A grain of gold will gild a great surface, but not so much as a grain of wisdom.

Major League "All Stars" Ball Team Favours Huntingdon With Game

To have an All Star Baseball team composed of Major Leaguers visit a country town, such as is Huntingdon, to play the local ball team a game is out of ordinary expectations amongst sport enthusiasts. No one expected the local boys to win a ball game against such great professional players of the Major League as were here on Sunday. The real treat to the fans was to see these players in person, and right on the local diamond.

The visiting All Star ball team demonstrated many fine points of the game. As the "Little Leaguers" mimic their elders and professionals, it is but natural to expect the Huntingdon ball team will profit through having had the honor to face this great "All Star" ball team. The great thing of the day was not who won the ball game, but the opportunity of seeing the pros in action right on the local diamond. Whoever is responsible for this aggregation of ball players visiting Huntingdon for the last game of the year to be played by the "All Stars" is indeed worthy of thanks by the sport enthusiasts.

Spec Shea's Major League All Stars scored a 6 to 1 victory over the Huntingdon All Stars on Sunday afternoon before a fair size and cold crowd at Cunningham's Field in Huntingdon. Dick Donovan, Chet Nichols and Clem Labine did the pitching for the Major Leaguers and only had to face 28 men.

Huntingdon touched the Major League pitchers for five hits, each batter who hit was put on base. Baldy Poupore singled in the third inning and was erased when Drolet hit into a double play. Jack McKane and Jon Proudfoot each singled in the fifth inning but Pitcher Donovan made a brilliant play on Bill Bernhardt's pop bunt to turn it into a triple play. Ozzie Watson singled in the seventh inning and was put out in a rundown between first and second. Huntingdon's only run came in the ninth inning when George Bougie walked, moved to second on an infield out and scored on Eric Salter's single to left centrefield. Salter was out trying to steal third base.

The Major Leaguers' first run came in the first inning on a walk to Yost and a double by Hoak. They added three more in the second inning when Zuchin walked and Lepcio hit a home run over the left field fence. Fitzgerald walked, stole second and scored on Hoak's single. In the fourth inning Fitzgerald was safe on Proudfoot's error and scored on a double by Donovan. Ernie Drolet of Verdun pitched the first five innings for Huntingdon and allowed five runs, four hits and walked three.

The Major Leaguers picked up their last run in the seventh inning when Yost walked, stole second and scored on a single by Hoak. Billy Stafford of Albany, N.Y., pitched the last four innings for Huntingdon and allowed one run, four hits, walked one man and hit a batter.

The game was enjoyed by all the fans. Jim Piersall gave the fans a treat in the late innings when he played third base and put on quite an act.

Don Hoak of the Dodgers picked up three of the Major Leaguers' eight hits to be the leading batter of the game.

The trophy is a miniature baseball in gold.

Top: On Saturday night following the Huntingdon Baseball Dinner at the Rod and Gun Club, Mr. John Flynn, of Radio Station WICY, Malone, N.Y., presented the Huntingdon Baseball Club's Batting Championship's Trophy to Eric Salter.

Latest Fall and Winter Wear Displayed at Fashion Show

The Fall and Winter Fashion Show organized by the Alumnae of the Notre Dame School with the help of several of the local merchants took place in the Parish Hall, Huntingdon, on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Raymond Bourassa and Mrs. Mae O'Connor were the commentators for the evening. Both extended a welcome to the 400 spectators present.

The Fashion Show was divided into three parts. The first part consisted of children's wear and the other two parts of junior miss and adult fashions.

The children, mostly of the Notre Dame School, showed a variety of sports garments, ordinary wear and party dresses. The clothes were furnished by the Kiddy Town Shop, which has on hand every garment necessary for the younger children's comfort.

Following the children's fashions, Miss Lola Bougie sang a French song which was enjoyed by everyone. She was accompanied at the piano by her sister, Gilberte.

After an intermission, a fine collection of sports wear, interior, cocktail and evening dresses were displayed. All the garments shown were of pretty materials, well-cut and each one having its unique detail which always catches the eye. The Mercedes Shoppe, the Elite Shoppe furnished all the clothes for this part of the show.

The majority of the hair-dos were by Luce, a few being done by Valma's and Betty's; jewellery by Luxor Jeweller and the shoes by Marton Shoe Store completed the ensembles.

Following the Fashion Show, four door prizes were drawn and the winners are Misses A. Galarneau, D. C. Feeny, St. Jean and Mr. C. Simon.

The evening was concluded with the two commentators thanking everyone who had helped to make the evening a success. Children, teenagers, young ladies and women of Huntingdon can, if they want to, take advantage of what the local stores have to offer, look their best on any occasion. As remarked by the commentators, there is no need to go any further when fashion is right at one's own doorstep.

The stage setting of the fashion show was designed by Mr. F. Labelle, designer, of Marchand Frères, Valleyfield, and supervised by Mr. Doris Montpetit, Marchand Frères, Huntingdon. The setting was a Christmas scene in a home with a large decorated tree.

Appropriate music was provided by Miss Gilberte Bougie, Mrs. C. Guerin and Mrs. V. Galipeau.

S. Xanthos Speaks on Foreign Relations Trade Psychology

Admires Canada's Development — Recommends Caution In Its Rapidity of Expansion

Mr. S. Xanthos has been a resident of this community for over a year and on Monday addressed the Rotary Club. Mr. Xanthos was born in Egypt of Greek parentage; was Secretary of the Suez Canal Company; educated at St. Catherine College, Alexandria, Egypt, and later at the University of Grenoble, France. He is graduated with a degree in Engineering and Licensed Mathematician. He is quite bilingual in English and French and a working knowledge of Portuguese, Spanish, Greek and conversational in Dutch, Italian and Arabic.

From the foregoing it can quite readily be understood that Mr. Xanthos has done much travelling about the world, thereby gaining command of so many languages, and has observed customs and characteristics of the people wherever he travelled.

The following is a synopsis of his address given on Monday.

In our modern times when the technological progress backed by the awe inspiring "automation", "electronic brain computors", etc., seem to challenge the human element in many industrial activities, it is reassuring and refreshing to think that one field at least, that of the inter-relation between nations, remains dependent on the quality of human endeavour. Hence the title chosen for this talk, "The value of psychology in foreign relations", with special emphasis put on the business aspect of the problem.

When visiting foreign countries, one is inclined to think that the elite, intelligentzia or governing class of people does not differ notably with the similar select body in one's own nation. This observation applies particularly when you come in contact with men educated in McGill, Harvard, Oxford or Sorbonne. However, a more careful scrutiny and deeper analysis will show that these distinguished individuals are, above all other considerations, a truthful reflection of the traditions, character, temperament and idiosyncrasies of their nation once the polish of international education is removed from the picture. Should there be exceptions, i.e., men too much influenced by their foreign intellectual formation, they will find themselves aliens in their own country, suspected or accused of bias whether right or wrong.

The exceptions are therefore misleading. Consequently we shall choose some examples for cases following the general rule. For instance Chou-en-lai educated in France has been relentless in his hostility against the French in Indo-China. Nehru, Harrow and Cambridge, has been antagonistic to the British in his early political career. Both these men are truly representative of China and India despite their Westernized behavior at International Conferences and the niceties exchanged at banquet tables.

Anyway it is better not to form an opinion from individual cases but to base one's judgement on a fair knowledge of the background of every country in particular and avoid generalisations. It may be safe to say that the Nordic nations of Europe have in common a sense of moral and material achievement, that the Mediterranean and South American countries have developed a nationalistic pride or that the Eastern people are still inspired by religious and racial fanaticism. But the comparison should stop at that.

Take for instance a small Arab State, not often heard of, the Lebanon (1 million inhabitants). The Lebanese, by all standards, are very enterprising people, businesslike and highly educated. Beyruth, the capital, has one French and one American University College. It is an actual fact that the Lebanese, in spite of their small population and diminutive territory, have casted a firm grip on the Middle Eastern trade — they direct the most influential papers in Egypt, control the silk industry in Brazil whilst the other Arab States are fatalistically complacent and fanatically entrenched in their medieval mode of living.

In the Iberic Peninsula, the Spaniard is cheerful, creative, brave, gloriously vain, always tormented and ready to fight for an idea or an ideal of his own, just as the Don Quixotte of Cervantes — but he is also unpractical, uncompromising and passionately independent. The Portuguese by contrast appears to be rather dull and unimaginative but deserves praise for being painstaking, disciplined and reliable. Spain has a marked place in our civilisation with the great Art of Velasquez, El Greco, Goya, Picasso, the music of Albeniz, Granados, de Falla, the books of Blasco Ibanez, Madariaga, Ortega y Gasset whilst Portugal has a tradition of inspired explorers, Henry the Navigator an Organizer of the great discoveries, able Administrators like Pombal and the present Prime Minister Dr. Oliveira Salazar, one of the outstanding contemporary Statesmen.

Madrid is sparkling with life and artistry, but the transport is shabby, the bureaucracy irksome, the Organization deficient. Lisbon is charmingly monotonous but is also clean, orderly, efficient. The gay life in Lisbon ends at midnight — in Madrid it starts at about that time. Madrid exports spirited wines and dancers — Lisbon gets better value with cork, sardines and olive oil - - -.

Reading the daily news on South America, one imagines that all these republics must be living in a perpetual state of social turmoils, revolutions and 'pronunciamentos'. Nobody would deny the unrest and instability that prevail in many of these countries but how wrong to generalize. Venezuela and Uruguay are quite an exception anyhow. Uruguay for instance has not had a revolution in our century — the President is elected from a political coalition governing the country democratically since 80 years. Whilst credit is frozen in Chili, inflation looms in Argentine, economic chaos threatens Brazil, Uruguay is stockpiling wealth from all over the world like Switzerland is banking gold in Europe. In Montevideo they will allow you jewels worth one million dollars, in Buenos Aires they will confiscate your electric razor and radio battery.

Although we have narrowed down the comparisons to latitudes or group of countries, it wouldn't be wise to rely too much on these broad and rather sketchy differences. The business traveller needs more substance to guide his judgement, more thorough information and less flashy 'cliches'. It would be advisable to study each country as a

Mining Engineering to be Demonstrated by Mobile Unit Sponsored by J.C.

The guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Jaycees, Huntingdon, was Mr. Jean Yves Paré, Vice-president of the Federation of Junior Chambers of Commerce of the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Paré outlined the history of the organization, its fundamentals and its principles as well as ideas for proposed programs of activities that the Junior Chambers should carry on in their different communities.

As the Province of Quebec is potentially very wealthy in mineral products and there is a great shortage of mining engineers, a number of the Insurance Companies have pooled funds to form a mobile university which would travel from region to region with four well-known mining engineers who would lecture on their profession.

This idea is relatively new in the Province of Quebec. However, in some of the other provinces, vocational guidance is a standard course taught in high schools.

The Mobile Unit would be similar in construction as the Molson's TB unit which is seen at many of the agricultural fairs of the province.

The Insurance Companies decided that the best organization which could contact the possible young men who might like to take up mining engineering but know nothing about it, was the Junior Chamber of Commerce. At the Provincial Congress held at St. Gabriel held earlier this fall, the proposed plan was fully endorsed by the congress.

At the moment, the unit is being prepared in Montreal and four professors have been retained by very substantial fees.

Mr. Gerard Cadieux, Valleyfield, regional president of the Chateauguay Region, stated in his remarks that he hoped that the Chateauguay region would be one of the first if not the first region which would be the host to the mobile educational unit. He asked that the five chambers of the region, Beauharnois, Valleyfield, St. Louis, St. Timothee and Huntingdon get out and contact likely candidates who would be interested in securing further information pertaining to mine engineering with the view of eventually becoming a mining engineer and help to eliminate the shortage of engineers in this province.

The speakers were introduced by H. P. Higgins, president and thanked by George Renaud, past president. With the two guest speakers were six members from the Valleyfield Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Drive For Increase Membership in Curling Club Opens November 12

The annual meeting of the Huntingdon Curling Club was held in the Club Rooms on Friday evening. A fair number of the members were in attendance.

From the Financial Report, the Club finished up their year with a small cash balance.

A letter from Raymond Rowat requesting that he might resign as a director but remain as a member was accepted. Mr. Hugh Spencer is to fill the vacancy so created. To fill up the vacancies in the entertainment committee created by Homer Ruiter who has been transferred to Montreal, and Raymond Rowat, Lyle Sparrow and Bert Rankin were elected to fill the vacancies.

It was decided that November 12th, would be the official opening date of the 1955-56 curling season. It was decided that for the balance of November, no bonspiels would be played and the rinks be turned over to the new or potential new members of the club wishing to learn curling. Along this vein, it was decided that an invitation would be extended to everyone about Huntingdon to come to the Curling Club during these last two weeks in November and try out the game of curling.

The two local schools are to be approached with the thought of permitting senior boys to curl during week days. For the first year, no fee would be charged to the stu-

Smash Hit Results Will Follow Forums Held in High School

Huntingdon High School "Home and School Association" sponsored a "Foster Parent" meeting on Friday evening. The idea being that each small boy or girl attending school be accompanied by a man and woman other than their parents, and they be looked upon as though "Foster Parents". Whether it was Dr. Willis, Principal of the High School or the "Home and School Association" that thought up the idea, it is to be commended. Through this sort of a meeting people who ordinarily would not go to a Home and School meeting were actually present, and made interested in the activities that become a part of the every day operation of a successful school.

Home and School President D. A. Stephen invited Dr. Willis to take over the meeting and explain what the programme of the evening would be, and how it was to be conducted. Dr. Willis intimated that he wished to see the assembled gathering divided into four groups and become forums on four set subjects. The advice Dr. Willis imparted was, "avoid personal matters, consider policy matters only".

The four forums were formulated through people going to which ever forum they preferred. Forum One dealt with, "Proposed new School Report Forms". Leader: Mrs. S. Robb assisted by Stan Liversidge.

No. 2 Forum pertained to the idea of adopting a regulation costume for girls attending school. Headed by Mrs. Dahms in behalf of the teachers, with Mrs. G. H. Johnson, Dewittville assisting.

No. 3 Forum was for Guidance and was conducted by Principal Ferris of. Valleyfield Gault Institute with Francois Cleyn assisting. No. 4 Forum dealt with the subject of school prizes of one kind or another. Dr. Willis, the School Principal, officiated and was assisted by Mrs. Chas. Reid.

All four forms proved to interest the people, for in all cases they wished to have the discussion period extended. The findings of each forum was no doubt recorded but not voiced at the re-assembled meeting. Undoubtedly the finding will bear fruit and be of real benefit toward the operation of the High School.

A short amateur programme of entertainment was presented by a number of High School students followed by social half hour and refreshments.

Throughout the evening the hilarious juveniles were entertained with movies, ice cream and when the adults arrived on the scene for their refreshments the 150 youngsters were beside themselves singing "Hill-Billy" songs, under the direction of Gordon Ferry.

It was a profitable and enjoyable evening for everyone and doubly so for the future welfare of the High School.

The Good Neighbour Act Again Displayed

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McKellar, Dewittville, are comparative newcomers to this community. Unfortunately they sustained a great loss a few days ago when their barns were burned and many head of cattle lost. Mr. McKellar was going to be unduly hard hit if he did not have his fall plowing done, but the neighbours performed the "Good Neighbour Act" and did the plowing. Seventeen tractors were seen at the McKellar farm on Wednesday and they plowed between 60 and 70 acres. This was indeed a goodwill gesture exemplified by the neighbours to new found friends.

Mrs. D. Crevier Celebrates 64th Anniversary as Organist

A large reception was tendered to Mrs. Duncan Crevier on Sunday night in St. Anicet to celebrate her 80th birthday and 64th anniversary as organist of the St. Anicet Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Crevier who was 80 on October 18, has been a life long resident of the village. She first began playing the organ at the age of 16. In her lifetime as organist, Mrs. Crevier has only missed three services, which is in itself, a very remarkable record.

The reception held in the Parish Hall consisted of a musical program of vocal renditions and musical numbers. The Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Gosselin who kept up a running commentary. There was also some group singing by the assembled friends. Following the program refreshments were served to the gathering.

Mrs. Crevier's husband was the late Dr. Duncan Crevier who died two years ago. He was the son of I. I. Crevier who was a notary in Huntingdon for many years.

Ormstown High School Dance is Season's Social Event

Mrs. Snowdon Fittingly Honored by her Convalescent Home Staff Members and Patients

O.H.S. Formal

A most impressive event was staged at Ormstown High School on Friday evening when the annual semi-formal dance was held.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. King, B.A. M.A., O.H.S. principal, Mr. and Mrs. James Winter, chairman of the School Board and Miss Betty Forrester, and Mr. Donald McCormick, president and vice-president of the Student Council respectively.

About 700 people were in attendance and enjoyed dancing to Larry O'Neill's orchestra in the Assembly Hall and to the Mainliners for Square Dancing on the upper floor.

Delicious refreshments were served in four class rooms. The rooms were tastefully arranged in keeping with the general theme "Autumn Leaves".

A comfortable lounge was furnished by the Langevin Furniture Store and checking facilities were capably handled.

The Student's Council and the whole student body is anxious to express their appreciation of the marvellous support given them at the time of this undertaking.

Mrs. Snowdon Fittingly Honoured

A happy event took place on Sunday at the Ormstown Convalescent Home, the occasion being Mrs. Snowdon's birthday.

The members and staff planned a surprise party and they all gathered on the second floor to enable the bed patients to share in the activities.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. W. J. Walsh, better known as Bill. He stated that Mrs. Snowdon had been like a mother to all of them and he wished to thank her for all her loving care and kindness. Miss Mabel Gowdey, known as Aunt Mabel made a presentation of money to Mrs. Snowdon. It was stipulated that this gift was especially for her own personal use.

A few words were spoken by Mrs. Earl Walsh, Miss Nicol and Miss Laura Walsh.

Mr. Rice presented Mrs. Snowdon with a bowl of roses, and Linda French pinned a corsage of carnations on her dress.

After singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow", everyone returned to the rooms where a delicious supper was served by nurses and staff.

This was a very happy occasion and enjoyed by one and all.

Evelyn Ness, Howick, Gives Word Picture European Trip

PART II —

We arrived in Ostend, Belgium that night and drove to Bruges. On the way I saw for the first time the houses connected to the barns, but I was to see this in Germany and Switzerland too. The towns and villages are very clean and orderly.

I went to the International Lace Exhibition in Bruges. First of all I watched two girls making lace which is very intricate work of shifting about twenty spools of fine thread and pinning it to a cardboard pattern approximately every eighth of an inch. There was lace from every country including old patterns and new modern ones. The modern work included pictures in lace of animals on painted picture backgrounds and I noticed one of trains with puffs of smoke, boats and a background of sky scrapers with airplanes flying overhead.

At Ghent we visited the Baron Cathedral which had the twelve stages of the Crucifixion and around 15 separate chapels. The Castle of the Counts of Flanders was a very huge, cold place especially the torture chamber.

The city square in Brussels was unique, the buildings were decorated with gilt trimming. The City of Luxembourg is pretty and well kept with promenades around the town.

We stopped at Trier to see the old Roman Gate which was built 2,000 years ago.

We drove along the Mosell Valley, the grapevines start at the bottom of the hill and go to the top often at a very sharp angle. We could see the people tying the vines and spraying.

At Bingin we took a boat trip up the Rhine to Rudesheimer.

We drove on the Autobahn to Heidleberg. This road is usually a direct route and has few turnpikes and in excellent condition. At Heidleberg we visited the castle, an imposing ruin built and rebuilt over the past 800 years. In one part of the castle we saw what is called Das Grosse Fass — an enormous barrel shaped object which holds 58,000 gallons of wine. We walked up Philosopher's Walk.

Our next stop was at Baden-Baden a very pretty city with garden streams, running through it. We had a rest from sightseeing here and went swimming. There were three outdoor swimming pools situated on a mountain side, overlooking the city. The water was a deep blue colour and the pools were surrounded by lawns and gardens.

We travelled through the Black Forest to Stauffin. This was the first place where I saw the arcades — various stores completely around a city square. It took me an hour to walk around this one square.

I might mention here that the farms in Germany are very close together, and some of the farm houses are built over the tops of the barns. The land appeared to be very fertile.

In Switzerland we drove through the lowlands and plateaus then it seemed very suddenly we were in the midst of some very high mountains. At Bern we saw the famuos clock, when it strikes the hour the bears all dance around and the figures move. The scenery was magnificent, we could see the peaks and glaciers all along the way.

From our hotel window in Lauterbrunnen we had a view of one of the peaks and a waterfall. The following morning we planned to go up to the Jungfraujoch but the weather was unfavourable so we went as far as Kleine Scheidegg where we climbed along the mountain side. It was raining and very misty so we didn't have a good view of the mountains except when the mist would clear for a few minutes. The Jungfraujoch is the highest point in Europe that is reached by rail — over 11,000 feet, so it was a disappointment.

Lucerne has charming houses in the older parts, but one of its most characteristic features is the Kapell-Brucke, a roofed bridge crossing the river diagonally. It contains 112 paintings of local history.

From Switzerland we drove through Liechtenstein, which is a very small country. Through the widest part it took us one and a half hours.

We were fortunate to find accommodation in St. Johann, as the people were having their festival. They were wearing the Tyrolian costumes and everyone was very gay. There were two orchestras for the people to dance to on the street.

I toured the Court Castle in Innsbruck, Austria, which can be described as a miniature Versailles. The Hapsburgs made use of this castle. The most interesting in my estimation was the Giant's Hall, which is truly a festive hall, and has extravagant but fitting ornaments depicting the spirit and taste of the great Empress Maria Theresia. One of the portraits in the hall is of Maria Antoinette, her unfortunate daughter who married the French King Louis XVI.

The Grossglockner Pass is a series of sixty-four peaks and glaciers. Our highest point of altitude being 8,000 feet. We stopped during the drive through this pass for a picnic lunch and were sitting about twenty yards from snow.

On our way to Venice in Italy, we passed through the Dolomites which were more rugged than the peaks of the Grossglockner Pass. I noticed the people having siestas when we crossed the border and the towns were not as well cared for as most of the ones we had seen in other parts of Europe.

We parked the car on the causeway (highway which leads into Venice) because it is comprised of intricate networks of canals big and small with countless bridges. We went by boat along the Grand Canal which is two miles long, to our accommodation. We enjoyed ordering our meals in Italian as the waiters were very patient with us, while we looked through a dictionary deciding what to order.

On one of our boat trips along the canal, we saw a funeral. The casket which was in a gondola was black, decorated with silver. There were many flowers, but I noticed one wreath especially which stood approximately six feet high.

We went swimming at the Lido a small island across from Venice and this was my first swim in the Adriatic.

We had a ride on a gondola the following day. The gondolas are made from twelve different kinds of wood, are ninety-two feet long and weigh 1,000 pounds, but move very lightly under skillful handling of the gondolier.

There are a few traffic lights on the Grand Canal, but in the smaller canals the Gondolier shouts at the narrow intersections.

During our ride we visited a glass blowing establishment and watched while they made glass-blown ornaments and jewellery.

The next country we visited was Yugoslavia. Up until two years ago the tourist trade was very slight, however, it is increasing steadily so much in fact that accommodation is still scarce in most cities and towns. The roads are paved in the more populated areas, but we travelled along the coastline, consequently were on gravel roads all the time. Another factor causing the road conditions is that the chief mode of transportation is still by water.

In various parts of the country which we saw, the people are still living a primitive life.

The country is rugged with little vegetation so that the people have to work hard to make a living. Any patch of ground which can be cultivated is put to good use.

We noticed several interesting things as we drove along. At one farm which we passed, there were two bulls walking in a circle trampling grain to thresh it.

We saw women carrying jugs and baskets on their heads, also women shepherding sheep and cattle from pasture to pasture as there are no fences. These women always had some sort of work in their hands, either spinning wool or knitting.

The main places of interest which we visited were the Plitvici Lakes — a series of sixteen pretty lakes with deep blue water, the markets where the people looked at us in our bright clothes as their's are mostly grey and black, the ruins from the last war at Zadar also St. Donat's Church which is circular and built on a foundation of old Roman columns.

The most outstanding city we saw in Yugoslavia was Dubrovnik, a walled city on the South Coast, and is known as the city of palms and ferns.

We climbed up 324 steps to the top of the city wall and walked around looking down at the old city. The strongest fort is 13 yards thick on one side and 2 yards thick on the other.

The streets are very narrow in the old city and cars aren't allowed.

We arose at three one morning to drive to the small Turkish town of Trebeinz. The dawn was beautiful with the sun coming up between the mountains.

In Trebeinz we saw a few minarets then became interested in the market where we saw what we thought were watermelons which we wanted to buy. The girls refused to sell one to us and after a great deal of hand signs a chap came up who spoke French and said "C'est pour les vaches". We have yet to discover what it was we were trying to buy.

This same day we left Dubrovnik by boat to go to Bari, Italy. The trip was eneventful except that the scenery proved interesting along the coast.

We had a pleasant Sunday drive in the South of Italy. The farms have formed a co-operative there so that it appears very organized and fairly prosperous. We were on the Amalfi drive to Postiano. This drive along the Mediterranean passes through white villages and beautiful beaches. At Amalfi we visited a 13th Century Cathedral which was quite ornate, but beautiful work. At Postiano we took a boat trip to the Grottos — a cavern with stalactites and stalagmites. The sun shining through the water from outside makes it an emerald colour.

We visited the ruins at Pompeii, the city of 20,000 people which was covered first by hot air, dust, then ashes, when Mt. Vesuvius erupted in 79 A.D. Excavations which started in 1763 have made it possible to see the shell of buildings, temples and certain villas.

In Naples we had our first experience of European railways. Everyone pushes on like they do for the Montreal Tramways in the rush hour. The porter shoved our luggage in the window to us then we had to find a seat.

We went on a tour to Vatican City, in Rome. The halls and rooms are beautiful especially the Sistine Chapel with its ceiling done by Michel Angelo. The Vatican library is one of the world's most beautiful. It contains over half a million books and many rare manuscripts.

St. Peter's, covering an area of 163,728 square feet, is the largest, most majestic of Christian Churches. As we walked from the altar to the church entrance looking at statues and pictures, we counted our steps — 318 in all. We noticed several people kissing St. Peter's foot.

The Coliseum had room for 50,000 people. There is no trace of the seats left, just the outlines.

I found the Pantheon a circular structure, very huge and cold.

I tossed my coins in Trivoli fountains, this fountain was featured in the picture "Three Coins in a Fountain".

The monument to Victor Emmanuel II is a marble structure of great size.

Florence was the next city we saw in Italy. The straw market was fascinating, we enjoyed bargaining for various souvenirs.

The Uffizi gallery contains many famous paintings. In one room the pictures are all miniatures about two inches square. The attendant gave me a magnifying glass to see the intricate features in the portraits.

From Florence we drove along the Italian Riviera to Genoa. We stopped briefly at the Leaning Tower of Pisa. The tower is 180 feet high and 14 feet out of perpendicular. While there we went inside the separate building which contains the Baptismal font, due to an architectural error the two roofs on the dome create a vacuum. A singer inside sang a chord one note at a time, which echoed back as a full chord.

Genoa, which rivals Marseilles as the chief seaport of the Mediterranean, rises from the waterfront to a height of over 1,000 feet in surrounding hills. I noticed several statues of Columbus.

We were fortunate to arrive in Nice the night of their flower festival. It created a lovely scene with the chariots and floats decorated with flowers and lights going along the avenue lined with palm trees, and hearing the Mediterranean splashing against the sea wall in the background.

On the bus trip to Grenoble we passed many pretty castles and bridges. Some of the cliffs and rock formations are so steep they appear unnatural.

We were back in Switzerland again at Geneva. We took our own walking tour of this city where they have the highest water spout in the world, also the Calvin Memorial along Promenade des Bastions.

From the lookout at St. Peter's church I saw the whole city of Geneva and the League of Nations building in the distance.

Paris — France. This is the city that has everything for everyone. The bus tour of Modern Paris showed the many stores and has the widest avenues. Avenue Foch (millionaires avenue) seemed the most beautiful with gardens, large homes, and lawns on either side. The Arc du Triomphe is the largest triumphal arch in the world, 160 feet high; the avenues radiate from this arch in all directions.

The Eiffel Tower which reaches 984 feet into the sky is built of steel and because of this is surprisingly light in weight.

Les Invalides founded for disabled soldiers contains Napoleon's tomb. Inside the circular building there are statues of famous French military leaders with the Emperor's tomb in the center.

The tour of Historical Paris includes several official buildings, parliament, and law courts. These are lavishly decorated on the outside.

The Cathedral of Notre Dame has an impressive location on the tiny Ile de la Cite in the Seine, the oldest part of Paris. Inside this cathedral some of the stained glass windows date back to the 12th century. The colours, especially blue and red, are very clear but the

Remembrance Day Observance Nov. 6

WITH the lapse of time we all become more or less forgetful of our rightful duties. Following World War 1, November 11 was a date on the calendar that was quite generally observed and people turned out in quite sizeable numbers to pay homage at the cenotaphs across Canada. During those years the "Remembrance Day Observance" was held on the actual date, Nov. 11 and at 11 a.m. Now it is quite in order to question the wisdom of altering the date and hour of such observance as we note with regret, that the holding of the "Remembrance Day" Services on a Sunday, either before or after the 11th day of November, and at a convenient hour in the early afternoon, the number in attendance has definitely dwindled.

World War II and the Korean War meant many more Canadians paid the supreme sacrifice, yet Remembrance Day is not largely observed and to a very considerable extent such observance is mostly by veterans. The family connections of veterans and laymen in general should most certainly make a greater effort toward overcoming this unbecoming stigma.

Here in Huntingdon Remembrance Dav observance has been enhanced during the past five years or so, but it is still far short of the number that should be present. Some people will offer excuses for their non attendance, such as the weather was cold, wet or perhaps something else. The something else in 99% of the cases, if truthfully revealed, would be forgetfulness.

This item is being published in good time so that you will have time to review the years of wars that we endured. If such is done you will not forget to fittingly observe Sunday Nov. 6, as Remembrance Day in Huntingdon. In Valleyfield the Remembrance Day observance will be on Sunday, November 13.

Brush away the weather impediment to your attendance. The Soldier Boys of old can take it, they endured the hardships of war, for a half hour they will take it again and parade to the cenotaph, good weather or foul. The Huntingdon High School Auditorium is where the Remembrance Day Service will be conducted under the chairmanship of the Legion Chaplain, the Rev. W. S. Hatcher. The guest speaker will be the Rev. E. I. Johnson, Ormstown. A choir will lead the singing and for the parade the Huntingdon Band will lead the procession. The parade will include besides the Legionaires, representatives of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion, the 161st Ack Ack Unit from Valleyfield and undoubtedly many other veterans, R.C.M.P., etc.

"Lest We Forget" should not be looked upon as nothing other than a motto, it is an expression that really commands man to do homage and pay tribute to the "Fallen" of World Wars I and II, plus Korea.

Seeking Mining Engineering Students

THE Jaycees are an organization of young men who strive to accomplish things for the betterment of communities across Canada. Sometimes the general public is inclined to think the Jaycees aim too high in what they may attempt to accomplish, but irrespective of whether such is the case or otherwise, they do try, and they have accomplished much. True, many of the Jaycees are mere members of the organization, contribute little of their personal ability for the good of the Federation, but that does not say these very same members are not worthy citizens and moral supporters of the Jaycees if nothing else.

At the present moment Insurance Companies of Quebec have created a fund of money with a view to aiding our Province through having the mines of wealthy Quebec Province more extensively explored, developed and made to produce hidden wealth. To accomplish this objective the number of mining engineers needs to be greatly increased. The young potential mining engineers are perhaps men who have never even given a thought to mining, and perhaps for the very good reason that they know nothing about the profession, and naturally such would be the case in this agricultural district.

The Insurance Companies of Quebec are equipping a mobile unit to tour Quebec. Four highly paid engineers will accompany the mobile unit on its visit to centers where there are Jaycee branches. This Mobile Unit and the engineers may stay in a town like Huntingdon for several days at a time conducting interviews with potential candidates who would go to college to study mining engineering. The idea is that the Jaycees will round up the potential young men to be interviewed by these engineers. It may be that some young men would find it necessary to obtain High School matriculation before entering a university for an engineering course.

Every member of the Jaycees can offer a helping hand toward this praiseworthy objective. They can all try to seek out a young man who might ultimately become a mining engineer. Not all engineers become men of fame, not all a great success, but one or more outstanding engineers in years to come may be young men of to-day who were enlightened into this field of endeavour through the contact efforts of some Jaycees.

Donation Time

THE time of year is at hand when many financial drives are conducted. As far as the Chateauguay Valley is concerned the local hospitals are ever ready to receive annual membership, life membership, subscriptions and outright donations. Irrespective of this fact it is the fall months when most money is received by the hospitals and if by chance you have not made a contribution this year, no better time to do so than right now.

The Huntingdon County Hospital received much from the Benefit Carnival held in June, sponsored by the Hospital Ladies Auxiliary. Not only does the Hospital look better than ever before but it is better in every respect and is performing a greater service. Indirectly we have learned that its financial position is encouraging and that if the flow of financial contributions is maintained in comparison with that received in past years at this season, it will end the year without a deficit; and that is just the way it should be. The Huntingdon County Hospital would appreciate some extra financial assistance at this moment as it would like to further augment its equipment. The equipment desired will not represent major expenditures, but an extra thousand dollars, if available, will be put to good use.

Annual memberships cost $10, Life memberships $150 and donations can be as small or large as you feel prepared to accord.

Town Gal Writes

(Contributed Editorial)

A FEW of the local stores contributed toward presenting a Fashion Show which was very interesting for those present, mostly women.

In doing so, the merchants have proven without any doubt that they have on hand any piece of wearing apparel which one may desire for any occasion. And after thinking about all the advantages they offer to the eventual customers, we are wondering why people in this community go here and there to do their shopping. We think that so far as choice and variety is concerned, our local stores have all the variety and quality that is procurable in other centres. Would the price of the item have anything to do with the fleeing of the money earned here to Valleyfield, Montreal or Malone have anything to do with it? Or, is the customer more graciously served over there?

One thing the store owners should know, is that a smile and immediate attention has a lot to do in salesmanship. That a smaller profit repeated many times is far better than a big profit made once or twice. It is not all to have nice merchandise in the store. The window displays must catch the eye of the passer-by and a nice greeting is half a sale.

On the other hand, do the folks who choose to shop outside of Huntingdon find such advantages wherever they may go? Probably not, and if they get a better price sometimes, it frequently happens that they find out afterwards that they could have made an even better buy right here in Huntingdon. That is an experience we have all gone through at one time or another.

So if the people in Huntingdon and the storekeepers were willing to meet half-way, there is no doubt that everyone concerned would soon realize that there is opportunity for good business deals right in their own home town.

These expressed thoughts are offered for what they may be worth. If acted upon I am sure everyone will profit accordingly and we will all be more attractively attired and the storekeepers will ring up more sales.

Chateauguay Lost in Smoke

Workmen when engaged in tarring the main road through Chateauguay got a scare on Saturday when the tar suddenly caught fire. In no time at all the whole locality was lost in a cloud of smoke and it was some little time before it cleared away. Fortunately the amount of tar near the blaze was small, and apart from damage to the appearances of houses by the smoke, no damage was done.

Aviation

The attempt last week, although it ended in failure, of a United States aviator to fly from coast to coast during daylight of one day, brings the expansions of the influence of man in the air more before the public gaze. The experiments of the United States government naturally get more notice on this side of the water than those in Europe, yet the general admission is that the present year is seeing a greater expansion than any obtained during the latter war years. A few weeks ago a man flew from Calais to Dover and back again in a machine with a motor he could lift in his hand and which used less than 40 cents worth of gasoline in the trip. Now the British government is offering prizes for planes that can rise vertically from the ground. To us the age of the aeroplane may still seem distant, but the development goes rapidly ahead. The dream of universal travel through the air may not be so far distant as many now think.

One in Four Goes to School in Three Counties

The foregoing is taken from an article describing statistics in education in the three counties.

Historical References — Schools in the district of Beauharnois had a hard and difficult path in the early days. The trouble lay both in the people and in the lack of teachers. Many of the early residents and squatters were neither religious nor educated, and following hunting and trapping for a living, cared little about the future of their children. Around the mouth of the Chateauguay, Catholic schools were started by the priests and gradually as the tone of the settlements improved the opening of the schools became more frequent. Even in the war years attempts were made to open schools and during the winter months, regimental officers of units, posted as guards along the frontier opened classes in their cabins. The first grants offered by the government were made in 1829. Then the sum of $120 was paid to some schools but the sums varied from $10 to $80 and as a rule in the neighbourhood of $40. Subsequently grants for new buildings were given and in 1823 a law was passed giving the grant of $16 for every school teaching the other official language. The natural consequence was that every English school reported that it taught French and every French School English — even a grant of $16 wasn't to be sneered at in those days.

Rennie Church Has Historical Background — Takes Status from Act of Parliament — One of the Oldest in the Province

In these days when Church Union is a topic much to the fore, the legal history in regard to the Rennie Church in Hinchinbrooke is interesting. The congregation of Rockburn and the Gore have the distinction of taking their status from an Act of Parliament, a thing rarely found in Canada among the Presbyterian churches.

The facts had long lay dormant in the minds of a few members of the congregation, and only came out when the Cemetery at the Church was discussed by the members and legal incorporation decided on.

The history of the lot goes back to the early days of the county for it was sold by John W. Black to Henry Rennie on the 3rd of March, 1826, and gradually passed through the family until it was transferred by the Rennie family to the church.

For the statement of the facts regarding the early legal history of the congregation we are indebted to Donald M. Rowat, Notary of Montreal. Mr. Rowat was retained to incorporate the Cemetery and has gathered together the documentary history of the transition of the congregation from one Presbytery to another.

In 1862 by Chapter 54 of 25 Victoria, the First and Second Congregations of the Township of Hinchinbrooke in connection with the United Presbyterian Church of North America were incorporated. This act was assented to on the 9th of June, 1862, and three trustees were ordered to be elected from each congregation on the second Monday of each February to direct the acts of the congregation.

Then, as now, union was in the air, but it was of the different divisions of the Presbyterian church and so the act provided that with the two-thirds of the male members of the congregation such a union could be entered into. Evidently the discretionary wisdom of the women was not allowed to interfere with such a ballot for the Act left them out.

In 1870, at a meeting of the Presbytery of Montreal of the Canada Presbyterian Church, the status of the congregations underwent a change, and an extract from the minutes, written by Rev. James Watson, then clerk of the Presbytery and minister of Huntingdon, explains the change. The documents read:

"At Montreal, in Erskine Church there, on the fifth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, the Presbytery of Montreal in connection with the Canada Presbyterian Church, met and was duly constituted.

Inter alia:— The Presbytery took into consideration a Petition from the Congregations of Rockburn and the Gore of Hinchinbrooke, in the County of Huntingdon, praying to be admitted into the communion of the Canada Presbyterian Church. A paper dated at Hemmingford, September twenty-seventh, 1870, under the hand of Reverend John Harper, Clerk of the Presbyterian Church of North America, was presented and read: said paper being as follows: "We the Presbytery of St. Lawrence connected with the United Presbyterian Church of North America, dismiss the Congregations of Rockburn and Gore from under our care, at their own request, and affectionately recommend them to the care of the Presbytery of Montreal connected with the Canada Presbyterian Church." There was also presented and read a letter, dated at Rockburn, Province of Quebec, October 4th, 1870, under the hand of the Reverend C. Webster, late Pastor of the United Presbyterian Congregations of Rockburn and Gore introducing Mr. Andrew Oliver, Elder and Delegate from the Congregation of Rockburn and Gore, and also those of Covey Hill and Hemmingford, had been dismissed by the Presbytery of St. Lawrence, at their own request, and affectionately recommended to the supervision and care of this Presbytery of Montreal for reasons that seemed conclusive. Hr. Andrew Oliver, Rockburn and also Mr. Lionel Robson of Hemmingford were present as delegates the former was heard. The Presbytery then Resolved on motion of Mr. Young, seconded by Mr. Coulthand, That the Congregations of Rockburn and Gore, and also the Congregations of Covey Hill and Hemmingford be received by this Presbytery into the Canada Presbyterian Church and that Rev. James Watson, D.D., be appointed Moderator of Sessions of said Congregations."

In the general union which took place in 1875, the amalgamation of the different Presbyterian bodies was completed and the Rockburn and Gore Churches became part of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

International Dairy Show

A group of Ontario Ayrshire cattle Breeders played quite a prominent part in connection with the International Dairy Show held at Chicago, Ill., October 8-15. Details in that respect having been kindly furnished us by Professor Geo. E. Raithby, Head of the Animal Husbandry Department, Ontario Agriculture College, Guelph, Ont.

There was an entry of over 170 head of Ayrshires from 10 States and Ontario, with Prof. Geo. E. Raithby as judge of same.

Selwood Cora's Burton, first prize bull 3 years old or over, was senior and grand champion male for Stansell Bros., Aylmer, Ont. The reserve senior champion male Shirecrest Emil, first prize 2 year old for West Unity Farms of Ohio, was sired by Burnside White King, a well-known sire bred by R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, Que.

Selwood Victory, a son of the grand champion male, was second prize senior yearling bull and reserve junior champion male for M. D. Carter and Stansell Bros., Aylmer, Ont.

With an entry of 24 head, the class for cows, 5 years old or over was headed by Leitchcroft Jewel 2nd., for Stansell Bros., while second in that cow class was Dunveen Pollyanna 8th. for Alex Sutherland, Paris, Ont. Leitchcroft Jewel 2nd., also won the senior and grand female championships.

Altogether, Ontario exhibits won the following prizes in the individual classes - 2 firsts; 3 seconds; 4 fourths; 1 sixth; 3 seventh and 6 other prizes. In addition Stansell Bros. won second for Dairy Herd and Produce of Dam (respectively); third for get of sire and best 3 females, while the Ontario herd won first in the State Herd Class over entries from Kansas, Ohio, New York and Illinois.

"Flo Jean"

We also understand that Flo Jean, third prize Ayrshire cow, 5 yrs. old or over also the 3rd. prize winner in the Best Udder class, at the International Dairy Show, was bred by Charles Brown, Huntingdon, Que. Douglas A. Ness of R. R. Ness & Sons, Burnside Farm, Howick, has informed us that his firm purchased Flo Jean from Mr. Brown to send to West Unity Ayrshire Farms, West Unity, Ohio, her present owners.

Holsteins at Chicago

Coincident with the receipt of the report of the Ayrshire Show at the Chicago International Dairy Show came a report of the fine showing made by an Ontario Holstein exhibit at that Show.

Rockwood Rocket Tone, won the senior and grand male championships for Quinte and District Cattle Breeding Association, Belleville, Ont. The "Rocket" was grand champion at the International Dairy Show two years ago, while he has been three times champion at the Royal Winter Fair and five times an "All-Canadian" Bull Incidentally, "The Rocket" is a paternal half brother of the well-known Rockwood Canary Rocket owned by J. W. McRae & Son, Howick, Que.

Dr. Hector I. Astengo, Brampton, Ont., won both the Premier Breeder and the Premier Exhibitor Awards, while Ontario stood first in the State Herd Class.

The State Herd class won by Ontario was an exceptionally strong one with Wisconsin, Maryland, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Colorado and Ohio following Ontario in that order. The Ontario entry was headed by the grand champion, Rockwood Rocket Tone and included the reserve junior champion female owned by J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont.

"All-Canadian" Sale

Forty-one of the 61 head offered in the annual All-Canadian Holstein Sale, went to buyers from Colombia, South America. That sale, held at Oakville, Ont., on October 17, netted a total of $60,000.00, or a general average of $983.00 for the 61 head sold. Last year the general average was $630. This year 5 head brought at least $2,000.00, while 19 head exceeded the $1,000.00 mark.

Four bulls averaged $3,600.00 each; 20 milking females $833.00; 36 bred heifers $768.

The highest price paid was $6,000.00, by the Hamilton District Cattle Breeding Association, Hannon, Ont., to J. J. E. McCague, Alliston, Ont., for the 6 months old bull calf Genafton Marmion.

S. Xanthos Speaks

separate entity: historical, political and social background, form of Government, legislation, taxation, custom duties, financial and economic resources, trade restrictions, currency regulations, quotas, import and export licences, trade agreements, etc. - - - This academic knowledge can be obtained partly through books, press articles, Chamber of Commerce and Bank reports, Department of Trade surveys and other public or private sources of information. All this however means only half of what is needed to conduct contract negotiations and the marketing of products.

The other half can only be acquired on the spot through extensive experience and clear mind. Here we reach the point where the human element becomes the decisive factor for success or failure. The assessment of imponderable values obtained through a psychological approach will, from now on become the main concern of the businessman.

The Speaker went on to explain some peculiar traits of foreign people and how they affect business. The bargaining habit of the Arab, the big ideas of the Latin-American etc. - - - are illustrated by typical examples and commented adequately. And he continued:

"Savoir faire is therefore much needed by the businessman. A too rigid attitude could alienate his best supporters whilst exaggerated leniency will make him lose their respect. With good judgment and honesty of purpose one can avoid these two pitfalls — hence the need of Psychology based on practical experience."

Summing up his talk, Mr. Xanthos claimed that 3 factors are conditioning the outcome of business in foreign countries: 1) the intrinsic value of a proposal; 2) the method of approach; 3) the political climate. The importance of these factors varies from country to country and that is what makes the Overseas business a fascinating but very difficult subject.

Finally the Speaker expressed his admiration for the way Canada is developing its huge natural resources but for the future of the Canadian Export trade, he struck this cautious note: "It seems that the pace of mineral and industrial development is so quick that it may overtake the availabilities of man power and the training of the specialists for the various branches of scientific and export trade activities."

County Warden Attends Annual Convention of the Union of County Council For the Province of Quebec

Mr. Olivier L. Leblanc, County Warden and Mayor of Godmanchester, attended the Convention of the Union of the County Councils for the Province of Quebec held in the Windsor Hotel, Rouyn, October 10 and 11.

The Hon. Yves Prevost, Minister of Municipal Affairs represented the Government of the Province of Quebec.

An address of welcome was extended to the 300 delegates and honoured guests by Maurice Caouette, Mayor of the City of Rouyn, and by Hercule Riendeau, M.L.A., President of the Union of County Council for the Province.

Following registration, the delegates were taken to the spacious Elizabeth Hall of the Windsor Hotel where the meetings were held. The topics discussed included the need for more funds for public assistance and social services for the needy, maintenance of winter roads, gasoline tax exemption, and the securing of loans to improve municipalities. The Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, Jean Louis Doucet, Q.C., answered many questions posed by the delegates.

The Monday noon luncheon was held at the Albert Hotel with guest speaker being the Hon. Joseph Bilodeau, Chief Justice of the Magistrate Court for the Province. He spoke about public assistance to the needy as well as other matters that would concern the delegates' councils.

Tuesday's sessions carried on the topics on the agenda and the convention closed in the afternoon. The general feeling was that the convention was a resounding success and that it was one more step towards progress and well being of all people concerned. It was felt that through these sessions each year, town and municipal councils will tend to gain experience and thus will be able to act more thoroughly than they have been able to act in the past.

On Tuesday evening, the cities of Rouyn and Noranda tendered a cocktail party to the delegates and their wives.

Mr. Leblanc was accompanied by his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Quenneville, Mayor of Dundee.

RECORD DAIRY SURPLUS

Canada's butter stocks on the first of this month totalled 126,365,000 pounds, 42 million pounds greater than the five-year average for this time of the year. With milk production running at an all-time high, it is estimated that the butter surplus exceeds domestic needs by some 65 million pounds. Of the total stocks, the Government is believed to be holding just under 100 million pounds, approximately one-third of which was placed in Government storage in 1954.

Dundee

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Latreille were guests of honour at a party which was held on Friday evening at the Dupuis Hotel to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. About 150 guests were present for the occasion and a social evening of singing and dancing was enjoyed. The Prairie Rangers Orchestra supplied the music. At midnight the bride and groom of 25 years ago were presented with a purse of money, a gift of their relatives, friends and neighbours. Both Mr. and Mrs. Latreille made suitable replies to the generosity of their friends.

Miss Aline Latreille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Latreille, composed the presentation speech, which was read by Miss Rita Allard. Flowers for the bride were presented by 7-year-old Gisele Hainault and given by Marcel Latreille, one of the couple's sons. Another son, Real Latreille, donated the wedding cake. A third son, John Latreille, sponsored the evening's celebration. Refreshments were served.

Franklin Apples Going To Many Distant Areas

Apples grown in Franklin are certainly going further afield this year than has often been the case. Gerald Beaudin informed us this week that a second shipment, not a large one, was being sent to Bermuda. Apples have gone to Winnipeg and three large truckloads go each week into northern Ontario. Apples are sold through Montreal for use on ships travelling to Europe. Report now has it that Germany is in the market for a big order of Canadian apples and if it materializes, as is fully expected, the accredited orchards of Franklin will be called upon to supply a portion of the order. Apples will also be going to the various colonies of the West Indies in November, the West Indies orders being obtained through the firm of G. E. Govier & Co. Limited of Howick.

I.O.D.E. Notes

The monthly meeting of the Julius Richardson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held recently at the home of Mrs. G. Alex. McCabe.

Mrs. Desmond McCutcheon was welcomed by the Regent as a new member, having been proposed by Mrs. David Lang, seconded by Mrs. Jim Johnson.

Mrs. J. P. Stafford, convener of Services at Home and Abroad, read a letter from Provincial Chapter outlining the dual work of this department.

Services at home comes first, the local conditions govern this part of the work.

In Services Abroad, the policy and direction comes from the National Chapter. The National Fund should be supported by all Chapters, these include British and European Relief, from this fund articles such as new shoes, blankets, hospital supplies, etc., are bought to complete a shipment with things not usually contributed by Chapters.

Seamen's Amenities Fund: The Order has always shown great interest in the Men of the Sea. The British Sailors Society in Canada and Great Britain; the Royal National Mission to Deep Sea Fishermen in Great Britain care for seamen of many nations, shipwrecked, sick or aged, as well as the families of British seamen and fishermen who are helped by funds contributed by the I.O.D.E.

Korean Projects Fund just lately a cargo carrier has been donated and to quote Major Cronen, (the administrator in Korea) We are at last able to solve our very difficult transport problem thanks to the generosity of the I.O.D.E.

75% of the clothing from overseas shipments is distributed by the Save the Children Society in Austria, Italy, Greece, British occupied zone in Germany, Lebanon, Syria and Korea.

25% is distributed in Great Britain by the Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen's families Association, and they also supply the Canadian Women's Club, London, England, with I.O.D.E. clothing for needy Canadian Service men and their families living in Britain.

Mrs. Jim Johnson read an interesting article entitled "Canada, Ours to Defend" by Mrs. John MacRae, in which was noted the insidious ways in which communist propaganda is working to influence the youth of Canada and the United States. Democracy, unlike totalitarianism, moves slowly. We aim to develop the kind of education which teaches children to think for themselves. Unlike communism, which teaches them what to think, we strive to show them how to think.

Through our example, as good citizens, we can influence youth to recognize law and order, to accept responsibility and to acquire a balanced maturity.

If democracy is to survive and a permanent peace be won, we must draw from a higher source the courage and resolution we will need in full measure to sustain and inspire our youth.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

I.O.D.E. Semi-Annual Meeting

A Fur Fashion Show was presented by A. J. Alexandor.

Following the business meeting on Friday morning luncheon was served at St. John's Military College Barracks, when a talk was given on the work carried on at the College and a tour of all the buildings was made.

The local chapter was represented by Mrs. R. O. Chretien, Mrs. E. R. Richardson, Mrs. G. A. McCabe, Mrs. Louis Smith,

Huntingdon Locals

Duck Hunting Is Good

The wild duck hunting season is now on. Up to the present the hunting has been for, what the hunters term, local ducks. The local ducks are much more plentiful this year than has been the case in recent years and this is attributed to the fine weather conditions of the past summer. "Red Head" ducks are in circulation and they have been few and far between during the past 15 years, reports one hunter. The fact that there are local ducks in a favourable number this year indicates they have been favoured with commendable game protection. It is expected that with the coming of colder and more disagreeable weather there will be wild ducks in large numbers coming in from the north. To keep duck hunting good the hunters should make it a point not to over-shoot the daily quota of eight ducks. The good marksman can make his bag, but he should not go and spoil the sport for others through overshooting. Keep yourself a sportsman and don't become a slaughterer of wild game birds.

Following the devotional exercises, in which Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Middlemiss and Mrs. Stanley Ruddock took part, Rev. Mr. Bannerman gave an interesting address on the important place missions holds in our church. To be able to send missions to other nations, we must first experience personally the Christian religion in our own daily life.

A solo by Mrs. Gordon Tannahill, accompanied by Mrs. W. Smellie, was much appreciated.

At the close of the meeting all joined in a social time, with refreshments, taking this opportunity to get acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Bannerman and to welcome them to our community.

Ormstown

Parent-Teacher Group For High Grades:

For some time parents and teachers of Ormstown High School students have expressed a need for an organization corresponding to Young Parents' Club. At a parents' day towards the end of the 1954-55 term, one parent remarked, "It is too bad that parents and teachers of the high school grades cannot sit down and discuss school problems and policy as they do at the elementary and intermediate levels." I think that we all share this feeling of a real need. There are so many problems peculiar to the senior level that require interpretation. For example: Is there any direct bearing between the number of activities in a school and its failure rate? What is the school's promotion policy? What kind of discipline do we want to see at high school level? Is the school offering the best possible selection of courses? What place have extra curricular activities in Ormstown High School's programme? To what extent is the home responsible for students' success in high school? How are we going to reconcile the many demands made upon the high school student by home, school and community organizations? And these are only a few problems upon which we seek enlightenment. The high school staff has accordingly decided to call a meeting of parents (Grades VII-XI) on TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1. at 8.15 - Room 8- for the purpose of organizing a parent-teacher group. The programme will entail a short business meeting followed by a social evening.

Young Parents' Club Considers New Project.

The Executive of Young Parents' Club will shortly meet to consider the possibility of setting up an activity class for pre-school children. Membership would be restricted to children who are eligible for admission to the first grade in September, 1956. Many parents have asked that a socialization class be set up for their children because at present they seem to have so little opportunity for mixing with others their own age. It is believed, too, that such a class would better prepare children for their first year at school. The Executive's first step is to conduct a community survey to ascertain the number of little people who would be likely to attend such a class. If the results prove encouraging, further steps will shortly be taken to consider the possibility in greater detail.

FARMERS SHARE INCREASES

The farmers' share of the retail price of butter has increased from 63 per cent in 1939 to almost 78 per cent in 1955. Butter returns to farmers a greater share of the consumer's dollar than does any other major farm product.

Beauharnois

Social and Personal

BEAUHARNOIS — Mrs. Jim Parker, Bersevis, was week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wootten.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Calhoun, Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Calhoun during the week-end.

Mr. Bill Brown was week-end guest of Mr. Bob Turnbull Junior.

A Congregational meeting and Pot Luck Supper commencing at 6.30 p.m. under the auspices of the Evening Department will be held in St. Edward's Presbyterian Church Hall Thursday evening, October 20. Members are requested to bring Thank Offering envelopes. Rev. Barry Valentine will be guest speaker and will show pictures of his trip to England this spring.

The opening meeting of Home and School Beauharnois Intermediate School was held in the School Auditorium. An excellent representation was present as Mrs. Philip Goodfellow presided over her first meeting as chairman of the organization. Mrs. Robert Tait, Secretary, read the minutes and business arising from the meeting was discussed. A letter was read asking for possible support for United National Day, the duties of which require sale of candy and apples, the proceeds of which would be then forwarded to the United National providing necessary assistance where the necessity is greatest. The Treasurer's report was read by Mr. George Hays. Mrs. Tom Kemp, Programme Chairman, gave an outline of tentative plans for the ensuing season. Mrs. Marshall as Refreshment Chairman convenes for special occasions and also presides over Room Mothers of which there is one for each grade. Provision of soup from the beginning of November was discussed. A tentative date was chosen for a proposed Telephone Bridge with the date to be kept in mind for the present as November 25th. This will follow the methods used on other occasions when Telephone Bridge was the means of fund raising. A Hobby Show will be planned to take place in the spring. Mrs. Goodfellow introduced the Teaching Staff Mr. Powell, Principal; Mrs. Shepherd; Mrs. Chubb; Mrs. I. M. Anderson; Mrs. R. Hauver; Miss Connie Laurin and Miss Jessie Dunne. Mr. M. Powell, School Principal, was guest speaker and chose as his topic "How Home and School can benefit the School" saying that school was a segment of the world introducing the child to its first knowledge of how to become a good citizen. A parent should always remember their child has its first realization of being one of many and how the teacher's time is devoted to ultimately giving the child the product of general knowledge not with the growth of a genius, as those are born with that talent, but rather that at the end of the pupil's schooling he or she may have derived the know-how to get along with people, to have an understanding of basic right and wrong and finally become the good citizen every parent wishes his child to be. In this time of mass hysteria and the trend towards idolizing an Eddie Fisher or a Liberace, not so much perhaps for their talent, but because it is the attitude of the people at the moment to offer such hero worship, the problem was that this trend to T.V. heroes left the hours of study as practically nil and usually where there was a T.V. home there was little of a reading home. That the garnered wisdom of the ages was in our books and that the children ought to be taught the mechanics of reading, where the parents read, the children would read. A parent too should admit if he does not know the answer to a question, take the child and scan a reference book for the answer, thus showing his interest in the child's learning and of course finding out "why" himself. Mr. Powell's address was well chosen, well delivered, and accepted favorably by the listener.

Grade 5, Mrs. Chubb's class, won the Banner Vote.

Mr. Andrew Thomson, Vice-President of the Home and School, thanked Mr. Powell for his address.

Coffee and refreshments were provided by Grade 5 parents.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

BEAUHARNOIS — Ladies of the Sunday School Auxiliary St. Edward's Presbyterian Church held a social evening Tuesday, October 4th, at 8.30 p.m. in the Sunday School Hall. A showing of films taken of the last three Sunday School picnics was given by Mr. Robert Page. Mrs. M. Galvin was presented with a portable radio on behalf of the Auxiliary and friends. Mrs. Galvin, who was married recently, had been long associated with the Sunday School as a teacher.

Howard Smith Bowling Club was officially opened Wednesday evening at the Royal Bowling Alley by Honorary President Mr. D. C. Currie. Mrs. Currie was presented with a bouquet of pink and white carnations on behalf of the members. Mr. Currie also received a personal gift.

While we are on the sports subject, a one-time manager of the local baseball team and baseball devotee told your reporter that Dodger hero pitcher Johnny Podrai at the youthful age of sixteen pitched several games on the college terrain. So we can join the Royals in part claim anyway on the "we used to know when" basis.

Miss Sandra Currie was home from Bishop's University, Lennoxville, to spend the recent holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Currie. A note of interest here. Sandra was one of the freshmen from Bishop's chosen to be Cheer Leader. Congratulations.

Chemical Institute of Canada Meets at Valleyfield

The first meeting of the season of the Valleyfield - Beauharnois branch of the Chemical Institute of Canada was held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 28th.

The Canadian Schenley Ltd. were the hosts for the occasion, and some 40 members of the Party were invited to make a tour of the plant. They were later entertained to a buffet supper in the plant restaurant, preceding the meeting which took place in the evening.

The Chairman of the meeting was the President of the local branch of the Chemical Institute, Mr. Max Schuller, of Canadian Arsenals, Ltd.

Mr. C. Foley, Manager of Canadian Schenley, welcomed the guests and wished them every success for the coming series of lectures.

Mr. R. D. McEachern, of Merck & Co., Chairman of the membership committee introduced several new members to the gathering, and Mr. D. M. MacLean, of Canadian Arsenals Ltd., Chairman of the Programme committee, gave an outline of the series of lectures arranged for the coming season.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. D. D. McFee, Chief Distiller at the Schenley plant who was introduced by Mr. Donald M. Smith, of Merck and Co.

Before giving his talk, Mr. McFee presented a number of coloured slides, which were accompanied by an explanation recording entitled: "The Oak Casks of Valleyfield". This gave a vivid demonstration of the whole process of Whiskey making as carried out at Valleyfield, commencing with the processing of the grain and the fermentation and distilling processes, also the repeated testing of the product during the different stages of processing, up to and including the storing in the charred white oak casks, where the liquid undergoes the process known as 'Ageing'.

After the showing of the slides, Mr. McFee gave a very interesting and detailed review of the items already shown on the slides, in addition to which he gave many of the problems encountered in the distilling process, giving special emphasis to the fact that the materials employed in the process were closely controlled by the Federal pure foods and drugs Acts, and that a Corps of Excise Officers were always present in the plant to supervise the processing and testing methods to ensure that all government regulations were complied with.

Mr. McFee also elaborated on the use of the charred white oak casks for the 'ageing' process. He explained that many other methods had been tried and that a great number of patented methods had been suggested to replace the present system of storing for several years, but up to the present nothing had yet been found to approach the desired result which is obtained by the old method of ageing in oaken casks.

The lecture was followed by a question and answer period, and judging by the number of questions asked, it was evident that the Lecturer had succeeded in gaining the interest of his audience in the subject under review.

At the close of the meeting, Dr. H. Thomas, of the Canadian Arsenals, Ltd., offered the thanks of the gathering to Mr. McFee for his lucid explanations and also took the opportunity to thank Mr. Foley and the Canadian Schenley Co. for their hospitality.

Word was received recently of the death of Miss Cassiah Gaul who passed away on October 10th at Douglastown, Que., and was in her 94th year.

Chances are you get a "helping" of aluminum as part of your daily diet. Most cities use aluminum sulphate to purify the water from lakes and rivers. Oshawa, for instance, has used it for this purpose for 35 years.

Usually, however, aluminum is associated with the outside of foods. In cooking utensils, cups and frozen food containers—in wrappings for cakes and candy and roasts and left-overs—in bottle tops and hoods—aluminum helps keep what we eat and drink fresh and pure and wholesome.

Athelstan

Mission Band

Athelstan — The annual Thankoffering meeting of the Willing Workers Mission Band was held in the Presbyterian Church Hall on Saturday afternoon. Freddy Ross conducted the meeting which opened with the usual devotional period. Roll call answered by twenty-four members. While the offering was being taken up by Muriel Waldie and Marilyn Leggatt, a group of girls: Sandra O'Hara, Carolyn French, May Ross, Claire Marshall, Barbara Foers and Audrey Arnold sang "Father, We Thank Thee For the Night". Miss Mary Greig of Montreal, was the guest speaker. Miss Greig is Superintendent of St. Matthew's Sunday School and a devoted Christian worker, who also teaches English on Sunday mornings to a class of Chinese boys and men. She told a most interesting story of a little Japanese girl, who gave up her new shoes, her most cherished possession, in order to help other children learn the story of Jesus and his love. As this story was illustrated by a flannelgraph picture, it was made most interesting to the little Mission Banders. At the close of the meeting, the older members served afternoon tea to mothers and other guests present. A table of articles for sale and also to be sent for Supply was quite interesting. It is quite an education to have the privilege of being present at one of these meetings, and one is filled with wonder at the efficient manner in which they are conducted. We who are older can only regret that a similar opportunity was not given in our young days. The work of the Mission Band deserves the support of the Church, and much credit should be given the leaders, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Shearer. The offering amounted to $10.00, Children's mite boxes $9.00, and sales $25.00.

Miss M. Quigley, from the Department of Christian Education attended a Parent - Teachers meeting in the Presbyterian Church Hall on Tuesday night last. She said that Christian education is surrounding the child with influences which provide Christian growth. Miss Quigley formed those present into discussion groups. First, What are the difficulties in holding family worship, and how can these be overcome? The other group discussed, How can you answer a five or six-year-old child when he asks questions such as: (1) What does God look like? (2) Why do I have to be good? (3) I don't want to go to Sunday School, do I have to? Mrs. Bernhardt thanked Miss Quigley on behalf of the S.S. for her visit and inspirational talk.

Farmer Escapes Serious Injury When Tractor Topples

Mr. Irwin Todd of Dewittville escaped serious injury on Saturday while he was plowing in the field on his farm. He had been plowing land near the edge of the creek which runs through his farm, when the tractor slipped and toppled over, Mr. Todd was thrown from the tractor into the creek and the tractor fell on top of him pinning his legs and hips.

A passing motorist noticed the tractor tipped over but continued on home. However, thinking about the tractor he returned to the field and discovered Mr. Todd. Freeing the farmer, Mr. Todd was taken to the Barrie Memorial Hospital for examination.

As the creek was shallow and the bottom muddy, the weight of tractor was reduced considerably on Mr. Todd, who was pinned there for over two hours. He has since been released from hospital but is suffering a lot of pain.

The Week At Ottawa

By ROY LABERGE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. (CP) — Prairie farmers unable to market huge quantities of grain still on their farms are to be offered help in the form of government guarantees on bank loans. Farm held grain would be used as security.

The government announced its intentions last week but still to be arranged with the banks are details including interest rates and maximum size and duration of loans.

The announcement came eight days after a prairie delegation—headed by the agriculture ministers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—told Prime Minister St. Laurent that western store sales and tax collections were falling, and warned that the prairie economic decline could spread to the east.

Prairie producers sell their grain through the Canadian wheat board which makes its initial payment only when farmers make a delivery. But the board has imposed strict marketing quotas and thus curbed deliveries.

Similar to 1951

Trade Minister Howe said loan arrangements would be "somewhat similar" to those made in 1951 when the government guaranteed bank loans with unthreshed grain as security.

In 1951 bad harvest weather forced farmers to leave the grain in the fields. This time the loans would be on threshed grains since virtually all the prairie crop has been harvested.

The 1951 interest rate was 5½ per cent, and maximum individual loans $1,000.

At July 31, prairie farmers held about 200,000,000 bushels of grain on their farms, about one-half of it, wheat.

WESTERN FLOOD AID

Federal officials say a government contribution of about $300,000 will be made to help reimburse Saskatchewan and Manitoba victims of floods last spring.

The money will cover the Canadian government's 50-per-cent share of "disaster" relief to pay for roughly 80 per cent of private property damage caused by the flooding of prairie rivers. It will not cover damage to roads, bridges, and other municipal and provincial public utilities.

The officials said provincial requests for federal aid toward flood control measures, repairing roads, bridges and the like, will be considered at a future date.

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said at Regina that the federal assistance "will not be much help" in Saskatchewan. On the other hand Premier Campbell of Manitoba said in Winnipeg that the federal offer is generally "acceptable".

Saskatchewan, hardest hit of the two, estimated its loss at $35,000,000 not including anticipated crop losses. No official estimate was made for Manitoba.

HOG PRICES MAY FALL

Federal officials fear that Canadian hog prices may fall to the government support price level of $23 a hundredweikht for Grade A at Toronto.

Reason for the decline is heavy marketings by farmers, especially in the west, where farmers have been converting large stocks of feed grains to livestock use.

If hog prices drop to the support price it would put the federal government back into the pork business for the first time since 1952, buting hogs in order to maintain returns to farmers.

The federal government entered the market in 1952 during the United States embargo on Canadian meat exports which followed the foot and mouth disease outbreak.

BUTTER SURPLUS

Estimates of Canada's butter surplus seem to differ sharply. The National Dairy Council said in Ottawa last Wednesday that the country will have a record 73,193,000-pound surplus by next spring. But agriculture minister Gardiner was reported as saying in Edmonton last Tuesday that the surplus now is 10,000,000 pounds.

The government has always maintained that a certain amount must be held back to fill the country's butter "pipeline" during the winter months when production is at its lowest. The government says this butter is not surplus.

The council said the surplus was 58,000,000 pounds last May and 43,000,000 pounds in May, 1954.

SILENT SOVIET PRESS

Russian newspapers never published a word on what Air Commodore Fred Carpenter is reported to have said about Russia, officials here said last week.

Carpenter, RCAF chief of air operations, was quoted as saying that "our position is to make the Russians know we can knock hell out of them" and that the Russians know we can knock hell out of them" and that the Russians militarily are 20 years behind the west.

It is an interesting sidelight that Russian newspapers carried no accounts of the incidents surrounding the visit of Soviet agricultural leaders to Canada in August.

"The Russians apparently want to keep a sweet tone," one informant said.

PREPARE TO REMOVE NAVIGATION MENACE

OTTAWA, Oct. (CP) — Preparations will begin shortly on an attempt to pulverize the west coast navigation hazard called Ripple Rock. The joint bid by two Vancouver companies for $2,639,878 to remove the twinpeaked rock in Seymour Narrows, 100 miles north of Vancouver, was accepted by the federal public works department.

The job requires that the rock be removed in a single underground-underwater blast within 30 months. A charge of 750 tons of a high explosive will remove an estimated 54,000 cubic yards from the rock.

The two peaks are 400 feet apart, and stand nine and 20 feet below the low water mark. The blast will be set off, after tunnelling, in such a way that the rock should be broken into small fragments and dispersed in the channel between Vancouver island and Maud island, of the mainland.

This Week In Quebec

By Brian Selwood

Quebec, (CP). — The Wilbert Coffin murder case, scheduled to be reviewed in December by the Supreme Court of Canada drew comment last week from two high provincial authorities.

At his Friday press conference, Premier Duplessis described as "another extraordinary act of the Supreme Court of Canada" the visit of Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin to Justice Minister Garson in connection with the case.

Following the meeting, the Federal cabinet ordered the Supreme Court to review the case and return recommendations. The hearing is scheduled for December 5.

Mr. Duplessis said the legal position of Coffin's guilt normally should have been closed when the Supreme Court denied the 44-year-old prospector leave to appeal the murder conviction.

Coffin, convicted of the 1953 murder of 17 year-old Richard Lindsey in Gaspé, was scheduled to be hanged December 2. Because of the unprecedented cabinet order, officials say the execution date will be put off until some time in February.

The Premier, who is Quebec's attorney-general, said the chief justice told Mr. Abbott in effect that some judges of the Supreme Court doubted the value of the opinions of the original jury, and judges from the first trial in Perce, Que., last year, up to the Supreme Court of Canada.

"Coffin was found guilty by 12 of his peers during a trial presided over by a judge whose integrity and competence is recognized by all — Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix," Mr. Duplessis said.

"We now await the receipt of additional documents but the undeniable facts bring out the appropriateness of the recent statement of solicitor-general Rivard."

Mr. Rivard said last week that the actions of the Federal cabinet "were unusual and profoundly significant."

The order of the Supreme Court to study the case was contained in an order-in-council adopted last week by the Federal cabinet.

At that time it was disclosed that Chief Justice Kerwin informed Mr. Garson that some of the judges of the Supreme Court who denied leave of appeal to Coffin on the grounds that they had no jurisdiction to upset an earlier decision of Mr. Justice Abbott, felt they would have been inclined to hear the appeal.

Two Garages Broken Into, Substantial Losses

On the night of October 21 and 22, Empire Garage Ltd., Chateauguay St., Huntingdon, was broken into. Approximately $500 in cash was taken as well as over $800 worth of merchandise consisting of tires, tubes, automobile accessories, car radios and machine tools belonging to the Empire Garage and its employees. The thieves ransacked the offices of the garage.

On the night of October 23, thieves broke into Riverside Motors Reg'd. Entry was made through a back window of the garage and into the office by means of breaking of the Service and Parts Department's window. The building was completely ransacked both on the main floor and in the Parts basement. No cash was taken, but many hundreds of dollars in merchandise was removed, as well as three sets of machine tools belonging to the employees. Two cars were taken, a 1953 Ford and a 1954 Pontiac.

The Ford was found next morning between Howick and Ste. Martine with one set of machine tools in the car trunk. The Pontiac was found on Tuesday morning on a Service Station parking lot in the Town of Mount Royal.

The Provincial Police and the Town Police of Huntingdon are investigating.

Stolen Car Found In Huntingdon

A car was found on the property of Romain Menard early Monday morning. Police on investigating learned that the car was stolen the previous night in Montreal. As the Menard property is located just off Chateauguay Street East, a few hundred feet from the scene of the robbery at Riverside Motors, the same night, there is some conjecture that the car, a 1951 Chevrolet, was used by the thieves and abandoned where found.

Secret of Covey Hill Tower At Last Released For Public

Part 2

Background Information

There are many different kinds of radio wave.

The longest, called Very Low Frequency, are about 10 miles from crest to crest. When these are transmitted, they cling to the surface of the earth, and bend around it like a fly crawling round an orange.

The short ones, called High Frequency, range from 33 feet to 400 feet. And they don't cling to the earth, they dart away from it. But their path is blocked by a layer of "ionized air" high up in the sky. The waves hit this barrier at an angle, ricochet off, and start back down. And when they reach earth they are reflected up again. In this way, short waves are batted back and forth, and eventually get to where they are going.

The radio waves which this giant antenna at Covey Hill is pitching all the way to Long Island are very short waves - about two feet in length. They are known as Ultra High Frequency, or UHF, waves and they are used for such things as television, long distance telephone conversations, air navigation systems, and radar.

An important thing about UHF waves is that they have their own peculiar way of travelling. And that is what Covey Hill is concerned with.

Until fairly recently, scientists thought that all UHF waves acted like a flat stick held on the surface of a ball. In other words, that once they reached the horizon they refused to bend with Mother Earth and instead kept right on going, speared through the layer that successfully back-stops the short waves, and continued out into space, gone forever.

This meant that to send UHF waves any great distance relay towers had to be set up at about 25-mile intervals to catch signal and pass it along to its destination. In much the same way, a second baseman pulls down a line drive, preventing the ball from zooming off into the outfield.

Four or five years ago, however, scientists working with these UHF waves discovered that when there was no relay tower the signal did not entirely vanish past the 25 mile mark. True, it became very faint, but it was still there, and was picked up hundreds of miles away.

Obviously, some of the waves were not careening off into space. Just as part of a sunbeam streaming into a room "scatters" as it hits dust particles, it was decided, some of the UHF waves were scattering as they bounced off globs of air of different temperature and humidity.

This major discovery, to which scientists in many organizations contributed, opened broad new fields of investigation. For if some of the waves were scattering over the horizon, it followed that they could be made stronger it the signal could be made more powerful.

And if the signal was made powerful enough, intermediate relay stations might not be needed at all. Direct UHF transmission over distances of hundreds of miles suddenly became a clear possibility.

Covey Hill is one of several research projects which mushroomed rapidly as a result of this discovery.

It blends a huge antenna with a sharply stepped-up supply of electric power to drive a super-strong UHF signal all the way to Riverhead, 288 miles away on Long Island. There are no relay stations along this route, which passes through both the Adirondacks and the Green Mountains.

This antenna transmits at 468 megacycles, and is one of the largest in Canada. Built in the shape of a parabola, it is 40 feet in diameter and is mounted on a steel frame tower 50 feet high. The tower, in turn, stands atop the most northerly peak of the Adirondacks, at an elevation of 1100 feet.

In the jaw-cracking language of science, the work at Covey Hill is described as " the investigation of scatter propagation in point-to-point radio relay communication."

For the layman, that means beaming these signals in different ways, studying the results, and using them to design new and better communications systems for tomorrow.

formula has unfortunately been lost for making this type of stained glass.

Sacre-Coeur on top of Montamartre is an oriental looking church of white stone.

My first impression of Versailles was that it is very cold looking but once inside the palace, I was captivated by the rich decorations and paintings on the walls and ceilings. I was a little disappointed at the Hall of Mirrors until the guide explained that it was only lavishly decorated for visiting royalty and very important people. We tourists had to be content with a verbal description. At the time Versailles was built it was difficult for the people to obtain even a pocket size mirror, consequently this hall cost about as much as the whole palace which housed 10,000 people.

The French gardens at Versailles are well kept.

The voyage from Paris to Edinburgh was uneventful. It was a pleasure though to get back to England and hear our own language spoken again. London seemed like home as we picked out familiar places.

At Edinburgh we enjoyed walking along Princess Street and the Royal Mile. We visited Edinburgh Castle briefly as the U.S. Air Force were putting on a demonstration, so there were many people around.

We went by train to Glasgow then Kilmarnock and the hills and towns along the way were pretty.

During these last two days of our trip, we stayed with the Barr's at Hobsland. It was certainly a treat to see some good Ayrshire cattle again.

One of the men at the farm gave us a demonstration with his sheep dog. It was amazing to see the dog separate the sheep and make them go slower or faster merely by whistles from his master. These dogs will only obey their master.

I was quite surprised to see some of their sheep dyed orange, which makes them better for showing purposes.

Mr. Barr took us to see Robert Burns' cottage then we drove along the Electric Brae which is quite confusing.

We visited the Templetons at Carnell and saw their cows. Their farms are large and the insides of the barns are spotless. The barns are very bright due to the fact that they have skylight windows the full length of the building.

We left Scotland by plane at ten o'clock at night and were in New York at eight, making up five hours along the way. By Canadian time we had breakfast at four and a roast chicken dinner at seven in the morning.

It is hard to say which country I prefer after such a short stay in each. The people for the most part have the same needs as we have, only are not as demanding nor do they go at such a swift pace. They live in a relaxed, happy atmosphere, even the ones who are poor with little to look forward to in the future.

BILLY GRAHAM

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

Curiosity is a powerful incentive in attracting a crowd, and I confess it was mere curiosity that attracted me to attend one of Billy Graham's mass meetings in Toronto. A crowd always attracts a crowd, but it was not the crowd that I went out to see, for I dislike crowds and would go a long way around to avoid one. When I am jammed in a mass of people I seem to lose my personal identity and am seized with a feeling of panic to escape and recover my individuality. That may be a form of egotism, but I can't help it.

Billy Graham is a modern John the Baptist and he has all the earmarks of that first of evangelists, except that he is "clothed in soft raiment" and not in goat-skins, and does not make his abode in the desert. His habitat is great cities and he courts and delights in big crowds; but he is not of the crowd. He stands apart and sways the multitude with the old message of John the Baptist — "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." To him, great modern cities are moral and spiritual wildernesses and his is a voice crying, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight."

Referring to John the Baptist, Jesus said to the crowd, "What went ye out for to see? A reed shaken by the wind?" Graham is as straight as a reed, but he stands unshaken by any blast of criticism or cyclone of popularity. As I listened to him, perhaps too critically, I wondered wherein his power over that vast audience lay. The majority of those people were regular church-goers who were familiar with the old gospel that was being preached. But familiarity had bred indifference, and the fiery earnestness and urgency of this young and typical American shook them out of their spiritual lethargy and the old message became so startlingly new to many that they hit the trail to repentance and surrender.

It is easy to dismiss these mass evangelical revivals as "old stuff." They began with the Day of Pentecost when it was said the early Christians were all with one accord in one place and a mighty rushing wind filled the house where they were sitting, and that tongues like fire sat on each of them. "They began to speak with their tongues." Whether that should be taken literally or not, it was symbolically true. A mighty wind swept away all the doubts and fears of those first Christians and they went through the Roman Empire with tongues of fire and spoke in a language the people could understand.

Periodic revivals have occurred down through the years, and each of them originated with one man who was suddenly stricken, like Saul of Tarsus, and illuminated with a heavenly vision. John Wesley, an Anglican parish priest, suddenly felt his heart "strangely warmed" at a Moravian meeting in Holland, and the warmth burst into a flame which spread through the hearts of the common people of Britain. He forsook the parish and preached to the miners at the pitheads, to the factory workers, to the stevedores at the dock gates, to the farmers in their fields, and rode on horse-back through the British Isles preaching and organizing his converts into a band of lay evangelists. Many of them were rough characters and vile sinners by reputation; they spoke in the crude dialects of their fellow workers. Wesley told them they were not underdogs but immortal souls that needed to be saved.

The world today is vastly different from that of Wesley's or even of Moody's, but humanity is fundamentally the same, and there is no other gospel whereby man can be saved spiritually and socially than that of Jesus the Christ. Billy Graham is a typical man of today. Unlike Wesley, he does not have to go on horse-back, but flies by plane and applies modern methods of publicity and organization to the promotion of religion. He is thus a modern Methodist, and if he can by modern methods stir up and awaken the souls of men today as his great predecessor did in his day, we should be thankful.

U.S., Canada Agree On Cornwall Bridge

American and Canadian officials say they have agreed on principles to govern sharing of the cost of new bridges and roads for the St. Lawrence Seaway project near Massena, N.Y.

The bridge carries a New York Central Railroad track and the highway linking Cornwall, Ont., and Rooseveltown, N.Y. It must be removed to give headroom for shipping in the new seaway channel along the south side of Cornwall Island.

Taking part were Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the U.S. Seaway Development Corp., and Lionel Chevrier, president of Canada's Seaway Authority and their engineers.

In a statement, they said these problems had been discussed:

1. Construction of a new railroad-highway bridge over Polleys Gut, linking the U.S. mainland to the west end of Cornwall Island in Canada.

2. Relocation of the Central's single track between Rooseveltown, N.Y., and the north side of Cornwall Island.

3. Relocation of the highway now operated as part of the toll system of the Cornwall International Bridge Co. between the same points in Canada and the United States.

4. Construction of a fixed railroad-highway bridge across the upper end of the Grasse River lock and a highway — only swing bridge across the upper end. The bridges would allow uninterrupted traffic movement during passage of vessels through the lock.

The Grasse River lock is the lower of two locks to be built in the Long Sault Canal, the principal segment of Seaway construction in the United States.

Recipe Suggestions For Zestful Living

TRIED AND TESTED FOR SATISFACTION

An Apple A Day

by

Consumer Section Marketing Service

An apple holds the wealth of all four seasons—the freshness of spring, the fragrance of summer, the colours of autumn and the crisp whiteness of winter. Eating apples in any form is always a pleasure. Undoubtedly the apple is able to fill more roles than any other fruit and when combined with other foods they seem like several different fruits. Here are some suggestions from the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture for serving apples in one form or another every day during the month of November.

There is nothing so good and juicy as a crisp, white fleshed apple for an in-between-meal snack and it it so easy to slip one into the lunch box.

For dessert why not a deep-dish apple pie with no bottom crust and lots and lots of apples.

Serving lamb today? Then flavour applesauce with mint and tint it light green to serve with it.

Apple rings sauteed until lightly brown and tender are delicious when served on top of grilled pork chops.

A favourite dessert—baked apples filled with mincemeat, or brown sugar dotted lavishly with butter and sprinkled with cinnamon. Delicious served hot or cold with heavy cream.

For a special Sunday breakfast top pancakes, French toast or waffles with a sweetened applesauce, spiced or unspiced.

Chilled apple wedges served with various types of cheese will make an attractive and tasty snack or a desert for that matter.

For a tempting appetizer add cubes of unpeeled apples to the family's favourite fruit cup.

What could be better than an apple salad? A particularly delicious one is made with finely shredded crisp cabbage, chopped unpeeled red apples and whole seedless raisins, tossed lightly together with salad dressing and served in lettuce or cabbage cups.

To pep up steamed fruit pudding or hot gingerbread serve with this delicious Apple Butterscotch Sauce —simply melt a quarter of a cup of butter and blend in three-quarters of a cup of brown sugar, three tablespoons of cornstarch and a pinch of salt. Cook until the mixture is slightly browned, then add one cup of apple juice and one cup of water. Cook stirring constantly until sauce thickens—about five minutes.

Team apples with other colourful fruits or vegetables to make an attractive and at the same time edible table centrepiece.

For the children's party, besides having them bob for apples send each one home with a bright red candied apple.

Today why not serve some apple jelly, apple marmalade or apple butter with toast for breakfast.

A taste-tempting Apple Brown Betty or perhaps Apple Tapioca or Apple Charlotte is a good wholesome dessert for this cold fall day.

To dress up your hot muffins for lunch or supper add one cup of chopped peeled apples and a quarter of a teaspoon cinnamon. The family is sure to ask for more.

Try this palate-pleasing appetizer vitaminized apple juice, grape juice and ginger ale blended together in this proportion—one cup of apple juice, one cup of grape juice and half a cup of ginger ale.

To make a colourful garnish for the meat platter cut apples in half crosswise, scoop out core and simmer them in a sugar syrup until tender and fill each hollow with cranberry sauce.

This is the day for apple pie—juicy tart apples hidden beneath a layer of flaky tender pie crust.

Having a basked ham slice for dinner? Then by all means glaze it with apple juice. Simply baste the ham with the juice several times during cooking.

If it is to be roast goose, duck, chicken or pork for Sunday dinner do not forget diced apples when making the stuffing.

For a time saving dessert heat applesauce and fold in a few marshmallows cut in pieces, then sprinkle with cinnamon or grated nutmeg and serve hot.

Something worth trying as the main course for supper is winter squash stuffed with a combination of sausage meat and chopped apple or a tasty onion and apple casserole would be enjoyed with cold roast pork or ham.

For another apple treat try glazed apples. Make a syrup of one and a half cups of sugar and two cups of water, core six large cooking apples and pare about one and one-half inches down from the stem end. Place them in the syrup with the pared surface down and simmer for five minutes. Invert and cook until tender—about 10 to 15 minutes. When tender place under the broiler and baste apples frequently with the syrup until they are well glazed.

For a change serve stewed apples with custard sauce or add them to a Blanc Mange or Tapioca Cream.

Start dinner off with this easy and inexpensive appetizer—apple slices spread with nippy cheese or peanut butter.

After a heavy meal what could be better than a whole crisp, juicy apple eaten out of hand or served with a fruit knife.

Be sure to put some apple chutney or relish on the dinner table. It is so good with meat.

For lunch dress up a fruit salad plate with plenty of rosy red apple wedges. Do cut the apples at the last minute because some darken very quickly.

No matter which you choose — fresh, canned, dried or frozen be sure to serve apples in some form at least once during the day.

And now let us pause and drink to this most versatile of fruits. For the toast what could be more suitable than spicy hot apple juice. Simply add a dash of vinegar a few cloves, a stick of cinnamon and sweeten the juice to taste. Bring to the boil, strain and serve hot.

Mrs. C. L. Taylor introduced the guest Speaker, Mrs. Harris, who gave a very interesting and informative talk on work among the Indians, and told of her experiences as a teacher and Matron of the residential School in Brandon, Man.

She reminded the members that reservations can no longer support the growing number of Indians and they are coming out to live among us, and we must realize our responsibility in helping to mold their lives in order that they may be law abiding citizens, and that they received religious training and education. Herein lies apportunity for home Mission work. Mrs. J. A. McNeil thanked Mrs. Harris.

Some Speed!

The following is an item taken from the New York Herald Tribune's European edition recently:—

Traffic lights in Paris, France, are now geared to traffic moving at 45 miles an hour and the system of collecting fines for parking infractions had been speeded up so that the violator is notified to pay a fine of 900 francs (approx. $2.75) not more than six months after a ticket is put on the car!

Beauharnois

A very successful Pot Luck Supper was held on Thursday evening in St. Edward's Presbyterian Church Hall. Table decorations were effectively arranged with a centre piece of a horn of plenty from which flowed gourds and colored vine. Candles set in rosy apple holders trimmed with small maple leaves, and set at different parts of the table small nosegays of nasturtium and glowing marigolds. On the small tables were candleholders and tiny holders of fall colored flowers with delicious food provided by the guests. There was an aura of Thanksgiving and a feeling of well being. Mrs. William Monovan was responsible for the delightful setting and floral contributions. Grace was said by Mr. F. Miller, at present student supply minister of St. Edward's. After the meal Mrs. R. B. Calhoun presided over the Thank Offering meeting, opening with words of welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Rev. Barry Valentine and Mrs. Valentine and to the guests.

Mrs. Ruth Hatfield and Mrs. Hetty Graham will be delegates at a conference held in St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Friday, November 11th. Devotions were taken by Mrs. Hetty Graham.

Mrs. Calhoun introduced Rev. Barry Valentine, Trinity Church minister who was guest speaker. Mr. Valentine spoke of his visit to England and his reaction to the attitude of the church and its people in Britain today and how in many cases the church seems to be just an edifice and the people apathetic in attitude. While this may mean attendance at church it did not mean the church was alive and unless there was an improvement in their resolve the church would in time become completely inactive. The church needs animation, an alert keen perception and enthusiasm of members. That not just sitting in church each Sunday brings the welfare of the church or an alive thing to being.

Mr. Valentine showed pictures of his trip to England. The pictures were of tremendous interest and showed the greenness and beauty of the lovely English countryside to perfection. Many of the scenes were of Mr. Valentine's own particular familiar surroundings of his parents' home with his small son highlighting many of the pictures, with great-grandparents and grandparents which added a touch of warmth to the grouping. There were many views of the English lanes, old Roman roads, elegant churches with that beauty of architecture found in the old land. Churches standing from 1065 and even older, with seldom a hint of decay in their original facade. Tudor architecture, Roman and others were a joy to behold. Mr. Valentine screened a veritable treasure of his own beloved Cambridge, telling us of each building and its history. The Bridge of Sighs with its relationship to the one of similar name in Venice.

We travelled to London, to the Bloody Tower and the rest of the Tower of London, familiar Trafalgar Square, Buckingham Palace, the Horse Guards and Statues and many other sights which are typically London. Canterbury Cathedral of course with its now justly famous distinction from all others. The Cloisters here alone create a wealth of history in heraldry which cannot be found elsewhere.

There were many other delightful spots to please the eye and as Mrs. Jocques Turnbull said in her thanks to Rev. Valentine, his choice was extensive and his results tremendously successful. Mr. F. Miller closed the meeting with the Benediction.

The Cubmaster told your reporter he has an enrolment of 30 cubs this season which shows a keen interest in this work.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Marian are spending the week-end at Potsdam.

Miss Jessie Dunn is spending the week-end at Drummondville.

The members regretted that one of their number, Mrs. Clarence Johnston, is in a Montreal hospital. Members were reminded to bring old and new clothing to the November meeting when the Fall bale will be packed. Proceeds of meeting $7.45 plus donations of $10.00 and $5.00 were received.

The Kensington congregation joined with the local church on Sunday to observe the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. There was a good attendance and Rev. R. Beal had charge of the service.

Sorry to report that Mr. Geo. Platt is laid up having suffered a fall.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Atcheson were Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Sparrow and three children and Miss Irene Tubman, all of Charteris, Que.
