Rotary Picnic Plans Readied

Annual Picnic at Lake For Boys First

Plans for the annual picnic sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club for the boys and girls of Huntingdon, were made at the regular meeting of the Club on Monday.

The boys picnic will be first and will take place on August 11th, at the home of Mr. Francois Cleyn, on Lake St. Francis, in the afternoon of that day. The boys will meet at the Empire Garage at a time to be stated later, where transportation to Mr. Cleyn's residence at the lake will be provided. A good time is promised for all who attend and those who have been on other years will know this to be true.

Further particulars of this event will be published in this newspaper next week, watch for them.

The date of the girls' picnic will also be announced later and there will be a good time in store for them too.

Employment Index Highest in Canadian History

The employment index of the statistics bureau stood on May 1 at 188.6—the highest ever recorded in Canadian history for that time of year. The index is based on 1926 employment equalling 100.

And wages were higher than ever, too. Wages for the week of May 1 in 20,204 leading firms averaged $42.16 per person. They were $39.70 in the same week last year.

Other reports coming from the bureau indicated Canada is a long way from a depression. Production of such basic commodities as iron and steel and hydro-electric power, for example, is running ahead of last year's production. And in 1948 cattlemen sold the biggest number of animals for the highest average prices on record.

Huntingdon Cleaners Gives Much Needed Service

Plant Situated at Garden City Now Ready For Volume Business

Still the businesses in Huntingdon continue to grow, the latest addition to the business world here is the new firm of dry cleaners, "Huntingdon Cleaners." This firm has been operating for several weeks now, but only recently has it had the machinery that it required to make a plant a reality.

Mr. Eric M. Brown is in charge of the new plant which is situated on the Garden City site near the boiler plant and the cleaning equipment is of the latest design. Already quite a nice little trade has been worked up and in consequence when The Gleaner representatives visited the plant the past week, the very latest in the business were all there to explain the various processes the clothes go through when they are left with this firm to be dry cleaned.

When the clothes first come into the plant they are checked and marked for identification, then they are placed into the washing machine in which a cleaning solution is used. The solution passes out of the washer into a filter tank and is cleaned all dirt taken from the clothing and returned to the washer. Glass tubes show the solution that is dirty and the clean solution returning, so that a close check can be kept on it. After the clothes have been cleaned in the washer they are placed in the extractor which takes out nearly all the moisture. The clothes are still damp and they are then placed in the drier, in which is a type of steam heat and all moisture is removed and the clothes are deodorized.

Following this process the clothes are hung up on a rail and inspected for spots or other marks that the drier has failed to remove. The spots are removed on a steam spotting board and the clothes are ready for the finishing process. Those articles which can be pressed without fear of damage, are pressed on a steam press known as the Hoffman Press, these include such articles as Men's trousers, suits, coats and such like. The more delicate things such as ladies silk dresses, etc., are ironed with a steam iron. Another machine is used for the shoulders of blouses, etc., which have puffed sleeves and so forth. These same delicate goods cannot be put in the tumbler for drying, so another machine is used for such things. The machine on which these things are dried also shapes the article, hot air and steam is blown through the article to fluff it up, dry it and shape it all in one operation.

When these processes have been gone through the articles are ready to be bagged and delivered. This is done and the finished articles hung on rails until the delivery is made. At the present time Huntingdon Cleaners is giving one to two days service on all articles left for dry cleaning.

The service will be given as the plant becomes more organized. In the case of dresses and such like, care is taken to see that the measurements and length of the dresses are not lost in the process of cleaning.

In these cases when these articles first come in, the length and other measurements are taken and the article is finished according to these measurements. All the machinery is new and of the latest design. A special chemical cleaning solution has been obtained from England which is the latest thing on the market and harmless to all materials, yet it makes a real good job.

At present there are five employees at the plant. Mr. Arthur Lemire, of Cornwall, Ont., is doing all the pressing and he has had fifteen years experience in the dry cleaning business. Mr. Walter McCracken, of this town, does the delivery with the truck that bears the name of the firm. A phone call will bring him to your door very quickly and your cleaning will be returned at short notice. Customers who have done the service speak very well of Huntingdon's new business of dry cleaning.

Why the Communist Victories In China -- Is Talk Given

Dr. A. Grossmann Addresses Rotary Club on Above Subject

Rotary Club members and some invited guests were treated to a very educational talk on the reason for the Communist victories in China, at a regular meeting of the Huntingdon Rotary Club, on Monday, Dr. A. Grossmann, of Montreal, who is an international lawyer and a native of Czechoslovakia, was the speaker. He has resided in China for a number of years and has had the opportunity of studying the situation there. His address which follows in part will give an idea of what he considers to be the reasons for the Communist victories. He also offers a warning to all to be on the guard against the inroads of Communist teachings.

The Chinese communists obtained their opponents over their "nationalist" opponents because they were better armed or equipped, or because of their numerical superiority, but for the following reasons:

1. The complete disintegration of the administrative, judicial, economic and military system of the nationalist regime.
2. The absence, on the part of their opponents of any deep-rooted or sincere moral or religious ideology.
3. The absence of all civic courage not only from the overwhelming majority of the nationalist leaders, but from the greater part of the intelligentsia as well.
4. The non-existence and/or insufficiency of adequate and badly needed leadership.

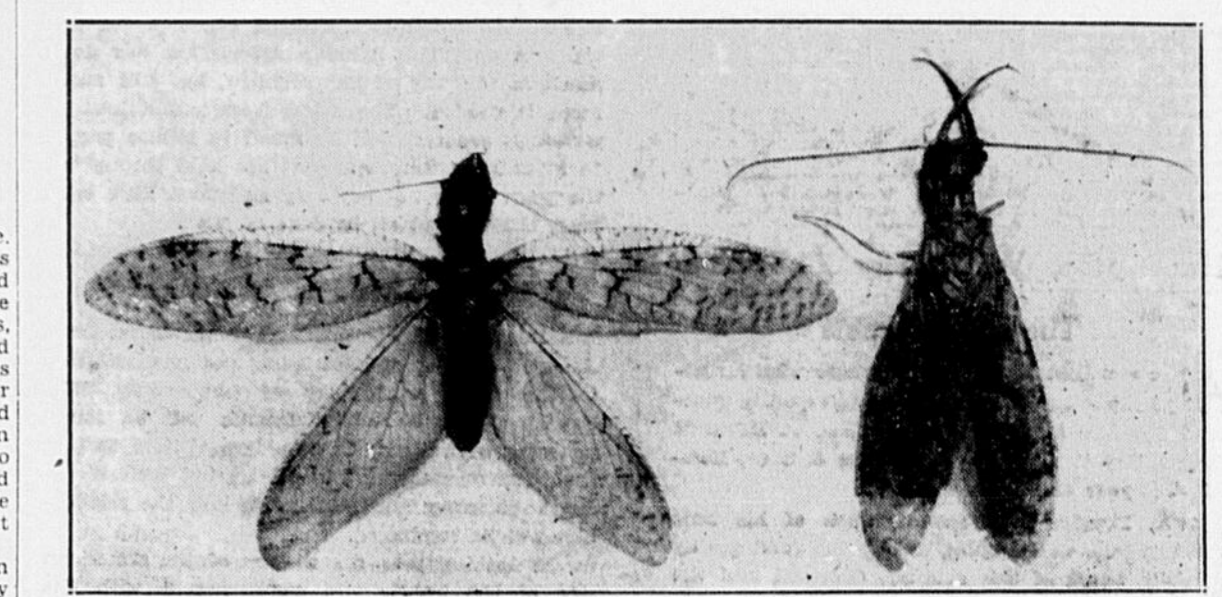

These were the reasons of the failure of the nationalists to put up a more successful fight against their opponents and not the absence of foreign aid, which was more generous than they ever deserved and which they actually received.

It would be naive to assume that all the above was all together unknown to the leaders of the West, who treated the Chinese nationalists as their enemies and under the war—as a matter of expediency. But it is significant enough that the Masters of the Kremlin were always of the opinion—and they never made a secret out of it, that they can take advantage of the Chiang-Kai-Shek regime, and acted accordingly. In other words, the West gave credit to the nationalists, which they by no means deserved, and which, by this error of judgment and if it were permitted to use the expression, shortsighted policy, became fatal for the nationalist cause and was instrumental in strengthening the communists immensely.

When Chiang-Kai-Shek and the Kuomintang the only ruling political party in China, established firmly their regime in the country, in the year 1927, after Chiang disassociated himself from Moscow, for hitherto he was an ardent advocate and adherent to Communism, instead progressing to step with the reeducation of their people, creation of a firm and durable economic basis for future development, and above all, education of a sufficient number of well trained and well paid civil servants and construction of an adequate land, water and air communication system, they behaved as if all conditions precedent to the life and normal functioning of a modern state would be existent in China and did but very little to lay the genuine keystone for the construction of a well functioning and thoroughly reliable state. I would say, that the major part of the job was made on the surface of things only and in substance, things were left where they were, before, nay in a state which was even worse.

On the surface, of course, everything was fine and in progress. Schools and Universities were erected, highways constructed, and well mannered diplomats have Continued on page 12

NOT TYPE OF INSECT TO INVITE TO YOUR HOME

The rare and the unusual are always subjects for arousing curiosity and sometimes creating a search for them which has been declared so.

The past week what was thought to be a new kind of insect was discovered in Montreal and an account and picture of it were published in one of the daily newspapers with a call to name what it was.

A few days after the name was discovered and also the fact that the insect is not new to this country, although it is to some extent rare.

In the above photographs we show the insect that has aroused such interest and these specimens were taken right here in Huntingdon. One is the male and one is the female of the species, although which is which we are not sure.

The one with wings outstretched measures 5 1/4 inches from wing-tip to wing-tip, the one with wings closed and the horns, measures in all length 3 3/4 inches. The photograph shows the insects above their actual size, so some idea can be gained of the size. We find the name of this insect is the "Dobson Fly", although it is possible that specialists in this sort of thing will have a much longer and harder to pronounce name than that.

From what we can gather the insect is a native of this country although it might be said to be rare and not too often seen. It is believed that the hot dry weather has brought these insects to these parts and that is why they are being seen and found this year. It is reported to The Gleaner that many of these flies were seen and caught here several years ago, but have not been seen since. Apparently they are harmless to humans, but they do like to clean up on other insects, which may be a good thing too.

There seems to be a peculiarity that where one is found the other is not too far away, as far as the female and the male is concerned. These above were found at the Chateau Dye Works, at Garden City, Huntingdon. One was found inside the plant and apparently exhausted had died, the other was found outside on the screen apparently trying to get to its mate. A similar occurrence took place at Model Dye Works when the night watchman on entering the plant knocked one down from the screen door. On returning to go out of the door again, there was another one and he thought they must be hard to kill. He knocked this one down also and then discovered that there were two on the floor. This seems to prove that they travel in pairs.

They are not just the most beautiful things to look at and we do not think we would care to have too many flying around us at any time, but apparently they are not dangerous. The wings when opened are almost transparent and a dirty brown in coloring. We were told that the one with the horns when it was captured, clamped the horns around the fingers of its captor, but did him no harm. He likened it to a crab.

First report of one of these flies being found in Huntingdon came to The Gleaner from Mr. S. Livermore, and the day following the report in the Montreal daily. He had captured one and placed it in a bottle.

Rev. and Mrs. T. Knowles Celebrate 35th Wedding Anniversary

The Woman's Association of the Huntingdon United Church met at the home of Mrs. N. W. Sparrow, Thursday afternoon, July 7th. The meeting was conducted in the usual way. When the meeting was over, Rev. and Mrs. Knowles were called to the Sun-room where the table was set with a beautiful set of dishes and adorned with a wedding cake.

For nine years it has been our privilege to know Mr. and Mrs. Knowles in the varied walks of life and social intercourse. They have contributed abundantly toward making life pleasant in the Circle in which we move. We do not forget that when the laugh was merited their happy presence added pleasure to the scene; and when sorrow enters our homes their words of consolation and sympathy make the sorrow lighter. Recollecting the pleasant years made agreeable through their acquaintance, we as members of the Church have profited by their ministrations, and with that period have endeared themselves to us by their earnest devotion to duty, and the hearty interest they have ever manifested in our welfare as a people. As a token of the high esteem in which they are held in this Society, we as members were pleased to present them on their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary with a full dinner-set.

Mr. and Mrs. Knowles were taken by surprise, but thanked the Ladies in a very nice way for their thoughtfulness. We all wish them many more years of health and happiness.

Many Public Works of a Pressing Nature to be Undertaken if Green Light Given

The adjourned meeting of the Huntingdon Town Council was held at the County Building, on Monday evening, with a full council present and Mayor Leo Cappiello presiding. A number of bills were read and passed for payment.

Mr. J. Ballargeon asked the council why he was charged Rubbish Tax for his office premises and also whether this was in the by-law and if he could see the by-law. Mayor Cappiello said that if he would call at the secretary's office he could see the by-law and satisfy himself that the charge was in accordance with the by-law. All premises are liable to the charge for Rubbish Tax.

A complaint was heard from a resident on Lake Street, whose house is situated between the two tracks, to the effect that water had flooded his basement and caused considerable damage. He wanted the town to do something to get the water away from his property.

The Mayor asked the secretary if he could see the by-law and satisfy himself that the charge was in accordance with the by-law. All premises are liable to the charge for Rubbish Tax.

of town. Stricter supervision of all construction going on in this part of town will be given in the future.

Miss J. M. McGinnis complained to the council in a letter that the business tax charged her was too high. From Malone they will go down Chateauguay Street to the depot on Dalhousie and then on King Street past the Chateau to Montreal. This was approved by the council.

Considerable discussion centered around what should be done in the way of public works in the town and there are plenty which have to be done. The thing that the council had to decide was which was the most immediate and pressing and this was a hard decision to reach. Estimates have been obtained on most of the jobs to be done and it was finally decided that the following should be the ones done first:

Estimate	Equipment
Modernizing Filter plant & sewer main	$15,750
King Street sewer and water main	31,500
Chalmers Street sewer and water main from existing to Cemetery Street	10,500
Sidewalks general repairs 1948 Capital Expenses	20,000
Total	$88,000

It will be necessary for the council to hold a referendum on a by-law to borrow this money and to do the above works, all of which are urgently needed and more. It is hoped that all of this can be passed so that the above works can be started this year.

Alderman Tinker gave notice of motion that at the next meeting he would introduce a by-law incorporating the above figure, and nature of the work to be done.

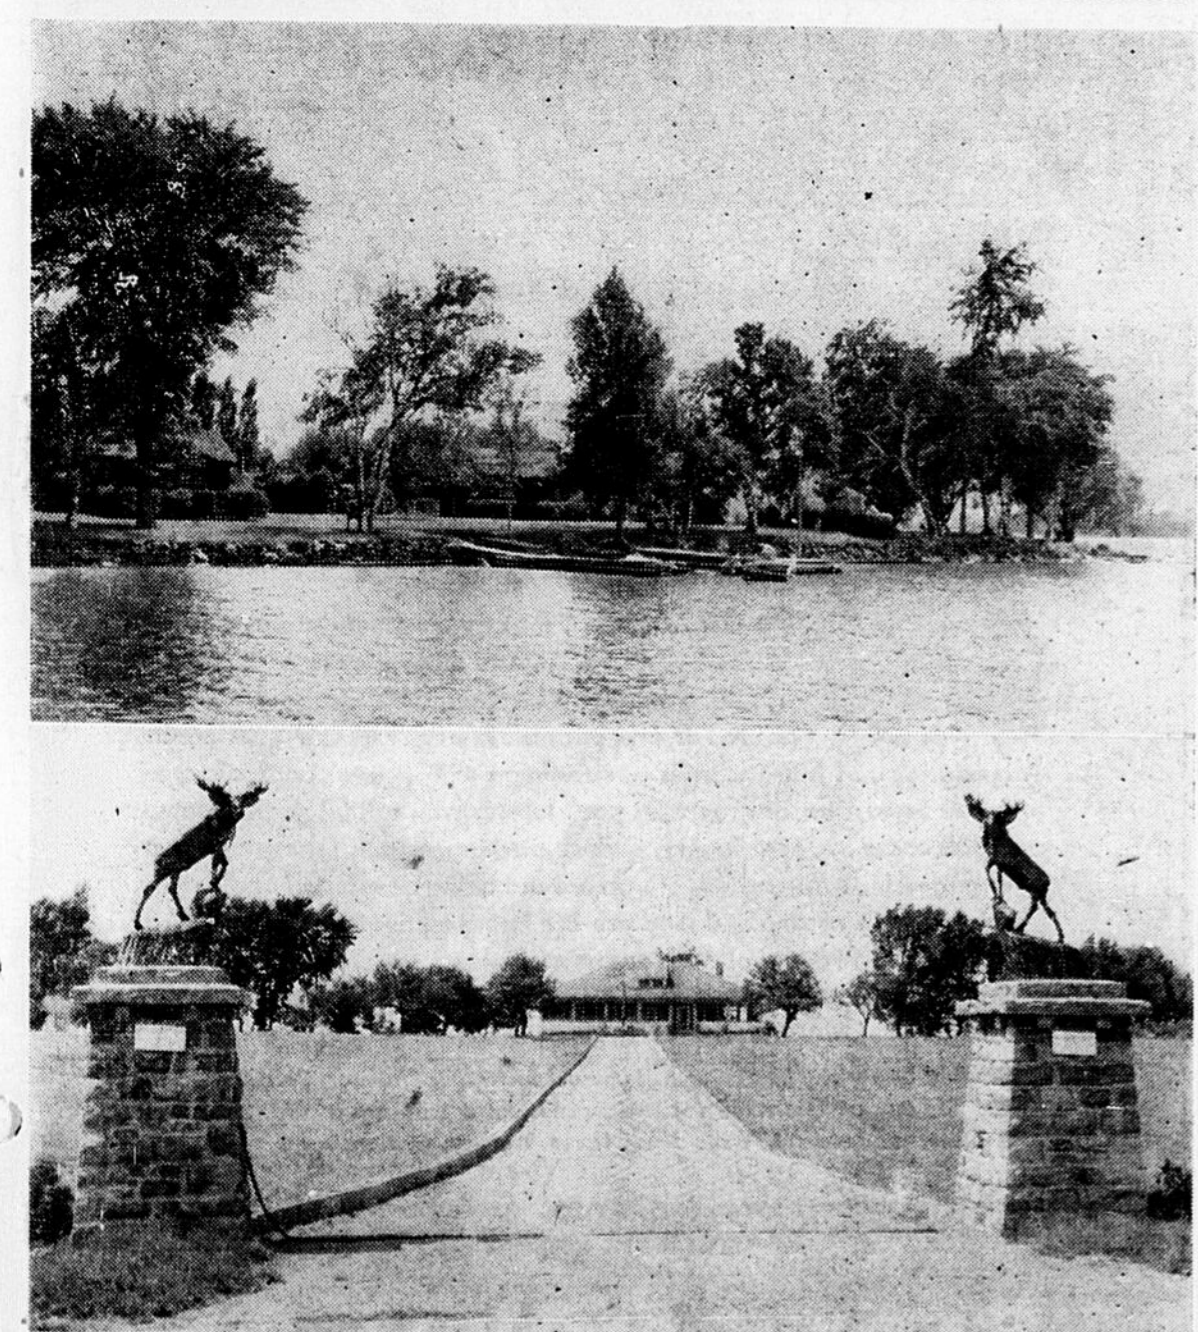

The King Street job and the Filter Plant have been on the list for the past two years and are urgently needed to be done. Sidewalks all over town are in very bad shape and some are positively dangerous. The work at the Filter Plant must be done in order to protect the people and the town water supply. There are still other projects which the council must undertake, but they decided that these were the most urgent at the present time.

The next regular meeting will be held on August 1st.

In the photograph at the top is a view of Castagne Point, near St. Anicet along the shore of Lake St. Francis, Huntingdon County. It is a very beautiful spot as can be seen from the above. The lower photograph shows the summer home of Mr. Paul Gendron, of Valleyfield, on the Lake Shore and also near St. Anicet. The two bull moose seen on the pillars at the entrance to the home are carved out of the stump of a tree and are a real work of art. They must have required great patience on the part of the carver to get all the fine points,

The Burnside Sale

An event that is looked forward to with anticipation is the annual sale of high quality purebred Ayshire cattle that takes place at Burnside Farms, Howick, home of R. R. Ness & Sons, Howick, this year on August 6th.

Mr. Douglas Ness spends much of his time between sales in searching among the good quality Ayshire herds of this country, Scotland and the U.S.A. for the type of animal that can be sold with confidence of the Ness product. A large number of the animals sold are on consignment to these annual sales, but there are also a number of those bred at the Ness farm and some animals specially imported from Scottish farms. It has long been a custom for buyers from far and wide to attend these annual sales for the purpose of selecting animals to augment their own herds, to become foundation stock for new herds, or for general breeding purposes. It is well known that what is offered at these sales can be relied upon to give satisfaction and upon this reputation the names of Burnside and R. R. Ness & Sons have become famous.

Not only do buyers come to this sale, but throughout the year R. R. Ness & Sons are called upon to select animals for shipment to many parts of the world. These animals are selected and shipped without the prospective purchaser seeing them until arrival at destination. Such trust proves the great reputation that this firm has established over the years. Not only must trust be put into the quality of the animals, but also into the price paid being a fair one for the type of animals shipped. Time and time again the animals so shipped have won prizes and made top records for production and progeny. This of course proves the judgment used in selection and the knowledge of the type of animals that are shipped.

At the annual sale, the buyer has the opportunity of selecting the animal by sight and of bidding a price that he feels should be paid. As some record prices have been paid for animals at these sales, it is quite easy to realize that the purchasers are convinced about what they see.

Catalogues for the sale are now being sent out to interested parties and if there is anyone who would like to obtain a copy, this can be done by making a request to R. R. Ness & Sons at Burnside Farm, Howick, Que.

Plan now to attend this sale and see what is being offered, perhaps you will see the animal you have been wanting and will be glad that you attended.

Huntingdon Fair

In a few short weeks the two divisional fairs that are held in Huntingdon County during the month of September will be offered to the public. The first will be the one in Huntingdon Town and the second will be the one at Havelock. Both of these are looked forward to as a close to outside farming activities for the season and the last opportunity to show products and livestock for exhibition in a local way.

We have been told that a large number of additional special prizes have been obtained for the Huntingdon Fair and Secretary John Small is looking forward to a large list. These special prizes are well worth winning and augment the regular prizes won by the individual exhibitors. While full particulars are not available at this time as to features of the fair, it has been said that several new features are to form added interest. Among these we believe there is to be a pony race for the children and also a potato race. The milkmaid contest will be a continued feature this year if a sufficient number of entries can be obtained. It is expected that the race track near the Fair Grounds will be completed ready for use in conjunction with the fair and that some good horse racing will be seen. The bulldozer has been at work for some weeks past now and the track is shaping up. While this track is operated as separate from the fair, it will be run in conjunction with the fair and be an added attraction. Particulars as to this are still lacking in detail, but more information will be given as it is known.

Meantime, we pass along the suggestion that intending exhibitors start making a list of what they intend to show so that a better idea can be obtained of the possible exhibits at the fair this year. There has been an ever growing revived interest in the fair during the past two or three years and it is hoped that Huntingdon will have a fair of which it can be proud. New exhibitors are welcome and with the many new people who have taken up residence in Huntingdon over the past few years, a good show of new exhibitors should be possible. It is not possible for all to win prizes, but the judging is oftentimes a mark-up on a person's ability to do things well. It is this competition that makes a fair worthwhile and puts keenness into the exhibitor's urge to do his or her best. Fill up the various classes and help that competition, for a small fee you can enter any number of different articles.

There has been an evergrowing interest among commercial exhibitors for industrial space and now is the time that these exhibitors should be taking a look at their stands and making them attractive to the public. Don't leave it all to the last minute — an attractive stand will add to the display you place upon it. Space in the past few years has been at a premium and it may pay to make sure that there will be space for you.

We might also say that now is the time for the Fair Officials to take stock of what has to be done to put the buildings into shape and make the grounds generally attractive to the patrons. We have repeatedly called attention to this part of the duties of the officials, and it is very important. A little splash of paint around the ticket office and a little inside would help people to find this almost inconspicuous, yet important office of the Fair Grounds. The secretary's office is another place that could do with a little brightening up, to say nothing of the other buildings. In the case of the building where industrial exhibits are housed, perhaps those who intend to occupy booths could do a little decorating of their own. Just a few improvements were made at Havelock Fair last year, but they made a heap of difference. We do not want to be critical, but only helpful to make Huntingdon Fair a place where people will want to go. The Athletic Association has done much in the way of improvement, but still much more is needed. The attractiveness and look of well-kept grounds will do much to induce people to attend the functions that are held throughout the year. Why not get busy and do a little each year, if it cannot all be done at once.

Best Wishes For Anniversary

In this issue of The Gleaner will be found three special pages of advertising and news relating to the 150th anniversary of Chateaugay, N.Y. Contained in the advertisements will be found messages of welcome to Canadian visitors to join their American cousins in celebrating their birthday anniversary and facts as to how the celebration will be conducted.

In looking over the history of the American side of the border and comparing it with the Canadian side, there is so much of similarity that perhaps it is only natural that the two should be so closely allied. In the early days however, such friendliness was not so evident and fighting did break out between the two peoples. This fighting might be termed family quarrels as it was more on these lines that it followed, but that happened many years ago and now the people on both sides of the border are on the most friendly terms. The people on both sides cross from one country to the other at all hours and every day with no more trouble than stopping for identification and giving a few particulars of where they are going. It might almost be that the two countries are one. Thus it is that when either one has a celebration of any kind, invitations are sent from one to the other to join in.

One hundred and fifty years is a long time and much has happened in that time. A photograph which heads one of the pages shows Chateaugay, N.Y., as it was back in 1914. We would have liked to have had an earlier picture, but even at that the town has changed greatly in that time. Not long after this picture was taken there was a fire that destroyed many of the buildings in the section shown. The view is one of what is known as the Four Corners. It is of historical significance also as it figured in the battles that were fought in the earlier years. It is only natural then that one of the highlights of the celebration is to be a sham battle between American and Canadian soldiers, but that is all it will be, friendliness will still persist between the two.

We feel sure that Canadians will accept the invitation from Chateaugay, N.Y., to attend their celebration and that they will be present in large numbers. A special Canadian Day has been set aside and the stores have arranged to accept Canadian money at par during the days of the celebration.

The Gleaner would like to extend best wishes to the people of Chateaugay, N.Y., to the committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration and to the businessmen of this village, for the success of the undertaking and upon the 150th anniversary.

Will Canada Suffer?

THE word of the last week as to what it will mean to Canada to have Great Britain cut her purchases from dollar countries, was very gloomy and would seem that changes may occur in our economy much earlier than expected. The word was that certain lines of imports would be cut one-quarter immediately.

While the items mentioned would not seem to make any great difference to Canada when one judges how these articles have increased sales domestically, actually they will. The heads of some of the firms affected intimated that the cut may mean the laying off of several thousands of workers from the plants where the goods are made. It was intimated that a further type of austerity programme may have to be worked out for Canadians with regard to purchases made in the United States. It was not thought that travel would be cut, but certain types of imports may come under a ban or be severely restricted.

In the picture is the strike that is being used to hold up the unloading of Canadian ships in particular, supposedly in sympathy with the Canadian seamen's strike that has been going on for some months. Soldiers have been called in in the Old Country to unload ships carrying perishable goods and food. This whole thing smells of Communism working in a different direction to cripple industry and to bring about chaos in Great Britain. The Communists do not always use arms to subdue a country, but work for months and years on other peaceable angles that have a far worse crippling effect. There is always a danger when troops are called in to break a strike, that civil warfare may break out. Nothing would suit the plan of the Communists better than if such a thing could be fostered in England. There is more dissatisfaction in England than we are aware and the fact that the dollar shortage may affect the economic recovery of that country is an added burden that the people will have to bear with. We do not doubt the grit and determination of the British people will carry them along, but there is a time when such can fall. If this did occur, it would be the opportune time for Communism to do its snake in the grass work and undermine the moral. Promises of sunny skies at a time like this might encourage a switch and the overthrow of responsible government, as it has done in other countries. Should this happen, Canada would probably be the next one to be worked upon. It must be remembered that the countries that have signed the recent Atlantic Pact are the ones which show opposition to Communism. They are also the most powerful in the world today, their overthrow would pave the way to success for the Communists, and without bloodshed.

The cutting off of trade between Canada and Great Britain, even in a small way as mentioned, could well be the start of dissatisfaction in this country. It is not only the loss of trade with Great Britain, but also loss from other sterling countries which have been in habit of trading here. Loss added to loss could very easily make a vast difference in the business this country does. As the story unfolds we can see more and more the necessity of keeping up trade with Great Britain and this side of the world.

Cameron consented to act as convener of education. Mrs. Earl Gardner invited the Institute to hold their August meeting at her home. This invitation was accepted. The prize for household hints was awarded to Mrs. Gardiner who suggested that cakes be baked in casseroles when they are to be carried.

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Miss Kimball, who was introduced by Mrs. Gardiner. She was attired in the native costume of Norway, which country was the topic of her address — "Norway, a country of beautiful water falls, of upland pastures, of friendly people, of marvellous roads, of rushing streams and of rain and of sunshine." She spoke of the experience of a trip taken in 1929, first a cruise along the coast of Switzerland and then south and inland; with a map for guide, she told of interesting places along the coast line — a first sight of a fjord, a view of the midnight sun which she portrayed in all its beauty. At Spitzbergen, one enters the region of the ice wall, where the ice is a deep indigo colour, and she told of the perfect navigation of the ship's captain. At Trondheim, a Gothic cathedral and the Old Palace of the kings were visited. She spoke of the land of the Lapps and of their kinds of reindeer. On the cross-country tour they saw the famous painting "The Angel of the Resurrection" and they experienced the breath-taking trip over a mountain pass. An interesting exhibit of Norwegian curios were displayed and her audience only regretted that time forced a close to the visit to Norway. They expressed their sincere thanks to Miss Kimball. Eleven guests enjoyed the tea hour with the members when refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Twiddy will reside in Belleville.

Taking the Fire to the Fire Hall

On Friday evening, many citizens were startled when a car was driven along Bouchette Street at a rapid pace with the rear end ablaze. The car was driven by Mr. William Harvey and he had been filling up with gas at Kyle's Garage, when for some reason fire started in the rear end and in the trunk of the car. Mr. Harvey evidently decided to take the fire to the fire station and was so doing when he startled the people along the streets, who shouted to him that his car was on fire. He turned up Prince Street and went to the fire station where Chief L'Heureux and Omer Saumier quickly subdued the fire with extinguishers. Fortunately very little damage resulted, one rear tire was burned and also some damage done to the inside of the trunk. Mr. Harvey took quite a chance in driving the car along the road as the breeze fanned the fire into quite a blaze and there was a possibility that the gasoline tank around which the fire was, could have exploded.

Grasshopper Invasion

Reports from all over the country say that this is the worst year for insects and pests of all varieties and farmers are having quite a time trying to save their various crops from being destroyed by these insects. Spraying and all kinds of methods are being used in an effort to control the pests and save gardens and crops. In this part of the country the same applies and grasshoppers are here in thousands. As one walks along through garden or grassy tracts, the grasshoppers fly and hop in all directions. They are eating plants of all descriptions and unless the ravage is stopped, damage is liable to be great indeed in a short time. It is reported that in some sections of the province the government is spraying poison bait through the use of airplanes. The government reports it as being a grasshopper invasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam L. Sellar have returned home after having enjoyed a three weeks vacation at Metis Beach, Que. Metis weather temperatures were ideal for comfort. The temperature being in the seventy degree range daily, even though Huntingdonians were having high 80 and 90 degree temperatures along with some humidity. Metis not only had most comfortable day temperatures, but cool nights; blankets were used nightly and fire places in the hotel burned frequently in the evenings. More will be written re Metis to appear in next issue.

Wedding

The marriage of Miss Annette Laforest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fortunat Laforest, St. Michel, to Mr. Clement Chalifoux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Baptiste Chalifoux, St. Michel, took place in the parochial Church of St. Michel of Naperville recently.

The bride, accompanied by her father, wore a white satin dress and a veil of tulle. She wore a corsage of lilies. Mr. J. B. Chalifoux was the witness for his son.

The wedding was celebrated by Rev. Father J. A. Lafrenoy. During the ceremony, Miss Eliana Fortin played musical selections on the organ.

After the ceremonial mass, a reception was held at the Cluquet Club, St. Remi, where the hall was decorated with season flowers. During the afternoon, the happy couple went out for a trip to Ste. Anne de Beupre and Quebec. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Chalifoux will live in Montreal.

DRY CLEANING BUSINESS OPERATING IN HUNTINGDON

Above is the cleaning dept. of the Huntingdon Cleaners. Shown to the left is the washer in which the clothes are cleaned in a solution by the inner tub revolving through it. The solution is also filtered through the small tank at the left and returned to the washer after it has been cleaned of all dirt. In the centre is the extractor which takes nearly all the moisture out of the clothes after they come from the washer. At the right is the shaping machine for dresses and frailer articles which cannot be dried in the tumbler. This machine dries and shapes at the same time.

This is the finishing dept.--at the far end Mr. Eric Brown is seen spotting some articles with the steam spotter. This removes the more stubborn marks that the first cleaning process has failed to remove. In the centre is Mr. Arthur Lemire at work pressing some trousers on the Hoffman steam press. In front of this are the irons that are used for puffed shoulders and sleeves on dresses and blouses, etc. Down the left hand side of the picture are the bags in which the finished goods are placed while awaiting delivery.

It is not very hard to tell what the above is, it almost speaks for itself. It is the pick-up and delivery truck of Huntingdon Cleaners.

Three Good Games Played at Fair Grounds in Huntingdon

More Support is Looked For From the Public at These Games

On Monday, July 11th, the Huntingdon Merchants defeated Franklin by the score of 15 to 4. The battery for the Merchants was Monique pitching and Heath catching. Heath was later replaced by Warden. Franklin started with Blair pitching and Barney catching. It was a much better game than the score would indicate, however the result was never in doubt from the second inning on. Porter replaced Blair in the fifth inning with the bases loaded and gave up only two runs in two and two-thirds innings. The Merchants had the old reliable Monique in the box and he pitched his usual good game. It was noted that the Merchants were a much smarter team in the field than on their last appearance and they should win quite a number of games by playing the kind of ball they displayed with Franklin.

On Wednesday, July 13th, the Leach Textiles defeated the St. Joseph team by the score of 13 to 4. This was a surprise victory, as St. Joe were last year's champions of this league. This was a very close game for five innings, the score at that time was five to four in favor of Leach. At this stage the St. Joe team seemed to fall apart and the weavers put over eight runs. Bill Trivise was the outstanding player for Leach, he pitched a good steady game and helped his own cause by getting two good solid hits. Merrill Smith, the old reliable, was the second star for the weavers. Smith played a sensational game at short stop, his hitting was perfect and he stole two bases to help his team. Senecal played his usual good game and had a three-base hit. Saumier, the St. Joe 1st baseman, was outstanding for the losers, he played a good steady game at first base and got two hits, both for extra bases.

On Friday, July 15th, The Gore defeated Dewittville by the score of 17 to 6. Clarence Oulmet was the starting pitcher for the Gore and pitched an excellent game. He was later relieved by Bryson. Red Oulmet was the power house for the Gore with a home run and triple. Hinchcliffe pitched a good game for Dewittville, but the fielding was very sloppy and he had practically no support. This was a hard defeat for Dewittville to take as these teams are real rivals and either team would rather lose to any other team than lose to each other. The only comment the Dewittville players would make, was "It won't be the same next time".

The crowds have been very small for these good games; however, on Friday night the attendance was a little better and it is hoped that it will improve. For next week's games see advertisement which appears in this newspaper.

New Church at Ste. Agnes Dedicated by Bishop on Sunday

Above is the new Roman Catholic Church at Ste. Agnes, Que., which was dedicated on Sunday morning, July 17th, by Bishop Langlois, of Valleyfield, at an impressive ceremony. A former building was destroyed by fire on October 21st, 1945, and this new building replaces the one so lost.

Bishop Langlois Blesses New Church On Sunday morning, July 17th, Ste. Agnes parish was highly honored by the visit of Bishop Langlois, of Valleyfield, the occasion being the dedication of the Church to the service of God.

The local parish is most grateful to the choir from the Sacred Heart of Valleyfield for their beautiful and inspiring choral selections. Rev. Father Deguire, parish priest, spoke words of welcome to Msgr. Langlois and introduced the parishioners to His Reverence. Mr. Geo. DON'T SELL YOUR BONDS IF YOU NEED QUICK CASH

Like hundreds of thousands of Canadians in recent years, you probably have bought a nest-egg of bonds for your future.

Kenneth Pope, the Bank of Montreal's branch manager at Huntingdon strongly advises against it. "Bonds represent money you've already saved," he says.

You'll be in good company if you take Mr. Pope's advice. Many thousands of people, he says, use their bonds to borrow at the B of M every year.

Celebrate THE 150th ANNIVERSARY CHATEAUGAY, N.Y. July 28-29-30-31, 1949

For four days, July 28, 29th, 30th and 31st, Chateaugay, N. Y., will celebrate its 150th birthday in a gala festivity which has taken weeks and weeks of planning. Chateaugay is drenched in historical data and thus provides much of interest to the resident and the stranger alike. Its history ties in with that of Canadian history of the towns along the border at this point and thus there is a mutual understanding of what has taken place. It is for this reason that Chateaugay has decided to hold this great four-day celebration and to extend an invitation to Canadians all along the border and elsewhere to join with them on this occasion. There will be much of interest for all visitors during these four days and it is hoped that as many as possible will plan to spend all four days in Chateaugay. If this cannot be done, then spend at least one day of the celebration in this great little village. The history of Chateaugay, N. Y., dates back to about 1796, but the

When you go into Chateaugay in the near future you may be surprised to see the ladies wearing costumes of the vintage of the day the village was founded and the men sporting beards such as were worn in those days. If you see this, it will all be part of the plan that is being carried out in connection with the anniversary celebration. There will be prizes for the best beard and the best costume, naturally it takes time to grow a good beard, so the men will not be losing any of it and are starting right away. The businessmen of Chateaugay are co-operating in this great celebration by distributing tickets with all purchases which will allow a chance to be the winner of the 150 Silver Dollars which will be drawn for during the celebration. They are also accepting Canadian money at par for the four days of the celebration and Canadians will be allowed to participate in the drawing for the silver dollars. Special invitation is extended to Canadians

4--BIG DAYS--4

Plan to Come to CHATEAUGAY 150th Anniversary CELEBRATION

THURSDAY, JULY 28th: Arrival of Covered Wagon at 2.30 p.m. Mammoth Parade With Floats — Indians in Full Tribal Regalia on Horseback Will Officially Welcome the First White Man in the Covered Wagon — Northern Bands — Address by Ex.-Lieut. Gov. William Bray — Mass Band Concert — Large Block Dance.

FRIDAY, JULY 29th: Sham Battle Between American and Canadian Troops — Parade — Scottish Highlanders — Talk by State Historian Corey.

SATURDAY, JULY 30th: Canadian Day — Baseball Game at 4.00 p.m. — Prominent Canadian Speakers, including Donald E. Black, M.P. and Gilbert McMillan, O.B.E. — Costume Ball — 150 Silver Dollars to be Given Away — Many Other Cash Prizes.

SUNDAY, JULY 31st: Open Air Religious Services at Local Churches — Regatta at Chateaugay Lake.

to attend the celebration and a day has been set aside specially for Canadian visitors. The celebration will start out with a big parade of floats and bands. Previous to this parade a covered wagon drawn by oxen as in the days of old, will start out from Pittsburgh some days ahead of the commencement of the celebration and follow the route taken by the original settlers back in the early days. The distance to be covered is about 50 miles and it will serve to advertise the big celebration along the route. When the covered wagon is still about a mile from Chateaugay, the parade will meet it and come on into the village to the tune of many bands at 2.30 p.m. The parade will go to the Town Hall, where a speech of welcome will be given and the celebration formally opened. In the evening a block dance will be held.

In the photograph which spans the head of this page, will be seen what is known as the Four Corners. This picture was taken in 1914 and is reproduced here to give some idea of how Chateaugay looked in earlier days. A fire burned down many of the buildings in the picture, so some changes will be seen from this picture and until today. But many of the buildings remain and the businessmen of Chateaugay will be ready to welcome all who pay the village a visit during the days of the celebration.

On the second day of the celebration it is hoped to hold a sham battle between U. S. Troops and Canadian soldiers as part of the historical background of the olden days. Special arrangements are being made to have this take place and the soldiers will parade through the town. There will also be a speech by Mr. A. B. Corey, historian, during which he will give some of the highlights of the history of the village and district.

On Saturday, the third day, it will be Canadians day and a ball game will be staged and Canadian speakers will address the people on the great friendship that exists between the people of the two countries and on some of the earlier history. A costume Ball will be held in the Town Hall and during this event the drawing will take place for the 150 silver dollars.

Sunday will be given over to religious services in the various churches and special sermons will be preached for the occasion. In the afternoon a boat regatta will be held on Chateaugay Lake to conclude the four-day ceremony.

Old Home Week will be held in connection with the anniversary and it is hoped that many old time residents will return to their home town to take part and help in the celebration. A museum is being set up in the Town Board Rooms and here relics of the past years will be displayed for all to see. The village will be suitably decorated and a contract for the decorations has already been awarded and the work will commence in a few days. Prizes are being given for the best band, the best float, the best beard and the best ladies old-time costume. The decoration scheme will include American and Canadian flags and bunting and welcome signs will be erected at all entrances to the village. The committee extends a cordial welcome to everyone to take part in the celebration and to enjoy themselves to the full.

Canadian Day,
Saturday, July 30th

The popular cry from now until Saturday, July 30th, will be "I'll be seeing you at the 150th Anniversary Celebrations at Chateaugay, N.Y." and this especially among Canadians as July 30th will be Canadian Day in that village across the border.

Special arrangements have been made to make the day entertaining to Canadian visitors and a thrilling baseball game is being arranged for all to see which will commence at 4 p. m. During the game Canadian speakers, Messrs. Donald E. Black, M. P., Aubrey, Que., and Mr. Gilbert McMillan, O. B. E., Huntingdon, Que., will address the gathering and at night a gala costume ball will be held in the Town Hall. During this ball the drawing will be made for the 150 silver dollars which are being given away to a lucky holder of a ticket obtained with purchases made at any of the stores.

Further Particulars
Chateaugay, N.Y.
Celebration

In addition to the other particulars to be found elsewhere in this issue regarding the 150th Anniversary Celebration at Chateaugay, N.Y., the following have come to hand from the committee in charge. The parade on Thursday will start at 2.30 p. m. and when the news of the Covered Wagon's arrival is known, a group of Indians in full tribal regalia will be present. They will be mounted on horseback and will meet the wagon and officially welcome the "first" white man in the Covered wagon. This should prove a very colourful affair and provide a good send-off to the celebration.

In the evening of the same day a block dance will be the feature attraction when it is expected that thousands of dancers will trip the old and new steps to tunes well known and played. No doubt this will carry on well into the night and maybe the next morning, but there is no doubt it will be thoroughly enjoyed. With all the beards and the old-time costumes it should be a colorful affair too. It will be a job telling the old from the young and as the spirit of the pioneer begins to show, much of the old-time scenes should come to the fore.

Canadians are eligible to take part in this drawing and all shoppers will be given these tickets which will be placed in the drawing. So if you are doing any buying, don't forget to ask for your ticket, you may come back richer than when you went. That is a cheerful thought.

The committee is extending a cordial invitation for Canadians to attend on all four days of the celebration and not just to wait for the special day mentioned. There will be plenty to see and do. Most stores are having special sales for the occasion and will welcome visitors to the village.

If there are any former residents of Chateaugay, N. Y., living on this side of the border, they are specially invited to take part in the Old Home Town part of the celebrations. Keep the dates--July 28, 29, 30 and 31st open and plan to spend some time in Chateaugay, N. Y., for the 150th Anniversary of that village.

On Canadian Day, Saturday, July 30th, the baseball game will start at 4 p. m. and the game will be played between two good teams to provide a first class brand of ball. This is the national game of the States and has caught on well in this country, so there should be plenty of excitement watching this game. Many Canadians like a good game of hardball, but have not seen one in several years, because softball has taken over in this country to a greater extent in recent years.

Also during this day two well-known and local Canadian speakers are scheduled to address the gathering, they are Messrs. Donald E. Black, M. P., and Mr. Gilbert McMillan, O. B. E. It is expected that some pipers will provide a program of musical numbers and efforts are now being made to secure these from the Canadian side. There will be numbers of bands so there should be no shortage of music all during the celebration.

President Truman Sends Greetings To Chateaugay Celebrators

The President of the United States has expressed his interest in Chateaugay's Sesquicentennial celebration and has conveyed his best wishes for a happy and successful celebration of the event in a letter to Charles W. Harrica, chairman of celebration activities, through his secretary, Mathew J. Connelly.

IN A LETTER from the White House received by Chairman Harrica last week the President's secretary said that President Truman regretted being unable to send a representative to the celebration, saying that the President never asks anyone to represent him "except when the occasion is a strictly official one."

The committee in charge of the four-day celebration is gratified for the "boost" given the anniversary event by the President.

Brief Description of Retreat to Four Corners

The above map is one published in a book by the late Robert Sellar and shows the field of operations during the U. S. Campaign of 1813 to capture Montreal. On it will be seen marked "Four Corners" which is now known as Chateaugay, N. Y., and to which Hampton retreated after the skirmish at Chateaugay. Que. Hampton was misled due to the poor communications of those days. He was relying on a messenger bringing him word of support from another American officer and his men and also on the fact that a flotilla would be waiting at the mouth of the Chateaugay River to ferry his men across to Isle Perrot. He was handed a note to say that the flotilla had never sailed. He was thunderstruck, as he had advanced into Canada in the full belief that the flotilla would be waiting for him. The purpose of his movement was gone and there was no use in his pushing on further. Their nearest base was at Four Corners and they were forty miles from that point with a wilderness between, 4,000 men and fully 1,000 animals to be fed and the country they occupied yielded nothing. A council of war was held among the officers, the Spears camp was abandoned and the order to retreat was given and return to Four Corners.

They suffered no hindrance from the British, but they were bothered by small bands of Indians. At one time the Indians surprised a picket and added a few more scalps to their list. The condition of the road made the movement slow and the men and the officers became disgruntled and lost confidence in their general. It was also becoming quite cold as winter was approaching and the men were anxious to return to their winter quarters. The supply of overcoats was small and were reserved for the men who stood sentry.

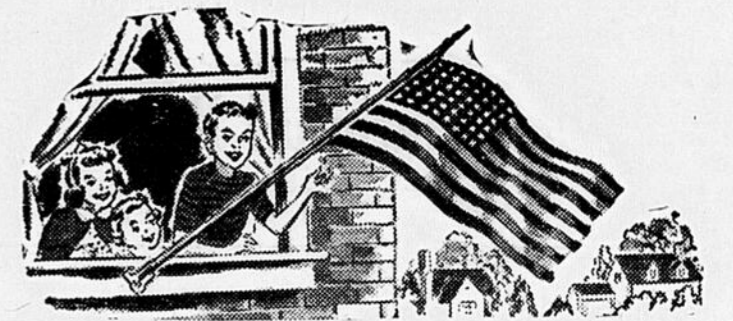

When it was known that Hampton had returned to Four Corners, an order was sent to him to march to St. Regis, where a flotilla would take his army on board for a renewed attack. Hampton treated the order with disgust and indignation and sent back word that he was retiring to winter quarters at Plattsburg. Later he hurried to Washington and tendered his resignation, which was accepted.

The foregoing is a short description of this period of the war, as it has to do with the historical part that Four Corners, or Chateaugay, N. Y., had to play. There is much more than this as this did not end the try to capture Montreal. But how different is warfare today, the rapid means of communication that must be a part of the equipment. In the olden days an officer was at the mercy of his own judgment and the mistakes that could be made in passing along orders by dispatch messengers. There was much trickery used in changing these messages so as to lead any army into ambush. With the communication system that they had in those days it was impossible to tell if a message was correct or not. Therefore it is not surprising that General Hampton was disgusted and might have been afraid that taken the place of the old-styled mandarins of the defunct regime, a modern legal system has taken the place of the chaotic administration of justice and the soldiers of the republic were, of course splendid in their new uniforms... only the schools and other educational institutions were, if they were of a certain standing, financed by foreigners and if they were state-owned, they were but of very little use. Their teaching staff underpaid and incompetent and the institutions in all respects unfit to live up to the task. The situation was not better either in the other fields of state activity. "Modern" law statutes were growing like mushrooms, only their fabric was flimsy and incomplete. The underpaid and illiterate judges were administering justice in a way and fashion which we better leave unmentioned. The taxation system was such that with the best of intentions it was impossible for the state to live on a regular income derived from taxes and even so, what a large field for the employees of the tax administration to enrich themselves and quickly! Land reform existed... on paper and never enforced. And the steadily increasing military expenditure, especially after VJ day was then instrumental in causing an inflation of an unprecedented magnitude and scale, whereby the small savers, mostly middle class people, and bona fide supporters of the Government last pennies were gone.

Why The Communist

That was the situation in which the Chinese Communists started to score victory after victory. And unfortunately, I have to state that the military victories were but of secondary importance. All classes of the Chinese people were longing for a change, for life under the old regime became intolerable.

As far as the military side of the affair is concerned, the task is simple. Here is the situation. A well equipped and armed army, aided and assisted by mighty and rich allies, is defeated by rebels, whom the rulers call "bandits" and we witness the spectacle of wholesale divisions going over to the same bandits lock stock and barrel, without even putting up a serious fight. The explanation for the phenomenon is simple. It is not, or not only, the lack of military skill or lack of leadership that was the cause of all the setbacks of the nationalist military, but mainly the absence in their soldiers of the conviction that their leaders are the representatives of a good cause and that they are fighting for the cause of the people.

And, as far as the civil administration was concerned—the same sight everywhere. The fact is, that the National Govt. had not a sufficient number of well trained and honest civil servants to run the city of Shanghai. The communists brought into what they called liberated territories an adequate number of civil servants trained according to their recipe, and honest and, at least for the beginning, efficient. The difference between the old and new order was felt immediately and did not certainly not increase the popularity of the defunct regime. Those communists, over there in China, have an ideology to which right or wrong, they stick. The nationalists are supposed to have a moral code, for their leaders are supposed to be Christians, but such Christianity exists in name only and for the sake of form. The communists are convinced that their doctrines represent a better and higher moral and assure a more just life for the people and act accordingly in practice in trying to apply what they preach. The obvious contradiction between what they were preaching and their acting caused the nationalists to lose the fight before even it started, for their soldiers were simply unable and unwilling to understand why they should fight. I doubt that they would have been able to cope with the problem of communism in the absence of what I term a sincere moral and religious ideology. I may refer in this respect to Toynbee or even more so to a no lesser person than General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who says "Military preparedness alone is an inadequate answer to the problem. Communism inspires and enables its militant teachers to exploit injustices and inequity among men. This ideology appeals not to the Italian or Frenchman or South American as such, but to men as human beings who become desperate in the attempt to satisfy common human needs. Therein it possesses a profound power for expansion. Wherever popular discontent is founded on group oppression or mass poverty or the hunger of children, there Communism may stage an offensive that arms cannot counter. Discontent can be fanned into revolution, and revolution into social chaos. The sequel is dictatorial rule. Against such tactics exclusive reliance on military might is vain. "The areas in which freedom flourishes will continue to shrink unless the supporters of democracy match Communist fanaticism with clear and common understanding that the freedom of men is at stake; meet Communist-regimented unity with the voluntary unity of common purpose even though this may mean a sacrifice of some measure of nationalistic pretensions; and, above all, annual Communist appeals to the hungry, the poor, the oppressed, with practical measures untiringly prosecuted for the elimination of social and economic evils that set men against men."

Chinese youth must be re-educated, but re-educated for and in view of the great conflict which exists between the two ways of life, and two ideologies now dividing mankind, and Chinese youth must be shown that our way is the better one. It will be a long and difficult process, more difficult and longer than would have been, if started ten years ago or even earlier. But still, it is not yet too late and it is up to us all to do our bit.

Away to the woods went all the children of Doyon's Point on Saturday morning, there to explore the wonders of nature and enjoy the picnic baskets provided by their mothers. Would it not be a good idea to have the tall brush at the corner of Ste. Barbe and Plank Roads cut? This would prevent many accidents, as it is almost impossible to see westbound cars at this point. Shooting News "Incidents of Valleyfield and Vebert, St. Anicet, were the winners on Sunday at the weekly meet with a score of 25-25. Guy Quenneville was a close runner-up. Leo Roy, handsome young Immigration Officer, winning the doubles, scoring 22 on 25. However, don't worry boys, there may be lots of dead pigeons, but plenty of live ducks and we'll shoot 'em. In the recent and sudden death of Mr. Albert Briaud, the Shooting Club of St. Anicet lost a great sportsman. Mr. Briaud was known to most of the "boys" as a keen fisherman, a lover of St. Anicet, and a gentleman. Mrs. Briaud is occupying a cottage here at present. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Charlebois and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lefebvre of Montreal, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hewarth, at "Aqua Vista Jr." this week. Talking about the latest in bathing suits for young gentlemen—have you seen Keith's? Again, how about the male—I mean the delivery in Port Lewis. Bad enough to have to chase one without having to chase the other. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell McPherson and daughter, Miss Margaret McPherson, of Cornwall, Ont., spent the past week guests of their aunt, Miss Ida Campbell, at her cottage on Lake St. Francis, Port Lewis.

Brief Description Continued from page 10 he had been tricked. There were no mobile units to move me quickly or to bring up supplies; the farther the army went from its base, the harder it was to get supplies. We perhaps might be inclined to condemn this man in these days, but actually such should not be the case. He did what he thought was right, he was relying upon his judgment and such orders as he received. Many of the messages crossed each other and a new order may be on its way when an urgent request was going the other way for help. Such was confusing for the officer would not know if his messenger had reached his destination or not. But, such were the wars of the days mentioned and the map above can conjure up the imagination of what it must have been like to travel in those days. These were days of the pioneers, such days as Chateaugay, N. Y., will try to recall during its celebration of the 150th Anniversary.
