INFORMATION FOR CAREGIVERS

ABOUT

Biblio-Aidants is a program of the Québec Public Library Association, which includes the independent public libraries of Québec (more than 5,000 residents). Close to 165 municipalities and corporations are members of the Québec Public Library Association for a total of more than 300 service locations covering 80% of the Québec population.

Biblio-Aidants is available in more than 550 participating public libraries as well as associated health libraries throughout Québec. Visit our website to see if your library participates in the program.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Biblio-Aidants is an initiative of the Charlemagne, L'Assomption and Repentigny libraries. The Québec Public Library Association would like to thank these three cities for allowing it to extend the program to the rest of Québec by transferring the copyright. It is also grateful to the Société de gestion de la Banque de titres de langue française (BTLF) as well as the Services Documentaires Multimédia (SDM) for their support in this project.

BIBLIOAIDANTS®BETTER INFORMED TO BETTER HELP®

You are a caregiver if, in one way or another, you provide support to someone close to you, whether it is a person who is ill, has a loss of autonomy or is aging. He or she may have a health problem that is temporary, degenerative or permanent and may be a child, adult or senior. You may provide support in each of his or her daily activities or intervene as needed.

In Québec, it is estimated that more than one million adults are caregivers. Like you, they are looking for information on ways to best support and assist their loved ones. The provincial program, Biblio-Aidants, was developed by the Québec Public Library Association to respond to this need.

Each Biblio-Aidants booklet contains a list of organizations that can help you, a selection of relevant websites and reading suggestions. There are 15 thematic booklets that are available free of charge:

- ▶ Alzheimer's disease
- ▶ Autism spectrum disorder
- ▶ Bereavement
- ▶ Cancer
- ▶ Caregivers
- ▶ Diabetes
- ▶ Heart disease and stroke
- ▶ Intellectual disability
- ▶ Mental health
- ▶ Multiple sclerosis
- ▶ Palliative care
- ▶ Parkinson's disease
- ▶ Physical disability (including hearing and visual impairment)
- ▶ Pulmonary disease
- ▶ Seniors and aging

The professionals at your library are always available to support you in your search for information. Don't hesitate to ask them for help.

We hope that this is helpful to you!

General works

THE FATHERLESS DAUGHTER PROJECT: UNDERSTANDING OUR LOSSES AND RECLAIMING OUR LIVES

Denna D. Babul and Karin Luise. New York: Avery, 2016, 276 p.

When Motherless Daughters was published 20 years ago, it unleashed a tsunami of healing awareness. When authors Denna Babul and Karin Smithson couldn't find the equivalent book for fatherlessness, The Fatherless Daughter Project was born. The book will set fatherless women on the path to growth and fulfillment by helping them to understand how their loss has impacted their lives.

GRIEF IS A JOURNEY: FINDING YOUR PATH THROUGH LOSS

Kenneth J. Doka. New York: Atria Books, 2016, 292 p.

In this book, Dr. Kenneth Doka, a licensed mental health counselor and preeminent expert in grief, explores a new, compassionate way to grieve, explaining that grief is not an illness to get over but an individual and ongoing journey and that there is no “one-size-fits-all” way to cope with loss. He helps readers realize that their experiences following a death are far more individual and much less predictable than the conventional “five stages” model would have them believe. Common patterns of experiencing and expressing grief still prevail, yet many other life changes accompany a primary loss.

PASSED AND PRESENT: KEEPING MEMORIES OF LOVED ONES ALIVE

Allison Gilbert. Berkeley: Seal Press, 2016, 238 p.

When a loved one dies it is hard to balance meaningful ways of keeping their memory alive without holding on to mementos and belongings that create emotional and physical clutter. Gilbert offers inspiring ways to celebrate family and friends into your year-round life, keeping them in your heart and mind while also making you feel more fulfilled in the present.

YOGA FOR GRIEF AND LOSS: POSES, MEDITATION, DEVOTION, SELF-REFLECTION, SELFLESS ACTS, RITUAL

Karla Helbert. London: Singing Dragon, 2016, 320 p.

Written by a licensed professional counselor, this book explains how the six branches of yoga offer guidance and coping methods to those who have suffered bereavement or loss. Looking at the emotional, spiritual, philosophical elements, as well as the physical postures of yoga, the book shows how to begin and sustain a personal practice that helps us move through grief on multiple levels.

PROGRESSING THROUGH GRIEF: GUIDED EXERCISES TO UNDERSTAND YOUR EMOTIONS AND RECOVER FROM LOSS

Stephanie Jose. Berkeley: Althea Press, 2016, 174 p.

Written by a licensed mental health counselor and intended to help you progress through your grief and into healing, Progressing Through Grief is divided into three sections: understanding why grieving is important, and how grief affects your body; identifying complicated feelings and learning skills for coping with them; and journaling to move through overwhelming feelings and practicing self-care through relaxation techniques, nutrition tips, and meditation practices.

NO TIME FOR TEARS: COPING WITH GRIEF IN A BUSY WORLD

Judy Heath. Chicago: Chicago Review Press, 2015, 269 p.

Psychotherapist Judy Heath draws on extensive experience as a grief specialist in private practice to help those struggling with the anguish of loss. Addressing the myths and misinformation about mourning that still abound today, Heath gently coaches readers to understand that coping with loss is a natural process that our society tends to avoid and hurry people through, often leading to unresolved, lasting grief. No Time for Tears offers practical advice for both short- and long-term recovery, including how to manage rarely discussed physical and emotional changes: feelings of “going crazy” and inability to focus; feeling out of sync with the world, exhausted and chilled, and crushingly lonely.

WE NEED TO TALK ABOUT GRIEF: HOW TO BE A FRIEND TO THE ONE WHO'S LEFT BEHIND

Annie Broadbent. London: Piatkus, 2014, 196 p.

This book presents absorbing and heartfelt stories of grief combined with timely advice on how to help support your loved one through a time of loss.

FINDING PEACE WHEN YOUR HEART IS IN PIECES: A STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE TO THE OTHER SIDE OF GRIEF, LOSS, AND PAIN

Paul W. Coleman. Avon: Adams Media, 2014, 223 p.

This guide introduces a four-pronged approach to coping with loss, suffering, and any of life's upheavals and finding inner peace, featuring exercises and insight that reveal how to transform pain into positive thinking and find perspective.

MOTHERLESS DAUGHTERS: THE LEGACY OF LOSS

Hope Edelman. Boston: Da Capo Lifelong Books, 2014, 361 p.

This book explores the myriad ways that losing a mother can affect almost every aspect and passage of a woman's life. First published two decades ago, it is still the book that motherless daughters of all ages look to for understanding and comfort and that they press into each other's hands. Building on interviews with hundreds of mother-loss survivors, this life-affirming book also reflects Edelman's personal experience with the continued legacy of mother loss, as a wife and a mother of young children who better understands how the effects of mother loss change over time and in light of new relationships.

HONORING GRIEF: CREATING A SPACE TO LET YOURSELF HEAL

Alexandra Kennedy. Oakland: New Harbinger Publications, 2014, 139 p.

Written by psychotherapist and grief expert Alexandra Kennedy, this book provides a collection of inspirational wisdom and compassionate self-help tips for dealing with loss.

ON GRIEF AND GRIEVING: FINDING THE MEANING OF GRIEF THROUGH THE FIVE STAGES OF LOSS

Elisabeth Kübler-Ross and David Kessler. New York: Scribner, 2014, 237 p.

Ten years after the death of Elisabeth Kübler-Ross, this commemorative edition of her final book combines practical wisdom, case studies, and the authors' own experiences and spiritual insight to explain how the process of grieving helps us live with loss. Looking at the way we experience the process of grief, On Grief and Grieving applies the five stages of loss to the grieving process and weaves together theory, inspiration, and practical advice, including sections on sadness, hauntings, dreams, isolation, and healing.

COPING WITH GRIEF AND LOSS: A GUIDE TO HEALING WHEN MOURNING THE DEATH OF A LOVED ONE

Annetta K. Miller, Francesca Coltrera, Susan Block, Anne Underwood and Simon Shaw (ill.). Boston: Harvard Medical School, 2014, 45 p.

The passing of someone close to you begins a process that, while painful, is normal and expected. It's an experience through which you gradually come to terms with the loss of your loved one and begin to regroup and see yourself in a new way. It's common to feel overwhelmed at first by the depth and intensity of your loss. This short guide can help you navigate these choppy waters.

THE ESSENTIAL GUIDE TO LIFE AFTER BEREAVEMENT: BEYOND TOMORROW

Judy Carole Kauffmann and Mary Jordan. London: Jessica Kingsley Publishers, 2013, 175 p.

The period following the death of a loved one can be a time of great turmoil. This book acts as a helpful and supportive road map through the initial period of loss, and the weeks and months that follow. As well as the emotional and spiritual aspects of bereavement, it covers important practical considerations, which are often overlooked.

MINDFULNESS FOR PROLONGED GRIEF: A GUIDE TO HEALING AFTER LOSS WHEN DEPRESSION, ANXIETY, AND ANGER WON'T GO AWAY

Sameet M. Kumar. Oakland: New Harbinger Publications Inc., 2013, 190 p.

For some people, grief resolves on its own; but for many others, grief can lead to feelings of depression, anxiety, anger, and an intense and inconsolable yearning for the deceased. This workbook offers mindfulness exercises, guided meditations, and healthy lifestyle changes to help you process your grief, manage your intense emotions, and start to finally heal.

I CAN'T STOP CRYING: GRIEF AND RECOVERY, A COMPASSIONATE GUIDE

John D. Martin and Frank D. Ferris. Toronto: McClelland & Stewart, 2013, 132 p.

The death of someone close can result in feelings of overwhelming grief, but society expects people to recover from loss as quickly as possible. Martin and Ferris reveal grief as a painful but necessary process to go through in order, ultimately, to recover from the loss of a loved one.

LIVING WITH COMPLICATED GRIEF

Craig A. White. London: Sheldon Press, 2013, 115 p.

This book, written by a consultant clinical psychologist, looks at how to cope with this kind of reaction to bereavement, so that it becomes possible to accept the death and master its impact. Topics include: the difference between normal and complicated grief; links with other conditions such as post-traumatic stress disorder and depression; understanding the impact of grief; how to manage related emotions such as anger and guilt; identifying unhelpful thinking; using memories and visual imagery positively; moving your loved one from your mind to your heart; and how to create a lasting memorial.

HEALING GRIEF, FINDING PEACE: 101 WAYS TO COPE WITH THE DEATH OF YOUR LOVED ONE

Louis E. LaGrand. Naperville: Sourcebooks, 2011, 286 p.

This book offers an approach to grieving which allows readers to choose whichever coping techniques suit them best and learn to actively take back their lives one step at a time.

SAYING GOODBYE: HOW FAMILIES CAN FIND RENEWAL THROUGH LOSS

Barbara F. Okun and Joseph Nowinski. New York: Berkley Books, 2011, 313 p.

Saying Goodbye explores what this means for those who may be left “living with death” for an extended period of time. Guiding readers through this complex journey, the authors introduce and explore its five stages – crisis, unity, upheaval, resolution, and renewal – and offer a road map that will help readers navigate their way through the realities of death and dying.

Loss of a child

EMPTY CRADLE, BROKEN HEART: SURVIVING THE DEATH OF YOUR BABY

Deborah L. Davis. Golden: Fulcrum Publishing, 2016, 429 p.

The heartache of miscarriage, stillbirth, or infant death affects thousands of U.S. families every year. This book offers reassurance to parents who struggle with anger, guilt, and despair during and after such a tragedy. Deborah Davis encourages grieving and strives to cover many different kinds of loss, including information on issues such as the death of one or more babies from a multiple birth, pregnancy interruption, and the questioning of aggressive medical intervention. There is also a special chapter for fathers as well as a chapter on “protective parenting” to help anxious parents enjoy their precious living children.

STILLBIRTH, YET STILL BORN: GRIEVING AND HONORING YOUR PRECIOUS BABY

Deborah L. Davis. Golden: Fulcrum Publishing, 2014, 110 p.

This small book offers tailored information and support for parents experiencing the early hours, days, and weeks that follow the death and birth of their beloved baby. Stillbirth is always a devastating shock, a heartbreaking collision of birth and death that leaves parents helpless. In this accessible book, you will find comfort and ideas for affirming and honoring your precious baby’s life.

WHEN YOUR CHILD DIES: TOOLS FOR MENDING PARENTS' BROKEN HEARTS

Avril Nagel and Randie Clark. Far Hills: New Horizon Press, 2012, 253 p.

When Your Child Dies provides grief-stricken parents with the tools to navigate the grieving process and addresses the challenges of the intrusion of the media, the justice system, medical system and coroners. Grieving parents will learn how to reduce anxiety and depression and promote healthy self-soothing, identify and address issues that linger and cause emotional pain following the child's death and incorporate their loss into their lives in healthy ways. There are suggestions for talking with surviving children about death and grief, how to handle the impact on extended family systems and social relationships, how to foster a continued loving relationship in their lives with the dead child's memory, among other practical advice, as well as providing a comprehensive list of resources and reading for ongoing support.

Bereavement experienced by a child and adolescent

35 WAYS TO HELP A GRIEVING CHILD

Dougy Center for Grieving Children. Portland: The Dougy Center, 2013, 49 p.

This book offers advice for dealing with children who have suffered the loss of a loved one, discussing how to include children in decision-making, what to expect from different age groups, and how to provide safe emotional outlets for children.

SUPPORTING CHILDREN THROUGH GRIEF & LOSS: PRACTICAL IDEAS & CREATIVE ACTIVITIES FOR SCHOOLS & CARERS

Anna Jacobs. Brackley: Hinton House, 2013, 200 p.

Children who experience loss through death or separation need support and understanding, both at home and at school. This book gives an overview of different behaviours you may encounter and how to respond, as well as discussing questions children may ask and how to answer them. Children's understanding of death varies according to stage of development and the author provides guidance on age-appropriate, honest responses along with a toolkit of creative and arts activities to help children examine and understand their emotions, physical feelings and memories.

SUPPORTING TEENAGERS THROUGH GRIEF & LOSS: PRACTICAL IDEAS & CREATIVE APPROACHES

Anna Jacobs. Brackley: Hinton House, 2013, 192 p.

This book contains a wealth of helpful advice, worksheets and suggestions to support young people in their experience of loss in its many forms. Teenagers perceive and experience loss differently from younger children and need support and understanding at home and in school. This resource explores how adolescents understand & respond to loss, explains the needs of young people facing loss at different stages of grief, provides guidance on monitoring if extra support is needed, contains a toolkit of creative age-appropriate resources exploring feelings, behaviours, thoughts and memories, and gives clear guidance on what to say and how to respond to questions and behaviour.

FINDING THE WORDS: HOW TO TALK WITH CHILDREN AND TEENS ABOUT DEATH, SUICIDE, FUNERALS, HOMICIDE, CREMATION AND OTHER END-OF-LIFE MATTERS

Alan Wolfelt. Fort Collins: Companion Press, 2013, 138 p.

This handbook includes dozens of suggested phrases to use with preschoolers, school-agers, and teenagers as you explain death in general or the death of a parent, a sibling, a grandparent, or a pet. Other chapters include possible words and ideas to draw on when you are talking to kids about a death by suicide, homicide, or terminal illness. At times grown-ups must also have very difficult conversations with dying children; this book offers guidance. A final chapter discusses how to talk with kids about funerals, burial, and cremation.

PARENTING THROUGH CRISIS: HELPING KIDS IN TIMES OF LOSS, GRIEF, AND CHANGE

Barbara Coloroso. Toronto: Penguin, 2012, 271 p.

In Parenting Through Crisis, renowned child rearing educator Barbara Coloroso helps parents navigate family waters when they get turbulent. What do we tell our children when their grandfather dies? How do we respond to their distress when the family home is lost? How do we break the news of a divorce? How do we help young children cope when their cherished caregiver quits? And how do we make room for their feelings and needs when we are struggling with our own grief?

HOW DO WE TELL THE CHILDREN?: A STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE FOR HELPING CHILDREN TWO TO TEEN COPE WHEN SOMEONE DIES

Dan Schaefer and Christine Lyons. New York: HarperCollins Publishers, 2012, 204 p.

Many children's lives are touched by a serious illness within their families, and some will be faced with the loss of a parent or grandparent, or the death of a sibling or beloved pet. How can adults help young people cope with these losses? How do they explain and console in language that a child can understand? Dr. Daniel Schaefer, working with child psychologists and trauma experts, and drawing on more than three decades of experience with families in crisis, has written a practical guide for anyone who works or lives with children to respond to their inevitable questions about loss and change, life and death. He provides strategies to assist children with grief and trauma and offers time-tested advice and language that children can understand.

A PARENT'S GUIDE TO RAISING GRIEVING CHILDREN: REBUILDING YOUR FAMILY AFTER THE DEATH OF A LOVED ONE

Phyllis R. Silverman and Madelyn Kelly. New York: Oxford University Press, 2009, 256 p.

This book offers wise guidance on virtually every aspect of childhood loss, from living with someone who's dying to preparing the funeral; from explaining death to a two year old to managing the moods of a grieving teenager; from dealing with people who don't understand to learning how and where to get help from friends, therapists, and bereavement groups; from developing a new sense of self to continuing a relationship with the person who died. Throughout, the authors advocate an open, honest approach, suggesting that our instinctive desire to "protect" children from the reality of death may be more harmful than helpful.

Bereavement following suicide

UNFINISHED CONVERSATION: HEALING FROM SUICIDE AND LOSS A GUIDED JOURNEY

Robert Lesoine and Marilynne Chöphel. Berkeley: Parallax Press, 2013, 171 p.

Based on a journal Robert Lesoine kept during the two years following the suicide of his best friend, this book helps readers through the process of reflecting on and affirming the raw immediacy of survivors' emotions. Each short chapter focuses on a different aspect of the author's experience as he transforms his anger and guilt to understanding and forgiveness. Licensed psychotherapist Marilynne Chöphel brings her professional background to Robert Lesoine's deeply personal story to create an accessible path to self-directed healing based on mindful awareness and sound clinical practices. Readers work through their own grieving and healing process with end-of-chapter exercises and activities.

LIFE STORIES, BIOGRAPHIES AND TESTIMONIALS

IN THE SLENDER MARGIN: THE INTIMATE STRANGENESS OF DEATH AND DYING

Eve Joseph. New York: Arcade Publishing, 2016, 211 p.

Eve Joseph is an award-winning poet who worked for twenty years as a palliative care counselor in a hospice. When she was a young girl, she lost a much older brother, and her experience as a grown woman helping others face death, dying, and grief opens the path for her to recollect and understand his loss in a way she could not as a child. In the Slender Margin offers examples from cultural traditions, practices, and beliefs from around the world, her book is at once an exploration of the unknowable and a very humane journey through the land of grief.

ON MY OWN

Diane Rehm. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 2016, 162 p.

The beloved NPR radio host speaks out about the long drawn-out death (from Parkinson's) of her husband of fifty-four years, and of her struggle to reconstruct her life without him.

FIGURING SHIT OUT: LOVE, LAUGHTER, SUICIDE, AND SURVIVAL

Amy Biancolli. Burlington: Behler Publications, 2015, 201 p.

Amy Biancolli's life went off script more dramatically than most after her husband of twenty years jumped off the roof of a parking garage. Left with three children, a three-story house, and a pile of knotty psychological complications, Amy realizes the flooding dishwasher, dead car battery, rapidly growing lawn, basement sump pump, and broken doorknob aren't going to fix themselves. She also realizes that "figuring shit out" means accepting the horrors that came her way, rolling with them, slogging through them, helping others through theirs, and working her way through life with love and laughter.

THE BEAUTIFUL UNSEEN: VARIATIONS ON FOG AND FORGETTING: A MEMOIR

Kyle Boelte. Berkeley: Soft Skull Press, 2015, 156 p.

At age thirty, Kyle Boelte finds himself living in San Francisco, where the summer fog blows inland off the ocean and the landscape changes moment to moment. Amidst this ever-changing sea of fog, Boelte struggles to remember his brother Kris, who committed suicide in the family's Denver home when Boelte was just thirteen. In this impressive debut, Boelte sets up a dual narrative: one investigates San Francisco's climate to explain the science behind the omnipresent fog; another explores Boelte's memory as well as letters, notes, newspaper articles, and other artifacts that tell the story of his brother's short life and eventual suicide.

LIFE AFTER YOU

Lucie Brownlee. London: Virgin Books, 2014, 319 p.

Lucie is 37. She is the mother of a young daughter. And she is a widow. Her husband, Mark, died suddenly at the age of just 37. There wasn't even time to say goodbye. This book, inspired by her award-winning blog Wife After Death, is the story of her grief, and how she is (and isn't) coming to terms with Mark's death, and bringing up their daughter on her own. This book is a roller-coaster ride through the highs and lows of negotiating the "new normal" and addresses the warty underbelly of widowhood; the drinking, the recklessness, and the feelings of inadequacy as a single mother to a young child.

KADIAN JOURNAL: A FATHER'S MEMOIR

Thomas Harding. London: Cornerstone, 2015, 256 p.

In July 2012 Thomas Harding's fourteen-year-old son Kadian was killed in a bicycle accident. Beginning on the day of Kadian's death, and continuing to the one-year anniversary, and beyond, Kadian Journal is a record of grief in its rawest form, and of a mind in shock and questioning a strange new reality. Interspersed within the journal are fragments of memory: jewel-bright everyday moments that slowly combine to form a biography of a lost son, and a lost life. Kadian Journal is a document of startling bravery and candour – a description of a family dislocated and united by tragedy, and a beautiful and moving tribute to a son.

A SPECIAL DAY: A MOTHER'S MEMOIR OF LOVE, LOSS, AND ACCEPTANCE AFTER THE DEATH OF HER DAUGHTER

Anne-Dauphine Julliard. New York: Arcade Publishing, 2015, 153 p.

February 29th is a date that comes into existence just once every four years. It is also the birthday of Thaïs – author Anne-Dauphine Julliard's daughter – who died of a genetic disease. As this special day is about to reappear on her calendar for the first time since her daughter passed away, Anne-Dauphine struggles with how to mark this momentous occasion.

IN A DARK WOOD: WHAT DANTE TAUGHT ME ABOUT GRIEF, HEALING, AND THE MYSTERIES OF LOVE

Joseph Luzzi. New York: HarperWave, 2015, 297 p.

In the aftermath of a heartbreaking tragedy, a scholar and writer uses Dante's Divine Comedy to shepherd him through the dark wood of grief and mourning – a rich and emotionally resonant memoir of suffering, hope, love, and the power of literature to inspire and heal the most devastating loss. Where do we turn when we lose everything? Joseph Luzzi found the answer in the opening of The Divine Comedy: “In the middle of our life's journey, I found myself in a dark wood.” When Luzzi's pregnant wife was in a car accident—and died forty-five minutes after giving birth to their daughter, Isabel—he finds himself a widower and first-time father at the same moment. While he grieves and cares for his infant daughter, miraculously delivered by caesarean before his wife passed, he turns to Dante's Divine Comedy for solace. In a Dark Wood tells the story of how Dante helps the author rebuild his life. He follows the structure of The Divine Comedy, recounting the Inferno of his grief, the Purgatory of healing and raising Isabel on his own, and then Paradise of the rediscovery of love.

H IS FOR HAWK

Helen Macdonald. New York: Grove Press, 2015 288 p.

When Helen Macdonald's father died suddenly on a London street, she was devastated. An experienced falconer, she'd never before been tempted to train one of the most vicious predators, the goshawk. But in her grief, she saw that the goshawk's fierce and feral temperament mirrored her own. She adopted Mabel, turned to the guidance of author T. H. White's chronicle The Goshawk, and began her life-changing endeavor.

HOLDING AVERY: A MEMOIR

Heidi Chandler. Isle of Man: MP Publishing, 2014, 203 p.

When her otherwise healthy, even idyllic, first pregnancy ends in the sudden and terrible stillbirth of daughter Avery, Heidi Chandler and her husband are left at a total loss. Looking into Avery's perfect face, one that never cooed or cried, Heidi realizes how much her life has changed. Holding Avery is a raw exploration of life after the death of a child.

YOUNG WIDOWER: A MEMOIR

John W. Evans. Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 2014, 185 p.

John W. Evans was twenty-nine years old and his wife, Katie, was thirty. They had met in the Peace Corps in Bangladesh, taught in Chicago, studied in Miami, and were working for a year in Romania, when they set off with friends to hike into the Carpathian Mountains. In an instant, their life together was shattered. Katie became separated from the group. When Evans finally found her, he could only watch helplessly as she was mauled to death by a brown bear. In such a love story, such a life story, how could a person ever move forward? That is the question Evans, traumatized and restless, confronts in this book as he learns the language of grief, the rhetoric of survival, and the contrary poetic algorithms of holding fast and letting go.

THREE MINUS ONE: PARENTS' STORIES OF LOVE & LOSS

Sean Hanish and Brooke Warner. Berkeley: She Writes Press, 2014, 306 p.

This is a collection of stories and artwork by parents who have lost a child to stillbirth, miscarriage, or neonatal death. This anthology of raw memoirs, heartbreaking stories, truthful poems, beautiful painting, and stunning photography from the parents who have suffered child loss offers insight into this unique, devastating and life-changing experience—breaking the silence and offering a ray of hope to the many parents out there in search of answers, understanding, and healing.

THEY LEFT US EVERYTHING: A MEMOIR

Plum Johnson. New York: G.P. Putnam's Sons, 2014, 279 p.

After the death of the author's senile father and cantankerous ninety-three-year-old mother, she and her three younger brothers must empty and sell the beloved family home. Twenty-three rooms full of history, antiques, and oxygen tanks. The author remembers her loving but difficult parents who could not have been more different: the British father, a handsome, disciplined patriarch who nonetheless could not control his opinionated, extroverted Southern-belle wife who loved tennis and gin gimlets. The task consumes her, becoming more rewarding than she ever imagined.

CONFESSIONS OF A MEDIOCRE WIDOW: OR, HOW I LOST MY HUSBAND AND MY SANITY

Catherine Tidd. Naperville: Sourcebooks, 2014, 357 p.

Involuntarily single. That's the true story of where Catherine Tidd finds herself just three weeks after turning thirty-one. Widowed with three children under six years old, a rusty resume, no fix-it skills, and no clue how to live life as a widow, Catherine can't help but be a little exasperated with her dead husband for leaving her to deal with life on her own. Catherine's now in charge of her life in a way she never wanted to be.

CHOOSING HOPE: A MOTHER'S STORY OF LOVE, LOSS, AND SURVIVAL

Ginny Dennehy. Vancouver: Greystone Books, 2013, 141 p.

Ginny Dennehy was living the dream: a good marriage, two wonderful teenagers, a fulfilling career. Life in Whistler, B.C., seemed tailor-made for her outgoing, athletic family of four. But in 2001, the world turned upside down when her son, Keltly, committed suicide at the age of seventeen, hanging himself in the loft of their family home. Lost in a fog of grief, Ginny found the strength to go on. Just eight years later, her daughter, Riley, died of a heart attack in Thailand. Ginny's story conveys the message that even in the wake of unspeakable tragedy, there is hope.

NOCTURNE: ON THE LIFE AND DEATH OF MY BROTHER

Helen Humphreys. Toronto: HarperCollins, 2013, 198 p.

Helen Humphreys' younger brother was gone before she could come to terms with the fact that he was terminally ill. Diagnosed with stage 4B pancreatic cancer at the age of forty-five, he died four months later, leaving behind a grieving family. The two siblings, though often living far apart, were bonded on many levels. Speaking directly to him in this memoir, the author lays bare their secrets, their disagreements, their early childhood together, their intense though unspoken love for one another.

THE LONG GOODBYE: A MEMOIR OF GRIEF

Meghan O'Rourke. London: Virago, 2012, 306 p.

What is it like to mourn today, in a culture that has largely set aside rituals that acknowledge grief? After her mother died of cancer at the age of fifty-five, Meghan O'Rourke found that nothing had prepared her for the intensity of her sorrow. She began to create a record of her interior life as a mourner, trying to capture the paradox of grief—its monumental agony and microscopic intimacies—an endeavor that ultimately bloomed into a profound look at how caring for her mother during her illness changed and strengthened their bond.

DREAM NEW DREAMS: REIMAGINING MY LIFE AFTER LOSS

Jai Pausch. New York: Three Rivers Press, 2012, 228 p.

In Dream New Dreams, Jai Pausch shares her own story for the first time: her emotional journey from wife and mother to full-time caregiver; and then to widow and single parent, fighting to preserve a sense of stability for her family while coping with her own grief, and running a household without a partner. Jai paints a vivid, honest portrait of a vital, challenging relationship between two strong people who faced a grim prognosis and the self-sacrificing decisions it often required. As she faced life without the husband she called her “magic man,” Jai learned to make herself a priority to create a new life of hope and happiness – as she puts it, to “feel a spark of my own magic beginning to flicker.”

DEAR MALLORY: LETTERS TO A TEENAGE GIRL WHO KILLED HERSELF

Lisa Richards. Torrance: New Middle Press, 2012, 120 p.

This book comprises a collection of letters from Lisa Richards to her daughter Mallory, starting in the days after her suicide and throughout the first year as well as letters from other family, friends and acquaintances written about a year after her suicide.

KAYAK MORNING: REFLECTIONS ON LOVE, GRIEF, AND SMALL BOATS

Roger Rosenblatt. New York: Ecco, 2012, 146 p.

In his earlier book Making Toast, Roger Rosenblatt shared the story of his family in the days and months after the death of his thirty-eight-year-old daughter, Amy. Now, in Kayak Morning, he offers a personal meditation on grief itself. “Everybody grieves,” he writes. From that terse, melancholy observation emerges a work of art that addresses the universal experience of loss. On a quiet Sunday morning, two and a half years after Amy’s death, Roger heads out in his kayak. He observes, “You can’t always make your way in the world by moving up. Or down, for that matter. Boats move laterally on water, which levels everything. It is one of the two great levelers.” Part elegy, part quest, this book explores Roger’s years as a journalist, the comforts of literature, and the value of solitude, poignantly reminding us that grief is not apart from life but encompasses it. In recalling to us what we have lost, grief by necessity resurrects what we have had.

CRASH: A MOTHER, A SON, AND THE JOURNEY FROM GRIEF TO GRATITUDE

Carolyn Roy-Bornstein. Guilford: Skirt!, 2012, 214 p.

After 25 years of caring for children, first as a nurse, then as a pediatrician, Carolyn Roy-Bornstein finds herself on the other side of the stretcher when her 17-year-old son Neil is hit by a teenage drunk driver while walking his girlfriend Trista home after a study date. Trista did not survive her injuries. Neil carries his with him to this day. Gratitude for her son’s survival ultimately gives way to grief. While initially told Neil’s only injury was a broken leg, Roy-Bornstein quickly finds herself riding in the front seat of an ambulance transporting her son to the ICU at Brigham and Women’s Hospital in Boston; his brain is bleeding. Roy-Bornstein is now not the patient’s doctor or nurse but his mom. The world she so easily navigates in a white uniform or a white coat now must be traversed, understood, and dealt with from the perspective of a parent.

HISTORY OF A SUICIDE: MY SISTER'S UNFINISHED LIFE

Jill Bialosky. New York: Atria Books, 2011, 252 p.

For twenty years, the author has lived with the grief, guilt, questions, and confusion unleashed by her sister Kim's suicide. In this memoir, she re-creates with unsparing honesty her sister's inner life, the events and emotions that led her to take her life. In doing so, she opens a window on the nature of suicide itself, our own reactions and responses to it—especially the impact a suicide has on those who remain behind. The author juxtaposes the story of Kim's death with the challenges of becoming a mother and her own exuberant experience of raising a son. This is a book that explores all aspects of our familial relationships—between mothers and sons, fathers and daughters—but particularly the tender and enduring bonds between sisters.

TWO KISSES FOR MADDY: A MEMOIR OF LOSS & LOVE

Matthew Logelin. New York: Grand Central Pub, 2011, 262 p.

Now, plagued by guilt, she has become a fixture at the cemetery where William is buried, visiting his grave daily, waiting for answers she knows will never come. One day, she sees an old woman whose grief mirrors her own. Fascinated, she watches the woman leave a letter on a nearby grave. Dovie ignores her conscience and reads the letter and immediately needs to know the rest of the story.

THE LOSS OF ALL LOST THINGS

Amina Gautier. Denver: Elixir, 2016, 200 p.

The fifteen stories in The Loss of All Lost Things explore the unpredictable ways in which characters negotiate, experience, and manage various forms of loss. These characters lose loved ones; they lose their security and self-worth; they lose children; they lose their ability to hide and shield their emotions; they lose their reputations, their careers, their hometowns, and their life savings. Often depicting the awkward moments when characters are torn between decision and outcome, The Loss of All Lost Things focuses on moments of regret and yearning.

UMAMI

Laia Jufresa and Sophie Hughes. London: Oneworld Publications, 2016, 273 p.

Deep in the heart of Mexico City, where five houses cluster around a sun-drenched courtyard, lives Ana, a precocious twelve-year-old who spends her days buried in Agatha Christie novels to forget the mysterious death of her little sister years earlier. Over the summer she decides to plant a milpa in her backyard, and as she digs the ground and plants her seeds, her neighbors in turn delve into their past. The ripple effects of grief, childlessness, illness and displacement saturate their stories, secrets seep out and questions emerge—Who was my wife? Why did my Mom leave? Can I turn back the clock? And how could a girl who knew how to swim drown?

FISH IN EXILE

Vi Khi Nao. Minneapolis: Coffee House Press, 2016, 194 p.

GRIEF IS THE THING WITH FEATHERS

Max Porter. London: Faber & Faber, 2015, 114 p.

In a London flat, two young boys face the unbearable sadness of their mother's sudden death. Their father, a Ted Hughes scholar and scruffy romantic, imagines a future of well-meaning visitors and emptiness. In this moment of despair they are visited by Crow – antagonist, trickster, healer, babysitter. This sentimental bird is drawn to the grieving family and threatens to stay until they no longer need him. As weeks turn to months and the pain of loss gives way to memories, the little unit of three starts to heal.

COME BACK

Rudy Wiebe. Toronto: Vintage Canada, 2015, 268 p.

Hal Wiens, a retired professor, is mourning the sudden death of his loving wife, Yo. To get through each day, he relies on the bare comfort of routine and regular phone calls to his children Dennis and Miriam, who live in distant cities with their families. One snowy April morning, while drinking coffee with his Dené friend Owl in south-side Edmonton, he sees a tall man in an orange downfill jacket walk past on the sidewalk. The jacket, the posture, the head and hair are unmistakable: it's his beloved oldest son, Gabriel. But it can't be – Gabriel killed himself 25 years ago. The sighting throws Hal's inert life into tumult. While trying to track down the man, he is irresistibly compelled to revisit the diaries, journals and pictures Gabe left behind, to unfold the mystery of his son's death.

FALLING OUT OF TIME

David Grossman. New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 2014, 193 p.

It begins in a small village, in a kitchen, where a man announces to his wife that he is leaving, embarking on a journey in search of their dead son. The man, called simply Walking Man, paces in ever-widening circles around the town. One after another, all manner of townsfolk fall into step with him, each enduring his or her own loss. The walkers raise questions of grief and bereavement: Can death be overcome by an intensity of speech or memory? Is it possible, even for a fleeting moment, to call to the dead and free them from their death?

PACK UP THE MOON

Rachael Herron. New York: NAL Accent, 2014, 355 p.

Three years after a horrible tragedy took her son and tore her family apart, artist Kate Monroe is beginning to pick up the pieces of her life and move on. Pree is the child Kate never knew and never forgot. But Pree has questions that Kate isn't sure she's ready to answer. For one thing, she never told Pree's father, her high school sweetheart and ex-husband, Nolan, that they had a daughter. For another, Kate hasn't spoken to Nolan for three years, not since the accident that took their nine-year-old son from them. But to keep Pree from leaving forever, Kate will have to confront the secrets that have haunted her since her son died and discover if the love of her family is strong enough to survive even the most heartbreaking of betrayals.

MY JUNE

Danial Neil. Vancouver: Ronsdale Press, 2014, 280 p.

In this novel, Danial Neil explores the world of Reuben Dale after the sudden death from a stroke of his beloved wife, June. Neil takes us inside suffering to show us the thoughts and feelings of the one left behind. Lost without the woman he has loved and leaned on, Reuben wanders aimlessly for a time in the little town of Seaside on the Sunshine Coast where he had retired with his wife with expectations of leisure time to sail. But now their sailboat, my June, named after his wife, remains tied to the dock. Ironically, just when he is beginning to develop a new place for himself in the daily life of Seaside, Reuben finds his past rising up to confront him, to demand radically new measures.

Her parents are determined that Lydia will fulfill the dreams they were unable to pursue – in Marilyn's case that her daughter become a doctor rather than a homemaker, in James's case that Lydia be popular at school, a girl with a busy social life and the center of every party. When Lydia's body is found in the local lake, the delicate balancing act that has been keeping the Lee family together tumbles into chaos.

THE SHADOW YEAR

Hannah Richell. New York: Grand Central Publishing, 2014, 392 p.

Still grieving the death of her prematurely delivered infant, Lila finds a welcome distraction in renovating a country house she's recently inherited. Surrounded by blueprints and plaster dust, though, she finds herself drawn into the story of a group of idealistic university grads from thirty years before, who'd thrown off the shackles of bourgeois city life to claim the cottage and rely only on each other on the land. But utopia-building can be fraught with unexpected peril, and when the fate of the group is left eerily unclear, Lila turns her attention to untangling a web of secrets to uncover the shocking truth of what happened that fateful year, in order to come to terms with her own loss and build a new future for herself.

SING IN THE MORNING, CRY AT NIGHT

Barbara J. Taylor. New York: Akashic Books, 2014, 319 p.

FLEA CIRCUS: A BRIEF BESTIARY OF GRIEF

Mandy Keifetz. Kalamazoo: Western Michigan University, 2012, 201 p.

Pascal's Wager and performing fleas. The Haunted Mansion of Long Branch and an old dockside bar. Raceway Park and a pristine 1971 Plymouth Road Runner. A cat named Altamont. These are all that stand between a young mathematician and madness as she attempts to make sense of her lover's suicide. Narrow margins, you say? Not much to place between a slip of a broken-hearted Jersey Girl and the Abyss? Indeed, it is a treacherous twelve seconds on the quarter mile, hilarious and harrowing by turn. Blink and you'll miss it.

THE CAT

Edeet Ravel. Toronto: Penguin, 2012, 221 p.

Single mother Elise is completely devoted to her eleven-year-old son; he is her whole world. But that world is destroyed in one terrifying moment when her son is killed in a car accident just outside their home. Suddenly alone, surrounded by memories, Elise faces a future that feels unspeakably bleak—and pointless. Lost, angry, and desolate, Elise rejects everyone who tries to reach out to her. But as despair threatens to engulf her, she realizes, to her horror, that she cannot join her son: She must take care of his beloved cat.

THE GRIEVERS

Marc Schuster. Sag Harbor: Permanent Press, 2012, 176 p.

When Charley Schwartz learns that an old high school pal has killed himself, he agrees to help his alma mater organize a memorial service to honor his fallen comrade. Soon, however, devastation turns to disgust as Charley discovers that his friend's passing means less to the school than the bottom line. As the memorial service quickly degenerates into a fundraising fiasco, Charley must also deal with a host of other quandaries.

THE GRIEF OF OTHERS

Leah Hager Cohen. New York: Riverhead Books, 2012, 400 p.

The Ryries have suffered a loss: the death of a baby just fifty-seven hours after his birth. Without words to express their grief, the parents, John and Ricky, try to return to their previous lives. Struggling to regain a semblance of normalcy for themselves and for their two older children, they find themselves pretending not only that little has changed, but that their marriage, their family, have always been intact. Yet in the aftermath of the baby's death, long-suppressed uncertainties about their relationship come roiling to the surface. A dreadful secret emerges with reverberations that reach far into their past and threaten their future.

SWAMPLANDIA!

Karen Russell. New York: Vintage Books, 2011, 400 p.

This novel takes us to the swamps of the Florida Everglades, and introduces us to Ava Bigtree, an unforgettable young heroine. Ava's mother, the park's indomitable headliner, has just died; her sister, Ossie, has fallen in love with a spooky character known as the Dredgeman, who may or may not be an actual ghost; and her brilliant big brother, Kiwi, who dreams of becoming a scholar, has just defected to the World of Darkness in a last-ditch effort to keep their family business from going under. Ava's father, affectionately known as Chief Bigtree, is AWOL, and that leaves Ava, a resourceful but terrified thirteen, to manage ninety eight gators as well as her own grief.

Tom Hart. New York: St. Martin's Press, 2016, 261 p.

Rosalie Lightning is Eisner-nominated cartoonist Tom Hart's beautiful and touching graphic memoir about the untimely death of his young daughter, Rosalie. His heart-breaking and emotional illustrations strike readers to the core, and take them along his family's journey through loss. Hart uses the graphic form to articulate his and his wife's on-going search for meaning in the aftermath of Rosalie's death, exploring themes of grief, hopelessness, rebirth, and eventually finding hope again.

JUST SO HAPPENS

Fumio Obata. New York: Abrams ComicArts, 2015, 159 p.

Yumiko was born in Japan but has made a life in London, losing herself in its cosmopolitan bustle. She has a gallery show of her art, a good job, and a good guy she plans to marry. The culture she grew up in seems very far away – until her brother phones with the news that their father has died. Yumiko returns to Tokyo and finds herself immersed in the rituals of death while also plunged into the rituals of life – fish bars, bullet trains, pagodas – as she confronts the question of where her future really lies.

FISH

Bianca Bagnarelli. London: Nobrow Ltd., 2014, 24 p.

It is the summer after Milo's mother and father were involved in a fatal accident and his cousins are visiting at his Grandparents' crowded house in the Cote D'Azur. Despite the warm, familial setting, Milo cannot escape the grim spectre of death that seems to loom everywhere, he is morbidly fascinated by its presence. He sees it wherever he looks, whatever he does, and the fragility of his own existence plagues his every thought. So, when a missing girl is found drowned on a public beach, Milo thinks that seeing her will finally lift the veil of the great unknown and provide him with answers to the questions that have overwhelmed him since the day he lost everything.

THE NEW NORMAL

Ashley Little. Victoria: Orca Book Publishers, 2013, 222 p.

Tamar Robinson knows a lot about loss—more than any teenager should. Her younger sisters are dead, her parents are adrift in a sea of grief, and now Tamar is losing her hair. Nevertheless, she navigates her rocky life as best she can, not always with grace, but with her own brand of twisted humor. She joins the chess club with her friend Roy, earns a part in the school production of The Wizard of Oz, buys an awesome wig, lands a crappy job, gets invited to the prom (by three different guys!) and helps her parents re-enter the land of the living. What Tamar lacks in tact (and hair), she makes up for in sheer tenacity.

The indomitable Auntie Aphrodite, meanwhile, is hundreds of miles away on a farm in Crete, and she is not likely to jump on a plane to come to East Finchley anytime soon. But at least Melon has The Story. The Story is the Fouraki family fairy tale. A story is something. Balanced with tenderness and humor, this time-shifting novel offers a narrator by turns angry and vulnerable, hurt and defiant as she struggles with sudden grief—and the unfolding process of finding out who she really is.

RUMBLE

Ellen Hopkins. New York: Margaret K. McElderry Books, 2014, 546 p.

Matthew Turner knows it doesn't get better. His younger brother Luke was bullied mercilessly after one of Matt's friends outed Luke to the whole school, and when Luke called Matt – on the brink of suicide – Matt was too wrapped up in his new girlfriend to answer the phone. Now Luke is gone, and Matt's family is falling apart. No matter what his girlfriend Hayden says about forgiveness, there's no way Matt's letting those he blames off the hook — including himself. As Matt spirals further into bitterness, he risks losing Hayden, the love of his life. But when her father begins to pressure the school board into banning books because of their homosexual content, he begins to wonder if he and Hayden ever had anything in common.

DEAR VINCENT

Mandy Hager. Auckland: Random House New Zealand, 2013, 227 p.

17 year old Tara McClusky's life is hard. She shares the care of her paralysed father with her domineering, difficult mother, forced to cut down on her hours at school to help support the family with a part-time rest home job. She's very much alone, still grieving the loss of her older sister Van, who died five years before. Her only source of consolation is her obsession with art —and painting in particular. Most especially she is enamoured with Vincent Van Gogh: she has read all his letters and finds many parallels between the tragic story of his life and her own.

ONE LAST HUG: THREE DAYS AT GRIEF CAMP

Irene Taylor Brodsky, HBO. 2014, 37 min.

Trailer: <http://onelasthug.com/trailer/>

One in 7 American children will experience the death of a loved one before the age of 20. Sadly, few are prepared to deal with the grief that follows. From profound sadness and heartbreak to confusion and anger, a child's grief can be devastating. It can also be lonely. At a time in life when fitting in is important, grief can make kids feel different and isolated from their peers. Fortunately, there's a place where grieving children can go to be understood.

KIDS TALKIN'ABOUT DEATH

Sue Huff, National Film Board of Canada. 2005, 19 min.

Kids Talkin' About Death is an insightful look into how kids see and interpret death, from the loss of a parent to helping a grieving friend. Candid, charming and astute, the kids bring death out into the open in a positive way. The taboo of death and the afterlife is explored through honest and at times playful conversations and animation.
