Hopes for mail strike end seen dim as offer refused

Unofficial reports from postal union locals across Canada early today indicated the majority of 24,000 striking postal workers rejected the latest government offer of a settlement, and the strike, which started July 18, enters its 22nd day.

month contract retroactive to Aug. 1, 1967.
IN MARATHON SESSION
The government's latest offer was hammered out Tuesday in a marathon bargaining session which ended just before Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau was to have met his cabinet for discussions on possible parliamentary action to end the strike.

jecting the offer while isolated workers jeered and heckled their national leaders when the terms were announced at a meeting.

The union leaders refused to disclose the results of the vote and said the ballot boxes would be sent to national headquarters in Ottawa today for tabulation.

Catharines, Thorold, Preston, Waterloo, Windsor, Sarnia and Sudbury rejected the offer.
Ontario centres where the settlement was accepted included Oakville, Brantford, Orillia and Kapusking where the vote was about 70 per cent in favor.

group of Sherbrooke's striking postal employees file out of the Tuque Rouge Club late yesterday morning after a union vote was taken on the latest wage increase proposal of the

New bill

QUEBEC (CP) — Maurice Bellemare, Quebec labor minister, says he will introduce in the next session of the legislature a bill which would put an end to inter-union raiding and establish the worker's right to join the union of his choice.

Speaking to reporters Wednesday prior to a cabinet meeting, Mr. Bellemare said he decided to draw up such a bill after receiving the report of a committee representing the government, the Confederation of National Trade Unions, the Quebec Federation of Labor and other labor organizations.

Stone drivers

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Bands of young Negroes set fire to cars, stoned white motorists and looted stores in a five-block area of northwest Miami Wednesday night in a disturbance touched off when police massed at a rally aimed at airing problems facing Negroes.

Some 25 persons were injured, including two Negroes who police said were shot by unknown gunmen.

Invade valley

SAIGON — (AP) — American and South Vietnamese troops have invaded the A Shau Valley for the second time in 3½ months, disrupting the major Communist supply base again as part of their campaign to blunt the big North Vietnamese-Viet Cong offensive expected in the next month or so.

A fleet of 200 helicopters landed more than 3,000 soldiers of the US 101st Air Cavalry Division and the South Vietnamese ley in the northern part of South Vietnam Sunday and Monday, but announcement of the operation was withheld until today for security reasons.

Causes worry

OTTAWA —(CP)— The cabinet decision to shift the Medical Research Council into the federal health department from a virtually autonomous position as an agent of Parliament is causing serious worry in the scientific community.

Negotiations still are going on about the position the council will occupy under the new setup but informants said Wednesday it appears that some council powers will be limited.

Says union skims over wages

OTTAWA (CP) — With the final decision on the postal strike in the hands of the workers, the government entered a claim Wednesday night that union leaders understated the wage value of the proposed settlement.

to be known until Friday.
If individual members buy the agreement, the mails could start moving again this weekend for the first time since the strike began July 18. If they reject it, there is a strong probability that Parliament will be summoned into special session to deal with the strike.

Smaller Ontario centres led the revolt against the government offer and by early today it was clear that the big Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa locals were bitterly divided over the terms.
In Montreal, 5,000 postal carie, co-chairmen of the Council of Postal Unions which bargained with the government, cals outlining the gist of the agreement and recommending the workers approve it.

Mrs. Wilfrid Beaucage's prediction of a cold July with possible frost came out partly right . . . the last couple of weeks were pretty chilly all right but nowhere near frost . . . she has predicted a pretty cold first 21 days in August brought on by a prevailing north wind . . . well it's been pretty muggy so far . . . for the rest she says: there are five changes of the moon, bringing in warmer weather . . . clouds on the 12th may save some crops from getting frost-bitten or damaged . . . the hot August sun will bring foggy nights which may also protect crops . . . after the change to a New Moon on the 23rd, the weather will get much warmer . . . The Sherbrooke Hospital prize for the top student operating room nurse, Class of '68, was donated by Dr. R. Paulette.

Paul Breton, Danville police and fire chief who announced his resignation from the post two weeks ago, will be taking the position as inquiry officer for the Sherbrooke Welfare Service after his resignation takes effect in August . . . Mr. Breton is a 27-year veteran of police work all over the Eastern Townships . . . Noel Ashby, Industrial Relations Manager, Vilas Industries in Cowansville is off to Bermuda later this month. Noel, fulfilling a lifelong ambition, will head up the Bermuda Hotel Keepers Labor Relations Association . . . One of Knowlton's master chefs had his leg pulled not too long ago . . . his manager gave him a box of polystyrene pellets, announcing that it was a new type of instant rice . . . reliable sources say the chef is now wearing his glasses . . . Most of us consider ourselves very lucky to find, once or twice in a life time, a four-leaved clover . . . but Bernard Hamelin of Mansonville found not only clover with four leaflets on the same stem . . . but a number of stems having from six to nine leaflets to a stem . . . perhaps the seed companies are putting out a new kind of clover (more leaves—more protein).

Fifteen-year-old Linda Searles of Derby Line swam a pretty frigid seven miles in three hours when she tackled spring-fed Lake Seymour . . . Miss Gerry Cahill, of Island Pond, head instructor at Salem Lake 4-H Club camp accompanied the youngster . . . Linda learned to swim with the Frontier Swim project and this summer also swam Salem Lake . . . The congregation at the United Church in Birchton is fully convinced that they have seen the working of Divine Providence . . . in the interval between a minister leaving the Parish and another coming in a lay-speaker from a nearby town consented to take the service for the day 9:30 a.m. as usual . . . 9:30 no speaker, 9:40 no speaker . . . finally the organist played the Prelude, but that did not bring him either . . . a telephone call established that the gentleman was at his home, waiting for time to start the thirteen-mile trip to be in Birchton at 11 a.m. . . . a misunderstanding as to time . . . then it developed that there was a Minister of the Gospel in the audience . . . from Syracuse, N.Y. . . . who was holidaying in the area . . . he volunteered to fill in.

Says Lake Memphremagog is polluted

SWIMMING MECCA — Lake Memphremagog, one of the province's most popular summer attractions, is polluted according to American water pollution authority Carl Strandberg.

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — Lake Memphremagog is definitely polluted and the worst points are near Georgeville and Magog, as well as near Newport where a small heavily polluted creek discharges into the lake, Carl Strandberg, Consultant to the United States' Pollution Administrator, told a capacity audience at the final lecture of the McGill Geography Summer School here last night.

He said it will probably cost a million dollars a year to control the pollution problem in Canada and it will cost one billion dollars a year in the U.S. It is good economics to clean up the polluted water, Mr. Strandberg said, and he pointed out on a slide of Lake Memphremagog where light spots warn of pollution.

In 1909 a treaty was signed between Canada and the United States known as the I.J.C., International Joint Commission, and when problems arise on either side of the Border it is referred to the advisory board, then investigated. Lake Memphremagog, he said, may be recommended to the I.J.C.

Mr. Strandberg spoke on an international situation between Minnesota and Ontario concerning paper waste and another concerning the St. Lawrence River.

Slides were showing New York water front where textile dye, slaughter house blood and other pollution waste is dumped in the water.

Of some 30 pictures of pollution, 19 showed red and the others not, the 19 had odors. Another international problem on slide and referred to by Mr. Strandberg was between United States and Mexico at the mouth of the Colorado river which the US is doing its best to correct.

New words are coined, Mr. Strandberg said, such as dams and barriers where water is low in oxygen and blocks a river to migrating fish as much as if a dam was built.

Detergent in water will in many cases show up as fluorescent and show on a slide. Another slide where waste from fifty thousand chickens killed a day goes into three lagoons and eventually into Washington.

With slides Mr. Strandberg showed how the presence of the algae tells a story to the scientific study being made. The worst pollution discharge he has ever found, Mr. Strandberg said, was in the harbor at Salem, Massachusetts, where some fifteen to thirty million tons of raw sewage finished the shell fish industry and killed lobster fishing.

The major water pollutant in 17 states and possibly in Ontario is the Yellow Boy, sulphuric acid, dumped from smelting plants.

Several questions were put to Mr. Strandberg and some excellent answers came from him. The problems of Lake Memphremagog and its watersheds will be continued tonight at a panel discussion at Pierce Hall, David House, Stanstead College at 7:45 p.m.

Mr. Strandberg was introduced by Dr. R. N. Drummond, Director of the Summer School and thanked by Dr. Lundgren, head of the Regional Study plan.

Stanstead councillors meet

STANSTEAD — (Special) — The regular meeting of the Stanstead Municipal council took place in the Council Rooms at the Registry building on Monday evening.

Representatives of the Sherbrooke Regional Welfare Council were present and spoke on their present campaign and how the money is raised as well as how the money is spent. A sum of $25 was voted to the campaign.

It was reported that the survey of the Meekren property has been completed. A large portion of the land was sold by the Municipality to Mr. Bachand and a portion retained by the Village to widen the entrance onto Maheux street off Dufferin Road.

People having property on Pierce avenue were present and asked that a drain for surface water be installed as soon as possible as many complained of water in their basements in rainy and wet seasons. This is to be looked into and done soon.

Mayor E. J. Struthers stated that Mills tree service will trim some 12 trees along Dufferin Street and remove one diseased elm.

The Municipal judge, Albert Fregeau, Q.C. had asked for some minor changes in the traffic bylaws. They will be studied and discussed at the September meeting.

Until such time as proper notices can be posted in the Hackett Park, it was decided to have a person there in charge to watch out for unaccompanied small children and to keep children from playing in the newly planted hedges and so forth.

Ernest Channell, a resident of Stanstead for many years presented the Council with a fine photograph of the old Stanstead railway station and band, this is to be framed by the Council and hung in the Council room.

The delinquent rental tax list was checked by Mayor Struthers and the councillors attending and will be placed in the hands of Mr. Fregeau for collections.

JMC Orford Camp holds closing concert

MOUNT ORFORD — (Staff) — The 1968 Orford Festival set against the scenic backdrop of Lake Memphremagog, has been busily wrapped up in musical sounds and is now ready to hold the closing concert of the summer course's second period.

The French composer Marius Constant, who is presently teaching the interpretation of contemporary music at the Orford JMC Centre, has grouped several of the students and professors for the concert. The program will be devoted entirely to 20th Century music.

The highlight of the concert will be the premiere performance of a trio entitled "Piece pour trois" which Marius Constant composed for this occasion. The performers will be Jopp Meyer, French horn player from Holland; Edward Housnel, double bass, from West Hill, Ontario (both students at the Orford JMC Centre); and Mr. Constant at the piano.

Rock Island council gives aid to welfare

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — Town Council here on Monday voted $50 to the Sherbrooke Regional Welfare Council whose representatives appealed for support for the work they are doing in the Border areas.

A delegation demanded that a section of Passenger Avenue, from the IOOF Hall to the turn be re-paved. The request will be studied by the roads committee.

BRIEFLETS

AYER'S CLIFF — The Annual Smorgasbord, sponsored by the U.C.W. will be held in the Beulah United Church Hall, on Saturday, August 10th, beginning at 5:00 o'clock. Adm. $1.75 and 75c.

SHERBROOKE — Dr. Fletcher's office will be open August 13th.

MARBLETON — St. Paul's Guild food sale and tea, Saturday, Aug. 10th, 3:00-5:00 p.m.

The valuation roll was approved after attention had been given letters of protest. The tax rate will be levied at a later date.

A grant of $150 was authorized to the Frontier Swim Project.

It was decided to levy a fine of $50 to persons dumping rubbish at the Town of Rock Island Dump in unauthorized places, such as over the fence and gate and the road.

An attempt will be made to try to keep Rock Island's Main street free of large trailer trucks by re-routing them to Route 91. When two or three or more of these trucks are at the Main Street customs it almost blocks the street and is a hazard.

An application for a building permit was approved to Maurice Bushnell to build a car wash in the western section of the town.

Association of teachers of band music will be holding a two-day congress at the Orford JMC Centre at this time and will attend the concert. The public is also invited to attend.

The program will include the Chorale from "Iphigeneie en Tauride" by Gluck; Evocation by Franck; Symphonie militaire by Gossec; Serenade number 10 for wind instruments by W. A. Mozart; Toccata by Frescobaldi; Ouverture for Harmoniemusik by Mendelssohn; Procession and Interlude by F. Muller.

Urge farmers to take role

If local farmers took a more active part in the work of their respective Regional Economic Councils, their problems would be studied in more detail and this would speed up solutions to these problems.

This is what the Eastern Townships Regional Economic Council pointed out in a press release yesterday. The release said farmers should become interested in these councils which are steadily becoming more important in our economic life.

To explain what the council can do for them, the ETREC directors met on Tuesday with members of the administrative councils of the UCC and the Union of Industrial Milk Producers.

The Quebec Economic Orientation Council, which has determined new economic structures for development, has been replaced by the Quebec Planification Office.

The new Office and the regional economic councils are part of the government's long term planning for economic solvency in Canada.

In 1967, 15 regional councils were accredited by the Quebec Economic Orientation Council.

The Regional Council coordinates the activities and efforts of all those who are working for the economic development of the region. This saves time and money and prevents the same work being done more than once.

The press release said the council members keep various organizations informed of what their region's other groups are doing for economic progress.

Settlement is no real solution

It is unlikely that we will know before tonight or tomorrow whether or not the settlement reached by negotiators in the postal strike is acceptable to post office employees across the country.

But even if it is, nothing has really been solved. The country has been deprived of a vital service for far longer than it can afford. And the government has indicated it does not intend to change its policy of allowing the right to strike in such segments of the civil service as the post office.

This is to be deplored. It was a mistake to grant the right to strike to public employees engaged in important public services. A government statement yesterday said that the negotiations concluded Tuesday night "underscore our belief in the principle of collective bargaining in the public service and demonstrates clearly that substantial progress is being made in this area."

As Churchill would have said: "Some progress!" While the principle of collective bargaining is much to be desired in as wide an area as possible, in the public sector of the economy, it is folly to link with it the right to strike. There can be no valid comparison between the strike weapon in private industry and in public service. When postal employees or others providing a vital, monopolistic service go on strike, the havoc that is wrought is far greater in scope and in its effects than in the private sector. For this reason, the right to strike in the hands of public servants is a far more potent weapon than it is for employees in the private sector of the economy.

In the case of the postal dispute, there can be little doubt that if the right to strike is maintained, we will have another stoppage of postal service when contract talks come up again.

If the present settlement is ratified, all indications are that it will be done reluctantly. Preparations, it may be assumed, will be immediately begun for a bigger and better strike next time, probably bolstered by strike funds.

Meanest man in town is the fellow who leaves yesterday's paper on the bus seat.

Pontiff defends himself

It is rare indeed for a Pope to find it necessary to defend publicly an encyclical of his. Yet it is in precisely this position that Pope Paul has found himself. His explanation of the views he has adopted against artificial contraceptive methods was designed chiefly to clarify his view to members of the Roman Catholic church, and to still some of the clamor of disappointment that surrounded the publication of the encyclical.

But it is obvious now that while the Pope's views have been clearly explained, the clamor has not been stilled, not even among Roman Catholics. By the score, prominent Roman Catholic theologians and groups have found themselves disagreeing with each other on the social implications of the Pope's position. For this reason, the reaction to Pope Paul's encyclical has important ramifications for non-Catholics as well as Catholics.

This may well be the rock on which the ship of ecumenicalism will founder. Most non-Catholics simply cannot accept the ignoring of vast social and economic problems the encyclical implies. To literally millions of the world's "have-nots," both in this hemisphere and in the other, practical, scientific and effective artificial birth control methods hold out the only hope for a future that will contain more than stunted, starved generations.

Humanity, not religion, is the very nub of the issue. On it, Pope Paul and non-Catholics, indeed, many of his own followers, are now poles apart.

If you're waiting for the phone to ring, get in the shower.

His Master's Voice

When all others fail Fast-talking Giovanni Leone leads Italy out of chaos

ROME (AP)—Whenever things run amok in the tangled jungle of Italian politics, the president calls in Mr. Fixit, likable Giovanni Leone.

Twice in the last five years, fast-talking Leone has accepted the premiership when all others have failed. Twice he has steered the country out of political chaos.

Yet the affable Neapolitan with the large nose plays a poignant role in Italian politics. In days of normalcy, he retires to obscurity. He is called in for help only when all appears lost.

"Don't worry, I won't stay long," 59-year-old Leone told a party meeting recently after winning a confidence vote in the Chamber of Deputies by a margin of five votes. "I am here to keep things in order."

Order, in present-day Italy, means continuation of the centre-left government, a coalition of Christian Democrats, Socialists and Republicans.

Before the alliance was formed five years ago Leone acted as midwife for six months, holding the premiership until the political manoeuvring was over and the centre-left was born.

This summer, after the Socialists suffered an election setback and bolted the coalition, he was back at his old caretaker post, with his grey hair, black-rimmed spectacles and white bristle moustache. When the Socialists meet at their October congress and presumably decide to rejoin, with a more radical platform, Leone is expected to step down without any fuss.

He will return to his lifetime Senate seat, awarded last year by President Giuseppe Saragat for meritorious services to the nation.

Leone has always shunned the party game of patronage, influence and intrigue which characterizes Italian politics. In his own Christian Democrat party, he stands at the centre and has few connections.

But his reputation for utter integrity and ability to think and express himself clearly has made him the master mediator of Parliament.

His motto is "seccati, ma fallo" (do it despite the boredom), and with his cajoling smile and long conferences, he has convinced the Socialists at least to abstain in Parliament in confidence votes in order to secure some summertime stability.

Leone's program is basically a trimmed-down version of the centre-left. He has given priority to social welfare and education problems.

Made concessions
But he has made two concessions to left-wing parties, including the Socialists, which have infuriated his own party.

He has pledged to force the Vatican to pay taxes on dividends of its Italian stocks, which were exempt until now.

He also has promised to pick members of all parties for the Italian delegation to the Council of Europe. This would make Italy the first European country to admit Communists to its council delegation.

An expert on penal law who has written more than 50 books on law and a 2,000-page treatise on Italian penal law, Leone spends his life between Rome and Naples. Beside teaching and his law practice, he likes to watch soccer games, collect Byzantine icons and eat spicy and heavy Mediterranean food.

He has a dog named Moro after a former premier, but says he only picked the name because the dog's white tuft of hair reminded him of his predecessor.

His wife, Vittoria, is a stunning brunette with a radiant smile, who has been an asset to his career. They have three sons: Mauro, Paulo and Giancarlo.

"You just can't compare us," he commented after Italian papers headlined The Return of Cincinnatus in late June.

He recalled his five full terms in every Parliament since the war, his presidency of the Chamber of Deputies and his abortive try in 1964 at winning the job of president of the republic.

"After all," he says, "I stay in Parliament. I teach, I am a lawyer, I am active—and I have gardening."

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — It took mankind from the dawn of history to the dawn of the modern era to evolve a workable system of legality within our present concepts of social organization based on the existence of a multitude of sovereign states.

Every one of these states, regardless of its political structure, has its own laws and a law-enforcing machinery which maintains peace and order within its boundaries.

Bloody feuds between individuals and clans, which were common in earlier times, have been practically eliminated; the state-conscious society will not tolerate them, knowing well that such return to the jungle law would destroy the protective framework of the state and make civilized living impossible.

Hence, the willingness of most individuals in all the advanced societies to submit to the rule of law.

As long as relatively short distances and natural barriers — such as rivers and mountains — posed formidable obstacles to surprise military attacks, there was no pressing need for a serious attempt at extending the concept of legality from relations among individuals within each state to relations among nations.

Now, when rockets armed with nuclear warheads can span distances between continents in a matter of minutes, the need is self-evident.

The ideal solution would be a universally accepted system of international law administered by a world government with adequate means to enforce it.

May reach that goal

Mankind may conceivably reach the goal in some distant future but until that happens it has to cope with the reality of sovereign states which show little willingness to go beyond the stage of self-protective alliances, let alone to merge into one supra-national whole.

The best we can hope for in our time is gradually improving co-operation between independent states which, in their own interest, recognize the need for some inviolable rules of conduct on the world scene. The search for a practical expression of the idealistic concept of international legality found its first experimental form in the League of Nations which tried but failed in its attempt to replace war by arbitration.

The experiment failed because the idealistic goal of the organizationally - weak league was too far removed from the reality of independently acting sovereign states.

The league's successor, the United Nations, though organizationally more sophisticated, suffers from the same remoteness from reality.

Spotlighted
This seldom-discussed aspect of the impotence of the UN was spotlighted by Dean Acheson, the former U.S. secretary of state, in his recent speech to the American Bar Association in which he accused the ivory tower dreamers among international lawyers, of confusing and misleading the public by "the most delusive of all slogans — 'world peace through world law.'"

"Those of whom I complain," Mr. Acheson said, "are not the peddlers of spurious panaceas of peace, not those who are over-impressed with the role of international law but those who would impose upon states in the name of law their own subjective conceptions of justice."

The burden of Mr. Acheson's argument was that what passes for international law among the academic dreamers is a conglomeration of "shared subjectivities" which they self-righteously try to force through the United Nations on an international reality they do not understand.

Said Mr. Acheson: "As is so often the case with the righteous, deeply convinced of the righteousness of their cause, their impulse is to 'snatch the knitted cord from the hand of God and deal out murderous blows.'"

"These blows are usually directed against the weak by suborning the subjectivities of the strong. This process also furnishes the fig leaf of legal respectability for otherwise naked aggression."

As an example, he cited the distortion and misapplication of the UN charter to the situation in Rhodesia — "A country that has done us no harm and threatens no one" — and went on to say:

Four guests were present including Mr. Adolphe Calogari, of San Francisco, Calif.; Mr. Louis Godbout, of Waterloo, and two visiting Kiwanians from Granby, Messrs. Clayton Ball and George Dureault, Past District Lieut. - Governor of this district.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The mansard roof, steeply sloped on all four sides and used as an extra story, was not invented by Francois Mansart or Mansard, after whom it was named. The World Almanac notes that Mansart revived this roof style and gave it vogue during the 17th century. It had been used in the 16th century, especially by Pierre Lescot in the Louvre Palace.

Financial report

From Greenshields Ltd.

The industrial averages at close yesterday, Montreal up 0.47, Toronto up 0.78, New York was closed. Active on our board Calgary Power 21 1/2, Imperial Oil 76 1/2, Atlantic Sugar 6, Trizec 2.25. In Toronto Alco sold at 16 1/2. Salada was off 2 1/2 to 11 1/2.

Net earnings of Atlantic sugar for the first half amounted to $876,708 or 10 cents a common share. Sales totalled $23,557,000. W. J. R. Paton, president, says that because results from the company's east coast fishing and pulp subsidiaries were included for the first time in the first half, no accurate comparison could be made with the 1967 first six months when the company reported net of $2,959,379 or 59 cents a common share on its sugar operations alone. Sales in that period were $17,533,938. Mr. Paton says first half sales and earnings from sugar operations were "very satisfactory" and the outlook for the balance of the year is "excellent." However, the company's fishing and pulp mill operations were very poor in the first six months and no immediate upturn is expected.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED: BA Oil 27 1/2 cents quarterly, pay Oct. 1st, record Sept. 3. Canada Steamship Lines, 50 cents semi-annual on the common, pay Oct. 15th, record Sept. 20. Paton 10 cents, pay Sept. 13, record August 23.

Dorothy Frankel, federation president, said Wednesday parents should be prepared for any development in the negotiations between three unions representing the province's English and French-speaking teachers on the one hand and the employer group — the government and the Protestant and Roman Catholic school board federations — on the other.

Along with the questionnaire, a summary of the school boards' and teachers' respective positions and possible courses of action by parents will be distributed.

'School phobia' reflects the tension of our times

By AILEEN SNODDY

BROOKLYN, N.Y.—(NEA) —Several years ago curly haired Janie came home from school one evening and was taken to stay with relatives in another section of town while her home was being remodeled.

The next morning Janie got up, dressed for school and began a three blocks' walk to meet her third-grade friends. Shortly after leaving her cousin's house Janie returned in tears, was put to bed and refused to go to school for a month.

A child psychiatrist at Malmonides Medical Center here now labels her behavior a bad case of "school phobia." In Janie's third-grade days the truant officer, teacher, family and doctor laughed it off as homesickness. Their diagnosis seemed correct, for Janie's "illness" disappeared when the family moved back to their home.

Janie's case is familiar to a majority of parents. According to Dr. Norman Sher, father of two small children, school phobia is increasing. "It reflects the tension of our times," he says quietly. "I do not consider such behavior a true phobia, though, and it touches youth from 5 to 18 but you see it mainly in children entering kindergarten and first grade."

Sher explains that his actions show an apprehension about leaving home. "I differentiate this behavior, often after a vacation, on Mondays or at the start of a new semester, from out-and-out truancy, from schizophrenia or mental illness where the child actually withdraws from life."

The child in most cases isn't afraid of school but of leaving home, he repeats. This is why it is necessary to get the youngster back in school immediately and then try to find out what is wrong.

"Don't treat school phobia like the measles and expect it to go away. It will go away but the underlying cause needs to be brought to the surface or deeper troubles may result."

Sher points out that a healthy child may hide out during the day and then go out to play when friends come home. Behind the problem may be the child's sense of tension within the family.

Although Sher suggests parents relax when a child comes up with the school-dodging symptoms, most adults remember using, he urges them, to treat the problem quickly. The child who uses a headache, stomachache, actually gets nauseous and vomits to avoid a day or two of classes or runs home from school and refuses to leave home is to Sher a reasonably healthy child.

Why, then, does he refuse to go to school?

"A mother," Sher explains, "may be afraid that something will happen to the child while he is away from home. Or she may get particularly angry with one child in the family, feel guilty about this and repress the feelings. A death in the family, an auto accident, an elderly person living within the home may bring counterconcern for the youngster. This puts him in a bind and makes him reluctant to leave home."

Sometimes a child is a borderline retardant or is having reading difficulties that disturb him but Sher does not put a child with these problems in his "school phobia" group.

Often a child, he explains, drawing on his own experience as a father, is not ready to move out, to go to nursery school or kindergarten. Even a child of six may have trouble going to school at first. With the pressure to push tots into the classroom at earlier ages, Sher shakes his head and theorizes that "there is definite folk wisdom in selecting age seven for entering school."

Whatever the age and the cause for apprehension that keeps a child home, Sher urges help from the family physician and school attendance or guidance counselors as first steps. "First get the child back into the classroom, then visit the family to find out what is happening to it to bring on the reaction."

"I believe in short term, quick help. If there is a severe maladjustment, then I would suggest it be treated as a psychiatric emergency."

"The overanxious mother needs to ask herself, 'What makes me uncomfortable about my child going to school?' and try to relax," Sher adds. "In severe cases we've had to treat the whole family."

September bride-elect feted at shower

SCOTSTOWN — Miss Kay Lawrence, a September bride-to-be, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower in St. Alban's Anglican Church Hall on August 3 with Mrs. Basil Woolley, Mrs. Walter MacKenzie and Mrs. Roy Desruisseaux as hostesses.

On arrival the bride-elect, accompanied by her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Parsons, were met at the door by the hostesses and Miss Judy Parsons presented Miss Lawrence with a corsage of red roses. They were escorted to a table, at the front of the hall, laden with attractively wrapped gifts. Blue and pink streamers were attached from the light in the ceiling to each corner of the table and baskets of flowers, placed at the front and back of the hall, completed the decorations.

Later, the hostesses, assisted by several ladies, served refreshments. A beautiful shower cake decorated in pink and white, topped by a bride under an umbrella on one corner and a gift parcel on the opposite corner, centered the table. It was flanked by white lighted candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Clara Morrison, Pompano Beach, Fla., Mrs. Rodger Heatherington, East Angus and Mrs. Louis Allaire, Montreal, were among the 40 assembled guests.

Preserve unused film in 'frig'

MONTREAL (CP) — If you want to preserve unused rolls of film, store them in your refrigerator, says Adrien Castegnier, an expert in the field of photography.

"Most people leave their unused film in a camera, thinking they will be ready to take pictures when the occasion arises, but what they forget is that the camera is often exposed to various temperature changes which may harm the film."

Mr. Castegnier, who runs Direct Film Service Inc. at Man and His World, advises amateur photographers never to leave camera equipment sitting in the sun in the back of a car or lying about on a lawn.

The 33-year-old vice-president offers a unique service to visitors to the former Expo site by letting them have, free of charge, a camera with which they can take pictures during their visit.

"We started the service because many fair-goers last year didn't bring cameras with them. Often, people come to the exhibition unexpectedly and want to take photos."

"So we lend them one of these new automatic cameras, one which uses a size 126 film that comes in a cartridge and all they pay for is the film and the processing. When they leave the fair, they can return the camera at one of our many boutiques located throughout the grounds."

URGED TO USE COLOR

To date, 35,000 customers have visited the film service and only one camera has not been returned.

"People are basically honest," says Mr. Castegnier, "and it seems when we hand them a quick course in photography they are more appreciative."

Primarily, the "instant photography" course is given to amateurs who may never have handled a camera.

"We show them how to load the automatic, merely by dropping the cartridge in the back, and we advise them to shoot in color. Black and white pictures require a good deal of photographic skill and color can often save an otherwise wasted shot. "We also tell an interested amateur to begin by framing his subject in the middle of his photo. Later, as he becomes more proficient he may place his subject to one side or in the foreground, but generally keeping it in the middle will ensure a reasonable photograph."

When it becomes dark, use a flashbulb, says the expert. And rely on a flash when photographing against the sun, to highlight hair or to get a special effect.

"When taking a color shot of people, try to frame them against a pastel background, preferably an uncluttered one. Always try to avoid having too many details in the picture."

Mr. Castegnier warns his customers that color prints cannot be made into slides. "Check the film you are buying. If the name ends with the word chrome, that means you will obtain positive pictures which can be viewed by transparency. These can be seen on a screen through a projector.

"If the film name ends with the word color, you obtain negative pictures which have to be printed on paper."

DUTCH SANDWICHES

Spread thin slices of pumpernickel or your favorite rye bread with softened butter. Arrange thinly sliced rare roast beef or ham or turkey on bread. Top with a generous mound of finely shredded imported Holland Edam or Gouda cheese. Garnish rare roast beef sandwich with cocktail sauce, the ham with mustard relish and the turkey with cranberry jelly. These sandwiches should be eaten with a knife and fork. Delicious! Great for weight-watchers watching their bread intake!

WARDEN — The marriage of Linda M., youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Talbot, Warden, Que., to Mr. Dana H. MacNeill, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. MacNeill, Charlottetown, P.E.I., was held in St. John the Divine Church, Warden, on Saturday July 13 at 12 noon. Rev. R. Keith Dickerson officiated at the ceremony and the organist was Mrs. Mary Sicard. Baskets of gladioli, mums and carnations, in white and shades of pink decorated the church, and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a floor length empire gown of white organza fashioned with a lace-covered bodice. Her cape of matching lace, centered with a panel of organza covering the bodice, fell into a full length train. The short veil was held by a small tiara of seed pearls and lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Robert Loselle, of Swanton, Vt., as matron of honor, and Miss Jean Talbot, of Brampton, Ont., bridesmaid, both sisters of the bride, wore identical floor length dresses of dotted Swiss cotton, the former in blue, the latter in yellow. The necklines were accented with chains of white daisies, and their headpieces, circlets, were covered with matching material. Each carried a nosegay of shasta daisies and ivy.

Mrs. Talbot, the bride's mother, chose a two-piece ensemble of pale blue lace, with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. MacNeill, wore a dress of aqua lace over silk with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The best man was Mr. Percy MacNeill, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Ronald Talbot, brother of the bride, and Heath Costain, cousin of the groom. A turkey dinner was served at the Legion Hall, Waterloo, following the ceremony, where the bride's table was centered with a four tier wedding cake, flanked by white tapers and bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Canadians enjoy foreign foods

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are becoming more adventurous in their eating. As a result, foods of foreign origin now account for a $150,000,000 annual share of the frozen food market. Italian, Oriental, Mexican and kosher foods lead in popularity. But dishes native to Hungary, France, Germany, Poland, Sweden and Spain are gaining a place at the table.

Ited to quaint Italian and fancy French cafes, family-owned Chinese restaurants and other such atmospheric eating places.

Anaconda Aluminum Co., a major supplier to the frozen food industry, predicts that the sales volume of frozen foreign foods will be more than doubled in the next 10 years and possibly tripled.

"Today's menu planners want convenience plus originality," says Allan N. Cooper, an executive of Anaconda Aluminum. "They find this in frozen nationality specialties."

Cooper says a survey of his company indicates that Italian foods led the popularity parade of frozen nationality specialties with $90,000,000 in sales last year. Chinese and other Oriental foods were second with sales of $30,000,000.

Mexican food—considered the fastest growing entry in the field—accounted for $25,000,000. Sales of kosher foods totaled $5,000,000.

Pizza has become a standby item; tacos and tamales vie with egg rolls and chow mein; blintzes and bagels are becoming as common as Polynesian skewered ka-bobs or sauerbraten with spatule.

Sales of foreign specialty foods don't follow traditional ethnic patterns.

In New York, for example, it is generally considered likely that Irish Catholics and other ethnic groups buy more kosher products than do Jewish people. Minneapolis, with its strong Swedish heritage, is one of the better markets for Mexican food.

The foods themselves cross ethnic and nationality lines. On the market are kosher Chinese-style turkey roast and Irish pizza.

Sher-Lenn on their way to Windsor

Houle blanks Dorval 2-0

LOOK OF DETERMINATION — Last night Norman Houle, Sherbrooke-Lennoxville Little League All-Star pitcher, hurled his third consecutive shut-out as the Sher-Lenn squad clipped Dorval 2-0. The win gave Sher-Lenn the Provincial Championship and the right to travel on to the Canadian Little League championship next week in Windsor, Ont. Who knows, after Windsor may come Williamsport and the Little League World Series. (Record photo: Gerry Lemay)

Six games ago the Sher-Lenn Little League All Stars started on the trail toward capturing the Quebec Little League Championship. It was a tough trail as the opposition they met as the games progressed got tougher.

They first met Cowansville and won that game 23-3. Yves Longpre pitched a three hitter for the Sher-Lenn squad in that one.

Valleyfield always a keen competitor were the next team and the Sher-Lenn boys took that one with a 5-0 score. Norman Houle coming up with the first of three shutouts he pitched as the playoffs continued.

Valleyfield again were defeated 6-5 with Yves Longpre and Roger Roy doing the pitching. At Dorval Norman Houle came up with his second shut-out blanking the Dorval squad 8-0. Kiwanis Maisonneuve were the next to go down to the high flying Sher-Lenners and then in the final game last night against Dorval Houle accomplished his third shutout blanking the Dorval squad 2-0 and sending the Sher-Lenn All Stars to the Canadian Little League Finals at Windsor, Ontario.

The game last night saw the same two pitchers face each other as did last Saturday afternoon. Andy Cooke was on the mound for Dorval but he in no way was the pitcher the Sher-Lenn boys met last night. In Saturday's game he only lasted five innings, but in last night's game he was in top form and only allowed six scattered hits, sending nine men down swinging.

Norman Houle allowing only two hits, these coming in the second inning, was the master, fanning 13 men in his brilliant pitching job. He didn't shine as usual at the plate going down swinging three times on three trips. Along with Houle it was the little men who were the big stars. Young Robert Laforest, besides his brilliant play at third base, came up with two lousy doubles. Diminutive Roger Roy in the same inning lashed out a single to deep centerfield that sent Laforest in with the Sher-Lenn first run. These two youngsters had a big say in the Sher-Lenn victory.

It is almost unbelievable how Coach Amedee has blended these boys into a fighting unit. Their play in every game has been almost perfect and it is hardly fair to single out any individual star.

Dubreuil and players along with members of the league executive will leave Dorval for Windsor by plane on Sunday morning. They will be there for a week. It is not certain yet when the games will start.

There will be five teams in the final, along with Sher-Lenn. One from Ontario, one from the Maritimes, one from British Columbia and one from the Prairies.

All games will be sudden death affairs with the winner going on to Williamsport, Conn., to take part in the Little League World Series. At the close of last night's game each player on the Sher-Lenn team was presented with a small trophy, and Norman Houle accepted the large Provincial Championship Trophy on behalf of his teammates. Manager Yves Dubreuil accepted the Pennant. Sher-Lenn, being the home team, took to the field first; the battery was Norm Houle and Pierre Provencher. Jim Montgomery first man to face Houle grounded out and Houle got the next two men, Hamill and Coney, on strikes. Denis Rose led-off for Sher-Lenn in the bottom of the first, bouncing out to the shortstop. The next two batters, Roy and Houle, were retired on strikes.

In the top of the second Featherstone, first man to face Houle, got the first of Dorval's two hits. The next man up went down swinging, then Bown connected for a single sending Featherstone to second. He remained there as Houle got the next two men out on strikes. In the bottom of the second Cooke had his best inning as he retired the side via the strikeout route.

Houle got two strikeouts in the top of the sixth to retire the side, Sher-Lenn winning it by a 2-0 score.

Als host Mets this evening, Cards meet Braves in Granby

With a little more than a week left in the Provincial Baseball League season Sherbrooke Alouettes seem destined to finish in no better than fourth place. The Als meet the Lachine Mets this evening at 8 p.m. at the Park Avenue Stadium.

The Als' 1968 season was a bewildering one both for their supporters and for themselves. The Thetford jinx (Sherbrooke has managed to beat the Miners once all season), late innings surges by the opposition, and losing important games both at home and on the road forced the Als out of first place on several occasions.

The Larks free-wheeling style of hit-and-run baseball was a pleasing sight, though, after last season's dismal performance by the same team. Under new coach Nick Testa, Sherbrooke auspiciously opened the 1968 season winning nine out of its first 10 games. Somehow, the team expected so much of, sputtered and died.

The hardest blows to the Als have come all season from the Thetford Miners. Against other opposition Sherbrooke held the majority of wins. On three occasions consecutive losses to the Miners have dropped the Alouettes out of first place.

The second reason for their unexpected fourth place finish could possibly be the lack of public support shown the team by Sherbrooke fans. A city which once packed an old, crumbling ballpark to watch the Sherbrooke Indians, a Major League franchise owned by the Cleveland Indians, seems to have lost its interest in the game of baseball.

Maybe the numerous changes in the team's alignment caused the obvious letdown.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Orr signs three-year contract with Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League announced Wednesday that all-star defenceman Bobby Orr has signed a three-year contract.

Terms were not disclosed. Orr, 20, has just completed his initial two-year pact with the NHL club. In 1966-67, he won the Calder Memorial Trophy as the League's outstanding rookie and last season he made the all-star team and was voted the league's top defenceman.

Orr required knee surgery in mid-season and just got back in action for the end of the regular campaign and the Stanley Cup playoffs. He had another operation after the season from which he still is recuperating.

He is a native of Parry Sound, Ont.

Olympics open semi-finals

Sherbrooke Olympics opened the semi-final series "B" playoffs with the Valleyfield Braves tonight in Valleyfield while the "A" series has the Caughnawaga Indians facing the Drummondville Athletics in Drummondville.

Sherbrooke will be going at near full strength with only two regulars out of action. Hardrock Guy Hebert is sidelined with a leg injury which could keep the hard-hitting forward out of action for the remainder of the season. Marc Brunet is also sidelined with a leg injury, believed at first to be a fracture but later X-rays showed no broken bones. The injury is believed to be pulled leg muscles.

Otherwise Sherbrooke will be at full strength. Roger Despard will be behind the bench while brother Andre and the two Dagenais' along with Jean Friche will all be in uniform tonight.

Valleyfield has announced no lineup changes for tonight's encounter. Big guns for the Braves are Larry Martin, 34 goals and 17 assists in his first 18 games. Abe Thomas, Mike Benedict and Yves Paquette.

For Sherbrooke offensively Andre Despard, Denis Dagenais, Capt. Johnny Hansen, Doug Carpenter and speedy Brian Hein all have scored well this season.

Terry Burgess, the most important cog in the wheel which carried the Olympics into the playoffs, will enter the semifinals with his first goaleer of the year award. The Olympics, their fans and supporters and everyone connected with the team are confident Sherbrooke will pull through the series. Time will tell.

Stamps scramble for last second tie with Eskies

EDMONTON (CP) — Bill Goods kicked a last-second field goal to salvage a 10-10 tie for Saskatchewan Roughriders Wednesday in a wild Western Football Conference contest with Edmonton Eskimos before 19,200 fans.

The sawoff left Roughriders in sole possession of first place in the conference standings with five points and Eskimos second with three. Rookie backfielder Silas McKinnie scored Roughriders' touchdown and Goods added the convert.

Rookie end Larry Plancke, from Queen's University, got the Eskimo touchdown and Peter Kempf converted it and booted a 41-yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

Labatt Invitation Slalom sees province-wide entry

The Labatt Invitation Slalom which is to take place this coming Sunday August 11th at the Sherbrooke Shopping Center on King Street West, has attracted drivers from across Quebec. From Quebec city we will see Bob Paradis in the new Datsun 2000 with an overhead racing cam. Bob's car finished 5th in the sports car event at the Labatt Indy this past weekend.

A Lotus 7 which has had a lot of success at the Circuit St-Jovite will be here to compete with Montreal driver Bob Roy behind the wheel.

It is expected that other cars from other parts of the Province will be on hand to compete in the Slalom event. Most of which have had a lot of experience at "Le Circuit Mont-Tremblant St-Jovite". The Sherbrooke Auto Club, organizers of the Slalom, in cooperation with Jean Maysenholder Inc., agent for La Brasserie Labatt in Sherbrooke are expecting a good turnout for the event.

The race director Andre Lachance and race organizer Guy Martin have the competition divided into three classes. In class "A" the sedan and production sports cars from 0 to 1600 cc. will race with the sports race cars of 0 to 850 cc. In class "B" the sedan and production sports cars from 1600 - 2500 cc. will race with the sports race cars of 850 to 1150 cc. In class "C" the sedan and production sports cars over 2500 cc. will race with the sports race cars of 1150 c.c. to 1600 cc.

The formula cars and sports race cars of over 1600 cc. will only compete for the open event.
