3 Girls Burn To Death In Bus

'Flames Spurred Everywhere' 19 Survive Bus-Train Crash

HILLSBURGH, Ont. — (CP) — A high school bus nearing the end of its homeward run was hit by a train Thursday and wrapped in flames. Three teen-aged girls died and 19 other occupants, including the driver, were injured.

"Flames suddenly spurted everywhere," said 16-year-old Harvey White. "It was an awful sight. Everybody was screaming and crying."

Found dead in the charred wreckage were: Karen Awrey, 17, daughter of Mrs. Bert Awrey; Donna Jackson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer Jackson; Gudrun Koch, 15.

All lived at this rural community about 20 miles northeast of Guelph. They were only minutes from their homes when the bus, with 25 persons on board, was hit by a CPR freight train at a level crossing half a mile east of the village.

DRIVER CRITICALLY HURT
 Eight of the injured were admitted to hospitals in Guelph and Orangeville with burns, fractures and contusions. Most severely hurt was bus driver Calvin Leitch, 29, of nearby Erin, considered in critical condition with burns to 80 per cent of his body.

The bus, delayed more than half an hour in its departure by an oratorical contest, left Erin District High School at 4 p.m.

Between 15 and 20 minutes later Leitch stopped to let off student Ann Hall at her farm home about 50 yards from the county road crossing. The bus was moving slowly when it reached the tracks and was hit by the two-car, diesel - drawn freight, travelling at an estimated 20 miles an hour.

The vehicle's fuel tank exploded and drenched the bus with flaming gasoline. Still upright, it was carried 386 feet down the tracks before the train ground to a halt.

HEARD WHISTLE
 Ann, who heard the train whistle before the crash, ran to the house and called doctors. She returned in time to help beat out the flames in Leitch's clothing and covered him with her coat.

"We saw the train coming but didn't realize we were on the track," said 15-year-old Norma Vanwyck who was treated at hospital for hip and leg injuries.

A Bell Telephone Company lineman, one of many repairs still in the area fixing lines damaged in an ice storm earlier this month, got the first word of the crash to Guelph on his radio-telephone.

CLC PRESIDENT IRKED
 Suave CLC president Claude Jodoin was irked. He showed it slightly.

Some other union chiefs, who didn't want to be identified for publication, said they were sore, too, at the fact that Mr. Diefenbaker was flanked by only five ministers. The normal complement for these meetings is around 15.

It was a standing-room-only meeting in the railway committee room of Parliament's centre block. The press of labor people was so heavy that Huguette Plamondon of Montreal, the CLC's Quebec vice-president, stood at the rear through the long sitting.

Explanation later from the prime minister's office for the absence of many key ministers was that they were tied up with urgent business in the Commons and in cabinet committee sittings.

But some labor leaders, who did not want to be identified by name, suggested the CLC was getting the back of the hand from the government because of its prospective tieup with the CCF in the formation of a new political party.

Whatever the reason, Mr. Diefenbaker did not fool around. "Bluntly, he told the CLC its customary proposals for social security and the like would cost plenty of money, and he indicated plainly the money won't be available soon."

Official' Flusher Proves Self Four Flusher
 HARRISVILLE OHIO (AP) — Harry Lovell's self-made career of "official flusher" for the state of Ohio literally went down the drain Thursday as he started a six-month jail term.

Lovell, 29, was sentenced Wednesday for charging unsuspecting home owners up to $50 for flushing a so-called "state required" chemical down their toilets. He pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny by trick.

Doctor Gives A Practical Demonstration
 BOSTON (AP) — An item from the Mount Mansfield, Vt., skiing magazine this month: "Dr. (Bish) McGill, staff surgeon at the Mary Fletcher Hospital in Burlington, member of the medical advisor to the Mt. Mansfield ski patrol, has been chosen as one of 10 doctors to work with the special Olympic ski patrol . . . at Squaw Valley this winter."

"(Bish) McGill has combined favorite sport and working profession to find the causes of, preventive measures for, and best means of repair for skiing injuries. . . ."

The story goes on to tell of Dr. McGill directing first-aid courses for skiers and how he helped produce a first-aid movie for skiers.

The story ends on this editor's note: "As we go to press word had been received that Dr. J. Bishop McGill received injuries in a skiing accident that will most likely prevent his skiing. . . . he is now being treated for a spiral fracture of the left tibia. . . ."

Rightists Take Over Algiers

ALGIERS — (AP) — Insurgents virtually took over the city of Algiers today. The departure of Paul Delouvrier, the Paris government's civil administrator, and of Gen. Maurice Challe, the supreme army commander, for a separate command post at Blida, 25 miles southwest of the city, left the right-wing insurrectionists uncontested masters of the capital.

President de Gaulle, through Delouvrier, called on the 9,000,000 Moslems in Algeria Thursday for a show of support, and ordered his chief representatives to set up a new command post outside Algiers.

Paratroops remained in the capital—still under a state of siege—but they made no attempt to prevent the insurgents from strengthening their barricades.

PAPERS BACK INSURGENTS
 The French - language newspapers of Algiers, freed from censorship, openly supported the insurgents' demand for the immediate proclamation of Algeria as a French province without giving the Moslems a chance to vote.

Delouvrier called for the barricades to come down and urged the support of de Gaulle. In an editorial broadcast Thursday he appealed to the insurgents not to take any action that might bring the secession of Algeria from France or the fall of de Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

Armed territorialists — citizens enrolled as militia who have joined the insurgents—roamed all over the city and seemed to have taken over city hall this morning.

The insurrectionists set up their own radio station from a command post inside barricaded Algiers University.

Negro Policeman First In Toronto
 TORONTO (CP) — Lawrence McLarty, 30, who has eight years police experience in Kingston, Jamaica, has been appointed Metropolitan Toronto's first Negro policeman. Magistrate C.O. Bick, police commission chairman, told the new constable his appointment was comparable to Jackie Robinson's as the first Negro in major league baseball.

Volcano Erupts
 HONOLULU (AP) — A flaming river of lava raged through the deserted village of Kapoho Thursday. At least 22 houses — about half of the little farming community — were set ablaze and destroyed. The 300 residents of Kapoho were evacuated more than a week ago.

Both Sides Seek Same Goal Differ On How To Reach It
 PARIS (AP)—Both the insurgents holding the barricades in Algiers and the government in Paris want the same thing—a pacified Algeria firmly French. They differ on how to bring it about.

That accounts for the strange quirks and contradictions that seem to give a split personality to some of the actors on both sides of the uprising.

The insurgents feel the government's policy of self-determination will fail, and ultimately result in independence for the predominantly Moslem land.

The government feels President de Gaulle's moderate policy represents the only hope for ending the five-year-old Moslem rebellion and the best hope of preserving the French position in Algeria.

Government officials refer to the insurgents as patriots. Paratroopers watch idly as the insurgents reinforce the stronghold the troops may be asked to storm.

Both sides fly the tricolor. Troops and insurgents gnat amiably while pointing guns at each other.

Had Freight Monopoly Helped Develop Canada's North
M. L. 'Mickey' Ryan Dies At 67

A man who played an important part in the development of Canada's northland, Marion Leonard (Mickey) Ryan, died at his home on the East Brompton road, Sherbrooke, last night. He was 67.

Mr. Ryan was born in the United States of Irish parentage and in his younger days was a professional lightweight boxer. In 1910 he went to Edmonton for a bout and decided to remain there, working in a hotel with his brother, Patrick.

With the discovery of tar sands at Fort McMurray in 1914, the brothers moved there where they got a mail contract. In 1919 they received a public utility franchise for a road at the Fort Smith portage, on the MacKenzie River which gave them a virtual monopoly of the freight business into the northern mining areas, which lasted until 1934, when a parallel road was built.

They expanded their business from a few teams of horses to a fleet of trucks, tractors, buses and horses.

About 12 years ago, Mr. Ryan disposed of his interest in the business and moved to Eastern Canada. He purchased a large farm on the East road to Bromptonville on the outskirts of the city where he had made his home since.

The body is resting at the R. L. Bishop Funeral Home, 300 Queen Boulevard North. The funeral service will take place at St. Patrick's Church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Julian Clark officiating.

Burial will take place in Edmonton.

heavy, or even a friend of Alan Ladd. He's starring for Warner Brothers in The Dark at the Top of the Stairs.
The Broadway musical Music Man blasted him out of the Hollywood type-casting he suffered for 15 years. He recalled his last film, The Last Frontier, which he made in 1954 with Victor Mature.
"Columbia sent me the script and I said I wasn't interested. It was just the sort of thing I had gone to Broadway to get away from. They kept talking to me about it, so I named a salary that I knew would be impossible. They gave up.
"Then came the day before the company was to leave on location, and the role still wasn't cast. Harry Cohn, God rest his soul, said, 'pay the blankety-blank what he wants.' I did the role, but I wouldn't even go see the picture afterward. It wasn't exactly a heavy. But there's only one hero in a Victor Mature picture."

ON TOP
Bob kept plugging away at the stage and finally landed with Music Man. It was one of the most dynamic performances Broadway had seen in decades, and he stayed with the show two years and two months.

His success caused movie producers to see him in a different light. He took a Warner's offer for a number of films — "because the deal gave me good money and plenty of freedom, and because I had a notion they were going to buy Music Man."
The studio did buy the show in a million-dollar deal, but Bob still doesn't know if he'll get the part, though author Meredith Willson wants him to. Lots of big names have a yen for the role, including Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby and Dean Martin.

ETAA Reports $3,000 Deficit For Year
 But Sherbrooke Fair Said Best Ever

The 1959 Sherbrooke Fair, from an agricultural point of view, was the best in the history of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association and is second to none in Canada in its category. Michael T. Stenson, president of the Association, said at the annual meeting held yesterday.

"The same applies" said Mr. Stenson, "to the industrial and commercial exhibits. There was not one inch of available space which was not taken up."

"This situation reflects the continuous and conscientious work of our directors and staff and wholehearted support of our exhibitors. As regards this part of our operations, we can truthfully claim a real and satisfactory success."

However, the financial picture presented at the meeting showed an excess of expenditures over revenues of more than $3,000 compared with a net gain of $10,725.57 in 1958.

A breakdown of the statement of revenues and expenditures of the 1959 summer fair showed a surplus of $17,307.12 from the gross income of $74,025.95. Comparative figures for the 1958 summer fair show revenue, $77,229.98; expenditures, $55,063.88; surplus, $22,166.10.

The statement for the arena showed: revenue, $25,931.62; expenditures, $27,684.41; loss $9,860.03. In 1958 the arena showed a slight surplus of $1,184.08.

The winter fair and livestock showed a slight profit although somewhat below the 1958 figure. In 1959, revenues were $14,639.26; expenditures, $11,434.55; surplus, $3,204.71. In 1958 there was a surplus of $5,654.36.

Referring to the fire at the fair grounds, Mr. Stenson said: "At this moment I can tell you that the association is ready and willing to replace the lost stabling accommodations with four smaller but more modern stables which would provide more accommodation with less fire hazard."

Officers re-elected for 1960 are: president M. T. Stenson; first vice-president Ernest Mercier, and second vice-president, Wesley Nichol. Members of the executive committee are: V. R. Beattie, Colin Campbell, Louis F. Codere, Dr. L. A. Gendreau, Hon. C. B. Howard, Emile Levesque, W. G. MacDougall, Everett Nichol, L. E. O'Donnell, D. G. Ross, J. A. Ste. Marie, and R. A. Webster.

Humanities Talk

Urges Closer Ties
 With Australia

Last night at Bishop's University, Professor Hunt of Australia, Professor of English at the university of Melbourne, gave a talk to the local branch of the Humanities Association of Canada. His subject was "The Humanities in Australia."

Professor Hunt dealt with various subjects of interest such as cultural exchange between Canada and Australia and its usefulness, the common fields of study existing in Canada and Australia, and the education system in both Australian schools and universities.

Professor Hunt said he felt that cultural contacts between Canada, Australia, and the United States are becoming increasingly important, and that Australia has much to gain from Canada, because our nation has always had very close contact with the United States. He also said that he would encourage exchange of scholars between East and West and between Canada and Australia. He added that there are possibilities for students and teachers to go to Australia, and that such people should investigate these openings.

He noted that Canada and Australia have much in common in many fields of study. Anthropology was cited as one. The problems associated with the Australian aborigines are much the same as those arising among Canadian Indians.

The education system in Australia was discussed and it was pointed out that only recently has there been much emphasis on graduate studies in Australia. Professor Hunt said that educationalists in that country are realizing the value in sustained argument and are stressing this in more thesis work in honours courses, and in more Ph.D. work in universities.

Great pleasure was expressed by Professor Hunt in seeing the organization of the new Commonwealth Scholarship Scheme.

To Come Up Before Assizes

Preferred Indictment Is Made In Lake Megantic Murder Case

A preferred indictment issued by the Province's Attorney General, Antoine Rivard yesterday, ordered that the murder trial of Andre Letellier, 18, of Megantic be heard at the present session of the St. Francis District Criminal Assizes.

This morning however, Letellier is scheduled to appear in Magistrate's Court, when it is expected that the presiding judge will refer the case to one of the Court of Queen's Bench's three judges.

It was learned this morning that Letellier will not have the customary preliminary hearing, so that his trial can be heard this year.

Letellier was charged with murder Friday Jan. 15 at the local Court House.

He was charged with the murder of 19-year-old Jean-Louis Lacroix, of Megantic shot to death in a Megantic dance hall Christmas eve.

Also injured in the incident was 20-year-old Real Gaboury, of St. Samuel. He underwent surgery in a Montreal hospital a few days after the shooting but is still under a doctor's care in Montreal.

R.C.M.P. officials have been called into the case since it had been charged that an amount of illicit liquor was consumed at the scene of the tragedy.

Orders 3rd New Trial In Smugs Case

For the second time in the trial of a Sherbrooke man charged with possession of 125,000 smuggled American cigarettes, the jury has been dismissed.

The trial of Sylva Chouinard, presided over by Mr. Justice William Mitchell, took an unexpected turn yesterday as the jury was dismissed after provincial police detective Guy Dupont, testifying against Chouinard, said that he knew the defendant from a previous arrest.

Following an objection by defence attorney P. E. Brazeau, Q.C., to Dupont's statement, Judge Mitchell decided that a new trial should be held.

Justice Mitchell said that the jury had been influenced by Dupont's statement.

This was the second time in two years that the jury hearing Chouinard's trial has been dismissed.

Last year, when the jury was unable to reach a unanimous verdict after 90 minutes of deliberation Judge Mitchell ordered a new trial.

Date of Chouinard's third trial has not yet been set.

A small one room school house for 20 pupils burnt to the ground on the Range 13 road, St. Elie d'Orford early yesterday morning, causing an estimated $15,000 worth of damage.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been a short-circuit. The building, the St. Trinite school, was built nine years ago and contained a school-room, a rest room and a bathroom.

The pupils were taken to the Immaculate Virgin convent in St. Elie.

Insurance covers $6,000 of the loss.

Members of the executive elected last night were: president L. Langevin, vice-president Bob Mayhew, and secretary J. C. Tanner. Members of the executive committee include: E. T. Webster, L. Langevin, Wesley Nichol and J. C. Routledge. Wells Bishop was added to the list of directors.

Special guests of the Association attending the meeting were Dr. Ernest Mercier, J. A. Ste. Marie, W. G. MacDougall, and Don MacMillan. Seated at the head table were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayhew, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Webster, Mr. Langevin and

Farmers Ask More Aid For Hungry Asiatics

TORONTO (CP) — Looking beyond the mounds of surplus western wheat, Canadian farmers saw hungry Asia Thursday and urged the federal government to enlarge its program for disposing of food products to needy countries.

In the final session of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture's three-day convention, delegates gave unanimous support to resolutions asking the government to:

1. Increase gifts of wheat and flour to Colombo plan countries.
 2. Provide low-interest loans to other countries prepared to buy wheat and flour on credit.
 3. Follow up the initiatives it has taken in developing agreements for the export of surplus agricultural products.
- Observers who have followed farmer views on this subject said farmer unity on the commodity disposal problem was something new.

MEETINGS HELPED
 Jack Wesson, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, said international meetings at Rome and New Delhi in 1959 "helped to turn farmer interest to international action."

"We really want multilateral agreement on disposing of food to people who cannot buy," he said. "But without agreement, Canada should take the lead. The main reason we oppose United States disposal programs is because they interfere."

In the 10 years since Canada helped found the Colombo plan, the federal government has contributed $281,700,000 in aid.

Delegates passed a resolution asking the federal and provincial governments to legislate against the use of agricultural products as loss leaders.

An earlier resolution protesting the use of agricultural loss leader by chain stores was rejected after the convention felt the problem should be handled by governments.

Delegates also urged: Government study of arguments for and against nationalization of the CPR, pipelines and long-distance trucking;

The new Board of Broadcast Governors to exercise its responsibilities "boldly and courageously" and ensure a "truly Canadian broadcasting system;"

Suspension of tolls on the Welland Canal and exemption of tolls for agricultural products moving through the St. Lawrence Seaway;

Early removal of restrictions against imports of Japanese products into Canada and stabilization of the Canadian dollar at par with the U.S. dollar.

Charter Hearing Put Off

The Mayor of Sherbrooke several aldermen, the city attorney and other interested parties that went to Quebec yesterday to attend the hearing to amend certain clauses in the city's charter, will have to go back next week.

Although the city's charter amendments were to be heard by the Quebec Legislature yesterday, the hearing was postponed until next Tuesday.

Reason for the postponement is that the hearing for the amendments to the Charter of Montreal has not as yet been completed.

The mayor and the city attorney will return to Quebec City Tuesday.

A Dramatic Tradition

Over one hundred students from 11 Eastern Canada universities congregate at Bishop's University today to take part in the annual Inter-Varsity Drama League Festival.

The student thespians — from colleges from Toronto to Newfoundland — have before them a rugged dramatic schedule. Three plays are being presented in the university Memorial Gymnasium this afternoon, starting at 2.30. These will be followed by four this evening, and four more tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow night, the winners will be announced at a festival banquet, and adjudicator Rupert Caplan will present his critique of the plays. The annual league conference will be held Sunday.

The festival should be one of the most interesting, dramatically speaking, ever held. The plays range from that old standby, Chekov to that newer standby, Tennessee Williams. Three of Williams' plays are to be presented, one of them by Bishop's.

It doesn't really matter who wins the festival. The important thing about it is that it is being held, and that is being participated in with enthusiasm.

It has been said, several times, that if Canada is to have a true dramatic tradition, it is in the colleges and universities that it will be born.

Some say it is already growing.

Such festivals as the one opening at Bishop's today go a long way towards ensuring that the growth continues, and that the tradition becomes healthy and strong.

Curbing Parliamentary Debates

Prime Minister Diefenbaker in his planned reform of Canadian parliamentary procedure to speed up legislative processes might well give close study to a suggestion advanced by Douglas Fisher, CCF Member for Port Arthur, that the traditional Throne Speech be curtailed.

There can be little argument with the belief expressed by Mr. Fisher that the poor attendance in the House during the 10-day debate at the start of the session indicates most members consider the wide range of issues raised as "neither interesting nor edifying nor amusing."

His assertion was borne out by the fact that only about 50 of the 264 members were in the House at the time he was speaking.

The only purpose of the Throne Speech debate seems to be to let private members "let off steam," impressing upon the electors back home that the elected representative does turn up in the House occasionally and can make himself heard at least once during his parliamentary career.

Certainly the average speech during the debate offers little for the advancement of the public good, generally comprising a review of the virtues of the particular district from which the speaker originates and a demand for certain services in the individual constituency which nobody hears. But they make good reading for the electorate.

Few would suggest such a complete break with parliamentary tradition as involved in abolishing the Throne Speech debate entirely, but the number of useless addresses could be cut down considerably.

Maybe Mr. Fisher's remarks were touched off by his admission, while favoring increased indemnities for Members of Parliament, that much of the public "doesn't think we're worth what we're getting now."

Statutory School Grants

Proposals by the provincial government to put aid to high schools and similar institutions on a statutory basis will have one important effect on the preparation of school commission budgets — in addition to the prime purpose of easing the financial burden on the ratepayers.

It will permit the local boards to prepare their budgets with full knowledge of just what financial assistance they will receive from the province.

In recent years, the school commissions have been compelled to budget for a substantial deficit, preserving the hope that aid will be forthcoming from the higher authority to ease the situation.

Unfortunately, however, there has never been assurance that the assistance will be provided nor as to the amount of aid. Too often political factors appear to have entered into determination of the amount of the grants, with "good" boards benefitting at the expense of "bad" boards.

The provision of statutory grants should eliminate this condition and provide a feeling of stability in educational circles which has been lacking in the past.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

THOUGHTFUL PLAY CAN SET HAND

Terence Reese who is England's greatest bridge player has just written a book called "The Expert Game," which is just as the name implies.

In a chapter headed, "How Could I Tell" he discusses a hand from a pair tournament. At all tables West opened the seven of spades. East won in all cases win with the ten and in most cases continue with the ace and king of spades.

South would ruff with the ace of trumps, enter dummy with the king and discard his losing club on dummy's queen of spades. West would have to ruff with the high trump and the hand would make.

At a couple of tables East won at the first spade and shifted to a club immediately. One received a bottom score because his partner won the ace of clubs and lead a club back whereupon South made the rest of the tricks.

The other West had more confidence in his partner and led a second spade and now a third spade lead by East set the hand.

How was he able to tell? He reasoned that his partner would have won the first spade lead with the ace if he had been looking for a club ruff.

"Charles Should Be Along Any Minute Now"

Jesuit's Theory Says Evolution Not Ended

LONDON (CP)—A gifted and versatile Jesuit priest, who died five years ago, has created a stir in religious, philosophical and scientific circles by expounding the theory that the evolutionary process is not yet ended.

The beliefs of Rev. Pierre Teilhard de Chardin are set out in Le Phenomene Humain, a work completed in 1938 but published only after the author's death. Its English translation, The Phenomenon of Man, appeared barely a month ago.

A devout Jesuit from the time he entered one of the society's schools at the age of 10, Father Teilhard first made his mark in paleontology—the study of extinct forms of life—and geology. He was one of the discoverers of the Peking man, one of the earliest examples of human existence.

His scientific work won Father Teilhard numerous academic honors. He spent the last four years of his life with the Wenner-Gren Foundation in New York, leaving the manuscript of Le Phenomene Humain with friends to be published posthumously.

SUPERIORS DISTURBED

His ecclesiastical superiors, disturbed by some of his theories which appeared to contradict basic Roman Catholic doctrine, had forbidden him to continue teaching 30 years earlier and had banned publication of any of his major works during his lifetime.

Appearance of The Phenomenon of Man brought tributes to its author from prominent laymen. Biologist Julian Huxley, one of its sponsors, called it "a very remarkable work by a remarkable human being."

London's Times literary supplement, devoting two pages to the work's review, said the book was the product of "an exceptionally daring and original mind."

In profound and complex terms, including some words newly coined to describe his ideas, Father Teilhard drew on his scientific studies to add details to Charles Darwin's original theory of evolution. Where he broke new ground was in defining the aim of the evolutionary process.

From the beginning, he saw it as "a striving towards consciousness," which reached a decisive stage when man gained the power of reflection that differentiated him from all other forms of life.

CHANGES IN BRAIN

That power, not only to know but to know that he knows, gave man his most powerful evolutionary tool. Father Teilhard reasoned that man's body may have ceased to change but that infinitely more significant changes are taking place and will continue in his brain.

He saw the ultimate aim of man's ascent to consciousness as a supreme consciousness which he called omega, in which all personalities would achieve union and harmony. The unifying factor was God, of whom man would then at last be fully aware.

A year ago, the official publication of the Pontifical Roman Theological Academy described Le Phenomene Humain as "a maximum of seduction coinciding with a maximum of aberration" but added that its author's good faith absolved him of the charge of heresy.

But E. O. James, former professor of philosophy and history of religion at London University, called the work "a study of unique value alike for science, metaphysics and theology." Historian Arnold Toynbee saw it as "an act of spiritual liberation," in which the writer "breaks through apparently impenetrable intellectual barriers, bruising his feet on the rubble from the fallen walls."

DAIRY FARMERS OF CANADA CONVENTION, 1960

At the request of the Carnation Company Milk Producers Board I attended this convention, in company with three other delegates.

In the course of the week it was made very apparent that the dairy farmers are apprehensive about the future. In the last twenty years, or so, they have achieved a phenomenal increase in technical efficiency; but the price of milk, at the farms, has not kept pace with the ever increasing cost of the goods and services needed for efficient operation.

There is a price squeeze against the farmers; a sort of chain reaction. Fluid milk people have their profits cut by a surplus — which they throw onto other groups. Concentrated milk producers have their price negotiations ruined by cheap powder products and butter. Powder and butter producers have export surpluses which must be sold at world prices. World prices are kept down by producers in countries where production costs are very low, and by powerful buyers who want low prices.

Each day at the convention brought lively debates or informative reports by experts. When we met the Minister for Agriculture our delegation was able to air the grievance which arose last year on the change from 'support' to 'stabilization', by which we lost five cents per hundred. We were supported by the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers. We did not extract any promise from the minister but we put the case quite bluntly and I felt that we made as much progress as was possible at that time. It seems that the government is willing to give some help but determined to keep the export surpluses small and to pay out as little as possible.

We found that our Sherbrooke contract is not the worst, nor yet the best. Conditions vary across Canada, but I think the farmers of British Columbia and Alberta, where co-operation is highly developed, are getting the best deals. Pooling may be detrimental to some interests but co-ordinated bargaining, on a province wide basis at least, gives the farmers some power to defend themselves.

The convention adopted resolutions requesting the government to continue supporting butter at 64 cts.; to re-introduce the 'offer to purchase' plan for skim-milk powder with continued 'stabilization' payments of 25 cts. per hundred on milk for manufacturing; to help expand the market for whole milk powder, especially in Central and South America; to extend 'stabilization' payments to all milk used for manufacturing; and, to control imports of edible oils.

There were resolutions for special purposes such as improved grading and the exchange of information between producers marketing boards. Continued help to needy countries, extension of school milk programs, study of co-operative marketing and extension of the June set-aside for advertising and sales promotion, was also called for.

The big problem of the industry is surplus production. There are conflicts of interest between domestic groups, such as the fluid, concentrated and powdered milk producers, and also between nations. For example, in England prices at the farm are far above world markets, and kept that way by government policy supported by popular opinion, and so they like to buy in very cheap world markets for benefit of the consumers without hurt to the farmers. Again there are 'under-developed' countries where 'foreign aid' is thought to depend on North American surpluses. Perhaps that is why international conferences have achieved little.

Summing up my own thoughts on this convention I feel that progress has been made but much remains to be done. The Agricultural Stabilization Act gives the Federal Government wide powers and choice of methods. Evidently the Ministry would like reduced surpluses, which is sound long-term policy. The industry needs immediate help — how much it will get is a political question.

A sympathetic public can put pressure on the ministry through members of parliament; and that way, the farmers might get a better deal. I think the public would be sympathetic to our cause if it was properly explained to them; but, in the long run, we have to solve the surplus problem for ourselves. We have a hard task because for many years farm prices have been falling by comparison with all other prices and farm production costs are still rising.

Lend Lease Parleys Collapse

WASHINGTON (CP)—The spirit of "togetherness" between Russia and the United States has bogged down with the collapse of the latest round of lend-lease settlement talks.

The break-off came after four meetings in two weeks. It set off a train of suspicion here that Premier Khrushchev has been using his professed friendship for the U.S. only as a propaganda stunt, and that the cold war will continue.

In previous lend-lease talks, the U.S. wanted $800,000,000 as settlement of some $2,000,000,000 worth of civilian goods sent to Russia during the Second World War. Russia had offered $300,000,000, which the U.S. refused.

As the new round of talks opened last Jan. 11, American diplomatic sources indicated that the U.S. was ready to compromise on its demand if Russia showed any indication of moving up on its original $300,000,000 offer.

But the talks apparently didn't get off the ground. No figures were mentioned. Instead, Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov opened up by demanding that any settlement be linked with simultaneous U.S. action to give Russia most-favored-nation tariff treatment and access to long-term credits for purchase of American goods.

Current U.S. laws forbid this. Charles Bohlen, special assistant to State Secretary Herter, considered Menshikov had agreed at the outset to keep negotiations to the lend-lease issue itself.

Now the state department says there won't be any resumption of negotiations unless Russia withdraws its demands for changes in U.S. laws. The outlook for any immediate change in the Russian position seems bleak.

Canadian Wheat Used To Aid Aussie Project

HUMPTY DOO, Australia (CP) Canadian wheat combines are being adapted in Australia's remote "top end" for use in the country's first large-scale project to grow and sell rice to Asia.

At the 5,500-acre Humpty Doo rice farm near Darwin, Australian agriculturalists demonstrate how machinery designed for the Canadian prairies can be successfully employed on the rich black earth of coastal areas of the Northern Territory only a few hundred miles south of the Equator.

Beams said mechanized scientific agriculture would prove more economical than hand-labor traditional rice growing methods in Asian countries. Humpty Doo eventually would employ only two men for every 500 acres compared with three men to one acre in Java or Burma.

Estimated yield would be about one ton an acre, good by world standards. Experimental work in the area also was being carried out by scientists of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization and a Northern Territory administration farm.

Recently Australia exported a large shipment of rice to Canada for the first time. A $300,000, 3,500-ton order was sent from Sydney to Canadian Rice Mills, Vancouver.

Wine Of Century Now In The Vats?

BONN (Reuters)—What West German wine experts expect to be the wine of the century now is fermenting in huge vats along the Rhine, Mosel, Saar and Rur rivers.

Production of about 1,027,000 gallons in 1959 was second in quantity only to the 1958 production of 1,200,000 gallons—the greatest amount ever entered in German wine statistics.

In addition, the 1959 vintage promises to be as good, or better, than the 1911 vintage which was the supreme year for quality. There have been only four really great German wine years this century—1911, 1915, 1921 and 1945, though the years 1920, 1924, 1937, 1949 and 1953 were good.

The quality of German wine depends largely on the amount of sun the grapes receive on the vine.

Since the sun in many years fails to supply the grapes with enough fermentable sugar in this northerly wine region of Europe, German growers often resort to artificial sweetening.

It seems unlikely they will have to do so this year, and most of their wine will carry the mark "natur" on its label, signifying that it is a "natural" ferment without additives.

Sylvester Parker was re-elected for his seventh term as president of the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys Association, at the annual general meeting held at the King George Hotel on Wednesday evening.

Reports on the year's activities were given by the committee chairmen.

Henry Crochetiere, Secretary-Treasurer reported that the Association had enjoyed another successful year. The balance of the operating deficit will be made up from the general account.

In his report on the sports activities of the Association during the past year, sports committee chairman, Len O'Donnell, stated that the Old Boys had a team in the Little League Baseball, which team won the league honors. The Association has also sponsored a team in the newly formed Sherbrooke Juvenile Hockey League. During the year hockey sweaters were supplied to several pee-wee hockey clubs.

1959 included the St. Patrick's Parish Society for the annual Parish picnic, the Optimist Club for its annual picnic, the Choir boys of St. Therese Church and the Choir of Assumption Parish. In September the members of Club 51 held their 10th anniversary party.

Again in 1959 the Association accepted applications from former students of St. Patrick's Academy for loans to enable them to continue their education. At the present time two former students of the Academy are pursuing higher studies through loans from the Associations.

Following Committee reports, President Solo Parker gave a brief report on the activities of the Association during the past year. He paid tribute to the work done by the members in general and the Camp Committee Chairman, Mr. Crochetiere in particular. He expressed the hope that more of the younger members would begin to take an active interest in the affairs of the Association.

Wyatt Earp Is Outgunned In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Wyatt Earp, master of the lightning draw, found himself outgunned by airport customs men Thursday when he flew here from the United States.

Ambushed in the airport customs hall, actor Hugh O'Brian, who plays Marshal Earp on television, had to hand over three .45-calibre revolvers he had brought with him.

Later, though, officials relented and O'Brian got his shooting irons back after flying on to Melbourne.

Bruck Sales Are Up

MONTREAL — (Special) — Sales of Bruck Mills Ltd. for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 last totalled $15,010,868, an increase of 11.8 per cent over the previous year's $13,421,459, the company's annual report reveals.

The year's operations resulted in a net profit of $176,124, equal to $1.41 a share on this class "A" stock. In the previous year there was a net loss of $92,229, and in fiscal 1957 a net loss of $66,618. Net working capital at the year-end stood at $2,992,773, up from $2,882,193 as of Oct. 31, 1958.

Despite the improved results for the year, Gerald L. Bruck, president, views the future with caution.

In his message to shareholders he lays stress on the rapid rise in the rate of imports of textiles and clothing from Japan as one of the most serious problems facing the industry.

The huge increases in this area have been most pronounced and sudden, states Mr. Bruck. The Government, he adds, is negotiating with the Japanese Government in an attempt to find mutually acceptable means to control the volume within reasonable limits.

Mr. Bruck notes that there has been a recent relaxation in export restrictions from hard currency countries in many areas of the globe. He says that steps have been taken by the company to take advantage of these export opportunities.

on the brink of civil war today" as it was taken tensely for de Gaulle's next move.

(Algiers) "waited with feverish impatience" for tonight's broadcast (at 2 p.m. EST) by de Gaulle, Reuters said, adding: "If the president does not make concession to the rebellious settlers—and few expected him to—Algiers could be plunged into battle."

In Algeria, the heavily armed insurgents openly called for his overthrow.

"France is one thing, de Gaulle quite another," the insurgents said in a communique.

Cries of "de Gaulle to the stake" came from thousands who gathered around loudspeakers in the capital and booed Delouvrier's appeal.

NO FORGIVENESS

Delouvrier implied a promise of amnesty to leaders of the uprising in his appeal, but the Paris government disapproved. It suggested in a statement that he must have been swept away by the "impassioned atmosphere which reigns in Algeria" in holding out the hand of forgiveness.

Paris wholeheartedly sanctioned, however, the delegate-general's call to the Muslims to shake off their inactivity and shout "vive de Gaulle."

Speaking directly to the Arabs, Berbers and other North Africans who outnumber Algerian Europeans nine to one, Delouvrier said: "De Gaulle has given you dignity, equality, liberty... but you have not yet taken it... What are you waiting for... Cry 'vive de Gaulle'... Liberate yourselves, liberate us, liberate us all together, everywhere, in all Algeria."

LEAVE SOME BEHIND

Delouvrier, and Challe, in moving their command post outside Algiers, left behind paratroops who have shown a sympathy with the insurgents.

There have been reports that most French army officers commanding the Algiers garrison would refuse to obey orders to fight the men behind the barricades.

Some observers read in a passage of Delouvrier's speech an indication that he suspected an "officer plot" against de Gaulle.

With Challe by his side, the Algerian civilian chief warned the soldiers that "the unity of the republic, and of France" is at stake in the present crisis.

ADMITS GRAVE GAMBLE

The delegate-general admitted the government's manoeuvring to end the insurrection entailed a grave gamble, but he told all: "I have taken the risk of setting off civil war to avoid secession and the departure of de Gaulle. I have taken this risk because I have confidence in you, because I know the barricades will fall. Make them fall, crying 'vive de Gaulle.' Follow me, I beg of you."

French newspapers were stunned—and some mystified—by Delouvrier's speech.

The popular Paris Jour describes it as an "anguished appeal," and says so much is going on in Algiers that it is "impossible to give an authentic account."

St. Paul's Vestry Three Anglican Churches To Merge On Year's Trial

The annual vestry meeting of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, was held recently in the Church Hall, with the largest representation of parishioners in several years.

The main item on the agenda was the presentation of a plan whereby the congregations of St. Paul's and the Advent, together with St. Elie Mission, could merge to form one self supporting parish, served by Mr. Jervis-Read. After considerable discussion on the various aspects of the plan, it was decided to enter into it for an experimental period of not less than one year.

Rev. R. S. Jervis-Read presided and welcomed the Archdeacon of St. Francis, the Ven. T. J. Matthews, to the meeting.

The recent death of A. W. Saunders, for many years warden at St. Paul's, was noted with sadness, and prayers were said for all those who had passed away during the year, both from St. Paul's and St. Elie d'Orford.

In presenting the financial report, T. W. Oak, people's warden, expressed his thanks to the Guilds and the people of St. Elie for their faithful support. He gave a resume of the work carried out during the year, the main projects accomplished being the painting of the church and rectory, paving of the entrance to the church, and increased insurance on the property.

Mr. Jervis-Read in his report, expressed his thanks to the Wardens and congratulated the various organizations on their successful efforts of the past year. One hundred and forty-seven services, 100 of which were Holy Communion, were held, also six marriages, nine burials, six baptisms and a confirmation. A general increase in attendance at the services is noted.

Following the reading of the Canon Laws, the rector reappointed Hartley Graham as his warden for the coming year.

The following officers were all re-elected by acclamation: People's warden, T. W. Oak; envelope secretary, E. Bryant; auditor, J. Allanson and H. Drew; vestry clerk, Mrs. M. Dillon.

A commitment of 10 per cent increase in the budget, to meet the cost of increased stipend for missionary clergy, was agreed upon for the coming year.

A discussion as to whether this parish should enter into the Sector Plan in 1960 followed, and a decision is being withheld until later, following a visit from Canon Jackson, head of Sector in Toronto, and a meeting attended by the Archdeacon, explaining the Plan more fully.

Archdeacon Matthews closed the meeting with the Benediction and refreshments were served by the ladies of the Guilds.

The Sunday before his departure, Father Jolin made his farewell from the pulpit of St. Bernard's Church and thanked all those who had contributed to his mission work. Israeli Styles Highlight Hadassah Tea

A showing of Israeli creations, some 17 knitted ensembles and suits, was a featured highlight of the annual Hadassah tea and food sale held Wednesday afternoon in the Synagogue Hall.

Mrs. Harry Prupas, president, Mrs. Irving Steinman and Mrs. Sid Gillick, Ladies' Auxiliary chairman, received the large number of guests who attended. A touch of Spring was noted in the gay little table centerpieces, each one made of a low candle surrounded by tiny paper flowers, and in the floral sprays which set off the stage from where the fashion show started.

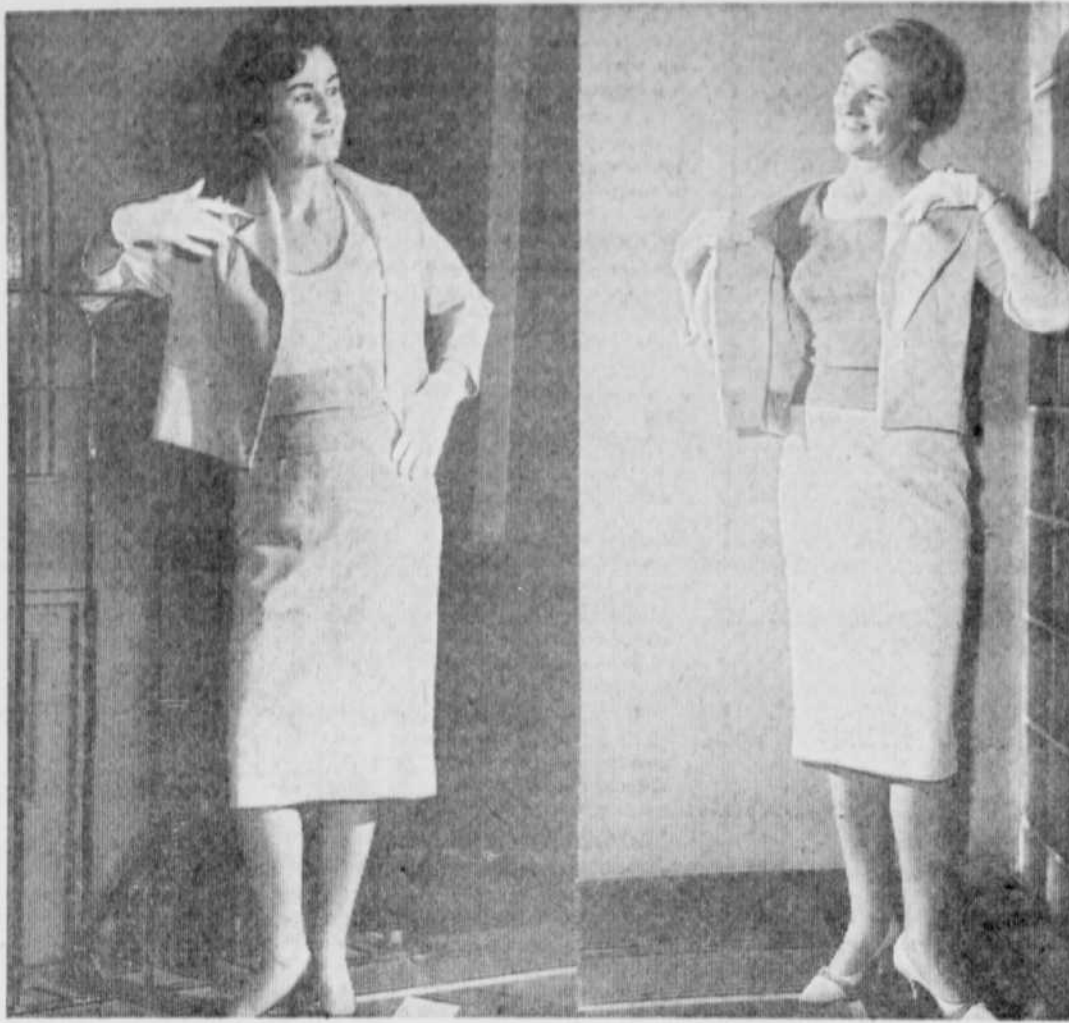

Mrs. George Beaulieu and Mrs. Russell Marois were the competent models who paraded down through the hall, stopping at tables for the guests to get a closer look at the garments.

The fashions, all knitted pieces with the exception of some raincoats, emphasized casual simplicity. Some were tailored three-piece ensembles of skirt, sweater and box jacket; others were styled far more dress occasions with softly rounded necklines or unusual collar treatment.

A few of the dresses had a matching coat.

The beige and gray tones seemed to be popular basic colors teamed with stronger off-shades of blues, purples and pinks in contrasting sweaters or as trim.

But there was also the occasional navy, red and toast brown and the lighter blue shades. Mrs. Prupas welcomed the

STYLES FROM ISRAEL — Local models, Mrs. George Beaulieu, left, and Mrs. Russell Marois, show two of the knitted ensembles on view Wednesday at the Sherbrooke Hadassah tea held at the Synagogue Hall. Mrs. Beaulieu is in a three-piece outfit of pale lime, the lining of the box jacket matching the contrasting dotted white of the sweater. The gray suit on Mrs. Marois has a more fitted jacket with front closing which shows just a trace of the blue sweater above the low collar when tied. There were 15 other styles in the showing of fashions from Israel. (Record Photos by Gerry Lemay)

Sophie Kerr's Answer To Age: 'Don't Imitate'

The writer, Sophie Kerr who is in her 79th year has written the best article on old age that I ever read.

In the issue of Coronet magazine the editors have given it the honest, down-to-earth title of "Wise Words From an Old Lady."

Starting out with the observation that all too many old ladies "look grim" Miss Kerr goes on to advise on the ways in which an older woman can accentuate the positives and cut the losses to keep old age from becoming a frustrating, lonely, bewildering time of life.

She admits quite frankly that old age has many limitations. But she points out that it has its privileges, too. "We old ones must use the muscles of our bodies and the muscles of our minds as far as they will go and neither envy nor imitate youth. "We had it once and we can look back with gratitude, for now our finest memories take the place of the vague, feverish dreams and ambitions of our youth. We are, in fact, living the future of our youth. The rush and push of earlier days are done; instead we have more selection of activity, more dignity, a broader vista, a more even judgment. . . "We can live according to our own customs, holding the treasures of age and valuing them. And we can surely loosen the prevailing grimness of our faces by forcing up the corners of the mouth and smiling confidently at the coming generations, assured that we will receive a smile of confidence in return." Her words, for the old, offer inspiration and courage. The young can read it for an understanding of the meaning of age.

Self-Effacing And Devoted

Comfortable Home Life - Yvonne de Gaulle's Aim

By CLARE McDERMOTT
PARIS (Reuters)—The woman behind the austere and haughty president of France is a self-effacing housewife who sees her role in life as simply to make a comfortable home for her celebrated husband.

Just two weeks before Gen. de Gaulle starts his visit to Canada and the United States April 19, he and his wife Yvonne will mark their 39th wedding anniversary.

Although Mme. de Gaulle does not publicly share her husband's dedication to politics, they appear as devoted to each other now as when they fell in love 40 years ago.

MET IN 1920
They met one spring day in 1920 at a sidewalk cafe on the Champs Elysees.

De Gaulle, then a gawky young army captain of 29 from Lille, was gesturing strenuously to drive home a point about military strategy in a reconstruction of a First World War battle for the benefit of a friend.

One lanky arm swept a glass of vermouth into the lap of a slender, dark-haired girl with bright blue eyes at the next table.

The girl was Yvonne Charlotte Anne-Marie Vendroux, then almost 20. Her father, Jacques Vendroux, was a Calais shipbuilder whose family came to the Dunkirk area from Holland in the 18th century and who married into an old Calais family.

Yvonne's brother Jacques runs a large family biscuit firm in Calais.

ROMANTIC BEGINNING
De Gaulle's strenuous apologies to the girl whose dress he ruined in the sidewalk cafe prompted a friendship which grew into romance.

He proposed to Yvonne at a military ball a few weeks later and they were married at Calais April 6, 1921, just a year after they first met.

But Mme. de Gaulle has overcome her aversion to public life in order to accompany her husband almost everywhere within France and on his few trips out-

Ron Hamel And Jean Lambert Star For Canadiens; Moore Gets Big One In Closing Minutes Of Period

Victoriaville Canadiens bounced right back last night and knocked over the Sherbrooke Beavers 3-0 to make amends for the shutout they received at the hands of the Dube crew Tuesday evening. Albert Moore came through with a goal in closing minutes of the game to give the Meteors a 5-5 draw with the Rockets.

The Canadiens' win allowed them to gain one point of the pace-setting Drummondville crew, who played to a tie, and left Sherbrooke still trailing. The Beavers were minus the services of Frankie Reid, who was unable to attend owing to his work, Marcel Fournier, out with an injured shoulder, and Pee Wee Theriault, still sidelined with a charley-horse.

Ronald Hamel turned in an outstanding game in the nets for the Canucks. Time after time he kicked aside the serious threats from the Beavers at the start of the game until his mates found themselves.

The Canadiens came up with a top performance and didn't look like the club who played in Sherbrooke Tuesday. They were skating better, showed more fight and had their passing working to perfection.

Jean Lambert registered two goals and picked up an assist on the third marker. Andy Pratte turned in a good job in the nets despite the three goals which got by him and he could not be blamed for the team's setback.

With the absence of Frankie Reid, Gilles Dube and Marc Bouvrette were forced to alternate at centre on the third line. The Canadiens looked like the team which held the upper hand during the first half of the season.

The battle at Asbestos was a hard-fought battle the whole way but the Meteors were obliged to come from behind to earn their draw with the Rockets.

Hull-Ottawa Edge Royals 2-1 While Thunderbirds And Lions Play To Tie

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens moved into a fourth-place tie in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Thursday night and thwarted Montreal Royals' chance of catching the league-leading Sudbury Wolves.

Hull-Ottawa edged Montreal 2-1 as Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds and Trois-Rivieres Lions tied 2-2.

That left the Canadiens and Thunderbirds tied for fourth, four points behind the Lions, who are five behind the Royals. Sudbury, idle Thursday night, leads Montreal by four points while Kingston is in last place.

The battle for fourth place was made more crucial Thursday with the announcement by the newly-formed league's governors that they are hoping to arrange an annual playoff with the winner of the Western Hockey League championship.

The first four teams will enter the Eastern League playoffs, all best-of-seven series, with the first-place team meeting the third-place finisher and the runner-up taking on the fourth-place team.

Canadiens' win at Hull, Que., before a crowd of nearly 3,000, came on Billy Carter's 29th goal of the season. He scored it a minute after Bill Sutherland had tied the game for Royals midway in the final period. Johnny Annable had opened the scoring for Hull-Ottawa.

At the Sault, all the scoring was in the first two periods as Gerry Desaulniers and Dave Balon counted for Lions and Ron Quenville and Milan Marcetta scored for the Thunderbirds.

Only one game is scheduled tonight—Trois-Rivieres at Sudbury.

Jean Beliveau And Henri Richard Pace Montreal Canadiens To Victory

Gros Bill Pots Goal And Assist To Take Over Scoring Lead, Down Wings 4-2 With Pocket Rocket Getting Two

Jean Beliveau, the big guy who does everything right with a hockey stick, came up with another of his patented performances Thursday night.

The giant centre fired one goal and assisted on another to help provide his Montreal Canadiens with a 4-2 triumph over the Red Wings in Detroit, the National Hockey League's only action.

For the Canadiens, it stretched a runaway lead over the runner-up Red Wings to 20 points, a cushion that might draw optimistic comment from even coach Hector (Toe) Blake.

For the 28-year-old Beliveau — the two-point effort boosted him to the 500-mark in regular-scheduled play and put him out in front in this season's individual scoring parade.

TWO FOR HENRI RICHARD

The high-riding Canadiens also got two goals from Henri Richard and one from Beliveau's linemate Marcel Bonin while Alex Delvecchio and rookie Murray Oliver counted for Detroit.

Beliveau's production ran his season-total to 31 goals and 33 assists—two more than Boston Bruins' Bronco Horvath.

The career mark of 500 points — 239 goals and 261 assists — leaves him fourth among the league's active stars.

Ahead are Detroit ace Gordie Howe (92), Montreal's Maurice Richard (94) and Chicago's Ted Lindsay (87), all of whom have been NHL regulars at least twice as long as big Jean.

Just behind Beliveau in the active scoring list are teammate Bernie Goffron with 499 and Bert Olmstead of Toronto Maple Leafs with 498.

A crowd of 14,050 watched the Canadiens skate to their 14th consecutive victory over the Red Wings on Detroit ice, outshooting the Wings 32-24.

WINGS BLEW LEAD

Canadiens opened the scoring at 6:03 of the first period on Bonin's goal but Delvecchio tied the score late in the period and the Wings went ahead 2-1 early in the second with Canadiens two men short.

Wings, however, couldn't hold the Habs in the third. Beliveau scored what proved to be the winner at 1:18 and Henri Richard added an insurance goal with 3½ minutes left to play.

The schedule has all six teams playing twice during the week-end. Saturday afternoon Detroit visits Boston while that night the last-place New York Rangers visit third-place Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks are at Montreal.

Sunday Montreal is at Boston, Toronto at Chicago and Detroit at New York.

Tish Preuss And Pat Hahn Upset Champions

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—Young Tish Preuss and Patricia Hahn pulled one of the biggest upsets in the 15-year history of the women's international four-ball golf tournament Thursday, defeating defending champions Mrs. Marlene Stewart Strait of Toronto and Ann Casey Johnston 1-up in 19 holes.

Miss Preuss, 29, four-time Pompano Beach, Fla., city champion, teamed perfectly with Miss Hahn, 19, a three-time Delaware champion, to rally from a 2-down deficit after 10 holes at Orange Brook Golf Course.

Both teams had 71, four under women's par for 18 holes. On the 19th, all the quartet except Miss Preuss took one-over-par with putter trouble. Her two-foot par putt won the match.

Two-time champion Mary Ann Downey and Marge Lindsay stayed in contention for their third title in four years with a 3 and 1 win over Joan Burke and Connie Malia. Downey-Lindsay won in 1957 and 1958.

St. Francis Valley Interscholastic Basketball League Has Full Agenda For Weekend, Action Opens Tonight

Thirteen games are on tap this weekend in the St. Francis Valley Interscholastic Basketball League with all twelve schools of the loop scheduled to see action. Eleven of the tilts are slated this evening while the remaining two are set for Saturday morning.

Bury and Lennoxville Senior boys, Senior girls, and Junior girls meet at LHS in the only triple-header lined up this weekend. Lennoxville is slightly favoured to take all three tilts but will have a tough job on their hands to post three victories.

All LHS squads have won their more recent tilts while Bury also has emerged victors in many of theirs. As a result the three games tonight should bring some excellent action and play of a high calibre to spectators. The three Lennoxville squads playing this weekend were victorious in a triple-header held two weeks ago against Danville.

North Hatley and Sherbrooke Senior girls and Senior boys square off this evening in two games at North Hatley High School. SHS is one of the high-flying squads of the circuit and should be a formidable foe for the lake shore teams to face. However, North Hatley has proved its worth as a hard-hitting club and the results could go in either direction.

North Hatley Junior girls and boys are slated to play Magog Juniors Saturday morning in a twin-bill at NHHS. These two teams have not played many games yet this season and this meeting should prove very interesting to basketball enthusiasts who like to watch a Junior game.

St. Pat's Senior boys travel to Stanstead tonight for a game which should prove to be action-packed throughout. The visiting Senior boys are among the top in the league and have beaten almost every squad in the circuit.

Sunnyside on the other hand, have posted a fair number of victories this year and play a steady game. Tonight they have a crack at one of the loop's best Senior boys squad and the result should be well-worth watching.

Richmond Senior and Junior girls play hosts to Danville this evening. Danville recently lost to LHS by close margins and are out looking for blood this weekend. Richmond lost recently to SHS and they are looking for a pair of wins. Thus, the Richmond-Danville tilts should show commendable action and be very interesting.

Ayer's Cliff Senior boys and girls visit Magog tonight in a

St. Andrews Is In Sweat, No Hotel Space

LONDON (AP)—Staid old St. Andrews, the cradle of golf, is in a sweat—there's no hotel space for all the people planning to attend the 100th British Open Golf Tournament.

The situation is so bad that Peter Alliss, British Ryder Cup member, can't get into the hotel he's stayed at in years. He plans to share a trailer with his brother Alec.

"Block bookings have been made for foreign golfers planning to travel to St. Andrews from the international Canada Cup matches near Dublin," a spokesman said. "Hotel accommodations are almost hopeless."

The Canada Cup matches, which draw top professionals from 30 countries, are scheduled June 23-26 at Portmarnock. The British Open is slated July 6-8.

double-header which could go either way. Both squads are of about equal strength and have shown improvement since the first of the season.

Wrapping up the lineup this weekend is a tilt between Cotiacook and Drummondville Senior girls. Both clubs have lost their more recent fixtures and the result should be an action-filled struggle. Also, both clubs are known for their driving plays and this should add extra features to the forth-coming battle.

Greene Sisters Finish One-Two In National Alpine Championships At Alta, Utah; Jean Lessard Falls

ALTA, Utah (AP)—Two sisters, members of Canada's Olympic ski team, finished one-two Thursday as the national alpine championships opened at this northern Utah ski resort. Canada's Olympic men could do no better than seventh place.

Nancy Greene, 16, Rossland, B.C., turned in the winning women's time of one minute, 34.4 seconds in the opening-day downhill race. Her 18-year-old sister Elizabeth, also of Rossland, finished second with a time of 1.6 seconds slower.

Oddvar Rønnestad, 22-year-old Denver university graduate from Kongsberg, Norway, won the men's downhill race over a longer course in one minute, 44.8 seconds.

IN THIRD SPOT
Third behind the Greene sisters in the women's race was another Canadian Olympic skier, Faye Pitt of Hampstead, Que. Pat Nora of Rossland, another Olympian, tied for fourth place with Tammy Dix of Spokane, Wash., the highest-finisher United States woman. The tie was at 1:36.6.

Linda Crutchfield of Shawinigan, Que., also on Canada's Olympic team, was sixth at 1:37.2.

Jean Guy Brunet of Ste. Agathe, Que., led the Canadian Olympic men's team with a time of 1:50.5, good for seventh place behind sixth-place Gary Vaughn of Old Forge, N.Y.

Other Canadian finishers included: Bob Gilmour, St. Martin, Que., 13th in 1:52.6.

Among skiers who did not finish were Jean Lessard, Sherbrooke, Que., and Fred Tommy, Ottawa. Nancy Holland of St. Sauveur, Que., was disqualified in the women's race.

St. Louis—Don Fullmer, 15½, West Jordan, Utah, outpointed Virgil Akins, 18½, St. Louis, 10.

Boston—Tommy Hadden, 130, New Bedford, Mass., stopped Earl (Kid) Mathews, 135, Boston 2.

Glasgow—Chic Calderwood, Scotland, stopped Arthur Howard, London, 13, lightweight-weights.

Lennoxville Grads Eke Out 53-50 Win Over Independants, First Loss For Locals; Wayne Nugent Paces Way

Lennoxville Grads edged Sherbrooke Independants 53-50 Wednesday evening in a regular E.T.A.B.A. League game played at Bishop's Memorial Gymnasium. This was the first win for Lennoxville in five starts while, for the Independants, it was their primary loss in four tilts.

Play was very close throughout the tilt with Independants showing a slight edge on play in the first half. At the half way mark, the score was Sherbrooke 26; Lennoxville 22. The primary half was earmarked by some excellent shooting and passing on the part of both squads.

The game swung into the second half with the Sherbrooke squad once again showing their commendable style of play. However, Lennoxville was far from beaten and rallied in the half to post their victory.

Action was excellent on the part of both clubs in the tilt with shooting and passing of a high calibre. Play swept from one end of the floor to the other and never failed to thrill spectators in both halves.

Starring for a victorious Lennoxville squad was Wayne Nugent with 19 points. Wayne's driving style of play accounted for his numerous baskets while his ability to switch from offensive to defensive play was a definite asset to his team.

Following up Wayne Nugent in scoring were Bob McMurray and John Phillips with 13 and nine respectively. Both boys displayed commendable style and skill in disposing of their opponents' potential scoring plays while both were equally successful in setting up Lennoxville's point-getting plays.

Heading the losers was Garth Smith with a tally of 18 points. Garth's experience and skill proved to be a great asset for the Independants who were beaten by only three points. His ability to keep the pressure of his opponents kept Lennoxville hopping throughout the game and retained squad within striking distance of a win.

Backing up Garth Smith were Dan Patridge and Curt Bishop with 14 and 13 respectively. Both were excellent in dumping in long arching shots but could rack up points equally well in a driving layup style of play.

The next Eastern Townships Amateur Basketball Association tilt will be Monday, February 1st when Bishop's Second squad visit Bury. These two clubs are currently tied for second place in the league and each are hoping for a win. Bishop's won their recent tilt against Bury; eking out a close 46-39 decision.

Lennoxville: W. Nugent (19), B. McMurray (13), J. Phillips (9), H. Chapman (6), J. Wray (3), B. Bowers (1), J. Boland (1), D. Sullivan, B. Stafford, R. Winslow. Total—53.

Sherbrooke: G. Smith (18), D. Patridge (14), C. Bishop (13), M. Harvey (2), G. Beaulieu (2), R. Jenne (1), H. Littlejohn, Evans, Stafford. Total—50.

National Football League Tells American Circuit To Practice As Well As Talk Harmony On Dallas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (CP)—The National Football League today told the new American League to practice as well as talk harmony.

A battle of words ensued Thursday night among NFL and AFL commissioners and owners after the established league voted Dallas a franchise in 1960 and accepted Minneapolis-St. Paul for 1961.

Commissioner Joe Foss of the AFL said the NFL's invasion of Dallas proves the 40-year-old pro league is out to "continue their monopoly in pro football." He described Dallas as a one-team market and threatened to go to Congress, the courts or use any other means to combat it.

The AFL, which expects to start operations this year, has a team in Dallas called the Texans. HARD TO UNDERSTAND NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle said Foss' statement was difficult to comprehend.

"While he states Dallas is a one-team market it might be pointed out that New York and Los Angeles were NFL cities until joined by AFL clubs for next season."

Rozelle challenged the AFL to compete for the pro football dollar, not look for trouble.

"We welcome competition and earnestly hope that it will bring about a more highly skilled and entertaining brand of professional football for the fans' enjoyment. "It is unfortunate that the AFL commissioner feels obliged to continue threats while the NFL would much prefer to develop a harmonious relationship with the 'proposed' new league."

FORECAST IN 1957

George Halas, owner of Chicago Bears who led the expansion movement in the older league, said Foss and other AFL people "crying" about the fight over Dallas should remember what Bert Bell, late NFL commissioner had to say in 1957. Bell had said the NFL would expand in the next few years.

Acceptance of Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul was a tasty victory for Halas. He did the preliminary work in preparing the two groups for the league.

The 12 NFL team owners also expressed strong sentiment for admission of two more franchises within the next three years to make up a pair of eight-team divisions. Miami, Fla., and St. Louis, whose applications were referred to the commissioner for further study, are the likely 15th and 16th clubs.

The vote to admit Dallas and Minneapolis-St. Paul was 11 in favor and one—Walter Wolfner of Chicago Cardinals—abstention.

Los Angeles—Joey Parks, 134, Omaha, Neb., and Ernesto Figueroa, 135, Mexico, drew, 1. (Bout halted because of accidental butt that caused severe cut on Figueroa's eyelids)

New York—Jimmy Archer, 149, New York, outpointed Bernie Raines, 148, Stamford, Conn., 8.
