BYRNES WOULD OPEN PARLEY TO WORLD PRESS

World News In Brief

Nuernberg, July 29.—(P)—United States intelligence officers reported today that Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy party leader who has been missing since the fall of Berlin, was seen in Munich only a week ago and that a house-to-house search for him is going on.

Bormann long was believed dead. He is being tried in absentia as one of the 22 Nazi defendants by the International Military Tribunal.

Montreal, July 29.—(C.P.)—Three men were in police cells here today awaiting arraignment following their capture Saturday at nearby Ste. Julie de Vercheres after they had frightened residents of three villages by allegedly committing one burglary and attempting another, and making a temporary escape through a volley of rifle and shotgun fire.

The men, all residents of Montreal, were listed as: Alfred Cote, Paul E. Comtois and J. P. Roy.

At Varennes, Que., the three men are reported to have stolen three bags of sugar and 15 boxes of merchandise. Then they are said to have gone to Ste. Julie where they attempted to break into a creamery but were chased off by gunfire from irate villagers, aroused by Varennes residents.

The men then went to St. Amable, Que., where they split up, two of them being later captured by citizens while the third was picked up by police who are said to have recovered the goods.

London, July 29.—(C.P.)—Ernest Bevin, tired and ill, was rumored today to be ready to quit his "target post" as British Foreign Minister—a position which he has said frankly he never wanted.

There was no official confirmation of any forthcoming cabinet revision, and a Foreign Office source said that Mr. Bevin was recovering and might be able to go to Paris in a week or so to attend the 21-power peace conference. In his absence, his place is being taken by Prime Minister Attlee.

Nevertheless, a new crop of rumors were circulated that Mr. Bevin was fed up, and that he did not relish his much publicized clashes with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov or the comment they provoked in this country.

Mentioned as possible successors to Bevin are Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Windsor, Ont., July 29.—(C.P.)—Discovery of the nude body of a man on Peche Island near here late last night and subsequent post-mortem indication he had been killed by a blow on the back of the head, today provided police with a puzzling murder mystery.

The man was described as five feet six inches tall, barrel-chested, wearing a small moustache and having iron grey hair. He had four tattoo marks on his arms.

Peace Treaty Terms Will Be Disclosed On Tuesday

Texts to Be Accompanied by Statements From Each of Four Foreign Ministers Giving Their Attitudes on Disagreements That Still Exist—Byrnes Urges "Goldfish Bowl" Policy or That Newspaper Reporters Be Kept Informed of What Goes on at Closed Meetings if Any Are Held.

Paris, July 29.—(P)—The 21-power peace conference convened in Luxembourg Palace this afternoon to consider peace treaties for three Balkan nations, Italy and Finland.

Premier Georges Bidault of France formally opened the conference.

Paris, July 29.—(P)—The 1,500 delegates assembling today for the first great peace conference of the Second Great War were confronted by a United States disclosure that State Secretary Byrnes would urge that all negotiations be wide open to the press of the world.

An American source said the deputy foreign ministers of the four principal powers—Britain, the United States, France and Russia—agreed at a meeting today to make public tomorrow the complete texts of the treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland that have been prepared by the Foreign Ministers Council.

These drafts, which will be submitted to the peace conference, will be released for publication at 11 p.m. G.M.T. (7 p.m. E.D.T.) Tuesday. The texts will be accompanied by statements from each of the four Foreign Ministers giving their attitudes on the disagreements that still exist.

U.K. Scheme Is Rejected By Moslems

League Demands "Direct Action" to Achieve Independent State—Breach of Faith Is Charged.

Bombay, July 29.—(P)—The Moslem League's policy forming Council of Action today withdrew its acceptance of the British Cabinet Mission's proposals for granting India independence and in bitterly phrased instructions told the League's working committee to evolve a program of "direct action" to achieve an independent Moslem state (Pakistan).

The Council of Action declared in a resolution that "Moslem India has exhausted without success all avenues for peaceful settlement" of demands for safeguards in writing a constitution. It accused Britain and the Congress Party of collaborating in a "breach of faith" to the League.

The second of two companion resolutions withdrawing acceptance of the British proposals and renewing demands for a separate Moslem state also called on all Moslems to surrender any titles they may have accepted from Britain.

Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, told the cheering assembly that events that had occurred since the League accepted the Cabinet Mission's pro-

Most of the terms of the treaties already have become known unofficially. Release of the full texts simultaneously in Paris, London, Washington and Moscow had been advocated for several days by the United States and France, but Britain and the Russians had differed on how much should be made public.

Mr. Byrnes was disclosed to favor a "goldfish bowl" policy at the peace conference. If his proposal for open meetings is turned down, the American informant said, Mr. Byrnes will propose that representatives of various commissions of the conference be appointed to keep newspaper reporters informed of what goes on at closed meetings.

The deputies of the Big Four Foreign Ministers gave up hope yesterday of reaching an agreement on publication after a day-long argument. The United States and French deputies were understood to favor publication of all or any part of each treaty. Britain was reported insisting that only those parts of the treaties on which the Big Four had unanimously agreed be published. The Russians announced they stood for publication of all or of nothing.

It was known, however, that the proposed treaties would change the map of Europe, list reparations which the five defeated countries must pay, and outlaw militarism.

State Secretary Byrnes of the United States, who arrived here yesterday, conferred with Prime Minister Attlee of Britain in an attempt to break the publication deadlock. The two also discussed various aspects of the Palestine problem.

Mr. Attlee is here in place of his Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, who is ill.

Co-Operation Keynote Of Canada Role

Dominion Likely to Play One of Biggest Roles Among 17 Countries Invited by Big Four to 21-Power Peace Parley.

By ROSS MUNRO

Paris, July 29.—(C.P. Cable)—Canada is likely to play one of the biggest roles among the seventeen countries invited by the Big Four to the 21-power peace conference opening in Luxembourg Palace today—a role of co-operation in trying to formalize peace in Europe and bring stability to the continent.

Parisians are paying a lot of attention to Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada who comes to the opening of the peace conference strengthened by his reputation for sanity and skill in international affairs. With Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa absent from the conference Mr. King is looked upon as the senior statesman of the British Dominions.

An exceptional crowd of at least 1,500 which met him on his arrival at the railroad station last night and the invitation from Georges Bidault, France's President and Foreign Minister, to meet him this morning as the first chief of the delegation from the seventeen countries attest to the respect that Parisians have for the Canadian Premier.

It is also an indirect tribute to the part Canadian troops played in the liberation of France from D-Day onwards. The French are emotional about such matters and the Canadians are as well liked in the republic as any other Allied fighting men.

In an interview with the Canadian Press at the Hotel Chillon overlooking Place de la Concorde in the centre of Paris, Mr. King, apparently conscious of the possibility that this could be a "rubber stamp" conference for Big Four decisions, said:

"There should be an ample opportunity to have our views expressed. We are not here just to look at anything cut and dried."

He said Canada's aims at the peace conference were clearly understood.

"It has been stated before. We are not seeking reparations or territory. Our single desire is an enduring peace."

Mr. King, Health Minister Brooke Claxton, other senior Canadian delegates, may not make the biggest contribution in speech-making in the open forum. Their weight more probably will be felt in committees in secret sessions and in informal meetings. But the Canadian contribution is bound to be large from the way the situation is shaping up here now.

Windsor Mills Resident Is Killed In Barroom Fracas

A barroom fracas turned into a fatal tragedy at Windsor Mills on Saturday night, when 32-year-old Armand Abran, of that community, succumbed to a fractured skull shortly after having been hit on the head.

Until the inquest, which is to be held at three o'clock today, it will not be definitely ascertained whether the victim of the brawl died as a result of the blow or because he hit his head in falling.

Stenier Brasseur, Provincial Police officer stationed in Sherbrooke, who visited the scene of the fatality late Saturday night, stated that Abran had objected to being evicted from the tavern of the inn and had attempted to strike Ernest Cote, the bartender, who was ushering him to the door.

Dr. R. Morissette, of Windsor Mills, was called but Abran died shortly after eight o'clock, in the hotel.

Further investigation is being made this morning by Detective Brasseur and will be adjoined at the Coroner's inquest which is expected to be held under the direction of Dr. Armand Roy.

Abran leaves a wife and one young child.

Heirens Will Admit Guilt Defence Says

17-Year-Old Chicago Youth Ready to Confess to Three Lurid Killings, Counsel Announces.

Chicago, July 29.—(P)—State Attorney William J. Tuohy today will learn for the first time—officially—that William Heirens is ready to confess killing six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, young Frances Brown and Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow, defence counsel

Roland Towle said he and Heirens' four other lawyers will meet with Mr. Tuohy sometime today to determine procedures Tuesday both when Heirens is arraigned in court and for the proposed confession.

New Measure Reorganizes U.S. Congress

Senators and Members Will Receive Hefty Salary Hike if President Approves Bill Today.

Washington, July 29.—(P)—A stroke of President Truman's pen is expected to enact into law today a bill to streamline Congressional procedure for the first time in 50 years, and incidentally to give Senators and members a hefty salary increase.

There is no doubt of presidential approval since most of the reforms have his support and the salary increase is only half the figure he recommended.

The bill does many things to make legislative procedure more efficient. These are the highlights: 1. Reduce Senate standing committees from 33 to 15.

2. Reduce House of Representatives committees from 48 to 19.

3. Create single committees in Senate and House to handle affairs of the armed forces.

4. Put the budget and the means of meeting it in the hands of a joint Senate and House committee.

5. Increase Congressional salaries from the present $10,000 a year to $12,500, with an extra $2,500 a year for expenses on which no tax is paid and for which no accounting is asked.

The bill does something else that is an experiment—provides an opportunity for members to qualify for civil service pensions. They are permitted to pay into the fund at the rate of six per cent of their basic salaries and to qualify for pension when defeated if they have served a minimum of six years in Congress and reached the age of 62.

The bill also places some restrictions on lobbying—a major industry in Washington. Lobbyists must register with the Speakers of the Senate and House and provide an accounting of expenditures made in support of or in opposition to legislation.

Serious Bush Fire Checked Near Sudbury

Blaze Which Threatened to Wipe Out Town of Falconbridge Halted Within 200 Feet of Nearest House.

Sudbury, Ont., July 29.—(P)—A bush fire which threatened the nearby town of Falconbridge late Saturday was finally halted within 200 feet of the nearest house by a crew of 75 volunteers and men of the Ontario Lands Department Protective Service.

Officials reported Sunday that the blaze was virtually extinguished and the situation was "well in hand." The other bush fires were blazing, however, in Neelon-Garson and Dryden Townships.

The blaze near Falconbridge was spotted Saturday afternoon when a stiff breeze sent it crackling through four acres of bush on the southwest edge of the town. Fire Chief William Light of Falconbridge directed the townsfolk and off-shift miners in fighting the flames.

The fight to stem the blaze centered on the Falconbridge baseball field, only a quarter-mile from the business section, and a bull dozer was used to create a fire break.

Men and equipment from the protection branch of the Department of Lands and Forests remained at the scene of the outbreak Sunday but the 75 volunteers who fought the fire at its height, were no longer required.

29 Fatalities Are Reported On Week-End

Highest Summer Death List Apart From Dominion Day Toll—Twelve Die in Highway Mishaps.

By The Canadian Press
No fewer than 29 persons lost their lives over the week-end in Eastern Canada. The weekly survey of holiday mishaps by the Canadian Press today revealed the longest death list of any summer week-end apart from the Dominion Day celebrations a month ago.

Motorcar, truck and bicycle accidents accounted for 12 dead since Saturday morning. Nine others were drowned. Two were killed in a plane crash near Ottawa, three died from injuries suffered in falls. The body of an unidentified man, slain by heavy blows on the head, was found, nude, on Peche Island near Windsor last night. The two other deaths were those of a man suffocated by sliding sand and a man found dead in a railway car at Halifax.

Of the total there were 17 deaths in Ontario, eight in Quebec, three in Nova Scotia and one in New Brunswick.

FO. T. A. Seeman, of Ottawa, was piloting the training plane which crashed six miles east of Ottawa in Carleton County, after an unexplained plunge. Killed with Seeman was another aviator whose next-of-kin has been notified but whose name will be released later.

At Niagara Falls, John Tustin, 67-year-old bricklayer, died in hospital from injuries received in a fall from a scaffolding. At Fort William, Peter Kovac, 58, was fatally injured when he fell from a haywagon, and at Montreal, Sylvia Lacey, 50, died from injuries suffered in a fall from a second-storey window of his home.

The body of William Gallivan, 46, was found in a sleeping car in the railway yards at Halifax.

C.I.O. Pickets Bar Ontario Workers

Kitchener, Ont., July 29.—(P)—A picket line of 100 to 150 members of the United Rubber Workers of America (C.I.O.) today barred office workers from the huge tire plant of the Dominion Rubber Company and the plant was idle with 1,200 workers and an office staff of 200 remaining away.

Sequel to the "strikes" for two hours late Friday of the office staff in their building in the plant over postponement of the paying of vacation pay to striking workers, the pickets lined the building and men and women quickly understood the situation and returned home. No incidents were reported.

Meanwhile the strike in four Kitchener rubber plants today entered the sixth week. Picketing also is being carried out at the other plants and no attempts at entry was reported. The U.R.W.A. called the strike on June 23 in its demands for a 40-hour work week and 20 cents an hour wage increase.

De Gaulle Fears 3rd World War If Germany Is Revived

Bar-Le-Duc, France, July 29.—(P)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, in one of the frankest speeches of his career, warned yesterday of the possibility of a third World War if Germany is given a chance to "find again her grandeur in joining her ambition with that of someone else."

In his second political address since resigning as France's Interim President last January, Gen. de Gaulle depicted France as a country dwarfed between two great powers and urged a rapid conclusion of an Anglo-French alliance as the keystone of an eventual bloc of western European countries bound together for self-preservation in a world whose security depends upon "future relations of America and Russia."

Speaking at ceremonies honoring the memory of French civilians slain by the retreating Germans in 1944, Gen. de Gaulle said that "America and Russia—rich in men and resources, compact in territory, naturally protected, one by immense oceans, the other by her own expanse—are by virtue of their size drawn into an expansion that cloaks itself under the robes of doctrines, but which is, in the last analysis, an unfurling of power."

Declaring that Europe could provide the "understanding" needed when the destiny of each country and each individual depends upon the "future relations of America and Russia," Gen. de Gaulle said that "this need for understanding is the first and foremost condition for the peace of the world."

"Place the immense arsenal of the Ruhr under international authority," he said, "not with the object of depriving the German people of what they need, but to distribute among her and neighboring nations the coal necessary to the economic life of all of us. Make the Saar Basin part of French economy..."

Palestine Partition Plan Is Given Varied Response

Jerusalem, July 29.—(P)—Belief that many members of the Jewish community would approve an Anglo-American proposal for partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish provinces under a federal government was expressed by some Jewish quarters during the week-end.

While there still was no official Jewish reaction to the proposal put forward by an Anglo-American Cabinet Committee in London, an unofficial source close to the political situation predicted that many Jews would welcome "any solution, even some form of partition, which will give them a measure of control over their own affairs and permit immigration."

London dispatches, however, quoted Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization and head of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, as criticizing the partition plan on the ground that it had all the disadvantages and none of the advantages of a similar plan advanced by the British in 1936 and rejected by both Jews and Arabs.

(At the same time A. Abrahamson, an officer of the "New Zionist Organization," issued a statement in London calling for establishment of a provisional Jewish government in Palestine and demanding dissolution of the Jewish

R.A.F. Vet Facing Trial For Murder

London, July 29.—(P)—Handsome Neville G. C. Heath today was charged formally with murdering pretty Doreen Marshall, whose horribly mutilated body was found three weeks ago in the fashionable Chateau de Maubouffant, a playground of the peerage and royalty.

The former R.A.F. pilot already is accused of the mutilation murder of a London film extra, Mrs. Margery Gardner. Her nude and butchered body was found in a London hotel room.

The deaths of Miss Marshall and Mrs. Gardner were among the most gruesome in a series of twenty-one killings in Britain since the war.

Many Missing In Crash On Mississippi

Caruthersville, Mo., July 29.—(P)—Mississippi River men estimated that between seven and 12 persons were missing today in the wake of a mid-channel collision between a ferry boat and two heavily-loaded oil barges. One was known dead.

The craft collided about 50 yards from the Missouri shore last night, and either five or six motor vehicles were plunged into the river with their occupants as the ferry capsized.

The two oil barges, linked together and pushed by two linked tugs in a single river train, picked up 11 persons from the swirling waters shortly after the accident. Two others reached shore but one of those died, and Ed Hendricks, veteran ferry pilot, was quoted as estimating that there were between 20 and 25 in the vehicles. Other estimates of the number of persons on the ferry ran as high as 30.

Rivermen said the water near the scene of the crash was 70 feet deep. Coast Guard personnel with diving apparatus were expected to start searching the bottom for victims.

Russian Plan For Control Of Atom Energy Scrutinized

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
New York, July 29.—(P)—The probability that the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission might be forced to make majority and minority reports was seen today as the Russian plan for controlling atomic energy went under the close scrutiny of commission members.

A member of the United States delegation to the commission said it seemed inevitable to him that the commission would make two reports to the United Nations Security Council, its parent body, and to the U.N. General Assembly.

Declining to permit use of his name, he said the majority report, favoring the United States plan, would be supported by 10 delegates on the basis of the present consideration of the question of control. The minority report, he added, would be made by Russia and Poland and would favor the Russian plan for atomic energy control.

Russia has informed the commission that she rejects the major proposals of the United States plan. The Russian plan will be up for detailed consideration at the scheduled meeting of the commission's committee No. 2 Wednesday. Undoubtedly it will be discussed by the commission's legal committee, and the scientific and technical committee both meeting in closed sessions tomorrow.

Russia's plan envisions the following main points: 1.—An international convention outlawing atomic weapons.

2.—Destruction of all atomic weapons, finished or unfinished, within three months after the convention takes effect.

3.—States signing the convention shall within six months after it is effective enact legislation providing for severe punishment of violations of the convention.

The United States and some other delegations are keenly interested in how the Russian proposal for enforcement and punishment of controls can be made effective. The committee of the United Nations Security Council named to consider applications for membership in the U. N. will meet Wednesday.

Albania, Outer Mongolia, Transjordan and Afghanistan have applications on file. Siam is expected to complete its application soon. Sweden, Iceland and Elre have applications in preparation but they have not reached the United Nations.

Ian Hume Again Stars As Montreal Police Track Squad Registers Win

Paced by Ian Hume, 32-year-old bespectacled policeman, the Montreal athletes won Saturday at Molson Stadium in the second of a series of three track and field meets between Montreal, Toronto and Detroit police departments.

Montreal was never in danger, piling up a good lead right from the start. Ian Hume, who had dominated the first meet at Toronto, garnered 26 points with four firsts, a second, a third and a fourth.

The tall Eastern Townships athlete won the 120-yard hurdle in the time of 14.8, running hop, step and jump, running high jump at 5 feet, 10 inches, and running broad jump, clearing 25 feet, 6 inches, placed second in the standing broad jump, and third in the pole vault.

Toronto placed second with 61 points and Detroit third with 53. Montreal's point total was 73.

H. BARRON TOPS FIELD IN ALL-AMERICAN

Chicago, July 29.—(P)—Herman Barron, of White Plains, N.Y., who won $10,500 on a week-long diet of orange juice, and goldfom generally agreed today that Promoter George S. May's All-American fairways circus had lifted the sport into "big time" business.

A crowd estimated by many at more than 52,000—tops for any golf event—watched Barron squeeze out a 72-hole aggregate of 280 for a one-stroke victory over ex-tennis player Ellsworth Vines in the finale of the All-American meet at Tam O'Shanter course yesterday.

By May's calculations, some 158,000 persons watched the All-American merry-go-round which led tournament manager Fred Corcoran of the Professional Golfers' Association to predict that tournament golf would attain a record $1,000,000 paid attendance this year.

The 37-year-old Barron, whose $10,500 swipe broke the Byron Nelson monopoly at Tam O'Shanter, frankly admitted he was jittery throughout the tournament, which he led from the start with rounds of 68-61-69-72.

Nelson who had won four of the five previous All-American meets, finished in a three-way tie for seventh place with a feeble 287, one-under-par.

All in all, the zany three-ringed circus marked an uprising by golf's have-nots. Vines, who has yet to win a major tournament, grabbed the second-spot, professional money of $4,925, and Sammy Byrd nosed out leading-money winner Ben Hogan 284 to 285 for the third place swag of $3,500.

In the All-American amateur, George Hamer upset such favorites as Toledo's Frank Stranahan and Earl Stewart, 1941 national collegiate titlist from Dallas, Tex. Hamer posted 291, a stroke ahead of Stewart and two strokes in front of Stranahan.

Favored Babe Didrikson Zaharias of Denver, Colo., took the All-American women's open with a 310 aggregate six over women's par, but still seven strokes ahead of runner-up Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, who had 317.

NEWHOUSE AND FELLER AFTER 30 MOUND WINS

Unless Cleveland's Bobby Feller, or Detroit's Hal Newhouse hits an unexpected decline, there appears a good chance today that the American League will furnish two 30-game winners this season.

Not since 1912 when the immortal Walter Johnson and Smokey Joe Wood reached the 30-victory mark did two great pitchers come along with such peerless parallel performances.

Following on the heels of Newhouse, who became the majors' first pitcher to win 20 games Saturday, Feller racked up his 19th triumph yesterday by shutting out Washington Senators, 2-0, in the opener of a doubleheader. The Indians also won the nightcap, 7-4, to advance within three games of the fourth-place Nats.

Newhouse, needing only five more victories to join Cy Young, Lefty Grove and Johnson as the only American League pitchers to win 25 or more three years in succession, was idle yesterday as the Tigers divided a doubleheader with Philadelphia Athletics before a capacity crowd of 51,118 which enabled the Bengals to climb over the 1,000,000 mark in home attendance.

Dizzy Trout went down to his third straight shutout defeat as Jesse Flores scattered seven Bengal bingles in pitching the A's to 2-0 win in the opener. Frank (Stubby) Overmire spaced seven hits to defeat the Mackmen in the nightcap, 6-2.

The pace-setting Boston Red Sox maintained their 11-game lead over New York Yankees by gaining an even split with St. Louis Browns. After Denny Galehouse had stopped them, 3-2, in the first game, the Sox stripped six St. Louis chukkers for 13 hits and an 11-4 triumph in the afterpiece.

The Yankees also had to come from behind to break even. Held to six hits in the opener by Johnny Rigney who blanked them 2-0, the New Yorkers hopped on Ralph Hamner and two successors for 11 hits and an easy 7-1 win.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals narrowed Brooklyn's National League leading margin to 1½ games by blanking Boston Braves 2-0 while the Dodgers were being humbled by Pittsburgh's Pirates, 7-3.

The third-place Chicago Cubs advanced to within 6½ games of first place by sweeping both ends of a twin bill from Philadelphia Phillies 11-3 and 3-1. A seven-run first frame helped Hank Borowy, returning to the mound after being knocked off the hill Saturday, to his fifth success.

Despite a pair of home runs by the Giants' Johnny Mize, which raised his league leading total to 22, Cincinnati Reds downed the New Yorkers twice, 8-3 and 5-4.

Another defence lawyer, Malachy Coghlan, announced Saturday that Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student, was ready to confess formally three of the most lurid crimes in Chicago's history. The move was aimed at saving the youth from a possible penalty of death in the electric chair, Mr. Tuohy has said he would "consider" an offer of a confession in return for a life imprisonment recommendation. Heirens was slated for arraignment tomorrow on Cook County grand jury indictments charging him with murder in the slaying and dismemberment last January 7th of the Degnan girl, and the shooting and fatal stabbing last December 10th of Miss Brown. Mr. Tuohy has reported Heirens' fingerprints linked him to the Degnan and Brown crimes, but he had not disclosed any evidence tying the strapping, bushy-haired youth to the fatal throat-slashing on June 3rd, 1945, of Mrs. Ross. "There is no need to quibble about the number of homicides," Malachy Coghlan has said, "there are three," and he included the Ross slaying among those with which the youth has been formally charged. Heirens' lawyers have said they will attempt to have the youth whose record of juvenile delinquency began when he was 15 years old, examined by defence psychiatrists.

Known dead was Jerry Vickers, five, who died after he was brought to shore by his mother, Mrs. Claude Vickers, Jr., of Caruthersville. His brother, Larry, six, was reported lost under the barge by his father who was holding him at the time of the collision. Aaron House, Ridgely, Tenn., still shaken from his experience, said he, two women and another man with him all were thrown into the water in a closed automobile. He said he kicked open the window of the car and tried to pull his woman companion with him but that her clothing caught on the broken glass and she was lost. The two barges were carrying 48,000 barrels of oil upstream from Jennings, La., bound for Mount Vernon, Ind. E. W. Rodgers, Vicksburg, Miss., the pilot in duty on the tug pushing the barge at the time of the collision, said he gave blinker signals that he was going to pass upstream on the left or Missouri side. He said he saw no answer and that when he saw how close the boats were approaching it was too late to stop. Rogers said he held his barge against the ferry for a few moments after the collision hoping that some of its occupants would leap to his craft, but that in their panic those on the ferry were too excited to take advantage of the chance before their boat overturned.

The man suffocated was James Regan, 53, buried under 10 feet of sand as he worked under the loading machines at the Corundum Mines at Craigmont, near Ottawa. The Ontario traffic fatalities included Douglas Stewart, nine, of Hamilton; Glen Mousseau, 24, of North Bay; Donald O'Brien, 19, of Toronto, and two men whose motorcycle collided with a car near Mar-mora, north of Belleville — J. E. Flynn, 25, and George Rice, 22. George Pandzhik, 68, was fatally injured by a truck at the Sault. Quebec traffic accidents resulted in the deaths of two-year-old Jacques Marcell at St. Johns, George Harding, 36, at Montreal, and Conrad Lefebvre, 29, and Andrew Cote, 21, who were killed when a truck returning to Hull from a picnic crashed into a tree after a tire blew out.

— GOOD DOUBLE BILL —

THE RCAF HAS OPENINGS FOR

.. DRIVERS AND MECHANICS

THE JOB: Operating and repairing the big fleet of motor vehicles which are necessary to the Air Force's operation. Capable and experienced automotive mechanics, holding commercial drivers' licenses, can qualify, if accepted, for immediate advancement in "trade grouping" and hence in pay. Applicants should normally possess junior matriculation or its technical-school equivalent. Previous trade experience is not essential.

There are openings also in many other ground trades.

THE PAY: Basic pay plus living allowances for non-commissioned ranks runs from $95 monthly for Aircraftman Class 2 to $188 for Warrant Officer Class 1; extra pay for trade proficiency and increased pay after three years in any rank; marriage allowance of $20 a month; free uniform clothing and medical and dental service.

THE PENSION: A lifetime income on discharge after 20 years' or more service; pensions or gratuities in the event of prior discharge on medical grounds, and pensions or gratuities to widows or children in the event of death while on service.

VETERANS' PREFERENCE: As among applicants, war veterans applying for reappointment will receive preference, and if accepted will be reappointed to the ranks they held at the time of their discharge, or to the nearest ranks which establishment permits; and their prior service will be a factor in promotion and pension.

TERMS OF SERVICE: Applicants without previous service must be over 18 and under 26. Good conduct, satisfactory medical category and educational qualifications will enable applicants to enlist in Regular Air Force for five years and re-engage thereafter for further five-year terms.

WHERE TO APPLY: Applications should be made to No. 1 Air Command, RCAF, Trenton, Ont.

Sherbrooke Bandsmen Given Big Welcome At Shawinigan

(Special to the Record)
Shawinigan Falls, July 29.—That the residents of this progressive city located on the St. Maurice River are fully appreciative of good music was readily apparent by the warm welcome they extended to the Sherbrooke Harmonic Band which was the guest of L'Union Musicale de Shawinigan Falls here yesterday. The visiting Sherbrooke bandsmen, some sixty all told, gave a concert in St. Marc Park in the evening which attracted a crowd in the vicinity of ten thousand. The programme was one of the most ambitious yet presented by the Sherbrooke Harmonic under the direction of Sylvio Lacharite and judging from the attention of the audience which filled the park, the performance of the band left little to be desired.

The features of the evening performance were two solo presentations, the first being a clarinet solo, Valse Caprice, by Marcel Marotey, and the second a vocal base number by Joachim Bachand, both of which were favorably received. The concert proper was preceded by two marches by the combined Sherbrooke and Shawinigan Falls bands. The first, the Mont St. Louis March was conducted by Georges Sylvestre of Sherbrooke and the second, the march Jean by Kingst, being conducted by Lt. J. L. Gaudy, director of the St. Hyacinthe Band.

Prior to the concert, the visiting bandsmen paraded through the streets of the City after giving a brief presentation in front of the City Hall.

The Harmony left Sherbrooke early Sunday morning and were guests of the Shawinigan bandsmen at a luncheon upon their arrival shortly after noon. The afternoon was left free for the visitors, although a tour of the city and surrounding districts organized by the Shawinigan band attracted large numbers. This tour, under the direction of Chief of Police J. N. Longval, included a visit to the power sites which have made the city famous across the North American continent as well as past the great industrial plants which have resulted in the virtual doubling of the population of the city in the past six years. The new city hall, now under construction, was also visited, as well as the many beautiful parks and public swimming pools.

Later the party proceeded to Grand Mere where the famous rock resembling an old lady which gave that city its name was pointed out, the tour then proceeding to Carriere Beach at Lac a Tortue where an extended halt was made.

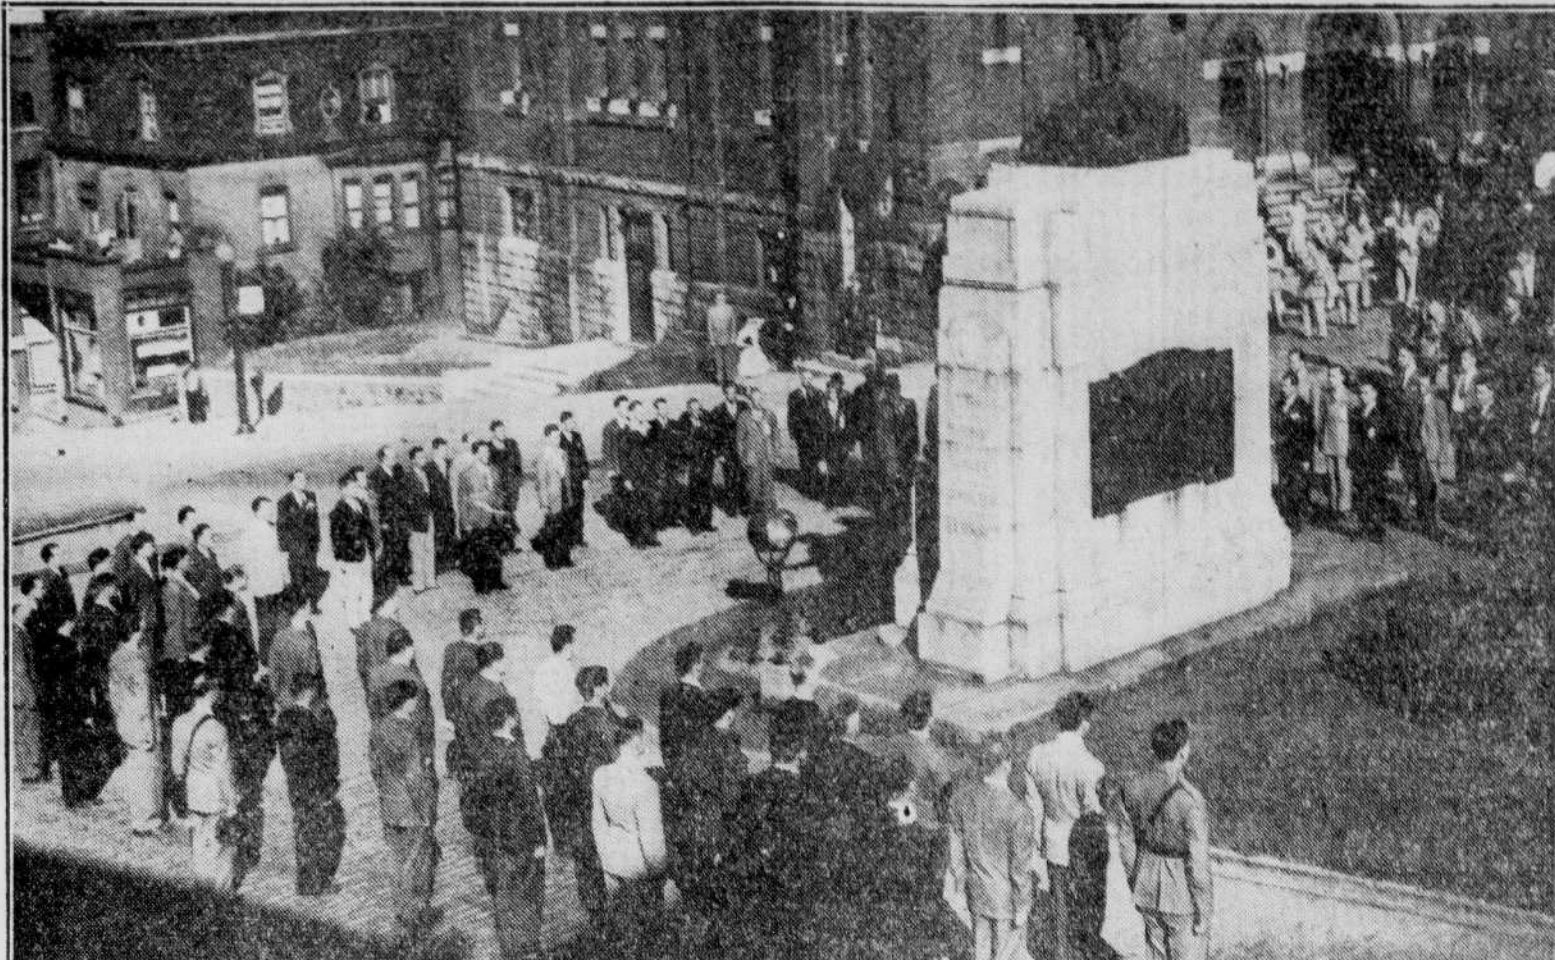

Upon the return to Shawinigan Falls after a three-hour trip, the Sherbrooke Band and a number of visitors were again guests of the Shawinigan Falls group at a dinner which was featured by a complete absence of speakers.

During the concert intermission the visitors were officially welcomed by Mayor Francois Roy, of Shawinigan Falls, while the hosts were thanked for the generosity of their reception by Alderman V. A. Fiset, representing Mayor Guy Bryant of Sherbrooke.

Following the concert, the visiting bandsmen and their friends were tendered an informal reception in the band room, the party breaking up in the early hours of the morning for the lengthy trip home.

The Sherbrooke bandsmen were enthusiastic over the warmth of the welcome given them, both by L'Union Musicale officials and civic representatives, especially Mayor Roy and Police Chief Longval who spared no effort to add to the pleasure of the day.

Fusiliers Remember Fallen Comrades

Members of the 27th Canadian Armoured Regiment (Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment), who held their first annual reunion here this week-end, are shown above at the War Memorial on King Street, where they paid tribute to the memory of members of the unit who fell on the field of battle.

The veterans of the famous local tank regiment marched to the cenotaph yesterday behind the band of the 12th Canadian Armoured Regiment, (The Sherbrooke Regiment).

Trudeau Would Purchase Land On Wellington Street North To Build Bridge Over Magog River

Alderman Alphonse Trudeau, speaking to a Record representative today, said that he planned to present a motion at the next City Council meeting providing for purchase by the city of the land owned by the Southern Canada Power Company at the north end of Wellington Street. Ald. Trudeau explained that this would be the first step towards construction of a bridge over the Magog river, in direct line with Wellington Street, opening of a thoroughfare paralleling the C.N.R. tracks to the Brompton road, and development of a large parking lot.

The lot which Ald. Trudeau has in view has a frontage of 150 feet, and is neighbor to 230 feet of land owned by the city and extending to the C.N.R. tracks. Mr. Trudeau declared that if a bridge 60 feet wide was constructed a parking ground could be developed to accommodate about 300 cars. He has not estimated the cost of the project, which he said would be studied by municipal engineers.

BUS CRASHES INTO HEDGE, NO ONE HURT

Twenty passengers on a Larabee bus entering Sherbrooke late yesterday afternoon escaped injury when the brakes failed and the heavy vehicle slid backwards down Moore street hill, crashing into a hedge and coming to a stop at Melbourne Street.

There was no damage done to the motor bus and only slight damage to the hedge of the corner property, M. Plouff was driving.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB

Maj. Norman Welsh Is Elected President At 1st Reunion Of Sherbrooke Fusiliers' Group

"More fighting was done by this regiment than by any other in Canada," Lt.-Col. S. V. Radley-Walters, D.S.O., M.C., declared Saturday evening on the occasion of the first reunion of 27th Canadian Armoured Regiment (Sherbrooke Fusiliers') Association, held in the William Street Armory.

Proposing the toasts to "Our Fallen Comrades," Col. Radley-Walters delivered a brief but stirring address on D-Day activities of the unit, noting that the Sherbrooke Fusiliers not only carried their objectives at the beachhead, but continued for eleven miles in the face of heavy opposition. "We paid a tremendous price," he said, "but our objectives were always attained. We built a splendid reputation for the unit and many died to maintain it, but the spirit that was bred in the regiment continues to run through the veins of every man here tonight."

He stated that "none of us want another war," but he expressed confidence that members still adhered and would continue to adhere to the creed which had won them such high praise overseas. He spoke movingly of the Cenotaph ceremony held earlier in the afternoon and declared that those who had paid the supreme sacrifice "are still with us tonight."

The meeting, which included some three hundred members of the recently-formed association held as a dinner gathering under the chairmanship of Major Norman H. Welsh, elected president during the afternoon, was addressed by Mayor Guy Bryant.

His worship paid high tribute to the regiment, declaring that the municipality was proud of its record, and he urged those present to continue their annual conventions since he knew from his own experience as a member of the 5th C.M.R. Association that such gatherings kept interest keen and maintained the spirit of the unit.

Staff Sergeant F. N. McLean, elected vice-president, delivered a stirring address in proposing the toast to "The Regiment." He spoke of the formation of the unit in 1940 and noted that it started off with a strong inferiority complex, "fearful it would not see fighting as a unit but would be divided and attached to other outfits."

The 27th had gained a reputation for "leaving places clean" he noted and that was maintained figuratively when they went into the front lines. He spoke of the "terrific" fighting record and noted that the Fusiliers had been highly praised not only by various brigadiers under whom they served but by Field Marshal B. L. Montgomery himself.

He deplored the fact that today "Canada is not a united nation," pointing to the differences between French and English-speaking citizens. These differences, he continued, were never evidenced overseas when the men fought together as a unit and he urged those attending to do everything in their power to aid in spreading that same spirit throughout the Dominion in peacetime.

In conclusion, he noted that the regiment had made their reputation "the hard way" in that those joining had started without great unit traditions such as many other regiments had possessed but that they had attained such traditions and Canada was proud of their record.

Colonel M. W. McAnulty, first C.O. of the unit, and who was chiefly instrumental in the formation of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers during wartime, replied to the address of Staff Sergeant McLean. He noted that Col. Radley-Walters had from overseas after victory, had

TWO SPANIELS INCARCERATED, AWAIT OWNERS

Two black-and-white spaniels are incarcerated in police headquarters today anxiously awaiting bail. They have not occasioned much trouble yet, it is reported, but police admit sorrowfully they will be forced to destroy them if they are not freed.

They are two coal-black spaniels of the retriever type, one particularly valuable if long ears are significant of pedigree.

Both are friendly and tail-wagging and eagerly sniff at each new arrival but are extremely disobedient when none of the many who stroke them, turns out to be their master.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jenne and Miss Katherine Jenne, of Washington Grove, Maryland were guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kerr and family. Miss Pauline M. Wilson, of Montreal, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Dawson, and family.

Miss Edna Glymer, of Toronto, Ont., was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Kerr.

Stanstead College Student Among 29 Top Ranking Pupils Writing High School Leaving

One Eastern Townships student, Naomi Margulies, is included among the twenty-nine highest ranking students who obtained eighty-five per cent or over in the High School Leaving Examinations conducted by the Quebec Department of Education in June. Miss Margulies, who attended Stanstead College, obtained 876 marks out of the possible 1,000 and headed the list of all successful Eastern Townships students.

1,948 pupils wrote the complete examinations. This is an increase of 107 over those writing last year and is the largest number of students who have ever written these examinations.

Of the 1,948 candidates, 1,407 passed, or 72.2 per cent. 262 other students wrote partial examinations, and 193 wrote supplemental examinations making a grand total of 2,403. 110 candidates passed by means of supplemental examinations.

Almost all the candidates sat for examinations in Oral French last Spring. In addition, 21,703 papers were written in the 25 subjects of the examinations.

In the accompanying list the schools as well as the names of candidates are given in alphabetical order. After the name of each candidate appears the class standing obtained as follows: Class I—800 marks and over; Class II—650 to 799 marks; and Class III—below 650 marks. ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

MUST SAVE FUEL GOVERNMENT SAYS!

With the Mercury hitting the high spots it hardly seems appropriate to talk about winter heating! But it is wise to look ahead — do everything you can to save fuel. The Government points out that homeowners cannot afford to waste fuel this year!

One sure way to see that you are getting full benefit from the fuel you burn is to have your furnace, hot water tank and all heating pipes covered with Johns-Manville asbestos insulation. These J-M insulations can help you save several tons of coal a year or the equivalent in gas or oil. They keep heat from escaping into your cellar — help send it upstairs where you want it!

Johns-Manville suggests you ask your plumber about Asbestos Boiler Jackets and Pipe Coverings. He'll show you how they can save you up to 10 per cent on your fuel bills, every year.

PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS TODAY

Today the eyes of the world are centered on Paris, where representatives of twenty-one nations, including Canada, are meeting to open the second world peace conference within twenty-seven years. In the storied Luxembourg Palace leaders of the successful Allied countries will gather to draw up the formula of the national life of the defeated Axis nations—a formula that the world fervently hopes will be more successful than the one born at Versailles in 1919.

Success of the conference depends on the three great nations, Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia, finding common ground and eventual agreement on the main points at issue. There are still serious differences of opinion between these countries, and some of the difficulties facing the statesmen meeting in Paris today are illustrated in map form on the opposite page.

But if the high officials seated around the table in the Luxembourg Palace truly symbolize the combined will of the peoples they represent, there will be peace. Whether it is men and women from the rich acres of Canada, the industrial areas of the United States, the coal mines of Britain, the wheat fields of Russia, or any one of the war-ravaged countries on the continent of Europe, they are drawn together by a compelling desire for peace, and it is the solemn duty of the representatives of all these nations gathered today in Paris to find a workable formula that will give practical expression to this compelling desire of all peoples.

The struggle that really started when Hitler came to power in 1933, and only ended when the combined might of the British Commonwealth, the United States and Russia, assisted by those courageous bands of resistance fighters in all the occupied countries, finally met in the shattered and burning remains of Berlin, must now, at last, find settlement in this peace conference.

Surely, with God's aid, these countries which co-operated so closely and so successfully during the conflict, can now realize that the problem of peace is as challenging as the problem of war. Surely in discussion at Paris they can find something of the same trust, mutual understanding and admiration that they knew in the bloody fields of Germany and Italy, or over the skies of France and Britain.

Canada is fortunate that the leader of her delegation is Prime Minister Mackenzie King. There will be no representative of any country more versed in international affairs than our Prime Minister. Due to her unique position as a member of the British Commonwealth while remaining the close friend and neighbour of the United States, it is probable that this country will play an important role at Paris, not only at the peace table, but behind the scenes where explanations are required and differences between friends are ironed out.

At Paris too will be a tremendous, but invisible gathering—the millions of young people who gave their lives so that the forces of freedom in the world might survive. Their memory will be a great force. Their sacrifice must not be allowed to have been in vain.

The hopes and prayers of all Canadians will be with Mr. King and his delegation as they start work today. The prayers of the whole world will be for the success of the conference.

RUSSIA STILL EYES IRAN

Two recent despatches concerning Iran, one from Moscow and the other from Cairo, indicate clearly the devious ways of the Soviet Government to complete the job of bringing Iran, with her oil rich territory, completely under Russian influence and domination. That she was foiled by the U. N. O. in her first attempt to achieve this by occupying troops last winter does not mean that the project has been abandoned.

From Cairo comes a New York Times report that there will be political implications arising from the recent strikes against the Iranian-Anglo Oil Company, and that pro-Soviet elements in Iran may use this labor unrest as an excuse to try and cancel British oil concessions. That Russia has had a hand in the unrest is obvious from the methods used in the strike.

The report says that the strike was not called, or managed, by the company's employees, but was run by a central committee of the pro-Soviet Tudeh political party. This party, which has as Part of its platform the policy of driving British influence from Iran, has been carrying on an extensive propaganda campaign for the forthcoming parliamentary election in Iran, and there is excellent reason to suspect that it is backed by Soviet funds.

Importance of the Iranian-Anglo Oil company to Britain and the United States is immeasurable, for it supplies Britain's naval and military machine of the Middle and Near East, and the Orient. The U. S. also has concessions for oil in the area, which are important for that country's continued supply.

Associated Press writes from Moscow the other act of this Soviet drama, aimed at domination of oil-rich Iran. The sister of the Shah of Iran, writes Associated Press, has just returned to Teheran after twenty-four days of "regal honours such as no person has received in Russia since the last czar was executed." The report states that the Princess was entertained by all important Government officials, including Stalin, and that she was decorated with high Russian awards.

The implication between Soviet-inspired strikes against the British oil company in Iran, and the honours heaped on the Shah's sister is obvious. The Russian Government is leaving no stone unturned in its effort to achieve world domination. Strikes, threats, honours, diplomacy, bluff, and spying have all been employed. Vigilance and preparedness on the part of the free peoples of the world is as necessary now as it ever was, if peace is to be maintained.

Washington Column

Peter Edson writes on

COAL MINE SCUTTLEBUTT

The Navy is having a fine time for itself running the coal mines, ahoy. Admiral Ben Moreell, the Coal Mines Administrator, has over 200 naval officers working for him while the government is theoretically operating the seized soft-coal industry.

These officers are nearly all eligible for discharge on points. But they're sticking to the ship—that is, the mines—till they bring 'er back safe to port—that is, turn 'em back to private ownership. There may be a tendency to call a port a hatch, or to refer to a pit as the hold. But, by and by, the sea-going topside mine supervisory employees can now tell a pick from an anchor, and the coal is coming out of the bunkers—that is, the mines—for full speed ahead—that is, efficient production.

Sometime this fall, Rear Admiral Joel T. Boone of the Navy's Medical Corps hopes to have ready for Admiral Moreell his report on the coal mines' hospital, medical, sanitation, and housing conditions. Dr. Boone has been in business inspecting these mines since the end of May, when John L. Lewis signed a new contract with Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug.

Article Five of that agreement provided for the health survey. It was to be preliminary to establishment of the Welfare and Retirement Fund raised by a 5-cents-a-ton royalty tax on the operators, and to the Medical and Hospital Fund raised by deductions from the miners' wages.

BOONE REPORT WILL SET MEDICAL STANDARDS

When Dr. Boone makes his report, however, it will not be a specific set of recommendations that a hospital should be built here, a new sewer system there, or an entire new housing project over yonder. Instead, the report will merely recommend a set of minimum standards for health, sanitation, and housing in all mine communities.

Currently, Dr. Boone and his staff are making a swing through Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Alabama districts, hitting only the high and low spots. This trip will complete visits by Dr. Boone's group to each of the country's coal-mining regions. In each region a team of three naval officers has been set up—a Medical Corps officer in charge of each, working with an engineer and a recreation and welfare officer.

It being impossible for any one group of men to visit all the coal mines in the country, these five regional teams will do most of the actual inspecting. Their data will be submitted to Washington, and the final report will be prepared here.

Not even the regional teams will try to visit all the 8000 to 9000 mines in the country. Only 2500 of the mines are now under government operation. If the regional teams inspect 10 per cent of this number, they will be doing well. The Navy is allowing local mine operators and union officials to select the mines to be inspected.

CONDITIONS VARY GREATLY WITHIN EACH DISTRICT

So far, the inspections have shown that there is no standard of health or housing in any coal mine district. On one side of the ridge there may be a mine operating under nearly perfect conditions. Across the valley may be a mine with which everything is wrong.

The difference may be due largely to local community leadership. Squalor marks the mine community where both company and union leaders are lazy.

The automobile and good roads have worked a revolution on coal mine conditions, Dr. Boone has found. Formerly, all miners had to live on slag heaps in order to be near their mines. Now they can, and do, live 30 and 40 miles from the coal mine portal, in clean and airy surroundings, the men driving to work.

The variation in state mining laws is another factor that makes preparation of any minimum standard code difficult. Illinois requires wash-houses to be built at the mines. Other states have no such law, though some operators have installed them voluntarily. At some mines the wash-house facilities are free. At others miners pay for their use.

It is these extremes which will make it impossible to establish uniform health and sanitation and housing conditions throughout the coal industry. Dr. Boone isn't going to try.

Any idea that there will be a blonde Wave manicurist and a red-headed Red Cross nurse for every 10 miners, model housing for all, and insurance benefits coming out of slot machines every time a miner bumps his shin is away out of line. Such a Utopia will be provided, if at all, only by John L. Lewis himself.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And further, by these, my son, be admonished: of making many books there is no end; and much study is a weariness of the flesh.—Ecclesiastes 12:12.

Up! up! my Friend, and quit your books,
Or surely you'll grow double;
Up! up! my Friend, and clear your looks;
Why all this toil and trouble?

"MAY I HOVER AROUND A BIT, AS A WARNING, PERHAPS?"

Press Comment

The following description of a Royal garden party at Buckingham Palace was written for the Christian Science Monitor by Peter Lyne, British Parliamentary correspondent for that paper. His story was published on the front page of the Christian Science Monitor under a single line, four column heading, "Royal Garden Party Warns London Air."

EDITOR.

The second Royal garden party at Buckingham Palace held this week was lots of fun — literally lots of fun.

The skies were gray and the thermometer reading, at 56, was the same as on Christmas Day last year. But the guests' reaction to the weather was: "All the more credit to King George and Queen Elizabeth for holding such a successful party!"

All the guests seemed to be enjoying themselves — from gray-flannel-suited Socialist Members of Parliament to immaculate top-hatted aristocrats and Moslem chiefs in flowing burnouses. Colored turbans and exotic saris of the Empire mixed with English ladies in flowered hats. Russian Army officers smiled their way through the crowds of diplomats.

It was a pity many of the party dresses were hidden by coats. But there have been great social changes in Britain since pre-war garden party days. The post-war event has emerged as no longer primarily a get-together of socialites in a fashion parade, but rather as a friendly gathering of the King and Queen with a cross-section of their subjects and a sprinkling of overseas visitors.

Enter Iron Gates

What happens at a garden party at Buckingham Palace? You enter the great wide sweep of the Palace forecourt through iron gates where London sight-seers are clustered, making free comments.

Invitations are scrutinized by Palace officials, and a footman in red opens automobile doors. You pass through the inner court or through long corridors with priceless old china in glass-fronted cupboards. Furniture is regally upholstered in red and you wonder how Queen Elizabeth manages to have such a huge place kept so clean.

You emerge through garden doors onto a vast lawn with refreshment tents and marquees at the far end. There are 6,000 guests, but the lawn is so huge they seem to melt into mere hundreds.

There is no strolling around going on, but large groups here and there indicate where the King, the

No Whiskers on Lawn

Military bands help you walk with a light step on the lovely green lawn. This old sward is fascinatingly smooth and makes me feel I must do something about the whiskers on my own lawn at home. You collect your sandwiches and cakes from long white-clothed tables and eat either standing or at small tables. Waitresses ask, "Do you take sugar?" as if they meant it, which is more than you can say about most British tea parties these days of rationing.

The King and Queen don't get extra rations for their garden parties. They go to a caterer like any mother and father who are having their daughter married or want to give a homecoming party to their demobbed son. The spread at Buckingham Palace was good. The Royal party retires to a large enclosure for their own tea and afterwards more distinguished guests like the American Ambassador and Dominion and Colonial notabilities file past and shake hands and exchange a few words. The rest of the guests can watch all this going on. But most of them are strolling around meeting friends.

Here and There

King George seemed less nervous than usual. . . . Most everybody noticed what a lovely complexion and coloring Queen Elizabeth has. The freshness and charm of the two Princesses were irresistible. . . . and Queen Mary in her familiar blue toque hat and with a firm grip on her tightly wound parasol chatted away all the afternoon to guests and thereby quite undermined the stanch republican sentiments of my companion.

I heard from good authority that Queen Elizabeth envies her mother-in-law her stamina. Queen Mary never seems to want to sit down, whereas Queen Elizabeth very definitely does, especially when the hand-shaking queue still stretches round the corner.

Surveying the gaily-colored scene on the lawn, one attendant said, "I come to every royal garden party to look after the seats for them as want them. But it's different this year—free and easy it is. . . . That's what's done it," he explained, pointing to a heap of rubble neatly stacked by the side of the palace. "Bombs made people free and easy like I said."

There was indeed a democratic atmosphere, but some of the Palace officials still have a stiff-necked air as if they were afraid someone might pinch the spoons. They refused to invite my wife because I was going there as a reporter doing a reporting job. What an occasion to be deprived of one's wife's company! Unfortunately and surprisingly, the press department of the American Embassy in London backed the Palace in this case and not the reporter.

I gave my top hat an extra brush just to show them.

UNFAIR TO ROMAN CATHOLICS

Vancouver Sun

There are certain forms of religious intolerance with which thoughtful people in this age have little patience. One such form is evident in the agitation now being stirred up in Victoria by the Protestant League. The League is objecting violently to Roman Catholic plans for an outdoor Pontifical High Mass and a public procession of the Blessed Sacrament during forthcoming celebration of the centenary of that church's discussion organization in this part of Canada.

The Roman Catholic Church is the largest communion in Christendom, the largest religious denomination in Canada. Whatever one's views as to the truth of that church's teaching and practice, freedom of worship is a hard-won privilege of democratic living. There is no question whatever of Victoria city council "endorsing" Roman Catholicism by acknowledging its right to certain privileges of public witness. It is worth noting that the Anglican Bishop of British Columbia, Dr. Sexton, has dissociated himself and his clergy from this bit of narrow-minded fanaticism on the part of some Protestants.

We recall no intemperate protests last week on the part of the Roman Catholic Church when the public streets of Vancouver and many other cities and towns in Canada were occupied by parades of the Orange Order, extolling a militant anti-Romanism and carrying images in portrait of William of Orange.

Surely the most elementary fairness demands a similar freedom to others who wish to emphasize—at a time in history when paganism, materialism and immorality are widespread—their devotion to Christ the King and their faith that He is mystically present in the sacrament of His own institution.

BEYOND ALL EXPLAINING

Toronto Globe and Mail

The history of the mind reveals that men have been mastered by obsessions from time to time, which have resulted in some extraordinary efforts to prove their truth. Centuries were wasted, for example, in the fruitless search for the philosopher's stone, which would turn base metals into gold. The miraculous substance was never found, but men learned much from their obsession which nothing else might have taught them.

With millions of people today, the search for happiness is an obsession which has enslaved their thoughts and motives. It has become the standard by which they judge everything. It explains their restless behavior, their passion for escape. They exist in an unreal world of dreams, where all the stories, the plays and the movies, have happy endings. They evade their responsibilities in government, in family life, in every field which demands serious thought. They can scarcely explain what they seek, but seem convinced that Japanese forces have begun the occupation of French Indo-China under the terms of an agreement made with the Vichy French representatives.

The Russians are expanding their counter-attacks on the Eastern front as the Germans are resorting to trench warfare instead of blitzkrieg tactics.

It is to be found in thrills and excitement, in speed and noise. Happiness, however, is an elusive object, and comes most readily when it is not sought too directly. It is not an affinity of extremes, and lives best in quiet surroundings. Happiness comes from contentment of spirit, rather than from the avoidance of unpleasantness.

If the obsession of the cult of happiness has taught anything, it is that happiness cannot be captured by force. It is best found in the simple thing, the old things which people have known and loved for so many, many years.

To dig a little, to pray a little, to fight a little, to love a little, to go on the sea in ships, to draw hard breaths over spade or plow, to watch the seasons come, and the blossoms set—these things bring happiness beyond all reason, and beyond all explaining.

If ever there was a recipe for happiness, the ingredients would include those. It would do harm to add the silver stars, the lonely hilltop, the melody of brook and bird. There is happiness in the smell of the woods, the shy beauty of the wildflowers, the clinging arms of a baby. It is found in peace of mind. Seek that first.

PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS IN PARIS TODAY

Today representatives of twenty-one nations are meeting in Paris to begin work on the settlement of peace treaties with the Axis powers and their satellites. What is done now in Paris may ultimately mean peace or conflict for a war-weary world. The eyes of the universe are focussed on Paris, and the prayer in every man's heart must be that these representatives of the nations reflect the true spirit of their respective peoples, which is a spirit of peace.

For future reference, while the conference is on, the Record publishes below a group of maps which show in graphic form the problems facing the world statesmen. The problems are many and difficult, but the combined will of the whole world for peace must force these men to find a solution.

Territorial Problems Complicate Writing of Peace Treaty with Germany

The vital Ruhr and Rhineland regions, heart of Germany's heavy industry, are again a top problem for the world powers. France wants the Ruhr and Rhineland internationalized, but as separate entities and under secure international control. Russia opposes detachment of either the Ruhr or the Rhineland. The British are skeptical of French dismemberment plans, while the U. S. wants to neutralize Germany by setting up separate states.

Most serious point of disagreement among the Big Four world powers is that of Germany's future composition. Russia favors a centralized German state with its own industry to be developed under supervision to see that militarism does not spring up again. Russia opposes federalization. Both the United States and Great Britain urge establishment of a federal Germany of separate states under a central government at Berlin. Map above shows Germany broken into states, and defines their location within the present occupation zones. France stands firmly against a central government and against inclusion of the Ruhr, Rhineland and Saar into the future German state.

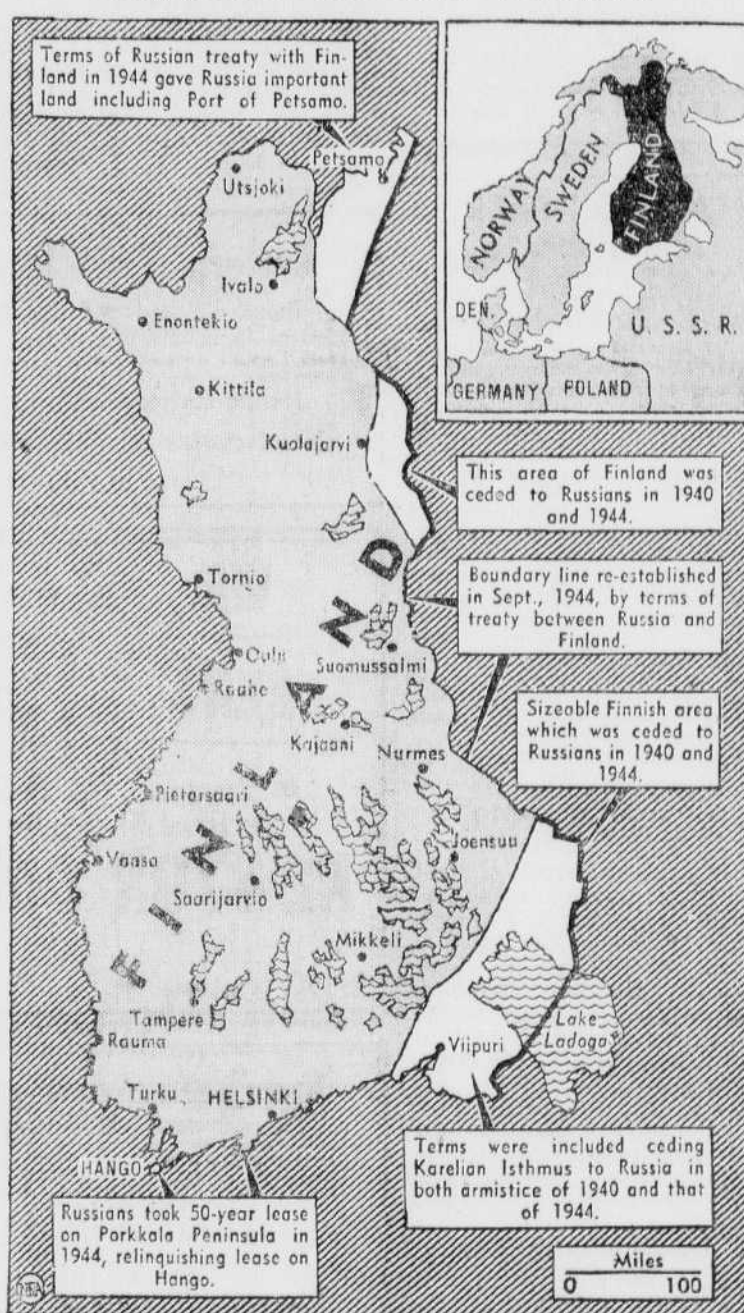

Major request of the French government, when Germany's fate is brought under consideration at the Paris conference, is expected to be immediate annexation of the rich Saar coal basin so the French coal shortage can be alleviated next winter. Final political disposition of the Saar, which was given to France after World War I and returned to Germany by plebiscite in 1935, would be left until later.

Axis Satellites Face Carving Knife

Readjustment of frontiers and imposition of reparations are expected when the peace treaty committees take up the cases of Germany's Balkan satellites, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. Some of the border problems are indicated above. Reported reparations agreements between Hungary and Russia include payment by the former of some $200,000,000 worth of agricultural and industrial products, oil and other commodities.

Finland's Borders Defined

Map above shows Finland's borders as result of armistice of 1940 and 1944. They are expected to be changed little during the making of a permanent peace treaty in the Paris conference of 21 nations.

Trouble Area

During Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Paris, new Yugoslav-Italian border and international control of Trieste area were agreed upon. But violent Yugoslav protests against decision indicate further discussions of problem.

Committees To Draft Peace Treaties

The 21-nation peace conference convening in Paris today, faces the detailed work of preparing peace treaties with Finland, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Italy. Committees composed of those nations which were actually at war with each of the five countries, will do the job. Members of each committee are listed in the boxes on map above. Committee decisions will be acted upon by the 21-nation conference, then passed to the Big Four Foreign Ministers for final decision.

Canadian Delegates To Paris Peace Conference

Prime Minister Mackenzie King

Major-General Vanier

Hon. Mr. Wilgress

Norman Robertson

Hon. Brooke Claxton

A. D. P. Heeney

Above are shown the men who will represent Canada at the Paris Conference opening today. The delegation is headed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who is also the country's Secretary of State for External Affairs. Diplomatic representatives are Major-General George Vanier, Canadian Ambassador to France, Dana Wilgress, Canadian Ambassador to Russia, and Norman Robertson, Under-secretary of State for External Affairs. Only other political member of the delegation is Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of Health. Other member is Arnold D. P. Heeney, Clerk of the Privy Council and head of the Canadian Information Service. Mr. Heeney, one time Montreal lawyer, is a former private secretary of the Prime Minister.

Daughter Of Mine

By
R. Louise
Emery

Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Cecily's wedding is over at last. But never will I forget the cruel thing I did to her. And Della, Cecily's mother, will never forgive me. I have adored Cecily since she was a baby—kept on adoring her even after I married Robert and my daughter Corinna was born. Long ago, too, I knew that Della was raising Cecily to be an insufferable snob, and that she was jealous of my love for her.

I was broken-hearted that time Della prevented Cecily's coming to the Christmas party I had planned for the two little girls, Robert, to cheer me up, invited some of the youngsters from across Marlin Street instead and that was how I met Val. "He needs you more than Cecily does," Robert said.

CHAPTER VII.

Robert had finally made a place for himself as director of the Marlin Playground—the town had seen the value of his volunteer work in the "tough" district and had voted him a small salary to continue it. We could not have lived on it but Robert was so full of his job that articles on underprivileged children, junior health and morals problems spilled out of him into magazines all over the country. As his name became familiar to the reading public offers of better positions in his field came to him but he declined them, knowing that I would not leave the town that held Cecily.

The checks, though, solved our financial problems. We remodelled our own bungalow and it was possible for me to give Corinna ballet and tap dancing lessons so that Cecily should not outstrip her in everything. Corinna had a definite talent for dancing and, unlike Cecily, she could devote all of her attention to it. To Della's consternation Corinna caught up with Cecily in short order.

Cecily was undisputedly prettier than Corinna, but Corinna had a pertness and charm of her own and in the gay costumes I made her she captivated her audiences. There were numerous opportunities for her to appear before P.T.A.s and the civic clubs in which Robert held honorary memberships. Although Cecily's education program was designed to enable her to shine before the town and especially the Ralstons, the invitations came to Corinna.

Della seethed over that, not too privately, until I suggested that we team the two children. Both little girls were fair and Corinna was large for her age so that they were evenly matched as to size. I had always wanted them to see more of each other than Della permitted and this offered such a perfect chance that I feared Della would refuse it. Della, however, wanted Cecily brought to the town's attention and although it touched her pride to have Cecily share any glory, she was glad enough to let her ride into public notice on the tide of Corinna's popularity.

For one Della seemed to play right into my hand. "You'll have to bring Corinna over here to practice with Cecily," she instructed. "Corinna will have to learn Cecily's routines if they're to go on together."

I hid my elation. Hours with Cecily! It was the consummation of years of desire.

I should have been forewarned after my long knowledge of Della. Nothing was trivial to her where Cecily was concerned. First off there had to be new costumes—made by a professional, Della insisted. At least four changes, with plenty of sequins and brilliants.

"If Cecily is going to appear in public everything has to be perfect, that's all there is to it." As if SHE were the one conferring largesse.

"Della, I can't afford it!" I protested. "It isn't as if these were paid programs—"

"Well, you'll have to afford it or do without Cecily," Della said. She had a pretty fair idea that I wouldn't risk losing Cecily now.

"Call her bluff," Robert said lazily when I repeated the conversation. "It's to her advantage to team the kids. Corinna's doing all right alone."

"You don't understand Della," I answered. She had by this time convinced herself that she was doing me a favor and if I didn't give in to her she'd make occasion to hit back at me—through Cecily.

"There's the check from your last sale—" I hinted.

"I wanted to use that for a brush-up course at the University this summer," Robert said slowly. "It's a long time until summer, I pointed out."

"That's right," Robert conceded. "I can write other articles—"

But they didn't sell in time for him to go to summer classes. Corinna had the costumes, however, and the first sight of the fairy creation brought forth an outcry of pleasure that was half pain. Corinna had never dreamed of owning anything so expensive.

"Oh, mother, may Mercedes try them on, too? She never gets anything pretty to wear. We'll dress up and surprise daddy," she coaxed.

She and Mercedes raced into her room to comb their hair and indulge their passion for lipsticks before getting into the costumes.

I telephoned to Della. "Bring Cecily over to join the fun."

"You know I don't want her playing with those Marlin street kids!" Della snapped. "And if you're going to let them wallow around in those costumes Cecily can't dance with Corinna. I don't want her catching something."

"Mercedes is as clean as Cecily," I retorted.

"That may be, but there's no use letting Cecily play with her—she doesn't belong in our class and Cecily hasn't any time to waste on her."

I think I had the prescience then of that blow I was to strike Cecily.

My hand was trembling as I hung up the receiver. How could Della—how could anyone be so heartless?

OUT OUR WAY

GOING AWAY FOR A HOLIDAY? Plan to have the Record visit you daily

NO MATTER how thrilling each vacation hour may be, the arrival of your OWN newspaper will be a bright spot of each day—an invitation to relax and read the news you want from home, and to enjoy your favorite comics, columnists, cartoons, and features.

Besides, there's nothing like your OWN newspaper to keep you abreast of national events, foreign affairs, political changes, sports results, market reports, business trends, and all the other happenings of interest to you and your family.

Better arrange right away for a copy to be mailed daily to your vacation address. It will reach you swiftly and surely wherever you go, and at very small cost. Just speak to your carrier, or notify our office to forward your copy the day you leave—and to resume delivery on your return.

War Changed All

Manners, Customs And Morals Different In Postwar
New Order of Things

Although no bombs were fired on our blessed country and none of our cities lie in ruins, yet the war changed the world for us, even as it did for the battle-scarred lands across the seas. It is only those who have lived their lives and whose sense of happiness has gone down forever, who realize that the old, lush, comfortable days are now nothing but a nostalgic memory, whose like we shall never see again.

The balance of us have not sensed that the war has changed our manners and our customs and our morals and every detail of our daily lives so that we are literally strangers in a strange land, not knowing how to adjust ourselves to the new order of things.

As in every social upheaval, the brunt of the suffering falls heaviest on women because they are, by nature, more creatures of habit than men are, and because nearly all women have little children and old people clinging to their skirts. To them marriage has always been the ark of safety to which they fled in every crisis, but war has just shut the door in their faces. And it is only wishful thinking that makes even the most optimistic think that the wedding bells are certain to ring for them.

LOW SUPPLY OF MEN
Statistics show that the supply of eligible men is at its lowest ebb. Millions of women will not be able to get husbands because there just aren't enough to go around. Millions of women who have husbands will lose their spouses to predatory ladies who have no scruples against robbing a sister woman of her treasure. And still other millions of women will have to support husbands who are not able to work by reason of their infirmities.

So now, as never before, it behooves every girl to scrap her dream of marriage as a means of livelihood. The war has changed all of that, and every little bobby-soxer should begin preparing herself to be her own meal ticket, if she wishes to eat.

Before the war it was generally conceded that the place for a mother was in her own home, taking care of her children, and that she failed in her duty when she spent her time pursuing a career instead of keeping her kids out of the juvenile courts. But the war has made what was the fad of restless women a necessity. Many women with children lost their husbands in battle. And every divorce court has its list of shame of husbands and fathers who left their wives and children to starve, while they sported themselves with glamorous girls.

No soldier who stood at his post and did his duty during the war was a greater hero than these women, who have gone to work at any job they could get, to keep some sort of a home together, and to support their children. They have toiled like slaves because, after their hard day's work at factory or office, they have sat up half the night cooking their children's food, washing their clothes, patching and darning so that they might not be too ashamed when they went to school.

C'est la guerre! Perhaps it cannot be helped, but the war that has brought about so many heart-breaking changes should at least bring on that which is beneficial, and that is to establish hundreds of creches and kindergarten schools where working mothers can leave their babies, sure of their being safe and well taken care of, and community kitchens where tired and overworked women and their youngsters can have good food, well-prepared, that they have not had to cook themselves and at prices they can afford.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

MARRIAGES

LAFOND-BACHAND

Sherbrooke, July 29.—The marriage of Pauline, daughter of Notary and Mrs. Leonidas Bachand, of Sherbrooke, to Dr. Real Lafond, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lafond, of Sherbrooke, took place Saturday, July 20, 1946, at St. Theresa Church, Sherbrooke. Rev. M. Lafleur officiated at the ceremony while Messrs. Sylvio Lacharite and Paul Robitoux played the organ.

Both Mr. Bachand and Mr. Lafond acted as witnesses. Miss Murielle Bachand, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor.

Following the reception which was held at the home of Mrs. C. Goodhue, 133 Quebec Street, the bridal couple left for Gaspe.

HALLE-BRAULT

Cowansville, July 29.—A quiet wedding took place on Monday morning, July 22, 1946, in the St. Theresa Church, when Miss Madeleine Brault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brault, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Halle, son of Mr. N. A. Halle and the late Mrs. Halle. Father Lapiere officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, was unattended and wore a street-length dress of chambray yellow, with navy hat and accessories, and a corsage of orchids.

A wedding breakfast was held at the New Ottawa Hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Halle left on a motor trip around the Gaspe Coast. For travelling, the bride wore a coral suit with a brown top coat and brown accessories.

On their return they will reside in Cowansville.

MASON-BURR

Boston, July 29.—Miss Thelma Lorraine Burr, daughter of Mrs. Mildred E. Burr, of 21 Durant Street, Newton, Mass., was married to Mr. Richard H. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mason, of Owensboro, Kentucky, Wednesday evening, June 12, 1946, at 8 o'clock in the Copley Methodist Church, Boston. The Rev. Leslie H. Johnson, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at the candlelight service. White candles, snapdragons, stocks and sweet peas were used effectively in decorating.

"Oh Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" were fittingly rendered by Mrs. Greenwood, soloist of the church.

Mr. Norman Woolleton, of Sherbrooke, cousin of the bride, gave her in marriage. The bride wore ivory satin with a train and her tulle veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of blue delphiniums and white carnations.

Miss Anne Murphy was maid of honor. She wore an aqua taffeta gown with full skirt and carried a colonial bouquet. The two bridesmaids, Miss Myrtle Kiddle and Miss Jean Robinson, wore dresses of rose taffeta with square necklines and they also carried colonial bouquets.

Mr. William Ivey acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Francis Rochleau and Mr. John Cassili.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Burr, who assisted in receiving, wore a pale blue dress and matching accessories with corsage of peach-colored baby gladioli. Mrs. Mason, the bridegroom's mother, wore a navy blue dress, hat and gloves to match, with a corsage of cream camillias.

The bride attended Mount Ida College, Newton, and the groom was recently discharged from the navy, serving overseas for two years.

AYER'S CLIFF

The lawn party held on the parsonage grounds was an outstanding success and a large number of summer visitors were in attendance. The table of aprons and useful articles, which were in charge of Mrs. H. G. Buck and Mrs. Leonard Martin, was popular and nearly all the articles were quickly sold. The articles on the food tables were in great demand and Mrs. A. J. Macintosh, a former member and worker of the Association, now of Lennoxville, was holidaying in town and was in charge of this. The delicious salad tea, presided over by young ladies of the church, was served at small tables about the lawn in shady nooks. The proceeds from the tea and the sales amounted to nearly ninety-five dollars. The committee was assisted by another former member and worker here, Mrs. J. A. Bourque, of Sherbrooke, who was most welcome. Much credit is due to all the members, who worked so well to make the summer event such a success.

"NERVES" She Called It

Losing interest—losing friends—who never went out any more—always too tired. "Nerves," she thought—but it was her kidneys—the filters of her blood—that needed attention. She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The immediate action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Dodd's Kidney Pills contain essential oils and medicinal ingredients that act directly upon the kidneys—and help restore their normal action.

"TOUGH-but we had Peace of Mind"

"Yes, the war was plenty tough," said the Vet to the Imperial Life representative. "But we had peace of mind over there in knowing that if a bullet stopped us, a Government Pension would take care of our wives and kiddies."

"Now that I'm back in civilian life, there is not that same protection for my family if something should happen to me. As long as I'm around of course, I can look after them. But if I'm not—well, that's what I want you to fix up for me."

Like thousands of others, this man secured permanent peace of mind through Imperial Life insurance. A moderate part of his earnings, saved regularly each year, is creating an income for his widow should he die . . . or for himself if he lives to old age.

It was the talk of the quilting bee!

1 When the girls got together back around 1900 you should have heard them talk about the way their families raved over that malty-rich nut-like flavor of the new cereal Grape-Nuts!

2 Folks are raving about that grand, really different flavor more than ever today, because now they can enjoy it in two temptingly delicious cereals—curly, golden-brown POST'S GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES as well as Post's Grape-Nuts.

3 There's nourishment you need in every spoonful of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes: carbohydrates for energy; proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; other food essentials.

4 Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes are made of two grains—wheat and malted barley—specially blended, baked and toasted. They're remarkably easy to digest. Recipes for delicious cookies etc., too, on every package.

A Product of General Foods

Enough is enough.

This unending, continuous wrangling at Border League baseball games in Sherbrooke is getting to be too much of a good thing altogether.

Fans like to see a fighting ball club. They like to see a manager get in there and question an umpire's ruling if he is not satisfied. But they do not like to see scrapping throughout the game, with players who have no business being in there crowding around the umpires.

This needless jawing reached a new all-time high last night, and it is high time it ceased. Let the managers do all the protesting. It is part of their job.

Rumors are flying back and forth that four of the league umpires have taken enough abuse, are fed up with the whole business, and are going to throw in the sponge and get nice, comfortable jobs in which they can spend the evenings with their families, and not have to absorb continual abuse for a meagre $200 per month, out of which they just pay their meals and travelling expenses.

Right now Sherbrooke Canadians and Ogdensburg Maples are battling in reverse for fourth position in the circuit, and unless they are careful Kingston Ponies will climb up there and gain the last playoff berth.

Both Sherbrooke and Ogdensburg absorbed three pastings over the week-end. As a result, one-and-a-half games still separate them, with the Ponies in between, only a half-game out of fourth place.

Better get on your horse, Sherbrooke.

It is to be hoped that no unforeseen difficulties will appear to block the plans of Sherbrooke Athletics to re-enter Quebec Rugby Football Union competition. The Sherbrooke gridders have a league to play in—Quebec, McGill and Dawson College, St. Johns—and a coach—Freddie Hobbs, former Quebec and Bishop's backfield star—but the big thing they need is money.

Complete sets of equipment must be purchased for at least 18 players. This requires a poola running up over the $600 figure, and right now the organization has a balance of only $10 from the 1939 season, when the boys traded football cleats for rifles.

Here is a chance for the people of Sherbrooke to get behind a completely home town, amateur venture. The boys will get nothing out of the season except bumps and cuts and perhaps a bit of personal satisfaction if they emerge victorious. The fans, however, will have the enjoyment of seeing football back in Sherbrooke and watching their boys do battle against visiting teams.

You will be asked to donate money. Don't refuse. Every little bit will help. Sport can only succeed with support, and the boys certainly need your assistance.

So dig in and shell out when you are asked for a contribution.

Shorts are in the news again, and it is interesting to note the difference in the opinions of Sherbrooke's city solons and of Acting Mayor Nesbitt McKibbin, of Pictou, Ont., on these articles of apparel.

It seems that two Rochester, N.Y., girls wearing shorts ran afoul of an old Pictou by-law and found that Chief of Police Bert Biddle wasn't kidding when he said they couldn't appear in public that way.

The girls, whose names were not disclosed, retired hastily to the laundries which had taken them to Pictou and no further action was taken, but the incident touched off a town-wide discussion on female summer attire.

Chief Biddle, who has been in office for more than thirty years, said the by-law prohibiting scanty apparel on the main streets does exist. Town Clerk F. L. Ward says he knows of no such regulation.

Acting Mayor McKibbin said if there is such a by-law it should be repealed immediately.

Brother McKibbin would have an argument on his hands if he sat in on a session with Sherbrooke's moral-conscious by-law makers.

Because seventeen lights were missing at the Stadium, the baseball diamond has not been as bright as it used to be in the heyday of night baseball, but this situation is about to be rectified, according to the Canadians' front office.

Ordered months ago, the required lights are expected to arrive today. Their installation should make it easier for the players to follow the ball on high hits and cut down the number of errors.

It should also make it a trifle more comfortable for the batters when they face fast ball pitchers. They will be able to see the ball and duck faster if it is heading for their noggin, and perhaps pick out a pitch for a base hit more often than in the past.

Windsor Mills Retains Top Place In Intermediate Baseball League

Windsor Mills dropped their second game of the season over the week-end in Intermediate Baseball League competition, bowing by a 7-2 count to Thetford Mines, but turned around to rout Stouffville 14-2 and retain undisputed possession of first position in the eight-team circuit.

Week-end games were as follows: Windsor Mills 13 Sherbrooke 8, Coaticook 12 Bromontville 3, Thetford Mines 7 Windsor Mills 2.

Windsor Mills 14, Stouffville 2. Windsor Mills have won ten games and dropped two, to lead the league. Sherbrooke, and Coaticook are tied for second place with a game and a half. Fourth place is held by Thetford Mines with a seven and five mark.

Meeting here Saturday night, League officials and team representatives voted to allow the first six teams to participate in post-season playoffs, which are scheduled to get underway on August 11th.

In their game at Megantic, Notre Dame got away to a three-run start in the opening inning, but then saw the homesters come back scrapping with pairs of markers in the second and third frames, and then in the fourth for a 7-3 advantage. Both teams then scored singles, Sherbrooke in the fifth and Megantic in the sixth.

Notre Dame made a bid to get back in the ball game by scoring twice in the seventh frame, but Megantic got three runs in their half of the same inning, and scored twice again in the eighth. Sherbrooke wound up the run-making with a brace of tallies in the ninth. Megantic outthrew Notre Dame 15-11. R. Charest and M. Charest pitched for Sherbrooke, with Cliche,

Canucks Lose Both Argument And Ball Game To Granby; Drop Three Tilts To Red Sox Over Week-End

After sweeping three games from the second-place Watertown team, Sherbrooke's in-and-out Canadians did a "volte face" over the week-end and dropped three tilts to Granby Red Sox, two away from home and one here last night.

Losing 8-4 and 8-7 at Granby, and 8-3 at the Park Avenue Stadium while Kingston Ponies were flooring Ogdensburg Maples three times, the Canadians tumbled back into the basement of the Border Baseball League with a resounding thud.

Only cheerful factor emerging from the week-end fray was the

CANADA'S NET HONORS SWEEP BY AMERICANS

Ottawa, July 29.—(P)—King and queen of Canadian tennis for 1946 are a married couple—Morey and Baba Lewis—playing out of Huntsville, Ala., who walked off with four of five senior titles as the Canadian championships concluded here Saturday.

Morey, 28-year-old native of Texarkana, Ark., who mixes tennis with an export-import business, trounced Ottawa's Don McDiarmid, 1940 champion and defending titlist for a second reign as men's singles champion, by scores of 8-6, 6-4, 6-4. He also took the crown in 1939.

His petite, 26-year-old wife won the women's singles and shared in the women's and mixed doubles crowns.

The men's doubles was taken by a Montreal brother team, Brendan and Jimmy Macken. Their sizzling volleys and fine teamwork defeated Lewis and his Ottawa partner, veteran Edgar Murphy, by scores of 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5.

Mrs. Lewis trounced 19-year-old Noreen Haney, a Canadian citizen whose parents now live at Summit, N.J., 6-1, 6-3, and teamed with her to capture the women's doubles.

Incidentally, Marois, who plays goal for the Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, admitted a preference for the courts and said he hoped to make a swing through U. S. tennis circuits in March and April next year.

Ogdensburg team's three-game pasting at the hands of the Ponies, which left their margin over Sherbrooke in the battle for the fourth playoff position at a game and a half.

Ogdensburg is now a half-game up on Kingston, who, in turn, have a full-game edge on Sherbrooke. All three games with the Red Sox were marred by lengthy wrangling between the umpires and the players. In Granby yesterday afternoon Sherbrooke led 7-4 going into the last of the eighth frame, only to see the Red Sox come from behind to score four times and emerge the winners.

"Dutch" Prochel was fined $40 and ejected from the game by plate umpire Leo Fournier in the Granby fracas.

As a result, Fournier and his partner, John Reilly, threatened not to work in the game here last night, but finally they went out to patrol the bases, with Henry

Joe Franks recalled

Joe Franks, Sherbrooke catcher-outfielder, has been recalled by Rome of the Canadian-American Baseball League, a Detroit Tiger farm club, but has not yet left the city.

An effort is being made to have Niagara Falls club of the Middle Atlantic League send a catcher to Rome, since it is a backstop the Rome club requires, in order to keep Franks on the Sherbrooke lineup.

"Guidoo" Roy taking over the chores at the platter.

The game had just about everything that could possibly happen on a baseball field. There were nine errors, five by Granby and four by Sherbrooke. There was a 15-minute argument in the eighth inning, when first one team and then the other engaged in verbal battles with the three officials, occasioned by one of the queerest performances ever staged in a local park.

With three men on base, pitcher Flanagan dumped a bunt right in front of the plate, a squeeze play. Catcher Joe Bellamy first thought it was a foul ball, then grabbed it and lunged at Charley Small, coming in from third. He missed him. Then he whirled around and fired the ball to first base. But Gerry Long, the first sacker, was standing in near the plate, and the ball sailed over an open base far into the outfield. While Franks and Lurel were getting the ball back into the diamond, the other base runners were tearing merrily into the corners. Then the ball sailed past Bellamy on the relay in from the outfield. Eventually all three runners scored ahead of Flanagan, who wound up perched on third.

Then followed the loud and horrible wrangling which didn't go down well at all with the crowd of 1,600, largest of the local baseball season. Sherbrooke lost the argument, and all runs counted.

Granby had gone ahead 2-1 in the third when, after "Pappy" Smith, starting pitcher, had got the first two men to face him, Bedard drew a walk, Willette tripled and Murray singled in succession. First run of the game had been scored by Sherbrooke in the second, Bellamy's double scoring Prochel, who had stroled.

Granby went ahead 4-1 on single tallies in the fifth and sixth, both unearned, then Canadians made it a ball game by getting a pair of tallies in the seventh. Hits by St. Denis, Dussault and Lurel, plus a pair of Red Sox miscues, did the damage.

Then came the disastrous eighth, with four Granby runs scoring to put the game on ice 8-3.

The teams will meet here again tonight in a single game.

INTERNATIONAL CROWD RECORD AT BALTIMORE

With a new International League attendance record in the bag, Baltimore Orioles today had 21 more home dates in which to shoot for a season total of 500,000.

When 28,033 fans jammed Municipal Stadium yesterday to watch the Orioles split a doubleheader with the league-leading Montreal Royals, Baltimore's attendance for the season was boosted to 378,386, topping the previous mark of 378,525 set by Jersey City in 1939.

Montreal won the first game, 3-2, on the five-hit pitching of Jean Pierre Roy. A six-run sixth inning, featured by home runs by Howie Moss and Bob Repass, gave the Orioles the nightcap, 10-8.

Other doubleheaders around the circuit also resulted in even breaks. At Newark, Buffalo Bisons downed the Bears, 4-3, in the opener as third baseman Don Savage committed two errors, each of which cost a run.

Duane Pillette hurled three-hit ball in pitching the Bears to a 10-0 decision in the second game. Larry Berra's sixth-inning home run with the bases loaded was the big blow of the Newark attack.

Jersey City downed Toronto, 4-1, in the first game at Jersey City as Dick Hoover outlasted Norman Brown in the pitching duel. The Leafs came back to take the nightcap, 6-2, behind the eight-hit pitching of Cot Deal.

At Rochester, the Red Wings nipped Syracuse, 1-0, in the first game on the five-hit pitching of Glenn Gardner. The second game went 10 innings, with the Chiefs coming out on top, 5-4.

ASSAULT'S WIN STREAK BROKEN AT ARLINGTON

Chicago, July 29.—(P)—Trainer Max Hirsch suggested today that the champion Assault may have strained a leg muscle while finishing last in the Arlington classic, which a claimer, the Duke, won in one of the greatest upsets of the 18-year history of the race.

The Duke, a little chestnut colt owned by Mrs. Al Gagny of New Orleans and trained by her husband, sailed home in the $95,650 classic 1½ lengths in front of a rank outsider, James C. Stone's Sgt. Spence, a 45-1 shot.

A $4,000 claim at Washington Park last summer, The Duke picked up $76,850 in his first stake victory.

John Marsch's Chicago colt, Mighty Story, was third, followed by Hal Price Headley's Athena; the unpredictable Lord Boswell and Assault.

Assault, sensational winner of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, and backed in the classic by $191,395 from the 43,000 customers, now takes his place with such previous champions as Twenty Grand, Top Flight, Johnstown and Whirlaway which were overthrown at Arlington's "graveyard of champions" jinx.

Palachuck's 2.11 for the mile came in the second heat of the free-for-all. Owned by Lucien Dugre, of Sherbrooke, the horse nosed out Cabin in the second heat and made an easy win in the first, having pole position. The trotter came in fourth despite a broken sulky wheel in the final heat of the class which saw a thrilling close finish between Cabin (1), Bud K. Grattan (2) and Senator Bob (3), Cabin's win over Bud K. Grattan, owned by and driven by C. A. Beard, of Fulford, was a shadow.

The horse from Derby Line trailed Palachuck in the first two heats and was budled in each heat in turn by Bud K. Grattan.

Only horse to make a clean sweep in his class was Brookdale V in the 2.17. The consistent winner is owned by N. Veilleux, of St. Eustache, Quebec. Second place in each of the 2.17 was taken by Ivan Dugre's (Sherbrooke), Cax Brooke.

There were nine starters in the class, but the race and the bets on the pari-mutuel were confined to these two horses.

Coming in third in the three heats of the class were, respectively, Lemme Harvester, owned by C. Hebert, of Drummondville, Judy L. Grattan, owned by C. A. Beard, and Colonel Sherbrooke, owned by Alp. L. Heureux, of Sherbrooke. Fabi's Dewey took fourth place in the three heats.

Brookdale V did the mile in 2.14 in the first and third heats. Angela Hanover, Hilda Stout and Bing Ritz took honors in the 2.23 class.
