MANUFACTURERS WERE INDIGNANT OVER INSURANCE

Opinion Was Unanimous That Rates Are Altogether Too High and Underwriters Were Autocratic, but Several Members Advocate Peaceful Measures

Quebec, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—President W. K. George, convened the second day's session of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, sharply at ten o'clock this morning when the committee on the Department of Insurance presented their report. At the conclusion of the reading of the document a discussion followed.

Hon. E. G. Davis spoke of the abnormal rates paid for insurance in Canada and pointed out the much cheaper rates for fire protection in the United States. He said the underwriters in Canada could put the Canadian manufacturers out of business.

Mr. E. J. Henderson said they should not antagonize the underwriters of Canada. He thought that a system of inspection could be organized that might save on the risks.

Mr. MacGibbon, Montreal, spoke of the amount of insurance carried by his company and said anything that the association could do to reduce the rate of insurance to the basis of American rates would be a good thing for Canada. If the Canadian manufacturers have to compete with the American manufacturers we should have equal rates in insurance.

Underwriters are Autocratic.

Mr. Saunders said he took a deep interest in the report as he had considerable experience with underwriters. He spoke of an understanding he had with them, but was not carried out and finally the companies he was insured in raised his rates to $265 and after the Toronto fire increased the rate by 20 per cent. He remonstrated with them and when he asked for an explanation was told they needed the amount to cover the losses sustained by the Toronto fire and he would have to pay or have his policies cancelled. Mr. Saunders added that the underwriters had the manufacturers at their mercy. They were an autocratic body and the only way was to fight them and they would soon come to terms.

Mr. Macfil, Toronto, said he was a member of the Insurance Committee and besides had considerable experience with insurance. The underwriters always look out for themselves and never made any suggestions to assist the insured in a saving upon their risks, but simply look after their own benefit. However, they had no desire to antagonize the companies and should look into the matter with intelligence.

Mr. Wildman said that after paying out thousands of dollars to Canadian underwriters he was obliged to place his insurance with New England companies on account of the high rates he was called upon to pay in Canada.

Report Was Adopted.

Mr. Wilson, Ingersoll, Mr. Blair, Toronto; Mr. Morton and other gentlemen, spoke along the same lines. The latter, however, added that he went to American companies with his insurance and was refused, the underwriters saying that there were too many losses in Canada. The report was then adopted.

The report of the railway and transportation committee was next submitted and read. Mr. Piggot, discussing the clause on demurrage, said the manufacturers were penalized by the rules of demurrage.

President George said this matter was now entirely covered by new conditions brought about by the Department and through the agency of the Association's representative.

The decisions of the Railway Commission in the matter of switching were discussed. The secretary, Mr. Younge, explained that the Railway Commission in the next session of Parliament will ask for fuller powers in regard to switching and interswitching cars in order to meet all requirements in giving judgments and to avoid appeal.

The report was adopted amidst applause, the chairman of the committee commenting upon the benefit derived by the department in charge of Mr. Marlow.

Mr. Fraser, of London, wanted to know if the Association had ever asked the Commission to place the express companies under the same category as railways. President George said that two memorials on that question had already been presented to the transportation committee and suggested that they should have a motion to that effect.

Mr. Fisher, of St. John, N.B., spoke on a uniform bill of lading and of the advantages to be derived by the all-Canadian railways during the entire year and referred to the energy of the people of St. John to improve their port.

Mr. Younge explained that the subject of a uniform bill of lading had been discussed by the railway commission and they were taking the advice of the very best legal experts in the matter.

The meeting adjourned at 12.30 o'clock.

This afternoon the delegates and their ladies will go for a sail around the harbor and to-night will attend an At Home, given by Lady Jette, in their honor, at Spencerwood.

THE CONSPIRATORS

FIREMAN KILLED IN TORONTO FIRE

Mill and Elevator Destroyed Causing Loss in Sum of $160,000

Toronto, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Capt. Thomas Worrell, foreman of Berkeley street fire hall, was killed, and Capt. Sargent, of Wilton avenue fire hall, was injured and property valued at $160,000 totally destroyed by fire that broke out about 1.30 this morning in the mill and elevator of the Alexander, Brown Milling Company, on the Esplanade, at the foot of Princess street. The fire started in the lower part of the elevator, and at 1.45 the elevator wall fell in. There were in the elevator at the time Capt. Worrell, Capt. Sargent and Fireman Torry, Patterson and Fox, when the crash came. The latter two crawled underneath a freight car that was inside the building, while Tory got out unhurt. Sargent was injured by falling brick and Capt. Worrell, it is believed, was buried in the ruin.

The mill and elevator were built on the Princess street slip and were isolated buildings. The stables of P. Burns & Co. are on the west side of the slip, and the horses were safely removed. The mill, which was formerly an old sugar refinery, contained 10,000 barrels of flour and 50,000 bushels of grain. The contents were valued at $100,000, while the building itself was valued at $60,000. It was a large brick structure.

JUSTICE NESBITT WILL LEAVE BENCH

Private Practice is Much More Lucrative Than Judgeship

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—It is reported that Mr. Justice Nesbitt, of the Supreme Court, intends resigning his position to go back to practice his profession, which will be very much more lucrative to him than his judgeship, notwithstanding the recent increase in salaries.

Judge Nesbitt will be on the bench when the court next meets, but it is significant that the Ontario lists are to be called first, which probably means that he intends facilitating them before leaving.

NEW SOVEREIGN BANK BRANCH.

The Sovereign Bank of Canada has opened a branch at 167 Church Street, Toronto, in the Labor Temple. Mr. A. W. Clark, for the past three years accountant at the main office in the Manning Arcade, has been appointed manager.

THIRD OF MILLION IN SIX DAYS

That is the Record of the Building Operations for Last Week

Last week was the record one as far as building operations go, in the year. From Monday until Saturday there were thirty-two permits issued for new buildings, for a total value of $307,230 a figure that would be difficult to surpass in Montreal. The figure for repairs and alterations to existing buildings was also a large one. There were five permits issued for a value of $7,939.

Two French-Canadian electrical companies have just been formed. The "Societe Parisianes d' Installations Artistique" (Limited) with a capital of $100,000, has lately been incorporated. A company, capitalized at $250,000, has also been formed in order to exploit the patents of Mr. Francois Monterde, an electrician of Montreal.

FOREIGN TRADE SHOWS DECLINE

Return for the Last Fiscal Year Shows Decrease of $2,581,749

DECLINE WAS IN EXPORTS

Imports Showed Increase of Nearly Eight Millions—Trade With Island Colony is Growing.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The total foreign trade of Canada for the year ending June last was $470,151,289, a decrease of $2,581,749 compared with the previous year. There was an increase of $7,629,614 in the imports and a decrease of over $10,000,000 in the exports. While the trade shows a small decrease still, it is $222,512,669 better than any year during the Conservative regime.

The imports from Britain last fiscal year were $60,588,811, a decrease of $2,422,093. The exports to Britain in the same period were $101,968,771, a decrease of $15,632,065. Canada's purchases from all the British possessions, together, were $75,662,290, a decrease of $13,121. The exports to the British Empire totalled $113,876,842, a decline of $15,000,000. On the other hand, Canada's purchases of $193,172,128 from foreign countries represented an increase of nearly $8,000,000, whilst the exports to foreign countries of $87,595,213 represented an increase of $5,491,083.

From the United States we took imports of $166,040,890, an increase of over $9,000,000, whilst our exports to that country were $85,563,015, a betterment of close on $5,000,000.

Canada's trade with France shows an increase of almost $1,000,000 in imports and of $66,630 in our exports thereto. Germany, in spite of the customs surtax, sold us goods to the value of $6,642,139, a decrease of $ 336,495 compared with 1904. On the other hand we sold $1,146,654 worth of goods to Germany, a decrease of $672,569.

Canada sold Newfoundland goods to the value of $3,473,598, as compared with $2,898,690 in 1904, whilst our imports from that colony were $1,059,418 as compared with $1,071,621 in 1904.

We imported $6,077,013 from the British West Indies, as against $4,815,768 in 1904, and sold them in return $2,404,232 worth of goods, as against $2,179,774 in 1904.

KING EDWARD VII. WILL GIVE BIBLE

To Burton Parish, Second Oldest Church in United States

Richmond, Va., September 19.—Bruton Parish, the historical church of Williamsburg, Va., the second oldest church, and the church longest in continuous use in the United States, has received the offer of a Bible to be donated by King Edward VII. of Great Britain. Rev. W. A. R. Goodwin, rector of the church, is in receipt of a letter from the Archbishop of Canterbury, in which the letter states the King had consented to donate a Bible for lectern use in the Bruton Parish. The holy book will be especially and appropriately bound and prescribed. The Royal mark of esteem is to be given by the King in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the establishment of Anglo-Saxon civilization, and the English Church on Virginian shores. It is to be made particularly to Bruton Church, because of the fact that Bruton is the official successor of the Church at Jamestown.

WHAT'S IN NAME ASK JOHN CLANCY

Gave False Name to Escape Record of Four Sentences

BUT DROPPED INTO FOURTEEN

So He Recanted and Told Police His Right Name—Was Sent Down For Six Months.

John Clancy, charged with stealing a suit of clothes was to-day sentenced by Judge Lafontaine to six months imprisonment.

A story is told in connection with this case which demonstrates one of the dangers that is apt to come to the criminal who in the attempt to hide from the consequences to come of law breakings, goes into the police books under an alias. When an officer went out to bring John in, he tried to get away from four previous convictions by describing himself as John O'Brien. On referring to their records, the detectives found John O'Brien was in very bad standing, he having been through the mill no fewer than fourteen times, and on this array of illdoing being presented before the prisoner he quickly but emphatically emerged from under his alias and elected to face his own record. Thus it was he gets off to-day with the comparatively light sentence of six months.

BOUNDARY LINE MUST BE DECIDED

Buffalo Paper Comments on Warlike Methods of Canadian Cruiser

Buffalo, Sept. 19.—The Buffalo Evening News says:—Discussion is rife along the American shores of Lake Erie, among the marine men in general, and fishermen in particular, as to the right of the Canadian Government boats to fire into American fishing tugs. While it is conceded that the Canadian authorities usually close one eye to the operations of the fishermen, and give them great consideration as far as the boundary line in Lake Erie is concerned, still the justice of the recent attempted seizures of the tugs is questioned. The Canadian boat starts from a given point and follows an imaginary line, as does the American, but there is always a difference of opinion as to the line. The only way to determine the proper location of the line is to take an observation of the sun for the purpose of ascertaining the latitude and longitude, and this must be done by the American boat at the time he is first fired upon. A compass is not at all reliable in determining the true line, on account of its variations. For instance, it varies at Erie three degrees and eight minutes west, and at Ashtabula one degree and forty-six minutes west, and these two points are only fifty miles apart. Probably the best means of determining whether or not the American vessel is in its own waters when fired upon is for him to drop a buoy overboard at the instant the first shot is fired. Then the distance to each shore can be measured and the exact spot with relation to the boundary line located.

MONTREAL PRIEST NOW MR. RYAN'S CHAPLAIN

New York, Sept. 19.—Rev. Father J. M. White, of the Montreal diocese, is to become family chaplain to Thomas F. Ryan, the railroad magnate, who owns control of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan completed the arrangements on a recent visit to Ottawa, Canada. The Ryan family have a superb chapel at their residence at Suffern, Rockland County, and another in their Fifth Avenue home in this city. Permission ofr the assignment of Father White was granted by the Pope, with all the special honors attached, and he will immediately enter upon his duties.

Father White was formerly of the Diocese of St. Johns, Nfld. and gained a reputation for sincerity and power of oratory. Ill-health forced him to give up the active work of a parish, and he removed to Montreal to work with the Rev. Father Casey, of St. Agnes'. Ten days ago Archbishop Bruchesi appointed him to the Ste. Theresa College.

GOVERNMENT PATRONAGE CAUSES DISCUSSION

In the Ranks of Kingston Conservatives—Trouble Over Rockwood Coal Supply.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 19.—(Special)—There is much dissatisfaction in local Conservative ranks regarding patronage. Pending the call for tenders for coal for Rockwood, J. Howards was given orders by Hon. Mr. Hanna to put in all coal required. James Mallen resented this favoritism and got an order from the Rockwood office, so it is said, to help in the temporary supply as he was deemed as good a Conservative as Mr. Sowards and had a right to put in some of the supply. Then trouble broke out when Hon. Mr. Hanna sent down word that Mr. Mallen was not to supply any of the coal.

PRIMROSE LODGE ANNIVERSARY.

Primrose Lodge, No. 49, Sons of England, celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of its institution in the rooms, 2204 St. Catherine street, last evening. After a short business session, refreshments were served and under the chairmanship of President P. J. Smith, an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and speeches was carried out, those contributing being Bros. Macpherson, W. G. Hart, Waterson, Redhead, Thomas Hutchinson, Murdoch, J. A. Edwards, James Clarke, Dodd, George Haysey, (district deputy supr emepresident), Wilkinson, Franklin and Thomas Lee. The present year has been a record one for Primrose Lodge, which now numbers some 250 members.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

St. John, N.B., Sept. 19.—(Special)—Mr. William R. T. Harrison, deputy collector of Inland Revenue, St. John, was to-day found dead in his home on Elliott Row. Mr. Harrison was thirty-two years of age and an enthusiastic sportsman. It is thought he was cleaning his gun when it was discharged, the charge carrying away one half of his head. The deceased was a son of Mr. W. F. Harrison, a prominent citizen. His brother was Captain Charles F. Harrison, who died in South Africa, while serving with the Canadian troops.

THE ST. LOUIS RIOTS.

The True Witness refers as follows to the recent troubles at St Louis de Mile End:

"Shame upon those who, regardless of law and decency, have by their blackguardly actions disturbed the meetings of the Salvation Army at the Annex. We feel certain that no responsible person was among the band or lawless individuals. Only a vicious, idle mob could be guilty of such misdemeanors as detailed in our daily papers. Granting that we do not see eye to eye with the Salvation Army, we must admit that they are working for the submerged tenth according to their light. No one is forced to listen to them, or to join in their meetings, but they have rights which should and must be respected. Fair play and liberty are words to conjure with in some instances, but their meaning is misunderstood by many. We trust that Canon Lapailleur's timely advice last Sunday will be followed by the blotting out of the disgrace on the fair name of the municipality of St. Louis.

MARSHALL PLAYED GOOD DEFENCE.

Nuremberg, Germany, Sept. 19.—Tarrasch and Marshall played the second game of their match of eight games up at the local club this afternoon. Marshall, as second player, adopted the McCutcheon variation of the French defence, selecting the continuation Bishop to Queen's second, making the game highly interesting from start to finish, which came after only thirty moves had been recorded, the result being a draw. The score now reads:

Tarrasch	1

NEW FIRE BRIGADE CARD.

The superintendent of the Fire Brigade is busy preparing a new card, the purpose of which will be to select the apparatus to respond to the various alarms, first, second, and third. This will result in a more scientific distribution of the resources of the bzrigade. It will also provide for increased protection of the congested business district.

ALD. GALLERY WAS NOT IN CONTEMPT

He Has Suboenaed Several Prominent Politicians of St. Ann's

Ald. D. Gallery, M.P., appeared before Mr. Justice Davidson in the Practice Court this morning to answer to a contempt motion preferred by Mr. Bisaillon because he failed to appear for examination yesterday morning in the election protest brought against him.

Mr. J. L. Perron, K.C., appeared for Mr. Gallery, and explained that the member for St. Anne's had not turned up on Monday morning because he knew nothing about the affair, having only landed from Europe at five o'clock on Saturday evening, which did not give him the legal 24 hours notice to appear.

Mr. Justice Davidson remarked that Mr. Bisaillon had certainly shown a great deal of haste in demanding Mr. Gallery's appearance. There did not appear to be any contempt, and he fixed the appearance of Mr. Gallery for examination for Friday morning next.

Ald. Gallery subsequently stated that he had not appeared in court on Monday because no notice had been served upon him, and he knew nothing about the necessity for his attendance. He declared that he was most anxious to expedite affairs so as to bring the protest to speedy trial. Mr. Gallery has engaged Mr. Aime Geoffrion, K.C., as counsel on the case, and declares that he has absolutely nothing to fear, and will force the fight to a speedy finish.

By way of carrying the war into the enemy's camp, Mr. Gallery to-day instructed his counsel to issue subpoenas for the examination of Dr. Guerin and Mr. James Rodgers, as well as the two petitioners, Wm. Darlington and Cornellus Gleason. Application will be made that these four be examined as to how the protest was brought about and who supplied the funds.

One of the Cleanest and Best.

(Halifax Chronicle.)

The Montreal Herald's "Progress Edition" was aptly named, for it illustrated not only The Herald's own progress, but also the abounding prosperity and growth of the Dominion. Special attention is given to Montreal, which apparently is enjoying a large measure of prosperity, but the story of Canada's expansion is also told in a series of well-written articles. Altogether the "Progress Edition" is a credit to The Herald, which is in its 97th year, and is one of the cleanest and best of Canadian newspapers.

Fair and Cooler

Since yesterday morning rain has fallen over Quebec, the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia, and a few scattered showers have occurred in Saskatchewan. Heavy local showers have also been experienced in the Lake Superior district, lower lakes and Georgian Bay. Winds, increasing to strong breezes and moderate gales, southerly shifting to westerly. Fair and warm until evening, then local showers and thunderstorms. Wednesday strong westerly to north-westerly winds, fair and cooler. The readings in Montreal during the past 24 hours showed maximum and minimum of 70 and 58. The record at various other points yesterday was as follows: Victoria, 52, 62; Vancouver, 49, 56; Edmonton, 30, 66; Calgary, 26, 30; Swift Current, 44, 60; Port Arthur, 52, 58; Toronto, 64, 74; Ottawa, 62, 70; Quebec, 52, 62; St. John, 54, 58; Halifax, 56, 58.

SIR GILBERT PARKER ADMIRES CANADIAN WEST

Novelist Has Arrived at New York and Comments on Canadian Tour.

New York, September 19.—Sir Gilbert Parker, author, playwright and member of Parliament, is in New York on his way to England after spending several weeks in Canada. He is enthusiastic over the Northwestern part of the Dominion and says that ti is one of the richest agricultural districts in the world. He claims it is being settled rapidly, that about half the immigrants are from the United States and that as a rule they are becoming British subjects. He sees in this an evidence of the friendly feeling existing between the United States and Canada.

M. WITTE IN PARIS.

Paris, Sept. 19.—M. Witte, accompanied by his wife and daughter and several members of the Russian mission, arrived here to-day after a tedious night ride from Cherbourg. Following the express wish of the Russian statesman, there was no formal reception and only a few intimate friends gathered at the Northern railroad station. A crowd of travellers respectfully saluted M. Witte, who bowed his acknowledgments. He appeared to be much fatigued by the voyage, entered an automobile and was conducted to the Hotel Bristol. Mr. Witte will make a brief stay in Paris, conferring with Ambassador Neldoff, and probably also with President Loubet and Premier Rouvier. Prof. De Martens, who is already here, will leave Paris to-morrow for Berlin, arriving in St. Petersburg on Saturday.

BOYS WERE ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Group Ranging in Age from Thirteen to Fifteen Now in Custody.

During the past four weeks quite a long row of petty robberies by housebreaking have been reported to the City Detective Department from the East End of the city, and investigation by officers McLaughlin and Richard, suggested that in each instance this was the work of boys.

Latterly suspicion rested on Jules Grandcourt, and when he was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon, he incriminated his companions Leopold Joly and Philias Robitaille, who were also taken in charge at detective headquarters in the course of the evening. The two whose ages range from thirteen to fifteen years, were to-day placed on remand for enquette.

Amongst the premises raided were those of:

Jas. Cuddy & Co., dry goods, 533 East Notre Dame Street.

R. Desilets, druggist, 453 East Notre Dame Street.

Mrs. Dansereau, millinery, 412 East Notre Dame Street.

Florent Mouillie, locksmith, 252 East Craig Street.

H. Kotsonas & Co., fruits and confectionery, 619 East Craig Street.

Morris Kadenoff, second hand store, 816 East Craig Street.

W. Strachan & Co., soap manufacturers, 2 St. Timothee Street.

MUNICIPAL VOTERS' LISTS ARE NOW BEING PREPARED

The Various Legal Stages of the Lists Are Here Explained

In the Assessor's office at the City Hall, the work of preparing the municipal voters' list is going forward busily. The lists must be prepared each year before the first of December, but during the month of November are open to the examination of any ratepayer, who wishes to see if his name has been duly recorded. The names are then divided into polling districts by the assessors, alphabetically, and any one can get a list by paying a fee of [illegible] cents per 100 words.

If the assessors neglect to provide such alphabetical lists, or knowingly omit therefrom the names of any who have that right, they are liable to a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment.

On December 1, the list must be delivered certified to the City Clerk and on the same day by him to the City Treasurer. The City Treasurer then disqualifies on the list every name which is in arrears of personal or water tax. Then, on December 1, the treasurer delivers the list again to the City Clerk in whose office it may be seen by parties interested until after revision. The City Clerk then advertises a date on which the lists will be revised.

The citizen who is in arrears of taxes on December 1 is then not eligible to vote on the municipal elections.

MONTREAL AND PARIS DIFFER IN SANITATION

One of the civic officials this morning was in possession of a draft of the very latest sanitary by-law passed in Paris. The measure in question is almost amusing when comparions are made with Montreal, as it seems that the French capital stands near the top of the ladder in the matter of sanitary legislation.

Among the clauses in the by-law are the following: Hotels and boarding houses must provide a volume of air about fifteen square yards, for each person. There must be a space of eight feet between floor and ceiling. No wall paper must be used. The walls must be plastered and whitewashed at least once a year with lime. All paintings must be light in shade and renewed once per year. All rooms must be well ventilated, and have direct light.

LONG-HAIRED FAITH HEALER LAYS ON HANDS AND WONDERFUL CURES FOLLOW THE TREATMENT

Seaforth, Ont., Sept. 19.—Robert Sharman, long of hair, wearer of black clothes but having the appearance of a prosperous mechanic, is the sensation of Huron county to-day. Three weeks ago he came to this town. It was a bright August afternoon when he alighted from a Grand Trunk train, and his personal appearance at once attracted attention. Sharman registered at the Queen's hotel, giving his place of residence as the Northwest Territories and his business that of a healer.

Yesterday 400 persons called upon him. The day before there were nearly as many. For two weeks he has averaged from 200 to 400 callers per day. His cures run into scores and hundreds.

Men and women are flocking here from every part of the country. The hotels are crowded with persons anxious to meet Sharman and test his curative powers. It is like a fair day in the town. Farmers drive in from many miles around, always with some sick one to present.

Often the cases are pathetic. Patients are brought in resting on beds, hayracks and gravel wagons having been turned into temporary ambulances. At the Queen's hotel, where Sharman makes his headquarters, it is often impossible to crowd through the corridors.

The fame of the man has spread abroad until stories of the most miraculous cures are told with every sign of credence, and the whole countryside is apparently ready to stake its reputation upon the genuineness of the healer.

When Sharman registered as healer there were many incredulous smiles over the hotel blotter. But the man got down to business at once. He made it plain first of all that there was no charge. Those who might be healed by his art had the privilege of making him a present, but this was in no way compulsory.

From the outset he met with success. In ten minutes he had brought ease and comfort to a man in middle life, a hotel habitue, whose limbs had been tortured for years by rheumatics. The man could walk without the aid of his stick.

Sharman does not heal by faith. He asks no questions of the patient, his system being merely the laying on of hands.

For himself he accepts none of the glory. He does not even claim to be the seventh son of a seventh son. "It is the work of God," he says. "I am in His hands, to do His will. When I discovered that I had this power I quit my work as a machinist."

The healer is about 60 years of age. He is very intelligent and impresses one with his honest face and clear, strong eyes.

He does not refuse any kind of case that is presented to him. He claims to have operated upon a woman for cancer of the liver a few months ago and to have met with success.

Life Impossible Without Sleep

The Vitality Consumed during Waking Hours Must be Restored by Sleep —Otherwise Collapse.

Men have lived for weeks without food, whereas a few days without sleep and man becomes a raving maniac—a mental and physical wreck.

Nights of sleeplessness tell of a feeble and depleted nervous system, of approaching nervous prostration or paralysis.

The use of opiates merely gives temporary relief, and actually hastens the collapse of the nervous system.

The regular and persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will form new, rich blood, create new nerve force and thoroughly cure sleeplessness and nervous exhaustion.

By keeping a record of your increase in weight while using this great food cure you can be certain that new, firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body. You will feel the benefit in every organ.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MALONE FAIR.

For the Franklin County Fair at Malone, the New York Central Railroad will make special reduced rates, season tickets being sold September 18th to 22nd inclusive, valid for return to September 23rd, and special one day tickets at very low rates will be sold September 20th, 21st and 22nd.

This fair is generally conceded to be one of the best fairs held in New York State, and the horse races are always a special feature, being participated in by some of the fastest horses in the country. The programme this year offers better and more varied attractions than ever before.

FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. KAULBACH.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sophy A. Kaulbach, widow of the late Hon. Senator Kaulbach (Lunenburg, N.S.), took place Saturday afternoon from 227 Clarke Avenue, Westmount, to the Church of the Advent, where service was read by the Rev. Mr. Dowd, the cortege then proceeding to Mount Royal Cemetery, where interment took place. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, silently testifying to the extreme love in which the deceased was held. On the casket were placed a beautiful cross, andchor and heart, signifying faith, hope and charity, each in which her life abounded.

The chief mourners were Mr. H. Ryland Low, Mr. Warwick H. Low, Mr. F. G. Low, nephews of deceased; Mr. Philip de V. Low, and the Rev. Archdeacon Kaulbach, brother-in-law.

DOMINION NEWS TOLD IN A LINE

One Day's Record of the Latest Happenings in Canada.

Toronto.—There is every probability that most of the provincial election protests will be dropped.

Toronto.—Magistrate Kingsford registered a conviction for selling ice cream on Sunday.

Winnipeg.—Whaley Kennedy, young son of John Kennedy, was accidentally shot at Belmont, on Saturday night, and died yesterday.

Toronto.—The indictment of the Street Railway Company for not installing air brakes was adjourned until December.

Winnipeg.—Rev. Wm. James West, of W. K. West & Co., real estate agents, dropped dead yesterday in his home after an illness of but one day. He was fifty-four years of age.

Richmond, Que.—Mr. Fraser, county treasurer of Richmond, has sent in his resignation, to take effect 1st January next. Mr. Rowatt, is an applicant for the position.

Woodstock.—The by-law voting $50,000 for improvements to waterworks and electric plant carried by a vote of 437 to 165. Improvement includes building a large reservoir southwest of the city.

Ottawa.—Captain Dunn, of the Government cruiser Vigilant, is applying to the department for a quick-firing gun for his boat. It appears that poachers on Lake Erie do not pay any heed to the rifle which the captain now has on board.

London, Ont.—This year, in spite of the fact that Friday was a wet day and that the evening performance had to be cancelled, the Western Fair Association have $8,000 to add to the "rainy day fund," which now amounts to $10,000.

Hamilton, Ont.—The three newspapers of this city have agreed to the eight-hour day, which will go into effect on Oct. 1st next. The typesetting machine operators have practically been working eight hours a day for some time.

Toronto.—Rev. Thomas Eakin, M.A., Ph.D., pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Guelph, has been appointed by the Ontario Government to the lectureship in Oriental languages in the University of Toronto, made vacant by the death of Dr. Murison.

Winnipeg, Man.—Abaut fifty printers, mostly job men, went out on strike yesterday. Thirteen offices are affected, where the employers refused to sign the eight-hour agreement. Three daily newspapers are not affected, having signed. The employers were given until to-day to sign.

Fort William.—The big freight steamer Golspie, which was reported missing since the big storm on Lake Superior, but which eventually turned up here all right, seven days overdue, cleared this port last night for Montreal, with the first cargo of new grain to leave here this season.

Toronto.—Senator McMullen, who has returned from the West, states that, had there not been a bumper crop this year there would have been great financial disaster in the West, and that two or three such crops are in reality necessary to put the country on a firm basis.

Kingston, Ont.—Surveyors are out on the Kingston, Smith's Falls and Ottawa Railway, and it is said the work of construction will begin in the spring. It is understood that the Government is under promise to revote the subsidy to this line at the next session of Parliament, meantime the work is to be pushed.

Ottawa.—The heavy rain, which kept up a steady downpour all Saturday night and Sunday, was torrential in Pontiac county, flooding railways, and around Campbell's Bay washed out part of the Canadian Pacific Railway track, delaying traffic for some time.

Skagway.—The Big Salmon country in the Yukon territory has come to the front as a producer of big gold nuggets. One of the largest nuggets of pure gold found in the North for some time was uncovered on Livingston Creek, in the Big Salmon district, recently. It is worth $614, and is almost as large as a man's fist.

Winnipeg.—The bridge and steel structural workers of the city are endeavoring to arrange a new schedule with their employers, to take effect on October 1st of the present year. At present the wages being paid are thirty-five cents per hour for ten hours. Their new schedule calls for forty cents for nine hours.

Toronto—Premier Whitney replying to a deputation of about 100 members of the Northwest Field Force, who asked that land grants similar to the other veterans be allowed them, said emphatically that they might make up their minds that there would be no more land grants. The grants already made under the Veterans' Land Grants Act had tied up all the available land in New Ontario, and it would take ten years to finish surveying for the applications now in.

Halifax, N. S.—The United States Schooner Glendale, of East Port, Me., was seized to-day, at Campbell, by Collector Clarke for violation of customs regulations in failing to clear when sailing from Campbell last summer. General orders to seize the Glendale were issued about two weeks ago to all customs officers, as Collector Clarke said he feared an attempt might be made from East Port to cut the schooner out.

Woodstock, Ont.—Josephine McCorquodale, the 14-year-old daughter of D. McCorquodale, of West Zorra, died during an operation, from the effects of chloroform. Dr. Brodie was operating on her to remove an obstruction of the throat, and there were two other doctors present, who administered the chloroform. When the operation was about half through it was seen that the anaesthetic was having a bad effect, and steps were immediately taken to revive her. She died, however, about fifteen minutes after the chloroform had been administered.

Winnipeg.—James Cowan, contractor, pulled out of town on Saturday evening with one of his outfits and went into camp south of the Canadian Pacific Railway shops, preparatory to starting work grading the roadbed for the link that will connect the C. N. R., Hudson's Bay line, so-called, with the main line in St. Charles. This line will run from the point where the H. B. line intersects with the C. P. R. line, and will run through St James, just outside the city limits, crossing over the Assiniboine and through St. Charles to the C. N. R. main line connection being made therewith, a short distance west of Fort Whyte.

Hamilton, Ont.—Mr. John Robson Cameron, editor of The Spectator, has been connected with that paper for twenty-five years. In celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary, the reportorial, business office, news room and mechanical staffs of the Spectator presented him with a purse of gold.

Hamilton, Ont.—William F. Kirby, the G.T.R. fireman who was critically injured by being thrown from the cab window of a locomotive at Oakville on Nov. 3, died at the City Hospital yesterday. The remains were sent to Sarnia, where the deceased resided.

MONTREALS MAY MAKE A CHANGE

And Practice in Mornings— Captain Will be Elected Wednesday

Crack Mike Shea, of the Montreal Football Club, is not satisfied with the results of the night practices and is endeavoring to persuade the club's executive to arrange for morning workouts.

He finds that the players, while they can get into condition by practising at night, do not acquire the knack of handling the ball cleanly. He argues that muffs mean the loss of points and that muffing will continue if the players do not get some practice under the same conditions as those which exist when they play their matches.

The Montreals are hopeful of landing the championship this season and the candidates for places on the team practice as often as they can. Every afternoon a big bunch is out, availing themselves of Coach Shea's tutelage and the night practices are attended by large numbers.

A practice was held last night but Coach Shea exercised the men in running and passing and did not allow them to line up as the grounds were wet and slippery.

President Victor E. Buchanan has called a meeting of last season's players and this year's committee for Wednesday night, 8.15 o'clock, at the club-house. At this meeting, the advisability of holding morning practices will be discussed and a captain will be elected. Hammy Gordon will likely be chosen to fill the position.

WALKING CONTESTS WILL LIKELY BE REVIVED

New York, Sept. 19.—Walking contests are to be revived here by the Amateur Athletic Union. There have been no events of this kind on the championship programme since 1898. It was said at that time that they were eliminated to make way for throwing the discus. This substitution was caused by the victory of Robert Garrett, of Princeton, at the first revival of the Olympic games in Greece in 1896.

For a while afterward the athletes here were discus mad, and the A.A.U. added it to the programme at the expense of the time-honored branch of walking. It has been found, according to local athletes, that discus throwing is no real test of strength, and that its expert handling is a knack which many of the best weight throwers have failed to master.

Next fall, at the metropolitan and national conventions, steps probably will be taken to have the walks inserted in all the union programmes, and the discus may be dropped.

Diamonds reset, latest styles, prices low. R. Hemsley, 255 St. James.—Adv.

OLYMPIC GAMES WILL BE HELD AT ATHENS

Secretary James E. Sullivan, of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, has been appointed secretary of the American committee in connection with the Olympic games to be held in Athens in 1906.

The games, which will be open exclusively to amateurs, will be held under the presidency of the Crown Prince of Greece. The preliminary circular has been issued, and provides for the usual foot races, including the forty kilometre race from Marathon to the Stadium. There will also be five jumping events, throwing the discus, throwing the palet, putting the weight and the pentathlon or all-round championship.

The rest of the programme provides for wrestling, gymnastics, shooting and fencing competitions, boat racing and athletic games, such as tennis and cricket.

The date of the celebration will be announced later, as will also the official programme and the rules governing each competition.

WAITING FOR THE BOYS.

Mother, put the kettle on, the boys are on the way,
Comin' home from all about to spend Thanksgivin' day.
One a judge and one a doc., and one a millionaire,
But hungry for the old home kiss, and plain old homely fare.
Baste the turkey once again, and crisp his golden brown,
Bet they can't get grub like that a-livin' down to town.
Cramb'ry sass and veg'tables — ain't they fine to see?
Our boys are bringing appetites home to you and me.
Our boys are bringin' other things, but dearest in our sight
Is love for us who keep the home, and faith and appetite!
Mother, put the kettle on, and have the water hot,
CHASE & SANBORN'S coffee is the stuff that hits the spot,
Gracious, ain't it splendid when you open up that tin,
Beats the scents of Arahy! Lemme sniff ag'in.
Boys will smell it from the hill, and how they'll hurry up,
Shake from dad — a kiss from Ma, and then a brimming cup.

CANADA CARRIED OFF EIGHT GRAND PRIZES AT LIEGE

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, Sept. 19.—The Canadian Associated Press representative at Liege, Belgium, telegraphs that among the awards announced to-day Canada wins eight grand prizes in the following exhibits: Agriculture, forestry, fruits, fish and game, fauna, cereals, minerals and tobacco. Canada did not compete in industries, but the board of professors granted under the classification of paper making, honorable mention for Canadian pulp. In all the foregoing eight classifications Canada won thirty points in each or the highest possible. The board of jurors pronounce the present exhibit practically perfect and not eclipsed by another country. Commissioner Hutchison and his staff are receiving many congratulations.

Kingston, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Lieut. Lindsay will conduct the Canadian Engineer corps to Halifax, and will be placed in permanent charge of the corps there. A successor at Kingston will be named.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

The visiting governors for the present week to the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge and to the Homes at Longue Pointe are: Lt.-Col. Jeffrey H. Burland and James Ross, Esq.

In Knox church last night, Mr. and Mrs. Todd were presented with a handsome timepiece from the Christian Endeavor Branch on the occasion of their marriage. Mr. Todd is vice-president.

Mr. David H. Rennoldson, the wholesale grocer and importer, of 90 and 92 Youville Square this morning consented to assign for the benefit of his creditors, on demand of Mr. H. W. Smyth, accountant.

At the American Presbyterian Church to-night, Rev. Milton Jack, of Chateauguay Basin will be formally designated to the missionary work in Formosa, when addresses will be delivered by Rev. Dr. E. Scott, Rev. J. Clark and Rev. D. Johnston

At the noon hour yesterday Nazare Noel, a longshoreman in the employ of the Donaldson line fell into the hold of the steamer Morina and sustained a fracture of the skull and severe internal injuries. He is at present undergoing treatment at the General Hospital, but little hope is entertained of his recovery.

Ten thousand dollars is the amount of damages claimed by Mr. J. S. Masson from the Gt. Northern Railway Co., for the loss of his right foot, which was cut off while he was coupling cars as a brakeman at Shawinigan Falls. Mr. Masson claims that the accident was caused by the brakes being out of order.

A demand of liquidation has been filed against the Societe de Credit Hebdomadaire by Mr. Joseph E. Bouvier, law student, who claims that the company was not living up to its obligations and puts in as proof of his claim unpaid "contracts" to the extent of several hundred dollars. The company, which operates upon the familiar lines of weekly payments with large rawards at the end of a specified time, is objecting to the demand, and has engaged Messrs. eGoffrion and Bissonnette to look after its interests. Mr. Justice Robidoux gave them until the 21st of September in which to put in a reply to the demand of liquidation.

FRANCO-GERMAN CRISIS RENEWED OVER MORROCCO

Paris, Sept. 19.—Another crisis has arisen in the negotiations between France and Germany relative to the Moroccan conference. This has resulted in a suspension of the meetings between Dr. Rosen (the new German minister to Morocco), and F. Reveil (former governor of Algiers) the special plenipotentiaries of Germany and France. Their last meeting occurred three days ago and there is no present sign of the resumption of their conferences. Dr. Rosen in the meantime is seeking instructions from Berlin but the extended delay begins to excite apprehension in official quarters that Germany will not yield upon points which France considers to be essential. Both sides show anxiety and the strain promises to affect the Bourse seriously. However, the foreign office continues to view the situation as susceptible of adjustment and specifically denies the alarmist report in a French newspaper, that the German demands include the port of Mogador, upon the Atlantic coast of Morocco.

The following official statement was made to the Associated Press to-day on the subject:

"The question of the cession of the port of Mogador does not enter into the negotiations in any form for the obvious reason that Germany and France in their exchange of notes have specifically agreed to maintain the integrity of Moroccan territory. Therefore it is impossible to negotiate upon the cession of Mogador or any other part of Moroccan territory."

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES WILL NOT INTERFERE

Dispute Over Chaudiere Power Will be Left For Courts to Decide.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(Special.)— The Federal authorities have decided it is not their business to interfere between the interests on the Ontario and Quebec sides which are fighting for the Chaudiere power on the Ottawa River. The Booths, Ottawa Electric, Bronsons, and city of Ottawa, representing the Ontario interests and the Eddy and the Hull Power Company representing the Quebec interests will have to have their dispute settled by the courts. In the meantime the works on each side will be pushed so the power may be secured by the interests which are the most enterprising. The power of the Chaudiere has made a good many fortunes, but it is expected that it will take several of them to have the present dispute settled.

POLITICIANS OUT WEST ARE BECOMING ACTIVE

Many Candidates Nominated—Hon. Mr. Haultain Has Been Offered a Constituency.

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—(—Special.) — Political matters in Saskatchewan and Alberta are warming up and it is generally expected that election day will not be far distant from November 10.

There are three Liberal candidates in Red Deer constituency, Alberta, and a new convention will be called.

Innisfail Conservatives nominated J. R. Curry, Mayor of Innisfail, as their candidate.

Hon. Mr. Haultain was not present at the convention held by the Conservatives of South Qu'Appelle at Didsbury, but has wired his acceptance. Moosejaw Liberals selected John Sheppard, of Pioneer. Arcola Liberals nominated J. D. Stewart, a prominent farmer. Souris Liberals met at Gainsborough yesterday and selected D. L. Lockhart as their candidate for the Saskatchewan Legislature.

REGIMENT DISBANDED OCT. 1.

Ottawa, (Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The Royal Garrison regiment at Halifax will be disbanded on October 1. Those who desire to remain in the garrison under the Canadian Government can do so, and those who do not will be returned to England. The Royal Engineers will remain for another year finishing work they have in hand. The Canadian Government expect to be in full control on October 10.

Personal Mention

Mr. F. D. Butler, of Philadelphia, is in the city on a visit to relatives.

Mr. Justice Bosse of Quebec, registered at the Place Viger last evening.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaise is at Ottawa to-day, and will be at his departmental offices here to-morrow.

Mr. H. M. Hueston, city editor of the Winnipeg Telegram, is east on a holiday and renewed old acquaintances in the newspaper offices.

Mr. W. D. Reid of the Newfoundland Railway has received from Prince Louis of Battenburg an autograph photograph and a silver cigar case.

Rev. Archdeacon Richardson, of London, Ont., is spending a few days in the city on his way home from the Quebec Synod, and is visiting his son, Mr. Gordon Richardson, of the Bank of Montreal.

Hon. Lomer Gouin will probably be the guest of honor to-morrow evening at the annual banquet of the Hochelaga Agricultural Society at Bout de l'Ile. On Friday he will preside at a Cabinet meeting at Quebec.

Hon. W. A. Weir left yesterday for a tour of Argenteuil. He will make most of the distance by carriage and will traverse the townships of Mille Isles, Grill, Wentworth and Chatham. To-morrow he will assist at the opening of the Lachute exhibition.

Mr. Thomas Fyshe, who was injured by a passing vehicle last Saturday night on McGill Street, is reported as resting easily this morning. It will be some time before Mr. Fyshe will be able to be about town, as his system has received a very severe shock.

Mr. H. J. Wakeham of Chicago was introduced on 'Change and at the Board of Trade yesterday by Mr. D. M. Stewart; Mr. Frank Plummer and Mr. A. J. McCurdy of Boston were introduced by Mr. F. R. McCarthy, and Mr. Hugh R. Baird of Toronto by Mr. C. J. Baird.

LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION ON THE TARIFF REVISION QUESTION

Mr. R. L. Borden, on His Way to Quebec, is Reticent as to His Opinion of Mr. George's Tariff Proposal—Winter Session of Parliament

Mr. R. L. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, who is here to-day on his way from Halifax to Quebec, where he will attend the annual banquet of the Manufacturers' Association, does not announce any change of view with regard to the questions upon which the manufacturers are in conclave. When he gets through with the captains of industry in the Ancient capital Mr. Borden will go on to Ottawa where he will remain for the next few weeks, but as to whether he will make that city his place of permanent abode he is still undecided.

"The newspapers have decided that question for me," observed Mr. Borden, "but as for myself, I have not yet made up my mind whether I will live there or not," he remarked to a Herald representative at the Windsor. When asked what he thought of President George's proposition that a policy of Imperial preference should be adopted which would give to Great Britain such an advantage as would draw to British channels as much as possible of the trade of Canada after the needs of the home manufacturers have been satisfied he replied: "Do you think there will be much left?"

"I am not much of an authority on the subject," said Mr. Borden. "I have not studied that aspect of the question very deeply. It is true I have spoken on the subject several times, perhaps half a dozen times or more, but I would not like to discuss it at present. I have not advanced in my position in any way. I suppose I will have to say something about it at the banquet."

"As to the Canadian tariff, have you any announcement to make?"

"Not at present. Until the commission which is now at work out west presents its report we do not know what the government will do. No doubt tariff legislation will form the principal business of the coming session but as to the nature of it I do not know any more than you. I presume that the House will meet in January for the despatch of business, but that is pure conjection for many things might happen that might influence the government in fixing the date.

"Do you think the proposal to change the date of the meeting of Parliament to November will have a beneficial effect on public business and will lead to a shortening of the session?"

"As to the effect on public business I do; but the shortening of the session that depends upon other things."

The proposal is that the House should meet in November and of changing the financial year from the 30th of June to the 31st of March was first made by Mr. Boyd of Manitoba a couple of years ago and it impressed me favorably. I think it is well that Parliament should be in session in the winter months when the agricultural operations of the country are suspended. The members who are interested in farming will find it a great advantage to be able to get away when the busy season comes on and so will the majority of the others. I think the change will be popular."

"The change of the financial year will, I think, be a decided advantage as it will enable the members to have the departmental reports at least a month earlier in the session than they do now. The business of the House is sometimes delayed because the reports are not ready. The discussion of the estimates has often been postponed because certain information contained in the Auditor-General's report was not available. With the financial year ending in March the whole of the reports ought to be easily ready when the House mets in November.

"With regard to the shortening of the session I do not think the mere change of the date of meeting will affect that. But I think something may be done in that direction too, by the adoption of some new principles in the regulation of business. For one thing we should have the official reports and as much of the Government business as possible, early in the session. The Government should make it a rule never to introduce new business after a certain period in the session; the House ought to meet five days in the week, instead of three in the first weeks of the session, a change which it ought not to be difficult to make if the business is ready; and the Opposition ought to be prepared with their criticism of public measures and public policy earlier than it usually is"—in other words the members on both sides should be more diligent. With the House meeting in the winter instead of the summer months it ought not to be difficult to keep them in the chambers and interested in the business. It is hard to get them to remain in their places in the summer. They all want to get outside and this has a bad effect on the progress of business."

MAMMOTH OMELET ON BLEURY STREET PAVEMENT

There was a sudden drop in eggs this morning which, although it may not have affected the market to any appreciable extent, at least made things interesting for the participants, and presented a sight to the passers-by which they will remember every time they eat an egg.

At about ten o'clock this morning a waggon loaded to the brim with cases of eggs, was coming down Bleury St. at a leisurely pace. Travelling in the same direction, but behind the cart, came an Amherst car on its noisy way. The motorman felt in no mood evidently to be obstructed by a common, every-day slow-going produce cart, for he clanged his bell till it sounded as if the fire department was on the rampage. This, however, had not the slightest effect on the driver of the cart, for, contentedly smoking his pipe, he merely said a sleepy 'Gee-up" to his faithful steed.

But, alas, he little knew what Fate had in store for him.

The car was quickly drawing up and once more the warning clangs went forth, but the driver heeded not. Then, of a sudden, something happened. The motorman was apparently unable to get his brakes to work on the slippery rails, for at the corner of Bleury and Jurors Streets the car crashed into the waggon and in the traction of a minute the air was blue with exclamations and the street was strewn with egg shells. There were all kinds of eggs jumbled up into a yellow and white mess. There were big eggs and small eggs, brown eggs and white eggs, fresh eggs and eggs that were not quite so fresh. There were scrambled eggs, whipped eggs, and in fact that part of Bleury Street looked as if a huge omelet was reposing on it or an egg-plant had gone "dippy" and spilt its whole production. It is computed that there were enough eggs demolished to make egg-sandwiches for the whole vegetarion colony until the cows come home.

Needless to say that the motorman, in order to exonerate himself, gave an exact explanation of how it had all happened, but the driver was sufficiently egotistical to stick to his side of the story, which, on being examined, some said was exaggerated. Be that as it may, it did not take the small boys who swarm in that district long to find out what a harvest had come their way. Although a policeman was there in the execution of his duty, this did not prevent the young pirates from making away with a good part of the wreckage. Sheltered in the lee of the waggon, they filled their trousers fore and aft with the eggs that had been left intact and they skipped away with enough to keep the family in eggs for the next generation.

CHAMPIONSHIP ROUND OPENS TO-DAY

The first round of the championship competition took place this afternoon at two o'clock, also the first round of the consolation competition; the play is match play, eighteen holes. The course is in fine condition. The greens are looking well after the rain, anf if the weather keeps up will be in good condition for the finals.

To-day's favorites are Miss Thomson, Miss Lily Young and Miss Phepoe. As the conditions are match play Miss Harvey, Mrs. Burritt and Miss Bond should have a good chance. Miss Young's approaching yesterday was the best throughout the competition. The most interesting match this afternoon will be Miss Harvey and Mrs. Burritt.

The prize winners in the open handicap and qualifying round for the championship yesterday were as follows:— Best gross score, Miss Thomson, St. John, 89.

First handicap prize, Miss Phepoe, Hamilton, 96; scratch, 96.

Second handicap prize, Miss L. Young, Montreal, 97; scratch, 97.

Third handicap prize, Miss A. Myles, Rosedale, 110, less 9—101.

Driving competition to-morrow at 10 a.m. Entries—Miss Harvey, Mrs. Woodruff, Miss Cox, Miss E. Molson, Miss F. Christie, Miss F. M. Green, Miss F. Cains.

Approaching and putting competition, Thursday, ten a.m. Entries—Miss Harvey, Mrs. Woodruff, Miss Cox, Miss Molson, Miss Christie, Miss Coffils, Mis Green, Mrs. Cains, Mrs. McCuaig, Mrs. Hodgson, Mrs. R. T. Greenshields,, Miss Winthrop.

This morning Miss Christie, Miss Cox, Mrs. Woodruff and Miss Molson played one hole to decide the last three places in the sixteen for championship honors. Miss Cox with seven Miss Christie, nine; Mrs. Woodruff, 9, are respectively A. B and C. in the draw. Miss Molson with ten, is D., in the consolation draw.

Philadelphia.—General Isaac A. Wistar, of this city, philanthropist and scientist, died at his summer home in Claymont, Delorain. He was 78 years of age. In 1892 he founded the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology of the University of Pennsylvania with an endowment of $30,000 a year.

MANY TYPHOID CASES ARE NOW IN MONTREAL

Typhoid in the city seems to be slightly on the increase ata present, though it hs by no means reached the alarming proportions of last year.

The Royal Victoria Hospital reports 33 cases, the Montreal General 23, the Notre Dame 4, and the Western 2, making a total of 62 cases in the city.

Annual Meeting of Soo Ry

The annual meeting of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway was held to-day at Minneapolis, Mr. C. D. Drinkwater representing the C.P.R. interests. The election of directors and officers resulted as follows:

President, Thomas Lowry; vice-president and general manager, E. Pennington; second vice-president, W. L. Martin; secretary and treasurer, C. F. Clement; auditor, C. W. Gardner; directors, Thomas Lowry, W. L. Martin, W. D. Washburn, C. H. Petit, E. Pennington, George R. Newell and A. H. Bright, Minneapolis; E. A. Young, St. Paul; Sir William C. Van Horne, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and R. B. Angus, Montreal.

As the question of dividend was settled some time ago, and the voting will be very largely by proxy, a rather quiet meeting is anticipated.

METHODISTS ON ST. LOUIS TROUBLES

Ministerial Association Deplores Them—Appointments for the Year

At the initial meeting of the year of the Methodist Ministerial Association, at Wesleyan Theological College, yesterday, the recent disturbandes at St. Louis de Mile End, where the members of the Salvation Army were rather harshly treated, came up for discussion.

On motion of Rev. A. Halpenny and Principal Shaw, LL.D., a strongly worded resolution of sympathy with the Army was passed in connection with the matter. The resolution read.

"That this Methodist Ministerial Association, at its first meeting of the year, begs to record its deepest regret that the civil authorities of St. Louis de Mile End have so far failed to give adequate protection to the Salvation Army in the exercise of their privilege of free speech and public meeting; that their hall was partially wrecked and finally closed, and that many members of the army were insulted and injured; and at the same time gladly recognize the fact that French and English, Roman Catholic and Protestant prominent citizens have disapproved of these disgraceful circumstances, and especially do we approve of the words of condemnation of such violence by the cure of the parish."

The resolution was carried unanimously.

The following were appointed as representatives of the Methodist Church in connection with the various public bodies:

Evangelistic Alliance—Rev. Dr. T. G. Williams.

JAPAN'S FINANCES HEALTHY IN TONE

Disappointing Peace Terms Sobered Business and Financial Interests

Tokio, September 19.—Despite the fact that the ebullition of popular dissatisfaction over the peace arrangements continues unabated, there are indications that the business contingent is slowly sobering down. The capital intended for new enterprises following the successful conclusion or the treaty of peace is gradually coming into the banks as deposits in amounts which are likely to lower the rate of interest.

The profound disappointment which has prevailed has at least proved a benefit to the extent of saving the people from any feverish intoxication, resulting in bubble enterprises like those which accompanied the close of the war with China. The moneyed class has resumed the attitude of cautious frugality which guided its transactions during the war, the financial outlook is not gloomy, and capital is impatiently waiting solid investments.

BANK REPORTS LOSS ON LARGE SUMS OF MONEY

Chief Carpenter, of the detective force, had a telegraphic communication from a Port Hope bank this morning intimating a desire to have returned there for trial a young man who is alleged to have obtained considerable sums of money there by means of bogus cheques.

The erring and absent one was supposed to have come in the direction of Montreal, and in the course of a visit to the city hotels this forenoon an officer ran across a stalwart young man who seemed to answer the description. He was slightly under the influence of liquor, and meantime is located at detective headquarters pending further particulars from Port Hope.

James Campbell, alias Alexander Campbell, is the name of the man now under arrest.

WARRANT ISSUED IN TRAIN ROBBERY CASE

In connection with the disappearance from the mail car of a South Shore Railway train on Saturday of a package containing registered letters, inquiries have resulted in suspicion attaching to a man who is alleged to have been see on the train in question on the journey between Montreal and Sorel.

To-day Inspector Chamberlain, of the provincial police, swore out a warrant for the arrest of the man whose name it is not considered judicious to mention meantime, but who is said to be neither a government nor a railway employe.

ADDRESS OF THE RETIRING PRESIDENT FEATURE OF DAY

Two Hundred Manufacturers Are in Session at the Ancient Capital—President George Delivered Eloquent Address—Touching on Tariff Matters, Imperial Topics and Work of Association—Civic Reception Last Evening

Quebec, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—There were two hundred delegates at the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon, when the president, Mr. W. K. George, called the meeting to order in the council chamber of the City Hall.

The chairman started off with the remark that they would dispense with speech-making, and after tendering the thanks of the association to the Mayor and aldermen of Quebec for placing the City Hall at their disposal, declared the meeting in session. After the reading of correspondence, which included a communication from Lieut.-Col. Turnbull, president of the Quebec Garrison Club, placing the freedom of the club at the disposal of the delegates during their sojourn in the city, the treasurer, Mr. George Booth, read out the financial statement.

The treasurer, in his report, showed a balance to the credit of the association of $6,806. He suggested a raise in the membership fee.

Mr. Ballantyne, of Montreal, was in favor of an increase of the membership fee to $15, which he did not consider too high.

Mr. John Piggatt, Chatham, Ont., was in favor of a sliding scale. He pointed to the labor organizations, whom they had frequently to cope with, and were very strongly equipped, and did not see why manufacturers did not take steps to place themselves on a firm basis, which required funds.

Mr. Geo. E. Amyot, Quebec, was in favor of an increase of fees, inasmuch as the association was called upon from time to time to perform undertakings in their interest that would benefit them. He certainly was in favor of an increase provided after the members spoke. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

The chairman said the question required a notice of motion, consequently nothing could be done in the matter this year. He, however, was in accord with the proposition, as the fee of $10 did not begin to pay for the results the members got.

Mr. Thomas, Toronto, suggested the creation of a reserve fund.

Mr. D. L. McGibbon, Montreal, wanted a contingent fund in case of an emergency.

Messrs. Piggatt and G. E. Amyot opposed the proposition, saying the Manufacturers' Association were well able to raise a fund if one were ever opened.

The suggestion was voted down.

Mr. R. J. Young, general secretary of the association, followed with his report on the work done by the association during the past year.

The report was received with evident satisfaction, and the chairman paid a very flattering tribute to the work done during the year by the general secretary.

The parliamentary committee followed with its report.

Reference was made to the labor situation, which showed improvement on the previous year, the labor market being very healthy, and strikes few. Strong objection was taken to the tax on commercial travellers and the extra provincial corporation tax.

These matters were ultimately referred to the resolutions committee with a recommendation to draft resolutions for submittal to the provincial Premier's conference, so that the heads of the Provinces may see what opposition among the manufacturers exists to these taxes. A clause in the report, which was received with applause, was that stating "while a number of daily papers are publishing editorials advocating the reform or the abolition of the Senate, we do not think it out of place to note that it has been to a large extent the Senate that has protected the business people of the Dominion from class legislation. The Canadian public must frankly acknowledge their indebtedness to the Senate for this service."

With the adoption of the reports, the session closed.

MAYOR PARENT WELCOMES DELEGATES TO QUEBEC

A civic reception was held at the City Hall last night in honor of the visiting delegates and their ladies. The interior of the building was beautifully decorated with flags, plants and electrical light effects.

Besides His Worship Mayor Parent and aldermen there were assembled fully one thousand ladies and gentlemen, prominent citizens of the Ancient Capital to receive the delegates, their wives and daughters.

Mayor Parent, assisted by Madame G. E. Amyot, wife of the vice-president for the Province of Quebec, and Madame G. A. Vandry, wife of the president of the Quebec branch, received the guests in the Mayor's parlors, and later the entire company proceeded to the Council chamber, where Hon. Mr. Parent presented the following address of welcome:

"The Mayor and aldermen of the city of Quebec are happy to receive you here, this evening, and they highly appreciate the honor you do them in coming in such large numbers, to accept their frank and cordial hospitality. It is a veritable satisfaction for us to tender you the welcome of Quebec, in our city hall. The importance of your conventions, the widely spread reports of your deliberations, had already contributed to advertise our country abroad, but the right royal welcome which you have received, in Paris, in London and at Windsor Castle, have added fresh lustre to the good reputation of our country. It is not for us to undertake a demonstration of the advantages nature has lavished on this particular point of our soil, the wonderful development of which they are susceptible through the application of the resources of science, of invention and modern discoveries. You are competent judges in these matters, and we hope that the opinion you will carry away will be favorable to Quebec. We attach to you visit and to your sojourn in our midst, an exceptional importance, especially just now when it seems to us that the hour of transformation for Quebec is about to sound. The assured completion of the great bridge, the construction of a new transcontinental line, the entrance into our city of several railroads, which are going to draw us out of the isolation, from which we have suffered so long, the natural facilities of our post, susceptible of so vast a development, the reputation of intelligence and ability, the special aptness of our working population strengthen in us the hope of a better future. What marvellous results would be achieved for our city through your effective co-operation, gentlemen, if your passage in our midst will have the effect of implanting here, a few at least, of the flourishing industries of which you are the chiefs or the authorized representatives. It is our hope, that the meetings of the Congress of Canadian Manufacturers of 1905, will be memorable to us in many ways, and that apart from the pleasure of meeting you in social and friendly intercourse, some manifest proofs will remain standing among us of the confidence you share with us in the future of Quebec.

Mr. G. A. Vandry, chairman of the Quebec branch, extended the greetings of the local branch in an able address which touched on the good relations existing between the different races of the Dominion, on the railway and commercial development and on the bright future of this province. During his remarks he stated that the business interests of this city have under consideration the idea of holding a mammoth world's fair in Quebec in the summer of 1908, in conjunction with the celebration of the city's triennial anniversary.

Mr. W. K. McNaughton, of Toronto, replied on behalf of the association, his sentiments expressed regarding the cordial relations existing between the French and English-speaking people of the Dominion being heartily applauded.

PRESIDENT DELIVERS THE ANNUAL ADDRESS

The president's annual address was then delivered by W. K. George, retiring president of the association. It was a comprehensive review of the work of the association, of its benefits, and the objects for national expansion and improvement, which it has in view. He said that it

MAYOR PARENT,
Who Officially Welcomed the Manufacturers to Quebec.

was truly a happy inspiration which led the hospitable manufacturers of this historic city to invite our Association to hold its 34th Annual Convention within its gates—and truly, too, is this opportunity of visiting the ancient capital appreciated by every one of their guests.

"See Naples and die; see Quebec and live forever," is the realistic way in which a well-known romance is introduced, and we agree with the author when later he says, "Till men see Quebec, they will not fully realize the meaning of the term 'God's footsool.' It is a land worth living for."

It is fitting that on this occasion we, of the older provinces, should extend our congratulations to Saskatchewan and Alberta, these two new sister provinces, each an empire in extent, which have been carved out of that great North Land. We expect much from the Canadian West, and we hope that with the added powers and responsibilities of local government that the provinces will readily equip themselves and be prepared for the great development that is surely theirs.

Within a few days after the formal organization of these new provinces the first sod of the Grand Trunk Pacific was turned at Fort William. We note with satisfaction that contracts for part of the western division of the road have already been let and that the work is going to be vigorously pushed ahead. The new road will not only help to solve the great transportation problem of the West, but it is going to open up for settlement another country equal in importance to that traversed by our first transcontinental railway, the Canadian Pacific.

Since our last Annual Meeting, Canada has enjoyed a year of prosperity—a year blessed with exceptional harvests, a marked development of our country, and a satisfactory increase in our population. Our manufacturers on the whole have a favorable year's business to report. Some industries have suffered severely through an unequal competition, and we look to the present Tariff Commission, with its thorough revision of the tariff, to so equalize conditions that our manufacturers will have a fair chance to supply their own market. The present situation is due in part to satisfactory trade conditions in the United States and the operation of the anti-dumping clauses of the Canadian tariff, which together have resulted in a lessening of slaughter competition.

TRADE RETURNS.

The figures showing the total amount of our foreign trade have not materially altered. Such changes as have taken place, are, however, not discouraging, showing a falling off on the year previous of seven and a half million dollars. Our exports are less by about ten million dollars, which is largely accounted for by a decrease in the exports of agricultural products amounting to seven million dollars. On the other hand, our imports have increased by two and a half million dollars. This discrepancy between exports and imports reveals a condition which is not healthy. A young country like Canada, recognized as an exporter of natural products, should not have to report for its year's business that its imports exceeded its exports by fifty-eight millions of dollars. It is impossible to cover up the seriousness of this debit balance by any economic theories. It must be settled for by Canada sooner or later, and the gravity of the situation becomes apparent when we realize that this sum is equal to one-half the cost of the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad. I trust, however, that with the magnificent harvests of this year and with a thorough revision of our customs tariff at an early date, that our trade returns will rapidly become more favorable.

VALUE OF THE HOME MARKET EMPHASIZED

I am convinced that Canadians appreciate as they never did before how important the manufacturing industries are to the country. From the Atlantic to the Pacific there is a pronounced preference for goods "Made in Canada." This preference is not merely one of sentiment but it is the result of careful thought on the part of our people. They have begun to realize that it is the manufacturers who are the main stay of our cities and who are thus providing for our farmers their great consuming markets. Too often have our own people, the farmers particularly, failed to appreciate the value of the consuming market at home, in comparison with the really small percentage of our farm products which we send abroad.

The Government has for some time recognized the importance of assisting the development of Canadian export trade by appointing commercial agents to foreign centres. This service has been considerably extended and developed during the past year, and is becoming of more practical benefit. While we recognize fully the necessity of proceeding cautiously, there are many centres, particularly within the Empire, where the right stamp of men could be used to advantage, and we trust that our Government will extend the service as rapidly as possible. In some centres definite results may not be quickly apparent, but, on the other hand, we all know that any export busines which we have secured has been of a gradual growth.

Emigration to Canada is increasing and the emigrants are for the most part desirable. It is to Canada's advantage that settlers should not come to us so numerously that we are unable to assimilate them to our laws, language and institutions. Our enormous harvest in the North-West will be a great attraction, and we may expect the 146 thousand of 1905 to be increased to 175 thousand in 1906. In some respects, however, Canada can afford to go slowly and care should be taken to attract only those emigrants that are best suited to Canadian conditions.

THE TARIFF SITUATION.

Now I wish to refer briefly to those particular features of the work of the Dominion Parliament which are of the greatest importance to manufactures, namely, tariff and labor legislation. At the Halifax Convention of 1902, what is known as the Halifax tariff resolution was passed, which stated "That in the opinion of the Association the changed conditions which now obtain in Canada demand the immediate and thorough revision of the tariff upon lines which will more effectually transfer to the workshops of our Dominion the manufacture of many of the goods which we now import from other countries," and later the same resolution declares in favor of a substantial preference for the different parts of the British Empire. This resolution has been kept to the fore by the Association ever since it was passed; the changed conditions manifest in 1902 are equally so to-day, and it gives us much satisfaction to know that a Government Commission is now taking evidence for the purpose of thoroughly revising the tariff. We believe that by a just, wise and careful revision, calculated to meet present day conditions and necessities, an immense impetus will be given to our industrial life, which will be beneficial to all and detrimental to none of our people.

The attitude of the Canadian people to-day gives us the greatest cause for satisfaction. No longer is the tariff made a question of party politics, nor is it looked upon as class legislation. To-day, we are thinking, not individually, nor locally, nor provincially, but nationally. Practically all Canadians now recognize in the tariff a business and not a political proposition, and believe that if we wish to build up our country, if we wish to attract capital and industry, we cannot do so by permitting the manufacturers of the United States or other countries to make for us the goods which could just as well be "Made in Canada."

We believe that the great majority of Canadians now appreciate the justness of our position, and recognize the necessity and commercial wisdom of a protective policy for our young country. We are blessed with boundless stores of natural resources, the exploitation and development of which are simply awaiting a fair and reasonable chance of success in competition with the older, better established or more favorably situated industries of other countries.

It is useless to endeavor to conceal the fact that the large proportion of the goods we would shut out, are made in the United States. The people of the Republic to the south are a great people, their country is a great country. They have lived for themselves, and by their policy of protection have made wonderful progress. We, on the other hand, have stood by and watched them increase their tariff year by year, shutting out almost completely the products of Canada; we, too, have watched them year by year taking a greater advantage of our lower tariff, and sending more and more of their goods to Canada, thereby retarding the development of our industries. Last year we imported from the United States goods to the value of one hundred and sixty-two million dollars, or over 62 per cent. of our total importations. This enormous sum was about equally divided between dutiable and free goods. The increase in dutiable goods over 1904 was about six million dollars, and about twenty-three million dollars greater in 1902, the year of the Halifax resolution. The total value of dutiable goods imported for the last fiscal year is one hundred and fifty-seven million dollars, and I am safe in saying that from 65 to 70 million dollars worth of these goods could be made to advantage at home.

DOES NOT LOOK FOR GENERAL TARIFF REVISION

The Finance Minister of Canada has announced that the new tariff would be one of three schedules. This will give an opportunity to have a sufficiently high tariff against unfriendly tariff countries, and an opportunity also to give to the British Empire a preference less hurtful to Canada and more advantageous to the Empire. The Association has declared itself in favor of a policy of preferential tariffs and believes in making this policy effective, notwithstanding the criticism of those who refuse to understand the simple, reasonable and patriotic stand we have taken. Our position is briefly this. We desire to make in Canada everything which we can advantageously produce, and to buy our surplus requirements as far as possible from British sources. What could be more simple?

The Tariff Commission has been appointed to revise the tariff. It is not probable that there will be another general revision for some years, so I cannot impress upon you too strongly the importance of laying your requests before the Commission. And further, let me say to you that your requests should be conservative and the reasons you advance should be conclusive. I am hopeful that the new tariff will not only properly protect our industries, but will be an incentive to the establishment of many new ones.

OUR FOREIGN RELATIONS.

With the expansion of our commerce and with growing business interests in every part of the world, Canadians must take a deeper interest in international affairs. But before touching on the conditions in the Empire which I shall more particularly refer to, I wish to add my prayer of thankfulness that peace has been re-established in the Far East. This war has been a sad story, and all civilization rejoices in its close.

CANADIAN STEAMSHIP LINES.

I desire now to refer to the increasing necessity for a satisfactory fast Atlantic service. It is most unfortunate that at present the bulk of Canadian freight and mails is carried through United States ports. This is particularly lamentable with regard to traffic with Great Britain. It is admitted that the shortest route from Great Britain to America is via Canada, and yet we do not grasp the natural advantages of our position. The Canadian Government has for many years subsidized steamship companies for a mail service, from Montreal to Liverpool in the summer, and from Halifax to Liverpool in the winter, but notwithstanding this, at least 80 per cent. of Canadian mails and passengers go and come by New York. The unfortunate impression created abroad by this condition is that Canada is a hinterland, shut off from the Atlantic seaboard by the United States.

This is the kind of an advertisement that Canada cannot afford to have continued. It can and should be rectified. If the 240 thousand dollars subsidy paid in 1904-05 for our British service is not sufficient to give Canada a service good enough for Canadian traffic, then I believe, and I am sure that the people of Canada will agree that the Government should at once increase it so as to make it worth while for a steamship company to give Canada a service between her eastern ports and Great Britain, which would not only carry Canadian passengers, and mails, but would be so fast and so satisfactory that many United States passengers and much of the United States mail would be delivered through Canadian ports. The beneficial advertisement which Canada would thus obtain, as compared with the detrimental advertising she is at present receiving, would be worth much more to the country than the amount of the increased subsidy.

A party numbering two hundred and seventy-eight, and representing the Dominion from sea to sea, availed themselves of the opportunity offered to visit the Motherland. I think I am safe in saying that those who were fortunate enough to compose the party had no conception of the warmth of the welcome awaiting them, or of the hospitality which was to be showered upon them in so many ways.

The warmth of the welcome extended to us was not confined to Great Britain, but in Paris, the government, the city and the Chamber of Commerce, welcomed us with a cordiality that could not be exceeded. We were greatly pleased with our visit to France, because we believe that in some small way we assisted in strengthening the entente cordiale now happily consummated between England and France.

Everywhere the party went they aroused the greatest interest in Canada and her progress. Her agriculture, her railways, her factories, her mines, her forest wealth—indeed, her glowing possibilities in every direction—were the universal topics of interest. Since the close of the tour there are many evidences of practical results. Canada is going to have more of the better class of emigrants from Great Britain. She is going to sell more goods too, and, I hope also, buy more goods from the British people, and, what is more important, she is going to receive for the development of her manufacturing industries a larger share of British capital than she has ever received in the past. All of these results mean much to Canada and to the Empire.

THE IMPERIAL POLICY OF THE MANUFACTURERS

Further, I may say that our visit has resulted in a vastly clearer understanding on the part of the British people in reference to our position on tariff matters and our insistence on the necessity of protection to our industries. We refrained from taking any part in political controversies. I stated, however, plainly and frankly, the policy of this Association, that the Canadian market should as far as reasonably possible, be supplied by our own manufacturers, but, above and beyond that, our aim was that our surplus requirements should, with the same reasonable judgment, be purchased from British sources.

I am glad to say to you now that never once during the entire tour was the wisdom or reasonableness of our position debated. Both political parties in England, so far as I can learn, acknowledge the wisdom of this policy for Canada, and also, I believe, recognized its advantages from an Imperial standpoint as one designed to build up and develop our portion of the great Empire.

THE BURDEN OF DEFENCE.

Wherever we went in England we heard the opinion expressed that the Canadians should not allow the people of the British Isles to bear the whole expense of the Imperial navy, and we could not help feeling somewhat ashamed. Surely no self-respecting Canadian will argue that the British taxpayer should bear the burden of defending Canadian trade and commerce, and surely no intelligent Canadian will argue that Canadian trade and commerce needs no defender. The history of every nation worthy of the name proves to the contrary. We must face this question squarely and assume our responsibilities or else we must cease boasting of our prosperity and of our dawning manhood, and acknowledge ourselves a dependent colony, pure and simple.

We must recognize that defence is necessary and we must endeavor to relieve the British taxpayer of that proportion of his burden which is fairly chargeable to us.

There is no doubt, that if Canada were an independent country, we would be obliged to support a navy. The little kingdom of Holland, with an area less than half as great as our province of New Brunswick, and a population less than that of Canada, had in 1902 129 men-of-war, 32 of them ironclads. Sweden, with an area about half as large as the province of Quebec, and with a population also less than that of Canada, has 68 warships, including 23 ironclads, and Norway, a still smaller country, with about half the population of Sweden, has a navy consisting of 55 warships. Is it not time that our vast Dominion, with a population of about six million prosperous people, should share the responsibility of defending that great Empire to which we are all so proud to belong?

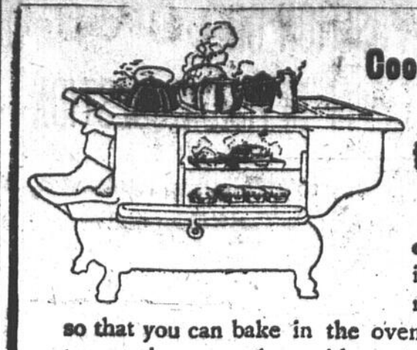

After reviewing the work of the departments of the Association, Mr. George closed his address as follows:

"I would like you to try and picture to yourselves the future which lies before this Canada of ours. I feel how impotent my words are to paint the picture which my mind contains. But think of what our possibilities are. Our area so vast that many of the great Empires of the world to-day would be lost in it. Our soil gloriously fertile, and our natural resources almost illimitable.

We are standing to-day on the threshold of a mighty development in which our geographical position will be a factor of no mean importance. Across Canada will lie the shortest route from Europe to that mighty East which is just preparing to shake itself free from centuries of Oriental exclusiveness. An enormous trade with the outside world will soon be in progress, and, with our advantageous routes, Canada will undoubtedly become the highway of the nations.

Surely, when we consider even these features alone it is not difficult to realize that Canada's due destiny is to become a great and a prosperous country.

We cannot hope to live to see the full development, but so much of the future depends upon the present, that it behooves each and every one of us to think and to think hard on the great question of how we can lay the foundation so as to secure the best development of the glorious heritage which is ours; so that our country will not only become great and prosperous, but peaceful and happy, redounding to the glory of God and to the good of man.

Cooks and Bakes perfectly at the same time

There is not another range built in which the heat may be regulated so that you can bake in the oven and cook on the top at the same time without spoiling one or the other.

A PRETTY CANADIAN GIRL

Regains Health and Beauty By the Aid of Pe-ru-na.

MISS. LOUISE MOORE, 36 McGill St, TORONTO, CAN.

CATARRH once fastened upon the human system is liable to invade any part of the body.

In many cases of catarrh of the head the disease spreads downwards and involves the stomach.

Then it spreads farther downwards into the duodenum and finally passes through the ducts into the liver.

This inevitably produces sluggishness of the liver.

The catarrhal inflammation thickens the mucous membranes and thus clogs up the ducts that are carrying the bile from the liver into the duodenum.

The bile becomes dammed up in the gall bladdder and accumulates within the liver.

It is then reabsorbed into the blood, producing bilious headaches, general languor, furred tongue, irregular appetite, sallow complexions, skin eruptions and, in long standing cases, jaundice.

Miss Louise Moore, 36 McGill St., Toronto, Can., writes:

"I wish to express my gratitude to you for giving to suffering humanity your wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"I was an invalid from catarrh of the liver. I was despondent, my skin was sallow. I had a bad taste in my mouth in the morning, my tongue was coated a dark brown and my breath was very bad at times. I was subject to sick headaches and vomiting. My bowels were irregular and I was wretched.

"I doctored for some time without becoming much better, and finally at the suggestion of friends I tried Peruna. The result was magical, and within four months I was completely cured."—Louise Moore.

Peruna by removing the catarrhal condiiton promptly mitigates all of these disagreeable symptoms.

The functions of the various oragns are restored to their natural activities, the impurities are promptly excreted and the health restored.

Catarrh in any organ of the body, but especially catarrh of the liver, is a beauty-destroying disease.

Peruna at once strikes at the source of the disfigurements by removing the cause.

Catarrh is the cause. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is a natural beautifier.

If you suffer from any of the above symptoms, buy a bottle of Peruna at once.

Peruna can be purchased for $1.00 per bottle at all first class drug stores.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman and he will be pleased to give you the benefit of his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, U. S. A.

ST. ANTOINE STREET BUILDING RULES

All Structures Must be at Least Three Storeys and of Proper Material

The City Council had a rather calm session yesterday afternoon, getting through with a great deal of routine work that has been piling up for some time.

The principal item of business was the adoption of Ald. Leclaire's by-law regarding the regulation of building on St. Antoine street. This by-law evoked a great deal of discussion at this and the previous meeting, but it was finally passed.

Last year the City began widening operations on St. Antoine street. The work will not be completed for some years to come, and the idea of the measure proposed by Ald. Leclaire is to prevent new buildings from going up that will not be standard in appearance. The by-law reads as follows:

"No person shall use any wooden buildings or part of any wooden building now existing on the South side of St. Antoine street, from Craig street to the Western limits of the city.

"Every new building erected on the lots fronting on either side of St. Antoine street from Craig street to the Western limits of the city, shall have a frontage of ashlar or cut stone, cement, or concrete, of iron or pressed brick of the best quality, capable of supporting a pressure of 750 pounds per square inch, or of any other durable and incombustible material (to the exclusion of wood, wood and brick, wood cased with sheet-iron, wood and stone, for walls). Ornamental terra cotta may be used to ornament the frontage. The cornices shall be of sheet-iron, copper, stone or brick.

"The new buildings shall not have less than three storeys, the first of which shall be twelve (12) feet high and the two others ten (10) feet, or a total height of not less than thirty-eight 38) feet, from the sidewalk to the top of the roof."

CENTRAL ELECTRIC GETS POWERS.

A lengthy debate arose over the application of the Central Electric Company to lay pipes under St. James street for the purpose of conveying exhaust steam for heating uses.

The Road Committee reported recommending that this privilege be extended to the company.

Ald. L. A. Lapointe objected to giving what looked like another monopoly of the streets to another company.

Ald. Ames did not see in what way it would injure the city to have the pipes laid, as there were safeguards to prevent abuses.

The report as drafted required the payment of twenty-five cents a square foot for the pipes. This was changed to ten cents a running foot and the report was adopted.

There was considerable further discussion before the matter was allowed to drop, Alds. Couture and Clearihue advising a policy of caution in the affair.

NEW FIRE VALVES ORDERED.

A report of the Fire Committee asking that one hundred Nault non-interference valves for hydrants be purchased was adopted. Ald. Robertson moved in amendment that the Pa-e valve be bought but was voted down.

The city attorneys gave their opinion on a point raised by Ald. Ames over Ald. Lavallee's motion that the salaries of civic laborers be increased. The attorneys stated that this could not be discussed in Council without a report from the Finance Committee.

The report of the Police Committee that the sum of $900 be diverted from the salary of a sub-chief not yet appointed was adopted.

It was decided to change the name of St. Hippolite street from Sherbrooke street to Mount Royal Ave., to Colonial Avenue.

In response to a letter ftrom he Harbor Commissioners asking the Council to name a delegation to talk over the Elgin basin sewer matter, and the control of Commissioners' street, a committee including Alds. Vallieres, Ames, Lariviere, and L. A. Lapointe was appointed.

The Council adjourned until Thursday afternoon.

ST. DENIS NEUTRAL PANEL UP FOR DISCUSSION

The Finance Committee yesterday discussed the neutral panel school tax, which has, in some of its aspects, become a problem to civic administrators.

Dr. Lanctot, of St. Henri, appeared before the committee to protest against the collection of this tax in St. Henri by the city after annexation. Dr. Lanctot was of opinion that things were better left as they are in St. Henri.

City Treasurer Robb brought in his report on the collection of the neutral panel tax in St. Denis ward, as follows:

"Some time ago I was called upon by the Protestant Board of School Commissioners to collect the school tax on Protestant and Neutral properties in St. Denis Ward which had been annexed to the School Municipality of Montreal for that purpose. I did not see my way clear to include the "Neutral Panel" and notified the Board to that effect, reporting the matter at the same time to your committee.

"Since then the subject has been again brought before me and as the City Atttorneys are of he opinion that it is the duty of the City to make the collection, I notified the Secretaries of the several separate school districts to that effect—but as considerable difference of opinion exists among these municipalities I should be pleased to have the advice of your committee on the premises."

The committee decided to authorize Mr. Robb not to disturb the roll in St. Denis Ward this year, and to let the lobal board make the collections.

U.S. VISIT WILL NOT BE CANCELLED

Prince Louis' Squadron Will Go to Annapolis on November 1

London, Sept. 19.—The report from Halifax that the visit of the British squadron commanded by Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg, to the United States has been abandoned is erroneous. It has been found that it will be more convenient for all concerned to postpone the visit, and the squadron will therefore remain at Halifax until October 29, and arrive at Annapolis November 1. Thence the British warships will go to New York. The actual date of their arrival there is not yet fixed. The squadron will leave New York November 15 for Gibraltar.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The State Department has been informed that Prince Louis of Battenberg will be in Washington November 2. The British Atlantic squadron under his command will lie in the roads off Annapolis, while the commander-in-chief and his staff officers make their visit to this city. They will be received by the President at the White House with proper ceremonies, but the details of the reception have yet to be arranged.

PRINCE AT CHARLOTTETOWN.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Sept. 19.—The British warships Drake, Bedford, Essex and Cumberland arrived here Sunday and will leave to-day for Halifax. Prince Louis landed and received an address from the citizens at the City Hall. The afternoon was devoted to naval and military sports and a ball was given at Government House, which concluded the festivities.

Trinidad Proposes to Give $75,000 to Establish Direct Service With New York.

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—A report from the Commercial Agent at Trinidad says that the Chamber of Commerce has offered a subsidy of £15,000 to the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company for making its headquarters at Port of Spain istead of at Barbadoes, and to run its line to New York which will be in competition with the Canadian line to Halifax.

THE STANDARD.

The public will be greatly interested in hearing that the first issue of the Standard will be issued next Saturday.

It is said that the advance orders already booked for the paper will exhaust the larger part of the entire edition, so the publishers are likely to experience difficulty in supplying the demand. The Standard is evidently going to make a hit with the public.

NEWS FROM SHERBROOKE.

Sherbrooke, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Six deer were seized at the Union Depot here while awaiting transportation to Montreal. The seizure was made under the new orders by the Government to seize all but two of every lot consigned by one shipper.

The Court of King's Bench will be opened formally on October 2nd, but the cases will not be proceeded with. It is expected that a term will be held in March, when the new Court House will be completed.

Mr. C. G. Thompson won the Laflin and Rand Powder Company's cup at the Sherbrooke Gun Club's grounds on Saturday.

MINE WORKERS WILL MEET.

Shamokin, Sept. 19.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, announces that the convention of mine workers of three anthracite districts, at which demands will be formulated to be presented to the anthracite coal companies next spring, will be held here on December 14. The award of the anthracite coal strike commission will expire March 31, next year. President Mitchell has been in the anthracite region for the last two months holding meetings every day, for the purpose of strengthening the union.

LETTERS WERE LOST.

The postal authorities are at work on a case of theft from one of the mail cars on the South Shore route, a package of registered letters having disappeared on Saturday on the run between Montreal and Sorel. It is of course against the rules to have outsiders ride in the letter sorting cars, but it is said that occasionally trainmen and others are permitted to travel to satisfy their curiosity as to how the work of arranging letters is carried on. Under some such circumstances it is possible the packet of letters may have been smuggled away.

REVOLVER WAS LOADED.

About eleven o'clock last night, while George Sorgus was examining a revolver in a restaurant on the corner of Duluth Avenue and Cadieux Street, the weapon was accidentally discharged in his face and the powder from the blank cartridge struck him in the eyes, nearly blinding him. He was removed to the General Hospital.

WHOLESALE SLAUGHTER OF DEER REPORTED

Steps Will be Taken to Stop it in the Central Quebec District.

Sherbrooke, Sept. 19.—(Special)—Steps are being taken to stop the wholesale slaughter of deer in the Central Quebec district. Since the season opened 59 deer have passed through Sherbrooke from the Quebec Central for transhipment to Montreal, and it was apparent to all that the law was being violated. The local sportsmen petitioned the Government to take steps to stop the wholesale slaughter of the deer, and also recommended that the sale of deer be prohibited. The local game wardens have been notified to seize all but two deer of every lot that comes into Sherbrooke from any one shipper. A sportsman is only allowed by law to kill and ship two deer in a season. No one shipper, in the future can send forward more than two. All others will be seized and held until the shipper can show that not more than two of them came from any one man.

FOR $10,000 DAMAGES.

Mrs. L. Camaraire has entered suit against the Ozo Company for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband. She claims that her husband while working for the company was instructed to paint a vat with some dangerous substance, that next morning he examined his work by the aid of a lighted candle, when the substance exploded, instantly killing Mr. Camaraire. Mrs. Camaraire claims damages on the ground that the accident would not have occurred had her husband been properly warned of the danger.

MADE THE DAMAGES $200.

Two hundred dollars was all the damages the jury yesterday allowed Mr. Clement Petitclerc for two fingers lost of his ten year old son, Ernest, while working for the Standard Paper Box Company. The father claimed $1,500, claiming that the trouble had been caused by the foreman ordering the child to clean a machine in motion. The jury found that there had been negligence on both sides, and blamed the company for employing a boy of ten years, three years below the limit set by the Factory Act.

In the Court of King's Bench, the trial was concluded yesterday afternoon of Stanislas Dagenais charged with theft from the person in June last. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty.

Yarmouth, N.S.:

Dear Sirs,—While in the country last summer I was badly bitten by mosquitoes, so badly that I thought I would be disfigured for a couple of weeks. I was advised to try your Liniment to allay the irritation, and did so. The effect was more than I expected, a few applications completely curing the irritation, and preventing the bites from becoming sore. MINARD'S LINIMENT is also a good article to keep off the mosquitoes.

THE MANUFACTURERS' DELUSION

The Halifax resolution is still figuring largely in the proceedings of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. It was re-voiced yesterday with all the earnestness of which President George was capable, and with all the dignity with which the recent hospitality of British manufacturers to Mr. George and his colleagues could be made to clothe it. The association, said Mr. George, believed in making the policy of preferential tariffs effective. And then he went on to state what the association believed to be the proper means for doing so. Their position could be reiterated as briefly this: "We desire to make in Canada everything which we can advantageously produce, and to buy our surplus requirements, as far as possible from British sources."

From the standpoint of interests purely and directly Canadian there is little to be said against these desires of the Manufacturers' Association. Mr. George says that the tariff has passed out of politics. We hope it has. Beyond a certain difference of opinion as to the exact scope of the words "advantageous production," we feel sure that the association's idea of our fiscal policy will commend itself to the vast majority of the Canadian people as an eminently sensible, but entirely Canadian policy.

But when the manufacturers of Canada seek to use this programme as an instrument for promoting the Chamberlain campaign in England, when in that sense they talk of it as "making the policy of preferential tariffs effective," when they speak of the "surplus requirements" business which they are willing thus to accord to Great Britain as a fair return for the granting to Canadian grain of an immense and costly advantage in British markets, it is impossible not to draw attention to the absurdity of the position. What is the extent of those "surplus requirements" which the Canadian manufacturers are willing to purchase from Great Britain? They must include, be it understood, nothing that could be produced in Canada "advantageously," which in manufacturers' parlance certainly does not mean less than thirty per cent. dearer than elsewhere. What is there left? Canada is rapidly developing the facilities for manufacturing almost every product which she needs. A careful examination made by The Herald some months ago showed that the balance of manufactured goods obtainable from Great Britain and not obtainable in Canada was so small as to be a mere drop in the bucket of our total consumption. "The conviction is strong among British traders," wrote the London correspondent of the Montreal Gazette but a week or two since, "that if the Canadian imports which Britain never can supply and those which other countries are in a position naturally to supply better and cheaper, be deducted from the total of what Canada must buy from outsiders, the remainder that it is possible for Britain to secure is a mere trifle." It was the putting of this preference before the British voter as a plea for the admission of Canada to the control of Britain's food supply that the Gazette itself not long ago described as the adding of hypocrisy to folly. That it still continues can only be explained on the ground that the Canadian manufacturers are too busy attending to what they can make to figure out the extent of what they cannot.

Mr. George reports that he met no one in Britain who did not admit the "fairness and justice" of the position as outlined. This is doubtless perfectly true, but we greatly fear that his British friends were expressing only their recognition of the perfect right of the people of Canada to say on what terms and conditions they will trade. Neither the organs of Liberal opinion in the United Kingdom nor the speeches of the Liberal leaders indicate that the British people will be satisfied to tax their food for so inconsiderable and uncertain an advantage. But the manufacturers of Canada will not see that to bring about the condition they profess to desire, they must face a much more substantial sacrifice.

THE NEED OF A DRY DOCK.

The attention of all who are interested in the growth of Canada's shipping interests has been drawn once more, more forcibly than ever, to a need which has proven to be one of the greatest obstacles in the way of rapid and uninterrupted development along the lines of marine enterprise. This is the lack of adequate dry-dock facilities. But a few days ago the largest vessel on the Montreal line, the [illegible] steamer Victorian, grounded between Three Rivers and Quebec, at what is probably the most dangerous point in the ship channel. The smoke from forest fires raging in the district, accounted for the mishap to the Victorian, and it was only due to the efforts of the department's staff that the huge vessel was got off in fairly good time, and with little or no damage. Taken to Quebec, however, for the repairs made necessary by her misadventure, it was found that the dry-dock at Levis was not large enough to accommodate the Victorian. The result is that the ship will have to cross the Atlantic before she can receive the overhauling that her owners deem needful.

This state of affairs speaks for itself. The development of Canadian shipping has outgrown our plant. It is time that steps should be taken to enlarge that plant. It is high time that the talk of a Monteral dry-dock became more than a matter of words or dreams. Next year, in addition to the natural increase of shipping to be noticed each twelvemonth, there will be ships of larger tonnage and greater draft on the St. Lawrence route. The new line of vessels at present being constructed by the C. P. R. Atlantic line will require as spacious a dry-dock as the Victorian, if not a larger one. Who can say that they will be the last word on the question of St. Lawrence-Atlantic navigation? And yet should some unforeseen accident occur that would make it imperative that one of these ships be repaired in a Canadian port, the work would be impossible, because there is no dry-dock.

The suggestion that this dry-dock be built at Montreal is no new one, but it becomes every day a more timely one. Since the narrow escape of the Victorian from disaster, the matter has come up for fresh discussion, and the scheme fathered by Ald. Gallery of using the natural rock basin provided as if for the purpose in the harbor of Montreal, has received its share of attention. This seems at first sight to be the most practical of the means proposed for the solution of the difficulty and the one attended with the minimum of expense, as Nature herself has already done a considerable part of the work required. Whatever scheme is finally taken up, the question of supplying Canada with an adequate dry-dock is one that does not in fairness to the commercial future of the country, admit of delay.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Vigilant, Canadian fishery protection cruiser, appears to be having ample opportunity to live up to her name. The significant part of her recent activities, however, is not the number of American vessels she has had occasion to overhaul, but the number which have refused to obey her signals. The captain who risks his boat and the lives of himself and his crew rather than standby for a protection cruiser to come up could hardly give a clearer proof of guilty violation of the fishery laws.

A notable spectacle must have been that presented at the opening of the Dominion Trades Congress in Toronto yesterday, when the two hundred delegates present were addressed by a man who at over eighty years of age is still listened to by the whole world as the greatest of the surviving thinkers of the Victorian epoch. Prof. Goldwin Smith makes so few public appearances now that his visit to the Trades Congress has an altogether exceptional significance. No politic consideration, no interest of self-advancement, has ever been known to induce Prof. Goldwin Smith to endorse any cause that he could not conscientiously support; and his presence amid this gathering of the leaders of organized labor shows his faith that unionism is working out the destiny that has been set before it. It will be more difficult henceforth for would-be intellectuals to belittle or to slander the workingman's organizations, because of the seal that a supremely great intellect has set upon them.

Bow Bells' New Tune.

(Westminster Gazette.)

The popular "quarter-chime" tune "Turn again, Dick Whittington, Lord Mayor of London," will henceforth, we learn from the Builder, be played by the famous Bow Bells, for which its setting has been harmonized by Sir Charles V. Stanford. New automatical apparatus connected with the clock is in course of being fitted for the chimes. A Whitechapel firm has rehung the twelve bells, of which the tenor, weighting fifty-three cwt., was cast in 1669, when it is believed some metal was used of the old bells destroyed by the Great Fire, and recast in 1738. Nine more bells having been added by subscription, the ten were hung for the first time on June 4, 1762, in honor of King George III.'s visit on his birthday to the city; two more bells were added twenty-five years ago, though some fears had existed that swinging the bells might weaken the stability of the steeple.

Music and the Drama

We had supposed from advance information that "The Duchess of Dantzic" would prove to have many points in common with "Love's Lottery;" sufficient at least to enable them to be classed together in the new and curious category which we described on Saturday as "semi-grand opera." On acquaintance their community dwindles to a matter of a laundry atmosphere and a "Rub-o-dub-dub" opening chorus which compels us to marvel at the wonders of coincidence. "The Duchess of Dantzic" is, of course, much the older composition. It is nearly four years since it was first given in London, and it had been lying in Mr. George Edwardes' drawer for four years before that. And if any manager has any more manuscripts of the same epoch stowed away, we trust he will scan them carefully and see whether they do not rebuke as effectively as this does the deplorable inanities of the contemporary lyric stage.

There was nothing grand about "Love's Lottery" except the voice of one of the cast and the ensemble work of a quartette. "The Duchess of Dantzic" on the other hand has moments of genuine, powerful lyric drama. Like Sardou's original "Sans-Gene," of which it is an extremely faithful adaptation—like Tom Robertson's "Garrick" and like all dramatization of Dickens—it has one great artistic defect, in that it employs an obviously farcical and exaggerated device as part of the material for a serious dramatic effect. The grotesqueric of Sans-Gene, which is the immediate cause of the second-act catastrophe could no more be played realistically than could the drunken scene in "Garrick." Even Rejane, with all the resources of French comedy at her disposal, could not make it legitimate. What Kathryn Kidder, she of the tombuoyant disposition, did with it is remembered by all Montreal theatregoers. It is pure farce, yet it is an essential part of a strong and serious dramatic story.

The incongruity is faithfully reflected in the music; but light and dramatic passages alike are both good. Mr. Ival Caryll has achieved a most remarkable range of attractiveness. Much of his music is of such real dramatic power that one's mind goes back to certain duets and recitations in "The Mikado" for the nearest comparison. Some of it, again, is of the most bewitching grace and lightness, notably a little dance-song given with much charm by Miss Lillian Digges which made an instantaneous hit. Some of the choruses are very powerfully worked up, and all are thoroughly relevant to the action. There is not—and this fact alone places "The Duchess of Dantzic" incalculably far above every light musical show that has been here in five years—a single interpolation, a single song that does not contribute to the action, a single vaudeville stunt, a single Americanization of dialogue. By virtue of this fact, the piece is an "opera,—almost the first that has been played here outside of the grand opera repertoire since the last un-Americanized version of a Sullivan work. May it be the herald of many more.

Miss Evie Greene will take her place among the list of the most gifted lyric artists who have ever visited Montreal. She will return to us, no doubt, in later years, but it is not likely she will ever give us so much of her personality or work so hard for our pleasure. She is on the stage almost continuously, yet she never monopolizes it, and she acts as carefully and artistically when she is merely a spectator as when she is in the centre of what is going on. That she is an emotional actress of great power was proven by her work in the divorce discussion with Marechal Lefebvre, and throughout the last two acts she achieved the difficult task of impersonating a maturity at least ten years beyond her own age, with the most complete success. Yet it is her natural playing in the first act, with its revelation of the most delicious of Irish brogues, its exquisite insouciance, its fine play of feature and its fascinating poise between tears and laughter, that will be remembered best. Miss Greene was the first Florodora, and one is inclined after seeing her to believe Mr. Marcus Meyers' diction that there have been none since.

Mr. Wallace Brownlow, who has a full grand opera robust tenor, and has not nearly as much to sing as one would like to hear, brought down the house with his toasting song in the first act, and as Marechal Lefebvre, afterwards Duke of Dantzic, ably assisted Miss Greene in both light and heavy dramatic passages. Mr. Holbrook Blinn does not sing, but his Napoleon is one of the most astonishing impersonations that that distinguished militarist has ever received. It cannot be described, but is tremendously effective and should not be missed. Mr. H. D. Ford, as Papileon had two rather clever comedy passages and his song "I Make The Taste and Moved the Waist of the Empress Josephine" was brilliant. Mr. Frank Greene played the Bethunes, father and son, with success and a considerable measure of self-consciousness. The rest of the company was adequate and the chorus splendid. The stage mounting is of the heaviest and most sumptuous description, and the only fly in the ointment was the failure of the orchestra to rise to the occasion.

"The Duchess of Dantzic" is a very notable production, and all considerations of price are forgotten in view of those of quality.

THE ACADEMY.

One was irresistibly reminded of a minstrel show at the Academy last night, where S. H. Dudley and "the Smart Set" opened a week's engagement with their spectacular extravaganza known as "A Southern Engagement." The only apparent reason why it should be so called was the necessity for a name of some sort. A little—luckily very little—dialogue is used as a frame work on which to string a vast amount of singing and dancing specialties, which were frequently excellent, and kept a large audience well amused. The company shades from deepest ebony to a peroxide blonde; the chorus was far from ill-looking, and handsomely gowned. They also sang—sang with a vigor that would do credit to a southern revival meeting.

The humor of the piece is loosely wrapped around the remarkable adventures of G. Washington Bullion and a big roll of bills doing a Gulliver's travels sort of stunt in Honolulu. Mr. S. H. Dudley made a decided hit as Bullion.

LES NOUVEAUTES.

Les Nouveautes in "Le Calice" presents a play almost the direct opposite to that given last week. "Les Pattes de Mouches" was a comedy, pure and simple, sparkling and brilliant, with a laugh tucked away in every line. "Le Calice," on the contrary, is a drama of a very emotional nature, a tragedy of a young wife's sacrifice of the love she yearned for. It depicts the life of the gay Parisien, it shows the many love-affairs of the careless, thoughtless "boulevardier," with a neglected wife in the background, and the many heartburnings at home. Simulated happiness, distrust and tears hover about, making their presence felt here and there, and altogether the members of the company are given an opportunity of displaying their versatility.

The plot tells the story of a young woman who, married to a man she adores in spite of his forgetfulness of her, assists, with death in her heart, at all his betrayals of her, helping him with a smiling face, suffering in silence and yet always ready to forgive him at the slightest indication of remorse on his part. Finally when the wife learns that she is to be deserted forever, that her husband intends leaving her for an adventuress, she seeks in death the peace and consolation she could not find on earth. She is on the point of dying from an overdose of morphine when her flighty husband returns in time to save her from becoming a suicide. Remorse seizes him and the curtain descends as he renews to his wife the vows made at the marriage altar.

The acting of the company leaves little to be desired. Madame Ducange played the part of Simone, the wronged wife, in a manner which won for her the sympathies of the audience. Her acting was perfectly natural, nothing strained or exaggerated, and this can be said of the work of each member of the company. Mons. Lefrancais, as the careless, lightheaded husband, played the part so naturally that one might almost imagine he was really the "gallard" of a married man, instead of a mere "play-actor."

THE FRANCAIS.

"Le Jockey Malgre Lui," this week's offering at the Theatre Francais is another of the series of musical comedies with which the Cazeneuve Company has been edifying their constituents this season. As "opera comique," "Le Jockey Malgre Lui," "the jockey who couldn't help himself" seems to be a success in several essentials, it has no plot, and no continuity, and there are several very good songs. One act is set in a school room, the second in a villa at Chantilly, and the last, in a police station. The fun is supplied by the attempts of a trio of amateur burglars, the mistaking of an idiotic notary's clerk for a successful jockey, and the enthusiastic efforts of various "gendarmes" to keep from getting themselves into trouble. The Omer troupe had their innings in the second act, where a very boisterous tumbling pantomime took place, representing a band of burglars pursued by soldiers.

The music of "Le Jockey" is bright and dashing. As Adolphe, the notary's clerk-jockey-thief-poet, Mr. Dane played the leading role very cleverly. The real Jockey Gavarin is Mr. Mallet, who made the most of the part. Mlle. Olivier, as la Gigalette, was well received, while Devilliers and Nyms, as her assistants, had their usual success.

Next week M. Cazeneuve will appear in "The Five Cents of Baptiste."

THE THEATRE ROYAL.

The largest crowd of the season greeted "The Broadway Girls" to the Theatre Royal yesterday, and the members of the company were thus encouraged to vouchsafe their very best form. The programme opens with a dash in "Glittering Sylvia," not inaptly described by the management as "a merry whirl of complications," and in which in the course of some amusing scenes on board the steamship Mudlark, occasion is taken for the introduction of some entertaining songs and attractive dancing. Miss Mildred Stoller, who is "comic opera queen" for the time being, besides singing with some taste, has a commanding stage appearance, and was warmly received by the audience at each appearance, while in the olio, honors were fairly divided by the Lippincotts, May and Sam; the Green sisters; Kenny and Hollis, comedians; Johnny Weber, comedian, and the Gardner, West and Sunshine trio, while as Michael Hogan, John J. Kenny also contributed not a little to the gaiety. Although in the main a very amusing collection of song, dance and sketch, there are one or two items that could well be cut out.

PROF. CROCKER'S HORSES.

Trained animals have this summer proved a great attraction for Montrealers; trained lions, seals, dogs and even birds have contributed their part to the public amusement. But it would be hard indeed to beat the exhibition put on last night at the Arena by Prof. E. K. Crocker's educated horses, ponies and mules. They were a revelation in what might be accomplished by patience, kindness and hard work toward the training of the lower animal.

The Arena was well filled, and not an idle moment was experienced from first to last. The horses marched and wheeled, countermarched and raced in twos, threes, fours, or singly, performed balancing feats of real worth, and went through a hundred fantastic evolutions that caught the crowd's fancy immediately. The "Battle Scene" alone was a splendid bit of training.

The show remains here this week, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Moving pictures are shown at intervals.

Sir Norman Lockyer's First Eclipse.

(Westminster Gazette.)

The inexplicable attitude of the French Governor of Philippeville, Algeria, in refusing permission to the British cruiser with Sir Norman Lockyer on board to remain in the harbor during the eclipse necessitated the head of the Solar Physics Observatory making fresh arrangements, and he made his observations in a Spanish harbor. This is not the first time Sir Norman has met with trouble under similar circumstances. In 1870 the cruiser Psyche was wrecked while conveying Mr. Lockyer (as he then was) to Sicily to observe his first solar eclipse. Fortunately, Mr. Lockyer and his party escaped, and the instruments were also saved; and, by the hospitality of a community of monks at Catania (off which place the disaster happened), successful observations were made from the garden of the monastery.

Origin of the "Frankfurter."

(Wiener Neue Freie Presse.)

The little sausage known as "Frankfurter" and "Wiener" was offered for sale for the first time in 1805, and the centennial was observed in Vienna by the Butchers' Guild. The inventor of the sausage was Johann Lahner, who named it for his birthplace, Frankfurt. The business founded 100 years ago by a poor man has yielded a fortune to its various heads. It has always remained in the same family, and is now conducted in Vienna by Franz Lahner, a grandnephew of the original Frankfurter sausage man.

Otherwise We're Well.

(Chicago News.)

I'm able to eat anything
That's edible at all.
I really don't care what you bring;
For more I'm apt to call.
Plain eggs and bacon, pork and beans
Or mutton boiled with spinach greens.

On any mortal thing I'll bite
If I've a hearty appetite.
I'll drink 'most anything that's wet,
From dipper, cup or glass.
If it's in liquid form, you bet,
I very rarely pass.
Milk, coffee, chocolate or tea,
Or lemonade—all's one to me—
Or water—that's not any bluff—
Providing that I'm dry enough.

I'm lucky, for I go to sleep
At any time I choose.
No weary vigil need I keep
When I can take a snooze.
At morning, night or afternoon;
The facility is quite a boon
At any time a nap I'll take,
Unless I'm feeling wide awake.

Tom Atkinson.

(Somerville Journal.)

Tom Atkinson was just a crank,
So all the people said,
He had so many strange ideas
A-seething in his head.
They looked on him with pitying smiles
Because he was so queer,
And tapped their foreheads and declared:
"There's something lacking here."

Well, Thomas nursed his strange ideas,
And studied night and day,
Until by constant, active thought
At last he found the way.
He got his patent safe and strong,
To make the thing his own,
And then one fine day he announced
"The seeing telephone."

Nobody laughs at Thomas now,
He's richer than a bank.
And none admit they ever thought
That he was just a crank.
But they were strictly accurate
When, seeing him so queer,
They tapped their foreheads and declared:
"There's something lacking here!"

Science in Selecting Proper Foods

People Are Hot, Uncomfortable, Unhealthy, Because They Do Not Eat the Right Food.

Scientists have determined that the various food elements found in wheat are the identical elements of which the tissues and cells, the bone and brain, the blood and muscle of the human body are composed and with which they must be replenished if life and strength are to be maintained.

Every nutritive element, every one of those marvelous strength and tissue-building food qualities of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat, thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolutely purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that can be made.

In these days of adulterated foods and food products such a food as is known to be pure and wholesome is indeed welcome. We have heard of many breakfast foods and cereal products—some broadly advertised as whole products, others as cure-alls for every disease known to man. No doubt they are all good and possessed of some merit, but most of them are manufactured with some foreign sweetening agent to make them palatable. Among all the breakfast and cereal foods offered the public to-day, we believe we are warranted in saying that Malta-Vita is the only food that is simply and wholly pure grain product and nothing else, except a little salt. Malta-Vita as it comes to you from the factory is all of the wheat. It has been thoroughly cleaned, steamed to gelatinize the starch, then added to it is barley malt made from selected barley—this, acting upon the starch, turns it into maltose or malt sugar, pronounced by physicians and food experts the finest, purest, most healthful sweetening agent known. Then the grain of wheat is rolled out flat into a thin wafer flake and baked in the ovens. It comes to you fresh and pure and sweet—absolutely nothing but a grain product prepared in the cleanest and most wholesome way and turned into the most delicious whole wheat food that can be found. Malta-Vita is for sale by nearly all grocers. It costs but 10 cents a package for the same big package for which you used to pay fifteen cents.

OXFORD CAFE
Without a Rival.

Chicory Enriches Coffee.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

In the wholesale coffee house a number of men were making and tasting one after the other, a great many different kinds of coffee and tea. "The very best?" the manager said. "The very best coffee in the shop. Well, wait a minute." A boy brought a box of olive wood. The manager put water to boil on an electric stove. In a little while the very best coffee was ready—a black, rich fluid, clear as amber, with bubbles of oil afloat on its lustrous surface. This coffee was delicious. A small cup of it was more powerfully and pleasantly stimulating than a glass of whiskey. The manager, smacking his lips, said: "It is old Bourbon Mocha, mixed with chicory. It costs $2 a pound. The chicory in it was not put there to impair but to improve it. For chicory enriches coffee, gives body to it. In all the best foreign coffees a little chicory is present. There are some few States whose food laws forbid the use of chicory or any other adulterant. Well, those foolish States cannot give you the superb and rich draught of coffee that you can get elsewhere."

SIR JAMES GRANT HOME FROM LEICESTER MEDICAL CONGRESS

Great Canadian Physician Delivered Lectures on Tuberculosis in Glasgow and Other Scottish Cities—McGill is Attracting Students in Metallurgy From Great Britain

Sir James Grant, who arrived here by the Tunisian on Saturday on his way to his home in Ottawa after a few months sojourn in the Mother Country where he was engaged in a lecture tour and was present at the sessions of the Medical Congress at Leicester, informed a Herald representative in the course of an interview at the Place Viger that the proceedings of the Congress, which was attended by the most distinguished members of the medical profession, indicated developments of an important character in every department of medical and surgical science.

Sir James went over primarily to spend a holiday, but at the request of Lord Strathcona he delivered a series of six lectures in the chief centres of Scotland—Glasgow, Dundee, Aberdeen, St. Andrews, Crieff and Perth on "Tuberculosis and a Simpler Life," a question to which the popular Ottawa physician has given much attention and study and with regard to which he feels so much enthusiasm that he delivered an address upon it on the steamer during the voyage over to Liverpool.

CONSUMPTION PREVENTABLE.

Sir James' purpose was to put before the people whom he found to be quite alive to the fact that consumption was both preventable and curable by the adoption of rational methods of living, the paramount importance of tent life in treatment of tuberculosis.

Sir James has been greatly impressed by the successful results he has seen obtained from this system of treatment at Blackwell Island, New York. The special advantage of it is that it gives the tuberculosis patient the privilege of enjoying his own atmosphere, sunlight, fresh air, under the care of a local physician in a safe and inexpensive way and with a much greater prospect of recovery than in a large sanitarium where there are 300 or 400 people accommodated in the same establishment, breathing the same air, sleeping under the same roof, taking their meals at the same table, coming more or less in contact with each other.

The question Sir James went on to remark, has been taken up by the general press of the country and by the British Medical Journal. "A point that I desire to emphasize," he said, "are the injurious effects of alcohol and poor food on the human system, lowering the vitality of those who have to work for their living and rendering them an easy prey to the tuberculosis bacilli when they settle in the system. The thoroughly effective organization that has been created in this connection throughout Canada is awakening much interest, and the day is not far distant when the organization in England will be equally thorough and when, through its operation, the appalling mortality from this cause, which is now about 60,000 souls, will be materially lessened."

In discussing the work of the British Medical Congress, Sir James mentioned that after the decision was arrived at that the next congress should be held in Toronto, he was called upon at the annual banquet to deliver an address on "Canada in Relation to Medical Science."

In the medical section Sir James delivered an address on fifty years' experience in diseases of the heart and in the pathological section he gave a review of the marvellous development brought to light during the present war.

INSPECTION SYSTEM.

The Canadian physician was especially impressed by the discussions in the pathological section where much interesting information was presented with regard to the advanced position of Japan in regard to this method of treatment. He mentioned that the system of inspection in that country is most rigorous and the most vigilant steps are taken to keep disease out of the army. There are no less than 9,000 inspectors connected with the educational institutions of Japan, whose duty it is to examine all sorts and conditions of people to investigate everything that may be suspected of having disease lurking in it in order to preserve the public health unimpaired. This was a work that had not been thought of in our Western civilization. In Canada we had not a single inspector of this character.

Another matter in which Sir James was greatly interested, and which he says aroused the most profound interest throughout the profession, was a remarkable lecture delivered by Dr. Mott, of the Charing Cross Hospital, on "Sleeping Disease."

One of the most remarkable tendencies produced by the strenuous life and the struggle for advancement under modern conditions is the tendency to sleep at the most inopportune times. By means of microscopic slides, Sir James demonstrated the condition of the human brain under all sorts of varying conditions. It was the first time that an exhibition of this kind has been given, and in view of the great difficulty experienced in dealing with mental disturbances and the imperfect knowledge that is available on the subject, the demonstration was regarded as one of the most notable features of the congress.

A remarkable paper was read by Dr. Thomas, of the British navy, who has recently brought out some new ideas with regard to deafness—more especially that resulting from concussion and produced by the firing of large guns. He is now on his way to the Detroit Congress, at which there will be a gathering of marine and naval surgeons from all parts of the world to discuss problems that have arisen in the medical and surgical departments of the naval service.

Sir James Grant mentioned that on the steamer coming to Canada were a large number of students from the leading English colleges who are about to take up a metallurgical course in McGill University. In conversation with some of them he found that the impression is growing in England in regard to this branch of practical science that no university is so far advanced as McGill, or can offer such advantages to students.

Are "Old Maids" to Be Pitied?

Is It a Hardship to Draw a Blank in the Matrimonial Lottery?

Two "Old Maids" have been interviewed on the subject of single blessedness by The Standard, the new paper which will appear in a few days.

They express strong opinions concerning the matrimonial state; and declare that most "old maids" remain single from choice, not from necessity.

The moral peccadillos of the male sex are dealt with in stinging terms.

"Publicity of Man's Perfidy Is Woman's Security" is the dictum of one of these maiden ladies.

These articles in The Standard will be most entertaining and instructive.

OLD MAIDS and OLD BACHELORS throughout Canada are invited to contribute to a symposium on the subject raised by these ladies.

FIFTY DOLLARS is offered as a prize by The Standard for the best short essay on this interesting question.

Further particulars of the competition will be announced in the early numbers of The Standard.

The best judges admit that The Standard will be the most interesting paper in Canada.

Look Out for The Standard.

STILL ANOTHER REMARKABLE FEATURE OF OUR MILLINERY

is to be found in its completeness ☆ ☆ ☆

Every one of the seven ages of woman has been provided for, and every occasion from golf playing to a state affair.

It isn't possible for you to want a hat that we haven't got or cannot produce.

GERMAN COATS FOR LADIES.

Lots of them—at almost any price you want to pay. Some are better than others in point of exclusiveness—some in point of service; but all are guaranteed to give the satisfaction you expect from such a store as ours.

Something very unusual in a serviceable 3-4 coat of Tweed that has the German touch most noticeable in its bright metallic button and braid features, and its inlaid velvet collar and turn over cuffs. It is Irish, too, in the sense of the Irish Tweed its made of, and while all wool, it still has the advantage of being decidedly waterproof.

We know that we really shouldn't mention so low price as $7.00 for a coat so early in the season, but we wanted a surprise for you on Wednesday and we think we have got it.

COSTUME AND SUITING TWEEDS.

Our collection of Scotch, English, French, and Austrian Tweeds is now complete. Every caprice of fashion has been anticipated—Mannish Tweeds, Check Tweeds, Fancy Tweeds, Stripe Tweeds, Heather Tweeds, Tweeds in 3-4 and 5-6 toned effects—Tweeds for all purposes. Skirts, Costumes, Jackets, etc., etc. We draw special attention to two lines which we open up on Wednesday—lines which we have no hesitation in saying are of exceptional values.

SCOTCH AND ENGLISH MANNISH TWEEDS.

All-wool, in small fancy check and stripe effects—in a full range of Autumn colorings. Per yard Wednesday.. 50c

ALL-WOOL SCOTCH TWEEDS.

A very handsome range of Pure Wool goods—picked yarns—small checks and overchecks in 3-4 and 5 toned effects. Exceptional buying facilities enables us to offer this line at, per yard..... 75c

A Manufacturer's Overstock.

Lace Stocks, Swiss Embroidered Stocks, Fancy Cotton Washing Stocks, Muslin Embroidered Turnover Collars, an assortment of 25c to 50c values. Wednesday, at 15c.

Ladies' Cashmere Hose.

Black Cashmere Hose, reinforced heels and feet, full fashioned and very elastic; 300 pairs in all—part of a purchase secured by our Toronto firm. The regular values range from 45c to 65c. Wednesday, 39c.

A HOSE SUPPORTER AT 35c.

It should be 50c.

This is an illustration of it.

The pad is made of satin.

The four strands are of fancy frilled elastic.

The fastening buttons are tipped with rubber to prevent wear or tear of stockings.

It is the style of supporter that lends itself to the military effect so much desired. In tasteful shades. Sale price on 400 Wednesday 35c.

Open from 8.30 'till 5.30 p.m.

FISHING SCHOONER LOST BUT CREW ESCAPED

Schooner Puritan Struck on Shag Rock Ledges and Sank Immediately.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 19.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Puritan was wrecked yesterday on Shag Rock ledges near the entrance to Canso. Capt. Harding arrived on Friday from the Banks with a small fare of fish, and after making repairs, cleared for home. After the Puritan was under way, thick fog shut down and the wind dropped to a flat calm. In working off the coast the vessel struck on Shag Rock ledges. Almost immediately she listed and began to sink. The crew took to their dories, and not a moment too soon, for she went down to the mast heads, the crew escaping only with the clothing they stood in. The shipwrecked men rowed into Canso.

THANKSGIVING DAY HAS BEEN FIXED ON OCTOBER 26

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Thanksgiving Day is fixed for Thursday, October 26. This was decided upon by the Cabinet yesterday. Strong representation had been made to the Government to select Monday, so that young people away from the parental roof might eat their Thanksgiving turkey with the old folks, but clerical influence on behalf of Thursday has carried the day. There will be no official observance of the King's birthday on November 9, and it will not be a public holiday. The celebration will be held, as this year, on May 24th. On the 9th November there will be only the royal salutes fired at each military post in Canada.

WOMAN AND HER INTERESTS

THE FIRST DEGREE

The Queen of Hearts (who can't make tarts)
Is now a Bachelor of arts.

The Quen of Hearts (shes' [illegible]d now),
Has made her graduation bow.

The Queen of Hearts (by jove, she's sweet)
With any wrangler can compete.

Praxiteles her form would seek—
He could'nt understand her Greek.

And Horace would forgive her balks
In scanning for the Graces' sakes

This Dido, to each girlish chum
Is no Gerundive—di-do-dum.

She dreams of Aeneas, in her "den,"
And chatters, even now, of men.

And Algebra her thought will aid,
If unto it attention's paid.

Though X (the maid) is squared to face
The worries of the human race.

And Y (the man) is also squared;
For any tempest well prepared.

X square plus Y square, when compared,
Don't equal X plus Y when squared.

They lack exactly 2 XY
Which would complete the family.

If I were Aeneas, I would wait—
This truth her mind will penetrate.

And by and by, in riper life,
She'll be content to be a wife.

For the Cook

ON BEING A HOSTESS.

To be a hostess is the ambition and privilege of every woman who is mistress of a home. Given ordinary conditions to be a hostess of an ordinary sort is easy; to be successful in the art is more difficult, but abundantly satisfying. Of the many womanly and housewifely talents, those of the skilful hostess are among the especially desirable, for one's self and one's friends. It is not so certain that true success is always or often attained For to spread a feast, to throw open one's house, to display its treasures, owned and borrowed, to introduce twenty guests to twenty other guests, is not essentially to be a hostess. The social value of all these is not to be doubted, and they are very popular, but you may observe them all, and still miss the hostess art, which is a thing of a more personal nature. Perhaps true hostesses, like poets, are born, not made. Certainly some women have a "knack" of making their guests comfortable in body, easy in mind and happy at heart, while others seem to fail in all three particulars. Whatever this knack is, it is worth emulating, if by any chance it is thus to be had Many pleasant examples have come down to us in literature, of men and women who opened their hearts as well as their doors, of firesides where friends meet friends, of honest cheer dispensed with liberal hand and healthful grace. And what is more to the point, real everyday life is by no means without just such pleasant examples as these.

The first essential of this art of being a hostess is undoubtedly the ability to entertain one's guests But as to what constitutes entertainment opinions greatly differ A second essential, of almost equal importance, is the tact of bringing harmonious persons together. Not always are those wrom you equally esteem mutually happy among themselves, and to remember this will sometimes prevent discomfiture. It is also well to avoid both too great difference and too great sameness of tastes and characters in the personnel of one's guest list.

Above all other attainments in the hostess art, so far as entertainment is concerned, is the skilful helmmanship of the conversation There are, indeed, easier ways of entertaining for the art of conversation is a well nigh forgotten art. The buzz of voices is sometimes a buzz that does nothing but kill time.

BEEF LOAF.

Mix together three pounds of chopped raw beef, one-quarter of a pound of minced salt pork, one cup of cracker dust, two teaspoonfuls each, of saltand pepper, and moisten all with two beaten eggs and a teaspoonful of onion juice. Work in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, and pack in a greased mould. Cover; set in a roasting pan of boiling water and cook in a steady oven for two hours. Let the loaf get cold in the mould before turning out.

BEEF A LA MODE.

With a sharp knife make through a round of beef incisions an inch apart. In to the holes thus made stick long strips of fat salt pork. Rub the meat with a dressing made of equal parts of oil and vinegar, seasoned with salt and pepper. Let the meat lie in this for eight hours Put the meat into a covered roaster, pour a pint of beef stock around it and roast for four hours. Set away in the gravy with a weight on top. When cold, slice very thin and serve.

The marriage of Miss Euphemia Bell Dunlop, youngest daughter of Mr. Justice Dunlop, Sherbrooke street, to Dr. William Gordon Cummings, of Calgary, son of Mr. W. T. Cummings, of this city, will take place very quietly next week.

DONOVAN-MITCHELL.

The marriage took place yesterday at Verdun village of Miss Daisy Mitchell to Mr. Thomas Donovan. The ceremony was held at the residence of Mr. Hickin, of the same place, and the bridesmaids were Miss Gertie Ewine and Miss Alice Hickin. The bride wore white china silk, and the bridesmaids crepe de chine. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. Birchmore, Mr. and Mrs. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. F. Norwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Mannard.

PANGMAN-SEWELL.

A fashionable and very pretty wedding took place this morning at Quebec, when Miss Maud Sewell, youngest daughter of the late Mr. E. L. Sewell, C.E., and niece of Surgeon-Col. Sewell, was married to Mr. Cecil Pangman, son of the late Mr. Henry Pangman, of this city. The church was prettily decorated with palms, potted plants and ferns, and over two hundred invited guests attended the wedding. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Dean Williams, of Quebec, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bigg, curate of the Anglican Cathedral, and the Lord Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Andrew Hunter Dunn, was also present. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. E. Hamilton Sewell, of Sherbrooke, and the groom was attended as best man by Mr. E. A. Whitehead, of Montreal. The bride was beautifully and becomingly gowned in white satin, with white lace and chiffon flounces, the bodice trimmed with white sequins. She wore a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Sewell; her cousin, Miss Meredith, of Quebec; Miss Pangman, of Montreal, and Miss Fitzpatrick, of Ottawa, who were all dressed in pale silk gowns, with cream lace and chiffon trimming, and wore picture-colored beaver hats, and carried bouquets of plum-colored astors. The ushers were Messrs. Rex Meredith, cousin of the bride, Quebec; Hal Pangman, brother of the groom, and George Jackson, of Montreal. There was a full choir present, and the service a choral one. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the residence of Mrs. Sewell, mother of the bride, St. Louis street. At two o'clock the bride and groom, amidst the good wishes of their numerous friends, left for their honeymoon trip to the Adirondacks. On their return they will reside on Dorchester street. The happy couple were the recipients of over two hundred valuable wedding presents.

ROBINSON-DUFRESNE.

The marriage took place yesterday morning at St Joseph's Church, Ottawa, of Miss Louise Dufresne, only daughter of the late L. F. Dufresne, to Mr. Frank Grey Robinson, of this city. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. A. Ritchie Dufresne, C.E. After the ceremony the bridal couple adjourned to the home of the bride's mother, where breakfast was partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left on the early morning train for Toronto and other points.

GLASSCO-RAWLINGS.

This afternoon the Church of St. James the Apostle was the scene of an extremely pretty wedding, when Miss Beatrice Rawlings, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Rawlings, Simpson street, was married to Mr. A. Glassco, of this city, and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Glassco, of Hamilton. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an exquisite gown of Bruges lace, embroidered in pearls, over chiffon and taffeta; her tulle veil was surmounted with a small coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and maiden hair ferns, her only ornament being a brooch in a wreath design of pearls and diamonds. The maid of honor, Miss Edith Rawlings, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Glassco, sister of the groom, Miss Laura Snowball, and Miss Jean McIntyre, were gowned alike in white cloth, with bolero jacket of bebe Irish lace and white felt hats, trimmed with ostrich feathers. They also wore the gifts of the groom, small pearl crosses, and carried shower bouquets of pink asters. The groom was attended by Mr. Barker, and the ushers were Mr. Macdonald, Mr. H. Rawlings, Mr. Kingston and Mr. Allan Glassco. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of guests by Rev. Canon Elligood, assisted by Rev. Mr. Brooks. The church was beautifully decorated in green and white, the same color scheme being used at the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Glassco leave this evening on an extended wedding trip, and on their return will take up their residence on St. Luke street. The bride will travel in a navy blue moire, with navy blue beaver toque, trimmed with ostrich feathers.

HERALD DAILY PATTERN

A CHARMING BLOUSE OF WHITE TAFFETA.

Pattern No. 1164. Sizes 32 to 40 bust.

The French woman seldom chooses any color for her separate blouse, preferring white for all occasions and finding variety in material. In our illustration to-day is given a chic design which can be made of the taffeta used in the model combined with all-over lace or from any of the pretty materials of the coming season, while again its lining can be omitted and the model utilized for the lingerie waists, which many women prefer to any other sort for the entire year. For the last the chemisette and cuffs would be pretty made from eyelet embroidery or from fine muslin embroidered in the raised French style, the work executed by hand. For the medium size, 4½ yards of material 27 inches wide will be required with ⅝ yards of all-over lace. The pattern, No. 1164, is cut in sizes from 32 to 40 inches bust and may be obtained, post paid, by sending ten cents, the number and size desired to The Fashion Department of this paper.

The Banner of Honor and Victory
AWARDED TO
DIAMOND DYES
By Five Continents and the Isles of the Sea.

Diamond Dyes, the only honest and perfect package dyes now before the women of the world for successful home coloring, have been awarded the banner of honor and victory by five continents and the isles of the sea, for purity, strength, brilliancy, beauty of colors and never-fading qualities.

Diamond Dyes with a record of twenty-five years of marvellous and delightful work in the homes of the world have been imitated. The result is, that many of our women and girls have frequently been deceived by having worthless package dyes forced on them, which have proved disastrous to good materials and valuable garments.

When buying package dyes, the exercise of a little care will save our womep much trouble and annoyance. Ask for DIAMOND DYES, and see that the words "Diamond Package Dyes" appear on each envelope you are offered. Send to Wells & Richardson Co, Limited, Montreal, P.Q., for valuable book on home dyeing, and card of 48 dyed cloth samples. Sent free to any address.

Ask Your Grocer About Red Rose Tea

MOST good Grocers sell Red Rose Tea.

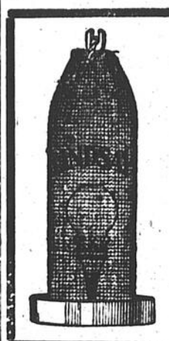

If a grocer recommends Red Rose Tea, it will be an honest opinion, because he makes less profit on Red Rose Tea than on most others.

When a merchant recommends an article upon which his profit is less than upon other similar goods, it is because he wants to sell satisfactory goods and to please his customers.

Your grocer knows he can recommend Red Rose Tea for its "rich fruity flavor" and its strength, and because

"Be not deceived, lady, for I must tell you that if the worst comes to the worst, we shall place you in the little skiff and go on, leaving the rest to take their chance.'"

As it happened, at the full tide they floated off the bank and drifted with the ebb down towards the sea. At the first break of dawn she looked up, and there, looming large in the mist, lay a galley, anchored in the mouth of the river. Giving thanks to Allah for their safe arrival, the band brought her aboard and led her towards the cabin. On the poop stood a tall man, who was commanding the sailors that they should get up the anchor. As she came he advanced to her, bowing, and saying:

"Lady Rosamund, thus you find me once more, who doubtless you never thought to see again."

She looked at him in the faint light and her blood went cold. It was the knight Lozelle.

"You here, Sir Hugh?" she gasped.

"Where you are, there I am," he answered, with a sneer upon his coarse, handsome face. "Did I not swear that it should be so, beauteous Rosamund, after your saintly cousin worsted me in the fray?"

"You here!" she repeated, "you a Christian knight, and in the pay of Saladin!"

"In the pay of anyone who leads me to you, Rosamund." Then, seeing the emir Hassan approach he turned to give some orders to the sailors, and she passed on to the cabin and in her agony fell upon her knees.

When Rosamund rose from them she felt that the ship was moving, and, desiring to look her last on Essex land, went out again upon the poop, where Hassan and Sir Hugh placed themselves, one upon either side of her. Then it was that she saw the tower of St. Peter's-on-the-Wall and her cousins seated on horseback in front of it, the light of the risen sun shining upon the their mail. Also she saw Wulf spur his horse into the sea, and faintly heard his great cry, of "Fear not! We follow, we follow!"

A thought came to her, and she sprang towards the bulwark; but they were watching her and held her so that all that she could do was to throw up her arms in token.

Now the wind caught the sail and the ship went forward swiftly, so that soon she lost sight of them. Then in her grief and rage Rosamund turned upon Sir Hugh Lozelle and beat him with bitter words till he shrank before her.

"Coward and traitor!" she said. "So it was you who planned this, knowing every secret of our home, where often you were a guest! You who for Paynim gold have murdered my father, not daring to show your face before his sword, but hanging like a thief upon the coast, ready to receive what braver men had stolen. Oh! may God avenge his blood and me on you, false knight, false to Him and me and faith and honor—as avenge He will! Heard you not what my kinsman called to me? 'We follow. We follow!' Yes, they follow, and their swords—those swords you feared to look on—shall yet pierce your heart and give up your soul to your master Satan," and she paused, trembling with righteous wrath, while Hassan stared at her and muttered:

"By Allah, a princess indeed! So have I seen Salah-ed-din look in his rage Yes, and she has his very eyes."

But Sir Hugh answered in a thick voice.

"Let them follow—one or both. I fear them not and out there my foot will not slip in the snow".

"Then I say that it shall slip in the sand or on a rock," she answered, and turning, fled to the cabin and cast herself down and wept till she thought that her heart would break.

Well might Rosamund weep, whose beloved sire was slain, who was torn from her home to find herself in the power of a man she hated. Yet there was hope for her. Hassan, Eastern trickster as he might be, was her friend; and her uncle, Saladin, at least, would never wish that she should be shamed. Most like he knew nothing of this man Lozelle, except as one of those Christian traitors who were ever ready to betray the Cross for gold. But Saladin was far away and her home lay behind her, and her cousins and lovers were eating out their hearts upon that fading shore. And she—one woman alone—was on this ship with the evil man Lozelle, who thus had kept his promise, and there were none save Easterns to protect her, none save them—and God, who had permitted that such things should be.

The ship swayed, she grew sick and faint. Hassan brought her food with his own hands, but she loathed it who only desired to die. The day turned to night, the night turned to day again, and always Hassan brought her food and strove to comfort her, till at length she remembered no more.

Then came a long, long sleep, and in the sleep dreams of her father standing with his face to the foe and sweeping them down with his long sword as a sickle sweeps corn—of her father felled by the pilgrim knave, dying upon the floor of his own house and saying "God will guard you. His will be done."

Dreams of Godwin and Wulf also fighting to save her, plighting their troths and swearing their oaths, and between the dreams blackness.

Rosamund awoke to feel the sun streaming warmly through the shutter of her cabin, and to see a woman who held a cup in her hand, watching her—a stout woman of middle age with a not unkindly face. She looked about her and remembered all. So she was still in the ship.

"Whence come you?" she asked the woman.

"From France, lady. This ship put in at Marseilles, and there I was hired to nurse one who lay sick, which suited me very well, as I wished to go to Jerusalem to seek my husband, and good money was offered me. Still, had I known that they were all Saracens on this ship, I am not sure that I should have come—that is, except the captain, Sir Hugh, and the palmer Nicholas; though what they, or you either, are doing, in such company, I cannot guess."

"What is your name?" asked Rosamund idly.

"Marie—Marie Bouchet. My husband is a fishmonger, or was, until one of those crusading priests got hold of him and took him off to kill Paynims and save his soul, much against my will. Well, I promised him that if he did not return in five years I would come to look for him. So here I am, but where he may be is another matter."

"It is brave of you to go," said Rosamund, thes added by an afterthought, "How long is it since we left Marseilles?"

Marie counted on her fat fingers, and answered:

"Five—nearly six weeks. You have been wandering in your mind all that time, talking of many strange things, and we have called at three ports. I forget their names, but the last one was an island with a beautiful harbor. Now, in about twenty days, if all goes well, we should reach another island called Cyprus. But you must not talk, so much, you must sleep. The Saracen called Hassan, who is a clever doctor, told me so."

So Rosamund slept, and from that time forward, floating on the calm Mediterranean sea, her strength began to come back again rapidly, who was young and strong in body and constitution. Three days later she was helped to the deck, where the first man she saw was Hassan, who came forward to greet her with many Eastern salutations and joy written on his dark, wrinkled face.

"I give thanks to Allah for your sake and my own," he said. "For yours that you still live whom I thought would die, and for myself that had you died your life would have been required at my hands by Salah-ed-din, my master."

Miss Mabel Thomson's Splendid Score in the Golf Tournament

Under the Unfavorable Weather Conditions She Went Around the Course in 89—Montreal Ladies Played Strong Games—Caddies Were at a Premium

Play in the open handicap and qualifying round for the championship and consolation competition of the Royal Canadian Golf Association started promptly at two o'clock yesterday afternoon on the links at Dixie. Throughout the forenoon rain had been falling intermittently and the sky was still overcast, although rain had ceased to fall when the start was made. There was some difficulty in securing scorers and caddies for the thirty-six players who had entered. A number of caddies had been requisitioned from outside courses but they did not show up, presumably on account of the inclement weather and consequently, some of the players had to do without. However, things were not so bad as they looked for with half a dozen members of the Royal Montreal, acting as scorers and quite a few volunteer caddies on the scene very few of the competitors went a-begging. Dr. Ruttan vice-president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association and President of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, started off with Misses Young and Nesbitt, the first couple, and Mr. J. A. Jackson, of Ottawa, secretary of the R.C.G.A., brought up the rear with the last couple to start. Every one of the competitors got away to a good start, indeed, the driving from the first tee was quite a feature in the afternoon's performance. While none of the performances were absolutely startling, play, on the whole was very good considering the facts that the light was abominable that a nasty drizzle began immediately after the start and kept up until the finish and that the ground, particularly at the different tees was of the most treacherous description. How wet the ground was may be judged from the fact that every time a ball was driven along the grass the moisture rose in what looked like a cloud of steam. The fair competitors did not, however, seem to mind very much and trudged along in the mud and wet as if to the manner born. The surprise packet of the afternoon was the score returned by Miss Mabel Thomson of St. John—a score of 89, being seven points less than that registered by any other player in the competition. Talking to well qualified members of the Royal Montreal Golf Club on the subject, afterwards, the Herald correspondent was informed that considering the multitudinous hazards on the links and the unfavorable ground and weather conditions, Miss Thomson's score was absolutely phenomenal—one quite worthy of any male member of the club entitled to start at scratch under such climatic conditions. Most of the Herald's predictions of the morning were well justified on the first day's play. Miss Phepoe, of Hamilton, returned the second best score, namely 96, Miss Lily Young, of Montreal, came close behind, with 97; Mrs. Burrett, of Toronto and Miss Harvey, of Hamilton, returned cards of 106, Miss Mabel Thomson did marvellously as before mentioned, and the only disappointment was Mrs. G. D. Bolton, of Ottawa, runner up in 1903, who did not return a card although her score would have entitled her to a place in the consolation competition. Montreal is well represented in the first day's play for besides having Miss Young with a score of 97, they are well to the front, Miss Green with a score of 102, Miss C. McAnulty, whose form of late has been rather disappointing, with 104; Miss Muriel Bond with 105, Mrs. Aubrey Mussen with 110, Mrs. Clarendon Mussen with 113 and Miss Ethel Bond with 114. Immediately after the conclusion of play, Mrs. E. A. Whitehead, president of the ladies branch of the Royal Montreal Golf Club, entertained the competitors to tea in the club house, which entertainment will be given by different members of the club every evening throughout the competition. In all probability, Mr. G. H. Perley, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, will be present at the scene of competition on Thursday, or Friday, on one of which days there will be special competitions in driving and putting. There will be no announcement of the drawing in to-morrow's play until after the arrival at Dixie of the 12.10 train from Montreal. The result of yesterday's play is that the sixteen lower scores are entitled to compete for the championship. In the first seventeen there are four scores of 116 and as one must be eliminated to make the sixteen the four will play one or more holes to-morrow, to decide the last three places in the sixteen. The one who is played out ,taking a place in the sixteen who play for consolation honors. Four of the thirty-six players who participated in yesterday's competition failed to retain a place either in the championship or consolation matches. To-day play will be by holes instead of strokes so that each of the sixteen players who play in the championship depend upon this one game for further participation in the championship battle The following are some of the best cards returned:—

MANY WRESTLERS COMING HERE

Big Tournament for Heavyweights Arranged With $10,000 Prize Money

The Canadian Athletic Club will hold an international wrestling championship tournament, for heavyweights, for which $10,000 will be offered in prizes with a championship belt to the winner, valued at $1,000. The tournament will begin during the first week of October and will last six months. It will be run off in series of six men and one night a week will be devoted to the matches. After six months all the winners will compete in the finals and the public will see six men wrestling the same night instead of the old way of two men. The six men will compete one against the other, making three matches each night for a week, until the winner has been found. The second series of six will be put through the same way as this will be the only way to fix the real championship. Entries will be received from all over the world and all expenses paid to wrestlers entering. The Montreal public will see, during the winter, a dozen or so of the best men in Europe and England. Some have already consented to enter and the first series to start at Sohmer Park, October 6. All entries may be made to the manager of the club. The prizes will be divided as follows: 1st, $2,500; second, $2,000; third, $1,500; fourth, $1,000; fifth, $800; sixth, $600; seventh, $400; eighth, $200; ninth, $100; tenth, $50. And the championship belt of the world, to the winner.

The Irish champion, known as Joe the Giant, who made such a big hit in Ireland and England, and who is on his way to New York will enter the tournament. He weighs 265 pounds, is six feet, three inches and whose muscles measure one to one and a half inches more, all over his body than those of George Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion.

The baseball match between the Young Montreals and the Royal Dominion Club for the juvenile championship of the West End, which was played on Saturday at Westmount, resulted in a victory for the Young Montreals by a score of 9 to 3. A feature of the game was the pitching of Harry Ashton and the fielding of Fred McLaughlin and John Cowie of the winning team.

On Saturday afternoon the Railroad Y.M.C.A. of Point St. Charles played the Crescents of Montreal South a friendly game of lacrosse, the Crescents winning the game by the score of 3 to 1.

* BRADLEY LEAVES CLEVELAND. *

Cleveland, Sept. 19. — "Seven years in the big leagues has been sufficient for me to pile up a considerable little bundle of money, and now I'm going to settle down," said Jim Bradley, third baseman of the Cleveland American League Club, to-day.

With Bradley's announcement of this decision comes a mighty hard problem for the Cleveland club to solve, for there are only a few good third sackers in the business, and they are clinched down so hard with contracts that it would take a small fortune to pry one loose.

WILL PITTSBURG CATCH GIANTS

The National League Pennant Will Likely Go to New York

New York, Sept. 19.—"What chance, if any, have the Pirates to overhaul the Giants?" is the leading question these days with the loyal followers of the Giants.

Here are the figures and the fans can form their own conclusions. The season ends Sunday, Oct. 8, when the Pirates play the Cincinnati Reds in Cincinnati. The Giants have twenty-two more games to play, and the Pirates have fifteen.

The Giants now have a percentage of .718, and the pirates .657. McGraw's men are eight games ahead of Pittsburg. In other words, if the Pirates win their next eight games, and the Giants lose eight, the teams will be tied at .676 per cent.

If the Pirates were to win all the games they have to play, and the Giants win only fifty per cent. of theirs, Pittsburg would win the pennant by five points.

If McGraw's men should not play any more games this season and the Pirates win all they have to play, they would still be twenty-six points behind the Giants' percentage.

The following tables show the games the Giants and Pirates are scheduled to play and the results of the games played so far this season:

NEW YORK WITH—

	Won.	Lost.	To play.
Boston	19	3	0
Brooklyn	15	7	0
Philadelphia	10	3	9
Pittsburg	9	10	3
Cincinnati	15	3	4
Chicago	12	7	3
St. Louis	14	4	4
Totals	94	37	22

PITTSBURG WITH—

	Won.	Lost.	To play.
New York	10	9	3
Philadelphia	12	4	2
Brooklyn	12	7	3
Boston	11	8	3
Cincinnati	13	7	2

ORIOLES AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

A very large crowd witnessed the game of baseball between the Ideals and the Oriole teams on Fletcher's Field. The Orioles won by a score of 17 to 9. The Ideals started off well, but in the fifth and sixth innings Sam weakened, allowing the Orioles to secure a lead that could not be overcome.

GOSSIP FOR THE FANS.

Cy Young, of the Boston Americans, and Rube Waddell, of the Philadelphia Athletics, are both out of the game with sore arms.

Harry Kane, last year with the Rochester Eastern Leaguers, and now with Savannah, has been signed by the Philadelphia Nationals for next season.

The Rochester club has signed a left-handed twirler named Seitz, who is a graduate of Georgetown University.

Pitcher Fred Falkenberg, formerly with Toronto, won his second American League game, beating the New York Americans. The Highlanders did not register a tally until the ninth inning.

Ernest Vinson, the former Providence outfielder, who was recently suspended by Cleveland, has been sold to the Chicago Americans. Since his suspension Vinson has been playing with the Harrisburg club of the Tri-State League.

Arrangements have been completed for a series of post-season games between the National and American League teams of Chicago. The games will begin October 10 and continue until one team has won four out of seven games.

It is said that Joe Cantillon, owner and manager of the Milwaukee American Association Club, will next year assume the management of the Washington League club. It is understood that Jake Stahl, the present manager of the Nationals, is desirous of quitting the berth.

Hogan Yancey, the centre fielder of the Rochester team has been engaged to coach the football tam of Rochester East High School, the leading preparatory school in that city, this fall. Yancy played on the Kentucky University eleven for several seasons and afterward coached the team. Besides being a football and baseball player, Yancey is a sprinter of ability.

Foster, Newark's new outfielder, has hit .389, in the six games in which he has figured as a participant. Out of eighteen times at bat he has made seven hits—three singles, three two-baggers and a home run—for a total of thirteen bases. He has scored six runs and has driven in three tallies. Foster also shows ability to field his position, and he is not a bit slow on the bases, either.

Birds' Batting and Fielding Averages

Eastern League players have one week left to wield the hickory before the clubs are put away for the year. It was expected that Laporte would be in the lead by this time, but Byers of Baltimore still maintains his advantage and has the Bison by two points. This is as good a race as the clubs are making for the pennant. Pattee, Jersey City's second baseman, is trailing after Laporte by just two points. Bobby Woods of the local team has them all beaten, but as he has played in but eighteen games, it would hardly be fair for him to take away honors for which other players have fought throughout the long season. Joe Delehanty has just turned the .300 corner, and will scarcely have time to do much better. Billy Milligan, for a pitcher, is a grand hitter, and it is to be regretted that he does not play in every game. Buffalo has three men in the .300 class. So has Baltimore in Byers, O'Hara, a new fielder, and in Jordan. Providence boasts three in McFarland, Dunn and Thomas. Newark has gone along without a sensational hitter until Manager Burnham picked up Foster, who has clouted the ball best of anyone in the league for the same number of chances. Aside from Foster, the best man is Jimmy Jones. Joyce and Raub is the best pair on Montreal's nine. Manager Clancy leads his own team, Rochester. Rapp is the best Toronto has.

The Birds' figures, which take in all games played up to and including those of Saturday, are as follows:

CAPITALS ANXIOUS TO PLAY MONTREALS AGAIN

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—At a special meeting of the Capital Lacrosse Club last night it was decided to arrange a match with Montreal to be played here on Saturday next. With Dade and Finlayson on Montreal, it is expected to prove a great drawing card. It is possible that Johnny Powers and a couple of professionals will figure on the local team for the occasion.

The match will be Capitals' last appearance in the East this season. They leave for the coast tour on Monday next, stopping at Banff one day en route, and playing in New Westminster on Oct. 3, 5 and 7. Other matches are being arranged for Vancouver, Seattle and Winnipeg.

Watch mainsprings guaranteed from $1. R. Hemsley, 255 St. James St—Adv.

POOL CHAMPIONSHIP.

The pool championship of Canada will be decided to-morrow night, Wednesday, Sept. 20th, at the Unity Rooms, 594 Wellington Street, Point St. Charles, when Sam McBride, of Montreal, and Joe Boulet, of Point St. Charles, will meet for a purse of $25. All are invited.

Well-Known Authority on Athletics Pleads for Reform in Sports

High School, Montreal, Can.
Sporting Editor, Herald:

Sir,—Can you spare a little space in your valuable paper for a word or two from one who is deeply interested in the sports and games of the present, and the welfare of the youth of this country in both present and future.

I was a spectator at the Canadian Amateur Athletic games Saturday, as I have been for the past fifteen years, and it was the old story over again, only worse Our neighbors from across the line took every event and I do not recall an instance of a Canadian getting a place in anything. Now what in the name of common sense do we call these games Canadian for? Why not International? If we are to have Canadian championships in any sport let us have it for Canadians, and then every two years, say, hold an International meet, and end this farce of Canadian champions all being Americans.

For the last nine years I have been director of physical training at the High School and other institutions in Montreal and have never ceased urging upon the young boys and men with whom I have come in contact that if they possessed any physical advantage over others, that they should use that advantage for the honor of their school college, club or country, pointing out the fact that there was no reason why they should not receive the highest honors on the track or field.

For many years this was so, but conditions have changed for the worse, and now no Canadian can expect to win a championship of his own country till he adopts the methods of our Southern friends, or prevents their competing. Is it desirable that our young men should adopt these methods. I think not, and I know a great many fathers and a great many wise men think the same.

Athletics and games should be interesting, amusing and above all spontaneous. This making a business of them should be left to professionals.

Now here lies the centre of the whole trouble who are professionals and who are amateurs? I leave that to the proper parties to decide, but this much I venture to say, no one who makes a business of any game or sport should compete against one who only uses that game or sport as a means of health and recreation. Naturally I for one will never condemn a man who uses his physical prowess to earn his living, but I shall always use what little influence I possess to prevent such men posing as amateurs and competing against them. It is the desire of nearly every healthy, well developed boy to compete with and excel others, and this desire within certain limits, is legitimate, but how can I urge the boys at our High School to become proficient in lacrosse or hockey in the present stage those two games are passing through. Less than one per cent. of them ever dream of going into sport as a business, and others say, "Oh, I have not time to go into a game that requires so much practice," and they are quite right, leaving aside the many other reasons that ought to keep them out, such as chance of injury, as witness one of the great hockey matches last winter. I do not mean ordinary chances, but chances that should never be possible Those who play and those who watch intelligently know what I mean.

Now, Mr. Editor, will you not, with all the influence that your paper possesses, as you have done in the past, as Caspar Whitney and others are doing, seek to turn this tide of amateur masqueraders and let us have, if necessary, professional sports for professionals, and certainly amateur sports for amateurs, but above all Canadian sports for Canadians.

Thanking you for your space, I am hopefully,
C. B. Powter.

HARRIS, HARKNESS AND CO. MAKERS

Croquet Championship Decided Under Nerve-Trying Conditions

"I suppose one of the most dramatic situations ever evolved," declared a town supervisor, "was when Elihu Spridgely and Hiram Bunner played for the croquet championship of our town, when they believed that an error would cost them their lives."

"No capital punishment in this state for being defeated at croquet," observed a city member. Then he added: "But there ought to be for fake wrestling. Go on."

"It was like this," resumed the town man, picking up the thread of his story, with a frown. "Elihu was seventy years old and Hiram had passed his eightieth milestone, but both were spry as crickets. Both had played croquet all their lives and there was nothing in Western New York that could touch them. They got so they could put the English on a ball and play a combination game. And each was incensed that the other should have the hardihood to claim the laurels.

"'Boys,' suggested Edgar Wilson, who was then running the gypsum mine, 'why don't you make it interesting and play for blood?' And then he unfolded his scheme. Both of the would-be champs shivered, but finally agreed to it. And when the crowd gathered on the morrow it beheld some strange looking white wickets.

"'It's crystalized nitro-glycerin,' explained Edgar, and the two players turned aside to shudder. And the crowd fell back and watched the match through opera glasses. For, you see, if a ball happened to tap a wicket there would be nothing left of the player but his good name. Edgar had set up all night, working the deadly stuff into shape, and it only needed an error to send a hat around for flowers.

"And Elihu and Hiram were nervous They were old, but a man never gets so old he wants to pass out on a bunch of high explosives. When Elihu took a shot, Hiram withdrew to the sidelines And vice versa. And of all the shots ever made I suppose what they did that day had all the prizes pushed back into the safe deposit vault. Never a time that the ball failed to out the middle line of the arch. Wicket after wicket was navigated with nothing explosive doing, and the spectators, reassured crept a little nearer. When the two arrived at the last two wickets together the mob, now breathless, and forgetting the menace, kept at their very elbows. It was Elihu's first shot and instead of trying to hit Hiram's ball he drew a long breath and prepared to take a slant shot at the first barrier.

"And then, who should push through the circle with a mallet but Hiram's little grandson, and before the horrified crowd could do anything, except drop face down, he drew off and banged wicket number one with all his juvenile strength. Hiram gave one yell and threw himself into Elihu's arms and the latter went wobbly and with a loud groan sank to the ground.

"But there was no explosion, and as the faces were lifted from the turf an Edgar still remained erect, grinning confidence returned. The wickets were made of macaroni, and the two poor old men had hung onto life by the very edge for nearly an hour. Neither had played croquet since, and any one can claim the championship in our village without their making an outcry."

STOCKS AND MONEY.

C.P.R. Gets Set Back; London Was Very Large Seller

Even Some Large Local Houses Are Without Orders

The local market was again very dull, but it looks as though some united action might be taken in the near future to attract more business here. Considerable interest was shown in the movement in C.P.R., and while it showed quite a decline, quite a few Wall street interests continued bullish on the stock. By its movement to-day Canadian Pacific showed that London is still the principal market for the stock, and that Wall street is willing to follow the lead of that market. Before the New York market opened the stock had been declined a couple of points on the London market, and this had the result of making the opening price on Wall street 172, compared with yesterday's closing price of 174 1-8. London interests seemed large sellers of the stock.

Even at the lower prices, local investors did not show any inclination to buy the stock. One trader remarked that C.P.R. had now climbed so high that it was a rich man's stock. The sales of the stock in Wall street to noon were 15,000 shares. The lowest price was 171 7-8, but this afternoon it sold at 172 1-4. An interesting compilation shows that during the past four years Canadian Pacific has had a larger proportionate increase than any other railway in the United States or Canada. Of the American railways, Southern Pacific made the best showing, its success for the four years being equal to 53 per cent. The proportionate increase made by Canadian Pacific in the same time was equal to 66 per cent. On this continent there were eight railways which during their last fiscal year earned over $50,000,000. Canadian Pacific was eighth in the list. The weekly earnings of the company, to be found elsewhere, are again above the million mark. Everything indicates that the company will continue to make this showing well into the winter.

The placing of Lake of the Woods common on a 6 per cent. basis has not resulted in any demand for the stock at any figure above par. The complete statements of the earnings for the year have now reached the head office from Winnipeg, and the directors will meet to discuss them in a few days. It is understood that at the urgent request of a number of the directors, Mr. Robert Meighen will retain the management of the company, and the prospects are for a very successful year.

Montreal Cotton, even around 120, was not very freely offered. The company's mills at Valleyfield are said to be a good deal busier than they have been for many months, and the orders on hand will mean fair business for considerable time to come.

Even the larger local houses seem to be without any orders, and the entire business of the morning session might easily have been transacted in a few minutes.

Wall Street Market

Wall Street.—The weakness of the London market caused a sympathetic decline in the opening dealings in the stock market here, which ran to two points in Can. Pacific, and to a large fraction in a number of other prominent stocks, including Louisville and Nashville, M. Pac., and Kansas and Texas stocks, N. Y. C., Erie second pfd., Smelting and U. S. Rubber. The offerings were not on a large scale and the trading became dull after the opening.

Noon—Stocks were bid up after the opening decline, but there was not enough of a demand to absorb the offerings that came out on the rally, and the market fell away. A rally in N. Y. C. brought about a small better tone, but the few minor advances failed to hold the market and prices went off again in the second hour Losses reached a point in B. & O.; Ont. & Western, Wabash, Northwestern, Amalgamated Copper, and Locomotive pfd., 1½ in U. S. Rubber, and 3 in General Electric. Bonds were heavy.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

Sales to noon on Wall Street were 348,000 shares.

J. S. Bache & Co.—Noon—The market was unfavorably influenced by the re-opening of the Moroccan question, consols came lower and prices ⅛ to ¾ below our parity. This was not to the liking of many traders, and some pressure was put on prices from the opening here. This continued during the better part of the earlier session. Some half-hearted rallies were attempted under the lead of N. Y. C., but unavailing and with the exception of a few specialties, the sagging tendency continued. At noon the market is dull and heavy.

E. & C. Randolph: The buying of C. & O. continued of the best character, and was taken to indicate confidence in an increase in the dividend rate. There was some pressure on U. P., but the stock holds well around 132. Talk on C. P. R. continues very bullish, and good buying on the decline was noted in all the Canadian group.

Marler & Hodgson.—Arbitrage firms were free sellers of stocks, especially of U. P., Can. Pac., Steel pfd., and N. Y. C. The bearish attitude of London was caused by a further advance in the discount rate in open market in London, indicating that the Bank of England rate will be advanced on Thursday.

Charles Head & Co.—There was a small recovery within the first hour, but the temper of the speculation was feeble and there was a noticeable absence of snap to the buying. London was reported a heavy seller and the room traders followed suit, a pelt or a hide being equally satisfactory to them.

Good Showing of Tor. Ry

Although there was not any special attraction in Toronto last week the earnings of the Toronto Street Railway showed large increases over the same days last year. The fall race meet at the Woodbine started on Saturday and earnings were above the $10,000 mark. As the races continue all this week the earnings should be large.

Earnings for the week ending September 16:—

		Inc.

Strange Action in Ry. Fight

Mr. Joseph Ramsey, jr., president of the Wabash Railroad Company, who is fighting the Gould interests is making a bid to get as many proxies as possible for the annual meeting of the company to be held on October 10. In a letter to the debenture and stockholders of the Wabash, President Ramsey says in part: "Under the statement of the results of my administration, I feel that I am entitled to ask you to honor me with your proxies, for use at the annual election of directors, to be held on October 10th next.

"I realize fully the responsibility assumed by me in making this request; and should you honor me with your confidence, I shall use the power you confide in me, in an endeavor to elect such directors, as will fully recognize the obligations assumed by them, as representatives of all the owners of your properties.

"I question if anyone is better acquainted with the Wabash Railroad, its capabilities and its possibilities, than myself, after my long connection with its management; and I do not hesitate to say, that with prudent, conscientious and impartial operation, there should be at an early date some pecuniary return to its owners.

A Dream on C.P.R.

Canadians who up to the present time have not had an opportunity of discussing what a wonderful property is the Canadian Pacific Railway, should read the advertisements appearing in some of the New York papers of houses who desire to get the public in on the stock. To provide pleasant reading rather than facts seems to have been the object of the ad-writer, as may be gathered from the following:

A RAILROAD AROUND THE WORLD

This sounds like Jules Verne fiction, but instead thereof it is plain facts, which bear the strictest investigation.

Canadian Pacific.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Pacific across the Pacific to the Far East, from Montreal to London and Liverpool, from either of these world centres to Cape Town, thence to Cairo.

John W. Mackay made a success of his every enterprise. He was a director in the Canadian Pacific, and he told a friend of mine that every inch of this road had been built for the benefit of the stockholders, and no benefit whatsoever was ever given to politicians, insiders or officials. The proof of this is that the cost of the road, including bonded debt and issue of stock, amounts to less than $30,000 per mile. How is this possible? Because this railroad was subidized by the English Government, which contributed a proportionate amount of cash to every mile constructed. This cash payment was accompanied by enormous concessions of valuable grants in the shape of untold millions of acres of land, fertile and rich and aggregating in square miles more than Great Britain, France and Germany together.

MARKET REPORTS.

Grain Markets Were Quiet To-Day; Produce Markets About Steady

Present High Prices for Hay Caused by Sudden and Early Demand

Grain—Though there is still a fair demand from foreign sources for new crop Manitoba spring wheat bids are out of line with local quotations in most cases and consequently business is rather quiet. Some export business is being worked in Manitoba oats at prices ranging from 27½ to 28½c per bushel, ex store, Fort William.

Flour—The local flour market is steady but business is quiet, the demand being only for small lots. Manitoba spring wheat patents, $5 to $5.10; strong bakers', $4.70 to $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.65 to $4.75; straight rollers, $4.30 to $4.40; and in bags, $2.00 to $2.10.

Millfeed—The market for millfeed is firm, the demand being good and supplies very scarce Manitoba bran, in bags, $17 to $18; shorts, $20 to $21 per ton; Ontario bran, in bulk, $15 to $15.50; shorts, $20 to $20.50; milled moullie, $21 to $24; straight grain moullie, $28 to $29 per ton.

Rolled Oats—There is no change in rolled oats, business being quiet and prices unchanged at $2.25 to $2.30 per bag. Cornmeal is slow at $1.45 to $1.50 per bag.

Hay—The tone of the market for baled hay is firm owing to the small supplies and good demand. No. 1, $8.50 to $9; No. 2, $7.50 to $8; clover, mixed, $6.50 to $7; and pure clover, $6 to $6.25 per ton, in car lots.

Sudden and Early Demand Cause of High Prices for Hay

Mr. Joseph Quintal, of the firm of Quintal and Lynch, who has just returned to the city from New York where he has been overlooking the hay situation, is of the opinion the sudden and early demand for hay has advanced prices too high.

The reports of large engagements for freight space via American ports are apparently true, says Mr. Quintal but some of the exporters who have contracted for space have by no means nearly completed their engagements though they have only about two weeks left in which to do so. This is a result of the scarcity of supplies and the unusually early and sudden demand which has caused the farmers and country holders to advance prices.

Cheese, Butter and Eggs

The receipts of cheese to-day were 5,219 boxes. The market continues fairly steady though there is an easier feeling in Quebec makes. At the boat yesterday the ruling figure was 10⅝c. Several lots of good quality townships cheese were sold yesterday afternoon for 10⅝c at country points and a few sales at 10½c are reported. There is no improvement in the export demand to-day but local prices have declined a fraction and holders are now quoting Ontario at 11¼c to 11⅜c and 10⅞c to 11c for Quebec makes.

The receipts of butter this morning were 3,416 boxes. The market is steady at 21¼c to 21½c for choice creamery and 20½c to 21c for undergrades. Locally there is a good demand and prices are somewhat higher for the city trade. Fancy lots of extra quality creamery are selling at 22c to 22½c per lb.

The receipts of eggs this morning were 799 cases. The condition of the market is unchanged the local demand being still fair at 18c to 18½c for straight receipts and 21½c to 22c for selected.

Bonsecours Market Prices

There was a good demand for all lines of fruits, vegetables and meats at the Bonsecours market this morning and prices were fairly steady. There was a large attendance of both farmers and buyers. Retail prices were as follows:

Fruits.—New Canadian apples, $1.00 to $2.50; bananas, 60c to $1.00 per bunch; lemons, $5.00 to $5.50 per box; California peaches, $1.50 to $1.75; Canadian plums, 30c per basket; citron melons, 15c to 20c each.

Vegetables. — Potatoes, 50c per bag; radishes, 20c per dozen; spinach, 25c per basket; lettuces, 20c to 35c per dozen; cabbages, Montreal, 10c to 30c per doz., spring onions, 90c to $1 per bag; onions, 2c per lb.; Quebec turnips, 75c per bag; new Quebec turnips, 60c per bag; new carrots, 3 bunches for 25c; cauliflowers, 75c to $1 per doz.; tomatoes, Canadian, 20c to 25c per bushel; string beans, green, 50c, wax, 60c per box; Canadian cucumbers, 15c to 25c per doz.; Canadian celery, 25c to 50c per bunch, American, 50c.

Meats—Sirloin roast, 13c to 15c; tenderloin roast, 11c to 13c; rib roast, 12½c to 15c; corn beef, 12c; brisket of corn beef, 10c; shoulder beef, 7c to 8c; salt tongues, 10c to 12½c; mutton, carcass, 7c to 9c; forequarter, 7c; hindquarter, 11c; veal, carcass, 8c to 11c; forequarter, 8c; hindquarter, 10c to 15c; spring lamb, forequarter, 10c; hindquarter, 12½c to 14c.

Pork—Roast, 14c; chops, 14c; fresh hams, 13c; salt pork, 14c; sausages, 10c to 25c; hams, 16c; bacon, 16c; lard, $2.10 per pail.

Poultry—Turkeys, 16c to 18c; pigeons, 30c to 35c pair; squabs, 35c to 40c per pair; new spring chickens, 60c to 90c; geese, 13c to 14c lb.; ducks, 17c to 18c lb.; fowl, 11c to 12c lb.; blue ducks, 33c to 90c pair; blue bill ducks, 60c pair; snipes, $3 per doz.; plover, $4.50 per dozen; woodchucks, $1.60 per pair.

Country Produce

Beans—Business in beans continues quiet and the tone of the market is easy. Choice prunes $1.50 to $1.60 per bushel.

Honey—The demand for comb honey is fair but other lines are slow. White clover comb, 12c to 13c; white extracted 6½c to 7c; buckwheat 5½c to 6c per lb.

Maple Produce—The market for maple produces continues dull and featureless. Syrup, in 60-gallon kegs, 5¼c to 5½c per lb.; in tins, 50c to 55c per wine measure, and 65c to 70c per imperial, and Beauce sugar, 8c to 9c; and Eastern Townships sugar at 6½c to 7c per lb.

Hops—There is very little demand for hops and prices are unchanged at 26c to 27c for choice Canadians and 22c to 23c for fair to good.

Potash—The demand for potash is limited but the tone of the market is firm as the supplies are small. Pearls $7.75 to $7.85; first pots, $5.17½ to $5.20, and seconds at $4.65 per 100 lbs.

Sully Wants Fund to Bull Cotton Market

Mr. Daniel J. Sully, who became so well known in 1903 as a bull in the cotton market is out with a statement that he intends organizing a bull campaign in cotton and is inviting the public to contribute to a cotton fund. In his circular Mr. Sully says:

What I accomplished two years ago, I believe I can and will do again, aided by the experience of the past, the conditions as they exist, the knowledge at my command and the necessary capital.

Being convinced that no opportunity has ever been offered where the possibilities were so great, and that a profitable outcome must be the result.

Being convinced that there never was a time when the demands of the World of cotton were so great as they are at the present, and

Being convinced that every bale of American cotton now in sight and every pound produced this year will not meet the requirements of the world's spindles for the coming season, cotton must advance.

To all those, then, who have faith in my honesty, courage and judgment, I offer this opportunity and solicit their subscriptions to The Cotton Fund. All operations will be conducted through reliable well known commission houses of the New York, New Orleans and Liverpool Cotton Exchanges.

All subscriptions will be deposited in two Trust Companies and two National Banks in New York City, and will be acknowledged on receipt of same by me and be proportionately drawn upon for use in my cotton operations; the net profits will from time to time be divided pro rata in proportion to the amount subscribed, except that twenty per cent. of the net profits shall be retained by me as compensation for my services.

THE STORE OF SATISFACTION.

IMPRESSED WITH THE

Dress Goods Dept.'s Importance.

Given in a better location—increased scope for displays—a larger counter space for its stocks, and more accommodation for its public. Part of this store's policy is to assure that patrons are courteously and intelligently waited upon.

Improvements are not confined to the surroundings—they are apparent in the stocks, which betoken considerable growth both in volume and variety. Trying our best to interpret the public mind. The volume of the sales, thus far, justify our selections.

Interest Added by Specially Pricing Popular Lines—These Wednesday.

"He who gives up the smallest part of a secret has the rest no longer in his power."—Richter.

Fashion Has Spoken.

The Autumn Hats, the Winter modes, that have occupied the thought of the world's foremost designers, the inspirations which visions of these Hats have inspired, now repose in our Millinery salons awaiting the visits of inspection of an interested public.

Millinery Openings are ever a succession of surprises and delights. 'Tis pleasing to view a selection of hundreds of Hats, and to observe that no two are just alike. To observe the high artistic ideals, the bent of a score of minds; the evident recognition that the differences in preferences—the diversity of styles—render variety not only essential, but very advisable.

Nothing short of completeness is expected from The Store of Satisfaction. 'Tis not enough to know what Parisians display a partiality for; your interest extends to the English fashions, as well as modes that are received with greatest favor by ye American. Completeness and thoroughness is a characteristic of this display. Not a mode of merit missing—a degree of fashion unrepresented.

Of course, the display takes in the ready-to-trim Hats, and the approved materials to trim them with, as well as the ready-for-wear creations.

The Features You Don't See in

YOUR CLOTHING, SIR.

Such as the interlining in the coat, etc., are equally as excellent in quality, as the visible fabrics and outer linings. The skillful tailoring is not confined to outside construction, but extends to the hidden parts; the tailor must make certain that the interlining is cut to fit right, and is secured so that it stays in position. If curiosity ever prompts you to pull to pieces the coat of the suit purchased at The Store of Satisfaction, you'll discover the secret why it stays in shape so long as there is a degree of wear in the fabrics.

Specially priced line in Men's Suits for Wednesday, made of Scotch Tweed and Worsted, also Navy and Black Serge, four button sacque style, well made, in sizes 33 to 44 in. chest measurements. Special price..... $12.00

VIENNA CHINA WARE===A SMALL LOT

That We're Anxious to Clear.

AUSTRIA

So anxious that we'll clear it at half the value price. It's the easiest way of solving the problem that is confronting us, even in our augmented quarters, where to store all of our stock, so that none of it shall be forgotten—overlooked by the salespeople. "Goods out of sight are goods out of mind."

The collection includes Fancy Vases, Cake Plates, Celery Trays, Tea Cups with Saucers, Jardinieres, Fruit Dishes, Bon-Bon Dishes, Pin Trays, Toast Racks, etc., etc,; ware that isn't imported in large quantities, giving it a very distinguished and exclusive air.

Make your selections at half the value price, and make them early in the day, 8 a.m.

READY FOR BUSINESS AT 8 A. M.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS.

No ruts in the highway of success travelled by the Store of Satisfaction. Progressive and aggressive methods mark every step of the way, particularly since our entry into the department field some five years ago.

Seasonable stocks, ample enough in volume, liberal enough in variety, to interest every phase of taste. Reasonable prices—the minimum, in fact, assured by directly purchasing from sources of supply.

The promise of satisfaction in all transactions, the practice of refunding the purchase money, or replacing the article that the home examination doesn't confirm as thoroughly suitable—satisfactory.
