Always keep a clear head

By Larry McInnis

This story is about a private pilot who ran into unexpected trouble one evening this week. Fortunately he kept his head, and the story has a somewhat happy ending — with a moral: keep thinking, keep calm in the worst emergency, and the chances are you'll come out alright.

Jacques Goulet was in Quebec City this week with an aircraft from the Montreal Flying Club. He flight-planned from Quebec to Montreal to arrive at Cartierville just before last landing, which is one half-hour after official sunset time.

The craft had over three hours fuel on board, which, in itself, was a blessing.

Jacques took off from Quebec alright, but when he was over half-way to Montreal he understood that the weather was socking in at Montreal and, in any case, he would not make it to Cartierville before dark. He could, he thought, make it back to Quebec before dark, so he turned around.

It should be mentioned that Jacques is a private pilot of some experience, and I know he's a good, safe and careful pilot. He hasn't, though, got his night rating or his instrument rating as yet, and this sometimes complicates trips such as the one he was making from Quebec.

Anyway, when he got back over Quebec he found it socked in, although surrounding areas were relatively clear.

This is where the clear thinking came in. He knew in the first place he couldn't make Montreal before dark, and he couldn't get in to Quebec now because of fog, so an important decision had to be made quickly.

He flew to nearby Donnacona and picked a field where he could, if necessary, make a precautionary landing. Even if the field was soft, he thought, he could get in without much damage to the aircraft and none to himself.

Jacques then went back to Quebec and called the tower. The controller fixed Jacques' heading while he "held" over the field. He then called Montreal and verified that instrument conditions were not in effect there.

The controller asked Jacques if he had enough experience to make it back to Montreal at night and Jacques, naturally, replied that he did.

Jacques then flew on to Montreal, making a perfect night landing at Dorval (Cartierville had long since closed down). He then called Quebec tower on the direct telephone line and told the controller there he had made the trip without difficulty.

"The Quebec controller spent a lot of time on the radio with me," Jacques said. "He was a great help and between us we solved the problem."

So, this is a case where a less experienced pilot may have lost his head for a minute and set the aircraft down in a field—and maybe in the wrong field, and caused great damage to the plane and maybe even to himself.

There is no doubt that Jacques did the right thing by going back to Quebec and having the weather verified. Even in broad daylight, more young pilots should remember that. It's silly and senseless to just push on, hoping for the best.

Like I always say: "There are old pilots, and there are bold pilots, but there are no old, bold pilots." And, I'm happy to say, Jacques is determined to be an old pilot.

Montreal Flying Club is planning an addition to their club house at Cartierville. It will take the form of a balcony running off the second-floor lounge and is expected to nearly double the capacity of the lounge.

The addition is meant only for this summer now, but if it proves popular, it will be totally enclosed for next winter.

Yachtsmen meet

The Montreal Model Yacht Club will hold a meeting open to all sailing yacht owners or prospective builders at Victoria Hall this Saturday at 8 p.m. R. Matheson will show color slides of the International Model Yacht Races, 1959 and 1960.

The 29-year-old club sponsors yearly sailing competitions on Beaver Lake. Further details persons interested should call H. M. Davidson, HU. 8-6884 or R. Lavergne, RI. 7-1798.

THE LITTLE PRINCESS

"The Little Princess" put on by The Children's Theatre last Saturday at Victoria Hall and to be repeated tomorrow and Saturday, May 6, was an outstanding success in its initial performance.

The first of three performances of "The Little Princess" put on by The Children's Theatre last Saturday at Victoria Hall was an outstanding success. The play will be repeated tomorrow and on May 6.

The cast of sixty players consisted of younger members of the repertory group. Fern Potoker as Sara Crewe carried the audience of hundreds of children right with her from tears to smiles all the way. She was well supported by the rest of the players.

The four musical numbers were skillfully rendered, Joyce McNair was on hand to welcome the audience and Ted Miller kept the audience happy between acts with his contests and banter. He was helped out by dancing and singing acts which rounded out the program.

Altogether a delightful afternoon was provided. You may well conclude if you are too old to go on your own tomorrow, you should borrow a child who isn't.

Scott named McGill dean

Frank R. Scott, 451 Clarke avenue, internationally known authority on questions of constitutional law, was named this week Dean of the McGill Law Faculty. Dean Scott, longtime resident of Westmount, has been a professor of law at McGill since 1928, the year after he was admitted to the Quebec Bar.

Born in Quebec City in 1899, Dean Scott was educated at Bishops, Magdalen and Oxford and McGill University Law School. His degrees and honors include BA, B Litt, BCL, LL.D, FRSC and MacDonald Professor of Law. He has been at McGill during his entire legal career with several notable exceptions. He spent 1940 at Harvard on a Guggenheim fellowship and was the resident representative of the United Nations in Burma during 1952.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott have one son, Peter.

Railway Association president plans museum start in summer

A dream will come true on July 28 when McGill Professor Robert V. V. Nicholls, 502 Elm avenue, president, Canadian Railway Association breaks sod for the National Rail Transportation Museum to be built near Delson, Quebec. The dream will be that of 19-year-old undergraduate Robert V. V. Nicholls, who in 1932 was the infant charter member of the Association.

Son of Dr. Albert G. Nicholls, well known pathologist and editor of the Canadian Medical Association Journal from 1930 to 1942, and the former Lucia Van Vliet of Lacolle, Robert V. V. Nicholls was born at 972 St. Catherine street on February 18, 1913. Most of his early years were spent in Halifax, Nova Scotia where his father was professor of pathology at Dalhousie University. The family returned to Montreal in time for Robert to attend the last two years of high school at the High School of Montreal.

After obtaining three degrees from McGill, a B. Sc., M. Sc., and a Ph.D., the young chemist was offered a teaching job in the department of chemistry of McGill paying $1,000 per year. This was scarcely a munificent sum, even for 1936, but Dr. Nicholls recalls now, "It was beyond my fondest dreams. I was walking on air all the way up in seventh heaven."

"During the war I did research and joined the COTC. I got to be a major by the time the war was over. They wouldn't let me go overseas, though. Those honors go to my wife, formerly Nora Miner, whom I had met at McGill. We had to wait until she got back from driving an ambulance over in Europe to get married."

"We lived on Aberdeen avenue for several years. Then, when we returned from a year's leave of absence in Cambridge, England we tried Baie d'Urfé for a while before we moved here."

The Nicholls have two daughters, Sally, 15, and Eleanor, 13. The girls both attend Trafalgar, their mother's old school.

Dr. Nicholls has done well in his profession. He is a fellow of the Chemical Institute of Canada, president of the Institute of Textile Science, co-author of a "History of Chemistry in Canada" and author of a textbook in chemistry and numerous research papers. He is in Who's Who in Canada, Canadian Who's Who and the Directory of Directors.

Underneath, however, is that 19-year-old boy who dared to attend the first meeting of members of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society contemplating formation of an association to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Canadian railways in 1936.

Said Dr. Nicholls, "In the spring of 1932 I read a little news item in one of the local papers about this meeting. I had always been interested in railways but I secretly wondered if this interest were not one I should discard as I grew older. I had not realized there were others like me."

"I did not know whether to

The one year scholarship of $2,000 plus travel allowance will enable the teaching fellow on McGill law faculty to do higher study in civil law at the University of Paris, France, Law School.

"My wife, the former Jane Bartlett, who was a reporter for the Westmount Examiner for about a year, will accompany me in September. We plan to stay a year and hope to stay longer."

Mr. Brierley received his BA from Bishops University in 1956, his BCL from McGill in 1959 and was admitted to the Quebec Bar in 1960.

Mrs. Brierley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Bartlett, 458 Argyle avenue.

Visit to Council grand opportunity

THE Current Events Club of Westmount High School, 25 members strong, are showing the way for their elders.

Monday evening they are going to attend the statutory monthly meeting of Westmount City Council.

They are hoping to have a glimpse of the democratic process as applied to government in action — which at the local, municipal level usually is the most immediate and significant in the life of the citizen, even if he seldom seems to appreciate it.

We hope the students will be treated to the real thing — that this does not turn into a special event staged for them. By this we mean we hope that our young people are going to be able to enter the Council chamber under the same right of access as most free people have to their legislatures and hear, without regard to their presence, the discussion which accompanies public business wherever it is dealt with, leading to conclusions and disposal of the business.

This is important. The Examiner long has deplored how the real business, the real discussion, too often is done behind closed doors, behind the "committee of the whole" device which means public business is done in private. The end result is a dull and sterile version of the "open" Council meeting — where the decisions were made hidden from the public eye and ear.

We don't want the Westmount High School Current Events Club to get their idea of law-making from anything but a free and open, unstaged meeting of public representatives.

If these youngsters report home that they witnessed the genuine article, direct interest of adults in the affairs

New resident likes old history

Sir:

I am finding your articles on various streets of the city of a good deal of interest. As a comparative newcomer to Westmount, I am extremely interested in its history, particularly in those bits of history which exist presently not on paper but solely in the minds of the long-time residents.

There are certainly many others like me here in Westmount who would be pleased to have some of the older residents in point of time share their memories with those of us who are not so fortunate as to have been 'born and raised' in Westmount. Also, I think it would help us to share the points of view of the natives on many questions if we knew more of the background.

I confess to a nosy Parker interest in your relating the statistics of my neighbors. However, it is sheer pleasure to read about the good old days in Westmount.

Platter Matter

By BOB KEEN

London: Rossini Overtures. Paris Conservatoire Orchestra, conductor Peter Maag. CM 9257. The many curtainraisers of Giacchino Rossini are exciting light concert music, containing a distinctive sparkling wit and brisk gaiety guaranteed to dispell any listener's doldrums. The fine Paris Conservatoire group gives us crisp, deftly defined readings of the familiar 'William Tell', 'Cinderella', 'Thieving Magpie' and 'Semiramide' overtures, a good representative collection of this racy music for the collection.

Everest: A Commemoration Symphony — Stephen Foster. A Symphony Story of Jerome Kern. The Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra conducted by William Steinberg. LPBR 6063. This is a World Premiere recording of two symphonic suites by the American composer and arranger Robert Russell Bennett. As such they are quietly written potpourri of the best known tunes of master melodists Stephen Foster and Jerome Kern assembled in so-called symphonic form; pleasant fare, well-recorded, but for our taste not utilizing the full effect of the symphony orchestra. Highlight of the Foster suite is a medley featuring The Mendelssohn Choir of Pittsburgh.

Columbia: The American dramatic soprano Eileen Farrell has in recent years been acclaimed as one of the top vocalists before the public today both as a concert soloist and as operatic star, thus climaxing a career of patient, devoted and strenuous work. For a rich sampling of Miss Farrell in these two fields, we recommend ML 5408, Eileen Farrell — Arias in the Great Tradition with operatic arias by Beethoven, Weber, Cherubini and Gluck, written in the tradition when sopranos had to cope with the large formidable halls of the period.

Perhaps more interesting to the vocal connoisseur is An Eileen Farrell Song Recital on ML 5484, with four groups of songs by Schubert, Schumann, Debussy and Poulenc, superbly accompanied by George Trovillo at the piano. Full English texts of the songs are provided enhancing their appeal, and on both discs the pure tone, meticulous diction and delivery of this great voice, predominates.

Selby street 'cosmopolitan' too

By JACK FEATHERSTONE

Selby street, in lowest Westmount, is only three blocks long. It starts at Atwater, crosses Brooke and Greene avenues and comes to an end at Hallowell street, known, until a few years ago as Rose de Lima street.

Composed mostly of three and four flat dwellings, the street is rather shabby-looking as you enter from Atwater but brightens up considerably as you proceed to the opposite end.

Most of the properties are managed by trust companies, or absentee landlords who seem to care little about the condition of their source of income. In all fairness, I have to admit that one block of eight houses and several garages in the rear owned by a single family, are kept in excellent condition. These were acquired, I understand, many years ago from a well-known race track fan.

Because Selby street is on a hill, most of the bottom flats are "up-and-downstairs" affairs, with entrances in the front about thirty feet higher than those in the back.

When I moved to Selby some thirty-three years ago, the pavement went only as far as the Selby Grange, an old mansion turned into apartments. I have heard the Grange was the center of a large estate which stretched out from the C.P.R. tracks, encompassed the site where the buildings of the Charles E. Frosst Co. Ltd., now stand, as well as Selby Park, and extended as far south as Notre Dame street. A dirt road and a boardwalk went as far as the old Massey-Harris building at the end of the street. I was a mere lad when the City paved the street as far as Rose de Lima.

Selby is a street of very fine trees, and pretty gardens. There is a huge chestnut tree a few hundred feet from the Selby Grange where I used to get chestnuts when I was a boy. I understand that it still yields a good crop for the youngsters of today.

For many years now, the C.P.R. has permitted the tenants on the north side of the street the use of the rich loam alongside its right-of-way for truck gardens. Several Italian families have combined their efforts, and reaped a good harvest for several years now. This garden is just across the street from me, and brings a touch of country atmosphere when I sit out in the front of a summer's evening.

The vacant lot on the northwest corner of Greene avenue, where I used to play baseball in the summer, football in the fall, and go sliding on in the winter has long been filled in, and is now used as a parking lot for many of the street's car owners.

You might call Selby a cosmopolitan street. Although the majority of the residents are French or English, there are a goodly number of Irish, Scotch, Italian, a Hindu, a French Protestant family (a rarity in Quebec), Japanese, Jewish, and several colored families — all living together in peace and harmony.

If I were asked to choose the most respected and best-loved person on the street, I would nominate the Reverend C. E. Combe, of St. Jude's Anglican Church. He has lived on the street for as long as I can remember, and is the most understanding person I have ever met. Everybody, regardless of race or creed, has gone to him for counsel at one time or another — I have done so myself, for that matter — and have come away feeling the benefit of his wisdom.

There are several landmarks on Selby; the most notable being the impressive entrance of the Frosst Building. Years ago, a tennis court occupied that spot, but during the late war, it was rarely used, so the Frosst people, needing room for expansion, bought the site, and built on it. They have made such progress during our years on Selby that they have bought many hundreds of feet of land once part of the Park, and, we assume, will buy more as they continue to prosper.

The second landmark is the Selby Grange, of which I have already spoken. The third selection, in my opinion, is the Selby Grocery, a small handy store, run by a fine chap, affectionately called "Harry" by everyone. The building which houses his store, and the dwelling above it is the topic of conversation for everyone seeing it for the first time. They wonder how a family can live in such a narrow place. This is an illusion however as there is plenty of room inside.

Quite a few of the residents on Selby today are second-generation householders; having grown up, married, and taken over their parents' flats as they passed away, or moved elsewhere.

Selby street gave up quite a number of its young men during World War II. Some were killed, but the majority of them came back to settle down with their families. The Murphy family gave six boys to the R.C.N., and they all returned home safely. One of them, Bill, was a Commando.

Selby is a thorn in the Fire Department's side; there have been so many false alarms in the years we have lived here that it is impossible to count them. Most of them have been rung in by young punks from the St. Henri District who have nothing better to do. I recall one night when there were three false alarms rung in from the box at Brooke and Selby. These were spaced in hourly intervals, but the joker who pulled them was caught in the act, and is now a guest of the Authorities, and will be, for some time to come.

Although the Fire Department comes down on many false alarms, there have been a few nasty fires on the street. The most spectacular blaze I have witnessed occurred many years ago in a dwelling right next to the Park. It took several streams, and hours of back-breaking work on the part of the firemen to put it out. Another fire of lesser importance caused slight damage to several sheds in the rear of a flat we once rented.

There used to be two dairies on the street. Buchanan's was in the rear northwest corner of Brooke, and Brown's was in the rear of the southeast side. They decided to merge, calling the new firm the Brown-Buchanan Dairy.

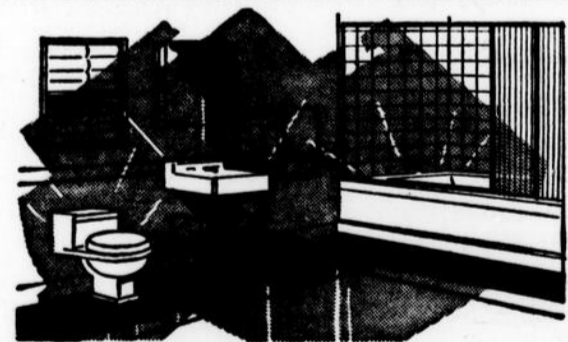

This did not last long however, and made them close up shop, leaving the Brown building deserted, but for the rats and other foul creatures. I understand there was a beaut of a fire there which gutted the building completely. The City later demolished it as a menace.

Bye the bye, there was a hold-up at Brown's Dairy in which Mr. Brown was slightly injured. I am uncertain as to whether the thugs were ever caught.

will be a church parade and march past by the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. Montreal, starting at 1:15 from the Athletic Grounds, behind the new high school on St. Catherine street. Entry to the Athletic Grounds is by Hillside lane.

Line of march is north on Hillside lane, north on Kensington to Western, then west on Western avenue to the reviewing stand between Melville and Lansdowne avenues in Westmount Park. The parade will pass the reviewing stand at 3:30.

The City is shaping up the traffic changes due to the new high school and Reader's Digest building, to be put into operation before school opens in the fall.

It is also getting geared up for capital works to be done this summer and early fall.

The word for the week from the Police Department is to watch it at stop signs. Don't just stop and go, stop short of the crosswalk and proceed only when safe. The same technique is recommended when coming out of lanes, driveways and buildings. Apparently, this is the currently

Lights out, cars collide

The extent to which motorists depend upon traffic lights was pointed up last Friday night when two cars went through an intersection during a power failure involving the signals and barged into each other.

Both Roger Moyer, 24, 6385-39 avenue, Rosemount, driving north on St. Catherine, and Clifford Goodwin, 17, 38-51 avenue, Lachine, proceeding west on Western, said they noted the traffic lights at Western avenue and St. Catherine street were not in operation before entering the intersection.

Sergeant L. Parliament, Westmount police officer on duty at the Station, reported that at 7:40 p.m. a woman living at 4917 Western avenue called to report the lights out in her house. A check at the Power House did not disclose the cause of the trouble.

At 8 p.m. a man called to report the automobile accident and the failure of the traffic lights.

Temporary stop signs were set out at once and power was restored by 9 p.m.

Rotary sends girl to Ottawa

The Westmount Rotary Club has selected Susan Copeland, 400 Kensington avenue, to spend May 8 to 11 in Ottawa learning how Canada is governed.

Susan will be one of 194 girls and boys from all over the country who will take part in the Ottawa Rotary Club's 10th annual "Adventure in Citizenship".

The grade 11 student at Westmount High School is the daughter of Mrs. I. H. Copeland. She was selected on the basis of scholastic standing, participation in school activities and her ability in public speaking.

In Ottawa, she will see the opening of Parliament ceremonies May 9. She will tour Parliament, Government House, the National Gallery and the RCMP barracks and crime laboratories. On the agenda are a series of lectures on Government and political science and a showing of the present and future Ottawa by the National Capital Commission.

Obey the law and lose

At 5:09 p.m., April 19, just at rush hour, motorist Arnold Bolduc, 207 Sir G. E. Cartier, found out he couldn't win when Traffic Officer Norman Myles signalled him to stop and Leopold Dufresne, Chateauguay, plowed into him from the rear.

Mr. Dufresne is reported by the police as saying, "I was proceeding west on Dorchester crossing Atwater when the driver in front of me stopped after signalling he was going to make a left turn onto Atwater. I couldn't stop to avoid hitting him."

Trade with Britain, pleas Commissioner

United Kingdom Trade Commissioner, Arnold Heckle, 7 Lorraine avenue, spoke to the Westmount Rotary Wednesday on "St. George and Other Things" in honor of St. George's Day.

Mr. Heckle led off by commenting on the fitness of a day dedicated to the immortal memory of the patron saint of England after all the fuss made by the Irish and the Scots about St. Patrick and St. Andrew.

He went on, "I suppose there are some Scots here. Goodness knows, they are everywhere".

A brief rundown on St. George who was martyred "some little time ago . . . April 23, 303" followed and then, "I don't propose to burden you with the details of his life, mainly because nobody knows them".

"St. George was demoted last week by the Vatican for just that reason, because nobody knows much about St. George".

"In the middle of the 19th century that American, Ralph Waldo Emerson, wrote to John Ruskin and accused St. George of being a war profiteer who was slain by the people he chiseled".

"We English haven't always agreed with the Vatican or the Americans either and in this case I think it is better that we believe the nicer story of St. George rescuing the fair maid from the dragon".

"The Trade Commissioner then got serious on the advantages of the advantages of the Commonwealth to its members and the good fortune of the Commonwealth in having the stabilizing and unifying influence of the monarchy.

He compared the Commonwealth to "a double bridge between the United States, the countries of western Europe and the Commonwealth countries", and urged that "trade problems of the Commonwealth be placed prior to trade with Europe by its members".

He pointed out the importance to Canada of Britain continuing to purchase large percentages of Canadian exported butter, cheese, tobacco, plywood, tallow, apples, honey and salmon, also rye whiskey. He said "In 1960 Britain finished up with a trade deficit of over $300,000,000 with Canada".

He asked for a bigger slice of the Canadian import cake on behalf of Britain, then presented President Ron Mackay with samples of all the items enumerated as exported by Canada to Britain.

Tony comes third in Rotary public speaking contest

Anthony Hancock, 32 Shorn-cliff avenue, tied for third place in the final competition of the public speaking contest for boys, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Montreal Tuesday at the Queen Elizabeth hotel. The grade 12 Lower Canada College student received a bronze medal and a bursary of $150 to be paid upon entry into university.

Tony tied in the second semi-final contest before the Westward Rotary last Thursday and won a preliminary bout before the Westmount Rotary March 9.

Egan Chambers, 251 Kensington avenue, MP and Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of National Defence, and Dr. Michael Oliver, 4343 Montrose avenue, McGill political scientist, will participate in a four-man panel sponsored by the Voice of Women of Quebec next Tuesday, 8:30 p. m. in Victoria Hall.

"Should Canada Accept or Reject Nuclear Arms" is the topic to be discussed. Mr. Chambers will argue in favor of acceptance and Dr. Oliver in favor of rejection.

Mayor J. C. Cushing, in a public statement, urged the citizens of Westmount to attend the meeting.

He stated "no generation has had a greater need to be well informed. Organizations which sponsor debates and discussions on current public problems merit the support and active participation of the public."

The mayor went on to say, "the possession and use of nuclear weapons is, in my view, one of the most important issues before us today."

Two persons hurt as autos collide

Two persons were hurt early yesterday morning when the car in which they were riding was involved in a two-car crash at Cavendish and Chester.

Injured were Fernand Erian, 37, 5230 Cumberland avenue, driver of one of the vehicles, and Mrs. Anna Lichaa, 23, of 7030 Cote St. Luc road, a passenger in Mr. Erian's car. Both were taken to Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

The other car, driven by Richard Mitchell, 22, of 105 Somerville avenue, Westmount, was westbound on Chester at the time. Mr. Erian's car was travelling south on Cavendish.

REAL PRODUCER

With the advent of the new season we might remember that farming is perhaps the most manifold and complex of all arts. The farmer's occupation is unique in that it is the only occupation that is productive in the real sense of the word. The earth is made to yield and increase . . . There are other extractive industries but this one is essentially originaive. —Fort Frances (Ont.) Times.

Resurrection IV
by
The Venerable
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

A theologian writing lately has said that the most disquieting thing about modern Christianity is its indifference to the future life. It was far otherwise in the early church. Then the hope of life eternal was a very real incentive to the good life. Today in the pride of our humanism we do not feel the need of any incentive. We almost scorn the idea of a reward for serving God. It is as though we said to an equal: "I can stand on my own feet. I am glad to be on good terms with you, but I do not want to be rewarded for it." We ignore the majesty of God; we are utterly unaware of the other-ness of God. That is precisely the sin of Adam: he "would be as God," he wanted to avoid being dependent on God. He had been given dominion over the earth; but he did not like the idea of being dependent on the Giver.

Today we have to a large extent made good our dominion over the earth. It has had the effect of making us satisfied with earthly things. When most men and women had to endure hardship and misery; when their lives were threatened by recurrent plagues, they were glad to look into the future and see the glory that awaited them. Now we have substituted comfort for the hope of glory and we feel that if we have achieved 70 or 80 years of comfort and well-being that we have done very well by our selves. In fact, we have grown weary and we do not too much mind if we cease to exist. We forget that there is still sorrow and trouble, and that there are many thousands even in our country who have had little happiness in this world.

To all this the Resurrection is an answer. To the sorrowful it says: Your Lord entered through suffering into His glory, and through faith you can share in His glory. To the happy and prosperous it says: This life does not continue forever; but there is a life that does continue, and you attain to it by faith: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above."

Our trouble is that we think of Heaven as being only a continuation of earth—everlasting life—and we are mildly bored by the idea. Think instead of the pro-go to the meeting or not. I was a little diffident because I was not a member of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society. However, I presented myself at the Chateau de Ramezay at the appointed time and found myself, a callow youth in a group of mature business and professional men, a number of them prominent in the affairs of the city.

"I have always remembered how these men treated me. They were warm and friendly, not cool and aloof. That night they organized the Canadian Railway Association. These men not only welcomed me even though I was not a member of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society, they made me a charter member of the Railway Association. They said, 'You've come and showed your interest so you will be like the rest of us.' Now, 29 years later I am president and preparing to commemorate the 125th anniversary of Canadian railways this July 28."

"Those men dreamed of the museum which is now about to become a reality. We have the exhibits. We have the site. Now, it is a matter of building the display hall and annex and bringing trackage into the property."
"No, we don't own the site. We lease it from Canada Creosoting Company for $1 per year. We have a 25-year lease with the right to renew indefinitely. It is very nicely situated for our purposes. You take the road from Delson to Saint Constant which leads off the New York to Montreal Route 9c half a mile to the property which makes it handy to motorists. Those who come by train can take the CNR, the CPR or the Napierville Junction Railway.
"People who drive will be able to park just off the road and walk across a bridge over the St. Pierre river to the exhibits. We think it is going to be lovely. There are trees, picnic facilities will be available along the river so that families can make a day of it. We plan to landscape to keep the rural beauty and fill in any bare spots."
"Along the edge of the property we are going to run tram cars, especially the old open air ones about which there is so much nostalgia among those of us who are over 35. Then the kids can see what they missed by not living in 'the good old days.'"
"The main exhibit hall will not be heated. That is where we will keep the rolling stock on parallel tracks. There will be no columns to interfere with good snapshots of the locomotives."
"The archives annex will be heated. That is where we will keep books, maps, old street car transfers, records of historic interest, all the smaller items of historic interest to students of railways and tram cars."

He reached into the desk and got out a box containing a customs slip and a rusted old spike. "Here's a piece of history to hold in your hand. This is the actual last spike driven by Lord Strathcona November 7, 1885 in the Canadian Pacific Railway when it spanned the continent."
"It was loaned to the Association by the present Lord Strathcona and now I have to return it. You'll notice there is a chunk removed. That happened when

Sir George alumni to honor chancellor

The Association of Alumni of Sir George Williams University will be honoring B. W. Roberts, OBE, DCL, 4300 Western Avenue, Chancellor of the university; H. F. Hall, BA, LRE, LLD, DD, 125 Percival Avenue, Montreal West, principal and vice-chancellor; and C. W. Thompson, MA, presently of Ormond Beach, Florida, and formerly a resident of Montreal West and of Westmount, professor emeritus, at a reception and banquet to be held in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel Friday, May 12 at 6:30 p.m.

some tourist took a nick out of it while going through the Strathcona ancestral home in Scotland."

Then he palmed a honey golden gavel. "Here's something else you might be interested in. This is the Association's presidential gavel. It is made out of the buffer beam, bumper to you, of an old Montreal streetcar."

"You wanted to know what is going into our exhibit. Here's some news. Ottawa just donated two tram cars dating from the 1890s."

"CNR and CPR are holding 12 locomotives each for us. Then Dominion Bridge is housing Sir William Van Horne's private car on their Lachine siding for us. This is a great treasure because it is part of the first train to cross Canada in 1885. It was there when Lord Strathcona drove that final spike."

"There are others. The oldest locomotive we have dates from 1870. It just operated here in the East, of course, as you could not cross Canada by train until a little more than 85 years ago."

"What are the facts about our Association? Well, as I told you it started back in 1932. There were 12 charter members who were joined by 13 more members that year to make a total of 25 members for the first year."

"Now we have 600 members all over Canada with a few in the U.S. and overseas. Of this number 200 are right here in Montreal."

"Our meetings are held at 8 p.m. on the second Wednesday of each month except during July and August. Our dues at $3 per year. They were $2 when we started."

"During meetings we have lectures, show films and twice a year we hold auctions of relics of Canadian railway history, old tickets, timetables, books, pictures and other items. During July and August we go on excursions which draw people from all over the country and from other countries as well."

"I don't mind telling you, we make quite a bit of money from these excursions."

"In 1936 our income was $58.23. We got dues from 29 members that year, plus 23c. bank interest. Now, thanks to the excursions, we are operating in a net of four figures to the left of the decimal point."

"Now, we are faced with the prospect of raising several hundred thousand dollars for our museum. This is something the charter members would not have dreamed of attempting, ambitious though we were."

"One custom which those charter members began which we have retained is to name the president of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society honorary president of our Association. This is a matter of sentiment, the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society having given birth to our organization so to speak. So Donald F. Angus, 636 Roslyn Avenue, is the honorary president of the Canadian Railway Association."

"This looking back makes me realize, we have gone places in the last 29 years. Looking ahead makes me wonder where the Association will go in the next 29. Wherever it goes, I think I'll go for the ride."

ment this week. Messrs. Meloche and Fitch have been cutting the hair of several generations of Westmounters since 1927.

Last hair cut in Westmount this week by Fitch, Meloche

This week sees the end of an institution when the Westmount Barber Shop at Elm and St. Catherine closes its doors and Harry Fitch and Harvey Meloche move their business out to Roxboro.

"We've been cutting hair in Westmount since 1927, first at Ross's for 12 years and then in our own place on St. Catherine street," said Harry Fitch. "I guess we've been into just about every home in Westmount to cut hair when one of our customer is sick."

"We hate to go after so many years, though, of course, in a way we are looking forward to it as something new. The district here is changing and the rents are all going way up, too high for us."

"We've had many of our customers since they were little boys and now we are taking care of their sons. This fellow here, Bill Soden, used to live on Elm avenue. He moved but still comes up here to get his hair cut. I've been cutting Doug Helsby's hair for 20 years. Jerry Fitzpatrick, who is the General Contractor on the job of building the addition to Loyola, has been coming in here since he was a kid."

"Dr. G. Martin Rondeau, the dentist up the street here, has been coming in for about 35 years now. Denis Heward of Tolhurst Fuels is another who has been coming in since boyhood."

"So long, Harry. So long, Bill." "Then too there is Dr. D. M. Grant of St. Andrew's United. He has been coming in for the past 10 years or so, ever since he came to Westmount."

"Allan Gordon in the chair here, he's sales manager at Celtic Knitting, has been coming in for 30 years or so now. What are you now, Allan, about 35? He used to sit on that cushion there when I cut his hair. Now his three sons come in for their haircuts and sit on it."

"Another man who has been coming in here for 30 years is Boyd Robson of Robson Printers."

"Yes, what we'll miss are the customers. We are throwing away our cushion for the kids. It is pretty beat up by now. But we are taking our barber chairs, the cash register and all our other furniture. We are getting the barber chairs reupholstered so they'll look new for the new place."

"Good luck, Harvey. Thanks a lot Allan."

Society conducts scientific survey

The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada is conducting a survey to determine whether multiple sclerosis is more common in colder climates than in southern warm climates, it was disclosed by D. L. Inwood, president, at the annual meeting of the society, held Monday in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel.

A scientific survey conducted 10 years ago showed the disease was six times more prevalent in Winnipeg than in New Orleans, and led to surveys being made in other countries in the higher northern and southern latitudes. Findings are being evaluated, Mr. Inwood said.

Message of the Dawn

Yesterday is a dream, — tomorrow unknown,
But today calls for action, and growth,
A challenge to life, and to you is this day, —
A farewell to sadness, and sloth.
A new world at your feet,
A new dawn in your sky,
New victory waiting for you,
Hope sings in your heart, as you welcome the dawn,
Of this day when your dreams will come true.

St. Leo's will honor top athletes Friday

St. Leo's Sport Social will be held tonight in the Oak room of Victoria Hall. Presentation of Athletic awards won during the past hockey season will highlight the programme. A full house is expected which will include students, parents and friends of the Academy.

Connie Nucci, 16-year-old fourth high student and co-captain of the classy junior hockey team, will receive top billing when Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Papointe, P.P., will present Nucci with trophy donated annually by Msgr. Lapointe. Nucci, a fine young athlete and an excellent student was a very popular choice for this coveted award.

Peter Rassenti, who showed fine form as the bantam goaler will receive the Catholic Mothers Club trophy. Rassenti was selected as St. Leo's outstanding junior athlete for 1960-61.

The Hon. George C. Marler trophy will go to Peter Johnson, co-captain and mainstay on the junior hockey club defense. Johnson was selected by his teammates and though he was given some tough opposition in the voting from Fred Fisher and Tony Tyrrell, he came out on top to receive well earned recognition.

The most improved hockey player award will be received by popular Fred Fisher. He is a fast stepping pivot man on the junior hockey team, game in and game out, probably the most consistent player. The Catholic Mothers Club trophy was won by Fisher.

Bill Dubue, manager of St. Leo's curlers during the past season, will be the recipient of the John Rogers Memorial trophy for Sportsmanship. He did a big league job managing the affairs of the curlers and is highly regarded by staff and students alike for his fine sense of sportsmanship.

The bantam hockey players at a recent meeting, held a vote to decide on the Most Valuable Hockey player and after votes were compiled, it turned out to be Jimmy Fennell by a wide margin. Jimmy is rated one of the top hockey prospects in the school and will receive the Bob Lunny trophy.

The donor of this trophy needs no introduction to sport followers. He is a former St. Leo's athlete who was prominent in football, hockey and boxing. He is expected to be on hand for the presentation.

The social will start at 8.30 p.m. with the presentations at 10 p.m. The student executive helping to run this affair wish to extend a cordial invitation to all parents to attend.

Frank Coffey Thistle head

Frank Coffey was elected president of the Thistle Curling Club for the 1961-62 season at the club's annual meeting.

Coffey replaces Jack Clifford who will remain on the board for one more year as past-president.

New directors added to the board for the forthcoming season include Fred Fairman, Paul Hinchy and Stuart Meldrum.

Directors to continue on the board are J. M. McAvity, vice-president; 'Red' Mackenzie, H. Lauer, W. F. Wansbrough and H. S. van Patter.

P. W. Hollingworth, E. W. Young and N. E. Kenrick are the retiring directors. Rev. Dr. Malcolm Campbell and Rev. Frank Mackenzie were renominated as honorary chaplains.

Les Weldon was returned as archivist and Hugh Jacques continues as the chairman of the club's annual golf tournament.

Mt. Royal Tennis opens new season

The Mount Royal Tennis Club has been very busy getting the clubhouse and courts ready for the summer season. The house and bar were opened last Saturday, and some courts will be ready for play Saturday, April 29.

Schedule of events for opening weeks of the season will be announced shortly. An informal party is to be held in the clubhouse April 29.

Mt. Allison gridgers elect team captain

Sackville, N.B. (Special) — Mount Allison Mounties got an early start on football. They held a team meeting to choose next year's captain. Earlier this month more than 60 hopefuls turned out for spring practice. Only members of last year's Varsity were given a vote for the team captain.

They again choose Ed Rieger, Pointe Claire. The six foot 200 lbs. defensive end played two years with Rosemount High School, two years with the Dominion Champions Shearwater Flyer and enters his fourth year with coach Gus MacFarlane at Mount Allison.

The boys now settle down to serious studying as they prepare for their final exams. With 22 of last year's team returning coach MacFarlane is hopeful that academic failures will be kept at a minimum and that most of the boys will make their passing mark and return eligible to play. Nevertheless, coach Gus will have to be on the lookout to replace some very experienced players who graduate this year. Arnold Sanders, Montreal and Dave Cuthbertson, Sackville, graduates have been offered a tryout with the Montreal Alouettes. Bob McLaren, George Lust and Sherwood Crawford graduate and move on to further academic work. Football camp will begin September 11.

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS

1. DEPREDATE, more likely. Those who DEPREDATE, or plunder, a mansion may envy the owner his wealth, for such crimes are committed by those who covet what others have and lack the desire to work for what they want. DEPREDATE is not certain; one might criticize a mansion for being showy, ugly, etc.

6. TRACTS is best. Overgrown TRACTS, or areas of land, at the fringe of a community may indicate that it has failed to expand, for if it had, such land would have been cleared and improved. Overgrown TRACKS may merely indicate that street cars have given way to bus systems. TRACES is remote.

9. SLEEP is preferred. One might take time to SLEEP, as to take a nap, before an evening out to be fresh for the event. One is likely to take time to SLEEK before going out, day or night.

10. JAPER, yes. A class JAPER may call forth a stern lecture from the teacher, for she may consider his jeers impertinent. One CAPER may amuse the teacher as well as the student. A PAPER may meet with approval. GAPER is vague.

13. MOPE is favored. A MOPE, as a listless individual, may pass unnoticed elsewhere by fading into the background, but may stand out in an office, where some display of energy is required. It is not likely that a MODE that is unsuitable in an office would be suitable everywhere else. MOLE is remote.

17. TEST is required. A poorly worded TEST may create problems for students, for it may leave them in doubt as to what information is required of them. TEXT is not as sure; a teacher can answer any questions to clear it up.

20. VERBAL is inclusive. A boy's VERBAL exaggerations may get on people's nerves, whether they are due to his VERNAL, or youthful, estate or to a personality defect.

25. MOLD is preferred. The MOLD, or cast, of an individual may determine his reaction to a situation, for people respond to anything in accordance with their characters. A MOOD may be momentary and superficial; one is likely to snap out of it when called on to react to a new situation.

26. AIM, yes. A coach may consider a young athlete's steady AIM, or purpose, a sign that he is a good prospect for such an individual may be expected to work unflinchingly at improving his technique and stay zealously in training. A steady ARM may display good muscular control, but if purpose is lacking, nothing may come of it.

30. ACCLAMATION is better. A young actress may find that ACCLAMATION, or applause, is a cure for stage fright, for she may draw reassurance from the knowledge that she is giving a good performance. ACCLIMATION is not as sure; she will always find herself in new parts, in new theatres, with new casts.

DOWN

1. DISSEAT is preferred. A club president may claim unfair treatment if members DISSEAT him in his absence, for he may claim that he should have had a chance to defend himself. If they DISSECT him in his absence, he may never hear about it. DISSECT, or discuss, is uncertain; the talk may be complimentary.

4. TRAP, yes. It may be useless to try to avoid a TRAP in the woods, for such a device is likely to be too well hidden. One can avoid a TRIP, or stumble, by looking where one is going.

7. CORONET is the word. The involvement of a CORONET, as a crown, may make a death of public interest, for this may indicate the passing of royalty which could be of worldwide importance. CORONER is not as likely; a CORO-

down specific characteristics. SIDE is vague; his mother's SIDE may include mongrels as well as pedigreed dogs. SITE and SIZE are remote.
