KILLED HUSBAND; GETS TEN YEARS

SASKATCHEWAN WOMAN IS SENTENCED TO TERM OF
CONFINEMENT IN PENITEN-TIARY.

Saskatoon, Sask., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Dora White, convicted last Saturday of manslaughter for killing her husband, George White, at Govan, on June 2, was sentenced this afternoon to ten years' confinement at Prince Albert penitentiary. John Goldspinks, convicted this afternoon of being an accessory after the fact, received a five years' sentence.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR HUNTINGDON

MR. ANDREW PHILLIPS IS THE CHOSEN SUCCESSOR TO LATE MR. W. H. WALKER.

Huntingdon, Que., October 2.—The Huntingdon County Liberal Association met here today in the county building to nominate a candidate to replace the late W. H. Walker, member of the Legislative Assembly for thirteen years.

Two nominees were placed before the convention, Mr. Andrew Phillips, auctioneer and insurance agent of Huntingdon, and Mr. R. W. Blair, furniture dealer of Hemmingford. The first ballot stood Phillips 39, and Blair 33, and up to the fifth ballot there was little change, the vote then standing Phillips 41 and Blair 31. Out of the 75 delegates of the association, 72 were present, and it looked as if the deadlock would not be broken and the required two-thirds cast for either candidate. At this point, however, Mr. Blair withdrew in favor of Mr. Phillips and the latter's nomination was made unanimous.

RURAL LABORERS IN WANT OF RELIEF

SUMMARY OF ENGLISH LAND REPORT SHOWS NEED FOR IMPROVEMENT.

London, Oct. 2.—A summary of the first part of the land inquiry report, on which will be based the next step of the government's program of social legislation, has been made public and shows the pressing need of relief for rural laborers.

The report, which is made under the direction of David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, states that the wages now paid do not allow the level of physical efficiency to be maintained. The question, it is urged, is the more pressing because since 1900 prices have risen disproportionately to wages. Objection is shown to a increasing degree by laborers to the wages being partly paid in kind. The laborer feels the long hours and the absence of holidays nearly as much as the lowness of wages. The loss of wages through wet weather is a strong subject of complaint.

A surprising feature of the report is the absence of any reference to the much discussed minimum wage of $5 a week.

BILL IN WILSON'S HANDS TONIGHT FOR SIGNATURE

SENATE PASSED CONFERENCE
REPORT ON TARIFF MEAS-URE YESTERDAY.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The Democratic tariff revision bill probably will be in the hands of President Wilson for his signature by tomorrow night. The Senate at the end of a listless debate passed the conference report at 8:30 o'clock tonight by a vote of 36 to 17, only four more than the necessary quorum of the Senate.

BECOMES LAW SOON.
Senators La Follette, Republican, and Poinsett, Progressive, voted for the bill on its passage and Senators Randall and Thornton, Democrats, voted against it, as they did against the bill. Otherwise it was a strict party vote.

Immediately after the passage of the conference report, acting on motions made by Chairman Simmons, of the Finance Committee, the Senate rejected the Smith-Lever compromise cotton futures tax amendment passed by the House Tuesday; and then receded from its own amendment known as the Clarke cotton futures tax plan. Both of these motions were carried without roll calls and their effect is to leave the cotton futures question out of the tariff bill so far as the Senate is concerned.

The bill will be returned to the House early tomorrow.

It was thought at the capital tonight that the bill would become a law Saturday. Anticipating such a conclusion to the tariff revision fight the Treasury Department was busy today making final preparations to put the new rates of duty into effect on all foreign merchandise on the day following the signature of the bill by the President. It is expected that millions of dollars worth of imported goods now held in bond will be withdrawn for distribution in this country within two or three days after the new tariff rates become effective.

The eight and one-half hours of debate in the Senate today produced little real criticism of the tariff bill or the conference agreement. Chief interest centered in the speech of Senator Penrose, who raised the standard of the angora goat over the Democratic party and moved the Senate to continued bursts of laughter with his allusion to the new duty that had been put on angora wool. The principal criticisms of the conference committee came from Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, whose amendment imposing a tax of $1.10 a gallon on spirits used to fortify sweet wines had been dropped out by the conferees; and from Senator Borah, whose amendment prohibiting the importation of goods made by child labor also had been eliminated.

LANCASHIRE STRIKE APPEARS SERIOUS

AS MANY AS 650,000 SPINNERS
MAY BE OUT OF WORK
WITHIN A WEEK.

Bolton, England, Oct. 2.—Until the meeting of the Federation of the Master Cotton Spinners' Association on Oct. 10 no further steps will be taken to secure the return of the employees of the Lancashire mills, whose strike has caused a great lock-out. It is feared, however, that the suspension of all yard spinning before that time will throw 650,000 persons directly affected out of work. Possibly as many more are indirectly dependent on the industry.

The employees maintain that the Master Spinners are animated by a desire to bring about a stoppage because of the high price of cotton, which makes the profits small, but the employers assert that the principle of the maintenance of their right to control their own mills is at stake. On the other hand the unionists deny any desire to adopt syndicalism, and assert that the executive have done all possible to persuade the Bolton strikers to return to work.

ALDERMAN PLEADS GUILTY TO BIGAMY.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 2.—Ex-Alderman Sydney Miller, who was until last January a member of the Vancouver City Council, pleaded guilty today to a charge of bigamy, and sentence was suspended until Saturday. Miller obtained his divorce in Seattle and then married a woman there, bringing her to Vancouver. The Seattle divorce does not hold good in British Columbia.

The Serbs are advancing and a decisive battle is expected near Pristina. Anarchy prevails in Albania, where the provisional government now disavows all connection with the uprising against Serbia.

PRISONER ACQUITTED.

Saskatoon, Sask., Oct. 2.—Accused of taking a bank check that belonged to Sam Kovish, a grocer, here, Clinton B. Maxwell of Ottawa, was acquitted in the Superior Court and discharged from custody. The charge grew out of a real estate deal and the jury was out but a few minutes.

SHIPWRECKED CREW REACH BALTIMORE

FIFTY-FOUR PERSONS FROM BURNT STEAMER ARE LAND-ED SAFELY.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 2.—Fifty-four shipwrecked persons from the British freight steamer Templemore, which was burned at sea eight hundred miles east of Virginia Capes were brought here tonight by the Hamburg-American steamer Arcadia. No lives were lost and no one was seriously injured. The hulk of the burned vessel is believed now to be beneath the waters of the Atlantic. The value of the vessel and her cargo is estimated at $700,000, covered by insurance.

GRATEFUL TO CAPTAIN.

Beside the crew there were aboard the ill-fated vessel William Thomas, a consular passage, and a stowaway named McCormick. All signed a testimonial to Captain George Boldt and the crew of the Arcadia in which deep gratitude was expressed for the prompt manner in which the rescue was effected.

Captain Isaac Jones of the Templemore, which left Baltimore for Liverpool last Saturday, said the fire was discovered at 11:30 Monday night in the hold where cotton was stored and it was his belief that it was caused by spontaneous combustion.

"I ordered the hold flooded by means of the fire fighting apparatus which we had in every part of the ship," said Captain Jones, "besides two powerful streams of water were sent into the ventilators just above the burning cotton."

"Within twenty minutes the fire reached the oil and lumber which was stored next to the cotton, and an explosion which shook the vessel from stem to stern occurred. I ordered the wireless operator to send out an 'S. O. S.' Word came at 11:50 that the Arcadia, 50 miles away, had heard our call, and was coming at full speed. Still, we fought the blaze, my men appearing unimpaired of the danger."

"The fire reached the engine room so quickly that the steering gear was put out of commission within five minutes after the fire began. The pumps were still working, however, and we managed to keep going until nearly 1 o'clock. Finally Edward Emmanuel, the wireless operator, reporting the lights were out in his room and the current he used was practically useless."

"Emmanuel ordered candles and with the aid of his reserve storage battery he kept in communication with the Arcadia for fifteen minutes longer. Then his batteries failed."

"I saw we had done the best we could and three boats were lowered. No man left the ship until he received instructions to do so from me. I have never heard of men who behaved so admirably under such trying conditions. It was a few minutes after 1 o'clock when I left the ship. All on board preceded me to the boats."

"Our experience in the small boats was the worst of all. A storm was raging and the wind nearly upset our slender bottoms. Under such conditions, however, we managed to keep our boats' heads to the wind until 3:05 o'clock, when the Arcadia came along."

"Many of the crew were seasick and exhausted. Some were so weak they had to be lifted out of the boats."

"When the Arcadia started toward Baltimore the Templemore was aflame from bow to stern."

TRAFFIC THROUGH

SAULT ST. MARIE CANAL

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 2.—The monthly statistical report of traffic through St. Mary's canal, published today, shows a falling off from that of August of this year, but still is an increase over any month of last year. The total freight carried by 3,182 vessels for September amounted to 10,910,265 tons, against 11,489,442 for the month of August, carried by 3,440 vessels. While the vessel passages were 1,160 more than through the Canadian canal, the total tonnage through the Canadian side exceeded the American side by 1,545,695 tons.

COURT ADJOURNS IN SULZER TRIAL UNTIL MONDAY

Attorneys for Governor Will Spend the Interval in Perfecting Their Plans

SENATOR HINMAN ILL.

Man Who Will Outline Defence Causes Associates Much Worry.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Only a brief session of the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer was held today and then an adjournment until Monday afternoon was granted by presiding Judge Cullen. This was done in order that the attorneys for the Governor might have time to perfect their plans for opening their case. Judge D. Cady Herrick, chief of the counsel for the defence, said he and his associates doubtless would be ready to proceed Monday.

SUFFERS FROM INSOMNIA.

The illness of Harvey D. Hinman, who plans to open the case for the defence, is causing his associates much worry. He is able to be about the city, but he is in a highly nervous condition. He has been unable to sleep. This is due mainly to the fact that he has been working through the regular court sessions and then spending a greater part of each night at the executive mansion, going over details of the case with the Governor. The Governor is a tireless night worker, and as he has been able to sleep until noon every day the strain has not told on him as it has on Hinman.

Of the plans of the defence little is known except that Hinman will outline the defence if he is able, and that Louis A. Sarecky, formerly the Governor's campaign secretary, will be the first witness for the impeached executive. That the Governor will testify there is no doubt nor has there been at any time within the last ten days. Some members of his counsel opposed his taking the stand, but he used all his persuasive powers and finally brought them to see his view of the situation—that his story would be indispensable to his defence. A long conference was held between the Governor and his attorneys tonight at the executive mansion.

Efforts of Attorneys Herrick and Austin G. Fox today to have certain testimony stricken from the record brought the statement from the court that this motion would have to be renewed when all the evidence was in. "I shall hold," Judge Cullen said, "that all motions involving the probative force of competent evidence must be left until the final submission of the case."

This ruling caused Mr. Fox not to make a motion to strike out articles three, four, five, seven and eight, as he had planned. The motion will be made later in the case, however. These articles deal with all the Governor's alleged impeachable acts except those involving financial transactions. A motion to strike out the "money articles" already is before the court. It, too, will be decided when all the testimony is in.

INTER-PROVINCIAL

CONFERENCE DELAYED

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Sir James Whitney, Prime Minister of Ontario, and Sir Lomer Gouin, Prime Minister of Quebec, who recently called the Inter-Provincial Conference for the 20th of October, have agreed to postpone the conference until the 27th of October. Today the different Prime Ministers were notified to that effect. No official reason is given for the change of dates, but it is considered probable that the postponement was made on account of the return to Canada in the early part of that week of the Governor-General.

CANADA AND STATES SEEKING TO OBTAIN UNIFORM ROAD LAWS

THE CONGRESS OF 1915 MAY BE HELD IN TORONTO OR OTTAWA.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 2.—Canada will be represented with the United States in an endeavor to obtain uniform laws pertaining to road building if the proposition meets the approval of Premier Borden, according to an announcement made at the American Road Congress here today by A. W. Campbell, Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals for the Canadian government. Mr. Campbell said he would use his influence in urging the Premier to consent to the appointment of a committee to confer with a committee representing the American Highway Association and the American Bar Association to evolve a plan for uniform road laws.

TOO MUCH VARIETY.

"I realize that in Canada as well as throughout the United States, we have forty varieties of road laws for every province," said Mr. Campbell. "This tends to retard real road work and I heartily endorse any plan that would bring about practically the same laws for both the United States and Canada relative to good roads."

The good roads delegates today listened to papers read by John N. Carlisle, chairman of the New York Commission on Highways; J. M. Lowe, of Missouri, president of the National Old Trails Association, and N. P. Hull of Michigan, a prominent member of the National Grange.

Logan Waller Page of Washington, was re-elected president and J. E. Pennypacker of Washington was again chosen as secretary. Other officers elected were: Field Secretary, Charles P. Light, Wheeling, W. Va.; treasurer, Lee McClung, Washington; vice-president, W. W. Finley, president of the Southern Railway; directors, Alfred Noble, A. B. Fletcher, Joseph W. Jones and Charles W. Baker, all of New York; James S. Harlan, of the Inter-State Commerce Commission; R. D. Chapin, Detroit; L. E. Johnson, president of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and Thomas G. Norris, Arizona.

It was generally conceded tonight that the 1914 good roads congress will be held at Atlanta, Ga.

UNION IRON WORKER MAKES CONFESSION HE IS DYNAMITER

Exploits of McNamaras Rivalled By Man Arrested in New York.

WAS IN "CONSPIRACY."

His Evidence Leads to Apprehension of Secretary-Treasurer of I. W. U.

New York, Oct. 2.—Dynamite outrages that rivalled the exploits of the McNamara brothers and Orrie McManigal were confessed today by George E. Davis, a union iron worker, Davis, who was arrested here today, was the George O'Donnell, who figured in the trial at Indianapolis that resulted in the conviction of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and 37 of his associates. His arrest and its consequences round up the work the federal government started more than two years ago when the dynamiting of bridges and steel frame buildings all over the country became a national scandal.

MAKES FRESH CHARGES.

All the explosions that Davis says he caused were touched on and testified to at the dynamiter's trial in Indianapolis, but the fact that Davis caused them remained unrevealed until he told of it today himself. Davis' confession resulted today in the arrest in Indianapolis of Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the Iron Workers' Union. His confession supplements the evidence presented at the Indianapolis trial and makes fresh charges against some of the men there convicted and now in prison. Some of his revelations concern President Ryan, who is now out on bail pending appeal from a prison sentence of seven years.

Davis says that he was the man chosen to kill Walter Drew, attorney for the National Erectors' Association in December, 1911, after Drew was

"Can a man marry his widow's sister?" asked the Oracle this morning. The joke being rather ancient we didn't deign a reply, but he didn't seem to expect one, for he went on without pausing: "Yes, he can and I'll prove it. Here it is: Either he can marry her, or he cannot marry her; that's right, isn't it? Well! He can not marry her—therefore: he can marry her. Do you get that philosophy?"

We know it's still a joke—but we don't understand enough about philosophy to see the point. But we do know that if we sell you that contain the works of all the best modern novelists, and that formerly sold for $1.25 and $1.50, you're getting a bargain, and it doesn't take a knowledge of philosophy to understand that.

QUEBEC, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1913.

THE BORDEN BANQUET.

The nature of the banquet which will be offered to Mr. Borden in Quebec this month will be in no way partisan, and the chairmen of the various representative bodies in Quebec will figure on the executive of the organizing committee. The fact that this will be no mere party demonstration is borne out by the part which is being played by such prominent Liberals as Mayor Drouin and others. In doing honor to the Premier of Canada these men sacrifice no whit of their political convictions or party principles. They honor Mr. Borden for the great Canadian that he is, for his integrity, justice, breadth of mind and zeal to benefit all sections of the country, no matter what the political stripe of any particular section may be.

Certainly if it were a question of political allegiance to be taken into account, the city of Quebec, which returned three Liberal members to Ottawa at the general elections of 1911, would hardly have much claim to the consideration and beneficence of the Borden Government on the ground of party service. It is much to the credit of that government that it has been actuated by no motives of political vengeance or spite in its treatment of Quebec, and that it has taken the broad, national view of the case, is doing as much for this city as for any other, if not more than for any other, and is developing this port as no one, whether Conservative or Liberal, ever dreamt of developing it before.

Up till 1911 neither of the parties had ever done much to give justice to this port which, from its unsurpassed natural advantages, its position on the St. Lawrence, its expanse of deepwater harbor and the difficulties and ice conditions in the channel above here, should, with any measure of fair play, have been by now one of the most important and best equipped ports of the Dominion. It has always been plain to those who have given even the slightest study to Quebec's needs that her welfare and expansion depended more on her utilization as a port than on anything else. The Borden Government was not slow to realize the urgency of this need and at once set about the desired improvements with a zeal and energy that produced immediate and tangible results, the evidence of which is so plain as to be unquestioned by any citizen. It replaced the old Harbor Commission by a smaller and far more efficient board of men who have done wonders during the short time that they have taken over the task of equipping Quebec's water frontage.

Elevators, wharves, terminals, better shipping facilities, dredging of the channel, damming the St. Charles, laying of the Transcontinental, building the Post Office, beginning the St. Malo shops, laying out the Battlefields Park, completing the Quebec Bridge, commencing the dry dock,—what with these and other public works, the workmen, the merchants and all classes of the community are benefiting by the era of progress for this city and district which has been inaugurated by the Borden Government and which has been so noticeably and effectively assisted and promoted by the energy and enthusiasm of Hon. L. P. Pelletier, the member for Quebec County. Small wonder, then, that the citizens of Quebec, subordinating for a moment their political ideas to their sense of gratitude for the great local improvements of the last two years, should join in welcoming the Premier of Canada when he comes within their gates.

FISHER AND CHATEAUGUAY AND VICE VERSA.

The constituency of Chateauguay no doubt knows its own business, though the Laurierite canvassers in behalf of the ex-Minister of Agriculture, would convince it to the contrary, with the same lack of common sense, they once did their best to convince the whole country that Reciprocity was the best thing for Canada at large, for the Province of Quebec in particular, and for the farmers of Brome and Chateauguay most of all. To foist such a candidate on Chateauguay as Mr. Sydney A. Fisher has "flabbergasted" the old-time Liberals of the constituency—the men who still revere the memory of the Holton's, father and son, and who can have no sympathy with the corruptionists who, for so many years made a by-word of the administration of Canada's public affairs. And it is to these old-time Liberals of Chateauguay—French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians alike—that an appeal has to be made to help out the efforts that have been, and are being made, to relegate to oblivion, the insidious machinations of the Laurierite faction of malversators. These same old-time Liberals have to tell Mr. Fisher, whose agents once made of the Sherbrooke district a seething pool of corruption and false canvasses, that the county of Chateauguay, knowing its own business, as it no doubt does, is no place for Mr. Fisher's methods of running an election. Every reader knows by this time that not a drachm of confidence can be put in any political utterance of Mr. Fisher. No man has been so frequently made to swallow his own words on public questions. We all remember how he maintained that Reciprocity was the only thing that could possibly save Canada from going to the dogs in her commercial career—giving us all emphasized assurances, repeated to the very last moment of the closing of the polls, that he knew what was what better than all the economists of the world put together.

And now he opens his campaigning in Chateauguay, by claiming that he knows all about the naval question more than even the Pugsleys and Emerson's and Carvells ever knew or could know; and that, if he only be given a footing in the House of Commons again, he will soon, with the aid of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Hon. J. A. Macdonald of the Toronto Globe, bring the Lord of the British Admiralty, not to speak of the Borden Government, to their bearings. The fact is that, as far as political foresight goes, he has only two things to tell back upon, in his efforts to get the good people of Chateauguay to vote for him and these are in overbearing conceit that his narrowness of view on any public question, from finance to farming, has to be accepted as broadmindedness, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's patronage is a thing which he hugs to his bosom every night he goes to bed. We have only to read what he has been saying at the very outset of his electioneering in the country places of Chateauguay, to realize what he is in his own estimation, as a laughable contrast to what everybody knows him really to be.

"I am the friend of the farmer!"
"I am well versed in the needs of the farmer!"
"There is a Canadian Militia and hence there ought to be a Canadian Navy."
"Chateauguay and myself have the eyes of the whole Dominion on us at the present moment."
"Sir Wilfrid Laurier is just as popular as he ever was."

"Reciprocity is not dead."
"There is no emergency."
And so on and so forth, with a comment ready at hand to raise a laugh against the attitude of the candidate—only that and nothing more.

The constituency of Chateauguay, as we have already said, knows its own business. The fact that Mr. Fisher is on "outsider" might be advanced as a justification of any "outsider" giving advice, especially since Mr. Fisher assures us all that the eyes of the world are at the present moment on him and Chateauguay. Mr. Fisher once had his photograph taken as he stood with his back turned upon Niagara Falls, which has ever since gone the rounds under the caption of "Me and Niagara Falls." Formerly with him, it was "Me and Brome," or "Me and the Laurier Government!" But now it is "Me and the Chateauguay Farmer," and the Chateauguay farmer is having the task of his life before him, this week and next, of saying to the country at large, that he would rather not enter into a partnership with the self-esteem of the ex-Minister of Agriculture. The Chateauguay farmer can enjoy a joke as heartily as anybody else, as long as the joke is not half-and-half against himself. Brome twice grew tired of being burdened with its half of the joke of Mr. Fisher's public life; and, unless the old proverb of example being better than precept has lost its force, Chateauguay may refuse to bear the burden which Brome used to carry. Indeed the only canvass that is needed to show up the weakness of any of Mr. Fisher's advocacies, is to put into print his own words without note or comment, and let the reader or the importuned voter judge for himself. As an old farmer of the Eastern Townships has lately remarked, while speaking of Mr. Fisher as a coming Canadian suffragette, "Me and Mrs. Pankhurst" may yet be substituted as a motto for "Me and the Chateauguay Farmer," when that gentleman is seeking a favor on the hustings.

Comment of The Press

The gold redemption fund provided by the proposed currency measure, said to be acquiesced in by Mr. Bryan, has caused the papers that have always supported the Nebraskan to argue that Mr. Bryan was right in 1896 in his quantitative theory of money, but that the increased production of gold rendered the free coinage of silver unnecessary. They do not dwell on his contention during that memorable campaign that silver and wheat had gone lovingly together down the centuries like Siamese twins. Nor do they mention other absurd theories as to the ancient and holy ratio he expounded. It is true that there has been a great increase in the production of gold during the past fifteen years, due to the use of the cyanide process. But that this has had an appreciable effect on prices is not borne out by a scientific study of the facts. An article in the September London Contemporary Review, written before the revival of the discussion in America, exhaustively examines the causes of "The New Dearth," which is the article's caption. It is written by L. G. Chiozza Money, a member of Parliament, who has no interest in "saving Mr. Bryan's face" or in disfiguring it. He discusses the question not provincially, but as a world problem. That there has been an astonishing increase in prices the last few years is a matter of universal knowledge. It has been noted in America, in Argentina and in Australasia, where much food is produced. There have been severe food riots in France, Germany, Austria and Italy. A weighted index number of 100 commodities, fairly representing variations in price as they affect ordinary consumption, is used by Mr. Money, taking 1900 as 100 per cent. In 1912 the price of this weighted index number was 115. In 1896 it was 88. In 1880 it was 130. In 1875 it was 141. In 1871 it was 136. From 1871 to 1891 the production of gold was stationary. But the prices varied greatly. During the last twelve years the production of gold doubled while prices increased one-sixth. Of forty-five chief articles taken from the list of a hundred, thirty rose in price, while fifteen fell. Under the quantitative theory why should any have fallen? Wheat rose and rice fell. Lead, fell and tin rose. Mr. Money points out an increased use of gold in the arts and for ornamental and decorative purposes. He refers to European war chests of gold and to the hoarding of gold in India. He shows that the bulk of business is not done with gold. The bank deposits in England are ten times all the coined gold in the country. Credit is "coined" in modern business and the velocity of exchange has increased greatly with improved methods of transmission and transportation. Mr. Money does not attempt to explain the cause of high prices in every instance. He restricts his article to showing that the increased production of metallic money can not be held responsible. He suggests, however, that with improved labor appliances men exploited newly developed countries and flooded the markets with cheap products. As a result the standard of living increased and there was an almost unprecedented emigration of people from low-wage countries to high-wage countries. The demand for the best in the market naturally increased the price. Wheat took the place of rice for food when consumers could afford it. This tendency has long been marked in America. The man who used to buy neck with a piece of liver "thrown in" now demands the choicest cuts of beef. Mr. Money predicts that development of scientific production will eventually relieve the situation.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

We saw her the other night down at a beach pavilion in purple and fine linen clad, fighting for a seat nearest the window opening into the hall where younger daughters of joy were deliciously turkey-trotting to the rollicking music of 'Everybody's Doing It.'"

NOTICE

Is hereby given that the pier at the mouth of the Cap Rouge River is submerged, as well as the other deep water pier that was there up to last winter at the end of the long wharf. The position of the pier at the mouth of the Cap Rouge river is as heretofore shown by a flat buoy by day, and a white light by night, and the position of the deep water pier, recently taken at the end of the long wharf is in a straight line with the said flat buoy and about 60 feet to the west.

Mens' Sheep or Furlined Coats

We have just put into stock a big job of Men's Sheep-lined Coats for lumbermen who work in the open during Winter. Also, furlined coats. Some have shells of strong Duck, others of Corduroy. We have a very big stock, and are selling these coats at very low prices at present.

$1 and $1.25 Quality in English-Made Cape Gloves, Special, 79c

If you have ever bought the genuine English-made Cape Gloves you know that they are priced from $1.00 per pair upwards. These Gloves which we offer at a Special Price are of the $1.00 and $1.25 variety. They have Extra Value stamped on them as plainly as a coin is marked with its face value. These Gloves are two-dome style, and as they are not quite so bristly in demand as the one-dome Gloves we are going to stimulate sales by reducing the price. These Gloves are in assorted shades of tan. Sizes 6 to 7. We guarantee every pair as fully as though you paid full price for them. On Sale Friday and Saturday, at, per pair 79c

GLIMPSES OF OLD QUEBEC

From the Files of the CHRONICLE, August, 1813 and 1883.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Dr. James Sewell.

Thirty years ago at this time, Quebec lost one of its most useful and lovable citizens. Death came yesterday, after months of suffering, from a dangerous malady. Dr. Sewell was the son of the late Chief Justice Sewell, and leaves but two surviving brothers, Rev. Edmund Sewell of this city, formerly pastor of Trinity church, or Sewell's chapel, as it was then called, and the Rev. Henry D. Sewell, now living in England. Dr. Sewell was the oldest medical practitioner in this city. For half a century the deceased gentleman practiced his profession in the ancient capital. During the troubles of 1837-38 he was attached to the Royal Volunteer Artillery. He was Professor and Dean of the Faculty of Medicine in Laval University since its establishment, and for 43 years past one of the visiting physicians of the Hotel Dieu, and for 30 years chairman of the Marine Hospital Commission. He was visiting physician of St. George Society and of the Protestant Home, and also a Governor of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec. A Justice of the Peace and a City Councillor. Deceased was an M. A. of Lennoxville and an M. D. of Edinburgh. Dr. Sewell was for many years a member of the select vestry of the English Cathedral, and his musical services were freely placed at the disposal of the congregation during those periods when the church was without an organist.

DIVIDEND No. 93.

Notice is hereby given that a dividend at the rate of twelve per cent (12%) per annum upon the Paid-up Capital Stock of this institution has been declared for the three months ending 31st of October, 1913, and that the same will be payable at the Head Office and Branches on and after Saturday, the 1st day of November, next. The transfer books will be closed from the 17th to the 31st October, 1913, both days inclusive. By order of the Board. D. R. WILKIE, General Manager. Toronto, 17th September, 1913. Oct.1to31

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY

Americans Increasing Their Forces.

The Americans appear to be still increasing their forces on our frontiers. They, however, thought proper, to withdraw from Odeltown and have retired to the little Chazy river, where we understand their main body is at present encamped. Our advanced pickets have been pushed on to Odeltown. The roads by the Chatagway and in other directions, have been completely obstructed, and are well guarded, and a proportion of the militia has been called out to assist in repelling the enemy, should he venture to advance into this Province.

Marching Upon St. Regis.

Accounts from the lines state that almost two-thirds of the American army are marching to the west upon St. Regis with an intention to cut off communication between the two provinces. The remainder remain near Champlain; it is said 1,000 of them entered the seignory of La Cole on Thursday. We have heard nothing further of their movements.

Our Militia in High Spirits.

Our militia are in the highest spirits. In a few days our battalions in this district will be at the point of action to the number of 10,000 men, well armed and fearless of the enemy.

HIGH-HEEL SPANKING IS THE LAST BLOW.

New York, October 2.—Because in spanking his wife, he used a high-heeled shoe instead of the conventional slipper, and performed the operation while the victim was clad in a tight fitting summer gown, John Bebel, twenty-six year old, son of W. F. Bebel, a wealthy real estate operator, of No. 324 Fulton street, Jamaica, was sentenced yesterday to three months in the penitentiary by Chief Justice Isaac F. Russell, in Special Sessions. The evidence showed that Bebel used his wife's own shoe for her correction, and held it by the toe for the purpose. But she might have endured this, said her attorney, Lawrence T. Gresser, if her husband had not failed to support her and her baby. Bebel once spent three months in the State Asylum at Central Islip.

BEN TILLET THANKS SIR EDWARD CARSON

SAYS WORKINGMEN SHOULD FOLLOW HIS EXAMPLE AND FIGHT GOVERNMENT.

London, Oct. 2.—Ben Tillet, secretary of the Dock, Wharf, Riverside and General Workers' Union of Great Britain, addressing the International Syndicate Congress today said that he thanked Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, for giving the working classes a lead. When they had courage to follow his example, Tillet declared, they were going to fight the government.

James Larkin, one of the leaders in the Dublin strike, telegraphed from that city today: "I appeal to all comrades to send ammunition and bring fighters here. The masters admit they are on their marrow bones."

SOME WATER WAGON ELEPHANTS ARE ON

One of 'Em Alone at Zoo Drinks 380 Quarts a Day—Just Ask Keepers.

New York, Oct. 3.—"The next time a water-pipe breaks around this Zoological Park," chorused Keepers Walt Thuman and Dick Richards of the Bronx Menagerie, last evening, "we hope it's the one that feeds the camel enclosure. We wouldn't mind carrying all the thirst-quenching stuff the camels need. But these elephants!" Walt and Dick were hot, tired and their backs were almost broken. But they had done two things: They had watered the big pachyderms and had established a definite scientific answer to the question: "What does it take to quench an elephant's thirst?" The answer is: If it's a real hefty elephant, say, like big Gunda, it takes 380 quarts, or 95 gallons a day. And if you're carrying that much water you'll realize—take it from Walt and Dick—that it's quite a big drink.

The six-inch main supplying the elephant and hippopotamus house broke somewhere underground three days ago, and the usual supply failed to arrive. So the keepers have been obliged to haul it from a point more than a block away, in forty-quart milk cans. They found that Gunda, who weighs 8,700 pounds, takes as an eye-opener in the morning a little snifter of 50 quarts. In the middle of the day, after he's had his food, he washes it down with 160 quarts. Then through the evening he gets away with the same amount. Khartoum and Sultana take about 250 or 300 quarts a day. Congo, the pigmy elephant, uses 200. Alice, who is tame, can be led out of the house and taken to the water supply. She'll only drink through a hose, anyhow.

NEW MORNING PAPER SOON TO APPEAR.

The Montreal Daily Mail.

The idea of a new morning newspaper is welcomed in the business sections, not only in Montreal, but throughout Canada. After months of organization, gratifying results in both the subscription and advertising departments are now becoming apparent. The plan that has been installed at No. 8 Beaver Hall Hill for the Montreal Daily Mail, is one of the latest, and most up-to-date type.

The editorial staff is one of the most efficient that has ever been collected in Canada. In addition to this, special attention has been paid to the subject of news services. A special cable service from Great Britain has been arranged in such a manner as to be of particular interest to Old Countrymen and Canadians alike. Special articles from many of the leading publicists of the world will appear in the initial numbers. Home features as well as sporting, financial and commercial news will be of the highest and most reliable quality.

Politically, the Daily Mail will be entirely free from bias. It will also be independent of control on the part of financial interests or corporations. The advertisers of Eastern Canada have heralded the approach of the Daily Mail by taking advantage of its columns, while the management announce that as regards subscriptions the new paper will be in a unique position when it makes its initial appearance.

YOUNG GIRL DYING RECONCILES PARENTS.

St. Louis, October 2.—Kneeling at the bedside of their daughter, Beatrice Stephens, twelve, who took mercury because she despaired of reconciling her parents, who separated a year ago, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Stephens forgot their differences in their common grief. They will live together henceforth, whether the daughter lives or dies, and it seems that it is possible for her to live.

Efforts to rid the girl's system of the poison which she took Sept. 18th, have been in vain, and last night physicians gave up hope for her. Without regret for her deed, she asked that her father and mother be summoned. Mrs. Stephens was first to reach the hospital. As she knelt at the bedside to pray, the father tiptoed into the room. The man and wife gazed at each other, and then clasped each other's hands. Together they prayed for a half hour. They remained at the girl's bedside all night.

ALLOWS CATHOLICS TO VOTE IN ITALY

POPE WANTS PROHIBITION WHERE ANTI-CLERICAL SOCIALISTS ARE RUNNING.

Rome, Oct. 2.—After the fall of the Temporal Power, the Pope issued an order forbidding Catholics throughout Italy to participate in political elections. For the first time the present Pontiff at the last general elections waived the prohibition in certain constituencies, where Catholic candidates opposed anti-clerical Socialists.

Recently there has been a rumor in circulation that at the coming general election the prohibition would be waived also in the constituencies of Rome.

The Vatican organ, the Osservatore Romano, in a statement published tonight, announces that the Catholics of Rome will not go to the polls. No reference is made to other parts of Italy.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Bank clearings in Toronto for the week, with comparisons, were as follows: Week ended Oct. 2, $44,207,587; last week $40,994,797; corresponding week, 1912, $44,127,780; corresponding week, 1911, $37,805,546.

ADMIRALTY RECOGNIZES UNIONS

London, Oct. 2.—A concession has been made by the British Admiralty officially recognizing trades unions. In reply to the demands of the dockyard men the Admiralty agreed hereafter, in the event of disputes, to meet deputations of the workmen either in London or at the dockyards. It also not only accorded permission to the men in Government employ to select their own representatives from the dockyards but will allow them to be accompanied by trades union leaders not employed in the dockyards.

JAPAN IS SATISFIED WITH CHINA'S ACTIONS

Peking, Oct. 2.—The Japanese legation denies that Japan is making fresh demands on China, and points out that China has satisfactorily complied with the original requirements with the exception of the punishment of the officers commanding the offending troops and the execution of the soldiers who killed the Japanese at Nanking. Japan, it is added, recognizes that it will take time to make a proper investigation by the Chinese Government, and anticipates no evasion on these points.

Public Notice Re Snow Guards.

The attention of the public is called to clauses 4 and 5 of By-law No. 23 concerning the lighting of certain portions of the city, which read as follows:

4. When the apparatus for the said lighting shall be placed in certain places where they may be exposed to damage through the fall of ice or snow coming from the roofs of buildings, the proprietor of said building shall place on the edge of the roof of said building a snow fender or an appropriate and convenient protection bar to prevent the fall on the said lighting apparatus of any snow or ice or objects of a similar nature to damage the said lighting apparatus.

5. If the owner of a building in this city omits or neglects to place on the edge of the roof of his building a snow fender sufficient to prevent the fall on the said electric lighting apparatus of snow or ice or other objects liable to damage the said lighting apparatus, such proprietor shall be liable to a fine not exceeding forty dollars, and in default of payment of the said fine and costs, to an imprisonment for a space of time not exceeding two months.

I have the honor to request proprietors opposite whose property ornamental poles have been erected to kindly have the snow guard above referred to erected immediately.

PEARLS IN VOGUE—
ENCOURAGING THE OYSTER

Whenever the ancients wished to express the quality of extreme delicacy in any object it would seem that they ascribed its origin to the element of water. Venus, most beautiful of goddesses, rose from the foam of the sea, said the Greeks. The Arabs and Hindoos found a source equally poetic for the pearl, most delicate and romantic of gems. A dewdrop fell into the ocean and was received by the oyster. From this, ran the legend, was formed the pearl. If the cloud from which the dewdrop fell were light and pure, then the jewel was fine and lustrous. Were the cloud, however, dark and heavy the pearl was dull and leaden.

Now, however, it has been proved that the pearl develops from a parasite which dies in the oyster and is covered by precious matter, thus becoming a valuable jewel. Should the parasite be taken out of the shell by some fish before dying and then pass into the body of still another it loses its parasitic nature and becomes a self-dependent little creature.

It would seem indeed that too many of these little animals pass out of the shell before dying, for out of every thirty or forty oysters only one contains pearls. An oyster can, of course, contain more than one of the jewels. It is on record that one taken in the Indian Ocean held eighty-seven pearls and one from the famous Ceylon fishery sixty-seven. But the supply does not equal the demand and human ingenuity is at work trying to bring about this happy state of affairs.

The Chinese were the first to try to increase the supply of pearls. They dropped fragments of nacre, sometimes round and sometimes in the form of the god Buddha, into the mussel shell. The oyster deposited some of the pearl matter around these and the pearls thus produced are in great demand.

Not many years ago a company was formed to perform experiments along the same line in the Indian Ocean. It is equipped to handle 300 shells and has spent four years and $100,000 in the experiments. Little balls of nacre weighing from 40 to 60 grains are placed in the Australian oyster, a particularly big species. After about ten months these balls are covered with the pearl matter and are very beautiful in appearance.

The unit weight for these gems is the carat—that is, four grains. A famous pearl weighs one hundred and twelve. The value of the pearl is proportional to the square of its weight in grains. The unit value varies with the quality and is greatest in jewels weighing from fifteen to thirty-five grains, especially if they are spherical in shape. The unit value increases because of the proportional costliness and the consequent difficulty of finding a purchaser for the jewels.

OLD SORE HEALED
IN SIX DAYS

Nearly Impossible to Heal Skin.
Badly Hurt. Sore, Red and Inflamed. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Bowman River, Manitoba.—"When I was thirteen years of age I got my shin badly hurt and when healed the skin was attached to the bone. The least bruise would injure it and it was nearly impossible to heal. The sore would be very red and inflamed round the edges and had a burning sensation. When extra sore I could not sleep at night on account of the pain. Later ways were a cotton bandage on it from the ankle to the knee. For a number of years I used sticking plasters, then got a salve. I saw the advertisement offering a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample and purchased some more and in six days the sore was healed completely." (Signed) James Edwards, June 21, 1912.

FOR PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS
Treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Porter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 47D, Boston, U. S. A.

CHINESE BRIGANDS
MENACE STRANGERS

ONE AMERICAN CHILD IS KILLED AND OTHER FOREIGNERS ARE INJURED.

Peking, Oct. 2.—The American legation here received a report from J. Paul Jameson, vice-consul general at Shanghai, stating that an American child had been killed and other foreigners were being maltreated by Chinese brigands at Tsaoyang.

QUESTION OF RANSOM.

The legation fears that the Chinese government troops are neither capable or zealous enough to accomplish the release of the American and Norwegian missionaries in the hands of the bandits at Tsaoyang and that ransom alone can save the lives of the foreigners still in captivity.

It is believed that the ransom demanded may not be heavy as Chinese ideas in monetary matters are not extravagant. By the efforts of the legations and consulates the missionaries have been kept out of unsafe districts during the past two years, but the missionaries were not restricted from going to the northern part of the province of Hu-Peh, which hitherto had not been considered dangerous.

Aa Hankow, General Li Yuen Heng, Vice-President of the Republic, states that everything possible is being done. Nearly 3,000 Chinese troops are advancing on the town of Tsaoyang.

A former communication to the American consulate reported that the missionaries, the Rev. C. Stokstad and the Rev. Mr. Johnson were proceeding to Tsaoyang from Sing Yang-Fu but their expedition evidently failed, as the Rev. C. Stokstad telegraphed today as follows:

"The robbers still hold Tsaoyang, where they compel the Chinese citizens to guard the walls. It is feared that the surrounding force will be insufficient to prevent the bandits from escaping. The little son of Rev. Harman Fauske, attached to the Mission of the Lutheran brethren, has been killed. The Rev. George Holm was seen on Saturday bound. A foreign rescuing party is again proceeding to Tsaoyang."

A telegram from Chung King says that the province of Sze-Chuen has agreed to pay the troops of the province of Kwei-Chow $100,000, and that peace is assured. The Kwei-Chow troops originally crossed the border when the southern part of the province of Sze-Chuen revolted. They captured and held Chung King and other important cities until the present in spite of the fact that the loyal government troops operating in the province of Sze-Chuen have defeated the rebels.

Another hurler, who will face the starting gun in the coming games, and who has gone through a series of this kind, is Jeff Tesreau. Jeff hurled three battles against the Red Sox, but with only fair success, winning one and losing two. He pitched 23 rounds, and in this time was found for 10 tallies and 19 bingles.

VETERAN PITCHERS
IN WORLD SERIES

BENDER AND PLANK OF ATHLETICS AND MATHEWSON OF GIANTS ARE RELIED UPON.

Veterans of the flinging art: men who have stood on the ground through many tough battles, and who have gone through three world's series without showing signs of faltering, will get a chance to gain leading laurels for their clubs in the coming world's championship battles between the Athletics and Giants. This trio is composed of Bender and Plank of the Athletics and Mathewson of the Giants.

Each one of this trio is aging, "Old Father Time" is knocking at the door, and many an athlete, who had gone through the "kroocial" battles these three have would long been out of the majors; probably out of baseball. But, Bender, Plank and Matty are hurling good ball this campaign; they have taken leading roles in bringing their clubs to the front, and will fight it out for blue ribbon honors this fall, unless something unforeseen happens.

Matty Pitches Greatest Ball.

Although he has not the best record of the pitchers, who will strive to land their club on top in the coming series, Matty probably has pitched the greatest ball. Big Six has taken part in three world's series for the Giants, and in each has labored three battles. Four have been won, four lost, while one ended in a draw. He has pitched 84 rounds of world's series baseball, and has been counted upon only 19 times.

Next to Matty comes Chief Bender of the Athletics. The Indian right-hander of Connie Mack's club has faced the starting shot in three blue ribbon series and always has given a good account of himself. The "Copper-colored" hurler of the Macks has pitched seven battles, or 61 innings, and has been counted upon 13 times. His percentage in world's series contests is .571, four victories and three reverses.

Both Matty and Bender hurled their first battles in world's series clashes in 1905. It's almost certain that the Athletics and Giants will win, that's why it is said we have them with us again in 1913. Matty pitched wonderful ball in this series, which was against the Athletics, winning three battles and not allowing a tally. Bender won one and lost one in this series.

Always a Merry Duel.

The next time the pair met was in 1911, when the second series between the clubs of Mack and McGraw was played. Matty won one and lost two games, while Bender won two and lost one. Matty's only victory in this series came in the first battle, and Bender was his opponent. Big Six allowed six bingles to the Chief's five, but Matty won, 2 to 1, after one of the greatest battles ever contested.

Bender also pitched in the 1910 series with the Cubs, winning one and losing one, while Matty's third experience in the blue ribbon contests came in 1912 against the Red Sox, in which he lost two battles and tied one.

Eddie Plank has pitched in two series, although he was a member of the Athletics in the trio they have contested. He did not pitch in 1910 against the Cubs. In the 1905 and 1911 series with the Giants he won only one battle and lost three, but has given only six tallies in 27 innings, an average of two per game.

Rube Marquard, the southpaw for the Giants, has hung up the best work in the big battles. The Rube has been returned the winner twice, while he has been beaten only once, that by the Mackmen in 1911. Last season against the Red Sox, Marquard won two of the three battles for his club.

Tesreau to Have a Chance.

Another hurler, who will face the starting gun in the coming games, and who has gone through a series of this kind, is Jeff Tesreau. Jeff hurled three battles against the Red Sox, but with only fair success, winning one and losing two. He pitched 23 rounds, and in this time was found for 10 tallies and 19 bingles.

RADIUM GAS GOOD
AS RADIUM ITSELF

HAS SOME CURATIVE PROPERTIES—EMANATION DOES NOT WEAKEN PARENT SUBSTANCE

London, Oct. 2.—The Radium Institute announced tonight the discovery of the fact that the emanation of gas given off by radium is as efficient for curative purposes as radium itself. A method has also been discovered whereby the gas can be conveyed to medical men throughout the country for use among their own patients.

The gas, although given off constantly, does not weaken the parent substance. The Institute has only four grammes of radium in its possession, but the use of the gas will increase its utility enormously.

charged with kidnapping John J. McNamara. It was suggested also that he try to "get" William J. Burns, the detective employed by Drew and his associates to unearth the dynamite conspiracy. The price on Drew's head at that time, Davis said, was $5,000. "I told them," his confession continues, "that I didn't want to mix up in such business."

Davis consented to return to Indianapolis without extradition. His bail was fixed at $10,000.

The conspiracy thought to have been broken up by the conviction of Ryan and others still exists, according to Davis' confession. With the exception of Harry Jones, the men he mentions in connection with his various dynamite jobs already had been arrested, although his confession indicated that the government had not obtained all the incriminating evidence against these defendants when they were tried at Indianapolis.

Apprehension of this McManigal of the east was due to Robert Foster, a Louisville detective, who shadowed the iron worker through eastern cities. Finally, several weeks ago when Davis was displeased with his treatment by the union, Foster persuaded him to make a full confession.

This was on September 16. For a week Davis had been working in Pittsburgh for the Thompson Starett Company. Then the local delegate of the Iron Workers' Union told him he must pay a $26 initiation fee to the local union or quit work. Davis quit. The detective told him he knew all about his deeds anyway, and Davis, feeling that the union had deserted him, accompanied Foster to New York. Here in the presence of representatives of the federal district attorney and the National Erectors' Association, he dictated and swore to the long detailed confession which was given out by the district attorney's office today.

Davis said he had been an iron worker since 1900 and had been employed at Denver, Pueblo, St. Louis, New York, Washington, Providence, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Birmingham. In the early days of the troubles between the union and the bridge builders he was a member of the Entertainment Committee, whose duty it was to assault non-union workers. He began his career as a dynamiter at Trenton, N. J.

In careful detail, the confession describes how he blew up or tried to blow up buildings and bridges in various cities and towns of the east. It was during his preparation of plans to destroy a new building at Fall River on April 26, 1908, that Davis first came into communication with Harry Jones. He says he got Jones at Indianapolis on the telephone and asked him for money. Jones, he adds, sent $50. Davis asserts that Jones was familiar with the work he was doing.

Under the name O'Donnell Davis was arrested for the Fall River job and served two years in prison. During his prison term, he says, his friends "made a couple of noises" in other parts of New England to convince the authorities that Davis, or O'Donnell, was not the only person doing dynamite work. After he left prison, officers of the union gave him money and he went to his home in Coffeyville, Kas. John J. McNamara wanted him to take up his old trade in Oklahoma, but he refused because it was too near home.

The arrest of the McNamaras followed soon and at the advice of President Ryan, Davis says, he returned east. One of his latest exploits was the dynamiting of a bridge at Mount Vernon under the direction of Frank C. Webb, a New York member of the executive committee of the union, who is now serving six years in prison.

A feature of Davis' statement was a story of a gigantic scheme to set off simultaneous explosions in Omaha, San Francisco, St. Louis and New York city while the McNamaras were in jail.

BODY IDENTIFIED.

New York, Oct. 2.—Positive identification of the body of the young man found floating off Mahattan Beach on Monday evening was made at the Brooklyn Morgue today as that of Wallace E. Baker, of No. 5 Church Street, Montreal. E. J. Smith, of Toronto, came to this city today and after identifying the remains made arrangements for the burial, which will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Brooklyn.

THE QUAKER GIRL

For the first performance of this excellent production at the Auditorium on Monday next, the Lieut.-Governor and Lady Langelier, with their suite, will occupy one of the boxes.

Victor Morley and a few Quaker Girls in the musical success, "THE QUAKER GIRL," which comes to the Auditorium Theatre, next Monday night for a three-nights' engagement. Matinee Wednesday.

"The Musical Comedy Hit of Three Continents" is the way the advertisements read for "The Quaker Girl," which comes to the Auditorium Monday for three days and a matinee Wednesday, exactly as presented for one whole year at the Park Theatre, New York, headed by Victor Morley. But, as a matter of fact, this statement, instead of being an exaggeration, is short of the real truth, for this tuneful musical comedy has recently appeared on four continents. Its run of two years in London and a year in Paris constituted one. The piece is still running in Australia and a company opened recently in Rio Janeiro, Brazil, while this company is touring the United States. This makes four continents that have endorsed "The Quaker Girl," which is a record never before equalled by a musical entertainment of any sort.

REPORTS NO DAMAGE
SUFFERED AT CANAL

BUT PANAMA EARTHQUAKE WAS VERY VIOLENT IN PROVINCE OF LOS SANTOS.

Panama, Oct. 2.—The only damage to buildings in the city of Panama was the shaking down of some of the plaster interiors of the famous flat-arched Santo Domingo church.

Col. Goethals has received reports from every part of the canal territory stating that no damage whatever has resulted.

Reports of the damage done in the interior towns of the Panama republic are just beginning to come in. The earthquake appears to have been particularly violent in the province of Los Santos, where the government palace in the city of Los Santos was wrecked and the police station badly cracked.

At Tuarcirco Villalaz one house was ruined and two others fell down. The towers of the churches at Macaracat and Los Tablas were wrecked. In the latter place several other buildings were destroyed.

At Pease the village priest called his congregation into the church, but the people were ordered out again by the civil authorities.

One woman died of fright in Penonome. Reports received by the Panama government from the province of Chiriqui indicate that the earthquake was severe in that section, but that the damage was small.

The schools in the city of Panama were ordered closed today in anticipation of further shocks.

Three hours after the occurrence of last night's disturbance one of the Central and South American cables broke at a point about 150 miles north of Panama. This may, according to the cable company officials, have been a coincidence or it may have been the result of the shocks. The breakage caused no inconvenience to the cable company's traffic.

The earthquake appears to have been of a submarine character.

The last serious earthquake on the Isthmus occurred in September, 1882, when in Panama City the Municipal Building and the Cathedral were badly damaged and fissures in the earth occurred at Colon.

COMMITTEE FOR BORDEN BANQUET

ORGANISING EXECUTIVE HELD MEETING YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The executive committee in charge of arrangements in connection with the coming citizens' banquet, in honor of the Dominion Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, at the Chateau Frontenac, on the 22nd inst., when he will visit Quebec, held a meeting yesterday at the Board of Trade rooms in regard to arrangements.

His Worship Mayor Nap. Drouin, president, and members of the committee present were: Messrs. W. Price, president of Quebec Harbor Commission; J. Picard, and J. G. Scott, vice-presidents of Quebec Board of Trade; Dr. N. A. Dussault, Dr. W. A. Verge, and Mr. T. Lavasseur, secretary.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR BACK FROM MONTREAL

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor Sir Francois Langelier, who went to Montreal, accompanied by Lady Langelier, and Capt. Victor Pelletier, A. D. C., to take part in a ceremony in connection with the Mother House of the Sisters of the Congregation on the occasion of the opening of Superior School for young ladies, returned to Quebec yesterday.

POLICE COURT.

The preliminary investigation into the charges of assault preferred against three well-known young men by Mr. Romeo J. Drolet was continued yesterday afternoon at the Police Court before Hon. Judge C. Langelier. The assault in question is alleged to have been committed on the Beauport road in the early part of last month, and the evidence for the prosecution having closed some days ago, the defence evidence was commenced yesterday.

AGRICULTURAL TEACHERS.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has named five agricultural teachers, who are graduates of the Agricultural Institute at Oka, for the following counties: Rouville and Iverville, Henri Cloutier; Montmorency and Quebec, Alphonse Roy; Bagot and Drummond, R. A. Rousseau; Portneuf and Champlain, J. C. Magnan; Bellechasse and Dorchester, A. Paymond. The teachers will reside in their districts and be at the entire disposition of the farmers.

COLLAPSE OF STREET CAR.

Yesterday forenoon one of the upper town street cars came to grief while descending the incline leading from St. Louis street to St. Anne street by the Place d'Arms. An axle tree connected with the truck gave way, which caused the car to collapse. Workmen from the street car shops were summoned, who succeeded in making temporary repairs that permitted the damaged car being hauled to the workshops of the Q. R. L. H. & P. Co. working cars.

SHOOTING ACCIDENTS.

A four-year-old child named She'd, was shot in the forehead by the accidental discharge of an air gun in the hands of a ten-year-old boy named Carrier at Levis and painfully though not seriously injured. The lad had a very narrow escape from death.

Shot In Foot.

A boy named Houde, son of Constable Houde, of Levis, was painfully hurt. The boy who is 12 years old, had a Flaubert rifle and was off bird shooting and accidentally shot himself in the foot.

REPORTED MISSING:

FOUND IN MONTREAL

A man named Fred Rainbow, of Birmingham, England, who arrived here last Friday evening on the S.S. Ausonia, was reported to have disappeared between here and Montreal.

Quite a romantic story was woven about the man's disappearance. How he came out to meet his sweetheart, who was awaiting him in Montreal, where they were to be married on his arrival. Unfortunately for the romance, Mr. Rainbow was found safe and sound at St. Andrew's Home, Montreal, where he was stopping, on Wednesday last, and considers that there was no cause for any alarm about him.

NEW BULKHEAD PIER.

Third Section of Crib Work Nearly Ready to Be Sunk.

The third section of crib construction needed for the new bulkhead piers to be built in the River St. Charles, parallel with the north embankment of the Louise docks of the Quebec Harbor Commission, was towed over from Indian Cove yesterday afternoon and now being got ready for sinking.

This section of crib work, like the two previous sections successfully sunk, measures 202 feet in length, 55 feet in width and 42 feet in depth, and built entirely of Southern pine. Tomorrow lighters with stone from the Commission's quarry at the Chaudiere, will arrive in the St. Charles river and when everything is in readiness to assure a successful sinking, the crib will be sent to the bottom, presumably tomorrow.

SOME HEAVY FINES IN RECORDER'S COURT

There were some heavy fines handed out by Recorder-Dery yesterday to parties found guilty of being mixed up in the disorderly house business.

A Mrs. Gagne and her daughter, of Joliette street, were fined $100 and costs or six months' jail each. They did not appear, and are said to have left the city.

Four young men who frequented the house were also condemned. Two were fined $100 and costs or six months each, and two $25 and costs or two months each. Three of them went to jail. The fourth did not appear, but as soon as the police lay hands on him he will either deposit a trifle over $100 with the court or spend six months at Castle Morin.

WHEN IS DOCTOR'S FEE EXORBITANT

THREE RIVERS MAN OBJECTS TO PAYING $500 FOR 27 HOURS' WORK.

The question as to what is or is not exorbitant in the matter of doctor's fees was aired in the Superior Court here before Judge Malouin yesterday, when Dr. Achille Paquet, of this city, sued Mr. Eugene Balcer, of Three Rivers, to recover the sum of $500, which he charged for having performed an operation for appendicitis on Miss Balcer, the minor child of Mr. Balcer.

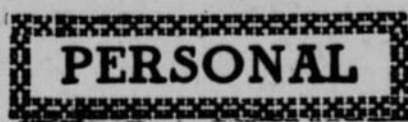

DOCTORS TESTIFY.

The operation was performed at Rimouski in the summer of 1912. The defence said that Dr. Paquet left Quebec to go there by the Ocean Limited at midnight on a Friday, and that he left Rimouski to return to Quebec early Sunday morning. They claim that this only amounted to some 27 working hours, and that the price was altogether out of proportion to the services rendered.

More than a dozen of the most prominent medical men of Quebec took the stand in support of Dr. Paquet, the general trend of their testimony being to establish that the doctor was quite justified in charging the fee and that it was not unduly high. There were two main considerations which should be taken into account, said a witness, these being the difficulty of any particular case and the financial circumstances of the person who was paying for the medical attendance. Under cross-examination, however, none of the witnesses would say that he had never been paid so large a sum for professional services.

It appears that Mr. Balcer was quite willing to pay Dr. Paquet half the amount which he demanded, but the doctor would not be content with less than the $500, and took pains to get an idea what Mr. Balcer was worth.

The only witness called for the defence was Dr. Normand, of Three Rivers, who gave it as his opinion that if the Quebec doctor had received a quarter of what he demanded, he would have been amply requited for his work. Pleading was concluded yesterday and the judge has taken the case under advisement.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Messervy, accompanied by Miss Doyle, will leave for a trip to Europe tomorrow, by the steamer Canada.

The marriage of Miss Effie Dunlop, third daughter of Mr. J. J. Dunlop, to Mr. Walter Sewell Champion, of this city, is announced to take place quietly on the 22nd October.

EVEN MONEY ON WORLD'S SERIESBASEBALL PLAYERS AND WRITERS PREDICT CLOSE GAMES AND LOW SCORES.

New York, Oct. 2.—Opinion regarding the outcome of the world's series appears to be unusually divided this year. Prominent baseball players and writers are predicting a very close series of games with low scores predominating. All speak of the luck or break of the games being an important factor in the ultimate winning of the championship. The same situation has developed in the betting. Outside of the home cities of the two competing clubs the wagering is at even money. In Philadelphia the Athletics are slight favorites over the New York team, and here local supporters are quoting odds of 10 to 9 on the Giants to defeat the American League representatives.

Expressions of opinion on the part of managers and players of other clubs are beginning to be heard here with the gathering of the advance guard for the opening game next Tuesday. Among those favoring the Athletics are Frank Chance, Napoleon Lejeune, Clark Griffith and Umpire Billy Evans. Some of those who are naming the Giants as probable winners are George Stallings, Johnny Evers, Fred Clarke and Ty Cobb. Hughie Jennings and Bill Dahlen stated that the teams are so evenly matched that the outcome of the series is a toss up with luck playing a leading part.

A consensus among thirty of the leading baseball writers of the big league circuits shows that 18 favor the Giants to win again 9 for the Athletics and three frankly undecided. Almost without exception, however, they qualify their predictions by stating that the series of 1913 will be very evenly contested and that the slightest break in the luck of the game will swing the championship one way or the other. The chief advantage accorded the Giants is their strength in the pitching department. The Athletics adherents conceded this point but contend that the superior batting ability of the Philadelphia club will more than offset the slight difference in the twirling form of the two staffs.

RALPH ROSE ILL.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Ralph Rose, world's champion shot putter, is critically ill with typhoid fever at the home of a relative here. Rose was stricken suddenly last night.

OTTAWA FOOTBALL CLUB.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—According to announcements made tonight after a meeting of the executive of the Ottawa Football Club, Dutch Becker, of the Hamilton Alerts, will play for the Ottawa at Montreal Saturday, when they open the Interprovincial Amateur Football Union season. Becker arrived this morning and turned out for a signal practice this afternoon. He is in good shape and will start out at centre half. There is a possibility that Ed. Elliott, of Kingston, will likewise be available.

Martin Kilt, the Ottawa wing man, has finally decided to withdraw from football. He has been notified that the governors object to him on account of his strenuous style of play, and will drop out to avoid further trouble. Fisher, of Hamilton, was reported as coming to Ottawa, but he changed his mind and will remain in the West.

HAMILTON LADY
BEATS AMERICANMISS FLORENCE SCOTT DE-FEATS MRS. BARLOW—
FINALS TOMORROW.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—In a pelting rain and over a water-soaked course, the third round of the ladies' golf championship was played off at the Dixie Links today. Two of the English players and the American champion, Mrs. R. H. Barlow, of Philadelphia, were eliminated from the first competition. The surprise of the day's play was the defeat of Mrs. Barlow by Miss Florence Scott, of Hamilton, who scored an easy victory with 7 up and 5 to play. Miss Scott assumed the lead early in the match and maintained it until the game finished on the thirteenth green.

EXCEPTIONAL GOLF.
Miss Dodd, the English champion, defeated Miss Gladys Ravenscroft 4 up and 2 to play. The golf played by this pair was exceptional. They played par for the greater number of holes. Miss Dodd's score equalling bogey going out and well up with it on the seven holes of the inward journey.

Of the 16 holes played, 10 were halved. Miss Dodd winning four and Miss Ravenscroft two. There was no advantage until the sixth, where Miss Dodd won.

The meeting of Miss Florence Harvey, of Hamilton, and Miss Henry-Anderson, of Royal Montreal, was of particular interest to Canadians. They played all square on four occasions, Miss Harvey finally winning by 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Pooley Wins.

Miss Violet Pooley, of Victoria, B. C., was the only winner forced to play over the whole course to defeat her opponent, Miss Mabel Harrison, the Irish champion. The Irish player had all the advantage in the first half, being 4 up at the end of the sixth and 3 at the turn. On the tenth Miss Pooley seemed to gather herself together and through her opponent's mistake in putting gained an advantage. After this she forced the play. They were all square at the fourteenth; the fifteenth was won by Miss Harrison by her better judgment on the green. The sixteenth went to Miss Pooley, which squared the score again. On the seventeenth they halved and Miss Pooley won on the eighteenth by 1 up. The gallery waited for the starting of the two English players, the other couples being allowed to start out almost alone. In the consolation competition the majority of the matches went by default. The semi-finals will be played tomorrow morning while the executive charge has arranged for the playing of the final on Saturday afternoon.

Montreal, October 2—Championship, third round:

Miss Dodd, the English champion, defeated Miss Ravenscroft, her dangerous rival for both Canadian and English honors, 4 up and 2 to play.

Miss Violet Pooley, of Victoria, B. C., defeated the Irish champion, Miss Mabel Harrison, in a great game at the last hole, one up.

Miss Florence Scott, of Hamilton, defeated Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Philadelphia, 7 up and 5 to play.

Miss Florence Harvey, of Hamilton, defeated Miss Henry-Anderson, R. M. G. C., 2 up and 1 to play.

First Consolation.

Third round—Miss Codville, Royal Ottawa, defeated Miss Fraser, Royal Ottawa, 3 up and 2 to play.

Mrs. Pace, Royal Montreal, defaulted to Miss Draper, Beaconsfield.

Mrs. Killy, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. Glasco, Beaconsfield.

Second Consolation.

Third round—Mrs. William Dobell, Quebec, won by default from Mrs. W. B. Scott, Kanawaki.

Miss Riordan, Lambton, defaulted to Miss LeSueur, Ottawa.

Miss Thompson, Royal Montreal, defeated Miss Cooke, Rosedale, 4 up and 2 to play.

Mrs. Barnard, Toronto, won by default from Miss C. Pratt, Beaconsfield.

Third Consolation.

Third round—Mrs. Mussen, Royal Montreal, defeated Mrs. Duncan, of Toronto, 3 up and 2 to play.

Miss Bauld, Halifax, won from Mrs. J. M. Robertson, Beaconsfield, by default.

Christie, Royal Ottawa, defeated Mrs. Tibbets, Concord, N. H., 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Savage, Beaconsfield, defeated Mrs. Foy, Quebec, 3 up and 1 to play.

WANDERERS LOSE
IN JOHNSON CASEJUDGE MURPHY RULES THAT CLUB CANNOT CLAIM DAM-AGES FOR OWN WRONG
4 ACTS.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 2.—Holding on the merits of the case that the Wanderers Hockey Club had endeavored to entice Ernie Johnson to break his contract with President Patrick, of the Pacific Coast Hockey Club, and could not therefore collect damages for its own wrongful acts, Mr. Justice Murphy, of the Supreme Court, today dismissed the claims of the Wanderers Club against Johnson for $2000 damages.

The Montreal club sued on a judgment obtained in a Montreal court, claiming the $2000 penalty mentioned in Johnson's contract with President Lichtenhein. At the trial in Vancouver to enforce the Montreal judgment Johnson's counsel, E. S. Taylor, K. C., produced evidence to show that the Montreal contract was made three days after Johnson had agreed to play for the coast club, and that it made made in face of the knowledge that the prior contract existed. Johnson said he agreed to play for Lester Patrick for $1800 last season, but Lichtenhein sent for him and persuaded him to accept his offer of $2000. After realizing he had laid himself liable for damages, Johnson said, he decided to stay by the Patrick contract. The Montreal club then sued Johnson for $2000 damages, and got judgment by default.

Mr. Justice Murphy dismissed the action with costs, holding that, as Johnson had not been served with papers in the Montreal action, the judgment was not enforceable in British Columbia.

WEATHER SPOILS
COLUMBUS RACINGGRAND CIRCUIT ASSOCIATION
PROGRAMME WAS ONLY PARTIALLY CARRIED OUT.

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—Weather today was so unsuitable for racing that the program offered by the Columbus Grand Circuit Association did not approach completion. Two pacing races, started on Wednesday, were finished and five heats of the Buckeye, $5000 trotting stake, were decided. A heavy wind swept the track all afternoon and after the first heat of the stake event a shower made the track unsafe for more than an hour.

In order to carry out the original plans there will be four races tomorrow and three on Saturday.

Fan Patch's ability to stand a whipping drive kept the Buckeye Stake from being won by Lady Grattan in the fourth. Tommy Horn, the favorite, took the first heat. The Cox mare was the winner of the second and third heats. She was beaten only by inches in the fourth. W. L. Snow getting Fan Patch to the front a few yards from the finish.

Peter McCormick in the fifth heat was Lady Grattan's master. He was sent away fast and opened up a lead of three lengths. Down the stretch he declined to be overtaken and went under the wire an easy winner. This race will be resumed at noon tomorrow.

The 210 pace went to Lowando. Don Patch, the early favorite on Wednesday, was thought today to have the best chance but in the races fifth and sixth heats he did not ward off Lowando's rushes. Princess Margaret settled the unfinished 213 pace by winning today's deciding heat from Woodcliffe King.

TONIGHT'S WRESTLING MATCH

Canadian and American Champions

Meet Here.

The wrestling season in Quebec will open this evening at the Garde Champlain Hall, on Fleury street, when Eugene Tremblay, the champion of his class, will meet the wonderful young American, Bayles, who is said to be the most serious rival of the French-Canadian athlete. The event ought to be of the greatest interest to local sportsmen and a crowded house will undoubtedly witness the interesting contest. Both men are in the best form and are equally confident of winning the battle.

The main wrestling bout will be preceded by an interesting preliminary between two of our best local wrestlers.

Seats are now on sale at Ed. Langlois's and Jos. Cote's tobacco stores, until 6 o'clock, and also at the hall tonight after half past seven. All lovers of good wrestling should be at the Garde Champlain Hall tonight.

WILL MAUD ALLAN,
BAREFOOT DANCER,
PERFORM IN INDIA?FEMALE DANCER HAS VERY LOW STATUS IN THIS ORIENTAL COUNTRY.

London, Oct. 3.—The great problem agitating the world of choreography is the severe criticism which has broken out in India with regard to the contemplated visit of Miss Maud Allan, the bare foot dancer whose reputation should by this time be universal. It is confined to the Europeans who do not hesitate to say that the performance however artistic—and of this there is no denial—would by reason of its tenuity of costume, and the publicity accorded to it, prove not only damaging but demoralizing to the position and the prestige of the white woman.

A Fair Comment.

This is a fair comment, and will be appreciated by anyone who knows the country, a country in which the dancer—the female dancer—belongs to the lowest stratum of society, and as a rule, possesses not only little but absolutely no public respect at all. Indeed there is, and for a long time has been a powerful movement in progress to do away altogether with the performance of the Nautch girls, although these are not particularly indecorous, while they are certainly exceedingly dull. This fact alone is an indication of the measure of public esteem meted out to this class of performers, and Miss Allan need not suppose that because she is a white woman and above criticism, that therefore she will escape the shafts of malvolent and sneering native comment. At present she is expressing surprise at the bare idea that her appearance can unchain the scorn of the native spectator, but anyone would have told her that in India the white man, and still more the white woman, lives and exists on prestige, and that anything which tends to deal a blow to this causes grave injury to the interests of the British community as a whole.

People who do not know better sometimes think or effect to think that this can be disregarded, but in a country where the white so often lives an isolated life among myriads of natives, it is a factor which must be taken into consideration. Accordingly it is very doubtful if Miss Allan will go after all; if she does she will have to count on the hostility of almost every European, and the supercilious, depreciatory native will be a poor substitute.

The Weather

Toronto, Oct. 2.—Since last night a fairly important disturbance has developed over the New England States, causing a general, and in some districts quite heavy rainfall, in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. A few light showers have occurred in Northern Alberta, but otherwise the weather in the West has been fine.

Minimum and maximum temperatures:

Victoria, 48-62; Vancouver, 50-60; Kamloops, 52-62; Calgary, 44-82; Edmonton, 44-50; Battleford, 50-54; Prince Albert, 44-58; Moose Jaw, 40-75; Regina, 37-72; Winnipeg, 38-74; Port Arthur, 40-60; Parry Sound, 48-62; London, 47-59; Toronto, 51-61; Kingston, 54-54; Ottawa, 50-54; Montreal, 50-52; Quebec, 46-54; St. John, 50-62; Halifax, 42-60.

Forecasts:

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay: Fresh to strong north-westerly winds, fair and cool.

Ottawa and Upper St. Lawrence: North and north-west winds, fair and cool.

Lower St. Lawrence: North-east to north-west winds, showery at first, then clearing.

Gulf: Strong winds and gales with rain.

Maritime: South-westerly shifting to north-westerly winds, clearing.

READY FOR ROYAL WEDDING TALK WITH VETERAN ACTOR

Five Queens and Two Kings in the Royal Gathering at Duchess of Fife's Wedding

All Preparations Are Made for the Event of October 15 and the Cards of Invitation Issued, with Explicit Instructions as to the Attire To Be Worn by Men and Women.

SCOTTISH MOORS STILL CENTRE OF ATTRACTION

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, October 4.
SUMMER is over and autumn officially has come in with bright, warm weather that would put a sham on much of the weather the so-called summer provided. It is fortunate to have been so, because the King and Queen came from Balmoral to attend the military manoeuvres as guests of Lord Spencer at Althorp Park. The King and Queen were out every day, the Queen even sitting in the trenches under the artillery fire—blank, of course—of the invaders.

The foreign military observers were surprised at the cool, informal manner of the King and Queen as they moved among their people.

An amusing incident happened one day, a heated argument on the color of the dress the Queen was wearing raising the question, "Are the majority of women color blind?" It was a coat skirt of a very delicate and beautiful shade variously described as French gray, blue gray, pale green, green or blue, salmon pink, light mauve, very pale green and something light. Even one of the court ladies on being asked to solve the problem replied, "I think it is bluish pink, but I really could not say for certain."

The King and Queen have departed to Balmoral, where there will be a series of drives for stage in the forests of Balmoral, Balmuccie and Whittemouth. The court will return to London on October 11, and the King and Queen will pay no more private calls until November 24, when they will go to Lambton Castle as guests of Lord Lambton and Lady Anne Lambton.

PREPARING FOR WEDDING.
Meanwhile preparations for the royal wedding on October 15 are proceeding smoothly and rapidly. The cards of invitation to the wedding are all issued. The Chapel Royal, St. James', is in a state of chaos, but the whole work is expected to be finished on October 4. All the old fashioned heavy pews have been removed and stored. In their place raised stands are being erected, accommodating 300 guests, the aisle being widened directly in front of the altar, and in the surrounding space, where the bridal procession will stand, a semi-circular row of gilt chairs will be placed for the accommodation of the royal guests. In the centre will be one slightly higher than the rest for the Queen.

No fewer than five queens will be present—Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra, the Empress Dowager of Russia, the Queen of Norway and Queen Amelie of Portugal—which is believed to be the largest number of consorts of sovereigns that ever has assembled on one occasion.

There also will be two reigning sovereigns and three heirs apparent, the former being King George and the King of Norway and the latter the Prince of Wales and the Crown Prince of Sweden and Norway, while the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha is a reigning prince.

In many ways the royal gathering will be notable. So far as at present known Prince Arthur's supporters will be his cousins the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. As it is now definitely settled that the King will give the bride away no choir will be provided for him, because he will remain standing throughout the ceremony.

FLOWERS FROM FROMGORE

The decoration of the Chapel Royal will be comparatively simple. There will be none of that profuse display of choice shrubs and flowers set at so many fashionable weddings during the London season. Everything, however, will be very beautifully arranged under the direction of the King's head gardener from Windsor. All the flowers and shrubs required will be brought from Fromgore, and as a complement to the bride Scottish white heather will figure largely in the decoration scheme and also compose part of the bouquets carried by the bride and bridesmaids.

From inquiries made of the modistes entrusted with the making of the bridal dress and the other principal dresses of the trousseau they are still in an elementary state and must remain so until the return of the bride to London to decide on the details, except that the dresses are being made by an English woman and that, contrary to a statement already made, there are no restrictions upon foreign materials. One of the riding habits is ready. It is of Oxford melton cloth with a triple skirt coat, lined, of medium length and reaching to, but not covering the saddle cloth. It has strapped seams, is semi-fitting and has a velvet collar, side pockets and crosses in front slightly, with tapering lapels.

Scotch tweeds, hand woven, are used for the fishing and golfing costumes, and MacDuff tartan is utilized for the traveling wraps and automobile rugs. It is a handsome design, with a darkened ground. Foxglove is the badge of the Duff clan, and is being included in the design of brocade intended for the trousseau, as is white heather, which stands in Scotland for love and luck, and therefore is suitable for a Scottish bride.

SEMI-COURT TOILETTE.
Ladies attending the wedding are officially announced, and, as already told in these despatches, will wear what is officially called semi-court toilet. This consists of court dresses of white, cut low back and front, with short sleeves, trains and veils. Feather, however, are discarded, and this leaves the ladies free to wear diamond tiaras and other hair ornaments, though colored stones are not permissible by daytime. Ladies who are in mourning or half mourning may substitute black for the official white, and elderly ladies also will be allowed to substitute high neck dresses in case of their health being affected by the exposure to the chill October air. This decision also means that all the men must wear full dress uniform, with the stars and ribbons of their orders. Civilians are to wear ordinary court dress, but with trousers, not knee breeches.

The latest reports from Scotland show that very good sport has been obtained in the deer forests, as indicated by the success of Lord Craven and Mr. Bradley Martin, as already cabled.

Colonel Clarke, in Fasnakey, where thirty were obtained altogether, shot a beautiful fourteen pointer weighing eighteen stone.

THREE ROYAL SISTERS IN THEIR OLD HOME

QUEEN ALEXANDRA (IN CENTRE), THE DOWAGER EMPRESS OF RUSSIA (ON LEFT), AND THE DUCHESS OF CUMBERLAND AT THE CASTLE BERNSTORFF IN DENMARK.

Few royal sisters have played such great and beneficial parts on the world's stage as those shown in the above picture. Brought up in the simplest and most natural of fashions by their father, King Christian IX. of Denmark, two of them have wielded great power as consorts in two of the mightiest empires in the world, England and Russia.

American Women's Club in Berlin Suffers a Loss in Mrs. Thackara

(Special Dispatch.)
BERLIN, October 4.
An enthusiastic meeting of the Executive Committee of the American Women's Club, held this week in the home of the president, Mrs. A. M. Thackara, arrangements for the autumn organization were discussed and several changes made in the Board of Directors.

Miss Alice Worfolk, one of the charter members of the club, asked to be relieved from the duties of recording secretary, and Mrs. Ernst Franke was chosen as her successor. Further appointments were those of Mrs. Arthur Davis as corresponding secretary, Mrs. Grosse as treasurer and Mrs. Fred Davis as assistant treasurer.

It was announced at the meeting that Miss Katherine Letterman, of Washington city, who has just arrived in Berlin to assume the duties of directress, had reconsidered her decision since learning of the approaching absence of Mrs. Thackara in Paris and would not remain during the winter.

Students' teas will be a new feature introduced in the social life of the club this season. To all members of the club tea will be served gratis every afternoon, an innovation which will be much appreciated by the large body of American girls students.

The first of a series of elite concerts to be given during the course of the season in the ballroom of the Hotel Esplanade took place this week with an all star list of co-operative artists. First honors went to Herr Leo Slezak, the Bohemian tenor, although the audience was by no means lacking in enthusiasm for the work of Fräulein Hermine Bosetti, of the Munich Royal Opera; Professor Willy Burmeister and Herr Wilhelm Backhaus, the Anglo-German piano virtuoso. These concerts are modelled after the Bagby musicales of New York and are to be extremely exclusive, both as regards the audience and the artists.

Mr. John G. A. Leishman, the retiring Ambassador to Germany, has returned here, where he will remain until the opportunity presents itself for him to present his letters of recall to the Kaiser. It is not known whether Mrs. Leishman, who left here in May, will return for a farewell audience with the German Emperor.

Mr. William Spencer, Second Secretary of the embassy, who is one of the most ardent tennis devotees in Berlin, came out of the tournament of the Blue and White Club with flying colors, having won second place in the championship match against Herr Logie, of Dresden, and was also one of the winning team in the men's doubles.

Mr. and Mrs. Berthold Israel, who are still in this country, gave a supper party to the United States Consul General and Mrs. Thackara. Many guests came in the early afternoon and engaged in tennis and croquet. The golf enthusiasts had an impromptu putting competition on the practice green. Twice during the afternoon the big Zeppelin, the Sachsen, passed over the grounds and the occupants exchanged greetings with the players.

Mr. and Mrs. Putnam Griswold, Mrs. Julius Huttmacher, Miss Eleanor Thackara, Mr. C. De Witt Poole, Mr. Ernest L. Ives, the United States Vice Consul in Madgeburg, and Dr. Stanley Thaw were among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Israel.

Mr. Maude Comes with Six Plays

Famous English Actor Will Make First Appearance in America in Twenty-Nine Years.

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, October 4.
Mr. Cyril Maude, who is regarded in London as a worthy successor of Jefferson and Toole and who makes his first appearance in New York at the Hudson Theatre on October 17, is taking with him a picked English company from the Playhouse, including his daughter, Miss Margery Maude.

His American repertory will consist of six plays:—"The Second in Command," by Mr. Robert Marshall; "Beauty and the Beast," by Mr. W. W. Jacobs and Mr. Louis N. Parker; "Tollies," adapted by the late Clyde Fitch from the French of Tristan Bernard and Andre Gide; "Tantalizing Tomboy," by Mr. Paul Gavault and Mr. Michael Morton; "The Headmaster," by Mr. Wilfrid T. Coleby and Mr. Edward Knoblauch; and "Grumpy," by Mr. Horace Hodge and Mr. T. Wigney Percival.

Unfortunately Mr. Maude will be accompanied by his wife, Miss Winifred Emery. On the last night of his recent London season Mr. Maude, in the course of his farewell speech and in allusion to his American tour, said:—

"I go with some regret, for I am unable to take my wife; but (indicating his daughter) I am taking this little image of her."

As Mr. Austin Brereton, author of "The Life of Henry Irving" and "The History of the Lyceum," in a memoir of Mr. Maude, says:—

"Many will share Mr. Maude's regret, for his wife was a member of Henry Irving's company for some years, and, as such, accompanied the great actor to America. But alas! her style of acting is essentially serious, dramatic, and the plays which her husband has performed have been obliged to produce in response to the demands of the public and his own mettle have not always afforded the opportunity which gives the ability of his wife full scope."

"Therefore, as circumstances prevent Mrs. Maude from appearing with her husband, America must be content that the daughter can so artistically represent her mother. Mr. Maude was more than graceful in his allusion to mother and daughter. Margery Maude is veritably the 'little image' of her mother, and the playgoer who has been fortunate enough to see the beautiful acting of Winifred Emery in such parts as 'Sophia in 'Olivia,' 'Margaret in 'Faust,' as Lydia Langrish, 'Kate Hardcastle and Hero, as Lady Babbalanza in 'The Little Minister,' and as other heroines of drama, is reminded of her time and again when he sees, and even more when he hears, Miss Margery Maude."

Mr. Maude has not acted out of the British Isles since his first efforts in America twenty-nine years ago.

Value of Sanatoria Is Doubted by Physicians

Dr. Thomas Dutton Says Exposure to Cold Damp Air, Even Though Fresh, Is Unkind, Cruel and Without Any Benefit to Tuberculous Patients.

PRaises Effect of Sun's Rays in Pure Air

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, October 4.

DOES the open air treatment of consumption constitute an error in medical judgment? Is the serious question directly raised by a remarkable article contributed by Dr. Thomas Dutton, M. D., M. R. C. P., to the Medical Times on the therapeutic value of pure air.

"I must ask the reader clearly to understand," writes Dr. Dutton, "that the value of pure air in the treatment of disease has nothing to do with the so-called open air treatment, the advocates of which have usurped the phrase 'sanatorium treatment.' This treatment is supposed to be fresh air treatment, which they advise poor tuberculous patients, and also convalescent patients, and even workhouse patients, to be exposed to night and day, when all these patients are really ill through being unable to create sufficient heat in their bodies, and require warm, pure, dry air."

"The great difference between pure air and fresh air is, the former contains a large percentage of ozone, free from moisture and dust laden, and pure particles, whereas fresh air, although it may contain ozone, may also be cold, impregnated with moisture, full of manure dust in particles, which it generally is in London and other large towns."

Dr. Dutton further contends that no hospitals should be allowed in large towns. He contends that "to expose poor tuberculous children, patients at the hospital, and poor law infirmaries, who are in a low vital condition and unable to manufacture in their bodies sufficient heat, to cold, damp air, day and night, is unkind and cruel, without any benefit."

He dwells on the beneficial effect of the sun's rays in pure air, and states his belief that the sun's rays can be used instead of X-rays or radium. Finally, Dr. Dutton indorses the opinion of Dr. McWalter that sanatorium treatment has been an absolute failure, and he regards it as "a fraud upon the ratepayers to continue it."

One of the best known publicists on scientific and medical matters, when asked his opinion on Dr. Dutton's views, while not giving his name for publication, supported his theories.

"It must generally be admitted now," he said, "that the curative value of sanatoria is practically nil. Of course, when the open air treatment was first started it was definitely believed that an actual cure had been discovered. Experience, however, has since proved that this is not the case. As a result, we find in Germany, where the sanatorium idea first flourished, that the sanatoria which used to be crowded with patients are now rapidly emptying."

"I will not deny that sanatorium treatment, properly administered, retards the progress of the disease; but the chief merit of the sanatorium is that it induces patients to adopt the habits of a healthy life. Another merit—not unimportant to the general community—is that it segregates persons afflicted with tuberculosis. A third merit is the fact that the majority of sanatorium patients enjoy the life they live there. All this, of course, is to the good. On the other hand, we must now confess the truth that the sanatorium treatment is purely palliative as its best, and not curative."

An official of the London County Council, however, spoke highly of the improvement wrought in the physical condition of children admitted to the Council's open air schools.

"The demonstration of the results obtained in the special defects which had resulted in the children's admission is made somewhat difficult because of the varying conceptions which different observers have of the term 'tuberculosis.' Broadly speaking, it may be said that this year's work agrees with previous experience, and furnishes further evidence of the benefits of open air school life in strengthening the debilitated condition of children."

Another well known medical man who is a specialist in tubercular complaints could not subscribe to Dr. Dutton's views. "The records of the sanatoria," he remarked, "are their justification. When a sanatorium is established on the summit of a high hill remote from the common roads, it surely cannot be maintained that the patients there are subjected to air that is full of manure dust laden particles. As regards the question of sun rays, the profession has long recognized their curative value, and for this reason our sanatoria are so designed as to allow every possible particle of sunlight to penetrate to the patients. The establishment of sanatoria has done more than anything else in the world to lessen the scourge of tuberculosis."

BLUE SILK GARTERS FOR ROYAL BRIDE

(Special Dispatch.)
LONDON, October 4.

THE Duchess of Fife would not be a true Scotswoman if she were not superstitious. She wants the "something new and something blue" of the song, which is lucky brides should wear on their wedding day, and told this to Princess Mary. Her Royal Highness, it seems, also learned from a cottager on the Balmoral estate that garters are the luckiest things you can offer a bride, so she promptly asked for knitting a pair of blue silk garters for her cousin.

Like her mother, the Queen, she is a clever knitter, and between them they evolved a pretty design, in which the thistle appears in its natural coloring. They will be fastened with turquoise and amethyst clasps.

After the engagement of the Duchess of Fife was announced the head gardener of Mar Lodge planted some white heather sprigs, which will be at their best about the time of the wedding.

The tendency is nowadays for royal personages to dispense as far as possible with official attendance in their households. It was stated the other day that maids of honor have as much to do at Queen Mary's court as in the reign of Queen Victoria. This is certainly not the case, for very often at Buckingham Palace during the "waits" the Queen's maids of honor do not see Her Majesty from one week's end to the other after the morning service on Sundays. At Windsor and Balmoral, where they "live in," ladies of the court are, however, kept much busier, which they thoroughly enjoy. Queen Alexandra made an exception this summer to her usual rule of having no member of her household resident at Marlborough House except Miss Charlotte Knollys.

COBB FAILS TO PICK BIG SERIES WINNER

Battle Will Be One of Hard-Hitting and Weak Pitching on Part of Athletics Against High- Class Twirling and Fair Batting by Giants

BY TY COBB.

(World's Greatest Baseball Player.)

With the baseball season of 1913 nearing an end, it is definitely settled that the Philadelphia Athletics of the American League and the New York Giants of the National League will meet in the world's series. Every fan in this great country of ours is puzzling his brains trying to choose the winner; the sporting editors are resorting to figures to compare the relative strength of the teams, individually and collectively; pages of "dope" will be filled and presented to the public before the umpire starts the first game of the coming series.

Before delving into this great problem let me predict that this will be one of the greatest series ever played and that the attendance will probably be greater than ever before. The battles will be staged in two of the largest cities, and situated close together in two of the largest and finest ball parks in the world. But the big attraction will be that the two teams appear so evenly matched that I believe it will be a toss-up which will win.

As a matter of fact, I believe the relative strength of the Athletics and Giants, when they face each other for the first game, will be more nearly equal than that of any contenders for this great honor who have crossed bats since the beginning of these baseball classics.

Figures Don't Tell Much.

Figures don't tell us very much about the contesting clubs this year. At least I believe that for the most part figures will have to be eliminated from our attempt to analyze the possibilities of the coming struggles.

At this time the contenders have pretty near the same average in their respective leagues, the Giants having the best of it by about twenty points. The means both clubs have found the opposition from the other seven in their organization about equally strong. The result is that neither team has run away with the pennant.

It has been the usual case for one of the pennant winners to capture the flag rather easily, coming down the home stretch at such a neat pace that they showed more strength than the champions in the rival league. But this year, as all the fans will see, things are more equal, though the Giants have been traveling at a better pace than the Athletics in the last month.

The Giants' pitchers are performing like pennant-winning hurlers should and look dangerous for this year's series. On the other hand, the Athletics have been stumbling along, not showing the strength that they did in the campaigns of 1910 and 1911.

Manager Mack will have a great problem in picking the probable pitching winners for the big games next week.

Manager McGraw's task may be far easier, for he will have Mathewson, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree to select from.

Athletics' Pitchers Not Certain.

The Athletics' general will call upon Chief Bender, Plank, Shawkey, and Bush, Brown or Houck. To my way of thinking Brown would be a mighty good bet in this important series if his control was good, as I think he is a very effective pitcher. Shawkey can be relied on to twirl a jam-up game. Bush has shown decided improvement and I believe, from experience, might make trouble for New York if started.

Of course, the Athletics have switched pitchers frequently in games played this year and the judgment shown in the managerial moves has been good. In the world's series, however, it seems unlikely that either manager will depend upon such tactics. He will start the man he thinks best fitted to go through to the finish and win.

Young Pennock, I imagine, would be Mack's best relief twirler, though, of course, Bush, Houck and Brown will be available for those roles if they do not start games. McGraw has Fromme, Crandall and Wiltse but he has such a wealth of good material in his first big four—Matty, Marquard, Tesreau and Demaree—that I don't believe he will resort to his second-string pitchers, using instead as relief flingers in case of necessity the best he has.

The pitching situation has been sized up in a general way only to lead us to the critical part of this article. You all know how important good flinging is in a short series of games when so much is at stake. Considering the strength of both teams, McGraw has the better-looking proposition, with better relief men. Don't misunderstand that statement to mean that the victory is conceded to the Giants. I'll explain.

Bender vs. Marquard.

I make the prediction that Bender for the Athletics and Marquard for the Giants, will be on the mound in the opening game. And if Marquard is New York's pitcher, I believe Ira Thomas will be Mack's catcher. Meyers will receive behind the plate for McGraw.

Much depends on that first game—

more than many would think.

All reports are that Bender is in great shape. If he is in his old-time form, and has the strength to go through, he ought to be a mighty hard man to beat. But, if the Chief pitches this first game and loses, I think it will decide the series in favor of New York. If he should win, the Athletics have a good chance to be returned the winners.

If New York should win the opening engagement, all Manager Mack's defensive plans would go up in the smoke of the battle. In 1911, when the Chief twirled the first game and lost to Mathewson, 2-1, Mack had Plank and Coombs in wonderful shape to back up that loss, both of them being able to come back the second time in the series. In the 1913 series Plank can probably be relied on for only one jam-up game, as he has been complaining of rheumatism the latter part of this season. Eddie, however, may be used as a finisher and do well. Coombs' illness prevents him from figuring in the approaching contests.

Unless something happens before the opening game to change my opinion, or unless the managers employ tactics which surprise me, I will watch the start of the 1913 world's series with more interest than I have displayed in the last three years.

The catching is always an asset in the baseball classic, but outside of general headwork, the men of the mask will undoubtedly not figure to any great extent in a short series like this. The base runners won't be sprinting wild on the paths until their team has the game already won. When there are only seven games to be played, a man on base is a valuable asset and he will not take any chances trying to snare an extra sack by stealing—that is, it has not been done much in world's series of the past, where just straight baseball has been played for the most part.

Of course, we may have a lot of base running, more than was ever shown before in any one series, for with the teams apparently so equally matched, the managers may resort to desperate tactics to try to win. But it will likely be done after the game has been decided one way or the other by other offensive plays.

The Giants have the advantage in the catching department. They have a more formidable array of backstops in Meyers, McLean and Wilson. While Thomas will no doubt be in good condition for the coming series, I don't believe the Athletics' backstops will perform up to the standard of the Giants' maskmen. Schang, if he were more seasoned, would probably display some good work, he being a good hitter and a fast man on the bases.

Comparison of the two infields shows that the Athletics have it on the Giants so far that it is useless to waste much time discussing that phase of the series. In hitting and fielding ability, Mack's quartet is superior. I think from what I saw of McInnis, Collins, Barry and Baker in our recent series with the Athletics that they are fielding far better and snappier than at any time during the years they have been playing together. If they play the article of ball against the New Yorkers that they did against the Detroit club when we were last in Philadelphia, you will see some startling all-round work.

The Giants' infield has changed a lot this summer, they having suffered from many accidents. They play fairly well together, but not near up to the standard of the Athletics. Doyle, their real hitter, has slumped, and is not even batting .300. So if the Mack pitchers come near being in form I don't think the New York infield will do much damage.

McGraw's outfield, on the other hand, will need strict attention, for that young man Burns seems to be a big improvement over Devore, and if he lives up to his record for all season, he will do surprising things to the Athletics. Murray, it is safe to predict, will not be humiliated as he was in 1911, when he did not make a safe hit in the entire series, and I look for jam-up work from this scrappy right fielder. Snodgrass, if he has luck, may atone for his misfortune of the 1912 series.

Therefore, in comparing the outfields, if Oldring and Strunk begin the battle in good condition, which I hear they will, there is not much to choose between Philadelphia and New York in that respect. Mack would seem to be better fortified with substitutes, for he has Oldring, Danny Murphy and Walsh, all right-handed batsmen, and Strunk, Eddie Murphy and Daley, who bat from the left side, giving him material to inject into the games according to McGraw's pitching starts or shift.

Athletics Whang the Ball.

That brings us down to the hitting strength of the two teams. In this respect, the Athletics have their one great asset, and that is to whang the ball—whang will not be found in the dictionary, I imagine, but it is an expressive word, and thoroughly covers that slugging that has won so many games for the Mackmen.

The Athletics, by the figures in unofficial averages at the time I am writing this, are batting as a team at a .281 pace. The combined average of the Giants is .268. That is a difference of thirteen points, which means a lot in a team average.

Manager Mack has five men who can be termed regulars hitting over .300, with Eddie Murphy as high as .292, in the averages which I have before me. When you can count on five players batting .300 you have an asset on the offense that has got to be reckoned with.

New York has only one man hitting over the .300 mark—Meyers, the catcher, Fletcher, though, can practically be called a .300 batsman. It looks to me as if this last-mentioned player has corrected a batting fault, and I suspect he will be a much-feared man when at the plate in the big games.

Now the Giants, with only two men around the .300 division, appear very weak on the attack. If their pitchers should happen to fall down and not deliver as they did during the season, or if that season's stride would not be good enough to withstand the five or six .300 hitters of the Philadelphians, then the Athletics would have an easy time slugging their way to the world's championship. It is just such points that make important series interesting and baffle the man who tries to select the winner.

It is not hard to see that the Mack pitchers, weak as they have appeared at times, may have an easier time holding the weak-appearing hitters of the Giants than the New York crack flingers will have against the slugging Mackmen.

Giants Score Few Runs.

During the last two or three weeks Mathewson, Marquard and Tesreau have lost games because the Giants could not score for them. One or two runs in a number of instances was the margin which gave opponents of McGraw's club the victory. The pitchers have held the opposition down all that could be expected, but the New Yorkers could not register at the plate.

New York has shown more even strength than the Athletics in the trend of the race. The Giants, up until September 21, had lost as few as four games to one team and as many as eight to another, their average against each team being very strong. They have won as few as ten games from one of their rivals and as many as sixteen. This makes a very strong showing and shows conclusively that New York has been playing ball every day the whole year and that weakness hasn't cropped up for any length of time for this season of 1913.

On the other hand, the Athletics have trounced New York sixteen times and their lowest average was against Boston, having beaten them only ten times up to last Wednesday. Chicago, a fifth-place club, triumphed over the Athletics on eleven occasions and the margin of losses by the Athletics was wide, as the minimum and maximum is three and eleven, showing quite a range of form.

The Athletics have one great thing in their favor, and that is that they can put seven men who have played regularly and can be termed regular players, including the pitcher and catcher, that bat right-handed against any left-handed pitcher that New York puts in. The two left-handed hitters are Baker and Collins, and neither is weak against off-side pitchers.

On the other hand, when a right-hander faces the Athletics, they can send in seven left-handed batsmen, having only Barry and McInnis hit-

ILLITERATES TO VOTE IN ITALY

EIGHT MILLION WILL BE ELIGIBLE FOR SUFFRAGE AT ELECTION THIS MONTH.

At the last election in Italy about 3,000,000 voters were on the lists. At the approaching election about 8,000,000 will be eligible. This great increase has been brought about by legislation which removed all educational and property qualifications for voters, and gives every Italian citizen who has reached the age of 21, and has served in the army or navy, a vote. Conviction of a crime is the only disfranchisement known under the new law. It follows then that the Parliament that Italy will elect next month will have an authority behind it that no previous Parliament ever had, although it must be admitted that the increase in the number of voters has been achieved at the expense of a good deal of quality. Probably half the voters will be unable to read or write, and it is proposed that the ballot papers may be rendered intelligible to them by bearing the photographs of the candidates, or by signs and symbols after the fashion of American ballots.

Effect of Illiterate Vote.

It is a matter for considerable speculation as to what effect the great influx of new and illiterate voters will have upon the Government of the country. The Franchise Bill was opposed by some on the ground that it would play into the hands of the Church, and that especially in the case of illiterates the priests might be able to exercise more authority than in the past. The present Government is by no means pro-clerical, and if the predictions were fulfilled it might mean its defeat. As a matter of fact, no great political party in Italy would be willing to be known as a clerical party, and the defeat of Giolitti would not bring into power any capable reactionary who would serve the Vatican rather than the Quirinal. It may be taken for granted that Giolitti, who is probably the greatest Italian statesman since Cavour, would not have enfranchised 5,000,000 Italians if he had any fear that they would use their franchise to put him out of office. Whatever may be the ultimate effect of enfranchising this illiterate army, it will not make the first use of its new powers by striking down the statesman who armed it.

Italy's Grand Old Man.

In fact Giolitti seems as likely to die in office as any statesman in Europe. He is now past seventy, and for some thirty years or more has been a public servant in one capacity or another. It is true that he has had his eclipses, but after each of them he has emerged triumphant. Moreover, he is given much of the credit for the successful results of the war with Turkey. Statesmen always inherit the fame of successful generals, just as they inherit the defeats of the less successful ones. Within two years Italy accomplished a task that was predicted would take a decade at least, and though she has by no means conquered Tripoli, she has at least the title deeds to the new province in her possession, and despite the great drain upon her resources caused by the war, her financial position is sound today.

A Financial Genius.

It is in finance that Giolitti's genius finds the greatest scope, and while few countries more greatly abound in genius than Italy, financial genius is probably rarer there than in any other country in Europe with the exception of Spain. Giolitti was the son of poor parents, and has never recovered from the necessity of his early days in making a dollar do the work of two, wherever possible. He is just as careful with the country's money as with his own, and the result is that from one end of Italy to the other his probity and caution have become bywords. It is in this respect of personal probity that he surpasses Crispi, and it was his duty after Crispi's fall to undertake the task of investigating the public treasury and showing that immense sums of money had been either embezzled or wasted when Crispi was Premier. So astounding were the revelations and so many prominent persons were involved that a cabal against Giolitti was started and it was represented that he was making his charges in order to advance his own political ends. The result was that public opinion was turned against him and his Cabinet was overthrown.

A Big Statesman.

He remained in retirement for the next six years, and then was called upon by Zanardelli to accept the portfolio of finance, for unpopular as Giolitti was at the time, financial experts were scarce, and sorely needed. In the course of time Giolitti succeeded Zanardelli as Premier, and still making a specialty of the Finance Department, he slowly, but surely, accomplished the fiscal regeneration of Italy, and lived down the prejudice that his pursuit of Crispi had caused. In other departments of Government, too, he has shown himself to be a statesman of the first order, and outside critics are placing him second to Cavour alone in the list of Italian public men.—Toronto Mail.

ting from the right side of the plate. By this plan, Manager Mack will not detract from the strength of his team to any extent with only two exceptions—Danny Murphy may not be quite as fast a fielder in right as the left-handed hitter, Eddie Murphy, and Daley may not be as good a batsman as Oldring.

Clubs Appear Well Matched.

Summing it all up, I want to reiterate the statement that the contending clubs appear to be well matched. I believe, though, that if the Giants win the first game they will win the series much easier than will the Athletics if they capture the opening game.

I believe that Marquard and Demaree will be the most effective pitchers in the series. Of course, Mathewson has always given the lie to those who predicted his downfall, and I will not predict it in this series. But I believe the style of Marquard and Demaree will be more successful than Mathewson's. Tesreau is liable to run into trouble against the Athletics.

This whole series will not be a question of base running and tactics so much excepting, of course, the selection of pitchers. It will be just a case of pitching and batting. If the Mack twirlers can hold New York down just fairly well, I believe the Athletic batsmen will bang out enough runs to win for them. On the other hand, if the Giants show a reversal of batting form and the pitchers hold the Mackmen down at all, New York will win easily.

Scientific tactics will not have much to do with this series, but the game will be competently handled and there will not be as many mistakes as in the series of 1912, when in every game mistakes which were vital to the best interests of the teams were made.

The batting and fielding records of each club show very interesting figures, and these give the Athletics the advantage over the Giants. The Athletics in their average published, had accepted a total of 5,669 chances, with only 197 errors, the Giants having accepted 5,768 chances, with a total of 224 errors. This gives the Athletics a comfortable margin.

As mentioned before, the Athletics lead the Giants in batting. In this respect, as in fielding, the Athletics led their league, while the Giants were third in batting and fifth in fielding. In long hits by clubs, the Athletics lead their league with an average of .397. The Giants rank fifth in their league with .256. The Giants do not lead in any one department of team averages, while the Athletics lead the American League in every department.

On the other hand, the pitchers of the Giants collectively, are far and away ahead of the Athletics' pitchers.

New York Has Good Reserves.

The Giants are better fortified with utility players, having Herzog, Grant and McCormick, the latter the dependable pinch hitter. The only infield reserves the Athletics have are Lavan and Orr. Neither can hit well. One thing in the Athletics' favor is that they clinched the pennant two weeks before the time for the series to begin, and will be able to work and study in order to prepare for the big battles. I thought they showed decided improvement in the last few games against our club, and they have the men who should brace and get the machine running smoothly. However as I have said, I think that pitching and batting will decide the issue—that is, the club which combines those two qualities best will win, and there will be no other factors in the conflict worth mentioning.

It is impossible to say at this time who will be the actual winner of the 1913 world's series, and I wouldn't feel like hazarding a guess, for the Athletics and the Giants are about equally strong. Therefore, I have tried to show how the series hinges upon several things and the team which best follows out that campaign will be returned the victor.

HER TOMATO WORM CROP MADE MONEY.

Georgia Girl Furnished Bait to Fishermen on the Side, to Her Great Profit.

Washington, October 2.—The "Boy's Corn Clubs," established by Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture, have been supplemented this year by "Girls' Tomato Clubs." They seem to have been equally successful.

One Georgia girl not only grew prize tomatoes, but sold enough of the greatest tomato pest—the "tomato worm"—to fishermen, for bait, to pay for working and harvesting her crop.

Two fishermen offered her a cent a piece for all the tomato worms she would bring them. In one week she turned in over 500 and got more than $5. This she kept up all season, and when the supply of worms became scarce on her patch, she went to work in her neighbors' fields. The department won't tell her name yet.

Opera Will Be Interspersed by Signor Pini-Corsi and Other Stars.

It is always a treat to hear the great artists of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and it will be the good fortune of music lovers in this city and the local public generally, to enjoy the work of the most famous living basso buffo, Pini Corsi, who will be here on October 11th, matinee and evening, under the unusually attractive conditions.

Pini-Corsi, by special arrangement with the Metropolitan Opera Company, is to make a short tour which will take him to twenty-one cities only. Luckily this is one of the twenty-one. He will present the comic grand opera "Il Maestro di Cappella," in which his inimitable comedy and his marvellous voice are displayed at their best. "Il Maestro di Cappella" will be presented with complete productions. Appearing with Pini-Corsi will be Miss Louise Cox, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company and Sig. Attili o di Crescenzo, tenor from the Royal Opera House of Parma, Italy. All the artists will be heard in the opera and in concert numbers which will follow. Seats on sale tomorrow morning, at the box office.

bills is for the medical man to draw pay from the family so long as the members remain in health, his pay stopping when they become sick and resumed when health returns.

The Chinese method of medical practice came up in a discussion of the work of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which has broadened into a general war for the extermination of preventable disease. The question of "Chinese Prevention Practice" will open up this proposal to return to ancient methods, which, it is claimed, would be the greatest step possible in the eradication of the quack doctor.

UPSET STOMACH, COSTIVE, BILIOUS, CASCARETS TONIGHT--DIME A BOX

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is sour—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach's fault—it isn't indigestion—it's biliousness and constipation. Try Cascarets; they sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning.

day morning, and moored in the Louise dock.

Steamer Renvoyle, Captain Redfern, left port yesterday afternoon for An-ticosti, with passengers, a number of cattle and a general cargo.

Steamer Saskatoon, Captain Aitkin, arrived from the upper lakes last evening with a cargo of coal and went into the Louise dock.

BAIE DES CHALEURS LINE.

Steamer Gaspesien, Captain Blouin, left port on Wednesday evening for Baie des Chaleurs ports, with passengers and general cargo.

C. P. R. LINE.

R. M. S. Empress of Britain, Captain J. A. Murray, left port at 5 p.m.
yesterday for Liverpool with 128 first,
177 second and 598 third-class passengers, the mails and general cargo.

DONALDSON LINE.

Steamer Letitia, Captain McNeill,
from Glasgow, with passengers and general cargo, was reported 180 miles east of Belle Isle at 11.30 a.m. yesterday. Due here on Saturday evening.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE.

R. M. S. Megantic, Captain David,
from Liverpool, with passengers,
mails and general cargo, was reported 180 miles east of Belle Isle at 12.30 a.m. yesterday. Due here on Saturday morning.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS.

New York, Oct. 2.—Chartering was exceedingly light and the market was quiet in all respects. There was but little inquiry for either steam or sail tonnage.

Quotations to Liverpool, 24½; London, 2½; Antwerp, 3d; Glasgow, 3½ pennies; Bremen, 3½ pennies; Hull, 4d asked; Bristol, 4d; Cork for orders, 3d asked; ports, large tonnage, 2s 6d, nominal; cotton to Liverpool, 30c.

Charters.—British steamer, 2353 tons, general cargo, Gulf to the United Kingdom or Continent, 15s, prompt;
British steamer, 3344 tons, ore, Navork to Philadelphia, 7s, October-November; Norwegian steamer, 1921 tons, West India trade, trip down, basis, 3s 6d, prompt; Norwegian ship, 1387 tons, lumber, November, Mobile to Rosam, $16.75; Norwegian bark, 1145 tons (previously) lumber, Gulf to the River Plate, $15.50, option Bahn
Blanca, $16, October-November.

WORK ON ST. LAWRENCE.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—It is announced here by the Marine Department that the work in the channel through the Traverse below Quebec has been completed. The result is a widening of 250 feet and a 30-foot depth at the extreme low water. The completion of this work marks the disappearance of one of the few remaining difficulties to be met with in the St. Lawrence ship channel.

WRECKED N. Z. LINER.

From latest reports, to hand from Wellington, N. Z., there seems little hope of saving the wrecked Federal liner Devon, which visited this port for the New Zealand line, earlier in the season, and was subsequently stranded off Pencarrow Head, outside Wellington harbor. The Devon has sustained heavy damage. Her stem is broken, plates of her engine room bulkhead have been stove in, and, as she is ashore on sharp rocks fore and aft, the injuries to her hull increased.
Part of her cargo has been saved,
but no offers have been made for salvaging the ship, and apparently she will soon break up. She is insured on the London market for £30,000.

DRYDOCK PREPARATIONS.

Montreal, Oct. 2.—Preparations have been made by the management of the Canadian Vickers Company for the docking of the Mount Temple, as soon
as her cargo has been discharged, which will be either tomorrow or Saturday. Pocahontas coal will be used as fuel for driving the pumps when the liner has been docked and is ready for lifting. Great progress has recently been made with the reclamation of land around the drydock, and the foundations of the machine shops have been laid; but there is some doubt whether the Mount Temple can be permanently repaired, with only temporary machine-shops in existence, as yet. Much may depend as to whether the injuries to the liner have been caused by her plates underneath being pierced, or if the water which her holds have made in consequence of the plates being strained severely, when the heavily laden liner was towed off the mud-bank by tugs. The dry-dock will be fully equipped by July 1, 1914, at latest, and will then be ready for the lifting and repairing of a battleship, if necessary.

EXPELLED FOR NOT DRINKING

Greifswald, Germany, Oct. 3.—The expulsion, on account of their total abstinence principles, of a number of students from Greifswald University, one of the oldest in Germany, has caused a sensation here.

The students, numbering about 1,000,
were called together in June to attend
a typical "beer evening" in celebration of the jubilee of the Emperor William's reign. The rector of the university presided. Several abstainers protested and were thereupon reprimanded by the officials, who declared their protest an "incitement to action against academic customs."

One of the abstainers criticised the reprimand and was sentenced by the authorities to three days' confinement
in the university dungeon.
Further protests by other students led to even more drastic steps being taken by the authorities, who at once expelled two of them and summoned four others for trial before the university officials.

New York, Oct. 2.—A steadier market, with better demand was evident
as soon as the exchange opened.
Business during the hour was 113-
000 shares and on an advancing scale.
The steady and progressive strength of the market throughout the day was impressive and must have given the shorts food for thought.

Stocks are not in free supply and the bear raids bring out but little actual long stock.

The bond market is in good condition and

THE WINNING NUMBER

In our Post Card Guessing Contest was No. 140, and was won by Miss E. G. Copeman, 102 Fraser street, Montcalmville, who receives a Free Trip Ticket to Montreal and return.

Our second contest is now going on, and is the Pixie Plant Guessing Contest.

Pixie Plants are a 20th Century marvel, grow in 24 hours in the tiniest of flower pots, same as we exhibited and sold at Quebec Exhibition. The pot, seed and special soil are sold at 5c per pot, or six for 25c.

One free guess allowed with each and every pot purchased.

The contestant who guesses a certain number of four figures, will receive, absolutely free, a cash prize of Five Dollars.

Contest will close when a specified number of pots have been sold, and the name of winner published.

BEAUPORT SITE IS AGAIN APPROVED

ALDERMAN LOCKWELL
THINKS PROXIMITY OF LU-
NATICS BAD FOR PATIENTS

The chief bone of contention before the Civic Finance Committee last evening, or rather this morning, for that assembly of ediles sat until 1 a. m., was the question of the site for the proposed Civic Hospital, and it was finally decided to accept the condition of the Sisters of Beauport Asylum and erect the building on the land which they will furnish gratis.

Ald. Lockwell was the chief opponent to the selecting of the site offered by the Sisters, and he moved in amendment that the question be adjourned after speaking at length against the recommendation of the site to the City Council, which was proposed by Ald. Trudel.

This amendment being defeated, the main motion was carried by the following vote:
For—Aldermen Lavigne, Cote, Beaumont, Pouliot, Collier, and Trudel.

Against—Aldermen Verret, Lockwell, and Gosselin.
Mr. Theo. Leclerc, who had offered a site for the hospital at Domaine Lairet appeared before the Committee and said that he had been unjustly treated by Mayor Drouin and also took objection to criticisms that had appeared in certain newspapers. After he had taken up nearly an hour of the committee's time the discussion of the hospital site was resumed and decided, as already mentioned, after midnight.

Ald. Lockwell, in the course of his arguments against the site selected for the Civic Hospital said that if the citizens were aware of the facts and figures which he could place before them regarding the site offered by the nuns of Beauport Asylum not a single one would support it. He also pointed out that a civic hospital situated at such close proximity to the asylum would have a very bad effect on convalescing patients. In asking that the question be adjourned Ald. Lockwell said that he did so in order to have time to study the suggestion made at the last meeting of the Health Committee by Ald. Lavigneur that the City purchase the Drouin Park land on Charlesborough Road, build the hospital, and sell the lots which were left over after the hospital was built and the grounds laid out.

The Committee voted three months' salary to the widow of the late Fireman Michael Stapleton, of No. 6 Fire Station.

It was decided to recommend to the Council the issuing of Treasury Bonds to pay an issue on an old loan which comes due on the 1st of January, 1914.

LOCAL FIRE BRIGADE GOOD AS NEW YORK

INSURANCE MAN PAYS QUE-BEC THIS TRIBUTE—NEW FIRE PROTECTION LAW.

That the present standing of the Quebec Fire Brigade, taking into consideration the local conditions and the population, is as good and even superior to that of the brigade of the City of New York was the tribute which was paid to the City of Quebec yesterday by Mr. MacKay, the General Manager of the Springfield Insurance Company, of Springfield, Mass., after he had visited the stations and inspected the fire-fighting accessories in company with Ald. C. J. Lockwell, Chairman of the Fire Committee.

MAY REDUCE RATES.

This compliment was announced last evening at the meeting of the Fire Committee by Chairman Lockwell, who also said that he had the assurance of Mr. MacKay that he would do all in his power to bring the fact to the attention of the Fire Underwriters with the object of having them reduce the insurance rates in the City of Quebec.

Want a New Fire Protection By-Law.

The committee decided last evening to ask the By-Law Committee to prepare a new civic law by which the inspector of chimneys will have the power to bring before the Recorder those who do not conform to the law regarding the emitting of smoke and sparks from their chimneys. The question was brought up by a letter received from the lumber firm of J. & W. D. Brown, in which it was stated that during the past year fire was caused several times in their yard by sparks emitted from the smoke stack of the mill of Mr. E. T. Nesbitt, on Queen street.

Inspector of Chimneys Casgrain said that he had cautioned Mr. Nesbitt several times to keep the grate closed over the smoke stack of his factory, but it was never done. He had even appealed to Recorder Dery, who had informed him that in his capacity of inspector he had no jurisdiction to bring the owners of offending smoke stacks before the court.

Among the questions decided with little or no discussion were: To pay Messrs. Staveley & Staveley, Architects, the sum of $868.43 for the plans and superintending of the construction of the new No. 6 Fire Station on Champlain street; to call for tenders for rubber sheets for the salvage corps, which is being formed in the brigade; to supply life-saving nets for the No. 6 Fire Station in Champlain street and for No. 10 Fire Station in Limoilou; to purchase three medicine chests for first aid to the injured, which will be carried constantly in the automobiles of the brigade, as suggested by Ald. Dr. Martin; to offer to sell the old Dorval fire ladder to Beauport Asylum for the sum of $400.

Superintendent Beggs, of the Fire Alarm Department, reported to the committee discouraging the proposition of installing a special telephone in his quarters for the purpose of calling his attention to fires, so that he might sound the alarm. He gave among other reasons that in the event of an electric storm when all telephonic communication is suspended, people might be calling for a long time in vain, while the fire would be constantly gaining in proportions.

C.P.R. CUTS OUT
ST. JOHN CALL

THE EMPRESS STEAMERS WILL SAIL FROM HALIFAX NEXT WINTER.

Montreal, Oct. 2—The C. P. R. liners Empress of Britain and Empress of Ireland will sail to and from Halifax direct throughout the winter, according to an official statement given out at the company's steamship offices here today. The call at St. John, which has been customary with the Empress moats during previous winters, will therefore be eliminated.

The first sailings made under the new arrangement will be those of the Empress of Ireland from Liverpool on Nov. 29, and from Halifax on Dec. 13. The Empress boats will await the arrival on Saturdays on which they sail from Halifax, of the special train which will leave Montreal with passengers on the previous day. The remainder of the C. P. R. Atlantic fleet will continue to sail to and from St. John direct as usual.

SUSPICIOUS ESCAPE.

Prisoner Alleged to Have Sawn
Through Heavy Iron Bars in Short Time.

Cobalt, Ont., Oct. 2—Superintendent Joseph Rogers of the Provincial Police, held an investigation yesterday at Gowganda into the escape of George Ericson, wanted by the Swedish government for burglary and arson. It was claimed that Ericson made his escape while the constable was absent from the jail to get a telegram at the telegraph office, a distance of about three hundred yards. During that time, according to the evidence, Ericson and those who assisted him, sawed two heavy iron bars. At the ordinary walking speed it would take about five min-

MERCIER CONCERT A REAL SUCCESS

CLEVER TENOR AND SOPRANO
WERE MUCH APPRECIATED
BY AUDIENCE.

The music-loving public of Quebec filled the Auditorium last night to assist at the classical concert given by Mr. Xavier Mercier, the distinguished tenor, who claims St. Roch as the place of his birth, and by Madame Jeynevald-Mercier, a soprano of the first rank, whose clever, mellow voice, delicious in the sweetness of its cadence, and perfect pronunciation, charmed the audience.

The concert was held under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor Sir Francois Langelier, who occupied a box with Lady Langelier and household, and was attended by Captain Victor Pelletier, A.D.C., and of Sir Lomer Gouin, who also occupied a box with the Hon. L. A. Taschereau and guests, and the Mayor and Mayoress of Quebec, Mr. and Mrs. Nap. Drouin.

The audience was composed of the elite of Quebec. While the students of Laval University who took possession of the god's gallery, and showed their appreciation of the concert by vociferous applause of every number, on the program. And it is evident that Madame Mercier's fame was appreciated in advance, judging by the number of beautiful bouquets which she received and which she well merited.

The concert opened with a piano solo, "Etude en forme de valse," by Saint-Saens, and executed by Mr. H. Dansereau, a young artist of exceptional merit, who has a marvelous command over the instrument.

Mr. Xavier Mercier, with beautiful effect that brought out all the resources of his highly cultured tenor voice, sang Gounod's Stances de "Polyeucte." This drew forth thunderous applause which compelled him to appear a second time.

Mr. Samuel Ollstein, a violinist of exceptional artistic ability, played Mendelssohn's Adante et Finale du Concerto, in a manner that showed he was a master of his instrument. His execution is well finished, and the sweetness of expression was greatly admired by the audience who insisted on an encore.

In the second part of the program Mr. Ollstein played Cesar Cui's Oriental and Sarasate's Spanish dance with beautiful effect.

Madame Mercier during the evening sang Gounod's air "Mireille" (Trahir Vincent). Charpentier's Grand air de "Louise," and Leroux's "Le Nid," with violin obligato by Mr. Allstein, and also appeared in a duo with her husband, Mr. Mercier, in Gounod's "Mireille" (Ah! la Voila, c'est elle). In all her solo parts and in the duo she sang with exquisite taste, and showed that her rich dulcet voice was cultivated with the utmost care.

Mr. Mercier also sang (a) "O Canada, mon pays, mes amours," a parody arranged by himself on the original by Carter. He also gave Mendelssohn's (b) Aria from "Elijah" (If with all your Hearts), and very generously acknowledged the applause he received by responding to an encore after each number.

The concert was indeed a rich enjoyable treat to the large number of music-lovers present, and both Mr. and Mrs. Mercier must have appreciated the large audience which was present, in spite of the extremely inclement weather prevailing.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, October 2—The unprecedented and rapid movement of grain through Winnipeg again evidenced itself today when the manager of the local clearing house gave out his week statement. The figures indicate an advance of 30 per cent. over the corresponding week for 1912, and an increase of 50 per cent. over the corresponding week for 1911. Bankers state that the advance will be marked and continuous through the month of October, although the proportionate increase will probably not be as great. Payments for grain have been on an immense scale as compared with last year, as the figures show.

The statement was as follows:
Week ending Oct. 2nd, 1913, $39,851,856; corresponding week, 1912, $30,561,513; corresponding week, 1911, $26,138,775.

A certain indication of the passing of the tight money scare is the brisk demand for farm lands all over the West.

One of the big land companies with headquarters in Winnipeg, reports more inquiries for Saskatchewan farm lands in the month of September than during the preceding twelve months.

It is to go from the jail to the telegraph office. Before Ericson left Gowganda he cashed a check, received a donation from admiring friends and was also outfitted with a couple of pistols.
