World News In Brief

Cape Hatteras, N.C., Oct. 5.—(P)—A hurricane veered from the North Carolina coast yesterday and churned off across open seas, endangering ships in the path of its 100-mile-an-hour winds.

The storm, spawned Sunday in the Gulf of Mexico and blown to full hurricane force in a vicious sweep across Florida, merely skirted the Carolina coast.

Buenos Aires, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Gen. Benjamin Menendez, who came out of retirement to lead an abortive rebellion against Argentine President Juan Peron last week, was sentenced to 15 years in jail yesterday. The supreme council of the armed forces which conducted the trial, also cashiered him.

Saigon, Indo-China, Oct. 5.—(P)—French army headquarters said today that French air force planes, diving between mist-shrouded mountain peaks, plastered communist-led Vietminh troops with flaming napalm to halt two assaults on Nghia Lo.

Vietminh infantry attacks on the northern and eastern approaches to the city—largest town in the Thai federation, 90 miles west of Hanoi—were crushed with heavy losses, they said.

Western Front, Korea, Oct. 5.—(P)—Chinese prisoners taken by the Commonwealth division in the three-day-old Allied offensive carried unusually large amounts of money. The Reds had both Chinese and North Korean currency.

"They must have had a pay day," said a British sergeant. "Either that, or the blokes we caught were the best card players."

Basra, Iraq, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—The last of 300 British oil technicians who were evacuated from Iran's refineries at Abadan left here today by air for London.

They left Abadan aboard the Royal Navy cruiser Mauritius two days ago—24 hours ahead of an explosion deadline set by the Iran government.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Chicago Tribune announced yesterday that the price of its week-day editions will be increased to five cents starting Monday. The Tribune, which now costs four cents, said, "the change is made necessary by the higher cost of everything that goes into the making of a newspaper."

The Tribune is published by Col. Robert R. McCormick.

Goettingen, Germany, Oct. 5.—(P)—The Jewish community here said yesterday it will ask for prosecution of a village mayor who used grave-stones from a Jewish cemetery in building his house. The mayor of Imshausen told reporters that the last Jew was buried there more than 40 years ago, and that therefore he did not think it an anti-semitic act to use the stones.

Local Soldier In Korea Is Mentioned In Dispatches

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—(P)—Sixteen Canadian soldiers, including a twice-wounded private who showed "extraordinary courage," have been cited for gallantry and outstanding service in action in Korea.

With the exception of one, all the soldiers are alive and with their units in Korea, the army said yesterday in announcing the award of a Distinguished Conduct Medal, four Military Medals and 11 "mentions-in-dispatches."

One of the soldiers mentioned in dispatches was WO2 G. H. Fuller, 30, of Montreal and Sherbrooke. WO2 Fuller is serving with the Royal Canadian Regiment.

The distinction of being the fightingest went to Pte. Wayne Robert Mitchell of Verdun, Man., a member of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

A 21-year-old former hydro worker, Mitchell ren-gunned one "overwhelming" Red assault to a halt, carried a wounded man to safety, rushed a Chinese position firing the Bren from the hip to relieve a group of wounded men who were pinned down covered his platoon's withdrawal by drawing enemy fire, and refused to be evacuated after four enemy assaults.

All this despite his being twice wounded himself.

He stayed at his post throughout a long night on April 25 at Kapyong. "At daylight," said the citation, "Pte. Mitchell could hardly stand for loss of blood."

Ship Breaks Up, 5 Bodies Recovered

Elizabeth City, N.C., Oct. 5.—(P)—The Coast Guard said today that five bodies had been sighted in the Atlantic near the spot where the steamship Southern Isles broke up and sank.

The Southern Isles broke into halves and sank about 200 miles south-east of Cape Hatteras, N.C., early today.

Elizabeth City coast guard said the steamer Charlotte Lykes had reported by radio that she had picked up seven of the 24 crew members of the Southern Isles and had sighted five bodies. One of the survivors had a broken leg.

The Coast Guard station here said two B-17s were being dispatched from Charlotte, N.C., for search duty, in addition to two Martin Mariners dispatched from Jacksonville, Fla. The Coast Guard Cutter Cherokee, dispatched from Norfolk, Va., was expected to reach the area late this afternoon.

Louisburg, N.S., Oct. 5.—(P)—Three survivors of an Atlantic sea rescue were in hospital here today with weather-blackened faces and bruised hands, the only apparent marks of their ordeal.

Capt. Francis Corkum, 31, Morris Burke, 41, and Joe Richardson, 23, staggered ashore from their dory near here yesterday, tottering from hunger, thirst and lack of sleep. Richardson collapsed when he stepped from the boat.

They told a story of heartbreak and grim courage during six days of drifting helplessly in the treacherous Atlantic.

Three times rescue passed them by, within sight. When a rain-storm came to quench their burning thirst, Burke gave up his share of the precious water to his younger companions.

The trio left nearby Port Morien last Friday to tend their trawls in the 45-foot Cape Island boat Inez Eloise, which developed engine trouble later the same day.

Friday night, a ship passed by, unaware of their gasoline flares and flashing electric light.

Sunday night, a 45-knot storm twisted the vessel's stern off and they scrambled into their dory with out food or water and with only the comparatively light clothing they wore.

The dory was equipped with a compass, foghorn and flares. The men rowed from Sunday night until Tuesday and then, bone-weary, gave up the struggle and drifted aimlessly.

A "blessed rain" came Wednesday and they captured some in their compass base. Burke gave up his share but even at that there was hardly enough to dampen their parched lips and throats.

Also on Wednesday, a plane passed twice in murky weather but didn't see the fishermen's crude distress signal—a shirt flying from the end of a swordfish pole.

Finally they made landfall at nearby Kennington cove yesterday and stumbled to the farmhouse of Sandy MacLean, who arranged to get them to hospital here.

Chinese Give Up Hill Or Leave Only Rearguards To Fight Delaying Action.

By NATE POLOWETZKY
U.S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 5.—(P)—Chinese frontline defences appeared to be crumbling in the west today before an offensive of 100,000 United Nations troops.

Battered communists retreated northward in some sectors. Some hills were abandoned after days of bitter fighting. Elsewhere only die-hard rear guards delayed U.N. troops.

Soldiers of nine United Nations moved forward cautiously for limited gains. Canadian troops gained four miles in the first two days of the offensive.

Late in the day Reds lashed back with counter-attacks in efforts to recapture some abandoned hills.

Elsewhere:

1. The air over northeast Korea flamed with three jet battles involving 220 planes, the greatest number of jets ever reported in action on one day. The Fifth Air Force reported one Red jet shot down, two damaged. It said all allied jets returned from the first two battles but didn't say how they fared in the third.

2. Allied troops lashed forward on each side of heart-break ridge in a revival of warfare in the mountainous east. U.N. infantrymen advanced 1,000 yards to the west of the ridge while a tank patrol shot up Reds on the east.

3. Reds were silent on Pick. New Ridgway's invitation to get a new site in no-man's land to renew disrupted cease-fire talks. Red Korean political officers were quoted as saying there would be no negotiating truce in Korea in the near future.

Front-line dispatches from the western front reported these major gains Friday in the third day of the drive:

1. The U.S. 3rd division took a key hill in the centre of the line—without firing a shot.

2. Just south of the 3rd, the U.S. 1st Cavalry division beat off a series of pre-dawn counter-attacks, and captured three hills north of Yonchon in the daylight. At nightfall they were fighting counter-attacking Chinese trying to recapture one of the hills.

3. The Commonwealth division made gains of up to 1 1/2 miles in the sector reaching from Yonchon seven miles south to the 38th parallel. They fought off one Red counter-attack late in the day.

Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, commander of the division, said he was pleased with the performance of his forces, operating for the first time as a division.

"Things were a bit sticky on the first day," Cassels said. "But after that we moved on."

He reported 50 prisoners were taken by his men in the three-day advance.

Friday's ground action started with a series of Red counter-attacks, directed against the 3rd division and the 1st Cavalry division.

Three battalions of Reds—about 3,000 men—poured down at the cavalrymen from 2:40 a.m. until dawn. These counter-attacks were aimed at the centre of the U.N. offensive.

The allies were driving into the communists' favorite assembly area for eastern offensives of their own. This is where the Reds would build up for a new major campaign to recapture Seoul, former South Korean capital.

Reports from the eastern front Friday said the Reds were planning a new win-the-war offensive for Oct. 29. Other reports, possibly only rumors, said a Red offensive was set for next Friday.

The Oct. 23 date was reported by anti-communist North Koreans. They attributed it to North Korean political officers. These Reds also were quoted as saying there would be no truce in Korea in the immediate future.

In an official copy of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's newest cease-fire proposal, offering the Reds a chance to select a no-man's-land for resuming truce talks, was delivered Friday.

The U. N. commanding firm stand against resuming discussions at Kaesong made it apparent the allies have no intention of renewing negotiations unless the Reds agree to a change of sites.

And the speed of his answer gave credence to unofficial reports that Gen. Omar Bradley blue-printed future allied military and political moves during his recent visit.

The allied drive arcs northeastward through rolling hill country from a point less than 12 miles east of Kaesong, where Reds broke off the truce talks Aug. 23.

The U. N. commanding firm stand against resuming discussions at Kaesong made it apparent the allies have no intention of renewing negotiations unless the Reds agree to a change of sites.

Sadler's Wells Troupe Opens Tour Tonight

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Quebec, Oct. 5.—(P)—A workman banded away back stage, the orchestra toiled over some snappy music, slipped feet thumped in rhythm.

In the theatre's front row seats, men in bathrobes and bare-legged girls with heads wrapped in bandanas watched.

Something happened on the stage. There was a burst of laughter. The orchestra leader called out: "Stop!"

Peggy van Praagh, ballet mistress of the Sadler's Wells Theatre, conferred with orchestra leader Robert Zeller. Mr. Zeller instructed his musicians and rehearsal resumed.

"They're trying to adjust the orchestra to the dancer and are going over some rough spots," someone said in a low voice.

Elaine Field, petite, brown-haired leading ballerina, danced under the dull lights against a backdrop designed by Cecil Beaton, the English photographer, for the Christmas eve scene of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite.

She danced with cool grace in a yellow pullover and tights while the other dancers went through the motions of their routine.

Someone said: "The corps isn't really dancing this out. They're

Variety Of Gifts Will Be Given To Princess And Prince On Visit

By The Canadian Press
The accent will be on "something to remember us by" as Canadian cities, provinces and organizations present a variety of gifts to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip on their visit to the Duke of Edinburgh during the royal tour of the Dominion.

Many of the presents will have a distinctive local nature, to remind the travellers after their return to Britain of the places visited. British Columbia will present the Princess with a necklace and matched ear-rings in platinum and gold, set with emeralds and diamonds, in a design of dogwood blossoms—the provincial flower.

To the Duke, British Columbia will give gold cuff-links and studs, in a dogwood design with a diamond centre, and a Coho salmon fishing rod and tackle.

An Indian sweater and moccasins for Prince Charles and Princess Anne respectively will be given to their parents.

Vancouver's Stanley Park will present Prince Philip with a silver bowl engraved with the city's crest. Princess Elizabeth will receive a golden spade after planting an oak tree from Windsor Castle in Queen Elizabeth Park in Vancouver.

An Indian girl will present the Princess with a totem pole when she meets north shore children in Vancouver's Stanley Park.

Children from Nanaimo, on Vancouver island, will present two silver cups for Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Saskatchewan will present illuminated addresses to the Prince and Princess.

The province of Alberta and the city of Edmonton, which will combine in presenting gifts to the Royal couple, will keep the gifts a secret until they are presented.

The city of Ottawa is following a similar plan in not announcing its gifts until the presentation. The federal government and the

U.K. Parliamentary Report Blames Communists For British Dock Strike

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Oct. 5.—(P)—A dock strike which involved 87 ships, cost £150,000 in lost wages and a loss of 86,330 working days, was promoted and prolonged by a communist-led organization, says a parliamentary report.

The strike of 2,500 Manchester dockers lasted six weeks in April and June this year. The report, published yesterday by Labor Minister Alfred Robens, says the unofficial strike leaders went to "unusual lengths" to keep the strike alive.

"An organization seems to have been created in Manchester," the report says, "that was all ready to take advantage of the dispute when it occurred."

"This organization obviously owed its origin to the port workers' committee in London. The unofficial leaders seem to have gone to unusual lengths to keep the strike alive. The strike ended only when the men repudiated them completely."

The London committee has been prominent in every major dispute at the port of London since the second world war ended. An official white paper blamed the communist-led committee for the long and costly London dock strike in 1949, which had as its purported cause a dispute involving the Canadian Seaman's Union.

(The C.S.U., expelled from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress as a communistic organization and no longer recognized as a union by the Canadian Labor Relations Board, has been replaced on the Great Lakes by the Seafarers' International Union.)

(The C.S.U. was formed by J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, who resigned as president in March, 1947, charging that the union was engaged in Red activities.)

The strike at Manchester started over the suspension of two men who refused to work overtime. But, says the report, it was not the result of a "spontaneous outbreak" of feeling among the dockers. The master lay in the tactics of the unofficial committee.

"First, the declared objects of the strike were impossible of achievement; second, meetings were held frequently, but became more and more perfunctory as they went; and third, the official union leaders were made the object of attack."

The chairman of the Manchester committee was George Norman, identified in the report as an avowed communist.

As other effects of the strike, the report mentioned a drop in net traffic receipts totalling at least £100,000.

"To an island nation dependent on sea-going traffic for its supplies and trade, the loss in carrying space cannot in circumstances like the present be made good."

Cripps Returns After Illness

London, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Sir Stafford Cripps, 62, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, returned to London from Switzerland today after a year-long battle with illness.

He does not plan to re-enter politics "for at least another year."

Cripps, who handled Britain's post-war finances for the Labor government, resigned his post last October and entered a clinic in Zurich with spondylitis—a tubercular infection of the spine.

Encased in plaster for months, his condition gradually grew worse. Last March the Lausanne University surgeon, Prof. Pierre Decker, said the former minister had contracted a new "rare and dangerous disease." The exact diagnosis was not announced.

The new disease was treated by a rigorous course of therapy. By May, reports indicated gradual but steady progress—his right leg re-learning the use of his legs after months in plaster.

Proclamation Is Signed By The King

London, Oct. 5.—(P)—The King today signed in a firm hand a proclamation dissolving Parliament in preparation for the national election Oct. 25.

The signing took place in the Buckingham Palace bedroom where the King is recovering from his dangerous lung operation of Sept. 23.

The new House will meet Oct. 30 to elect a Speaker. It probably will hold its first business session Nov. 6.

Three members of the Privy Council—the King's advisory body—stood in the doorway of the bedroom in Buckingham Palace watching him write his name with a fountain pen. Another member of the Council, Sir Alan Lascelles, also the King's private secretary, took the documents to the bedside.

The fifth man present at the simple ceremony was Francis Fernand, clerk of the Privy Council. No doctors or nurses were there.

Today's medical bulletin said the King's condition continued to show improvement.

The statement present when the King signed were Viscount Jowitt, Lord Chancellor; Viscount Addison, Lord President of the Council, and James Chuter Ede, Home Secretary.

The document, dissolving the 18-month-old "stalemate" Parliament, in which Labor held an insecure majority over the Conservatives, cleared the way for an all-out campaign between now and voting day, Oct. 25.

Prime Minister Attlee, 68, has planned an electioneering tour of England during which he will make 53 speeches in 10 days. He made 34 speeches during the 1950 campaign.

This time he has cut Scotland from his tour and will speak at towns in northern, middle and southern England.

London, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Dr. Clement Price-Thomas, the surgeon who operated on the King, was quoted yesterday by the British Medical Journal on the subject of pneumonectomy—the "cutting away" of a lung.

The Journal said it was generally accepted that, in the treatment of patients with bronchial carcinoma (cancer of the lung), pneumonectomy offered "the best hope of long survival."

It quoted a paper written by Price-Thomas and five other specialists who estimated that of the 9,000 persons dying each year from lung cancer in England and Wales, fewer than 200 undergo pneumonectomy.

Price-Thomas operated on the King Sept. 23. The extent of the operation and its cause have not been disclosed.

London, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Seven ships, five of them warships, will be posted at 300-mile intervals across the Atlantic to guard the track of the plane carrying Princess Elizabeth to Canada Monday.

The navy announced last night that in addition to two international ocean weather ships always stationed on the Transatlantic air route, the following ships will take part in the operation:

The aircraft carrier Triumph, the destroyers Wizard and Scorpion and the frigates Burghhead Bay and La Hulloise.

La Hulloise is a Royal Canadian Navy ship.

At all times during the flight the Royal airliner will be in radio contact with one or more of these ships.

Schacht Accuses Keenleyside Of Impertinence, Slander

Jakarta, Indonesia, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Hjalmar Schacht, Hitler's wartime "financial wizard," today accused a Canadian United Nations official who snubbed him Wednesday of "impertinence" and "slander."

The official, Hugh Keenleyside, Canadian director-general of the U.N. technical assistance administration, refused to shake hands with Schacht at a private reception.

Later Keenleyside, in a statement issued by his office, called the German "an unprincipled turncoat," "a disgrace to the human race" and "a despicable scoundrel."

Schacht, visiting Indonesia at the government's request to study the country's economy and finance, said in his reply:

"That Dr. Keenleyside has the courage to call me a despicable scoundrel is an impertinence which not only gives a clear picture of his ignorance but also his character."

"It does not show much psychological insight on the part of the U.N. to send such a man to promote goodwill for that institution."

Dr. Keenleyside is a former deputy minister of mines and resources in the Canadian government.

He and Schacht, who helped engineer the financing of Hitler's war machine, met at a reception given by Sir Mirza Ismail, resident representative of the technical assistance administration.

Other guests quoted the Canadian saying: "I know your black record. I shall have nothing to do with you."

"U.N. sources in New York said there is no established protocol covering a meeting between U.N. officials and former Nazis."

"Canada's External Affairs Minister, L. B. Pearson, was obviously surprised when informed in Ottawa of Keenleyside's action. Other associates there said such conduct was foreign to Keenleyside's character."

Schacht, whose statement was issued by the Indonesian news agency Aneta, continued:

"Regrettably I have not sufficient dollar funds to sue Dr. Keenleyside. I can only publicly call him a slanderer. I hope and beg he will file charges against me in Germany."

Schacht, president of Hitler's Reichsbank and later finance minister, said no charge of crimes against humanity had been brought against him during the Nurnberg trials.

"If I had 'actively supported' Hitler's regime in the times of the gas chambers and concentration camps, the prosecution in Nurnberg would have not spared me," he said.

Keenleyside said later that he had never before met the German, but that he had studied his wartime and pre-war record.

He said active collaboration with Hitler during the time of gas chambers and concentration camps could not be excused by his later falling out with the Nazi leader.

BOGART 'SOLD' ON HEPBURN AFTER MAKING AFRICAN FILM
Hollywood—Hollywood predicted a pyrotechnic display in the same league with an H-bomb when Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn were sent to Africa to co-star in John Huston's "African Queen."
But the fission fizzled and it's Bogart shouting Katie's praises. On his first day back in Hollywood after the long overseas location junket, Bogart said: "I've more admiration for Katharine Hepburn than any other woman I've met in my life. Her type has always irritated me but when I got to know her, I found out she's one h—of a dame."
"You don't pull up a chair for me, baby, and go get one for Katie. You say, 'Pull up a chair yourself.' It's a Hepburn you've never seen in this film."
"After she found out we knew our business, John Huston and I relaxed her. She winds up in the final scenes the messest looking dame you ever saw. Me? I wind up as a pleasant little fellow."
About the picture, in which he plays a drunken bum opposite Katie's missionary role, Bogart slipped me the word:
"It's Huston's best movie. I'll personally shoot the first critic who doesn't like it."

Father Antoine Labrecque, first violinist of the Sherbrooke Symphony orchestra, is shown here with a portion of the 1st violin section during rehearsal for the orchestra's opening concert of the season on October 23. Father Labrecque has been taking charge of the rehearsals that have been taking place for the last three weeks. miles an hour, while "Massawippi Girl," "Miss Hatley," "Black and White" are among well remembered watercraft.
For several years pleasure boats ran the 9-mile length of Massawippi Lake from North Hatley to Ayer's Cliff, the first being the "Mayflower." This was succeeded by the "Pocahontas," a finely built and equipped boat which stopped at points on each side of the lake. During those years a hermit, named Lambert, lived on the west shore and the boat drew up at his wharf where passengers were offered fruits from his orchard and from the hilly pasture land, souvenirs such as moccasins and hunting belts, while Monsieur Lambert told them quaint stories of the outdoors. The coming of the railway resulted in discontinuance of the naval service on beautiful Massawippi except the modern watercraft—of the best.

The name of Sir Hugh Montagu Allan who recently passed away at the age of ninety-one, was long connected with Lake Memphremagog which lies on the international border and whose waters and surrounding shores are filled with history. Sir Hugh Allan's fleet is still remembered since the glamorous days of eighty years ago when the Camperdown Hotel was a noted social centre to which came the elite of Montreal and other places. On its registry book were the names of royal and noted visitors from far distant lands. This famous hostelry of early days was burned, thus ending an era of importance in Lake Memphremagog early history.
These glimpses are only a few of others in the townships that often entice the writers of history who search under the leaves of yesteryear.

Red Feather Donations Reach $5,000; Canvassers Urged To Make Reports

Honorary treasurer Frank Pearson of the Red Feather Community Chest campaign reported today that, although a very small percentage of the canvassers have yet made returns, the Campaign total has passed the $5,000 mark.

Commenting on this, vice-chairman Lee M. Watson said "We know that a lot of money has been collected which is in the hands of the many canvassers, who are probably waiting to make a complete return. It would be encouraging to the Committee to see the actual funds turned in daily, so that we might have some way of ascertaining just how we are doing."

"I wish the Canvassers would do this, because the public would also like to know. We want to clean the canvass up this week... and MUST reach our objective if the work of the organizations, which means so much to the Community, is to be continued."

Magog Residents Perform On N. Y. Television

Mrs. Charles Cavell and Mrs. Edith Dustin, of Magog, had the novel experience of performing on television during a recent visit to New York.

As guests at the Radio Corporation of America Exhibition Hall, they mounted a brightly lit platform on which a television camera was trained. Then they watched themselves "perform" on a television screen which faced the platform.

The RCA Exhibition Hall in Radio City is one of New York's main gathering places for out of town visitors, and houses the largest free electronic exhibit in the metropolitan area.

Blood Clinic Ends Today

The people of Sherbrooke seemed to be trying hard to uphold the first day's clinic record when yesterday 347 blood donors turned up at the Red Cross clinic.

Although the first day saw a total of 420 donors, it can certainly be said that the second day's results were not disheartening. This brings the two day total up to 767 donors so far and total up to at least 300 donors are expected at the clinic.

It is to be hoped that on this, their last day here, the Red Cross will not be disappointed.

The clinic is being held at the William street Armoury, from 11 a.m. until two p.m. and from four o'clock in the afternoon until nine o'clock in the evening.

Bishop's Alumni Association Adds Members

Montreal, Oct. 5 — Bishop's University Alumni Association, at its annual meeting yesterday, elected Judge Gerald Almond and Henry Wright as new members of its executive council. J. E. Martin was re-elected a member at the same meeting.

The officers of the association for 1951-52 are: Cecil T. Teakle, president; Grant Day, secretary-treasurer; A. V. L. Mills, Allan Magee, Lyman Roberts, Desmond Stoker, J. H. S. Mills, Judge Almond, Mr. Wright and Mr. Martin.

Mr. Teakle, chairman of the meeting, presented a brief annual report to the members of the association after John H. Molson, president of the Corporation of Bishop's University, had welcomed the group.

Mr. Teakle said the work of the association and its promotion of the best interests of the University and its students had made considerable strides during the past year. He paid special tribute to the late George H. Montgomery, K.C., a former chancellor of the university, who died a few months ago. He also mentioned the work done by George Savage, a member of the alumni, and Prof. L. Richardson, of the university.

Mr. Day in his report as secretary-treasurer, said the association had helped various student bodies of the university, including the dramatic society, in an effort to keep alive the traditions of their alma mater.

Dr. A. R. Jewitt, principal and chancellor of Bishop's University, pointed to the continued growth of the university at a time when enrollment at other places of higher learning was declining. He said the "esprit de corps" of the university was better than ever before.

"Like others, we have our difficulties in meeting all problems concerned with our expansion, but we are told that support is forthcoming and are going ahead... we have no intention of looking back..." he said.

J. E. Jordan, a senior student of the university, thanked the members of the association for their generous support during the past year. W. B. Scott, K.C., chairman of the executive committee of Bishop's University, also attended.

Philip S. Gregory, M.A., D.F.C. and Cecil T. Teakle, M.A., have been elected as members of the Corporation of Bishop's University, according to an announcement made by John H. Molson, M.B.E., president of the Corporation. Mr. Gregory vice-president and a director of the Shawinigan Water and Power Company, has been active in the work of the Bishop's Associates. Mr. Teakle, who is superintendent of French, Department of Education, Quebec, is president of the University's alumni association.

Average Price Is Maintained But Fewer Cattle Sold At Fair

The 16th annual Fat Stock Show held at the Arena yesterday brought in a total of $48,893.32, somewhat less than last year's receipts, $49,366, but the average is maintained, as yesterday's 101 steers sold for $38,733.52, and last year's 116 for $38,941.07.

Lambs this year brought in $2,569.40 and hogs $5,590.40. Figures for 1950 were $3,645.55 for lambs and $6,773.33 for hogs.

In spite of interruptions for photographs and a presentation, veteran auctioneer Ray Demers carried the sale right along and everything was over in two hours and a half.

Steinberg's purchased the Grand Champion Steer, shown by H. G. Norman, of Magog, for $125 a pound, while the Reserve Grand Champion, belonging to H. S. Lockwood, of Danville, went to Morantz Beef for 80 cents. Mr. Morantz was one of the big buyers at the show yesterday, as were Steinberg's, Eaton's, Swifts, Wilsil's, Nichols, Canada Packers and Modern Packers.

Eaton's purchased the 980 pound steer, shown by Green Hills Farm, Lennoxville, (Nichol and son) for 65 cents. Total amount realized from the animal is being donated by the Nichols to the Lennoxville High School Building Campaign.

The Grand Champion Lamb also went to Eaton's for $2.00 and Gaudreau and Sons, Magog, paid $1.50 for the Reserve Grand Champion.

Directors of the E.T.A.A. as well as many of the buyers, were of the opinion that this year's show was one of the best ever held in Sherbrooke.

The sale was declared official by J. S. Bourque, who congratulated everyone responsible for the event, having a special word for the buyers. "Without you," he said, "there would be no show, and without private enterprise such a sale could not take place."

He wished all concerned the greatest possible success and his sentiments were seconded by J. A. Ste. Marie, president of the E.T.A.A.

A number of new buyers helped to keep up the fine average of the sale and among them was Sherbrooke's Mayor, C. B. Howard.

Further Community Support Is Urged For Symphony As Campaign Nears End
The first symphony concert of the season is just a few weeks away and an appeal for further community support if the orchestra is to continue after this season was voiced today by Jean Dansereau, treasurer of the Sherbrooke Symphony Concerts Inc.

Mr. Dansereau explained some of the difficulties attendant upon operating a symphony orchestra and stated that even if every seat in the Grand theatre is sold for all three of this season's concerts, grants and donations are needed to keep the orchestra out of the red.

"There is no symphony orchestra in Canada or the United States that is not running up a deficit," Mr. Dansereau said. "That is why we have to count on grants and donations from people who realize the important part the orchestra plays in the cultural life of our city."

The orchestra's annual subscription campaign for this season's concerts is taking place this week and Mr. Dansereau said that 300 members are still needed to attain the objective of 1,200 members needed if the symphony is to operate on a sound financial basis.

Further Community Support Is Urged For Symphony As Campaign Nears End

The first symphony concert of the season is just a few weeks away and an appeal for further community support if the orchestra is to continue after this season was voiced today by Jean Dansereau, treasurer of the Sherbrooke Symphony Concerts Inc.

Mr. Dansereau explained some of the difficulties attendant upon operating a symphony orchestra and stated that even if every seat in the Grand theatre is sold for all three of this season's concerts, grants and donations are needed to keep the orchestra out of the red.

"There is no symphony orchestra in Canada or the United States that is not running up a deficit," Mr. Dansereau said. "That is why we have to count on grants and donations from people who realize the important part the orchestra plays in the cultural life of our city."

The orchestra's annual subscription campaign for this season's concerts is taking place this week and Mr. Dansereau said that 300 members are still needed to attain the objective of 1,200 members needed if the symphony is to operate on a sound financial basis.

Donations of less than $50 each, as follows: Mrs. Irene Moore, Jim Lynn, G. M. Gingras, H. C. Maddis, Howard A. Sawyer, D. M. Miller, William A. Burnside, John Beattie, J. G. Beattie, Earle F. Fisk, C. D. Savage, Ross R. Carter, Edwin Aldrich, Curtis Robichaud, William Bowers, Harold Hunting.

William Minnaugh, Harold Aldrich, Wesley Aldrich, Ernest Booth, Donald Brown, N. E. Dean, A. W. Way, J. A. Campbell, J. M. Galvin, Alice Van Vliet, Everett Beattie, Alfred Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Main, Carl Tang, Kenneth McCrea, Ernest Wilson, Huntingville Ladies' A.E. J. Harrison, Ascot Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Mr. and Mrs. Lofthouse, H. Bennett, plus six anonymous.

He appealed especially for at least 100 supporting memberships—that is subscriptions from people who are not necessarily lovers of symphony music but who recognize the value of such an orchestra to Sherbrooke.

"A city of 51,000 people needs more than a good baseball team and a good hockey team to bring it publicity," Mr. Dansereau said. "It needs the cultural assets, too, and one of these is the symphony orchestra."

Considered by those who have conducted it to be one of the best orchestras of its kind outside of the large cities, the local symphony has brought good publicity to Sherbrooke throughout all of Quebec and in Ontario as well.

The fact that it is able to bring the highest calibre artists here as soloists or conductors speaks for itself.

This season three fine concerts have been lined up.

The first will take place on Oct. 23 with Alexander Brott of Montreal, internationally renowned as composer and conductor, appearing locally for the first time as the conductor. The soloist will be Yaela Hertz, a young Israeli violinist.

Harry Long, who needs no introduction locally, will be the conductor for the second concert, on Feb. 5. The soloist will be Constant Lambert, winner of the CBC's "Singing Stars" contest.

Sylvio Lacharite, who is completing two years of overseas study, will return to his former post as conductor for the final concert on May 13 and the symphony will welcome as its soloist Patsy Parr, talented young pianist who appeared at the Youth Festival earlier this year.

unanimous approval of 500,000 union members.

It may be that the 50,000 will still be indifferent enough to allow their indifference to be thus translated into approval. Organized labor has hitherto been successful in transferring to the backs of others much of the burden imposed by the welfare state. If health insurance should be made compulsory, with its costs defrayed by a system of payroll deductions, a new series of wage demands may be expected, leading to further inflation and adding to the difficulties of farmers and other self-employed.

When Joseph de Maistre wrote that "every country has the government it deserves" he was expressing succinctly the final result of public indifference to public questions. The Minister of National Health and Welfare may seem a disproportionately heavy punishment for the taxpayers' apathy, not to speak of the Minister of Agriculture and other public spendthrifts. Nevertheless, the punishment is in accordance with natural law, and ignorance is not accepted as an extenuating circumstance.

PRESS COMMENTS

THE ARGENTINE REVOLT

The abortive revolt of a group of army officers against Argentina's dictator, Juan Peron, has some curious angles.

Quickly suppressed, it was perhaps the least successful rebellion in Argentine history. Only two shots were known to have been fired, and no one was hurt.

The outside world's sole knowledge of the uprising comes from official government radio accounts. At 11.10 a.m. on Friday, Sept. 28, the radio announced the revolt had begun. At 12:57 p.m. the same day, it declared the affair was ended.

Shortly after the original announcement, the Peron-dominated labor federation called a general strike to help combat the rebellion. The timing suggested advance government intelligence on rebel plans.

The government later claimed it had seized a number of rebellious officers and that there were some casualties. This last report was in direct conflict with others which insisted the shooting was inconsequential.

More than 70 Argentine officers escaped by plane to nearby Uruguay. One rebel leader among them said plans for the revolt had been considered "foolproof" but that "something went wrong."

Many observers went so far as to argue that Peron staged the whole business to elicit sympathy for himself in the current election campaign for president. More plausible were the hints that Peron knew of the planned rebellion beforehand, and may have exhorted his agents to help make sure it came off in advance of elections.

Whether or not the event actually stirs any sympathy for the Argentine dictator, it has given him certain other advantages. It has provided him with excuse to reduce his political opposition to an ineffectual minimum.

This opposition would not have been strong enough to have blocked his election. But if allowed to grow, it might well have reached the point eventually where a really successful uprising could have been staged.

It is axiomatic in Argentine politics that the army is key to any leader's continuance in office — or his accession to command. That's how Peron gained power initially. If he is ever to be ousted, it will be the army which will bring the downfall. Understandably, therefore, he may have seized upon the first pretext to choke off swelling discontent among army leaders.

The government has now clamped a state of internal siege on the country. At least 80 well-known opposition political leaders have been arrested, including the Socialist candidate for president. Many officers are in prison. The dictator's reign is supreme.

Knowing Peron for the complete autocrat he is, none of this can really come as a surprise to the world of free men. All they can do is express regret that the plans for the revolt were so fragile, and hope that another time the forces of liberty will be luckier.

REWARD OF APATHY

Among the resolutions passed at the recent annual meeting of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was one calling for the institution of a government-subsidized (i.e., taxpayer-supported), contributory, health insurance plan covering all Canadian citizens. The newspaper report of the convention also states that "the decision was taken at a session that reached a new low in apathy for labor conventions, and was adopted without one word of discussion, as were other resolutions considered of major importance."

The two pieces of news are not unconnected, comments The Printed Word. Like the majority of Canadian voters, most members of labor unions seem content to let a small minority do their thinking for them, even in a matter that is bound to affect their own financial well-being. Apathy towards such matters is not counted for what it is. On the contrary, when the Minister of National Health and Welfare introduces to Parliament a scheme for national health insurance, he may be confidently expected to represent it as being backed by the

DOWN THE RIVER

Toronto Globe and Mail

Canadians will be shocked and bitterly disappointed at what Prime Minister St. Laurent did in Washington recently. After many months of preparation, he went there to acquaint President Truman with the decision of the Ontario Government, and his own, to go ahead with the all-Canadian seaway. Instead, he made a deal—a deal which delays the construction of the seaway, on any basis, into the indefinite future.

Apparently the lure of Yankee dollars was too much for the Prime Minister. He had a club, and he knew it. On threat of going ahead alone, he obtained assurances from the President that new efforts would be made to obtain Congressional approval for an "early commencement" on the international seaway.

When is "early"? It is not in the power of President Truman or any one else to say. Even if the Congressional committee reversed itself tomorrow, and approved the joint seaway project, it would still have a long, long way to travel through the House of Representatives and the Senate—at any point along which it could be blocked indefinitely.

Following agreements with Ontario and Quebec, it was understood that Mr. St. Laurent went to Washington to say flatly that Canada was all set to go it alone, and that work would begin immediately. Instead of this, he went there and used the agreement with Ontario as a means of coercing Congress into approving the international seaway—thus saving the Federal Government half the cost.

It will be said in Ottawa that Mr. St. Laurent felt it necessary, and was led by friendship, to do a bit of political window-dressing for the President. What about a bit of morale-building for this nation? For twelve months it has lived with the idea that building the seaway was something we could do by ourselves, for ourselves, and to the benefit of many others besides ourselves.

REAL SAM MCGEE DISLIKED CREMATION

Sault Ste. Marie Star

Robert W. Service hailed by some earlier-century critics as a Canadian Kipling, for such works as "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" and "The Cremation of Sam McGee," is still around, very much alive and continuing to write verse.

Wallace Reyburn digs up Service in an October Reader's Digest article condensed from Everbody's. Now living in the south of France, Service published "Songs of a Sun Lover" in 1949, "Rhymes of a Roughneck" last year, and has another volume now ready for printing.

Service is not a Canadian, as generally believed, but an Englishman. He started his adult career as a bank clerk in Scotland, writing verse in every spare moment. He came to Canada at 20, drifted around for several years, then became a bank agent, first in Victoria, then in Whitehorse and finally in Dawson.

Now 77 years old, Service has 800 poems to his credit and hopes to complete 1,000. Whether he reaches his goal or not, the verses he has written so far have made him financially independent. His first book, "Song of a Sourdough," has sold over 1,500,000 copies in English and American editions.

FIND OLDER WORKERS ARE GOOD BET

Owen Sound Daily Sun Times

Many employers are reluctant to employ older people. Many reasons are given for this attitude, among which is the claim that older workers are slow, increase production costs, have a higher accident rate.

This claim is largely denied by three Ohio State University researchers following considerable investigation into actual facts. Their findings are favorable to the older worker, who so often finds himself or herself on the shelf, particularly if something happens to his regular place of employment.

Their survey shows that, actually the older workers have a lower accident frequency. Average days of disability increases only slightly with age, from 2.1 days for men over 31 to 3.2 days for workers in their sixties.

In favor of the older workers are these facts, according to the survey. He is available for longer periods and is more likely to win promotion. He's less likely to be discharged or leave because of dissatisfaction. Family troubles are less likely to have an adverse effect. He's absent less and his attitude is declared to be better.

Even in the matter of illness the older man is not found to be much more of a liability than the young. He may stay off a little longer when ill. He gets ill only slightly more often.

FINICKY FELLOWS, THESE HUSBANDS

Christian Science Monitor

"My husband is so finicky," said the first recent bride. "For instance, he wants a paper bag inside the pail inside the bucket in our cute little refuse container in the kitchen."

"Well, do you think that's being finicky?" countered the second young housekeeper. "My husbands wants me to plan one hot meal every week just for practice in case his mother comes to stay with us this winter."

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

OUR NOBLE KING

The heart of the nation is deeply stirred by the serious illness of His Majesty King George VI. It has been said of many men: "He was too young to die," and the same sentiment prevails among his devoted peoples and loyal subjects, while he is bravely fighting his own battle for life.

King George VI in the years of his reign has shown his loyalty and devotion as King, husband and father in his modest and kindly manner, and nowhere can we find a finer tribute to him than in that delightful book: "Old Soldiers Never Die." One paragraph from its pages stirs the heart of the nation in the days of anxiety.

We will take a brief glimpse of the old general who was taking his daily walk. "In the twilight the general stood on a bridge and looked up a stretch of placid grey waters to the Gregorian pile where the King lived; a pale faced King, youthful for his years, with a shy smile and a slight stammer, who loved his home and adored his children. A King as middle-class as England and as much a symbol as the flag above the palace. Standing on the bridge the old general raised his hat to the Gregorian pile and to the man who was its tenant."

Today that youthful monarch with tired body, but indomitable will is fighting his battle for life, fully assured of his subjects' sympathy and loyalty. We need him; may God spare him.

OUR EARLY WATER CRAFT

Having a few minutes of leisure we may sit down with map in hand and check up on Canada's waterways which may be termed the largest, longest and most picturesque in the world. Canada, like Mother England, has its thousands of miles of coast line, western, northern and eastern bordered, and along the International line are lakes and rivers that have been used long before the coming of the white man. All over the map of Canada can be seen lakes, large and small; rivers long and short, and many of them famous for their power, wealth and beauty; it takes rivers and lakes to make picturesque land and water pictures of lasting beauty.

Nagara Falls and River stand out clearly in the picture, while the Reversing Falls at St. John, N.B., where water runs up hill, is a novelty in waterways, as is the Bore at Moncton, N.B., in its peculiar tidal wave. The majestic St. Lawrence with its many tributaries, one of them the St. Francis; the turbulent Saguenay, the tricky rivers of western Canada which go on rampage without giving proper notice, and the northland with its frozen rivers, all go to the making of a Land of Waters in a Land of Forests.

Taking our Eastern Townships as a good sample of Canada's woods and waters, we may check off a few of the many lakes and rivers within their borders. The St. Francis is the longest river in eastern Canada. It is the outlet of the lake bearing the same name; it is one hundred and fifty miles from its source to Lake Peter, near Mont-real, where it empties into the St. Lawrence. Long before the white man came to the townships the St. Francis was the Indians' chief waterway. They plied the river in their canoes, hunted along its shores, took fish from its depths, then later the pioneers depended on the river both summer and winter for their treks to homesteads. Bruce Hutchinson has written: "The time when we travelled through Canada's jungles in our birch-bark canoes," but forgot to mention the heven out log used by early comers. We may be able to picture a large tree cut down, its branches severed, then heven into the shape of a boat. They tell us they didn't tip over, but when water-logged they sank. The Voyageurs followed the same routes in the same crude watercrafts, and today the canoe is a favorite craft but not made of birch bark. Close seconds are the sail and motor boat, and it may be said that the true Canadian, next to his wife, loves his boat, perchance at times the boat comes first.

The first large-sized boat that plied the St. Francis was built by Elim Warner of Eaton, and it was launched at a certain place on Willowdale Farm, east Lennoxville. The first and last steamboat to run on the St. Francis was the "Enterprise," a gala boat which carried passengers on a trip from Sherbrooke to Brompton Falls and return. It was a pleasant water journey through a picturesque valley for twenty-five cents a head, and well patronized during the few years it ran.

North Hatley from earliest days was a boat building centre and some fine watercraft was turned out. It is not known who built the first boat but the Woodward-McCrea Boat Works have operated for several years. During World War I two custom patrol boats were built for the government and were named "Tenacity" and "Stalwart." They went into service at Matane and Chicoutimi and gallantly lived up to their names; the only two boats of their kind in this province.

Other boats built by Woodward and McCrea were the noted "Blackie Pup"; the "Dominion 151 Class Champion" which made 52

The Record Short Story

THE HERO

By SEVEN ANDERTON

"Joe, you've just got to go over and play in the ball game," Joe Bagley's wife said. They were still at the supper table. Little Joe, going-on-5, had departed. Through the open kitchen door they could see him playing in his sand pile.

"Why?" Joe put down his coffee cup.

"For Little Joe," Jessie Bagley replied. "The other kids have been telling him you can't play ball."

"Well," Joe said matter-of-factly, "they are right."

"Sometimes," his wife declared, "I wonder if you deserve a son, especially one who worships you. Don't you know he believes you can do anything?"

"So," Joe argued, "why should I try to play ball and disillusion him? That will happen soon enough."

"It's only softball," Jessie countered, "and all the other men are playing it. And you might get rid of some of that bulge."

"I don't bulge," Joe growled.

But he did. Joe clerked in Red Sonberg's store and pushing his lawn mower was about all the other exercise he got. He carried 210 pounds on a framed designed for 180.

"I haven't played ball since I was a kid," Joe went on, "and I was a duffer then. Wouldn't I look fine at almost 40 bouncing around on a ball diamond?"

"You'd look good to Little Joe," Jessie retorted, "and—"

Half an hour later Joe Bagley, still grumbling, was arrayed in old clothes and tennis shoes and on his way to the school grounds with his wife and small son. The impromptu softball games on the school yard diamond had become a regular evening attraction for the summer months. Half the people of Center-ville were gathered about the diamond when the Bagleys arrived.

"My daddy is gonna play ball," Little Joe proudly began to inform all and sundry.

The men always chose up sides just before the game started. Joe Bagley was welcomed, since it always took coaxing to get enough men onto the field for two complete teams. The crowd helped with the coaxing, because the games were fun for all—and they didn't cost anything.

Joe Bagley was put at third base to make his debut. Jessie and Little Joe found a place in the crowd on the third base line. Joe's team took the field first and Joe hoped that the ball would not be hit towards him. The game was a wild and woolly affair from the start.

The playing made up in action what it lacked in skill. By the end of the second inning it was all Joe could do to keep his tongue from lolling. He knew he would be stiffer than a poker in the morning.

Sweat glued his blue shirt to his forehead. He was feeling every one of his 39 years double. He knew he was playing like a super dud, but he couldn't quit. He had one rabid fan.

Little Joe was cheering himself hoarse, and all the cheers were for his sire. A dozen times the batted ball had evaded Joe's valiant but ponderous efforts to interrupt its merry progress towards the outfield, but Little Joe cheered just the same.

Joe refused to even glance towards his wife and son, but he could hear. Finally, in the third inning, Joe stopped a roller by falling flat as he reached for it. The ball hit Joe and he rolled on top of it. Milt Dingman, playing shortstop, rolled Joe's inert form off the ball and recovered it in time to nip the runner trying for second base.

"My daddy stopped it!" Little Joe's shrill voice cut through the laughter and comment of the crowd.

Joe struggled to his feet, his face red with more than heat and exertion. The game reached the sixth inning with the score 11 to 10 in favor of Joe's team, in spite, not because, of Joe. Then it was again Joe's turn to bat. He had batted three times, striking out twice and hitting a puny bouncer to the pitcher. With two men out, Joe stood at the plate and waited for the pitch.

"Now my daddy will hit it," Little Joe screamed.

Joe heard, and thought that his

Joe stood frozen. A runner was sitting. Another runner had easily tagged passed him, touched third and tore on towards home. Milt Dingman came racing and reaching for the ball held by Joe who was still too bewildered to move.

"Come," somebody else yelled, "throw it home!"

Then Joe came unglued. He dodged the reaching hand of Milt Dingman and heaved the ball towards home plate. The catcher couldn't have reached it with a little more time. The ball slammed into the chicken wire backstop, 10 feet above the ground, and stuck there tightly. Four runs pounded across the plate, sending Joe's team down to dismal defeat. The game was over.

Joe grinned sheepishly at his wife, took Little Joe's hand and they made their way through the crowd that ribbed Joe good naturedly. Finally the Bagleys were walking alone down Elm Street.

Little Joe's hand reached to his father's damp and aching eyes.

"Daddy," Little Joe declared, "can play gooder than anybody. He got the ball and they tried to take it away from him, but daddy throwed it where they couldn't get it. Everybody hollered loud for daddy."

"Stanley Musial has but one peer," his wife smiled at Joe, "and his name is spilled. Now I suppose you can quit while your credit is good."

Joe grinned. "No," he said, "If I survive and the others will let me play, I'm going to be less of a dud by the time my public gets old enough to become critical."

Busy Sessions Held Here By U. C. Presbytery

Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery of the United Church met in Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke, on Tuesday and Wednesday, of this week.

Under the title of "A School for Evangelism" a new venture was tried. Following a supper attended by members of Presbytery and members Official Boards of congregations in the Sherbrooke area, Norman Buchanan spoke on the subject of evangelism. Mr. Buchanan is a member of Trinity Church, Sherbrooke, and is at present in his final year in theology at McGill University.

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that the materials for religious revival are always present, and he stressed the importance of personal conviction in evangelism. In whatever form, the theme of the evangelist is "Whereas I was blind, now I see."

The evening session of the "School" consisted of a public meeting in the church followed by an hour's discussion which took place in the Sunday School hall.

At the church service, Rev. C. G. Ward, of Chalmers United Church, Verdun, reminded his hearers that the great days of the Christian Church were the days of "the missionaries, the monks and the methodists". All of these movements were movements among laymen, and most frequently had lay leadership. What is needed today, he said, is a new and realistic interpretation, in understandable terms, of the meaning of the great words of religion — sin, salvation, reconciliation. The discussion following this presentation centered around the content and methods of modern evangelism.

In the report of the Committee on Pastoral Relations the Presbytery was informed that Rev. Peter Pollitt, of Scotstown, and Rev. Wesley, of Sutton, are retiring, and both these charges will shortly be vacant.

The Committee on Overseas Missions told the members of the church court that out of more than the 70 million people in the islands of Japan, some 300,000 are Christians. Reports of missionaries there describe the religious situation as a spiritual vacuum. Presbytery also adopted a report of the Missionary and Maintenance Committee which asked the congregations in the Presbytery to increase their givings for 1951 by 10% over 1950.

Bookmobile Is Helping Q. W. I. Branches

Branches of the Quebec Women's Institutes, in two sections of the province, are now in a position to obtain help with their libraries. A bookmobile, operated by the McLennan Travelling Libraries in the Eastern Townships and Chateaugay-Huntingdon, is rendering valuable assistance with these projects and would like to extend its service whereby books could be made available to every community. Operating on a regular schedule, the bookmobile is in a unique position to realize this objective if given the necessary support and the librarian, Miss Frances Maunsell, is anxious to work with community libraries, schools, and all groups who desire good reading.

Mrs. Arthur Coates, East Angus, who represents the Q.W.I. on the Travelling Libraries Committee, states the committee is asking every one to help create an interest in the bookmobile and its service, to give helpful advice about its operation, and to consider ways that money can be raised for new books. "It is quite evident," she adds, "that opportunity for acquiring new reading material is not lacking if interest can be stimulated to give it support."

Royal Winter Fair Offers New Titles For 1951 Judging

Toronto. — Two new world championships will be up for competition at the Royal Winter Fair this year. The number of titles offered will be increased to eight.

Indications point to a strong European entry for the first time. Fair officials have been in contact with agriculturists from Britain, France, Denmark and Sweden and believe these countries will file entries before the fair opens Nov. 13. The Royal's seed, grain and hay show was expanded to become a world competition in 1949, when regulations were altered to permit foreign entries. Since then United States exhibitors have carried off the world championship in corn.

This year for the first time, world championships are being offered for soy beans, an increasingly popular crop particularly in the United States and eastern Canada,

The above shows the results of a car-motorcycle collision on King street east, Wednesday night. Not shown in the photo are the two youths on the motorcycle who were injured: Francois Beauregard, 19 of 180 King east, who suffered a fractured leg, and Andre Croteau, 18, of 230 King, who suffered shock. The driver of the car, Nazaire Letourneau, 24, of 37 Eighth avenue, was not injured. (Gerry Lemay photos) and in forage crop seeds. World titles are also offered for wheat, oats, barley, rye, potatoes and corn.

World championships in 1950 were:

Wheat: Rickey Sharpe, Munson, Alta.

Oats: John Eliuk, Hairy Hills, Alta.

Barley: Albert Kessel, Rosetown, Sask.

Rye: Chris Morek, Dickson, Alta.

Potatoes: Arthur Budarick, Palmer Rapids, Ont.

Corn: E. W. Doubet, Hanna City, Ill.

Strong American competition in several classes was a feature of the 1949 and 1950 shows and, if anything, entries from across the border are likely to increase this year due to the efforts of a special fair committee which has been campaigning to encourage greater U.S. participation. Great Britain, if it accepts the Royal's invitation to enter the show, is expected to bring the biggest European entry. Europe's participation in this year's show would obscure the advance picture insofar as odds on the outcome of the world championships are concerned. Fair officials are not sufficiently acquainted with the quality of European seed and grain to estimate how they would stack up against the agricultural best of the United States and Canada.

In the past, western Canada has traditionally carried off world championships in wheat, oats, barley and rye. Ontario won the corn title in 1948, but since then has been unable to break the United States' grasp on the championship, which has been taken for two successive years by Mr. Doubet.

The United States is expected to make a strong bid for the new soy world championship, a crop in which Americans have led for years. Ontario, however, has been raising soy beans on an increasing scale and is considered to have a good chance of competing favorably with American entries. On ario's 1951 crop of soy beans is expected to total 4,000,000 bushels by the time it is harvested.

In addition to winning money awards, each world champion is presented with a trophy valued at several thousand dollars. The winner's local government retains the trophy to display for one year. The champions are given silver trays to keep.

Feed Producers Urge Control Of Containers

With the increased menace of Newcastle and other contagious diseases, all sections of the livestock industry have been studying methods of keeping them under control.

At a meeting of the Eastern Division of the Canadian Feed Manufacturer's Association, held in Sherbrooke, yesterday, it was felt that one means of guarding against the spread of Newcastle disease was in the stricter control of feed containers, and that used bags of unknown origin might be potential carriers of the disease.

A resolution was passed at this meeting recommending that all feed manufacturers and feed mixers, grain dealers and others in the feed industry should use only new bags for the sale and transport of poultry feeds.

It was explained that Newcastle disease was very easily spread, and that greater supervision of sanitary measures in the handling of poultry products at markets and shipping points is necessary if Quebec poultrymen are to be protected from the damages which always follow an outbreak of this disease.

About 50 members and associate members of the Division attended the meeting and dinner at the Social Club yesterday.

This gathering has become an annual affair for the past four years, due to the efforts of Alphonse Nadeau, of Sherbrooke, who was chairman of the meeting, a past president of the Division.

The meeting here is held in conjunction with the Sherbrooke Winter Fair, each year.

Other points discussed by the meeting were the general convention of the Dominion Feed Manufacturers, to be held at Murray Bay, Que., on June 22-25, and Hog Nutrition Day to be held early in November at Quebec City, to which all members are invited.

Seated at the head table for the banquet were: Mr. Genet, Jacques de Broin, of Montreal, president of the Eastern Division; Altermann Eugene Tibbault, representing the Mayor; Noe Henault, of the Federal Department of Agriculture, for Quebec; Dr. L. A. Gendreau, vice-president of the E.T.A.A., Dr. Ernest Mercier, of the Experimental Station, Lennoxville, and Dave Kennedy, of Montreal, president of the National Council of Feed Manufacturers.

Sadler's Wells

Sadler's Wells Theatre Ballet makes its North American debut here tonight. They will tour Canada and 62 United States cities. The Dame Ninette de Valois, founder of the Sadler's Wells Ballet Corps, stepped up to the stage to give directions.

Some of the men in the audience moved to the stage, took off their robes and limbered up. Others, sweating and panting after the workout, took their place and watched.

Svetlana Beriosova, co-star of the tour, appeared in a plain blue jacket tied with a bow at the back.

She nonchalantly chewed gum. "It's a habit some of them picked up since they arrived Monday," volunteered one of the on-lookers.

In the wings, unoccupied dancers read good luck messages from many parts of the world.

"It's a habit some of them picked up since they arrived Monday," volunteered one of the on-lookers.

In the wings, workmen worked their electrically-powered drills, regardless of music and dance on stage.

After two hours of rehearsal, the troupe decided to call it a day.

GREENSHIELDS' MARKET REVIEW

Stocks closed lower yesterday after a strong start.

Canadian Pacific Railway was conspicuous among active leaders, closing at 36 after having touched a new high at 37 1/2.

On contrast with the decline of the wholesale price index, the cost of living index reached a new peak of 189.8 in August as compared with the 188.9 in July.

According to a survey presented by American Publishers Association, United States newspapers will need 7,000,000 tons of newsprint by 1960 compared with their 1950 consumption of 5,937.

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED

The Doctor Says

EARLY DIAGNOSIS ESSENTIAL IN TREATING EYE DISEASE

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

"My doctor has just told me that I have glaucoma," writes Mrs. R. T. "This frightens me terribly because I am afraid it might lead to blindness. Is that true?"

Assuming that Mrs. R. T. has an early case of glaucoma, she has good reason to be concerned, but should not be alarmed. Glaucoma is indeed a serious disease of the eyes and is believed to be responsible for complete blindness of about twenty thousand people in the United States alone, and the loss of vision in one eye of, perhaps, one hundred and fifty thousand more.

But this is not the whole story because most of the difficulty could have been prevented if diagnosis had been made early and treatment started promptly.

There are medicines available which are extremely effective in most cases of acute glaucoma. The drugs may have to be taken for a long time, but this is a lot better than losing the eyesight. Sometimes an operation is necessary to preserve sight. The several operations used for glaucoma all have the purpose of making new paths for the drainage of the eye fluids.

The most characteristic sign of glaucoma is increased pressure within the eye itself. This leads to a hardening of the eyeball. An acute attack usually begins with severe pain in one eye, slight swelling of the eyelids with watering of the eye and infection of the eyeball which looks like a general inflammation of the eye.

There is, of course, considerable loss of vision and the increased hardness of the eyeball can usually be easily felt. The pain is extremely severe and often is felt all through the head. The hardness of the eye is caused by blockage of the flow of fluids within the eye so that liquid accumulates in the eyeball.

Some doctors like to divide glaucoma (except those types coming from injury or disease elsewhere in the body) into four varieties; the acute inflammatory, the chronic inflammatory, the "absolute" and the chronic simple type. The acute inflammatory type of glaucoma is largely restricted to people between the ages of 35 and 70, and is somewhat more common among women than men.

Because of its great danger to sight, glaucoma is a disease which must not be neglected. Each patient must have the special care which his particular case demands. Failure to follow advice or to continue conscientiously with the medicines or other treatments recommended may result in blindness. It is of the utmost importance to make an early diagnosis of glaucoma.

Prime the Pump, Shy One!

ON grandfather's farm, the old pump could be depended upon to play a joke on city visitors. Farm folk would watch stily while the visitors pumped themselves blue in the face without raising a drop of water. Then they mentioned the matter of priming.

If you are shy and sometimes "dry up" in unexpected social situations, try priming yourself! Prepare yourself in advance for the occasion that may find you tongue-tied and confused. A very little forethought on your part will act as priming to help you over those crucial first moments of a social contact. If you are ready with something to say, you probably won't even feel shy.

If you've been dodging errands because they confuse you, do an about face and take them all on. But prepare yourself beforehand.

IF YOU ARE TROUBLED WITH SHYNESS, WHY NOT TRY "PRIMING THE PUMP."

Matching lace formed the scalloped headress outlined in satin, which held the fingertip-length veil of illusion net. The bride carried red gladioli and swansonia.

DOROTHY DIX
Adultery Is Poor Revenge

Neglected Wife Deliberately Plans Affair With Other Man

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband goes out alone almost every night in the week. I'm on the verge of starting an affair with another man—a man who can give me the love and affection I long for. Can you give me just one reason why I shouldn't do it? I can't find any!

ANSWER: Yes, I can give you one very excellent reason for not embarking on this affair. It is contained in the words of the commandment, "Thou shalt not commit adultery." This and the other Commandments of God have provided the moral code of living for thousands of years; they are not yet outmoded, in spite of the teachings of so-called modern thinkers. Adherence to them insures self-respect—the greatest factor in decent living—as well as the respect of others; it makes one's conscience something to live with instead of escaping from by any means of hand.

HAVE YOU FAILED HIM?
Your marriage is a failure. How much of its responsibility? Your husband is neglectful. Have you made any effort to provide him with a home to enjoy? Have you given him cheerful companionship, or is he nagged to death when he does enter the house?

If you were willing to contribute to the making of a home half the effort you are anxious to expend in an extra-marital love affair, your wandering husband would be well established at the family hearth. You long for love and affection, but has it ever occurred to you that these gifts do not come unearned? They must be returned in kind. Even your lover will soon tire of your selfish demands, and then you will need other diversion. Before you wander too far down this fruitless road, take stock of yourself. See where you have failed your husband and make an honest attempt to establish your marriage firmly and securely.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I were married over a year ago. We are keeping our marriage a secret until he gets settled—he is in the service. My problem is that there were no witnesses to the ceremony, which was performed by a justice of the peace. Everything seemed to be in order but I have been thinking about it and I am worried. Would the lack of witnesses cause our marriage not to be legal?

ANSWER: First of all, you have done a very foolish thing in contracting a secret marriage. It is unfair to your parents and your husband's. It is also unfair to yourself, as you will realize later in life. The glamour and importance of a wedding—no matter how simple—is something every girl should have. The wedding gown to show your children, the pictures to look at proudly, are not things to be lightly cast aside. There is a vast difference between a sneaky ceremony performed by a total stranger, and a pretty church or home wedding at which your family, clergyman officiates, and to which friends and relatives come to wish you well.

The legality of your marriage should not be difficult to determine. As laws regarding matrimony differ in each state, I cannot tell whether witnesses are required in yours or not. If you have a certificate signed by the justice who married you, take it to a lawyer for his opinion. This may involve a little trouble and money, but I should think it would be worth it.

DEAR MISS DIX: The girls in the office where my husband works occasionally asks him to drive them to lunch. Sometimes they ask him to take them home in the car. He has done this a few times but I don't think he should. Some of the girls are married, some single. When he takes them to lunch he doesn't pay for their meals, but I still feel it isn't right.

ANSWER: There is absolutely nothing wrong, or even questionable, in your husband's driving these girls to their lunching place, or in their car. A carerider arises among people who work in the same office and friendly gestures such as offering a ride are taken for granted. In fact, your husband would be rather thoughtless if he were driving his car home and didn't offer the convenience of a ride to such co-workers as happened to live along his route, or near it.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

JUNIOR SUBDIVISION C.W.L.
The annual membership party of the Junior Subdivision of the Catholic Women's League, entitled "Variety Night," was held in St. Patrick's Church Hall on Thursday evening, September 27.

In colorful and intriguing costumes, the following characters were portrayed: Chinese Girl, Gypsy Girl, Carmen, tramp, pirate, Gay Nineties, Ma and Pa Kettle, little boys and girls under six, and bad taste costumes.

The president, Miss Frances Brodeur, in Indian garb, welcomed prospective members.

Ducking for apples, charades and other games were introduced at the beginning of the program, following which Mrs. Francis Parker, dressed as a little girl, entertained the audience with a song and dance. Another amusing song was sung by Mrs. L. Lafleur, who made a hit as a colored girl. Miss Barbara Sharpe, soprano, sang two numbers, "Lover Come Back to Me" and "Because of You," accompanied by Mrs. Casey Vincent at the piano.

A sing-song concluded the program and the unexpected arrival of a photographer climaxed the jovial party.

Prizes were distributed by Father twisted ribbon halos and carried gladioli bouquets in shades of pink, cream and yellow.

Mr. David Verkek was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Samuel Sigurdson, of Trinidad, Wash., and Mr. Howard Turpin.

The reception was held at the Manse, when Mr. Lacy Harris proposed the toast to the bride.

For the wedding trip to Vancouver Island, the bride travelled in a grey worsted dressmaker suit, with wine hat and scarf and grey accessories.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sigurdson, of Trinidad; Mr. and Mrs. Allwyn Brown, of Kelowna, and her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Sigurdson, of Seattle, Wash.

The bride is the granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. Gorley Brown, formerly of Richmond, and a niece of Mrs. Jack Cleveland and Mr. Cleveland, of Upper Melbourne.

The groom, a graduate of the University of Alberta, and a student at Union Theological College, is assistant to Rev. Keith Woodard.

er Moisan and Father Clark, following which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. M. Cloutier, Mrs. A. Lacharite, Mrs. K. Audet, Miss D. Allen, Miss M. Beaudry, Miss C. Caron and Miss M. Steele. The food convener, Mrs. Lacharite, was assisted by Mrs. Y. Corriveau.

The program, which proved most interesting, was under the direction of Mrs. L. Latulippe and her committee, Mrs. C. Vincent, Miss B. Parker and Mrs. L. Lafleur.

SHERBROOKE HOSPITAL ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The opening meeting of the season of the Sherbrooke Hospital Alumnae Association was held on September 18, at the Norton Residence.

Mrs. E. Lavallee announced that due to the fact that Mrs. J. Alexander was leaving Sherbrooke, she would be unable to continue in her office as corresponding secretary, and she thanked her on behalf of the members for excellent work during the past year.

Plans were made for the fall rummage sale to be held October 12, and several members volunteered to assist with the collecting and selling.

Several other business matters were discussed after which the meeting was adjourned by Mrs. E. Taylor.

Refreshments were served by Miss Sheila Mathias, Miss H. Fish and Mrs. A. Parker.

Choose A Hankie For The Occasion

Newest handkerchiefs are far more than the small white squares mother was familiar with. Now there are "doghouse" hankies that say "please forgive me" or "let's make up," others that say Happy Birthday or Mother or Congratulations. There's a hanky with an embroidered French poodle in the corner, curls and all. In many parts of the country, white handkerchiefs are used as nurses' caps. And for hay fever sufferers, there is actually a lint free hanky. The Rainy Day handkerchief has tiny colored umbrellas applied all over it. Some Chinese hankies boast hand-painted fruits, birds, butterflies, even fish on tiny organdy lift-ups. There are hankies decorated with State flowers and emblems. There are hanky dolls and hanky umbrellas.

Eleventh Annual Street Fair At Richmond

Richmond, Oct. 5 — The 11th Annual Street Fair, organized by Branch 15, Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., was held in the Arena on the Richmond Exhibition Grounds recently.

The colors preceded by the Sherbrooke Legion Pipe Band were carried in procession on from the Canadian Legion Memorial Hall, at the Arena.

The Street Fair was then opened by Mayor C. Armstrong, who addressed the crowd and welcomed them to the fair. Bobbie Taylor then presented Mrs. Armstrong with a corsage bouquet in the Legion Colors, on behalf of Branch 15.

Once opened, there was never a dull moment, the crowd surged in and nearly a 1,000 people paid admission at the door. The colorful paper decorations on the lights and the different booths, the plaids of the Pipe Band and the constantly moving crowds created a gay picture of movement and color.

At midnight came the moment that many of the people were waiting for, the drawing for the 12 Door Prizes, Mary's Lamb and the Handmade Patch Work Quilt, the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The drawing resulted in the following winning tickets:

1st prize, Radio, Ticket No. 1099, F. J. Onley, Danville; 2nd prize set of dishes, Ticket No. 1079, unclaimed; 3rd prize Electric Clock, Ticket No. 553, Donald Nixon, Richmond; 4th prize, Lamp, Ticket No. 374, W. ## New Moisture-Seal Protects Brick And Masonry Without Plugging Them

One of the most insidious—and expensive—enemies of the home-owner is water, plain old-fashioned H<sub>2</sub>O. It infiltrates like a Communist spy and, also like the Commie, eventually causes rot and disintegration.

To the rescue comes a manufacturer with a brand-new type repellent that will, he claims, seal out water from brick and masonry without plugging them up with wax, oils or stearates. The new product, which can be applied with brush or spray, has a silicone base. It is a penetrating volatile solution containing newly-developed, long-lasting chemicals. It is not a surface coating like oil paint, nor does it form a continuous film. It penetrates into the stone or brick, after which the volatile solvent evaporates, leaving the water-repellant chemicals in the pores to repulse destructive moisture globules.

Depth of penetration depends on the density of the stone, of course. Sandstone will absorb the repellent to a depth of three-

Good Preparation Is Vital In Painting House

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service
Indian summer is a fine time to relax—and it's also a fine time to do outdoor painting, too, right on into October.

You can save yourself a lot of money painting your own house, providing you're not foolhardy (or allergic) about climbing ladders—and providing, also, that you don't get overambitious and try to do the whole job in a couple of week-ends.

Begin by visiting your paint dealer and getting him to help you work out, by figuring square feet, amount to trim, and number of coats how much paint you'll need for the job.

You'll need proper brushes, too, if you haven't much of an assortment in your workshop. If lacking ladders they can be rented in lots of communities, or they can be borrowed, of course, depending on how you stand with your neighbors.

Your paint dealer also will help you decide the best kind of paint for the climate you live in, such as whether to use a freely-chalking paint that is more or less self-cleaning as it weathers, or a harder finish. Don't fool around with unknown bargain paints.

If just brushing on the paint were the only thing involved in this job, a lot more people probably would do it themselves. But you'll run into all kinds of trouble unless you do a lot of preliminary work first.

Places where the old paint has peeled, cracked, blistered or cracked will have to be scraped down to bare wood and primed.

You'll usually find the worst of these spots around the eaves and the door and window trim, which means you have to take down screens and shutters before you start.

Dirty streaks down corners or outside walls generally mean leaky gutters and leaders; if you haven't checked them lately, do it before you paint, so your brand-new job won't be ruined the first time it rains.

Pick a dry day to paint—and make sure the wood, not just the weather is dry. Avoid a windy day, too, so all kinds of things floating through the air won't stick to the fresh paint.

Since there's almost always some sort of a breeze blowing, better make a deal with your windward neighbors not to burn leaves the day you're painting—unless, of course, you wanted the house black anyway.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What's the safest way to hang a swing on a tree for the children?—Mrs. A. R.

A—Pick a branch that will bear more than the heaviest weight you expect to use on the swing. Tree experts advise screwing hooks into the underside of the branch, rather than merely trying the stiff swing ropes around the branch, since the swinging motion causes the ropes to cut into the wood and eventually kill the branch. Excessive swaying of the branch can be avoided by running wire reinforcements from the branch to the upper part of the main trunk.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What causes excess chalking of house paint?—R. L.

A—Too rapid chalking happens when an outdoor finish is applied in cold, damp weather. Before re-finishing, the powdery paint on a chalked surface should be scrubbed away with water and a stiff brush.

The 1,632 mile natural gas pipeline from Texas to New York will carry 251 billion cubic feet of gas each day.

eighths of an inch, making it particularly valuable in treating sandstone sills in brick or stone homes.

Driving rain forces air-borne soot and dirt into the pores of masonry, thus making it dirtier and dirtier with every rainstorm. One of the virtues claimed for the new product is that soot and dirt can't enter the sealed-off pores and therefore are merely washed off by rain. Theoretically, therefore, your repellent-treated house should be cleaner after a rain than before.

In winter, moisture in masonry alternately freezes and thaws, creating cracks and crevices, especially in mortar work. This, it is claimed, is prevented by the new product.

In some instances, only the "weather" walls of those where moisture penetration is experienced, need be treated. This, of course, is the most economical method. It is quite practical, because the treated surface looks no different than the untreated ones.

The new water-repellant can be used on surfaces previously coated with water cement paints. Or, after applying the repellent to an unpainted surface, you can paint over it—after allowing ten days for complete absorption and evaporation. This method of surface-sealing is said to be especially useful in combating efflorescence—the ugly, white patches often seen on masonry. They are deposits of soluble salts left after wall-moisture has evaporated.

GALLANT GIRL, 21, SAVES LIFE OF MAN TWICE HER WEIGHT

Miss Andrée de Passillé, of Chicoutimi, Que., averts drowning through courage and remarkable endurance

1. The Recreation Committee of the Saguenay-Quebec Telephone Company had organized a picnic at St. Gédéon Beach near Chicoutimi. During the day, Miss Andrée de Passillé, 21, was swimming back from a little island about 200 feet from shore when she heard frantic cries for help. Some distance away, a young man was in obvious trouble... choking and spluttering as he called for aid.

2. Without hesitation, Miss de Passillé swam in his direction. When she reached him he had already gone under once... and her attempts to hold him above the surface were at first not successful. Three or four times she was dragged to the bottom by the struggling man... and each time they surfaced she screamed for help. Her gallant efforts were not helped by the fact that she weighed 90 pounds—and the man 190!

3. In spite of the odds against her, she managed to have his head above water when a rescue boat arrived. Exhausted and choking, the brave girl fainted... but she had succeeded in saving the man's life. To this courageous young Canadian woman we are indeed proud to pay tribute through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Vermont Stores Invite Canadian Holiday Visitors

Buyers Warned However Not To Smuggle

Canadians will observe Thanksgiving day on Monday, while their neighbors to the south will mark the holiday later in the year. Many merchants at Derby Line and Newport, Vt., have taken the occasion of the Canadian holiday to remind Townships residents that although many E. T. stores will be closed on Monday those in the Vermont towns will be open, ready to cater to visitors. There is, of course, the matter of the international border and any people who may be considering doing some shopping south of the line on the holiday are reminded that all articles purchased must be declared at the customs. Some people make a game of trying to beat the customs. This is a dangerous practice for smuggling is a serious offence and the penalties can be far more costly than the articles which people try to sneak across the line. In the first quarter of 1951 retail sales in Canada amounted to $2,154,700,000.

Young Canada To Play Big Role In Welcome To Elizabeth, Philip

By THE CANADIAN PRESS A vivacious young matron comes calling on Canada next week. For Princess Elizabeth, it will be her first look at the country she some day may rule. For Canadians at home, it will be their first glimpse of the 25-year-old woman with the softly-waved brown hair and grey-blue eyes who has won a place in their affections. With her will be a tall, blonde man of 30, her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. Some time in the future he may become consort to a Queen, a difficult and delicate role last exercised in Britain by Prince Albert, consort to Queen Victoria.

They are due in Montreal from London by air next Monday, Oct. 8. But their month-long tour of the oldest Dominion will not begin officially until the following morning from Quebec city, just a week after the date originally set. The delay was caused by the grave illness of the King who underwent a lung operation Sept. 23. The tour through a countryside clothed in the golden dress of Autumn will not be as rigorous as that of Princess Elizabeth's parents in the spring of 1939. There will be fewer official functions, perhaps more informality, than in 1939. But it will follow much the same route.

There have been many changes in the 12 years since the King and Queen won the hearts of Canadians. The rugged scenery of the mountainous east and west is unchanged, the pastoral aspect of the farming areas the same. But the population has grown from some 10,000,000 to more than 14,000,000. The cities and towns are larger, industry, manufacturing and commerce have grown immensely. The Princess and the Duke will see parts of all Canada except the wilderness of the north. They will see modern industrial cities and picturesque villages. They will see the west's immense grain fields—from which the crop has been harvested—mines, factories, seemingly limitless forests. In Montreal next Monday, the Royal couple will land at Dorval airport. They were to have arrived Oct. 2 by ship at Quebec—at the spot where Wolfe's forces went up the cliffs in 1759 to win Canada for Britain—aboard the liner Empress of France. But the delay caused by the King's illness forced a switch to Transatlantic plane. There will be little ceremony on arrival. The party will be whisked to Quebec city by train to open the tour officially at 9:45 a.m., Oct. 9. From then on, Canada will be theirs. The schedule is stiff. Viscount Alexander, the Governor-General, and Prime Minister St. Laurent will welcome the Royal couple. In one full day in Quebec they will visit the Legislature, Laval University, the city hall, the Citadel, that overlooks the St. Lawrence river, the Plains of Abraham where Wolfe's victory was won and Bois de Coulogne, residence of the Quebec Lieutenant-Governor. A state dinner tendered by the Quebec government will close the 12-hour visit. Premier Duplessis will propose the toast to the couple and the Princess will reply briefly. Quebec's 20,000 school children were to have put on a demonstration on the Plains of Abraham but owing to transportation difficulties encountered in taking them to the upper town plains, the ceremony will be held in Quebec Coliseum, in the north end of the city. From Quebec, the Royal couple go directly to Ottawa in their 10-car Royal train, arriving in the capital at 10 A.M. Wednesday. The train will stay at a siding in picturesque Island Park driveway.

From there they drive to Lansdowne Park where Ottawa school children will be assembled, then to the national war memorial for the plating of a wreath, their residence while in the capital—for a press reception. Following luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent at the Prime Minister's residence, they swing across the Ottawa river to Hull, Que., for an official welcome at Hull city hall. At 4 P.M. in the railway committee room of the Parliament buildings, Princess Elizabeth, on behalf of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, will present Queen Mary's carpet to the National Gallery. The needlepoint carpet, made by the Queen Mother to earn dollars for Britain, was purchased through public donations of more than $100,000.

Canada's state dinner will be tendered the Royal couple at eight o'clock that night. At that dinner Her Royal Highness, in replying to the Governor-General's toast, will speak briefly to the country in a broadcast address, then she and the Duke will hasten to an official reception at 10 P.M. Members of Parliament and Senators will attend. On the following day, the Prince and Princess, after a civic luncheon at the Hotel Chateau Laurier, will view the magnificent sweep of the Gatineau hills from the deck of a boat in the afternoon. The Royal couple then must hasten back for a government reception at 5 P.M. and a buffet supper later at Government House. They leave by train at 1:05 A.M. Friday to open the Ontario section of their tour. First stop in Ontario after Ottawa is Friday, Oct. 12 at Cornwall, from 8:45 A.M. EST to 9 A.M. EST. Then on to Brockville for a 10-minute pause at 10:29 A.M. At Kingston during a visit of almost two hours the Royal couple will inspect the Royal Military College and receive the city's welcome, then go on to Belleville for a 15-minute stop. Trenton, a few miles west, will see the visitors for two hours during which period they will inspect the R.C.A.F.'s central command air station outside the town. Cobourg, Port Hope and Oshawa will be by-passed under a late revision of the itinerary which calls for the Princess and the Duke to fly from Trenton to Malton, outside Toronto. Thousands of Peel county children—county authorities plan to hire 125 buses to carry 8,000—will feature Ontario's official welcome at the airport. From Malton to Toronto is some 10 miles. This distance will be covered by motor-car over the Queen Elizabeth way, to be kept clear of motorists. Police also have ordered that two parallel highways be kept clear. "Utter chaos" has been the comment of some officers in their forecast of what traffic conditions are likely to be. Once in Toronto itself, their Royal Highnesses face one of the stiffest portions of the tour. They will be met at the city hall at 5:40 P.M. by Mayor Hiram McCallum and other civic dignitaries, then at 6:15 P.M. to take a short drive through the streets. By 6:35 P.M. they will be in the Royal train, their headquarters during their stay in Toronto, in the Front Street railway yards where the view of Lake Ontario, to the south, is obscured by factories and other industrial buildings. That night they dine privately with the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Ray Lawson, and Mrs. Lawson. Saturday, Oct. 13 will be a crowded day. At 10 A.M., their Royal Highnesses will drive slowly westward along lake shore drive to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. Thirty-five thousand school children will be packed into the C.N.E. grandstand, built to accommodate 23,000 adults. Seven holders of the Victoria Cross will be presented. At 10:55 A.M. they will drive along a circuitous route to Hart House at the University of Toronto in central Toronto, arriving there at noon. At 12:20 o'clock, the Duke will attend a Board of Trade luncheon. His address will be broadcast. At the same time, the Princess will attend a luncheon given by Mrs. Lawson for younger married women. For the remainder of the crowded day their Royal Highnesses will speed to one point after another, mainly to spots where children will be congregated. High points will be visits to the new Hospital for Sick Children on downtown University Avenue and to Sunnybrook Military Hospital in suburban North York. That night, they will attend Ontario's state dinner in the Royal York Hotel. Directly after the dinner they leave for their train—almost across the street—and depart at 12:01 A.M. EST Sunday for Niagara Falls. The Royal couple arrive in the city of the world famous cataract at 10 A.M. Sunday. They will worship at morning in Christ Church, largest of the city's three Anglican churches overlooking the Niagara river gorge. Rt. Rev. R. Walter Bagnall, Bishop of Niagara, will conduct the service. Then, after participating in the city's program and viewing the 167-foot falls, it's off to St. Catharines at 1:30 P.M. for the Royal tourists. After a 10-minute station stop at 2 P.M., they leave for Hamilton where a two-hour visit is scheduled from 3:30 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. Friendships formed at the Royal couple's summer home near Balmora last August will be renewed when the Princess and her husband inspect the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders at Hamilton. The Princess is colonel-in-chief of the regiment. Lt. Col. J. A. Farmer and 26 members of the band met the Princess and her family when the band competed in the Highland games at Stirling castle. The remainder of the Ontario schedule calls for an observation-platform appearance at Dundas at 5:47 P.M.; a stop in Brantford from 6:13 P.M. to 6:33 P.M.; 10 minutes at Woodstock at 7:07 and a train-slowdown appearance in Ingersoll at 7:28. They arrive in London at 7:55 P.M. for a half-hour stay, go on to Chatham at 10 P.M. for a 10-minute stop and arrive in Windsor at 11:30 P.M. to spend the night. They leave that city—after meeting Detroit's mayor in the middle of the Ambassador bridge—for Kapuskasing at 1 P.M. The visitors will spend almost a full day in the northern Ontario pulp and paper town, taking off for the west by R.C.A.F. plane at 10 A.M. Oct. 16.

Church Guild Holds Meeting At Rock Island

Rock Island, Oct. 5.—The opening meeting of the fall season for Christ Church Guild was held at the home of the president, Mrs. James Williamson, attended by 27 members and one guest. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were accepted as read. In place of the annual harvest support a canvass of the congregation will be made for cash donations, and ways and means of raising money were discussed at some length. Following adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. Williamson, assisted by Mrs. B. McEwen. The next meeting will be on Oct. 10 at the home of Mrs. Carroll Smith, Phelps avenue, Rock Island.

Work Is "Tonic" For 92-Year-Old

MacDonald, Man. — William Arbutnot of MacDonald is a man who lives by the strength of his convictions. For him, work is a tonic. He celebrated his 92nd birthday recently by registering for a job at the MacDonald airport. For the past 10 years he has worked with road gangs on highways around Portage la Prairie.

Arbutnot boasts good physical condition, has a strong clear voice and gets around as well as persons who are only a quarter of his age. He says "work is top stuff," and that nothing better has been invented for keeping a man in shape.

Grandmother Heads Steel Union Local

Vancouver. — All steelworkers aren't husky fellows built along the lines of the legendary Paul Bunyan. Reporters lifted surprised eyebrows when they were introduced to the president of local 4010, United Steel Workers of America, here to attend the annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

They met Mrs. Brida Gray of Toronto, a grandmother, and one of only three women presidents of steelworkers locals on the entire continent. Local 4010 is the bargaining agent for 150 workers at Coulter, Copper and Brass Co. Ltd., Toronto, where Mrs. Gray helps assemble automobile parts. Since there are only 25 women among the members of her local, Mrs. Gray's election would seem a big vote of confidence from the men. "I had to prove myself in the beginning," she smiles quely, "but the men are fair. If you do your job, they're willing to give you credit."

She also feels that they have a sneaking respect for the power of a woman, and faith in her tact and intuition. What with union affairs (as president, she's on all committees) and doing her housework weekends, Mrs. Gray doesn't have much time for social life, "but we have lots of dances in our union." She comes by her enthusiasm for unions honestly. Her Scottish mother was a millworker, an active member of the Labor party and of the jute and flax union. Her husband, Albert Gray, a printer, is also a union man.

Frank Boucher Figures Hockey Should Be Cleaned Up; Rules Should Be Strictly Enforced

Guelph, Ont., Oct. 5.—(P)—Frank Boucher, whose consistently clean play earned him permanent possession of the original Ewing Trophy, thinks it is about time somebody cleaned up the rough stuff in the National Hockey League. He wouldn't mind filling the circuit's penalty boxes to do it.

Boucher outlined his "get-tough" policy in an interview here today where his New York Rangers are training for the 1951-52 N.H.L. season. And the Ranger manager is taking the lead by warning his players to lay off hocking, slashing, boarding and other illegal tactics.

"No particular person is to be blamed for the type of play that is spoiling the game," gentleman Frank said.

"The rules haven't changed. The only thing needed is for the referees to call the play according to the book and this rough stuff will be cut out."

Frank, a member of the N.H.L. rules committee, said his group favors a crack-down. "Spectators like a good tough check if it is clean and the fans, players, club officials and referees should be told that any rules infractions will be penalized. Then we'll see some hockey."

He believes it would take only three or four games at the start of the season to teach the players they must stick to the rules in the book. "We can fill the penalty boxes until they learn."

There won't be as many injuries and great players such as Edgar Laprade (of the Rangers), Ted Kennedy (Toronto Maple Leafs) and Maurice Richard (Montreal Canadiens) won't be hampered by hooking, interference, boarding, slashing and other illegal tactics, Boucher said.

"Richard would be a truly great player if he didn't have a couple of guys draped around him during a game."

And Boucher believes the cleaning up would generally raise the standard of play.

White Sox Manager Paul Richards Rates Monte Irvin "Greatest Ball Player In America" At Present

New York, Oct. 5.—(P)—If you think the Giants' Monte Irvin is a prize baseball package, just get a load of this from Paul Richards, manager of Chicago White Sox.

"I think Irvin is the greatest ball player in America," the lean-lantern-jawed catcher said today.

"Ask Mel Ott what I offered for him when Monte was at Jersey City and I was at Buffalo. It was plenty, I'll tell you—plenty."

"This fellow has everything. He can run, hit and field. Right now there's only one man I'd compare with him. That's Stan Musial. They're a lot alike—the easy, faultless way they play."

Richards said he feels the New York leftfielder is just now reaching his stride. "He'll be even better next year," the White Sox manager said.

one-man shows in World Series history.

In helping beat the Yankees in the opening game of the series, there's what the 30-year-old fly-chaser from Orange, N.J. did:

1. Stole home in the first inning, the first player to do that in a World Series since two Yanks did it in 1921.
2. Banged out four hits, three singles and a booming triple, tying the World Series record for number of hits in a single game.
3. Made two tremendous catches in the field, going back to the stands to haul down Hank Bauer's stadium-bound blow in the first inning.

The great Joe DiMaggio is the first to recognize the fact that opposing pitchers no longer hold him in the awe they once did.

"Did you know?" DiMag recalled in the dressing room after yesterday's game, "that Kosto didn't throw me a single ball?"

The Yankee Clipper flied out twice to left and twice to centre in four times at bat.

The reason Yankee Manager Casey Stengel started lefty Ed Lopat instead of Vic Raschi in the second game is this: Lopat throws the kind of "cute" stuff that results in hump-backed fly balls. Easy outs in the spacious Stadium, they might fall for home runs in the cramped Polo Grounds, where the antagonists move in tomorrow.

Seventeen World Series, 13 of which they've won, have made the Yankees biased. They accepted their opening game defeat—the first opening day setback in 15 years—indifferently. They still act scorn-

Playoff Notes

New York, Oct. 5.—(P)—Manager Leo Durocher has shouted from the dugouts and roof tops all season that there was none to compare with Monte Irvin, the pride of Orange, N.J.

"He is one of the big reasons why we won the pennant," Durocher told all who would listen. "He should be the National League's most valuable player."

And the lanky 30-year-old product of the Giants' farm system did much yesterday to make his boss' words sound true.

Here's what Irvin did during the Giants' 5-1 victory over the Yankees in the first game of the World Series:

1. Tied a series record, held by many, as he cracked out four straight hits including a triple.
2. Stole home in the first inning for the Giants' second run.
3. Made two difficult catches in left field, grabbing Hank Bauer's drive at the 402-foot mark with a back hand stab just as the ball was ready to go into the stands and racing over to the wall, 425 feet from the plate, to take Joe DiMaggio's fly in the third.
4. Alvin Dark wasn't what you exactly would call a power house at the plate in the playoffs, although he started the Giants off on their ninth-inning rally with a single in yesterday's deciding contest. But there was no question about power today when he got hold of one of Allie Reynolds' seventh inning pitches for the series' first homer.

The Giant victory snapped the Yankees' series winning streak at seven. The defending World Champions' last previous defeat in baseball's post-season classic was to Brooklyn in the second game of the 1949 competition.

The Giants' all-negro outfield also was another series first. Irvin was in left, Willie Mays in centre and Hank Thompson in right, replacing the injured Don Mueller.

There is doubt if Mueller will get into the series, unless it goes six or seven games. He sprained his right ankle going into third in the ninth inning of the final playoff game yesterday. An x-ray today showed no fracture but he'll be in the hospital for another couple of days.

Larry Jansen Goes Against Yanks' Ed Lopat Today; Monte Irvin Stars For Leo Durocher's "Miracle Men"

New York, Oct. 5.—(P)—New York Giants are still baseball's Miracle Team, but for one day at least their act was cold.

Leo Durocher's winning gamble with his No. 4 pitcher and some prodigious hitting by Monte Irvin gave the Giants a 5-1 victory over the mighty New York Yankees in the opening game of the World Series yesterday. But many of the 65,000 spectators at Yankee Stadium were still talking about the Giants' tremendous victory in the National League playoffs Wednesday.

It was like following Milton Berle with a dog act or following a dog act with Milton Berle, depending on your personal tastes. Not even Hollywood could cop the hysterics of the pennant-clincher against Brooklyn Dodgers.

Apparently Durocher can do no wrong in this most remarkable comeback story in all baseball history. He took a chance with lefty Dave Koso and got away with it against Allie Reynolds, who warmed up for the series with a no-hitter against Boston Red Sox.

Now Durocher has Larry Jansen (23-11) ready for today's second game at the Stadium. Jim Hearn (17-9), Monday's playoff winner at Brooklyn is set for Saturday and Sal Maglie (23-6) ready to come back Sunday with three full days' rest.

Instead of a weary crew of staggering pitchers he has his three best ready to go in order. And the Yanks already have used up the fared Reynolds. Retreating in confusion from 3 to 5 favoring the Yanks, the market now says 6 to 5 and take your pick.

With the Giant array of right-handed batting power, Eddie Lopat (21-9) is no cinch to square the series for Casey Stengel. A control pitcher whose stuff usually produces many fly balls, Lopat will have to be threading the needle to escape trouble from rioting Bobby Thomson and Irvin.

That man Irvin, finally hitting his stride as one of the great hitters in modern day baseball, really had himself an afternoon against Reynolds.

Monte tied a series record with four hits, one a triple, stole home against Reynolds with the second Giant run in the first inning and contributed two fine catches. What more can a man do in his first World Series game?

Irvin and Kosto were the story until Al Dark hammered a three-run homer into the left field seats in the sixth. That nailed it down.

Few expected Kosto to throttle the Yanks although they have been vulnerable to lefthanders all season. Stengel used only two lefty batters—Yogi Berra and Joe Collins. Still when he needed hits in the late innings he had to resort to three lefthanded pinch-hitters.

Not since 1935 when Carl Hubbell beat Red Ruffings 6-1 had the Yanks lost a series opener. They won eight straight in between. Not since 1942 when the surging Cards upset them have they lost a series. Maybe this is the shadow of things to come.

Way back in 1914, the year of the original "Miracle Men" from Boston, the Braves who took out

NHL To Do Away With Large Faceoff Circle

Toronto, Oct. 5.—(P)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, yesterday confirmed reports that the league is discarding the proposed 30-foot single face-off circle in front of each goal because it would handicap goal-keepers.

He said two face-off circles will be used at each end of the rink. Like last year's circles, they will be placed on either side of the goal, but they will be 30 instead of 20 feet in diameter.

The N.H.L. president said that the one-circle system had been tried out this fall at exhibition games and had provided impractical. It tended to give too much advantage to the more adept face-off men.

Second Division In N. H. L. Will Be Crowded This Year If Coaches' Predictions All Come True At Once

Guelph, Ont., Oct. 5.—(P)—The National Hockey League's second division will be overcrowded this year if pre-season predictions count for much.

Managing Director Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs has surprisingly picked his Stanley Cup champions to finish the six-month schedule in fourth position, something that hasn't happened to the Leafs in three years. And Smythe's call puts two clubs on the final playoff rung because that's where Manager Frank Boucher figures his New York Rangers will finish.

The soft-spoken Boucher, who surprised everybody a couple of years ago by calling the N.H.L. finish in order from top to bottom, had two observations to make at this Ranger training-camp site:

1. "Rangers will get in the playoffs for sure this time" and
2. "Toronto and Detroit are the strongest clubs in the league but it won't be a two-section race as last year with the Red Wings and Leafs far out in front and the remaining four clubs in the bottom section. They aren't going to run away with the league."

He figures that if anything happens to Ted Lindsay or Gordie Howe of the Wings or Ted Kennedy of the Leafs, the one-two finishers last season "will be in the same class as the rest of the league." He calls these players the backbone of the two clubs and injuries to any will cut them "down to our size."

Rangers did a scuttling job after the 1950-51 campaign with one idea in mind—to improve their scoring power. Rangers scored 169 goals last season, lowest in the league and two less than the bottom-place Chicago Black Hawks.

Four veterans were traded or farmed out—Tony Leswick went to Detroit for Gaye Stewart in a straight player deal and Buddy O'Connor, Pat Egan and Wally Stanowski were sent to Cincinnati, Rangers' farm club in the American Hockey League.

In other deals, Rangers obtained right-winger Wally Hergesheimer of Winnipeg and defenceman Hy Buller of Montreal from Cleveland Barons of the A.H.L. and Steve Kraftcheck, 190-pound husky from Boston Bruins. They also got Jim Ross, 24-year-old defenceman with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Major League last season, who Boucher figures will "do well" with the Blueshirts.

"We've started a youth movement and we'll score a helluva lot more goals this season than last," Boucher promised. "We dropped a lot of heart-breakers simply because we couldn't buy a goal, but the scoring punch is there."

Boucher isn't certain of the 15 players, exclusive of goalkeeper Chuck Rayner, for their season's opening face-off at Chicago Oct. 14, but the front wall probably will go along these lines:

Crafty Edgar Laprade centre to Eddie Kullman and Reg Sinclair on the big line with Don Raleigh between Eddie Slowinski and Mick Mickoski on the second. The No. 3 combination likely will find Paul Rorty centering Stewart and Hergesheimer. In addition, Rangers have Zello Toppazini and Jackie Macleod for use in event of injuries.

The defence combinations are a puzzler with only three—Allan Evans, Frankie Eddolls and Stu Staney—left over from last season.

Gerry "Doc" Couture Signs With Canadiens

Montreal, Oct. 5.—(P)—Gerry (Doc) Couture, wingman obtained in an off-season deal with Detroit Red Wings, yesterday signed his contract with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

General Manager Frank Selke said the only player not yet signed is Johnny McCormack, recently purchased from Toronto Maple Leafs. Selke said he and McCormack haven't had a talk yet and anticipates no difficulties.

Kid Gavilan Puts K.O. On Bob Rosado In 7th

Havana, Oct. 5.—(Reuters)—Kid Gavilan of Cuba, world heavy weight champion, last night knocked out Bobby Rosado of Puerto Rico in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round non-title bout. Both weighed 147½.

Rosado, who began to weaken under the flashy champion's punches in the third round, went down for the count after 30 seconds of the seventh.

Shawinigan Falls Edge Providence Reds 2-1

Shawinigan Falls, Oct. 5.—(P)—Two goals in the third period last night gave Shawinigan Falls Canadiens a 2-1 decision over Providence Reds of the American Hockey League in an exhibition title here.

Hinch Berger and Grosse tallied for Cataracts after Powell, on an assist from Kapusta, got the lone Providence goal.

Citadelles Swamped By Guelph Biltmores

Quebec, Oct. 5.—(P)—Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Junior "A" Association last night trounced Quebec Citadelles of the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association 7-2 in an exhibition game.

Chuck Henderson got three goals and two assists for Guelph. Louis Fontinato scored two and Aldo Guidolin and Ran Murphy one each.

Gordie Haworth and Rolland Leclerc scored for Quebec.

Harry Psutka To Quit Hockey For Baseball

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 5.—(P)—Harry Psutka, 22, defenceman with the Pittsburgh Hornets, Maple Leafs' American Hockey League farm team, has decided to give up a chance at professional hockey in favour of a full career on the baseball diamond. Leaf officials announced last night.

It was understood here that Psutka, a catcher under contract to Detroit Tigers of the American League, had been offered a larger salary and a chance to make the Toledo Club of the Triple-A American Association next season.

13 Players Report To Glace Bay Hockey Club

Glace Bay, N.S., Oct. 5.—(P)—Thirteen players are scheduled to report for the first workout of Glace Bay Miners today but the unlucky number doesn't bother playing-coach Norman (Bud) Poile who has high hopes for his "youth movement."

Poile is intent on putting together a young squad for the mining town's entry in the Maritime Major Hockey League.

Three starry juniors, Jim Anderson and Jim Danovich from Windsor Spitfires and Elliott (Specs) Chorley from Winnipeg Monarchs, are expected to arrive today.

Johnny Myketyk, Glace Bay native who has played defenceman with Sydney Millionaires and Halifax St. Mary's, arrived yesterday, along with Jim Kilby, a Toronto winger.

Already in the Poile camp are goalie Bob Arniel, defenceman Bob Coop, Dan Windley, Neil Amadio; forwards Poile, Hub Macey, Phil Dalgleish, Bob Leger, Skippy Frizzell, Artie Melanson and Naish Batten.

mitted that the Indians had made overtures for Williams, but said the Tribe had been turned down by Yawkey.

Report Coming From World Series Is That Steve O'Neill Is Through As Manager Of Boston Red Sox

New York, Oct. 5.—(P)—Reports around World Series headquarters today indicated that Steve O'Neill is through as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

From a reliable source it was learned that Tom Yawkey, president of the Red Sox, is contemplating a drastic shakeup of the front office involving general manager Joe Cronin, O'Neill and Lou Bour-lou.

According to the informant, Cronin is slated to move to Washington as general manager. Bour-lou is to be elevated from the playing ranks to succeed Cronin and Frank (Pinky) Higgins is to be brought up from Louisville of the American Association to displace the popular O'Neill.

Higgins, a former star infielder with the Red Sox, Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers, piloted the Louisville club into a fourth place playoff berth this season.

An early report had Yawkey and Cronin set to dispose of O'Neill and replace him with Bourdreau.

Bourdreau, who managed Cleveland for nine years, was signed by the Red Sox last winter after the Indians had given him his unconditional release. Hobbled by injuries, Lou batted in 82 games and appeared 264.

Another rumor has the Indians offering outfielder Larry Doby to the Red Sox for Ted Williams. A person close to the Indians ad-

Gelineau, Ezinicki And Horeck Fail To Sign

Boston, Oct. 5.—(P)—Boston Bruins, of the National Hockey League, refused to be disturbed today over their failure to sign goalie Jack Gelineau and wingers Bill Ezinicki and Pete Horeck. A spokesman denied they are quitting hockey.

The spokesman said Gelineau had declined to sign a contract containing a minor league clause.

The Bruins recently purchased goalie Jim (Sugar) Henry from Detroit Red Wings, indicating they would send Gelineau to an American Hockey League team.

The Bruins described Ezinicki as a perennial holdout and predicted he would sign before the season starts.

Bill Sweeney Replaces Hornsby At Seattle

Seattle, Oct. 5.—(P)—Seattle Rainiers have signed Bill Sweeney to succeed Rogers Hornsby as baseball manager.

Lenny Anderson, Seattle Times baseball writer in New York, reported a three-year contract was signed there yesterday between General Manager Earl Shelly and the erstwhile Portland skipper.

Emil Sick, owner of the Pacific Coast League team, said here he had not been advised of the actual signing, but he assumed it had been done.

Jeanne Bisgood Wins British Golf Title

St. Anne's-On-The-Sea, England, Oct. 5.—(P)—Jeanne Bisgood, 28-year-old London lawyer, won the English Women's Amateur Golf Championship yesterday. She defeated Mrs. Alexander Keiller of Roehampton, 2, and 1, after being three down after 18 holes. The 36-hole final was played over the St. Anne's Old Links.

Miss Bisgood was a member of the British Curtis team last year.

Granby Gives Don Doe A Civic Reception

Granby, Oct. 5. — Don Doe, Granby's Quebec Amateur Golf Champion, was officially recognized in his own home city, when a civic reception was extended to him at the City Hall, attended by his many friends and admirers.

His Worship Mayor P. H. Boivin, Alderman J. B. Payne and Paul Andre Joy, president of the Junior Board of Trade, were present to do the honors.

Mayor Boivin, in his address, said Don was a great sportsman and the glory of Granby. He said this fine golfer was known the whole length and breadth of Canada, but because Granby people see him so often, they have probably taken him for granted, but today they had met to pay tribute to a great sportsman and a true gentleman.

Dr. W. K. MacDonald, president of the Golf Club, said that "Don had the finest spirit of true sportsmanship for he was a graceful winner and also a graceful loser." Other speakers were Marcel Boivin, M.P. for Shefford County, Alderman J. B. Payne and Ven. Archdeacon Lidstone. Don, in a brief response, thanked everyone for their appreciation and encouragement. The climax of the reception was the signing of the city's Golden Book by Don.

"BETTER PRODUCTION THAN EVER BEFORE"

says W. R. Kirkby

Gentlemen: Our hens have held up in production this year better than ever before. We usually had some drop in production after the first of the year but this year, on Ful-O-Pep, it was different!

Ful-O-Pep has really helped us get continuous high production and we are glad to recommend it.

direction of Mrs. Albert Coupland, received beautiful leather-covered Bibles, which were presented by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Moore. The children sang the old familiar hymn, "Jesus Loves Me."

The pastor in his remarks spoke of the serious illness of the King, and after offering his earnest and touching prayer for recovery, the whole congregation sang "God Save the King."

The beautiful gladioli in the memorial brass vases were in loving memory of Marjorie Ashton Hone, placed there by her mother.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATED

A reception was held in the lecture hall of the United Church in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright Irwin, who celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding on that date.

Mr. James Wright Irwin and Miss Cora Melinda Ferguson, both of the township of Granby, were married by Rev. T. B. Conley, then the pastor of the Methodist Church.

They have four children, Muriel, Mrs. John Strom, and Wilson, Herbert and Wesley, all of Granby and seven grand-children: Marjorie and Barbara Strom, Helen and Shirley Irwin and Graham, Dale and Alan Irwin, and all of these were present at the celebration.

The bride and groom of fifty years entered the hall to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. Harlow Bowker. Mrs. Wesley Irwin sang a solo, and Mrs. John Strom pinned a beautiful orchid upon her mother's gown.

Mr. M. J. Dunsmore led the sing-song, starting with "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." The tea table was adorned by a four-tiered wedding cake which, with its gold 50 cent pieces and gold leaves, was the centre of attraction.

Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright Irwin, the latter's brother and sister, Mr. Earle Ferguson and Mrs. Clara Booth; Mr. Irwin's niece, Miss Vina Hutchins, and Mrs. Irwin's niece, Mrs. Harley Purdy, all having been present at the wedding fifty years ago.

Following refreshments, Rev. A. G. Moore, pastor of the church, congratulated the happy couple, and on behalf of those present, asked them to accept the electric refrigerator, which they did most graciously, and thanked all present for the splendid gift. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Earle Ferguson, of Camrose, Alta., Mrs. Clara Booth, of Milton, Ont., and several from Montreal, Rougemont, Warden, Foster, Waterloo and Ayer's Cliff.

It Costs Money Not to Lime

Recently a prominent agricultural experiment station published some figures that opened our eyes.

Based on 26 years of experimental results, it was stated that a 160-acre farm which used lime and clover had an average annual income of $950 more than the same farm would have made without lime and clover. Here are the figures, based on 40 acres per crop:

|                      | FARM ANo Treatment | FARM BLime and Clover |
|----------------------|------------------------|---------------------------|
