

Apollonauts back on course to earth

HOUSTON (AP) — Three hurried United States astronauts fired a 15-second burst of rocket power Wednesday night and likely broke out of the perilous course that would have left them stranded in space.

Flight director Gerald Griffin said: "It looks good at first look. If the burn turned out as well as it appeared, we will not need another midcourse correction."

Whether the hobbled Apollo 13 spaceship was on a course for a Friday landing in the Pacific Ocean was not known yet. But the voices of its crew, James L.

Lovell, Fred W. Haise and Jack L. Swigert turned somewhat brighter after the turn.

Flight dynamics officers want more time to study the orbit and track the spacecraft by radio. They estimate they will have a good reading on the new flight path sometime between 2 a.m. EST and 4 a.m. EST today.

They are also waiting for the effects of the venting of some helium gas which may or may not alter the orbit even more.

The firing looks good," said Mission Control. The space veteran Lovell, flight commander and world record holder for most hours in space was at the controls. His two rookie crewmates concentrated on the instruments.

The astronauts held the earth in the window and used it as a benchmark to guide by.

"You're looking good," said Mission Control after the burn. "Nice work."

The rocket firing came with Apollo 13 so badly off course that without correction it would miss the earth by 104 miles, its three pilots lost forever.

The burst of power had a braking effect on the Apollo 13, aimed to make its angle to earth more steep.

The burn came at 11:32 p.m. EST, 11 minutes earlier than planned.

At that point Apollo 13 was still some 175,000 miles from earth. Before he took the controls, Lovell told Mission Control: "I hope the guys in the back room have thought this up right."

HAVE EXTRA POWER

Besides the descent engine in the lunar lander, the astronauts also have at their disposal the ascent engine and the small thrusters on both craft used to control position. All could be used for course corrections.

Mission Control said that although the burn looked good, the flight dynamics officer wanted some time to get radio tracking of the Apollo 13 before affirming or denying that the correction had worked.

There is ample time in the flight plan for future course correction attempts.

The hours before the rocket firing were punctuated with trouble. First there was a flashing battery alarm indicating that one of six batteries in the lunar lander was overheating. It turned out to be a false alarm.

Then the other cover-all-clad astronauts complained as Lovell had earlier about the cold. In the power-off command ship which serves as little more than a bedroom at present, it was getting cold.

"I don't know if we'll be able to sleep up there tonight," Swigert reported. "It must be 35 or 40 degrees."

CONFIRM TEMPERATURE

Mission Control said it was getting much the same temperature reading by telemetry in the lunar lander. That might be so, Lovell agreed, "but there are usually two men in there and it doesn't seem so cold."

The command ship was powered-up briefly so that Mission Control could ready by radio the various working systems.

Lovell who had not been able to sleep well because of the cold earlier Wednesday managed to catch some four or five hours of sound sleep before the rocket firing.

"Glad to see you're catching

Declines dual post

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean Cournoyer, Quebec labor and civil service minister, said Wednesday that he would refuse to hold two cabinet portfolios if the Union Nationale is returned to power in the April 29 Quebec general election.

Mr. Cournoyer described his present position as "ridiculous."

Speaking before the Optimist Club in his home riding of Montreal St. Jacques, where he is seeking re-election, Mr. Cournoyer said:

"On the one hand, as civil service minister, I am the employer of 250,000 people, while as labor minister, I must act as mediator between those employees and my other department."

Mr. Cournoyer did not indicate which portfolio he would like to retain.

Journalists want safeguards

OTTAWA (CP) — The Association of Professional Quebec Journalists Wednesday asked the special Senate committee on mass media to support legal safeguards for journalists who obtain information from secret sources.

In a brief to the committee, the association said information obtained by a journalist in return for a pledge not to reveal its source should be inadmissible as evidence before courts and commissions of inquiry.

Journalistic material such as films, tapes, notebooks and files should be exempt from police seizure. Journalists should not be required to testify in court to introduce such material as evidence.

"The use of journalists as auxiliary law-enforcement officers deprives them of public confidence with the result that they, like the police, soon lose some of their sources of information," the brief said.

Reject Sidbec offer

MONTREAL (CP) — The 1,500 workers at the Sidbec steel mill rejected a company wage offer Wednesday and joined 450 employees of the Sidbec plant in Contrecoeur, Que., already on strike.

The Montreal workers, members of the United Steelworkers of America, voted 767 to 59 against the offer by the Quebec-owned company.

The workers at Contrecoeur, about 25 miles northeast of Montreal, went on strike Tuesday and about 250 employees at Sidbec's Toronto plant are scheduled to vote on the offer Friday.

All the union members voted for strike action April 5 but delayed walkouts while they considered the latest company offer.

The company says it has offered an 87-cent-an-hour increase over three years which would bring basic wages to $3.32 an hour for fabricators and $3.35 an hour for other classifications.

A company spokesman said the dispute centres on distribution of pay raises as well as sickness and vacation benefits.

QUEBEC (CP) — Claudette Larocque of Ottawa won the $125,000 first prize Wednesday night in the second monthly drawing of the Quebec lottery, Loto-Quebec.

Ligouri Leblanc of Prement, Que., won the $50,000 second prize and Lionel Aubin of Sherbrooke, Que., had his name drawn for the third prize of $25,000.

Loto-Quebec was established by the Quebec national assembly Dec. 23 following amendment of the Criminal Code to permit provincial governments to operate lotteries.

The first drawing took place March 15, when 160 winners divided $250,000 in prizes.

Winners, not required to be present at the drawing, were chosen from those who bought $2 tickets.

Jean Paul St. Germain, of St. Hyacinthe, Que., and Bernard Brasseur, of Rougemont, Que., were the winners of the two $5,000 prizes Wednesday night.

Townships dairy farmers to protest new milk policy

SHERBROOKE — Some 1,600 Eastern Townships milk farmers will march on Sherbrooke Friday to protest the federal government's multi-pronged milk policy.

The farmers coming from as many as eight surrounding counties are worried that the federal government's insistence in maintaining its recently-implemented policy will ruin the region's milk producers.

At Friday's meeting to be held in the auditorium of the St. Charles seminary U.C.C. (Union Catholique des Cultivateurs) officials will attempt to cool the tempers of the militant milk producers.

In a similar meeting last week in Lennoxville, a group of farmers united under the Quebec Farmer's Association banner made it clear they would not participate in any militant endeavors aimed at jolting the government from its present policy, but instead decided to seek other means of disposing of the excess production many farmers face.

Under the rules of the new federal government milk policy, dairy farmers producing more than their allotted milk quotas are hit with a cutback cancelling the price they are paid for milk by the government.

E.T. farmers feel the government's "no subsidy for over production policy" is dangerous for the economic health of a region where dairy farming plays an important role in rural economy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Wednesday rejected outright Canadian plans for expanded jurisdiction over Arctic waters and called for settlement of the issue by international agreement through the United Nations or elsewhere.

"International law provides no basis for these unilateral extensions," said a state department statement, "and the U.S. can neither accept nor acquiesce in the assertion of such jurisdiction."

The statement was delivered at the regular daily state department news briefing.

"We are concerned that this action by Canada, if not opposed by us, would be taken as a precedent in other parts of the world for other unilateral infringements on the freedom of the seas."

Such action, the statement said, could "severely restrict" merchant shipping and "seriously jeopardize naval mobility." It added that the potential for "serious international disputes and conflicts is obvious."

The U.S. is working through the United Nations for a new treaty on the problems of the high seas, the statement says, and will also attempt to organize in the near future an international conference to establish rules for the Arctic.

WOULD WELCOME TALKS

"We would be pleased if Canada were to join us in organizing such a conference."

The statement is the latest in a series in the growing conflict over proposed Canadian legislation to extend Canadian sovereignty 12 miles out to sea and establish broad controls over pollution up to 100 miles off the shores of the Canadian Arctic mainland and islands.

Canadian Ambassador Marcel Cadieux was called to the state department Tuesday and handed a confidential note. It contained the gist of Wednesday's statement, and informed sources in Ottawa said Canada "firmly but politely" rejected the complaint.

The U.S. maintains it will not recognize the right of any state to establish a territorial sea of more than three miles, as both

Sharp rejects protest

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp made clear Wednesday that the government will reject a American protests over Canadian legislation that would give Canada greater control over offshore waters.

He told reporters that an American diplomatic note on the matter "contained 'nothing fresh' and that the U.S. views were known before the Canadian legislation was drafted."

"We would not have brought in the legislation unless we were determined to proceed," he said.

Earlier, in the Commons, Mr. Sharp said he was "denying categorically" that the U.S. threatened economic sanctions against Canada if the legislation was not enacted.

The reply was being drafted Wednesday and was expected to be considered by cabinet today.

Mr. Sharp told reporters that there is a "difference of view" between Canada and the United States on the legislation that would give Canada a 12-mile territorial limit, along with a 100-mile-wide pollution control zone in the Arctic.

He said the government believes the Canadian action represents "a useful lead" toward world law on the control of pollution at sea. But he realized that the law of the seas is a "matter of very great importance to the United States."

"The United States takes a very firm view, and it always has, on the law of the sea."

While he would not give details on the Canadian reply, he said it would take the position that Canada is justified in proceeding with its legislation.

Election nominations at record high

By RUSS PEDEN

QUEBEC (CP) — A record 470 candidates, including nine women and a couple of poets, filed nomination papers under a variety of political labels, but will appear on the ballot as independents or without any political designation.

Three of the five recognized parties fielded candidates in all 108 ridings—the governing Union Nationale, the Liberals and the separatist Parti Quebecois.

The other two parties whose names will appear on the ballot paper, because they fulfilled the condition of entering at least 10 representatives, are the provincial Creditistes with 98 candidates and the New Democratic Party with 14.

The other 34 entries filed nomination papers under a variety of political labels, but will appear on the ballot as independents or without any political designation.

The total of 470 candidates surpassed the previous record of 419 entries in the June 5, 1966, provincial election when Quebecers elected 56 Union Nationale members, 50 Liberals and two independents.

At dissolution of the legislature last month there were 55 Union Nationale, 44 Liberals, six independents and three vacancies.

More than 3,500,000 Quebecers will be eligible to vote April 29 compared with 3,191,000 in 1966. This will be the first provincial election since the voting age was lowered to 18 from 21.

The 34 non-party candidates will all be shown as independents

Emphasizes English voice

KNOWLTON — "English-speaking Quebecers must have a strong voice in our provincial government after Premier Bertrand is returned to power April 29," said Peter White.

Mr. White, 31, a bilingual lawyer and president of the Sherbrooke Record, is contesting Brome for the National Union in the upcoming election.

"The legitimate rights of English-speaking Quebecers must be strongly upheld and defended, and only a vigorous English voice in the governing party can be effective," he said recently.

except for Raoul Gendron in Hull constituency, who asked that his name appear without any designation.

The total includes 21 listed as independents, five who entered as independent Liberals, three independent Creditistes, one independent Union Nationale, one independent Parti Quebecois—and the two poets.

Serge Lemoyne filed nomination papers in Bagot, the riding represented in the last house by Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal, as a member of the Parti Poetique Politique pour l'Avenement de la Paix—the Poetic Political Party for the Advent of Peace.

In Montreal St. Jacques, Michel Boujold entered the race as a member of the Parti Peau Ethique—a play on words since Peau Ethique, which translates as "ethical skin," is pronounced the same way as the word poetique.

The coming election will be the first provincial contest for three of the recognized parties — the Parti Quebecois, the Creditistes and the NDP.

HAD NO WINNERS

In 1966, two separatist parties — the Rassemblement pour l'Independence Nationale and the Rassemblement National — fielded a total of 163 candidates but neither had a member elected.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Wear Rubber Gloves Cleaning Home Aquarium

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Fascination with a variety of small tropical fish has brought aquariums into thousands of homes. That they could cause any health hazard was hardly considered until a recent study was reported in California. Doctors there were seeing increasing numbers of skin infections in persons who remembered having had a small abrasion on the hands before cleaning the fish tank or otherwise dipping the hands into the tank.

This break in the skin afforded the causative organism, Mycobacterium marinum, a perfect opportunity to gain a foothold. This organism is closely related to the one that causes tuberculosis. When treated with antituberculous drugs, the patients all improved but the recovery was slow. Lovers of tropical fish need not get rid of their pets. They should, however, wear rubber gloves when immersing their hands in the tank.

Q—My doctor says I have porphyria. What causes it? Is it contagious? Can it be cured?

A—Although in most cases the cause is unknown in some persons the cause is heavy drinking, an excessive intake of iron or long-continued taking of anticonvulsant drugs. Heredity and fasting may also play a role. The disease is not catching.

In this disease the liver produces an excess of porphyrin, a purple pigment necessary to the formation of hemoglobin. The disease is manifested by severe abdominal cramps, constipation and weakness. The urine, which may appear normal when first passed, turns a burgundy red on exposure to sunlight. The victim is helped by avoiding alcohol, barbiturates, diethylstilbestrol, griseofulvin, meprobamate, chloriazepoxide and exposure to the sun. Withdrawing a pint of blood every two weeks until the hemoglobin and urine return to normal relieves the patient's symptoms. In some women, taking contraceptive pills for two years has resulted in a cure.

Q—I've been taking Persantine for angina pectoris. What does it do?

A—This is a brand of dipyridamole. It reduces the frequency of anginal attacks and the need for nitrates.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Stanstead Municipal Council reports good year in 1969

STANSTEAD — "We had a very good year in 1969," said Mayor E. J. Struthers, of the Municipality of Stanstead, at the April 6 Council meeting held in the Court room of the County Building, after he and the councillors had reviewed the financial statement of the auditor, Gilles Landry.

During the year the Municipality purchased a new truck, tractor and a garage. There is an indebtedness of $49,000. It cost $9,392.68 for general administration of the Municipality, with fire protection costing $2,780.51, and police protection, $7,324.65; street lighting was $4,049.49.

We had lots of snow in 1969, but costs for maintenance of roads and streets was $13,121.86. There are of course considerable more expenses to operate the Municipality. The Municipality's fixed assets totals over $230,790.

Joseph Mabeux, Lawrence Winter and Henry Doyon have been hired as Municipal Valuers. They will start their work soon so that it will be completed by June 10.

Councillor Howard Majury will chair the preparation of the budget for the year, which will be brought in at the May meeting.

Mr. Struthers announced a tri-town meeting will be held in Beebe some time about April 20.

Interesting talk on education given at Fordyce W.I. meeting

FORDYCE — The regular meeting of the Fordyce W.I. was held in Cowansville on April 1 at the home of Miss Norma Cummings with Mrs. Irene Williams as co-hostess.

The roll call name an Educational TV program, was answered by the handing in of talent money. Fourteen members and three visitors were present. The semi-annual convention will be held in Cowansville on May 13 with Fordyce W.I. as hostess. Thank you notes were read from several members. A wedding is to be catered to in August. Pennies for Friendship were collected.

Reports of Conveners were given as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. A. Bromby read an article entitled, How can a Woodchuck dig a hole and leave so little dirt on top?; citizenship, Miss Cummings read The Ten Commandments of Human Nature; home economics; in the absence of Mrs. Longeway, Mrs. Bromby read Tips Worth Considering; welfare and health, Mrs. Dougal, Health Board Insurance forms to be sent out; publicity, Mrs. Bell, from Asia with Love, an article regarding treatment of Indians and Eskimos in Canada and for A.C.W.W., Mrs. David read W.I. strong Community Force.

The program was on education and Mrs. Mason introduced Mr. Kirwin of the Massey Vanier High School, who spoke on the different committees and councils and how they work with the teachers and pupils. When the school opened, it was not completed and work was difficult but things are shaping up and another year should run more smoothly. He was thanked by Mrs. Irene Williams. The drawing was won by Mr. Kirwin.

The meeting closed with the singing of School Days and a salad lunch was served by the hostesses.

Kierans flayed by NDP leader Lewis for postal fiasco

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Eric Kierans and other cabinet members acted "meanly and stupidly" in their handling of the post office dispute in Montreal, David Lewis NDP-York South said in the Commons Wednesday.

Drivers fail to apply

MONTREAL (CP) — No G. Lapalme Inc. drivers showed up by the midnight deadline Wednesday to accept post office job offers.

A post office spokesman told reporters:

"I heard through the wire (grapevine) that some Lapalme drivers had decided to accept employment, but I have no confirmation on this."

There were scattered incidents of violence Wednesday, including gunshots fired toward two security agency guards. They were not injured in the shooting, outside a downtown post office as they waited to escort private mail trucks.

Under the terms of the federal deadline, if Lapalme drivers did not accept Ottawa's offer, the post office would begin hiring others.

Avalanche kills 68 in France

ST. GERVAIS, France (Reuters) — Sixty-eight persons—nearly all of them children—were missing today after an avalanche engulfed three buildings of a tuberculosis sanatorium outside this French Alpine centre, police said.

Police said six injured persons had been pulled out of the wreckage of the three buildings, which were hit by the roaring snow shortly after midnight.

No immediate death toll was immediately available, but police said earlier that they feared that many of those inside the building had been killed. Two of the buildings contained about 60 tubercular children.

The avalanche crashed down shortly after midnight as 60 children were sleeping in two annexes of a Sanatorium called Rodfiz for tubercular patients.

Another building, containing about 10 medical staff, was also hit, police said.

Rescue workers with mountain dogs raced to the three buildings on the plateau outside this Alpine centre near the Swiss and Italian borders.

The cries of people trapped in the snow echoed through the icy night as police, firemen, mountain rescue experts and volunteers dug into the snow.

Police said early today that some bodies had been pulled out of the mass of snow.

Mr. Lewis, a labor lawyer, said Mr. Kierans had been advised of a simple solution to the strife that has tied up mail in Montreal.

In dividing the contracts for Montreal mail delivery into four rather than one single pact, all the government had to do was to make it a condition of the tender that all of the employees remain in a single bargaining unit, he said.

But because Mr. Kierans was out to smash the union handling the mail, he chose not to follow that advice, Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis spoke as the Commons resumed debate on the budget presented to Parliament March 12. MPs are free to raise any subject they wish.

NEEDED CONSENT
In a heated reply, Mr. Kierans said that Mr. Lewis's proposal would have needed the consent of the contractor to succeed.

But this consent could not be obtained because of violence in the Montreal dispute.

He suggested it would be difficult to get bids on a tender that specified the contractor would have to guarantee the salaries of men working for a firm that lost the contract.

"Labor legislation may swing this way some day and perhaps it should," he said.

But if it did, it should be through debate in the Commons and not in "response to bullets through windshields and violence in the streets in Montreal."

SHOTS FIRED
Gunshots were fired at two security guards near a downtown postal station early Wednesday in Montreal. Neither was hurt. They were waiting outside the station to escort private mail trucks.

Treasury Board President C. M. Drury told driver union leaders in a letter Tuesday there was no point in continuing talks to end the dispute.

The government had opened 330 jobs to the 457-man drivers' union at a top wage of $3.25 hourly but the offer was three times rejected by the men, formerly employed by G. Lapalme Inc.

Mr. Lewis said he had been informed by the best possible sources that Mr. Kierans had told Carl Goldenberg, mediator of the dispute, that one of the government aims was to get rid of the Confederation of National Trade Unions local.

The government had acted in "callous disregard" of the workers' rights regarding security of employment, wages and bargaining rights.

If the government was committed to that policy further disruptions in the service and perhaps more violence could result.

In provoking that violence, the government was as much at fault as those who performed the actual violence, Mr. Lewis said.

SPRING THAW — The recent spell of warm, even hot at times, spring weather is starting to show startling results around the Eastern Townships. Snow is rapidly disappearing and should be gone in the next two weeks. Farmland is being exposed again and plowing is expected to get underway soon for the 1970 crop.

Witnesses launch French conversational program

SHERBROOKE — Would you be willing to make a sacrifice in order to learn the French language? Take a 7-week intensive course in conversational French? Move yourself and your family to a solid French area of Quebec? Or switch from your English speaking church to a solid French speaking one?

"Such a program is in full swing among the English speaking Jehovah's Witnesses," reported Mr. Laurier Saumur, District Supervisor of upwards of 100 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the province of Quebec.

Mr. Saumur is probably best remembered for his Supreme Court victory in 1953 which won freedom to preach for the witnesses in Quebec.

For the past four years he has been supervising the witness work in British Columbia, and has now returned to Quebec.

"I am very happy to be back," he said during a recent interview. He explained the extensive nature of English Witnesses' program to learn French. "Back in January of 1968 a French language course was started in Montreal.

"Since then 13 classes have been conducted. A total of 381 English Witnesses have taken the course to date. English Witnesses are so eager to learn the French language that now we operate two classes simultaneously with 40 in each class, while 175 more English witnesses are on the waiting list for this course."

"About 90 per cent of all these are full-time ministers. Future courses will include more part time preachers. Those taking the course range from 18 to 55 years of age and are from all walks of life—housewives, school teachers, carpenters, electronic technicians, salesman, mechanics, as well as high school graduates."

The text book used in the French language course was prepared by the Witnesses themselves. The book combines conversation with illustrations of various everyday activities connected with their ministry, and these activities are acted out by small groups while the appropriate words are spoken.

"This unique combination of saying with seeing and doing makes it possible for a student to learn much faster," Mr. Saumur stated.

Upon completion of the course these Witnesses move to the solid French areas of Quebec. There they carry on their full time ministry from door-to-door in the French language, becoming quite proficient after just a few months.

Searchers find trail of lost expedition

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Power toboggan tracks and a westward-pointing arrow were spotted late Wednesday afternoon by a search aircraft in the area where three members of an Arctic expedition have been missing since Sunday.

Before the lead could be followed up, however, the search aircraft had to return to Fort Smith, N.W.T., for servicing. Another ski-equipped aircraft was to continue the hunt this morning.

The missing men are members of a 10-man power toboggan team. They were sent ahead of the main party to reach a fuel cache.

The seven who stayed behind were found Tuesday, out of fuel and camped on the Thelon River 350 miles east of Yellowknife.

Sherbrooke Senator raps media agencies for "one-sided" thinking

OTTAWA — Sherbrooke's Senator Paul Desruisseaux warned the upper house Wednesday that grave mistakes are being made by Canadian government agencies in the field of radio and television.

He said these agencies had for many years been given wide powers that allowed decisions to be made by "too few one-sided thinkers."

Senator Desruisseaux was speaking in favor of a motion that would allow the upper chamber to study ways it could review regulations made under powers delegated by Parliament to certain bodies.

Senator Desruisseaux, a lawyer, editor, publisher, radio and television broadcaster, has served on the boards of The Canadian Press, the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, and the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

"I am afraid that the public of Canada is about to be denied, in a certain way, the freedom to hear and to see whatever they wish from wherever they wish," he said.

He did not believe that program guides recently announced by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission would provide solutions for media problems. He said that what is happening is tragic.

SAYS WANTS IGNORED

"The whole thinking was negative and destructive. It did not take into account the wants of the public which could ignore any programming it wanted in order to get programs of its choice—even if those programs came from American television and radio networks along the border.

"This is another case where, great powers having been given an agency, the question now arises whether giving them made any sense. That agency is fully one-sided when it comes to decision-making.

"Great damage will be done to Canadian broadcasters who now may have to become fifth-rate producers. The public are, in my opinion, being given 'the public-be-damned' treatment by some thinkers of the agency," he said.

Senator Desruisseaux called the government's white paper on tax reform "the speedy road to total socialism."

"There now is ample evidence that this socialistic document is being backed by the opinion of the silent majority of our Canadians," he said.

Stanstead ready for spring rushes

STANSTEAD — Stanstead College is now in its spring term and there is the usual rush of many events. David Draper, Loyola College Hockey coach came here Monday for the mid-term hockey awards night.

Sunday evening, April 12, there were three CCC productions presented in the Pierce hall. These players were formerly known as instant theater group. The excellent presentation included "Out of the Flying Pan"; Gladly Otherwise; and Under Milkwood.

Tuesday, the Business seminar took place for the day. Such distinguished persons as Mr. David, Regional manager of Dominion stores; P. Gollick, president of Grey Advertising; G. Innes, Vice president (Engineering) of Bell Telephone; W. James of Foster, McGuire and Co. Ltd., Public and employee relations; J. Meyer, Managing Editor of the Montreal Gazette; Dr. H. Sutherland, Vice-president of Gulf of Canada, and Donald Ross, Vice-president of Canada Starch, were there.

The topic was Why should I enter upon a career in business? Can it be as a challenge, creative and inspiring as other professions?

It was a busy day for all and felt to be beneficial to the students.

Headmaster Raymond Lester has a busy few days ahead of him. April 16 a meeting of the College Executive board in Montreal, and the following Saturday a Sports committee meeting in the city also to be attended by our school athletic director, Alex Philip.

Sunday, April 19 Mr. Lester will deliver the sermon at the Chalmers Wesleyan church in Quebec and leave on the Monday for Toronto to attend a conference of the Board of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He will return here on Thursday, April 23.

April 25 is the date of the drama festival here at the school. There will be other schools visiting and presenting drama. More about this next week.

This Saturday students of grades ten — eleven — twelve will be visiting the University of Sherbrooke for the day. The Cadet inspection is on May 2.

The official top officer to make the inspection will be Commodore W.P. Hayes, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont. In addition to the usual program there will be a display of fencing and other activities.

Appears nude at conference

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Edward Elson, who announced his candidacy for district attorney last December, declared for the office again Wednesday.

This time his announcement was different. He appeared at a news conference in the nude.

Flanked by his pretty wife and an empty suit of armor, the 27-year-old Madison man spoke out against laws on nudity and marijuana.

As district attorney, Elson said, he would not enforce "bad laws".

Among those present for the affair was police Inspector Herman Thomas.

He said he did not arrest Elson for violating the city's obscenity ordinance because the nude candidate's body was concealed from the waist down by a lectern made of beer cases and covered with a blanket which bore the words, "Get well".

HERE & THERE

Stanstead South Church Helping Circle date has been changed to meet on April 28 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Selby at 7:30 p.m.

This year's campaign will be from the 15th of April to the 15th of May.

the invitation of the Young Adults.

DANVILLE — With the date for the opening of the annual campaign for funds this week by the Danville Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, the organizers and the canvassers received their receipt books and last minute instructions.

STANSTEAD — Plans were finalized for the rummage sale by Stanstead Guild on April 25 in the Rock Island Town hall at 9 a.m. Donations will be received at the hall and for any needing to be picked up, please call Mrs. Roy Wells.

BEDFORD — A United Church Bus tour to Montreal will be on April 21 for members of the congregation in the four churches of the Bedford charge, Mystic, Philipsburg and Stanbridge East. The U.C.W. groups are collaborating on a day trip. In Montreal various service centres of the United Church will be visited, including St. Columba House, the Men's Service Center, MacDonald House, the Griffith-McConnell Home and the United Church Center. Those going on the tour are asked to bring their own lunches. Men are welcome. For more information call the president of your church. The bus will leave Bedford at 9 a.m.

Daffodils are no longer sold in smaller towns, as Provincial Headquarters feel there is not as good a response to the canvasser who later calls at their doors.

EDITORIALS COMMENT

THURS., APRIL 16, 1970

Thoughts on space trips

Just at the time when the people of the world were beginning to lose their interest in moon shots, apparently lulled by the continued success of the United States mission, comes the dramatic explosion aboard the Apollo 13 which not only forced the scrubbing of the moon landing but which still holds serious threats to the safety of the three astronauts.

While the world holds its breath awaiting the hoped-for splashdown of the Apollo 13 in the Pacific Ocean tomorrow morning, perhaps the time has come to express serious doubts as to the effectiveness of further large-scale space exploration.

Scientists claim much is to be learned from these outer space missions, a claim that has a certain amount of validity. But could not the billions of dollars spent on such efforts be put to better use elsewhere?

The major cities of the world — and some not-too-major — are choking to death, not only from pollution and related problems but from the acute situation caused by the ever-growing pressure on transportation services, public and private.

Wide areas are suffering from famine or food shortages. Millions lack adequate housing. The provision of even reasonably-clean drinking water is beyond the resources of thousands of communities. Health services are below minimal standards in many areas.

Any effort to combat urban strangulation, inadequate housing and pollution is always stalemated by the argument that the funds are lacking for such programs.

But billions are being spent on space exploration, which yield limited results for the outlays involved.

A rapid cutback in the space program might cause serious dislocation in many branches of industry but surely the scientific geniuses of this continent could divert their efforts and abilities toward fighting the day-to-day problems of mankind.

It would be regrettable to think that the engineers who designed the complicated space programs have such a limited outlook that they cannot channel their efforts elsewhere.

Anti-hate bill blocks

One of the great dangers of the government's anti-hate bill, now under bitter attack in Parliament, is that it holds serious dangers to the principle of freedom of speech as assured supposedly in the Bill of Rights.

This danger is so strong that according to John R. Cartwright, former chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, the measure may be invalid constitutionally.

In his recent pronouncement on the issue, Mr. Cartwright cited the Supreme Court decision last November in the case of Joe Drybone, a Yellowknife Indian.

Mr. Drybone had appealed a sentence of drunkenness which had been imposed under Indian Act regulations. He won on grounds that the Indian Act would have to yield to the Bill of Rights guarantee of equality before the law for all Canadians.

Thus, Mr. Cartwright argued, the Canadian courts must refuse to apply any law of Canada which infringes any of the freedoms declared in the Bill of Rights.

The Canadian Bill of Rights, which was passed by Parliament in 1960 under the sponsorship of then Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, stipulates in Section 2 that in Canada there has always existed and shall continue to exist "freedom of speech."

The intent and meaning of provisions contained in the government's hate bill clearly contravene this clause of the Bill of Rights. Thus, there would be no way of enforcing the act even if the House of Commons does pass it.

There are growing tendencies of people in influential positions in this nation to downgrade the great principles on which it was founded. Why this should be so is difficult to understand. The trend clearly calls for vigilance on the part of all Canadians who value their freedoms.

"That's my Alvin! Hasn't even got his degree yet and he's already in the DEAN'S office..."

We're gaining on 'em

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's bitter remarks concerning the Senate vote on Judge Carswell, there was a certain amount of optimism at the White House the following day.

Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told the President, "They beat Haysworth 55 to 45, while Carswell was only defeated 51-45. That means we picked up four votes in less than a year. At this rate we should have a man on the Supreme Court by 1972."

"You're a good man, John," the President said. "How many more nominees do you think it will take?"

"Well, given the makeup of the Senate at the present time, I doubt if you'll have to put up more than six men before we can get someone confirmed."

"That's good, John. I'd love to fill that ninth vacancy while I am still in office."

"You have nothing to worry about, Mr. President. My wife, Martha, has been working on some senators right now. She should be able to get them in line before long."

"Good for Martha," the President said. "Where is she now?"

"When I left her at two this morning, she was still talking to the Arkansas Gazette."

"What for?"

"She was trying to get them to crucify Sen. Fulbright."

"Oh?"

"Martha feels that if she can crucify six senators, she can swing the Senate around to our side."

"Why didn't we think of that?" the President said.

"I have always said, give Martha two sticks, a hammer, a mouthful of nails and a recalcitrant senator, and she'll turn him around every time."

"Do we have any other candidates lined up to nominate?"

"I've been getting a lot of suggestions. Vice President Agnew thinks that since we're looking for a strict constructionist, we ought to appoint someone from the building industry."

"That makes sense."

"Strom Thurmond just called in and said he thought Gov. Claude Kirk of Florida might make a good choice. Kirk's been wanting to get to the Supreme Court for over a week."

"But Kirk's a Southerner, and everyone knows a Southern constructionist can't win."

"Judge Julius Hoffman of Chicago is available, if you want to forget about the South."

"Let's put his name down," the President said.

"Sen. Hruska gave me a new list of mediocre judges he has complete faith in," the attorney general said.

"I believe we better stop playing up the mediocrity of our candidates this time. It doesn't seem to have the appeal we thought it would."

"Exactly my thoughts," Mr. President. If we couldn't win on mediocrity with Judge Carswell, then we can't win with anybody."

"There must be someone," the President said.

"Mr. President, I know it's not my place to advise you, but have you ever thought of appointing a woman to the court?"

"That's not a bad idea, providing she's a strict constructionist. Whom can we get?"

"Well, Martha was trying on Judge Carswell's black robes the other night, and we were all surprised how well they fit her."

Some advice

I grew up in South Durham Quebec and we used to enjoy the Record so much. It came every afternoon on the Grand Trunk Railway train. My father was owner of a general store there from 1901 to 1927, then we came to Toronto and he, with my brothers, worked full time in our hardware store here until he was 84 years old.

Today, we took on a French saleslady from Nova Scotia originally and it now seems like old times.

I once asked my father what he considered the most important qualification of all for students seeking summer employment. He thought for a moment and then answered simply, "Ability to do the work."

Having helped to train many boys and girls over the years as they worked in our family hardware store, perhaps I might list a few things in which I think students should be well trained before they apply for jobs.

Honesty is the most important qualification of any employee. Willingness is a very important qualification and students should be willing to do jobs which need to be done and to accept direction, inspections and corrections. They should not accept work which is to the slightest degree detrimental to their health or which is beyond their physical or mental ability.

Legible writing is of primary importance. When writing, every figure and every letter should be legible. When a student goes to apply for a job, he should take his own pen and always carry his pen on the job.

Accurate arithmetic. Students should be carefully trained in addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, fractions, percentages and measurements. It is true we have hired students who admitted they were not too good in arithmetic and we greatly admired their truthfulness, but we told them to get help if at any time in the slightest doubt.

Cleaning is a task with which many employers in commerce and industry need help. Before applying for work, students should be thoroughly trained in how to sweep a floor and wash it, how to tidy shelves, how to dust, how to scrub a lunch counter. All tools and materials used should be put carefully back in place.

So good luck to all the students. But if, after making many applications you still do not get a job, have a good summer anyway and your turn will come.

Gagnon...by men who know him

The soft answer and limited undertaking Mr. Trudeau gave young Pat Nowlan last Thursday about Jean-Louis Gagnon's security status must have chafed the Prime Minister's spirit.

His restraint indicated an awareness that Gagnon's appointment to head Information Canada has been doubtfully received. The Government must head off the criticism carefully in order to give the new agency a chance. There is enough against it without a chief whose loyalty is suspect.

Mr. Trudeau has asked for a further security clearance. He went on: "I can only repeat that a previous allegation of the same nature led to an investigation. The result was there was no reason to doubt the loyalty and reliability of the said gentleman."

Mr. Gagnon is in his late 50s. He was a journalistic prodigy in the 30s. He wrote and worked for what were considered then to be both fascist and Communist papers and groups. It was the youthful Communist activity which aroused Messrs. Ron Gostick and Pat Walsh of Flesherton, Ont.

Gostick is the leader of a group called Christian Action Movement, and he also publishes a pamphlet called Canadian Intelligence Service in Flesherton. In a current issue of the pamphlet, an article put together by Walsh in 1960 has been reprinted. It lists much leftist activity by Gagnon at various times between 1935 and the early 1950s. Walsh himself publicly broke with a number of Communist-front organizations in 1953.

My criticism has been that Mr. Gagnon will not be an effective chief of Information Canada because he really isn't very good.

Since I expressed this in a recent column a lot more opinion about Mr. Gagnon has come my way. Because much of it is favorable to him I've checked with other former colleagues of Mr. Gagnon; I even ploughed through a novel and two novelettes by Mr. Gagnon. This last effort grew out of my belief that a man often shows more of himself in his fiction than he does in his journalism. (For example, I'd recommend Mr. Zink's novel, The Uprooted, to anyone who wishes to understand his columns better.)

The following are five opinions of Mr. Gagnon by men who have either worked with him or for him in the past 10 years.

First, a French Canadian reporter who worked for La Presse when Mr. Gagnon was editor: "Gagnon? Ugh: He's slick, writes cleanly and easily without much insight. He's what you people call a good-time Charlie. I didn't trust him nor like him but remember I'm 20 years younger; I am more nationalistic and to the left than Gagnon. He's not profound but he's quick and charming."

Second, another reporter who worked for Mr. Gagnon when he edited Le Nouveau Journal: "He treated me wonderfully and I admire him very much. He is a joker, you know. He keeps you happy. He has very expansive ideas and if we'd had a few more millions the Journal might have caught on and kept going. He's not profound like Laurandeu was nor as consistently serious as Claude Ryan. I think he will do very well in this new job."

Third, a Quebec academic who held an important post on the Bi-Bi staff: "Jean Louis is one of Canada's most charming men. He's very intelligent but, frankly, neither deep nor philosophical. He's topical and current in his cultural interests, most of which are French. He reads widely to keep up with events. He's fascinated by contact with power and he loves to be 'inside' on what's doing. His literary taste is good and he's a fast, bright writer of popular journalism. He's been a Liberal or close to them since 1944."

"It's pure nonsense to consider him any risk because of his youthful fascist and Communist connections."

"In essence, Gagnon has always been a guy of the cities. When he was young he never bought the rural psychology of French Canadians and all that Arcadian nationalism. He wanted to be, and is, sophisticated, anti-clerical and secular."

"I think he was one of the early people in Quebec to believe in and advocate that the state should be the instrument to improve men's lot. That isn't shocking now. It's routine. Gagnon was early in the field; a leader, he's been caught up and perhaps passed by many events in Quebec. Do I think he'll do well with Information Canada? Yes."

Fourth, an Ontario academic of radical bent who worked closely with Gagnon on the Bi-Bi commission: "Gagnon may do well on this job. He won't do the work himself, you know. He's lazy as hell, but he's a genius at getting other people to work. He'll be a perfect executive front. He gets along well with elites, particularly political elites."

"He's no deep thinker. The young French people on the staff thought him a joke, a sort of caricature of the follies of the older generation. I found he'd fudge on gut issues; he'd be ready to sell out on tough recommendations; he resisted any attempts to get the commission committed on the economic situation. He was a tiger, however, on things like language rights."

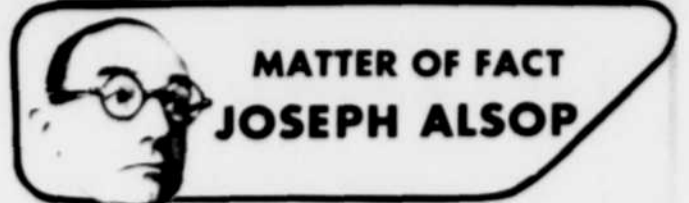

"A Communist? You've got to be kidding. He was always openly liberal with me indeed; he never gave me a hint that he knew what the left was. He's a highly political animal in the Montreal style, a bit like Trudeau, only less ascetic and philosophical."

"He's been used to the good life for many years. When Marchand was at the commission he used to raise hell with Gagnon for the way he ran up expenses and salary. Marchand would say it was a disgrace and Gagnon would just smile and say that his standards were different from Marchand's. He wasn't going to destroy his life style."

"Don't underestimate Gagnon: His gall, his brightness; he can function well; he knows how to get along, especially with politicians."

Fifth, a middle-aged Liberal MP from Quebec: "Jean-Louis? Oh, he's our Pickersgill. A good Liberal. Loyal and smart. He'll do a great job."

So there you are, a series of opinions on Jean-Louis Gagnon, the sum of which indicates that although he may not be a saint or a sage, he may be an effective head of Information Canada.

HAU NGHIA PROVINCE, South Vietnam — In Trang Bang market place, the bullet-riddled body of Tu Cat is exposed so all can see that the Regional Forces have at last dealt with this famous Viet Cong assassination specialist, the proven murderer of 50 and the probable murderer of many more.

The peasants in the busy market stare and nod, and one whose family has suffered from Tu Cat's attentions spits upon the corpse. So an ugly legend reaches a well-deserved end.

Then in Duc Hoa Village, an old woman coming in from the fields calls aside the leader of her hamlet's Popular Self-Defense Force—one of the little, hardly organized armed groups each hamlet now has to guard it from the VC. Down by the canal, the old woman whispers, she has seen Nguyen Van Rut.

Three members of the PSDF go out with their carbines and shoot the guerrilla chieftain who has terrorized the village for more than a decade. The Popular Force Platoon is promptly informed, and the platoon goes out to get the guards Nguyen Van Rut invariably travels with. Seven guards, mixed North Vietnamese and native VC, are eventually rounded up from bunkers and hiding holes. So that story is over, too.

ANOTHER TALE

In Xom Hue Hamlet in Cu Chi District, meanwhile, another story is beginning. Like most of the other hamlet and village temples in this endlessly war-ravaged province, Xom Hue's temple, with its sacred imperial rescript from the Emperor Gia Long, has not been opened in over two decades. But now it is reopening, with grandeur and ceremony.

The food offerings are so splendid that they put to shame the highest triumphs of pop art. The food offerings are topped by phoenixes with plumage made of tuberose blossoms.

The feast is splendid. The whole hamlet is rejoicing, and so is the able province chief, Col. Nguyen Xuan Sanh. Only Col. Sanh's able, dedicated American advisers are visibly unhappy.

In this odd contrast of Vietnamese and American moods lies the reason for ending a long tour of 111 Corps with a second visit to Hau Nghia. The point is that Col. Sanh remembers the time before Tet of 1968. Then he was district chief of Cu Chi, and in this single district he had to face above 800 well-armed, experience-hardened native Viet Cong fighters, without counting North Vietnamese big units.

In the whole province, today, the Viet Cong structure is cruelly eroded, to the point where North Vietnamese are being widely employed as village guerrillas. In all of Hau Nghia, too, counting main forces, local forces and guerrillas, VC and North Vietnamese together, the enemy has fewer than 700 armed men.

Col. Sanh, newly promoted to province chief, cannot be blamed if he mainly takes note of the immense progress already made.

NO BLAME

By the same token, his American advisers cannot be blamed for their visible unhappiness, either. The immense expansion of the Territorial Forces, so largely responsible for the enemy's plight, has provided Hau Nghia with 31 Regional Force companies and 64 Popular Force platoons, and to these must be added nearly 5,000 armed Popular Self-Defense members. Yet with all they have accomplished, the Territorials need much sharpening.

Only two nights earlier, for instance, a dozen VC guerrillas entered Xom Hue Hamlet to warn against the temple opening. Their warning was boldly ignored, but they should not have been able to enter the hamlet at all.

Sharpening the Territorials is urgent, too. This is the only way to tear out the last roots of the VC structure in Hau Nghia. And until that job is completed the province will never be fully ready to deal with the North Vietnamese reserves lurking across the border in Cambodia.

This urgency is all that Col. Sanh's newly arrived U.S. advisers can think about, almost from dawn to dusk. Both they and Col. Sanh are right, in truth. Furthermore, Gen. Creighton Abrams has said that "success or failure in 1970" will mainly depend on this progress made by the Territorial Forces. So one must wish both the Vietnamese colonel and his American counterparts the best of luck, and pray for a good result.

ASTRO-GUIDE By Ceean

Friday, April 17
PRESENT—FOR YOU AND YOURS . . . The day calls for gumption and grit, an unbeatable combination under planetary influences that accent career progress, advancement in pay and/or prestige. A happy sort of day when people tend to see things from an optimistic point of view. Excellent time to present ideas for consideration.

The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19)—You have an extravagant impulse to buy a gift for someone, and it is gratefully received.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Make no derogatory remarks that could backfire if repeated at an inopportune time.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Be sure you are treated in trying to reach second. Give in on minor points.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—You may be frustrated in trying to reach second. Give in on minor points.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Think ideas through before shouting off impulsively. Have facts at hand.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Anxiety and exhaustion combine to make you physically ill as well as emotionally upset.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Make no drastic change unless you are pretty certain it will be profitable and practical.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)—Someone who got the best of you previously may try it again. Don't be fooled!

Today's hand appeared in our column back in January. When the hand was actually played West was allowed to hold the first trick. He continued hearts. South ruffed and promptly played out ace and another spade since the game was rubber bridge. He lost the club finesse later on and still made his game.

still make his hand by means of a criss-cross squeeze and he is right. We don't like to make mistakes but we do on occasion and this crisscross squeeze is interesting enough to show our readers.

We pointed out that if East had won the first trick and led back a diamond he would have been able to ruff a diamond and defeat the contract.

The early play will be a heart, a diamond, two spades, a diamond ruff and a second heart. South will now play all but one trump to leave himself with one diamond, one trump and three clubs. Dummy will hold two hearts, two high diamonds and the ace of clubs. East will hold two hearts and three clubs while West can hold anything he wants to but he won't be able to make his game.

Now South cashes dummy's two diamonds and discards his small club. Everyone is down to three cards. If East blanks his ace of hearts, South ruffs a heart and makes the last two tricks in dummy. If East blanks his king of clubs, South cashes dummy's ace, ruffs a heart and makes the last trick with the queen of clubs.

We don't consider our failure to point out the squeeze as much of an error. At the table most players would take the simple play of trying the club finesse and go down one, but as PFC. Uhlmann points out the hand could be made by this interesting method.

DR. JOHN SILNY, chief radiologist at the Sherbrooke Hospital, displays the complexities of the $90,000 X-Ray, a recent acquisition from the government.

That word again-SPACE

By MARGUERITE BLADON

There certainly is an interesting group of staff members at the Sherbrooke Hospital! Chatting with Doctor John Silny the other day brought home how small the world has become too. Here's a man born and educated in Czechoslovakia. A man who got his medical degree in Prague, and served five long years as a medical officer in the Czechoslovakian army. In 1945 he married his lovely wife, and a year later it came to make their home in Montreal.

This meant more studies for a second medical degree, being mandatory to be able to practice at the time. He worked at both the Royal Vic and the Montreal General as radiologist. His son was born in Montreal and his daughter in Sherbrooke, which proves that from the start she showed excellent taste in her choice of hospitals!

In 1952, Doctor Silny was invited to come to Sherbrooke Hospital as Chief Radiologist. You should have seen him talking about the new X-Ray machine! And no wonder! It's costing in the area of $90,000.

compliments of the government, who gave a grant this year. "It's the cat's whiskers," he proudly admits. Operated by remote control, it does all sorts of things, such as immediate X-Ray viewing and X-Ray photos at any angle. It can pick out and blank off certain areas and most important, it allows accurate radiography of vessels and the heart, with film changes allowing up to eight exposures per second. This will make it very important in repair surgery to arteries and veins. Dr. Silny is sending two technicians to Montreal to study up on all facets of the marvellous machine.

I asked "the" question, "What would you like most to see done to your hospital?" He replied instantly, "Priorities first, two of them." Enlarge the outpatient department, and have a lab with special and necessary equipment. This is a must. You've heard this story before too, we always come back to that five letter word, space. He added that his own staff had nowhere to rest, wash their hands, or just think quietly. Nor do the hard-working operating doctors. Doctor Silny teaches the only English speaking class in X-Ray technique apart from one other in Montreal. When I asked how the three girls he teaches annually were doing, he laughed. "Well, it's this way... Most of the girls are pretty. They come, they take the course, then some lucky fellow marries them, and they disappear forever. Lost in the matrimonial field. Too bad for us!"

Doctor Silny has a very modest office, and what looked like a very fine collection of medical books. There was a lot of coming and going in the short time we talked. He loves the Townships, he loves the job, and he loves the hospital John Silny cares. Do you care enough to contribute to your community hospital?

Bridal showers in the Townships

CATHY MEYER

SUTTON — Mrs. Gary Haynes of Montreal and Mrs. Claude Mireault entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Cathy Meyer, a May bride-to-be at the home of Mrs. Mireault on April 4.

The guest of honor was surprised to find about eighteen relatives and friends present. She was presented with a corsage of pink and white carnations and escorted to a chair decorated with pink and white streamers. The gifts were presented in a decorated basket. Miss Meyer thanked the guests for the pretty and useful gifts. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. The out of town guests were from Montreal, Granby and Cowansville.

BETTY HATCH

STANSTEAD — Approximately 125 relatives and friends of the Hatch — Humphrey families gathered in the Christ church Parish hall on April 10 to shower Miss Betty Hatch with gifts honoring her approaching marriage to Byron Humphrey in May.

Betty arrived at the hall at 7:30 p.m. and had supposed a shower was taking place for a friend. She was surprised to learn it was her shower when presented with a dainty corsage of pink tulle and a single pink sweetheart rose, centered with a miniature stirling pin in a spoon design and with the date of the shower engraved in the bowl.

Mrs. Melvin Dustin and Mrs. Alfred Middleton presents 4 Mrs. George Hatch and Mrs. Elwyn Humphrey with a gold Mothers rose pin against a background of white and gold tulle to be kept as souvenirs.

The trio joined Mrs. Winston

Fraser, future sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. George Witham at a table to open the gifts. Miss Kimberly French godchild of the bride assisted.

The gifts opened to reveal a wide selection of beautiful items including several pieces of the couple's chosen dinner set, crystal, blankets and silver.

A mock wedding was presented by a group of friends which was funny in costume and script. Mrs. Alfred Middleton portrayed the minister; Mrs. John (Beverly) Smith, the groom and Mrs. Melvin Dustin, the bride. The matron of honor was Miss Marlene Bishop and the bridesmaids, Mrs. William Pope and Miss Sharlane Larocque. Mrs. Arthur Gosselin was flower girl. The best man was Mrs. Arnold Rever; Mrs. Russell French, the bride's father and Mrs. Edward Simpson, Sr., the bride's mother.

From the ribbons and bows Mrs. Charles Keeler made a beautiful colonial bouquet which was presented to Betty.

The buffet refreshments were served at a long table having a pink shower cover and was centered with the double tiered shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon. Pink and green roses and filigree completed the decor.

The cake was flanked with pink candles in graduated brass holders. Mrs. Witham and Mrs. Hugh McClary, the latter a former school teacher of the couple, poured at the silver services. Betty cut and served the cake, and thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness.

Guests attended from Brownburg, Bury, Coaticook, Beboel, Verdun, Ayer's Cliff, Beebe, Tomifobia, and the Boundary Villages.

DOUGLAS and DAVID, one-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Messier, Knowlton; grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Johnson, Wetaskiwin, Alberta; Mrs. Edward Cadorette, Waterloo and the late Lucien Messier. MONTREAL, April 16th — It doesn't surprise me that so many of my readers enjoyed my recipe for Lipton Onion Roast. It's one of my favorites, too. So, for those of you who may have missed this recipe, I'm happy to repeat it.

LIPTON ONION ROAST

Put a 3 lb. round roast of beef on a double sheet of foil. Add — one envelope of Lipton Onion Soup Mix. You'll note I've shown the cooking time as 1½ to 2 hours in a 375 deg. oven. However, if you're a working gal — or off for a day's shopping — you can also put it in a 200 deg. oven at 9 in the morning and it will be delicious and tender when you come home at 5!

TRAVELLING CAN IS ONE 'HABIT' I THOROUGHLY ENJOY! As a woman travelling alone, I really appreciate the friendliness and courtesy of the CN staff. Where they find such cheerful, efficient people I wouldn't know. But I do know that as a regular passenger I feel comfortable, pampered and completely relaxed. And dining à-la-CN is one of the delights — whether your choice is succulent roast beef — delectable sea food — or one of the many other superb dishes prepared by their expert chefs. Sounds great? It is! And it doesn't batter the budget, either!

CAN YOU PLEASE EVERYONE, every time you entertain? I've discovered it's easily done with Brights fine Canadian wines. Brights MANOR ST. DAVIDS SAUTERNE for instance, does wonders for white meat of any kind... sea-food, fowl, pork and salads, too. And Brights MANOR ST. DAVIDS CLARET is a perfect flavour-mate for roast beef, steak, chops — simply wonderful at a hot dog-and-hamburger barbecue! Put in a cellar of Brights fine Canadian wines and you're ready for guests, anytime. And because they are "wines of the country", their price is a most pleasant surprise!

Wallis-Baker wedding

MR. AND MRS. PETER WALLIS following their wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker, East Jeddore, NS. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wallis, Richmond.

After the ceremony a buffet lunch was served to about 50 guests. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells in a floral motif.

Guests were from Dartmouth, Halifax and Richmond.

Following the reception the bride and groom left to spend their honeymoon in Kentville, NS, the bride travelling in a two-piece yellow and white coat dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallis will make their home at 783 Main Street, Dartmouth, NS.

Hunting and fishing in the E.T. By NORM NICHOLL

MANDATORY INSURANCE plan presented by the government for hunters and anglers has not produced the effect that the government had thought it might. Many anglers and hunters have expressed dismay at the low payments being offered. They are well below the standards offered by other insurance plans and in fact are below those of the Quebec Wildlife Federation plan which was being offered previously. (In fact those who have purchased the Federation plan are still insured by this plan.)

The main opposition has come from those who pursue more than one sport for instance hunting and fishing which at present requires them to pay premiums in each category.

Now is the time to press for a change if public demands it. Candidates are willing to offer their ears at this time for support. Why not talk to them or present letters to them regarding this duplication.

GLEN SUTTON has become a spring resort for those wishing to see deer. During the past couple of weeks herds of up to sixty are viewed daily across the river. They are usually on view from about 4:30 to 6:30 along the edge of the road and hillside.

Take a trip and show the children and wife these deer feeding. Just stay close to the car — don't move about too much and whisper — the deer will provide the rest of the enjoyment.

DID YOU KNOW... The Caribou is unique among the deer family in that both sexes carry antlers.

O'KEEFE brewery have come out with another copy of their camping and fishing guide "Camping Quebec '70". The guide is available from the brewery agents, lists the facilities, accommodations and costs of over 900 commercial and provincial government parks and campsites and provided a summary of provincial fishing regulations and camping safety hints.

YAMASKA CONSERVATION ASSOCIATION will be holding their regular monthly meeting this coming Wednesday, April 22 in the Canadian Legion Hall, Waterloo at 8 p.m. sharp.

The program will consist of a guest speaker Curly Reid of Knowlton who will present a film of a fishing trip up north. There will also be two films courtesy of Molsons.

Weighing stations for this year will be located at the following points: Normand Langlois, Granby, Lavoie's Garage-Eastman, Archie Johnson-Waterloo, Curly Reid's Knowlton and James Tryhorn in Foster.

DIVISION XIII Penalties

Motorsport notes

The de Tomaso Pantera and the Citroen-Maserati SM stole the spotlight for the knowledgeable motoring buff at the 14th annual auto show, held in Gotham last week.

The de Tomaso, powered and imported by Ford, no doubt to compete with AMC's recently-introduced AMX-3, is a chunky GT coupe with a novel method of seat construction — polyurethane pads, each spaced about an inch apart on an aluminium shell bucket. The sleek SM, the first result of the Citroen-Maserati combine, couples Maser high performance (137 m.p.h. top speed plus a 0 to 60 time of 8.5 sec.) with all the engineering sophistication of Citroen's suspension system.

Over 600 models from around the world were on exhibit — from out-and-out racing machinery (a 512S Ferrari Spyder) to infinite variations of the lowly Jeep.

CAN-AM PORSCHE TO BE SUPERCHARGED, WATER-COOLED

For the first time in history, a water-cooled Porsche will make its appearance on the world's racing circuits when the Swiss, Jo Siffert, mounts the opening grid of the Can-Am Series at Mosport on June 14.

Nearing completion in Stuttgart, is a much-revamped version of last year's 917 PA, featuring a 5-litre engine in supercharged form, enabling a power boost past the 700 b.h.p. mark. And because of the higher temperatures generated at the engine's bottom end resulting from the booster, special water-cooling jackets are being fitted.

The overall weight of the car, reportedly near the 1700-lb. figure, will be pared considerably, to vastly improve already-impressive performance.

LE CIRCUIT PLANS FULL RACING SEASON IN QUEBEC'S LAURENTIANS

After a winter spent streamlining overall management operations, directed by Montreal accountant, Jacqueline Paradis, Le Circuit Mont Tremblant faces the coming season in the belief that a solid, summer-long program can insure results indicative of success. Aside from the weekly driving schools conducted by the Montreal branch of the famous Jim Russell Driving School, there will be a full complement of speed events, calculated to interest every motorsport fan.

International attractions head the list. The second Can-Am round will take place on June 28. This will be followed up by the double-header weekend of August 1 — an SCCA ConChamp race for Formula A cars on Saturday, and a Trans-Am Sedan Championship event on Sunday. The high point of the season will be September 20, when Le Circuit again will play host to the Formula 1 circus for the 4th annual Player's Grand Prix of Canada.

Home edge favors Rangers, North Stars
Bruins, Blues strive to break pattern

Boston Bruins and St. Louis Blues tonight are faced with the task of breaking a pattern of home-ice victories if they want an early conclusion of the two remaining Stanley Cup quarter-final series.

The Bruins, after winning three games at Boston and losing two to the Rangers at New York, go back to their opponent's arena tonight for what could be the deciding game in the best-of-seven round.

The Blues also won three at home and gave up two on the road to Minnesota North Stars who are back on their own rink tonight for the sixth game of that series.

If either the Bruins or Blues fail to break the home-ice victory pattern the Bruins would go back to Boston for the seventh game Sunday and the Blues to St. Louis Saturday night.

But both clubs will be looking for an early ending to the current contests. Prolonging the series means their opponents in the semi-finals will get that much more rest.

In the National Hockey League East Division, the Boston-New York winner goes against Chicago Black Hawks who wrapped up their quarterfinal last Sunday after four straight victories over Detroit Red Wings.

And in the West Division, Pittsburgh Penguins are awaiting the winner of the Blues North Stars series after eliminating Oakland Seals, also with four consecutive wins.

Blues centre Phil Goyette said after his team's 6-3 win over Minnesota at St. Louis Tuesday night that the St. Louis squad now was ready to wrap up the series.

"We're certainly going to give it a try," Goyette said. "There's no sense in prolonging it any more."

The North Stars and Rangers, of course, have their own ideas on how long the series will go.

Minnesota coach Charlie Burns rapped his players for their poor game Tuesday but said they would still win one on the road.

"I know this team can play hockey on the road," Bruins said. "We had to win three in a row on the other guys' ice at the end of the season to get into the playoffs."

LOOKS TO LAST GAME

And Emile Francis, Rangers general manager and coach, said his club was still out to win one game at Boston.

"Now it will have to be the seventh game," he said.

Francis is still worrying over his extensive injury list which has Vic Hadfield, Arnie Brown, Brad Park and Jack Egers limping.

Hadfield suffered a foot injury three weeks ago and has not yet seen any playoff action but could return to the lineup tonight. Brown injured his right knee in last Saturday's game in New York, played the next day but had to sit out Tuesday's encounter which saw the Bruins take a 3-2 win at Boston.

Egers was out of Sunday's game with a groin injury, but was back Tuesday and should be in the lineup again tonight.

SEASON CHAMPIONS honored at the closing party for the Magog Social and Curling Club held Saturday evening saw Mrs. Margaret Owens, Mrs. Stella Vancour, Clement Poirier, and Romeo Langlois accept the Labatt trophy from Georges Lussier for best play of the season for a club team.

Homer happy Braves crush Padres, Expos lose 10-0

The homer-happy Atlanta Braves had manager Luman Harris punchy but that's nothing compared with the knockout blow Mike Torrez delivered over Montreal Expos with his arm and bat.

The Braves tagged two more four-baggers Wednesday night, stretching their start-of-the-season homer streak to nine games and downing San Diego Padres 7-5. Torrez, meanwhile, limited Montreal to an eighth-inning single and stroked three of his own, leading St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-0 romp over the Expos.

In other National League games Wednesday, Houston Astros edged San Francisco Giants 7-6 in 10 innings, Cincinnati Reds shaded Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 and Chicago Cubs dropped Philadelphia Phillies 5-1.

Orlando Cepeda tagged three hits, including a home run, and Clete Boyer also hit one as the Braves continued their long-ball assault on enemy pitchers. They are four games short of matching the record for homers in consecutive games at the start of a season set by the Cubs in 1954.

CEPEDA OPENS UP

It was an ordinary single by Cepeda that broke the tie against the Padres in the seventh inning. Then Bob Priddy came out of the bullpen in the ninth to nail down the victory for George Stone, who gave up two homers to Nate Colbert and one to Clarence Gaston early in the game.

"We're in a rut on home-run balls," said Harris, who has seen his team hit 11 homers and his pitchers surrender 13 in the first nine games. "I've seen them hit

SPORTS
IN BRIEF

Swim program offered

SHERBROOKE — The Recreation Department of the City of Sherbrooke is offering two swim programs at the Montcalm Pool, to be held from April 20 to 27.

A swim course for adults will cost $11 for the series, held on Monday and Wednesday evenings between seven and ten p.m.

Also offered is a program of water acclimatization for children of 3-6 years. Costing $5.50, the course will run from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays.

Eastern Allan Cup tied

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — Dave Nicholishen scored two goals Wednesday and led Orillia Terriers to a 5-3 Eastern Canada Allan Cup final victory over Victoriaville, Que., Tigers.

The best-of-seven series, which resumes here Friday, is tied at two wins each. The winner will advance into the national senior hockey final against St. Boniface, Man., Mohawks or Spokane, Wash., Jets.

Corby Adams, Carl Hynders and Al Osborne also scored for the Terriers.

Jacques Michel, Normand Pepin and Dick Charron replied for the Tigers.

After a scoreless first period, the Terriers opened up a 3-1 second period lead before 2,400 fans.

A total of 22 penalties were called, 12 to the Tigers, including a game misconduct to Pierre Roy. He was ejected in the third period for protesting Nicholishen's winning goal.

The Terriers held a 36 to 22 shooting edge.

Voyageurs lead Calder play

BALTIMORE (AP) — Guy Charron tipped in a slapshot by Pierre Bouchard with 40 seconds remaining to break a 1-1 tie and Montreal Voyageurs went on to defeat Baltimore Clippers 3-1 in an American Hockey League Calder Cup playoff game Wednesday night.

The victory gave the Voyageurs, the Eastern Division champions, a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series which resumes Friday night in Montreal.

Charron also scored Montreal's first goal at 4:51 of the second period and assisted on Rejean Houle's final tally with two seconds remaining in an open Baltimore net.

Jimmy Bartlett scored for Baltimore.

Expos thrashed 10-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mike Torrez pitched hitless ball for seven innings, then settled for a one-hitter as St. Louis Cardinals blanked Montreal Expos 10-0 in a National League game.

It was the 11th consecutive victory over two seasons for the hard-throwing right-hander who also contributed three singles to the Cards' attack.

The only hit off Torrez was a leadoff single in the eighth inning by Adolfo Phillips, who sliced the ball past Cardinal third baseman Rich Allen.

Torrez's first hit touched off a four-run St. Louis rally in the third inning.

Two innings later, two walks and singles by Leron Lee, Julian Javier and Torrez produced two more runs. Torrez was hit by a pitch and scored in the eighth as the Cards wrapped it up with four more runs, three on Allen's homer.

Torrez, who won 10 and lost four last year is 2-0 so far this season.

Ramparts protest called game

MONTREAL (CP) — Robert Lebel, president of the Quebec Junior A Hockey League, has expressed dissatisfaction with referee Jack Johnson's action in ending the Quebec Ramparts-Charlottetown Islanders Eastern Canada Memorial Cup game Monday night in Charlottetown.

In a telegram to Earl Dawson, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Lebel said he could not see how the referee could have taken it upon himself to award the game to Charlottetown.

The game was called by Johnson, of Sydney, N.S., with less than six minutes remaining because of brawling on the ice. He called in police to break up the fights. Finally, Johnson awarded the game to Charlottetown, which led 6-4.

Lebel said the referee "did not enforce CAHA Rule 81 which enables him to demand teams to recommence play within a certain space of time."

REJECTS PROTEST

The Ramparts, a member of Lebel's league, protested Johnson's decision to the CAHA Tuesday and the protest was rejected by Dawson Wednesday.

In addition, Dawson suspended Quebec manager-coach Maurice Filion for the next two games of the series and Jack Hynes, the Islanders' coach, for one game.

Police brutality charged

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — An investigation by Attorney-General J. Elmer Blanchard of Prince Edward Island began Wednesday into allegations of police brutality during a three-period brawl that ended a junior "A" hockey game here Monday.

Police and firemen were called to the arena here to break up a brawl that erupted at about the 14-minute mark of the third period between Quebec Ramparts and Charlottetown Islanders, playing in the second game of a best-of-seven Eastern Canada Memorial Cup semi-final.

Mr. Blanchard said he was acting on a request from Quebec Justice Minister Remi Paul who asked for the investigation in a message Tuesday.

Mr. Paul quoted Quebec newspapers as saying "Charlottetown police attacked on the ice, players of the Ramparts hockey team."

In his reply Wednesday, Mr. Blanchard notified the Quebec minister that an investigation would be carried out. He said in an interview that when a justice
