Why weep ye by the Tide La-dye? Why weep ye by the Tide? How blythe and happy might he be, That gets you for his bride.

'Mang' courtly dames if ye'll ap-pear, Then ye shall be their queen;- But aye she loot the tear down fa' For Jock o' Ha-zel - green.

Jock o' Hazelgreen.

2^d VERSE.

Young Ha-zel-green he is my Love, And e-ver-more shall

be ; I'll ne'er forsake young Ha-zelgreen, Tho' him I ne'er should see

And aye she sigh'd and said, A-las! And made a pi-teous meane; And fz mf

aye she loot the tears down fa' For Jock o' Ha-zel-green.

3^d VERSE.

What like a Man was Ha - - zel - green, Fair May, pray tell to me? He is a comely proper youth, I in my sleep did see.

His shoulders broad, his arm is long, Sae comely to be seen; And

aye she loot the tears down fa' For Jock o' Ha - zel - green.

Jock o' Hazelgreen.

4th VERSE. Written by C. H. PURDAY.

Now La - dye if my Son ye'll wed, Of gold ye sall have store; Wi' jewells bright your form I'll deck, And then ye'll weep no more .

"But ah! she sigh'd and said, a-las! And made a pi-teous meane; "I'll wed no o - ther till I meet Wi' Jock o' Ha - zel - - green ."

Jock o' Hazelgreen.
