REDISTRIBUTION MEASURE IS NOT COMPLETE Rebels At Sao Paulo Set Up Provisional Government

Premier Herriot Was Given Vote Of Confidence

French Senate Passes Vote of Confidence by 246 to 18 After Herriot Had Explained Before Upper House that Role of His Government Was to Establish Cordial Relations With Great Britain—Joint Text Drawn Up Represents All Progress that Has Been Made Up to Present Toward an Accord Between France and Britain.

(Associated Press Despatch.)

PARIS, July 12.—The French Senate yesterday by a vote of 246 to 18 expressed confidence in Premier Herriot after he had stated before the Upper House that the role of his Government was to establish cordial relations with Great Britain.

The joint text drawn up in Paris by Prime Minister Macdonald and Premier Herriot during their interview, in connection with the Inter-Allied London conference, represents all the progress that has been made up to the present toward an accord between France and Great Britain, the French Premier declared before the Senate yesterday.

W. G. M'ADOO TO SUPPORT DAVIS-BRYAN TICKET

Sets at Rest Rumor That He Was Flirting With Idea of Forming Another Party of His Own.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 12.—William G. McAdoo, before sailing for Europe today, said he would give the Davis-Bryan ticket his "cordial support" and that he would take part in the campaign on his return in September.

"I am satisfied Mr. Davis is in full accord with the progressive programme outlined in the Democratic platform," said Mr. McAdoo. "I am confident that as president he would faithfully execute the party's mandate."

Referring to criticism from some quarters against Mr. Davis because of his connection with certain interests as a lawyer, Mr. McAdoo said: "Mr. Davis' high character, integrity and services should satisfy every apprehension of this sort."

Political circles had awaited McAdoo's statement, which had been promised early in the day, with no little interest.

Its general tenor was anticipated because it was recalled that Mr. McAdoo called on Mr. Davis yesterday, and that in the evening after badinage by Will Rogers at a theatre Mr. McAdoo made a short speech ending: "We must all get together and make sure that we elect a Democrat."

After going to see Mr. Davis at the residence of Frank L. Polk in a taxicab with a number plate labelled "Al Smith, '24," such as thousands of motor cars carried during the convention, Mr. McAdoo said to inquirers:

"Mr. Davis and I had a pleasant chat. You know we are very old and very good friends. We discussed the general situation."

Today's statement sets at rest recent rumors that Mr. McAdoo was flirting with the idea of forming another party of his own or of aiding the Lafollette movement.

BRITISH SUBJECT SHOT BY PSEUDO-REVOLUTIONISTS
Bandits Are Still Very Active in Northern Vera Cruz—Refused to Give Money Demanded.

(Associated Press Despatch) MEXICO CITY, July 12.—Herbert Vereker, said to be a British subject was shot dead Sunday at Potrero de Llano, in northern Vera Cruz, by one of several bandit leaders who are still marauding in that region, according to advices received here. The shooting is said to have taken place because Vereker refused to give money demanded by Pseudo revolutionists.

AROUSED OVER EXECUTION OF WALTER MUIR

Most of New York Dailies Featured Story of Execution on Their Front Pages.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 12.—Intense interest has been aroused here over the execution of Walter Muir at Valleyfield, Que., yesterday morning for the murder of Henri LaViolette. Most of the New York dailies featured the story of the execution on their front pages.

The Bulletin, a newcomer, waxed bitter in its editorial columns. The New York World this morning carries an editorial referring to the Muir case, and deploring the carrying of deadly weapons. "The real cause of such crimes," the World says, "is the practice of carrying weapons." The paper adds, "the boy with the pistol imagined himself under compulsion to kill in a dispute over nothing more important than a dog. The weapon carrier exaggerates trivial differences."

Bombardment Of City Of Sao Paulo Is In Progress--Set Up Provisional Government

Virtual State of Civil War Appears to Have Resulted from Insurrection—Japanese Vessel Reports that Government Warehouse at Port of Santos Is Afire.

(Associated Press Despatch) BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—A virtual state of civil war appears to have resulted from the insurrection at Sao Paulo, established by the rebels opposed to the Federal Government at Rio Janeiro.

The strict censorship which is in effect prevents an accurate review of the situation, but official communication allowed to pass the censor at Rio, together with advices received here from other sources, indicate that bombardment of the city of Sao Paulo is in progress, and that the federal forces, which a few days ago were within the

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED DURING RIOT AT DELHI

Quarrel Between Hindus and Moslems—Virtually Entire City Took Part in Fighting.

(Associated Press Despatch) DELHI, British India, July 12.—Seven persons are reported killed in a riot which was the outcome of a quarrel between Hindus and Moslems. Virtually the entire city took part in the rioting. All shops are closed and the police are patrolling the streets in armored cars.

The disturbances is attributed to Hindus objecting to a Moslem boy drawing from a certain well. The boy was violently beaten and is said to have died later in a hospital.

ITALIAN AIRMAN PLANS TO MAKE TRIP TO CANADA

Will Be Accompanied by Two Motor Experts, an Observer, Mechanic and Wireless Operator.

(Associated Press Despatch) ROME, July 12.—Lieutenant Locatelli, Italian airman whose projected flight to the North Pole recently was postponed until next year, expects to leave Sunday from Pisa for Great Britain, Iceland, Greenland, Canada and the United States. He will use the same plane he expected to pilot toward the pole, and will gather data for a future polar flight.

BRITISH AVIATOR DELAYED BY ENGINE TROUBLE

KSUMIGAURA, Japan, July 12.—A. Stuart MacLaren, who hopped off with two companions this afternoon for Minato on a flight around the world, was forced to return here by engine trouble which developed soon after the start. MacLaren hopes to start again for Minato tomorrow morning.

city, have retired. An official communique given out at noon yesterday in Rio and delayed in transmission here says the Federal forces on Thursday concentrated their fire upon "certain points" in the city "with satisfactory results." It adds: "The troops are advancing without halting, retaining the ground conquered. During the last twenty-four the number of prisoners and deserters among the rebels has been increasing. The morale of our soldiers is excellent."

A wireless message from a Japanese vessel states that the government warehouse at the port of Santos is afire.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL TABLED IN COMMONS; BANK INSPECTION MEASURE GIVEN THIRD READING

Report Defining Constituencies Is Not Entirely Unanimous, Members of Special Committee Having Failed to Agree as Regards Four Constituencies in Ontario—Report Is Not Final, and Further Sessions of Committee Are Scheduled to Take Place Next Week—Under New Redistribution Bill There Will Be 245 Members in the House of Commons and Unit Representation Is 36,283.

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Ont., July 12.—The redistribution bill, with its definition of constituencies, is now before the House.

Referred to a special committee at the end of March, this measure has been the subject of arduous sittings. Many differences of opinion have arisen in regard to it, and long and sometimes contentious discussions have raged about its details.

Even now the report is not entirely unanimous. No minority report is presented, but the report of the committee states explicitly that the members have been unable to agree as regards four constituencies in the province of Ontario.

These are South Hastings, West Peterborough, Hastings—Peterborough and Fort William. The committee was unanimous on the other provinces.

The report of the committee, which was laid on the table of the House last night by Hon. E. M. MacDonald, chairman, makes no reference to the subject of Maritime Province representation, concerning which hearings took place before the committee.

This report, however, is not final, and further sessions of the committee are scheduled for next week, when it may be dealt with.

The report of the committee contains an amendment to the original bill in regard to interpretation of doubtful points concerning constituency boundaries.

Under the former redistribution bill issues of this kind came up for settlement and had to be handled by the chief electoral office without explicit authority.

The amendment recommended by the committee confers such authority on that official.

A HEAVY FINE IS PLACED ON BRITISH SHIP

Alleged Vessel Violated Shipping Law Forbidding Ships Under Foreign Flags in Engaging in Commerce Between U.S. Ports.

(Associated Press Despatch) BOSTON, July 12.—For alleged violation of the shipping laws forbidding vessels under foreign flags in engaging in commerce between United States ports, a fine of $111,000 has been placed by Customs authorities here against the British steamer Voltaire, which last Monday brought five hundred members of the Philadelphia lodge to the national convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

The Voltaire, owned by the Lamport and Holt steamship company, stopped here en route to St. John's, Newfoundland, and Halifax. The allegation charges that the Voltaire by coming here from Philadelphia at least violated the spirit of the law. Appeal from the fine may be made to the Department of Commerce at Washington.

REBEL FORCES STILL IN CONTROL AT SAO PAULO

Stated City Is Quiet Under the New Provisional Government.

(Associated Press Despatch) BUENOS AIRES, July 12.—The rebels continue to control Sao Paulo and the surrounding country, according to reliable advices received here. The advices received were that the "city was quiet yesterday under the new provisional government."

GOVERNMENT BANK INSPECTION

Third reading was given to a bill establishing Government bank inspection. Amendments to the Bank Act submitted by H. E. Spencer, J. Shaw and E. J. Garland were each defeated on division.

The bill respecting the trade convention between Canada and Belgium was given third reading.

Before 3 a.m., when the House adjourned, all the estimates of the Departments of Finance and Immigration were put through by Hon. J. A. Robb, who leaves today for Europe, except two small items held over at the request of the Opposition.

CHURCH UNION BILL

The Church Union Bill was under discussion in the Senate. Senator Dandurand intimated to the House that there was little probability of the St. Lawrence waterways project being undertaken for some time.

MONDAY IN PARLIAMENT

The Senate will sit on Monday. The House of Commons will commence morning sittings on Monday.

The Commons at 11 a.m. will take up Government bills, probably the Redistribution Bill.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE

EDMONTON, July 12.—Mrs. C. W. H. Lovering was re-elected by acclamation president of the National Catholic Women's League and Hamilton, Ont., her home city, was chosen as the seat of the 1925 convention at the closing session of the convention yesterday.

WINNIPEG, July 12.

Five men, believed to have been associated with Percy Mogg, who shot and wounded two members of the Winnipeg detective force on Thursday in attempting to avoid arrest, were rounded up by the police yesterday.

MAYOR SAYS CITY BUSINESS GOING AHEAD

Does Not Expect Action Against Him—Bought Stones Which City Had to Sell

The Record interviewed His Worship Mayor Brault yesterday, and asked him how the deadlock existing in the city Council at the present time was affecting the progress of the City's work, if everything was at a standstill until an agreement could be reached between the two sides, or if the work was being done as usual.

In reply to the question the Mayor said that, "so far no work has been held up, all committees are meeting and functioning as usual." At the present time the City is engaged in paving on Frontenac street. A small delay was experienced here, the Mayor said, owing to the completion of the agreement with the Street Railway, on Alexander Street the work is very near completion, if not completed. On being asked about the Galt street viaduct, the Mayor said that in appearance only this work might seem to be held up, but in reality no hold up was taking place, but the City were forced to wait for plans from the Canadian Pacific.

Regarding the work in the City Hall itself, the Mayor said that work had been somewhat held up in the office owing to the sudden dismissal of Mr. Dugal, but he hoped that everything would turn out satisfactorily. Since June the 24th, 1924, the day of Mr. Gatten's suspension, the Mayor was pleased to say that peace and co-operation has existed in the City Hall, as never before, and expressed the view that when the question of Mr. Gatten's suspension comes up before the Council, it will be accepted.

In a very few days the Mayor said the Auditing Report would be submitted by Mr. Bryce, and after its public appearance the present trouble will be greatly cleared up, and the citizens will be given a chance to see who was to blame for the existing controversies. Mr. Dugal is no longer working at the City Hall, he said the services which Mr. Bryce required of him were completed, and consequently he was dismissed. The Mayor is anxiously awaiting the publication of the Auditing Report, and expects that the situation will be immediately cleared up.

Although the meeting of last Monday was adjourned until this coming Monday, the Mayor assured the Record that no meeting would be held on this Monday either. His Worship said, that on August the first, and not before that date, the first regular meeting of the Council would be held. By that time Alderman Newton would be back from Europe, and Alderman Langis, who at the present time is away from the City, would also have returned. The Auditing Report will have been published, and everything will be ready for the council to consider. At this meeting the question of Mr. Gatten's suspension will also come up.

DOES NOT EXPECT ACTION TO DISQUALIFY

On being asked regarding the rumored attempt to disqualify him, the Mayor denied the truth or possibility to any such attempt, at least, he said that there were no grounds for such an action. The Mayor said that recently the City had some stones which they did not need, and which they were willing to sell.

New York Root Garden Raided Last Night By Prohibition Agents--Walters Arrested

Sudden Appearance of Officials Threw Ritz-Carlton Roof Garden into Turmoil—Diners Whose Liquor Was in Plain View Tipped Their Glasses Over and Spilled the Evidence.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 12.—Prohibition agents raided the Ritz Carlton roof garden last night when the restaurant was serving more than four hundred patrons, arrested six waiters and a patron, and left a summons for the manager of the roof garden.

The raid was arranged by prohibition agents Kupperman, Hoover and Coyne, who alleged that they had been going to the Ritz Carlton for a week and had bought champagne at $20 a quart at that establishment.

The sudden appearance of the prohibition agents threw the roof garden into turmoil. Many of the four hundred diners jumped from their tables and swarmed around the raiders. The agent hurried from table to table where they alleged they saw dozens of filled or partly drained champagne glasses, and snatched from the tables whatever evidence they could find.

Many of the diners whose liquor was in plain view, according to the raiders, tipped their glasses over and spilled the evidence. Others drank to the prohibition agents, who said that those who made a move to destroy evidence had acted apparently on a signal from the orchestra. When the excitement subsided, the prohibition authorities marched their prisoners from the hotel, leaving the roof garden with the status of practically a self-service restaurant, and took the defendants to the police station. The waiters were still wearing their evening clothes when they appeared in the station to be booked.

The only patron arrested was Edwin Goodman, of 320 West 71 Street, described by persons in the roof garden as a broker. He was arrested when, it is alleged, he tried to prevent the prohibition agents from confiscating a handbag of champagne.

THE WEATHER

FUNERAL OF HARTLEY THOMPSON

The funeral of the late Hartley Thompson was held on Monday afternoon at two o'clock from St. Barnabas' church, Rural Dean Templeman taking the service in the absence of the incumbent, Rev. Phillip Callis, M. A. Mr. Denton of Bishop's College assisted the Rural Dean.

The church was filled to overflowing, almost all the friends and acquaintances of the deceased young man going afterwards to the cemetery for the committal service.

Hartley Thompson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, of Whitesford, Cambridge, England, and was only twenty years old. He had been in Canada less than a year, having spent about four months in Richmond before coming to Megantic. His sudden death on Saturday afternoon, when he collapsed from heart failure while in swimming, was a shock to all, and a cause of grief to the many friends he had made, particularly in the Bank of Commerce where he was employed, and among the Boy Scouts, who had appointed him assistant scout-master. By these, as well as others, he was regarded with esteem and real affection, notwithstanding the short time he had been here.

The casket was borne by assistant scoutmasters W. Doonan and Jack Matheson, patrol leader Findlay McDonald and scout T. Moore. Following the casket were Mr. E. L. Stewart Paterson, superintendent of the Bank of Commerce, Sherbrooke, Mr. George M. Thompson, manager of the bank at Megantic, and Mrs. Thompson, also the bank staff.

The Boy Scouts, under Scoutmaster, Rev. Claude Gilbert, and the Girl Guides, under their Captain, Mrs. Gilbert, formed an escort and guard of honor at the church and cemetery.

There were beautiful floral tributes from all sections of the community, including flowers from the Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides and the Bank of Commerce. All these placed on the grave in Riverbank cemetery bore testimony that although Hartley Thompson had been laid to rest without one of his kind or kin near, nothing was left undone that loving hearts could dictate or kindly hands do.

The building has been for some time undergoing repairs, and now presents a much improved appearance. The exterior has been repainted, the approaches and entrance changed, and the grounds graded with cement sidewalks. The interior is completely modernized, including re-arrangement of the choir's gallery and pulpit platform, comfortable seats, chaste fixtures and decorations throughout. It is expected that many former members and friends of both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches from a distance will be present to join in these united services and renew old acquaintances. Preparations have been made by the choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Logie, for special music. Mesdames McKay, of Sherbrooke, and Hutchison, of Montreal, will assist. The services will be at 11 A. M., and 7.30 Summer time. On Monday evening there will be a supper and programme. Delicious suppers and good programmes at the United Church, Windsor, Monday, July 14th. Supper 5 to 7. TWO NEW "SILENT POLICEMEN"

Wellington Street South has been adorned with two new "silent policemen." These have been placed at the city limits near the car barns and are not situated in the centre of the road, as is usually the case, but alongside of the road.

These two "policemen," while much the same in appearance as the others which are placed throughout the city, are very different in nature. The others advertise cigarettes and auto tires, but these advertise whiskey.

POLICE DETERMINED TO ENFORCE TRAFFIC LAWS.

A determined effort is being made by the local police authorities to see that the traffic laws are enforced in the city. It is the intention of the blue coats this time to act and not to warn.

Last night three officers were placed on duty on Wellington street to see that cars were parked as near the curb as possible. Recently cars have been left as far as four feet from the curb, and have been left in this position for hours. With cars this distance out in the road much inconvenience is caused.

The authorities state that offenders will be served with a severe warning for the first offence and their names and registration number kept on file. If a second charge is brought against them they will be prosecuted.

The soloist at this service will be Mrs. Maurice Crooks, of the First Congregational Church, Holyoke, who will sing "Come unto Me," by William Coenen. Mrs. Crooks is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Alberta Adams, and has been heard with much pleasure before in this city.

At the evening service Dr. Reed will be the preacher. He will speak on "Tested by what we praise."

ST. PATRICK'S MISSION CIRCLE

Mrs. Ray Edney, Ontario Street, was the hostess for the last meeting of the St. Patrick's Mission Circle. Miss Florine Mullins, the president, occupied the chair, and the chief business of the meeting was in regard to plans for a lawn circle at Racine Park on Tuesday, July 15.

The following committees: Flower table, Miss Valida Turcotte; beverages, Miss Eva McConnell and Mrs. Albert; ice cream, Misses Florine Mullins and Doris Hewitt. Other attractions will also be provided.

The Circle's annual summer outing was postponed until September, as it was felt that it could be more easily arranged for at that time. The meeting then adjourned for the summer months.

CHILD STRUCK BY STREET CAR

A small girl named Thompson was the victim of an accident yesterday afternoon on Wellington Street. According to reports the child was playing on the street, and on noticing an approaching auto she stepped on to the street car track, falling to see car which was coming. Car was going about eight miles an hour at the time, and but for the quick action of the motorman Gauthier, who was in charge of the car, the child might have met with serious, if not fatal injury. The way in which Gauthier managed the situation is very deserving of praise, the railway officials stated this morning.

Apart from being slightly cut about the face, and receiving a severe shock, the child was none the worse for her experience.

EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, formerly of Granby, now residing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Cox, yesterday attained the age of eighty-nine years. Mrs. Craig is in full possession of all her faculties and her memory reaches back to the pioneer days of Canada, before the time of railroads and the many inventions and luxuries which the present generation enjoys. Mrs. Craig received many greetings of post card and during the day many good wishes for the attainment of other birthdays.

General Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkrige and their son, Stanley, have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Squires.

The volunteer fire brigade was called out yesterday at noon for a chimney fire which had caught in the roof of the house occupied by Mr. R. Turner, at the lower end of Main Street. The high wind rendered the occurrence extremely dangerous, but prompt action on the part of the residents extinguished the blaze before the arrival of the brigade.

PICTURE PAINTING CONTEST

OFF FOR A SAIL

NAME ..... AGE .....
ADDRESS .....

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Corner Children: Today I am writing you from an outlook over a most beautiful expanse of water, and from the distance I can hear the joyous cries of children in swimming. Can all the Corner family swim? I'm sure you can because it is such jolly good fun.

Yesterday I rowed across the lake, it was so smooth and tempting, and I was just rejoicing in the glories of all nature when I spied some boys carving off strips of the beautiful white bark from our splendid birch trees. "They didn't need it," they said rather sheepishly, when I asked them, but thought it was good sport.

We talked for a long time and this morning I was surprised to have one of the little boys come over with a poem in his hand which I want all the Corner folk to know too. It is probably familiar to many, but we want to remember it when we are tempted to injure the trees:

TREES.
"I think that I shall never see
A poem as lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain
Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree."
—Joyce Kilmer.

This week you will find the picture to paint or crayon that I have already told you about, and you must all try for it because the prize is a lovely book that you can read on some rainy afternoon. Please write to me, Corner children, about your vacation and how you passed in your school, because you must all know by now.

BABY BEE

(By Jean Amey.)
One afternoon last summer I was sitting out on the south verandah. Climbing over the railing was a rambler rose. Looking at it, and admiring the profuse and healthy growth it had made since the preceding spring, I noticed that some of the leaves had little circles or ovals cut out of them. I wondered what marauder had been at work, and looked to see if there were any suspects on the foliage, but I could find neither worm nor grub, only a little lady bug taking her dainty way along. She, I knew, was a friend of Lady Gay, the rambler rose, and the enemy and destroyer of the aphid, which sometimes troubled my rose bush.

Just then a bee, flying swiftly, came straight to a rose leaf, and like a flash cut out a circle, and departed as quickly as she had come. I was astonished, for the bee had not stayed long enough to eat the circle of green. What did it mean?

In a few minutes back came the same bee, or one exactly like it, cut out a circle dexterously as before, and departed as expeditiously, carrying the bit of rose leaf with her.

Now, when something curious or interesting in the natural world is enacted right before one's eyes, there are several methods of thought or procedure in any given case. One may say to oneself, "Well, that is an odd thing. I wonder what it means?" and let it go at that. Or one may investigate for oneself and follow up the quest to a satisfactory conclusion. Or one may inquire of a really true naturalist, if so fortunate as to possess one as a friend, or one may search in the library for some book that will tell what one wishes to know.

Well, I did some amateur detective work in connection with the robbery of my rose leaves, and what do you think I found out? Just here please allow for a digression. You remember that when the new baby came your mother had a pretty bassinet, lined with blue or pink and trimmed with ribbons, all ready for the little stranger. There was a soft pillow for baby to lie on, and a soft, fine, little blanket for a cover.

Now, that is just what this busy little mother bee was doing—lining her baby's basket or cradle. Her color scheme was green, and the material she had chosen was the soft, green leaves of the rambler rose. She had prepared her little oblong nest in the deadwood of an old apple tree stump, shaping it with her hind feet till it was smooth and round. Then she cut out the rose leaf just the right pattern and size and fitted it into the bottom of the cradle. Next she gathered neetar and pollen from the flowers, and mixing it together into a pasty mass, made it into a little heap at the bottom of the cradle. On this she laid an egg, out of which later the baby bee would come.

Immediately after the egg was laid she flew swiftly to the rose bush, cut out a little round blanket, and they flying back again, tucked it snugly over the egg. Then she added more pollen and laid another egg, and another rose-leaf blanket, making several layers and pasting them together with glue from her mouth. She worked away busily in this way until the cradle was full. Then she tucked in the last rose-leaf blanket, fastening it down snugly, and departed.

After a while the first baby bee came out of the first egg, and mother was not there to feed it, and it could not get out because the little brothers and sisters in the other compartments were not yet out of their shells. But the clever little mother had provided for this emergency with the sweet nectar, and the rose-leaf covering was also suitable as food for Baby Bee, who at once commenced to chew its blanket and suck the paste. In their turn, as they came out of their eggs, the others did the same until all were free.

After this, when I see the little round pieces taken out of my rose leaves, I shall not resent it, for who would begrudge the busy, careful, little bee mother the material with which to line her baby's bassinet, or make a blanket for her baby. This leaf-cutting bee is different from the honey bee in shape and coloring, and is not quite so large. Watch for it this summer, boys and girls, and see if you can find one of these bee cradles. The bee mothers put them in many interesting places besides old stumps, and all the mothers do not use rose leaves to line them. Some cut circles and ovals from the pansy, others the red petals of the peony.

generate descendant of many crossed breeds. He was the Priest, the high ambassador of the Church. He stood erect, his voice low and full of feeling, and it was plain that he considered this a holy-rite, sacred to his heathen gods. Ivan had not been mistaken in thinking that the ceremony would be impressive. Here were the eternal realities—the sea and the sky and the storm swept shore—and the weird tone and quality of the night added to it an effect of dignity. The worship that throbbed in Pavlov's tone was real, even if it were mistaken, even though he had long turned away from the light to bow before graven images. It was exactly the kind of marriage that Ivan, in particular, would have preferred. It appealed to his eternal sense of fitness, the attribute of his genius; and it lifted him out of himself like the passion of his own great music. Very soon the vows were spoken, and ignoring the presence of the priest and the two witnesses, Ivan took his bride in his arms. Pavlov shook hands with them both, himself carried away by exultation, and Fortune Joe came up clumsily to offer his good wishes.

"We owe a lot to you," Ivan told him happily. "That message to 'change the name' that you brought through helped more than any other thing to make up Mrs. Ishmin's to sell and he had, as a private citizen had a contract with a construction company for supplying them with stones. He asked the City if they would sell him some of the stones which they had for sale, and which any one could buy. The City agreed, the stones were bought, twenty-four loads from the Road Department and one from the Water Works Department. The stones were paid for by the Mayor, and he received a receipt from the City. If anything unlawful could be found in such a transaction the Mayor said that he would be very much surprised, as it was a purely lawful transaction.

While the Mayor claims that there are no grounds for action, his opponents it is understood have secured legal advice and state that action is likely to follow.

FOREST FIRES RAGING IN GASPE COUNTY

Stated that Flames are Sweeping in Direction of Settlers' Land.

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, July, 12.—Forest fire by the Papediac river in Gaspe county, thought to be under control a couple of days ago, are now sweeping in the direction of settlers' land, according to news received last night.

Dorothy turned, her heart leaping to receive Pete's congratulations, but the head guide still loitered in the dusk. In the same instant he was almost carried away by a half-mad impulse to take the girl in his arms for one kiss that by an old custom at weddings he might rightly claim. It would mean more to him than mere beauty and loveliness; it would be a memory to harbor in the days to come and it would some way exalt him in ways beyond his ken. It was not just a whim, a delusion; all his longing and his loss had somehow centered, for the instant, in this; and it was suddenly a veritable need. Some way that kiss would be an enduring token of what he had been and what he had given, and it would help sustain him in the darkening future. But he repelled the impulse with an iron will, wondering for the instant, if even to dwell upon it signified the first wandering of insanity. Such an act would only put him to needless trial, open old wounds. She would know his lips of old and feel the love that poured through them; he might by some selfish act, risk the inviolability of his disguise. Even yet it might cost her happiness.

"Aren't you going to wish us well, Pete?" he heard the girl say in the dusk. Her tremulous voice brought him to himself. "In just a minute," he answered as casually as he could. "I've got to get the camp ready for you first. After that, I'll give you all the good wishes that I know."

He turned, groping into the gloom, and lifted his face to the doubtful mercy of the wind. It swept by him, chanting, into the fastnesses of the night; and he wondered if it would not blow out the wan flame of his own life. He had a feeling that oblivion was near; that somehow, because the need of him was done, the curtain would soon fall over his own existence. Surely it was futile henceforth; the drama was concluded, the game was through and the counters put away.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED FOR B. C. CAMPAIGN

Thetford Mines Organizes—Meeting Held at Local Campaign Headquarters Last Evening.

The Thetford Mines committee for Bishop's campaign, acting in conjunction with the campaign that is being put on in Sherbrooke by Bishop's University, held a meeting of citizens in Thetford Mines yesterday and the following committee was appointed, with Mr. O. C. Smith as chairman:
Col. J. J. Penhale, W. C. Goff, Major H. R. Lynn, G. L. Burland, James Lipsey, J. T. McCallum, J. F. Pharo.

There are some forty alumni and friends of Bishop's that this committee will approach next week for subscriptions towards the campaign, and Mr. Smith is quite optimistic that a very generous response will result.

Meetings are being held in Waterloo, Knowlton and other points at which committees will be selected to organize and solicit in these particular districts.

The principal of the university, Rev. A. H. McGreer; Mr. Wm. Morris and others are visiting Georgeville today on behalf of the campaign.
The Sherbrooke committee had last evening a substantial meeting last evening at campaign headquarters, 29 Wellington street north, in connection with the solicitation for the campaign in Sherbrooke. One very encouraging feature is the fact that every member of the committee is enthusiastically behind the project and is confident of a very generous response from those whom they propose to approach for a contribution. Those present at the meeting were Messrs. J. P. Wells, K.C., chairman; E. G. Graves, Wm. Morris, V. E. Morrill, E. J. Page, D. J. Salls, A. C. Stevens, Wm. Spier, D. J. Steele, J. H. Walsh, Judge C. D. White, Brooks Wilson, W. D. Van Roden, Rev. A. H. McGreer, principal of Bishop's University.

Intensive solicitation in Sherbrooke will commence on Monday, July 14, and a report meeting of the committee will be held at campaign headquarters on Monday evening at 5 p.m.

The principal, Rev. A. H. McGreer, in addressing the committee, expressed the thanks of the board of governors and officers of the university to the members present for their loyal and enthusiastic response to help make the campaign in Sherbrooke a success. Mr. J. P. Wells, K.C., chairman, also thanked the committee for their support, and is confident that there will be no difficulty in raising the $30,000 quota set for the city of Sherbrooke.

STREET CAR RAN AWAY
Considerable excitement was created last evening when a street car got out of control of the motorman and rushed down the hill leading to the Wolfe Street bridge, jumped the tracks at the corner of Frontenac and Belvidere Streets and tore down a telephone pole before coming to a stop.

CHAPTER XVII (Continued.)

It was not a wise choice, if he cared for Dorothy's peace of mind. The song moved her and bewitched her but also it frightened her beyond any power of hers to understand. That wild music became, through the magic of his genius, some way part of the night, the very voice of this wild, eerie savage land into which he was cast. The wind beat at her face, chilling and appalling her, and his threat was that of a great, white winter that was even now closing down upon her. No wonder Ivan made response to this land so far west that it was almost east. He was of it and it of him, and its mood was echoed in his heart.

At that instant he was whole worlds and centuries part from her. She saw him as the Mongol, his slanted eyes alight, devoured by his Oriental passion, lost in an alien ecstasy. She felt estranged, unspeakably terrified. Yet even now, as the music paled, she must stand beside him at this crude cross so white in the dusk. She must go to him, like a maiden sacrifice to some unearthly, heathen god. It mystified her, filled her with a poignant sense of impendable prophecy, that the cross that marked the grave should be the only whiteness left in the spreading dusk.

TO PREVENT DUST ON MAIN HIGHWAYS.

It is pleasing to note that the Quebec road department is to take steps to apply a binder or dust laying material to some of the main gravel highways.

So far as this district is concerned this is to begin with the Sherbrooke-Stanstead highway, through the instrumentality of Mr. A. J. Bissonnet, M.L.A. A car load of calcium chloride has been ordered and the highway for a section northward from Stanstead will be sprinkled with the substance. This will be a test and will be applied very shortly. Calcium chloride is being used extensively in the States instead of oil as a road binder and is meeting with much favor.

Something of this sort is very greatly needed on the main gravel highways, not only as a protection to the road, but for the benefit of the motorist. The volume of traffic on the Sherbrooke-Stanstead highway is such that during a dry period the cloud of dust is continuous. This is not only extremely unpleasant, but it means that the surface of the highway is being carried away into the fields.

The experiment on this highway will be watched with much interest.

PROHIBITION.

The old cry that prohibition is a failure is heard from the house-tops every time a crime is committed or a bootlegger makes a clean-up in the United States or the dry provinces of Canada.

One expects this from some quarters, but it is rather surprising to find the argument advanced in the editorial columns of a most reputable journal such as the Montreal Gazette. There have been numerous crimes of banditry of late and the press has recorded the story of "Butch" Crowley, who rose from poverty to millionairedom through bootlegging.

These occurrences inspire the Gazette to say:

"Criminals there have always been and probably always will be, until the millennium dawns, but society has been able heretofore to keep the upper hand, partly because the great majority of citizens arrayed themselves unitedly against the criminal on moral, ethical or self-protective grounds, and partly because crime paid its practitioners so little that they were unable to resist successfully the forces opposed to them. The criminal always lost in the long run, for the odds were all against him. Prohibition is in a fair way to reversing the tables and throwing the preponderating weight of advantage upon the side of the criminal enemies of society. The attempt to force upon nearly one hundred and twenty million people a sumptuary law which fully one-half of them were not ready to accept, and for which they could be prepared only by years of educative effort, offered to unscrupulous and evil elements both an opportunity and an incentive which they eagerly seized. The result has been, within half a decade, a concentration in the hands of ignorant and worthless individuals of wealth whose total would be staggering if it could be ascertained. Those thus enriched under prohibition are chiefly the lowest, most ignorant and most dangerous classes of the native or alien population, the classes most unfit to be entrusted with the control of money in abundance.

"Give prohibition a further tenure of ten years in the United States, and the crooks whom it is benefiting and enriching will have amassed enough money and established sufficient influence to enable them not only to nullify the Volstead Act completely, but to set at defiance every other law which they find inconvenient. The remedy is simple and obvious. It is to eliminate the element of personal profit, which has always been responsible for most of the evils attaching to the liquor traffic, which under prohibition has attained a malign supremacy unknown even in the worst days of the licensing system, and vest the control and distribution entirely in the state, leaving the forces of temperance to continue their quite commendable task of educating the public to a point where total abstinence will come about voluntarily and logically."

And yet the people of the United States seem fairly well satisfied that prohibition in their country is not a failure. There is no serious movement for its repeal. Both the great political parties are committed to its enforcement. The wet governor of New York failed of nomination at the Democratic Convention. Lloyd George has credited the United States with having secured the greatest specific gain from the war because it got prohibition.

Bootleggers there are and they will continue to make money and some of them will get rich. Saloonkeepers, under license, also, made money and some of them got rich and they were much more numerous than the bootlegging fraternity.

The saloon has gone, the bar has gone, liquor has gone, so far as the United States is concerned, excepting that the man with sufficient money can obtain a bottle here and there from the surreptitious vendor.

The United States, even though prohibition is not fully enforced, is reaping the economic gains attendant upon the discontinuance of the traffic. The masses of the people are no longer spending money upon liquor. The wives and children in countless homes have enjoyed comfort that they had never known before.

There have been hold-ups, and robbery and crime, but to charge this to the account of prohibition will be regarded by most thinking people as an absurdity.

Having once prohibited the liquor traffic by constitutional amendment it is doubtful if the United States will ever return to it. Agitation for repeal will continue, but there is every reason to believe that the sentiment of the great masses of the American people is back of prohibition, in spite of the trade that goes to the bootleggers.

Waves of crime and the success of those who defy the law in getting liquor into the country from Canada or from overseas do not condemn the great moral measure which swept away at one stroke the saloon together with the misery directly involved.

PRESS COMMENT

THE CRANKS.
 (St. Catharines Standard)
 With some people, life is just one indignation meeting after another.

MONTREAL'S OBJECTION.
 (Winnipeg Tribune)
 The bulky report of the Shipping Federation of Canada, whose headquarters are in Montreal, is strongly suggestive throughout that Montreal has its own special ground of objection to the St. Lawrence deep waterway project. Montreal prefers to remain at the head of navigation, and dislikes the prospect of becoming a way port for ocean-going traffic, even though the traffic passing through it should be enormously increased.

BRITISH FARMING.
 (Toronto Globe)
 Mr. Lloyd George, at a conference of Welsh Liberals, said that land in England was "yielding only about half per acre what the land of Germany, Belgium and Denmark produced." His view is similar to that of Mr. Harold Fisher in an essay read to the Royal Statistical Society, and to that of Sir T. H. Middleton in a recent study of the development of German agriculture.

What Sir T. H. Middleton showed may be summed up by saying that the British farmer feeds from forty to fifty persons by the produce of 100 acres of soil, while the German farmer feeds seventy to seventy-five persons by the same area. Here is his comparison of British and German agricultural output, in tons, per 100 acres of land cultivated, for the five years which immediately preceded the war:

Britain—Corn, 16; potatoes, 11; meat, 4; milk, 17½; sugar, negligible. Germany—Corn, 33; potatoes, 55; meat, 4½; milk, 28; sugar, 2½.

In Denmark it would also seem that the agricultural production per 100 acres is very much greater than it is in Britain. Thus in 1922, he calculates, the Danish farmer produced per 100 acres 32 tons of corn, 17 tons of potatoes, 4½ tons of meat, 46 tons of milk, ¾ ton of sugar, 187 tons of roots and 105 great hundreds of eggs.

Comparisons such as these are not absolutely accurate, but do confirm observations that agriculture is backward in Britain.

RELATION OF HOME TO SCHOOL.
 (Christian Science Monitor)

In urging upon parents their responsibility in connection with the education of their children, Mrs. A. H. Reeve, of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, called attention to what is undoubtedly one of the great problems of this present age. Mrs. Reeve was addressing a meeting of the National Education Association in Washington, which has extended an invitation to the parents' and teachers' association to meet with its annual convention as a mark of recognition of the importance of the issues which this association is attempting to grapple. The education of the child, Mrs. Reeve contends, undoubtedly with justification, should begin while he is still in the cradle, a fact which places upon the shoulders of parents a burden which many in the past have felt willing enough to shift on to those of the teachers in the schools to which their children were to be sent.

Mrs. Reeve made one point which carries a striking contrast. The average parent, she said, looks upon the school system as somewhat of a gigantic trust. The more modern idea, she argued, and the one which is gradually gaining ground, is that the school system is indeed a trust, but only in the sense that those who are employed by it are virtually "trustees," who have proved their fitness. In the responsibility of this trusteeship, however, the parents have their share, because it is by their votes that the teachers hold their positions and it is to the parents that they are accountable in the last analysis.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Thompson, of St. Armand, with their daughter, Miss Myrtle Thompson, motored to Bedford on Tuesday, making a brief stay.

Mrs. Harry Jones, Mrs. Edwin Currie, Miss Isabel Currie and Mrs. Arthur Gould were recently in Sweetsburg and Cowansville, and called on Mrs. Claude Jameson.

The congregation of the Methodist Church met in the church hall on Wednesday evening, July 2. The occasion was to bid goodbye to the Rev. J. B. Hicks, who was leaving the next day for Farnham, his new charge, and who was presented with a purse of money as a farewell gift from his congregation.

The presentation was made by Mrs. F. F. Ewing, and the following address was read by Mrs. Wesley Gilman: "To the Rev. M. Hicks, Bedford—We are here tonight to express our deep regard for one who has been our friend and spiritual adviser for four years. They have passed too quickly, and now on the eve of your departure we have gathered here to wish you God speed and good luck. May you visit us often in the months to come, as we will miss your cheerful smile at our Aids and church suppers, and when we have cream cake what will we do with the largest piece? May you make as many friends in your field of labor as you are leaving behind you. True friendship is a wonderful thing, and we are very sure you are leaving some very true friends behind, and that you will see some of them once in a while in Farnham. We ask you to accept this envelope with our sincere good wishes and may you enjoy it as much as we have enjoyed giving it to you. Refreshments were then served by some of the ladies of the church and a social hour was very pleasantly spent, and all wished Mr. Hicks success in his new field of labor.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met in the church hall on Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Forest Smith and Mrs. Eugene Best were the joint hostesses.

Messrs. Matthew and William Ewing and Miss Enola Ewing, of Pike River, were visitors to this place on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. Montague, of Stanbridge Ridge, was here for a brief stay on Wednesday.

Mr. Neil Lagrange, of Guthrie, was a visitor to Bedford on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Stella Ashworth, of Montreal, is visiting at the home of Mrs. Louis Sorffer, Upper Bedford.

Mr. Thomas Howie, of Pike River, motored to Bedford on Tuesday evening on business.

Miss Vera Lodge has returned home from Clarenceville, where she has been for a short stay with Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Derick.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hibbard, of Sutton, have been visitors for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shelton, Upper Bedford.

A Form of Public Ownership

MUTUAL Life Insurance is a form of public ownership. The policyholders own the Company and, through its elected directors, control its affairs, subject to regular government audit and inspection. The Mutual Life works on a safe, sound, conservative, actuarial basis.

Profits derived from the business of the Company are paid back to the policyholders. That means that insurance in the Mutual Life is insurance at a minimum cost.

The investment of the funds of the Company is directed by able and far-sighted financiers. The history of Mutual Life policies shows that insurance in this Company can be carried at a surprisingly low cost, on account of the liberal dividends paid.

Discuss your insurance needs with our agent, who will explain the Mutual policies. Or write us direct for booklets on Mutual Insurance.

Our forefathers, notwithstanding their small numbers and their small resources, knew how to win brilliant victories over their powerful enemies. The names of Carillon, Montmorency, Ste. Foye, Chateauguay and so many others engraved in letters of gold bear testimony to this.

Why should we, who have in our Province everything that we need, not do without the outside catalogue.

Follow their Example

Those who fought at Carillon under orders of Montcalm and at Chateauguay under the immortal de Salaberry, had but one purpose: Free French Canada from its enemies and ensure its prosperity.

Although we have to face a different enemy, the outside catalogue, the object to attain is the same.

In fact, every time we buy outside of the Province, no matter how small the amount that is sent away, we are responsible each of us for our part for the impoverishment of our province and the lessening of her prestige among our neighbors.

Our bishops and our priests, our ministers and our deputies, all those who think and have at heart the future of our Province, are uneasy over this state of affairs.

Let us not be deceived for long by the misleading mirage of outside catalogues and repel the invader!

Let us all get together so as to put an end to this underhanded war which threatens the future of our Province and that of our children.

May the country population cooperate also—the demand for their products will then become greater and they will benefit therefrom in these days when demand is often less than production.

Our merchants will also be able to sell their manufactured products more quickly, a greater number of our people will find here a more remunerative employment and there will be less unemployment and poor families.

Remember the heroes of Ste. Foye and Chateauguay and beware of the outside catalogue.

Help to Make Our Province Greater and More Prosperous

Broadus, Mont., is a little inland town eighty-two miles remote from the nearest railroad, at Miles City. Broadus is a "cow town," and is one of the few remaining traces of the former "wild and woolly" West, on the fringes of the "civilization" that is creeping westward and that is still a popular article of wearing apparel, and somberos are worn more than straws.

Broadus is on the Powder River, made famous by song and story. The cowboy and ranchman, after the day's range riding hunting stray mavericks, needed some diversion, so a newspaper came to Broadus, and was very properly called the Powder River Examiner. Then came other modern improvements, including the radio. The main store in town installed a receiving set, with a powerful loud speaker, and the store promptly became the Mecca of everyone.

But, still Broadus lacked the railroad and the trains, until—but, let the Powder River Examiner tell how Radio Station KFKX helped bring the last great modern improvement to Broadus: The one thing that Broadus has yearned for, perhaps, more than anything else, has materialized, although from a source quite unexpected. A whistle from a railroad train has actually been heard here.

The phenomena happened Thursday of last week, and there are many witnesses to attest to the credibility of the statement. There was an audience at Taylor's store Thursday evening listening to a fine, loud concert being broadcast by the Westinghouse Electric Company at Hastings, Neb., when a whistle from a passing locomotive was distinctly heard as it came in over the electric air waves. The whistle was recognized as genuine, and was clearly distinguished from the usual static disturbances resembling coyote yelps and other "ear stretching" noises. The audience even visualized the conductor waving his arm and crying, "All aboard!"

Meanwhile Broadus remains eighty-two miles from the nearest railroad at Miles City. Having realized its ambition to hear a train whistle, even if by radio, Broadus aspires to another goal—to see a railway train in reality. The explanation of the railroad whistle over KFKX is simple. A St. Joe and Grand Island Railway passenger train arrives in Hastings at 9:55 (central time) at night. The studio is only a short distance from the railroad station, and the sound of the whistle, coming in through the studio windows, is clearly heard over the microphone.

TRAFFIC AND RADIO AMONG BIG PROBLEMS

Principal Subjects Facing Police Convention to Be Held at Montreal.

(Associated Press Despatch) DETROIT, July 12.—Standardization of traffic regulations, radio communication as a means of increasing police efficiency, adoption of a secret telegraphic code, and discussion of methods of checking the promiscuous sale of firearms, are the principal subjects facing the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police to be held at Montreal July 14-17, William P. Rutledge, superintendent of police of Detroit, is president.

A report on the work done by the Division of Criminal Identification and Police Information at Washington, D. C., also will be heard. This division is a combination of full police records of cities represented by members in the association, and records of the Bureau of Criminal Identification of the United States Department of Justice, making at all times to the police of the country detailed information concerning criminals of the world.

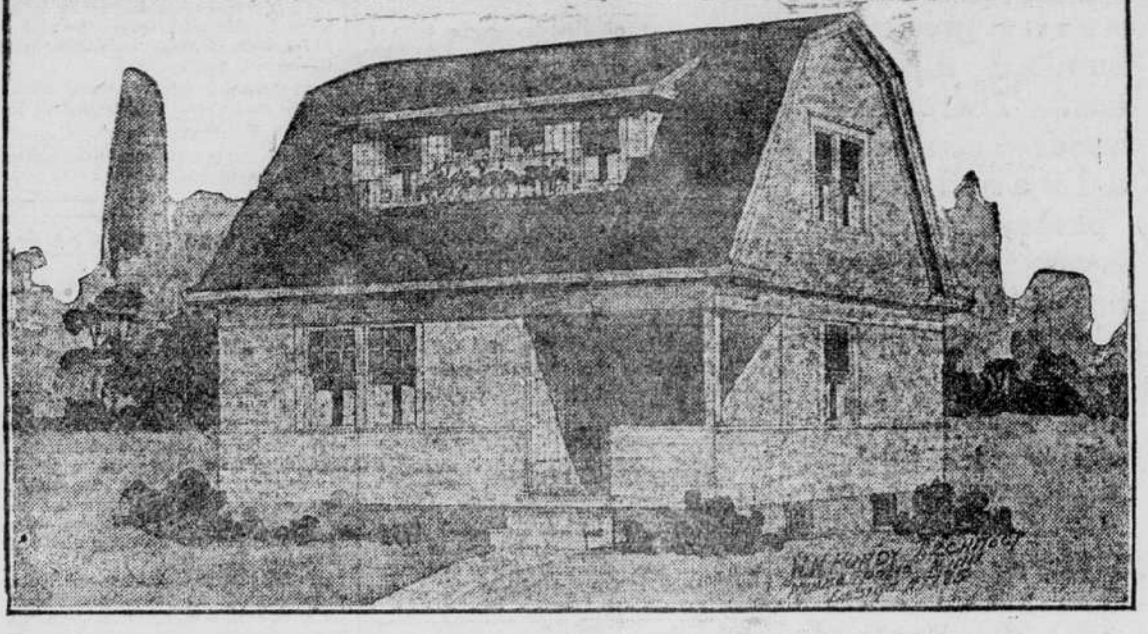

President Rutledge has devoted considerable attention during the past year to traffic regulation, and the convention for the first time will be attended by representatives of leading automobile and traffic associations who will present their views on means for facilitating prompt motorcar movement and decreasing the number of traffic casualties.

Services will be conducted by Rev. T. C. Davis in Norton Mills Baptist Church on Sunday, July 13, at 2:30 and 7:40 p. m. These are the closing meetings in the series that Mr. Davis has been holding.

OWN A HOME THIS YEAR

A MODEST LITTLE COTTAGE DESIGNED BY W. W. PURDY

This week's issue contains that of a modest little cottage home of five rooms, three down and two up. The living room and bath on the first floor will appeal to many readers, as this is ideal when there is an elderly couple in the family, or in time of sickness. Entrance is from the porch, direct into the living room. Note the front and small rear porch, both recessed, giving ideal protection from the weather, or convenient to screen.

In the basement is to be found the heating plant, laundry, fruit and vegetable rooms.

This home is on a foundation 25 feet six inches in width, by 25 feet deep. The exterior is a combination of siding and cement, or shingles as desired, while the roof shingles are of wood stained or asphalt shingles.

The cost of this home as described exclusive of heating and plumbing is about $3,500.00.

PLAN DETAILS FOR OUTSIDE OF THE HOME

One's Character Is Often Determined by the Manner in Which the Front Yard and Surrounding Grounds Are Kept—Some Advice.

To the casual passerby the quality of a home is revealed by its architecture and by the arrangement, planning and upkeep of its grounds, says James L. Ford, director of the better homes movement. The planning of the lot first involves consideration of the relation of the house and its lot to neighboring buildings, grounds and streets. Sometimes throughout whole blocks lawns and yards are contiguous—unbroken by fences or hedges. Under such circumstances the construction of a hedge or fence about a single lot might be unneighborly and might injure the appearance of the block. The neighbors' interests should be considered equally in the planting of trees. For trees well chosen and placed enhance land values and increase the charm of a home and the neighborhood.

Ingress and Egress The planning of the lot also involves attention to ingress and egress. Convenient arrangements of walks and drives, and provision for present or future garage, for the delivery of coal, the removal of ashes, rubbish and garbage, for the drying of clothes, for children's play and for gardens must be made at the outset.

Beautification of the yard through appropriate planting is, of course, highly important. A house of excellent architecture, beautifully furnished and equipped inside, is not an adequate home or a community asset if the surroundings are neglected. Shrubs or small evergreens may often be planted to advantage along the foundation of the house, particularly at the front. The same sort of decoration can be used in masses in the corners of the lot and as hedges along the property lines. The front entrance may be flanked by such small evergreens or shrubs, and the street end of walks or driveways may be marked in the same way. Often an unpleasant view of an unsightly garage or other outbuilding may be effectually screened by evergreen growths.

It is generally better to plant in groups, rather than to have individual plantings scattered about indiscriminately. The planting should express privacy for the house, but should not shut it off from view of the street. In most cases an unobstructed lawn in front of the home is desirable.

It is generally desirable to have flower beds at the sides and rear of the lot rather than in front. A mass of flowers in front of the home may be beautiful when in bloom, but for a large part of the year the scar on the lawn formed by the flower bed directly before the front of the home may be unsightly.

Flowers at Back and Side. If there are flower beds, therefore, it is good practice to keep them well at the back and sides of the house, or else to maintain a succession of seasonal flowers by means of frequent transplanting—a task not easy for persons who are not experienced horticulturists. Because of their seasonal nature, flowers are not so desirable as shrubs and evergreens for planting along the house foundations and at the boundaries of the lot. Boxwood, privet and very small cedars make excellent edging for walks and drives. If there are flower beds, it is considered best to keep to simple designs. Stars, triangles and circles should be avoided. although the last named are sometimes permissible. Rectangles and long borders, from one foot wide to three feet wide, with the edges straight or curving only slightly, are generally much better.

Patchwork effects in the planting are not good. One should plan for group and mass, placing the taller growths at the back. As a rule, it is poor practice to mix flowers and shrubs together.

For birdlovers the yard may be ornamented if it is suitable by placing a bird pool in it. If this is done, it should be lined with concrete, and tinted either white, blue or green, and in most cases should be placed in one corner of the lot. Such a pool should be shallow and not more than three feet across.

On larger lots a sundial, at the intersection of paths, at the end of a straight path, or as the central feature of the garden arrangement, is often an effective touch in beautifying the grounds about the home. Arches and garden seats should be practical as well as ornamental when they are included in the arrangements of the lot, and by no means should be allowed to be so aggressive as to dominate the grounds. If they are included in the arrangements of the yard, the material of which they are made should be in harmony with the material of which the house is built. If the house is a frame one, white painted wood garden furniture is best. If of plaster or stone, concrete should be used.

The individual house and its appearance must determine whether the softening effect of vines is necessary. Ivy, Virginia creeper and similar vines often add considerably to the appearance of the home.

Window Boxes Add Beauty. Virtually every house is improved in appearance by the addition of window boxes. The boxes themselves should be painted the color of the trim of the house. Geraniums are a favorite flower for window boxes. If the railings of the veranda are broad, boxes may often be used effectively there, with vines growing in them which trail down to meet the shrubs or flowers planted along the foundations of the house. Bright looking flower pots of uniform size, with blooming geraniums, begonias or similar flowers, make an attractive veranda planting, if the flower pots are kept clean, and their colors, shapes and sizes are consistent with the color and architecture of the house.

The vegetable garden should be well toward the rear of the lot. Trees and shrubs should not be planted about it. If it is desirable to screen it, a white or green lattice, with a vine climbing on it, is a better and prettier barrier to sight. The part of the yard set apart for drying laundered clothes may be screened from the house and from the street in the same way with good effect. A few fruit trees at the back of the lot—apple, pear, plum or peach—often serve as an ornament and have practical value as well.

Generally speaking, it is wise to avoid ornateness in planning and planting the grounds around the home. And it is well to bear in mind that a complete effect is sought to convey a feeling of balance and simplicity, with details submerged for the sake of the general impressions given by the home and its surroundings of yard and garden.

The Ten Commandments Of Health

Eat Less, Chew More. Ride Less, Walk More. Worry Less, Work More. Idle Less, Play More. Talk Less, Think More. Go Less, Sleep More. Waste Less, Give More. Scold Less, Laugh More. Preach Less, Practice More. Clothe Less, BATHE MORE.

You can't have moral and mental cobwebs when your skin and muscles are clean. In every one hundred living persons, thirty-six will die from preventable diseases before they reach the age of sixty-five. Now if you want to be one of the sixty-four who will reach the age of sixty-five, follow the above rules. Health means resistance to disease. Health means regularity at all times.

Perhaps the most important commandment of health is the last, "Clothe less, bathe more."

Now we don't want to see anyone clothed "any less" than some folks clothed now (not in the daytime, anyway), but we do want to help you to bathe more. Let us offer you some suggestions in bathroom and kitchen equipment on display in our showroom.

GIVE YOUR BUILDING

A LONG LIFE

In building a home, apartment house or any kind of building, you can give it longer life by using good quality hardware, for much depends upon the lasting quality of the locks, hinges, bolts, catches, handles and other hardware used. Poor grade builders' hardware is always the most expensive eventually and causes frequent repair bills. Therefore it will pay well to give thought to the selection of hardware for your building.

Our assortment of builders' hardware is of dependable quality—made to last—handsomely finished to give any building attractiveness and beauty—and reasonably priced.

By selecting your builders' hardware here you will be getting life insurance for your building, as well as the benefit of our building experience.

Let us help you figure on your building needs. We can give you some useful suggestions.

PRICES AND DETAILS OF SHERBROOKE MARKET

Business on Lansdowne Market was distinctly good yesterday, according to dealers. Dairy, vegetable and fruit stalls appeared to be especially busy, but meat dealers also declared that they could not complain.

In the provision market prices of most meats were the same as last week, but mutton, pork and steak, had advanced slightly.

A number of vegetables had taken a considerable drop. These included potatoes, carrots, cabbages, cucumbers and butter beans. Tomatoes and onions had gone up slightly, while asparagus, green peas and lettuce recorded no change. Spinach was not on sale.

Strawberries, quoted a week ago at fifteen to twenty cents, were selling for a straight fifteen cents a basket this week. Oranges took a big drop, from thirty to seventy cents down to twenty to fifty. Cherries dropped ten cents a basket and cantaloups five cents apiece. Apples and bananas took a considerable rise in price. Other fruit were the same as last week, with the exception of pineapples, which were not on the market.

Creamery butter was again selling for thirty-eight cents, while dairy butter was at thirty-five. Eggs had gone up from twenty-eight to thirty cents last week to thirty-five this week. Cheese was about the same.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

Montreal, July 12th. EGGS.—There has been no change in prices in the local egg market during the past week and a fair amount of business continues to be done in a wholesale jobbing way considering the very warm weather, but the demand is chiefly for small lots to meet immediate wants. The tone of the market is steady with sales of fresh extras at 35c; firsts at 30c; and seconds at 25c per dozen. The quality of eggs arriving is declining and the proportion of seconds increasing on account of the hot weather. The movement into storage is steadily decreasing owing to the smaller receipts and the falling off in the production throughout the country. Sales of some round lots of western firsts, Aprils and Mays, in storage at Winnipeg in export cases have been made at 28 1-2c per dozen, f.o.b., while extras sold at 28 1-2c, firsts at 26 1-4c, and seconds at 20 1-4c, f.o.b. Manitoba.

POTATOES.—The trade in potatoes is slow on account of the fact that buyers in most cases have ample supplies on hand to meet their wants. The market is quiet with Green Mountain whites quoted at $1.00 to $1.65 per bag, and Green Mountain reds at $1.25 to $1.40 per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, ex-truck.

MAPLE PRODUCT.—There has been no improvement in the movement of maple product, and the market is quiet, but as there is no pressure on the part of holders to sell the feeling remains steady and prices are unchanged with maple syrup quoted at $2.15 to $2.25 per gallon of one gallon, and at $2.05 per gallon in five gallon tins. No. 1 maple sugar at 20c per lb., and No. 2 grade at 18c per lb.

HONEY.—The demand for honey is of a very limited character and the market is quiet with no change in prices to note. No. 1 white clover in comb being quoted at 25c per section. No. 1 amber at 22c per section, and No. 2 amber at 18c per section with white extra in 30 lb. tins at 12c per section with white extra in 30 lb. tins at 12c per lb., 10 lb. tins at 12 1-2c per lb., and 5 lb. tins at 13c per lb.

POULTRY.—The feature of this market for the current week is the appearance of fresh broilers which are selling wholesale under a strong demand at 45c. Receipts of live poultry were larger than last week but the demand was ample to absorb all offerings and the tone of the market ruled steady with prices showing no important change. Fowl are at 16c to 22c; cocks at 14c to 15c, and turkeys at 20c. The market for storage dressed poultry was moderately active the past week, there being a steady demand for supplies for immediate consumption, and in consequence stocks are being steadily reduced and prices generally maintained. Sales of selected turkeys according to weights were made at from 25c to 40c per lb., selected broilers at 33c to 43c, milk-fed

FIRM UNDERTONE TODAY ON WALL STREET MARKET

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, July 12.—Stock prices displayed a firm undertone at the opening of today's market, which was featured by a renewed demand for the equipments and coal carriers.

American Locomotive and Erie second preferred established new 1924 high prices. West Penn Power and American Waterworks each advanced 1% and Davison Chemical moved up a point.

On spot, car lots of first patents are selling at $7.20; second patents at $6.70, and strong bakers at $6.50 per barrel in jute bags, ex-truck, less 10c per barrel, for spot cash. There are no new developments in the market for winter wheat grades of flour, but prices remain firm owing to the continued limited supplies available from Ontario millers. The demand at present is principally for small lots to meet immediate wants, and only a moderate trade was done, with car lots of choice grades quoted at $6.40 to $6.50 per barrel in second hand jute bags, ex-truck, and broken lots changed hands at $5.75 to $6.85 per barrel, ex-store, winter wheat patents at $7 to $7.40 per barrel in new cotton bags, ex-store, and white corn flour at $5.80 to $5.90 per barrel in jute bags, delivered to the trade.

MILLFEED.—There has been no change in prices in the millfeed for the past seven days following on the advance recently noted. A fair business is passing in most lines and there is a steady demand for small lots with a firm undertone. Sales of car lots of Manitoba bran are being made at $27.25, shorts at $29.25, and middlings at $35.25 per ton, including bags, ex-truck, less 25c per ton for spot cash.

RAIN MARKET

Montreal, July 12th. GRAIN.—Following a considerable drop on Tuesday on reports of heavy rains throughout the West, the Winnipeg cash wheat market developed a burst of strength on Wednesday which brought prices back almost to the high point of last Friday and closing quotations were: No. 1 Northern, $1.22 1-8; No. 2 Northern $1.19 1-8, and No. 3 Northern $1.14 1-8 per bushel, ex-store, Fort William. Premiums, were unchanged with No. 1 Northern selling at the July option price; No. 2 Northern at 3c per bushel under the July option; and No. 2 Northern at 8c under.

According to cable advices received here Wednesday, the Liverpool future wheat market opened at a further decline of 1-2d per cwt., but later in the day prices moved up in sympathy with a net gain for the day of 1-8d per cwt. Broomhall cable that the forecast of the Argentine shipments of grain this week were 3,700,000 bushels—wheat, as against 4,851,000 for the past week and 1,615,000 for the same week last year.

There was some enquiry from foreign buyers of Manitoba wheat Wednesday, but as the prices bid at the opening of the Winnipeg market were 4c per bushel below working basis, no business resulted. The demand for barley was steady, and sales of odd loads were made for July shipment, but there was no new business reported in oats and the market in this respect was very quiet. The demand for ocean grain route also continues to be of a very limited character, and rates rule about steady. New York reported a vessel taken to load at Montreal for Greece this month at 17 1-2c per 100 lbs.

The feature of the local grain trade was the report that purchasers of more cargoes of Argentine corn had been made by Montreal houses, which makes a total so far of five cargoes. Of the above, one cargo has been fully disposed of to arrive and part of another one to local and outside buyers, but the prices being realized were kept under cover. Apart from this the market was very quiet, there being very little demand for other lines of grain.

A slight shading in prices of oats resulted on Tues. in sympathy with the weakness in the Winnipeg wheat market and though the feeling was range remained unchanged with car firm again on Wednesday the price lots of No. 2 Canadian western quoted at 51 1-2c to 52c; No. 3 C.W. at 50c to 50 1-2c; No. 1 feed at 49c to 49 1-2c; and No. 2 feed at 45 1-2c to 46c per bushel, ex-store.

To the list of road signs for motorists printed the other day, J. B. suggests this addition: "What's your hurry? The morgue is open all night."

YANKEES ONCE MORE OUT IN FRONT IN RACE

New York Trimmed White Sox, While Detroit Took a Fall Out of Senators.

(Associated Press Despatch)

NEW YORK, July 12.—The New York Americans are again in the lead, with the Senators clinging to second place by a one-game margin.

Walter Johnson, after holding Detroit to two hits until the eighth, weakened, and Washington lost a 4 to 3 decision.

St. Louis ousted Chicago from fourth place by splitting a twin bill with Boston.

Three Cleveland pitchers suffered a terrific lacing as Philadelphia hammered out a 10 to 1 triumph over the Indians.

It took the Giants ten innings to defeat St. Louis. By scoring five times in the extra session they chalked up a 10 to 5 victory.

Badly in need of a victory to keep within halting distance of Chicago, Brooklyn elected Dazzy Vance to bear the pitching burden, and the speed king did his stuff to the extent of 9 to 1.

Cooper saluted away his fifth straight win as Pittsburgh trounced Boston 8 to 2 and broke even on the series.

A 6 to 0 shut-out gave Cincinnati the fourth game in a five game series with Philadelphia.

ACTION TAKEN BY G. FLEMMING IS DISMISSED

Justice Handed Down by Mr. Justice White in Action Against Corporation of Melbourne.

An action taken by George Fleming for $1,150 damages against the Corporation of the Township of Melbourne, was dismissed with costs by Mr. Justice White in the Superior Court yesterday.

The plaintiff in particular alleged, in support of his action, that on February 24th, 1923, between the hours of six and seven in the evening, he was driving in a single team within the limits of the municipality defendant on one of its public roads, and that while driving on the road running from the St. Francis River in a westerly direction known as Gallop Hill road, and about opposite the farm of one James Murphy, there was a deep hole or depression in the road, through which hole or depression the plaintiff was obliged to pass with his sleigh, and by reason of the depth of the hole, it was very difficult to pass, and although he used all possible care, his sleigh was turned over and his horse ran away, he being thrown out of the sleigh and severely hurt.

The damages caused to the plaintiff on that occasion were chiefly to his right arm and shoulder, which were badly broken and dislocated. After the accident, he immediately had medical attendance, and has been under the attention of his doctor ever since, and he has lost the use of his right arm up to the present time and the damages he suffered are of a permanent character.

The plaintiff's work is of a manual character and he claimed that by reason of the injuries so caused to him by the loss of the use of his arm, he has been unable to do practically any work since that date, and so long as his arm continues in the present condition he will be unable to earn his living or do any work of any kind such as he is used to doing, and plaintiff's earning capacity has practically ceased.

By reason of the premises, the plaintiff suffered loss and damages amounting to the sum of $1,150., which includes all doctors' bills, loss of time, and other expenses, and personal injuries.

The plaintiff stated the dangerous condition of the hole and depression referred to above had been in the road for a considerable time prior to the accident; its existence was well known to the defendant and its officials, but they continued to let this dangerous spot remain in the road until after the accident to the plaintiff, when they forthwith took steps to have the danger removed and the road dug out and the hole filled so as to remove any danger to people making use of the road.

Plaintiff further alleged that the snow in the road at that point was very deep, and a very dangerous condition had arisen due to the fact that the snow had been allowed to accumulate there in ridges, and a cahot had been formed, and the road was constantly very dangerous to the passers-by and was the cause of the accident to the plaintiff as aforesaid and the defendant is guilty of fault, carelessness and gross negligence in and about the maintenance of the road in question, and the damages caused to the plaintiff were entirely due to the illegal and wrongful acts of the defendant and the negligence of itself and its officials, and it is responsible therefor.

About six weeks after the accident in question, the plaintiff made a claim to the Mayor of the defendant, and the defendant promised to bring the matter before the Council at its next meeting. At the meeting of the council of the Defendant municipality held on May 7th, 1923, plaintiff's claim for damages was presented to the council by the Mayor, when the matter was discussed by the council, and it was thereupon laid over to be investigated again the next following meeting. At the next following meeting, the plaintiff's claim was brought up and then and there the claim was disallowed and refused by the council.

Subsequently the plaintiff gave notice to the Secretary-Treasurer, through his undersigned attorneys, of his claim by registered letter.

DEFENDANT'S PLEA For plea to this action, defendant pleaded that it was not guilty of any negligence with reference to the care of the said road, that the winter of 1922-23 was a very severe one, through the Eastern Townships and including the vicinity where the road in question is situated, the snow being very deep, with frequent storms, which made it very difficult for municipalities in general, including the defendant municipality, to keep their roads open in a suitable condition for travel; that the road in question, owing to its location, was a very difficult one to keep open, but notwithstanding the great difficulties that the defendant had to encounter, the defendant expended a considerable sum of money to keep the road in question open for travel, and the officials and employees of the defendant corporation were diligent and did everything that reasonably could be done under the circumstances to keep the road in a suitable condition.

That on the day of the accident the road was ploughed out early in the afternoon and was during the day in a safe and reasonable condition for travel.

The defendant further pleaded that the plaintiff's horse was not properly hitched to the sleigh and became frightened.

For further plea to plaintiff's demand, the defendant said that whatever may have been done by defendant's officials after the accident can make no proof of negligence on the part of the defendant, and such allegations are illegally and irregularly set forth in the plaintiff's declaration and the defendant reserved his right to object to any evidence being adduced in support of said allegations.

The defendant claimed that there were no thaws to settle the snow which fell during the winter until after the date in question, and consequently, although the road was repeatedly ploughed out, the snow was dry and mealy and did not pack, which made progress heavy and more or less difficult, but which condition was in no respect due to any fault or negligence on the part of the officials of defendant corporation, but was wholly due to climatic conditions over the road. Considering that a Municipality cannot be held to keep its winter roads in perfect condition at all times, but will only be responsible where the condition of the road is such as to indicate negligence on the part of the Corporation or its employees, La Cise de Montreal vs St. Arnaud, 36 K B., page 341.

Considering that the evidence shows that Defendant and its employees have not been guilty of any negligence, but have done and performed all acts concerning the said road which they could legally be held and obliged to do.

Considering also that the witness Wm. A. Boa, swears that he saw the plaintiff on the night of the accident at James Murphy's, and that plaintiff then stated that it was not the fault of the road, but the fault of the mare, that she was usually quiet, and he did not know what was the matter with her that night, and that this is not specially denied by the plaintiff himself.

Considering that plaintiff has not established the material allegations of his declaration, and that the defendant has established the material allegations of its plea, Doth Dismiss Plaintiff's action with costs.

Messrs. Lawrence & Morris represented the plaintiff and Messrs. Wells, Lynch & Wilson, the defendant.
