Creditiste starts procedures for a recount

Adelard Larose, Creditiste candidate in the Sherbrooke riding, is asking for a judicial re-count of ballots cast in the June 25 election and his lawyer is presenting the case to a Superior Court judge today in Sherbrooke.

The lawyer, Bart Durand of Lake Megantic, stated he started procedures yesterday and said the results of a judicial re-count could end with Mr. Larose having the majority.

Mr. Durand said a request for a judicial re-count is almost always granted. He stated the judge delegated to officiate at the re-count will ask all candidates to appear in his chamber for the re-count.

All the ballot boxes will be brought to the chamber also. Here, the ballots will be counted again. An election-night count gave Mr. Larose a preliminary victory.

Liberal candidate Paul Gervais trailed by only 71 votes that night, but the margin was cut to 32 votes after a second count.

After the service vote was in, Mr. Gervais gained a majority of 123 votes over Mr. Larose, 15,301 to 15,178.

Suggest family tax in new city hall plan

By DENNIS FINLAY
(Record staff reporter)

A special 'family tax', an increase in business tax and a spirit of community pride were the main ingredients of the plans for a new city hall presented by Mayor Armand Nadeau to council last night.

Although most aldermen were in favor of the idea of taxing each family in Sherbrooke 25 cents a week, or $12 a year, they balked at setting construction dates when faced with the estimated cost of the projected building, $4,500,000.

The aldermen seemed to feel the fiscal situation in Sherbrooke did not allow the construction of a new city hall yet.

The above cost includes construction and furniture, the mayor stated.

The five-year family tax would net the city a total of $250,000 to help defray the costs and increase in business tax, from seven per cent to eight per cent, would contribute $55,000 towards the cause.

He called the plan just a beginning of the solution to the problem of where to get funds to build a new city hall.

However, he stood steadfastly by his idea that people in Sherbrooke, "the metropolis in a vast and proud region," need a new city hall.

When he finished telling council about his plan, aldermen scanned it and then started to wonder out loud where and how they could get $4,500,000.

Bonds were suggested, also a mortgage; none seemed to be better than the other, none seemed to work without causing heavy damage to the city's bank account.

Mayor Nadeau said there are three major reasons why a new city hall had priority over other projects in the city's budget: a new building is needed to increase efficiency in city services to the population; the need for re-location of the police department, affording it more space; and civic pride. The family tax could be paid in two different ways, the mayor said.

One could pay six dollars twice a year or pay $12 in a lump sum.

He described how the city could supply at no charge a 'little bank' on which would be written, "My section of City Hall."

One week, the father could place a quarter in the bank, the mayor suggested, the next week the mother, then the children. This would promote civic spirit and pride at the grass roots level in Sherbrooke children, he stated.

SSJB fiasco disrupts separatists

MONTREAL (CP) — A violent St. Jean Baptiste Day holiday June 24 appears to have shattered temporarily the dream of a united front of Quebec separatist elements.

The first open break came three days after the separatist riot that disrupted the annual parade in Montreal, when Rene Levesque announced that his Quebec sovereignty movement had suspended negotiations on political unity with the province's largest separatist party, the Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale.

Another crack appeared Tuesday when Gilles Giguere—leader of the third major separatist group, the Ralliement National—expressed support for Mr. Levesque's action.

Like Mr. Levesque's Mouvement Souveraineté-Association, he said in an interview, the Ralliement National "does not approve of violence or calls to violence."

Mr. Giguere said he remains convinced of the need for unity among Quebec separatists, but he does not know how or when negotiations can get started again.

There had been tentative arrangements to discuss separatist unification.

CLAIMS 13,000 MEMBERS
The RIN, claiming 13,000 members, is led by Pierre Bourgault, who was among 291 persons arrested near the St. Jean Baptiste parade reviewing stand during a violent clash between separatist sympathizers and police.

He is to appear in court today on charges of disturbing the peace, inciting to riot and taking part in a riot.

The MSA condemnation of violence drew many expressions of support from separatist quarters. The Montreal headquarters of the movement, which is to become a full-fledged political party at a founding convention this fall, said Tuesday it has since signed up nearly 100 new members.

Leading members of the movement have expressed the view that Mr. Levesque will attract even more support as Quebecers become convinced that he will not ally himself with violent elements.

In his statement Thursday, Mr. Levesque said that before the June 24 parade "there was direct incitation to employ violence as a means of political action."

Violence could only divide and weaken the movement, and the MSA was completely opposed to it.

WILL MEET SATURDAY
Directors of the MSA are to meet Saturday to decide on the movement's future relationship with the RIN. At one point in his Thursday press conference, Mr. Levesque said it is inevitable that the MSA will form a political party without the RIN.

Both the RIN and Mr. Giguere's Ralliement, which claims 12,000 members, contested the last provincial election in 1966 but neither elected a member.

Mr. Levesque sits in the provincial house as Independent member for Montreal Laurier. A former Quebec welfare and resources minister prominent in the Quiet Revolution days of the early 1960s, he quit the Liberal party last fall when it rejected his thesis of a sovereign Quebec within a Canadian economic union.

Adding complexity to the picture is an apparent divergence of views within the MSA itself.

Pleads guilty to charges after Bury fracas Mon.

A young Sherbrooke man who escaped from the Cookshire QPP agents during the fracas in Bury on Monday during Dominion Day celebrations pleaded guilty to three charges in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions yesterday afternoon. He gave himself up to Sherbrooke QPP agents at 9 a.m. yesterday morning.

Roger Houle, 22, of 368 King East, Sherbrooke, escaped from the agents after he had been handcuffed because of his belligerence in the face of an attempt by a QPP officer to seize his car.

He faced Judge Redmond Hayes who fined him $50, with 15 days to pay on the charge of obstructing a police officer performing his duty.

He was given a suspended sentence and ordered to post a $200 bond to keep the peace for two years when he pleaded guilty to escaping for legal custody.

He was also given a suspended sentence on a charge of damaging private property, on the condition he reimburses the $35 damage he caused.

The property he damaged was a set of QPP handcuffs he wore when he escaped.

Cookshire agents in Bury arrested him Monday and were about to seize his car when he started to argue with them.

The agents decided to keep him quiet by handcuffing the accused.

A group of men sitting in a nearby hotel rushed out and started to harass and maul the QPP agents who had to fire shots into the air to disperse the mob.

However, as the fracas was going on, young Houle escaped, still handcuffed. When he gave himself up yesterday, he was accompanied by his lawyer, Laurent Dube.

News in brief

Probe shooting

ST. PAUL D'ABBOTSFORD, Que. (CP) — Provincial police are investigating the shooting deaths of a young couple near this community 25 miles east of Montreal.

Police identified the victims as Gerard Menard, 22, and Therese Teasdale, 18. Each had been shot once.

Talks bog down

OTTAWA (CP) — Comment, clarifications and new charges added up to more confusion Tuesday about the prospects for further talks to end the strike paralyzing the great St. Lawrence waterway.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority released its third statement in as many days designed to establish just what happened at a meeting with union negotiators Sunday.

Released?

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam said today it is releasing three more U.S. pilots but did not give their names or say when and where they will be freed.

Once before the North Vietnamese released American flyers captured on missions over the North. It freed three airmen Feb. 16 as a gesture for the Vietnamese lunar new year. In exchange, the United States released three North Vietnamese sailors a month later.

Appeal

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray's British lawyers today began preparing his appeal against Chief Magistrate Frank Milton's ruling that he should be extradited to the United States for trial on a charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Milton Tuesday rejected the argument by Roger Frisby, Ray's British lawyer, that the killing of the Negro civil rights leader was a political crime and therefore not subject to extradition.

Attacks US

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russian Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev today bitterly attacked the United States, describing it as a "disintegrating, degrading society."

He said the U.S. was paying for its sins with the lives of murdered civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

Plane seizure 'kind of party'

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. airliner held two days by the Soviet Union for violating its air space arrived in Japan today with its 214 troops bound for South Vietnam, and one said they "had a kind of a party during the time."

The chartered four-engine jet, which also carried a crew of 17, flew to Yokota, 30 miles west of Tokyo, from Iturup, in the Kurile Islands north of Japan, where Soviet fighter planes forced it to land Monday.

The U.S. Federal Aviation Administration said Soviet air space was violated because the plane crew made a navigational error. The state department apologized, and the Soviet government released the plane with unexpected swiftness.

Especially because the big DC-8 was carrying U.S. troops to Vietnam, some American officials had feared the incident might develop into a long exchange, with China and North Vietnam trying to bring pressure on the Kremlin.

The airliner, owned by Sea-

Diplomatic moves

board World Airlines, was forced down as it headed for a refuelling stop at Yokota, en route to Cam Ranh Bay, in South Vietnam.

There was no immediate indication when its passengers would fly on to Vietnam and whether the same plane would take them the rest of the way.

The soldiers were tired and unshaven but seemed cheerful when they left the plane at Yokota. One reported that one of the Russian MiGs that intercepted them fired two rounds from its cannon.

WORRIED BUT CALM

"I wasn't scared although I was a little worried, especially when they fired those two cannon rounds," said Pte. Dan Bugarsky of Crivitz, Wis.

"There was no panic," he said. "Everybody was calm and cheerful. We sang and had a kind of party during the time. But we were really glad to get to Misawa. I can tell you."

The plane refuelled at Misawa, 300 miles north of Tokyo, after leaving the Kuriles.

Bugarsky said the landing strip at Iturup was so short "that about 200 of us guys had to push the plane to turn it around for takeoff."

Specialist Jim Griffith of Grand Rapids, Mich., on his way to a second tour of duty in South Vietnam, said the passengers were fed bread and cheese, given water and allowed to leave the plane to smoke.

"They made us keep the blinds on the windows of the plane's left side closed, but they let us walk around near the plane," he said.

The DC-8 left from McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash., and was a special model making its maiden flight. But Douglas Aircraft, the manufacturer, said the $10,000,000 plane contained no secret equipment.

Shape of Trudeau's policies begins to form

OTTAWA (CP) — While Prime Minister Trudeau reflects on cabinet changes, the first fruits of his campaign policies are beginning to form.

Transport Minister Hellyer already is interviewing people for a planned "task force" that will travel the country to study housing and other city problems.

The Atlantic Development Board has put together preliminary plans for co-ordination of regional development planning under a single ministry.

Mr. Trudeau is expected to name his new administration including the regional development minister, late this week or early next.

Manpower Minister Marchand and Health Minister MacEachen both have been mentioned as possible choices for the job.

Mr. Marchand has been closely associated with programs for underdeveloped regions in his present portfolio. Mr. MacEachen is an economist and the only cabinet minister from the Atlantic provinces re-elected in the June 25 election.

While the job does not necessarily have to go to an easterner, the department will be largely concerned with the Atlantic provinces and this could be a factor in Mr. Trudeau's selection.

TO WORK IN SUMMER

Whoever is chosen will join Mr. Hellyer in a summer involving more work than relaxation.

Both housing and regional development have been high on Mr. Trudeau's list of priorities and will require a good deal of planning before the 28th Parliament opens, probably in the second week of September.

In the housing study, Mr. Hellyer is planning the unusual course of doing some of the spade work personally.

Mr. Trudeau said during the election campaign that the study would be carried out in collaboration with the provinces, as soon as possible after the election. He promised special legislation to provide new federal aid for the planning and development of urban regions.

Mr. Hellyer has said that he plans to talk with provincial governments, municipalities, unions, lending institutions and social workers to find out why there is a lack of inter-governmental co-operation on housing.

PROMISE NEW POLICY

"When I go back, I will write a new policy on housing, and pull all the strings together," he said in one campaign speech.

Scouts of Troop 80, Derby Line enjoy hiking and camping weekend

DERBY LINE — Up bright and early to leave at seven o'clock, Scouts from Troop 80 enjoyed a delightful weekend in New Hampshire mountains. The boys were Doug Gray, Craig Beards, Steve Day, Brian Davis, Steve Farrow, John and Bobby Kelley, Robert Oviatt, Randy and Bruce Wheeler, Bruce Muir, chaperoned by Peter Earle and Scoutmaster Milton Porter.

The group travelled by bus to a camp ground near Mount

Lafayette in the White Mountains. Then began a hike on a ridge path and, when completed they had hiked in a horse-shoe pattern. Up, up to the top of Mount Lafayette, which is 5,249 feet, climbed the boys. The scenery was beautiful with valleys on both sides, then up Mount Lincoln's 5,108 feet to Little Haystack Mountain, and on to Mount Liberty, which is 4,460 feet.

When at the top of Mount Lafayette, they looked down into valleys and a lake below, which shone like a jewel in a green velvet case. Trees at the top were short and, from Lafayette to Lincoln's peak, they were above the tree line.

They made a short stop at a shelter at Lafayette, where students were in charge. That night they stayed at Spring Shelter on Liberty. From about 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. the boys saw a storm when thunder roared, lightning flashed and the rain poured down, and afterward the sun shone brightly. Later the boys witnessed a beautiful sunset from their lofty height.

After a good night's sleep the boys went down-hill on Sunday morning for some three miles to The Flume, which they explored, then down to where their bus was parked. At the shelter another four lads, also on hike, were resting. The boys also met other people on the paths and friendships were struck up as well as ideas exchanged.

There was wildlife too. They saw deer, rabbits, squirrels looking for handouts, a tame partridge and a raccoon as well.

The lads hiked a total of 13 miles and enjoyed every step and every minute of the pleasant weekend.

She was escorted to a beautiful setting under a gaily-decorated arch, before which was a table laden with attractively-wrapped gifts.

Miss Gage was assisted in opening the gifts by her mother, Mrs. Wesley Gage and her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Belisle.

Says French-speaking Quebecois feel laws restrict liberty

French-speaking citizens of the Province of Quebec, with Latin blood flowing through their veins, feel laws are a restriction of their liberty. Mayor Armand Nadeau said last night during a council discussion of speed demons on Sherbrooke streets.

Alderman Hilaire Beliveau started the ball rolling when he admonished Sherbrooke drivers who use the streets as race tracks.

He called the situation "frightening." Speeders should be arrested, he said, and lose their driver's permit for two years. They should also be fined the same as a person who is guilty of impaired driving. Alderman

Tony Pinard stated, usually a fine of $100 and court costs. Mayor Nadeau threw in his comment about Latin blood as the comic side of a serious discussion.

Mayor Nadeau said that anyone wanting to acquire a permit for a gun must pass rigid tests, and then wait about 10 weeks while his case is studied before his permit is issued.

However, he said, any irresponsible person can go down to the licence bureau and acquire a driver's permit without any more trouble than passing a few simple tests.

He suggested citizens should take down the licence plate number of any car they see speeding through the streets.

Mr. Beliveau told the mayor he knows of a case where someone did call police headquarters and report a speeder.

The police officer on the other end of the line told the person making the complaint, "Well, you know how the drivers are around here."

Aldermen then started comparing Sherbrooke to other major cities. Here, they said, the drivers pay no attention to speed limits.

When a highway sign says 60 mph, drivers push their cars to speeds of 80 and 85 mph.

Aldermen agreed that in other cities, traffic laws were obeyed better than in Sherbrooke.

Alderman Romeo Quintal told council last night the city had made too many declarations and promises too soon concerning the subject of garbage removal.

Renovated methods and better service were promised Sherbrooke citizens and the garbage tax has been doubled in the city but as one alderman put it last night, "The service is less efficient than it was before."

Alderman Hilaire Beliveau explained that council raised the garbage tax before improving garbage removal service.

The operation was committed in reverse, he said. The service should have been improved, then taxes increased.

Alderman Quintal told council of the many complaints he had received about the slack service given over the holiday weekend.

Mr. Quintal is chairman of the Hygiene Committee in Sherbrooke.

Alderman Gerard Berard said special attention should be given to garbage removal in the summer because of the humid weather and the attraction to flies.

Council refused to grant a permit to operate a taxi to a Sherbrooke resident because of a police record he earned in 1966 when he stole a car.

Alderman Everett Nicol was strongly against the man obtaining the permit, as were Aldermen Carl Camirand and Gaston Roy.

At first it was suggested the man would be granted the permit if he had someone to back him up and guarantee any loss.

However, Mr. Roy stated the man was 26 years old when he pleaded guilty to the infraction and he knew what he was doing. He proposed the man be refused the licence.

Aldermen decided to study and do something about the illumination of the Montcalm swimming pool which has only two out of 20 lights operating. Illumination is a problem in all city swimming pools which are served by filtration system, Mr. Roy said. They are closed at 8 p.m. every night.

Mr. Roy fought for the cause of citizens on Vaudreuil Street when it was revealed at council last night the Urbanism Committee had decided to allow the construction of multi-storied buildings on that street.

He argued the residents lived in neat bungalows on that street and large buildings would not enhance their property.

The sector set out by the committee for the construction of the multi-family houses is about 200 feet from the bungalow section, he told council members.

Alderman Tony Pinard agreed with Mr. Roy that the bylaw should be followed and council also approved support for the present bylaw.

Mr. Roy stated the action of supporting the bylaw would save a lot of trouble because the Vaudreuil Street citizens would certainly send in a petition asking that it be followed street and large buildings and not changed.

Legion holds official opening of dining room

SAWYERVILLE — The ceremony for the opening of the newly-renovated dining room and kitchen at the Legion Hall was held on June 19, attended by members of the Senior and Junior Auxiliaries, their husbands and by the Legion members and their wives.

The program opened with O Canada and a verse of Bless the Tie that Binds. The president of the Senior Auxiliary, Mrs. V. Young, welcomed those attending and spoke of the work done by members to make the project possible. She added that she hoped all members of the three branches would enjoy it.

George Rowell, president of the Legion, gave a few remarks and cut the ribbon, after which supper was enjoyed.

Col. Wells Bishop spoke briefly and proposed a toast to the Hut.

Council decided to refuse the request to pay for the $10,000 operation but agreed to finance tracing a single white line down the centre of the runway.

Alderman Everett Nicol was the main advocate of the single white line down the centre of the runway.

He said security to a pilot means landing in the middle of the runway and a white line down the centre was security.

The official request for the 80,000 feet meant marking the runway, taxi area and parking area.

The plan resembled, aldermen stated, that of Kennedy International Airport in New York.

Mr. Nicol chuckled that Sherbrooke Airport was not Kennedy Airport and all the markings were not necessary.

The markings would improve the municipal airport's rating, said Alderman Gaston Roy, who was in favor of, if not of all the proposed work, at least the single line.

If the airport was given a higher rating, to a Class Two rating, traffic would increase, he said.

Alderman Romeo Quintal asked Council when the city would stop investing in the airport and start reaping benefits.

He said the city has invested over $100,000 in the airport, cleans the runway in the winter with its equipment and now the demand for $10,000 irked him.

He stated that Sacair, the private company that operates the municipal airport, rents the airport at a rate of one dollar per year and gets all the income.

Alderman Marcel Savard explained that if Sacair went out of business the city would be faced with the extra expense of running the airport.

Mr. Roy praised Sacair officials, explaining that in the past year and a half, regular flights to Quebec City and Montreal had been established.

Besides, Mr. Savard said, the city allots a grant to Sacair to operate the airport.

Lennoxville Optimist Club invests officers for year

The Lennoxville Optimist Club invested its new officers for the 1967-68 year last night at a dinner held in the Rolling Hills Motel.

After presenting the financial statement of the past year and delivering his final speech as president of the club, president Gerry Frost handed the gavel to president-elect Arnold Price.

Sworn in by past district lieutenant - governor Hartley Graham were first vice-president Ken Herring, sergeant-at-arms Jim Maysenholder, Secretary Fred Graham, and second vice-president Dave Watson.

The club's financial statement for the year 1967-68 showed a net balance of over $1,350 to the good. The bulk of the club's revenue came from their dues, their sponsoring of the Lennoxville Player's production of Iolanthe, and various shows, raffles and donations throughout the year.

Outgoing president Gerry Frost commended the club for its great success and hard work during the past year and cited many projects which had made his term a profitable one for the Optimists.

The payment of fees for youngsters going to the Y's Men's camp and Frontier Lodge, the sponsorship of the Little League "Yankees", the special day at Expo for Maplemount and local children, the annual Tombola and barbecue, the payment of fees for George McComb to attend a speech therapy school, and the Bicycle Safety Week in April were only a few of the many projects which the Optimists could be proud of having been connected with, said Mr. Frost.

Another project of which the Optimists had great reason to be proud was the organization of the annual oratorical contest featuring high schoolers from the district.

Laurels in this program went to Mike Daly of St. Patrick's High School who won the zone championships and placed a close second at the Montreal convention run-off.

The winners of this phase of the contest went to Louisville, Ky., for the international competition, which Gerry Frost attended.

Newly-elected president Arnold Price spoke highly of Mr. Frost stating that it would be difficult at best to follow in his footsteps.

The president-elect also presented his proposed budget for the coming year. The proposed total revenues amounted to $4,400 with the expenditures at the same figure.

During the course of the meeting, two members received Golden Circle Awards. Wesley Nichol and Ed Lynch were presented the certificates for the outstanding work as Optimists.

Bishop's University gets $9,000 grant

QUEBEC — (Staff) — Bishop's University has been awarded a $9,000 grant by the Quebec Education Department it was announced Tuesday.

Grants totalling more than $60,000 for research into aspects of education were awarded by Quebec.

Bishop's was given the grant for a study by Keith J. Dowd on the efficiency of broadcasting programs in preparing rural children for school.

Laval University in Quebec City will receive a $9,750 grant for research into the social origins of Laval students from Antoine Raby, and another

New Rotary president outlines his plans

"I'd like to compare my job here to a business. Now in a business there's usually a shortage of capital. In the Rotary Club you are my capital and with you I will be able to work out a budget."

With these words, Paul Nadeau, newly-elected president of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, fulfilled his first official function in that position at the weekly dinner yesterday by outlining his plans for the club in the coming year.

After introducing the head table to all new members, Mr. Nadeau gave the floor to Director Reg Allatt who requested that at least 35 Rotarians volunteer to help at next Saturday's Rotary-sponsored Pony and Boat Day at the Ayer's Cliff Camp for Crippled Children. Mr. Allatt also mentioned that six more boats were required.

After assuring all members that he would "try to live up to all expectations," president Nadeau stated that the Sherbrooke Rotary club was the smoothest-running service club in the city.

His main battle plan for the coming year, said Mr. Nadeau, would be to increase the effectiveness of the various committees and to swell the club's membership mark to 114.

This latter aim could be achieved, he stated by "publicizing the club's works" to interest new members. Each member should likewise be made conscious of the contribution he is making to the club.

President Nadeau then exhorted program committee chairman Ed Perry to bring more "daring, even controversial speakers in as guests" at the weekly meetings.

An improvement in fellowship must be fostered, as well as an upswing in attendance so that more members would be better aware of what the club was doing.

The constitution committee, said Mr. Nadeau, should review the club constitution to meet the needs of an expanding club.

Regular reports of the committee meetings should be drawn up so all will be better informed of the various Rotary activities.

"We need more money to work with," said president Nadeau. "We must all give greater co-operation to the campaign chairman."

The new chief officer also suggested the forming of two new committees: a consultant committee, made up of retired businessmen to help out local businesses; and a public affairs committee who would make some worthwhile contribution to community life at the city hall level.

The hostesses served refreshments at the close of a delightful evening.

Mrs. Paul Gauvin, Montreal, attended the shower for her daughter.

South Vietnam errors tragic and laughable

Recent reports from Vietnam that the Communists have started using helicopters has prompted alarm about a new escalation of the Southeast Asian war.

One Canadian commentator even went so far as to herald the news as "a most ominous sign" that new kinds of military equipment were getting through to the Viet Cong during the supposed truce period.

And he would have been right except for the fact that the "helicopters" have since turned out to be misread radar blips, with United States authorities admitting that in all probability the American radar operators mistook their own and allied ships for low-flying helicopters.

In ordinary circumstances this might not have been important, but apparently the mistake caused U.S. attacks to be launched which sank an American coast guard cutter and damaged an Australian destroyer with the loss or two men killed, several wounded and five missing — yet another tragic muddle in this accident-prone war.

Another aspect of the false identification is, in contrast, downright laughable.

When the reports started coming in, South Vietnamese claimed not only that the "helicopters" were Russian-made but that no fewer than 12 had been shot down.

However, intense air reconnaissance has failed to spot any wreckage.

Perhaps the reconnaissance should have been directed elsewhere—possibly to those South Vietnamese officials with rose-tinted glasses and vivid imaginations.

Some people fight temptations; others get along with it famously.

Blocking public disorder

The Eastern Townships area is obviously not immune to that kind of public violence we so strongly deplore in Montreal, the United States and other places.

On June 14, a gang of motorcyclists briefly terrorized some residents of Windsor.

Yesterday, in Bury, Quebec Provincial Police officers had to fire their revolvers in the air to disperse a crowd of about 150 people who were attempting to prevent the officers from carrying out routine questioning of a motorist.

Some of the motorcyclists have had their day in court, and more cases are pending. The Bury case is unresolved, and the question still remains: what can be done at the local level about disregard for public order and authority?

Strict police surveillance and appropriate penalties by the courts can help, of course, but the only lasting remedy lies with law-abiding ET residents.

It is not enough for us to cluck our tongues disapprovingly when these incidents, and others like them occur. There must be positive support for duly constituted authority, expressed strongly and often and if necessary, some kind of active measures on the side of public order.

Perhaps it is not always wise to follow the example of the residents of Windsor. Some of them, rather than sit idly by while the motorcycle hoodlums roamed through their town, organized a show of force of their own, resulting in the capture of some of the roughs. There are times when it seems to us the good citizen must do more than simply cheer from the sidelines; when meeting force with force is a necessity, however ill-advised it might be as a general principle of action.

The point is that the average citizen, if he is on the side of the law, must be prepared to do more than simply declare his allegiance. And the trouble often seems to be that too many of us simply aren't willing to do more than that.

There's a great difference between being taken to and taken for, lunch.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 3, 1968 . . .

The city of Quebec was founded by French explorer Samuel de Champlain 360 years ago today—in 1608. It was the first settlement in New France. For a number of years after its founding, Quebec was a trading post, reached only after a perilous voyage. By 1628, it had only 100 inhabitants and only six families who devoted themselves to farming.

1620—The treaty of Ulm assured the neutrality of the Protestant Union.

1909—A fire in Cobalt, Ont., left 2,000 of the 6,000 residents homeless.

First World War—Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Sultan Mohammed V of Turkey and Lord Rhonda, British food controller, died; French troops advanced between Antwerp and Moulins-sur-Toutven;

American and Australian forces engaged in fierce fighting south of the Somme River.

Second World War—Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—the admiralty announced a great convoy recently crossed the Atlantic under shore-to-shore air cover of land- and carrier-based planes; RCAF and RAF planes attacked industrial districts of Cologne and Hamburg; the United States Navy reported nine heavy bombing raids on Japanese-held Kiska Island in the Aleutians; the Canadian prices board announced price ceilings on peaches, plums and pears because of a shortage of fresh fruits and high retail prices.

IT'S TRADITIONAL—The first Kentucky Derby was run at Louisville, Ky., in 1875, and has been held every year since.

Is the new nuclear treaty an olive branch with thorns?

TEN YEARS AGO

HATLEY — Upholding a 50-year-old tradition, citizens of Hatley, yesterday staged another record July 1 celebration commemorating Canada's 91st birthday.

Following the pattern of previous years, celebrations began with a parade, featuring colorful costumes, floats, bands and other attractive entries.

The usual open-air dining room saw a record crowd fed, while visitors and workers enjoyed a band concert.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

BURY — Hundreds of persons from nearby villages and towns thronged into this little Compton County village, yesterday, to watch the annual Dominion Day celebrations which proved to be among the most colorful ever held in this center.

Residents of Bury decorated their homes and offices to add to the splendor of this town that has already achieved recognition for its annual celebrations. Yesterday's slogan: All Roads Lead to Bury on Dominion Day. This was certainly justified as many Canadian and U.S. visitors joined in with Bury residents for the Townships' biggest celebration.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

RANBORO — The Women's Association held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Leslie McCallum with a large attendance of members and visitors.

Mrs. C. Wilder resigned as president and Mrs. George Speck was elected for the coming year. Mrs. William Graham, vice-president; Mrs. L. L. McCallum, secretary and Mrs. Ernest Middlemiss, treasurer, were all re-elected.

The Soviet Union has extended to the United States what appears on the surface to be an olive branch, but it may have some prickly thorns.

Moscow has now said that Washington a possibility of agreement to stop what has been called the mad escalation of nuclear weaponry. The U.S. is jumping at the chance to make some progress in this field.

Progress may be possible, just as it was possible to limit nuclear testing and to achieve a nuclear non-proliferation treaty. There are huge prospective benefits for both sides in a new agreement.

At the same time, the context in which the offer was extended by Moscow suggests a sort of defensive peace offensive with a number of facets and objectives.

PRESSURE ON U.S.

One objective could be to increase pressure on the Americans to make concessions in Vietnam. Another could be to place the U.S., before world opinion, in the role of the main obstacle to secure peace. Yet another could be to divert attention from Eastern Europe, about which Moscow, from its many pronouncements on the subject, seems enormously worried.

The U.S. probably will examine all possibilities while going ahead with the talks, on the theory that the Soviet Union has much to gain in scaling down the astronomical costs of the nuclear weapons race. It may take time and much talk to achieve a new agreement, but if both sides want one, it likely will be considered well worth the effort.

The shoals ahead are clearly visible. The offer of talks on any or all aspects of disarmament.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst
ment was put forward last week by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in a policy review. He blamed the world's troubles on the U.S. and the West and implied advance condemnation of the Americans should efforts at agreement fail.

"Experience shows," said Gromyko, "that without a resolute and constant exposure of the policy that implants militarism, it is impossible to count on the governments of capitalist powers agreeing to the solution of pressing problems, and especially disarmament."

POPULAR APPEAL NOTED

This suggested a certain amount of Kremlin faith in the propaganda value of the proposals, which have an attractive sound to a world living in fear. Gromyko also proposed a "popular movement" in the world to "compel the opponents of disarmament to retreat before the voice of the peoples."

Gromyko told the Soviet parliament that better U.S.-Soviet relations depend on the United States. He pointed to Vietnam as the big obstacle. He inveighed at length against West German "militarism" and Israeli "expansionism."

He also put forward the offer of talks in the context of an eight-year-old Moscow blockbuster proposal for "general and complete disarmament," shrugged off by the West as unworkable and designed for propaganda purposes.

Monday, at the signing of the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, Premier Alexei Kosygin proposed disarmament talks to include limiting nuclear weapons and means of delivery.

CURB NUCLEAR FLIGHTS

Like Gromyko, Kosygin attacked the U.S. on the Vietnam issue. He contended that Vietnam proved the need to eliminate all foreign military bases, and that U.S. accidents had proved the need to restrict flights of nuclear-armed aircraft.

As Gromyko had done, Kosygin assailed Israel and suggested that restrictions on the arms race there could be considered "only subject to the elimination of the consequences of Israeli aggression" and withdrawal of Israel from all Arab territories occupied last year.

Kosygin came up with a detailed omnibus disarmament proposal amalgamating Soviet proposals of the last two decades and adding others, including one to ban underground nuclear testing. That would make prohibition of testing complete. The 1963 agreement bans tests in space, in the air or under the sea. France and China do not subscribe to this.

CANADA MISSED SIGNING

More than 60 countries signed the non-proliferation treaty in Washington, Moscow and London Monday but Canada, one of its strongest backers was not among them. However, Canada is expected to sign in soon.

During the Washington signing ceremony, President Johnson announced the U.S.-Russian agreement to begin talks soon on the limitation of offensive and defensive strategic nuclear weapons including anti-ballistic

Fur farming is a tough business

OTTAWA (CP) — It's too bad chinchilla don't "smell to high heaven," says J. D. W. Clarke, secretary-treasurer of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada.

If the fur-bearing animal smelled like a mink, persons interested only in "get rich quick schemes" might shy away from raising them, he said in an interview.

Chinchilla breeding is tailor-made for promotion because people can make believe they are fur farmers in their basement, he said. They are really getting involved in a high-class fur and have to be specialists to succeed.

There have been a number of complaints, especially in southern Ontario, of persons being fleeced by chinchilla promoters.

In March, the U.S. Federal Trade Commission warned prospective investors:

"It is not commercially feasible to breed or raise chinchilla in homes, basements, garages, closed-in porches, spare buildings and barns. Large profits cannot be made in this manner."

"Breeding chinchilla for profit requires specialized knowledge in the feeding, care and breeding of the animals, much of which must be acquired through actual experience."

HANDLES MARKETING

About 300 pelt producers and 400 prospective ones each year pay $25 for membership in Canada's national association, established in 1947. It looks after the registration and marketing of pelts belonging to members and publishes a monthly periodical.

It has branches across the country and a three-member staff at headquarters in Carleton Place, Ont., 25 miles south west of Ottawa. Branches hold clinics to help new ranchers, and have shows during winter and field days in summer.

A member of the rodent family, the chinchilla resembles a large squirrel with shiny black eyes, long bushy tail, strong back legs and short front legs.

Females have an average two litters a year with two kits per litter.

Native to the Andes of South America, they were first brought to North America in the 1920s and to Canada in 1937.

At one time, chinchilla fur was so popular in the royal courts of Europe that in some places it was unlawful for commoners to wear it.

A good chinchilla pelt has a clear, bluish-grey top, a smooth appearance and no mottling or color contrasts.

The fur has a natural lustre, and is thick and evenly distributed.

A good, clear, dark pelt brings $35 and up. About 100 large pelts go into a full chinchilla coat which sells for approximately $20,000.

Figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show the net average price—sales price, less dressing and selling charges—realized in 1965 for a pelt was $13.17. The net average from 1961 to 1965 was $13.55.

Good-quality breeding animals usually cost the commercial producer $100 to $150 each.

REJECTION EXPLAINED

Chinchilla should be pelted at nine to 12 months of age, depending on rate of birth, for example, with a chinchilla born in the summer, it is better to pelt it before the following spring when it begins to lose its fur.

Members of the association send their pelts to the national office for marketing.

After being examined and found fit, the pelts are tagged and the owner is sent a receipt. If found unsatisfactory, they are returned to the owner with reasons for rejection.

The good pelts are sent in loads of about 2,000 to San Francisco to be prepared for sale. The final point-of-call is the New York Auction Co. where they are sold in lots of similar graded pelts after being graded.

New York sends sale proceeds to Carleton Place where, with the aid of a computer, the Canadian headquarters dispatches a cheque.

Waterloo pack holds cub camp

WATERLOO — (Special) — The first annual cub camp of the First Waterloo Pack was held the weekend of June 22 at Camp Eben Eden, Fessenden Falls, near Fulford. Twenty-seven cubs attended.

On Saturday evening the parents were invited to join the Cubs in a wiener roast. There was a very good turnout, and $14 was collected when the hat was passed around. On Sunday

MILAN — A meeting to reorganize the Lewis Cemeteries Association was held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Scotstown, on June 18. Rev. Ronald Rowat was appointed chairman of the meeting, while Duncan McLeod acted as secretary.

Miscellaneous shower is held

ABBOTSFORD — A miscellaneous shower was given at the Community Hall on June 15 in honor of Miss Penny Fisk, a bride-to-be.

Miss Fisk accompanied her mother, Mrs. Sidney Fisk, to the hall, where she thought a bazaar was being held and on entering, was met at the door and escorted to a decorated chair by Mrs. M. Crossfield, as Mrs. Wm. Edwards played Here Comes the Bride, and Mrs. Malcolm Crossfield pinned a corsage on Miss Fisk.

Two other chairs were decorated for Mrs. Fisk, the bride-elect's mother, and for Mrs. F. Unworth, a cousin of the prospective groom, who assisted Miss Fisk in opening her gifts. The Misses Joan and Dianne Unworth and Karen Thomson assisted in bringing the gifts to be opened.

The hall was decorated with peonies and lupins, given by neighbors and relatives. The bride's table was adorned with flowers and silver and centered by a large bride's cake, made and decorated by her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Rowell.

Have a cool one.

Thanks. make mine an Ambassador with FREE air conditioning.

Buying a car this summer? You might just as well get a cool one... it won't cost you any more. That's if you buy an Ambassador. You see, this year, American Motors decided to make air conditioning standard equipment on the popular-priced Ambassador.

	Ambassador	Ford	Chevrolet	Plymouth
Standard Equip. Air Conditioning?	YES	NO	NO	NO
Extra Cost of Air Conditioning	NIL	$394.	$458.30	$441.15

After all, it's not the first time that American Motors has led the industry.

The other car manufacturers don't quite see it that way.

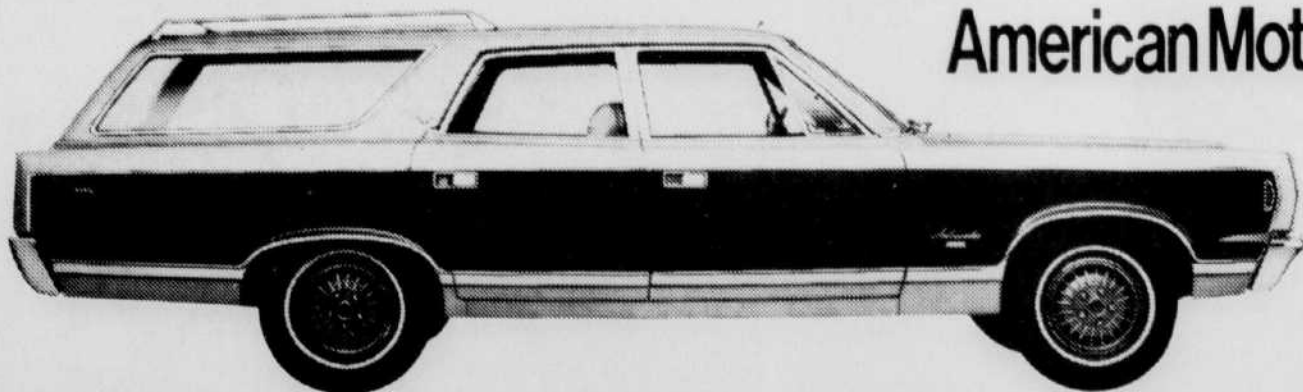

Until such time as they decide to follow American Motors' example, you reap double benefits. Not only will you enjoy the luxurious comfort of Kelvinator air conditioning, free, but when the time comes to trade your Ambassador, it will be worth more. Just because it has air conditioning.

Tonight, take your last hot drive. Head for your nearby American Motors dealer and take an Ambassador out for a long, cool test drive.

When you've done that, answer this question: "Why should I pay more for air conditioning when I can get it free?"

Oh yes, one more thing. Save yourself the trouble of shopping around in the heat. Ambassador by American Motors is the only popular-priced car that comes equipped with air conditioning as standard equipment. The others just sell from air-conditioned showrooms.

Motorcyclist uninjured in hit-and-run

A young motorcyclist suffered minor injuries last night after being struck by a car near 380 King West in an accident which a Sherbrooke police spokesman claims was a hit-and-run.

Jacques Vertu, 19, of 1016 Wellington South collided with a car at about 8:30 p.m. while driving his motor scooter on King Street.

He was taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital but wasn't hospitalized.

Sherbrooke police already possess evidence as to the identity of the driver who fled the scene, they say.

None of the drivers was injured last night at 10 p.m. when three cars bumped at 1186 Belvedere Street in Sherbrooke.

The cars driven by A. Boisclair of RR 1 Sherbrooke, Bob Hunter of 2075 King West, and Michel Charest of 1270 Courcellette Street sustained only slight damage.

Dominion Textile rose to 15, Great Lakes Paper 18 1/2, CIL to 14 1/2, Alcan 24 1/2, Molson B rose to 27 1/2, the "A" to 26 1/2.

Shell Canada Ltd. has broken ground on a new $3,500,000 research and development headquarters near its refinery at Oakville, Ont., West of Toronto. The company said its present research and development activities at Sarnia and Montreal East will be consolidated and expanded at the new centre. Completion is slated for early next year.

CDRH earnings are expected to increase in the future by improved operating performance of all divisions and inclusion of a full year's earnings from the Fortier and Associates group purchased in December last. Net income of $1,242,960 ($1.90 per share) for the year ended April 30, 1968 was 40 per cent above $891,702 for the preceding year and was influenced by claims received on work completed in prior years of $269,762 ($103.512 in 1967), earnings of the Fortier and Associates group for the five months and higher profits from Ruby Foo's due to Expo 67. Gross revenue at $10,053,417 was 24 per cent higher. Income taxes of $535,000 in 1968 were eliminated through prior years' losses. Working capital of $1,189,580 at April 30, 1968 was up $214,696.

Noranda Mines Ltd. has reduced its Canadian copper price to 45 cents a pound from the 51 cent level that had been in effect since increase from 47 1/2 cents a pound Nov. 21, 1967. The reduction, which will probably be followed by other Canadian producers, reflects lower prices on the London market.

Combined earnings of Molson Breweries Ltd. and Anheuser-Busch Inc. on the basis and assumptions outlined in the offer are $1.41 per Molson share to be outstanding. This is equivalent to $1.41 x 1.7 or $2.40 per Anheuser common share as compared with earnings of $2 per annum on Molson shares. Anheuser shareholders who accept the Molson offer will receive approximately $1.22 per annum on the 1.7 Molson shares exchanged for each Anheuser; the current dividend rate on Anheuser common is 68 cents per annum. D. G. Willmot, President, says the Anheuser board is unanimous in recommending acceptance of the offer.

US plane finally released

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five diplomatic moves preceded the release of an American plane held on a Soviet island for more than 48 hours after it was forced to land by MiG fighters while flying troops to Vietnam.

Two of the five moves were informal, but they involved top-level men on both sides. The three others concerned formal diplomatic representation, on a somewhat lower level.

The first report of the incident reached the Pentagon and the state department's operations centres at about 7:30 p.m. EDT Sunday.

State Secretary Dean Rusk and Defence Secretary Clark Clifford were immediately notified. So was Walt W. Rostow, President Johnson's foreign policy adviser.

Half an hour later another message confirmed the incident and gave more details about how the DC-8 commercial aircraft strayed off course and was forced by MiGs to land on Iturup Island in the Pacific Kuriles chain.

Rusk then made the first move: He called Anatole Dobrynin, the Soviet ambassador.

Dobrynin did not know about the incident. Rusk explained that if the plane did violate Soviet air space, it was unintentional and that the United States hoped the plane and the 231 people aboard would be released quickly.

Simultaneously, a message was sent to the U.S. embassy in Moscow instructing Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson to raise the matter with the Soviet foreign minister.

Thompson had a better idea: He knew he would meet Premier Alexei Kosygin at the Kremlin ceremony at which the nuclear non-proliferation treaty was to be signed. The two men spoke shortly before noon, Moscow time—early morning in Washington.

Kosygin knew about the incident. He listened to Thompson telling him what Rusk told Dobrynin Sunday night. The reply was that the case was under investigation.

The next step was more formal. At 7 p.m. Moscow time (11 a.m. here) Vasilij Kuznetsov, first deputy foreign minister, called in Thompson and handed him a note, protesting the violation of Soviet air space by the plane.

Thompson immediately told the Russian that the violation, if there was any, was inadvertent, probably due to a navigational error, and again expressed the hope that the incident would be settled quickly.

Also Monday afternoon the administration was told by the Federal Aviation Administration that a thorough check of all available data showed that the Soviet charge was correct.

The plane in fact strayed off course and flew into Soviet air space. The decision was made to accept the consequences and apologize immediately.

At 8 p.m. EDT Monday, Malcolm Toon, country director for the Soviet Union at the state department, called in Yuri I. Tcherniakov, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy, and gave him a note expressing regret over the violation and repeating the request for release of the plane and the men.

A copy of the note was sent to the embassy in Moscow.

The last step was made in Moscow at mid-morning Moscow time Tuesday when Georgi Kornienko, head of the American section of the Soviet foreign ministry, told Thompson that the plane and the men could go and that orders to this effect already had been transmitted to Soviet military authorities in the Pacific area.

The plane and all 231 passengers and crew left the Soviet island Tuesday at 9:06 p.m. and flew to Japan.

Overruling

MOSCOW (CP) — The Western Big Three called on the Soviet Union today to overrule East Germany's new restrictions on access to West Berlin, but Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said East Germany has a "right to protect its territory."

The envoys of Britain, the United States and France delivered separate protest notes to the Soviet government calling on it "to fulfil its international obligation to assure freedom of access to Berlin."

Rejection

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman returned to the conference table with Ambassador Xuan Thuy today for a new attempt to get North Vietnam to de-escalate the war in Southeast Asia. He faced another rejection.

On the eve of the weekly meeting, the official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan said that North Vietnam is "resolutely and unalterably determined to reject the US demand."

MANY DIE IN WAR

Three wars with Arab countries and Arab commando raids between the wars have claimed the lives of 7,506 Israelis during the last 20 years, the government reported.

Two breweries may re-open

TORONTO (CP) — Officials of the two breweries not involved in the strike-lockout that has stopped major beer supplies in Ontario hope they can be back in business today.

The rush on beer has been so great since the start of the strike-lockout, now in its 13th day, that Formosa Springs Brewery Co. Ltd., 35 miles southwest of Owen Sound, and Doran's Northern Ontario Breweries have been unable to keep up with demand.

Formosa Springs closed Tuesday because it ran out of beer. But Paul Heisz, assistant general manager, said the firm hoped to re-open today.

Customers at the brewery are rationed to one case of 24 bottles for each sale.

Doran's outlet in Timmins, closed last Thursday, is not expected to re-open until Thursday. But J. M. Coulter, company general manager, said the brewery's outlets in Sudbury, Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie, which closed Saturday, would probably re-open today.

"But we may be closed soon after we open. It will depend on the number of visitors from the south," he said.

HAS NO UNION

Doran's contract with the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal, Soft Drink and Distillery Workers of America—the union in dispute over wages with Ontario's other breweries—runs until next April. Formosa Springs is the province's only non-union brewery.

Toronto police say habitual drunks, lacking beer, now are taking to barbiturates. And Windsor customs officials report larger-than-normal beer seizures on the Canada-U.S. border.

The strike-lockout began at midnight June 20 when 320 workers at the Toronto plant of Molson's Breweries (Ontario) Ltd., walked off their jobs following a breakdown in union-brewery negotiations.

The industry replied by locking out 2,700 workers at five Ontario breweries and the Brewers Warehousing Co. Ltd., co-operatively owned by the breweries.

The companies have offered an increase of 95 cents an hour over a three-year agreement, plus improvements in fringe benefits that they value at 15 cents an hour.

The union wants a $125-an-hour increase. Rates had been $2.75 to $3.51 hourly.

But while taverns close down as the beer dries up, no let-up appears imminent in the deadlock.

Mrs. Carson showed patterns of various designs and it was decided to make a crib quilt for sale. The blocks for the inter-branch competition are completed and Mrs. Carson offered to mark these and a quilting is to take place the first part of July.

The evening was spent in packing the Christmas stockings which had been made by Mrs. Margaret Stalker.

Appreciation was expressed for a box of articles donated to the branch by Mrs. Wellsley Stevens.

At the close of the evening 25 stockings were filled to be sent to the Canadian Save the Children fund. The president, Mrs. Hannan, thanked the members for their work in this worthy cause, saying she was gratified that a small branch of 11 members were willing to contribute so much for the welfare of the unfortunate children in other lands.

Mrs. Boreham gave a report of the Richmond County meeting. It was decided that no delegate would attend the annual convention of the Quebec Women's Institute held at Macdonald College.

The Hostess, Mrs. Pief, served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Anyone can cash his aces and kings. Most players can do all right with queens and jacks but it takes a really fine player to make use of an apparently worthless six or seven spot.

As anyone who looks at all the cards can see, South can make six no-trump by two routes. One is to cash his minor suit cards and throw West in with the heart to force his lead of a spade. The other is to duck one spade and wind up squeezing West.

In the actual play South won the first heart with dummy's queen and ran off four diamond tricks. East followed suit while West had to make two discards. West could see that he was going to have to discard two spades sooner or later and decided to do so right away in order to give the impression that he was just getting rid of trash.

South continued by playing three rounds of clubs. East followed with the three, nine and ten and hung on to the seven spot. Then South led a heart to his king and another one back to dummy's ace. East had to discard and let the deuce of spades go.

This would have given South an overtrick if he held both ace and king of spades but was essential against South's actual holding. If East had chucked his little old seven of clubs South would have been able to throw West in with the heart and make his contract in perfect safety.

When the seven of clubs failed to appear South was in a real quandary. Who held it? Finally South worked things out to his own satisfaction. West held it and had carefully blanked his king of spades early in the play. Meanwhile East was holding on to the jack-10-nine of spades. South played his ace of spades and still will hardly believe that West didn't drop the king!

Mansonville H and S group meets with parents to discuss re-zoning

MANSONVILLE—The Home and School Association met in the gymnasium of the Man-sonville Intermediate School on June 19. The intent of the meeting was to acquaint residents of the Mansonville,
South Bolton and Bolton Center areas with matters which are of prime concern to all those interested in the best education for the area children.Albert Korman, president of the Mansonville Home and School, introduced his fellow officers and said that the meeting had been called for the purpose of re-zoning.Mr. Patterson, principal of the end of Grade 6 a year later; a bilingual kindergarten, with transportation supplied by a chance to openly participate in the community of education by becoming thoroughly informed and being consulted before a change is legislated and a saving of taxpayer's money.At the close a question and answer period took place, when anyone might ask a question

Bert Cotterell of the Mt. Orford Golf Club emerged the low gross winner in the Labatt Golf Tournament held Saturday. He posted a 77 to nose out Arnold Baker of the Sherbrooke Country Club and Marcel Dion of East Angus, both of whom finished deadlocked with 79's.

Michel Fortin, also of the host club, was the winner in the net section when he finished with a net 68. A large field competed in the popular event which was sponsored by Georges Lussier, Labatt representative for Magog.

The field was divided into six classes with prizes for the low gross and net winners in each section.

Indians and Twins win in LL, errors costly, games tonight

Errors were the disturbing factor in games played last night in the Sher-Lenn Little League. Red Sox in their 15-3 loss to the Indians came up with seven miscues while Yankees losing 6-2 to the Twins had six errors charged to them. Tonight at the Parade Grounds, Tigers and Indians clash while the Red Sox visit White Sox.

Indians, with Yves Longpre hurling, kept the Red Sox off the score sheet until the last of the sixth inning when the Sox got their three runs. Indians, on three hits in the top of the opening inning, got away to a one-run lead and they added one more in the first part of the third.

Longpre, in the first three, held the Sox batters hitless. An error and a single by D. Halle gave the Indians two more runs in the fourth. It was still no hits for the Sox. Longpre coming up with his third hit started off things for the Indians in the fifth. His mates Choquette and Boudreau also connected and coupled with three Red Sox errors, five runs crossed the plate.

Indians finished off their scoring with six runs in the top of the sixth. In this inning Longpre got his fourth hit in the game. Denault, first man up for the Red Sox in the last of the sixth, came up with the first hit off Longpre. Robert went out, on a fielder's choice, while Denault was forced at second. Caron was walked, also the next batter, filling the bases. D. Roy then lashed out on a triple, driving in three Red Sox runs.

Though the score gave Indians a big lead the game was interesting. The Sox played well but they were missing a few of their regulars.

Twins, taking advantage of five miscues by the Yankees in the first inning, and with singles by Labbe and Gilligan got off to a five-run lead in the top of the opening inning. Yankees, in the third, cut this down getting one run with Hunting and R. Warner hitting.

Twins went scoreless in the third. Yankees got their second run in the fourth on two walks and a single by Hartwell.

This was how it stood going into the sixth when the Twins got one more run with the game finishing with the Twins winners 6-2. Yankee errors in the first were the big factor in their defeat.

Canadian pro golf tour resumes with Millar

GEORGETOWN, Ont. (CP) — The $100,000 Canadian professional golf tour resumes this weekend with the Millar championship—third event on the schedule—set for here Thursday through Saturday.

An 18-hole pro-am tournament starts today, with the professionals shooting for a share of the $4,000 prize money.

The tournament proper, a 54 hole medal-play affair, carries prize money of $6,000. A total of 138 Canadian professionals have entered.

The tour is actually a nine-tournament event, with the 12 Canadian professionals qualifying for berths in the 10th championship—the Canadian pro-tour championship at Woodbridge, Ont., Sept. 13-15.

Canadian winners of the nine previous tournaments qualify automatically for a berth in the $25,000 championship, while the other places will be filled by Canadian professionals who accumulate total points awarded to their standings in the nine previous events.

Amateur Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., won the first event—the Ontario Open in June—and Dick Charnody of the U.S. won the Quebec Open last weekend. Amateurs and foreign players are not eligible for the Millar.

NORMAN IS TOPS
Moe Norman of Gifford, Ont., is the top Canadian professional after the first two tournaments, with $3,000 and 37 points. Alvie Thompson of Toronto is runner-up with $2,795 and 35 points and Jerry Magee of Toronto is third with $1,700 and 19 points.

Magee missed the Quebec Open, after tying Thompson for top money in the Ontario Open, but returns to the tour here this weekend.

The other professionals among the top 12 after the first two events (money won in brackets) are:

Dave Clayton, Toronto, 17 points ($1,255); John Henrick, Montreal, 16 ($300); Bob Breen, Woodbridge, Ont., 15 ($580); Al Balding, Toronto 14.5 ($675); Bill Wakeham, Vancouver, 14.5 ($675); Bob Cox Jr., Vancouver, 13.5 points ($735); Vaughan Trapp, Victoria, 13.5 ($735); Leon DeCaire, Toronto, 13.25 ($581.25); Adrien Dieder, Montreal, 13.5 ($575).

The next stop on the tour is the $6,000 Manitoba Open in Winnipeg July 11-13.

TUESDAY'S STARS

Pitching—Juan Marichal, San Francisco, won his 15th game against three defeats by pitching a five-hitter in the Giants' 5-0 victory over Atlanta Braves.

Als host Miners in crucial tilt tonight, locals may have new left-hander on mound

Sherbrooke's prolific larks, the Alouettes, are again faced with a do or die situation if they hope to regain the lead in the Provincial Baseball League standings when they meet the front-running Telford Miners at the Park Avenue Stadium this evening at 8 p.m.

Miners currently lead the Provincial Baseball League by three games, while Sherbrooke is in second place, one and a half games ahead of Granby. In other league action Drummondville goes against the Indians in the Capital City and Tomorrow night Plessisville is in Sherbrooke, Lachine travels to Drummondville and Telford goes against the Cardinals in Granby. After Thursday night Sherbrooke is on the road for the weekend and Monday evening.

For tonight's all important meeting with the Miners the Als may have a new pitcher in uniform. An American left-hander, Richard Williams, arrived in Sherbrooke last night after spending the past three seasons with Lakeland of the Florida State League. The FSL is Class "A" ball.

Last year Williams' season record was 11-13, pitching 190 innings, allowing 198 hits, 75 runs, 75 walks, 104 strikeouts with an earned run average of 3.46.

In 1966, Williams was 12-9 with an earned run average of 3.14 while in his debut year with Lakeland he allowed only one walk in 113 innings. His mark on the year in '65 was 7-5 with an earned run average of 2.15.

Other gratifying news to local Alouettes supporters is the announcement that Jim Ridley has joined the Als for the season. Ridley previously played only on weekends while during the week he taught school in the United States. Ridley's fine fielding performances and outstanding .578 batting average should help the Als regain first place in the Provincial League standings.

300 average along with seven homes runs.

Alouette management announced yesterday that they are in search of another pitcher to reinforce the present four-man erra with a 5-3 record. Ray Jusino is presently holding a 2-4 mark.

After each home game three stars are chosen from the Alouettes. At the end of the month of June Gilles St. Onge leads in the Alouettes All-Star parade with 13 points, two first stars and a second. The winner of the most points at the end of the season receives a trophy from Dow Brewery for being the most useful player to the team.

Jim Ridley, with only weekend play so far, has accumulated 12 points while Enrique Chaviano has picked up ten. Willie Madison also has 10 points with Pedro Sierra and Edmundo Borrome with five. Felipe has four along with de Leon.

Dick Weiczak has one. Sonny Pace, Ray Jusino, Juan Sabathier and team mentor Nick Testa all have eight points.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Ridley's average heads Als' batters with Erasmo Felipe batting .385 in second place. New acquisition Dick Weiczak is third at .365 with Sonny Pace fourth, batting .322. Gilles St. Onge is in fifth spot with a staff. Sherbrooke has been scouting several available hurlers presently playing American professional ball.

Chaviano leads the Als' pitching staff with a season's mark of 6-1, followed by Pedro Si-

Tigers edge Angels 3-1 to extend lead in AL, Red Sox take A's 4-3

A couple of American League managers have predicted recently that Detroit Tigers are due for a siege of misfortune any day now.

But don't hold your breath. The Tigers are giving anything but an indication of a summer slump.

Willie Horton's first-inning single Tuesday night delivered a pair of runs that helped the Tigers to a 3-1 conquest of California Angels—Detroit's seventh win in eight games.

And Detroit's first-place lead was widened to 8½ games over runner-up Cleveland when the Indians were victimized 6-0 by Minnesota Twins.

Boston Red Sox came from behind to nip Oakland Athletics 4-3 in the only other league game. Rain postponed the New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs at Baltimore games.

Although the Tigers continue to dominate the race for first, a big logjam is developing for the runner-up spot. Only four games separate the Indians from the seventh-place Red Sox.

WINS SIXTH GAME

Tiger right-hander Earl Wilson picked up his sixth victory in 11 decisions but had to pitch out of trouble constantly.

Horton staked him to the early lead after Jim Northrup doubled and Norm Cash walked, then both advanced on a wild pitch.

Rookie Tom Matchick's first homer accounted for Detroit's other run in the seventh.

California's Jim Fregosi ran his hitting streak to 12 games with a solo homer in the eighth, his seventh of the year.

Minnesota's Jim Kaat blanked the Indians despite giving up seven hits. The Twins put it out of doubt in the fourth when Jack Hernandez doubled in two runs and Cesar Tovar and Jim Holt each singled in one.

Ken Harrelson's two-run double in the eighth rescued Boston after the Athletics had taken a 3-2 lead. Dalton Jones, who scored twice, helped out with two singles and a double.

Willie Mays named to NL All-Star for 15th year

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie Mays was named to the all-star team for the 15th consecutive year today as National League manager Red Schoendienst completed his squad for the July 9 game.

Mays, the colorful San Francisco Giants' centre fielder, will be making his 19th appearance in the summer classic, which will be played this year in the Houston Astrodome against the American League All-Stars.

From 1959 through 1962 when two games were played each year, Mays appeared in all eight.

Schoendienst, manager of the defending champion St. Louis Cardinals, went along with the player balloting in adding nine more players.

He chose all eight runners-up at each position and selected rookie catcher John Bench of Cincinnati Reds, who finished third behind starter Jerry Grote of New York Mets and Tom Haller of Los Angeles Dodgers.

PICK 25 MEN

Other picked besides Mays, Grote, Bench and Haller on the 25-man squad were:

First baseman Rusty Staub of Houston Astros, a .311 hitter with 43 runs batted in and four home runs; second baseman Julian Javier, St. Louis, .256; shortstop Gene Alou, Pittsburgh Pirates, .236; third baseman Tony Perez, Cincinnati, .253, 46 RBI and eight homers.

Also outfielders Matty Alou, Pittsburgh, the league leading hitter with a .353 mark, and brother Felipe Alou, Atlanta Braves, .303.

Pitchers already chosen by Schoendienst are San Francisco's Juan Marichal, Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, Bob Gibson and Steve Carlton of the Cardinals, Jerry Koosman and Tom Seaver of the Mets, Woody Fryman of Philadelphia Phillies and Ron Reed of Atlanta.

The starting line-up will have the Giants' Willie McCovey at first, Cincinnati's Tommy Helms at second, Chicago's Don Kessinger at short and Chicago's Ron Santo at third. In the outfield will be the Reds' Pete Rose, Curt Flood of the Cards and Atlanta's Hank Aaron. Grote will catch.

Schoendienst named manager Dave Bristol of Cincinnati and Herman Franks of the Giants as coaches.

Giants blank Braves 5-0, Marichal wins again, Cards down LA 5-3

Juan Marichal apparently has nothing to fear from the rest of the National League in his quest for a 30-game season. It is his injuries he was to worry about.

Marichal, whose greatness has been hampered only by a series of injuries, breezed to his 15th victory against three defeats Tuesday night, pitching a five-hitter as San Francisco Giants defeated Atlanta Braves 5-0.

The triumph gave Marichal a victory over every team in the league, made him the winning pitcher in the majors and placed him at the halfway mark in his effort to become the first 30-game winner since Dizzy Dean in 1934.

In other games, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3, Houston Astros blanked Cincinnati Reds 2-0, Pittsburgh Pirates edged New York Mets 2-1 and Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia Phillies 5-3.

For Marichal, a four-time 20-game winner, this is the earliest he has ever won his 15th. Previously, the earliest he reached this point was July 15, 1966.

But in that season, as in all but one—1963—the 29-year-old right-hander lost some pitching time because of injuries.

HURT HAND, ANKLE

In 1966, Marichal failed to win from July 25 to Aug. 23. During that time he had a car door slam on his right hand and he sprained his left ankle during running exercises.

Last year the Dominican native had 14 victories when, on Aug. 4, he pulled a hamstring muscle while running in the outfield. He pitched only once the rest of the season.

He missed most of the last month of both 1961 and 1962 with foot injuries, and in 1964 he missed a number of starts because of a back ailment.

In 1965, he was suspended for 11 days for hitting Dodger catcher John Roseboro with a bat.

The victory over the Braves Tuesday was his first against them since Sept. 26, 1966. Willie Mays provided most of the support, rapping three straight hits.

Mike Shannon's run-scoring single in the eighth inning snapped a 3-3 tie and sparked the Cardinals past Los Angeles.

Denny Lemaster limited Cincinnati to four hits in bringing his record to 8-7 for Houston.

Pittsburgh edged New York on Bud Harrelson's two-out error in the ninth inning. Donn Clendenon scored from third when Harrelson lost Manny Mota's grounder.

Pitcher Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., doubled in two runs in the eighth inning, then survived a ninth-inning rally by Philadelphia.

There's nothing official, but the ingredients are beginning to stack up for a strike by National Football League players.

Officially, the players are saying nothing. That's through attorney Dan Shulman, counsel for the NFL Players Association.

Unofficially, there are numerous reports of strike talk by the players.

And time is running out. Rookies are scheduled to begin reporting for practice next week and veterans will report later. Reporting dates vary for each club but the exhibition season is less than a month away.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

19-Tempo Key to Backswing

The key to a backswing, the starting point for all golf shots, is correct tempo. Keep it slow and smooth and complete. Don't rush into your downswing.

There is, however, no uniformity to the length of the backswing. It varies with the height of the player and the tempo of his swing. Arnold Palmer has a short backswing because he has a very fast hitting stroke. Can you imagine him looping the club around his neck until it's almost down to his belt—like the long old Bobby Jones swing—with the speed he musters? He would never have anywhere near the necessary control of his club-head.

For contrast, you have Sam Snead, with the slow, smooth, methodical swing. He can take the club back as far as he wants.

I'm more geared, personally, to the Snead school. I work on tempo. The slower the tempo, the more I can take the club back. I guess I approach 180 degrees with the shaft of the club parallel to the ground at the top of the backswing.

In my case, it used to be shorter. I've consciously made an effort to lengthen it because, as you get older, the muscles begin to tighten and restrict you.

That's what's happening to Doug Sanders. He's got that notorious half backswing, about 90 degrees to the ground. I feel he's not playing like he should this spring because his muscles have begun to tighten.

Yours will, too. I don't care how much conditioning you do. If you've started out with a long swing, you have that much more leeway as it starts to shorten up. That doesn't mean you have to be a Don January who brings the club back more than 180 degrees. Technically, he's over swinging. But that's Don. It works for him, and he's a champion. He'd change quickly enough if it didn't work.

After attending Mass at their parish church, the ladies, all wearing their insignia, gathered at the Maurice Hotel, where breakfast was served in the main dining room where each of the small tables was centered with a vase containing a pink rose and fern.

The flower arrangements for the head table, made by a local florist, included a large centerpiece of white mums, pink roses and greenery, also at each end were two pink tapered set in a floral base also in pink and white, the society's adopted colors.

At this table were seated the executive: Chaplain, Canon J. Girard; president, Mrs. H. M. Smith; past president, Mrs. R. Desourdy; first vice-president and organizer of the breakfast, Mrs. J. P. THE DOCTOR SAYS

Treatment of 'Shakes' Subject of Recent Study

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

As a result of the order closing bars and liquor stores in several large cities during recent outbreaks of rioting, a large number of patients were brought to the hospitals in delirium tremens or the shakes. The death rate for such persons in the past has been about 10 per cent. This disease is caused by the withdrawal of alcohol and the sudden lowering of the blood alcohol level. It does not, however, occur in the weekend drunk who is thrown in jail to sober up but rather in the alcoholic who has been on a prolonged bout of heavy drinking and suddenly runs out of both booze and credit.

The treatment of acute delirium tremens has been subjected to much recent study. Although there is still disagreement on some phases of the treatment, there has been a general improvement in the results as a consequence of the new knowledge. The victim at the height of his trouble may want to drink vast amounts of water but, unless fluids are withheld early in the course of his treatment and water pills are given, retention of water in the tissues, and especially in the brain, may occur.

A person with delirium tremens usually has a high fever. Every effort must be made to bring the body temperature down to about 92 degrees. He also has a loss of magnesium from his blood and restoring this element speeds his recovery. Since delirium tremens is brought on by a sudden lowering of the blood alcohol, it has been suggested that giving alcohol would stop the shakes. This, however, is a dangerous procedure because the margin of safety between the amount needed to maintain a steady blood level and the amount causing acute alcohol poisoning is a narrow one.

A much safer and very effective treatment is the giving of paraldehyde combined with chloralhydrate, a barbiturate or the muscle relaxant—succinylcholine. The one other essential in the treatment of this condition is the restoration of proper nutrition. This is accomplished by giving glucose, vitamin B complex and the amino acid—arginine. Some authorities even believe that, if these nutrients are given promptly by vein, it is not necessary to give sedatives or tranquilizers.
