Weather Hampers Search For 17 On Missing Ship

HALIFAX — (CP) — RCAF Search and Rescue headquarters here said today four planes and two ships are taking part in a search off Newfoundland for the missing Newfoundlander Blue Wave and her 17-man crew.

Provincial, Federal Finance Ministers Study Tax-Sharing

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is planning a federal-provincial conference of finance ministers soon to set the stage for technical studies of tax-sharing problems.

The studies could form the basis for a full-scale federal-provincial conference on tax-sharing, if the government decides to convene one.

Finance Minister Fleming elaborated briefly on plans for preliminary studies in replying Monday night in the Commons to Paul Martin (L—Essex East) who called for a federal-provincial conference at once—a full-scale meeting attended by premiers.

NEEDS PREPARATION

Referring to the need for preliminary studies before a full conference, Mr. Fleming said: "The success of a conference depends on the preparatory work."

But he did not say that a full conference will be called.

He said he hopes the provincial treasurers will be able to meet him soon, probably after the 1959 sessions of the provincial legislatures.

Mr. Fleming said eight provinces, all but Newfoundland and Alberta, have indicated willingness to participate. And Monday night Premier Manning of Alberta said his government has no objection to participation.

Mr. Fleming said the provinces were invited to make all possible suggestions.

The minister's statement came after a 134-hour speech by Mr. Martin criticizing the government for "renegeing" on a promise to call a federal-provincial conference last year.

NO-CONFIDENCE MOTION

Mr. Martin proposed a motion of non-confidence in the government, calling for a conference at once to deal with matters of common concern such as fiscal arrangements and unemployment.

Mr. Fleming spoke 10 minutes longer than Mr. Martin in his reply, which was mainly an attack on the record of the former Liberal government on federal-provincial relations.

Before the debate on federal-provincial matters began, there were two developments:

1. Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the Borden royal commission is expected to report next April or May on oil marketing. This report probably will discuss the proposal for an oil pipeline from the Prairies to Montreal.

2. Defence Minister Peckers said the government is considering replacing the F-86 Sabre jet fighter of the RCAF's air division in Europe with some other

Non-Strikers Stall Pact In CBC Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — A $1,500,000 question mark today hung over negotiations between the CBC and 74 striking Montreal producers.

An early settlement of the dispute, in its sixth week, was dubious.

The question: What happens to non-strikers who have respected producers' picket lines in Montreal during the 43 days of the walkout?

After six consecutive days of tangled negotiations, cross-negotiations and proposals, the situation today was that a group of unions wanted non-strikers respecting picket lines to be included in a strike-ending agreement.

The non-strikers who did not cross the picket lines of the producers in Montreal have suggested that they should be paid for the time they did not work.

Ron Fraser, CBC public relations director, said Monday night the CBC cannot accept this.

Free Sand

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Thousands of Windsor residents have responded to the city's offer of free sand for anyone who needs it to deal with icy sidewalks in front of his house. "I never saw such an epidemic of sidewalk cleaning before," Ray Desmarais, Windsor's public works commissioner, said Monday.

headquarters here said today Newfoundlander for the missing the air-sea search.

Capt. Charles Walters radioed for help early Monday. He said his 289-ton vessel was "on her beam ends," and in danger of capsizing 65 miles southwest of Cape St. Mary's in southeast Newfoundland.

A 60-mile-an-hour gale was whipping the Atlantic into an angry turmoil, dashing the little vessel with 25-foot waves. The coldest temperatures of the year would cover the ship with a deadly coat of ice, shipping men said, and may have caused her to keel over.

STORM'S SECOND VICTIM

Two unidentified ships in the area will be joined about noon by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Campbell, an air force spokesman said.

The Blue Wave was the second victim of the winter storm. The Nova Scotia trawler Cape Dauphin is believed to have gone to the bottom after her 13-man crew abandoned ship Sunday night.

Other trawlers and coastal freighters arrived here heavy with ice from the gale-driven spray. The trawler Thomas V. Hollett from Burin, Nfld., had ice a foot thick on some parts of her deck. Some crews spent all day smashing the ice off rigging with axes and sledge hammers.

Search planes sent out Monday to look for the Blue Wave were forced to turn back by thick fog that cut visibility to zero. Ships moving into the area to aid the distressed vessel were also helpless in the fog.

The Blue Wave is owned by Bonavista Cold Storage Company of St. John's, Nfld., the Cape Dauphin by National Sea Products Limited of Louisbourg, N.S. The Dauphin was valued at $200,000.

Wives Take Over Picket For Loggers

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP) — While 79 striking loggers were being charged in court here Monday their wives went on picket line duty and stopped about 60 men from entering the nearby Sandy Lake division of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

The wives volunteered for picket line duty following the arrest of their husbands Saturday.

The loggers, members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA), were charged with breaking into two company woods camps and forcing 51 non-strikers out in a sub-zero blizzard.

About 40 women were on duty when an 18-car caravan carrying non-striking loggers attempted to enter the division. They brandished sticks of wood, refusing to let the men through. The caravan returned to Grand Falls.

The strikers were charged with committing "mischief by damaging a woods camp and its contents." Seventy-one were released on $500 bail each. The other eight, who were out on bond awaiting trial on a variety of other charges, were refused bail.

Loggers arrested by the RCMP Saturday were marched 30 miles from the camp to Grand Falls. Several of the strikers and RCMP officers suffered frostbite during the long trek.

CARS FORCED BACK

Ontario weather in most parts has worsened with wind-driven snow and generally cold conditions.

Crazy Mixed-Up Weather

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Bitter cold in the West, snow and freezing rain in the East. That is the national forecast for the next 24 hours.

The West's cold spell is expected to last another two days. And forecasters are trying to predict the possible effect of a storm over Illinois, passing northwards, on Eastern Canada.

At Halifax two to five inches of snow is expected today changing later to freezing rain in most sections, then to rain in the southern Maritimes. The district was covered with snow during the night with temperatures from a few degrees below zero in northern New Brunswick to the mid-20s in southwestern Nova Scotia.

A disturbance south of the Great Lakes produced two inches of snow over the St. Lawrence. Colder air is expected to move into Montreal regions tonight.

Freezing rain fell over most of the Townships late last night. Today was cloudy with snowflurries and the outlook for Wednesday was colder.

17 Dead, Hundreds Hurt In St. Louis Tornado

Dozens Feared Trapped

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — A tornado cut a path across central St. Louis today, leaving at least 17 dead and hundreds injured.

Of 320 known injured, 43 were severe enough to be sent to hospital.

Many other people were trapped in homes and apartments which buckled under the storm's blows.

"God knows how many people are trapped in those buildings," said deputy fire chief James Sauerwin.

Brig. Gen. Francis P. Hardy, head of the civil defence here, said his agency was trying to co-ordinate the rescue work.

TENEMENT AREA HIT

Part of the hardest hit sector was an area of tenement homes occupied chiefly by Negroes.

Debris was piled two feet deep in the section hardest hit. The area was only a mile west of downtown St. Louis, itself rocked by heavy wind and rain.

The storm struck at 2:30 a.m. CST (3:20 a.m. EST). It had first bounced down in western St. Louis County, hitting suburban Kirkwood and Brentwood. Then it swung in an easterly direction across Forest Park in St. Louis, dipping into the residential area.

The area was under confusion. One policeman reported six bodies had been carried from a levelled four-family apartment.

Police said persons were trapped in at least three smashed homes or apartments.

Some 14 persons were reported trapped in a three-storey brick and frame building at Delmar and Whittier, in the direct path of the storm.

Fires broke out. Two hours later rescue workers began reaching the bodies. Fires broke out by the score but most were quickly put out.

Zeb Williams was one of the persons asleep in the old house at Delmar and Whittier.

"I was blown against the wall and out of the window and landed safely on a mattress in the street below," he said. He could hear the groans of other occupants trapped in the rubble.

Two hours later rescuers began reaching the victims. Four persons were brought out alive. Two were dead when rescuers reached them and another died on the way to hospital.

Two towers crumpled under the storm's impact. The 300-foot tower of radio KXIV toppled over, striking a corner of the building. The 300-foot tower of television station KTVI tumbled, falling across two buildings. No one was reported hurt.

TORRENTIAL RAINS
Before the tornado struck, torrential rain lashed the area. More than two inches of water fell in less than six hours.

Hot electric wires were stream among the rubble, until the Union Electric Company shut off power in the area.

The storm hit the same general area where a tornado in 1927 claimed more than 100 lives.

Gas lines were broken at several points. Police warned against smoking until the gas mains could be shut off.

One of the pathetic sights was a stunned father in the rubble at Delmar and Whittier with a dead son hanging on to his back.

Canadians Prefer Fleeing In US
VICTORIA (CP) — Leo P. Charlton, Halifax tourist director, says some Canadians prefer to lose their shirts in United States tourist spots than "spend less money and have a better time in their own country."

Mr. Charlton, here on a 42-day trans-Canada goodwill tour, said Monday in an interview: "Most Canadians even know more and have seen more of the United States than this country."

17 Commutations
OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative government, since assuming office in June, 1957, has spared the lives of 17 of 22 persons sentenced to death in Canada for murder. A return tabled in the Commons Monday said the 17 now are serving life imprisonment.

Dulles — Future Doubtful

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles checks into the hospital today to get ready for a hernia operation.

His ailment, kept secret for more than a month, was disclosed by President Eisenhower Monday night after Dulles asked and got a formal leave of absence. It immediately posed two big questions:

Will Dulles, who will be 71 Feb. 25, return to his post?

Will the West, with an ailing Dulles or without him at all, revise its policy toward new Soviet threats and demands on Germany?

Dulles said Monday night he would be gone for "a few weeks" only. Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerly said Dulles would not only return but would represent the United States in the trip wearing a truss to ease a left inguinal (groin) hernia. He had also taken along some medication for a persistent inflammation of the colon.

It was these two — the hernia and the inflammation—which led him to Walter Reed Army Medical Centre, the same hospital at which he underwent surgery two years ago to remove a cancerous portion of his lower intestine. Hagerly said there was no evidence of any recurrence of the cancer.

No date was immediately set for Dulles's operation. Aides said Dulles's hernia was discovered by his doctors about Jan. 4. The next day he cancelled plans to go to Ottawa for talks with Canadian officials.

Any talks with Russia on the Berlin crisis. But on Capitol Hill there was less optimism about Dulles's power to snap back from this, his third illness in as many months.

Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon took over as acting secretary. Undersecretary Christian Herter, who outranks Dillon, will relieve him Sunday upon return from vacation.

Dulles's disclosure came about nine hours after he returned from talks with leaders in London, Paris and Bonn. He had made the seat was retained for the government by Roderick A. Macleod, 50-year-old mayor of Sundre, a central Alberta town of 800 where he operates a general store. His opponent was Walter Anderson, 41-year-old farmer who ran for the Liberals in his first try at politics.

Anthony Maxwell Bennett, who lives on Chantry Estate, Ipswich, Suffolk, England, wrote a letter to his aunt, Mrs. Kermit Troxel. He stuffed it in a regular envelope and addressed it to "Aunt Betty, Rt, Endicott, Nebraska, U.S.A."

Then he pasted on a play stamp, clearly labelled "Toy Post."

Once it reached Endicott it went right to Mrs. Troxel. She is about the only person here who regularly receives mail from England.

"Astronomers and astrophysicists have amassed numerous data about the physical and chemical make-up of the alien worlds in our solar system so that we can say with a fair degree of probability that none of them is equipped to be of absolutely vital interest in terms of human affairs," Haber said.

"The other planets are the chemical dunghoap of the solar system, and it is not likely that we shall find truly earth-shaking scientific novelties in the masses of noxious chemicals that constitute the outer shells of the planets."

But, he said, space exploration could result — "outside the defence and propaganda domain" — in communications relay satellites.

$519,000 Theft

3 Suspects Returned To Ontario

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Three safecracking suspects were returned here Monday night under armed escort while police at Montreal kept hunting for the rest of the loot from the Premier Trust Company robbery which now totals $519,000.

The trio flown here from Montreal were identified as Peter Stepanoff, 39, Henri Samson, 45, and Moses Yacknin, 42. Police said Yacknin was a storekeeper in east-end Montreal.

The amount taken by the professionals in the Feb. 1 job at Premier Trust here has been rising steadily as the staff plods through a check of contents of 75 safety deposit boxes. Monday, the company issued a new list of stolen Dominion of Canada bonds with a face value of $30,000, raising the haul to $519,000 from $489,000.

A stockbroker, meanwhile, began preparing a list of the values of commercial, industrial and mining shares held by the depositors. His total would drive the figure even higher; by how much wasn't known.

Stepanoff, Samson and Yacknin were charged formally with breaking, entering and theft. Police at Montreal said they believe the rest of the securities, bonds and cash were in their area somewhere.

William Fitzpatrick, assistant chief of Montreal detectives, said there was a similarity of operation between the St. Catharines robbery and others at Brockville, Ont., and Montreal in the last year.

"It is too early to tell if there is a connection between the robberies," he said. "However, there is some indication that bonds from all three have possibly been channelled through the same receivers."

Most Of Planets Chemical Dunghoaps
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Large-scale exploration of the planets—some of which are but "the chemical dunghoap of the solar system"—wouldn't be worth the cost, says astrophysicist Heinz Haber.

Haber, here for the 10th anniversary of the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph air force base, is a former member of the school's faculty.

"Astronomers and astrophysicists have amassed numerous data about the physical and chemical make-up of the alien worlds in our solar system so that we can say with a fair degree of probability that none of them is equipped to be of absolutely vital interest in terms of human affairs," Haber said.

"The other planets are the chemical dunghoap of the solar system, and it is not likely that we shall find truly earth-shaking scientific novelties in the masses of noxious chemicals that constitute the outer shells of the planets."

Dog's Heart Transplanted Successfully After Chilling
BOSTON (AP)—The heart of a frozen and restored to normal function, entire organs have been damaged by freezing so that they would not resume functioning.

Used in the experiment was a special vacuum chamber which made possible removal of water to be sure the heart did not freeze.

The technique made possible maintaining the heart for as long as an hour at eight degrees below the freezing point.

Later, the researchers were able to restore water (rehydrate) the heart, warm it, and implant it in the neck of a second animal where it resumed beating in its own rhythm—separate from the animal's own heart beat.

By BOB THOMAS
 KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Tony Curtis, clad in immaculate navy lieutenant's whites, saluted and came aboard the submarine Bala-o.
 This was a scene in a movie, Operation Petticoat, which is being filmed here. It should give a smile to Tony's former shipmates, who knew him as signalman Bernie Schwartz on a sub during the war.
 He has come a long way, and I don't mean just in the navy. He is among the brightest, most ambitious and most successful of the new young stars.
 "Look — it's just like merchandising," he explains, "I want to get the public so heaped up that they can't wait to see the next Tony Curtis picture."
 As a result, he is the press agent's dreamboat. While here, he and wife Janet Leigh even crowned the winner of the Operation Petticoat handicap at the dog race track.

H. And S. Assoc. Hears Address At Cookshire

COOKSHIRE — The highlight of the A.B.C. Home and School Association meeting, held in the Cookshire High School, was an address given by Dr. Roger Moffatt on mental health.
 Dr. Moffatt maintained that any form of neurosis or psychosis finds its roots in the personality of the child, and that if children are brought up properly, with good common sense, they never need fear the future. He stated that the qualities and actions of the parents show in the child, for children are great imitators. The three things they require in life in order to develop into well-adjusted grown-ups, are love, attention and protection.
 The child learns to adjust to life in his school associations, and this helps him or her to fight the battles of life.
 Parents should try to encourage rather than force children to do things. Adolescents, said he, like to act independently, and he, like to act independently. He said he could not see that they were any worse now than they ever were, and that proper training would eliminate the possibility of mental illness and security would bring happiness.
 The president, Vernon Pashley, introduced the speaker, and Rev. Canon Dunn thanked him.
 The meeting was opened with O Canada, and the minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. Clout. The report of the treasurer, Mr. F. Tredinick, showed a balance of $179.67 and $2.14 in the Cod Liver Oil fund.
 The ladies have done a good job of supervising the skating rink in the afternoons, and in future, there will be skating on Friday and Saturday nights when there is no hockey. Five dollars was voted to the Home and School Federation for its new office headquarters.
 At the close of the evening, the social conveners, Mrs. Vogel and Mrs. Waldron, served refreshments supplied by the Cookshire ladies.

Council Softens Attitude On Gas Sale

TEN LEFT HOMELESS — Pictured above is the house belonging to Bernard Fortin, 1275 Larocque street, in Sherbrooke, which caught fire yesterday leaving the Fortin family of seven, Fortin's father-in-law, and Mrs. A. Jacques and daughter, homeless. The outbreak was believed to have started near the chimney. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay)

Ten Homeless In West Ward Fire

Smoke and water damage unofficially estimated at about $5,000 left two Larocque street families, totalling 10 people, homeless yesterday morning. The cause of the fire was believed to have been a faulty chimney, fire department spokesmen said.

Homeless are: Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fortin and their five children ranging in age from 14 to two years, 1275 Larocque st.; Alphonse Lacroix, Mrs. Fortin's father, aged 81.

Mrs. A. Jacques, a widow and her 12-year-old daughter, residents of the upstairs apartment. Firemen were first called to a chimney fire at that address at 9:27 a.m. and shortly before 11:00 a.m. were called back when flames caught between the floors. Most of the children were at school when the flames broke out. All people in the house at the time were safely evacuated.

Four trucks, three from No. 1 station and one from No. 5 station, were called to the scene. Firefighting operations were handled by Capt. Charles Audet and Lt. Gerard Donahue.

Firemen were able to return to the station by 2:30 that afternoon. The house however, is badly damaged, and covered for only $5,000 worth of insurance.

Cotton Industry Is Explained To Magog Kiwanis

MAGOG — The story of the cotton industry, entitled, "Household Cottons," was told Magog Kiwanians last evening at their regular weekly meeting by the group's first vice-president, Edward Henson.

An employee of the Dominion Textile Company Ltd., Mr. Henson described the processes in preparing grey cotton for various markets, ranging from household cotton products, through to prints for women's clothing. To illustrate his talk, Mr. Henson showed samples of the products manufactured at the Magog plant, which is the largest cotton print works in Canada.

Last evening's meeting was held at the Cabana Hotel.

Advantages Seen In Early Sale Of Plant

The Sherbrooke City Council may change its "on-the-fence" attitude on selling the municipal gas system to a natural gas distribution company following last night's session at which the aldermen decided to call a special closed meeting to study the question.

Council complied with Centre Ward Ald. Marcel Savard's suggestion to make a more detailed study but did not set a date for the meeting.

The Quebec Private Bills Committee recently granted Sherbrooke the authority to sell or lease its system to a natural gas company.

Three companies, the St. Maurice Natural Gas, the Cartier Natural Gas and the National Gas, have already approached the city.

Late last year, the National Gas sent representatives to meet high ranking city officials while the St. Maurice sent a sealed bid to purchase the system.

Municipal Treasurer Pierre Bachand told the council he had recently met two representatives of the Cartier Gas and had informed them that the city would sell the gas system to the company which is chartered by the Legislature to construct a pipeline in the province.

At this point, Ald. Savard declared that the city should seriously study the question instead of waiting for Quebec to grant the charter.

He said the city perhaps could obtain a higher price for the system while there are three companies interested in the Sherbrooke plant. He asserted that there would only be one charter granted in the province and that unless Sherbrooke studied selling its system now it may be at the "mercy" of this lone company.

Ald. Savard said natural gas was essential to industrial development and that if Sherbrooke took an independent view of the question it may find itself in the position of having only one offer for its system.

Mayor Nadeau, on the other hand, said that no natural gas company would be interested in supplying to smaller communities.

"We won't be at their mercy because if they don't get Sherbrooke they won't be interested in building a $30,000,000 pipeline to serve smaller communities."

Ald. Savard replied that with only one chartered natural gas company in the province Sherbrooke would not be able to ask for a price but would have to accept the company's offer.

He said the Council should study the question of selling, ask for tenders and then submit the project to a referendum.

Mayor Nadeau said "It is normal that a private industry sell gas. It is not the business of municipalities to sell except in public utilities. Special privileges were given to cities allowing them to sell electricity. We are not supposed to compete with merchants."

Ald. Everett Nicol asked who was in the gas business first. Replied the mayor, "We sell gas and accumulate deficits."

"What are we selling it (gas) for?" Ald. Tony Pinard asked. "I would like to know," Mayor Nadeau replied.

Organizing Pack

A Brownie Pack is being organized at the Salvation Army, 175 Wellington Street South, and girls between the ages of 7 and 11 are invited to join this open company.

The group will meet Monday nights from 6:30 to 7:30. Should there be any former Brownies with uniforms to sell or donate, they are asked to contact this new pack.

Marc Leclerc, president of the arts committee, said each entrant will be required to submit three works on the theme: "A Canadian industrial city celebrates its centenary."

The open contest covering paintings in water colors, oils and pastels, closes May 15, 1959, and entries will be judged May 24-31 by a panel of four.

First prize is $1,000. Two prizes of $500 and two of $250 will also be awarded.

The judges are Alan Jarvis, director of Canada's National Gallery in Ottawa; Evan H. Hunter of Hartford, Conn., and Montreal's Musée des Beaux Arts; Jean-Paul Mousseau, well-known Canadian painter, and Albert Dumouchel of Montreal's Ecole des Beaux Arts.

Man Injured In Falling From Bridge

A 30-year-old man, Alfred Jaago, of 993 King street West, is in the Hotel Dieu hospital suffering from a fractured left wrist and bruises to the head received after falling off the Aylmer Bridge, King Street about 9 p.m. last night.

The first indication that someone had fallen off the bridge was when two unidentified youngsters, between the ages of 10 to 14, came running into Louis' Luncheonette about 9 p.m. claiming that they had seen a man fall off the bridge.

Gerard Simoneau, 40, of 800 King street West, who was in charge of the restaurant at the time, called police, after he sent out his helper, Henri Clement of 848 St. Charles street to investigate.

Police and firemen arrived at the scene to find Jaago stretched out on the ice below.

Firemen, under the direction of Lieut. L. P. Lessard lowered a 45-foot ladder over the side of the bridge to rescue the victim.

Fireman Rene Turgeon went down and tied a rope around Jaago's shoulders by which he was hauled up to safety.

The victim was rushed to the Hotel Dieu Hospital by Monette ambulance where his condition is reported as fair this morning.

Art Contest For Granby Centennial

GRANBY, Que. (CP)—An international painting competition featuring $2,500 in prize money was announced Monday by this Eastern Townships community celebrating its centennial this year.

Marc Leclerc, president of the arts committee, said each entrant will be required to submit three works on the theme: "A Canadian industrial city celebrates its centenary."

The open contest covering paintings in water colors, oils and pastels, closes May 15, 1959, and entries will be judged May 24-31 by a panel of four.

First prize is $1,000. Two prizes of $500 and two of $250 will also be awarded.

The judges are Alan Jarvis, director of Canada's National Gallery in Ottawa; Evan H. Hunter of Hartford, Conn., and Montreal's Musée des Beaux Arts; Jean-Paul Mousseau, well-known Canadian painter, and Albert Dumouchel of Montreal's Ecole des Beaux Arts.

Heavy Sentence

Wilfrid Cormier, of Compton, was ordered to pay a $150 fine and had his driver's permit suspended for six months, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday.

Cormier was arrested in Lennoxville Feb. 2, by the Lennoxville police department.

Repurchase Clause In Plant Sale

When the City of Sherbrooke sells the Brompton dam to the Richmond Pulp and Paper Company, it will be able to repurchase it in 10 years at a cost of $875,000, city council decided at last night's session.

Signing of the sales contract with the company has been delayed almost a year now because of disagreement over certain clauses in the contract, it was learned last night.

The city's asking price for the dam is $125,000 and a clause allowing for its repurchase within 10 years at the selling price plus 50 percent of the costs of improvements made by the company.

In a letter introduced at the council meeting, the company advised the city that it intends to make improvements between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

The aldermen decided it would notify the company that it was willing to pay for the improvements at 5 percent per year depreciation over a 10-year period.

The council included the repurchase clause in the event that the city decided to build its own power plant at the dam site.

CNR CROSSING
Automatic gates will be installed on King St. West at the Canadian National Railway level crossing near Depot St. despite a resolution by Centre Ward Ald. Marcel Savard that the present manually operated gate remain.

Ald. Savard claimed that automatic gates would cause serious traffic tie-ups and that there could be the danger of motorists being caught on the tracks.

Ald. Carrier Fortin, who was member of a special committee which met CNR engineers last year, said he was assured by the company that the automatic gates had been tried elsewhere with success.

Ald. Savard's resolution, seconded by Ald. Gerard Berard, was defeated by a 5-4 vote.

STREET NAMES
City Council last night rejected a series of street names presented by the Toponymy Committee of the St. Jean Baptiste Society.

According to a letter from the committee, the names had been approved at a council meeting a year ago. However, the City Clerk Henri-Paul Emond said there was no correspondence on file concerning the proposed names.

A check in the minutes of the meeting at which the names were claimed to have been approved revealed that there had been no approval given nor any discussion for that matter.

Ald. Everett Nicol maintained that the committee should suggest.

GIRL DIES IN FIRE — Men are seen above searching the ruins of a one and a half storey home at Iron Hill belonging to Jack Sweet, in which his daughter Judy, aged 15, was burned to death early yesterday morning. Shortly after this picture was taken, the body of the girl was recovered from the ashes of the building. Sweet was taken to hospital suffering from frostbite and burns after trying in vain to rescue his daughter. The fire was believed to have been caused by an overheated oil furnace. ## Recover Body Of Iron Hill Girl

IRON HILL — (Special) — A 15-year-old girl was burned to death early yesterday morning and her father is in Swetsburg hospital suffering from frostbite and burns following a fire which destroyed their home here. The blaze is believed to have been caused by an overheated oil furnace.

Dead is Judy Sweet, 9th year student at the Knowlton High School, daughter of Jack Sweet, 42, who is in the Bromes, Missisquoi Perkins hospital suffering from burns to the face, fingers and back and frozen feet.

At the time of the fire, the girl and her father were sleeping upstairs in the two-storey wooden house, while Mrs. Sweet was in Cowansville where she works at the Bruck Silk Mills.

The house, which has an estimated value of $6,000, burned so fast that firemen were not called to the scene.

The charred remains of the girl were found about 2:30 p.m. yesterday by neighbors after searching the still smoking ruins.

The body was taken to the Robbs Funeral Home in Knowlton.

A coroner's inquest into the death of the girl will be held at a later date by District Coroner Dr. P. E. Roy, of Cowansville.

Cowansville Provincial Police-man Armand Bergeron was in charge of the investigation.

ET Loses Million Yearly In Tourist Trade Revenue

One million dollars per year of tourist trade is lost in the Sherbrooke area, said John A. York, president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, addressing the Optimist club last night at their weekly dinner meeting, held at the New Wellington hotel.

"To fight this loss in tourist trade," said the speaker, "the Chamber of Commerce is trying to find new attractions which will interest the tourists."

In explaining to the Optimist members what the Chamber of Commerce is, Mr. York said that "some people think the Chamber is only for the retail merchants. This is not so, the Chamber is for everyone."

The two main objectives of the Chamber of Commerce are to stimulate civic development and to improve the welfare of the community, said the speaker.

"The work of Chambers throughout the country should be commended," added Mr. York. "During the past year, 22 delegations went to Ottawa for certain requests and the government have taken action on 16 items."

"This is concrete evidence, showing how the Chamber of Commerce is serving the people," he added.

"The local Chamber members should be commended for their part in getting the Lowmyer company to come to Sherbrooke," he added. "This was not only done by the Chamber, but also with the help of the city fathers."

Mr. York was introduced by Optimist Gordon Breen and thanked by John Godbout.

Jail Terms For Two In Theft Cases

Leon Andre Lefebvre, 33-year-old Sherbrooke resident, was sentenced to six months in jail when he appeared before Judge Edouard Boisvert on a charge of theft.

Lefebvre was arrested Tuesday, Feb. 3, about 1 a.m. in the Marche Notre Dame, 455 Alexander street, owned by Antonin Boisvert, after police were notified that a prowler was on the premises. He was caught while rifling the cash register of $25.30.

Andre Chamberland, of Sherbrooke, received a three month jail term from Judge Boisvert after he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing an alarm clock and tools valued at $20 from Mrs. Wilfrid Albert's house in Sherbrooke last fall.

Donat Lachance of Lake Megantic, and who works in Sawyerville, was fined a total of $200 and costs and was forbidden to drive a car for one year by Judge Edouard Boisvert after he pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving and one of driving a car without a permit.

Firm Stand On Berlin

State Secretary Dulles statement indicating the Western allies are willing to take a conciliatory attitude toward the problems of West Berlin and German unification will be welcomed in all quarters genuinely interested in a peaceful settlement. But Mr. Dulles was also correct in reaffirming the West's right to stay in Berlin.

On landing in Washington yesterday after six days of talks with British, French and West German officials, Mr. Dulles said: "We are resolved that our position in and access to West Berlin shall be preserved."

Any doubts that the allies are united in this stand were dispelled by the British Foreign Office which said in a statement that responsibility for risk of war over Berlin lies solely with Russia and the Western powers are determined to maintain their rights there.

The West has no need to yield to Soviet threats or deadline ultimatums. The crisis over West Berlin is artificial. But in stirring it up, it must be remembered that the Kremlin, for its own reasons, may be trying to get at some sort of settlement of the German problem.

The West, keeping this in mind, must be prepared for a full and fresh exploration of all issues pertaining to Germany and a larger European settlement. Mr. Dulles' talks in Europe, when he made arrangements for a foreign ministers' meeting, had that end in view.

Whatever stand the West arrives at, it will not admit to discussion of Berlin alone. That would be to concede that the West's right to be in Berlin is subject to negotiation. This is not so according to the provisions of the peace settlement.

But if the Russians are willing to talk on a broader basis, then we must seize the opportunity for presenting a broad, positive program for settlement which will pass the multiple tests of safeguarding Germany and the West, offering assurances of security from German attack to the Russians, and winning the general support of world opinion as a sound contribution to peace.

Working For The Government

In all the discussion of government expenditures, one point has been overlooked — the amount of work private business does for government these days.

No business much above the shoeshine parlor level can exist today without a host of operations that have been set up as a direct result of federal, provincial or municipal laws.

Tax deductions, unemployment data for compensation purposes, workmen's compensation and so forth are all handled by private business. All of these concern relations between government and individuals. Business comes into it as a bookkeeper and collector to do a job that government could not handle nearly so efficiently.

These are basically profitless activities on behalf of the government and not the real province of business. But without increasing bureaucracy beyond all reasonable means, there is no other effective way of doing the job.

Hobbies Require Care

Hobbies, doctors and psychiatrists say, are activities that everybody should have, especially retired folk.

They give you an interest away from the routine of daily work, a source of creative outlet, and help you to relax and forget the cares of the world for a short time.

There is no doubt that this is true. In addition to all these beneficial effects, many people have turned hobbies into profitable enterprises.

But unless ordinary care is taken, the effects of some hobbies can be dangerous.

Recently, for example, a 19-year-old model airplane enthusiast in Colorado survived a 115,000 volt electric charge when a model he was flying, controlled by copper wires, struck a power pole.

Accidents with rocket hobbyists are almost commonplace these days.

Even older people, putting around in woodworking shops, and other places where power tools are used, have been known to injure themselves on the equipment.

The very relaxed and carefree frame of mind that hobbies induce are often responsible for these accidents, some of which are fatal.

While hobbies are intended to take one's mind off most everyday things, they should not be allowed to take one's mind off elementary care and safety. Otherwise, an enjoyable activity may turn into tragedy.

Press Comment

THE PRINCE AND TV
(St. Thomas Times-Journal)
It will be interesting to see what results from a unique conference held in Buckingham Palace last Saturday when leaders of the radio and television industries were invited by Prince Philip to discuss the question of making better pictures. All the members of the royal family are movie and TV fans, and if it is presumed they see only what are supposed to be the best they must sometimes be disappointed and wonder what the common run of pictures is like. The prince presided at the meeting and took part in the debate. The result of the talks was that the movie and TV producers formed a joint committee to take steps to carry out the suggestions of the Prince.

Such an organization is probably more needed here than in England. By far the largest amount of Canadian movie and television programs originate in the United States, and dreadful stuff much of it is. Cowboy pictures that are a throwback to the early era of the movies, stories with a lot of shooting in them, which are not bad in themselves but appeal only to infantile minds, are all too common. TV producers appear to entertain a low opinion of the average of U.S.-Canadian intelligence.

But whether in England or on this side of the Atlantic, there is always room for improvement of movie and television standards.

This is another instance of the active interest of Prince Philip in matters that pertain to public welfare. The public will note it, too, with appreciation.

The Saints

Familiar With Prison And Parish

TORONTO (CP) — In south-western Toronto, just down the street from a police station and across from a fire hall, is a small Anglican church with a basement full of Saints.

St. Mark's was built 80 years ago to serve a fashionable parish. Today, it stands amid small factories and rooming houses. The police station on the corner is busy—so is St. Mark's.

The Saints are a group of boys familiar with the inside of both.

"It began just over a year ago," says Rev. O. R. Orr, the rector. "Two boys, one of them Jewish, came to my door. They had been meeting with their friends on the streets and at a restaurant around the corner."

The boys, ranging from 16 years old to 20, were looking for somewhere to hold dances and meet free from the deprecations of rival gangs.

Mr. Orr talked it over with his church leaders and they agreed.

The Saints — "I don't know whether they adopted the name just before they started coming here or just after"—were in.

A youth expert has since told the rector the boys likely "cased" the church before they made their move. The fact they did make the move, Mr. Orr says, is a good sign.

The boys, all living in the Parkdale area around the church, elected officers and began work on a constitution. A prime rule—"one conviction and you're out of the club."

They meet Wednesdays in a room in the parish hall and on Saturdays they hold dances in the auditorium at 75 cents a head and with their own bouncer on the door.

"Liquor is banned but at each dance one or two are found to have been drinking. Sometimes many of them have," the rector says. "But I've had to shut down the dance only twice."

It was a new world for Mr. Orr, London, Ont., born product of boarding schools, Trinity College, Harvard and a New York seminary.

The first winter he spent "a great deal of time" in court on behalf of the Saints. This year "I've had very little to do in that regard."

In the beginning, many of the boys were out of work—now, in a period of much unemployment in the neighborhood—most have jobs. "I don't know how to explain it unless the boys are, through organization, becoming more fitted to cope with society."

The boys' ignorance of religious matters is especially heart-breaking for Mr. Orr. He lectures on medieval church history—but not to the Saints.

"The boys are absolutely clueless on the Christian religion."

Some have become interested in weight-lifting. They tried hockey and basketball "but they wanted to be stars the first night." They lose interest in anything they can't master immediately.

"We could certainly use the services of a qualified psychiatrist," Mr. Orr says. "There is a great danger in amateur work in this field."

Jeann Beattie, a young writer who became interested in boys' work after her mid-town apartment was robbed and the young thief caught, is helping Mr. Orr. So is an executive of a large advertising firm.

The three—along with Shirley Harmer, Canadian television star now acting and singing in Hollywood—are honorary, card-carrying Saints. Miss Harmer won her card when she sang at one of the Saints' dances.

"The movement of the boys from rectory to parish hall to church is going extremely slowly," Mr. Orr says. "It will continue so until more time can be spent on it." He is expecting to be given two assistants shortly.

Some of the Saints' parents have begun showing an interest in the church, but not many. "The problem is to turn this interest into settled practice."

At their peak last fall, there were nearly 70 members. Many dropped out and others came in. One, who shows writing talent, is being coached by Miss Beattie.

But for the most part the word "Saints", lettered on the backs of their red jackets, can't be taken literally.

SQUEEZE SETS UP CLUB SUIT

Jack Kennedy of Shreveport, writes: "Here is a hand that might interest you. I was pretty well pleased with the contract when I saw the dummy. West had overcalled and ought to have the king of diamonds but he was one of those people who like to bid so there was no guarantee. Anyway, I decided to set up a possible squeeze so ruffed a spade and played the ace of trumps and a low trump to dummy's ten."

"When both opponents followed I could afford to ruff another spade and still have trump control. Another trump lead pulled East's last trump and West discarded the queen of spades. I let a diamond go from dummy and led a diamond toward the queen. East won with the king and shot the jack back. I took my ace and led my last trump."

"West went into a trance and finally produced a low club. Dummy's last spade had squeezed him out of his club stopper. That spade had done its work. I threw it away and all the clubs were good."

Very fine technique and worthy of study. An interesting feature of the play is that if East had held four clubs and the king-jack-ten of diamonds the last trump would have squeezed him since South held the diamond nine.

A—The fact that your partner has by-passed four no-trump indicates clearly that he has a void suit. Your ace of clubs and king of diamonds must solidify his hand and you can afford a seven-diamond bid or if you want to be conservative simply bid six clubs and let him decide about the grand slam.

Nightmare...

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — It's always with a certain strain on our vest buttons that we react to foreigners bestowing accolades on one of our fellow countrymen.

Well, almost always. There was an exception the other day. Tim Buck, a citizen who is certainly well known in this country, although perhaps not universally held in high regard, received "prolonged applause" when he addressed the Soviet party congress in Moscow. This fact caused no noticeable upwelling of our chauvinistic sentiments.

Yet for all that Buck is a political cipher as leader of the Canadian Communist party, he was well received by the leaders of world Communism. Among the many who appeared on the same program were Wladyslaw Gomułka, the somewhat deviationist boss of Poland; Palmiro Togliatti, the top comrade in Italy, and Max Reinmann, from West Germany. They and the comrades from Cuba, Norway, the US and Iraq received "prolonged applause" too.

So what?

Well, the Soviets are sticklers for precedence and protocol. In this department they have little to learn from the Court of St. James'. The official Tass reports of the congress rate the various national Communist leaders' importance in the Communist world by the order of their appearance on the rostrum, by the intensity of the applause they get, and by the amount of space devoted to reporting their speeches.

Buck was the 33rd foreign speaker. He was one of eight to receive "prolonged applause". These eight were the 15th to the 22nd in the applause department — others having received "stormy prolonged applause" or "stormy applause" or "thunderous applause".

Tass devoted three paragraphs to only one speaker, Chou En-lai. Chou also was the only one favored with a kiss from Khrushchev. But Buck was among the 10 to whom Tass devoted two paragraphs. In contrast, such Communist notables as Kim Il Sung of North Korea, Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam and Enver Hoxha of Albania were only "warmly greeted". The top British Communist, Harry Pollitt, got a one paragraph mention as a "warmly welcomed."

The congress paid Comrade Buck quite a compliment, according him a rank in the Communist hierarchy which one would think his failures scarcely warranted. His Labor Progressive Party, which attracted 111,892 votes in 1945, got only 9689 votes last election. Admittedly many Reds and their fellow-traveling dupes lost their votes because the LPP ran candidates in only 18 ridings. But persons here whose job it is to keep a sharp eye on our homebred Reds say the LPP now has only about 5,000 members.

So why the big hand for Comrade Buck?

Could be that the Kremlin thinks a new day is dawning for its Canadian branch. Maybe Khrushchev & Co. see the makings of a Canada-US split in the airing that Canadian differences with the US — mostly economic — have had in recent months.

But I doubt the Kremlin is that naive. Rather, I suspect the Soviets turned on the "prolonged applause" for Buck simply for its propaganda effect in the Communist world. It would thus appear that Communism is on the march in Canada, that it is flourishing right next door to the US.

Buck could tell them differently, but why should he? "Prolonged applause" must be sweet to his ears, after the kind of acclaim he gets at home.

Bygone Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

United States and Canadian stock markets, which have been enjoying a boom for the past several years, have suffered a decline in the past few days, the slump being ascribed to the action to the Bank of England in raising the discount rate.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Spanish Loyalists forces have decided to continue their resistance in the Madrid Valencia areas despite serious setbacks in Catalonia fighting. Officers named for the Inverness Agricultural Society were: Ben Seale, John Dumas, John Langmoore, Henry Welsh, T. Labbe and E. Roberge.

TEN YEARS AGO

Death removed a well-known citizen last night in the person of P. O. Boisvert, 114 Murray Street who died in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital after an illness of two months. Sherbrooke led all Quebec province municipalities in an unprecedented housing boom during 1948.

Matter of FACT

Since the telephone was introduced, there have been arguments over who invented it. Friends of Elisha Gray, who began his experiments in 1867, maintained that he had made a working model several weeks before Alexander Graham Bell did. Gray applied for a patent a few days too late. Bell was granted a patent on March 10, 1876. Gray and his supporters unsuccessfully attacked the patent in an infringement suit before the Supreme Court.

portant elements of the body. Chemical combinations of calcium are particularly needed by the teeth and bones, although calcium is required also in other parts of the body. Calcium salts play an important part in the clotting of the blood and in the control of the heart beat.

Calcium taken into the body must be in a form which can be easily absorbed and used. Vitamin D helps in the use of calcium. This vitamin is formed by the action of sunlight on the skin or it can be given in prepared form. A hormone, produced by one of the internal glands called the parathyroid, which is emptied into the blood from that gland is also important in calcium use.

When vitamin D is not present in sufficient quantities, the calcium is not deposited properly and the bones become soft and pliable, producing rickets, bow legs or other changes in the skeleton.

If the parathyroid glands are removed the amount of calcium in the blood drops rapidly regardless of the amount of calcium taken in. This causes a condition called tetany, which produces muscular spasms.

Other signs of calcium deficiency are osteomalacia (softened bones) and osteoporosis (porous bones). In many cases these are of obscure origin.

Too much calcium can be present in the tissues as well as too little. For example, a good deal of the material deposited in the walls of hardened arteries (arteriosclerosis) consists of calcium.

As yet, no way has been found to dissolve or remove excess calcium in the arteries, nor is there any practical method of preventing these deposits.

Dairy products supply good quantities of calcium. Infants and growing children, who need calcium for their rapidly growing bones, get most of their calcium from milk. Additional calcium can be supplied in various tablet or capsule forms.

However, although calcium tablets may supply the calcium needed, they will not furnish the other nutritional elements present in such excellent foods as milk and cheese — and, of course, are not so tasty.

Adult Parents or Good Joe?
The Choice Is Up to You

If you are the parent of a teenager you'll have to make up your mind whether you intend to be an adult, upholding adult standards, or a good Joe determined to keep on the good side of your own teen-ager and his friends.

You've got to make up your mind which you want to be because you can't be both.

If you're going to be an adult and a responsible parent you'll make some house rules and see that they are obeyed by your own teen-ager and any friends he brings home with him.

If you're going to be a good Joe you'll keep quiet and make no protest if a teen-age crowd completely takes over your house.

If you are going to be an adult you'll not be afraid to show anger, disgust, or disappointment when teen-agers show complete disregard for the rights of others.

If you're going to be a good Joe you'll take their side whenever they get into any kind of scrape instead of insisting that they face up to the consequences of their reckless behavior.

If you are going to act like an adult you'll correct teen-ager manners when they need correcting and expect to be treated with courtesy and respect.

If you're a good Joe you'll overlook rudeness and disrespect and tell yourself "that's just the way kids act these days."

If you're a responsible adult you'll tell another parent something you think he ought to know. But if you're a good Joe you'll side with the teen-agers in helping the kid get away with something. Since it seems so clear on which side a parent ought to stand, it's amazing that so many parents these days think they have to be good Joes, or their kids won't be popular.

That's stuff and nonsense. Kids never for long resent an adult who behaves like one, and who demands from them the respect due an adult.

And though they profess to like the grown-up who is a good Joe, they don't really respect him. They know he is acting in fear of their disapproval.

Fashion

Unrelieved black is unquestionably aging. So when you buy a black dress, plan to enliven it with brilliant costume jewelry, chiffon scarves or other bright touches.

Homemaking

Baby and milk are synonymous, and women know that milk-stained garments are a commonplace. Before washing little garments splashed with milk, soak them in cold water. Then wash in hot soap or detergent suds.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

We call it "gushing" when a woman hands out extravagant compliments. But that's no reason not to be generous with praise.

A woman will never be accused of gushing if she looks for qualities she can honestly compliment.

E. T. Intermediate Hockey Playoffs Open On Three Sites Tonight

Beavers Home To Magog Aces While Rockets Receive Victoriaville And Richmond Braves Travel To Asbestos

This evening the first games in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League playoffs will get underway in Drummondville, Sherbrooke and Asbestos.

In Series "A" the Rockets will take on the Victoriaville Canadiens in a five-out-of-nine, Sherbrooke Beavers will clash with arch-rivals, Magog Aces, and Asbestos will meet the Richmond Braves. These two series "B" and "C" are three-out-of-five events.

Following the completion of the quarter-finals, "B" and "C", the winners will clash and the team emerging will take on the winners of the Drummondville-Victoriaville series for the league championship and the right to advance into the Provincial playoffs.

At the special meeting held last night at the Hotel Sherbrooke President O'Donnell stressed the point of controlling home crowds and stated that instructions had been issued to the referees to have any fan ejected if they molest the players in any manner.

In certain rinks the managers of the home clubs have failed to provide proper police protection and the league president stated it was entirely the responsibility of the home club to have adequate protection on hand. If this is not forthcoming then all home games will be taken away and the rinks will be barred from future QAJHA hockey.

In the Sherbrooke-Magog series the Dube squad holds the upper hand on the season play with four wins against two losses. The Beavers have tallied 27 goals while the Aces could only get 22 by Claude Senecal and his replacements in the six league games.

On their home ice the Beavers posted two victories and did the same in Magog. In Sherbrooke the locals posted 4-2 and 7-3 verdicts while losing 5-2. In Magog the Aces dropped 6-3 and 5-2 decisions while winning 7-3 to complete the season.

In Drummondville the Canadiens face tough opposition as the Rockets have only been beaten once during their fifteen home games but playoffs is another story. In Asbestos the Meteors face a tough crew in the up-and-coming Richmond Braves and anything could happen.

Following tonight's games the teams will switch sites and continue their series Thursday. Games are listed every Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday until Sunday March 22.

MELBOURNE (AP) — To keep faith with the organizers of two different athletic carnivals world mile record-holder Herb Elliott plans to run two races Feb. 21 at points almost 600 miles apart.

The Melbourne Age said Monday Elliott has agreed to run in Sydney Feb. 21 and then catch a late afternoon plane to Melbourne to run in a twilight meeting.

Brown, 158½, Boston, outpointed Willie Greene, 159, Providence, 10.

Joe Brown May Reach End Of Line Tomorrow Night When He Takes On Johnny Busso For Lightweight Title

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Because Joe Brown will be meeting the strongest fighter of the six who have challenged his lightweight title, there is sentiment aplenty that the skinny little fellow will reach the end of the road here Wednesday night.

Brown, from Baton Rouge, La., meets Johnny Busso of New York, who has already given him a beating.

Big Ed Litzenger Blasts Off In NHL Scoring Race, Five Points From Leader; Plante Still Top Goalie

MONTREAL — (CP) — Big Ed Litzenger of Chicago Black Hawks is picking up points so fast these days it's enough to give the National Hockey League's scoring leaders the creeps.

The lanky Chicagoan harvested six points in the Hawks' three winning efforts last week and now is only five points behind Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers and three behind the faltering Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens.

The league's official statistics, released today, show Bathgate with 64 points, Geoffrion with 62 and Litzenger with 59.

BROKE TIE
During the week's play Bathgate broke a tie with Geoffrion, counting one goal and three assists. Geoffrion, who has extracted only one goal in 19 games, came up with two assists last week.

Bathgate now has a total of 29 goals and 35 assists; Geoffrion a 20-42 count. The New Yorker is setting the pace for goal-scorers and Geoffrion heads the assist-producers.

Litzenger's big rush has brought him 13 points in two weeks. Week before last he gathered in seven. In last week's games he drove in three goals and helped on three others. The six points shot him ahead of Detroit's Gordie Howe, who had one lone assist and dropped to fourth place with 57 points on 24 goals and 33 assists.

Dickie Moore of Montreal, last season's scoring champ, remained in fifth place but edged closer to fourth. His two goals and two assists lifted his total to 55 points. Moore has racked up 28 goals and 27 assists.

Jean Beliveau of Montreal scored only a single goal but hung on to sixth place. With 49 points he is one ahead of Red Sullivan of New York who scored two goals and one assist.

The fast-rushing Black Hawks were the only team with a perfect record last week. Their three wins, against New York Rangers' one win and two losses, left the Hawks in sole possession of second place with 56 points to New York's 52.

The league-leading Montreal Canadiens, snapping out of a five-game winless streak, scored a win last week after dropping two games and now have 66 points. Boston Bruins, with two wins in three starts, are in fourth with 51 points. Toronto Maple Leafs also posted a 2-1 record for the week and handed over the cellar to Detroit Red Wings, who lost all three of their games. Toronto had 45 points to Detroit's 44.

Jacques Locas In Line To Set New Scoring Record In QHL If He Can Maintain Present Pace, Has 40 Goals

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Locas, who couldn't stick in the first company of the National Hockey League, can set a Quebec Hockey League record for sniping if he maintains his scoring pace in the waning weeks of the QHL schedule.

The 32-year-old right-winger with Chicoutimi Saguenens fired two goals during the week and official league statistics released Monday show him with 40 goals in 46 games, an average of .869 a game.

Locas needs only to continue at that clip in Chicoutimi's remaining 17 games to better the mark of 54 goals set by Billy Dartnell of the now-defunct Ottawa Senators in the 1948-49 season when the QHL was known as the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

It was in Dartnell's record year that Locas had the second of two trouts with the NHL Montreal Canadiens, going pointless in three games. The previous season he played almost the full schedule with Montreal but collected only 15 points.

TRAILS HICKS
The two goals, coupled with an assist, gave the tall forward a total of 57 points, good for second place in the individual scoring race between teammate Greig Hicks.

Hicks, a 145-pound centre, had one of his most fruitful weeks of the season garnering three goals and four assists to boost his production to 62 points on 18

Naimark's Rink Wins BC Crown
VERNON, B. C. (CP) — Barry Naimark of Vancouver, who entered the British Columbia bonspiel here with a pickup rink just for the curling experience, beat veteran Frank Avery 9-8 Monday to become the province's new champion.

Naimark had to go 13 ends to win the third and deciding game of the best-of-three playoff with Avery, who had won the B. C. title six times.

Canadian Curlers To Meet Scottish Champions In Best-Of-Five Series
TORONTO (CP) — An annual competition between the curling champions of Canada and Scotland was announced today. The first tournament, a best-of-five series, is scheduled for Scotland March 9-11.

Each country will play under its own rules. In Scotland curlers are permitted to slide to the outer circle of the house. In Canada they are allowed to slide to the hog line.

New York — Stefan Redl, 146, Passaic, N.J., outpointed Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams, 146½, Washington, 10.

Providence, R. I. — Jackson Paris — Alphonse Hallimi, France, stopped Pierre Cossemyns, Belgium, 3 (weights unavailable).

Watson said the Canadians will leave by air Saturday, March 7,

Electrical Appliances Mean Better Living For Nation

Fifty Years Progress In Field Of Electricity Outstrips Previous Ten Centuries

A Roman housewife scrubbing her weekly wash along the banks of the Tiber in the year 1 A.D. could have dozed off into a super Rip Van Winkle snooze for a thousand years and found her work-day world little changed. Despite the passage of 10 momentous centuries, she would still have been scrubbing her wash by the riverbank without the benefit of sink, faucet or even clothespin in 1,000 A.D.

But consider the case of a 1907 housewife who dozed off in her gaslit kitchen and awoke only 50 years later. What a world of wonders would meet her eyes, a world sparkling with hundreds of magical appliances.

By 1957, glare-free fluorescent lights had banished the gloom of her old gas fixtures; a huge home freezer and revolving tray refrigerator had replaced the smelly ice box; electric ranges, wall ovens and a dozen different kinds of broilers, fryers and rotisseries had added new and simple refinements to the ancient art of cooking; automatic clothes washers, dryers and irons had taken much of the work out of the weekly washing chores.

In the dust and pollen-free air-conditioned living room, the children sprawled on a recently vacuumed rug watching television. Upstairs, Dad smoothly erased his beard with an electric razor; Sis mooned over the rawkish sounds of Elvis on her phonograph; Junior tuned in a night baseball game on his bedroom radio and Grandma slept snug in her room under an electric blanket.

These are but a few of the changes that have taken place in the home in the 50-year history of electrical progress through appliances in this country and throughout much of the world. The changes occurred quickly and steadily but far from suddenly.

Thanks to the dedicated efforts of thousands of pioneer inventors, merchants and manufacturers, the appliance industry has grown from a few thousand dollar volume in 1907 to today's $4 billion dollar industry.

Where did it start? First with the early light pioneers like Thomas Alva Edison and George Westinghouse, then with countless lesser known inventors and dabblers and just plain dreamers who sought practical uses for electricity.

Edison made history when his first workable incandescent lamp glowed for 40 hours in 1870, but within three years Henry W. Seely had received a patent for his electric flatiron, although actual production was still some years away.

The great depression of the 30's sent the radio-appliance business into an almost immediate decline, but had the singular effect of lowering prices to a point where public demand was highly stimulated and a buying spree resulted when times improved toward the end of the decade. But manufacturers lost the strategic materials needed to satisfy their hungry markets when World War II began and converted their shops to turning out essential goods.

The war years, however, were marked by constant development and design of new and better household appliances. During this period such items as television, clothes dryers, waste disposal units, room air conditioners, freezers, dish washers and many other modern conveniences were developed.

From the end of World War II to the present day, the appliance, radio-TV industry has turned out an endless array of products that would have amazed the 1907 Canadian housewife as much as her Roman counterpart in 1 A.D. From a single light bulb in a New Jersey laboratory, it has grown to a multi-billion dollar industry, selling millions of appliances annually, outstripping the hopes and dreams of its most enthusiastic advocates.

And with new designs and inventions popping off the laboratory tables almost every day, the future burns bright for electricity in the home. So bright, that the housewife of 1507 would never know her kitchen if she too slept for 50 years and awoke in 2007.

FOR CHILD'S SAFETY

For children's rooms and halls, recessed baseboard fixtures are available which cast a soft glow at night without getting in anyone's way, the Electric Service League reported.

OFF-CENTER ACCENTS

Conversation pieces will attract more attention from your guests if you light-accent them with off-center ceiling fixtures. The bulb-type ceiling hung fixture is the most versatile for this purpose.

BROME —

The Afternoon Card Club met at the home of Mrs. Effie Libby, when 500 was played at four tables. The prize was won by Mrs. H. P. Belcher. The next party will be held at the same home with Mrs. Agnes Boissel, of Knowlton, as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wright, accompanied by her father, Mr. Walter Patch, has gone to spend the remainder of the winter in Florida.

RANDBORO —

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lake, Miss Vicki and Master Brenton Lake, of Cookshire were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Speck.

Several of the town ladies met at the home of Mr. Leslie McCallum and tied a quilt that Mrs. McCallum had pieced just before her death. Refreshments were served by Mr. McCallum and daughters.

MARBLETON —

Mrs. Wm. Hetherington, of Sherbrooke, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Weyland and attended the Guild card party.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Thibodeau and family, of Sherbrooke, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Thibodeau.

National Electrical Week Birthday Of Inventor Thomas Edison

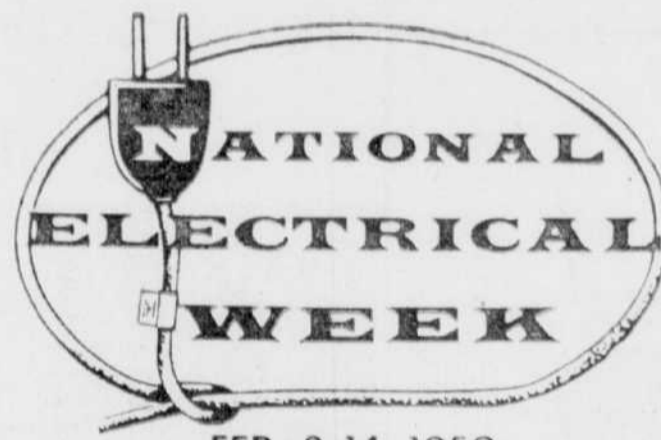

Feb. 8th to 14th is National Electrical Week, marking the 112th anniversary of Thomas Edison's birth. Edison brought electricity out of the laboratory and into practical use for the benefit of all mankind. He worked untiringly to develop the first practical electric light bulb, and with it, the equipment needed to bring it into our homes. Edison founded an industry that has become one of the nation's largest and most vital... an industry that has put the magic of electricity to work in a thousand ways that contribute to the strength and prosperity of the nation. An industry that continues to play an increasing part in Canada's development — providing equipment for four-fifths of all work in manufacturing for example. Yes, from forest and farm to end-products "electricity builds jobs."

So, during National Electrical Week this year, we salute the worlds most versatile servant... electricity. Electricity keeps you warm in the winter, cool in the summer. It turns night into day at the flick of a switch. It brings you entertainment, cooks your food, does your washing and in so many ways makes your life easier and more enjoyable. Have you ever thought just how inexpensive all these electrical servants are. The average-size living room can be vacuumed for about half a cent. With the flick of a switch, electricity does a weeks wash for the average family for less than a nickel.

National Electricity Week has been officially declared by many of our Premiers and Mayors—a salute to the 175,000 skilled Canadians of the electrical industry whose products and services are designed to serve the highly specialized needs of our growing nation.

DARK STAIR DANGER

Unlighted stairwells are a household menace. There should be a ceiling fixture at the foot and head of each stairwell with a switch at both ends so that light can be provided when walking up or down.

LIGHTED SIGN POINTS WAY

Make it easy for your friends to find your home by installing an illuminated address sign. The Electric Service League advises. Another aid is a post lantern to light the way to your front door.

AUTOMATIC SWITCH

Automatic closet switches are now available which turn on the closet light when you open the door, turn it off when the door is shut, the Electric Service League reported.

REMOVE FUSE FIRST

If you replace an old fixture with a new one, be sure you remove the circuit fuse first. The Electric Service League recommends this as a safeguard against shock. The fuse is re-inserted when the job is done.

LIGHT MIRROR

A dressing mirror is easier to use if it is lighted by fixtures on each side and on top. The Electric Service League advises.

"Medallion" Sign Of Electrical Excellence

The electrical industry — in its efforts to help prospective home buyers — has come up with an easily recognizable symbol to identify homes guaranteed to contain top quality electrical capacity and equipment.

This symbol is the Live Better Electrically Medallion, and whenever it is displayed in connection with a home, it means that the local electric utility has examined the electrical content — the wiring, the lighting, the appliances — and pronounced it excellent for today's advanced modes of living.

This Medallion certification program started early this year, but already many thousands of new homes have been inspected by Electrical Service League and — if merited — awarded the Medallion to make sound home selection easier for Mr. and Mrs. Canada.

And this is just the beginning. In the years to come, hundreds of thousands more homes will similarly come to be known as Medallion Homes — for the guidance of buyers seeking comfort and convenience from dependable electrical planning.

So far, more than 170 electric utilities throughout the country have established "Medallion" quality standards, suited to the tastes and needs of local home buyers. Local builders are encouraged to follow these standards in the homes they build. For those who are interested in buying an "electrically sound" home, it would be well to check with their utilities—to find out where Medallion Homes are located in the area.

Medallion Home standards call for ample enough wiring in a home to serve even the heaviest electrical loads today, yet with capacity to spare for a family's future electrical purchases, for

Electrical Range Performance Plus Skill = Delightful Meal

In the golden days of the Old Wild West, when men were men and cooks were cooks, the Indians could always tell a tenderfoot from a real woodsman by the size of his campfire.

From a distance of 10 or 15 miles, they could spot a tenderfoot by the gigantic flames licking up from the bonfire. A real hand at camp cookery would know better: his fire would be small and concentrated, barely visible, almost smokeless and with the heat coming from a few white hot coals instead of an inferno of flames.

If old Sitting Bull walked into a suburban kitchen today he could still tell a tenderfoot housewife from a real cook by the size of her "indoor campfire." Top notch cooking still comes from carefully controlled heat. The small area of concentrated heat that the experienced woodsman sought to obtain by carefully nursing a few white hot coals is available at the flick of a switch in a matter of seconds for today's housewife cooking over an electric range.

And just as the oldtime pioneer

It's easy to brew coffee for a crowd with this new range, featuring automatic percolator coffee maker sunk into range top. This innovation is one of many advantages of electrical kitchen appliances. Hotpoint range shown here also offers plug-in meat thermometer, automatic timers for both oven and surface cooking, and a plug-in two position rotisserie.

had to know the right wood and the proper wind direction in order to build his campfire, so the modern housewife who yearns to be a good cook can profit by a knowledge of the control switches and timing devices on her range.

Thermostatic oven control, for instance, is more than a time and energy saver. Knowing how and when to use this wonderfully simple cooking tool can mean the difference between a genuine culinary creation and a pot luck batch of something. Nearly fool-proof as today's electric ranges are, they perform best for the homemaker who knows and understands the various types of controls and uses them properly.

New cooks, especially, quickly and confidently can attempt complicated dishes that mother never would have dared on her old coal range, once they realize the marvels that are at their fingertips. Old cooks, too, can learn plenty of new wrinkles that science has introduced into the ancient art of cooking.

So, for best results, get to know your range. All it takes is a few minutes with the manufacturer's instruction book and you'll be out of the tenderfoot class in no time.

Electricity At Work — In Verse

What's a kitchen really for? A place to cook to eat, to store. So it is—but so much more.

A family room where all may share

A banquet or a simple fare;
A place where mother loves to be

With ample electricity—
With outlets, inlets everywhere
Saying "Use me, I don't care,
"You'll never blow my fuse in here."

Where father often acts as host
Concocting things that are "the most."

Where toaster, blender, electric grill
Are standard tools to fill the bill;

Where dishes wash themselves
"toute de suite."

Come sterile clean with boosted heat;
Where trash and garbage in the sink

Disappear quick as a wink;
Where smoke and smells fly out the vent

And the air is always heaven-scent;
Where the oven's square against the wall,

And many things don't show at all;
Where silent servants are all about,

Under counters, pull them out;
Where lights recessed glow dim or bright,

To make the kitchen mood just right;
Where a telephone upon a wall

Saves many a step for many a call;
And "Welcome," shouts from walls and ceiling

In colors bright and eye-appealing;
Where living is "Medallion" style

And work a pleasure all the while.
What's a kitchen really for—

A place to cook, to eat, to store?
So it is—but so much more.

Make A Proper Use Of Electricity And It Will Serve All Your Needs

Make proper use of electricity and it will serve your every need. Be sure to make electricity a safe and obedient servant. Powered by electricity, your home appliances will perform hundreds of duties—the safe, clean, modern way.

Today, write for your free copy of "Electricity in Your Home", a leaflet containing easy-to-follow "do's and don'ts." Here are a few examples. DO have all electrical wiring and other repairs done by qualified electricians. DO keep floor lamp cords out from under rugs where they would be walked on. DO disconnect appliances by grasping plug firmly and pulling out gently, not by tugging on the cord. DON'T use any type of electrical appliance while in the bathroom.

Lighting — Revolutionary Way Of Interior Decorating

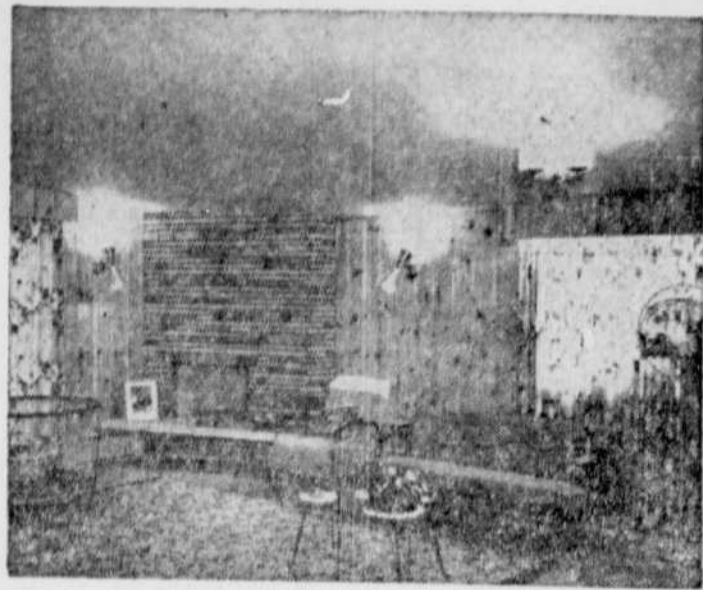

You've spent considerable time and money—in making your home a pleasant and attractive place to live. Make the most of it with the kind of lighting that shows your color and furniture arrangements to the best advantage—and, of course, the kind of lighting that is good for your eyes.

A dramatic new concept of home lighting is called "Inspiration-Lighting." Simply stated, the theory says you should plan for: (1) general lighting, (2) local lighting, and (3) accent lighting. By switching individual fixtures on or off, you can thereby create the lighting mood you want.

When you plan your lighting, look for the new concepts and ideas available today. The trend this year is to cluster fixtures, available in luxurious brass, a combination of rope and brass, opal glass, and an exciting cluster of three vinylite bubbles which create a Far East mood in decorating.

In addition, there is a wide variety of the popular reel-type pull-downs. You can find lighting fixtures to blend and complement any decorating period. The term often used to describe many of practically any lighting job. With the new lighting fixture designs this coordination of lighting fixtures is "Transitional" which means the fixtures will blend with the decorating of any period or style. Various phases of a lighting plan One group, called "Cordette Casuals," includes fixtures for able, convenient, and livable.

Lighting Creates Mood In Medallion Homes

Home buyers are recognizing more and more the value of good lighting inside and outside a house. They want to "decorate" with light, to use fixtures, and floodlights, and dimmers to display their homes to the best advantage, to create a mood rather than a monotony in and around their homes. Through the intensive nationwide Medallion Home Program, the building industry is placing added emphasis on lighting, along with other qualities of electrical excellence.

Light actually can be used as effective room dividers. Fluorescent lamps illumination is almost unlimited, including lights for areas under cupboards and over sinks, for hoods over ovens or cooking surfaces, or behind soffits.

By utilizing lighting in the garden or patio, many families have found that they can enjoy additional hours of outdoor work or play virtually every day of the year.

Lighting in accordance to Medallion Home standards has become important for builders and contractors; they have learned to show prospective home owners that good use of lighting and appliances make it possible for them to enjoy preparing and eating outdoor meals, watching television, reading in cool comfort, listening to hi-fi, dancing and engaging in sports.

Lighting Choice Is Yours
In line with this program, home buyers now have the widest choice ever in lighting possibilities. Fixtures which concentrate

The Live Better Electrically Medallion displayed on a new home symbolizes the assurance of the builder, the electric utility and the electrical contractor that the house contains the very best of wiring, lighting and appliances. It is the home buyer's guarantee that the house contains everything needed for the best electrical living—today and tomorrow.

Watt's Going On In Your Home?

(An Electrical Quiz)

In this age of modern electrical conveniences, even though we use more and more electricity, it is estimated that four out of every five homes suffer from low HOUSEPOWER (not enough wiring, switches and outlets). Do your fuses blow often? Appliances take too long to heat up? Does your TV picture shrink when other appliances are started? Are you ensnared by endless feet of unsightly extension cords and double sockets plugged into double sockets? If you're afflicted with any of these symptoms, you should have an electrical contractor examine your electric system and make a complete HOUSEPOWER rating for your home.

This little quiz may give you an idea of the watts (electricity) needed to operate the appliances in your home. Match the appliance in column one with the correct wattage in column two.

Appliances	Watts
1. Air Conditioner (room) each	a. 1100
2. Air Heater (portable)	b. 1500
3. Electric iron	c. 1000
4. Broiler	d. 1500
5. Clock	e. 2
6. Clothes Dryer	f. 4500-9000
7. Coffee Maker	g. 440-1000
8. Dishwasher	h. 1200
9. Electric Bed Cover	i. 200
10. Frying Pan	j. 1100
11. Floor Lamp, multiple 3-way	k. 300
12. Freezer	l. 350
13. Grill	m. 800
14. Heating Pad	n. 60
15. Mixer	o. 100
16. Radio	p. 100
17. Range, Complete	q. 8000-16000
18. Refrigerator	r. 300*
19. Shaver	s. 12
20. Television	t. 300
21. Toaster	u. up to 1150
22. Vacuum Cleaner	v. 650
23. Waffle Iron	w. up to 1100
24. Washer, Automatic	x. 700
25. Waste Disposer (alone)	y. 500
26. Water Heater	z. 2000-4000

Answers: ☆ ☆ ☆

How well did you do? Yes, you're right! The correct answers are directly opposite.

But there is an even more important method of scoring: pick out from the list the appliances you now own and add up their total watts from the answers. If the total is 20,000 or less, you should have a three-wire, 100-ampere service. If over 20,000, you need more than 100 amperes. If you have more than one of the appliances, don't forget to multiply. If you have other electrical appliances, compare them with a similar type appliance listed above in determining the total wattage.
