World News In Brief

Lima, Peru, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Jose Luis Bustamante, deposed as President of Peru by the army, left for exile in Chile early today.

The former Interior Minister, Gen. Manuel Odría, leader of the successful three-day revolt, promised to hold democratic elections as soon as possible in a broadcast from Arequipa, where the uprising broke out.

Quebec, Oct. 30.—(C.P.)—A caucus of Union Nationale members of the Quebec Legislative Assembly and of the Legislative Council will be held here Nov. 11.

Premier Duplessis will preside at the meeting at which it is expected government proposals for the Quebec Legislature session opening in January will be discussed.

Toronto, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A new seven-per-cent hydro cut goes into effect Monday in southern Ontario.

Announcing that the area now operating on a quota basis, would have to make a further adjustment in factory schedules, provincial hydro officials held out no hope for an easing of the power situation before spring.

Auckland, N.Z., Oct. 20.—(AP)—A search party reported today that all 13 persons aboard a New Zealand national airways plane which crashed last Saturday were killed instantly. The expedition reaching the scene of the crash on Mount Ruapehu found 12 bodies. The 13th has not yet been discovered. The plane appeared to have flown straight into the rock face of the mountain, the party reported.

Paris, Oct. 30.—(CP)—Before a small crowd in the famed Palais de l'Etoile, Lionel Chevrier, head of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations, placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, under the Arc de Triomphe.

Virtually the entire Canadian delegation and other prominent Canadian officials attended.

Tokyo, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A tropical storm with winds up to 75 miles an hour at its center was 275 miles northwest of Iwo Jima today and moving in a general northerly direction. Winds of the storm have varied from 65 to 75 miles an hour in the last two days.

London, Oct. 30.—(Reuters)—The Daily Mail today said British customs officers believe they have found a smuggling ring at work on planes of the Berlin air lift.

Extra custom staff, the paper adds, have been sent to one R. A. F. station following seizures of valuable cameras concealed in radio sets of planes returning for servicing from the air lift.

Mukden, Largest City In Manchuria, Reported To Have Fallen To Red Troops

Loss of City Places Communists in Virtual Control of All Manchuria—Fate of Garrison Commander Not Known.

Nanking, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Unofficial but apparently reliable reports here said today that Mukden, Manchuria's largest city, had fallen to the Communists.

Last direct reports here from the north indicated Red troops were on the outskirts of the city and in some places had infiltrated inside.

Fall of Mukden to the Reds would mean the government's loss of practically all of Manchuria.

Reports here said the Communists had broken into the city and the whereabouts of Gen. Wei Li-Huang, Mukden's garrison commander, was "unknown."

Recent reports indicated the bulk of Mukden's more than 150,000 government troops were trying to withdraw southward. It was not clear whether they were heading for evacuation from Yingkow, Manchurian port on the gulf of Chihli, or heading for a showdown with Red forces holding the Chihnsien corridor.

If the report of Mukden's fall is correct, it was believed here that only a relatively small number of the national troops could have escaped.

Loss of Mukden probably would mean speedy evacuation of Hulutao, port opposite Yingkow, and Yingkow.

Since Mukden has been isolated by a Red winter offensive of a year ago it has been supplied by airlift, much smaller than but similar to that supplying Berlin.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek hastily flew south to Nanking from his Peiping headquarters.

The Communists, part of the estimated 400,000 men locked in battle for Manchuria, struck boldly from the north and east. They captured Mukden's north airfield along with six American-built P-51 fighter planes. Many Chinese were trapped by the swift move.

(In Nanking, reliable sources said Chiang's return there pre-empted possible "drastic developments." Chiang had been directing the battle for Manchuria since Oct. 15 from his Peiping headquarters.)

When collapse of Mukden seemed at hand, Communist placards showed up inside the city, whose government defenders insisted they would fight to the death.

The whole Manchurian military situation was endangered. Sinmin, rail town 35 miles west of Mukden, was abandoned by national troops who fought their way back into Mukden.

Further south, the government was contracting its forces toward Chensi, 25 miles south of Red-held Chihnsien. It offered an avenue of escape through the port of Hulutao.

Residents of Peiping and Nanking were gloomy.

Tsingtao, Siantung port practically sealed off from the balance of China by Communist troops, was cheered by the arrival of an American task force.

UN Delegates Have Eyes On US Election

Paris, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The tumult of the United States elections reperated in the nearly-empty meeting halls of the United Nations today as the world body prepared for an extra-long week-end holiday.

Discussion of nearly all major issues came to a halt as the delegates waited to see who will be the next President of the United States and what kind of Congress the United States will have.

The Security Council voted, with two abstentions, to shunt the touchy Palestine question into a sub-committee until sometime after next Tuesday. The Soviet Union and the Soviet Ukraine abstained from the voting.

By a fortunate circumstance the U.N. virtually was forced to call a holiday for Monday just at a time when discretion called for one.

Monday—All Saints' Day—is a national holiday in France and the U.N. is taking the day off too. The following day is election day in the United States. Top-ranking American diplomats scattered for the week-end. State Secretary Marshall went to London on what embassy spokesmen in London said was a "purely personal and private visit."

John Foster Dulles, member of the United States delegation and foreign affairs adviser to the Republican Presidential candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, went to Scandinavia.

Informed British sources said Marshall probably would meet with Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin to discuss co-ordination of the British and American policies on Palestine.

The Security Council's decision yesterday to shelve at least temporarily the question of economic and political sanctions in Palestine came on the heels of reliable reports that President Truman had sent a message to the American delegation.

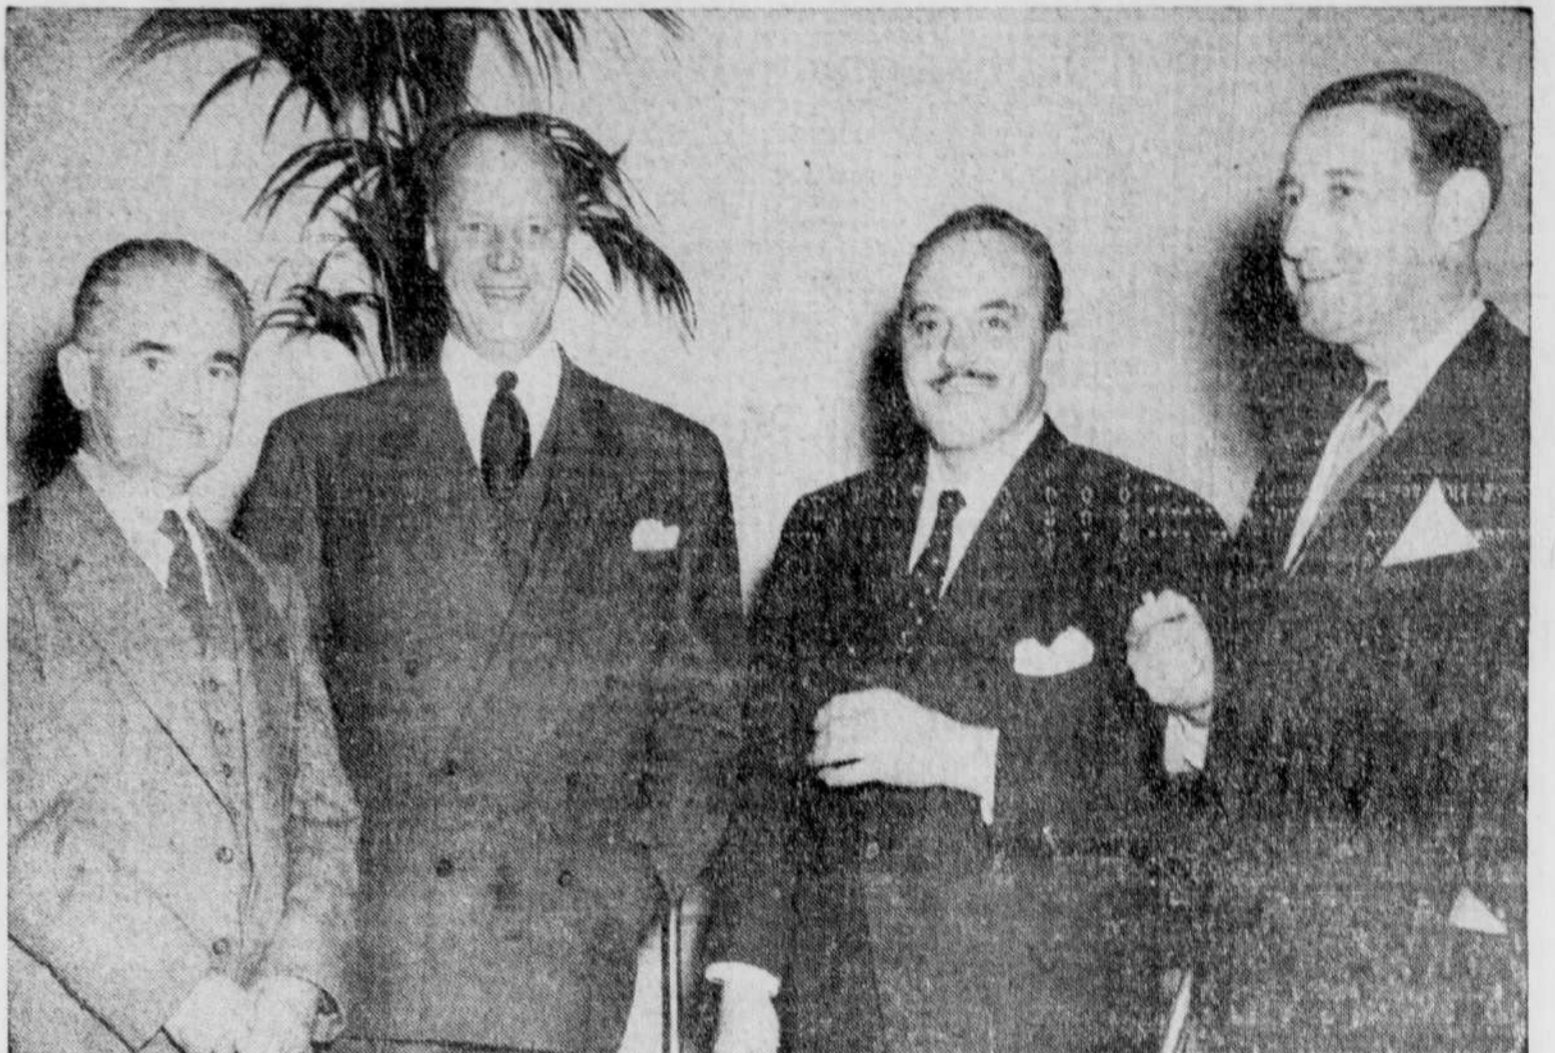

An informant in a position to know said the President had not issued a direct order but had asked for an explanation of the American position on the British-Chinese resolution.

Previously, authoritative sources had indicated the United States would support the resolution.

The resolution authorizes sanctions against the side it they refuse to obey orders in the Near East. Since one of the mediator's orders was withdrawal of troops to positions held when the recent fighting began, the Jews feel this would deprive them of their gains in that sector.

The sub-committee was instructed to examine what forceful steps the U.N. might take against truce violators.

P.C. Leader Is Welcomed In Montreal

George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, was guest of honor, with Mrs. Drew, at a banquet in Montreal last night attended by some 1,500 persons. Above, from left to right, are seen Edouard Masson, co-chairman of the banquet, Mr. Drew, Ivan Sabourin, K.C., leader of the P. C. party in Quebec province, and John E. Crankshaw, the other co-chairman who introduced Mr. Drew.

Drew Predicts P.C. Victory In Next Election, Attacks Government's Centralization Policies

Bells Will Ring For Royal Birth

London, Oct. 30.—(Reuters)—The bells of London will ring out next month to herald the birth of a child to Princess Elizabeth, heiress-presumptive to the British throne.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A confident George Drew last night told 1,500 supporters of the Progressive Conservative party here—and Canada at large—that he did not believe the Liberal party "has a chance of winning a majority in the next Federal election."

Mr. Drew's speech at a party banquet, which also was broadcast, marked his first major public appearance in a political capacity since he was elected P.C. leader in Ottawa early this month.

His reference to the next election was brief and extemporaneous. In what might be called the keynote to his address he declared:

"I believe that the unity of Canada depends on the preservation of the rights and sovereignty of the provinces."

Departing often from his prepared text, the 54-year-old former Premier of Ontario attacked Government centralization and emphasized that "the people of Canada are faced today with the vitally important task of rebuilding Confederation."

Although he discounted Liberal hopes in the next election, he told his audience that "the Liberal party has a great role to play in the future political life of this country."

But he said this future would not be realized until the Liberal party returned "to the principles of historic liberalism, which it has completely abandoned during the past few years." If this occurs, he said, the Liberal party "will take its place in those changes of Government in the years ahead which are an essential part of our democratic system."

But he said that the present leaders of the Liberal party had become centralists.

"Disregarding our constitution they have asserted the proposition that provincial governments have no rights and no powers which cannot be set aside at any time by a majority vote of the Canadian Parliament."

"The very bedrock of the policies of the Progressive Conservative party is the recognition of the rights, laws and customs whose preservation were an essential consideration when Canada became one nation. It is our role to build a strong and united Canada upon that firm foundation."

He also said his party is pledged "to preserve personal and economic freedom which is always threatened by concentrated power."

Throughout his speech, Mr. Drew concentrated on the issue of provincial rights and Canadian federalism.

"The Progressive Conservative party has pledged itself to maintaining and strengthening our federal system," he declared. "It is also pledged to preserve personal and economic freedom which is always threatened by concentrated power. We believe that the closer government is to the people the more efficient it is and the more responsive it is to their needs."

The great need today, the Progressive Conservative national leader said, is "for political action which will build a strong, free and united Canada upon the firm foundation which was so well established by our federal constitution in 1867."

The Progressive Conservative party could not disregard the teaching of history that any permanent subsidy system which made either the central government or the local government dependent on another government for a considerable part of its necessary revenue, "must in the end destroy any federal system."

"In Canada, anything which destroyed our federal system would lead to the disintegration of Canada as a single nation," said Mr. Drew.

It is based that statement on the background of Canada's federal system.

"No democracy can survive as a democracy unless it has a constitution which defines the power of government and how the people of the country will govern themselves through their chosen representatives," he went on. "The people of Canada are faced with the task of restoring the supremacy of their elected representatives over government, and above all over a small group of officials who at present are exercising almost unlimited power without responsibility."

"Surely the people of Canada have had enough evidence of the danger of centralized power. Having arbitrarily occupied the field of income, corporation and other taxes which for years were regarded as exclusively provincial, the Dominion government has proceeded to overtax our people under a theory of cyclical budgeting."

Three Killed In Vermont Crash

Newbury, Vt., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Two engineers and a fireman were killed early today and several others, including some passengers, injured in the collision of two Montreal-Boston trains near here.

The southbound train, en route from Montreal to Boston, was operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The northbound Boston-Montreal train was operated by the Boston and Maine Railway.

Names of the dead and injured were not immediately learned.

One of the dead engineers was an employee of the C.P.R., the other of the Boston and Maine. The dead fireman was from the Boston and Maine crew.

The C.P.R. fireman was taken to hospital, along with five railway mail clerks. Apparently all were severely injured.

The injured passengers apparently escaped severe injuries. All were treated at the wreck scene, about a mile from here in an isolated district, and were not taken to hospital.

The crash derailed both engines, and mail, baggage and milk cars of one train.

Truman Heads For Missouri; Dewey Will Stay In New York

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Defiant, confident President Harry Truman headed for his Missouri home today after missing New Yorkers who were confident of a Democratic victory in Tuesday's election and that he would work for peace with Russia through any "honorable" channels.

His Republican opponent for the presidency, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, remained here in New York where tonight he will make his final appeal to the voters at a Madison Square Garden rally.

The metropolis yesterday was host to five of the candidates for the presidency but only two of them—Truman and Dewey—were conceded a chance at the White House.

The Progressive party leader, Henry Wallace, winding up a 25,000-mile campaign with a 33-speech program in the immediate vicinity, cross-countryed the Democratic and Republican parades last night as the flood of presidential aspirants put an unprecedented load on metropolitan police escorts.

Comparatively unnoticed were two others who want to be President—Norman Thomas, perennial Socialist candidate passing through to a Bridgeport meeting, and Edward A. Telford who was at a local hotel after campaigning across country for the Socialist-Labor party.

Other presidential candidates were far afield. Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who organized the "Dixiecrats" of the southern states to fight Truman because of his stand for civil rights, was in Texas.

"Within a few days," he told an

Austin audience last night, "both the Democratic and Republican parties will be aware that our states cannot be kicked around for political purposes."

Socialist Workers' candidate Farrell Dobbs was in Milwaukee. The Prohibition candidate, Claude Watson, was in the Midwest dry states. John Cray, "Greenback" candidate, was unreachable. Gerald L. K. Smith, Christian Nationalist candidate, was out west and John Maxwell, 86-year-old Vegetarian party candidate, was reported to be on his honeymoon.

Close to 2,000,000 people by police estimates, whooped it up and cheered or stood and watched as Truman swept through two days of street parades and impromptu meetings in New York.

The President had record meetings in Madison Square Garden Thursday and in Brooklyn last night, and everywhere he was received by enthusiastic crowds.

Republican candidate Dewey rested here last night except for a social visit or two accompanied by nearly 100 motorcycle police.

Today he faced a busy program in the metropolis of his own state and his meeting tonight in the Garden promised to equal that of his Democratic opponent on Thursday night.

Truman last night virtually proclaimed his intention of bypassing the State Department if necessary in order to "pierce the Iron Curtain" and remove the cloud of "misinformation and misunderstanding" which he said prevented the Soviet leaders from accepting the peaceful intentions of the United States.

The President, obviously smarting under the criticism he received

Miners Are Returning To Work

Paris, Oct. 30.—(AP)—French miners went back to work in increasing numbers under police and military protection today as government forces drove pickets from 29 more struck pits.

No figures were available as to how many miners actually are back on the job, but non-Communist union leaders have ordered all their followers to return to work. The non-Communist claim 150,000 of France's 335,000 miners.

Communist union leaders gave no verbal sign of weakening as the strike went into its 23th day, but their followers no longer are resisting police and troops who ousted pickets from the pits.

This lack of organized resistance has boosted government hopes that the costly tie-up is nearing an end.

The national defence minister, Paul Ramadier, said the situation may be so well in hand next week that troops can be withdrawn from the coalfields.

On the other hand, the Communists had about 20 coal ships tied up in French ports, through a dockers' strike. Ramadier said he thought this tie-up would be settled shortly.

The government announced yesterday that "an important number" of passenger trains would be suspended as of Nov. 3 because of the coal shortage.

Electricity has been severely rationed. Stores will be forbidden to light advertising signs or show windows. To date the strike has cost about 4,000,000 tons of coal and some 300,000 tons of fuel on ships in the main ports.

Two non-Communist mine union leaders wrote John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America (A. F. L.), yesterday that the strike is mostly political.

Their letters were prompted by Lewis' proposal that President Truman seek to halt the shooting of French miners by cutting off United States aid to France. Lewis said his proposal in a letter to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor

Wind Expected To Clear Fog

By The Canadian Press
Scattered fog patches in eastern Canada are expected to clear today, whisked away by winds swirling in from the United States Midwest.

In Ontario, the unseasonable fog was blamed for two deaths. Albert Alton was fatally injured when his automobile overturned on a mist-shrouded curve at Milverton in the Stratford district.

Jack Harris of Stratford died in hospital early today five hours after he and a woman companion, walking on Stratford's main street, stepped into the path of a locomotive which suddenly loomed out of the fog at a level crossing.

The woman, Mrs. Edna Drinkall, lost a leg and hospital officials described her condition as critical.

For the fifth successive night, murkiness settled over the eastern half of the continent, grounding planes, tangling shipping and making highway travel hazardous.

Highest Legion Award Given To Six Sherbrooke Residents

Six men, long associated with the work of the Canadian Legion in Sherbrooke, were presented last night with the Meritorious Service Medal, highest award the Legion can make.

Honored at the Legion's annual banquet, held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel, were W. E. Spackman, George Chapman, George Beaudry, Guy Bryant, J. A. Bourgeois and Newman Hunter.

Charles Kench, president of the Sherbrooke Legion branch, pinned the medals on these men, all of whom have devoted more than 20 years of service to the Legion. They were introduced by Frank Edwards.

President Kench, commenting on the awards, noted that they cannot be given for any single deed but are in recognition of many years of service to the Legion.

Mr. Spackman is a past president of the local branch and was responsible for many years for the "copy" campaign. Mr. Chapman, long-time secretary-treasurer, was responsible for organization of the pipe band and is still in charge of raising funds for that band.

Mr. Beaudry looked after the Legion Memorial Home building campaign and has been in charge of most other Legion financial drives. Former mayor Bryant is a past president of the branch, is a member of the board of trustees and was chairman of the building committee for the home.

Mr. Bourgeois is another past president and has been active on the relief and welfare committee, looked after the Home for two years and gave unsparingly of his time to visit veterans in hospital. Mr. Hunter, second vice-president of the branch, has been active for many years in many Legion projects and was a member of the building committee.

Some 70 veterans of the First and Second World Wars were present at the banquet at which Rev. Fred Williams, chaplain of Branch No. 10, was the guest speaker. Mayor Alphonse Trudeau was another guest and spoke highly of the work the six men who were honored have done for the Legion here.

Mr. Kench, speaking of their contribution, said "these are the men responsible for the fine spirit in which we find our branch today."

"It was an honor for us, as a

JOAN FONTAINE'S BIG FOUR MAKE SOME SORT OF RECORD

Hollywood—Joan Fontaine will set some sort of a record for a top star by having four big pictures released this year: "Letter From an Unknown Woman," "The Emperor Waltz," "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands," and "You Gotta Stay Happy."

Now that she's had her baby, Kathryn Grayson is giving serious thought to her return to the screen. She's also thinking about that heart-to-talk she's going to have with her M-G-M bosses about a chance to play a bad girl on the screen just once.

Rita Hayworth and Ali Khan are still a twosome and reports have it that she's steering him to Mrs. Weiss' Hungarian Restaurant in Beverly Hills. Ali is the son of the fabulous Aga Khan, who sits on the scales once a year and receives his weight in gold and precious stones as gifts from his devoted subjects.

That report about Ava Gardner and Artie Shaw seeing each other again is true. Only it's not occasionally—it's every night. Looks like romance all over again.

Hollywood is hearing that Lana and Bob are having bad spats in New York.

Jean Parker is rating critical raves on the road in "Gone Yesterday." But how about another movie? Billy Gray of the Band Box Cafe can take a bow for playing more than 163 benefits already this year.

The Mutual publicity boys just took a series of photos of C. B. DeMille in front of a Mutual mike, so it looks like that radio deal, set to start in January, is definite. DeMille will narrate a series about U.S. history.

Long Run That plagiarism suit against Mae West over the authorship of the play "Catherine Was Great" lingered on and on and on. In fact, the show ran longer in court than it did on Broadway.

Lecture And Movie Will Describe Work Of West Coast Marine Mission Has Proposals Under Study

Rev. Alan Greene, superintendent of an Anglican Marine Mission which serves the lower third of the British Columbia coast east of Vancouver Island, will be in Sherbrooke Monday to attend a supper meeting of the St. Peter's Church Men's Club and to give an illustrated lecture in the church hall later in the evening.

Some 9,000 white and 1,000 Indian persons are served by this mission with its four mission ships, a 20-bed hospital at Pender Harbor, homes for the aged, and a monthly outpost medical clinic at Whaletown.

The great basic industries of logging and fishing are served by the hospital ship Columbia, its doctor and chaplain, and the other three ships which, with the Columbia, are on year-round patrol.

In 1947, St. Mary's Hospital, at Pender Harbor, had 425 in-patients with a total of 4,193 patient days. Fifty-one babies were born in this hospital in 1947, 26 boys and 25 girls.

The hospital ship Columbia in its 12,000 miles of travel in 1947 treated 612 white patients and 209 Indians. Of the 12,000 miles, 2,500 were travelled in answer to radio telephone calls to the ship asking for medical assistance.

The three clergy, Mr. Greene, Rev. Heber Greene and Rev. Rollo Boas, and the lay missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christmas, held in more than 100 little communities 600 church services, including baptisms, marriages and Holy Communion, with 440 persons making their Communion in far-away places.

The medical work of the mission is financed by hospital and doctor earnings, provincial and Dominion government grants, the Community Chest of Greater Vancouver and the Church of England in Canada.

The evangelistic work is the sole responsibility of the Anglican Church throughout Canada, as is the social service work. Two more laymen are being added to the staff as lay missionaries on coast, John Maunsell and Dr. Victor Rogers.

Mr. Greene's lecture or travelogue is illustrated with a very fine motion picture film of the work in natural color and brings out the glory of the Pacific coast and its varied life. The general meeting will begin at 8:15 p.m. and the supper meeting at 6:15.

Paton Company Has Proposals Under Study

A spokesman for the Paton Manufacturing Company, Ltd., said last night that the company was studying the proposals outlined at a meeting between Labor Minister Antonio Barrette, and company and employee representatives in Quebec City.

Mr. Barrette announced yesterday that representatives at the conference had agreed on proposals for settlement of a strike at the company's plant here. He added, however, that the agreement was subject to confirmation by the Paton Company's management.

The company is expected to give its decision regarding the strike settlement proposals early next week.

Former Thetford Mines Resident Heir To $100,000

Montreal, Oct. 30.—The Cinderella story came true today for Helene Rouleau, 32-year-old domestic in a west-end home after she discovered she was heir to $100,000 left by a rich uncle in the United States.

The girl, whose parents died when she was a child in Thetford Mines, Que., received a letter yesterday from a Philadelphia lawyer telling her of the death of the uncle, Thomas Perron, a real estate operator. The letter said Perron had left her $100,000.

The uncle, said to have been the owner of a Philadelphia industry, died several months ago. The letter from the lawyer, whom Miss Rouleau did not identify, was in French.

"I have been poor long enough," she told reporters today. "I believe I will travel—perhaps go to Florida for the winter."

Miss Rouleau said she knew her uncle and on occasions had visited him in Philadelphia but she was surprised at news of the legacy.

The letter was waiting on her bureau when she came home from her day off.

"I would have fainted if I hadn't let out a cry," she said after she read the letter.

The girl who came to Montreal five years ago and found a job at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Heitin, will not start spending her fortune right away.

"I don't wish to leave my employers immediately," she said. "They have been too good to me in the past. I will stay in their service for a few months yet."

That Must Be A Potent Pumpkin

Hey, Skipper Channing, what do you see? In the mysterious glowing Halloween pumpkin, what eerie sights does your youthful imagination conjure up? Maybe there's a black and ugly witch, teasing around the inside on a jet-propelled broom. Maybe there's a troop of elves, dressed like Cub Scouts, marching in formation. And you never can tell, maybe he was Santa Claus, his sleigh pulled by a quartet of evil-looking bats. Whatever this lad sees, you can bet he'll never tell anyone—Halloween is strictly for kids, and adults aren't invited into their Halloween dream world.

Witches Will Walk Tonight As World "35" Club Joins In Celebration Of Halloween

By The Canadian Press
It's the moppets' night out tonight as witches, ghosts and goblins, ignored the rest of the year by a practical world, prowled the streets from coast to coast.

But the apparitions will probably look a bit less fierce this year. A Canadian Press survey shows the elaborate false-faces of pre-war Halloweeners—in short supply due to import restrictions—will give way to cheaper paper masks and home-made costumes.

Across the country chief constables were issuing their annual warnings in an effort to stop vandalism. In the larger centres extra forces were being recruited.

Even so, the antics of tonight's doorbell-ringers and window-soapers will be a far cry from the pranks of pranksters in their parents' time who hoisted cows to barn roofs, attacked fences and generally changed the landscape.

Halloween, 1948, will see organized parties of all types, many arranged by service clubs.

1st Waterville Brownie Pack
At our meeting on October 22 we had the pleasure of a visit from our division commissioner, Mrs. Robert Boright. We had our usual opening ceremony, played "In the End" and Out the Ducky Bluebells," and learned the first part of the "Grand Old Duke of York."

For our work this week we had a pow-wow and discussed the promise and law. We decided we would like to have a scrapbook with pictures of the royal family, and also ones teaching us our duty to God and how to be useful to other people.

Mrs. Boright showed us how to cut out a little mouse, tie a string as its tail, then for each good turn we did tie a knot in the string. We also had lots of fun when she started

In the make-believe Fairies' Forest, the 1st North Hatley Brownies heard their Brown Owl call and came out of hiding to gather round for another fairy frolic with these new bunnies under the guidance of the Wise Owl who watches all Brownies while she sits perched on the Toadstool.

The Bunnies are Sue Ann Bryce, Elizabeth Ann Gibson and Aileen Knapp. Another new Brownie, Kelsey Blackford, was welcomed to our pack last week.

After our sixes' rhymes and Bunnies' rhymes were sung our Fairy Gold was presented with Faith Clark as treasurer. Toadstool keepers were Elizabeth Little and Shirley Marlowe.

Brown Owl sent them home to their glens to prepare for inspection, all Brownies wearing reef knots in their ties and Brown Owl gave the Elves the points for perfect attendance.

The Brownies came out of their glens to play donkey. The Golden Bar Brownies were given instruction on flags by Brown Owl, while Betty Deacon and Kelsey Blackford helped the new Bunnies to learn their promise and law. We then had a quick game of Pop Goes the Weasel, followed by a relay for points with the Elves winning.

Before "Tidying Up" song we had time for Mouse. They we had prayer and Taps and vanished till another day when we would sing and dance around our Toadstool.

J. A. Edmison Will Preach At Trinity Church Anniversary Services Sunday

J. A. Edmison, K.C., executive secretary of the Prisoners' Rehabilitation Society in Toronto—now known as the John Howard Society of Ontario—will be the guest preacher tomorrow when Trinity United Church observes its 102nd anniversary.

At the morning service, Mr. Edmison's topic will be "What the layman expects from his church." In the evening he will preach on "The challenge of traditions."

The congregations of Plymouth United Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will worship with the Trinity congregation at the evening service.

Mr. Edmison, now stranger in Sherbrooke where he has spoken before, is the son of the late Rev. John H. Edmison, who was secretary of the board of home missions and social service of the United Church of Canada.

He was educated at Toronto, Queen's University and McGill University, from which he graduated in law. He practised law in Montreal, where he was a city alderman, until 1940 when he enlisted in the Black Watch (R.H.R.) of Canada.

Mr. Edmison served overseas until 1945 when his services were requested by U.N.R.R.A. and held the rank of major on his discharge. He was appointed senior U.N.R.R.A. officer in Germany and set up the organization for the care of refugees, displaced persons and concentration camp survivors.

Mr. Edmison's life-long interest has been penology and for many years prior to the war he was director of the Montreal Prisoners' Aid Association and an official visitor to Kingston and St. Vincent de Paul penitentiaries. While overseas he made a thorough study of the British penal system and on Jan. 1, 1946, was named to his present position.

UNION INSECURITY

A new angle on the question of the so-called "compulsory check-off" of union dues, whereby the employer is called upon to deduct from the wages of the employee the amount of his union fee—regardless of whether or not the worker belongs or wishes to belong to the union, is presented by John Atkins in The Scene From Shingwauk Farm.

It would be as reasonable as the check-off to compel every voter to pay dues to the political party which happens to be in power because all citizens benefit, hypothetically, from the activities of the government.

A labor code, agreed upon by the constructive members of the employer and employee organizations in Canada guaranteeing the rights of all parties, might well be formulated and given effect voluntarily.

The great majority who believe in democratic capitalism should take co-operatively the measures necessary to preserve it, and to keep it functioning without the waste and loss of strikes which cannot be prohibited but must be avoided if industry is to serve the common good as it should.

COL. DREW MOVES QUICKLY

In deciding to contest the traditionally-safe Conservative riding of Carleton on the outskirts of the Canadian capital, Col. George Drew, recently-elected leader of the Progressive Conservative Party has taken the best possible steps to assure that he will be in the House of Commons before the next session gets underway and thus will be able to give the official Opposition in that Chamber the direct and aggressive leadership which it needs now if it hopes to take office after the next election.

Hardly had he been confirmed in office when Col. Drew moved to relieve himself from his ties to the Ontario Provincial Government and turn his attention to national matters.

Carrying out his pledge to strengthen the party organization in all parts of the country, last night he held a monster demonstration in Montreal. At this time he also met the heads of the Quebec Conservatives in a move to iron out the various problems which have arisen and thus find some suitable basis for gaining the support of this Province which is essential if the party is to maintain itself as a truly national force.

By accepting the nomination in Carleton, Col. Drew not only enters into a seat which has been kind to Conservative leaders and future Prime Ministers in the past, but he also assures that this county will receive adequate representation in the House of Commons. The county approaches the Ottawa city limits where the Conservative leader will take up residence and thus he will be able to look after the interests of his constituents without diverting too much time and energy from the major task of reorganizing the party which he heads.

RATHER SURPRISING

The declaration of Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent that the participation of Canada in the air lift to Berlin could be regarded by Russia as an aggressive action is rather surprising to say the least. He bases his argument on the assertion that Russia holds the present operation as one concerning the four occupation powers alone and that Canada should not interfere. In view of the action of Australia and South Africa in lending assistance to the breaking of the Berlin blockade, it would appear that he is rather straining a point to support the unpopular decision that, for the time being at least, the R.C.A.F. will continue to abstain from participating in this common effort.

Canada is ranked as a world power today and our representatives have a great deal to say in international conferences. Under the circumstances it is disappointing to the people of this country to realize that impoverished Britain, with some assistance from the United States, is bearing the brunt in the present cold war against Russia.

There can be no doubt as to the Russian intention. It is an attempt to freeze the western democracies out of the Berlin sector which is, after all, the key to Germany.

The first nation to accept the challenge was Britain. Immediately the Government of that little island threw its air force into the breach and established an air lift to ensure Berliners in the democratic sector that they would not starve or go cold as the result of the Russian blockade. Soon the United States also entered the picture, supplementing the United Kingdom efforts.

This country, which above all others in the Commonwealth is equipped and in a position to make a practical contribution to the air lift, will not be satisfied with some highly technical reservation against proper participation. If we are a world power, we must accept world responsibilities. There can be no mistake about that. The Berlin undertaking is a world responsibility and it is high time our government made a proper contribution along with those now being made by Great Britain and the United States.

SOUTHERN EDITORS DIVIDED ON CHANCES OF TWO-PARTY SYSTEM

Best thing to come out of this year's political upheaval in the 15 Southern states from Maryland to Texas would be the emergence of a genuine two-party system. Most Southerners will admit openly that one-party domination has held back progress in Dixie in many ways. And in an era of Republican domination in Washington, the South is apt to get little or nothing.

To get a line on what Southerners are thinking about present prospects for the two-party system, 150 daily newspaper editors in the South were asked this question in an NEA Service poll on political trends: "How long will it be before there is a genuine two-party political system in the South?"

"It's here now in some states," answered the Charlottesville, Va., Daily Progress, adding, "Another generation should see it, even in Mississippi." "Four to eight years," says the Union, S. C. Times. This idea is held by a large number of Southern editors.

"A thousand years," says the Amarillo, Tex., Globe-News. "Never!" says the Middleboro, Ky., News. An average of all replies indicates this political revolution will come in about 25 years or another generation.

DEWEY MAY TAKE FEW SOUTHERN STATES

Dewey is given an outside chance to carry one or two Southern states this election. But a majority of the Southern editors apparently do not believe that will prove the South ripe for Republicanism.

Most editors do not seem to believe that realignment can be run as a one-party proposition. It won't be enough for discontented Democrats to leave that party and become Republicans. "Both parties must realign themselves into conservative and radical groups, plainly marked as such," says the Lubbock, Tex., Avalanche-Journal.

There can never be a two-party system as long as the name 'Republican' is used," says the Abilene, Tex., Reporter and News. "In the South, 'Republican' means soup kitchens, closed banks, and bonus marchers," adds the Amarillo, Tex., Globe-News. As the Batesville, Ark., Guard puts it, "The GOP is still a carpet-bagger."

"Republican machines in Southern states must yield to wiser leadership," advises the Brownwood, Tex., Bulletin. The Memphis Press-Scimitar believes that there will be a gradual growth of the two-party system.

In another expression of opinion putting responsibility on the Republicans, the Hickory, N. C., Record observes that there won't be a two-party system until "Northern reformers confine their evangelistic work to their own civil and social problems."

SAYS ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORM WILL HELP

Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer thinks adoption of the Gossett-Lodge amendment, for reform of the electoral college, will do more to build up the two-party system than anything now in sight.

THE HELPING HAND

Over There

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

Over the radio recently I heard some one singing "Over There." No, it wasn't George M. Cohan's popular martial song of World War I; it was a sacred solo painting a picture of our loved ones with Christ in the Better Land waiting for us.

That, too, is the picture the Church of God paints for us on the day dedicated to the Church's Heroes—All Saints' Day—November the first. Wise is the Church in recalling the lives of Her most honored members whom we call saints. Now don't let the name frighten you! A Saint is simply a sinner who has kept on trying.

When we grasp the full significance of the great fact that we on earth contact Christ; our dear departed contact the same Christ; in Him we meet and are one, then, when sorrow darkens our lives we feel that we are still one in heart and spirit for round about us is a great cloud of witnesses. These we trust to Christ, beseeching Him to grant what we on earth, rejoicing ever in His presence, may share with all saints the rest and peace which the presence of Jesus gives.

There are times when our loved ones now at rest will be very close to us. And when the Road of Life is dark and hard, dark and lonely, and the warfare long, we hear, across the Great Divide, strains of the distant, triumph song, believing, hoping that we will meet again. Shall we know our loved ones "Over there"? Sure! Heaven is a home, and in a home we know each other! The gift of God is eternal life—not eternal sleep and faint, hope and love are the essentials of life. From the Bible I gather that while we are hoping, expecting to meet and know our loved ones—they are waiting, watching, and expecting us. They have crossed the bar and are now pioneering in realms spiritual. When our bark sets out across the Sea of Death we shall find many of that heavenly colony on the shores to welcome us. So fear not! One who knows that sea and has been over it will be our Pilot—Christ, and on the heavenly shores will be loved ones awaiting. To fall asleep here, to wake up there and find ourselves at home—how strange will seem the sudden transition.

EVERYDAY SAINTS

Our generation has saints. There are hundreds of thousands still. "The world is bright," according to a modern hymn, "with the joyous saints who love to do Jesus' will. You can meet them in school, or in the lanes, or at sea, in church, or in trains, or in shops, or at tea, for the saints of God are just like me, and I mean to be one, too."

THE CHALLENGE OF THE SAINTS

Hear afresh, I beseech all ye who toil below, the challenge of the Saints of God as they bid us look upon the love, the courage, the faith, the self-sacrifice and the simplicity of truth which they embody and so become invigorated by vital contact with the Eternal manifested through man. The heroes of Christ remind us of that Divine Spirit which has made them what they are and would make us fit to be numbered with them in glory everlasting. Follow the saints in all virtuous and godly living. They are shining lights shedding beams on the path of life. I like to think of them as "our pillars of fire" as we go; they are shining spires of the City of God to which we travel. Their formula? Love. Love which is stronger than death, love of man rooted in love of God, love taking hold of immor-

McKENNY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenny, America's Card Authority

HERE'S REAL TEST TO CHANGE LUCK

If you want the benefit of today's hand, you must cover up the East and West cards. This week I have given you a number of hands selected from the new book, "Right Through the Deck." This is not a bridge book, but a story book.

Each card tells his own story. The queen of diamonds tells about a fine player. But for some reason, "Brigidita," the goddess of bridge, inflicted upon this player a long period of bad luck.

After an exceptionally bad day he dozed off in a chair. Suddenly the queen of diamonds appeared and told him that she was his fairy godmother, at least at the bridge table. She was going to put him to a test. If he could solve a problem, she would see that his luck changed at the table.

Here is the problem. Hearts are trumps. You can have West lead either a red suit or a black suit, and you can arrange the distribution of your opponents' cards. The problem is, what heart contract will you undertake, and how will you play the hand?

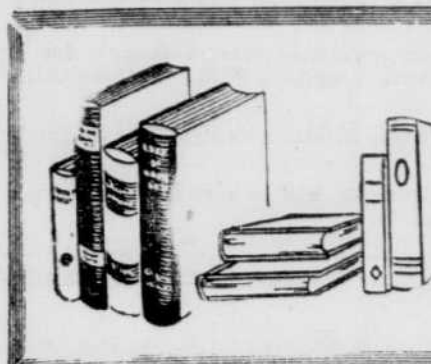

Lay out the cards yourself, and see how you can distribute the East and West cards, and call for a lead that will allow you to make the maximum contract. Then uncover the East and West hands

THE PARISH AND THE HILL

By Mary Doyle Curran
"THE PARISH AND THE HILL", by Mary Doyle Curran, is not so much a novel as suggestive notes for a novel.

"Exactly who is 'we'?" the redoubtable Mrs. O'Connor, shanty Irish still and proud of it, demanded of her snobbish, ambitious laceman son Tabby.

Mrs. Curran's story—and its bones, as such, are meager indeed—is laid in a small industrial town to which County Kerry folk came in great numbers.

Doors to the more distant world opened for Ronnie the second summer, when his grandfather sent him to Europe, partly to let him see how other people lived, partly so that he could meet the lady always spoken of in the Big House as Melissa.

For thirty years Melissa had lived in Europe with a lover, a critic of pictures and music, who had become ill and blind. The few hours that Ronnie spent with them, when the talk turned on the Valley and on painting, and the lad's perception of the relationship that had existed between his grandfather, Melissa, and the sick man, gave him a clue to "the interest because Mrs. Curran professes her loosely-strung-together Irish anecdotes with an engaging charm, and she has an eye and a tongue for character. But the action that holds a novel together—makes it move—is strangely wanting in "The Parish and the Hill."

"The Wild Country" lay in the blue hills behind Ronnie's grandfather's stock farm. The boy and his dog were not allowed to explore it for fear they might get lost. But in the year that this story covers, bounded by the summers when Ronnie was thirteen and fourteen, he found wild country much nearer home, in the hearts of people he loved and hated, even in his own.

THE WILD COUNTRY

By Louis Bromfield
The "wild country" lay in the blue hills behind Ronnie's grandfather's stock farm.

Roosevelt and Hopkins
By Robert E. Sherwood
"I ask you to treat him with the identical confidence you would feel if you were talking to me." These words, written to Stalin by Roosevelt, show the remarkable relationship between Hopkins and D.D.R. They explain why the Hopkins papers reveal so much about the great personalities and events of the Roosevelt era.

ROOSEVELT AND HOPKINS

By Robert E. Sherwood

Regarded by some as an Iowan combination of Machiavelli and Rauputin, Hopkins was closer to Roosevelt than any man has ever been to a President. He was Roosevelt's eyes and ears and legs, the selfless instrument of Roosevelt's will.

Big Freeze

By Bellamy Partridge

When, in time, New York came round to his way of thinking, David was called back to carry to completion the work on the Great reservoir and aqueduct. Politicians had made capital out of the contracting work and the partially completed aqueduct was faultily built.

CAPTAIN FOR ELIZABETH

By Jan Westcott

History holds few lives as filled with romance, adventure and daring-do as that of Cavendish, captain for Good Queen Bess. When Captain Cavendish's flagship "Desire" rode into Plymouth harbor, two years after she had left it, her sailors were clothed in silk, her sails were damask and her topmast was covered with cloth of gold.

Commission On Prices To Draft Report

Ottawa, Oct. 30. - The Prices Commission, through the main stage of its public investigation of the high cost of living, adjourned indefinitely yesterday to allow the members time to work on their report to the government.

The report must be presented before the next session of Parliament, expected in January. Preparatory work on the report is already underway.

The commission began its public hearings Aug. 3, after a special committee of the Commission had sat from February until the end of June studying the same question—why "commodities in common use" cost more today than they did several years ago.

Since the prices inquiry generally got underway early this year the costs and prices of 11 commodities have been probed. The parliamentary commission studied fruit and vegetables, bread, butter, meat and textiles.

The commission's adjournment yesterday followed a morning session devoted to a re-examination of two textile companies which had appeared before the Commons committee. During the commission's investigation of the supply and cost of men's shirts, evidence showed that although overall cotton textile production was high, shirt production had sagged substantially below pre-war.

The commission called two witnesses—C. C. MacKellar, general sales manager of Dominion Textiles Ltd., and W. J. Whitehead, president of Watbasso Cottons Co. Ltd.—to try and discover why production of shirt materials has fallen.

They obtained no clear answer so far as the industry as a whole is concerned. Mr. Whitehead said that, because of a lack of labor, his firm's production as a whole is lower than pre-war. Mr. MacKellar explained that, as sales manager, he was a merchandizing officer, not a production man. Commission Counsel H. A. Dyde dismissed him.

guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sanborn, and Mr. A. F. Sanborn. Mrs. B. Blampin has left for Montreal, where she will enter the Royal Victoria Hospital.

China Is Major Problem For U.S.

By

By ROBERT HEWITT
for DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

The Reds will keep on coming. Observers see these four courses open:

1. Write off China, let China fall, and hope that Chinese Communism will not succeed. A lot of people don't think it would.
2. Abandon China except for a foothold on the coast as a beachhead should a war against world Communism come. Tsingtao, United States naval base, seems logical. It isn't strong now, but it could be built up.
3. Continue small-scale aid to Chiang in the hope of buying time. This is the present policy, but it hasn't had much success.
4. Throw in big-scale aid and try to defeat Communism in China in the hope that thereafter other Asiatic Reds will curl up and die.

Shanghai, Oct. 30.—(P)—If Communism's fast flow over Asia is to be stopped, the United States must tackle the knotty problem of China again quickly and find a better solution than any tried so far.

Whether or not Communism has been halted in Europe, it certainly has not been stopped in Asia where its encroachment appears geared to China's civil war. Every time the Chinese Reds score a big victory Communist cells begin to ferment all over the Far East.

Red China never looked stronger. The loss of Tsinan, Shantung capital, for example, left Nanking, Shanghai and the Yangtze heartland of Chiang Kai-Shek's China open to attack. Time draws short. What can the United States do? Veteran observers in China know the answer is not simply granting more money. The money will disappear and land mass, criss-crossed by mountains and rivers with few roads and railroads. In its best days China had little national cohesion. Large sections are almost autonomous and pay little heed to Nanking. Some of these sections are the richest.

Its 450 millions live at peaks of sumptuous wealth and depths of grinding poverty. Literacy is about 10 per cent. Millions of Chinese even in cities don't know the name of their own president. Always badly governed, Chinese have little or no feeling of patriotism by western standards.

As to civil war, the average Chinese is more interested in keeping out of the way than in winning it. He isn't half as concerned about saving China from Communism as the Americans are.

To him the Communists are just another conqueror, and he has had conquerors coming and going for centuries without any noticeable change in his lot. He dislikes soldiers, Red or government, and has suffered at the hands of both.

So this vast, loose and indifferent nation, which in its heart dislikes foreigners much more than it dislikes any special political breed of Chinese, is asked to halt the spread of Communism.

Some pretty good United States military brains have come to China and tried to bend it to a unified war effort. Most of them admitted they went slightly crazy in the process.

A large segment of foreigners in China believe the United States can stop Communism in China only with a terrific amount of direct intervention in Chinese affairs.

They say the intervention must be almost as much as the United States now is exerting in such conquered countries as Japan.

Such intervention would be hard to sell to the people of the United States, and it would be intensely unpopular with the Chinese. Six months ago you wouldn't

Bells Will

Duke of Windsor was born. "We only ring them when there is some chance that the child may get on the throne," Verger Ireson of St. Paul's said.

But the bells are rung every Sunday and for Christmas, the New Year and accession of the Lord Mayor.

At the Tower of London a 41-gun salute will be fired. "We will not fire any extra shots if it is a boy," a Tower official said. "We usually give extra shots, though, if it is for something connected with the King himself. For instance we gave him 42 on his last birthday."

London, Oct. 30.—(P)—British summer time ends at 3 a.m. BST tomorrow and clocks will go back one hour to Greenwich Mean Time. GMT is five hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.

News Of Quebec Province In Brief

La Malbaie, Que., Oct. 30.—(P)—Jean Victor Theriault, 21, of Chute aux Outardes, a St. Lawrence north shore village, yesterday was found guilty of criminal negligence by a jury in the auto crash death of Arthur Desbiens, 66, of Ruisseau Vert.

Mr. Justice Alfred Savard fined Theriault $200 and suspended his driving permit for one year.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—(P)—Premiers T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan and Byron Johnson of British Columbia arrived at Dorval airport last night, on their way home from the Commonwealth Parliamentary conference in London.

Both provincial leaders were full of praise for the western European democracies. "The British are doing a splendid job of building up exports," Premier Johnson said.

Chandler, Que., Oct. 30.—(P)—Arthur Cyr, 31, was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary here yesterday when a jury returned a reduced verdict of manslaughter in the case of a septuagenarian beaten to death for his money.

The victim, Jean Baptiste Francoeur, a 78-year-old laborer, was found lying in a field still conscious and was quoted by witnesses as having murmured: "He killed me for my money. But he made a mistake and took my tobacco pouch instead of my purse."

Montreal, Oct. 30.—(P)—R.C.M.P. officers arrested five men and confiscated a truck load of pin-ball machines here yesterday after they had allegedly been smuggled across the border into Canada.

Inspector Wilson Brady of the Montreal detachment said the machines were smuggled in from the United States and were meant for re-sale in Canada.

Montreal, Oct. 30.—(P)—Eleven persons overcome by chlorine gas when the connection on a tank car near a chemical plant broke were treated at hospital and allowed to go home last night.

Scores of others suffered ill-effects from the escaping fumes as the gas leaked from a rubber connecting-tube between the car and a tank at the Dalglish Quebec Company plant.

The force, composed of the carriers, Princeton and Tarawa, the light cruisers Pasadena and Astoria and eight destroyers, arrived at the American base on what was officially described as a "routine" cruise.

The government remained silent on Communist radio claims that the Reds had destroyed five of Chiang's armies in the Tahushan-Heishan area, 70 miles west of Mukden.

If true, it would gravely threaten the Mukden-Yingkow corridor which may be the "Dunkerque of Manchuria"—and any government withdrawal from Mukden. Yingkow and Halatao, on opposite sides of the gulf of Chihli, are the last remaining good ports held by the government. Yingkow is 100 miles south of Mukden.

First Installment Appears Next Monday

To Captain Kay Summersby — W.A.C. a valued assistant of World War II, with best wishes—DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

THIS is THE story!

It's the story only one person could tell, Kay Summersby, who was Girl Friday to Eisenhower and, in turn, "secretary to World War II." She was with him throughout the years he served abroad. Her story is bright with anecdotes and warm with incidents about General Ike, his distinguished visitors, and the top personnel around him. Kay Summersby leaves battle strategy and war analyses to the historians. Hers is the inside story of the war, and what went on behind the scenes.

for his ill-fated proposal to send a special emissary to Stalin — a move which the State Department vetoed — warned that he would "explore every means, no matter how difficult, how unconventional," to reach agreement with Moscow.

Nevertheless he gave assurance that the United States would make no private deal with Moscow but would work within the councils of the Allies represented in the United Nations.

He commented that "formal diplomatic channels" were not always the best way of reaching accords and gave his listeners reasons to believe that he might again launch some spectacular move to reach the inner council of the Kremlin with the truth about western good intentions.

MODERN MARRIAGE

DON'T DWELL ON INTERPRETING DREAMS By Dr. Paul Popenoe Mrs. L. is dreaming.

"I want to know what to do about it," she says. "I have lots of fantastic dreams and I'm sure they have an important bearing on my marriage, if I knew how to interpret. Where can I find a book that will give this information?" "Can't be done, Mrs. L. In the first place, dream symbolism is a speculative and controversial subject; two good psychoanalysts might interpret the same dream quite differently. In the second place, your dreams couldn't be interpreted except in the light of your own history and experiences; and some of these are doubtless repressed and inaccessible to you, otherwise they wouldn't be appearing in dreams. Occasionally, a dream certainly does reveal startling facts. Psychiatrist Bertrand S. Frohman, in his book on "Brief Psychotherapy," tells of a woman who had the same dream frequently: "I am looking at myself in a mirror and I am horrified to see that my upper four front teeth are missing. This is particularly shocking because I have beautiful teeth. As I gaze at this ugly gap, the two front teeth start growing back, but they are crooked and misshapen."

"She also suffered from chronic fatigue. Inquiry, 'Have you had any dental work done in recent years?' brought to light that she and her dentist were in love with each other. Both were married and had no grounds for divorce. The four missing teeth represented the four actors in this drama. Dr. Frohman thinks. The central incisors which grow in crooked were symbols of the two central characters, the dentist and his patient, and of the crooked fulfilment (the disposal of their respective spouses) which was wishfully dreamed. These two central characters would make their marriage possible. Her emotional conflict over this situation produced her fatigue. Don't waste time trying to unravel the symbolism of your own dreams, Mrs. L. If you are bothered by continual dreams involving great anxiety, fear, or suffering, it will pay you to consult a competent counselor. But there is no dream book that will give you any help.

Questions and Answers Q—What do children worry about most? A—Psychologist Rose Zelgo found that the largest number worried about the health of members of the family. More than half of 233 12-year-old (sixth grade) children were found to be worrying for fear there might be another war. Q—Is it normal for children to criticize their own mothers? A—Yes, both natural and desirable! Psychologist Virginia Lee Block had 528 high school boys and girls list their complaints against their mothers; they totaled 50 rather serious complaints, one of which was "she holds my sister or brother up as a model to me." Never compare children unfavorably with their own brothers or sisters. Q—You are always urging elderly people to learn new things. Oldsters can't do that. A—They can if they want to! Plenty of studies show the main difference is that they are a little slower. But they learn just as well if given more time. Start today by freshen yourself up and get out of the rut before it closes in overhead and leaves you entombed.

DOROTHY DIX

Ready-Made Family Second Marriages Have Little Chance Of Success Because Of Children

Dear Miss Dix: Two years ago my wife died and left me with three children to rear. Thinking to make a home for them, I married a widow with one child. He is a boy of 14, is badly spoiled and treats my children and me with utter contempt. His mother is all for her boy and upholds him in everything he does. She is constantly picking on my children and it tears my heart to shreds. What can I do except to reflect on what a fool I have been? UNHAPPY MAN.

Answer: Wise old Doctor Johnson said that a second marriage was the final triumph of hope over experience, and this goes double for widows and widowers with children. Every one of them has known scores of men and women with bunches of little olive branches who remarried after their first husband or wife died, and they know the trouble and suffering that virtually every one of these marriages brought on the men and women themselves and their unfortunate children. Yet those AWFUL WARNINGS do not keep a single one of them from risking their own and their children's well-being by marrying again.

Now marriage is a risky business no matter when, how and whom you marry. But when you throw into it a ready-made family, you make it such a risky proposition that nothing but a special act of Providence can save it from disaster.

Of course, now and then a miracle is wrought and a widow gets a second husband who is wise and kind and just to her children; and a widower may be lucky enough to find a woman who has a big enough mother-heart to take in his children and treat them as if they were her own. But this rarely happens. And it virtually never happens when the widow has children of her own. It takes a superwoman to deal fairly between her children and her husband's children. And there is no misery on earth worse than that of the woman and man who stand by helplessly and see their children mistreated and neglected, and who are even afraid to show them any affection themselves, and there is no choice harder than that of the man and woman who must choose between their mates and their children.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband insists on buying and arranging everything in our home to suit his taste, regardless of whether I like it or not. I think he should recognize that it is the wife's privilege to express her own individuality in the home. What do you think about it? A WIFE.

Answer: I think the best thing for you to do is to talk the matter over with your husband and go 50-50 in selecting the furnishings of your home.

Most women feel that they have a right to monopolize the home and make it the expression of their sole taste, but this isn't fair. The husband should at least have a few rooms that he can fix up according to his notions of taste.

But, for goodness sake, quit quarreling over the matter. Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married to a man for four years and cannot help but feel that I am greatly superior to him in every way. He is good, kind, unselfish and honest; but he comes from the wrong side of the tracks and I have come to the point where I can just tolerate him. He seems to sense my feelings toward him and has become restless and dissatisfied. Is there any help for us? E. H.

Answer: What made you marry him if you felt that he was not in your class? Are you perfectly sure that you are so superior to him? A lot of people who haven't any blue blood have mighty good, rich, red blood and have amounted to something in the world.

My advice to you is to climb down off your high horse. Quit being superior and be a good enough sport to make the best of your marriage.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

While there they visited in London and Glasgow as well as spending three weeks at Mrs. Huitson's home in Ballinore, Scotland. Mrs. Huitson found considerable change in conditions since she left Scotland in 1946, but on the whole the country seems to be returning slowly to more normal times. Food prices are not exceptionally high in comparison to Canadian prices but many items of both food and clothing are still on ration.

MISS C. JENKINS GIVEN "SHOWER"

While Miss Candace Jenkins was enjoying a moonlight car ride Monday evening, she was unaware of an approaching "shower," until she returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jenkins, who were completely surprised awaiting her arrival. Miss Jenkins was unable to speak for a few minutes, but was finally escorted to a chair before a prettily decorated table, under a suspended umbrella, with colored streamers and opened the many dainty wrapped and lovely gifts, which were passed around. She expressed her thanks for the lovely gifts, which she would soon put into good use. Delicious refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. Eugene Bedard, Misses Margaret and Jean Bedard, and Miss Lois Chadock, thus ended a long to be remembered evening. UEFB MOBILIZES TO GIVE BRITAIN STRENGTH

... IN COLD WAR TO WIN THE PEACE

REASON FOR UEFB

The Fund resulted from an investigation by groups interested in British relief. By centralizing buying and transportation, including delivery at destination, substantial savings could be effected. The scattered efforts of many could be channelled into an efficient single stream of relief, without a loss of individuality as to persons, groups or organizations. Actual savings of 24 to 30% in shipping and handling cost alone have been estimated—meaning larger parcels of food for the same cost, the elimination of private competition for scarce items, more rapid and efficient delivery.

MORE AID PER DOLLAR

For example: the cost of placing a ready packaged 10 lb. parcel in the hands of a recipient in Britain, exclusive of content purchase price, is approximately $2.50 at present, whereas through UEFB concessions the comparable cost would be 57c to 79c. This economy does not include the very substantial saving which bulk purchasing effects.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Other organizations are not given this national service nor are they obtaining the very large concessions which the co-operating Governments have assured UEFB. However, the Fund facilities are available to every group or organization at present extending aid to Britain.

GOVERNMENT AID

The Canadian Government is placing at the UEFB disposal, as far as they can, warehouse and other facilities. The Government, the railways and several members of Provincial Transportation Associations are co-operating in giving UEFB a preferential freight rate to Canadian ports.

The gallant people of Britain are suffering today because they are determined to win the cold war. They are the only nation in Europe fighting with body and mind to vanquish the spectre that haunts the Old World.

The people of Britain are not complaining. But their health is being weakened . . . their efficiency impaired . . . by the tremendous restrictions they have imposed upon themselves. In their determination to win the cold war, they stand in danger of being defeated by undernourishment.

Undernourishment is the greatest danger of every person living in Britain today. Why? Because Britain imports four-fifths less goods than before the war, yet exports more than half as much again as in 1939.

Says the British Ministry of Food:

" . . . we are living on marginal nutritional standards, and there is cause for anxiety lest this should be having adverse effects on physique and health . . . Everything you can send us is wanted and urgently wanted."

YOU can't afford to let the British people down. If they go under YOU, and all of us, will feel the effects. We need a strong Britain to help fight the cold war. Give generously to UEFB—TODAY.

BURNETT SUSPENDED BY N.H.L. FOR FAILING TO REPORT

Eddie Shore Calls For Suspension On Local Player; Agrees To Leave Him Here If He Signs Pro Contract

Kel Burnett, flashy centre player with the local hockey club, was suspended by Frank Dillio, registrar of the Q.A.H.A., stated Coach Ivan Dugre last night.

Burnett, who signed a "B" form with Eddie Shore four years ago, was suspended for failing to report to the Springfield Indians training camp this fall and the Q.A.H.A. was notified by President Campbell of the N.H.L. that Burnett would be suspended if he did not sign a pro contract with Springfield.

Eddie Shore, manager and owner of the Springfield Indians, told Forest Keene, manager of the local club, in a telephone conversation, that Burnett would have to sign professional or be suspended.

Shore agreed with Mr. Keene that he would leave Burnett with the local club for the rest of the season and would call him up only next year.

Coach Dugre when contacted last night stated, "Burnett has signed his contract, and it has been forwarded to Mr. Dillio's office who will relay it to Campbell's office to have the suspension lifted so that Burnett might play this weekend."

The team will leave this afternoon for Shawinigan Falls to tangle with the Cats this evening and will return immediately following the tilt to be ready for the official opening of their home season tomorrow afternoon against the Braves of Valleyfield.

Athletics To Be Hosts To League-Leading Rockland Squad Today In Important Fixture At Ball Park At 2:15

Sherbrooke Athletics will try today to keep their home football record intact when they clash with the champion Rockland aggregation in an important intermediate Quebec Rugby Football Union game at the ball park at 2:15.

Winless in their first three games on the road, Athletics have beaten Eastward and tied Quebec in their two home games since then. A victory today would put them in good position to catch Lakeshore for third place in the final standing.

Ray Nelson, first string line-man, will be missing from the lineup for this afternoon's game but otherwise Athletics will be at full strength. Bud Jackson, who injured his knee a month ago, is in good shape again and will take his place at outside wing.

Two linemen, Reg Regimbal and Gordie (Beef) Ross, may be seen in action on the half line during at least part of the game. These players have been drilling as plungers at the indoor practices this week and are expected to add considerable punch to the locals' attack.

Rockland, last year's champions have lost only one game this season, to Quebec in the capital, and last week-end they took a stranglehold on first place by beating the Swimmers in Montreal.

The Montrealers trounced Sherbrooke 34-11 when they met in Montreal, but the score was no indication of the play although the champions were well worth their victory. Athletics, however, have improved 100 per cent since then.

Rockland has a big, powerful line that uses its interference well and takes full advantage of the 10-yard ruling. It's backfield is the best in the league and an interesting sidelight in today's contest will be the scoring race between two Rockland players and Sherbrooke's Charlie Clarke.

Frank Boright is in first place at present with 25 points, followed by Clarke with 25. Another Rockland player, Mickey Maguire has 24.

In addition to Boright and Maguire, the locals will have to watch Norm Segalowitz, Rockland's sparkling pass-throwing quarter, and two fleet, hard-driving Negroes, Danny Johnson and Jimmy Chambers.

"Sport Shots" and "Pot Shots" BY LEN O'DONNELL

The Sherbrooke Senior Hockey Club pulled another one out of their bag of surprises when they stepped a 5-1 decision on the highly rated Quebec Aces down in the Capitol City Wednesday evening.

Prior to game time the boys around the Coliseum were handing out lots of greenbacks and giving pretty good odds that the Aces would trim the boys from the Eastern Townships hands down.

It really was something to watch and the expression on the wise boy's faces was remarkable. I think that the best way of explaining things was expressed by Lou "Quebec Chronicle" Dufk when he said, "Too fast, too fast and just too doggone good." That about covers the whole situation in a nut shell, they were just too good for the Aces.

At times the locals were flipping the rubber around like hot cakes and Punch Imlach's crew looked dazed. It was as when the Seniors were shorthanded that they put on the good exhibition of killing penalties, with Kel Burnett, Adj Cote, Gilles Dube, Herbie Carnegie, Bill Heindl and Red Goupille, to name a few, really making things more than interesting for the spectators. It was nice to watch.

Coach Dugre had the boys on their toes and the lines were really clicking. Their passes were working and the best thing of all was the two-way hockey they put on. It was not just a question of the wings back-checking, but the whole line was back time after time to help the defense and give a little extra protection to Paul Leclerc, not that he needed much except when there were men sitting in the cooler. It was nice to watch the way the boys had things under control and the manner that Ivan handled things from the bench was good. He had "Punch" Imlach punchly from trying to out-guess him, he threw lines on and off faster than you could say Jack Robinson, and it produced results.

The Aces were not used to playing that style of hockey and the locals kept pressing all the time. There was always somebody in worrying them and they did not like it, but it was the way to beat them and it gave results.

After reading the Quebec papers the Aces really got a going-over by the home town scribes. The boys did not pull any punches and for once they really dropped the axe. Generally speaking in years past you would have to have been a club like the Canadiens to get any kind of a break, but this time they could not help it, our boys really made the Aces look bad, but they can't be quite as bad as they looked. They had an off-night, they claim, but they hit the wrong team while they had it and got quite a going over.

Yesterday afternoon the team held their first workout on the Arena ice and the whole team put in an appearance, except Red Goupille, who is suffering from a strained groin muscle. But he will be back at his regular position for tonight's battle with the Cataracts in Shawinigan Falls.

Red Mackenzie, pilot of the Cats, thinks he got a poor shuffle from the schedule maker when he runs up against Sherbrooke three times in the same week. The teams meet tonight, and Tuesday evening when the Cats move into Sherbrooke, and again Sunday next. Why should we complain about Sherbrooke?

The boys have been playing great hockey on the road and have won four in a row, which is very good for a team away from home. It is figured that if a club can win half of their games on the road they are doing well, so if the Seniors can keep it up they will not be far from the top, barring mishaps by the end of the season.

A meeting of the Sherbrooke Industrial Hockey League was held this week. Your reporter was elected president of the loop, why I can't tell, your guess is as good as mine.

Norman Sharpe was named vice-president with W. McGregor as secretary and Bob Benton as treasurer. Five teams are entered in the league, Robins, Super-heater, Unifast Steel, Martin Mear Sales and Sherbrooke Machineries and it should be a good league as the interest between the teams is high. That means a lot.

The football game of the year will take place this afternoon when the Rockland aggregation will pay a visit to the Sherbrooke Athletics for a very important fixture in the league standing.

Rockland is at present on top of the loop and they pack a real power house, in the backfield and on the line. In the first encounter the locals went down to a bad defeat, but since then the team has been rolling right along and today's battle will be a different outcome. Sherbrooke has been hard at work and have improved at least 100% and should give the loop-leaders a run for their money.

The Rockland entry is a well organized outfit and have some very good hall players with plenty of reserves to throw in. The A's have not been beaten on their own grounds this year and will be out to try and finish off the season without a loss. The game is scheduled to commence at 2:15 instead of 2:30 so don't miss it. Come early and give your team 100% support.

Commissioner Eddie Eagan, of the New York Boxing Commission, gave Willie Pep and Sandy Saddler a little pep talk yesterday afternoon during the weighing-in ceremonies. The reason for the talk was that the odds on Pep retaining his title took an awful skid with a flood of Saddler money appearing on the scene in the important betting circles of New York. It looks as though the gamblers will do anything to win a dollar.

Johnny Fripp, celebrated ski instructor at Mont Tremblant Lodge last year, has been given the thumbs by owner, Joe Ryan. And the funny thing about it was that Johnny was having a party with his assistants last spring at the end of the season and none of the Montreal papers have carried the story. Wonder why?

The famous FORMS of the N. H. L. are cropping up again in our midst and this time it involves Kelvin Burnett, flashy pivot man with the locals.

It seems that a few years back Kel signed a "B" form with Eddie Shore and during the course of time failed to report to the training camp and now President Campbell has notified Frank Dillio, registrar of the Q. A. H. A. that Burnett has been suspended.

Eddie Shore in a telephone conversation with Forest Keene told him that the only way he can get reinstated is to sign a pro contract and he will leave him with Sherbrooke for the balance of the season calling him up next year.

We were told last night by Ivan Dugre that Burnett would sign his contract and forward it back to Montreal to be reinstated for the week-end games. Wonder when the boys will learn to keep their pens in their pockets when the pros are running around, but on the other hand the money looks good I suppose and when you take the cash you must bear the consequences.

Everything points to a good year for the intermediate backers this year in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League. Six teams are entered in the league and there should be plenty of interest.

Magog, Richmond and Windsor Mills, who formed the loop last season are back again with three new entries. Drummondville, Waterloo and Granby, to make a six-team loop.

Waterloo has been building a new arena which will be finished by the beginning of December, in time for the league opening. Drummondville has a rink of its own and Granby has an artificial plant in theirs, so all in all things look rosy for Sarto Roy's circuit.

An examination of all referees in class "C" will be held next Saturday night at the Arena by the Referees Board of the Quebec Hockey Association.

The meeting is to test all whistle blowers in the district, both in skating and oval tests, and all personnel desiring to be referees are asked to be on hand. This is the only test to be passed this year and anyone not passing the test will not be allowed to referee any games under the jur-

Citation Wins Pimlico Special Uncontested

Baltimore, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro went for a $10,000 stroll today in the Pimlico Special.

The great Calumet Farm three-year-old colt climaxed his sensational 1948 turf campaign by taking the 12th running of this sporting race without opposition.

Arcaro, who has been aboard the son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane in all of his big races, merely breezed Citation around the 1 3/16-mile distance.

While the crowd cheered its acclaim for the "Champ", Eddie held a tight rein on Citation most of the distance, then let him out for the final quarter mile from the head of the stretch to the wire.

Under this tight restraint, the colt showed that Citation clipped the distance in 1:59 4/5. The record for the stake—1:56 3/5—is held jointly by Seabiscuit and Twilight Tear.

Arcaro has ridden three previous special winners, Chalcedon in 1939; Shut Out in 1943 and Assault in 1946.

There was no betting, and the event was run as the sixth race after the track announcer said, "The Maryland Jockey Club proudly presents the 1948 champion of the turf," and recounted his racing deeds.

But all the color of a Preakness day was there, in spite of the "No Contest" conditions.

Applause greeted Citation when he went to the post, and again a few moments later after he started without a rate and went by the stands the first time. When Eddie let him out a little and he flashed down the home lane and across the finish line they cheered again.

But the biggest noise from the crowd of 11,618 came when they brought Citation to the winner's circle and it was announced that the $10,000 pot would be donated by Owner Wright to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Citation and Arcaro got themselves draped with a huge blanket of gold tinsel.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who conceived the race as a championship event in 1937, handed Wright a big Gold Cup.

In winning 16 of 17 races previously this year, Citation had banked the bulky sum of $654,570, a world record for one season of racing. The colt now has earned $853,250, and is second in the list of leading money winners. Stymie is tops, with $911,335. At the rate he's going, Citation won't have much trouble catching Stymie now in retirement—next season, and continuing on to become the first $1,000,000 winner in turf history.

Sandy Saddler Wins Featherweight Championship Of World By Flooring Willie Pep In 2:38 Of Fourth Round

By JACK HAND
New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Sandy Saddler, spindly-legged Harlem Negro, scored a stunning fistic upset last night when he knocked out Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., to win the World Featherweight Championship in 2:38 of the fourth round at Madison Square Garden.

Pep, a 1-13-3 favorite who never before had been knocked out in 138 previous fights, went down for the full count from a murderous left hook thrown by the lean graduate of the New York Police Athletic League.

Flooring Pep twice in the third round, each time for a count of nine, Saddler swarmed all over Willie in the fourth to lift the 126-pound crown from the little fellow who had held it since 1942.

Saddler at 124 gave 155 pounds to Pep, who weighed 152 1/2.

The long-armed Saddler carried the battle to Willie throughout the evening. For a time it seemed that Pep would be able to battle up Saddler's stunning left uppercut. But that was the blow that shook the New Englander loose from his crown.

Beeding from the nose after the first minute of the scrap, Pep suffered a cut under his right eye in the third when he just escaped a knockout, saved by the bell.

Three smashing left uppercuts by Saddler started Pep on his way in the third when he was caught flatfooted in his own corner by the fury of the attack of the 22-year-old challenger.

When Willie finally managed to squirm loose from Saddler's punch barrage, he had the cut under the right eye. Well mused up and obviously hurt, Pep ran smack into a left uppercut that dumped him for the count of nine.

He rested on his knees, waiting for his head to clear until Referee Ruby Goldstein tolled nine. He just made it the first time.

Saddler, sensing a chance for a kill, swarmed in with his arms flailing. This time it was a right hand smash to the head that floored Pep. Willie just managed to scramble up, wobbly and unsure of himself, when the bell ended the round.

While Pep did his best in the fourth to clutch at Saddler's dangerous left hand, Sandy shook the champ to the tips of his shoes with a left uppercut. But Willie wouldn't go down.

Then came the end. It was a smashing left hook to the jaw that sent Pep down for the last time. Even then he was struggling to get up as Goldstein counted off the fatal 10.

Pep, whose only previous defeat was at the hands of lightweight Sammy Angott, didn't have it last night.

The new champion said in the dressing room:

"I saw him (Pep) fight Paddy Demarco in the Garden. I knew I could beat him. I saw he couldn't punch. I knew that if I made him stop turning and twisting like he did with Demarco, I'd be able to get him."

Province Of Quebec Pacing Championship Trophy

The picture shows the trophy won by Lucien Dugre's Texas Hanover last Sunday at Richelieu Park when he defeated a classy field of top pacers to win the Pacing Championship of the Province. Texas Hanover led the field in the first two heats of the classic, which was a two-out-of-three event. Harry Lee won the final heat of the race. Tomorrow afternoon the losers challenged Dugre's horse again and Texas Hanover will meet the same horses in another test.
