Entire Czech Populace Now On War Basis

Latest Decree Provides for Military and Air Defence Training for Entire Nation From Six to Sixty Years — Government at Same Time Acts to Conciliate Discordant Elements in Country.

Praha, Czechoslovakia, May 31.—(P)—While grateful for international sympathy and assurances of support, Czechs nevertheless are relying primarily on themselves to prevent dismemberment of this post-war republic by Germany and encircling neighbors.

Publication last night of decrees calling for compulsory military, pre-military or civil air defence training of the whole population between the ages of six and sixty was another step in the direction of self-help.

At the same time Premier Milan Hodza's Government took measures to avoid the appearance of carrying a chip on its shoulder. The Foreign Office informed the German Minister that Czechoslovak military pilots who flew over German territory recently had been disciplined, and that a neutral zone on this side of the border, over which Czech pilots are forbidden to fly, had been widened to six miles.

The compulsory military training decrees provided:

Seventy hours of military training annually for boys from six to seventeen, not in school, and ninety hours annually thereafter until they enter military service.

Forty hours first aid and air defence training for girls six to twenty-one, and thirty hours annually thereafter until the age of thirty.

Men and women thirty to sixty liable for thirty hours annually of civil air defence training.

Authorization to military authorities to erect special training camps and provide preliminary instruction in marksmanship and advanced courses in handling all modern weapons.

ROYAL COUPLE WILL UNVEIL WAR MEMORIAL

Sharp Contrast Provided by Welcome Planned in Paris for British King and Queen and Sombre Ceremony at Battlefront.

Paris, May 31.—(P)—The gay welcome which Paris promises for King George and Queen Elizabeth when they pay their first state visit at the end of June will be in contrast to the sombre ceremony at Villers-Bretonneux when His Majesty unveils the Australian war memorial on July 1.

It is just two years since King Edward VIII took part in a similar ceremony, unveiling the Canadian memorial at Vimy Ridge.

The King, who will have previously witnessed the unveiling of a war memorial at Boulogne, will be visiting the place where more than 11,000 Australians were killed during the Somme campaign twenty-two years ago.

At the new village risen from the ruins of the war the King will pass through a grand procession composed of Australian war veterans to the simply designed memorial.

Pressed back to Villers-Bretonneux with the Fifth Army, the Australians made a fierce bayonet charge which some historians declare saved Amiens. Later they attacked with tanks under cover of a smoke screen and carried important hill positions, sweeping along so swiftly they fell on the German army.

CABINET MAKES OWN DECISION ON PADLOCK LAW

Justice Minister Lapointe Refuses to Recognize C.C.F. Demands that Controversial Quebec Measure Be Repealed.

Ottawa, May 31.—(P)—House of Commons members started the week at a pace that quickly cleared the order paper of much long-standing business but came to an abrupt halt last evening when C.C.F. members set down a barrage against the so-called Quebec Padlock Law.

A demand that legislation be submitted to the Supreme Court and its operations halted was made by J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, after he had been told definitely by Justice Minister Lapointe the Government would take its own counsel and that he would not discuss merits of the legislation in the House before that action was taken.

Mr. Lapointe was equally definite in contesting the statement of Opposition Leader Bennett that the House of Commons had the right and power to instruct the Government as to the action it should take.

The Government would act on its own responsibility and in accordance with the constitution. It was the privilege of the House of Commons, by majority vote, to approve or disapprove of that action but not to say beforehand what action should be taken with respect to disallowance or disposition of provincial legislation.

Mr. Woodsworth and C. Grant MacNeill (C.C.F., Vancouver North) condemned the Quebec law against Communist activity as one that negated important civil rights enjoyed by all Canadians residing outside that province.

Mr. MacNeill said the law "flagrantly" invaded Dominion jurisdiction and that under it there had been set up a form of terrorism. Padlocking of premises, raids, seizures of the most widely accepted books and publications, and violation of private promises had gone on without any resultant court action and with the onus on the victim to prove his innocence.

No decision was reached on this debate which took the form of a discussion initiated by Mr. Woodsworth on the motion to resolve the House into committee of supply to consider estimates.

L. D. Tremblay (Liberal, Dorchester), questioned the right of Mr. Woodsworth to speak for Quebec but did not discuss the merits of the act in question. J. A. Bradette (Liberal, Cochrane), started to speak just as the adjournment hour was reached.

The Government has until July 8 to disallow or allow the Quebec Act and Mr. Lapointe made it clear he would not be coerced with respect to the recommendation he will make to the Cabinet, or drawn into any discussion of the act's merits, pending the ultimate decision.

Before the House ran into the Quebec discussion it had disposed of much of the Government legislation on the order paper. Four bills were passed through final stages and sent to the Senate, two passed through second reading and committee stage, and two were given first reading.

Parliamentary Debate Over British War Time Conscription Plan Sought

Labor Party Seeks Conscription of Wealth as Well as Manpower Following Statement of Co-ordination Minister that Mobilization Plans Have Been Completed.

London, May 31.—(C.P.—Havas)—The Government will be asked tomorrow to devote a day's debate in the House of Commons to plans for conscription in case of war alluded to last night by Sir Thomas Inskip, Defence Co-ordination Minister.

The request will be made by Sydney Markham, Labor. At the same time T. M. Sexton, Labor, will ask whether the Government plans to mobilize other resources of the country as well as its manpower.

James Ede, Labor, said last night that from Sir Thomas' statement it was clear the Government had "legislative machinery" for conscription ready to be used as soon as war should break out.

"I have said so as plainly as I could," the Minister replied.

He said earlier, that "with the experiences of 1914 in mind, the Government departments concerned have given a great deal of consideration over a number of years to the best use of manpower in an emergency."

"There is certain to be, in the event of war, a competent authority who will allocate, according to the age and capacity of each individual person, a suitable position for that person to occupy," Sir Thomas told the House.

"But nobody would escape from the obligation which would be placed upon him in those circumstances by choosing a position, possibly one which he might think more attractive to himself, in peacetime."

"If anybody elects to join one of the other of the many services asking for recruits at the present time, he will do so with full realization that he will not thereby be exempt from any obligation which Parliament may impose upon him in time of war."

EXPECT RUSSIA TO EXPAND AID TOWARD CHINA

High Chinese Government Officials Holding Series of Conferences with Commander of Far Eastern Red Army.

Moscow, May 31.—(C.P.—Havas)—Sun Fo, president of the Legislative Yuan of the Chinese Government, has conferred here during the last few days with Marshal Vassily Blucher, commander of the Far Eastern Red Army, Havas learned today.

Sun Fo, who left Moscow after a fruitless first visit to make a tour of European capitals, returned here to meet again with Soviet leaders, it was learned.

Observers believed the stronger position of the Chinese forces gave the Chinese leader more reason to hope he could secure a greater degree of Soviet aid than has hitherto been forthcoming.

Soviet leaders seem more convinced than ever of Chinese victory and hope to use Japan's difficulties to consolidate the Soviet Far Eastern position.

Soviet aid to China may therefore increase but will not become extensive enough to risk of hostilities involving the Soviet Union.

DECLARES MAIL ORDER HOUSES ESCAPE DUTIES

Brief of Retail Merchants' Association to Rowell Commission Claims Mail Order Firms Responsible for Many Municipal Ills.

Ottawa, May 31.—(P)—The "glaring inequity" of mail order houses escaping almost entirely from community tax obligations was vigorously protested to the Rowell Commission today by the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

"The spectacular volume of business done through the mail order house and its subsidiaries is a contributory cause to some of the financial difficulties in which many Canadian municipalities find themselves," declared G. S. Hougham, Dominion Secretary of the Association.

Mail order merchandising constituted a tremendous drain on the local resources of the communities from which the bulk of mail order business came, with no corresponding contribution to the revenues of those communities, he said.

As a remedy, the Association proposed a Dominion tax on the volume of mail order business, which tax would be turned over to the provinces for municipal purposes.

Protest was also levelled against the practice of permitting chain stores to "wash out" the profit of

PRESIDENT CARDENAS CONVINCED REVOLT IS QUELLED

San Luis, Potosi, Mexico, May 31.—(P)—President Lazaro Cardenas, sure the "rebellion" of General Saturnino Cedillo has been stamped out, prepared today to visit the oil fields he expropriated from British and United States companies March 18.

As a means of pacifying Cedillo's erstwhile followers, it was announced 390,000 acres of land in sixty-six communities had been distributed among 39,278 individuals, among them many of Cedillo's peasant agrarians in San Luis Potosi State.

Government sources said troops pursuing Cedillo into hills had come upon some of his belongings.

SWASTIKAS REMOVED FROM VETERANS' CEMETERY

Portland, Ore., May 31.—(P)—World War veterans tore down and destroyed five flags bearing the German Swastika emblem in the Veterans' plot of Lincoln Memorial Cemetery yesterday. John Walker Kones, former Department Commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, declared the plot was sacred to the colors of America and World War Allies. He said no other flags would be tolerated.

KING HOLDS LAST OF LEVEES

London, May 31.—(P.—Havas)—Wearing the uniform of a Field Marshal, the King today went from Buckingham Palace to St. James' Palace for the last levee of the season. Members of the diplomatic corps and other prominent personalities attended.

HEPBURN MOVE PLACES CITY IN DIFFICULTY

Mayor Declares that Toronto Would Be "Very Definitely on the Spot" if Former Residence of Lieutenant Governor Were Turned into Hospital.

Toronto, May 31.—(P)—Mayor Ralph C. Day said last night Toronto would be "very definitely on the spot" if Chorney Park, former home of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governors, were turned into a hospital, as proposed by Premier Hespburn.

Situated in exclusive Rosedale, Chorney Park has been vacant since last December 1st, when Hon. Albert Matthews succeeded Dr. Herbert A. Bruce as Lieutenant-Governor and the Ontario Government decided to discontinue maintaining the palatial residence as the official residence of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Attempts to sell the house, built at a cost of $1,000,000 in 1915, have been unsuccessful. Premier Hespburn announced Saturday it had been offered to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children to do with it as it wished. There were "no strings" attached to the offer. The Hospital's trustees meet tomorrow to consider the offer.

Mayor Day said that before the residence could be turned into a hospital, the city must first abolish strong residential restrictions in Rosedale. To do so would lower assessments, he said, and any attempt to lift building restrictions would be opposed strongly by residents in that section of the city.

However, the city wanted to co-operate with Queen's Park because of present problems caused by the cost of social services. "For that reason," Mayor Day added, "we would be very definitely on the spot if an institutional use was made of Chorney Park, no matter how worthy the cause."

SEEK TO PRESERVE PRESS FREEDOM

London, May 31.—(C.P.—Havas)—A conference to study means of fighting any threat to freedom of the press was urged today in a resolution passed by the West London branch of the National Union of Journalists for submission to the executive committee of the organization.

CAPTAIN OF ILL-FATED VESSEL DIES

San Francisco, May 31.—(P)—Captain George W. Yardley, fifty-eight years old, master of the Dollar Liner President Hoover which ran aground near Formosa, Japan, last year and was declared a total loss, died at Marine Hospital yesterday. Hospital attaches said the veteran mariner's health was broken by exposure and nervous strain in connection with his vessel's loss.

DEMANDS UNITED STATES BECOMES GENTILE NATION

San Francisco, May 31.—(P)—Herman Schwinn, Pacific Coast organizer of the German-American Bund, called for "A Gentile nation, run by Gentile Americans" today as coast Nazi sympathizers quietly left town after a two-day convention. The Bund is receiving "a high degree of co-operation with other patriotic American organizations in our fight against Jewish Communist activities," Schwinn said.

Heavy Damage Inflicted On Key Chinese Cities By Japanese Air Raids

Hankow, Provisional Capital, and Canton, Gateway for War Supplies from Abroad, Bombed in Heaviest Raids Since End of April—Large Japanese Army Attempting to Reach Hankow Reported Trapped by Chinese Forces.

Shanghai, May 31.—(P)—The Japanese air force today struck heavily at two centres vital to Chinese resistance, Hankow, provisional capital, and Canton, the southern metropolis and gateway for war supplies from abroad.

Thirty planes attacked Hankow, and Japanese accounts said they shot down eighteen Chinese planes in dogfights over and near the city. The Hankow airfield was heavily bombed. Japanese admitted one of their own planes was missing.

It was the first big raid on Hankow since that of Emperor Hirohito's birthday, April 29th, in which more than fifty Chinese and Japanese planes fought a half-hour's indecisive battle. (Each side declared the other lost heavily in the April 29th fight.)

Canton, through which most of China's munitions from abroad pass, was raided for the fourth successive day, but Chinese said four of twenty-two attacking planes were shot down.

Hong Kong dispatches said the Japanese air force spread its attacks over a wide area around Canton, raiding many towns in central and northern Kwangtung province.

Refugees, including some foreign women and children, poured into Hong Kong for safety. Hong Kong officials estimated the colony had received 24,000 refugees since Saturday.

Chinese said large numbers of Japanese were trapped in a twenty-one-mile square segment of the 250-mile Central China front, from which the Japanese hope at a strategic moment to attempt a general offensive on Hankow, China's provisional capital.

The division commanded by Lieutenant-General Kenji Doihara, Japan's "Lawrence of Manchuria," was among those now completely encircled, the Chinese said, and there seemed little chance for escape.

Doihara's troops and others under siege were in the bitterly contested region about Lanfeng, on the Lunenburg front.

Confident Of Prompt Return Of Kidnapped Florida Youth

Uncle of Abduction Victim Declares that Money for Release of Five Year Old Boy, Stolen from His Bed, Has Been Paid Over to Kidnappers—Father Appears Jubilant at Results of Contacts with Abductors.

Princeton, Fla., May 31.—(P)—W. P. Cash said today the $10,000 ransom demanded by the kidnappers of his five-year-old nephew, James Bailey Cash, Jr., had been paid.

The money was thrown from an automobile, he added, by the kidnappers, who made two trips over routes outlined in a map provided by the kidnappers.

Returning from the second drive, the father, wealthy merchant, reported the contact and said he expected to be notified momentarily of the release of his son, taken from his bed Saturday night.

W. P. Cash said his brother tossed out the bundle of currency, in $5 and $10 denominations, after blinking the lights of his automobile in accordance with instructions contained in notes from the kidnappers.

The father appeared jubilant and confident young Cash's release was imminent.

"Everything is favorable," Cash said. "I expect to have the boy back by twelve o'clock. I wouldn't be surprised if he had been let out somewhere already. It's just a matter of waiting."

It was learned a map provided by the kidnappers showed two routes. Cash made a circuit of one route—the northern one, he said—and returned home within ten minutes. Then he drove away again and upon returning said the contact had been made.

The money he presumably paid over was obtained from a Miami bank Sunday. Federal agents arranged for the withdrawal and recorded the serial numbers of the bills.

Blond, blue-eyed James Bailey Cash, Jr., five and a half years old, was stolen from his bed while his mother went next door to help her husband close his grocery for the night. The kidnapper slit a screen, unlatched a door and took the pajama-clad boy away.

A note, one of three in the case, threatened death to the lad, known in the neighborhood as "Skeegie," if the father called authorities but Cash notified Federal Bureau of In-

MILLION HOMES ARE JARRED IN EARTH SHOCKS

Little Actual Damage Reported in Earth Shippage Which Affected Large Area of Southern California.

Los Angeles, May 31.—(P)—A giant earth shippage jarred a million Southern California homes at 4:35 a.m. E.D.T. today, and spared the area of damage.

The quake, one of the most severe since the disastrous one in 1933, was felt for 200 miles along the Pacific Coast from Santa Barbara to San Diego and inland 150 miles to the Mojave desert and the Coachella Valley.

Alarmed families were frightened out of sleep by the rattling, sidewise motion of the earth. Dishes rattled in cupboards. Lights swayed. Houses creaked.

Long beach, centre of the destruction in '33, quickly reported "all's well," and other cities, such as Santa Barbara and San Jacinto, which were hard hit by past earthquakes, went through today's without harm.

The post-midnight calm at police headquarters and newspaper offices was shattered by a flood of questioning telephone calls. All asked if there had been any damage. None had losses to report.

The earth shocks, three in number, lasted several seconds. They were strongest on the Los Angeles ocean front, stirring up high waves, police regulations enforced in this city and throughout the Alexandretta Sanjak as a result of the disorders.

WORLD HONORS 81ST BIRTHDAY OF POPE PIUS

Letters, Telegrams and Flowers Poured in Upon Pontiff at Summer Home—Appears in Good Physical Condition.

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, May 31.—(AP)—Letters, telegrams and flowers poured in upon Pope Pius' summer villa today, congratulating him upon his eighty-first birthday.

Among the messages was one from Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, on behalf of the Papal delegation to the Eucharistic Congress at Budapest. In Cardinal Pacelli's absence, Monsignor Domenico Tardini, his assistant, read the messages to the Pope.

Inhabitants of the town attended Low Mass said by the parish priest for the Pontiff. The Holy Father said his own Low Mass in his private chapel.

Both here and at the Vatican City hundreds of persons called during the day to follow the Italian custom of signing registers honoring the Pope on his birthday.

It was his wish that the day pass virtually like any other. The anniversary found the Pontiff in comparatively good health, still resolutely withstanding the infirmities of age. Persons near him said he appeared as strong, perhaps stronger, than he was a year ago.

QUEBEC POWER CONTRACT ONCE MORE REVIEWED

Former Chairman of Hydro Commission Claims to Have Been in Ignorance of Government Intention to Sign New Contract with Beauharnois.

Toronto, May 31.—(AP)—Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission contracts with Quebec companies were expected again to be the subject of close questioning when a committee of the Ontario Legislature today resumed its inquiry into hydro affairs. Former Chairman T. Stewart Lyon probably will be the first witness.

Mr. Lyon, former newspaper editor and for three years head of the Commission, told the Committee yesterday he was not aware, prior to his resignation last October 28, of any intention on the part of the Government to reverse its "Back to Niagara" policy. He said he always had opposed purchasing power from Quebec.

Commission contracts with Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company and three other Quebec companies, made prior to 1934, were cancelled by the Ontario Legislature in 1935. Revised agreements, setting certain controversial clauses in the old contracts, were signed last December 10. Court action to have the invalidating legislation declared ultra vires, successful in Ontario courts, was dropped before it reached the Privy Council.

Describing the impending Privy Council appeal, Mr. Lyon told the Committee that in August, 1937, he had told Premier Hepburn "I would sign no cheque to satisfy even a judgment of the Privy Council in the case of the Beauharnois contract because I believed the contract was improperly made."

He added "I said they could send me to jail if necessary. The Prime Minister said that if any sheriff's order was made to execute any such judgment the sheriff would cease to be an employee of the Province before he reached the Hydro offices."

Shortly before adjournment, the former chairman read a letter he had written to the Premier on December 17, 1936. In the letter he said statements by F. A. Gaby, former chief engineer of the Commission, were wrong and he in turn reviewed the Hydro situation.

gent warplanes rained bombs on Valencia today in a combined land and air offensive against the former provisional capital of the Spanish Government.

Reports to the frontier said the insurgent bombers first appeared over the Mediterranean port city last night and continued their attack until early this morning.

To the northwest of Valencia, insurgent Generalissimo Franco's motorized columns fought their way along the highway from Teruel. Other columns struck over the mountains north of all along the front from Teruel to the sea. General Jose Varela's Castilian division made the farthest southern march, capturing Mora de Rubielos, the next to the last line of Government defences dominating the Teruel-Mediterranean highway.

OVER 400 BODIES RECOVERED AT GRANOLLERS

Barcelona, May 31.—(AP)—Four hundred and thirty bodies were extricated from the ruins of Granollers today in the wake of what was believed to be the worst single insurgent aerial bombing of the war.

Ono visited the debris field and would exceed five hundred following additional rescue work. Hundreds were wounded when the airman launched their devastating attack against the town, which is sixteen miles northeast of this provisional capital.

Scenes of horror occurred when one high power explosive after another crashed into the market place, filled with shoppers caught unawares by the attack. Frenzied crowds of men, women and children fled screaming for shelter as whizzing bomb fragments and flying wreckage felled scores.

Explosives scored direct hits on buildings elsewhere in the town, killing or injuring many persons who had sought shelter within their walls.

The population of Granollers, normally about 10,000, has been swelled by an influx of refugees. The staggering death toll at Granollers was comparable to that counted last Wednesday in Alicante, when insurgent aerial bombs brought death to at least 378 persons.

ghai railway. They have been trying to press westward through Lanfeng, seventy-three miles to Chengchow and from there turn southward for a 300-mile push to Hankow.

Should these units among the 400,000 men estimated to comprise the Japanese army on the central front reach Chengchow, they would be able with their compatriots to make a concerted drive toward Hankow.

Chinese acknowledged that steady bombing by Japanese planes hampered their counter-offensives to make such a drive impossible, but insisted they were in control about Lanfeng.

Japanese naval planes aided the offensive in raids against Chinese airbases over a wide area. Twenty bombs struck the airfield at Foochow alone.

Far to the south, there was another twenty-two-plane raid on Canton. A Chinese squadron, said to number forty planes, intercepted the raiders, however, in an air battle east of the city.

Hong Kong dispatches said four Japanese ships were shot down, including one large bomber. Five of the Japanese ships broke through to reach Canton, but dropped only a few bombs at the outskirts before winging away.

There have been raids on Canton since Saturday, when Chinese officially estimated 600 were killed and 900 injured.

NORTH CHINA TARIFFS ARE EXTENDED

Nanking, May 31.—(AP)—The Japanese-sponsored "Reformed Government of China," established at Nanking on March 28th, announced today that North China tariffs would be extended to Central China, including Shanghai.

The North China schedules were published January 20th by the Japanese-sponsored Government at Peiping. It was announced the new rates, effective tomorrow, were based generally on the 1931 tariff structure, regarded as more "equitable" to Japan than the existing rates.

the other amended the Exchequer Court Act to broaden the scope of actions against the Crown for damages for injuries arising through negligence of public officers.

The measure providing machinery whereby shipments of arms and munitions of war may be prohibited in ships of Canadian registry to certain countries, was passed, and final reading was given the bill establishing the rights of the three Prairie Provinces to use their natural resources in waters and water power.

Progress was made with bills amending the New Westminster Harbours Commission Act, amendments to the Excise Act, and amendments to the Indian Act to provide for Government regulations enabling the lease of mineral rights on reserves and setting up a revolving fund for loans to Indians to assist them in becoming self-supporting in farming or other occupations.

Justice Minister Lapointe introduced and secured first reading to his annual bill amending the Criminal Code. There was no debate or discussion on this measure which contained many important changes and will be discussed at length later in the session.

Both Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. MacNeil quoted at length from statements prepared by the Civil Liberties Union organized in Quebec since passage of the law against Communism. These statements told of a long list of raids and seizures under the act by Provincial Police.

Mr. Bennett entered the discussion only on the point of order raised by Mr. Lapointe who declared the matter should not be discussed so far as the Government was concerned, until the Government had acted on the measure.

Mr. Bennett quoted precedents which he claimed were in opposition to the Minister's stand. He said it was not only the right but the function of the House to discuss any matter affecting the people and to instruct the government as to the manner in which it should discharge its duties.

Mr. Lapointe emphatically disagreed and declared that he, as Minister of Justice, would not be instructed by the House or Parliament as to what recommendation he should make with respect to a provincial statute's validity. He would act on his responsibility as Minister of Justice and then the House could approve or disapprove.

The Government too would and should act on its own responsibility as to its disposal of the Government's action. If Parliament disapproved then the Government was out.

Passed in March 1937 the Padlock Law has been in operation a little more than a year. Constitutional procedure requires the Dominion to take action within a year after the act reaches the Government, as to disallowance or otherwise. The Act formally reached the Government July 8, 1937, and over a month remains before the time limit for disallowance is reached.

BORAH BLOCKS AGREEMENT ON WAGE MEASURE

Idaho Republican Attacks Provisions of Senate Measure Permitting Exemption of Certain Firms from Provisions of Bill.

Washington, May 31.—(AP)—Casting his dissenting vote, Senator Borah (Republican, Idaho), criticized both House of Representatives and Senate wage-hour bills so vigorously today that attempts to reach a compromise may be retarded.

Borah, member of a joint committee seeking an agreement on the legislation, declared the Senate bill would give "Hitler-like" powers to a five-member board which could excuse some firms from compliance with pay and hour regulations in the United States.

He made it plain he would not support that provision, despite custom which holds that conferees must back the measure approved by their chamber.

Nor will he agree, Borah said, to accept bill with wage differentials. The House measure carries no such differentials.

The Idaho Senator expressed his views shortly before Congressional leaders went to the White House for their weekly conference with President Roosevelt on the legislative programme.

He said they would not support that provision, despite custom which holds that conferees must back the measure approved by their chamber.

prosperous branches by off-setting the losses of their more unsuccessful units, the state being the loser in both income and sales tax departments, according to the Association.

In connection with large discounts allowed some big buyers, he recalled the Price Spreads Commission had been told these amounted to thirty per cent at times.

"The sales tax on these transactions is collected on only seventy cents of each dollar, whereas on the business resulting from the purchases of individual store buyers and sales tax is collected on the full dollar," he said.

Where savings were made by efficient merchandising, the consumer was entitled to the benefit, but the Association contended such savings could not exceed one or two per cent. It urged then that the principle of taxing the "fair market value" be applied to domestic consumption, as was the case under the Customs Act.

Mr. Hougham submitted the operation of mail order houses concentrated buying power in the larger centres and in constantly fewer hands, draining the small communities and giving further impetus to the cityward drift of young people.

Mail order houses did pay a small local business tax where they maintained order depots but it was infinitesimal compared to the loss of business drawn from the community.

GOULD

Mr. and Mrs. Stearns R. Morrison and son, Jack, have returned to Timmins, Ont., after two months spent with Mr. Norman MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. G. T. MacDonald. They were accompanied to Sherbrooke by Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald, who visited friends in Marlboro on their return home.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Nicholson were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Nicholson, Mrs. T. R. R. and Messrs. John and Charles McRae, all of Scottstown.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacDonald, of Scottstown, N.H., were guests of Sunday of Mrs. Flora MacDonald. Mrs. MacDonald remained for a week's visit with her mother.

Mrs. K. N. MacIver returned home from Montreal on Saturday evening after spending a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. MacKay and daughter, Shirley, and Mrs. Duncan MacKay motored to St. Armand on Sunday, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Kidd.

Among those who attended the strawberry supper at Bishop on May 24th were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Macdonald, Miss Edvina Beaton and Louise MacKay, and Messrs. John Buchanan, Arnold MacDonald, William MacDonald, Alex, George and Gerald MacKay.

Miss Isabelle MacIver, R.N., of Montreal, and her friend, Miss Phyllis Warwick, of Saint John, N.B., spent Sunday night and the day following at home with Miss MacIver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. N. MacIver.

Friends of Mr. J. D. MacRitchie are pleased to see him out again. He was confined to his home for a few days through illness.

SOCIAL CREDIT SELECTS FORTY AS CANDIDATES

Central Committee, Operating from Alberta, Selects Party Standard-Bearers for Saskatchewan General Elections.

Edmonton, May 31.—(AP)—Forty Social credit candidates for the Saskatchewan general elections on June 8th were announced here today by Provincial Secretary E. C. Manning, chief organizer of the Western Canada Social Credit Association.

Candidates will be selected for eight other constituencies and in four ridings there will be no nominees, Mr. Manning said.

Two candidates were named for each of the two-member city ridings—Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw. The forty-nine constituencies will elect fifty-two persons to the Provincial Legislature.

Selection of the candidates was made at meetings of the Western Association executive which remained in conference long after midnight.

Executive members present included Premier Aberhart, leader of the Association; Mr. Manning; Provincial Treasurer, Solon Low; and Hon. Lucien Maynard, Alberta Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Social Credit will not run candidates in Cannington, Canora, Kelvynator and Pelly Ridings. Constituencies where standard bearers will be named later are: Athabasca, Bengough, Biggar, Melville, Morse and Weyburn.

In the far north ridings of Athabasca and Cumberland electors will go to the polls July 28th.

The forty candidates cover a wide field of professions and occupations. Farmers are the strongest group with seven. There are five merchants, four teachers and three railwaymen. Included among the others were two medical doctors, a chiropractor, two lawyers, a bond broker and a mine owner.

and the maximum term in jail from thirty days to six months. Failure to stop would be made prima facie evidence of intent to evade liability.

Power of a court to suspend drivers' licences would be extended to make the cancellation effective in all Canada instead of just in the Province in which the offence is committed.

Terms for the carrying of firearms illegally to be required to run consecutively for any term imposed for commission of another offence which was simultaneous with the carrying of the firearm. Such terms may now run concurrently with other sentences.

In connection with arson generally, maximum terms are reduced. The explanatory note says the new maximums will be higher than those now generally imposed. Other changes are to provide for uniformity of sentences in connection arson offences.

Another amendment makes it clear that juries may convict of lesser offences where the accused is indicted for manslaughter. An explanatory note says that in some provinces the courts have held that on manslaughter indictments the only possible verdicts are guilty or not guilty. Juries have been reluctant to convict of manslaughter "whereas they would probably be inclined to convict of a lesser offence."

Provided no provincial statute overrides the suggested provision, spiritual healing will be given a definite status. New one would be liable to conviction for failing to provide medical or surgical attendance who has provided "prayer or spiritual means as a remedial treatment" in those provinces to which the statute applies.

Prisoners sentenced of whippings will be given them at the discretion of prison officials no matter if the sentencing court sets a specific time, another amendment provides. It is explained that some prisoners have escaped whippings because they were sick, or out of prison when they were to be whipped.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Morrison were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evans, of East Sudbury.

Miss Edie MacLean has returned home from Boston, Mass., where she spent several weeks with her sister, Mrs. F. MacDonald and Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. Malcolm Smith, of Tolsta, was a guest of friends here.

Recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. MacDonald were Mr. Payson Sherman, M.L.A., of Scottstown, and Mr. John Muir, of Manchester, N.H.

Mr. Albert Bellevue and son, Albert, of East Angus, Mrs. Christie Morrison, Mrs. J. J. McLeod and Mrs. Alex Morrison were calling on friends at Red Mountain on Sunday.

Mr. M. H. McLeod and Mrs. George Murray spent a day in Sherbrooke.

Rev. D. A. MacLellan, of Scottstown, conducted a mid-week service at Red Mountain school house.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert MacAulay motored to Manchester, N.H., on Sunday for a day's visit.

tillery and reserves, inflicting heavy casualties.

It was a crushing blow and General Ludendorff wrote years after: "I gave up the last vestige of hope."

The memorial commemorates the "miracle" among the Australians in this and other fighting in the neighborhood. Further north at Fromelles another 2,000 are so commemorated and the Menin Gate bears the names of 6,000 Australians. Altogether the Commonwealth lost 60,000 men.

The memorial is on top of a hill on the outskirts of the village and it flanks a war cemetery where long lines of crosses mark the graves of identified soldiers and its main feature—a massive wall—marks the old battle line held by the "Diggers."

On this wall, forming three sides of a courtyard, are engraved the names of the missing with the words carved above: "Their name liveth for evermore."

In the centre is a tower 103 feet high, which has a staircase leading to a platform at a height of sixty-four feet. Another staircase leads off from the observation tower to a height of seventy-five feet from which a view of the battlefields can be had. The side walls are terminated by loggias.

The memorial was planned and begun eleven years ago but work was held up in 1930 owing to the depression.

At Boulogne a unique unveiling ceremony has been planned to coincide with the arrival of the King and Queen June 28. As the royal ship arrives in the harbor a sheet of bunting will fall at the quayside revealing a giant statue of Britannia at the spot where the British Expeditionary Force landed in 1914.

vestigation at Miami, twenty-five miles north of here, and J. Edgar Hoover at Washington assigned a squad of inspectors who flew here Sunday.

Then early today, while G-men worked on the case and throngs of curious milled about this crossroads village of 600, a man presumed to be the abductor slipped the third note under the door of the Cash apartment, tossed a rock at a window to attract attention and fled into the underbrush.

The message, printed in a triangular piece of brown wrapping paper, ordered Cash to repeat manoeuvres prescribed in an earlier note—to drive over a route specified on a map, blinking the headlights of his car at certain spots as a signal.

Cash had done this in vain last night but the new note was understood to have explained of too many persons about.

With him Cash took the $10,000 in banknotes of $5, $10, $20 and $50 denominations.

The earlier note had been found pinned to the door at the home of the boy's uncle, Wilson P. Cash, next door. The other note figuring in the case was given to a negro to deliver to James Cash. It directed attention to the note at Wilson Cash's home but the negro became frightened at the nocturnal visitor who gave it to him and failed to deliver it so it did not turn up until later. The F.B.I. agents took the threat notes and their full text was not available.

A State Road Department watchman provided a clue with a report that a green sedan travelling west at breakneck speed was forced by construction work on the road to slow up as it passed his station on an east-west highway near the half mile north of here shortly after the boy was missed.

The watchman saw several men and a small child who was crying loudly.

This road is one of many paved highways which honeycomb this area, south of Miami. Known as the Redlands district it is a rich agricultural section with thriving citrus groves and vast farms where winter vegetables are grown.

Cash, thirty-eight years old, a merchant and filling station owner, has lived here with his wife for the last five years. He owns a grocery store and two filling stations as well as the building from which the boy was stolen. This is a large frame structure containing six apartments with a filling station and luncheon in front on the main highway between Miami and Key West.

LEVINE PROBE ADVANCED ON THREE FRONTS

New Rochelle, N.Y., May 31.—(AP)—The investigation of the Peter Levine kidnap-murder moved forward today on three fronts—in the laboratory, outside and in the realm of deduction.

Medical experts pursued a painstaking microscopic examination of the boy's organs in the faint hope of finding some clue, such as poison traces, to the manner in which he was killed.

For miles around this suburban community officers explored the countryside, searched the Long Island Sound shore line, and questioned scores of persons in a hunt for other leads—the possibility of finding missing parts of the body or other clues; tracing the thin wire which bound the body; determining how the boy got into the sound.

The Levine boy, twelve year old son of a moderately well-to-do New York lawyer, disappeared February 24. His body, lacking head, legs and arms, was washed ashore in the Sound Sunday, many weeks after three ransom notes had been received.

In the field of deduction, a high investigating authority offered the theory that the crime was a "local job."

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—A fifteen per cent reduction in traffic fatalities in the United States for six months—computed at 2,850 lives saved—was reported today by the National Safety Council. In each of the six months, beginning last November, the Council reported there had been "a substantial reduction" compared with the corresponding period the year previous.

600 ATTEND REUNION AT LOCAL SEMINARY

St. Charles Seminary Host To Ex-Students

Approximately Six Hundred in City to Attend Convention in Connection with College's Anniversary and Canon Victor Vincent's Twenty-Fifth Year in Priesthood—Rev. Father Dolor Biron Elected New Head of Old Boys' Association.

The halls and corridors of an institution that had the present Lord Bishop of Sherbrooke as one of its first students welcomed back many former pupils today as St. Charles Seminary continued a two-day celebration of its sixty-third anniversary and of Rev. Canon Victor Vincent's silver jubilee as a priest.

The French-Canadian college, recognized as one of the leading educational centres in the Eastern Townships, has been in existence since yesterday afternoon, celebrating a memorable occasion and honoring the name of its superior who has been twenty-five years in the priesthood.

Approximately six hundred former students have joined in the congress, one of the most impressive held in the history of the college. Many a St. Charles student has made his mark in the world and no less an impressive number have joined various religious bodies and are today regarded as outstanding preachers or as ecclesiastical authorities.

This morning at ten o'clock the students and alumni members gathered at St. Michael's Cathedral when mass was celebrated by Rev. Canon Victor Vincent and a stirring sermon preached by Rev. Father Dolor Biron, of St. Jean Baptiste Church.

At the conclusion of the service the assembly, six hundred strong and headed by the Seminary band, formed in front of the Cathedral and marched down Marquette street to Wellington street north, thence through the business section of the city and over to the college farm on the outskirts of East Sherbrooke, where dinner was served.

This afternoon many of the visitors and resident students journeyed to Lake Montjoye. The St. Charles celebration was inaugurated yesterday afternoon when hundreds of former students arrived at the Seminary to register. Following the formality of registration, a meeting of the Alumni Association was held when Magistrate J. H. Lemay presided in the absence of Louis St. Laurent, of Quebec, president of the Old Boys' Association. Judge Lemay, on behalf of the congress, offered best wishes to Rev. Canon Vincent and briefly reviewed the progress recorded by the Seminary since its inception sixty-three years ago.

John T. Hackett, K. C., former M. P. for Stanstead County, also touched upon the admirable history of the College and lauded Rev. Canon Vincent for his contribution towards the cause of education, his efforts as a teacher and his outstanding qualities as a priest.

Accompanied by Richard Caron and Raymond Deslites, Richard Crepeau, of Sherbrooke, a grandson of the late J. H. Crepeau who belonged to the Seminary's first class and was a student-mate of Rev. Father Dolor Biron, of St. Jean Baptiste parish, and Albert C. Gagnon, Lord Bishop of Sherbrooke, spoke a few words on behalf of the

MANY VISITORS ATTEND LOCAL LODGE SERVICE

Members of Unity Lodge No. 8, I.O.O.F., Joined by Out-of-Town Delegates for Annual Divine Service.

Visitors from various district lodges joined with members of Unity Lodge No. 8, I.O.O.F., Sunday morning for their annual divine service held at Trinity United Church.

The members gathered in the lodge rooms at 10:30 o'clock and proceeded to the church, where they were met by the Princess Rebekah Lodge. Rev. Fred Williams, pastor of Trinity Church, who was assisted by Rev. Dr. Wilson, of Montreal, based his sermon upon the theme "Forty Years in the Wilderness." Following the service, the members and visitors returned to the Lodge rooms where lunch was served.

Visitors were present from Victoria No. 16, St. Francis Valley No. 44, Eaton Valley No. 60, Alexandria No. 59, Mississquoi No. 22, North Shore Lodge (Grand Mere), Jubilee No. 31 and Havelock. Bro. Andrew Crawford acted as Marshal.

On Saturday evening about thirty-five members of Unity Lodge travelled to Thetford Mines to visit and confer the first and second Degrees upon the members. A sumptuous supper, prepared by the Brothers' wives was served in the Masonic Hall after which Bro. Evans, of Unity Lodge, moved a vote of thanks to the ladies. The I.O.O.F. members then proceeded to the Odd Fellows' Hall to confer the degrees. Members from Inverness No. 51 and Leeds No. 54 were present.

CATHOLIC HOUR FEATURED BY PATRICIA CHOIR

Musical Programme Directed by Mrs. Maurice Shea—Rev. Arthur Sideleau Was Guest Speaker.

Under the direction of Mrs. Maurice Shea, with Eugene Caron, L.M.S., presiding at the piano, the Patricia's Choir dedicated a programme to their pastor, Rev. Canon Charles McGee, of St. Patrick's Church, on Sunday afternoon as a token of appreciation for the interest and encouragement he has evinced in their work. The theme hymn, "Sing His Name All Holy," Handel, with English words, was arranged by Miss Geraldine Herbert, especially for this occasion.

The speaker was Rev. Arthur Sideleau, professor of French literature at the University of Montreal, and his subject was "The Church, the Arts and Sciences."

The programme, which was broadcast over CHLT, follows: "Prayer to Our Lady," Catholic melody from the 12th century; hymn from the 2nd Vespers, Solve, virilis—Feast of St. Joan of Arc (May 29); Tantum Ergo, Gregorian; Alma Redemptoris, Gregorian; Christ, the Lord Is Risen (Victime Paschali Laudes) by M. Leeson (12th century).

The Gregorian music heard on this programme had been studied under the direction of Mrs. Paul Emile Fortier, for the Diocesan contest of Gregorian Chant, held under the patronage of Mgr. P. S. Desranleau, Coadjutor Bishop of Sherbrooke.

START WORK ON IMPROVEMENTS TO LOCAL JAIL

Sum of Four Thousand Dollars Being Spent on Alterations to Winter Street Jail.

Approximately four thousand dollars is being spent by the City of Sherbrooke on repairs to the Windsor street jail, it was announced today by the K. B. Jencks Company, who have the contract for the alterations.

Four bathrooms in the structure will be completely built over and twelve new lavatories installed. The bathrooms to be renovated will be fitted with modern improvements and a stone floor, similar in appearance to marble, will be laid. The walls of these rooms will be plastered and the woodwork given a fresh coat of paint.

Work on the alterations started yesterday and it is expected that a month will be required to complete the task.

TRADE BODY MAY DISCUSS CHAIN STORE TAX

Louis N. Audet, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, stated to the Record this morning that the trade association may today discuss the recommendation made recently by Mayor Marcus Armitage regarding the chain store taxation.

Mr. Armitage, expressing himself as opposed to a discriminatory form of taxation, suggested that a committee of five businessmen be appointed to study and revise the city's present taxation schedule, particularly as regards the chain stores, which have been assessed five hundred dollars each by the City Council.

TWO TEACHERS IN TOWNSHIPS RECEIVE HONOR

Mrs. Ruth F. Knowlton, of Granby, and Miss May J. Weed, of Melbourn, Obtain Awards of Order of Scholastic Merit.

The names of two Eastern Townships teachers are included in the list of twelve awards of the Order of Scholastic Merit given for outstanding service towards the cause of education. The list was made public today by the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education of the Province of Quebec.

Mrs. Ruth F. Knowlton, B. A., Granby, is among those who received the Second Degree award, and Miss May J. Weed, Melbourn, obtained a First Degree award. The First Degree "For Merit" award is given to persons who have demonstrated that they have attained a definite degree of success as teachers or administrators. The Second Degree "For Great Merit" award is for persons who, in addition, have made effort to advance their professional status by academic qualifications, professional qualifications, or meritorious service to the teaching profession.

Mrs. Knowlton is a former president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. A resident of Knowlton, she is at present teaching in Granby. She has been principal at the Catholic High School and at Bedford, Miss Weed, who is highly regarded for the progressive nature of her work, has a long and notable teaching record in the Province. She has been teaching for the past forty-two years, her longest period of service having been at Gallup Hill, Melbourn. She has also taught at the South Ham School in Dudswell Municipality and at St. Francis College, Richmond.

Miss Dorothy Reimnitz, M.A., of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, who received a Second Degree award, was principal at Scotts-town before joining the Macdonald College staff.

KEEN CONTEST IN SCOUT MEET AT COOKSHIRE

Scouts and Cubs from Thetford Mines and East Angus Carried Off Top Honors in Eastern Section Competitions.

Cookshire, May 31.—Scout troops and Cub packs from Thetford Mines and East Angus carried off the major share of the honors in the rally held here for boys in the eastern section of the Townships. Scouts were present from Sawyerville, Thetford Mines and Waterville, while Cubs from East Angus, Sawyerville, Thetford Mines, Waterville and Windsor Mills attended. Approximately one hundred and twenty-five were present.

The rally was directed by Rev. C. E. S. Bown, of East Angus, Assistant District Commissioner, and the following provincial officers acted as judges: Russell Patterson, Provincial Secretary; D. M. Jocke, Provincial Cub Commissioner; F. Hicks, Provincial Field Secretary; W. H. Miner, Eastern Townships Commissioner; C. B. Porter, Assistant District Commissioner for the western district; H. Earl, Granby and Scoutmaster, and Charles Greenlay, District Cubmaster.

Following the opening flag break and prayers by Rev. Bown, the address of welcome was given by A. W. Pratt, of Cookshire. First item in the judging competition was a large proficiency badge parade, which was won in the Scout division by Thetford Mines, directed by Sydney Bateman, with East Angus second. Sawyerville Cubs, in charge of Rev. W. C. Dunn, topped the field in their division, followed by Thetford Mines.

East Angus and Thetford Mines finished first and second, respectively, in the general Scout competition, consisting of signalling, relays and first aid. In the general competition among the Cub packs, consisting of knot, message and skipping relays, Waterville were adjudged first and Windsor Mills second. The winners were directed by Rev. J. G. Fulcher, while Alfred Lundberg was in charge of the second place team.

In the Scout demonstration, Thetford Mines won the staff drill, Waterville the rescue work and East Angus the hand signalling. East Angus under the direction of F.

LOCAL MEN HAD LENGTHY DRIVE IN NEW HEARSE

E. A. Vogell, Proprietor of Sherbrooke Undertaking Parlor, and Charles Parkin Brought Modern Ambulance-Hearse from Ohio City.

Add this story to the list of unusual occurrences in the day's news—a one thousand mile ride in a hearse.

Such a lengthy ride in this particular type of conveyance is considered exceptionally rare, and two local men may have just grounds for claiming a record in this connection. The men are E. A. Vogell, proprietor of the Sherbrooke Undertaking Parlor, and Charles Parkin, sales manager of Webster Motors, who drove back to Sherbrooke from Lima, Ohio, in a new combination ambulance-hearse which Mr. Vogell purchased for service in his mortuary business.

Held to be the last word in undertaking equipment, the combination ambulance and hearse was driven here from the Ohio city in four days, with Mr. Parkin at the wheel for the greater portion of the trip. No attempt was made to smash speed records and several halts were made en route to enable other morticians to inspect the modern vehicle. All of whom were unanimous in an opinion that the hearse represented the finest type of funeral and ambulance equipment available on the market today.

Gleaming dully in its conservative coat of Buckingham gray and black trimmings, the body of the hearse is mounted on a one hundred and sixty inch specially-built chassis. The engine is an eight-cylinder Buick, capable of producing sufficient speed to meet any emergency such as might arise from an accident, when immediate hospitalization is required for the victim.

Mr. Vogell, who has been a mortician for the past thirty-five years, both here and in Montreal, chose the dark gray finish for the hearse because of its inconspicuousness. Recalling his wide experience in the undertaking field, he felt that the color of the new hearse should be in harmony with the occasions for which it is intended and in no way should intrude itself upon the consciousness of the bereaved.

In addition to its extra wheelbase, the hearse is equipped with what is technically termed coiled springs, both at the front and rear. It is claimed that these springs provide exceptionally easy riding qualities and Mr. Vogell is confident a patient could be transported to a larger centre, such as Montreal or Toronto, with less discomfort than on a train.

Included in other up-to-the-minute improvements with which the vehicle is fitted is a modern heating apparatus which assures an ill patient of a steady flow of warmth at just the proper temperature. The upholstery throughout the entire body is carried out in a deep blue shade, while the windows are hung with heavy velvet drapes of the same color. The body of the hearse is constructed so that it can be opened from the side as well as the rear.

An innovation to be pursued by Mr. Vogell is the practice of disinfecting the interior of the hearse after each time it is used, whether it be for an ambulance case or a funeral. He plans to confer with local health officials with a view of obtaining a certificate to this effect after each disinfection.

Mr. Vogell and Mr. Parkin were loud in their praise of the highways over which they travelled, particularly in Ohio. Mr. Vogell expressed an opinion, however, that business conditions are generally better in this section of the Dominion than in the United States.

Stanstead College To Be Rebuilt At Once

Committee Appointed Yesterday Afternoon to Study Plans for Reconstruction of Well-Known Eastern Townships School Razed by Fire Over Week-End—College Routine Carried on as Usual.

Stanstead, May 31.—"Everything as usual" was the keynote of activities at Stanstead Wesleyan College here today and yesterday despite the fire that levelled the well known Eastern Townships institution's main building to the foundations early Saturday afternoon.

At a Board of Trustees' meeting in Principal Errol C. Amaron's residence at the college yesterday afternoon a general survey of the disastrous week-end's events resulted in a committee being appointed to study plans for reconstruction and report back to the Board within a fortnight. D. W. Davis, chairman of the Board, issued a statement announcing the immediate rebuilding and a campaign for $200,000.

All classes of grades 10, 11 and 12, the Bugbee Business College and the Eastern Townships' Conservatory of Music resumed studies promptly at nine o'clock yesterday morning without a break in routine since Friday's school closing. Even the full college orchestra, preparing for the activities of Convocation week, held a practice in the water-damaged Pierce Hall, the dismantled pipe organ spread about them.

The first regular meal was served last night on the college's own new dishes, just arrived from Sherbrooke in the afternoon, in the hall of Centenary United Church where dining facilities have been set up. The students and teachers who have returned are billeted in other college buildings and in homes throughout the Three Villages.

One of the greatest inconveniences experienced by the pupils, now preparing for their final examinations, was the acute shortage of text books and their own notes upon which they were depending for review work. However, the kind thoughtfulness of Principals Wright Gibson and C. Howard Aikman, of Sherbrooke and Lennoxville High Schools, respectively, brought them to the college with all the texts that could be spared from their own institutions.

Jagged spires where the corners of brick walls had stood were feared a menace to those near the ruins, so a heavy truck was used to pull these down with the use of ropes. Previous attempts to do this with blasting powder failed.

Insurance adjusters worked until dark last night, estimating the actual loss. Due to fire which still burned in the debris, they were forced to postpone the completion of their task until this morning. It is expected that exact figures will be arrived at today.

A number of mementoes of the conflagration have been taken out, including a piece of pottery that was left standing intact on a parlor mantel-piece. Inside it was pure carbon sticks that had previously been the stems of a bunch of roses. Upon the kitchen stove was found a big iron kettle containing two hams that were to be Sunday's dinner. They were cooked just right and will be eaten by the residents.

At five o'clock this morning, this observer found the watchman and a College employee retrieving a number of tin cans and kitchen receipts for supplies received, all in good condition.

SHERBROOKE, TUESDAY, MAY 31, 1933.

Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites; for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness.—Matthew 23:27.

Creating Provincial Barriers

A seldom thought of but very real barrier to the complete inter-provincial freedom of Canadian commerce is the duplication of succession duties by the various provinces throughout the Dominion as outlined by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce before the Rowell Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations.

As a result of this duplication, persons with substantial estates are inclined to confine their investments to their own province as much as possible which accentuates the concentration of wealth in the wealthy provinces and hinders the flow of inter-provincial finance and the development of newer areas.

Of course, the logical remedy for the situation would be the federal collection of succession duties, but this is a Utopian dream. Nobody with a knowledge of politicians expects that the provincial administrators would abandon such a lucrative field of revenue as the death taxes, but for their own good, as well as for the benefit of the taxpayers and beneficiaries of estates, the provinces should get together and provide for the elimination of overlapping taxation and the duplication of succession duties.

Sir Maurice Hankey Retires

In the retirement of Sir Maurice Hankey, Secretary of the Cabinet and to the Committee for Imperial Defence, which becomes effective on August 1st, the British Empire loses the services of a man who knows more state secrets than anybody else alive.

Slightly over the usual retirement age for senior officers of the Government, Sir Maurice will become a director of the Suez Canal in succession to the late Sir J. T. Davies.

A brisk businesslike personality, Sir Maurice always has been the first arrival at 40 Downing Street for Cabinet meetings. Crowds milling about in the little dead-end street often have mistaken him for a Cabinet minister.

He was appointed Secretary to the Committee of Imperial Defence twenty-six years ago and later became Secretary to the Imperial War Cabinet. He was one of Prime Minister David Lloyd George's right-hand men at the Versailles Peace Conference.

He became secretary to the regular Cabinet in 1919 and served in a similar capacity at the five Imperial Conferences held between 1921 and 1937.

Sir Maurice is a typical example of the career men in the British Civil Service which makes it the best in the world, men who are willing to devote their time and their talents to the service of their country without hope of any great material reward, and the best wishes of the Empire go with him in his new duties.

The Millar Race Ends

With the announcement that a compromise has been effected and the cheques mailed to the winners in one of the most grotesque competitions ever known to the human race, the last chapter has been written upon the Millar Stork Marathon resulting from the rather capricious will of Charles Vance Millar, a rich but eccentric Toronto lawyer.

And from the point of view of the public and participants alike it is hoped that the book will be closed and remain closed, for the whole affair was as disgusting as it was unique. Whatever motive could have influenced a supposedly intelligent man, even of Millar's known weakness as a practical joker, will ever remain a mystery, sealed with his death eleven years and seven months ago. Although the responsibility of writing such a document must be placed squarely on Millar, it is doubtful that he ever foresaw the confusion he would create or ever anticipated the rather unhuman attitude adopted by many of the contestants.

Examples such as the Millar will provide ample justification for the passage of permanent legislation permitting the Government to set aside such documents on the ground of public interest.

Modern Invention Worries Dictators

The extent to which modern inventions have aggravated the problem of dictators maintaining a hold on their people is well illustrated by the official announcement by the German Department of Justice that in the future any German found listening to radio propaganda broadcasts from the Soviet will be charged with plotting against the security of the state and face the death penalty.

In the olden days, dictators had merely to worry about the stump orator who could gather a few listeners in some dark place and expound his doctrines. Then came the opposition newspaper which might be printed either at home or abroad and smuggled from hand-to-hand. Even this had a physical being, however, and could be run down. The radio is in a different category and anti-Government broadcasts generally originate in some foreign country and come in through the air, and to date no means has been found of hindering it entering any particular country, so the German Government is taking the only possible course of action—increasing its army of snoopers and making it a capital offence to hear subversive propaganda.

Perhaps the imminent introduction of popular television will give Der Fuehrer a few more worries.

Thirty Years Ago Today

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.

May 31st, 1903.

The last meeting of the Sherbrooke Ladies' Whist Club for the season took place at the residence of Mrs. Fletcher.

The graduating exercises will take place next week at the Cottage Hospital, North Hatley, when Nurses Mitchell, Perry, Ryan, Rice and Talbot will receive their diplomas.

Births reported: On May 21st, to Mr. and Mrs. B. Dutchburn, of Lennoxville, a daughter; on May 21st, at Bedford, to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Smith, a daughter.

Deaths reported: Mrs. I. L. England, Providence, R.I.; Miss Frances Allen, West Sheffield.

The barn of Mr. Walter Galbraith, South Roxton, recently purchased by Mr. Derby, was struck by lightning.

A few of the members of Missisquoi Lodge, Farnham, attended the institution of Lodge No. 49 in Lachine. The new Lodge started with a membership of nineteen. Grand officers present were: G.M., G.W., G.S., G. Treasurer, P.G.M., Blackie, Organizer; Brother Tully, of Peterboro, assisted by Brothers Skeeler, Norris, Rev. Canon Chambers of Lachine.

J. A. Parras received a purse of gold from a number of his friends on the eve of his marriage to Miss Tarte, youngest daughter of J. R. Tarte, of Scottstown. The presentation was made in the Council room in the presence of about forty persons. The following gentlemen joined in speeches: Hon. E. F. De Varennes, ex-Mayor; Messrs. W. N. Call, George H. Walsh, Manager of Molson's Bank, Albert Chagnon of Le Journal.

DOUBLEHEADER

Out of the roundhouse, out of their massive stable,

Slowly the engines came and ominous, Done with their oily hostlers. Pistons smooth And sweet, the deep crankcases filled, they breathed Gently onto the sure and turning table. Of plank and rail that aimed them down the world.

Switched between the yard between the colored blossoms, They turned to comet for the comet's tail; Two dark and panting stars at once, they coupled Engine to engine, coach to coach, and waited, Whistled and parted lights, exultant hurried A doubleheader down the curving rail.

GREATEST TOURIST TRADE

(Toronto Star)

Tourists in Canada are estimated to have spent $294,682,000 in 1932, of which sum $277,710,000 is attributed to visitors from the United States. Canadians travelling in the States are said to have spent $102,087,000. The result is a "favorable balance" of tourist trade in excess of $175,000,000. This is just one of the many items which enter into the balancing of international payments between the two countries.

People must often wonder how the statisticians arrive at the amount of spending done by tourists. It is, of course, an estimate, but it is an intelligent one because it is founded on questionnaires which tourists have answered. The United States Department of Commerce sends these out to Americans who have toured Canada, while the Dominion Bureau of Statistics makes similar inquiries of Canadians visiting the States.

Replies received in 1932 indicated that the average car entering Canada on a forty-eight hour permit in 1932 (and averaging 1.4 days' actual stay) carried three persons who spent $18.55. The same number in a car entering on a sixty-day permit (but averaging only 7.5 days' actual stay) spent $93.43. The two classes spent respectively $4.41 and $4.09 per day apiece. The comparable figures for Canadians visiting the States appear to be $4.13 and $3.60 apiece.

Incidentally, the expenditures involved in tourist travel between the United States and Canada are greater than those involved in travel between any other two countries in the world. Generally higher outlays were reported by tourists in 1932 than in 1931, although there was a noticeable curtailment towards the end of the year.

THE FRENCH PRESS

A FRENCH-CANADIAN LYCEUM (Le Jour, Montreal)

There has been some talk in recent weeks of a French-Canadian lyceum. All the bigots—who are so numerous in our Province—came near to bursting with rage.

The diatribes of certain twentieth class journalists tell the tale only too well. And yet it is obvious that we have at least fifteen classical colleges too many—that is to say, little seminaries—and that it is high time for us, if we want to catch up the century of civilization we have lost, to infuse a new spirit into certain so-called secondary institutions of learning.

All the other provinces, all the United States and the civilized nations of the world have today a certain number of laymen who are teaching and who, it seems to me, have produced as many competent men as the French-Canadians. I have never heard it said that a nation died for believing at a certain moment that men not in uniform might sometimes be able to know something and to teach. I should like to be shown facts to the contrary; I should bow at once.

INTERNAL AGITATORS

(L'Evenement, Quebec)

Before talking about making war on foreign enemies—and they are still a long way off, thank God—it is a question of bringing the enemies of the interior peace of this country to their senses.

Whatever may be the means to be employed to bring about eventual respect for authority and law and order in Canada, they will be approved by the citizens who place the country's common good before the interests of politicians, of classes or of geography. They are surely the majority. We have been too patient as regards these stirrers-up of discord, these partisans of Communism or of Fascism, these people who hold the law in contempt.

Fortunately these shameless agitators can easily be made to see reason. Let us give the orders necessary for a little purge, and our police officers will quickly rid us of these undisciplined elements. Nevertheless, against older and more perfidious assailants the defenders of the Constitution must act more firmly, more courageously and more promptly. They are on the way toward breaking up Confederation.

PRESS COMMENTS

PUMP-PRIMING IN GREAT BRITAIN TOO (Ottawa Journal)

Much has been heard of "pump-priming" in the United States. And much criticism. Less has been heard of the fact that Great Britain has been doing considerable "pump-priming" too. Neville Chamberlain, when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer, talked sometimes as though he didn't believe in it, yet, whether he believed in it or not, he supported a housing scheme that ran into hundreds of millions. This despite the fact that the British rearmament policy was taking up the slack of employment.

Now, according to the cables, Mr. Chamberlain plans to do more. Fearing a slump when the rearmament programme ends (if it ever ends) his Government is reported to be mapping a $2,500,000,000 housing and road-building programme to sustain work and trade. They speak of it as a plan to "rebuild Great Britain."

The truth seems to be that, whether we like it or believe in it, governments everywhere, whether democratic or totalitarian, have got into this "planning" and "pump-priming" business, and don't seem to be able to get out of it.

The difficulty of the thing appears to be in knowing just how much a government or a country can afford to spend; how much it can afford to borrow. Also there is the problem of the character of the expenditure. If expenditure could be directed so as to create valuable assets, assets with a chance of liquidating themselves, or with a chance of promoting industry and creating new wealth, it might be beneficial. The danger is that expenditures will be made extravagantly and upon things that become frozen assets, accomplishing little more than additional costly overhead.

JAPAN'S PLIGHT

(St. Catharines Standard)

Will it come to pass that out of the crucible of war there will emerge a united China? These seem to be dire days for the Japanese, and there is certainly considerable foundation of truth in the continued reports of heavy reverses suffered by the Jap army. The law has been invoked in Japan to draft all private industry, and all citizens, into the war effort. That is a very drastic step, but the Jap military hierarchy must save face at all costs. As to the progress of war while it is too soon to draw definite conclusions, there are some important factors that must be taken in consideration. One is that the Japanese manifestly now have to deal with a Chinese air force that can no longer be regarded with contempt. Of late the Chinese airmen have been showing up pretty well against their Japanese opponents. They have the threat advantage of a back door which is wide open and of air routes along which they can secure a number of reinforcements. These are coming from Russian sources, and it is believed that a large number of Russian airmen are fighting for the Chinese. Another factor is the steadily increasing proof that a true national spirit has been created in China.

HAVE A SMILE

Mrs. O'Jawish—Well, Mrs. Murphy, I'm glad to see you. How did you like your trip abroad this summer?

Mrs. Murphy—Well, I liked Paris, London and Rome, but the best part of the whole thing was the trip over. Don't miss that, whatever you do, if you ever go to Europe.

"Yes," said Mrs. Swankleigh, "I want you to teach my daughter a foreign language—which shall it be?"

"French, German, Italian?" asked the teacher.

"Which is the most foreign?"

"I thought I would surprise my husband, so I took cooking lessons when he was abroad," said Mrs. Hopson to her friend.

"What did he say when he came back?"

"Nothing. He just went abroad again."

A film star met a producer on a Hollywood boulevard.

"How's business?" asked the star.

"Why," cried the producer, "it's stupendous. It's colossal, it's dynamic, it's unprecedented. . . . It'll be better next week."

"Do these hot springs ever freeze over?" asked the tourist.

"Oh—yes," replied the guide. "Once last winter a woman fell through the ice and burned her foot."

LIVE AND LEARN

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record. Dear Sir:—"We don't know everything not even the youngest of us," said the Oxford Don on his deathbed and, such being the case, it might not be out of order to inform Mr. Pierre Chalout, who was a member of the French-Canadian delegation attending the Youth Congress in Toronto on May 23-24th, as to a few things, he evidently does not know, but, which it is hoped, he may "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest," before he again addresses a Youth Congress. When he said in his address—"We intend to remain completely American" did he mean that he and his young friends would follow the guidance and policy of the United States and forget that they are Canadian and part of the British Empire?

rather than become German. We know how the Roman Catholic religion is treated in Germany today. Still, further, let young Mr. Chalout and his friends consider this item—If the Swastika took the place of the Union Jack, Quebec would have a population in peck, not to mention war. As a matter of fact, no part of the British Empire would suffer as much as this Province if Britain did not stand by to protect her. Even if these young people have in mind being "completely American," by joining the United States, they must realize that all the privileges which Britain has given them, as to race, language and religion would be lost at one fell swoop.

And yet our young friends object to possible but improbable conscription and intend to remain completely American. Heaven help them, poor young creatures!

ISABELLA SCOTT Westmount, Que.

The most sublime courage I have ever witnessed has been among that class too poor to know they possessed it, and too humble for the world to discover it.—H. W. Shaw.

Self is the only prison that can ever bind the soul; Lost is the only angel who can bid the gates unroll; And when he comes to call thee, arise and follow fast; His way may lie through darkness, but it leads to light at last. —Van Dyke.

HAPPINESS.

Is your life happy? My good neighbor asked, When talking of everyday things, Through joys and through sorrows you surely have passed, And prosperity seems to have wings.

Pleasures I have learned come only with toil, Laziness never brought fame, For knowledge and food I must both toil and moil, And also to keep a good name.

Our lives will be happy if we only love work, And work daily till setting of sun, If we do our tasks well, and never once shrink, We'll hear the Master's, "Well-done."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Author of "You Can," "Up," "Just Among Friends."

Our Needs

This would be a much happier world if we all paid more attention to our needs and less to our wants.

It is essential that we have health, and if we have health we are sure to have a good measure of happiness. Beyond this state the one important task in life is to first satisfy our needs. Only until this is performed may we safely—and without worry—take on as many wants as we can pleasantly control.

The engineer never goes forth upon a journey without first seeing that his engine is in perfect order. And after every run he again examines and cares for it.

We human beings have the most intricate and complicated piece of machinery in all the world, and yet we imagine we don't have to do anything about it but furnish fuel for its running! No wonder people break down long before their time, and long before their dreams and ambitions and mapped-out plans are realized.

We buy an automobile and the dealer tells us the kind of oil and gas to use to get the most efficiency out of the car, and he tells us that if we treat it right and methodically care for it, we will have it for a long time and that it will render us full service for the investment we have made in it.

The strange thing is not that the human body keeps going for such a long term of years, but that it lasts any time at all for all the abuse that it gets.

The human will is a marvellous instrument, hidden away in the brain. It can make or break the body that you own. It can dictate a work habit, a health habit, or a creative habit, that will make that machine of yours an asset both to yourself and all about you.

The thoughts that flow through your mind affect every part of your bodily structure. When you clog them with worry, with unkind remarks about others, and with bitterness toward the world at large, you rob efficiency and plant seeds for endless ailments.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Powers, of Bradford, Mass., spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Powers, Victoria street. Mr. and Mrs. A. Bovey, with whom they motored from Bradford to Sherbrooke, were guests for the week-end at the same home.

The friends of Mr. Malcolm Taylor will regret to hear that he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital having met with a very painful accident while at work in Stewart's Restaurant, where he slipped and fell down the cellar stairs, sustaining a badly bruised shoulder and hand.

Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Cromwell, of Montreal, spent the week-end visiting relatives in this district.

Mrs. Fred W. Mitchell, Quebec street, returned last night from Waterville, where she was a guest for the week-end of Rev. Canon and Mrs. E. R. Roy, at "The Rectory."

Mr. W. O. Lawrence, Montreal street, left yesterday for Garthby to spend the summer months at his cottage, "O-Be-Joyful," on Lake Almyer.

Mr. Norman Davis, student at Stanstead College, is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Long, Victoria street, before returning to his home in Montreal.

Mrs. Sarah J. Harrison and Miss Gladys Harrison, who were guests for the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Vallee, Victoria street, left this morning for their home in Springfield, Mass.

Miss Bea Morris and Mr. William Lee, of Ottawa, who were guests for a week of the latter's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Conway, King street west, have returned to the capital.

Mr. D. J. McManamy's hosts of friends will be pleased to hear that he returned home last evening from Montreal, where he has been a patient in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital for five weeks. Dr. Eugene McManamy, of Montreal, accompanied his father to Sherbrooke. Mr. McManamy is progressing favorably.

Miss Margaret Allin is arriving tonight from Toronto and will assume the position of physical director at the MacKinnon Memorial Y.W.C.A. for the summer months. Miss Allin, who is a graduate of Margaret Eaton School of Physical Education, Toronto, will also be in charge of the swimming pool during July.

Members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union who met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. S. A. Jones, the president, made arrangements for delegates and others to attend the county convention to be held in the Lennoxville United Church tomorrow. There being no further business, the meeting closed with prayer.

Miss Norah Leonard and Miss Frederica Bradley entertained the members of the Schubert Music Club very delightfully last evening at the close of the fortnightly recital given at the former's home on Montreal street. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, where Mrs. W. G. Cross did the honors at the lace-covered table, which was charmingly centered with Iceland poppies. Assisting were the Misses Eileen McWilliams, Evelyn Olivier and Frances Arzburger.

Mrs. S. A. Belmont, president of St. Faith's Guild, entertained the members at the tea hour yesterday afternoon at her home on London street, following a short meeting during which all unfinished business was disposed of prior to the summer holidays. Tea was poured by Mrs. Guy Bishop, a lovely Madeira cloth covering the pretty tea table, which was centered with spring flowers in a silver bowl and yellow candles in silver candlesticks. Assisting were Mrs. Leslie Arter, Mrs. J. Calhoun and Mrs. M. MacKay.

The MacKinnon Memorial Y.W.C.A. and its attractive surroundings formed the setting for a delightful card party and tea yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. J. S. F. McCaw, president, and Miss Marjorie Haley, general secretary, received the many guests who patronized the pleasant social gathering. Under the convener'ship of Mrs. A. E. Rowell and Mrs. Gordon Loomis, twenty tables were arranged on the lawn and in the gymnasium, a pretty prize being awarded at each table at the conclusion of the game. Masses of spring flowers were placed about the interior of the MacKinnon Memorial and were used to decorate the lace-covered table on the lawn, at which Mrs. G. T. Armstrong and Mrs. W. A. Clearhue, presided. Mrs. C. A. Turner was in charge of the refreshments and several members assisted in serving.

BUILDS BIG MEN

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Giles, of Montreal, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Goodenough, Quebec street.

Miss Margaret Mason, Portland avenue, returned yesterday from Knowlton, where she has been visiting her mother, Mrs. D. L. McClintock, and Major McClintock.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Conway and their daughter, Eileen, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Leddy, Mrs. P. J. Phelan, Mr. Hugh Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Conway and Mr. W. Conway, of Montreal, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Conway, Gordon street.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aikman and children, who have just returned from Montreal, where they spent several days to be near Mrs. Aikman's father, Rev. Dr. G. Ellery Read, who is a patient in the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital, report that they were encouraged about his condition which the doctors consider quite satisfactory. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Read, of Gatineau, were also in the metropolis during the week-end.

Mrs. S. C. Brown, of Winnipeg, Man., announces the marriage of her daughter, Grace May, of Montreal, to Dr. L. W. Cromwell, son of Mrs. W. B. Hodge, of Vancouver, B.C., and the late Mr. William Cromwell. Dr. Cromwell, who recently graduated from McGill University, will leave the metropolis to assume the position of interne in the Brooklyn Hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y., on July 1st.

The Misses Cora Hallett and Agnes Timmons entertained at a very enjoyable card party and party shower last evening in honor of Mrs. Florence Pearson, a bride-elect whom many friends are fettering. Bridge was played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Reginald Allatt, Miss Bessie Weinstein and Mrs. C. H. Pearson. At the conclusion of the game the hostesses served delicious refreshments, assisted by Miss M. Hallett and Lillian Moir. Miss Pearson was the recipient of many useful and attractive kitchen utensils.

PROGRAMME BY SCHUBERT CLUB MUCH ENJOYED

Last Evening's Recital Featured Miss Pauline St. Pierre as Guest Artist.

The programme presented by the members of the Schubert Club at last evening's recital was most enjoyable and featured Miss Pauline St. Pierre as guest artist, the hostesses being Miss Norah Leonard, at whose home the meeting was held, and Miss Frederica Bradley. Opening with a duet for two pianos, "Waltz and Chorus," (from Faust), Gounod, by Mrs. W. G. Cross, Miss N. Leonard, Miss Eileen McWilliams and Mr. Adrien Leblanc, the programme was as follows: vocal solos, "La Forza del destino," (1869), "Pace, Pace, Mio Dio," (G. Verdi), "Morning," O. W.C.T.U. WILL HOLD SESSION AT LENNOXVILLE

About Forty-Five Officers, Members and Delegates from Sherbrooke County Expected to Attend Tomorrow's Meeting.

The thirty-ninth annual convention of the Sherbrooke County Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening in the auditorium of the Lennoxville United Church, and about forty-five officers, members and delegates from Sherbrooke County are expected to be present. During the afternoon session the election of officers will be held and various reports presented. In the evening a special appeal will be made to the young people and the choir of the Young People's Union of the United Church will participate in the evening's activities. A playlet, "New Alice in Wonderland," will be presented by Sherbrooke talent, and a feature of the programme will be a silver medal elocution contest, in which three young people from Sherbrooke and three from Lennoxville will take part.

The many friends of Miss Kate Davis, who is ill at her home on Belvidere street, will be pleased to learn that she is improving steadily.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Bean and daughter, Norma, of Drummondville, have returned home, after spending a few days visiting Mr. Bean's sister, Mrs. Thomas Saunders, and Mr. Saunders at their home on Warren street. Other guests at the same home over the week-end included Mrs. Saunders' sister, Mrs. Clinton Kelley, with Mr. Kelley and their two children, Wanda Ann and Karl, of Littleton, N.H. Mr. Kelley returned home yesterday, but Mrs. Kelley and the children are remaining for a longer visit.

Mrs. Clayton Sterling has returned to her home on Main street after a pleasant visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Andrews, at their home in Littleton, N.H.

Mrs. David Harrison, who has been spending a week in Plainfield, Vt., visiting Mr. and Mrs. James McLeod and Mrs. W. J. Harrison, and was also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Harrison at Lyndonville, Vt., has returned to her home here. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. James McLeod and Mrs. W. J. Harrison, who spent the week-end with Mr. David Harrison and herself. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. David Harrison and their guests motored to Ascot, where they spent the day with Mr. Matthew Green and the Misses Green.

Mrs. Matthew Harrison and Miss Gladys Harrison, of Springfield, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Harrison over the week-end.

The Lennoxville fire brigade was called out at four-fifteen o'clock this morning for a small fire in the shed of the Town Hall. No serious damage was caused. Fire Chief Samuel Gratham, who has been ill for several months, was on the scene, and under his capable direction what might have been a serious fire was quickly extinguished.

Stanstead College To Be Rebuilt At Once

One outcome of the disaster noted everywhere was the good-naturedness of all those concerned, including parents of students, over personal losses and the losses of the proud Alma Mater. All the humorously sequenced and concerned individuals were recounted, and this went far to bolster the saddened hearts of everyone.

A number of alternative plans for general reconstruction had been under consideration for some time. It is expected the Trustee Board Committee will recommend one of these programmes with certain changes to suit the present circumstances.

The regular Convocation Week programme, which is going ahead as scheduled, begins Friday evening with the senior recital followed by the junior recital the following afternoon. The Baccalaureate service will be held in Centenary United Church at 10.30 Sunday morning, and a radio broadcast will be made at that time of the ceremony. The final feature of the annual spring exercises will be the Convocation itself next Tuesday afternoon.

Those trustees present at the meeting, which lasted from 2.30 to 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the campus, were the chairman, D. W. Davis, Derby Line; A. L. Fuller, Rock Island; Dr. D. M. Marvin, Montreal; Dr. C. W. Colby, Montreal; H. Gordon Hanson, Montreal; Rev. T. Tyson, Beebe; Rev. A. Johnston, Coaticook; Rev. George Harrington, Stanstead; George Ames, Derby Line; Rev. H. A. Carson, Rock Island; N. Robert Mitchell, Gray; Clinton E. Soles, Sherbrooke; Dr. E. S. Ball, Rock Island; John Holland, Rock Island; J. D. Ferguson, Stanstead; Col. B. B. Morrill, Stanstead; John Converse, Rock Island; P. A. Cumyn, Treasurer, Montreal; Dr. J. H. Philip, Stanstead; A. E. Curtis, Stanstead; Raymond D. Wood, Sherbrooke; and Principal Errol C. Amarant, Stanstead.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY FINDS WINDSORS OUT OF LIMELIGHT

London, May 31.—The privacy and obscurity which the former King Edward VIII of England once said he craved, have come to him and to his American-born Duchess as they prepare to celebrate, on June 3, the first anniversary of their historic marriage.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor seldom make the headlines on the first pages of the press today. Their every move is no longer chronicled. Photographers do not fight to make snapshots of them. And, as for Great Britain, whose idol the Duke once was, it almost seems to have forgotten his very existence.

The unemployment problem the growing popularity of King George VI, the tense European situation, high income taxes, and an enormous rearmament problem have made the Windsors "small beer." When they take up a new residence, the not very momentous fact is printed in a small paragraph somewhere on the inside pages of the papers. And that is that.

Visits German Housing
It is all very different from the hulloaloo in the early months of their married life. Crowds gathered when they were married in France. There was the mob of enthusiastic Austrians when they chose Baron Eugene Rothschild's Enzelsfeld chateau for the honeymoon. Then came a short trip to Venice, where the ducal gondola was followed around the historic canals by a regular fleet of gondolas filled with sight-seers.

Back once more in Austria, they had a period of comparative quiet. Then again came the headlines. For it was announced the Duke of Windsor, intensely interested in housing questions, was going to make a visit of inquiry to Germany. The Nazis promptly made out of him one of the biggest propaganda tools they had had for a long time. They showed him what they wanted him to see in Berlin, Essen, Dresden, Leipzig, Dusseldorf, Bochum, Stuttgart, Munich and Nuremberg. They showed him part of the Krupp works in Essen, but not too much. They took him down a coal mine and let him get his face sooty. General Goering gave the Duke and Duchess tea. Hitler at Berchtesgaden gave him a half hour of private talk. Incidentally, the Duke saw a few housing settlements.

Now it was announced that, still further studying the housing question, the Duke and Duchess would come to the United States in November, 1937, for a stay of two or three months. It was announced President Roosevelt would entertain the Windsors at the White House. Wealthy socialites all over the country began laying plans to capture the Windsors as their own guests.

The Windsors' friend, Charles Bedaux, came to America to make the arrangements for the trip. Then things broke wide open. A labor leader started it by criticizing the visit, especially as it was being arranged by Bedaux, inventor of a speeding up system which organized labor hates. And the finish came when it was announced the Windsors would sail on the German ship Bremen on November 6, instead of the French liner Normandie.

Calls Off Trip to U.S.
A lively storm of criticism blew up. Up to the last minute it was not known whether the Windsors would stick to the programme or abandon it. Finally, on the very day before they were due to sail, Armistice Day Services in St. George's Church. A remark attributed to the Canon of the diocese caused him to remain away.

Since then, he has quietly lived in a rented house in Versailles and now he and the Duchess are planning to live for the better part of the next three years in a villa at Cap d'Antibes in the French Riviera.

Newspaper readers throughout the world eagerly viewed the above picture and others taken immediately after the historic wedding of the Duke of Windsor and the former Mrs. Ernest Simpson, of Baltimore, Md. But it was little more than a routine assignment for the cameraman who, nearly a year later, took the photo below showing the now comparatively obscure Duke and Duchess passing through a Paris railroad station on their return from a brief holiday.

GAY FLOWERS DECK FROCKS FOR SUMMER

Summer time is flower time and everything women wear seems to have burst into bloom, which is one reason why designers have worked overtime trying to think up motifs which are either flora or fauna, if you get what I mean. Just to list a few, there are:

Adam period furniture prints. These motifs are borrowed from furniture designed by the Adam Brothers and popularized from 1760 to 1800. They make smart bayadere stripes, their designs decorative and reflecting a phase of furniture design that is borrowed from the classic. Another idea is using antique furniture prints in allover patterning.

Flowers Trim Hats

As for flower-trimmed hats, never in the history of the oldest style scouts have so many flower-trimmed and all-flower hats been seen. New York women have never been overly fond of them. They have seemed to be favorites elsewhere, but now it's Miss and Mrs. Manhattan who are loaded down with flowers in all the colors of a country garden or the more conservative white.

But there are birds and wings, too, and surprising at this season, ostrich trimming in the Easter Parade was one of the most significant observations of the day. Last summer there were a limited few straws that came over for summer, with ostrich feather trimming, and they register now, in reminiscence, as mainly an idea rather than a reality in style, since little or nothing was done about it.

Lace print, provided the lace design is broken up into squares, is effective on the crepe dress of spectator sports type.

Stripes Are Good
Bayadere prints in great variety are scoring—tapestry-like grouping of figures on cross stripes, whole fields of flowers in banded arrangements, small figure prints such as primitive Egyptian motifs.

TIPS FOR CHILD'S ROOM

Washable walls, hung with some of the new washable wallpapers, simple painted furniture with beveled edges, rugs that are easily laundered and sipeovers and spreads of sturdy, washable fabrics are suitable for a young child's room. Chose cheerful colors, subdued enough not to be irritating or tiresome. If possible, have an expert arrange the lighting. Avoid unnecessary gadgets or furniture. Be sure that there is plenty of storage room for toys.

REMOVE THE MASK OF BLEMISHES
Help reveal your true loveliness. Start using mildly medicated CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

If soup is too salty, add a few slices of a raw potato to absorb the extra salt.

Chapter One
Nobody knew where Jim Lane

was. Around the California airport wild excitement and a staccato confusion surged the air. At three o'clock Lane would take off for the East in an attempt to break the transcontinental record. Mechanics were making a final checking of fuselages, exhausts and instruments. Crowds of bystanders kept up a continual chatter of speculative conversation. One major question was on everybody's lips: where was Jim Lane?

The famous long distance flier, holder of several records and a tremendous favorite with the general public, had vanished from sight. Placed under contract by the owner of the Drake Bullet, a new plane with a motor entailing half a million dollars in research, Lane was particularly in the spotlight on the eve of the race. Would he set a new cross-country record? Would the new motor revolutionize standards of air travel?

Gunner Sloane, Lane's mechanic, was giving the Bullet's motor its final workout, while the owner stood fidgeting on the ground. Every thirty seconds he pulled out his watch, then glanced over at the hangar. It was already five minutes to two, and the race had to start promptly at three o'clock.

Gunner Sloane swung himself out of the cockpit and turned to face the nervous Drake. "She's made to order, Mr. Drake," he commented drily. "That's all right," answered Drake. "I know she's good. I want this record. Now, where's Lane?" "He's sleeping," replied Gunner. "Sleeping! But the race starts in an hour! You've got to get him here right away!"

"Yes, sir," responded the mechanic. "Hurry up!" implored the owner, as Gunner, with a salute, started off at a brisk pace.

"If you don't both march out, I'll throw you out!" Gunner said.

In ten minutes he had reached the lodging house where he and Lane, pals for ten years, shared inexpensive rooms.

Weather report in hand, Gunner stopped at the door and listened for a moment. Softly he opened it and tiptoed in. The living room was small and cheaply furnished. The mechanic closed the door behind him and paused for a few seconds. Then, seeing that the bedroom door stood open, he walked across the room silently.

He reached out to close it, but suddenly he stopped short, his face filled with consternation at what he saw. There, on the bed, was a girl, fully clothed, asleep! Jim Lane was nowhere to be seen!

Angrily, Gunner shook the girl. She awoke with a start, staring wildly. "Where's Lane?" Gunner demanded savagely.

The girl sat up. "Yeah, where? I had a date with him at ten o'clock, and you're asking me where?" "Who are you? Where'd you see him?"

"My name is Sarah and I'm telling you I haven't seen him!" She got out of bed, and crossed to the washstand.

"How long have you been here?" Gunner snapped, following her. "Since nine."

"When'd you fall asleep?" he demanded, as she began to straighten her hair.

"I don't know. What difference does it make?" "Because he started home here three hours ago, and I want to know if he's been here!" Gunner shouted. "It's after two now."

Sarah yawned. "Well, I was awake at one, I know that." "Then he hasn't been here."

Gunner reached for the 'phone and frantically started to dial a number.

"Who are you?" Sarah asked. "The guy he calls Gunner?"

"Yeah," Gunner turned to the 'phone. It was a beer place he was calling, but the owner not only did not know of Jim's whereabouts; he complained to Gunner that Lane owed him money. Gunner was disgusted as he hung up the receiver. He sat thinking for a moment, frowning sullenly.

"He leaves in less than an hour to break a transcontinental record," he muttered. "I'm telling you, you can't let him out of your sight!"

"What are you telling me for?" parried Sarah. "I'm blind by seeing so much of him."

She picked up her handbag, took out a cigarette and started to light it. Suddenly she turned. "Say," she said, "you don't think anything happened to him do you? . . . Might have been an accident!"

Gunner started to answer, but the sound of a door opening and a blur of voices from the next room stopped him. He rose.

"Yeah, an accident!" he burst out.

"Another dame, that's what it is!" Quickly Gunner crossed the room, opened a bureau drawer and took out a bottle. He grabbed an old jumper and wrapped the bottle in it, sliding it all under the bureau. At that moment, Jim Lane came into the room, accompanied by a flashy blonde companion.

Jim was in a state of high spirits that plainly indicated he had been making "the rounds."

"Hello, Gunner, old boy!" he called. "Look what I rescued. She was dying of thirst, she said." Then he saw Sarah. "Hello, pal, everything all right with you?"

He looked at her for a moment. "Say, what's your name?" "Sarah," the girl replied petulantly.

Jim turned to the bit of feminine ballast hanging on his arm. "What's yours?" he inquired.

It was the blonde's turn to be angry. "Mabel," she snapped. "Jim, is there a bit?" "Mabel, eh? Well Mabel, this is Sarah, and this is Gunner, and this is all a very unexpected pleasure and I'm glad to know you all!" He bowed in all directions.

Gunner's mouth was set in a grim line. "Do you know what time it is?" he demanded.

"Yeah," Jim responded gaily. "Time to go to bed. You told me that two hours ago. Say, what do you want to keep repeating yourself for?"

Gunner turned to the girls. "Come on, blow it," he ordered. Roughly, he started hurrying them to the door. Both resisted, and Sarah came to a dead halt. "Get her out first. I won't go out with that jigger," she sneered, pointing to Mabel.

Mabel was fighting mad. "Who's calling you a jigger?" "Listen, you dames!" Gunner cried. "This guy has got to get some sleep, and if you don't both march out of here, I'll throw you out!"

They marched. Jim had sat down on the edge of the bed, and was grinning. Now he fell back, and in a moment he was sound asleep, snoring.

It was almost three o'clock when Gunner shook Jim gently.

The flier sat up, and stared at his alert monitor.

"Yeah," "Okey. Where are my clothes?" In a moment, realizing he had them on, he took the shoes Gunner held out. "Thanks."

Jim stood up. He was sober now and as wide-awake as if he'd slept all night. He went to the washstand, poured water over his face and combed his tousled hair.

"How'd the motor wind?" he asked. "Twenty-seven hundred and sixty-two," Gunner nodded. "How's the weather?"

"Forty mile tail wind," Gunner replied, looking at his report.

"How's the weather?" Jim repeated. "Okey, I'll tell you. Seventy mile tail wind at twenty thousand feet. And thunder. . . and blizzard and . . . icebergs!"

Jim wrapped a muffler around his shoulders. "She'll hold," he muttered.

Gunner picked up Jim's suit. "If you crack up, you can blame me," he offered.

Jim smiled. "Sure. Every time I see a crash coming, I know it isn't my fault."

A few minutes later the Gunner and Jim were at the field. Gunner hopped into the plane to warm up the motor. Jim adjusted his parachute as owner Drake fussily tried to assist.

Jim, watching Drake, saw that the official was very nervous. "You want that record, don't you?" he asked with a smile.

"Yes, yes, Jim, I do," was the eager response. "We'll get it," Lane assured him, "if we can get her off the ground."

"She is awful heavy, Jim," Drake said. Gunner swung down from the cockpit. "Twenty hundred and sixty gallons," he announced.

"Would make a nice fire on a cold night," Jim remarked, climbing in. He settled himself at the controls.

"Well, good luck, Jim!" Drake called. The yardmen pulled the chocks out from under the wheels. Lane turned and waved good-bye. Gunner shouted something and climbed up the wings. He reached for Jim's safety belt, making sure it was properly fastened.

"If I don't see you again," he muttered. "I'll be too soon."

Jim laughed. "It would be something never to see that ugly map of yours again," he replied.

He turned. The motor whirled. Slowly the plane started, gained speed and just cleared the trees at the border of the field.

BIRDS SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION AT TOMIFOBIA

Robert Elliott, Beebe High School Student, Gave Interesting Address Before Members of the Women's Institute.

Tomifobia, May 31.—The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the hall with eleven members and several guests present. The meeting opened with the Club Women's Creed and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Cox and adopted. The roll call was answered with "An Industry of the Eastern Townships."

It was decided to send a delegate to Macdonald College in June and Mrs. Ward Derick was elected. As it was "Canadian Industry" meeting, the convener, Mrs. W. O. Miller read an interesting paper on "Canadian Footwear." She then introduced Robert Elliott, a Beebe High School student, who gave a splendid talk on birds and their habits, showing pictures he had taken of nests and eggs. Besides his school work he has taken up taxidermy to quite an extent, and his exhibit of mounted birds and small animals was a splendid example of his talent. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered him, along with many good wishes for success in his future work.

It was decided to hold a card party soon and a committee was selected to make arrangements. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ward Derick and Mrs. W. Astbury.

General Notes

Mrs. M. G. Billings and children, Merritt and Marguerite, of Montreal, Mrs. H. H. Bullock and friend, Miss Dennis, of Woodville, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Reed and son, John Patrick, of Newport, Vt., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Read.

After spending the past five months in the village, Mr. Jay Derick left on Wednesday for his home in Vancouver, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Clark motored him to Orleans, Vt., on Tuesday, where he spent the night with his brother, Mr. Max Derick and family.

Mr. R. E. Embury, of Lawrence, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Embury.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leonard, of Hatley, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hatch.

Friends of Miss Margaret O'Leary regret her condition is very serious, her sister, Mrs. F. Kennedy, of Montreal, is staying with her.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holt and family, of Magog, and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyman, of Franklin, N.H., were week-end guests of Mrs. Etta Manning.

Mrs. E. R. Burbank was hostess to a very large number of Ladies Aid members and friends at the first May meeting. The usual routine business was disposed of, with the president, Mrs. George Burgess, in the chair. At the tea hour supper was served. The proceeds, $12.50, were very satisfactory.

Mrs. Eva Hibbard entertained nineteen girls on Monday afternoon, May 23, in honor of her daughter, Shirely's, eighth birthday. The guests arrived after school and were served a hot supper, including ice cream and birthday cake. Games were played and an enjoyable evening spent by the youngsters. Shirely received many gifts. Mrs. Hibbard was assisted by her mother, Mrs. B. J. Hastings.

The card party sponsored by the Women's Institute and held in the hall on Tuesday evening was a decided success. Seven tables of cards and one of games were in play, after which refreshments were served to the players and several guests. Proceeds of the evening were about ten dollars.

LADD'S MILLS

Miss Phyllis Drew, of Montreal, spent a week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Drew.

Mrs. Lillian Howe and Miss Leona Howe, of Hereford, are guests of Mrs. Claude Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaulding, of Rock Island, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Spaulding.

Mr. Henry Snow has been transferred from Windsor Mills to Cowansville.

Mr. William Bishop, Mrs. F. J. Bishop and Miss H. Bishop, were calling on Mrs. A. B. Bailey, Rock Island.

Mr. David Spaulding, of Canaan, Vt., was calling on Mr. A. L. Spaulding.

HUNTINGVILLE ENTERTAINMENT MUCH ENJOYED

Musical Programme Given by Children Under Auspices of Ladies' Aid Proved Very Successful Event.

Huntingville, May 31.—A very successful entertainment was held here under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. Mrs. Austin Scott, of Lennoxville, presented Coronation pictures and Marion Libbey, of Huntingville, had trained the children for a musical programme, and acted as accompanist during the evening. Arthur Henderson, of Ascot, led the community singing. During intermission candy was sold by three of the young girls.

The programme was as follows: piano solo, Lloyd Hunting; vocal solo, "Billy Boy," Audrey McElrea; community singing; vocal duet with guitar accompaniment, Raymore Kerr and Chester Colby, of Sherbrooke; vocal solo, "The Lost Chord," Norma Hunting, accompanied by Ruth Hunting; guitar and piano selection, Wendell Fairbrother and Marion Libbey; vocal solo, "Polly Put the Kettle On," Margaret McElrea; selections by "Kazoo Band," comprising Rosa Hunting, Russell Nutbrown and Gordon Harrison; song, "Bed-Time," by Margaret Dewing, Merle Hunting, Edith Harrison, Uldine Barber, Gloria Nutbrown and Audrey McElrea.

A HOME IMPROVEMENT LOAN

will transform your home

When you borrow your home improve, extend or repair your home you are investing in your own comfort and pride of ownership. A few dollars wisely spent can transform your home, provide modern refinements you have long wished for and make possible repairs and extensions often badly needed.

Home Improvement Loans can be arranged at any branch of The Royal Bank. No security or endorser is required, but borrowers must be able to retire the loan in the stipulated period of time. Repayment is made by monthly instalments, spread over a period of from one to three years. For loans over $1000, the period may be extended to five years.

The Manager of our branch nearest you will be glad to discuss your Home Improvement Loans at any time. Ask for booklet, "Loans for Home Improvements."

WINNIPEG GRAIN PRICES

MADE COMEBACK

Winnipeg, May 31.—Winnipeg May wheat made a smashing comeback today, advancing the five cent allowance limit in opening trades. Short covering and evening up trades, prior to the May future going off the board at the close of the market today, resulted in heavy demand and few sellers.

July and October futures, both on the downgrade for eight days, scored gains of as much as 3 and 2 1/2 cents respectively.

A contributing bullish factor was reports of Italian purchases of Australian wheat at Liverpool. Liverpool displayed a strong undertone.

Since late yesterday the May future has bounded back 12 1/2 cents, virtually eliminating a decline of 12 1/2 cents since May 23.

It has been estimated that there are 12,000 elephants in Kenya colony, East Africa.

GREAT VICTORY IS OBJECTIVE OF DE VALERA

London Press Convinced Eire Premier Hopes to Improve Parliamentary Position on Basis of Recently Signed Agreement.

London, May 31.—(C. P. Havas)—Dissolution of the Irish Dail by Prime Minister Eamon de Valera and his calling of new elections were viewed by the Daily Telegraph (Conservative) today as a move aimed at gaining a sweeping victory with the aid of the new Anglo-Eire accord.

The Irish Prime Minister and William T. Cosgrave, leader of the Gael (United Irish) party, opened the election campaign in County Monaghan over the week-end. Speaking at Clones, Mr. de Valera appealed for support of his policy in order to achieve a United Ireland. Mr. Cosgrave attacked the Prime Minister's administration, charging with responsibility for "ruin and misfortune" suffered by various classes of the Irish people.

Mr. de Valera's brisk decision to dissolve the Dail and proclaim a general election in Eire must be examined in context," the Daily Telegraph said. "It was not so much the single defeat in the Dail as the permanently insured parliamentary position which he perceives as an ideal chance of improving."

"The Anglo-Irish agreement is by far the most popular achievement of his Government and he is fully aware of its value as an electoral asset. It is clear that Eire will go to the polls mainly on the question of Mr. de Valera's personal prestige and his economic achievements."

The dominions office announced Sunday that the defences of Cobh (Queensdown) will be formally transferred from Britain to Eire, July 11th.

"Meetings at the Irish High Commissioner's office between officials of Eire and the United Kingdom were concluded Saturday morning," the statement said.

"As a result of the discussions, arrangements have been agreed upon for the formal transfer of the defences of Cork Harbor (Cobh) on July 11th. An administration conference will be held in Cork on June 8th at which discussions will take place to consider the disposal of certain stores and private or regimental properties not forming part of the port defences proper."

Ottawa, May 31.—(P)—A sharply worded reply to the Quebec submission of the French Language Congress was made before the Rowell Commission yesterday by Oranienburg of Ontario.

Particular protest was levelled at the suggestion Canada was a bilingual country and should be officially recognized as such from coast to coast. The Orange representation also complained against restriction of civil liberties in Quebec, against the "increasing use" of French on Canadian Broadcasting Corporation radio programmes, the Quebec annulment of marriages, separate

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, May 31.—(P)—There were 133 cattle, 1,239 calves, 634 hogs and 56 sheep and lambs for sale on the two Montreal livestock markets today.

Four hundred and twenty-nine cattle were handled at the yards for export to Great Britain to sail from Saint John Thursday June 2 on the Manchester Producer for Birkenhead. One hundred and seventy-nine cattle, plus several cars reported, are to leave Montreal Thursday, June 2, on the Manchester to Commerce for Birkenhead.

Cattle were mostly plain to medium cows of grass and prices for this kind of stock had a much lower trend. Medium good to good veal calves were steady. Other grades were 25 to 50 cents higher. Good veals made $7.75 to $8.50, medium $7 to $7.50. The bulk of the veals were sold in mixed lots at $6. Common light veals sold as low as $5.25. Drinkers were mostly $4.75 to $4.85.

The bulk of the spring lambs were sold at $13 per cwt. Sheep were from $3 to $5.

Hogs were $11 to $11.25 for bacon fed and watered. Selects drew $1 per hog premium, with the usual cut on off grades. Sows were from $8 to $8.50. Hogs sold on rail grade brought $15.

MONTREAL MAN DENIES LINK WITH HITLER

Karl Rudolf Gerhard Takes Issue with Newspaper Stories He Was Negotiating for Purchase of Anticosti Island.

Montreal, May 31.—(P)—Karl Rudolf Gerhard, of Montreal, made it plain to newspapers, Montreal he was not the "personal representative" of Chancellor Hitler mentioned last week in a House of Commons debate on reports German interests were negotiating for the purchase of the Island of Anticosti in the St. Lawrence Gulf.

During the debate Conservative Leader Bennett said: "Hitler's personal representative, a gentleman who at any rate alleges he is, was in this country on Saturday last and in Ottawa on Sunday." Later it was rumored a man named "Dr. Emil Karl Gerhard" was in Canada on a secret mission from Germany.

Mr. Gerhard, a former instructor at the University of Western Ontario, was invited to describe as a "joke" the information given to newspapermen in Ottawa to the effect that a man named "Dr. Emil Karl Gerhard" had been working in Canada in behalf of the German dictator.

But Mr. Gerhard said Sunday night he was anxious to make it clear that he had no association with the "Dr. Emil Karl Gerhard," also described as a former instructor at the Ontario University.

"I was an instructor at the University of Western Ontario," said Mr. Gerhard, "but I am neither a personal representative of Chancellor Hitler, nor an expert for Anticosti (Island) and have nothing to do with any German affair or consulate." Mr. Gerhard also denied "any statements published in last week's newspapers about his association with Chancellor Hitler."

"I am not a doctor or a professor, nor have I any connection whatsoever with any Dr. Emil Gerhard. I am a Canadian citizen and have lived in Canada for the past eight years."

REVEAL DETAILS OF NUFFIELD FACTORY

London, May 31.—(CP-Havas)—Aircraft factories being constructed by Viscount Nuffield at Birmingham will be able to produce 500 modern fighting planes annually, the Daily Mail said yesterday.

The automobile magnate's plans call for production of big combat planes of the latest type equipped with Rolls Royce motors, the newspapers said. It added the factory would be ready to start production in record time and would employ a minimum of 15,000 workers.

The Daily Express predicted that the British air mission returning from the United States and Canada today would report it impossible to count on rapid delivery of a large number of modern planes from the United States.

"COOK" JACKSON AWARDED NEWTON TROPHY

School-Mates Honored Popular S.H.S. Athlete

Seventeen-Year-Old Sherbrooke High School Pupil Presented Cup for Displaying the Best Qualities of Sportsmanship on the Athletic Field, as Exemplified by the Late Reginald Newton.

Merville Jackson, seventeen year old student of the Sherbrooke High School, is today the proud holder of the Newton Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the High School athlete displaying the best qualities of sportsmanship on the athletic field.

While he was a student at the Sherbrooke High School, the late Reg. Newton fostered and developed these ideals of sportsmanship. To perpetuate his memory and to keep alive the standards he had set for others to imitate, the local Omega Alpha Club offered a handsome memorial trophy. First awarded in 1933 to Len Gillingham, the trophy has passed successfully to Ken Jackson, Fred Sinclair and John Ross.

There were five candidates for the coveted trophy when the election was held at the High School yesterday afternoon. These were Donald Barfield, Douglas Heath, Merville Jackson, William Stewart and Edgar Stevens. The election, in which all the male students of the school had a vote, was conducted by C. L. Gagnon, a member of the teaching staff of the school, Robert Kellett, president of Sherbrooke High School Athletic Association, and William Jowett, president of Grade XI (Commercial).

Since the dissolution of the Omega Alpha Club, the local Y's Men's Club has taken over the administration of the trophy under the direction of the original trustees, Lyman Tompkins, Dean Bishop and Willard Humphrey.

This year's winner by a wide margin of votes, Merville "Cook" Jackson, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, of Brimleyville, born June 10, 1920, at Brimleyville, Minn., and educated at Brimleyville, Windsor Mills and Sherbrooke High School. Merville is prominent in all extra-curricular activities.

Besides playing football, basketball and hockey, he is also interested in track, skiing and softball and has been captain of the rugby team in 1937, manager of the senior hockey team in 1938, organizer of the ski meet in 1938, manager of the 1938 track team, editor of the school newspaper "The Dumbell," and editor of "The Dumbell," the school annual.

At the commencement exercises in September, Jackson will be presented with an engraved silver football in the form of a watch-chain, emblematic of winning the Newton Trophy.

AUSTRALIA CLAIMS WONDER HORSE

Sydney, May 31.—(C.P.-Reuters)—Australia has produced another wonder race horse who may rival the famous turf deeds of Phar Lap. He is Ajax, a three year old chestnut colt by Heroic-Medmenham, owned by Messrs. E. L. Railleu, A. W. Thompson and "Mr. Constable."

Ajax was unbeaten during the autumn meetings both in Melbourne and Sydney and has carried his total stake earnings to $18,950 ($75,800). Turf writers hail Ajax as one of the greatest three year olds in Australian racing history. Ajax has never been extended enough for experts to judge what speed the colt is capable of, they say.

Galento vs. Farr may be signed and sealed if ever Mike Jacobs gets Armstrong and Ross off his hands.

FANS STILL SAY ROSS WILL WIN WELTER BATTLE

Fine Form in Workouts and Record Against Top-Notch Fighters Held to Give Chicago Barney Edge Over Armstrong.

New York, May 31.—(AP)—The city having been blinking in unaccustomed sunlight for two whole days, there seemed good reason to believe today that Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong will fight for their welterweight title duel tonight at Madison Square Garden Bowl.

If the weather should intervene again it is about as good a bet as any that Promoter Mike Jacobs will tear out his few remaining hairs and postpone the affair for a couple of months.

Already it has encroached far too close to the Schmeling-Louis date, June 22, for Mike's peace of mind. Despite all the hard luck, tonight's scrap still shaped up as a sure-fire crowd pleaser for all its fifteen rounds. The probability of a knockout is being discounted, as neither of the little battlers ever has listened to the birds.

Ross, due to enter the ring at around 142 pounds to Armstrong's anticipated 134, continued a steady advance to five choice to turn back the negro challenger. In his workouts here of recent days, the popular Jewish champion has convinced some observers that he still is a little too much man for Armstrong. Too many of the featherweights and lightweights whom Armstrong has put away in cold storage during the past two years have been scared by "Hank" even started swarming at them. In Ross he tackles a welterweight who never has been scared of anybody, and who is completely confident.

Floyd Roberts Took Money In Speedway Race

Indianapolis, May 31.—(AP)—Probably will total between $35,000 and $38,000 were being signed and sealed today for delivery to thirty-eight-year old Floyd Roberts, former Sunday School teacher from Van Nuys, Calif., who rode to a record-breaking victory yesterday in the annual 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race.

The payoff will come tonight when the thirty-three drivers who started the contest gather for the annual post-race dinner.

As the roar of eleven racing motors and cheers of upward of 135,000 fans sounded in his ears, Roberts sped down the mile straightaway shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon to get the checkered flag with victory with an average of 117.200 miles an hour.

His record wiped out the old record of 113,500 miles an hour set last year by Wilbur Shaw, of Indianapolis. Shaw finished second yesterday, about five miles behind.

The day's only fatality came when a wheel flew from the car driven by twenty-seven year old Emil Andres, of Chicago, and killed a spectator. The victim was Everett Spence, thirty-three, Terre Haute, Ind., a probation officer, who had been watching the race with nine other persons from a platform built on a truck.

Chet Miller, of Detroit, came in third, Ted Horn, of Los Angeles, fourth, and Chet Gardner, of Long Beach, Calif., fifth. Only the first five drivers completed the 500 miles.

SPORTS FLASHES

What Barney Ross does or doesn't do against Henry Armstrong tonight will depend entirely upon his stamina.

The additional 20,000 seats in Briggs Stadium, Detroit, which increased the seating capacity of the Tigers' home park to 55,000, have not been filled since opening day.

The other day Jackie Lemay turned in a no-hit, no-run game for Catholic Central of Troy, N.Y. The team's regular pitcher had worked the day before so Lemay was brought in from behind the plate to substitute. His catcher on this momentous occasion? Aw, that was Jim Berkery, the team's star pitcher.

Looks like the Yanks are beginning to worry. They're using more sacrifices, stolen bases and pinch-hitters than for a long time.

Good-sized bunch of Henry Armstrong do-me showed up over the week-end. But Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver belter, still likes Barney Ross.

Max Schmeling boosted his training grind to five rounds daily over the week-end. Weighs 195 now.

Harry Tuffley, fourteen year old finger for the Catholic Boys' home team in Minneapolis, has pitched four no-hitters in two seasons. Fanned twenty-one in his last.

PLANS TO STRENGTHEN BALL TEAM

According to Jean-Louis Parent, secretary of the local Provincial Baseball League team, negotiations are being made to secure additional pitching strength as quickly as possible. Parent informed the Record that the names of some new players would likely be announced tomorrow.

Bob Cohen was contacted by wire on Sunday night and signified his willingness to play in Sherbrooke this year. He is expected shortly, along with John Crowley.

"Nippy" Joyce will start in Sorel tonight, Calvert in St. Hyacinthe tomorrow, and Reichel against Drummondville here Thursday night.

HOBES NUDGED "FLYING STAR" FIVE TO FOUR

Winners Overcame Etoile Filante's Lead in Last Two Innings—Paton Drubbed Lennoxville and Textile Took Beatty Brothers.

Charlie Clark's Hoboes edged out a five to four win against Etoile Filante in one of the three attractions on the softball programme at the Parade Grounds last night. In the other games, Textile came from behind to down Beatty Brothers fifteen to thirteen and Paton buried Lennoxville under a twenty-four to seven score.

The Hoboes-Etoile Filante game was a close battle all the way. A Filon and H. Luc were stung by base hits and turned in adequate performances on the mound, while their fielders provided them with satisfactory support.

After two scoreless innings Etoile Filante jumped into a two to nothing lead on runs by E. Belanger and H. Petit, but the Hoboes went one up in the fifth, when, with two away, "Sparky" Mitton, Blouin, Charlie Clark and H. Boisvert hit successive safeties to score three runs.

L. Gervais and F. Emond crossed the plate in the Etoile Filante's half of the sixth inning to put their team one run ahead again but three hits and a base on balls enabled "Annie" Choquette and Maurice Parsons to amble over the pentagon. Etoile Filante failed to score in the half of the last frame and the final score remained five to four.

Line-ups:
Hoboes: Blouin, C. Clark, H. Boisvert, L. Lepage, A. Filon, A. Choquette, M. Parsons, Nadeau, L. Boisvert and F. Mitton.

Etoile Filante: R. Fontaine, P. Martel, L. Gervais, F. Emond, P. Leblond, H. Luc, C. M. Fette, E. Belanger, H. Petit and Bisson.

Score by innings:
Hoboes 000 032 x—5 9 4
Etoile Filante 002 002 0—4 6 1
Batteries: Filon and L. Boisvert; H. Luc and R. Fontaine.

THRILLING RALLY WON FOR TEXTILE

In a first inning outburst featured by Sarto Roy's circuit clout, Beatty Brothers chalked up five runs against Textile. Roy drove Varney and Fortin in ahead of him, while Murray Smith and Whipple scored later in the inning.

The Textile crew came back with seven runs in the second and third innings to assume a short-lived lead, but Beatty Brothers capitalized on a flood of free tickets and bases on balls to ring up six in the third.

With the score standing twelve to seven going into the fifth, the Beatty Brothers team went to pieces and their opponents combed the deliveries of "Slim" Houghton and Doug Gleason for four runs in the fifth and the same number in the sixth, meanwhile holding Beatty Brothers to a single tally in the sixth.

When the game was called in the seventh on account of darkness, the score reverted to fifteen to thirteen, as it had stood at the end of the sixth.

Line-ups:
Textile: L. Roy, F. Humphrey, R. H. Boisvert, R. Baker, Dube, D. Boisvert, Raymond, J. Rhie and Collin.

Beatty Brothers: Varney, Fortin, S. Roy, M. Smith, Whipple, T. Smith, Lacroix, LeHury, Gleason, Fuller and Houghton.

Score by innings:
Textile 048 044—15 4 3
Beatty Brothers 516 100—13 6 6
Batteries: Houghton, Gleason and Fuller; Collin and Humphrey.

PATON SWAMPED LENNOXVILLE

Led by R. Lessard, who poled out three circuit hits, and Emile Yergeau, who added a homer to the total of hits as well as handcuffing the Lennoxville batsmen, the Paton team walked over their opponents twenty-four to seven.

The millmen scored their runs in outbursts in the second, fourth and fifth innings while Lennoxville tallied in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth.

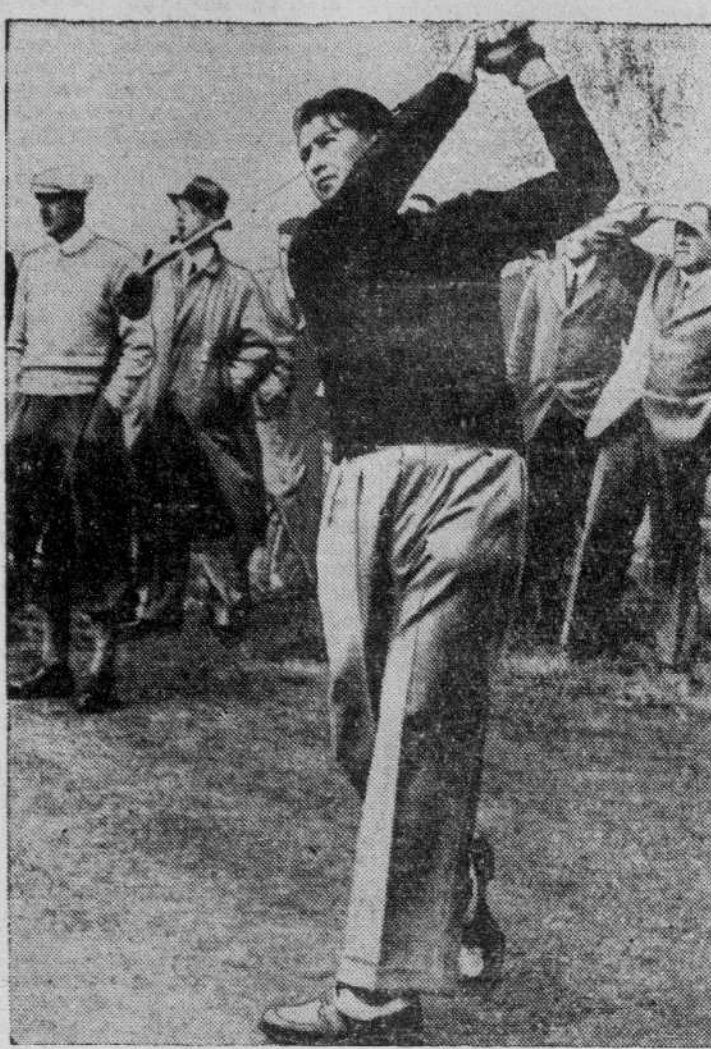

Lacasse and Bickley scored twice for Lennoxville, while every man on the Paton team crossed the plate at least once.

Line-ups:
Paton: Bibeau, Metivier, Yergeau, R. Lessard, C. Jowett, Nadeau, Labonte, Auger, P. Lessard and Fortier.

Lennoxville: McMullen, Povey, Maurice, Bickley, Bozer, Hadlock, Lacasse, Allen, Bellam and Laramee.

Batteries: Yergeau and Auger; Laramee, Bellam and Hadlock.

ENGLAND BANKS ON HIM

James Bruen, eighteen-year-old Irish sensation of British golf is shown during his Walker Cup trial match with Gordon Peters one of the top ranking Scottish golfers. Young Bruen defeated Peters and turned in a total of 282 for four rounds. This was three strokes below Bobby Jones' record in the 1927 championship. His consistently brilliant play has earned him a place on the British Walker cup team.

DIZZY DEAN MAY PITCH TOMORROW

Chicago, May 31.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean's $185,000 right arm, idle now for almost the four weeks stipulated by Dr. John F. Davis, will be examined again today by Chicago Cubs club physician. If he pronounces the pitcher ready for duty, Dean may be started against Boston Bees tomorrow.

Dr. Davis ordered a rest for the arm May 4 after diagnosing the ailment as a slight tear in the fibres of the right deltoid muscle, which forms the cap for the shoulder.

JIMMY POWERS RETIRES TODAY

Halifax, May 31.—(AP)—James W. (Jimmy) Powers, dean of Eastern Canada sports writers, retires from the staff of the Halifax Herald today after fifty-eight years as a working newspaperman.

He was the pioneer in his field in the Maritimes—first sports columnist, first man to keep a box score of a baseball game, first sports editor.

That rucus between Joe Cronin and Jake Powell was merely the renewal of an old feud begun years ago when both were with the Washington Senators.

In Sporting Vein

By Allan Bryce.

Sorel and St. Hyacinthe tossed a batch of monkey wrenches into the works over the week-end, spoiling the initial home stand of Charley Small's Provincial Baseball League outfit and sending the large crowds home disappointed.

In the Sorel-Sherbrooke slugfest no less than twenty-five hits were banged off the deliveries of Johnson, Bertrand, Smith, Buckley and Calvert. Four errors by the local team played a large part in the nine to eight defeat.

Kerrigan, Buckley and Reichel were unable to stem the attack of Jim Irving's "Saints" on Sunday, and once again costly misuses played havoc with Sherbrooke's chances of victory.

However, any team has to get a few bad games out of its system, and there is no reason why the boys can't hit a winning stride again before long.

While on the subject of baseball, some information as to the activities of some of last year's luminaries should be in order.

Bill Mose, slated to graduate from Providence College on June 9th, will don the uniform of the Levis team and Frankie Kitch, garulous shortstop, is playing in Levis at the present time.

Tom Hammond teaches school and coaches the athletic teams at a high school in Rhode Island. Paul Ryan, who dons a hood with Mose next week, will play in the Cape Cod League. Leo Ploski, another June graduate, has not as yet announced his summer plans, while "Doc" Chew is in the employ of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Bob Cohen has been playing bang-up ball in left field for American International College and has hit over 400 in ten college games. Rumor had it that he was signed with a team in New York City, but, according to Roland Dugre, "Belting Bob" will land up in Sherbrooke.

The Stanstead College cagers defeated a squad from Granby High School to the tune of forty-eight to twenty-three in their home gymnasium last week. Although their basketball activities had been concluded two months ago, the collegians hit a surprising stride and walked over the lads from Granby with comparative ease. However, although defeated, the visitors made a creditable showing when one considers the fact that this is the first year basketball has been played at the Granby High School.

D. Aboud, of Stanstead, who rang up thirty-two points, scored nine more points than the whole Granby team. H. Elliott and J. Stohn stood out for the visitors and accounted for thirteen points. Rev. Errol Amaron handled the game.

Capelton goes marching on in the Quebec-Vermont Baseball League, led by Joe Daudelin, Harvey and Trotter. In the Sunday contest with Derby Line the miners came through with the winning run to take a four to three decision. Schoppe, formerly a hurler on Frontiers nine, turned in a smart pitching performance for Derby Line until the eighth, when he weakened and let three runs score.

Island Pond struck a blow for the Stars and Stripes over in Coaticook, downing the homsters four to two, with Pitcher French leading the winners by scoring two runs and hand-cuffing the Coaticook batters.

Capelton still looks good for the league title.

They certainly know how to conduct a track meet in Toronto. The annual competition for all Toronto schools was held in the Queen City on Saturday and the entry list was simply immense.

A scheme is in use in Toronto whereby each school holds preliminary meets, under the supervision of officials, and chooses two representatives for every event who are sent to the big meet.

Public school track events and secondary field events are held in the morning and the procedure is reversed in the afternoon.

The competition was run off with marvellous precision, on Saturday and did not drag at any time.

Toronto Central Tech, winners of the recent McGill Track Meet, cleaned up with a margin of twenty-five points over their nearest rival, Scar-dale College. Parkdale Collegiate was third.

St. Pat's Greens are riding high with two one-sided victories and no losses in the local interschool softball loop. Practically every player on the team is a "natural" at bat, while young Wilcox is a heady twirler.

Sherbrooke High School and St. Pats Whites are sharing second place, while the Y.M.C.A. lads have undisputed possession of the cellar.

PEEVED

Jack Winslett

He's sore because he has been shipped down the river to the Jersey City Giants. His specialty is a home run, but home plate is a long way from the fence in the Jersey's home park and Winslett won't find it so easy to belt one over the barrier. He declares he'll be back in the big leagues anyday now.

Rudy York's two homers and one by Hank Greenberg carried Detroit to a ten to nine decision over St. Louis, but the Browns came right back behind Les Tietje's six-hit flinging to win three to nothing.

The Phils' big rally, aided by Mueller's homer, broke up one tight game and Brooklyn's lifeline of Van Mungo for a pinch hitter did the same trick in the second. Philadelphia won both nine to five and seven to four.

Chicago Cubs gained a full game on the Giants when big Bill Leo, who has allowed only one run in thirty-seven innings, pitched them to a six-hit, three to nothing victory over Cincinnati after the Reds had won the opener seven to three behind Paul Derringer.

Pittsburgh's Pirates went seventeen innings and more than four hours to take the first game from the Red Sox in the second series, winning out on Stu Martin's wild throw to catch Les Handley at third. Curt Davis and snappy fielding stopped them in the second clash, however, and the Cards won nine to six.

MANAGERIAL CHANGE HAS AIDED SYRACUSE

While this business of changing managers in mid-season, like the traditional changing of horses in mid-stream, usually is just a futile gesture to appease the fans who don't like a loser, there are times when it works.

It was a successful move at Baltimore last season and the Orioles got into the playoffs after losing everything but the bat bag during the first month. This year Syracuse Chiefs were in almost the same position but since Jim Bottomley resigned May 19 and was succeeded by Dick Porter, they've been raking in an amazing comeback.

A double victory over Baltimore last night, eight to nothing and five to two, marked another step in the Chiefs' rise. They started from the cellar when Porter took hold. They have won nine games and lost only two of their last eleven. And now they're up in seventh, virtually tied with Baltimore, which has come down from second in the past few days.

Newark's league-leading Bees and the Rochester Red Wings also won both ends of their holiday bills. The result was that Rochester moved into a virtual tie with Buffalo for second place, four games behind the Bees.

Lee Stine and Marius Rosso turned in a pair of four-hit flinging jobs as Newark beat Jersey City seven to nothing and one to nothing. The Bees got only three blows off Hy Vandenberg in the second game but won out when Charley Keller was hit by a pitched ball and came home on Bob Seede's single and an infield out.

At Shreveport seven-hit flinging and a three-run first inning gave Rochester a four to one opening victory over Montreal Royals and the Red Wings went ten innings to take the second game four to three when St. Johnson sent Gillenwater home with a double.

With Herman Fink hurling six-hit ball and Ollie Carnegie hitting a three-run homer Buffalo's Bisons took the opener from Toronto three to one. The Maple Leafs came back to win the nightcap two to one as Mike Meola set the Herd down with four safeties.

ANOTHER STENGEL GAG?
