you, and to achieve with you the colossal country called Canada," the premier said.

He told the news conference that "we should bear in mind that nationalists are not automatically separatists or extremists."

The next provincial election, scheduled for next year, "will serve as a kind of referendum since there will be a separatist party (the Parti Quebecois) in the running."

Asked whether he approved of new anti-demonstration legislation announced by Montreal, the premier said:

"The Montreal city council knows much better than I what the situation is because they have recently witnessed acts of violence."

"I think they have the authority to take such measures and there do not appear, to my knowledge, to be any constitutional difficulties involved."

Referring to recent visits by two French government officials to Quebec City, the premier said that as far as Quebec is concerned relations between France and the province are normal and are based on agreements signed between the two.

"I only hope that Ottawa and Paris relations become better," he said.

Lemieux says:

FQF to protest anti-protest law

MONTREAL — (CP) — Quebec nationalist leaders are planning to march on Montreal city hall Wednesday night when council considers a draft bylaw to ban all demonstrations likely to become violent.

The proposed bylaw which Mayor Jean Drapeau says was drafted because of the "violent abuse of the right to demonstrate" in Montreal, provides for a 60-day jail term and $100 fine for anyone taking part in a violent demonstration.

The march is supported by the Front du Quebec Francais, an alliance of nationalist and other groups opposed to the Quebec government's language bill.

"We'll take to the streets again," said Raymond Lemieux, leader of the Ligue pour l'Integration Scolaire, an FQF member group.

"The right to demonstrate and hold meetings is incorporated in the human rights charters of all democratic countries in the world."

"A city council doesn't have the power to change this state of affairs."

Michel Chartrand, president of the Montreal council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, described the draft bylaw as "pure madness."

WON'T GET PERMIT

"The right to demonstrate is sacred," he said.

"We don't have to ask for a permit from anyone, especially Messrs. Drapeau and Saulnier. We are going to demonstrate anyway. The workers will leave the factories."

The bylaw proposal was announced Saturday night by Lucien Saulnier, chairman of the Montreal executive committee. It would enable the city to forbid any march, demonstration or assembly that the executive committee had reason to believe might turn violent.

Mayor Drapeau said in a radio interview Sunday that the city did not act "until evidence was absolutely abundant that there was violent abuse of the right to demonstrate."

The get-tough approach followed the most recent in a series of nationalist demonstrations. A Friday night march by about 2,500 youths calling for the release of two separatists facing murder and sedition charges.

Damage was estimated at about $50,000 as windows were smashed in the heart of the downtown financial district and several Molotov cocktails were thrown at buildings and at police lines in front of the court-house.

BERTRAND

Pierre and the Funny Girl

NEW YORK — (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau slipped into town late Friday and went dancing with entertainer Barbra Streisand, it was disclosed today.

Trudeau is here for a luncheon with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant Tuesday. But he arrived secretly for a private visit ahead of his announced schedule.

News of his early arrival and evening with Miss Streisand came in an article in the New York Post. The article was confirmed by the prime minister's spokesman today.

He said the prime minister had dinner with Miss Streisand and then went dancing. Trudeau met Miss Streisand in London last year at the premiere of the musical Funny Girl.

Trudeau will start out Tuesday with a one-hour visit to the Canadian consulate and then go to the Canadian United Nations mission before meeting Thant at 12:30 p.m. EST for luncheon and talks expected to last about 2½ hours.

Primary subject of discussion is the prime minister's recent call for an international regime on environmental problems. Canada seeks control over possible pollution of Arctic waters.

Mayors' plan Trans-Quebec highway

SHERBROOKE — A committee was formed here yesterday as the first step toward a Trans-Quebec autoroute.

The mayors of Sherbrooke, Asbestos, Richmond, Scotstown and Bromptonville, met yesterday to form the committee, which will be headed by Mayor Armand Nadeau.

The committee will approach Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand and the Minister of Highways, Fernand Lafontaine with a plan for the autoroute.

It is expected that the route would bring industry to the Eastern Townships and provide a vital link to the rest of Quebec and bordering provinces.

The proposed route would join the interested communities with Drummondville and Trois-Rivieres and provide a link with Quebec City.

'English and French provide Canada's survival balance'

TORONTO — (CP) — Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec said Monday the survival of Canada depends upon a cleverly balanced association of capital and creative ability.

He said English Canada has "an enviable potential in the world of management and capital" while Quebec province "constitutes a powerful pool of resources and creative energy."

The premier made his pitch for greater English-Canadian investment in Quebec in an address to members of the Canadian Club and the Empire Club.

Visiting Toronto with the premier was Industry Minister Jean-Paul Beaudry, who will meet with bond buyers and investors.

Their visit comes at a time when the Quebec government's bond sales in English Canada have slowed to a trickle.

Most of Mr. Bertrand's speech defended nationalism in Quebec. He said:

"We should bear in mind that nationalists are not automatically separatists or extremists."

POINTS TO CHOICE

He said the new generation in Quebec has a choice to make: "the choice of living independently at any cost or of remaining within the established pattern."

He said the rising generation demands prosperity in Quebec, realizing that "Quebec will need 75,000 new jobs every year for the next five years if they are all to be absorbed in the labor force."

In defence of nationalism, Mr. Bertrand said: "We define nationalism as the pride of being what we are and we consider nationalism as a positive and creative element of patriotism."

"Canada owes its existence to ideas, sentiments and even obsessions. That is the basic substance of Canadian nationalism."

"Within this Canadian nationalism there exists a Quebec nationalism which can also be considered a powerful creative force."

REFERS TO BILL

He made one reference to his government's controversial language legislation, which guarantees English-speaking Quebecers the right to public schools in their own language.

He said French Canada's refusal of the melting pot principle is a positive element of Canadian nationalism and "our present efforts to promote a wider knowledge and use of the French language is an additional guarantee of the existence of Canada."

"And this we are doing without depriving other Canadians of their rights."

A text of the premier's speech was released before delivery.

Convicted of murder, sobs on witness stand

By BERNARD ST-LAURENT

SHERBROOKE — The trial of Jacques Leblanc, charged with being an accomplice in the murder of 80-year-old Henri Dubois of St. Martys, resumed at 10 a.m. today after hearing a lengthy and emotional testimony by a crown witness who has already been convicted of the murder.

Dubois' body was found Feb. 24, buried under the snow about a mile from St. Martys near the bank of the Nicolet River. St. Martys is a village in Wolfe County.

Quebec Provincial Police were directed to the body by two persons, already convicted of the murder.

They are serving their sentences in the Leclerc and St. Antoine houses of correction in the Montreal area.

Names of the police informants and of the crown witness are being withheld because they were juveniles when the event occurred.

The testimony of one of the youths was heard yesterday. The youth was on the verge of tears throughout his testimony. He could no longer hold back and broke into tears and sobs when he was shown the weapons that he and his accomplice allegedly used to kill Mr. Dubois. His testimony lasted about 45 minutes and is scheduled to continue today.

The witness testified that he and the two others were going to Dubois' house to see if he had any money on the instigation of St. Martys resident, Gilles Girard, 24.

The three met at a local restaurant and talked about going sledding for about 45 minutes. They packed their sleds in the back of Girard's car and left. As they were passing by Dubois' house they decided, again on the instigation of Girard, to see if there was any money inside.

After going through a 500-foot long cemetery, they entered Dubois' house at about 8 p.m. through a window in the cellar. They went into the kitchen and finally into Dubois' bedroom.

The witness said Mr. Dubois entered the house at this point and found the three youths.

Mr. Andre Langlais, crown prosecutor in the case, then showed the witness the murder weapons. It was at this point that the witness broke into tears and moans. Superior Court Judge Evender Veilleux adjourned the trial until today.

Other testimony heard yesterday was by expert crown witnesses who established the cause of death as being a bullet wound in the left breast.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOV. 12, 1969

Your birthday today: The coming year is one of expansion, greater collaboration, advances in skills and the knack of presenting them. The better method is through constant experimentation, continuing only those methods which work promptly and dependably. Having once decided upon a goal, today's natives are nearly all persistent.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Today's liveliness provokes many slips of the tongue, provides glimpses into matters ordinarily difficult to see. Double check your facts and figures since there will be little chance of revision later. Conferences with loved ones are strongly advised for the evening.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The day may seem to be one long procession of petty adjustments, each leading to another of the same sort. Plod patiently through it, so as not to have the same difficulty again soon.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Find out exactly what is needed for older people. Decide where you can help them, but stick with your own estimates and plans. Avoid bickering.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Teamwork advances. You may have to weather a group error and its correction which, if taken in good spirit, can strengthen the group's faith in each other. Pursue sentimental interests in the later hours.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Let well enough alone in business arrangements and financial commitments. Concentrate on learning more of the ins and outs of your family and its changing needs. Emotional ties deepen now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Find non-verbal expressions of your feelings—today words are not very satisfying and may be taken in a sense you do not intend. You hear good news of the progress of relatives, good friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): The later in the day, the more likely you are to have things go your way. Take a conservative approach but a broad viewpoint; make a general sweep for clearing the air among friends, family, and associates.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Advance your plans; include time and a budget for hobbies and entertainment. Go over your wardrobe, and think about replacements and additions to make soon.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The temptation is to move too fast and too soon. Moderation brings more rewarding results. Spending for your health may be the finest investment you can make now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): The greatest hindrance to your plans today is your own impatience, which arises from your urge to get on with things. Use much self-restraint in business and even more in emotional relations.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): The less discussion you invite, the more you can get done. Go directly to the core of the matters at hand; leave the follow-up details for later. Institutions prove to be sources of help and information.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Prepare to make adjustments when you find your business ventures conflict with those of friends. You may also have to give thought to protecting the interests of relatives.

Oswald: "Here's a hand that should be a cinch for our readers and yet it is the sort of hand that may well lead a beginner to give up the game of bridge."

Jim: "It is easy enough at the table also. South plays dummy's king of spades at trick one. This is one time where second-hand high is a must."

Oswald: "The king holds and it is now a matter of keeping the dangerous hand out of the lead. South does this by leading dummy's 10 of clubs and letting it ride."

Jim: "The finesse loses but South is sure of his contract. If West shifts to a diamond South must refuse the diamond finesse and cash out four clubs and three hearts to get his nine tricks in before anything bad can happen to him."

Oswald: "Let's take a columnist's privilege and trade off the eight and ace of spades. Now East plunks the ace down on dummy's king and returns the 10-spot."

Jim: "South must duck this. The spade will be continued and South will be in with his queen. Now West has become the dangerous hand and South must keep him out of the lead by taking the diamond finesse. East will take his king and return a club whereupon South must raise with his ace and settle for his nine tricks this other way."

Oswald: "This is where some beginners may leave us. One time they are told to finesse clubs and refuse to finesse diamonds. Next time they are told to do just the opposite. And lots of other times they will be told to take both finesses."

Jim: "When they see the reason for all this, they are no longer beginners."

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Advisable to Find Cause Of Blood in the Urine

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I am a man, 32. Recently I started passing blood when I urinate. What would cause this and what do you advise?

A—Blood in the urine may be caused by a kidney tumor, kidney stones, nephritis, renal tuberculosis, poisoning with various drugs, hemophilia or scurvy. Since this is always serious, my advice is to have a thorough study to find the cause.

Q—My urine is colorless. Is this anything to be alarmed about?

A—This usually means that the urine is very dilute (of low specific gravity).

This may be caused by excessive intake of water. If chronic it may indicate nephritis, diabetes insipidus, poor kidney function or a low-protein diet. Your doctor should determine the cause. This will give you a clue as to its seriousness.

Q—I have casts in my urine. Is that serious?

A—This finding, usually coupled with albumin in the urine, is an indication of kidney disease. Prompt and effective treatment is required to prevent serious kidney damage.

Q—What foods cause albumin in the urine?

A—Albumin in the urine is an indication of failure of the kidneys to keep the normal blood proteins from passing into the urine. It is not the result of a faulty diet.

Q—Recently my urine has been foamy. What could cause this?

A—The most likely cause is bile salts in the urine—an accompaniment of jaundice.

Q—I have taken the diuretic, Dyazide, for four years. Could it cause pus in my urine? If not what causes it?

A—The pus is caused by an infection in the kidneys or bladder—not by the drug.

Q—Is there any danger of being electrocuted by an electric blanket? What precautions should I take?

A—There is no danger of electrocution, but the National Safety Council warns that these blankets should not be washed in an automatic washer because breaks in the wiring may result. Handwashing accompanied by vigorous wringing or squeezing may also cause breaks. Dry cleaning should be avoided because the solvent may damage the insulation.

Blasts rock 3 buildings

NEW YORK (AP) — An apparently co-ordinated series of bomb blasts hit three of New York's largest office buildings shortly after 1 a.m. EST today, 30 minutes after a mystery caller warned of the explosions. One man was injured.

Cable TV rates too high-city

SHERBROOKE — (RS) — City council decided unanimously yesterday to go ahead with its protest to the Canadian Radio and Television Council in Ottawa over the recently announced rate increase from Sherbrooke Transvision Inc., touching television cable service.

Although Sherbrooke Transvision's increase hiked user's charges by about 12 per cent over the previous monthly rates, and diminished installation costs from $125 to $15, council nevertheless is obstinate in fighting the measure.

Sherbrooke Transvision Inc., a division of Rediffusion, announced the new rates last Sept. 1, which in council's views, was made without the consent of the CRTC.

An official letter of protest was sent to the CRTC on Sept. 11, informing of its total discontent over the matter.

In spite of a delegation from Rediffusion officials yesterday and a long and complex brief they submitted, council will go ahead as planned and meet with the CRTC Nov. 25, in Ottawa.

The blasts occurred in the 70 storey RCA Building in Rockefeller Centre, the new 50-storey General Motors Building at 59th street and Fifth Avenue and at the Chase Manhattan Building in the Wall Street financial district.

All three blasts occurred in or around elevator shafts and damage in each case was largely local.

First hint of the coming blasts came at 12:35 a.m. when a security guard at the Chase Manhattan Building received a call from a man who warned, police said:

"There are three bombs which will go off at about the same time in three different buildings."

BUILDING SEARCHED
The guard called police who joined in a fruitless search of the building. Just as they were about to leave the blast went off on the 16th floor near the elevators. Persons working in a law office near the top floor reported hearing a blast and said the building shook slightly.

The blast blew in a set of elevator doors and blew out half a dozen windows on the Liberty Street side of the building.

At the RCA Building a bomb scare was reported by police shortly before 1 a.m. The blast went off a few minutes later on the 20th floor blowing out a portion of the wall knocking an elevator door off its track.

Robber may be a good influence

SHERBROOKE — (BSL) — A man who could be a good influence on his friends, according to Superior Court Judge William S. Mitchell, was sentenced yesterday to two years in jail for possession of burglary tools and robbery.

Yvon Thivierge was found guilty of the charges on Sept. 27.

Judge Mitchell said he had taken into consideration the report of a social worker before passing sentence.

"I think you can be a good influence on your friends when you get out," said the judge.

"Right now, you have strayed from the right way and are being a bad influence on them. I hope when you get out of jail, you will change your situation and I believe that you can," he said.

QUEBEC ROUNDUP

Chartrand on bail

MONTREAL (CP) — Michel Chartrand, president of the Montreal council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, was released on bail Monday after appearing in provincial court on seditious charges.

Bail was set at $2,000 cash or $5,000 property.

Judge Maurice Rousseau also ordered Chartrand not to participate in any demonstration and to make no declaration except in connection with his work.

Preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 18.

Chartrand was arrested by Quebec Provincial Police at lunchtime Monday on a warrant charging him with "seditious utterances" in Quebec City Oct. 29.

A QPP spokesman said the radical union leader was arrested in a downtown Montreal restaurant on charges arising from his statement that English-language high schools and universities "are going to explode with dynamite" if the national assembly adopts the Union Nationale government's language bill.

The government bill, Bill 63, makes French the priority language in the province but guarantees parents the right to choose the language of education—English or French—for their children.

In his speech on the night of Oct. 29, Mr. Chartrand said:

"I have prediction to make. If it passes, the English high schools and universities are going to explode with dynamite and 'plastique'."

Then he looked down at reporters and repeated his remarks, adding with a smile:

"It's not my fault if I am the 13th in the family and I have the gift of prophecy. One doesn't have to be a savant to realize that enough is enough."

'Bill 63 will pass'

MONTREAL (CP) — The government's language legislation—Bill 63—will be passed "no matter what," Justice Minister Remi Paul told a news conference Monday.

Mr. Paul said he expects the language bill, with its controversial clause allowing parents to decide whether their children will be educated in English or French, to receive an extremely favorable vote in the legislature following the normal period of debate.

Asked whether the provincial government might propose a law forbidding possibly violent protest demonstrations, he said such a law would only be useful in Montreal where most such demonstrations are held.

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau said during the weekend the city will introduce such a law.

Mr. Paul repeated his statement, made last weekend, that there are 3,000 terrorists known to his department in Quebec.

"It was only after a real 'census-taking' that we came up with this figure, and only after we were informed in a precise manner," he said.

However, he said, these terrorists cannot be arrested without first obtaining definite proof that crimes have been committed.

Mr. Paul reiterated earlier statements that Quebec terrorists receive training and funds from foreign countries. However, he did not wish to name the countries involved.

Vallieres' trial

MONTREAL (CP) — The murder trial of Pierre Vallieres, an admitted member of the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecois, got under way Monday with a sharp exchange between the accused and the presiding judge.

Mr. Justice Paul Miquelon of the Court of Queen's Bench rejected three defence motions, including one asking the judge to withdraw from the case.

Other motions were that "the Crown declare to the court that it had no proof to offer" and that the prosecution proceed on its original charge saying only that Vallieres was accused of the murder of one Therese Morin, 65, on May 5, 1966.

The latest charge describes circumstances surrounding her death.

Tourism to get boost in Eastern Townships

SHERBROOKE — (RS) — The Eastern Townships Festival Corporation, the newest scheme to promote tourist-gathering activities in the region, got under way last night with the first election of its officers and administering council.

Started as a pet project under the Eastern Townships Economic Regional Council, the three-week-old corporation will set out to co-ordinate and help in the preparation of a series of regional crowd-gathering public demonstrations for the upcoming summer season.

Part of the services that will be provided by the new corporation will consist of mustering local support for demonstrations in localities that would otherwise be deprived of really effective means of seeing the idea through.

Grouping a number of recreating associations spread throughout the region, the new corporations hope to exercise its functions at a regional level.

OTTAWA INTERESTED

'Protest bans not answer'

MONTREAL (CP) — Claude Wagner, a candidate for leadership of the Quebec Liberal party, said Monday that banning public demonstrations is no answer to the problem of protests in the streets.

Referring to a proposed city bylaw that would prohibit marches or demonstrations considered by municipal officials to be potentially violent, the former justice minister said:

"You don't correct a situation by taking away a democratic right."

Speaking to a group of students, Mr. Wagner said the real answer is to attack the root of the problem.

He said a solution to discontent can only be found by a government which has the confidence of the Quebec people.

"Recent street demonstrations show the widespread feelings of discontent and disgust with the present setup. People want political solutions to political problems."

Lawlessness has reached the stage that the underworld has come into its own in Quebec, he replied in answer to a question from one of the dozen students who met him at the Liberals' Reform Club.

"In 1964 and 1965, when we were cracking down on fraudulent bankruptcies, arson and other crimes, the Mafia was really scared of the government. Now the Mafia feels secure. And we have a wave of gangland killings while it is not safe to walk the streets."

Meanwhile, in Ottawa, Justice Minister John Turner told the Commons Monday he has asked to see a copy of the bylaw now before Montreal city council that would ban street demonstrations in the city.

But he said he doubts whether it is an appropriate time to rule whether the measure is consti-

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto to Greenwood) asked whether Mr. Turner would make a statement on the constitutional aspects of the bylaw, in view of its sweeping nature and its possible implications for freedom of speech and assembly.

Mr. Turner said the constitutional question depends on what the courts would say if the measure is adopted and subsequently challenged.

Violence hits strike of Montreal drivers

MONTREAL — (CP) — Only a few hours after it began Monday, a strike of 1,100 truck drivers and helpers against 40 local cartage and moving firms was touched by violence.

Police said goon squads were travelling the city and nearby suburbs looking for trucks still operating.

Several were heavily damaged. A spokesman for the employer body, the Quebec Trucking Association, said these damaged trucks were not owned by companies being struck.

A number of truck drivers, apparently not members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters which represents the strikers, said they had been threatened.

Police said they have arrested seven persons in connection with the incidents.

The drivers and helpers went on strike at 12:01 a.m. after rejecting a management offer by a secret-ballot vote of 635 to 270 at a meeting Sunday.

The offer was an immediate 24-cents-an-hour increase and future hourly wage increases of 27 cents Oct. 1, 1970 and 30 cents Oct. 1, 1970 and 30 cents Oct. 1, 1971.

Current hourly rates range from $2.22 to $2.87 for a 45-hour week.

The strikers say the most important issues are working conditions — they want to be able to refuse to drive a truck which they consider dangerous — and a guaranteed eight-hour work day.

Caouette wants courts to publish in French

OTTAWA (CP) — Creditiste Leader Real Caouette presented a bill in the Commons Monday to require that Supreme Court of Canada judgments be provided in both French and English.

Justice Minister John Turner attempted to intercept the bill as it was being given routine first reading. Mr. Turner was ruled out of order by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux but later suggested Mr. Caouette might look at a relevant section of the Official Languages Act, which became law Sept. 7.

The act requires that court judgments be issued in both languages if the proceedings have been of general public interest or if they were conducted in both French and English.

An explanatory note to Mr. Caouette's bill, which amends the Supreme Court Act, says "it would seem abnormal... that a certain number of Canadians should be compelled to study or to read the decisions of the Supreme Court in a language which is not their own."

READ FOUR MORE BILLS

The Commons also gave first reading to bills from Mr. Caouette which would:

—Write into the constitution the limits on the Senate in dealing with money bills, which may only be originated in the Commons;

—Require replacement of the word "Dominion" by "Canada" wherever that word appears in statutes or government documents;

—Make it necessary for the president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. to be a Canadian citizen, not just a British subject;

—Make it an offence for persons to disturb the peace of MPs and senators from the Commons and Senate galleries.

Favors blackout inquiry

MONTREAL — (CP) — Resources Minister Paul Allard, minister responsible for Hydro-Quebec, said Sunday night he would favor an inquiry, if necessary, into the cause of Quebec's worst blackout in living memory.

A Hydro-Quebec spokesman said earlier the power failure was caused by a short circuit in a lightning protector system near Quebec City.

Mr. Allard, reached at his home in St. Joseph de Beauce, south of Quebec City, said early reports indicate the blackout had nothing to do with a misunderstanding between Hydro-Quebec and its employees.

There were rumors Saturday that the breakdown resulted from a labor dispute.

Hydro-Quebec's spokesman said the blackout hit the province's power system in a chain reaction.

More sound than meat

With the possible exception of the decision to impose a capital gains tax, or rather to include capital gains as part of normal income, the Government White Paper in taxation reform tabled in the House of Commons Friday largely resembles the fable of the mountain laboring to bring forth a mouse.

For the most part the proposed changes could be effected in the normal course of budget operations without the need for any major changes in taxation policy.

From time to time the Finance Minister of the day has changed the basic exemptions provided for individual taxpayers: the rates of taxation have been changed; inequalities in the application of the tax laws have been rectified.

This could have been done with the suggestions for higher basic exemptions for individuals, special concessions for working mothers, the incorporation of unemployment insurance payments into normal incomes, etc. etc.

One of the basic weaknesses of the White Paper, and especially the tables which accompany Mr. Benson's statement, is that there is too much time lag between the proposals and the actual application of the tax changes.

The Finance Minister has indicated that before the new system becomes operative three years hence, the financial needs of the governments may change greatly and the demands upon the taxpayer may increase.

Thus the benefits or losses anticipated in the White Paper may be more or less theoretical, with higher tax rates offsetting many of the benefits and perhaps aggravating the increases.

Dictators humorless

One of the greatest weaknesses of a dictatorship is its complete lack of humor and extreme sensitivity.

This is true whether the oppressive force consists of one man or of a group of individuals. It is ready to see slight and criticism everywhere and probably, it must be admitted with cause.

The case of Greece offers a classic example.

A few weeks ago the Athens military junta abolished "preventive" press censorship which it had imposed when it took power in 1967. Replacing the censorship, the ruling junta gave newspaper editors a list of subjects that they should not write about—those likely to impair public order or revive old political passions.

Thus thwarted, newspaper editors have been using cartoons and a judicious selection of foreign news—entirely innocent in itself—to get their point across. For example, a headline in a recent issue of an Athens newspaper said: More Democracy; and below it, in much smaller type, were the words, Brandt Promises.

All this irritated the Greek dictators no end. They became so vexed that about ten days ago they ordered police to remove offending newspapers from the newsstands on the grounds that what the editors were doing was "an abuse of press freedom."

Which just goes to prove that press freedom in Greece, as in any other dictatorship, is the freedom to say anything except what the dictatorship does not want to have said.

Ye are of more value than many sparrows. (Matthew 10:31)
PRAYER: Dear God, cleanse us of false estimations and inferior feelings of our value. Give us instead that sense of deep regard and reverence for self and for others that comes when we see ourselves to be those for whom Christ died. In gratitude we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven... Amen."

Wheeling and dealing with a heritage

CRY, VERMONT — Whittingham Farms is a 2100-acre tract of land in Windham County, in southeastern Vermont.

A recent Time article points out that three of a projected 1,735 houses have been built and the rest will follow, sealing the fate of unguarded land in Vermont and much of the United States.

If Whittingham developer Clifford Jarvis sells only 300 lots, he will equal his initial investment of $1.5 million.

When his work is finished, says Jarvis, "I personally have no intention of staying in Vermont."

Many Vermonters would not mind seeing him and at least 100 other developers leave tomorrow.

Land buyers have trapped the county's towns of Stratton, Wilmington, Winhall, Guilford and Dover in a vicious cycle. The cycle originated with the increase of leisure time and with the influx of skiers and vacationers who ventured to Windham County looking for second homes. They, in turn, attracted the developers, who purchased large parcels of land.

As more developers buy land, the open countryside becomes, in the words of Vermont Governor Deane C. Davis, "a man-made jungle."

Land developments of this nature have not been undertaken yet in the Eastern Townships, but the potential is there. Certainly there are large enough tracts of land in our ski and summer resort areas to lure buyers and developers to this region.

Most of the developers in Vermont know little of site planning, except that it means cramming as many houses as possible onto their lots. Half-acre plots are not unusual.

Another problem is sewage. Beneath the grass lawns is solid rock and instead of building expensive central sewage systems, the subdividers depend on much cheaper septic tanks for each house.

Because the existing soil is so thin, the tanks overflow and wastes run downhill into someone's stream or lake. Unfortunately, Vermont has few laws governing what developers can do.

Windham County's towns have contributed to the situation as well. None have enacted zoning, planning or ecological restrictions to impose even the slightest order on development.

Without such laws, the towns have been easy marks for developers, who burden local residents with the expense of increased road maintenance, garbage disposal, schools, police and fire protection. Taxes rise and the cycle is repeated.

Even though Windham County has a competent regional planning commission, the people have been helpless against developers who have hired most of the lawyers in the country. It is virtually impossible for these people to find legal help.

Help is on the way. Prodded by two of Windham County's planning commissioners, Jack Veller and William H. Schmidt, Governor Davis became concerned about the situation.

Only if Vermont acts fast, he said in a recent speech, can it retain "the choice of controlling its own environmental fate."

300 attend supper held prior to 90th anniversary

AYER'S CLIFF — On Sunday, Oct. 26, Beulah United Church celebrated its 90th anniversary. On Saturday a chicken pie supper was served to over 300 interested friends and several invited guests.

Seated at the head table were: Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin, pastor of Beulah Church, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. B. Moore, Toronto, Rev. and Mrs. Graham Barr, Trinity Church, Sherbrooke, Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Lovelace, Sherbrooke Presbytery, Canon and Mrs. H. C. Denton, St. George's Church, and Mrs. S. B. Fleming, clerk of session. Organ music was enjoyed by the friends waiting to be served, played by Mrs. Claire Shipway and Miss Donna McLaughlin.

On Sunday morning, an impressive service was conducted by Rev. K. McLaughlin. The choir sang two anthems, Pray for the peace of Jerusalem, and Worship Jehovah. The sermon was given by Dr. A. B. B. Moore, president of Victoria College in Toronto who was guest speaker for the occasion.

A second service was held in the evening and again Dr. Moore preached an inspiring sermon. The choir sang the anthem, The Day is past and over with Mrs. Nelson Pierce and Alfred Keeler as soloists.

Rev. Father Labbee, St. Bartholomew's Catholic Church, was on the platform at the evening service, offered congratulations and thanks for his invitation.

A social evening was held at the close of the service. The first settlers came to what was then known as Langmade's Flat in 1797. It became known as Ayer's Flat later and in 1901 was named Ayer's Cliff. No suitable accommodation for religious services was provided until 1878. At which time interest in building a meeting house was aroused by Manson Hunt and Jonathan B. Shurtleff. After several meetings it was decided to sell shares at $20 each. Manson Hunt was chairman and in October 1878, a meeting of share holders and subscribers was held in the county building. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and the building site approved. The land, where the church now stands, was bought from Homer G. Ayer for $40. The first trustees were J. B. Shurtleff, Manson Hunt, and Wilder Morse. The building committee was Joshua Perry, George Kezar and James McCoy.

In the spring of 1879 the building got under way with Truman Quimby in charge, last June.

More important, the Governor will ask the state legislature in January to enact a series of laws designed to halt disorderly development.

Only if Vermont acts fast, he said in a recent speech, can it retain "the choice of controlling its own environmental fate."

assisted by Lawson Clifford. The plan was drawn by James McCoy and the building was completed and dedicated in December, 1879.

The dedication service was led by Rev. E. M. Taylor of Hatley. The first minister was Rev. L. P. Adams, who remained until 1888. In March, 1892, Rev. Churchill was called and had an effective ministry for eight years. Rev. Edwin Rose came in 1900 and during his pastorate the parsonage was built. A few years later, Rev. jmoore returned and faithfully ministered for 16 years longer.

Dr. A. B. B. Moore was the youngest of four sons of Rev. Churchill Moore. He graduated from Ayer's Cliff High School and went on to McGill University, United Theological College and Oxford University, England. After ministering in Howick and Montreal, he entered St. Andrew's college, Saskatoon, where he was principal. In 1950 he came to Victoria College, Toronto, becoming president, the position he now holds.

Dr. Moore has served in many other capacities and is also author of the book, Jesus Christ and the Christian Life, the second adult study book of the new curriculum. It was a great honor to have Dr. Moore participate in the anniversary services.

During the 90 years many changes and improvements have been made to enhance the beauty of the sanctuary. The most recent improvements were two new doors at the entrance, the paneling of the vestibule and new carpet throughout the church and the vestibule. The proceeds of the chicken pie supper were all donated to this last project.

West Sutton

Mr. Herbert Robinson was conveyed by ambulance to the Royal Edward Hospital, Montreal, on October 30, for further treatment. He was accompanied by Mrs. Robinson, and Mrs. Roland Gibson.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bowen, Miss Flora O'Brien, Newport Centre, Vt., visited their Sister-in-law, Mrs. Emily O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marco and family attended a 25th Wedding Anniversary in Sutton on Oct. 25, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherrer.

Mrs. Roy Spencer spent a few days in Montreal with relatives and friends.

Buffer Zone?

Between the devil and the deep blue

OTTAWA (CP) — The possibility of Canada becoming a buffer zone between the United States and Russia to help supervise any agreement reached on nuclear arms limitation was raised last week by John Holmes, director-general of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

"It would require a lot of homework," he told the Commons foreign affairs committee, "but it's something that might well be probed."

Mr. Holmes discussed the buffer zone, or no-man's-land, proposition as he talked with the committee about Canada's changing relationship with the United States, outlining the various alternatives open to this country.

Mr. Holmes, a former foreign service official with the external affairs department, said that with the U.S. and Russia developing highly sophisticated military equipment in "this terribly important chess game," Canadians wonder "more and more what this has to do with us."

He said he also noticed this attitude developing in Europe.

From a military standpoint, Canada's role as an ally of the United States was less important than it was 20 years ago. With the dominance of intercontinental missiles, Canada's role in the North American Air Defence Command did not have the same impact.

If Canada was to reassess its position in this area, there were several alternatives open.

The first would be to continue as now: sharing in the continental defence program—"although I don't think we've ever had to pay our fair share." This way, Canada wouldn't rock the boat and would maintain some right to policy-sharing.

But there still would be the danger of being caught up in an escalation entirely decided by Washington.

Another alternative, Mr. Holmes said, would be to continue, as an ally of the United States but with a clearly differentiated function.

"We'd have to find out what the U.S. needs of us now in terms of defence." One possibility would be for Canada to confine itself strictly to continental defence, leaving the strategic area entirely to the U.S.

Mr. Holmes said another alternative, neutrality, is not closely enough related to Canada's national interests. While neutrality might increase the country's influence in some areas it would decrease it in others.

Canada has a basic need of American goodwill, he said.

Market responds to white paper

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal stock market responded positively Monday to the federal government's tax reform proposals with prices of Canadian issues, particularly high dividend stocks, advancing significantly.

Among stocks posting big gains on the Montreal Stock Exchange were banks, trust companies and Canadian industrials and utilities. The government white paper, tabled in the Commons Friday after financial markets had closed for the weekend, contained recommendations for a capital gains tax, considered by some people a potential disaster for the stock market.

However, some analysts feel many investors had anticipated a capital gains tax and were actually pleased by the "moderate tone" of the government's proposed reforms.

Suggested tax benefits favoring profits made by shareholders of widely-held Canadian corporations, seem to have swung the Montreal financial market strongly in favor of banks and Canadian utilities.

SEES BOND DEMAND

Several analysts predicted investors will be encouraged to buy high dividend stocks to take advantage of the tax structure suggested by the white paper. One market expert looked for high sales of Canada Savings Bonds by people wishing to buy shares yielding higher returns.

The Canadian Stock Exchange, specializing mainly in speculative mines and oils and junior industrials, was quiet in comparison to the Montreal Stock Exchange where the major issues are traded.

Charles Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, criticized the proposed tax reforms as "imbecilic" and "purely political" Saturday, when the exchanges were closed.

He said the government "should be trying to help Canadian companies instead of knocking them out of business."

For and about Women

PANTS GO EVERYWHERE THIS FALL — Quite often, they stay home as well and make the smartest loungewear sets. The trio here do double-duty for partying or at-home wear.

A velvet pant suit, with a long jacket, is on the left, a satin culotte with contrasting top, centre, and a velvet culotte with white satin trim on the right.

You in the Dumps Over Antiques?

By BETTY CANARY

I've been intrigued by the stories of those who say they spend their spare time visiting city dumps and I thought perhaps I should check around and see what I've been missing.

One man went on rapturously about furnishing his screened porch with "finds" from his village dump, including two old milk cans his wife had painted Antique Red and decorated with eagle and star decals.

I was fascinated by a woman's report of her early Saturday morning scavenger hunts ("The best stuff seems to get thrown away on Friday night") and I accepted an invitation to see her treasures. She proudly showed me a table lamp on a desk in her dining room and three stoneware crocks in the den. The bentwood halltree beside her front door convinced me I was onto a good thing.

Then when I read (I'm sorry I can't remember where) that in one New England village, friends meet at the dump, and after throwing away their collective collections, they sit around on the tailgates of their station wagons drinking Bloody Marys from thermos bottles and exchanging gossip, well, I wondered why I'd been wasting my time going to antique shows and cocktail parties.

I hastened to our town dump, an area usually referred to by residents as the Burning Ghats, which we hope will someday be filled, covered with turf and miraculously turned into a riverside park. My knowledge of them had been limited to newspaper photographs and occasional glimpses of black smoke hanging in the air.

I am sorry to report that I found no bentwood halltrees, not even a cracked crock. There seemed to be nothing salvageable in sight, unless one has an interest in burning automobile tires.

There was a conspicuous absence of jolly dumpers and not one group of neighbors huddled on a station wagon tailgate. As a matter of fact, the only person I saw was an elderly man who growled, "Wadcha want around here, lady?"

This did not deter me in my search for a picturesque village dump. After all, I reasoned, our town was too large, life too mechanized for old-fashioned scavenging. (Our dump has a bulldozer waiting to crunch from view any leftover goodies.)

Instead of piling old magazines neatly by the garage for our garbage trucks, I began stacking them in my station wagon and would drive 10 to 20 miles to a smaller community. But, alas, my systematic search was in vain.

You may try it if you still believe all those stories, but the dumps I visited yielded nothing more interesting than assorted rusty bedsprings, two potato chip cans, more automobile tires and one Maytag washer, vintage 1928. I thought about bringing the washer home—maybe I could use it as a planter—but just then another elderly man walked up and said, "Wadcha want around here, lady?"

Brouillet. In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. R. Bartlett, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. J. Franklin. A good report was given on the Harvest Cafeteria Supper in October.

The president spoke on the Christmas Salad Supper on Dec. 4 from 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. A work table and food table will be a big event. All are welcome to attend.

The pourers at the Christmas tea are: Mrs. C. Fortier; Mrs. E. Kennett; Mrs. D. Price; Mrs. R. Lougheed; Mrs. N. Bradley and Mrs. B. Jarvis.

The work meetings for the Christmas tea have been very successful with a good turnout at every meeting. A meeting was called by the president for Nov. 24 at 8 p.m. in the Memorial Hall for final arrangements for the Christmas tea. All members are requested to attend. The meeting was adjourned. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. B. Lothrop.

Autumn wedding in Stanstead

WARD — MILLER

A pretty autumn wedding took place on November 1, at Christ Anglican Church, when Linda Irene, daughter of Mrs. Howard Miller, Ways Mills, and the late Mr. Miller, was united in marriage to Mr. James Robert Ward, son of Mr. Leonard Ward of St. Hipolyte de Kilkenny, and the late Mrs. Ward.

Rev. R. W. Peirce officiated for the double ring ceremony. The organ music was played by Mrs. Alfred Middleton. The altar was adorned with arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums and the guest pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows and mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Franklin Miller, was wearing a floor length gown of white autumn satin, having a highrise waistline. Beaded lace enhanced the edge of the bell sleeves, the bateau neckline and straight skirt. A wedding band of lace and pearls held her full length chapel veil of silk illusion. She carried a trailing bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Joan Miller as maid of honor for her sister was in antique gold. The bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Miller, sister of the bride, and Miss Diane Prangle, wore olive green dresses of crimpalene, styled alike with gold and green braid on the bell sleeves. They wore matching bows in their hair and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ronald Ward was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Stuart Miller, brother of the bride and Mr. Peter Shutt.

Mrs. Miller, the bride's mother was in a navy blue wool suit, a navy blue hat and accessories and wore a corsage of yellow mums.

The reception held in the lounge of the Royal Canadian Legion Memorial Home in Stanstead was attended by about 70 guests. The bride's table was centered with the three tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Franklin Miller, aunt of the bride. It was in white with yellow roses, the traditional silver horseshoe, and love birds with wedding rings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward spent the weekend in the Townships and are now living in Montreal. For her trip, the bride chose a purple tweed dress accented with a yellow chiffon scarf, black accessories and a corsage of chrysanthemums.

Miss Colleen Miller, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Guests attended from Ste. Agathe, Morin Heights, St. Hipolyte de Kilkenny, Ste. Therese, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Grand Falls, N.B., Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and Boundary Villages.

Those attending were: Rev. and Mrs. Maxwell Jones; Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Berwick; Sawyerville; Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, Canterbury; Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Lizotte; Mr. and Mrs. Barry Berwick and Mr. Oscar Lasenba, all of Sherbrooke; Mr. Floyd Hooker, Brookbury; and Miss Geraldine Sylvestre, Crossbury.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID LUNDEEN, whose wedding took place recently at St. Paul's United Church. The bride is the former Miss June Allyson Trew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

George Trew, Magog. Mr. Lundeen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lundeen, Kakato, Minnesota.

Allyson Trew marries David Lundeen

The marriage of Allyson Trew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Trew, Magog, to Mr. David Lundeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lundeen, Kakato, Minnesota, took place in St. Paul's United Church recently.

Reverend V. Bell officiated, assisted by Reverend M. Lundeen, father of the groom. Miss Wendy Trew, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music. The Lord's Prayer was sung by Miss Linda LaSavage. Ferns and white mums were used as decoration for the candle-light service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a white lace empire gown. The bodice had a high rolled neckline of white crepe, long sleeves with white crepe cuffs.

The back fullness of the skirt ended in a circular train. Her three tiered finger-tip length veil of tulle illusion was held by a matching lace coronet and she carried a lace muf decorated with ivy and tulle roses. Mrs. Laurence Grainger, matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Susan Wood attendant, were in empire style gowns. The brides were white with pale blue flowers and the high necklines were edged with lace. Dark blue skirts were softly gathered with unpressed pleats and dark blue cummerbunds. They carried baskets of yellow roses with yellow velvet streamers matching the yellow velvet bows they wore in their hair.

Mr. Dwight Lundeen, brother of the groom, was best man and was also usher with Mr. David Veck.

Mrs. Trew was in a pale blue ensemble, the dress having a lace bodice and crepe skirt with a matching lace coat, white accessories and a corsage of blue and white carnations.

Mrs. Lundeen wore a strawberry and white two piece suit, white accessories and a corsage of red and white carnations.

Following the reception at the Cabana Motel, Mr. and Mrs.

Lundeen left for a trip to the Eastern States. They will live in Upsala, Minnesota.

BETTY CANARY

Ah, The Dance! How 'In' Are You?

By BETTY CANARY

My two daughters are students of The Dance. (The Dance is what you call it after the second Saturday afternoon. On the first Saturday, your daughter merely goes to ballet class.)

Surely there was a time when I spent Saturday afternoons doing things like shelling peas and wondering: Can sea water really be used for growing food in the desert? and other important stuff. I cannot remember what I used to do. I know I have spent most Saturday afternoons for the past four years waiting at The School until my daughters finish The Dance.

Not that I just sit there. I talk with all the other mothers about how I brought my daughters here not to learn to dance but to be more poised and graceful. I find it most interesting that to date I have NEVER met a mother who says she expects her daughter to learn to dance. I have the uncomfortable feeling that any mother who did admit it would find herself classified as slightly cuckoo and end up sitting by the soft drink machine. I keep hoping that some day, some fine fall day when the new classes start, a mother will show up with a little girl in tow and she'll snap her fingers at the child and say, "On with the arabesques, Mary Sue! You think I paid all this money for good posture?"

This will never happen, because women have instincts about the rights and wrongs of things.

Not that one can't spot a new mother at The School. She is always sitting there, holding a "ballet bag." This is made of plastic or patent leather and has pastel ballerinas painted on the sides and, after two lessons, her daughter will announce, "Mother, I can't carry THAT!" Then she will wad her leotard, tights and shoes into an old plastic shoe bag and ever afterwards be acceptable to her peers.

Also, a new mother has a way of casting pitying glances at the older students entering the room. She sighs over them as they wait for their class to begin. But that is before she learns that the scruffy look is the right look and tights with runners lend prestige.

At first she won't understand when her little girl takes the new ballet shoes outside and scrapes the sides on the concrete sidewalk. "They look so NEW, mother!" seems an unsatisfactory explanation. But she will soon learn that the girls to be envied are those whose shoes not only look tired and worn but also carry patches of silver paint from last year's recital.

It doesn't take her long to realize that the girls carrying toe shoes are the real objects of envy. Toe shoes are NEVER carried inside any kind of bag but are dangled from an outstretched arm—as ostentatiously as possible.

And this is the reason why little girls take up The Dance. Perhaps their mothers want them poised and graceful. Perhaps their teacher wants them to put butterflies to shame. The girls want pink satin toe shoes.

A girl who makes straight As in school, sings like an angel and has never in her life failed to make her bed before breakfast is A Nothing before the girl who has acquired toe shoes. I am convinced that we who are engaged in the art and science of bringing up daughters would really benefit from a serious and definitive study of The Toe Shoe Mystique.

REBEKAH DISTRICT NO. 5

The 63rd annual Rebekah Meeting of District No. 5 was held in Richmond on Saturday, Nov. 1, with Olive Branch Rebekah Lodge No. 9.

A delicious banquet was enjoyed at 6 p.m. in Chalmers United Church Hall, provided by the "Evening Group" of the Church.

At the banquet, Bro. Amos Ward presented Sis. Audrey Wheeler with a PDDP's jewel from her husband and son. The Assembly President's Hy nn was sung by Dwight Findlay. He was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Poirier.

The meeting was called to order in the Masonic Hall at 8:30 by the acting Noble Grand, Sis. Audrey Wheeler. Roll call showed 110 members present, from La Tuque, Montreal, Cowansville, Farnham, Foster, Granby, Bury, Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff, Sherbrooke, Ontario, Connecticut, and California, as well as Windsor and Danville.

The distinguished guests introduced by Sis. Christena Henderson, included: Sis. Isabella Beattie, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Quebec; Bro. Harold Lockwood, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec; Sis. Gertrude Hoyle, Vice-President of the R.A.; Sis. Margaret Sanborn, Warden; Sis. Viola Noble, secretary; and Bro. Claude Whitcher, Grand Representative of Grand Encampment, as well as several District Deputy Presidents, appointed officers and past officers.

The address of welcome was given by Sis. Dorothy Lockwood, of Olive Branch No. 9, and responded to by Sis. Frances Lodge PDDP of Maple Leaf No. 3.

Splendid reports of the past year's work were presented by the three lodges of the district, namely Maple Leaf No. 3, Danville, Evergreen No. 48, La Tuque and Olive Branch No. 9.

Sis. Irene Monahan of Maple Leaf No. 3 was recommended for the office of District Deputy President for the next term.

Items pertaining to the work of the order were presented by the three lodges of the district. Sis. Gladys Galbraith presented Sis. Nellie Hills with her thirty-five year Veteran Jewel from the members of Olive Branch, as well as a dozen pink carnations. Sis. Hills, taken completely by surprise, thanked the members feelingly.

An address by the Assembly president, Sis. Isabella Beattie was very much enjoyed as well as remarks by Bro. Lockwood, Bro. Whitcher and Bro. Olsen from La Tuque.

Gifts of money were presented to the Assembly President, Sis. Beattie and to the District Deputy, Sis. Findlay.

A silver collection for the president's project amounted to $35, while the exchange table netted over $42.

The meeting closed in Ritual form at 10:45, after which coffee, doughnuts and cookies were enjoyed.

Bruins "feast" again, batter Seals 8-3 Beliveau strikes early as Habs dump L.A.

BOSTON (AP) — Linemates Johnny Bucyk and John MacKenzie scored two goals each and defenceman Bobby Orr collected three assists Monday night as Boston Bruins snapped a five-game winless streak with an 8-3 National Hockey League victory over Oakland Seals.

The Bruins, who slipped from first place to fourth in the East Division during their slump, broke loose with their biggest attack of the season, firing 63 shots on the Oakland goal.

Six Boston players shared in the scoring. Bucyk connected for his sixth goal to break a 1-1 tie and put the Bruins in front to stay at 13:48 of the first period, tallied again in the second period, and also picked up two assists.

Orr regained the NHL scoring lead from Phil Goyette of St. Louis with his 18th, 19th and 20th assists in just 13 games. He has scored two goals, giving him 22 points for the season.

The other Boston goal scorers were Fred Stanfield, Jim Lorentz, Dallas Smith and Jim Harrison.

Oakland, now winless in five consecutive games, capitalized twice on two-man advantages. Mike Laughton connecting for the game's first goal and Ted Hampson tallying in the third period. Gerry Ehman scored the other Oakland goal on a power play in the third period.

Oakland goalie Gary Smith, peppered by 45 shots in the first two periods, was banished with a game misconduct after Dallas Smith put Boston ahead 5-1 just 18 seconds after the third period face-off. The Seals netminder left his goal to protest that Harrison was in the crease. He swung his stick as referee Ron Wicks skated by, nearly knocking their last six games.

The game was 1:16 old when Beliveau drilled a Cournoyer pass from behind the net past goalie Gerry Desjardins to make it 1-0.

Ted Irvine tied it for the Kings nine seconds later on Leon Rochefort's pass during a three-on-two break.

Beliveau, still skating on his first shift on the ice,

Nations Cup to US equestrian team

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States equestrian team won the Nations Cup, the most important class in international competition, Monday night at the National Horse Show.

Canada finished second.

It is on Nations Cup victories that the teams of countries around the world are rated. This was only the second Nations Cup in which the United States has competed this year and its second victory. Coach Bert De Nemethy's team also won the cup at the Pennsylvania national show in Harrisburg.

With a crowd of about 7,000 looking on in Madison Square Garden, the United States riders were charged with only 16 faults for the two rounds. While four riders and four horses made up each team, only the top three scores counted.

Canada finished with 40 faults. Mexico and Argentina had 53 and 143 respectively.

Moffat Dunlap of Newmarket, Ont., on Argyle, had one of the four faultless rides and finished second. Torchy Millar, of Winona, Ont., riding Shoeman, completed the course with only four faults each time and finished third.

Brian Callahan of Toronto, on Arak, had 12 faults each round and finished fourth. Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont., on Pieces of Eight, had a refusal in the first ride and ended with 15 faults.

The three other faultless rounds were scored by United States riders. Jared Brinsmade was faultless twice with Triple Crown and Bill Steinkraus, the captain of the team, had one with Bold Minstrel.

The United States already has clinched the team championship in the international division with 128 points. There still is a fight for the runner-up spot, however. Argentina is second with 50 points and Canada is third with 40. Mexico is last with 20.

Riders get underway

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders settled down Monday to prepare in earnest for the Eastern Football Conference finals, armed with the film of Toronto Argonauts' lacklustre victory over Hamilton Tiger Cats.

"Either way we knew we'd have a tough series," coach Frank Clair said of the 15-9 Toronto victory Sunday.

His main problem appears to be choosing a running back to replace Vic Washington, after cutting two candidates last week in Andy Walton and Bob Morgan, each on the small side and neither impressive in the single games they played.

Too much weight is the difficulty posed by Leroy Sledge, a former British Columbia Lion, who checked in late last week at 242 pounds.

No previous Canadian football experience is the handicap for Gene Thomas, a former Kansas City regular who also is short on conditioning.

One or the other has to be ready for Sunday's encounter in Toronto in the first action of a home-and-home, total-point series.

Head Coach Frank Clair

6-New York Knicks

Reed

PROSPECTUS—On paper, the New York Knickerbockers appear to have one of the most talented teams ever assembled. On the floor, the picture doesn't change much. Cazzie Russell, who averaged nearly 19 points last year before breaking an ankle, may not start. If there's another basketball dynasty around to replace Boston, it will play its home games in Madison Square Garden. Prediction—First in East.

Frazier

FORWARD—Super. Start with, say, Dave DeBusschere and Bill Bradley. Then work your way down to Russell and perhaps Dave Stallworth, an exciting 6-7 performer before he suffered a heart attack three years ago. After that, pick up Don May and Bill Hosker and offer them, at midseason, former All-American Mike Silliman of Army and Phil Jackson, one of last year's top reserves. Rating—A.

CENTER—Fine. If the Knicks have a weak point, it's because they don't have a super sub for Willis Reed, who is pretty super (21 points a game average). In the meantime, Nate Bowman will have to do. Rating—A.

GUARD—Also fine. Young Walt Frazier looks like the best bet to replace Oscar Robertson (someday) as the league's best guard. Even Bill Russell voted him the best defensive player in the NBA a year ago. The other spot will go to either 33-year-old Dick Barnett, still a fine shooter, or rookie John Warren. Mike Riordan figures to remain a reserve. Rating—B+.

ROOKIES—Warren, aside from Alcindor, might be the league's best.

Coombs' Lovely Palis cops main dash Pony Race to be staged Sunday

Charles Coombs' Lovely Palis copped the honors in the main dash at the Sherbrooke Race Track Sunday afternoon when a crowd of 922 fans was on hand for the 69th program of the current season.

It was announced that racing will be held Sunday afternoon only until the end of the season. Charles Connors, general manager, also stated that a special attraction will be held next Sunday, Nov. 16. A Pony Race, with ten in the class, will be on hand to stage a special event.

Racing will continue till the end of the month and then the club will cease operations but will commence winter racing on Sunday Jan. 11. Mr. Connors pointed out that it will be the first time in the history of the local club that winter racing will be held. The Thursday night's card has been cancelled and in this manner Len O'Donnell, racing secretary, will have more horses to pick from for the Sunday program.

In the main event Abe Brookdale, with Fern Desrochers driving, set the early pace and held the lead until the three-quarter pole. He hit the quarter in 32 one-fifth seconds and the half in 1:05 three-fifth.

By LEN O'DONNELL

On the back stretch, Stanley Buck with Brochu's Isola Abe moved into second spot ahead of Abbott Dell with Lovely Palis on the outside in third spot. When the field hit the last turn Lovely Palis was out in front and held on till the wire for first place, the mile went in 2:10 four-fifth which was good considering the weather.

The fans wagered $34,474 for the ten-race program. In the tenth, Jasmin Boy and Indian Barr teamed up to pay their backers $33.90 in the exacta. Buster Huckins' Count E Lee paid the tops for a win bet, $19.20, while in the eighth Diana's Gem rewarded her backers with $14.70 for place. The rest of the prices were all in the low range.

The next program is slated for Sunday afternoon with the horses going to the post at 2 p.m. Another good field is expected and if the weather holds up a bumper crowd should be on hand to witness some good racing as well as the Pony Race. Children will be admitted free if accompanied by their parents.

Sport briefs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Team captain Ed Van Impe of Philadelphia Flyers was operated on Monday by the National Hockey League team's oral surgeon, Dr. Everett Borghesani.

The surgeon extracted the six roots of four upper and two lower teeth that had the crowns knocked off in Sunday night's game with Oakland Seals.

After emergency surgery Sunday night Van Impe went right back into the game in the third period.

Van Impe received more stitching Monday on the multiple lacerations. He was then taken to hospital for x-rays of the upper and lower jaws in addition to a precautionary chest x-ray. There were no visible fractures.

Dr. Borghesani said it will be up to Van Impe whether or not he plays Wednesday night against Minnesota North Stars, but, he said, "I am advising him to take a couple of days off."

MONTREAL — (CP) — The Quebec mixed curling championship will be held at Kenogami on the Saguenay River Feb. 2-7, the sponsors announced Monday.

It will mark the first time the mixed title play will be held outside Quebec City since the inception of the event in 1961.

The top rink moves to the national mixed finals in Vancouver, March 9-14.

Major reason for the switch to the Saguenay region is to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Kenogami Curling Club where the Monday-to-Saturday double round-robin series will be played.

Kenogami is 115 miles north of Quebec City.

LONDON — (AP) — Harry Mallin, one of Britain's most famous amateur boxers who won two olympic gold medals and was undefeated after 300 fights, has died. He was 77. He died at his London home Saturday night.

Mallin won the Olympic middle weight titles in 1920 and 1924.

Joe Kapp is getting attention

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Run, Joe, Run. Jump, Joe, Jump. Win, Joe, Win.

Nothing draws more discussion these days about Minnesota Vikings than their rough, tough quarterback, Joe Kapp, and the way he gets things done.

Kapp occasionally likes to jump-pass, rare for a National Football League quarterback. The 6-foot-3 215-pounder also occasionally tries to run over opposing defenders rather than run out of bounds, unheard of for most pro quarterbacks in the United States but more common in the Canadian Football League, where he began his pro career.

On his running, Kapp says he doesn't like to run out of bounds unless he has to kill the clock because he wouldn't be able "to look those other guys in the eye."

"Why do I jump?" he says. "To get up there for one last look."

Kapp passed for three touchdowns, two on jumpers, and 223 yards Sunday as the Vikings flattened Cleveland Minnesota lost its first game of the season 24-23 with Kapp on the sidelines, but with the help of the 31-year-old former British Columbia Lion, the Vikings have won seven straight and lead the Centvision by two full games.

Kapp, who led the California Golden Bears to the 1959 Rose Bowl, is in his third and best NFL season after playing in the CFL from 1959 through 1966 and passing for 22,725 yards.

He has passed for 1,425 yards in seven games in 1969 and connected on 17 touchdowns—seven against Baltimore Sept. 28. Gene Washington, his top receiver who was on the catching end of all three touchdown passes Sunday, has taken 32 passes for an even 700 yards and eight TDs.

Blanton Collier, Cleveland coach, said after Sunday's game that Kapp "is the most underrated quarterback in football."

Bud Grant, Kapp's coach, said before the season started that Kapp "competes as hard as any player we've ever seen. He is immensely respected by his team-mates and he will

Bud Grant, Kapp's coach, said before the season started that Kapp "competes as hard as any player we've ever seen. He is immensely respected by his team-mates and he will never quit looking for a way to beat you."

The Minnesota fans spent the previous two seasons booing Kapp, but this year he is their hero.

They show with signs, saying: "The Vikings go with Jumping Joe," and "Hennepin Joe, we love you."

...Orr regains scoring lead

THREE MORE — Bobby Orr collected three more assists last night in the Bruins' romp over the Oakland Seals 8-3, giving him 22 points on two goals and 20 assists in the 13 games Boston has played so far.

Cahill supports his passers

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts quarterbacks may be suspect after gaining only 73 yards by passing Sunday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats but Argos' coach is not giving up on them.

Coach Leo Cahill ignored his quarterbacks' performance in the Eastern Football Conference semifinal and claimed that Tom Wilkinson and Frank Costantino are "eminently capable."

"Wilkinson is still the same guy who won a lot of big games throughout the season," Cahill said in an interview Monday.

"He hasn't changed. Remember, we had the biggest offence in the league. We didn't do it with mirrors."

"People forget about our injuries. Wilkinson was hurt for a few games. Also, he's almost a rookie, he's still learning."

"We lost Dave Raimey. Bill Symons isn't right. He has pain from that toe injury and maybe he's not in the best of shape because we haven't been running him in practice."

Cahill said he could not understand why a lot of people complained because Argos defeated the Ticats 15-9 mainly by defensive play.

"What's wrong with your defence winning a game once in a while? I remember Hamilton used to go to the Grey Cup every year with a tough defence and an offence that was suspect. Well, we have a good, tough defence and the best offence in Canada."

RESTIC UNIMPRESSED
Despite the loss, Ticats' coach Joe Restic said after the game Sunday he was not impressed with either the Toronto defence or offence.

He said if Argos play defence against Ottawa like they did Sunday, "Jackson will pick them to pieces."

The following year, he eclipsed Kaye Don's world mark of 110 m.p.h. by doing 124 m.p.h. in Miss America X but lost the record later to Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Hull: no progress yet

CHICAGO (CP) — A lawyer for Bobby Hull said Monday there was no progress in talks with Chicago Black Hawks aimed at resolving the all-star hockey player's contract dispute.

Hull said Sunday night he hoped the meeting Monday would result in an agreement that would allow him to get back into uniform with the National Hockey League club.

The high-scoring left winger said he was ready to play but the club was stalling on an agreement. Hull has missed all the Black Hawks' 12 games this season and if he returns he would begin the second year of a four-year contract. His dispute involved a subsidiary contract dealing with fringe benefits.

Esposito—lowest goals-against

MONTREAL (CP) — Esposito, a name synonymous with a potent offence in the National Hockey League, has become the bulwark of a tight defence.

Tony Esposito, Chicago Black Hawks goalie and younger brother of Phil, who last season with Boston Bruins established a scoring record of 126 points, has jumped into a spotlight of his own today.

Tony, 26 and a southpaw netminder, recorded his second shutout of the young season during a convincing 9-0 win over Toronto Maple Leafs in Chicago—a win that saw him jump into the goaltending lead.

Esposito was beaten only twice in three games in leading the Hawks to a four-game winning streak and out of last place into fifth in the East Division. In his first two games this season, Esposito, who was drafted by Chicago from Montreal Canadiens last summer, had 11 goals against him.

In his last six games he has had only five against and the Hawks won five of those six games. For the season he has a goals-against-average of 2.00, which, combined with teammate Denis DeJordy's totals, gives the two an average of 2.33.

Giacomin studies "black book"

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Giacomin, the thinking man's goaltender, has some homework to do tonight.

Giacomin, who'll be in the nets when New York Rangers take on Detroit Red Wings Wednesday, will do some leisurely reading from his little black book of National Hockey League shooters with special attention paid to the chapter on the Red Wings.

"Sure, I keep a book on them," the goalie said Monday. "Every time a guy scores against me, I write it down with a description of how the goal came."

Everytime?
"You bet. I don't want it to be a guessing game when a guy is coming in on me," Giacomin continued. "I like to know what to expect."

In a game as fast as hockey, sometimes a goalie doesn't have time to think about a shooter's style. But Giacomin believes that he still benefits from his

Ski-Doo is your number one choice in snowmobiles

Come see the 1970 reasons why

Number one in sales

Ski-Doo has introduced more people to the sport of snowmobiling than any other make. That's because Ski-Doo invented snowmobiling. And ever since its first appearance on a snowfield, Ski-Doo has been the undisputed snowmobile leader. Last year alone, Ski-Doo dealers sold over 114,000 models. That's more than the next six manufacturers combined. There are many reasons for Ski-Doo's great sales success. And a better choice of models is certainly one of them.

Number one in selection

For 1970, Ski-Doo offers five exciting series — each with a totally different personality. We're sure you'll find one to match your own. If it's luxury you're after, there's Ski-Doo Nordic. If it's sporty action you're itching for, there's Ski-Doo Olympique. If you want a Ski-Doo that's big, comfortable and fun to drive, there's twin-track Invader. If you're looking for speed and power, there's Ski-Doo TAT. And if price is on your mind, there's the Ski-Doo 12/3. It's so low priced, a lot of people are buying two and three.

Number one in sizzle

Every one of our snowmobiles is powered by the world famous Rotax engine — designed exclusively for Ski-Doo. No other engine delivers more efficient power for climbing, towing, just plain funing around. And no engine acts better, at all speeds — all temperatures. And this year, our Rotax engines are even more dependable. They're bigger in size, with more cc's, but deliver the same horsepower as before for the most trouble-free performance in snowmobile history.

Number one in service

Your Ski-Doo dealer is a good guy to know. Not just because he sells the number one snowmobile. But because he can offer better service after the sale. He's a pro with know-how, ready to give you qualified repair service — whenever you need it. He's the man who offers a free 15 hour service check to new Ski-Doo owners. And a parts and service warranty that gives you real peace of mind. He's also the one person in town who can tell you where to find all the best snowmobiling trails. If you want the number one choice in snowmobiles, in high-fashion winter sportswear and accessories, see your Ski-Doo dealer. He'll show you all the 1970 reasons why you go one better when you go Ski-Doo.
