COL. BLAKE MAKES CHARGES AGAINST CLAN-NA-GAEL.

Omaha, Neb., September 28. — Colonel J. F. Y. Blake, who commanded the "Irish Brigade" which fought with the Boers during the South African war, in an address at the Emmet memorial meeting, made charges against the national officers of the Clan-Na-Gael. He did not produce the documentary evidence which he said was in his possession, but again asserted that he was able to do so. He said that the organization secured $10,000 for the "Irish Brigade," and announced that it had been forwarded to that organization. On his return he says he learned that the money was never sent to South Africa, and that officers of the Cnan-Na-Gael informed him it had been retained by that order for the benefit of returning veterans. He said that the amount has never been distributed.

Chicago Street Car Accident.

Chicago, September 28.—Ten persons were injured, two seriously, in an accident on the Halsted street cable line. A train ran away and for two blocks imperilled the lives of many persons. It is said that the train was in charge of a new grip man. Two waggons were struck by the train before it came to a stop.

Jumped on Fork's Prong.

Snowflake, Man., September 28.—Thomas Larkhem met a painful death on Saturday in jumping off the top of a separator. He alighted on the prong of a fork which penetrated his body.

WAR THREATENS IN THE BALKANS

Strong Influences at Work at Yildiz to Bring on Conflict.

TURKEY'S EUROPEAN FORCES

Now Numbers 350,000, Which are Near Frontier—German Officials Fearful.

Special Cable from a Montreal Star Correspondent.

Constantinople, September 28.—From a high military source a Star correspondent learns that the Turkish forces in Europe now number 350,000. The greater part of this force is stationed at short marches from the Bulgarian frontier and any day may witness a general advance. The Sultan continues to deprecate war, but his advisers, like the Turkish people, are clamourous for drastic measures, regardless of consequences.

His Majesty is reminded of the impossibility, without the greatest risk, of withdrawing a single battalion while the Bulgarians are in their present mood. He is also reminded that the maintenance of the existing army in the field involves financial difficulties that must shortly prove insupportable. Therefore, an immediate blow at the seat of the Macedonian revolution is urged.

GERMANY HOPELESS OF PEACE.

Special Cable from a Montreal Star Correspondent.

Berlin, September 28.—Speaking to a Star correspondent this morning a member of the Foreign Office, whose views are entitled to especial weight on account of Turko-German official intimacy said: "There is little confidence here that the negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria will result in a peaceful solution. The demands of the insurgents for a notable Christian Governor-General are far in excess of the reform ideas of the powers.

"Even should the Sultan grant the extreme concessions asked, the Macedonians supported by the advocates of Pan-Slavism would embrace the first opportunity of revolting under the new banner."

LIPTON OFFERED NEW CUP BOAT DESIGNS.

If They Please Him, He Will Challenge Again.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Chicago, September 28.—A long ride in an automobile, a dinner and chat with the soldiers at Fort Sheridan, and a second chat with the Indians camped in Lincoln Park, put Sir Thomas Lipton in such a good humor yesterday that he announced the decision of again coming over in an effort to "lift" the cup.

"A new designer has written to me," he said; "he has a model that will surely enable me to take back to England the coveted bit of silver. If on investigation I find he is not mistaken, I shall probably have another try next year, maybe, who can tell."

WOULD LIKE FAIRBANKS FOR RUNNING MATE.

The Indiana Senator Will Probably Be Candidate for Vice-Presidency of United States.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Indianapolis, September 28. — President Roosevelt has delegated Representative Crumpacker from the Tenth District to ascertain whether Senator Fairbanks would accept second place on the national ticket next year. It is said the President believes it to be a good policy to select a vice-presidential candidate from Indiana. He has had Fairbanks in mind for more than a year as his running mate.

LORD DUNDONALD WILL VISIT ANCESTOR'S GRAVE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Sydney, September 28.—General Dundonald will arrive here to-day, to visit the ruins at Louisberg, where his great grandfather, General Dundonald, fell at the head of a Highland regiment during the siege of the Dunkirk by the British in 1758. General Dundonald's remains were interred inside the outer ramparts. The Highlanders had scaled the walls and were fighting inside when their commander fell mortally wounded.

GAYNOR-GREENE CASE.

Stated That Captain Carter Will Turn State's Evidence.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Washington, September 28. — Oberlin M. Carter will be a State witness against Greene and Gaynor, if they are extradited from Canada, where they are now fugitives from justice, is the latest development of the Savannah Harbour embezzlement case. This is expected by friends of the former army captain, who will be released from Fort Leavenworth prison, on November 28.

The announcement that former Captain Carter intends to try to recover from the Government $750,000 worth of property seized after he was convicted of embezzlement, has brought to light a sensational declaration from Carter that he has been the victim of a conspiracy by Greene and Gaynor and as soon as he obtains freedom he purposes to prove that he was not the principal offender against the Government in the Savannah Harbour fraud.

The powerful political social and financial interests which defended Carter during his trial are again actively at work on his behalf.

MR. C. KLOEPFER CHOSEN.

To Contest South Wellington in the Conservative Interest.

Guelph, Ont., September 28.—At the meeting of the South Wellington Conservatives convention held here Saturday, Mr. C. Kloepfer, ex-M.P., was selected as candidate to represent South Wellington in the Conservative interest at the next Dominion election. Mr. J. J. Drew, barrister, was elected president, and James Pattison, of Fergus, vice-president.

SIR IAN HAMILTON IS IN CANADA.

The Distinguished General Passed Sunday at the Windsor Hall.

ON A TOUR OF AMERICA

He Will Be Presented on Tuesday With a Gold Mounted Cane by S. A. Veterans.

Lieutenant-General Sir Ian Hamilton reached the city on Sunday morning from New York, and left last night for Quebec. The distinguished soldier was accompanied by his brother-in-law, Sir Alexander Muir. During the day there were several callers at the Windsor Hotel to meet the man who took such an important part in the South African campaign and under whose command several Canadian regiments served. Among the callers were Lieut.-Col. Gordon, D.O.C., Major G. W. Stephens, Lieut.-Col. C. W. Wilson, and several prominent members of the Caledonia Society.

In the course of an interview, General Hamilton expressed the pleasure with which he was looking forward to his Canadian visit. It was his intention also to visit the United States; in fact, his presence in America at the present time was due to an invitation of Adjutant-General Corbin, of the United States Army, whom he met at the British Army manoeuvres last year. He expected to remain in America for five weeks, the greater part of which time would be spent in the United States, as, with General Corbin and other officers, he would make a tour of the historic battlefields of Antietam, Chatanooga, etc. The distinguished soldier praised the gallantry and services of the Canadians in the South African war and paid a warm tribute to the various contingents that were under his command at various stages of the struggle.

Lieut.-General Sir Ian Hamilton.

Lieut.-General Hamilton will return to the city on Tuesday and will remain for a few hours. The South African Veterans' Association intend to present him with a gold-mounted and engraved cane. The presentation will take place at the Windsor Hotel on Tuesday morning, and there will be a large gathering of officers and men, who will attend in uniform.

From Montreal it is expected that Sir Ian will go to Ottawa and Toronto before leaving for his visit to the United States.

KERT ENQUETE WAS CLOSED TO-DAY.

The long enquete into the circumstances surrounding the death of George Greenley at Bout d'Ile a month ago, was finished to-day, and Judge Lafontaine took the matter en delibre.

Charles Archambault, who is a relative by marriage of George Bouret, the man who told such conflicting stories of what he saw on the fatal morning, swore that he was present just after the shooting, and that he heard Greenley say: "Dam Jew kill me. Murder! Give him five—ten years in the penitentiary."

Mr. J. H. Laflamme, Mr. Poupore's foreman, said he was there just after the shooting, and though he saw a number of men surrounding the body, he was positive that neither Archambault or Beuret were among them.

Bouret had testified that between five and 6 o'clock the morning before the shooting, Mr. Laflamme had sent him to get planks and sand, and that was how he came to be so near the shanty at the time. Mr. Laflamme says he never gave any such orders between those hours.

Archambault testified that he saw a grey felt hat near the body of Greenley, and Mr. Antoine Rousseau corroborated this. The questions put to other witnesses were objected to by Mr. Jacobs, and the objections were maintained. Judge Lafontaine will give his decision in a few days.

The Workman's Standpoint.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star.

Sir,—From the workingman's standpoint the Star is right on the Street Railway question. We want a reduction in fares now. If we get the rates for tickets changed from six for a quarter to ten for a quarter, or even eight, it will mean vastly more to us than any question of reasonable concessions to the company. The aldermen should not be hoodwinked by clap-trap by individuals and by newspapers evidently hired to talk and write nonsense. By all means make the company clear the snow, and do as much paving and sprinkling as is reasonable; but the rate for tickets is the question.

MANY QUESTIONS ASKED IN HOUSE

A Family Which Is Well Represented in the Civil Service.

SIR WILLIAM'S MEASURE

Opposition Urge That Statutory Increases Be Given as a Matter of Right.

(Special Staff Correspondence.)

Ottawa, September 28. — Thirty petitions against the ratification of the Grand Trunk Pacific contract were presented to the House of Commons this morning.

Mr. Henderson was informed that the excise duty collected on tobacco last fiscal year was $4,883,552. Of this $1,573,908 was, in consequence of the increased duty, imposed by the present Government in 1897.

Mr. Leonard was informed that petitions have been received from the citizens of Longue Pointe, Pointe aux Trembles, St. Leonard, Riviere des Prairies, Bout de l'Ile, Charlemagne, St. Paul Lermite and Repentigny, asking that the mails for these different parishes leave Montreal at 5 p. m., instead of 6 p. m.

The Government has the matter under consideration.

Mr. Fowler (King's) kept a number of the Ministers busy answering his enquiries as to the employment in the Government service of Mrs. L. D. Cherrier and her numerous family. This lady is employed in the Post Office Department at $800 a year. Her daughter, Blanche, is the assistant private secretary to Mr. Bernier, Minister of Inland Revenue. Another daughter, Bernice, has been employed in the library. Her sister, Mrs. Edna Charbonneau, is employed in the Inland Revenue Department. Her son, Oscar Chevrier, is employed as travelling passenger agent for the Intercolonial Railway in Montreal, at $100 per month. Another son, F. L. Chevrier, is said to be employed in the Customs Department at Montreal, and a niece, Edna Charbonneau is said to be employed in the printing bureau, but Ministers for these departments being absent, Mr. Fowler did not get official information about the two latter cases.

Mr. Fowler wants to know why Hon. Mr. Bernier takes so much interest in this family.

The bill respecting ocean steamships subsidies was given its third reading.

CIVIL SERVICE SALARIES.

The House further considered in committee Sir William Mulock's resolution respecting civil service salaries. The Opposition urged that statutory increases should be given as a matter of right and not as a matter of grace. They condemned the favouritism and toadyism in the service which they contended the present system engenders.

Hon. Mr. Sutherland suggested as a remedy against political influence in the civil service that the civil service should be distranchised.

Mr. Birkett urged the Government to appoint a committee of the heads of the civil service so make a thorough enquiry into the salaries of the civil service with the object of making a comprehensive and equitable readjustment of salaries.

Sir William Mulock thought the Government had sufficient information to deal with the matter without appointing such a committee.

BUCHANAN VS. PARKS.

Tension at Kansas City Almost Reaches Breaking Point.

Kansas City, Mo., September 28.—The atmosphere of peace that settled over the convention of the Structural Iron and Bridge Workers' Association Saturday was rudely disturbed over Sunday, and this morning the tension between the Buchanan and Parks contingents was close to the breaking point. Before the convention met to-day, a split seemed inevitable. Parks refused to discuss the caucus he and his followers held last night with the avowed intention of mapping out a campaign to capture the convention and elect H. F. Donnelly, of Albany, as president, and President Buchanan was equally reticent in talking of the alleged plans of the anti-Parks element to walk out if the New York element should continue their antagonistic tactics.

The convention met shortly after 10 o'clock this morning still behind closed doors.

Calumet Mill Shuts Down.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Calumet, Que., September 28.—There was an accident at the big lumber mill of the Calumet Lumber Company on Sunday, the main chain breaking suddenly. In consequence of the mishap, work has been suspended, and it is expected that several days will elapse before the mill is in working order again.

TOO WINDY.

The aeronauts who make the ascensions in the big

Sweet Caporal

wish to give a brief explanation regarding their failure yesterday.

As every one knows, an awful rain and wind storm prevailed yesterday afternoon, making it an utter impossibility to inflate the balloon. The aeronauts, however, were told to do their best, so as not to disappoint the public who had come to witness the ascension and marvellous double parachute jump. The men, accordingly, went to work, and for nearly two hours they worked like Trojans; but to no avail. The wind which was very strong, made it impossible to inflate the balloon, and it was then decided to postpone the event. The manufacturers of feel very sorry that it was absolutely necessary to disappoint the public, and they feel confident that the public will understand the cause of the disappointment, and at the same time they wish to thank every one who made it a point to be at the park, notwithstanding the most inclement weather.

It was estimated that at least 15,000 people were present to witness the ascension, and with propitious weather 25,000 can be expected later. Presents were given away, however, and much enthusiasm was evinced, especially among the boys. Make it a point to arrange so that you and your friends can be present next Sunday, Oct. 4th, at 3 o'clock, at Lafontaine Park (Logan's Farm), where the ascension will take place, wind permitting. The exhibition is well worth going miles to see—the ascension, the wonderful and daring double parachute jump, and the distribution of presents—all form a new and brilliant chapter in the history of advertising.

ATHLETICS

M.A.A.A. Handicaps.

There was a great athletic bill of fare offered on the M.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon. There were two football matches and the regular Autumn Handicaps of the M.A.A.A., which furnished as much and exciting sport as the championship games.

The surprise of the afternoon was the work done by young McGrath, of Point St. Charles, who won in the one hundred, the four-forty and the two-twenty. It is true he had pretty well the limit of whatever benefit there was in the handicapping, but he made a promising showing. Following is the summary:

How Grant Beat Time.

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, September 28. — "Aleck" Grant, amateur champion distance runner of the United States and Canada, made a new American record for two miles Saturday, at the seventy-first games of the New York Athletic Club, by running the distance in 9 minutes 27 4-5 seconds. Travers Island was the scene of the downfall of the former best mark, 9 minutes 32 1-5 seconds made by "Willie" Day at Berkeley Oval, May 17, 1889, and which has withstood the attacks of many champions in the interim.

Grant was enthusiastically cheered as he stood on his mark at the start in the handicap. His brother, "Dick" elected to start from the post of honour with him, but the tremendous pace of "Aleck" soon enabled him to step to the front.

At the half mile mark, which the new record holder reached in 2 minutes 13 seconds, Grant showed himself to be making great inroads on the long starts allotted the dozen and one mediocre runners who opposed him. Striding as freely as though taking an exercise spin he reached the mile mark in 4 minutes 44 seconds and was within striking distance of the leader, who had been assigned 180 yards. By this time another lap had been covered or two-thirds of the distance, and Grant was compelled to go to the front and make his own pace so inferior was the field.

Despite this handicap the champion kept up his space, devouring stride, and entered the home stretch with the nearest man many yards away.

Grant's dash down the last hundred yards was a treat, and he dashed through the tape a victor against time by a margin of 4 mins. 2-5 seconds, with the second man seventy-five yards back, and the third runner a like distance or still further away.

The concensus of opinion among the athletic judges present was that the new record stands by itself among many made of late years, through the fact that the afternoon was a trifle raw and the course swept by a chilly breeze, all acted against fast time.

Probably four thousand persons witnessed the sports.

The Verdun Sports.

Saturday was one of those glorious autumnal days which justify the Canadian, who has experienced the sultry heats of the tropics and the climatic vicissitudes of the Motherland, in his resentment at all facetious comments at the expense of "Our Lady of the Snows."

Probably it was the perfection of the weather conditions which attracted a record crowd of some 3,000 persons to the Protestant Hospital for the Insane at Verdun, upon the occasion of the thirteenth annual sports and games. Each year adds fresh beauty to those St. Lawrence-bordered grounds; the trees of the fine avenue afford increased shade and picturesqueness, the turf grows more lawnlike, and the display of flowers and shrubs which border the neat walks more attractive.

Perhaps the most interesting sight was found in the tastefully decorated pavilion donated by the late Mr. J. H. R. Molson, usually fitted up as a gymnasium and winter house, which had been converted into a veritable bower of plants, ferns and flowers, with which fruits of the hospital farm, cultivated by Mr. A. Chalmers and Mr. Cagney, were pleasingly mingled. In this building was an assortment of useful, ornamental and fancy work which had been for some time occupying the attention of the female wards, work denoting the possession of taste and ability in the workers, which seemed to come as a surprise to visitors, who had inherited the eighteenth century ideas of the "madhouse," and, looking for the fearful joys of gruesome sights and discordant sounds were, shall we say, disappointed? Indeed, speaking generally, there was little in the demeanour of the patients to distinguish them from the bulk of the visitors; your representative overheard many more criticisms as to the behaviour of the latter than of the former. The only drawback to the enjoyment of a delightful afternoon was the prevalence of the small boy and mannerless youth, who made the task of Dr. Burgess and his colleagues, Drs. J. V. Anglin and Weatherhead, in carrying out a lengthy programme successfully, a very arduous one; probably before another year a management, which has triumphed over so many difficulties, in the history of the Institution, will evolve a plan of minimizing these annoyances, perhaps by a charge for admission, roping of a portion of the grounds or changing the sports' day from a Saturday. Considering that patients and visitors seemed, as times, inextricably mixed up, it was absolutely marvellous to learn that only one of the former was missing when the whistle blew for supper at 5.30 p.m., since recovered. Of 241 men and 200 women, under treatment, 215 of the former, and 140 of the latter, were on the grounds, while of those who remained in the wards, some did so at their own choice.

The competitions for men patients numbered 11, for women 8, while eight events were allotted to the employees, which resulted as follows:—

Putting shot.—1, W. G. Gabie; 2, E. J. Thompson; 3, James Smyth.

Vaulting with pole—1, Arthur McLellan; 2, W. G. Gabie; 3, W. H. Green.

220 yards—1, C. H. Cogdell; 2, W. G. Gabie; 3, W. Blackwell.

75 yards—Miss Bella Ewart; 2, Miss M. Macintosh; 3, Miss Gover; 4, Miss M. A. Hardy.

Nail driving—1, Miss Ida Nelson; 2, Miss C. McIntosh; 3, Miss B. Ewart; 4, Miss M. Quinn.

Thread and needle—1, Miss M. Macintosh; 2, Miss Nelson; 3, Miss Ewart.

In and out race—1, Miss B. Ewart; 2, Miss M. Macintosh; 3, Miss Henderson.

The presence of the Oddfellows' band, the neat uniforms of the attendants and the attractive figures of the nurses were a delight to eye and ear; it must have been pleasant to patients' friends present to notice the happy relations prevailing between all those officially connected with the hospital and their charges, patience, tact and an almost affectionate solicitude seemed to characterize the attitude, not only of the medical staff, but of the 47 ward attendants, who have Mr. John Montgomery and Miss Christina Duncan as their courteous chiefs.

Many old employes and several former patients were among the crowd, the presence of the latter suggesting consolation to those who were grieving at either the painful apathy or too marked contentment with their position, of inmates they were out to visit.

The turn out of the citizens of Montreal, who have supported this institution from the time when it struggled into existence through many difficulties, was very numerous. Among the Governors present were Hon. J. K. Ward, Mr. James Wilson, the acting president since the lamented death of Mr. S. Finley, who with Dr. J. J. Ross, Mr. J. T. McBride and Mr. Edward Darling, was prominent in assisting the doctors to get through the programme. Alderman Stearns and Mrs. Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lyall, Mr. G. Esplin, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gurd, Mr. and Mrs. Lockerby, Dr. A. Hutchison, Messrs. James Brown, J.P., secretary; Jonathan Brown, James Williamson, J. C. Holden, James Tasker, Henry Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Patch, Mrs. and Miss Matthewson, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson McKim, Mrs. G. E. Armstrong, Mrs. A. Munroe, Mrs. Darling, Mrs. Martin, Miss Crawford, Mrs. J. J. Ross, the Misses Davidson, Hopkins, Darling, Bryce, Ives, and Mrs. J. H. R., Molson, who has for so long taken a special interest in the Verdun Hospit.

Though there were four of the city police present, a large number of persons found their way into some of the hospital buildings, other than the wards. However, these unexpected incursions were of service in testifying that the kitchen departments, in charge of the matron, Mrs. E. M. Biggar; the engineer's quarters, where Mr. E. J. Thompson presides, and other numerous sections, not usually seen by visitors, were all in that state of cleanliness and order which characterizes a well managed public institution.

The officials of the institution are as follows, most of them being present:
1st vice-president—James Wilson.
2nd vice-president—Peter Lyall.
Honorary treasurer—Isaac H. Stearns.
Honorary secretary—Jeffrey H. Burland.
Secretary—James Brown.

Referees—Hon. J. K. Ward, Jonathan Brown, Daniel Wilson, Benj. Tooke, Jas. McBride, A. D. Nelson.
Judges of field events—James Moore, George Esplin, James Cochrane, John Dillon, Alfred Joyce, Dr. R. Tait Mackenzie.
Judges of track events—J. C. Holden, G. W. Sadler, Henry Morton, Rev. Dr. Barclay, Charles Gurd, Dr. J. J. Ross.
Starter—James Paton.
Judges of industrial exhibits—Mrs. Samuel Finley, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. I. H. Stearns, Mrs. John Greenshields, Mrs. J. Molson Crawford.
The Sports Executive Committee—The medical staff and Messrs. Thompson, Chalmers, Montgomery, Shilliday, Cagney, Stephenson and Briggs, Mrs. Biggar, Miss Duncan and Miss Macintosh.

To-morrow is the date set for the Loyola College Field Day. The games will take place on the M. A. A. A. grounds, and some keen competition is expected.

Frank Lefebvre, better known as Beausey, and Gonthier, will meet at Quebec October 14, for the welter weight championship of Canada.

A meeting to organize an association in the west end of the city will be held this evening at Chas. Roffey's (Atwater and St. Antoine streets), at 8.30 p.m. sharp. All interested are requested to be present.

BASEBALL

Beaten Once More.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Buffalo, N. Y., September 28.—Providence defeated Montreal in the final game of the Eastern League. The teams played at Olympic Park, it being the first time in the history that the city saw the winding game with the home team away. Providence hit the ball more opportunely than Montreal, and the victory resulted. Providence played a fast game through the team was somewhat shaken up. Crisham caught and Conn played first base. Peer was on third and Jimmy Stafford in the right. The combination worked well. Montreal also had a few changes. Kellacky caught. Danny Stearns, who has forsaken the diamond many times, was in right garden. Howe covered third base. The team fielded well, and barring two bad throws by Kellacky, and but for Mulroys weird throws, the fielding would have been almost faultless. The game was but seven innings long. Both the spectators and the players clamoured for the umpire, Jimmy Duggan, the premier arbiter of the C. M. B. A. league, to call the game. He ended the play after the Royals had finished their half of the seventh inning. Grey went at Yerkes in the first with a single to centre. Kellacky sacrificed beautifully, and Clancy hit to right field, scoring Grey. Providence did not score until the third, when Yerkes hit to right field for two bases, Wagner's hit to short advanced him, and Stafford's out at first scored him. Dick Mulroy fumbled in the fifth. McLaughlin hit to Hemming and beat it out. Bob stole second, and Kellacky's throw went to centre field, and Rock scored. Another came in the sixth on Peer's hit to short and hits by Conn and Armbruster, Peer scoring. Montreal made two in the seventh, Kellacky's hit for third base after Hemming singled. Clancy's fly to centre sent Kellacky home. Duggan called the game on account of darkness.

Captain Jack White, of the Torontos, will open a billiard parlour and cigar store.

Outo Kruger, the Pittsburg baseball player, who was injured in Saturday's game with Brooklyn by being hit with a pitched ball, has regained consciousness, and is improving rapidly.

Manager Stallings has arranged a series of exhibition games for the Buffalo team after the championship series is over. The receipts will be divided among the players, and if the weather conditions are favourable the members of the club probably will finish the season with $300 or $400 for spending money during the winter months.

Regarding the sale of Bruce, Arthur Irwin is quoted as follows by the Chicago News:—"I would not have sold the young fellow if I could have kept him. He is a finished ball player and can play the field as well as pitch, and he has been our leading batter all season. He is going to attend the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania and was willing to sign with the Athletics, so I thought it was better to let him go before somebody drafted him."

THE GOLFERS

Mr. Fayette Brown President.

Toronto, September 28. — The annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Golf Association was brought to a close on Saturday. The interprovincial match was played in the morning and the open handicap in the afternoon. Ontario won, the former by 14 holes up.

The handicap resulted in several ties. G. S. Lyon and F. R. Martin tied for the gross score prize with 77 each. In the play off the champion won by three strokes from the ex-champion. For the first prize in the handicap, H. S. McGreevy tied with G. Southam, and in the play off the young Hamilton player won the prize rather easily. There were three players tied for the third prize—E. L. Garneau, 87—12—75; F. R. Martin, 77—2—75; and Dr. Primrose, 93—18—75. In the play off Martin beat Garneau with 88—2—84. Dr. Primrose will play against Martin's score to-day, the winner taking third prize. The following is the result of the interprovincial match:

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Association was held in the evening at the Toronto Golf Club. The following delegates were present: G. E. Bristol and J. J. Morrison, Hamilton Golf Club; Geo. S. Lyon and John Dick, Lambton Golf Club; Thos. Wall, Westmount Golf Club, Montreal; D. W. Baxter and A. Morphy, Rosedale Golf Club, Toronto; Jos. Henderson and R. C. H. Cassels, Toronto Golf Club; H. Gooderham, St. Catharines Golf Club; G. J. Webster and J. T. Clark, Highland Golf Club, Toronto; F. Brown and J. O'Flaherty, Royal Montreal Golf Club; R. M. Hamilton, Peterboro Golf Club. The officers of the Association were all present:

Vice-President A. Campbell was in the chair. The secretary, T. A. Chisholm, read the several reports which were passed and approved in the usual way. It was decided to hold the next annual meet of the association at Montreal, over the links of the Royal Montreal Golf Club. It is quite probable that the meet will be held in 1904, the end of June or the first week of July, as it is thought it will be more convenient to the majority of golfers, and a larger entry will be the result.

The meeting for the ladies' championship will be held on the links of the Toronto Golf Club, but no time has been fixed. The secretary, in the meantime, is to correspond with the different ladies' clubs and ascert

DESCRIBES RUINS AS APPALLING

An English Traveller Tells of Conditions Prevailing in Monastir.

SCORES OF VILLAGES BURNED

Bulgaria and Turkey are Both Preparing for the Possibility of War.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, September 28.—The Times' correspondent at Sofia says that an Englishman, who has arrived from Monastir, describes the ruin and misery in that vilayet as appalling. In Orchariplete the whole district is a solitude. The revolutionary committee's statistics of Turkish destruction are corroborated by a document which was purloined from Hilmi Pasha's archives, and which has fallen into the possession of one of the consuls. This gives a total of villages destroyed in the vilayet as 93, compared with the 98 stated in the revolutionary memorandum to the Powers. It is a fact, however, that the Bulgarians underestimate rather than exaggerate. The memorandum gave a total of Christian villages entirely or partially destroyed as 111, but at least 150 were pillaged, and most of them burnt.

In the Adrianople vilayet the Bulgarians said that four villages were burnt, but at least a dozen had been destroyed, and the number is now 40. The correspondent, in calling attention to the misery of the inhabitants, says that the missionaries and the Catholic Sisters of Mercy would gladly co-operate in the distribution of relief. The American missionaries have addressed a request to the British and American Governments to despatch a Red Cross contingent. They say that no time should be lost as the starving people are eating roots and grasses, the wounded are dying untended and pestilence is threatened. They ask that pressure be applied to Constantinople for permission to distribute relief as the Turks misappropriate the funds entrusted to them. The soldiers recently sold a cartload of provisions intended for the sufferers at Krusevo.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

London, September 28.—While there is little fresh news from the Balkans, it appears from the despatches received here that both Turkey and Bulgaria are actively preparing for the possibility of war. The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Monastir comments on the successful disposition of the Turkish troops delivering a quick blow against either Servia or Bulgaria. There are ten thousand soldiers in the vilayet of Kossovo, seventy thousand men, with three hundred guns at Adrianople vilayet; fifty thousand in Monastir vilayet and 170,000 in Salonica, the last mentioned force forming a huge reserve.

ATTITUDE OF ENGLAND.

Sofia, September 28.—The communication made by the British diplomatic agent to the Bulgarian Government stated that neither Turkey nor Bulgaria could count on Great Britain's support in the event of their openly or secretly opposing the realization of the Austro-Hungarian project of reforms in Macedonia, and added that Great Britain was pressing Turkey for a more effective application of the reforms. The communication further stated that Great Britain was consulting with other powers as to the possibility of introducing more suitable remedial measures.

The personnel of the Sultan's new Macedonian commission is alleged here to be an indication of the insincerity of the Porte's intentions. The Bulgarian representative, Nikola Robeff, a member of the Court of Justice, at Monastir, is 80 years old, and has been for many years an official of the Turkish Government. With the exception of Hilmi Pasha, the inspector-general, who is president of the commission, none of the others have any prominence or influence.

The fact that the Bulgarian population of Macedonia is given only one representative is held here to show that the Porte has not accepted the demands made by the Sofia Government. Negotiations between the Porte and Sofia are reported to be still proceeding, but the situation appears to remain unchanged. It is doubtful if next week's meeting between the Czar and Emperor Francis Joseph will cause any material change of policy.

The report that Captain Tochernoff, the captor of Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary, had been killed, is untrue.

TOO MUCH

Exercise is as bad as too little for the growing girl. It is very easy for her to overdo, and this is especially dangerous at that critical period of a young girl's life when she crosses the line of womanhood. It is not an uncommon thing to lay the foundation for years of after misery by neglect of necessary precautions at the first "change of life."

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes regularity, but it gives health to the entire womanly organism. It is the best medicine for diseases peculiar to women because it cures the causes of disease completely and permanently.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine nor any other narcotic. It cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

"For a number of months I suffered with female trouble," writes Miss Agnes McGowne, of 1212 Bank Street, Washington, D.C. "I tried various remedies, but none seemed to do me any permanent good. The doctors said it was the worst case of internal trouble they ever had. I decided to write to you for help. I received a very encouraging reply and commenced treatment at once. I had not used your 'Favorite Prescription' a week before I began to feel better, and, as I continued, my health gradually improved, and is improving every day."

TAKING STEPS TO DETER EMIGRANTS

Dublin Anti - Emigration Society Will Distribute Pamphlets in Galway.

ALMANACS AND FREE FORMS

Society Will Try to Prevent Circulation of Advertisements of Manitoba.

London, September 28.—At a meeting of the Anti-Emigration Society of Dublin, leaflets giving a warning from the Catholic bishops against emigration were ordered to be distributed at places in Galway and other counties. A letter from an anonymous correspondent was read, stating that almanacs showing picures of Manitoba free farms were being distributed in the shops. The committee asked that in view of the exposures by Father Dollard and others, of the hardships and destitution which had been the lot of emigrants to these farms, that sympathizers be asked to look out for the almanacs and to forward copies to the society, and also particulars as to the persons circulating them.

A UNIONIST DIFFICULTY.

The secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, referring to Saturday's cable from Canada that a difference of opinion had developed between the Canadian branches of the international trades unions and his society, said he knew the society's men were at variance with the Canadians, but he did not think the tension so great as indicated. Some fifty men had gone to Canada, and a dozen had returned; The Canadian agent who was here six months ago did not get all the men he wanted.

EIGHT DAYS IN CANADA.

Gen. Ian Hamilton is Coming to See Comrades of South Africa.

New York, September 28.—When asked concerning the object of his trip to America, Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, whose arrival was announced Saturday, said: "My visit is purely a social one and I go to Albany, en route to Canada, where I intend spending eight days. The infantry regiments of Canada under Colonel Otter were in my command in South Africa, as was one battery. I want to go up there and see the boys who served under me. After my stay in Canada I will probably return to the States and do a little travelling."

"I have only five weeks' leave of absence, so that I shall not be able to stay as long as I wish. I want to look over the great battle fields of your civil war—Gettysburg, Antietam, Chancellorsville, Fredericksburg and the rest."

Gen. Hamilton came here on the invitation of Gen. Corbin and other American army officers whom he met at the German army manoeuvres, and he will be accompanied by some of them in his trip to the Southern battlefields.

Charged With Lese Majeste.

Berlin, September 28.—Carl Leid and Julius Kaliski, members of the editorial staff of the Socialist organ, Vorwaerts, have been put on trial on the charge of lese majeste, because of an article published in that newspaper August 16, in which it was asserted that Emperor William, owing to a fear of the Social Democrats, had planned to build a fortified castle on the Island of Pichels Werder, into which troops could be drafted in case of a revolution. The articles also allege that Court Marshal Von Trotha, and Court Architect Ebhard knew of the plan. The defendants replied that the article was not directed against the person of the Emperor, but only against the court camarilla. The case was adjourned for additional evidence.

The Austrian Crisis.

Vienna, September 28. — The Lower House of the Reichstag has adopted a Czech motion demanding the unconditional discharge on September 30 of all soldiers who have served three years. The Czech's, who were supported by the Pan-German Socialists and Poles, contended that the proposed bill amending the recruiting law, was insufficient. In the course of the debate they believered philippics against the Austrian monarchical system, the policy of the heir apparent, the growing spirit of reaction and the regime of Premier von Koerber. Dr. Herold, a prominent Czech deputy, announced that he intends resigning his seat in parliament, as he considers that the attitude of the Czech and Socialist deputies is harmful to the cause of the Czech people.

Spanish Anarchist Taken.

London, September 28. — A special despatch from Genoa says the police there have arrested an anarchist named Bartelomi, who is accused of complicity in a plot to kill King Alfonso.

"Mistakes will happen in the confusion of a melee—and he has paid for his error," was the answer. And Jacqueline knew that none would be held accountable for the treacherous assault.

Now the fool had dismounted, and she observed that he was bending over another jester who had been unhorsed. "Why," she murmured to herself in surprise, "Caillette! As good a soldier as a fool. Who among the jesters could have unseated him?"

But her wonderment would have increased, could she have overheard the conversation between the duke's fool and Caillette, as the former lifted the other from the sands and assisted him to walk, or, rather, limp, to the jesters' pavilion.

"Did I not tell you to beware of the false duke?" muttered Caillette, not omitting a parenthesis of deceptive groans.

"Ah, if it had only been he, instead," began the fool.

"Why," interrupted the seemingly injured man, "think you to stand up against the boar of Hochfels?"

"I would I might try!" said the other quickly.

"Your success with the trooper has turned your head," laughed Caillette, softly. "One last word. Look to yourself and fear not for me. Mine injuries—which I surmise are internal, as they are not visible—will excuse me for the day. Nor shall I tarry at the palace for the physician, but go straight on without bolus, simples or pills, a very Mercury for speed. Danger will I eschew and a pretty maid shall hold me no longer than it takes to give her a kiss in passing. Here, leave me at the tent. Turn back to the field, or they will suspect. Trust no one, and—you'll mind it not, in a friend, one who would serve you to the end?—forget the princess! Serve her, save her, as you will, but, remember, women are but creatures of the moment. Adieu, mon ami!"

And Caillette turned as one in grievous physical pain to an attendant, bidding him speedily remove the armour, while the duke's fool, more deeply stirred than he cared to show, moved again to the lists.

CHAPTER XIII.

A CHAPLET FOR THE DUKE.

Loud rang enconium and blessing on the king, as the people that night crowded in the rear courtyard around the great tables set in the open air, and groaning beneath viands, nutritious and succulent. What swain or yokel had not a meed of praise for the monarch when he beheld this burden of good cheer, and, at the end of each board, elevated a little and garlanded with roses, a rotund and portly cask of wine, with a spigot projecting hospitably tablewards?

Forgotten were the tax-lists under which the commonalty laboured; it was "Hosanna" for Francis, and not a plowman nor tiller of the soil bethought himself that he had fully paid for the snack and sup that night. How could he, having had no one to think for him; for then Rousseau had not lived, Voltaire was unborn, and the most daring approach to lese-majesty had been Rabelais' jocose: "The wearers of the crown and sceptre are born under the same constellation as those of the cap and bells."

Upon the green, smoking torches illumined the people and the surroundings; beneath a great oven, the bright coals cast a vivid glow far and near. Close to the broad face of a cask—round and large like that of a fulfed host presiding at the head of the board—sat the Franciscan monk, whose gluttonous eye wandered from quail to partridge, thence onward to pastry or pie, with the spigot at the end of the orbit of observation. Nor as it made this comprehensive survey did his glance omit a casual inventory of the robust charms of a bouncing maid on the opposite side of the table. Scattered amid the honest, good-natured visages of the trusting peasants were the pinched adventurers from Paris, the dwellers of that quarter sacred to themselves. Yonder plump, frisky dame seemed like the lamb; the gaunt knave by her side, the wolf.

At length the company could eat no more, although there yet remained a void for drinking, and as the cups went circling and circling, their laughter mingled with the distant strains of music from the great, gorgeously lighted pavilion, where the king and his guests were assembled to close the tourney fittingly with the celebration of the final event—the awarding of the prize for the day.

"Can you tell me, good sir, to whom the umpires of the field have given their judgment?" said a townsman to his country neighbour.

"Did you not hear the king of arms decide the Duke of Friedwald was the victor?" answered the other.

"A decision of courtesy, perhaps?" insinuated the Parisian.

"Nay; two spears he broke, and overcame three adversaries during the day. Fairly he won the award."

"I wish we might see the presentation," interrupted a maid, pertly, her longing eyes straying to the bright lights afar.

"Presentation!" repeated the countryman. "Did we not witness the sport? A fig for the presentation! Give me the cask and a juicy haunch, with a lass like yourself to dance with after, and the nobles are welcome to the sight of the prize and all the ceremony that goes with it."

Within the king's pavilion, the spectacle alluded to, regretfully by the girl and indifferently by the man, was at that moment being enacted. Upon a throne of honour, the lady of the tournament, attended by two maids, looked down on a brilliant assemblage, through which now approached the king and the princess' betrothed. The latter seemed somewhat thoughtful; his eye had but encountered that of the duke's fool, whose gaze expressed a disdainful confidence the other would fain have fathomed. But for that unfortunate meeting in the lists which had sealed the lips of the only person who had divined the hidden danger, the free baron would now have been master of the plaisant's designs. Above, in the palace, the trooper with the red mustaches lay on his couch unconscious.

For how long? The court physician could not say. The soldier might remain insensible for hours. Thus had the jester served himself with that stroke better than he knew, and he of Hochfels bit his lip and fumed inwardly, but to no purpose. Not that he believed the peril to be great, but the fact he could not grasp it goaded him, and he cursed the trooper for a dolt and a poltroon that a mere fool should have vanquished him. And so he had left him, with a last look of disgust at the silent lips that could not do his bidding, and had proceeded to the royal pavilion, where the final act of the day's drama—more momentous than the king or other spectators realized—was to be performed; an act in which he would have appeared with much complacency, but that his chagrin preyed somewhat on his vanity.

But his splendid self-control and audacity revealed to the courtly assemblage no trace of what was passing in his mind. He walked by the king's side as one not unaccustomed to such exalted company, nor overwhelmed by sudden honours. His courage was superb; his demeanour that of one born to command; in him seemed exemplified a type of brute strength and force denoting a leader—whether of an army or a band of swashbucklers. As the monarch and the free baron drew near, the princess slowly, gracefully arose, while now grouped around the throne stood the heralds and pursuivants of the lists. In her hand Louise held the gift, covered with a silver veil, an end of which was carried by each of the maids.

"Fair Lady of the Tournament," said the king, "this gallant knight is Bon Vouloir, whom you have even heard proclaimed the victor of the day."

"Approach, Bon Vouloir!" commanded the Queen of Love.

The maids uncovered the gift, the customary chaplet of beaten gold, and as the free baron bowed his head, the princess with a firm hand fulfilled the functions of her office. Rising, Bon Vouloir, amid the exclamations of the court, claimed the privilege that went with the bauble. A moment he looked at the princess; she seemed to bend beneath his regard; then leaning forward, deliberately rather than ardently, he touched her cheek with his lips. Those who watched the Queen of Love closely, observed her face become paler and her form tremble; but in a moment she was again mistress of herself, her features prouder and colder than before.

"Did you notice how he melted the ice of her nature?" whispered Diane, with a malicious little laugh, to the countess.

"And yet 'twas not his—warmth that did it," wisely answered the favourite of the king.

"His coldness, then," laughed the other, as the musicians began to play, and the winner of the chaplet led the princess to the dance. "Is it not so, Sire?" she added, turning to the king, who at that moment approached.

"He, indeed, forgot a part of the ceremony," graciously assented Francis.

"A part of the ceremony, your Majesty?" questioned Diane.

"To kiss the two damsels of the princess; and one of them was worthy of casual courtesy," he added, musingly.

"Which, Sire?" asked the countess, quickly.

"The dark-browed maid," returned the monarch, thoughtfully. "Where did I notice her last?"

And then he remembered. It was she who, he suspected, had laughed that night in Fools' Hall. Recalling the circumstance, the king looked around for her, but she had drawn back.

"Is it your pleasure to open the festivities, Sire?" murmured the favourite, and, without further words, Francis acquiesced, proffering his arm to his companion.

Three Brothers Will Die.

Plattsburg, N.Y., September 28. — Preparations for the execution of the three Van Wormer brothers at Clinton prison, Dannemore, October 1, are under way. It is now the intention of Warden Deyo to have Willis, the eldest of the trio, go to the chair first, as it is believed that the two younger brothers will be less likely to collapse under the strain of waiting for their turn to come.

BUILD UP CANADA.

TO THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA.

Give the manufacturers, workingmen, and farmers of Canada the same kind of tariff as that which has made the United States the home of the most prosperous manufacturers, workingmen and farmers in the world.

TO THE MANUFACTURERS OF CANADA.

Force the Government to give you as good a tariff as that which has made the American manufacturers rich. When you get this tariff, pay your Canadian workmen American wages.

TO THE WORKINGMEN OF CANADA.

Take a leaf out of the book of the American workingman. Help your employers to obtain for themselves and for you a Canada-for-Canadians tariff.

TO THE FARMERS OF CANADA.

Profit by the experience of the American farmers, the wealthiest farmers in the world, who support a high tariff and prosper under it and because of it.

To the GOVERNMENT, MANUFACTURERS, WORKINGMEN, and FARMERS of Canada.

An active campaign has been commenced in England in favour of Preferential Trade with the Empire. It is to the interest of Canada to trade on liberal terms with countries that will trade on liberal terms with her. If the Dominion is to be in a position to grant substantial preferences to the United Kingdom and the sister colonies, her tariff against the rest of the world must be materially increased. The present time affords the opportunity of a nation's lifetime.

THE KI-MAGI.

A Montreal gentleman has just received a letter from Mr. R. F. Robertson, President of the Columbia Scientific Academy of the City of New York. In spite of the intensely personal character of the letter, its general appearance suggests that thousands of others may have received communications from President Robertson in identical terms. The letter commences:

Dear Friend:

I have just heard from a personal friend of yours. He has created an interest in you that I believe I have never felt in a stranger. I am more than ever convinced that you ought to have the Ki-Magi Course. Since hearing from your friend I have no hesitancy in giving you my personal guarantee to teach you so that you will be successful in the following courses:

The letter then goes on to describe "My Ki-Magi System of Physical Culture," which among other things gives you a most beautiful physique, a symmetrical form and rosy cheeks, besides curing almost every disease and performing other wonders best left to the imagination. Mr. Robertson also has a "course in the X-Ray Faculty and Scientific Second Sight, the most startling discovery of the Twentieth Century, the principles of which, when learned, make one appear almost supernatural."

Most astonishing of all is:

"My complete course in Personal Magnetism and Magnetic Healing, a course that has revolutionized the entire world of thought, a course that politicians have taken up with telling effect, the greatest financiers of the world have studied and used it, every minister of the Gospel, every public speaker, every General made his success by using the principles taught by my Ki-Magi System. Point to a successful man in politics, finance, war, the pulpit, the platform of medicine, I care not where, if he was a marked success he used the principles of our course in Personal Magnetism and Magnetic Healing."

This makes clear much that has been mysterious in recent Canadian history. Ki-Magi explains everything. Let us apply President Robertson's own test. "Point to a success in politics."

Well now, for instance, there is Tarte at Laprairie. He must have put the Ki-Magi on Monet to get that invitation. Look at Chamberlain—manifestly a life-long victim of Ki-Magi, exercised by numerous graduates of the Columbia Scientific Academy, making him perform the astounding feat of swallowing himself, every time he opens his mouth.

Who can doubt, too, that Ki-Magi explains the Grand Trunk Pacific bill? "A Prominent Success in Finance" has evidently put the Ki-Magi on "a Prominent Success in Politics" and there you are. How too can we explain the aberrations of the Toronto News except on the hypothesis of Brer Willson being Ki-Magied?

That the system is not uniformly successful is seen in the failure of Sydney Fisher to put the Ki-Magi on Simeon Parent. But then Parent may have had five dollars' worth also. The woods are full, however, of Ki-Magicians, whose success is almost supernatural. Larry Wilson, Treadgold and "Cap" Sullivan are brilliant but by no means rare examples of success in politics or finance; while as to war, if ever the United States goes to war with Canada, it will rue the day that that typical fraud the Columbia Scientific Academy ever bestowed the gift of Ki-Magi on the Canadian General Gourlay. Meanwhile, the police and the postal authorities of both countries might try a little Ki-Magi on the "Academy."

A GOVERNMENT MARRIAGE BUREAU.

Mr. J. J. Kelso, Ontario Superintendent of Neglected Children, is said to be thinking of establishing a marriage bureau in connection with his department. The "neglected children" whom he under took care for some years, are now approaching a marriageable age, and a paternal Government official naturally wants to see them properly married off. Mr. Kelso's idea is that his bureau would do for his "neglected" girls husbands [illegible] the young farmers of New Ontario and North West.

The experiment could hardly do more [illegible] be taken of the "neglected" [illegible] circulated among the lonely young farmers, and applications can be dealt with in the order in which they are received. If the Anti-Lottery Act will not prevent, this would make an interesting and exciting "gamble."

Or, possibly, the young farmers could write to Mr. Kelso stating their requirements in the matter. One would want a wife who could milk ten cows, while another would be more concerned in her skill at chicken raising. Good cooks would always be in demand, and, as they would carry the guarantee of the Ross Government, there would be little hesitation in accepting them on trust.

Some foolish people have hitherto thought that the marriage bureau way of encouraging matrimony was a rather cold blooded business—that an extinct emotion called "love" should have something to do with it, but, now that the Ontario Government proposes to establish an official bureau and give the commercial notion of marriage the prestige of Government support, these belated sentimentalists will see how mistaken they have been. "Natural selection" is to make way for Government allotment, and the young Ontarian who wants a wife has but to drop a post-card to the Ross Government and await results. All this walking home by moonlight will be done away with; no time will be lost holding hands and catching stolen glances; just fill out Mr. Kelso's "blank" and he will do the rest.

THE CUNARD COMPANY AND TURBINES.

In a brief editorial on the subject of "Turbines," which appeared in our issue of July 21st, we ventured to predict that at no very distant date the turbine system would be generally adopted by marine engineers. The fulfilment of our prediction would appear to be nearer than, at the time of writing, seemed probable. The London journals, just to hand, contain the interesting announcement that the two new American liners, which the Cunard Company has covenanted with the British Government to build in the course of the next two years, of a guaranteed speed of 25 knots an hour, are to be supplied with turbine engines. If this announcement be true, and the intention carried into effect, it will be the most striking innovation that trans-Atlantic shipping has seen since the introduction of steam. The turbine system, it is claimed, offers three distinct advantages. First, it reduces the screw shafting, which in the case of these vessels means a saving of 3,000 tons in the weight of the engines; while the steam consumption is more than one in the quadruple expansion engines, now in general use. Secondly, it will effect a great economy of men, and consequently of wages, as the engine-room staff required for the turbines will be much fewer than is at present required; and thirdly, it abolishes the vibration, which is too well known to most of us to need describing. If these three claims can be made good, and the Turbine Company confidently assert that they can—then the Cunard Company will be consulting their own interests and reputation in being the first to adopt a system which promises a most attractive service to passengers desiring a speedy and comfortable passage.

The public men of England, as a rule, are scholars as well as gentlemen. Lord Cromer has found time, amid his severe labours, now of twenty years' duration, in Egypt, to complete a volume of translations and paraphrases from the Great Anthology. Theocritus, etc., which will shortly be published by the MacMillans. Lord Milner has been described as the flower of Oxford culture." His book, "England in Egypt," written when he was Under Secretary for Finance in the latter country, was a model of luminous exposition and exact statement. Lord Curzon, the present Viceroy of Egypt, is one of the most entertaining and instructive writers of travels. Cecil Rhodes placed the highest value on his Oxford training, as the bequests made in his will and the terms of the will itself, clearly testify. The old education of the English schools and colleges, whatever its deficiencies may be from certain points of view, seems certainly to fit men admirably for high positions of trust, and especially for positions where they are to a great extent thrown on their own responsibility.

The suggestion—not altogether a new one—made by Lord Kelvin, that the heat given off by radium is not of internal origin, but is due to ether waves passing into that substance and leaving it again as heat rays, seems more probable than a theory requiring us to believe that the complete dissipation of one gramme of radium could produce, in the aggregate, heat enough, converted into mechanical energy, to raise 500 tons one mile high. From any point of view the whole thing is a great mystery. Admitting Lord Kelvin's hypothesis, the question arises as to what the property or peculiarity of radium is which makes it so potent a vehicle for ethereal energy. Science is launched on a new path of investigation, and, whether the problem of radium is solved, much else that has heretofore baffled comprehension—the action of gravitation for example—will probably be made plain at the same time.

The Peace Congress passed a resolution calling upon Parliament to reduce their army and navy budgets, and then passed another resolution calling for a cessation of the atrocities in Macedonia. The first impulse is to remark that if the first resolution was obeyed, the Congress would have an opportunity to see how little attention would be paid to the second. But that impulse is somewhat checked by the memory that, in spite of all the armaments of Europe, the massacres still go on. What the Peace Congress should fight is not armaments, but international jealousies.

A Rifle Club has been got on foot at McGill. Under it the undergraduates will be able to make a sport of target practice, and gain a certain precision with the rifle, without undertaking any serious military duties or responsibilities. But they can become good shots—the raw material out of which the best possible defence soldiery could be made at a day's notice and the country is willing to trust to their patriotism to lead them on the path of duty should the occasion call.

GENERAL HAMILTON MAKES BUT SHORT STAY.

General Ian Hamilton yesterday received a visit from Mr. J. D. Mitchell, president of the Caledonian Society, and Mr. Topp, first vice-president, who enjoyed a chat of about a quarter of an hour with the distinguished soldier. General Hamilton is enthusiastic about the scotch trip and takes an active part in such organizations in London.

Owing to the shortness of General Hamilton's visit to Montreal, to-morrow it is feared he will not be able to accept any invitation from the Caledonian Society to a reception. The Society had also hoped to have General Hamilton as their speaker at the annual Hallowe'en entertainment, but as his leave of five weeks will have expired by that date this will be impossible.

Jumped Overboard to Death.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Windsor, Ont., September 28.—Charles Quaintance, aged 26 years, jumped overboard from the Detroit ferry boat on Saturday night as the boat was about the centre of the river, saying as he did so, "Good bye, everybody." Women screamed and excited passengers threw chairs overboard, but the suicide either would not or could not secure a hold on any of them and soon sank from sight.

Fifteen Years for Richardson.

Kingston, September 28.—Oliver Richardson, who will serve fifteen years for killing a negro near Windsor, has arrived at the Penitentiary.

THE PASSING HOUR.

The "mountains of information" are being piled up by the people—information that they do not want the Grand Trunk Pacific.

When John Redmond expresses the wish that Ireland had the Duke to go to for the rescue of the Macedonians, he's not talking foolishness; for, if Ireland could, certainly would the Turk or anybody else who displeased her.

Woollens are appealing to us for more protection. Well, when we want more protection as winter comes on, we will turn to woollens.

The only incurable disease that the delegates had, however, was Britishism.

An esteemed United States contemporary publishes a portrait of Mr. Austen Chamberlain's Amelia and wife. The likeness is an excellent one, that is, no doubt it would be if Mr. Chamberlain happened to have a wife.

Sir Thomas Lipton has joined the Bay City Bachelors' Club, we presume, as a desperate measure of self-defence against the yellow press, which otherwise would marry him to several American social celebrities.

A London paper has made the interesting discovery that "Canada means to maintain its fiscal independence. No body in Canada ever thought otherwise.

Lloyds' correspondent says casualties on the St. Lawrence route have been slack for a few weeks. This must be due to the untiring vigilance and tireless energy of the Minister of Marine, who has done nothing in particular, and done it very well.

CANARY-YELLOW CHIFFON DINNER GOWN.

The new double chiffon is here shown in a pale canary-yellow with decorations of white Irish lace and fancy silk crochet buttons. The waist has transparent yoke with incrustations of lace and a bertha of lace with the crochet buttons. The double sleeve has a lace puff, and a scarf of chiffon with fancy cord ends marks the fastening. The skirt is cut with a tucked upper portion and circular flounce, medallions of lace with buttons being placed at intervals, and a double ruche of chiffon finishes the edge. A sash of deeper colour chiffon passes around the waist and falls in long ends with cord tassels down the skirt.

LAYTON BROS.,

144 Peel Street.

THIS DATE THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From the Star file of September, 1873.)

An Ottawa telegram confirms the rumour that Mr. Marcus Doherty has been appointed Judge for the Athabaska district. Mr. Doherty has long been looked upon as one worthy of the honour now bestowed upon him, and his appointment will, we believe, give general satisfaction, especially among our Irish fellow-citizens.

THE LATE Judge Doherty was called to the Bar of Lower Canada in 1842. He was elected Syndic 1851, and Batonnier in 1872. He was defeated for the Mayoralty in 1861 by the late Hon. C. S. Rodier, and again in 1866 by the late Hon. J. L. Beaudry. He was created a Queen's Counsel in 1872, and raised to the Bench in 1873 as Judge of the Superior Court. He at times acted as an Assistant Judge of the Court of Appeals. He retired from the Bench on pension, a few years before the close of the last century, and was succeeded by his son, the present Judge J. C. Doherty. He died only a few months ago at an advanced age.

Respecting the successful placing of the Intercolonial Railway loan on the London market by the Hon. Mr. Tilley, the Liberal organs kindly say that "those who see anything in the fact to rejoice about are very welcome to all the comfort they can get from it." It is evident that our jaundiced contemporaries are deeply disappointed at the result of Mr. Tilley's mission.

THE LATE Hon. Sir Leonard Tilley was one of the Dominion's most successful Finance Ministers. He was a member of the Executive Council of New Brunswick from November, 1854, to May, 1856; from July, 1857, to March, 1862, and from April, 1866, to the Union, during which periods he held several important offices, and finally became leader of the Government. He was one of the Fathers of Confederation. He was created a C.B. in 1867, and a K.C.M.G. in May, 1879. He was sworn of the Privy Council of the Dominion, 1st July, 1867, and appointed Minister of Customs. He was made Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick in 1873. He was next appointed Minister of Finance in 1878, on the return of Sir John A. Macdonald to power. The Prohibitory Liquor Law of the New Brunswick was largely the work of Sir Leonard Tilley as a private member. He passed away some years ago.

Col. Houghton, Deputy Adjutant-General for British Columbia, who has been for the past few weeks in Montreal visiting friends, left last night for the Pacific coast.

THE LATE Col. Houghton put in his last period of service as D.O.C. of the Military district, and retired from active service on the expiration of his term of command. He had for several years been an officer of the British army before joining the Canadian militia. He had a command during the rebellion in the North-West in 1885. He returned to British Columbia a few years ago and died there.

Mr. George H. Frothingham and Mr. James Hutton will be the visiting governors to the Montreal General Hospital next week.

THE ABOVE mentioned gentlemen were among the leading merchants of the city, and were well known for their charitable dispositions. They have since passed away.

The land sale to-day at Mount Royal Vale lays the foundation of a fine suburban adjunct to our city. The property is splendidly situated, and it appears to have been divided with much care and good judgment.

THE VALE to-day is rapidly growing, owing to trolley car facilities, has passed the village limit, and is well within sight of a town charter.

Thieves After Collections.

Hamilton, Ont., September 28.—Thieves got into Christ Church Cathedral at noon yesterday and tried to pry open a drawer in the vestry desk where the collections are kept. They did not succeed, however. Even had they got the drawer open they would have had nothing but their trouble for their pains, as there was no money in the drawer.

PROMINENT CANADIANS WHO HAVE PASSED AWAY.

HON. MR. TARTE CONTINUES PROTECTIVE CAMPAIGN AT JOLIETTE MEETING

Many Thousands Assembled Saturday to Hear and Cheer the Former Member of Public Works—Others Who Took Part.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Joliette, September 28. — Three thousand people or more assembled Saturday in the market place of this town to hear protection, transportation and other issues discussed by some of the best platform speakers in the Province of Quebec. From early morning the farmers began coming in to get through their marketing as soon as possible, in order to hear the big talk. Each train brought along a new contingent, and the town was crowded before noon, when those from the near-by villages still continued to come in. From Berthier, Montcalm, L'Assomption, and even from Terrebonne County, came hundreds who wished to hear the speakers.

The meeting was called to order about two o'clock, by Mr. J. M. Tellier, mayor of Joliette, who is also the representative of the county in the Quebec Legislature. Among those on the platform were Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Hon. Thomas Chapais, Hon. T. Chase Casgrain, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Hon. P. E. Leblanc, Mr. Victor Allard, ex-M.L.A. for Berthier; Mr. J. A. Renaud, K.C., ex-mayor of Joliette; Mr. L. E. Dugas, ex-M.P. for Montcalm; Mr. G. H. St. Pierre, M.L.A. for Stanstead; J. U. Emard, K.C., Montreal; Dr. Lafontaine, Terrebonne; L. J. Tarte, Milton McDonald, J. H. Chevrier, and Leonidas Villeneuve, Montreal; Camille deMartigny, St. Jerome; Dr. Beaudry and Notary Marion, St. Jacques, l'Achigan; Dr. Shepherd, Dr. Chabot, H. Lavallee, R. D. Desilets, J. C. Robitaille, Jos. Rivest, Joliette; Dr. Coulombe, ex-M.L.A., W. Scott, St. Jerome; Pierre Piette, ex-warden of Berthier; Notary Barrette, Berthier, and many others.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte struck out strongly as ever for protection, better means of transportation, and paid his respects to his former colleagues in no measured terms. He denounced Hon. Clifford Sifton as a man who was in league with American interests to the detriment of Canadian routes, Hon. W. S. Fielding as an exceedingly narrow-minded, though honest man, and declared that if he mentioned Sir Wilfrid Laurier's illness to the people it was simply because it was the only excuse he could see for the way in which the Prime Minister allows evil influences of the Cabinet to overrule his better judgment. If he did not believe that Sir Wilfrid's illness had so weakened the Premier, but these influences overpowered his will, the ex-Minister declared that he would arraign the Prime Minister before the bar of public opinion in every portion of the Dominion for the mistakes of his government within the last couple of years with regard to the tariff and transportation facilities.

PELLETIER VERSUS PARENT.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier assailed the Parent Government, accusing it of prostituting justice and oppressing the settlers. He made the serious charge that while the Government evicted bona fide settlers, who had paid for their lots and were carrying out the settlement obligations, it allowed members of the Legislature, their families and friends to hold lots for purely speculative purposes, to force large sums out of lumber operators for stumpage, while the lumber operators, who sought the law partners of the Premier to further their interests, secured the aid of the Government officials to evict bona fide settlers, who had paid their hard-earned money and were striving to fulfil the settlement obligations. The several speakers received generous applause from the throng, which included quite a large number of ladies.

Mr. J. M. Tellier, M.L.A., the chairman, in opening the meeting, thanked the people for coming in such numbers to hear the distinguished speakers who would address them. He need not ask them to treat the speakers with due respect, for he knew the people to whom he was speaking, and knew that they invariably observed the rules of courtesy towards public men who came to discuss public questions.

Mr. Victor Allard, ex-M.L.A. for Berthier, was the first speaker of the day. He dwelt on the necessity for further protection of Canada's industries. Among other things they needed an export duty on pulpwood, for the Americans were not only carrying away thousands of cords of wood to make them worth six times as much after they had gone through the pulp factories as they had been when leaving Canada, but they devastated forests by cutting smaller trees than the law allowed. He also denounced the treatment of settlers by the present Government. These were not questions of bleu and rouge, but questions which affected the closest interests and regarded the future of the province of Quebec.

TARTE'S ROUSING RECEPTION.

Hon. J. I. Tarte followed, and received a rousing reception. He recalled previous visits, and said that he had come to accomplish what he deemed a public duty. He had been a Minister and had retired from the Cabinet because he had deemed it his duty to do so. He might have been mistaken, but he had acted as he did because he did not believe the interests of his province were being properly safeguarded.

It seemed to be his fate to go against great odds. He had joined the Liberals when they were weak and crushed, after the Mercier episode.

He left the Liberal party when they were in the zenith of power and influence. During the six years he had been a Minister the Liberal press and the Liberal speakers had lauded him in all parts of the country. What had they to say against him to-day? Thousands of the Conservatives had joined Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the same time as he did. They had all worked together to place Sir Wilfrid Laurier in power. He had certainly done his share, and more. He had separated from Sir Wilfrid because he believed it his duty to do so. He may have made a mistake, but he strangely misjudged his race if they wished any man to be a slave and to act against his convictions.

He had disagreed for some time with Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues on matters of policy — on the colonization policy, for one thing. He believed that a portion of the sums spent to further immigration should be spent in helping the older provinces, Quebec in particular.

Then he differed with some Ministers on questions of tariff. He did not want to be a Minister always, but it was an interesting school. It helped him to understand the difficulties of governing a vast and great country like Canada. "I was the Minister from Quebec," said Mr. Tarte. "Was it or was it not my duty to look specially after your interests?" A rousing cheer from the crowd gave the answer.

STRENUOUS WESTERNERS.

The ex-Minister rendered the members from the West the justice to say that when they wanted anything they insisted on getting it. They stood together and fought for it. That was a good thing when they fought for a good principle, and might be imitated by the people of the older provinces, who are apt to allow party spirit to warp their actions. He, however, as a representative of the older provinces, had contended for the protection of the industries of the country. More factories in the cities, towns and villages meant more markets for the farmers. The country last year imported $129,000,000 worth of goods from the United States, and exported only about half that amount, to that country. At least fifty per cent. of he goods imported could be made here, if our factories were protected. The United States protects to the extent of 49 per cent, but Canada's rate is only 24 per cent. Charity begins at home. Would it not be better to buy at home than to go to the United States? When cattle from a neighbouring field jump, it is necessary to raise the fences. The surplus of the protected articles from the neighbouring republic were slaughtered on the Canadian market. He would, therefore, say as Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Premier of Ontario, and one of the leading Liberals in the country had said a year ago, in his county of Middlesex: "It is time to raise the fence to keep our neighbour's cattle out."

"If you knew how a Government is run," said Mr. Tarte, "you would not listen to the defamation against me in the Liberal press. I am accused of rejoicing in the illhealth of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I tell you he is not the same man he was two or three years ago, or he would not let himself be influenced by the men who now bend him as they please. That is the only excuse I can find for him.

"If I knew that he was in full possession of his strength and that he was doing what he is now doing, fully realizing the enormity of his acts, I would denounce him before the Bar of Public Opinion in all parts of this country.

A voice—"He will live longer than you will."

Mr. Tarte—"I hope so, and that he will regain his strength so that he may shake off the evil influences in the Cabinet which are ruining him." (Cheers.)

THE PROTECTION ASPECT.

Mr. Tarte then went on to show that the United States bought very little from Canada, except pulp wood, which they got at $4 a cord and through work made it worth $30. Our fiscal policy should be such that the increase in price should be added in Canada to give work to Canadian hands. Last year Canada imported a million dollars' worth of boots and shoes, why not make those at home? To do this a higher tariff was needed. The West and East opposed this. He had reminded the ministers that Quebec had put them in power. He had spoken to Mr. Fielding, an honest man, but very narrow. He had pointed out the necessity for further protection. Mr. Fielding referred to Cobden and the free trade movement in England in 1846. But Cobden is dead, said Mr. Tarte, and Canada is very much alive and vigorous and wants to go forward, and must have a policy to help it forward. Why then not raise the wall against the United States and Germany, say eye for eye and tooth for tooth. Was that not a reasonable policy? (Cheers).

They had at Joliette a factory for making agricultural implements. Mr. Vessot, the proprietor, had exhibited at Paris, where he had done honour to the country and the town. If the Americans were prevented by a tariff wall from coming in, the $9,000,000 worth of agricultural implements which were imported by the older provinces last year from the United States would be made in Canada. The Joliette factory would have to double its capacity. That would mean employment for more people in the town, more homes, and a better market for the farmers around the town.

England exports sixty-two per cent. of her food stuffs for forty million people. Last year she bought $108,000,000 worth from Canada. If England raised a tariff wall against the United States and allowed Canadian goods to come in free, would it not open a great market for the butter, cheese, eggs and other products of the Canadian farmers, as well as the wheat of the Canadian West?

TRANSPORTATION AND TRADE.

The transportation problem was narrowly connected with the tariff. He had studied that question, and was confident he knew more about it than Sir Wilfrid Laurier and all his ministers combined. Nature has done much for the St. Lawrence and lake route. He had given orders for dredging the St. Lawrence to get a thirty foot channel, without the knowledge of certain ministers in the Cabinet. He wanted the trade of Canada to come down the St. Lawrence to Canadian ports.

"But what do Sifton and the crowd behind him want?" exclaimed Mr. Tarte. "Mr. Sifton, the youngest of the ministers, the man who is responsible for my retirement from the Government under those conditions.

"Let me tell the Liberals, whom I served faithfully during the six years I was a minister, that influences are at work—influences that you cannot see but which exist—influences that three years ago would have been powerless. I have no personal feeling against the Premier, we parted as good friends, but evil influences have assailed him ever since that date."

MR. TARTE'S PROVOCATION.

Mr. Tarte referred to the fact that certain influences had been against him ever since his entrance into the Cabinet at the invitation of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Certain clubs in Montreal, and certain papers had abused him, and still continued to outrage him. They said he was a Conservative, because he refused to dimiss without reason or cause a number of employes placed by the Conservatives, who had done their duty honestly. The Liberal clubs and the Liberal press had considered thousands of Conservative votes good enough to assist them in getting to power, but they were not good enough to obtain representation in the Cabinet and to secure a share of the public patronage.

Discussing the Grand Trunk Pacific, he said it was folly to think of sending grain by that route. It would cost more than the water route does at present. It was to help colonization, but $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 spent in extending existing roads into the regions within reach would do more good.

The capitalists, the manufacturers, had received a definite promise before the last session that duties would be increased. That promise had not been fulfilled, and the result was seen in the closing of the "Soo" works and the difficulties of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. He did not want to be a prophet of evil, but he felt that if something were not done more disasters might follow.

As for himself, he would continue his campaign.

He appealed to the people to study public questions, to disregard demagogues who raised questions foreign to the issue, who preached sedition, trying to scare the people with what they called the danger of Imperialism. Nobody was trying to interfere with the autonomy of Canada, and it remained for Canadians to work for the interest of the country, to keep Canada for the Canadians, to be good subjects of the Empire to which they belonged, and to attend to their own business, the advancement of themselves and their families.

MR. CHAPAIS' SPEECH.

Hon. Thomas Chapais complimented the people of Joliette on their representative in the Legislature, Mr. Tellier, a future Minister of the Crown. He considered the Government at Ottawa was trying to do too much, while that at Quebec was doing nothing.

In a splendid piece of oratory, he described the feelings of the French-Canadians towards this province, which was their own particular home within this great country to which they also belonged. He recalled the great men produced by the French-Canadian provinces, the succession of brilliant leaders who had led the Government at Quebec, and contrasted them with Hon. Simeon Napoleon Parent. To the amusement of the audience, he described the scene and repeated the speech delivered by the present Prime Minister, when he attained his present position. The people had assembled in large numbers. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other distinguished speakers had spoken. The new Premier was announced. A hush fell on the assemblage. They expected words of wisdom, the announcement of a programme of action that would electrify the old French province, words that would incite men to greater endeavour for the national good, a pronouncement like unto that of the great Napoleon when he bade his soldiers regard forty centuries looking down upon them. The Emperor of the Quebec Legislature, however, used these words: "Gentlemen, it is getting late. We are all married men. Let us go home to bed." (Laughter and cheers.) That was Mr. Parent's programme, and he has been asleep ever since.

The only time he awakes is to sell the domain of the province and oppress the settler.

Mr Chapais then appealed with great warmth to the electorate to study public questions in the light of their own interests and not let themselves be carried away with a name, a personality. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a French Canadian, it is true, but was it not a great price to pay for having one of their own at the head of the county to see their industries in danger and the credit of the country endangered by undigested and wild cat railway schemes? There were other men in public life who appealed to them on different grounds, who were at least as faithful to their French traditions as Sir Wilfrid Laurier was. Give each party fair play, study public questions like honest, intelligent men. That was the advice he gave them, and if they followed that advice he had no fear for the result of their votes.

MR. CASGRAIN'S SPEECH.

Hon. T. Chase Casgrain followed, and carried the meeting with a forcible address. He began by paying a tribute to Mr. Tellier, the sitting member, and recalling the services he rendered the county at Quebec. He wished they had a man like Mr. Tellier to represent them at Ottawa. This was the first day they could get oysters in that section of the country, and it should be fixed as the feast day of their federal member, Mr. Bazinet, for he was indeed "dumb as an oyster." He was right on the platform with him men who were just as honest and irreproachable in their private life as Mr. Bazinet was and besides had greater aptitudes for public life. He asked the county of Joliette to elect one of those men at the earliest opportunity.

They had all heard of the contemplated transcontinental railway. The debt of the province was now somewhat over $40 a head. This new road, costing $100,000,000, would add at one stroke a debt of $20 on every man, woman and child in this Dominion. Yet the people have not been consulted on this important question.

The Grand Trunk Railway wanted to extend its trade to the West. The members of the House wanted to see that the trade of the West went through Canadian channels to Canadian ports. The Grand Trunk Pacific never had any intention of building the eastern section from Winnipeg to Moncton, and he did not believe that section would ever be built. This was shown by section 8 of the contract, which provides simply that the building of the road shall begin after the surveys, explorations and plans shall have been made and finished within a reasonable time. For the western section a definite term—five years—has been fixed.

All the Opposition has been able to learn of the location of the road is that it is between Hudson's Bay and the St. Lawrence. The Government supporters will probably come to each county and each parish in Quebec, on the north of the St. Lawrence, and tell the people that the new railway will pass through their county or their parish. The profitable part will be built and operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. That company, however, wiould not build the unprofitable portion of the road.

Another proof that this plan was not a good one was the resignation of the Minister of Railways. When Mr. Laurier reached power he sought for the best possible man to preside over the railway department and struck on Mr. Blair. That Minister had forsaken his honourable position in the Cabinet because he did not consider the proposed railway in the interest of Canada.

THE CARRIAGE OF GRAIN.

Another important question arose in this connection. This new road was supposed to carry the grain to Canadian ports. It would be, at the very least, ten to fifteen years before this road was complete. How would the products of the West be brought to the sea in the meantime. Even to-day, only twelve per cent. of the trade arising in Canada is shipped by the Canadian ports. How will it be when the railways are unable to carry the trade to the ports. The traffic will go towards the ports of the United States, and it will be a difficult task to divert it back. If the Government wants to spend $100,000,000, he would suggest that fifty millions could be spent right in the province of Quebec, improving the ports, deepening the channel of the St. Lawrence and extending colonization railways, which would traverse land known to be fit for colonization. In that way the whole country would be benefited.

In 1896, Mr. Casgrain recalled, the people of Canada were told that the Government of the day was the greatest that had ever been in power in Ottawa. The Cabinet Ministers were men specially chosen for their great fitness for their work. Yet Mowat, Blair, Joly, Dobell, Mills, Davies and Tarte have disappeared from the Cabinet. These great men have gone and who replaces them? Sifton, a Minister whose scandalous administration of the Yukon is a disgrace to Canada not only at home, but also, and more especially, abroad. Sutherland, a man of only third rate ability, and others of like calibre. When Hon. J. Israel Tarte resigned the Ministry of Public Works, what happened? He would not claim that the province of Quebec had any mortgage to hold the position. Yet it is an important office in the Ministry, which has almost always been held by a French-Canadian, and yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier could not find, among all the members from this province who support him in the House, a single man to whom he could entrust this important portfolio, and it went to a Minister from Ontario. It was a disgrace to the province of Quebec to have in the House of Commons, as the representatives of the old French province a set of men who did not more honourably represent the people of this province.

GOVERNMENT ARRAIGNED.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier followed and opened by a graceful compliment to the ladies, after which he dealt with the merits of the chairman as the representative of the county. In the House Mr. Tellier was the lawyer of the small Conservative deputation. When a thorny point of law arose it was referred to the member for Joliette, who was marked out as a Minister the moment the Conservatives reached power at Quebec.

Mr. Pelletier then arraigned the Parent Government all along the line. He accused the Government of sacrificing the national domain of the province to the interests of the clients of the Premier's law office. That was bad enough, but in addition to that he despoiled the settler, the man deserving of all respect, who goes out with his axe on his back and courage in his heart to hew out of the virgin forest a home for himself and his family, who goes to extend the peaceful conquest of the country, who goes forth to found a home for his young wife and those little ones who are always found in French-Canadian families, that man was strangled in his honest endeavour by the Government of the day, to make way for the American lumber operator who devastates the forest, and carried off the raw material to make it fructify in a foreign land. He instanced the cases of the settlers of Nemtaye, who, after having paid for their lots, and after having received advice from the Government to remain there, were expelled and imprisoned by the provincial police simply because the American operator had retained the law office of Fitzpartick, Parent, Taschereau, Roy and Cannon.

In like manner, when two Yankees were charged with robbing their Government and ran to this country, the same firm, two of whose members were in duty bound to aid in the prosecution of the two accused, undertook their defence, and the whole administration of justice was put in motion to save them. Instead of being confined in gaol as a poor farmer of this country would be, they were allowed to live at the Chateau Frontenac. The goddess of justice was represented with a bandage over her eyes, so that she could see neither one side nor the other, but in this province, of late, she had removed a corner of the bandage, and the scales she held were weighted down on one side with the price of her prostitution.

When the Opposition denounced these actions in the Legislature the Prime Minister offered to fight.

A voice—"That is like a statesman."

SCORES PREMIER PARENT.

The same Prime Minister, who occupied every position he could lay his hands on, was receiving money from the province of which he was head, and from the city of which he was Mayor, for an enterprise of which he was president. He even went so far as to sign notarial deeds with himself. When elections were contested, the Government stepped in and declared that the plaintiff must lose his case and pay costs. In like manner when a ratepayer of the city of Quebec took an action before the courts to cause Mayor Parent to return a sum of $5,000 which the Quebec City Council had given him, the Legislature stepped in and said the Council had the right to give the people's money to the Mayor as a gift, and the ratepayers lost his case. The Government was too strong. They must have some brake put upon them, or the people of the province would long have reason to rue trusting the men in power to-day.

The Conservatives had been denounced as taxers, because they had tried to re-establish an equilibrium in the affairs of the province, yet at the last session the Government had attempted to impose taxes on donations from father to son, and when they had been discovered at it, they had withdrawn their bill, and Mr. Parent had repeated his programme speech, "Let us go to bed."

FEDERAL RESIGNATIONS.

Mr. J. A. Renaud, K.C., followed and dwelt upon the resignation of two of the leading members of the Cabinet as a subject which should lead the electors to reflect. Mr. Blair, who had been chosen by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the fittest man to preside over the Railway Department, had not been consulted on the Grand Trunk Pacific proposal. When the bill was submitted to his consideration, the Minister of Railways, like the rest of the country, asked: "How much will this road cost?" The answer was, "We don't know, but it must go through at once."

He asked again: "Where will it pass?" The Government replied: "We don't know, but it must go through." The Minister then asked: "What kind of a country will it traverse? How long will the road be?" The Government replied: "We do not know, but it must go through, and go through at once." Then the Minister of Railways resigned, and fought the proposal.

In like manner when Mr. Tarte, recognizing the patent necessity for further protection, if Canada was to be kept for Canadians, sought to have the tariff revised, the free traders in the Government refused that measure of justice to Canadian enterprise, and Mr. Tarte left the Cabinet. These things should lead the electorate to reflect. Ministers did not leave their positions for the mere pleasure of the thing. This was no longer a question of bleu and rouge, it was a matter of business.

The speaker closed with the suggestion that the banner for the next election should be neither blue nor red, or rather, that it should be both red and blue, and that there should be inscribed on one side, "No G.T.P.," and on the other side, "Canada for the Canadians."

INTEREST IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

Hon. P. E. Leblanc saw in the large audience and the careful attention given the speakers, a further proof that the French-Canadians took a deep interest in public affairs, and did not wish to be mere voting machines, actuated by a cry of some kind. The people had heard many things on which they should reflect. They had heard the Federal issues discussed, and they had heard something of the record of the Parent Government. When Mr. J. M. Tellier, M.L.A., for Joliette, became Attorney-General, for he would certainly reach that position, Yankee thieves would never find an asylum in Canada, for the public powers would replace the bandage which has been torn from the eyes of the goddess of justice.

Mr. J. M. Tellier closed the meeting by thanking the distinguished speakers for coming to visit them and interest the people of the district. He congratulated the people on their demeanour throughout. It was just what he had known would happen. He then called on all present to give three cheers for His Majesty, the King. The cheers were given with right loyal good will, after which Mr. Pelletier proposed cheers for the chairman, Mr. Tellier, for the speakers of the day, and Mr. Tarte claimed the right, in the name of young and old, to propose cheers for the ladies.

STREET RAILWAY WILL PAY CITY $106,340 11 THIS YEAR

Mr. Robb, City Treasurer, has received from the Street Railway Company its annual statement for the past year. Its importance to the city is that it shows what amount the corporation is entitled to, as percentages, for the privilege the company has of operating electric cars in the city.

The statement sent to the city is as follows:

Month.	Gross Receipts.	Deduct Receipts from outside municipalities.	Receipts Within City Limits
1902—
September	$189,150.48	$18,567.56	$170,582.92
October	179,432.86	17,618.53	161,814.83
November	170,833.63	16,790.78	154,042.85
December	178,041.83	17,500.60	155,541.23
1903—
January	168,682.69	17,046.20	151,836.49
February	139,065.47	13,980.04	125,105.43
March	168,367.48	17,751.92	151,235.56
April	170,050.13	18,114.37	151,935.75
May	170,777.14	17,831.29	152,945.85
June	205,454.13	20,825.03	184,629.10
July	212,337.07	19,792.39	192,544.68
August	208,596.49	19,605.88	188,990.61
	$2,156,599.39	$215,408.59	$1,941,190.80

Advertising	5,000.00
Net proceeds from sale of mutilated coin	8,060.53
Total receipts	$1,954,251.33

The following shows the percentages paid to the city:

4 per cent. on earnings to $1,000,000.00	$40,000.00
6 per cent on earnings to $500,000.00	30,000.00
8 per cent. on earnings to $454,251.33	36,340.11
Percentage due City of Montreal	$106,340.11

The above percentage is the largest the city ever received from the Street Railway Company.

At the present time the city is having a legal fight with the company as to its earnings in outside municipalities. It is the contention of the corporation that percentages should be paid on such earnings. This view of the matter, however, is not coincided in by the company.

In addition to the percentages paid by the company to the city, the company also gives $60,000 a year for snow removal.

LORD MILNER RETURNS TO LONDON.

Perhaps to Consult Regarding Cabinet Office—Duke of Devonshire's Position.

London, September 28.—Lord Milner has left Carlsbad for England, for the purpose of conferring with Premier Balfour. It will be probably several days before Lord Milner can definitely decide whether to reconsider his refusal to become Mr. Chamberlain's successor. Other reports circulated here announcing a serious hitch in the reconstruction of the Cabinet are based solely upon a general lack of knowledge of Lord Milner's intentions.

It is learned further that Mr. Balfour regards Lord Milner as vital to the success of the Cabinet and is willing to postpone the reconstruction of the new ministry indefinitely so long as there is a chance of getting the High Commissioner to South Africa to accept the vacant post. If, after personal appeals, Lord Milner persists in his refusal, the Earl of Selborne will probably take over the charge of the Colonial Office.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE.

A persistent rumour was current last night that the Duke of Devonshire, president of the council, had resigned, but this is denied. The Daily Mail asserts that he will good-naturedly remain in the Cabinet at the urgent request of the King, who prefers not to have an immediate breaking up of the ministry. The same authority adds that the Duke of Devonshire will remain in office on the express understanding that if the Government takes any action which seems to him to be subversive of free trade principles he will resign.

It is declared that Mr. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton were kept in ignorance of the fact that the Duke had resigned when they resigned. It is also said that they wrote justificatory letters to Prime Minister Balfour, as Mr. Chamberlain did, but their letters were suppressed.

The Standard, a Ministerialist organ, says it hears that Mr. Brodrick will remain as Secretary of War.

Hon. Mr. Haultain, premier of the Northwest Territories, in an interview said that the Legislature would meet again some time during the last week in October.

A STEEL TRUST FOR GERMANY.

Its Object is to Control Export Trade, Which is Unprofitable.

London, September 28. — The British Consul-General at Berlin reports that the formation of a German steel trust may be expected before the end of the year. One of the objects will be to control the export of iron and steel, which has not hitherto been undertaken by most of the existing syndicates. It is proposed to inaugurate a system of settlements between home and foreign sales, and determine the share of the individual works belonging to the combination. The Consul says that the large increase in German iron and steel exports during the last two years was obtained by selling at prices which frequently left no margin of profit, but even a loss. It is expected that the new syndicate will be able to conduct export operations under favourable conditions. The trust will include works belonging to the raw iron, rough hardware, girder and rail syndicates, and will later take in members of the sheet iron, tube, wire and iron bar syndicates. Several of these combinations will terminate this year. They will not be dissolved, but will be merged into the new trust. The raw iron syndicate of Westphalia and Upper Silesia are negotiating for a price convention and a limitation of their respective business spheres, and it is expected that they will be successful.

THREE MEN DROWNED NEAR GLEICHEN, N.W.T.

Gleichen, N. W. T., September 28.—Three men were drowned in the Bow River, on the Blackford Reserve, on Saturday night — Sergeant Brooks, J. Disbury and A. Beaupre. The horses, waggon and all three went down while crossing the river, and did not reappear. A few Indians witnessed the accident. All were married men.

Mersey Finding Postponed.

Quebec, September 28.—The preliminary investigation into the Mersey disaster, held at Rimouski and presided over by Magistrate Garon, has been completed, and the finding of the court will be made known on October 26.

HON. L. P. PELLETIER'S STRONG ESPOUSAL OF AN ANTI-BOURASSA ATTITUDE

Loyalty and Tolerance the Keynotes of an Eloquent Address to the Electors at Laprairie Yesterday—Other Addresses in the Same Strain.

At Laprairie yesterday, Hon. L. P. Pelletier denounced in no measured terms the anti-British campaign of Mr. Henri Bourassa and his fellows, before an audience of nearly three thousand persons, drawn from different points of Laprairie and Napierville and from the city of Montreal.

In a stirring burst of eloquence, the former Attorney-General of Quebec arraigned those responsible for race appeals and for endeavouring to raise hard feelings between the different races in this country.

"As a French-Canadian," he said, "I protest against the attempt being made to rouse French-Canadian sentiment against England. I am a French-Canadian, and I am proud of it. I am proud of the old country from which my fathers and yours came. I am proud of my French blood. I love my French-Canadian mother and my nationality. But do not let French-Canadians hearken to those who would rouse among them a sentiment of hostility to the country which has every right to our love and affection for the way we have been treated in this Canada of ours. We speak our own language, we worship at our own altars in our own temples, with the greatest freedom on earth, beneath the protecting folds of the British flag. Certain people, and men with eloquent voices, too, speak sneeringly to us of 'Our England.'

"For my part, I am ready to accept the term. Yes, she is 'Our England,' and we are proud of her splendid record. We are proud of the free institutions and the just and equitable laws which she has given us. When the unworthy Government that to-day misrules our former mother country expelled the communities; when they put on the street saintly women who had consecrated their lives to God, where did these dispersed communities take refuge? Where did the men who had consecrated their lives to the education of youth and the service of God take refuge when they were not allowed liberty of conscience in the land of their birth? They found a refuge and a haven of protection beneath the broad folds of the grand old flag which protects our own rights and our liberties. (Tremendous cheers.)

OUR FREE INSTITUTIONS.

"I deny to the demagogues of yesterday and the demagogues of to-morrow, whether they come as the emissaries of Sir Wilfrid Laurier or otherwise, the right to attempt to arouse race against race and creed against creed in this happy land, where English, Irish, Scotch and French live together, worshipping each at his own altar and working all together for the upbuilding of our grand new country, under the freest institutions the world has ever seen. (Renewed cheering.)

"I tell you, gentlemen, that the men who do such work must fail. The more the different races learn of each other the better will they agree together. Here and now I tell Mr. Henri Bourassa, and others of his fellows who follow in his footsteps, that they will meet their own punishment in the reprobation of their own French-Canadian fellow citizens for their attempt to light the fierce fires of race hatred for base political purposes."

This outburst was received by the immense throng with every sign of approval; in fact, as he continued on that line, Mr. Pelletier was given an ovation, which lasted for several minutes after he ceased speaking.

Mr. Louis J. Loranger, LL.D., who followed Mr. Pelletier, endorsed every word that gentleman had uttered on the subject. Mr. Bourassa claimed authority to speak to the French-Canadians as he did from the fact that he was the grandson of Papineau. "Well," continued Mr. Loranger, "I am the grand nephew of the same Papineau. I look back with pride on the struggles of the past, but those struggles are done. Canada has all that she can reasonably expect, all the liberties that she can desire, and it is doing a very bad service indeed to the French-Canadian people to attempt to rouse a feeling of hatred among them towards the other races and creeds instead of trying to weld all together to build up a great country in this free land."

These utterances, too, were received with tremendous applause. If Mr. Charlton or others, who talked of the necessity of placing an English garrison at Quebec to keep the French-Canadians loyal, had heard the manner in which these eminently British utterances were received, they would have ceased to feel any fear. On the other hand, the event showed that the talk on the preceding Saturday of Mr. Monet, the representative of the division in the House of Commons, and Mr. Bourassa, had not produced the results which they had expected.

LAPRAIRIE HARD TO REACH.

The meeting at Laprairie was held under some difficulties. The day broke fine and clear, but soon the clouds arose. The steamer Laprairie, which left the Richelieu wharf here at a few minutes before twelve o'clock, found great difficulty in reaching the meeting place. In the current just above the island, the steam gauge registered very low, and the boat was losing steadily, drifting back towards the city. Suspicious circumstances attended the way the ship was working, but a change of fireman and the promise of a five-dollar bill where it would do most good, worked a change in the progress of the boat, and after that the trip went merrily forward, until a few minutes before Laprairie wharf was reached, when the lightning, the thunder and the rain struck the boat. The passengers got a good drenching as they landed.

The stand for the speakers had been erected in an open field. It was impossible to address a meeting with the high wind and the rain prevailing. An adjournment was made to the market hall, where the crowd found some shelter under sheds and were protected from the winds. Then further difficulty arose over the place from which the speakers should address the crowd. Some wanted the speaking to be done from the doorway, while others insisted on having them go upstairs.

Mr. L. Conrad Pelletier, ex-M.P., was called upon to preside. He explained at the outset that Mr. C. S. Cherrier, M.L.A. for Laprairie, wished to address his electors. Although the meeting had been called by the Conservatives, they had no objection to granting Mr. Cherrier's request, and he would address them for ten minutes.

DEFENDS FORESTS SALES.

Mr. Cherrier spoke of the distribution of "Mon Premier Livre" in the schools, as one great work of the Parent Government. As to the sales of the forests, they brought good prices, and besides it was better to sell them than to have them burn away as they did last summer.

Referring to the collection of taxes, he believed that Liberals and Conservatives should not be calling one another names, and abusing each other for imposing taxes. Taxes were necessary to bring about improvements in a fine country like ours, which was just opening up its development. He was satisfied with the way things had gone at Quebec since 1897. If the Government did anything which he did not believe was right, he would withdraw his support. He thanked the audience for hearing, and he thanked his friend, Mr. Pelletier, for the opportunity of addressing his electors.

Mr. Es. L. Patenaude, advocate, of Montreal, a native of Laprairie county, was the next speaker. He dwelt on the benefits to be derived by Canada from an increase in the tariff that at present exists. He spoke strongly against the Grand Trunk Pacific measure, and also showed the inconsistency of the present party in power, which had denounced the Conservatives for spending thirty-eight millions and now spent sixty millions and more.

MR. PELLETIER'S CRITICISM.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier, in opening, thanked Mr. Cherrier for the admissions he had made that taxes were necessary. The Conservatives had been abused and outraged on every hustings in this province in 1897, had been denounced as "taxers" because they had, like men, faced a difficult situation, and tried to improve the financial situation of the province. Mr. Cherrier, however, in saying what he did, said it to try and protect his own Government from reprobation for collecting the taxes they had denounced, and trying to increase them.

As to "Mon Premier Livre" it had cost the country $15,000, had been distributed only in the French language, and had been such a failure that the Government did not dare to continue the distribution in the English schools, or to bring out further editions.

Mr. Pelletier then went on to denounce the Parent Government's colonization policy, the maladministration of the Government generally and especially the disgrace they brought upon the province by the Gaynor-Greene affair. In answer to all this they were told they must keep Parent at Quebec, out of respect for the great French-Canadian, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. They read that day after day in Le Soleil, of Quebec, which receives $50,000 a year from the Quebec Government, and $25,000 from the Government at Ottawa, and in other pap fed organs. Le Soleil denounced Mr. Tarte for leaving the Laurier Government at the zenith of its power. That paper denounced the Conservatives who voted for Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1896 and 1900, telling them that they are traitors of yesterday and will be traitors to-morrow. That is the opinion which the organs of the Liberal party express on the Conservatives who supported a French-Canadian Premier in 1896 and 1900. Mr. Pelletier concluded his speech by the denunciation of appeals to race prejudice given at the opening.

Mr. Louis Loranger, LL.D., who followed spoke for some time along the same lines as Mr. Pelletier. He then made a plea in favour of protection in order to keep our industries for Canadians instead of letting them go to the United States. He came as one of the younger men to fight for the principles which had made Canada what she was to-day. The men who had come there the preceding Saturday to attack Mr. Tarte, had denounced protection in days gone by. To-day they claimed to be protectionists, because they knew that, if the protective tariff was removed, they would be hurled from power. Mr. Loranger qualified the Grand Trunk Pacific proposal as an absurdity. He could not understand how members of Parliament could be asked to approve such a measure, to take such a leap in the dark.

MR. PARENT'S NEGLECT.

Hon. P. E. Leblanc followed. He would continue, he said, to treat of the Parent Government. This province needed greater revenues. Why not make those who took our pulp wood to a foreign country, there to be manufactured and increased in value, pay a good share of the taxes needed. The Marchand administration had imposed a stumpage on pulp wood, but the Parent administration had removed it. He continued to dwell on the neglect shown by the two Governments for the interests of the people of the South Shore. When the Victoria bridge was being rebuilt, the Federal Government could have insisted on better terms for the farmers who had to use that means of reaching the city, or the Quebec Government could have contributed for that purpose. Then the road leading towards that bridge was used by all farmers of three counties. It should be put in good shape by the Government.

He denounced the sale of the national domain to Yankees, the prostitution of justice, the interference in pending law cases and the other faults of the Parent Government.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte was present at the meeting. He drove out in an open carriage and was drenched, so that he did not feel disposed to speak, especially as the position of the speaker, at a window, was very fatiguing.

Mr. Mullarkey's Challenge.

To the Editor of the Montreal Star:

Sir.—I hereby challenge "Anti-Humbug" to repeat over his own signature the accusations contained in his letter which appeared in your issue of Saturday last, and when he does I shall give his statements all the attention necessary.

Trusting that you will do me the favour of publishing this, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,

J. P. MULLARKEY.

M'GILL FRESHMEN ELECT OFFICERS

An Enthusiastic Meeting Held at the College on Saturday.

BENEFITS OF FOOTBALL

Rifle Association of the University Receives a Large Influx of Members.

On Saturday morning the Freshman Class at McGill held a meeting and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mr. McLennan (Medicine, late of Queen's University); Vice-President, Mr. Enright (Medicine); Secretary, Mr. Bates (Arts); Treasurer, Mr. Ryder; Football Captain, Mr. Stevens (Medicine); Track Captain, Mr. Davis (Arts).

About two hundred men attended the meeting, which was called for the election of officers.

Mr. W. P. Ogilvie presided. Mr. G. M. Gibson, Medicine '04, manager of the Football Club, first drew attention to what is now almost a truism. He said: "Nowhere in Canada, and I may say in America, is a man given a better chance to get on a football team than at McGill." That this is true can be easily proved by anybody who has seen the practices on the campus during the past week. Anybody who showed the least inclination to play was fitted out in football togs, and given a chance to show what he was good for. Mr. Gibson informed the meeting that the Faculties had agreed to deliver no lectures between the hours of four and six on Wednesday and Friday and perhaps

NO MORE MONEY FOR NEW LOOKOUT

Finance Committee Decides Not to Complete the Structure.

GRANTS FOR STREET REPAIRS

Considerable Improvements are to Be Made in Leading Thoroughfares.

The famous new look-out on the mountain, which cost the city $1,500, will not be completed. Such was the decision of the Finance Committee at its meeting to-day.

About a third of the structure is already up. The decision of the meeting of the committee was that it was inartistic and that it would be unwise to spend any more of the taxpayers' money in completing a structure that had been very generally condemned. There was a strong feeling that when the winds of winter have completed their work on the unfinished structure there will be very little of it left standing.

The Finance Committee did not feel kindly disposed towards the structure because, when it was started, a promise was given by the Parks and Ferries Committee that it should not cost more than $1,500. Notwithstanding the promise, Ald. Couture, chairman of the Parks Committee, came before the Finance Committee to-day and asked for an additional sum of $1,900 to complete it.

SHOULD BE TORN DOWN.

When Ald. Sadler heard the request he said: "I will vote $500 to pull the thing down, but not a cent to complete it. It is inartistic and not suitable for the mountain top."

Ald. Ekers—"I do not think the Finance Committee is justified in voting more cash to complete this job. What should be done is to pull the thing down."

Ald. Carter—"I think we should not vote more money to complete the structure. We had better let things remain as they are. In the spring I would be in favour of voting even $5,000 to build a really artistic look-out.

Ald. Couture (bitterly)—"This is not fair. If you allow the lookout to remain as it is you will make the Parks and Ferries Committee look perfectly ridiculous."

Ald. Sadler—"Come what will, such a lookout should not be completed."

Ald. Couture—"But even if the Parks Committee has made an error of judgment in regard to the matter there is no reason why the lookout should remain uncompleted."

Ald. Sadler—"I think I would not press for more money if I were you, Ald. Couture. If any mistakes have been made we had better not go into the facts of the matter."

"To be frank," said Ald. Ekers, "I must say that the old lookout is far better than the new one you have been putting up, Ald. Couture."

This annoyed Ald. Couture, and he exclaimed: "That is a matter of opinion, Ald. Ekers."

Ald. Ekers—"Very possibly; at the same time I do not think this committee is justified in voting more cash to complete the work."

"I think," said Ald. Lapointe, "that the lookout is a little too 'rustic.'"

Ald. Couture—"It is true it is built of white birch, but——"

"But," interrupted Ald. Sadler, "the committee does not feel like voting more cash to complete the job."

"I think," said Ald. Laporte, "I would not press for the money to complete the work."

At this Ald. Couture seized his hat and exclaimed, with much feeling: "This is treating the Parks Committee pretty hard."

This ended further discussion, and the famous lookout will never be completed.

MONEY FOR STREET PAVEMENTS.

The committee decided to vote the following amounts for additional street repairs: Commissioners street, $760; McGill street, $860; St. James street, $1,146; Place Royal, $770; St. Nicholas, $730; Craig, $50; Notre Dame street east, $2,000.

It was decided to vary the sum of $1,900 from St. Ann's Ward so as to lay granite blocks on St. Paul street. The sum of $1,000 was varied from St. Antoine Ward west, to repair the macadam in St Antoine east ward.

The sum of $5,000 was varied from West Ward to be spent on repairing the road on Fortification lane.

The amount of $3,000 was varied from street cleaning and placed to the credit of street watering.

It was also decided to ask Council to vote the following sums for street work:

St. Etienne street, $4,000; Hochelaga Square, $6.25; Eastern cattle market improvements, $1,650; St. Denis street repairs, $15,000; Cherrier street, $15,000; Sherbrooke street, $200; Richmond street, $4,000; Bonsecours market repairs, $3,000; rebuilding St. Catherine street railway bridge, $4,500; Cremazie Park, $500; and paving on Amherst and Ontario streets, $2,000.

One Effect of Cold Wave.

The touch of cool weather that has come to-day reminds people that the winter is not far distant. Along the harbor the vesselmen are already beginning to speculate as to the date when navigation will close. This, however, will not come for some weeks yet. Last year the date was December 8th, but this is a record which is not approached very often. Usually the time is about the last week of November. The amount of business to be done is such that all the intervening weeks will be fully utilized.

HARBOUR BOARD ASKS MORE DELAY

Majority Not Ready to Adopt Plans for Steel Sheds.

OPINIONS HAVE CHANGED

Representatives of the Shipping Interests Now Oppose the Two Story Principle.

A portion of the Harbour Commissioners at the meeting to-day endeavoured to proceed with the preliminary work of deciding upon plans for the new steel sheds, but the majority of the Commissioners wished delay on the ground that they were not prepared to adopt the two story principle.

This created a fine old argument, which proceeded for a good hour and a half. It will be remembered that about a year ago the representatives of the Shipping Interest, the Montreal Board of Trade, the Corn Exchange, the Railways, the Chambre de Commerce and other bodies, were called in to give suggestions as to what their different interests required in the way of sheds and other terminal facilities.

As a result of these conferences, Mr. John Kennedy, the Harbour Board's chief engineer, prepared plans, upon the recommendation of the commissioners, embodying the various suggestions which had been made by the bodies represented and already named.

The meeting this morning went into special session for the purpose of considering these plans, which if they are ever approved, will be sent to Ottawa in order that the Government may pass upon them.

Mr. Reford renewed the objection made at the meeting a week ago, stating that he was not prepared to approve of two story sheds, as he was of the opinion that the second story was not feasible owing to the grade at which it would be necessary to lay the roadway, in order to reach them. Mr. Crathern was also doubtful regarding this portion of the project.

THE PRESIDENT PROTESTS.

Senator Mackay said that the proceeding was most extraordinary. A year ago the bodies to which these gentlemen belonged, and which they represented on the Board, had been called together for the purpose of suggesting plans for these sheds. They had done so and the plans had been made in accord with the suggestions, and now after the lapse of something like a year they come forward and make objections.

Mr. Reford stated that the building of these sheds called for a very large sum of money, and that a company renting a shed would have to pay some $3,000 or $6,000 per year. This was a large outlay and he did not believe in having the shipping companies saddled with an extra expense which would be of no particular utility. All he wished was a sufficient delay to allow of the shipping interests and others interested once more looking over the plans.

The Mayor stated that it had resolved itself down to a question of whether they were going to adopt these plans which had been prepared after all possible information had been obtained, or not.

"We are charged with doing nothing but talk, and, by Heavens, the charge appears to be right from all appearances," said Mr. Cochrane. "A year ago," he continued, "shippers, teamsters and every one else was called in for consultation, and now some of the Commissioners wish to do it all over again."

Mr. Mackay remarked that there was a good deal in what the Mayor had said.

THE TWO STORY PLAN.

Mr. Doran made a strong speech in favour of the two story sheds, pointing out that the harbour was bound to be cramped under any conditions and that a second story was the only salvation, a portion of the traffic must go above the surface.

Mr. Reford stated that perhaps the members of the shipping interest had changed their minds regarding the two story plan. He did not wish a long delay—a week might be sufficient.

Mr. Doran was of the opinion that the different bodies such as the shipping interest had received all the consideration due them. In fact, some of the very worst features of the plans, in his opinion, had been the suggestions of these bodies. He continued:

"We had the town all in a year ago regarding these plans, and now you wish to begin all over again. The commissioners are the ones to take the responsibility, and it appears ridiculous to ask these bodies at this time if they have changed their minds."

At this point the secretary read a letter from Mr. McNicol, first vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in which he approved of the plans as prepared by Mr. Kennedy, the communication stating that he could suggest no improvement from the interests of all concerned were taken into consideration.

Mr. Bickerdike remarked that he would hate to accuse any one of a wrong intent unjustly, but it looked to him as if Messrs. Crathern and Reford were sparring for time. He would not go so far as to say that it took upon itself a political twist.

Both of the aforementioned gentlemen promptly denied that politics had anything to do with their action. They merely wished to be sure that the plans met the approval of those whom they represented on the Board.

Mr. McFee said that he could not vote for the immediate approval of the plans, as he had not looked into the subject sufficiently, while Mr. Jonathan Hodgson has always been opposed to two story sheds, and was prepared to register his vote against the idea.

It was finally moved that the plans be adopted, and an amendment to this was also placed forward asking that the various trade bodies such as the Shipping Interest and the Board of Trade be asked to pass upon the plans.

The amendment was finally put, and carried, those voting for it being Messrs. Crathern, McFee, Lemay, Reford, Geoffrion and Hodgson. Those opposed were the Mayor, the Chairman, Mr. Bickerdike and Mr. Doran.

HENRY BIRKS & SONS,

THE MILITIA ORDERED OUT AT SAULT STE. MARIE FOLLOWING ROW TO-DAY

A Policeman Pounded by the Crowd and Is Now in Hospital—The Mayor Read the Riot Act—Street Cars and Ferries Have Stopped Running—Firemen Poured Water on Men.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Sault Ste. Marie, September 28.—The mob about the general offices of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company became violent about noon. Policeman Littlewood, of the company's force, interfered in a quarrel between two French-Canadians, and others in the crowd turned on him. With a baton grabbed from another policemen a man pounded his head very badly, and he is now in the general hospital. As soon as the trouble began all the doors of the offices were locked, but the men became angry and smashed the windows by throwing stones. Nearly all the windows in the lower story of the office and building were broken. A phone message was sent from the office for the fire department to disperse the crowd.

Police Magistrate Quibell was called and read the Riot Act and ordered the men to disperse. When they did not do that quickly the hose was turned on the crowd by the firemen.

Crowds then dispersed, and although many men are about the streets, the town is comparatively quiet now.

The action of the mob resulted in the tieing up of the street car system on this side of the river and also the ferries.

Mayor Plummer has ordered all the bar rooms in town to be closed immediately.

The Soo Company of the Ninety-Seventh Regiment was ordered out later in the afternoon.

New Haven, Conn., September 28.—The application for the receivership was presented by Judge Walter C. Noyes, of the firm of Noyes and Brandegee of New London, in behalf of attorneys for certain stock holders of the company. It was set forth in the application that the directors of the company had failed to take up the loan of $3,050,000, of Speyer and Company, of New York; that the actual value of the plant is far in excess of the amount of the loan; that the stockholders fear that if a forced sale were allowed, they would lose the entire amount of their investment. A receiver was, therefore, asked for, and also a temporary injunction to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure proceedings.

Judge Lynde Harrison, counsel for the company, presented a written statement which at his request it was read by Judge Noyes, saying that the company admits the truth of the allegations contained in this complaint and consents to the appointment of a temporary receiver and to the issuance of an injunction to prevent the sale of the property and to prevent the issuance of suits against the receiver.

Judge Noyes then suggested the appointment of John G. Carruth as receiver, and it was formally made by the court. As the company has no assets in this State, it was suggested that the bond should be nominal; further proceedings to be had in New York State.

PHENOMENAL YEAR FOR IMMIGRATION

But Mr. Robert Kerr Looks for Still Better Results Next Season.

"The immigration into Canada from Great Britain and Continental Europe has been phenomenal this year.

"Commencing early in the spring it has continued without interruption up to the present time, and is calculated to so continue up to the close of navigation in the St. Lawrence."

This was the information imparted by Mr. Robert Kerr, general passenger agent of the C.P.R., on his return from Europe to-day.

Mr. Kerr went abroad some six weeks ago to inspect the European agencies of the company, particularly with regard to the immigration outlook.

Naturally, therefore, he had much to say upon this score.

"Much interest is now evinced in Great Britain regarding Canada. The people in every part of the United Kingdom seem very much alive to the opportunities which are now afforded in this country. That result has been produced mainly by the favourable correspondence sent across the ocean by those who are already comfortably located in Canada.

"The partial failure of the undertaking known as the Barr colony, does not seem to have affected public opinion to any great extent. The great mass of the people look upon it as being merely a signification that efforts to colonize in a new region, far from centres of population is not practicable. But they do not appear to have attributed Mr. Barr's failure as indicating that the North-West is not suitable for settlement. The Barr colony episode has done little harm; it has merely changed the opinion of the people regarding colonization.

CONDITIONS ABROAD.

"While there seems to be considerable activity in all the leading centres of population which I visited, I gather that the condition of the population as a whole, mainly in the rural districts, is open to much amelioration. That this is so is proven by the tremendous exodus which is constantly taking place, and that without any influence being exerted from the outside, because, in Germany and Austria-Hungary, for example, anyone who talks emigration, representing a foreign country, is dealt with in a most summary fashion by the law.

"But influences are constantly at work which render the permanent presence of an emigration agent necessary. In Great Britain, to mention only one instance, they have had a very wet harvest, and the results in the way of crop are not calculated to be great. The consequence is that the farmers will likely have to buy much more than usual, which will have the effect of deciding many who have been hanging in the balance in their desire to emigrate.

IRISH IMMIGRANTS.

"The number of Irish coming to this side of the Atlantic this year will be double what it was in 1902. The Anti-Emigration Society, which has now started an active propaganda, is not aimed at emigration to Canada, the United States, Australia, South Africa, or any other specific locality, but is aimed at emigration in itself considered. The population of Ireland, at the present time, is somewhat less than 4,000,000, and is constantly diminishing. In process of a very short time, if the outflow continues, Ireland will be, comparatively speaking, without population. It is only natural, therefore, that the leaders of thought in that island should be alarmed, and that they should strive, in view of the more promising outlook which now offers, to keep the Irish people at home.

STEADY FLOW OF IMMIGRANTS.

"Never in my experience has there been such a steady flow of immigration to Canada as there has been this year, which is calculated to extend well on into November. In former years, if we didn't get the large batches of immigrants in May, June and July we were wont to calculate that the people did not intend to come at all, and, as a general rule, we were right.

"Now, what do we find? The immigrants commenced to come as soon as navigation opened in the St. Lawrence this year, and have continued to come, without perceptible diminution, up to the present time.

"The Lake Erie, which arrived on Saturday, had 600 on board; the Ionian, which reached port almost simultaneously with the vessel just mentioned, had 300; and the Southwark will shortly bring 250 more. These figures constitute a phenomenal showing for this season of the year. And I am confident, from my observations abroad, that we will have even better results next year."

During his stay in Europe, Mr. Kerr deported himself on the Canadian principle, travelled at night and transacted his business the next day. Abroad, he says, the merchant travels one day and does business the next. It astonished some of the natives how much ground Mr. Kerr was enabled to cover. In thirteen days he visited six countries, inspecting the C.P.R. agencies, as, he says, "quickly but thoroughly." The chief ports from which immigrants from continental Europe come are Antwerp, Rotterdam, Copenhagen, Gottenburg, and Hamburg, and all of these Mr. Kerr visited, as also Berlin and Paris on the return journey. He was also in many of the chief cities of Great Britain.

HARBOUR BOARD HAS TROUBLE WITH CONTRACT.

The Harbour Board is having a good deal of trouble getting its contract for broken stone filled. F. E. Fontaine received the contract from the board, and has furnished a portion of the material. He now ceases to deliver, however, and has instituted a suit against the board for the sum of $5,050, which includes stone furnished, damages, funds retained until the completion of the contract, etc. The board argued the question for a full hour to-day, and finally decided to turn the matter over to their attorneys.

The various portions of the correspondence between the Harbour Engineer and Mr. Fontaine were read, the commissioners endeavouring to gauge whether he had any case against them, and they finally came to the conclusion that he had not a legal leg to stand upon.

Mr. Kennedy stated that by the terms of his contract there was still some 11,000 or 12,000 toises of stone to deliver. At the present time the commissioners' works were badly in need of stone. It was finally resolved to give Mr. Kennedy authority to order this material where he could up to 2,000 tons, which amount would keep them going for this autumn. The Chief Engineer stated that stone today was worth more than Fontaine's contract price.

Will Discuss Mr. Tarte.

Certain members of the Liberal party in St. Mary's division, represented by Hon. J. Israel Tarte, have called a meeting to be held this evening, at St. Bridget's Hall, corner of Maisonneuve and St. Bridget's street for the purpose of discussing the position taken by the former Minister of Public Works.

The chair will be taken at eight o'clock, and a lively time is expected, as quite a number of speakers will address the crowd which will, no doubt, gather for the occasion. It is not yet known if the Hon. Mr. Tarte will attend the meeting.

Will Hunt Big Game.

Messrs. McLean and Arkwright, two Englishmen who are on their way to India, will spend six weeks hunting big game in the vicinity of Banff and Golden, B.C.

THE COAL DIVIDEND STILL UNDECLARED.

The ordinary half yearly dividend of four per cent. on Dominion Coal common would, under ordinary circumstances, be paid to the shareholders on the first of next month, but up to the present has not been declared, nor is it likely to be for some little time to come.

As Mr. James Ross, the company's president, explained at the meeting held on Friday last, the company is in a peculiar position. The rental due from the Dominion Iron and Steel Company was not paid, therefore the funds are lacking from this quarter for dividend purposes. Then, again, the Coal Company as yet has not entered upon the possession of its property, so that they cannot legally undertake the matter.

The question of the amount of the dividend, when it does come, is one of a great deal of interest. There are few who do not believe that the rate of eight per cent per annum will be decreased considerably. In some quarters it is believed that the yearly compensation to the holders of common stock will be reduced to five per cent, and others maintain that the rate will be six.

WELL KNOWN HORSEMAN KILLED.

A horseman named William Vaux in the employ of Dr. McEachran, was killed on Saturday. He was driving to Cartierville when his horse took fright and he was thrown to the ground on Cote des Neiges hill. Just how the accident happened will not likely be known. When picked up Vaux was in a dying condition and he passed away while en route to the Royal Victoria hospital. He was fifty-two years of age. An inquest is to be held.

Rev. Mr. Brooke Bereaved.

The Rev. H. A. Brooke, assistant minister of the Church of St. James the Apostle, has received word that his brother, Gerat. Brooke, was drowned on Saturday in the Bow River, near the Blackford Reserve in the Northwest. The deceased in company with two others, was crossing the river with horses and waggon. All three were drowned.

AMERICAN COUNSEL FINISHES ARGUMENT

Mr. David T. Watson Concludes First Presentation for United States.

CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON

Contends That the Term "Mountain" Must Be Interpreted in a General Way.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, September 28.—When the Alaskan Boundary Commission met again this morning, Mr. David T. Watson, the American Consul, resumed his argument in support of the contention that treaty of 1825 contemplated mountains along the entire line, or in default of mountains, a ten-league line throughout. He held that word "partout" in the alternative provision, article 4, applies to the whole line, and not merely to parts of it, such as the horseshoe line of Great Britain requires. The Hudson Bay map exhibited before the House of Commons in 1857, he argued, showed a ten-league line throughout, and Lord Salisbury in 1886 evidently contemplated that the mountains might fail entirely. He contended on behalf of the United States that there were no mountains suitable, and therefore the mountain line must be discarded for the ten league line, which should run round the heads of inlets, and be everywhere ten leagues from the sea.

URGED TEN-LEAGUE LINE.

Mr. A. B. Aylesworth asked: "Supposing no mountains existed, and the whole country was an extensive plain, did the United States consider that the ten marine league line should be applied?"

Mr. Watson: "Yes."

The President, Lord Alvestone: "Do you contend that at no part of this line are there mountains corresponding to the treaty?"

Mr. Watson: "At no point."

Continuing, he discussed the meaning of "ocean," and said the Lynn Canal was the limit of the ocean, just as a man's leg was part of the man. To be logical, the British should say the ocean lay altogether outside the islands, yet they called Stephen's passage, which was more narrow and intricate than the Lynn Canal, ocean, and denied the application of the term to the latter inlet.

MR. WATSON CONCLUDES.

Alluding to the argument based on Lieven's fear lest the mountains should descend to the water's edge, he illustrated the Allegheny mountains between Pittsburg and New York, which show an almost imperceptible declivity for more than 30 miles. Mr. Watson, in conclusion, expressed his sense of the unfailing courtesy which he had received from the Tribunal.

The President thanked the American Counsel for the powerful argument to which, he said, they had carefully listened.

MR. CHRISTOPHER ROBINSON.

Mr. Christopher Robinson, who next addressed the court for Great Britain, said that our case had been dealt with fully and exhaustively by Robert Finlay, and he had been asked by one entitled to express Canadian public feeling and sentiment to say that it had been presented also most satisfactorily in every aspect from the Canadian point of view. This was also his own opinion; it would not, therefore, be necessary for him to go minutely into the negotiations and details of the maps.

The question, it seemed to him, was what does the treaty mean, what is the meaning of articles 3 and 4, and any other articles which may assist in construction of these. These negotiators made a treaty about a country of which they knew nothing, no more of the mountains bordering the Alaska coast than of the mountains of the moon. Capt. Vancouver knew too, only what he could see from ships in the foggiest country in the world. Mountains on his maps were purely conventional signs and were understood as that.

DRAWS A PARALLEL.

We must, therefore, assume that negotiators meant only such mountains as are ordinarily met with in a mountainous country. Neither the term "range" nor "chain" was used in the treaty, a fact of their occurring in the negotiations only shows they were deliberately dropped. He argued that in any event neither necessarily implied continuity, and instanced the military expression "chain of posts," which did not mean posts connected with chains. He argued that inlets broke mountains no more than did rivers. Supposing a range beginning in Labrador and extending down to the Eastern States, would the fact of its crossing the St. Lawrence be held to destroy its character as a range?

THE LISSIERE.

He referred to the terms "coast" and "ocean" in the treaty, which he contended were used interchangedly, and asked would any one seriously urge that the head of Lynn Canal was not the ocean. He argued that article 7 of the treaty of 1825, providing for reciprocal privileges in waters of bays and inlets must be held to refer to the lisiere, as Russia could not have recognized England's claim south of 54.40 over territories, when she had acknowledged the United States' sovereignty over the same territory by a treaty the year before.

THE PORTLAND CHANNEL.

Referring to the southern boundary Mr. Christopher Robinson said there could be no question as to point of commencement nor what channel was the Portland Channel. He said that Captain Vancouver's works were the only authority known to the negotiators. It was impossible they should not have referred to them.

ARGUMENT MUCH APPRECIATED.

He argued generally against much weight being given to negotiations when we find the Russians standing out for certain things and do not find them in the treaty. The inference is plain that they didn't get them.

The tribunal seemed much impressed by Mr. Christopher Robinson's argument which bristled with good points.

Carters Win Action.

Mr. Justice Robidoux, on Saturday, condemned the city to pay $100 and costs to fourteen carters, who have their stands on Craig street, opposite the Place Viger Hotel. The Police Committee established a separate stand near the hotel for the carters employed by Mr. Maxime Lapointe, who was the carter favoured by the hotel authorities, and the constable in charge at the station refused to allow the other carters to solicit fares at the hotel steps. Two of the cases were dismissed, as it was shown that one of the carters had no license for that stand, while the other did not own the vehicle he drove, but was an employe of a master carter.

BEST MARKETS ARE IN THE COLONIES

Chamberlain Writes Letters to a Manufacturer in Nottingham.

AND SOURCE OF FOOD SUPPLY

The Colonial Secretary Points Out Favourable Conditions for An Imperial Preference.

Canadian Associated Press.

London, September 28.—Mr. Chamberlain, writing to a Nottingham manufacturer, says: "The colonies are the best friends and large customers for manufactured goods and the greatest potential source of food supply. They are ready to make profitable arrangements, while the foreigners are gradually closing every trade outlet."

FINLAY VERSUS WATSON.

The legal fraternity have been afforded during the past two weeks, an opportunity to compare their forensic methods with those of the Americans. Attorney-General Finlay's style is one of cultured, dignified, incisiveness, while Mr. David T. Watson's style is vigorous, but lacks dignity, and is rather of a free and easy style. He has the habit of pausing as if waiting to see if the Commissioners had caught on to his point.

NEW WHARF MAY BE BUILT AT LONGUE POINTE.

The Harbour Board has in project a wharf at the lower end of the harbour, which, if constructed, will be known as the Longue Pointe wharf.

The Locomotive and Machinery Company, of Montreal, wrote the Board stating that they would very much like to have this wharf constructed. The Chief Engineer had prepared plans for a low level wharf, which, later on, might be brought up to the high level. The wharf, in question, he figured, should be four hundred feet long, and should have a depth about it of thirty-one feet at low level so as to always ensure sufficient water for ocean-going vessels. A wharf so constructed would cost $91,000.

The secretary of the Board had ascertained that the Locomotive and Machinery Company of Montreal had between 30,000 and 32,000 tons of freight landed in port each year, and out of this amount two-thirds came in by water. The secretary stated that this would ensure a revenue of from $1,200 to $1,500.

Mr. Doran was of the opinion that it was time to begin making an arrangement whereby the company for whom an expenditure of this sort was made to guarantee the interest on the outlay.

Mr. Bickerdike was not at all sure but that the Government should build this wharf, and it was finally resolved to make a visit to the site before any action was taken.

Claims $5000 Damages.

B. Proulx, longshoreman, has taken, through his attorneys, Messrs. Taillon, Bonin and Morin, an action for $5,000 against John Lee & Sons et al, owners of the steamship Manchester Engineer. Fatal Railway Accident.

Louis Charbonneau, 23 years of age, jumped from a moving train at St. Henri on Saturday night. He missed his footing and fell under the wheels. He was so badly injured that he died as the ambulance reached the Notre Dame Hospital. An inquest was held to-day, and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

A Lower Wheat Market.

Chicago, September 28.—Wheat was lower. December sold at 76⅝c to 77¼c, and May at 78 to 78¾c, compared with 77½ and 78¾c, respectively, on Saturday. Heavy Indian and Russian shipments induced re-selling of grain at Liverpool. Nearly everything in the way of news and circumstances was against the price. The large world's shipments, the big increase in the amount afloat, and the fact that Duluth has received 650 cars of wheat in two days, and the demand for cash up there is quite small. Predictions are for heavier receipts at both Minneapolis and Duluth. It is estimated by Van Dusen Harrington that the crop of the three spring wheat States will be 202,000,000 bushels, which is 55,000,000 greater than estimated by the editor of the Commercial West. Trade in wheat was dull and mainly on north-western and south-western account outside of the seaboard and local trade.

STEEL STOCKS ARE LEADERS

Wealthy Men Forced to Liquidate While Professional Bears Take Advantage of Conditions.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star in Wall Street.

New York, September 28.—The stock market opened to-day with great demoralization following the sharp declines in the London market where British Consols touched 88, a new low record for a generation, amid heavy liquidation by speculative interests at that centre. A heavy block of stocks came out at the start in the local market, 4,000 shares of United States Steel preferred being thrown over at 60 5-8 to 61 compared with 61 3-8, Saturday's closing. Steel common, which closed at 16 1-8 on Saturday opened at 15 5-8, while the bonds were also considerably lower.

Under pressure of the steel group, which carried them down to new low records, everything on the list melted away, bottom figures for the year being reached in many stocks.

There was little news outside of the labour situation to cause weakness in stocks, but the fact was recognized that some causes were in operation which have prevailed for some time since front, namely forced liquidation by formerly wealthy men who had engaged in promoting and syndicate schemes on too large a scale and who because they were using borrowed capital were compelled by money lenders to lighten their ballast. The names of well known individuals were freely mentioned in Wall Street, as among the chief sellers of Steel issues, Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania, Metropolitan, Street Railway, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Norfolk and Western, Coalers and Grangers, which showed the greatest weakness to-day.

Some of the low prices reached during the morning, many of which are low records, were the following: — United States Steel Common, 15; United States Steel preferred, 59 5-8; Baltimore & Ohio, 72 1-8; Pennsylvania, 118; Union Pacific, 67 5-8; St. Paul, 135 1-4; Metropolitan Street Railway, 100; Brooklyn Rapid Transit, 30 1-4; Missouri Pacific, 86; Norfolk and Western, 55 3-4; Reading Common, 43 1-8; Atchison Common, 60 1-8; Sugar Refining, 108 1-2.

Among the sharpest losses were 4 1-4 points in Metropolitan, 1 1-2 in Union Pacific, 2 in St. Paul, 2 1-8 in Sugar, and 1 7-8 in Baltimore and Ohio, and 1 3-4 in Steel preferred. Some specialties showed even greater losses.

On the curb, Northern Securities declined to 83 3-4, the lowest on record. Westinghouse Electric lost 12 points on a sale of 100 shares. Interborough Rapid Transit broke 6 points to 81. Liquidation looked for a few minutes to be almost uncontrollable, but short covering checked the decline, and rallies followed that were in some instances fairly well held. During the first hour more than 3,000 shares were traded in.

Canadian Pacific dropped to 118 3-4, sales to 1 p.m., 4,000 shares.

Buying orders appeared again in sufficient volume to turn the list temporarily upwards, and about a dozen or so of the speculative favourites rallied a point. Along toward 2 o'clock the market weakened again and the recoveries were pretty generally lost. Penna. fell to 116⅝, the low point of the year.

Kansas and Texas pref. and Consolidated Gas yielded 2½ and 3, respectively.

THE AFTERNOON MARKET.

A rally in Wall Street soon after the opening of the afternoon board stimulated trading to some extent, and the professional element was in evidence, some covering of morning short trades being done, while others bought in anticipation of an upward turn after the recent severe depression.

The result was a moderate improvement in prices, Twin City being the most active feature, on a rally of a point to 85¾ from the forenoon low level. During the time the local market was closed at noon Canadian Pacific declined to 118, but in this market the price which was 118¼ in the morning rallied to 119 in sympathy with a stronger feeling in Wall Street in that stock.

NEW YORK STOCK

Street Gossip and Stock Exchange Echoes.

Star Office, Monday, September 28.

The present unsettled conditions in the stock markets is attracting considerable attention abroad, owing to the somewhat similar state of affairs in England. A London cable states that it is agreed on all hands in that market that a real similarity exists between the disturbed financial position in the United States and in England in that each is in the nature of "a rich man's crisis." The crux of the trouble in London is that literally hundreds of millions of consols and other new securities have gone into the hands, not of the investing public, but of financiers, who are compelled to borrow money to carry such holdings at a ruinous rate of interest—far above the yield on the securities held. Naturally, the position on both sides of the Atlantic has been much aggravated by public distrust, engendered by the discreditable stock-jobbing manipulations of the past few years, and by the enormous over-capitalization of new companies. Last week, the extreme depression of consols resulted immediately from still another cause, namely, the liquidation of three separate accounts for deceased capitalists. This movement caused the forced sale of no less than three-quarters of a million sterling in consols, in addition to which huge blocks of mining shares were sold out. It was also inevitable that the disturbances in New York should react on London, and vice versa.

STOCK LIQUIDATION PRICES GO LOWER

Wall St. Depression and Professional Bear Operations Responsible.

PUBLIC IS AGAIN INVOLVED

Margins Again Being Demanded to Protect Holdings—Failure to Do So Caused Selling.

The correspondents of the Montreal Star in Wall Street and on the Chicago Board of Trade reports that stocks were heavy, while wheat was steady. In the local market stocks were heavy. Sales in the New York Stock Exchange Saturday were 346,790 shares.

The stock market was extremely weak to-day and a number of fresh low price levels for the year were created. There were two principal contributory causes for the unfortunate condition of the market. In the first place Wall Street was again badly depressed following similar conditions for some days past. Some stocks were directly affected by the declines in the larger market while in the cases of others professional operations on the bear side, which have been the vogue for some time, helped to depress other stocks not directly amenable to outside influences directly speaking.

The weakness which has thus been in evidence for some time has at last involved a portion of the public which has played no part in the market operations for some time. The people who bought stocks weeks or months ago at what was thought bargain levels now find themselves in a position of being called for additional margins. In an event of that kind there are always some who are not able to respond and to-day witnessed the first liquidation of any account in that connection that the market has had to contend with for several weeks.

The market has had so many experiences of that sort this year that it is now looked upon as quite a common thing. A new class of customers, who commenced to buy stocks where others left off upon the occasion of some previous slumps, are now being treated to the experience of traders who now look at the market from a disinterested standpoint and can view slumps with complacency. The pit falls of trading on margins are again being forcibly demonstrated and at the same time the public is enabled to watch stock prices descend to a level that was hardly thought possible a few months ago.

On account of the conditions noted above the trading was more active than has been the case for some time and the most active features were Twin City and Dominion Coal, the former stock being a strikingly weak feature. Canadian Pacific was also surprisingly weak. Twin City opened at 87 3-4 compared with 89 in this market at the close of last week. Throughout the forenoon session the price declined steadily until 87 3-4 was touched. The trading in Canadian Pacific was lighter, but the price declined from 119 at the opening to 118 1-4 compared with 120 last week.

There was what was regarded by some as support in Dominion Coal. The dealings opened at 71 and 60 was touched during the forenoon, but there was a recovery of a point to 70. Although the balance of the market was weak the declines were not so striking. Nova Scotia Steel was taken at 80 compared with 84 last week and Montreal Street sold at 233 compared with 235, the final figures last week. Both these stocks are accustomed to wide fluctuations.

Toronto Rails declined 1 point to 94, Richelieu one to 74, while Montreal Power was fractionally easier at 74 5-8 to 74 3-4. Detroit United created a new low level for the year at 63 1-4, but closed better at noon at 64. Toledo was steady at 19 1-2 to 20, but Dominion Iron figured among the weak lot, selling off from 11 to 10 1-4, compared with 11 1-2 at the close last week. Dominion Iron bonds were down three points to 63.

Last week's liquidation movement was resumed at the opening of to-day's New York Stock Market. Extreme weakness was shown by Steel securities, all of which went to new low records. The traction shares also showed pronounced heaviness, and a number of the higher class railway shares made declines of one point and over. Efforts to rally the market soon after the opening and at other times during the early session proved unsuccessful.

Opening prices broke sharply from Saturday's level, a gain of 1-8 in Union Pacific being the solitary exception. Louisville and Nashville dropped 3 1-2 and then rallied 1 1-2. There were running sales of 4,000 shares of United States Steel preferred at 60 5-8 to 61, compared with 61 3-8 Saturday, and the common stock and second mortgage bonds opened at new low level records, the former at 15 5-8 and the latter at 69 1-2. United States Steel subsequently sold down to 15 3-8, and the preferred to 60 1-8, a new low record. The market continued feverish and unsettled.

In New York at noon — Money on call firmer at 3; prime mercantile paper, 6 to 6 1-2.

Declines extended into the second hour, carrying the declines to 2 to 2 1-2 for Atchison, St. Paul, Mop., B. and O., Delaware and Hudson, Rock Island preferred, Manhatton, Sugar and some others. The liquidation seemed to have spent its force then, and a rally of a point followed in those stocks which had suffered most Prices gave way again before noon, when Amalgamated dropped 2 1-4, United States Steel preferred touched 59 1-2, and the bonds 6 7-8.

Messrs. L. J. Forget and Co.'s London cable to-day quoted: Grand Trunk first, 111 1-4 ;second, 99 1-4; third, 49 3-4; Canadian Pacific, 123; Hudson Bay, 35 1-2.

London copper prices supplied by J. S. Bache & Co., New York, are as follows: London copper, spot, £54 15s; decline, 5s; futures, £54 17s 6d; decline 2s 6d.

Messrs. J. S. Bache and Co., New York send the following advices to their Montreal manager, Mr. C. D. Monk:

Americans in London, heavy, with steels specially weak. 3 roads for 3rd week September average gross increase 8.38. Earnings for August, gross increase, $794,755, and net increase $224,940. Less demand for stocks in loan crowd. Mobile & Ohio annual report show 7.7 p.c. earned on stock. 16 banks reported less than 25 p.c. reserve in Saturday's statement, against 25 preceding week. Consols in London make new low record at 87 15-16, decline 1-4.

The New York market this morning has been very weak and at times almost demoralized, under the influence of continued heavy liquidation of an urgent character supplemented by bearish pressure. There was good support in places which checked the tendency toward panic, but it was on a scale down and did nothing more than a steadying influence as the successive orders were reached. The heaviest pressure was probably in the Tractions and Steel issues all of the rather reaching new low records on large transactions. The heaviest selling was for out of town houses notably Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago, where many weak accounts are supposed to be in process of liquidation. After the first hour there was a slight rally due to short covering, but there was no vim to the buying and the general feeling is apprehensive that more liquidation is to come. The Boston market has been very weak to-day. The trading has been very lively and at times there has been somewhat of a panicky feeling in the board. Dominion Coal sold 70 1-2 and 69. Dominion Iron held steady at 10 1-2.

F. J. Penfold and Co. received the following advices over their private wire from New York:

Liquidation was serious in the first hour although the market did not get out of hand. It was receiving support in places, but mostly on a scale down. It was recognized that at least one account of some consequence was being liquidated and possibly more. Floor traders gave little support by covering shorts on breaks. The heaviest liquidation came from Philadelphia. It was understood an interest there had been obliged to let go a heavy line of stocks including tractions, B. and O. and probably Louisville. Various rumours were current to account for the weakness in B. and O. The most circumstantial was one ascribed selling to an interest formerly associated with the property although this was denied by people often well informed.

Among the forenoon sales in Toronto were: C. P. R., 1330 at 118 1-2 to 119 1-4; Twin City, 695 at 88 to 83 1-2; Dominion Coal, 245 at 70; Nova Scotia Steel, 50 at 80.

Laidlaw & Co., New York, send their Montreal manager, Mr. Louis S. Caldwell, the following advices:

The market is active and news considerations form no factor. Prices are governed entirely by the necessity of liquidation. This necessity seems to be very great, and it is astonishing that Wall Street preserves an unbroken front in the face of it. Railroad bonds are weak, and the only demand for stocks seems to come from the covering operations of professional operators. Railroad earnings are excellent. Illinois shows in its annual report an increase of nearly $700,000, with an increased surplus. B. & O. reports enormous gross earnings. In the main the operations on the board are carried on quietly. There is no indication of any panicky state of feeling, although at one time this morning it looked as if the liquidation movement had almost gotten beyond control, but the market received support and the covering of short stock put out last week imparted a firmer tone. This, however, was quickly followed by renewed pressure to sell.

Canadian Trade and Failures.

Despatches to Dun's Review from the Dominion testify to the continued activity of trade, with generally encouraging crop results, and payments reasonably prompt. Fall trade is satisfactory at Halifax, crops are large and of good quality, and business prospects encouraging. Produce is beginning to move freely, and a full harvest is expected. Groceries, provisions and millinery are in fair demand at St. John, but dry goods and shoes are rather quiet. Harvesting is about finished, and grain crops are large throughout the province. Wholesale trade is satisfactory at Quebec, while shops have about concluded fall deliveries, and the exports of dairy products are active at high prices. Quebec reports trade satisfactory, merchandise moving freely, and collections prompt. Cool weather has developed a brisk trade in fall lines at Hamilton, and jobbers report trade and collections up to expectations. Iron and other industries are employed up to full capacity, while many are extending facilities. Toronto reports liberal sale of groceries, hardware, metals and leather, while cured meats are scarce and in good demand, and the movement of grain is increasing. Trade conditions at Winnipeg are unchanged.

R. G. Dun and Co. report liabilities of commercial failures for September to date $6,079,668, against $7,430,736 last year. Failures this week in the United States number 222, against 219 last week, 172 the preceding week, and 207 the corresponding week last year, and in Canada 19, against 19 last week, 19 the preceding week, and 32 last year. Of failures this week in the United States 80 were in the East, 67 South, 66 West, and 19 in the Pacific States, and 86 report liabilities of $5,000 or more.

Severe Storm at Boston.

Boston, September 28.—One of the most severe electrical storms of the year prevailed in this section for several hours last night; one fatality and several minor casualities were reported. Michael J. Tully, of Dedham, was killed by a bolt of lightning which entered his home at 463 Washington street. The Masonic building in East Boston was struck and several hundred dollars' damage done to the building.

EASIER TONE TO THE CHEESE MARKETS.

Prices Show a Decline Both in the Country and Here—Outlook is Uncertain.

BUTTER.—The market holds very firm and high prices were paid in the country last Saturday. The general idea is that finest salted creamery is worth about 21c to 21½c here; where higher than that price is asked buyers are not to be found.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 750 packages.

CHEESE.—The market showed considerable easiness to-day, and the reports from Saturday's country boards all recorded declines from previous high prices. At the wharf this morning some thousands of boxes of Quebec made cheese were offered. It was expected at a late hour that the range would be from 11 3-8 to 11⅝c, the former ruling.

The Liverpool public cable quoted white cheese is 6d up at 55s 6d, and coloured is up at 56s 6d.

On this market the idea seems to be about 11¾c for eastern and 12 to 12¼c for western.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 16,490 boxes.

EGGS—The market was very firm again to-day, and while prices showed no change, many merchants were trying to buy at lower figures. One large merchant reported a sale of a round lot at 16½c, and two sales at 16¾c. He expressed his willingness to clean out all the stock he had at the latter figure. Other merchants quoted as high as 17c, but this figure appears rather high for round lots. Candied stock sells as high at 17½c, and select 20 to 20½c. Some cold storage number twos have been turned over at 14c, and one sale of pickled was made at 16½c, to sell in case lots at 17c. There is a good demand from England for fine stock at firm prices.

Receipts reported on the Board of Trade this morning amounted to 370 cases.

POTATOES.—Demand is active for fine stock, and prices hold pretty steady. Quotations show considerable variation, but one large firm stated this morning that the right price for fine stock was 60c a bag of 90 pounds, in store, in a jobbing way. The same firm was offering 50c to farmers.

BEANS—Offerings are very limited, the new crop not yet being on the market. Car lots of primes are quoted at $1.75 a bushel on track, jobbing lots being $1.80 to $1.85.

MAPLE PRODUCT.—Business in maple product was quiet, and the market is without any important change. We quote: Syrup, in large tins, 70 to 75c; in small tins, 55 to 65c; in wood, 6 to 6½c per lb. Pure sugar, 8 to 8½c per lb.

HONEY.—The tone of the market for honey was steady, but business is quiet. We quote: White clover, in comb, 12 to 13c; white strained, in 60 to 70-lb. tins, 9 to 9½c; buckwheat, 7 to 7½c.

POTASH.—Business in potash was slow owing to the small offerings. First sorts, $5.85 to $5.90; seconds, $5.40 to $5.50, and pearls, $6.70 to $7.

LOWER PRICES PAID ON CHEESE BOARDS.

Cowansville, Que., September 28.—At the weekly meeting of the Eastern Townships Dairymen's Association here Saturday, 34 factories offered 1,340 boxes cheese; twenty-two creameries offered 1,339 boxes butter. D. A. McPherson and Co. bought 399 boxes cheese for 11¾c; Hodgson Bros., 168 boxes for 11¾c, 40 for 11 11-16c, and 40 boxes for 11¾c; A. A. Brice, 208 boxes for 11¾c; A. A. Ayer and Co., 182 boxes for 11¾c, and 29 boxes for 11¾c; unsold, 268 boxes. Hugh Allan bought 248 boxes butter for 21½c; A. J. Brice, 405 boxes for 22c, and 493 boxes for 21¾c; Jas. Dairymple, 88 boxes for 21½c; unsold, 106 boxes.

Cornwall, Ont., September 28. — The slump in the price of cheese caused quite a deadlock on the Cornwall board Saturday afternoon, when 1,891 boxes were offered, 1,112 white, 835 coloured, and 44 American. The salesmen wanted 12c, but most of the buyers would not go better than 11¾c, although some of them went ⅛c better for coloured. The board finally cleared, except 80 boxes, at these figures, most of the coloured going at 11⅞c. J. A. McRae secured 591 for Hodgson Bros.; J. A. Welsh, 483 for James Alexander; A. Ingram, 400 for Ayer Company, Ltd.; N. Pitt, 414 for Weller and Riley; T. Keenan, 40 for A. W. Grant and N. Fraser, 24 for T. S. Williamson. In the corresponding week last year, 1,786 sold at 10½c for white, and 10⅝c for coloured.

St. Hyacinthe, September 28.—Offerings of cheese here were 3,188 boxes Saturday. Buyers bid 11 3-8c, but no sales were made on the board. A few sold after at a fraction more, but the most of the cheese will be shipped in. There was 200 butter offered,

CORRESPONDENCE RE AUDIT DEADLOCK

Fielding-McDougall Letters Laid on the Table of the House.

A LENGTHY CONTROVERSY

The Difficulty First Arose Through Sir William Mulock's Department.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, September 28.—The correspondence between the Auditor-General and the Minister of Finance and other ministers, has been laid on the table of the House of Commons, in response to the request of Mr. R. L. Borden. The blue book commences with an extract from the Commissioners' report regarding the Martineau defalcations, which is followed by the minute of the Treasury Board under date of June 13, 1903, directing that the banks send the cheques paid out to the Finance Department in place of to the department issuing them.

In the correspondence which follows, it appears that the difficulty under this regulation arose through the Postmaster-General's department. Sir William Mulock wrote to Mr. Fielding that the order was not being carried out, and Mr. Fielding brought the matter to the attention of the Auditor-General, who wrote to Mr. Courtney, deputy minister of finance, stating his objection to the Treasury Board order on the ground that it clashed with the Act under which he worked, which, he argued, necessitated the sending of the cheques to the separate departments. Mr. Courtney, in reply, suggested that outside legal opinion be consulted.

Mr. McDougall consulted F. H. Chrysler, K.C., Hon. F. R. Latchford, K.C., both of whom supported his contention. The Acting Deputy Minister of Justice rendered an opinion to the Treasury Board, meantime, upholding the Treasury order, without deciding whether the separate departments should not also see the cheques. This was on July 15, and on August 26 Mr. McDougall directed the banks to send duplicates of their statements to the Finance Department and to the department issuing them, which order does not appear to have been carried out.

On September 2 there was still trouble, and Mr. McDougall wrote Mr. Fielding mentioning an amended minute of the Treasury Board, which directed that, after the Finance Department had finished its audit, the cheques be sent to the Auditor-General via the departments issuing them. Mr. McDougall states that this has been interpreted to mean that the departments were merely messengers, whereas he wanted the departments to check the statements, and he asked that the cheques be sent to him and a duplicate statement to the departments. Mr. Fielding replied that he could not allow the cheques to be sent to the departments, but would send them to the Auditor-General to be returned to the Finance Department.

This was not satisfactory, and was followed on September 8 by an opinion by Mr. E. L. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice, who gave it as his opinion that the bank statements might be first audited by the Finance Department, and then by the department issuing and then sent to the Auditor-General.

The Auditor-General on September 10 wrote to Mr. Fielding suggesting that Martineau defalcations could not have occurred had there been a record kept of cheques paid, and that such procedure would provide sufficient protection. To this Mr. Fielding replied that he understood Mr. McDougall's objection was legal and stating that, if it was not, the Treasury Board should be the judge. The correspondence closes with a letter from Mr. McDougall, dated September 11, in which he declines to admit that the Treasury Board is the judge of audit, and states that he considered the first minute of the Treasury Board illegal, because it shut out the issuing departments from auditing the bank statements, an objection which was obviated by the amended minute.

LABOUR MEN WAIT ON THE PREMIER.

Present a Memorial in Which the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is Criticized.

Ottawa, Ont., September 28.—A deputation representing the Dominion Trades Congress waited on Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day, but the interview was interfered with somewhat by the demands made on the Premier in the House. When the discussion had got nicely started Sir Wilfrid was called to the House and Sir William Mulock took his place. He was not long there until the Premier sent for him, and the deputation adjourned until one o'clock. The deputation presented resolutions passed at the congress held recently at Brockville dissenting from the alleged view of the Manufacturers' Association that men prominent in the labour movement should not be appointed to positions in the Labour Department. They also asked that the department be not used by the Manufacturers' Association as a "Receiving agency to overstock the industrial market of Canada."

The general tenor of the memorial was an attack on the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which was accused of being "in no wise lacking in cool and arrogant assumption." The deputation was composed of A. W. Puttee, M.P., Edgar Empey, Ottawa; P. M. Draper, secretary of the Congress, and Harvey Hall, Toronto.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Hall severely criticized the constitution of the Senate. He pointed out that the reform of the Senate promised years ago had not taken place, and submitted that the appointment of millionaires to that body was not in the best interests of Canada, as they always voted in the interests of capital.

DEFINITE DENIAL FROM THE "SOO."

Text of Message Received by Mr. Lewis—A Receiver Appointed.

(see also page twelve.)

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., September 28.—D. D. Lewis, Superintendent of the Steel plant, contradicts the statement that he received a telegram on Saturday afternoon from F. H. Clergue in New York, to the effect that the Consolidated Lake Superior Company had paid off the $5,050,000 mortgage held by Speyer and Co., and that the different industries would be re-opened on October 8. Mr. Lewis says he received no such despatch from Mr. Clergue. What he did receive was the following: "Give Mr. Coyne every assistance in keeping possession of he plants against the representative of the receiver. I believe what my plan will be adopted, and that money will be be forthcoming soon."

The Work of Parliament.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 28.—A Globe's despatch from Ottawa says: The Cabinet held an all day meeting on Saturday, when business for the balance of the session was considered. The Government measures not yet disposed of are few, the Audit Act, which it is intended to proceed with notwithstanding rumours to the contrary, being probably the principal one. The civil service resolution will likely be again taken up to-morrow morning, and the main estimates not yet passed and the third reading of the railway bill are in line for early consideration. The despatch adds that although to prophesy is idle, there is good reason to nope that two weeks more will see the work of the session completed.

DUKE OF RICHMOND DIES AT GORDON CASTLE.

Formerly Occupied Several Cabinet Offices.

London, September 28.—The Duke of Richmond, Lennox and Gordon died on Saturday night, at Gordon Castle, Fochabers, Banffshire, as the result of a chill contracted last Thursday. The Duke had been giving a large house party, and the castle was filled with guests, when the gravity of the seizure was announced.

Charles Henry Gordon Lennox, the sixth Duke of Richmond, was born on February 27th, 1818. He also bears the titles of Earl of March, Baron of Settrington, Duke of Lennox, Earl of Darnley, Baron Methuen, Duke of Gordon, Earl of Kinara, an old French title of Earl D'Aubigny, and is hereditary constable of Inverness Castle. He entered the army in 1839, and was A.D.C. to the Duke of Wellington, 1842-52. He has occupied the positions of president of the Poor Law Board (1859), president of the Board of Trade (1867-8 and 1885), Lord President of Council (1874-80), and Secretary for Scotland and president of the Committee on Education (1885-86). His heir is the Earl of March, who was born on December 27th, 1845, and who is Lord Lieutenant of Elgin since 1902.

TRIUMPH FOR CANADIAN SERVICE.

Dr. Klotz Has Succeeded in Girdling the Globe in An Astronomical Sense.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 28.—A despatch from Banfield, B.C., dated yesterday, says the first girdling of the Globe astronomically was made by Canada on the all Red Line by Prof. Klotz at Brisbane.

Ottawa, September 28.—The achievement of Dr. Otto J. Klotz is a valuable contribution to the astronomical knowledge of the world, especially as it affects navigation. Dr. Klotz, who is chief astronomer of the Interior Department, was directed to undertake this task last winter by the Dominion Government on the recommendation of Hon. Clifford Sifton and left in the spring with one assistant.

The longitude, which is based on Greenwich, had been fixed westward from that point to Vancouver and eastward from Greenwich to Brisbane, but in the Pacific between Vancouver and Brisbane the lines were only placed approximately, and this link Dr. Klotz was assigned to complete. The practical benefits of the work consist in the definite location of the Islands which will be of great service to navigators, as well as a credit to the progress of Canada.

NEW CHURCH FOR MAISONNEUVE.

The Catholics of Maisonneuve met in the hall of the Christian Brothers' Academy, on LaSalle Aveune, last night and discussed the necessity of erecting a new parish church. Rev. Father Dugas gave the reasons necessitating the erection of a new Temple of Worship. The present church, he said was too small and it was impossible to enlarge it to meet the growing needs of the parish.

Attorney Morin explained the legal steps to be taken in such a case.

On the motion of Mayor Bleau, seconded by Alderman Desjardins, the meeting unanimously decided to erect a new church at the cost of about $125,000. Two of the church wardens were charged to obtain the signatures for the petition to present Archbishop Bruchesi, requesting the erection of the new church.

Retreat Closed.

The students of St. Mary's College closed their annual retreat yesterday. At high mass, in the Church of the Gesu, Father P. L. Lalande gave the closing sermon. He pointed out the duties of college life, and exhorted the students to be true to the ideals set before them, and to be ever faithful to their promises of fidelity to God, duty, parents and teachers.

Condition is Worse.

REDMOND ANNOUNCES NATIONALIST POLICY.

London, September 28.—Addressing a demonstration at Newcastle, county Down, yesterday, John Redmond, the Irish leader, said that the Irish Land Bill having been secured, the next session must be devoted to the labourers' question. The political situation to-day was a strange one, he continued, and if Premier Balfour desired to retain office the Irish party would hold the power of life or death in its hands, and would use that power without compunction to forward the interests of the Irish cause.

London, September 28.—Count de la Vaulx and Count d'Outremont descended yesterday in a balloon near Hull, Yorkshire, having journeyed from Paris in 17 3-4 hours. WOOLLEN MILLS NEED MORE PROTECTION.

Peterboro, Ont., September 28—As a result of the depression in the woollen trade, the Auburn woollen mills may possibly close down. On Saturday a part of the mill was shut down, and the hands told they would be sent for when required. The management say that the woollen trade is in a most depressed condition, but as to the future policy of the company, nothing has as yet been determined.

Butchers May All Strike.

Chicago, September 28. — Every packing plant in the United States is threatened with a tie-up by a general strike of butchers and affiliated workmen throughout the country, unless the owners yield to the demands of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America. While the packers are willing to pay the increased wages asked, a hitch in negotiations has arisen over the demand of the packers that the butchers increase their amount of work. Every lodge of butchers in the country has been asked to vote on the demand.

EXPRESS CRASHED INTO FREIGHT TRAIN

Serious Railway Wreck at Ottawa Early Sunday Morning.

FOUR MEN WERE INJURED

The Freight Had No Business on the Track at the Time—Southern Wreck.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, Ont., September 28.—A serious smash up occurred here on Sunday morning, as he result of a collision between the westbound Soo express from Montreal and a freight train near the Ottawa and New York Junction.

Four people were injured, both engines were smashed and three cars were telescoped.

The injured people were all employes of the C.P.R. They were engineer M. J. Doherty, of Ottawa; Express Messenger R. Thompson; Baggage man, Edward King, of Montreal; Brakeman George Gobey, of Hintonburg.

The injuries were not of a serious character except in the case of Baggageman King. None of the passengers were injured. The loss to the company will be abot $50,000. The cars demolished were the express and baggage car. A colonist car was partially telescoped.

The accident occurred at five minutes to one on the C.P.R. short line in the Rideau yard, near Hurdman's Bridge. The Soo Express was in charge of Conductor McIntosh, the engineer being M. J. Doherty and the fireman, J. D. Walsh. It was coming into Ottawa at a good rate of speed. A freight train was proceeding from the Sussex street yard to the Union Depot, by way of Chaudiere Junction. It consisted of an engine, several case cars and some package freight, and was in charge of Conductor Horan, with whom were Engineer John Dolman and Brakeman Major, both of Prescott.

REASON FOR THE ACCIDENT.

The freight train was acting contrary to instructions in being on the main line at the time the Soo express was due.

It was a head on collision. Engine No. 303, which was drawing the Soo train, was badly damaged. The locomotive on the freight was completely smashed. Most of the contents of the baggage and express cars were destroyed.

After the wreck it was found that Baggageman King and Brakeman Thompson had had a miraculous escape. They were lifted up to the ceilings by the force of the collision. It was marvellous that they were not crushed. One had his spine injured and another had his nose broken. It was some thirty minutes before they could be released from their perilous positions, and they were exhausted with pain before they were rescued.

Brakeman Gobey, who was lying down in one of the cars, was seriously shaken and wounded in the head.

Baggageman King was reported last night as doing well. After Thompson's injuries were attended to at the hospital he was able to be removed, and left for Montreal yesterday afternoon. The others will be able to resume work in a day or two.

A BLOCKADE.

As a result of the wreck there was a blockade yesterday, and none of the C. P. R. trains went through the Central Station. They were taken from the Union Station via the Chaudiere Junction, to connect with the Short Line.

General Superintendent Oborne was notified early of the wreck and came up from Montreal on a special, accompanied by other local officials, and on their arrival they superintened the work of clearing the wreck.

The C. P. R. authorities say there was no reason nor excuse for the freight being on the main line on the time of another regular train, for, knowing that the Soo express was due, the freight should have taken a siding. The hands in charge of it, however, had evidently forgotten the approach of the express, and their thoughtlessness, while imperilling a lot of lives, will incidentally cost the company a tidy sum.

The loss to the Canadian Pacific Railway is estimated at about $50,000. The engine, No. 303, attached to the Soo train, was of an expensive type, and while not demolished is badly damaged. The locomotive on the freight was entirely smashed up. Then there were three cars which were almost completely telescoped, and a freight car which was put out of business. In addition to that a lot of express parcels and baggage were destroyed. The company did everything to secure the comfort and convenience of the passengers and saw them on their way to their destination before going ahead with the work of clearing its line.

PLUNGED OVER HIGH EMBANKMENT.

Charlotte, N. C., September 28.—While running at a high rate of speed, the southbound Fast Mail on the Southern Railroad jumped from a trestle 75 feet high, half a mile north of Danville, Va., on Sunday. Nine of the crew were killed, and seven injured.

The dead include Engineer J. A. Brodie, of Placerville, Va.; Fireman J. A. Clapp, of Greensboro, N. C.; Conductor J. T. Blair, of Central, N. C.; Mail Clerks J. L. Thompson and 12-year-old son, Washington, D. C.; W. T. Chambers, Midland, Va.; J. Florey, Nokesville, Va.; N. Ardanwright, Mt. Clinton, Va.; Flagman J. S. Moody, of Raleigh, N. C.

The injured are all mail clerks, and are in a serious condition.

The trestle where the accident occurred is five hundred feet long, and is on a sharp curve. Engineer Brodie, a new man on the division, is said to have approached the curve at a high rate of speed. The engine had gone about 70 feet on the trestle when it sprang from the track, carrying with it four mail cars and an express car. The trestle, a wooden structure, also gave way for a space of fifty feet. The derailed engine and cars were plunged into a shallow, rocky stream and reduced to a mass of twisted iron and steel and splintered wood.

The dead men were horribly mutilated.

It seemed miraculous that any one should have escaped. All the matter in the express car was practically destroyed except six crates of canary birds, none of which was hurt.

Unofficial opinions agree in giving only one cause for the wreck—the high speed of the train on the sharp curve.

Fire broke out in the wreckage, but was quickly extinguished. This is the third time the Fast Mail has been wrecked.

BROPHY, OF MONTREAL, WAS EXCLUDED.

Pittsburg, Cleveland, and Buffalo Unionists Revolt Against Park.

Kansas City, September 28.—Peace was patched up between the Buchanan and Parks factions in the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers at their annual convention on Saturday. Then the convention took a formal vote on the motion to reconsider the vote on which Daniel Brophy, a member of local No. 2, and who held a proxy from Scranton, Pa., had been seated. Brophy was unseated by a good majority. As he rose to leave the hall, Samuel Parks advanced toward him with extended hand. Brophy refused to shake hands with the New York walking delegate until the latter apologized for the stinging words directed against Brophy on Thursday. This Parks did fully.

The convention was formally organized, and stopped long enough in their quarrels to listen to the annual address of President Buchanan, which was to have been delivered on Tuesday.

BOLT AGAINST PARKS.

The Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffalo and Wheeling delegates, representing 10,000 men, decided at a meeting Sunday night to withdraw from the International Association of Structural Iron and Bridge Workers, in the event of the continued dominance of Samuel Parks, the New York walking delegate, in the annual convention now being held here. It has been decided to fight it out by again attempting the re-election of Buchanan.

The refusal of the convention to grant a charter to the new union known as the "New York Housesmiths Union," which sent four delegates to this convention, Delegate Parks says, is a closed incident. These four delegates, in a statement issued to the convention, say:

"In refusing a charter to the New York Housesmiths' Union you have virtually endorsed all that is bad and rotten in trade unionism. By your action you have lost to your body the greatest city in the United States. All present refuse to recognize a union which will in the end be the dominant power in the iron trades in New York."

The statement attacks Samuel Parks and continuing, says: "Keep that man in and within three months there will be nothing of No. 2 and the International Union will be down and out as far as New York is concerned. Now we will say that any organization that relies on brute force to maintain its supremacy will end in disorder and disruption."

King Edward is Well.

London, September 28.—A report, published by a news agency in the United States, that Sir Frederick Treves, surgeon-in-ordinary to the King, had been summoned to Balmoral Castle to attend King Edward, and that alarm had been caused thereby is incorrect. Sir Frederick was "not summoned" to Balmoral. He went there on a personal visit to the King. The London papers of Thursday announced the visit to take place Saturday. Throughout the week his Majesty exhibited the best of health, dividing his time between strenuous outdoor life and in sessions with Premier Balfour and others, regarding the position of the new Cabinet. Sir Frederick Treves has retired from the practice of his profession.

Railway Sale Confirmed.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., September 28.—The long fight of the creditors of the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway has ended, and the title of the New York syndicate that purchased the road, confirmed by an act incorporating the Brockville, Westport and Northwestern Railway Company to operate a road from the Thousand Islands to the Upper Lake, with a bridge over the St. Lawrence River at Brockville. Construction and labour creditors of the old company, whose claims amount to about $200,000, will receive 25 per cent. of their original claims, when the unearned subsidy is re-voted and earned by the new company. All actions to set aside the sale are dismissed.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

Listowel, Ont., September 28.—On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Burt, wife of J. C. Burt, was killed in a runaway. Mr. and Mrs. Burt and family had spent the day in the country, and when returning within half a mile of their home, the horses became unmanageable and in jumping from the carriage Mrs. Burt received injuries from which she died half an hour later. The two sons and daughters escaped without injury. Mr. Burt was thrown out of the rig against a telegraph pole and was removed to his home in a critical condition. Mrs. Burt was a daughter of the late W. G. Hay, and sister of Mr. Wellington Hay, mayor of Listowel.

Dedication at Buckingham.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Buckingham, Que., September 28.—The St. Stephen's congregation are now installed in their new church. Archbishop Bond consecrated the new edifice, and was assisted by the rector, Rev. R. F. Overing, and the church wardens, Messrs. Edgar Roy and W. A. Rice. The new structure is built on the site of the original church erected in 1856, which was taken down about ten years ago, the congregation in the meantime worshipping in the chapel at the Bridge. The new edifice is gothic in design and will seat about five hundred people. The church cost $4,500.

May Increase Water Rates.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, September 28. — The Toronto City Council is likely to raise the water rates on account of a large maintenance deficit. The revenue for the last year only amounted to $367,481.02, against an expenditure of $398,098.75, leaving a deficit of $30,617.71. The scheme will be vigorously opposed by some of the aldermen who contend that a sufficient amount is not charged to the fire department for protection.

British Railway Commission.

New York, September 28. — Among the passengers who arrived on Saturday on board the White Star liner Arabic from Liverpool and Queenstown were: Sir David Barbour, Lord Ribblesdale, Geo. Gibb and Sir J. Dickson Poyender, members of the sub-committee of the Royal Commission on London street traffic, who come to the United States to study the American street railway system.

HIGH WIND AT CORNWALL.

Canada Furniture Company's Factory Was Considerably Damaged.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Cornwall, Ont., September 28.—The Cornwall Furniture Company's factory, which was built less than a year ago, was severely damaged by a wind storm which swept over this section of the country yesterday. The factory is a fine three story brick building standing near the G. T. R. station. The hurricane tore off about one quarter of the roof at the southwest corner and the west wall along the top floor was laid flat for a distance of about 70 feet. The sprinkler service for fire protection is fed by a large pipe just under the roof and as this was snapped like a pipestem, the machinery of the whole mill was flooded with water. Quite a lot of furniture was damaged. The broken wall and roof will be rebuilt and at once, and the factory will be running again in a few days.

New Shoes Don't Pinch

If You Use "Foot Elm"

It's a dread with some people getting new shoes. They pinch, draw and hurt the feet for a week or more until they get "broken in." All this suffering may be avoided by shaking a Foot Elm powder in the shoes. It makes them slip on easily, fit perfectly and prevents the "drawing" of the new leather. Besides this, Foot Elm preserves the leather, prevents it hardening and cracking, and prolongs the life of the shoe. You get double wear out of your shoes and comfort every day you wear them by using Foot Elm. Price 25 cents a box of 18 powders, at druggists, or by mail. Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.

The home-warming which introduces your friends to your new home will be one of genuine congratulation if the home-warming system you have installed has an at its heart, and Oxford Radiators dispensing healthful warmth throughout your home.

This boiler has been brought to such a high state of perfection that it utilizes all the heat generated, and the fire chamber is so built that no ashes can lodge around the grate, thus giving a most complete combustion and getting all the heating qualities out of the coal used.

This illustration is of one of the water sections and shows how water is circulated. The water post connecting the sections is cast solid on the section, thus absolutely preventing expansion cracks. Great care is also exercised in making efficient joints between the sections.

PRIEST CAUSED SENSATION.

Told Congregation He Would Employ Detectives to Arrest Expectorators.

Norfolk, Vt., September 28. — Rev. J. J. Doherty, pastor of St. Mary's Church, the largest Catholic Church in Norfolk, created consternation at mass yesterday when he denounced male members of the parish for spitting on the floor of the church.

"I have a pretty fair idea of these men's identity," he said, "but to be doubly sure I will employ a detective to attend service and report expectorators to me. I will cause the arrest of guilty parties."

TOWED INTO PORT.

French Steamer Gallia Breaks Her Crank Axle.

Halifax, N. S., September 28. — The French steamer Gallia, from Marseilles on September 5 via Naples, September 10, and Almeria, September 14, for New York with five first-class and 526 steerage passengers, was towed in here disabled on Saturday night by the Standard Oil Company's oil tank steamer Narragansett, from New York for London. On Thursday night, when 230 miles east of this port, the Gallia's forward crank axle snapped and disabled the cylinder. The Gallia drifted helplessly until the following morning, when the Narragansett answered the distress signals of the Gallia, and took her in tow, reaching this port without further mishap. The Gallia was formerly an Allan steamer. The Narragansett is the largest oil tank steamer afloat. The first-class passengers will be forwarded by rail to their destination. It has not been decided yet whether the steerage passengers will be landed or whether the steamer will repair here or not.

HE DEMANDS

That the Civilized World at Once

ABOLISH ALL MEDICATION,

All Medical Schools, All Medical Hospitals, and All Medical Laws.

Dr. Hercules Sanche, of 261 Fifth Avenue, New York, a native of the Province of Quebec, who has been over fifty years experimenting upon nearly all living things, both animal and vegetable, in all parts of North and Central America and adjacent islands, to learn the fundamental principles and laws of life, has made discoveries which have lately caused him to issue a book of nearly eight hundred pages, entitled "How Man Lives and Is Master of Disease," which is published and sold by the firm of Dr. H. Sanche & Co., of Detroit, Mich., in which he is interested.

In this book, Dr. Sanche sets forth some of the discoveries relating to life in every form, which he has made during his investigation, by the use of which he declares that not only every intelligent adult, but also any bright child ten years old is made the absolute master of disease in any form at any reasonable hour, and may quickly cure any acute disease in a few minutes at its beginning, or in one or a few hours at any stage before destruction of important tissues is effected, without the aid of physicians or of any kind of medication, or of any other means ever employed in the treatment of disease by any pathy, through the spontaneous operation of the simplest means to be applied to the lower extremities of the patients, which he calls artificial organic devices, on the simple conditions of obedience to his simple and short instructions, and of non-interference by medication or any other mode of treatment.

He states that one of these artificial organic devices, called Oxydonor, by its infallible effectiveness in all diseases, in the hands of the intelligent public, has already effected many millions of cures, most of which were impossible by any other means, though in the hands of the most eminent physicians, and that it has thereby found its way to every town and city of every country in the world, and that it has made no less than three millions of human beings absolutely independent of disease, without cost, after a trifling outlay in securing said device, which is capable of maintaining perfect health in many families at the same time for the longest lifetime, with little and almost costless repairs.

He asserts that all humanity may easily, by these simple means, be given complete mastery of disease, and that every human being may thereby be made the most absolute master of disease in himself and all his dependents, and thus become an infallible physician in his household, on the strictest natural principles which he explains, if not hindered by medicators and medical laws and regulations; whereas medical colleges never made one single master of disease; and, therefore, he clamors loudly for the abolishment of medical schools, medication, medical laws and of everything medical by every pathy, for the general good of mankind.

He is an old practitioner of the old school, but he complains bitterly of the bigotry and obstinately willful blindness of the medical world, and as a whole his book is a mercilessly caustic arraignment of the medical world, to which no medical man, nor any one can be indifferent.

This book contains the most extraordinary of extraordinary revelations entirely beyond the scope of any previously known philosophy, and can not fail to enlist the most intense interest of all intellectual persons, whether physicians or laymen, since it treats wholly of matter relative to the fundamental principles of life, equally important to all persons, and since it proposes to make every person master of his own life by his own hand, and to make an infinitely better world for all, in which no one need be the victim of disease, and all may live vigorously to die naturally at the end of a long, useful life, without infirmities on the way.

This book is in every sense the most unique of all books ever written, and it probably deserves the appellation already given it by a prominent man, though it is just now coming out of press, who called it, "A marvellous book by a marvellous man."

COLDSTREAMS PLAY IN ARENA

The Famous British Band Delights Thousands of Montrealers.

A SPLENDID ORGANIZATION

About six thousand people heard the band of the Coldstream Guards in the Arena on Saturday evening. And fully as many left the big auditorium at the close of the concert thoroughly delighted with the magnificent musical treat that the band had given them. There were no notes of disappointment heard. All were pleased with the work of the splendid musical organization they had listened to—one of the finest bands in the British service, if not in the world.

The programme was a diversified one, ranging from the heavy overtures of Wagner and Tschaikowsky to the tuneful compositions of Sullivan, Cowen and Mydleton. There was much of a patriotic character about it, too. And there was also considerable of a humorous type. The arrangement of the programme left nothing to be desired—the band catered to the moods and tastes of all present. The heavy numbers showed the possibilities for orchestral work of a difficult and exacting type, the lighter numbers showed the delicacy with which the component instruments were handled by the performers—each of whom is an artist in his own particular line.

To criticize the band would be out of the question, as it is about as perfect an organization of its kind as one would wish to hear. It is nicely balanced, and no one section predominates over another. Each has a part to fill, and each fills that part in a masterly and thoroughly acceptable manner. The tone of the organization as a whole is round and full—just such as one would expect to find in an English band aiming at following English traditions in the matter of band music. There is an absence of noise and brass about the Coldstreams' organization that is refreshing to those who have heard the din and rattle of other professional aggregations of a like type. The tone evolved by the Guards from their instruments is mellow and pleasing. When all the players have their instruments to their mouths, the effect of the organization as a whole calls to mind a perfectly balanced and exquisitely-voiced organ. One hears the rich foundation tones of the diapasons, the blare of the trombones, the burr of the violones, the high-pitched notes of the piccolos, the crescendo of clarinets and oboes and bassoons and hautboys, the charming tones of a cor Anglais, the sonority of the euphoniums, and the strength of the French horns and cornets. All blend in perfect and delightful harmony—a harmony that must be heard to be fully appreciated.

A GREAT RECEPTION.

At Saturday evening's concert the band was given a fine reception, and right royally did it return the compliment of cheers and applause. The programme in itself was composed of comparatively few numbers, but Bandmaster Rogan was most generous in the matter of responding to encores, and as the demands for the latter were numerous and insistent, the original programme was doubled, if not trebled, in its length, before the closing number of the evening was reached.

The concert opened with the National Anthem, which was followed by "The Maple Leaf," rendered as a compliment to Canada. This was so heartily received that an encore was at once forthcoming, and this time the band struck up the regimental march of the Coldstreams.

On the conclusion of this number both band and audience prepared themselves for Tschaikowsky's famous overture, "Solenelle, 1812." This overture was played in Toronto on the occasion of the band's appearance there two weeks ago and created an immense sensation. It certainly is a masterly composition, grand and sublime in its conception, and its rendition by the band was one of the notable features of Saturday's concert. The circumstances which prompted Tschaikowsky to write the overture are as follows:

In 1812 Napoleon Bonaparte received the first check in his contemplated "conquest of the world." At the head of his hitherto victorious French Army he entered Moscow on the 15th of September. The inhabitants the following day set fire to the city, and the succeeding month saw Russia's ancient capital evacuated by the attacking army, when the great Napoleon commenced the disastrous retreat, the effects of which culminated in his subsequent capture and complete overthrow on the historic plains of Waterloo. In 1880 a church was erected in Moscow to commemorate those stirring events of 1812. Tschaikowsky was inspired to write an apropos "Solemn Overture" for the occasion of its consecration, and he succeeded in his task far more satisfactorily than is usually the case with composers when called upon "to write to order," as it were. Opening with the solemn rhythm of one of the hymns of the Orthodox Church, a sort of instrumental recitative goes on to narrate the story of the occupation. To this succeeds the depiction of the fighting between the two armies, in the "Allegro giusto," the alternating predominance of a distinctly Russian theme and the French "Marseillaise" furnishing one of the most thrilling depictive musical war pictures on record. As the French air is heard more and more faintly, typifying Napoleon's retreat, the opening hymn is again resumed, this time obviously as a hymn of triumphant thanksgiving. The final "allegro" introduces the "joy bells" of the Russian churches, mingled with the strains of the Russian National Anthem, one of the finest national melodies possessed by any country. To Mr. Rogan belongs the credit of first producing this work in English speaking countries.

A FINE PERFORMANCE.

The overture was magificently played throughout, but its finale was the part that impressed the audience most. The peal of the joy-bells and the majestic measures of the Russian National Anthem wrought the audience to a high pitch of excitement and a repetition of that portion of the number was demanded and given. The only fault that could be found with the number was the predominance for a few moments of the joy-bells and drums over the reeds and bars. Owing to this it was with difficulty that one could follow the stirring notes of Russia's national hymn, on which the success and beauty of the finale so much depend.

The second number on the programme was Cowen's "The Better Land," which was rendered as a cornet solo by Corporal E. Hawkins. It was played to the accompaniment of the band with much expression and tenderness, and earned an encore. The latter was Sullivan's ever-popular "Lost Chord." This was rendered in a manner that captivated the house, the concluding verse being especially impressive.

A plantation sketch, "Down by the Swanee River," showed what the band could do in the way of light work. It was one of the taking numbers of the evening, and had to be followed by a couple of encore numbers. These consisted of "The Irish Patrol" and "The Turkish Patrol," two decidely humorous selections.

The fourth item on the programme was Wagner's Grand Fantasia "Die Walkure," a composition that very strikingly reveals the eccentricities and matchless orchestral abilities of the great composer.

Die Walkure (The Valkyrie) is the second of the four music-dramas which together constitute Wagner's greatest work. The Ring of the Nibelungs, which was first performed in its entirety in 1876 at the theatre specially built for that purpose at Bayreuth. The selection played Saturday evening contained most of the chief themes and pieces of the work. It opens with a bold theme of four bars length known as the Sword motive. Next comes a passage of about twenty bars based on the figure called the Valkyrie's Shout, and that belonging more particularly to the Ride of the Valkyries. The glorious Siegfried Motive is now thundered out by the brass instruments, against a triplet accompaniment for wood-wind, etc., and we then reach the concluding movement of the opera, i. e., that of the scene in which Wotan lays his daughter to sleep under a tree, and surrounds her with a huge ring of flames so that none but a hero may be able to reach her. There is one particularly fine combination in this at the place where the restful slumber motive—a sort of lullaby—is heard above, while the broad Siegfried theme is given out below. This leads to a short slow movement opening with the theme identified with the Walsung race, and continued by part of the love music by Siegmund and Sieglinde from Act I. Trumpets and trombones now give out the noble melody sung by Wotan in Act III. when he banishes his disobedient daughter Brunnhilde (the Valkyrie) from the halls of Walhalla. The slow movement which follows begins with the gloomy theme identified with the brutal Hunding, and goes on with the passage in which Brunnhilde announces to Siegmund that he must shortly die and accompany her to Walhalla. The next section consists of the famous ride of the Valkyries, the stormy graudeur of which is allowed to develop itself at considerable length. The music which goes on during this wild and striking scene must ever rank among the greatest things the heart can know.

The Coldstreams' rendering of the "Fantasia" was marked by brilliancy and fervour. The orchestra seemed to have caught the spirit of the composition and an excellent interpretation was the result.

LOHENGRIN HEARD.

As an encore, the Introduction to Act 3 of Lohengrin was given. This was one of the finest numbers of the evening, and, as it was known to most of those present, it proved to be particularly charming.

A characteristic piece, "In a Clock Store" (Orth) met with the general acceptance of those present. It depicted the interior of a clock store, the winding up and ticking of the different clocks, the rattle of the alarm in one of them, the crowing of a cuckoo in another, and the pealing of the cathedral chimes in a third. The selection was most realistic.

The ever-popular "Tarantelle Napolitaine" was given as an encore to this number, and its rippling music was never heard to better advantage in Montreal.

The concluding number was a medley of British patriotic airs, which was excellently played.

Miss Kathleen Howard, the vocal soloist of the evening, met with instant favour. She is the possessor of an exquisite contralto voice, which she knows how to use with fine effect. Her first number was Allitsen's "Song of Thanksgiving," and it served to thoroughly bring out the beauties of her rich and mellow notes. For her splendid work in this number, she was obliged to respond to an encore with an old English favourite, "Drink to me only with thine eyes." This was rendered with such marked tenderness and sympathy that the audience insisted on another song. Miss Howard graciously responded with a plaintive little ballad.

During the evening many occasions for displays of patriotism occurred, of which the audience was not slow in taking advantage. "Rule Britannia" was played twice in response to repeated encores, while "The Maple Leaf" had to be given a second time. "O Canada, terre de nos aieux," "Vive la Canadienne" and "Soldiers of the King" were other numbers that appealed to the patriotism of the audience. At the conclusion of the regular programme, "Rule Britannia" was again repeated, and on this occasion it was sung as well as played. The National Anthem, sung to the accompaniment of the band, brought the concert to a close.

FATHER OF HORATIO ELLIOTT WANTS HIS BOY.

The father of the youthful Ottawa adventurer, Horatio Elliott, arrived in Montreal yesterday to see the Neill family of St. Henri, who sheltered the boy from last Monday. On Friday last he left St. Henri without a word of explanation. When he went to Neill's he said that his father and mother were dead and that there was no one to take care of him. Mr. Elliott went back to Ottawa to-day, after asking the police to hold the boy at any station at which he may appear. Mr. Elliott would be glad if anyone to whom the boy appeals will take him to a police station, so that his parents can be notified.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

A very happy event took place on Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Richardson celebrated their golden wedding at the residence of their daughter, Mrs. J. J. Roberts, on Western ave., Westmount. A goodly company of relatives gathered to do honour to the occasion, including their daughters, Mrs. W. J. Unwin, of Kamloops, and Mrs. W. A. Dean, of Vancouver; also three sons, William S., Ferdinand M., and their wives, and Ernest Beverly Richardson, of Montreal. A very enjoyable evening was spent. The other members of the family, who were unable to attend, are Mrs. J. G. Gordon, of Dakota; Mrs. D. McKenzie, of Vancouver, and Mr. Edwin R. Richardson, of New York. There are eighteen grandchildren, eleven of whom were present. A gratifying feature was the presence of their bridesmaid, Mrs. J. Craick, of Port Hope. The late Mr. A. A. Murphy acted as groomsman.

Mr. Richardson was for many years identified with the Grand Trunk Railway, and resided at Hemmingford.

CZAR'S HAND EVERYWHERE

Europe Will Not Intervene to Prevent Massacres—America Must Use Her Influence.

Mr. Paul Courian, of Constantinople, the senior partner of the firm of Courian, Babayan & Co., 2362 St. Catherine street, has just arrived in Montreal. Mr. Courian being closely acquainted with the Turkish political situation and well informed on the near Eastern question, a reporter of The Star requested him to give some information concerning the present troubles in the realm of the Sultan of Turkey.

Mr. Courian, with fire in his eyes, because he is an Armenian, said: "A political tragedy has been enacted in Turkey for the last eight years, the like of which never before smirched the pages of the world's history.

"Thousands, nay hundreds of thousands, of Christians, old and young, women and children, are being torn to pieces by a ferocious lion.

"Turkey is the arena, and all Europe are spectators, looking cold blooded and almost gloating at the spectacle.

"The present Sultan killed more Christians than Nero and his successors combined. As to the atrocities and fiendish tortures perpetrated by him, they far surpass Nero's cruelties; they are even beyond the imagination of the inhabitants of Hades.

"It is not the Turks' fault, because in their nature they cannot do anything else but rob, rape and ruin and kill. It is Russia who guides every step of the Sultan. One of the high functionaries of the Sultan's court once told me that he fears one finger of the Russian Ambassador in Constantinople more than all the rulers in Europe.

"It is the traditional policy of the Russian Government to foment trouble and keep Turkey occupied with insurrections and rebellions in one or another part of her dominions. The Moscovite intriguers know how to foster troubles by sending secret emissaries and alluring and encouraging the desperate and ignorant Christian subjects of the Sultan to open hostilities, after which Russia represents to the Sultan that his subjects are his children and he can chastise them just as he pleases, and he does it to his heart's content, thus weakening and ruining the Turks and Christians at the same time, so that she may goble the Turkey easier when the proper time comes.

"For this end Russia manages to crush and if possible to annihilate by the hands of this ferocious beast, each race separately at a time, now the Armenians, then the Greeks, then Macedonians. And now she is hard at work to bring a conflict between Turkey and Bulgaria; this she has almed at ever since Lord Beaconsfield and Prince Bismarck snatched Bulgaria from her grasp after the Russo-Turkish war.

RUSSIA WANTS WAR.

"The present rumors of negotiations for settlement are merely a ruse to gain time. The Czar wants Bulgaria and Turkey to fight, and he will make them fight, no matter what the consequent suffering, torture and carnage.

"Russia, that arch intriguer and most cruel and unscrupulous tyrant, has a deep laid plan to cut off all the Christians in Turkey from outside protection and interference, and leave them unaided to the tender mercies of the great assassin, as Mr. Gladstone justly called the Sultan, who is ever satiated with blood, just the kind of an instrument Russia desires to exterminate the Christian population of Turkey, who are infinitely superior in intellect, morals and ability to the Turks, and when no more Christians are left she will come in, in order to put an end to the Turk's atrocities.

"And all Europe stands still and permits this villaneous, most cruel tragedy to go on. Nay, some of the rulers even encourage the monster in his fiendish work. The day when the Sultan ordered the massacre of the Armenians in Constantinople and had distributed from the arsenals to the Turkish mob clubs with nailed tops to kill the unoffensive Christians indiscriminately, the German Ambassador presented him with the autograph portrait of the Kaiser, by His Majesty's order. France and Austria are doing simply what the Czar bids them to.

"Who will save these poor Christians who have been the bulwarks of the faith against the heathen for so many centuries from utter annihilation and still worse, from the unheard of tortures at the hands of the unspeakable Turk? I raise my voice with Mr. Stead and cry that it is the new world, America, Canada and the United States, who could and should assist.

Row at Hornerite Meeting.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Kingston, Ont., September 28. — There was a sensational time at a Hornerite campmeeting on Nelson street last night, and a Police Court case may result. When a ten-year-old girl had worked herself into a frenzy of religious feeling, some spectators demanded that Mr. Horner take her away. He refused, whereon a rush was made by a dozen men for the platform. One of the men picked up the child and carried her outside, while the others kept the preachers from interfering. Those who interfered say they had no intention of breaking up the meeting, and desisted as soon as they secured the little girl.

Confessed to Murder.

Jasper, Indiana, September 28. — Mrs. Andrews, formerly Miss Nellie Conrad made a confession just before her death which clears up a mysterious tragedy that in 1885 caused much excitement. Stanford Freeman, a young farmer of this county, was called to his gate by two men and two women the night before he was to be married, and after a scuffle was found by his intended bride fatally wounded. His slayers escaped. Mrs. Andrews said yesterday that she was one of the party which visited Freeman, that one of the men who was present is dead and the other in the Tennessee State prison. The woman who accompanied them, she said, and who disapeared several years ago, was murdered because of fear lest she would betray the murderers. Mrs. Andrews said that she was in love with Freeman and one of the men was in love with Freeman's intended wife, and when they went to the gate that night a demand was made that Freeman marry her at once. When he refused he was fatally stabbed and the four had kept the secret so well that no suspicion was aroused.

For Elderly People.

The difficult question of what to give elderly people is one that is frequently mentioned. We would suggest a pair of gold spectacles of sufficient weight and rigidity to retain their shape for years. These cost from $6 to $10. Lenses to suit the eyes will be fitted without further charge at any convenient time.

FATHER SHEA PLEADS FOR CHILDREN OF ST. ANTHONY'S.

At St. Anthony's Church yesterday, the Rev. Father Shea delivered a forcible and interesting instruction on "The Child." He spoke of the tender and intimate relationship existing between the parent and child and likened it to that which existed between the Creator and the creature, for he said the parent brings forth the child to the world, which is dependent upon him for support and development. He dwelt upon the vastness of the parents' obligations and their great responsibilities.

He proclaimed the child's right to a sound training for his future career. He said, "when we see the care which farmers and other owners of animals lavish on their horses and pet animals, it is painful to witness the extraordinary indifference and unnatural ease with which parents treat the matter of the child's education. Children are often times flung into any school, and no regard or serious attention on the part of the parent is ever paid to the character and fitness of the teacher or the child's associates. There are some parents who neglect their duty so frightfully, that it would seem that if they had been commanded by God under pain of eternal damnation to bring up their children for the devil, they could not have done more than they are doing now. Such parents as these are unnatural and many of them have paid dearly for the information imparted to the children, not only by fabulous sums of money, but with their children's very character and souls."

Referring to St. Anthony's parish, he said that it was 16 to 20 years old, that it had grown from 400 to 1100 families, that within its limits there were influential and wealthy business men who were large property holders and whose contribution of taxes was by no means small. Despite all these things there was no parochial school for the children. In speaking of St. Agnes Academy, in charge of the Ladies of Notre Dame, he said, it was a delapidated building that had been condemned by the City Inspector a year ago, and that over one hundred children had to be turned from its doors this year for want of room.

He also spoke of the injustice done to the parish by the Quebec Government, in giving a portion of its territory to St. Cunegonde for school purposes. He said that he had been requested to ask all interested in the parish and schools to sign a petition protesting against the aforesaid injustice and claiming the right of a school from the Commissioners for the children of St. Anthony's.

The petition was signed by fourteen hundred people and will be presented to the Commissioners in the near future.

COURT OF REVIEW DELIVERS IMPORTANT JUDGMENT.

The Court of Review on Saturday delivered an important judgment, establishing the right of a chartered accountant to collect accounts outstanding and to charge for his services in that connection. The action was taken against Mr. John M. M. Duff, accountant, by the Bar of Montreal. Mr. Duff sought to collect the accounts of the late Dr. A. E. Grafton, and, in sending out these accounts, charged $1.50 for his work in that connection. The Bar of Montreal prosecuted on the ground that he had violated the section which prevents outsiders usurping the rights of lawyers. The section reads as follows:

"3562A. Whoever, without holding a diploma as advocate, solicitor, attorney and barrister under the laws of Lower Canada or of this province:

(a) Practices as an advocate, or

(b) Usurps the functions of the profession, or

(c) Does or claims to do any act connected therewith, or

(d) Assumes the title of advocate, or

(e) Advertises himself as such, or

(f) Acts in such manner as to lead to the belief that he is authorized to fulfill the office of or to act as an advocate, shall be liable to a fine of not less than twenty-five and not more than sixty dollars.

The case was taken in the Circuit Court, which maintained the action. In the Court of Review, the judgment of the lower court was reversed, and the court held that an accountant has a right to collect, provided he does not deceive the debtor by pretending to be a lawyer.

To Denounce Tarte.

The Liberals, thoroughly alarmed over the great receptions given to Mr. Tarte at Berthier, St. Anselme, Lachevrotiere, Laprairie, and Joliette, have decided to do something to take the gilding off the victories of the ex-Minister of Public Works.

They are organizing a meeting of the electors of Mr. Tarte's own constituency. That they are having some difficulty in organizing the gathering is shown by the fact that on Saturday they were offering as high as fifty dollars for speakers to attend the meeting.

If report be true, even at that price they succeeded only in getting second-class speakers.

Tarte doesn't seem to care a fig. He says they are playing his game. "They can hire speakers and they can hire people to attend the meeting, too, if they like. The public place their own value on such kindergarten business." These are the sentiments of the ex-Master of the Administration.

MONEY NOT SECURED TO PAY SPEYER LOAN

Vice-President Sanborn, of Philadelpeia, Denies the Report.

SITUATION AT THE "SOO"

Arrivals From the Woods are Not Inclined to Make Any Disturbance.

MONEY IS NOT SECURED.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Philadelphia, September 28.— Regarding the report that Francis H. Clergue had raised the $5,050,000 necessary to pay the Speyer claim on the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, Vice-President Sanborn said:

"I have heard nothing of this. I know it was reported that Mr. Clergue had wired to the Soo that a settlement would be made and that the plants should be ready to go into operation on October 8, but I do not believe it. Mr. Clergue would have no authority to send such a statement or to suggest that the plants be made ready. Such a statement could only come from the Board of Directors."

Special to The Montreal Star.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., September 28.— James Bicknell, who came here from Toronto, representing the Speyer Syndicate, has failed utterly in his efforts to take possession of the Consolidated Works under the mortgage, and William Coyne and staff will remain in charge, at least until the arrival of B. F. Fackenthall, who has been appointed receiver, which will not be before Wednesday or Thursday at the earliest.

Mr. Coyne anticipated the coming of Bicknell and gave explicit instructions to his assistants to keep the latter or any other agents of Speyer's & Co., from getting control, even to the extent of using force to put them out of the offices should they attempt to enter. Mr. Coyne granted Bicknell an audience and the conference lasted all afternoon, during which Mr. Bicknell used every means in his power to induce Mr. Coyne to hand over the keys, but without avail.

F. H. Clergue telegraphed the heads of the departments to aid Mr. Coyne in keeping the Speyer representatives from getting control, as he expected his programme would soon be adopted.

Mr. Bicknell will await the arrival of Receiver Fakenthall, when they will probably again attempt to take possession. If unsuccessful they will have to await the process of litigation.

The Consolidated Company is now providing food and lodging for all the employes coming in from the woods and mines. Each man upon his arrival is given a ticket, good for two meals and one night's lodging in the local hotels and boarding houses.

There is thus no need of any going hungry before obtaining work, which can be secured for the asking.

Employment agents are hiring men and sending them out in every direction. They are leaving town now as fast as others are arriving, and it is this fact which shows the industrial activity there is in other parts of the country, and that is relieving the townspeople of the fear that there may be disturbances of the peace. Most of the men are leaving their time checks with lawyers and others, for collection, but some are selling them for a proportion of their face value.

The responsibility and strain upon Acting Manager Coyne during the past week has been very heavy, but he is bearing it well. Sunday passed off very quietly, the movement of men being particularly noticeable only at the docks and depots where numbers are arriving and leaving. There is yet nothing to indicate when the wage bills of the company may be paid.

The situation is expected to remain calm, unless the Tagona Water and Light, Street Railway and ferry employes go on strike for their pay. The latter contingency is possible, but, to avoid danger, it is stated that the receipts derived from the running of these franchises may be applied after this towards paying the wages of the men operating them.

AN ALLEGED TELEGRAM.

A rumour was current on the street last evening that a telegram had been received from New York to the effect that the company would have the money to straighten up their pay rolls on Monday, October 5, and that some of the plants would go into operation on October 8th. Mr. Coyne did receive a despatch from Mr. Clergue, but the message could not be read as optimistically as the public heard it. According to the late president the funds will come if certain proposed plans work out in the way hoped for. Unless some reorganization scheme goes through within the next month the pulp mill and sawmill will be debarred from operating this winter and next spring, owing to the scarcity of logs. When the present tie-up was ordered, the camps had only just begun to settle down, and practically no timber at all had been cut. Now that the "lumber Jacks" have been called from the woods, it will be almost impossible to fill up the camps again this winter. Under the best conditions the blast furnaces and steel plant also will be unable to fire up until next spring, as they have not a stock of ore and coal on hand, and one could not be brought in this fall before the close of navigation.

ATTITUDE OF MERCHANTS

Looking the whole business over carefully, the Soo merchants are preparing to sit tight this winter. The Loon Lake Iron Co., which operates the Brethung Iron mine, situated twenty-five miles north of the Soo, and which had a contract to supply the blast furnaces here, probably will close down its mine this week and pay off its men.

NO DISORDER WHATEVER.

A statement has been handed out over the signatures of William Coyne, assistant to the president of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, and W. H. Plummer, mayor of the town, declaring that the reports of disorder, violence, etc., occurring in Sault Ste. Marie, are without foundation. There has been no disorder, no trouble or lawlessness of any description, nor is there likely to be. Neither, the statement declares, are there any cases of destitution. The company and the town are feeding the ex-employes, who cannot be paid for the day or two at most that elapses after they arrive at the Soo and before they leave for other parts to take employment with other interests. The men, it is added, are leaving the matter of their back pay to their friends or attorneys, entirely satisfied that the near future will see them paid in full.

MR. WHITNEY'S VIEW.

Toronto, September 28.—Mr. J. P. Whitney, the Provincial Opposition leader, was interviewed regarding the statement handed out by the Premier announcing that the land grant to the Algoma Central Railway for the portion of the line constructed will be withheld by the Government until the wages of the workmen are paid.

"It will be ogbserved," said Mr. Whitney, "that Mr. Ross does not say whether the conditions which accompanied the land grant or any of them remain unfulfilled. If some of them have not been fulfilled by the company then I apprehend it would be the plain duty of the Government to withhold the land grant in any event and without reference to the non-payment of wages. So that apparently the Premier simply proposes to do that which presumably he would have done on account of the company's default.

"I am afraid this course of action will not help the workmen in their present trouble, nor do I see how in any event it can help them. One thing is certain, viz., that immediate and vigorous action of some kind is necessary,—half measures will not do. If the law does not provide for the payment of the men by the Government under the circumstances, I am sure that public opinion and the Legislature as well would justify the setting apart of a portion of the land grant indicated for the payment of the workmen, and that they should be paid without delay. It may be that such a course would be exceptional and that difficulties would arise, but it would be a dark blot on the fair name of the province if we allow the workment to suffer, and perhaps starve, while we hold property out of which relief can be afforded them, relief which, by the way, will be in this case nothing but the justice to which they are entitled."

MESSAGE FROM PREMIER.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., September 28.— Mr. C. N. Smith on Saturday received a message from Hon. Geo. W. Ross, announcing the receipt of the memorial and adding: "Government will in every way possible protect interests of workingmen in the various industries, main and subsidiary, withholding subsidies, or otherwise if necessary, and will insist on settlement of claims for wages in priority to everything."

ASK FOR RECEIVER.

Philadelphia, Pa., September 28.—P. F. Rothermel, jr., Samuel M. Clements, jr., and Joseph De F. Junkin, attorneys for certain stockholders of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, left here yesterday for New Haven, Conn., where they will make application in the courts for the appointment of a receiver for the company. The application will be presented by Judge Noyes, of New London, Conn., who will be associate counsel with Messrs. Rothermel and Clements, and a Philadelphian will be named for the court's consideration. John R. Dospassos, of New York, will act as associate counsel in the subsequent legal steps to be taken here and in New York to secure the necessary delay for the sale of securities of the underlying companies under the foreclosure proceedings of Speyer & Co., now advertised to take place on Thursday in New York.

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS AT SAULT STE. MARIE.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Stult Ste. Marie, Ont., September 28.— The officials of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company will not confirm the report that Mr. Clergue has received money to pay the Speyer loan.

A crowd numbering nearly five hundred gathered about the general offices this morning looking for the pay promised them, but it was not forthcoming. The place was well policed by the town, and allied companies' officers, and no demonstration was attempted beyond considerable cheering and loud talk. The crowd was pacified somewhat by a circular issued by Mr. Coyne saying that the president and directors in New York had been unable to raise the money, but expected that a plan endorsed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Premier Ross would be adopted soon by which the payment of wages would be made and work resumed. The promise was made that the men would get their money as soon as possible, and were advised to take work elsewhere.

CATHOLIC SAILOR CLUB. — The concert of the Catholic Sailors' Club on Wednesday evening will be under the auspices of St. Patrick's Society, the president, Hon. Judge Doherty, occupying the chair.

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY.

So Thinks At Least One Travelling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a travelling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have to eat good, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night, and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest, anyway I know mine won't. It has to have something to break the fall, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakers, that advertised medicines are humbugs, etc., but I notice that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion, while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and ready for my work when it needs me, and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the "joshing" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day, and a headache about three or four times a week, and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch, and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since, and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myself, for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines, and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in patent medicine as much as in selling barbwire.

NOT BOTHERED BY BUTCHERS' STRIKE

Trouble in United States Will Have No Effect on Canada.

NOT SUPPLIED FROM ABROAD

Canadian Market Depends on States for Only Part of Its Supply.

The latest big strike in the United States is proposed by the butchers, but fortunately Canada will not be affected by such an unpleasant state of affairs, for the reason that the Canadians are not obliged to depend upon the United States for their meat.

It is said that every packing plant in the United States is threatened with a tie-up by a general strike of butchers and affiliated workmen throughout the country. The alternative being that the owners yield to the demands of the amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workmen of America.

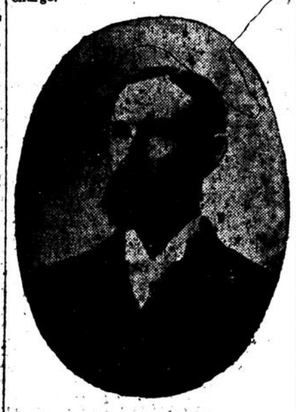

With reference to this the manager of the Laing Packing and Provision Company said to-day that Canada would not suffer even in the event of a strike.

"Our men would not be drawn in, for, as far as we know, there is no butchers' union of any importance.

"As far as the supply of meat is concerned, there is not likely to be any trouble, for we do not depend upon the packers of the United States. In fact, the only meat which comes into this country, is sent through here to be exported to the other side, so I think that the people of this country need not worry if there is a strike."

NEW METHODIST CHURCH AT OKA DEDICATED.

The dedication of the new Methodist Church at Oka, on Saturday and Sunday, was attended with the utmost success, and the ministers who took part in the services testify to the harmony which prevailed at the gatherings, and the intense interest taken by the Indians in the opening of the little church. The building is now almost completed. Without, it only requires another coat of paint, and within the ceiling is being made of wood, and a few finishing touches are being given. From now on services will be held every Sunday in the church, conducted by the Rev. E. S. Morrison, missionary in charge.

REV. E. S. MORRISON,

A number of ministers and their families attended the dedication service on Saturday, which were also largely attended by the Indians. Many came from Caughnawaga, accompanied by their missionary and interpreter, and about 17 of the St. Regis Indians from New York State were present with the Rev. Mr. Kingsbury, of Hogansburgh, N. Y., their missionary, who preached at yesterday afternoon's service.

About 250 were present on Saturday, when the church was filled.

Among those present on Saturday, besides the Indians, were Rev. Dr. Griffiths, who preached; Rev. Dr. Williams, who assisted in the dedication service; Rev. Melvin Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. T. G. Williams, Rev. Mr. Crane and Mrs. Crane, Rev. Mr. Lawson, of St. Henry; Rev. D. Winter, Rev. Mr. Williamson, of Lachine; Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Carter, and a number of other friends who were asked to make brief addresses in connection with the dedication services. Many of the Indians took part in the singing, and behaved with the greatest reverence throughout.

Rev. D. Winter, of Point St. Charles, conducted the service yesterday morning, after which there was the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, when there were present about 65 communicants, chiefly Indians. The service in the evening was conducted by one of the Indians from Hogansburg, N. Y., and lasted for three hours.

A Protest.

We take exception to an advertisement that appeared in the Gazette to-day. We furnished the Heintzman & Co. Baby Grand to be used at all the concerts given here by the Coldstream Guards Band. The advertisement referred to gives the public the impression that the piano of another maker was used, which is misleading. It is an honour to the makers of the Heintzman & Co. pianos to have their pianos selected and used by the Coldstream Guards Band at all their concerts throughout the Dominion, and perhaps it is inexcusable for any other piano maker to appropriate the honour in this connection.

A very pleasant farewell tea was given on Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Meincke, of Westmount, for her sister, Miss Florence S. Brown, whose marriage to the Rev. R. Brown poured coffee, assisted by Miss Binks, Miss Fanny Day and Miss Jean Oliver. Mrs. Meincke, who wore a cream silk blouse with deep cream lace yoke, and a black lace skirt mounted on black taffeta, was assisted in receiving by her sister, who was gowned in cream lace over pale blue silk with a pale blue silk sash, and garniture of black velvet ribbon on the bodice.

On Saturday evening a number of young people of Iberville and St. Johns, as well as others from Montreal, who have at different times during the summer been entertained by Commodore and Mrs. Tresidder, tendered them a complimentary hop, in their beautiful boat house, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion; about one hundred were present and enjoyed the evening thoroughly. Dancing was kept up until nearly midnight, when refreshments were served. A special feature of the evening was the presentation to Mrs. Tresidder, of a magnificent cluster of red roses, artistically set in and surmounting a sheaf of wheat, and to the Commodore a handsomely wrought silk flag for his new steam yacht, "Adonis III.," now in course of construction. The presentations were made in behalf of the donors by Miss de B. Corriveau and Mr. W. J. Wight, each of whom made a short address, couched in complimentary terms, to which Commodore Tresidder replied on behalf of Mrs. Tresidder and himself, expressing their appreciation of the handsome gifts and the graceful manner of their presentation.
