GOVERNMENT BUSINESS GIVEN PRECEDENCE UPON MONDAYS, LAST PRIVATE MEMBERS' DAY

Acting Premier Intimated That if Any Motions Were Dropped in Consequence Opportunity Would Be Given to Take Up Cognate Matters on the Estimates

Ottawa, Ont., April 13—(By Canadian Press)—On the motion of Sir George Foster, the House this afternoon passed a motion giving Government business precedence on Mondays, the last private members' day left. Sir George intimated that if there were any motions dropped in consequence, opportunity would be given to take up cognate matters on the estimates.

Mr. Gauvreau (Temiscouata) asked if opportunity would be given for discussion of the bill presented by Mr. Demers, of St. John-Iberville, to increase the bank rate on savings deposits to four per cent. The Speaker ruled that the question could not be put on the motion before the House.

Mr. Archambault (Chambly-Vercheres), complained that many in the Province of Quebec were unable to make their income tax returns because they were unable to get forms printed in French.

Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, replied that steps had already been taken in the matter.

J. J. Denis (Jollette), resumed the debate on the Franchise Bill, his first words being to the effect that if the Government insisted on rejecting Hon. W. S. Fielding's amendment on the appointment of returning officers the members on his side of the House would have to continue to oppose the clause as long as they possibly could. It was a case of Government taking all the possible patronage to itself.

Mr. Guthrie replied that instead of trying to show why the old and tried system should not be retained, the Opposition had sought to press for something new and untried. There had been much talk of wrongdoing in the past, but only one case of a returning officer being removed from his post had been recorded and in that case it was a sheriff. Now the Opposition sought to put sheriffs, among others, into these returning officer positions.

J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish and Guysboro), said that if the Government wished to live up to its principle of abolishing patronage, it shou'd consent to a restriction of its privileges in the appointment of a vast army of returning officers and enumerators totalling 23,000, which was one form of patronage to some extent.

A. T. Leger (Kent, N.B.), asked that the Government, if it insisted on sticking to the old system, appoint as Chief Returning Officer in each constituency their most responsible man, one who could be depended upon to see that deputy returning officers received their fees. He knew of many cases where men who gave their time and the use of their houses in elections had found it impossible to collect what was coming to them.

Hon. Mr. Guthrie replied that the Government would undertake to see that the chief deputy returning officer in each constituency was a thoroughly responsible man; and as regards the payment of fees, he pointed out that the bill recognized the fact that these were not always properly taken care of under the old system. The bill provided a clause whereby payments for work done and buildings rented in elections would be made direct from Ottawa and not through the returning officers as formerly.

A. B. Copp (Westmoreland), said that he supported the Fielding amendment because he knew from experience that there were many abuses of the present wide open system of appointing returning officers. The Government to be sincere could not refuse to allow some modification in that system.

Government Responsibility.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, former Minister of Labor, said that the amendment proposed to absolve the Government from all responsibility for the acts of returning officers. If the selection of the returning officers was restricted to Provincial officials, the Government would not be called upon to take responsibility for their acts. The amendment said, in effect, any appointee of a Provincial Government is eligible for the post of returning officer, but not appointees of the Dominion Government. If a sheriff, for instance, acted fraudulently in an election, how could the Dominion Government be blamed. The amendment would have made his choice for the post of returning officer compulsory.

Mr. Fielding replied that nine-tenths of Mr. Crother's speech was based on a misapprehension of the amendment. So far from restricting the appointment of returning officers to Provincial officials, the amendment included a number of men appointed by the Dominion Government.

W. A. Griesbach, (Edmonton West) said that the amendment would be worthless in the West, where officers specified in the amendment existed, they would invariably prove to be much too busy to give two or three months time to the conducting of an election.

J. M. Douglas, (Strathcona) concurred in General Griesbach's remarks.

J. F. Johnston (Last Mountain) proposed that the House should settle the controversy by providing that returning officers should be selected from supporters of the new National Progressive Party. The suggestion provoked laughter on both sides of the House.

Election Irregularities

Captain C. G. Power (Quebec South) said that he did not agree with the oGvernment's assertion that the present system had invariably worked well in the last fifty years. He personally knew of many cases where it had not and the irregularities of the last elections, especially the taking of the soldiers' votes, was ample proof that a returning officer could be corrupt. He thought the Government ought to be quite willing to put in a clause which gave the Opposition some measure of protestion against the Government in elections. Nothing that this Government could do, could save it from defeat at the next election, and they might be out of office for a long time.

Mr. Denis agreed with the Acting Prime Minister that under the amendment wrong could still be done, but it was unlikely that a definite official would be so prone to err as one who might never have filled a public office.

W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge, said that there was nothing in the amendment to prevent the Government from selecting partisans. He was of the opinion that the majority of members did not want partisan appointees as deputy returning officers because they wanted their election to be fair and above board.

The Government, said Mr. D. D. MacKenzie, had evidently realized that it was going to have a pretty hard proposition to get in again at the next election. He advised the Government not to add another blot to its reputation by making this bill a machine to put it back in power. He proposed to support the amendment.

O. R. Gould, of Assiniboia said that the amendment argued from wrong premises. It suggested that the ability and integrity were centered in the officials specified. This was not the case. He proposed to vote against the amendment.

P. Michaud (Victoria, N.B.) in declaring that he would support the amendment, took the ground that if the Cabinet Council was a non-political body, it should be allowed to appoint returning officers If it was a political body then it should not, in fairness, be allowed to do so.

P. F. Casgrain (Charlevois-Montmorency) also supported the amendment. If the effort was to obtain a fair bill, why not provide for the selection of the officials suggested as returning officers. They possessed the experience required and had the confidence of the people.

Mr. Bureau argued that the question was not one of abolishing patronage alone, but of re-establishing public confidence in Parliamentary institutions. Proof should be given of good faith and it could not be done better than by accepting the amendment proposed by Mr. Fielding.

Dr. J. P. Mulloy (Provencher) said that by accepting the Fielding amendment the Government had an opportunity of showing that it could for once be fair.

Captain C. G. Power (Quebec South) said that he thought that few returned soldiers, competent to act as returning officers would care to take these jobs. There was enough militarism in the franchise.

Progress was reported at six o'clock on the clause, and consideration of the Franchise bill was discontinued for the day.

AMUNDSEN CAUSE OF CONTROVERSY

Explorers Disagree As to the Possibility Of His Having Reached Pole

Copenhagen, April 23.—(By the Ass'd. Press)—Captain Ejnar Nikkelzn, the Arctic exporer, in an interview here today said he disagreed with the statement attributed to Dr. Fidtojof Nansen that it was possible for Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, to reach the North Pole from Point Barrow by drifting with the ice. Captain Nikkelzn declared the current of the ice would be against Amundsen.

Nikkelzn said he believed Amundsen had either given up his attempt to reach the North Pole altogether, or had returned to get new supplies to enable him to make another attempt.

Something Wrong

Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who commanded the Roosevelt on Peary's successful dash to the North Pole, today expressed fear that something serious had "gone wrong" with the Polar expedition of Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, who has just reached Anadir.

Amundsen either has lost his ship or encountered some other serious mishap, Captain Bartlett said, adding that in the 19 months the Norwegian explorer had been travelling since he left Dixon Island in the White Sea in September, 1918, he should have reached a point between the North Pole and Cape Chelsukin, on the northeastern Siberian coast about 700 miles from the Pole.

THE MAINTENANCE OF ICE-BREAKERS

Estimates For Million and a Half Occupied the House Last Evening

Ottawa, Ont., April 23.—(By Can. Press)—Estimates for the maintenance and repair of ice-breakers took up attention when the House reconvened this evening. The item is for $1,500,000, a similar amount to last year.

Jacques Bureau (Three Rivers) asked if any improvement was to be made in the ice-breaking arrangements for the St. Lawrence River between Quebec and Montreal, and thus prevent serious flooding.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne stated that in addition to the present fleet of ice-breakers he intended to ask the House to sanction the purchase of another ice-breaker, to cost $2,000,000.

J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish) raised the question of salaries aboard the Government steamers, asking if it was intended to pay the same rate as that given by private associations.

Mr. Ballantyne said it was his intention to recommend that the men this year receive a little more than last year, despite the proposal that they would be given no bonus.

"I cannot make any definite statement as to whether the rate will be as high as that of any association, but I want what is fair and just" he added.

A. B. Copp (West Moreland) did not approve of the idea of paying men working off the Pacific Coast more than those off the Atlantic Coast, this discussion coming when the Minister called attention to the fact that men were paid according to the size of their ship and their location. On the west coast the cost of living was higher than on the Atlantic coast. Reverting to the wage question he said the proposed new schedule would equalize wages paid last year plus the equivalent of the bonus.

Answering J. A. Robb (Huntingdon) the Minister said his Department had been trying for three months to trace the whereabouts of the ice-breaker which was sold to the Russian Government after costing $1,000,000. It was to replace this vessel that the new one was being built. Mr. King suggested that the new ice-breaker should be equipped to serve also as a car-ferry between Prince Edward Island and the mainland. If this were done, it could be utilized in case the present car-ferry was laid up for repairs.

Mr. Ballantyne replied that the Department had not yet called for tenders for the new ice-breakers and he would consult with the technical officers to see whether the suggestion were feasible. The ice-breaker in mind would be so powerful as to be capable of forcing its way wherever needed. It was doubtful if on account of her strength, she would be roomy enough to serve as a car-ferry.

Replying to Captain Power, Mr. Ballantyne said that repairs to Government ice-breakers were carried out at the Davie Shipyards at Quebec. The Government drydock there was leased to the Davie Company which had the necessary repairing plant.

Captain Power suggested that the Government might itself procure a repair plant and carry out its own repairs. Mr. Ballantyne did not look favorably on the idea. The repairs needed only ran around $300,000 a year and varied from year to year. He did not think it would be wise for the Government to establish a ship repairing plant unless the quantity of work were greater and the plant could be kept running.

An interesting quarter of an hour was furnished when Captain Power raised the question of the sixteen men who were reported to have deserted the steamer Montcalm when that vessel was on her way to the Magdelene Islands with food. Captain Power complained at some length that the men had never been given a hearing and that it was using harsh words to call them deserters.

Mr. Ballantyne stated that the Captain of the vessel, one of the best of the service, had distinctly reported that the men deserted. The report given to Captain Power that they went for a walk on the ice and could not return by reason of a break in the ice, was not true.

"The men did go for a walk, but it was a long walk and with no intention of coming back," said the Minister, adding: "I cannot find words strong enough to express my feelings on the action of these men. There was a vessel on an errand of mercy taking food to people on the verge of starvation and they deliberately left their ship. My honorable friend knows what would have happend to these men had they been in the army at the front; they would have been shot. These men are lucky they were not prosecuted and I think the Department is justified in not paying their wages."

BRITISH BANK NOTE CIRCULATION LARGER

London, April 23—(By The Associated Press)—The monthly bank statement for March issued by the Finance Department today, shows a small increase in bank note circulation over the previous month with a rather larger increase in deposits in the central gold reserve. Savings deposits increased during the month by approximately ten million dollars.

Vladivostok, April 23—(By The Associated Press)—Decision to investigate recent events in Siberia was reached by the Inter-Allied Railway Commission here this morning. This action was a sequel of many complaints that the Jepanese military command in Siberia had violated the Allied military agreement.

JOS. CAILLAUX IS SENTENCED

Three Years Imprisonment, 5 Years Forced Residence, 10 Years Disfranchisement

Paris, April 23—(By The Associated Press)—Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, tonight in the Neuilly Hospital listened to the reading of the sentence of the Senate, which, sitting as a high court of Justice, yesterday convicted him of "commerce and correspondence with the enemy."

Three years imprisonment, five years forced residence in a town to be selected by the Minister of the Interior, and ten years loss of political rights, the latter clause carrying with it inability to vote or to hold office, was the sentence imposed.

The document was read by a court officer sent to the hospital for the purpose after it had been promulgated before the Senate tonight by Leon Bourgeois, the Presiding Officer Caillaux was not present in the Senate chamber at the time.

The prisoner made no comment after the official made known the contents of the document. But his face showed signs of deep sadness. Asked by the newspapermen present whether he desired to make a statement Caillaux replied: 'I shall be at your disposal tomorrow or the next day, when I am released."

The question when M. Caillaux is to be freed requires intricate figuring to decide, for allowance has to be made for the time that he has been under restraint in prison and at the hospital. The prisoner was in jail for twenty-seven months and this time, added to the period he has been in the hospital, according to his partisans, constitutes the service of the full term of imprisonment imposed by the Senate.

The decision not to bring Caillaux before the Senate tonight provoked rumors that he would be released during the night.

M. Moutet, of counsel for Caillaux, said the prisoner was willing to appear before the Senate to hear the verdict of condemnation. At the morning session Caillaux had listened to the Court pronounce the verdict of guilty of violating Article 7 of the Military Code and declared in reply to the usual question that he had nothing to say.

After the morning session the Court went into secret session to frame the sentence to be imposed on Caillaux. It re-convened tonight at nine o'clock. It had been expected that a stormy session would ensue but a violent protest by Senator Brivet, who was quickly calmed, proved to be the only incident. The neighborhood of the Senate was extremely quiet during the night.

When the sentence had been read by M. Bourgeois the ninety Senators rose and left the Chamber.

Maitre Demange of M. Caillaux's counsel is a veteran of the French Bar and the defender of Prince Bonaparte at Blois in 1869 and of Dreyfus at Rennes in 1899. Commenting on the verdict and sentence in the Caillaux case this evening he said:

"I am grieved that in the declining days of my career I have tried to serve justice, without finding it."

M. Demange is 80 years old.

ARMENIA IS TO BE INDEPENDENT

Neither States Nor Any Other Power Willing to Accept Mandate

San Remo, April 23—Armenia is to be created an independent state. This decision was reached by the Supreme Council of the Allies today because neither the United States nor any other power was willing to accept a mandate over the country.

The boundaries of Armenia have not yet been defined and the new republic will probably be rather contracted, as it is believed that the smaller the country, the more easily can it take care of itself, because if too many Turks are left within its confines they might overthrow the Government.

It is understood that if the League of Nations had been provided with money it might have arranged with neutral governments to exercise the mandate over Armenia under supervision of League. Among the smaller powers so mentioned are Canada, especially and if Canada would not accept then Sweden or Spain.

The Council leaves Smyrna under the administration of Greece. Marshal Foch will dine with Premier Lloyd George tonight and Mr. Lloyd George with Premier Millerand tomorrow evening. The Council now hopes to leave San Remo on Monday next.

Italian Criticism.

"You will have war in Asia Minor and Italy will not send a single soldier nor pay a single lire," said Signor Nitti, the Italian Premier, in an interview today following a critical analysis by him of the Turkish peace treaty.

"You have taken from the Turks their sacred city of Adrianople," said Signor Nitti. "You have placed their capital city under foreign control, you have taken from them every port and the larger part of their territory. And the five Turkish delegates whom you will select will sign a treaty which will not have the sanction of the Turkish people or the Turkish Parliament.

A PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE

Message From King Read at St. George's Society Dinner in New York

New York, N.Y., April 23.—(Can. Press)—A cable message from King George praying for world peace was read tonight at the 134th annual dinner of St. George's Society of New York, at the Waldorf-Astoria. There were 350 membesr and guests There were 350 members and guests having come from Canada especially for the occasion.

The King's message sent through his private secretary said:

"The King sincerely thanks the members of St. George's Society for loyal greetings and good wishes which His Majesty much appreciates The King joins with them in praying for peace among the nations of the world and a spirit of unity within our Empire."

Telegrams of greetings were received from kindred societies of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Halifax and St. John, as well as from Boston, Baltimore, Albany and Charleston, S.C.

The speakers included Hon. Martin Burrell, Canadian Minister of Customs.

Toasts were drunk to the King, the Prince of Wales and President Wilson.

Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, could not attend as he has not yet been officially received by the United States Government.

Mr. Burrell said that in spite of the criticism there is a spirit of friendliness between the peoples of Great Britain and the United States of America. Continuing Mr. Burrell said Canada would help the United States to rid this continent of the presence of an element which is seeking to overthrow all constiuted authority. He said he thought both countries would be successful in stamping out radical tendencies.

THOMAS SIMPKIN WAS ARRAIGNED

Calgary Murderer had Neither Counsel Nor Funds to Engage One

New York, N.Y., April 23—Faltering, shabbily dresed and with a week's growth of beard on his pale face, Thomas W. Simpkin, formerly of Calgary, Alberta, was arraigned today on an indictment charging him with murder in the first degree for shooting Dr. James Wright Markoe last Sunday as the distinguished surgeon was passing the plate in fashionable St. George's Church.

In a weak, quavering voice, the itinerant printer, who is said to have escaped from five insane asylums acknowledged that he neither counsel nor the funds to engage one. He hesitated a full minute when asked if he wanted the court to assign counsel to defend him. Then, in a tone scarcely audible he said: "Yes, sir".

Former Assistant District Attorney Nellson Olcott and Joseph S. Roselsky were assigned, and pleading his case was postponed until next Monday.

Immediately afterward Rosalsky conferred with the accused man regarding his defense. Simpkin at once drew out a corn cob pipe and shrouded the conference in clouds of smoke.

Completed in Case of James Larkin Before the United States Supreme Court

Court was then adjourned until Monday when Assistant District-Attorney Rorke will sum up for the prosecution and Larkin, who is acting as his own attorney will present the case.

Credentials which he claimed he received from the Irish Labor Party here as its representative were introduced in evidence by Larkin who conducted are direct examination of himself after the prosecution ended its cross-examination this afternoon. The credentials were signed by the Secretary of the organization under date of October 29, 1914.

During cross-examination Larkin declared that while he had never seen a copy of the programme and manifesto of the Third Internationale of Moscow, he believed he would subscribe to its principles as he understood they were based upon the doctrines of Karl Marx. He admitted he had advocated the stoppage of work in all industries but explained that communists "do not think in terms of force and violence" but "in terms of intelligence." He declared the only Government in the world at present which conforms to the Communist idea is that of Soviet Russia which he asserted is "the ideal government of the world today.

BUTTE DAILY BULLETIN BANNED IN CANADA

Reputed Organ of I. W. W. Miners Took Leading Part in Strike.

Butte, Mont., April 23—The Butte Daily Bulletin reputed organ of the I. W. W. miners' organizations, and which took a leading part in this week's strike here has been banned in Canada. Postmaster Goodwin made the announcement today, adding that he was acting under instructions from Washington.

Federal Soldiers began patrolling Butte streets today. No demonstration marked the arrival of the troops last night. Operators of several big mines in the district at once made plans to resume operations.

Governor Stewart asked for the soldiers after a riot near the Neversweat mine, in which fifteen men were shot and a policeman injured. Yesterday a guard placed at the office of the Daily Bulletin was shot.

Hand-bills circulated by the I.W.W. say the strike is still in effect.

"Don't walk to the mines over the blood of your fellow-workers", said the posters.

UNABLE RECORD NUMBER OF SALES

Selling So Violent in Wall Street That Machinery Was Swamped

(Mail and Empire.)

Selling of stocks was so violent this afternoon that it was nineteen minutes after the market closed before the last quotation was printed on the tape. Thousands of shares could not be recorded at all, for the volume of business was so great it swamped the reporting machinery of the exchange. Fully two and a half million shares changed hands. Losses running as high as five to fifteen points were recorded in speculative favorites, while General Motors made an extreme drop of 46 points. Final prices were the lowest of the day in many issues, but in a few there were signs of the recovery that must be swift and large after such a decline.

Reasons for the decline were indefinite. In a few cases the break could be explained, as for instance in American International, which large investments in the Orient. The business panic in Japan naturally hurt this stock. The Ryan stocks were attacked because professionals felt it perfectly safe to sell them short, believing no danger of a corner possible. In the motor stocks the knowledge that the General Motors crowd had finished its constructive campaign and wants to acquire some new properties, helped the decline.

New Flotation in Oils.

In the oils the new flotation of the Sinclair was a depressing factor. Coppers were hurt by the announcement that the miners at Butte had gone on strike, telling the operators that if they wanted to know why they could come to the strike headquarters and find out.

Silk dropped $6 a pound, indicating that milady is planning to wear overalls or the equivalent. That held cotton and cotton manufacturing stocks relatively firm.

Liberty bonds, broke wide open, of course as a testimonial that the Reserve Bank is going after business men with a big stick. There was more talk of an advance to be made in the discount rate, but the advance had not been announced to the close of business and it was not expected in banking circles. Then to crown the sorrows of the Street, or rather to fill their cup of joy to overflowing, since most of the professionals are short, the president of the Republic Steel Co. announced that there would be no stock dividend this week. This caused selling not only of Republic but of United States Steel. Even the rails joined the downward movement.

Shell Transport Strong.

Early in the day all stocks were strong, there being advances of a point up to five or six points in active issues. The net changes of the day were therefore much smaller than the gross declines. Shell Transport stood out all day as a strong feature, and, after the close, official announcement was made that stockholders would get the privilege of subscribing at par to fifty per cent. of the present holdings.

Money was 7 per cent. all day, and foreign exchange was not materially different from the previous close.

Mexican rebels are threatening Tampico which is the headquarters of the oil industry of that country. That was the excuse for breaking Mexican Petroleum 16 3-4 points and Pan-American 9 1-2.

Buying of United States Steel continues good, and bankers believe a very large extra dividend will be given in stock.

Buying of A. T securities attracted much attention in the last few minutes of trading, for the stock was scooped up in thousand share lots.

Short Interests Large.

Brokers who observed the trading carefully said that at least 50 per cent of it was entirely professional. They also reported very heavy selling for short account. The outstanding short interest is now the largest it has been since the February raid.

In the sugar stocks there has been much investment recently for the account of individuals who are not trained in Wall Street ways. Therefore some of them were seriously hurt today when Punta Allegre for instance broke 17 7-8 points and others on the list of sweets 4 points or more.

American Woollens broke ten points because of the overall movement, which is becoming a really serious trade factor. The overall movement is one reason for the strength today of Consolidated Textile, which is also a Ryan stock.

The public is being shaken out of its Liberty bonds at a very satisfactory rate. The first fours were off to-day near three per cent., touching a low poin of 87.

Reduced by Asthma. The constant strain of asthma brings the patient to a dreadful state of hopeless exhaustion. Early use should by all means be made of the famous Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which more than any other acts quickly and surely on the air passages and brings blessed help and comfort. No home where asthma is present in the least degree should be without this great remedy.

EDUCATING THE OFFICE BOY.

The office boy is a figure well-known in the United States and England; he has even found his way into the cinematograph, though as yet he has not been assigned a preponderant role. He seems to be chosen younger and younger for his post as the years go by, and some severe and ill-dispositioned critics have said that he has become more and more inefficient and more impertinent, but as this has a distinctly personal note we prefer to pay no attention to it. Let us rather accept the conventional legends about him: that he is the sole support of a widowed and worthy mother in reduced circumstances; that he likes to read the adventures of Archie the Aviator; that he is fond of going to the "movies," and likes to conceal sweet sticky confections in his desk; that he cherishes a hatred and dignified contempt beyond words for the managing clerk; and last what is not legend that he is almost always a healthy decent little chap that is growing out of his clothes—clothes cost much more than they used to—and almost always has a lot of good in him. Knowing these things, we read with gratification that the New York Board of Education is giving attention to these neglected youths and has decreed that they shall go to continuation schools. At this present writing some 4,000 are under instruction, and no doubt the number will grow. The real good that such a school for these young workers must accomplish is shown in the statement of Director Siegel that before 18 years of age the boys run a danger of becoming mere drifters from job to job. And we hope that some one will teach them not to say "N'York" and "Fift Avnyer."

GET THIS HEALTH HABIT:

Drink a glass of pure water as soon as you get out of bed; drink a small glass of pure orange juice just before you eat breakfast; for breakfast heat two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven (to restore their crispness) and eat them with hot milk or cream. All the nutriment needed for a half day's work—the mind clear and alert, the liver and kidneys active, the stomach sweet and clean. Try it for six days and see how much better you feel.

ENGLISHMEN HONORED THEIR PATRON SAINT YESTERDAY BY SPECIAL CATHEDRAL SERVICE

Patriotic Greetings Exchanged with St. George's Societies in Other Cities—Appropriate Sermon Delivered by Rev. Ralph Sherman, of Toronto—St. Andrew's Took Part

The anniversary of St. George's Day was observed yesterday in Quebec in a very quiet manner by the sons and daughters of Albion, the only public celebration being the Church service held in the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity by the St. George's Society, of this city. Throughout the day, flags were flown from public buildings and private dwellings in honor of the event, and large numbers of citizens were to be seen in all part of the city wearing the red rose, the national emblem.

During the Day the following cable was sent by the local society to St. George's Society, London, England:

"Loyal Greetings. God Save the King."

And the undermentioned telegram was sent to the societies in Toronto, London, Ont., Winnipeg, Alta., St. John, N.B., Halifax, N.S., Montreal, P.Q., Hamilton, Ont., Kingston, Ont. and Ottawa, Ont: "Englishmen in the Old Rock City send loyal greeting to their brothers. May we always honor the Day."

The following telegrams were received from:

London, Ont.—"Fraternal Greetings from St. George's Society, London."

Toronto, Ont.—"St. George's Society joins hands with you and all true Englishmen the world over in honoring our patron saint. God Save the King."

Vancouver, B.C.—"The most Western Branch of the Empire greets you—Holding Banquet, Lieut. Governor, guest of honor.

Winnipeg, Alta.—"Kindly convey greetings from Royal Society, St. George's, Winnipeg. Englishmen have proven their faith and heritage by more than word of mouth."

Cathedral Service

The service in the Cathedral, which was decorated with the flags of the Allied Nations, was in every way a fitting termination of the commemoration of the Anniversary. There was, despite the inclement weather a large attendance, which included the officers and members of the St. George's Society, who, headed by their President, Captain J. Burstall, and followed by the officers and members of St. Andrew's Society, entered the Church from the North Vestry and took the seats allotted to them in the centre row of pews.

The clergy present were the Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Quebec, the Very Rev. the Dean of Quebec, the Ven. Archdeacon Balfour, Rev. Mr. Moffat, Rev. P. Callis, Rev. A. R. Kelly, Rev. R. J Fothergill, Rev. J. H Barnes, Rev. E. Roy, and the Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, M.A., Rector of Holy Trinity Church, Toronto, who was the special preacher for the occasion.

The Order of Service was as follows: Processional Hymn, "The Son of God goes forth to war;" Prayers; Psalm, "Praise the Lord, O my soul,' First Lesson; "Magnificat" Second Lesson; "Nunc Dimittis"; Antheni, "O King of Kings, Whose reign of old:" Sermon; Offertory Hymns, "Lord of Heaven and earth and ocean!" National Anthem, and Recessional Hymn "Now thank we all our God."

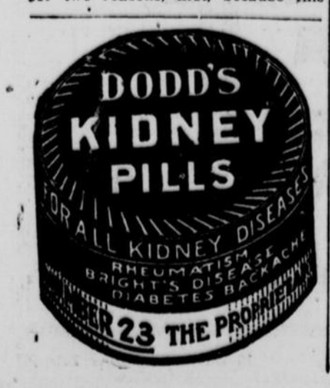

The Prayers were read by the Rev. A. R. Kelly, the First Lesson by the Rev. J. H. Barnes, and the Second Lesson by His Lordship Bishop Williams.

The musical portion of the service was particularly well rendered by the augmented choir, with Mr. E. A. Bishop presiding at the organ. The rendition of the "Magnificat" and the Anthem "Praise Ye the Lord" could not have been more pleasing, the different voices blending beautifully. Seldom has the choir been heard to so great advantage as last evening, and Mr. Bishop and the members of the choir deserve every congratulation on their combined work. At the close of the service, Mr. Bishop rendered on the organ a selection of National airs with his usual skill, and which gave intense pleasure to the congregation.

The Sermon

The sermon was preached by the Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, M.A. who took for his text the 14th verse of the 4th Chapter of the revised translation of the Book of Esther: "Who knoweth whether thou are not come to the kingdom for such a time as this!" In the course of an eloquent discourse the preacher said: "It is a curious fact that in the Book of Esther the name of God is not once mentioned, and it is a curious fact for two reasons, first, because this does not happen elsewhere in the Bible. Turn to other pages and other pages and other books and you will find in almost every place mention of the name of God. It is an extraordinary thing this omission of any mention of God. It is curious also because the Book itself does not justify this absence of the mention of the name of God. Its value, its theme and its purpose cannot fairly be judged and criticized on this omission. The story rich in its settings with two great characters, two persons, Mordecai and Esther. The latter unconscious of her great position, that of Queen, is kept in ignorance of the great danger that confronts her race until she is enlightened by Mordecai, who informs her that if she holds her peace, her father's house will perish. There comes the answer: 'Go forth for me and neither eat nor drink three nights or days, and I will likewise fast and so will I go unto the King, which is not according to the law, and if I perish, I perish. She trusts in God and accepts the challenge. She tells her people. Such is the story. As we read it we see it a story of human cooperation, and it reminds us that God must not be failed. This story includes us and our generation. God does not fail to do and fulfill. In all things God is there, always working his purpose out. The working out of God's purpose and the measure of our responsibilities make up one whole. God does not fail us, though we can fail God. But we must not. The maintenance of the vital relations between us and God depends the real progress of the world, and those stories of our failure, of our responsibilities make up the true life story of each and everyone of us. We have passed through perilous days, heroic days and days of victory. Was there ever a grander time in which to live. Some things have passed away, some of which we would have liked to stay. A great many things have gone into the melting pot, and it would be a very brave or foolish man today who would say what will become of them. Everyone is getting his chance. These however, are times of efficiency and of a more uniform test, which all of us must meet. He believed that the pulse of humanity beat sounder today than ever before, and we would have a far finer and cleaner world than ever before. Although the tendency at the present time was to wait and see, it should not be so. We must face our responsibilities and there was only one way and that was through Jesus Christ. We might have to wage a single-handed battle, but we could do it through God.

The members of the St. George's Society belonged to a Knightly Order. Their Society claimed lineage which was proud indeed of the deeds of England and Englishmen beyond the seven seas. It stood for three ideals of honor, justice and loyalty and strength. Behind them, with them, before them was God, who does not fail—yesterday, today or for ever.

QUEBEC OWNED SHIP WRECKED

Fishing Schooner Brings the Crew of SS. Westgate into Halifax

Halifax, N. S., April 23—(By the Canadian Press.)— The fishing schooner, W. G. Robertson, Captain Thierault, arrived at Shelburne, N.S., with the crew of the ship Westgate, Captain Steele, rescued at sea on Tuesday. The ship left Perth Amboy, N.J., Thursday last for Halifax with 1,000 tons of coal. Se ran into a stiff gale on Monday when on the northeast of George's The cargo shifted, throwing the vessel on her beam-ends. The masts were immediately cut. On Tuesday the schooner W. G. Robertson hove in sight and proceeded to the rescue and under great difficulties rescued all from the vessel.

The sea was so rough that it was impossible for the Robertson to get close. Dories were put over, Captain Thierault himself in one. His dory went the closest to the Westgate and the men one by one jumped from the davits and were transferred to other dories standing by. Capthin Steel was the last to leave the ship. In all, there were twenty-one on board. Several dories were badly smashed when the rescue was being made, and came near going down. One member of the crew had his head somewhat cut, otherwise the men are in good shape and full of praise for the captain and rescuers. The Westgate was owned in Quebec and registered 1,921 tons.

ANARCHISTS SENTENCED.

SECOND MURDER TRIAL IS BEGUN

Telesphore Gagnon Charged With Murder of His Daughter—Two Witnesses Heard

The trial of Telesphore Gagnon, husband of Marie Anne Houde, recently found guilty of having murdered her step-daughter, Aurore Gagnon, commenced yesterday afternoon, under His Lordship Justice Desy. Telesphore Gagnon is on trial for the same offence as his wife, of having killed and murdered his minor daughter, Aurore.

Two witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon. Doctor A. Marois, who performed the autopsy on the dead child, and Doctor Lafond, of Parisville, who saw the child on the day she died.

A mixed jury is sitting in this case, and all evidence has to be translated into English. His Lordship ordered Mr. Devlin, the interpreter, sworn at yesterday afternoon's sitting, and also had the guards who look after the jury sworn at the end of the afternoon.

Before the examination of the witnesses, Mr. Fitzpatrick, for the Crown, addressed the jury, and called their attention to tfie gravity of the offence. The offence was murder, the murder of a young child. She died on February 12, 1920, under extraordinary circumstances. Her death was the result of blows. Here Mr. Fitzpatrick very briefly reviewed the case, and concluded by saying that he was sure that the jury, after they had heard the evidence of both the Crown and the defence, would render a satisfactory verdict.

The accused man was compelled to stand up all during the afternoon sitting, a request of Mr. Francoeur's for permission to have him sit down, being refused by Justice Desy.

The first witness called, Dr. A. Marois, gave practically the same evidence as in the other trial. He stated that he had made a number of autopsies in the last twenty years. In answer to a question by the Crown, the witness said that he went to Ste. Philomene on February 13 at the request of Coroner Jolicoeur and made an autopsy on the body of Aurore Gagnon, in which he was assisted by Doctor Lafond.

The body was that of a young girl, about ten years old, and four feet and a half in height. It was very much emaciated. A great number of wounds were found on the corpse, and all the scalp was detached from the skull by a layer of liquid composed of blood and matter. Dr. Marois here went on to describe the various wounds and said that they numbered 54, out of which 50 were the result of exterior blows.

None of the wounds on the girl's body were directly mortal, continued the doctor, but death was the result of exhaustion and weakness and the infection of the wounds. From the appearance of the wounds, no treatment had been performed.

Here a nice little discussion took place between the Crown and the defence over the production of the various instruments that were exhibited in the trial of Marie Anne Houde.

Asked whether the axe-handle could have caused the wound over the right eyebrow, which was two and one-half inches long and one inch wide, Dr. Marois replied that it might have been caused by the axe-handle or a similar weapon, and said that most of the wounds were caused by narrow, blunt instruments, but was unable to state which of the instruments shown him in Court caused them He was shown an axe-handle, a pitchfork handle, a poker, several switches, a whip, a rope, curling iron, and leather strap. Nothing he saw showed the use of a curling iron or a strap.

The witness said that he had been told that no traces of poison had been found in the girl's stomach. Here Justice Desy instructed the jury not to take this sentence into consideration.

Cross-examined by Mr. Francoeur, the witness said that the only possible reason for death was the number of wounds inflicted on the girl. It was impossible to state, said Dr. Marois, that the wound on the right eyebrow was caused by the child having fallen on a sharp instrument. The wound was about 15 days old, and the skin was not broken. Any ordinary man could see the swelling on the girl's head.

Here the defence intimated that they were through with Dr. Marois, and the next witness was called.

Dr. Lafond, of Parisville, Lotbiniere County, took the stand, and said that he was present at the autopsy on Aurore Gagnon on February 13. He helped Dr. Marois. On the day of the death of the victim, the witness said that he saw the child. He found her in a state of coma. Her body, from her feet to her waist, was covered with wounds. The witness said that he also noted the flow of blood under the victim's scalp.

The deceased child was treated on August 31 last by the witness, and his visits continued until September 14. From the latter date until the day she died, the witness did not treat her. He was the family physician. When the victim was treated in August last, continued the doctor, she had none of the wounds found on her body that appeared in February. She appeared to be a healthy, robust child. The witness treated her for a wound in her foot. He also noticed a bruise on her left side, but apart from that there was nothing wrong with her that he saw.

In the opinion of the witness, death was caused by the great number of wounds and their infection.

Cross-examined by the defence, the witness said that when he visited the victim, he took her pulse, but it was useless to try and save her, as she was too far gone. Her pulse was not perceptible. Last August, when he treated the victim, it was Mrs. Gagnon who sent for him. He left some pills with the wife of the accused man, but the treatment that he ordered was neglected. He did not tell Mr. Gagnon, neither did he perform any treatment himself.

On February 9, continued the witness, he sent two ounces of iodine to the Gagnon home, as the result of a telephone call which had been received during his absence. The request came from the accused's home. The witness said that he did not remember if he sent any other medicines or ointments to the accused man's home, with the exception of February 9, from the time he treated her in August last, up to the day of her death.

WITNESS CLASHED WITH COMMITTEE

Medical Director of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Refused to Give Information

Ottawa, Ont., April 23 — (By Can. Press.)—This afternoon's session of the Special Committee on Pensions and Re-Establishment was featured by a clash between Colonel C. G. Davis, Director of Medical Services Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, and several members of the Committee, Colonel Davis, who was a witness at the morning suting of the Committee, was recalled at four o'clock when the Committee resumed.

Before giving any evidence he read a statement in reference to appointments to the medical staff of the D. S C. R., in which he informed that committee that the head office at Ottawa was solely responsible for appointments. He had no objections to discussing any matters on policy in making appointments, but he would refuse to discuss matters in connection with the appointment or non-appointment of any individual who might be seekng a post.

H. B. Murphy, M. P., claimed this was an attempt by the witness to apply the gag to the Committee. If Colonel Davis would not answer any question put to him, Mr. Morphy wanted to have him told to leave the stand and go home. Other members of the Committee joined in the protest of the witness' action and finally he asked to be allowed to withdraw the statement, saying that he would place another before the Committee later. Permission to withdraw was granted.

There were, however, several other warm moments during the afternoon. An earlier witness, Dr. A. S. Inglis, of Winnipeg, had stated that he was refused a D.S.C. R. position in Vancouver because the unit officials there did not want an ousider appointed. He had been recommended, he said, by Sir James Lougheed Minister of the Department. Dr. Inglis had a wide experience in X-ray work and had served four and a half years overseas. Returning to Canada he found difficulty in getting re-established and sought vainly for a position with the D. S. C. R. and Pension Board.

Dr. P. McGibbon (Muskoka) remarked that apparently "pull" had something to do with appointments when an outside unit could override the Minister's recommendation. Colonel Davis said he was finally responsible for all appointments and defended the system at present in vogue as the best in the interest of efficiency.

When the Committee resumes on Tuesday morning, it is likely that widowed mothers of soldiers will be among the witnesses and also other ladies will be called in regard to hardships which are said to exist among dependents of deceased soldiers, through the present pension regulations.

CITY BUDGET PASSES COUNCIL

First Reading For Increased Taxation By-Law—Debate on Salary Increases

The budget of the City of Quebec, for the fiscal year 1920-21 was ratified by the City Council last night, after a debate was heard on the salary increases.

The appropriations this year call for a sum of $2,178,957.00 or an increase of about $212,000.00 over last year. In order to provide for the increase the business tax will be increased from 12 1-2 to 15 per cent and a by-law for that purpose was given first reading last night. The by-law also provides for the reduction of the tenants' tax, from 3 to 2 per cent.

When the question of salary increases came up, Ald. Bertrand raised the objection that it was all the higher salaries that were being increased, and he moved that there be no increase for salaries of $3,500 and over that amount. The motion was seconded by Ald. Martin so that it might be discussed.

Ald. Lantier pointed out that the lower employees were well treated. He said that the permanent employees would get about $6,000 while $15,900 would go to the police and Firemen, and $19,000 to the employees of the Roads and Waterworks Department. Of the $41,000 while $15,900 would go to the Police increases, $35,000 went to the workingmen. He also reminded Ald. Bertrand that there was only one salary over $3,500 which had been increased.

A vote was called on the motion and Ald. Bertrand was alone in its support.

The report of the Finance Committee, recommending that the contract for insurance against accidents and sickness be awarded to the Yorkshire Insurance Company was set aside and it was decided to call for new tenders.

When the report came up Ald. Collier pointed out that there were some difficulties last year, owing to the fact that certain points were not covered in the policy.

Ald. Lantier explained that this had been looked into carefully this year.

Ald. Martin, however, held that the policy in question covered a number of maladies which the police and firemen were not likely to have whilst no mention was made about pleurisy, pneumonia and influenza, and he thought that these should be covered by the policy.

It was decided to call for new tenders and to have the policy cover all sickness and all accidents.

Among the letters and petitions received by the Council were the following:—

rom the International Fraternity of Blacksmiths, protesting against the Exhibition Grounds being given over to the National Unions for Labor Day.

A petition from the Y. W. C. A. asking that a juvenile court be established in Quebec.

A letter from the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, informing the City that Express Companies refuse to deliver goods at the Experimental Farm on St. Foy Road, within the City limits and asking the Council to take the matter up.

A letter from the Union of Canadian Municipalities calling the attention of the City Council to the fact that the Bell Telephone Company is applying for authorization to increase its capital, which might mean a further increase of rates in the near future The letter asked if the City intends to take any action in the matter

Mr. Albert Savignac, of Montreal wrote to inform the City that the board walk around the fortifications was in need of repair and also to state that tourists complained that there was no bridge over St. John's Gate to permit them to follow the line of fortifications without interruption. He urged the Council to take the matter up with the Federal authorities.

Dr. A. B. Caron of Fall River, who claims to be one of the heirs to the Berthelot Estate and intimates that he will sue the City for the recovery of the property now occupied by Berthelot Market as it is not being used for the purposes for which the land was ceded.

The firm of Leclerc & Freres applied for an exemption from taxation on an extension which they are building to their plant.

A petition was read asking that acant lots be ploughed by the City to encourage peace gardens

The Quebec Tenants' Association applied for civic incorporation

By-Laws Read.

Final reading was given to the by-law increasing the Catholic school tax from 55 cents to 60 cents per hundred dollars valuation, and to the by-law changing the name of St. Malo to Montmartre.

PEOPLE OF BREST MAKE OBJECTIONS

Paris, April 23—Objections by the people of Brest to the exhumation and shipment to the United States of the bodies of Americans who died there during the war has led to an inquiry by members of the Chamber of Deputies into the conditions under which the work is being done. Cables are also being received constantly from next-of-kin of men buried in France asking that the bodies be allowed to remain.

SECOND FASHION OPENING

REPORT IS GIVEN LITTLE CREDENCE

Government Not Even Aware Canadian Mandate Over Armenia Suggested

Ottawa, Ont., April 23—(By Can. Press.)—The report that Canada would be given a mandate over Armenia if Norway refused to accept such an obligation, was given very little if any credence when it was discussed in the Senate today

Replying to Senator Casgrain, who asked if the Government had considered the matter, Sir James Lougheed said so far as he knew the Government was not even aware that anything of the kind was to be suggested. He advised Senator Casgrain to get in touch with the office of the newspaper which printed the report.

Little progress was made with the bill which seeks to compel merchants dealing in German goods to place a sign over their doors to that effect.

Senator Bostock thought the bill might do more harm to Canada than to Germany. Senator Thompson thought it was mischievous legislation and would throw a bombshell into the Canadian situation which was already badly disturbed.

Senator Ross, (Halifax) thought that if the bill was put through Parliament, the British authorities might have to disallow it to prevent breaking the peace treaty.

Senator Thompson moved the six months' hoist.

Senator Crosby thought it was only the popularity of Senator Lynch-Staunton which had permitted the bill to go this far. Lloyd George, who might almost be regarded as the Premier of the world, had sanctioned the peace treaty which provided for trading with the Germans.

The debate was put over until Wednesday and the Senate then adjourned until Tuesday afternoon.

EXCHANGE RATES COSTLY TO CITY

Had to Pay $241,641.08 For Exchange Alone on the Redemption of Loan

That the rate of exchange with the United States proved costly to the City of Quebec was brought out at the meeting of the City Council last night when Mayor Samson stated that for the redemption of the City's loan on the New York market recently the city had been obliged to pay in exchange alone a sum of $241,641.08 or an average exchange rate of 11.372.

It was Ald. Collier who brought out the information for at a previous meeting of the Council he gave notice of the following questions:

1—What were the rates of exchange paid on the recent loan in New York?

2—What was the total amount of exchange paid on said loan?

The answer was as follows:

On March 9th, $500,000 at 13 3-4 exchange; March 12th $500,000 at 13 1-32; March 17th, $250,000 at 11 7-8; March 24, $100,000 at 9 7-8; March 25th $150,000 at 9 1-32; March 30th $300,000 at 8 3-4; March 31st, $125,000 at 8 3-4 less 1-64; April 9th $186,000, at 9 5-6 plus 1-32 April 10th $14,000 without exchange.

2—The total amount of exchange paid was $241,641.08 or an average of 11.372.

A REMARKABLE APPEAL.

A copy of the London Times that has just come to hand contains a remarkable appeal on behalf of the League of Nations Union over the joint signatures of Lord Grey of Fallodon, David Lloyd George, Lord Beatty, H. H. Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil, J. R. Clynes and General Hubert Gough. Although the necessity of such an appeal from such a distinguished group would seem to be in itself a confession of weakness, this document is evidently one that deserves no ordinary consideration.

In dignified and impressive language we are reminded of the dark days of the war and of the high purpose and unity of conduct and aspiration by which they were glorified. Has the war, we are asked in effect, been fought in vain? Are we in danger of returning from the ideal to the material, from sacrifice and self-denial to selfishness, from broad and humane impulses to petty exhibitions of personal or national ambition? Shall nation again rise up against nation with jealous recriminations and charges of self-seeking, leading to one inevitable result? Or are we at least to make an effort—priceless in its effect on national character, even if it fail in putting an end to all wars—to rise on stepping-stones of our dead selves, and the dead bodies of those who made the supreme sacrifice, to higher things?

We can do no better than reproduce the text of the appeal for the reassurance of those who may have become suspicious or despondent over the effectiveness of this world-wide covenant to protect the liberties and promote the development of all nations. It reads:

"In the long and bitter years of the war which we fought for truth and honorable dealings, millions sacrificed themselves in order that the world might be cleaner and freer, and that there might be no more war. Do not let us in these early days of peace already forget our ideals and their sacrifices.

If the world should be allowed to relapse into the antagonisms and ambitions which led up to and culminated in the war, it would be the greatest triumph of evil in all the ages. The League of Nations was called into being in the flood of idealism and self-denial caused by the agony of the later stages of the war. It was created in the heartfelt desire of every soul who fought to have done for all time with the abomination of modern war. Whatever selfish nationalism may have crept into the life of the world since the Armistice, it was those higher ideals which transcend selfish nationalism that inspired the League; and those are the ideals which must give it life.

"The League of Nations can only be what the people of the world choose to make it. The League itself—that is to say, the Council, the Assembly, and the Secretariat—is just a piece of machinery; and it will achieve good or fail, or posibly even do evil, according to the spirit in which it is used. That spirit must come from the people. That is the reason for the League of Nations Union.

Our primary object is to keep fresh in the minds of the people of this country the spirit and ideals which underlie the Covenant of the League. To do this the Union must undertake a very extensive educational campaign. We feel in this behalf that the Union has already achieved something, for it has organized some hundreds of meetings in support of the League, it has created nearly 200 branches of the Union, it publishes two League of Nations periodicals, several booklets, and many pamphlets, it is now engaged upon educational text-books, and we hope before long it will have study circles for adults in full swing and will be organizing junior branches and taking a prominent part in the education of the children of today and of the future. To the scope of its activities there is only one limitation—money.—Many individuals have been most generous, but we feel now that we are getting beyond the help of private generosity. To do the work effectively we need something in the neighborhood of a million pounds, and that necessitates a national campaign for funds. That is why we are trespassing upon the hospitality of your columns with this letter of appeal.

"The sum named sounds a large one, but it is indeed the bare cost of four hours of the late war. Viewed in this way it is not a great deal to provide as an assurance against another war. For if Great Britain does not support the League with all her might and resources (and this depends solely upon the will of the people), the League itself will assuredly wither and die. And if the League should die, God help our children, for no human agency can save them from calamities to which the late war will appear as the merest trifle."

LOCAL HOUSING BONDS.

A great propaganda campaign has recently been set on foot in Great Britain to induce the public to take up Local Housing Bonds by means of which it is hoped to reach some solution of a problem that is no less pressing in the old country than in Canada. After many mistakes and unforeseen obstacles, the Government is believed to have at last succeeded in organizing the frame-work of a practical housing movment whose success or failure should be carefully watched.

Up to about a month ago it had sanctioned building schemes upon sites representing a total area of 43,000 acres, and it had further schemes under consideration covering 21,800 acres. Plans for actual houses are now coming in at the rate of over 13,000 a week, and plans for 155,426 houses have been sanctioned. Tenders for 85,000 houses have been approved. The number of houses actually completed is still relatively small, but Dr. Addison, the Minister of Health, appears to hope that 100,000 new houses may be completed by the late summer, and possibly 200,000 by next spring, if money can be found.

The Government, while undertaking to provide capital facilities where necessary for local authorities with a rateable value of less than $1,000,000, have sanctioned a scheme for the issue of Six per Cent. Local Housing Bonds for $25, $50, $100, and $500, and multiples of $500, secured upon the property and revenues (including the new houses) of the local authorities. The authorities themselves contribute to the cost of housing schemes to the extent of a penny rate. It is encouraging to note that 138 local authorities have already applied for permission to issue Housing Bonds.

The British Government have already agreed to assist local housing schemes by a substantial annual subsidy, representing the difference between the rent actually charged and an economic rent, less the help derived from the penny rate. It is estimated that this promised subsidy, which will come out of the national taxes, will eventually involve an annual Budget charge of $50,000,000 for an undisclosed period.

Many local authorities are so gratified by the prospect of a subsidy that they are proposing to charge extremely low rents, and are looking to the Government to make up the difference; and this is especially the case in areas where labor is largely represented on the local authorities.

The housing policy of the Government, if fully carried out, is estimated to cost $5,000,000,000, but this expenditure will necessarily be spread over a term of years. The very magnitude of the undertaking, as well as its nature, makes it imperative that it should be handled locally in the main, instead of nationally. It is still doubtful whether, at best, this Government scheme will entirely solve the housng problem, but there is no reason why, if it is properly backed up, it should not go far towards a solution.

NEW SHIPPING RATES.

With the cost of every commodity rising steadily it is not surprising that there should be a marked increase in ocean freight and passenger rates, which came into effect this week and is of particular interest to an Atlantic port such as Quebec. The freight increase will be found to range from about 25 percent on lower rated goods to 50 percent on more valuable articles.

The governing factor necessitating the increase has been the rise in all working expenses, including the cost of labor, coal, and stores. In this connection notice is believed to have been taken of the recent recommendation of the Court of Inquiry investigating the dockers' claim to higher wages. The export trade from the United Kingdom to the United States has for some time past shown improvement, and shipping managers do not anticipate that this improvement will be affected by the present rise in rates.

The increase in the passenger rates, which comes into effect this week, is not as formidable. The rates which have been ruling since August 20 last are being raised by 10 per cent. At the same time, the surcharge of 33 1-3 per cent., which was imposed to counteract the unfavorable exchange, is being reduced to 25 per cent. in consequence of an improvement in the rate of exchange. It is hoped that the rate of exchange will gradually improve further and that the surcharge may be reduced accordingly, and that ultimately, when exchange becomes normal, the surcharge may be eliminated altogether. The immediate effect of the changes is not very serious, still, as compared with the passage rates ruling before the war, the present fares are very much higher. Thus, allowing for the new rise of 10 per cent. and the surcharge, which is payable on the original rate, the present first-class minimum for the Baltic is $235, which compares with a minimum of only $100, before the war. The present second-class minimum rate for the same ship is $135, as against $55 six years ago. On the other hand, while the new rates are thus considerably more than double those ruling before the war, shipping managers speak of expenses now being three times what they were.

Only six more days to make your income tax return. Those who have not already attended to this matter, should do so without further delay. After May 1st, defaulters are liable to serious penalties. All single persons earning $1,000 per annum or over, and all married persons earning $2,000 per annum or over, are required to make returns.

A RODIN VICTORY.

(The Sun and New York Herald)

Nothing could be more fitting than that a group of statutary, modelled by Rodin in 1882 to represent the heroic defence and defeat of France in 1870-71, should be rescued from neglect and used now as is planned in France to commemorate the defence of Verdun and the late victorious war. The male figure standng for the French army is that of a man worn out but unbeaten. The female figure is that of France calling upon her sons not to give way. Once more

"France in wrath her giant limbs upreared
And with an oath that smote earth, air and sea
Stamped her strong foot and said she would be free."

On three occasions such an appeal was made to the race: after the great revolution, when it was necessary to face the sovereigns of Europe leagued against the first Republic; in the Franco-Prussian war and in the late struggle. As the spirit of the brave men who lost in '71 was as heroic as the spirit of those who rested on their arms in 1918 it is fitting that Rodin, the struggling genius of forty years ago, should be associated permanently with the triumph of the later day.

PAYMENT BY RESULTS.

(Westminister Gazette)

The National Federation of General Workers, under the presidency of Mr. Clynes, has decided that a system of payment by results "with proper safeguards" is worthy of the consideration of the trade unions. There are three possible bases on which wages can be calculated. The first is the old and discredited system of free supply and demand, the payment of the lowest wage which a man, under threat of starvation, could be prevailed upon to accept. The second is payment according to the needs of the worker, assuring to him a reasonable standard of life. Such a system would logically involve the remuneration of the married man at a higher rate than the bachelor. The third is that of payment by results, assessed according to the value of work done. At present we are drifting rather aimlessly without consistent regard to any particular principle. But the last, sanctioned by Mr. Clynes's union, does offer us one great benefit. It is a direct encouragement of an increase in production.

OLDEST LONDONER.

(London Daily Chronicle)

An old woman to whom fame arrived late in life has just died at Edmonton. Mrs. Lambert celebrated her 106th birthday over two months ago, and for some years past she has been congratulated every January as the oldest Londoner. One thinks of the little baby, born before the guns thundered at Waterloo, and destined to hear the guns thunder as they drove air-raiders from London in the great war a century later. She grows to maidenhood and womanhood, and through middle age to old age, wth the fame that was to be hers one day still a secret of the future. But the fame did come at last, and for some years she was the most photographed and interviewed old woman in Great Britain.

What Is Behind The "Outlaw" Rail Strike?

Every phase of the great strike that has extended across the country during the past two weeks is covered in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for April 24th. In the opinion of the Jersey Journal (Jersey City) "the outlaw strike is trying either to put union labor out of business," and the Evening Post (Chicago) declares that it is "a test of organized labor's ability to control its own affairs. If unionism can not control its forces and can not prove its value as a respectable co-operating factor in the great task of doing the country's work and producing the country's wealth, the verdict will go against it." While Attorney-General Palmer affirms that the strike was the result of I. W. W. leadership, and of the working out of an international Communist program, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, blames "men like Senator Cummins and Governor Allen, of Kansas, with their legislation to deny a man right to quit work to enforce a legitimate claim or redress an injury" for the "wave of uncontrollable resentment" which found expression in this strike. The Evening Public Ledger (Philadelphia) declares that "the pressure that greed and stupid opportunism have put upon all wage-earners is almost intolerable. To be promised relief, yet to see the cost of necessities rising steadily about twice as fast as your wages, to see a day approaching when shoes and shelter may be matters of doubt, is to be ready material in the hands of blind agitators."

Read THE DIGEST this week if you would get the news of this great strike as drawn from all available sources.

"The Digest's" Poll of 11,000,000 Voters

The Most Impressive Indication of the People's Choice for the Presidency Even Given Outside of a Presidential Election

When it is recalled that the total vote cast in the last Presidential election was about eighteen and one-half millions and that in the present poll THE DIGEST is taking, eleven million voters are being asked to name their choices for the presidency, it will be seen that the results of this poll will give a very accurate idea of the man that the American public want for president. The second week's returns are published in THE DIGEST for April 24th. Every section of the country is being canvassed by mail in this poll, and many thousands of votes are being received daily. From now on up to the presidential conventions in June the DIGEST will print a weekly tabulation of this monster vote and it is not too much to say that it will be carefully and eagerly scanned by the public, and in all likelihood will have a considerable influence upon the selection of the candidates at the conventions of the two great parties.

All the World-News of the Week in "The Digest"

Besides the two feature articles, before mentioned, this week's DIGEST is particularly interesting. There is a wide variety of news-articles covering International Politics, The War Situation in Europe, Science and Invention, Religion and Social Service, Literature, Drama, Music and Education, while the lighter side of life is reflected in the form of humorous cartoons and other illustrations.

INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACE

Sir Thomas Lipton's Personal Representative Has Arrived at New York

The international yacht race between Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. and the American yachts Resolute or Vanitie, to take place in July next, is now the cause of considerable interest in English and American yachting circles. Colonel Duncan F. O'Neill, who will act as Sir Thomas Lipton's personal representative in the cup contest, arrived at New York by the steamer Adriatic on Sunday last. It is said that the Shamrock IV. may have to give six minutes time allowance to the American defender.

Charles E. Nicholson, Shamrock's designer and builder, admitted when he was in this country last winter that Shamrock would have to give either the Resolute or Vanitie a handicap of several minutes over the thirty mile course, and expressed confidence she would be able to do it. It is known he designed her at the top of the measurement class for 75 feet waterline boats, figuring her to run away from the American yachts, which measure well below the top.

Resolute is almost at the bottom of the class, and the Vanitie is expected to rate much lower, with the changes being made in her, than she did in the trial races in 1914. Their actual measurements have been kept secret, as have the Shamrock's, and comparative computation can only be based on what is known of the hull lines and spar lengths of all three, but undoubtedly the handicap in the coming contests will be the largest in any cup races ever held, and instead of the defender giving time, as was the case in the last races, seventeen years ago, the shoe will be on the other foot.

The Genesta, Galatea and Thistle the challengers in the late 80's, received a few seconds allowance each from the Puritan, Mayflower and Volunteer. The Vigilant also had to give more than a minute and a half to Lord Dunraven's first cup hunter, the Valkyrie II. Then Capt. Nat Herreshoff trimmed the Defender down so that the Valkyrie III. had to allow her 29 seconds.

When Sir Thomas sent his first Shamrock here the Columbia had to give her 6 seconds in each of the first two races. In the first the Columbia won by 10 minutes and 8 seconds over the allowance she was required to give. In the second she was far ahead when Shamrock II's. topmast was carried away and the latter withdrew. In the three days intervening before the next and deciding race, Herreshoff cut down the Columbia's measurement so that the Shamrock II had to give her 16 seconds.

THE APATHY OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING CITIZENS

A representative of the Chronicle who went to the City Hall yesterday to see that his name was on the electoral lists which are being revised, had his attention called to the fact that the English-speaking citizens are taking no interest in the revision of the lists and do not seem to care whether their names are on the lists or not.

Mr. N. Belleau, who is in charge of preparing the lists, said that he would like to see everyone come and give their names, otherwise many will complain without reason at election time when they find that they have through their own negligence deprived themselves of the right of franchise.

NEW MONTREAL TRAIN SERVICE

C. N. R. Management Getting Champlain Market Station Ready For Traffic

The management of the Canadian National Railways are busy completing organization for the operation of a day and night passenger train service between Quebec and Montreal to leave and arrive at the Champlain Market Square.

Though no definite orders have yet been issued from headquarters it is expected that the train service will be inaugurated within the next few days. Up to the present no effort has been made to place the Champlain Market Square in a condition for the departure and arrival of these prospective trains. It is learned, however, that the ground floor of the railway building, on the market square will be utilized for waiting rooms and ticket offices, and that the second floor of the former militia store building at the north end of the King's property, will be converted into railway offices in connection with the special train service. All the trackage from the Champlain Market Square above the the river frontage to the Quebec bridge has been repaired, and all that is left to be done is the building of sidings on the approaches to the market square, as well as the making of provisions for the handling of baggage and a platform for passengers to disembark and embark on the trains.

It is also learned that the C. N. Ry's management is awaiting the completion of the special cars to be placed in this service.

PROTECTION FOR CHILDREN

Quebec, April 22nd, 1920

The Editor of the Chronicle,

Dear Sir,

I have long felt there was great need of a Society for the Protection of Children in Qubece that could carry on work not only in the City but also in the country districts, I have spoken of this idea to several people but have always been told that the need for such a society did not exist. I think the case of Aurore Gagnon proves unanswerably that there is need for such a society. Through your kindness in printing this letter I hope now to draw attention more publicly to the matter, and ask if it would not be possible to have a meeting called to consider the question of forming such a society, I should suggest that this might be done by the Socal Service Committee or some other charitable organization.

Thanking you for your kindness.

Yours truly,
H. M. B.

TAILORS WILL NOT FIT SUITS.

Springfield, Mass., April 22.—Hundreds of employees of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company and other concerns in this country who bought woolen suits as a protest against the American H. C. of L., are up against it now because the tailors of the city have absolutely refused to do any altering to make the suits fit.

Unless wives and sweethearts can be pressed into service to make the alterations there will be a lot of baggy looking out fits floating up and down the streets.

The story of the tailor is:

"They got 'em in England, let them get England to fix 'em."

WORKERS WANT INCREASED PAY

Employees of Levis Electric Railway Make Demands on Company

The employees of the Levis Electric Railway have made a demand on the Company for an increase of wages to come into effect on Tuesday next. The demand made is for 32 cents per hour for first year men and 40 cents for employees who have been in the service five years. The management of the Company received a deputation of the employees on Thursday night last, and while admitting the justice of the men's demands said there was no money in the treasury to meet them as there was a deficiate of $28,000 from last year's business.

The employees of the tramways recently addressed a request to the municipalities of Levis, St. Romuald, Lauzon and Bienville to permit the Street Railway Company to charge 25 cents for three fare tickets, instead of four as at present, and were refused. The employes will now address a petition to the Public Utilities Commission requesting this permission.

WATER

A STARTLING PARADOX!

Externally beneficial—
Internally detrimental.

Can anything be—"Good yet Bad"—at the same time? Very decidedly YES! and proven so, by using eyesight and common sense. In one of the windows of the Chronicle office will be this P.M. a convincing exhibition, showing plainly such truth. Visible facts,—telling their OWN,—story. It is Not a case of,—read about t,—or, listen to someone tell about it,—or: imagine it,—No indeed! it is,—"let your own eyes, enlighten you.

In the said window, will be seen from house and office taps—one containing water "just at it is drawn" from hous and office taps—one, containing the same water,—after it has been through an-up-to-date-filter. The third bottle containing spring water,—"exactly, as drawn from the undefiled, natural spring called "Claire-Fontaine."

This vivid, conclusive, object lesson, will be demonstrated, once more—"and carries on"—the Chronicle's "inaugural campaign, of enlightenment about "good goods." In our advertising columns the sole owners of the "Claire-Fontaine" pure spring, Messrs. M. Timmons & Son, will give you some further truths, which are confirmed by the leading analysts, and medical experts of today. You wash in water that is not very clean, because you HAVE TO and, undoubtedly it is beneficial.—BUT: YOU DO NOT HAVE TO "DRINK", what is unquestionably detrimental unless you prefer the slogan of—Safety-first,—changed to—Danger first.

When French Exchange returns to its normal rate you can realize $96.50 for every $43. invested in these bonds and the interest yield will then be over 11%.

In addition, these bonds participate every year in ten drawings of lots, of which there are five lots of one million francs each; the others varying from 500,000 to 1,000 francs each, forming a total, every year, of 2,679 lots, amounting in all to 16 million francs. The Paris bonds participate in six of these drawings and the Credit National in four.

BIG LACROSSE MEETING MONDAY

Quebec and District Lacrosse League Will Get Down To Business for Season

The Quebec and District Lacrosse League will hold a big meeting on the 26th instant at the Victoria Hotel for the lovers of this sport in Quebec and surrounding districts. Frontenac and Canadian National Ry. the Firemen's Ath. Ass. will be surely represented in the interests of their own organization by two authorized delegates. With these three clubs the league will be more attractive than last year as there were only two clubs. It would be a good thing if more than three clubs would cooperate in the league as the Lavoie Cup which the members of the committee received from this Gentleman at the last meeting on the 16th instant and gave the same night to the President of the Frontenac Lacross Club, last year's Champions, is a cup of such a value that other clubs should join the league and give more attraction to our summer national sport.

Last year the direction of the Frontenac Club gave to the public an exhibition between two Clubs from Cap Blanc. The Frontenac Club and the Jeune Champlain Club. The directors of the St. Roch Club, helped by a few lovers of the lacrosse sport also gave an exhibition between two Clubs, the St. Roch Cub and Kent Club, the former cubs together, have a number of forty eight players. This year the Frontenac, well organized at a recent meeting, will do their best to hold the Cup and it would be a great thing, if possible, that another club from that place would enter the league. These two clubs with the Firemen's Ath. Ass., the Can. Nat. Ry would mean a four club league. The Dominion Arsenal Ass. with such men as Ad. Genest, Jos. Bilodeau, R. Bradley and Em. Bernbe at the head of a lacrosse team should be a good acquisition to the league and this Association might develop good lacrosse players as well as in other sport as it has developed in Base ball, Hockey, etc., since a few years. Undoubtedly an Association of that kind would be well patronized and the league would be composed of five clubs. The same thing might be said for Sillery with such men as Mike Cleary, T. Moore, Ph. Aubin, M. Cox, etc. Levis with W. S. Byrne, Em. Dion and H. Vercault as promotors.

OLYMPIC GAMES HOCKEY DRAW

Falcons Meet Czecho-Slovakia Tonight in First Round —Canadians Favorites

Antwerp, April. 23.—Canada's hockey repreSeqtatives, the Falcons of Winnipeg, will meet the Czecho-Slovakia team in the opening round of the Olmpic games hockey tournament here tomorrow night according to the draw made for the seven contesting nations last night. The game will be the third of the series, contests between other teams being scheduled for tonight and tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow night's game will be watched with particular interest for the Canadians and Czechs were named as favorites in the betting by the Belgian hockey enthusiasts when the teams displayed their speed at practices and a very keen contest is anticipated. The Canadians are still favorites with the majority of those who have been following their preliminary work, but the United States appears to have replaced the Czechs as second choice with most of the experts.

Six teams were paired in the opening round in last night's draw, with France drawing a bye, and the first game for the championship and first place will be played at the Ice Palace here on Monday night. Unless there is an unexpected upset the United States team in the semi final on Sunday.

Many of the hockey experts assembled here believe that the victor in the game between the Canadian and United States sevens on Sunday night will be the ultimate winner of the Olympic hockey championship for none of the other competing nations, with the possible exception of the Czechs, has shown the form in practice that has distinguished the work of the men from the Dominion and their neighbors to the south.

France, a bye—first round.
Sweden vs. Belgium, tonight.
United States vs. Switzerland, tomorrow afternoon.
Canada vs. Czecho-Slovakia, tomorrow night.

Under this draw France will play the winner of the Swedish Belgium match on Sunday afternoon and the winners of the Canada vs. Czecho-Slovakia and United States vs. Switzerland contests will meet on Sunday night. The surviving teams will then play for first and second place honors on Monday, while the five teams eliminated in the round before the finals will continue until Thursday in a second elimination round for third place.

Sporting Notes

"Babe" Ruth, the New York $125,000 wonder, is out of the game for two weeks, and his place on the Yankee line up will be taken by Ping Bodie, who was reinstated yesterday.

• • •

Lacrosse is due for a boom in Quebec this summer, if the plans of the Quebec and District Lacrosse League go through. They are doing their level best to give the City a well balanced league, and their efforts ought to meet with great success.

• • •

Toronto won their second game yesterday against the Reading Barons. Despite the fact that the Reading team scored seven runs in the fourth frame yesterday, they could not win.

• • •

There was only one game in the American League yesterday, Boston doubling the score on Washington, the team that defeated the Red Sox for the first time this season.

• • •

The Ontario Jockey Club are going to hold their spring meeting, despite the new tax of $10,000 per day, which goes to show that the tracks can still pay that much, and have a little left, for they would not be foolish enough to operate at a loss.

• • •

The Falcons and Czecho-Slovakia cross sticks tonight at Antwerp, in the first round of the Olympic ice hockey games. The Canadian team are looked upon to land the first honors in this sport by the experts.

• • •

Mike McTigue is going to box in Montreal in the near future. We venture to say that quite a crowd will turn up to see the man that scored a [illegible] victory over the redoubtable 'Gene Brosseau.

• • •

It is rather disheartening to note that the opening of the flat-racing season has brought further complaints of the number of rogues and vagabonds who hang on to the skirts of the sport. The Jockey Club pleads that it does its best, and it is only reasonable when it pleads that a race course cannot be compared with other places of entertainment where rogues can be kept at a distance. None the less, all the efforts of the King— who is at Aintree today for the Grand National—and of other sportsmen in the best sense of the word will be unavailing in saving racing if something is not done to defeat the hooligans, cheats, and thieves who make a dishonest living at other people's expense.—Westminister Gaette.

STOLE LIQUOR

New York, April 22—George Hopkins, a plumber is held on a charge of theft brought by Jacob B. Theiss, President of a big tire company, who alleges that Hopkins, when called to fix a leak in the roof of Theiss' residence, started to work too low down. Theiss cliams the plumber, instead of fixing the leaky roof, went into his cellar and developed a large sized leak in his wine stock. The job, he declares took Hopkins four days. "On each visit he went to the cellar," he told the police, "and then I found that thirteen bottles of my best stock had been emptied." Theiss secreted detective in his cellar and they arrested the plumber.

WINNIPEG LIKES MILK

Winnipeg, Man., April 23.—Five million gallons of the 70,000,000 gallons of milk produced in Manitoba last year were consumed in Winnipeg, according to a city health department report. Other portions of the province consumed ten million gallons, while seven millions gallons were consumed a sweet cream and ice cream, one million gallons were manufactured into cheese, 25,000,000 gallons into dairy butter 2,000,000 into creamery butter and 2,000,000 gallons fed to youngcalves. In Manitoba 19,000,000 pounds of butter were manufactured. Of this amount 150 carloads or about 4,000,000 pounds were exported.

Sixty thousand cows are required to satisfy Winnipeg's requirements, the report continues. On a population of 200,000 the annual per capita allowance of milk would be 25 gallons and butter 23 pounds.

"Masters of the Road"

Superb AND Supreme

¶ The measure of mileage you expect to get from an automobile tire is exactly the measure we are prepared to give you in Dunlop Cord Tires.

¶ Dunlop Tires are thoroughly "thought out" in the Scientific Research Department, then they are thoroughly "tried out" on the road. You, as a tire buyer, get the Final Result.

¶ The new ideas we have evolved from world-wide collaboration with Dunlop Master Tire Builders have worked wonders in tire construction.

¶ Every other make of tire has suffered in comparison with Dunlop in a test of endurance; and that means foreign-made tires as well as Canadian-made.

¶ And just as Dunlop Cord Tires, wherever you go, are being awarded the palm as "1920's best," so, right across Canada, our 1920 sales figures are registering the definite approval of motorists in decidedly unusual increases.

¶ When you buy Dunlop Tires you buy from the world's greatest rubber organization, whether the comparison is in technical knowledge, area of plants, financial resources, etc.

¶ Our new million-and-a-half-dollar factory is now nearing completion. It will be exclusively devoted to the manufacture of Dunlop Cord Tires — "Traction," "Ribbed."

BARGY A CONTRACT ORDER

Tom has been hard for some time with the timber merchant, and he was sitting in his office musing gloomily over the outlook, when there entered a well-dressed man with a quiet, thoughtful face.

"Do you sell beechwood?" he asked bluntly.

"I do sir," replied the merchant, rising with alacrity from his seat, and hoping devoutly for a large order. "We can supply it on the shortest notice, either in the log or the plank."

He began to rummage through the papers on his desk for a price-list; but the quiet man stopped him.

"Oh, I don't want as much as that!" he said. "I only just need a bit to make a fiddle-bridge."

OTTAWA OLE CLO'S AND OVERALL ECONOMY LEAGUE

First Dress Parade of Members Will Take Place May 1st

Ottawa, Ont., April 23.—The "Ole Clo's and Overall Economy League" of Ottawa came into being tonight and the first dress parade and practical demonstration of the earnestness of its members and sympathizers will take place on May 1st.

The League took formation at a meeting of representaives of various city organizations in the Y.M.C.A. Officers were elected and discussion took place which seemed to indicate that the movement to wear old clothes and overalls to defeat the high cost of suits is no mere "fad" as is alleged. Members of the Civil Service present expressed the opinion that the Government employes would support the idea and come out in the-year-before-last's habilments and cheaper denim now that the lead had been given.

Old clothes were looked upon with more favor than overalls, although overalls will be looked upon as legitimate successors to fifty dollar suits. It was also made clear that the predominent feeling was one " to secure emancipation from the dictates of fashion and the fallacies of keeping up appearances". All expressed determination to carry out the idea until it brought results, and perhaps spread to other commodities.

GREAT BRITAIN WARNS SOVIET

London, April 23—Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has warned the Rusian Soviet Government that the re-establishment of economic relations with Russia cannot proceed until sympathetic treatment is given the beaten army of General Denikine in the Crimea, according to the Evening Standard in its issue of today.

How Much Tobacco Will My Heart Stand

A Question Vital to Every Man Who Smokes or Chews.

IT MAY COST A PRECIOUS LIFE TO FIND OUT BY EXPERIMENT

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its allotted task and then fights nicotine for supremacy. As long as the heart wins he lives; when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some are stronger than others, therefore some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars—or chewing tobacco— is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and that it is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quitting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will power than they have and causes more suffering than they can voluntarily endure. To quit the habit make it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you, then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day and it is probable you will have no desire to resume. At least your desire will be greatly diminished and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure, to quit.

NOTE: Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, under whose advice Nicotol has often been used, said when this statement was shown to him: "I have known Nicotol to conquer the tobacco habit in less than ten days' time and I can therefore recommend it highly." When the doctor's statement was shown to one of our leading druggists he said: "Nicotol is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit, way ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol is sold in this city under an ironclad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists.

ANNEXATION OF CANADA BY U.S.A.

Wile Says No One Outside of Lunatic Asylum Favors Idea

Montreal, Que., April 23—Frederick W. Wile, of Washington, a leading United States journalist, spoke today before the Montreal Canadian Club and told members that General Currie's last orders to the Canadian troops before the battle of St. Julien, the anniversary of which was today, were the most moving that had been known since the battle of Gettysburg. He said that before leaving Washington he had been approached by a politician as to whether an agitation for annexation in Canada would not be successful and had replied that no Canadian outside a lunatic asylum was in favor of it. Driven out of Germany with insult, Mr. Wile said he had had his revenge when, as the only man aboard Admiral Tyrrwhitt's flagship at the time of the surrender of the German submarines, who could write fluent German he had written "probably the most insulting message ever sent by one fleet to another," and it was wirelessed and obeyed.

HIGH LIFE IN MONT. HOTELS

Policemen in Uniform Given Liquor with Their Lady Friends

Montreal, Que., April 23.—Evidence was given today before the License Commission in cases of hotels selling hard liquor that policemen in uniform had been served with gin and the policemen testified that it was not first time they had been served and that they went in only during the hours on which they were on duty. They went there on instructions from their superiors. This was in the case of the Corona Hotel here where constable Derosiers said that he and another constable went on the evening of April 13, and before having supper asked for something to drink and were given four drinks of gin, two each for which they paid $4.00 They then had supper which cost $16.20.

Constable Lachapelle said that he and another officer went to the Corona on April 14 and went to a private room with two girls. The girls had a Martini cocktail and a Collins while the officers had Scotch whiskey. For this round of drinks and another round the charge was $5.00. Similar evidence was given in regard to other hotels.

Refined, Delicate Skin Secured by Absorption

No complexion can be considered beautiful if the skin is coarse in texture. This trouble can be overcome by thoroughly cleansing the pores removing the dirt and impurities which made the skin rough. For this purpose there's nothing better than the mercolized wax process. The wax completely absorbs the rough, muddy or discolored outer skin and uncloge the pores. The fresh, young skin underneath then in evidence is exquisitely delicate, refined and beautiful. And it is kept so, as the pores now freely expel effete matter and drink in the life-giving oxygen.

Mercolized wax, because of its wonderful absorption power, is fast superseding other treatments for coarse, pimply, yellow, freckled or blotchy skin. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off next morning. It it perfectly harmless, of course, and can be found in any drug store or toilet section.

FORMAL RECOGNITION OF RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVT.

Question Will Not Be Presented To San Remo Conference.

Washington, D.C., April 23.—The Italian Embassy declared n a statement today that the question of formal recognition of the Russian Soviet Government would not be presented to the San Remo conference. The Embassy issued the following statement:

"With a view of correcting misunderstandings that have arisen as to the Italian policy towards Russia, the Italian Embassy is authorized to state that it has never been the intention of Signor Nitti to lay before the San Remo Conference the question of a formal recognition of the Soviet Government. Signor Nitti's aim is to re-establish as soon as possible, commercial relations with Russia, and as to political recognition, his desire is to act, if possible, in full accord with the Allied Governments. Signor Nitti wishes to follow a policy of peace, utilizing the resources of Germany and Russia, without which Europe cannot have real peace and the whole world cannot maintain economic equilibrium."

Yardmen Vote Against Return In Spite Of the Federal Warning

Cleveland, Ohio, April 23—Five hundred striking members of the Cleveland Yardmen's Association, at a meting here this afternoon voted to go to jail in preference to returning to work. The men voted against returning to work after Frank J O'Rourke, President of the Association, had notified the men that the Department of Justice agents had notified him unless the strikers returned to work by tomorrow morning the leaders would be arrested.

St. Louis, Mo., April 23—Striking yardmen in St. Louis district today revoked their action of yesterday in voting to return to work and voted to remain on strike and press their demands for increased wages.

Switchmen, who are demanding an increase of from $4.72 to $7.60 a day, voted to raise the demand to $9.00 if it were not met by Monday, and an additional dollar for each succeeding week the demand is ignored.

Chicago, Ill., April 23 — The Striking Railroaders' meeting here this afternoon adjourned without taking action toward calling off outlaw strikes.

New York, April 23—Refusal of the railroad heads to modify their ultimatum to the strikers and the equal determination of the latter to hold out for seniority right, tonight virtually destroyed all hope of an early settlement of the railroad labor difficulties in the Metropolitan district.

U. S. SHIPS AND BRITISH TRADE

Merchant Fleet Worth Much As Britain's National Debt Before the War

London, April 23— How British shipping companies are liable to be affected by American competition was referred to by Sir Owen Phillips, chairman of Lamport & Holt, Ltd., at the annual meeting of that company.

Although Sir Owen's remarks had direct reference to the affairs of his own company, shipping interests are sufficiently allied for them to be of general interest.

Sir Owen said in part:

"During the last year our chief concern has been the maintenance of our regular trade, but we have been confronted with many serious difficulties. To a greater degree than most shipping companies we were obliged during the war practically to abandon established services which we had built up as a result of many years of hard work and enterprise. The gaps thus caused were to some extent filled by others, and it was not an easy matter for us to regain our old position.

"The United States of America, as we all know, rendered great service to Allied cause in the latter stages of the war by the tremendous energy they threw into their shipbuilding program in order to assist to defeat the German submarine campaign. They now find themselves in possession of an enormous fleet of State-owned merchant vessels in addition to the German steamers which had sought refuge from the British navy by interning themselves in United States ports prior to America's entry into the conflict. The cost price of the vessels of the mercantile fleet built for and still owned by the United States Government is stated to be about £600,000,000. In other words the American Government has now invested in shipping a sum equal to the total of our national debt just prior to the war. It is true that the United States Government has sold a certain number of vessels since the armistice to American shipping companies and American citizens, but the ships thus disposed of do not, I understand, exceed approximately 15 per cent of their total fleet.

"If the United States Government continues to own and run this large fleet of merchant ships, British shipowners and the British nation may presently find themselves confronted with an entirely new set of conditions such as has never existed before. The whole of a vast and vital industry upon the maintenance and success of which the welfare, if not the very existence, of the British nation depends, will be faced with the competition of a merchant fleet which is State-owned, and backed by all the resources of a very rich and prosperous country. We have no cause to complain of the action of the United States in this matter, but we shall need to strain every effort in order to maintain our historic place in the great ocean trades of the world.

Energy and Initiative Needed.

"Provided the British shipowner is not handicappd by State control of trade I am confident we shall succeed in holding our position but it may be a strenuous struggle for many years to come. It is absolutely essential that we should have behind us the sympathy of the British public. It may be said we should meet great State-owned fleets with a State owned-fleet of our own. On the contrary, I believe that only by allowing free play and scope to the initiative, enterprise, and energy of the British shipowners can we hope to be able to hold our own. Great changes have taken place in the shipping industry in the last five years. The cost of new steamers is from two and one-half to three times greater and the cost of everything necessary to run the vessels is substantially increased, so that freights and passenger fares must invariably be higher than in pre-war times if voyages are to show any profit at all."

TOUCHED BROKEN ELECTRIC WIRE

Constantable Wilf. Ladurantaye Was Instantly Killed Yesterday in Montreal

Montreal, Que., April 23—Constable Wilfrid Ladurantaye, 33 years of age, was instantly killed today when he touched a broken electric wire carrying 25,000 volts. The constable had been sent with another constable to guard the broken wire and to prevent citizens from being injured. He took a broken end of the wire in his hand and as he was standing in a pool of water, he received the entire charge of the wire.

"I was in front of Ladurantaye," said Constable Larocque after the accident. "I turned and saw him holding a piece of the wire in his hand. He staggered and seemed to grow taller, suddenly he fell."

It was only by borrowing a crutch from a lame man standing by that the wire could be got away from the constable's hand. When taken to the station he was found to be dead although surgeons worked over him with artificial respiration for over half an hour without avail.

ARE BURIED IN CITY OF PEKING

Bodies of Members of Russian Imperial Family Sent From Harbin

Peking, April 23.—(By the Ass'd. Press)—Seven bodies, four of them said to be those of members of the Russian Imperial family, have arrived in Peking from Harbin and were buried in the Russian cemetery outside the city wall. The whole proceeding was surrounded with the greatest secrecy, even the Russian Legation receiving scant information of the circumstances.

The bodies were declared to be those of Grand Duke Serge Michaelovitch, Prince Ivan, husband of Princess Helene, daughter of King Peter of Serbia; Prince Igor, brother of Prince Ivan; Grand Duchess Elizabeth, a sister of the late Empress, and three servants who shared the fate of these members of the royal family, when, it is alleged, they were killed and their bodies thrown down into a coal mine near Perm. The discovery of their remains was said to have been made by a Commission appointed by Admiral Kolchak last summer.

CLARE MARKET.

The School of Economics, which has already done some good work, is to be further extended and will be a suitable neighbor to the coming Bush Terminal Building, to be built on the empty space where once Wych Street and other mean streets stood. Clare Market, that in 1657 was a fashionable place and "well served with provisions," was built by the Earl of Clare, who lived in a princely mansion, having a house, a street and a market all bearing his name—but by the end of the nineteenth century had earned for itself the worst slum reputation in London; so much so that it was not considered advisable to go through the ally of stalls that thus constituted the market. When the rookeries came to be pulled down, a wholly unsuspected human lodgment was discovered in the shape of a hole dug in the ground, in which several persons lived—troglodytes of a hitherto unclassified order. This was the London which a certain famous small boy, employed in a blacking factory by Hungerford Stairs, divined, as he crossed the city with his father from Limehouse to his own humble home in Fayrar Street. In spite of all this there were constant attempts at bettering the condition of the people, and the L. C. C. school led the way in enlightenment, lending their rooms in the evening for various educational purposes; not the least of which were the happy evenings for children, when their education in happiness went on briskly, even though the only difference between a clergyman and a layman they made was that the latter "wore his own clothes and a high hat."

GETTING READY FOR CONVENTION

Vancouver Making Plans For Canadian Manufacturers' Association Convention

Vancouver, B.C., April 23— (By Can. Press)—Though still in an embryonic state plans are being made locally for the reception and entertainment of delegates of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who, to the number of 250, will arrive here from all parts of the Dominion to attend the annual convention on June 7.

The visitors will come in two special trains, one bearing Ontario delegates, and the other those from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces

"Get acquainted" will be the order of the day as soon as the delegates reach the city, for that purpose Monday morning being left vacant. For the afternoon there will be a motor trip around Burrard Pensinsula to Coquitlam, and the party will be the guests of New Westminister while passing through the Royal City.

Morning and afternoon sessions for business will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, the delegates being entertained, it is anticipated, by various public bodies, at luncheon each day. Among these will be, in all probability, the board of trade, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, and at some early stage of the gatherings Premier Oliver will extend a welcome on behalf of the Province.

A trip up the Inlet to the North Arm will be one of the most delightful events of the convention.

On Wednesday evening the annual banquet, always one of the most important features of the convention, will be held in the ball room of Hotel Vancouver.

This function will end the proceedings as far as Vancouver is concerned, and on Thursday morning the party will take boat to Victoria and in the afternoon will be taken to the magnificient gardens of R. B. Butchart, at Tod Inlet. In the evening there will be a ball or reception and on Friday morning there will be a motor trip around Esquimalt and Gordon Head.

Meanwhile, the ladies of the party will be well looked after and a series of pleasant gatherings for their delectation are being arranged. One of these will be a trip by boat to Wigwam Inn, on the North Arm(and some of the ladies' organizations have other entertainments under way.

There will be no formal function when the party return to Victoria, as the members will go immediately to their trains, en route for home.

All these plans are tentative at present, but the above is a general outline of the suggested entertainments.

Business matters to come before the convention are under consideration by the local branch of the association, which has 162 members in British Columbia. There are 4,100 members in the Dominion.

War Shipping Organization Demobilizes

One of the Transports used by the British Ministry of Shipping (Canada). Sir Arthur Harris, inset.

The British Ministry of Shipping (Canada) which during its five and one half years of existence practically controlled the export trade of Canada, inland and overseas, clearing over 3,000 transports and liners from Canadian Ports and Portland, will, according to an announcement by Sir Arthur Harris, its Director General, be demobilized on March 31st, next.

All correspondence relating to the affairs of the Ministry in Canada after that date is to be addressed to Mr. E. M. Raeburn, Director General, British Ministry of Shipping, No. 165 Broadway, New York.

The activities of the Ministry in Canada, including the Overseas Department which it succeeded, date from August 1914, at which time the Dominion Government, appreciating the importance of securing the service of an expert Overseas Officer, conferred with the heads of the large Canadian Transportation Companies with the result that the then President of the Canadian Pacific placed at the service of the Government Mr., now "Sir" Arthur Harris, who acted as Director Overseas Transport up to the 5th September 1918, at which date the Department was absorbed into the British Ministry of Shipping, Sir Arthur Harris continuing in charge as Director General in Canada.

During the period 1914-18 the Director General practically controlled the export trade of Canada, inland and overseas, and that the work was well and impartially performed was evidenced from the fact that the Railway and Steamship Interests were satisfied, and the general business of the Country continued with a minimum of disturbance.

The development of the Department may be realized by the number of vessels cleared from Canadian Ports and Portland between the 25th August 1914 and 31st December 1919, viz:—

1914	1915	1916	1917	1918	1919
Transports.	Transports.	Transports.	Transports. and Liners.	Transports. and Liners.	Transports. and Liners.
40,	122,	362,	737,	875,	975.

During the above mentioned period in excess of sixteen million gross tons of munitions, war material, and supplies, were moved inland and overseas.

The Director General was supported by an efficient staff drawn from the service of the Canadian Pacific. They did good work for Canada and the Empire, and the fact that it was done quietly, almost to the point of self-effacement, is recognized and appreciated.

The General Public little knew the onerous obligations devolving on the successful administration of an undertaking of such magnitude.

When the history of Canada's participation in the Great War is chronicled not the least of its achievements will have been the successful administration of its transport service.

The report of the Select Committee (Imperial Government) on national expenditure issued as a White Paper in London on the 5th January last pays a deserving tribute to the effective and economical administration of the affairs of the Ministry of Shipping not only in the United Kingdom but in various Outports of the World to which the operations of the Shipping Control was extended.

Last Day of The Long Arm of Mannister, at the Classic Theatre.

Today is the last opportunity that movie lovers will have to see Henry B. Walthall in the great Pioneer picture, "The Long Arm of Mannister", at the Classic Theatre.

All during its engagement record crowds have been entertained by this remarkable production, which was taken from the novel of the same name by the famous author, E. Phillips Oppenheim.

The story deals with the experiences of George Mannister who has been deeply wronged, by his former associates and his wife. Like a modern Count of Monte Christo, he returns and one by one of his enemies are made to answer for their duplicity.

When the name of his wife is reached on the list of his victims he relents, and forgiving her, takes her back into his love and heart.

Henry B. Walthall who is very popular in this section has a part which fits him like a kid glove, in the role of Mannister, the supporting company which includes Helene Chadwick and Olive Ann Alcorn is the finest that has ever surrounded Mr. Walthall.

This is your last chance to see "The Long Arm of Mannister".

AT THE CLASSIC.

(Chronicle's Review)

For the first three days of the coming week, the management of the Classic have secured "The Gay Old Dog", the story of simple minded, big hearted, whole souled, self-sacrificing, modest men.

It is a human-heart comedy drama of the first water, and will be enjoyed by all who see it. It is the story of a young country boy, who promised his mother on her death bed that he would not marry until his three sisters were all wed. The events that happen before the picture comes to a happy conclusion are too numerous to mention.

The Classic Weekly News, Topics of the Day, and a fine program of music are also added.

For the last half of the week "Atonement", starring Conway Tearle, will be the feature. The picture is from the book of the same name by Tolstoi, and is a first class vehicle for Tearle's emotional and acting powers.

An excellent comedy, and a Pathe Weekly, are also on the same bill

MISS MAY BARRON, the eminent contralto of the Boston Opera Company, at the Auditorium, week of May 3rd. This great singer will appear in Carmen, Il Trovatore and Faust.

GRAND OPERA WEEK WILL BE BRILLIANT

Boston Opera Coming With Entire Company in a Most Attractive Repertoire

The Boston Opera Company now numbering over 100 people, including several of America's foremost opera stars, the best opera chorus on tour and a really fine symphony orchestra of twenty five selected players, will be at the Auditorium for the entire week commencing, Monday, May 3rd. After the triumph won by this company in Boston, Mr. Gauvin did not hesitate in engaging them for a short season here and he gives us the assurance that it will prove one of the most successful opera engagements ever played in this city at popular prices. By the way, it will be the last opportunity offered our music lovers to hear grand opera on a high scale of perfection at prices ranging from 50cts to $2.00. All opera companies have now increased their prices on account of the constant augmentation of salaries to artists, chorus, orchestra, stage crews, etc., and traveling expenses. However, the contract with the Boston Opera Company calls for the popular scale of $2.00 top price and it will be fulfilled accordingly. The program is as follows: Monday FAUST; Tuesday, CAVALLERIA RUSTICANA and PAGLIACCI; Wed. Matinee FAUST; Wed. Evening, IL TROVATORE; Thursday, RIGOLETTO; Friday CARMEN; Sat. Matinee ROBIN HOOD; Sat. Evening, TROVATORE. All seats on sale Monday morning at the theatre.

Ottawa, Ont., April 23—(By Canadian Press)—Figures for the fiscal year ending March 31 last show an increase in the grand total of Canadian trade amounting to $165,980,266, as compared with the figures for the previous year. The total value of goods exported from and imported into Canada during the year just ended was $2,351,174,986. During the year ended March 31, 1919, the total value of imports and exports was $2,185,194,620.

BIG DEPUTATION BEING FORMED

Shipbuilders Will Impress National Necessity of Construction on Premier

There are indications that Sir Robert Borden will come back to Ottawa and resume his seat in the House of Commons within the next three weeks, and the shipbuilding interests of Canada are arranging for the organization of a large and important deputation of Canadian shipbuilders and ship workingmen to wait on the Prime Minister to impress upon him the great necessity for the construction of shipbuilding as a Canadian asset. The deputation who will meet the Premier shortly after his return to his parliamentary duties, will endeavor to persuade the Government to grant a subsidy for the encouragement of the trade.

Mr. Edward Bristol, member of the House of Commons for Toronto-Centre, who is one of the organizers of this prospective deputation, is a strong advocate of Government assistance towards Canadian shipbuilding, and in the course of a speech he delivered in the House of Commons on the 23rd of March on the question, said:

Coming back to the shipbuilding industry, it is interesting to point out that when the war started we were building very few steel ships, and we should be grateful to Great Britain for what she has done through the Imperial Munitions Board towards establishing shipyards in this country, and developing the shipbuilding genius of Canadians who at that time were certainly not skilled in shipbuilding. These contracts were at comparatively high prices, which the minister informs us were higher than his prices, although wages and materials were higher at the time he let his contracts. I a gree with him, but I want to point out that the Canadian workmen from the moment they started shipbliuding began to improve and are still improving and becoming more efficient and I venture to say that if the industry were accorded the care and protection which should be given to any growing industry from its inception and until it gets firmly on its feet—and that is a policy which I believe is a sound one—in five years from the present time the Canadian shipbuilder will be just as good as any workman in the British shipyards who has been engaged in this occupation all his life The Government took up the shipbuilding plan and the result of their operations, in conjunction with the efforts of the different shipbuilding yards, has been that these yards have been running to capacity, and the business, started with perhaps a few million dollars, has today practically fifty million dollars invested in it This industry has a payrool of forty million dollars, and over fifty million dollars is invested in subsidiary industries which are maintained for the supply of such accessories as engines, boilers and all the appurtenances that go to make up the ship apart from the hull. There are twenty-three or twenty-four thousand in the subsidiary industries; and, making the usual allowances in an estimate of the number of people dependent on any industry, there are over two hundred thousand people today who derive their subsistence from shipbuilding in this country. In addition to this, a sum of over one hundred million dollars is invested in this industry, and the dependent industries. These facts are of the greatest importance and call for the serious consideration of the people of Canada.

The interest in shipbuilding is very widespread in Canada, for there are two or three large yards in Nova Scotia, four or five in Quebec, five or six in Ontario and three or four in British Columbia. Altogether, practically four-fifths of the people of the country are interested in the maintenance and upbuilding of our shipping industry.

A NEW FUEL IN ENGLAND.

News comes from England of the invention of a new kind of fuel, and although much reading about such inventions may well make the average fuel-user skeptical Richard Bowen, managing directir of Laminated Coal, Ltd., has formed his company to exploit his invention, and, according to The Times Trade Supplement, a number of British collieries have shown confidence in the process by taking out license to work it. French collieries are said also to be adopting the process, and Italian coal producers to be very much interested in it. So, too the Canadian Government, and that of Victoria, whose large possesion of lignite deposits in Alberta, Saskatchewan and the State of Victoria would become valuable if the new fuel makes good, are investigating the process. Mr. Bowen's new fuel is produced from coal slack and dust, lignite, peat, or other materials, combined with pitch and can be made in blocks of various sizes. The inventor, in short, believes that out of material that has hitherto been conelderede waste a reconstructed coal can be made which will have the characteristic of coal as it occurs in the earth, and that this fuel can be sold cheaper than the regular mine product. More than that, the new fuel differs from most such artificial additions to the fuel supply in that the inventor thinks it can be used for ordinary household purposes as well as for industrial plants and transportation. If such should prove to be the case, the sooner Laminated Coal, Ltd., is known the world over the better it will be for private coal bins; and Mr. Richard Bowen's photograph might fairly enough be hung in the cellar and looked at with grateful respect by the householder every time he goes down stairs to "tend the furnace."

THE DIAMOND FIELDS OF BRAZIL

Scientific Jewel Seeking Is the Result of British Enterprise

Looking down from the bamboo and aloe shaded verandah of a house built twenty years ago by an unlucky French diamond hunting company, I see the sandy ground dipping to a little valley, rising again to a hill sparsely covered with grass, and thence tilting sharply to a deep violet shadowed ravine on whose farther side stands the deeply scored escarpment, 5,000 feet high, that guards the Jequitinhonha river.

The waters running below this frowning quartzite cliff have been for 200 years the main source of diamonds in Brazil Indeed, for 150 years before the South African discoveries the Jequitinhonha and its tributaries were the chief diamond centres of the world, yielding at the beginning of last century from 20,000 to 25,000 carats each year. But when, after 1870, Kimberley and the Transvaal began to offer immense quantities of stones, reaching just before the war an annual value of £12,000,000, out of a total world output of about £13,000,000, Brazil's already reduced yield faded into insignificance.

A ready market always exists for the exquisite white diamond of Brazil, but in the absence of a registration law the output is not known with certainty, although an estimate puts the value at about £200,000 annually. A large proportion of the stones are cut and mounted within the country.

Journey to Jewel Fields.

The journey to the chief diamond regions of Brazil in the State of Minas Geraes a highly mineralized zone including the two scientifically gold mines of the Republic covers over 600 miles, takes three days, and includes three railway changes and a cross-country trip. Leaving Rio one evening at 7:00, I changed trains at dawn the next morning at Lafayette, and again at General Carneiro before midday, reached Curralinho at sundown. I spent the night at the Brazilian equivalent of a wayside inn, and set out early next day on the ten-year-old line between that junction and Diamantiina, trains running on alternate days.

Diamantina, overlooking the valleys of the Jequitinhonha and its affluents, was, and is, the centre of diamond winning and selling. Here the line ceases, and the diamond region must be explored on horseback.

From Rio to Curralinho the track lies practically due north, following during the second half of the journey, the valley of the Rio das Velhas —old route of the gold hunting bandeirantes.

From Curralinho to Diamantina the route turns eastwards and when the ascent of the flanks of the Espinhaco range, the chapada (high plateau) country presents a striking change. There are occasional strips of dense matto, yielding the logs and planks of peroba and aroeira wood to be seen beside a rare steam driven saw mill, but the country grows more bare and wild as higher altitudes are reached.

At the divide, 4,500 feet up, there comes into view an immense expanse of rolling and broken country, with the fine peak of Itambe some 30 miles distant, pale blue beyond a range of opalescent heights. Here lies the diamond country, with an aspect and vegetation peculiar to itself. On the highest levels there occur frequent stretches of bog and flats of pure white sand; in all directions rise long ridges and massive piles of pale quartzite and sandstone, strangely weathered into pinnacles, arches, and fantastic shapes.

Upon these rocks are perched the hoary masses of lichens, large tillandsias, tree-lilies whost resinous stalks serve as fuel for the railway, the odd fir-like candelbra of Lychnophora, big plants with white flannel like leaves, and many cactus. Quantities of low-growing bushes with small pinkish flowers appear like heather at a distance, and the lovely rose-colored pompoms of the dwarf mimosa glow beside orchidaceous and bilyaceous plants showing bright scarlet and purple flowers The only signs of bird life are the nests pendant from thorny trees, and there is a remarkable absence of animals throughout this region: a strange and solitary area.

A Quaint Old Town.

Diamantina crouches upon the eastern slope of the Serro do Frio, cold and barren hills forming part of the Espinhaco system. It has today ten thousand people, and the biggest house is that of the Archbishop; many of the houses, with projecting upper balconies and fine wooden-grilled lower windows, are 150 to 200 years old. Grass grows between the cobbles of the streets, and, but for the inevitable cinema, the City of Diamonds would be dead after sundown; yet buyers come here and take away packets of uncut gems worth from £5,000 to £10,000 every few weeks, product of hand labor of folk who are diamond hunters by inheritance.

Diamantina was formerly called Tijuco, changing its name after the identification, in the year 1729, of the diamonds found in the Jequitinhonha River by gold-washers. From then on, this and many other rivers in Minas and Bahia were searched for the gems. No source but that of rivers was known until 1834, when a negro slave picked up a diamond on high ground at St. Joao da Chapada. The diamond bearing mineral, called cascalho or canga, according to its formation, was then identified and found in a number of regions in Minas, either in the crevices between rocks, filling up fissures, or in mounds. The Bagagen region yielded the biggest diamonds yet found in Brazil—the Estrella do Sol, 254 carats, the Dresden, 119 carats, and the Estrella de Minas, 175 carats.

Agua Suja, near by, yielded a fair crop, as did also Diamantina, to the north-west, Rio Bonito, Rio Coxim, Abaeto, and in Bahia, Lencoes in particular, the Bahia districts remaining the sole world source of the industrially used black carbonados.

But the Jequitinhonha region now seems to possess a larger amount of diamond bearing material, and it is here that the most modern and scientific experiments are being made for winning diamonds. Practically the whole length of Jequitinhonha and its tributaries have been searched for stones at intervals during the last two cenuries, but since the abolition of slavery in Brazil, in 1888, only in a desultory manner.

18th Century Methods.

An industry of so precarious a nature could not survive the wage system, and it may be added that the yield here is not, in any area yet discovered, sufficiently rich for any "rush" to be expected. The territory needs scientific operation, not individual effort. I saw in many places diamond washing carried out by the methods of the 18th century by individuals, but these were in all cases native Brazilians, frequently the descendants of African slaves, who occupied Sundays and other spare time by digging out from the river beds, from high level deposits, or crevics between the country rocks masses of the cascalho, and washing it in the wooden bateia, the shallow bowl which is their only instrument for diamond finding.

Some twelve miles from Diamantina an experiment is being carried on, using the methods of Kimberley on a small scale, and this your correspondent made a cross-country trip to see. The site is a mound, four miles by one; the top is the common red land of Brazil, and three or four feet below the surface the work of the hydraulic monitor has laid bare a thirty-foot cliff of the diamond-bearing mineral, talcose breccias. The soft and pale mineral, a decomposed olivine, is studded with large and frequently angular boulders of white crumbling sandstone, and, in the opinion of the present operators, it is not an alluvial deposit, but appears to have been forced up from below under conditions closely approximating those producing the famous Kimberley pipes.

The mineral is carried by a flume, passing first over a grizzly to remove the harder masses of over three-quarters of an inch diameter, to a trommel, where the fine sand and water are removed; the coarser mineral is here divided into grades, and is conducted into a rotary Kimberley pan, while the smaller passes into a classifier to remove surplus sand. The concentrates, showing iron pyrites, crystals, and magnetite pebbles, from pan and classifiers, are then treated in Hartz jigs, and are finally handsorted. The yield is so far small, the machinery treating only 100 cubic metres in ten hours, projecting an increase to 500 cubic metres; but the mineral is easy to treat, compared with Kimberley rock, the vicinity offering abundant water for power and washing, while labor is inexpensive.

All about this Boa Vista neighborhood the ground is broken by the diggings of diamond hunters, and every stream has its group of independent washers. Ask what luck the laborer has had, and he takes a screw of dirty paper from his pocket and tips into the palm of your hand a silky-feeling, transparent crystal of curious geometric form. Today however, with exchange high, the international price of diamonds, when converted into a small number of Brazilian milreis than usual, does not attract the diamond hunter, and for the time being the safes of Diamentina are almost empty. — The London Times

Royal Funeral.

London, Feb. 27—On Tuesday the remains of th Duke de Berri were removed from the Louvre to St. Denis. The procession reached St. Denis at half-past two. The coffin was met at the door of the Cathedral by the Clergy. Marshals de Viomesnil and Moncey, and Generals de Bethiry and Dupont, were the pall-bearers. The body was placed on a stage in the middle of the church during the celebration of Mass and afterwards removed to the Chapelle Ardente. More than 100,000 of the inhabitants of Paris attended the procession. All the shops in that city were closed, and a great number of houses were hung with black. Since the assassination of His Royal Highness 51 persons have been arrested in Paris, in consequence of information against them. Addresses from different public bodies, from departments, from the members of the Royal Court, &c., have been sent to the King, condoling with him on the assassination of the Duke de Berri.

Mr. McGreevy Elected.

A very large number of people thronged the Court House yesterday afternoon, anxious to hear the result of Judge Andrew's enquiry into the ballots cast during the late election.

When at last it was decided by the Court that the Hon. Mr. McGreevy was elected by a majority of seven votes, the joy of the people from the Coves knew no bounds and a wild burst of cheering went up from the corridors of the building. Not satisfied with this a number of those present immediately set about organizing a demonstration for last night in honor of the new member. The demonstration took the form of a monster torchlight procession, which escorted Mr. McGreevy through the various divisions of the constituency. In the carriage with Mr. McGreevy were Messrs. William Lee, Michael Power, and Fradet, of Cap Blanc, representing the three elements of the population that contributed to his success.

St. George's Day.

Yesterday was St. George's Day, and as usual the fact was carefully borne in mind by our fellow-citizens of English birth and descent. The rose was prominent upon the breasts of very many of the sons and daughters of Albion yesterday, while the bells of the English Cathedral rang out many peals both at noon and also before and after the divine service, which was attended by the members of the St. George's Society last night. A good congregation was present at the anniversary service, which was conducted by the Very Rev. the Dean of Quebec, the Rev. H. G. Petry and the Rev. Mr. Parrock. The musical portion of the service was exceedingly interesting and effective and very great credit is due to Mr. E. A. Bishop, organist, and the ladies and gentlemen of the choir, for their success in the matter and for the hard work that must have been necessary in order to attain it.

Chronicle's Review of Coming Attractions For Next Week

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Five excellent vaudeville acts are scheduled for the coming week at the Auditorium. The bill is first class, and comprises different acts that will undoubtedly prove popular.

First we have the Musical Johnsons, Xylophone Players, an act that is reported to be one of the best of its kind in the business today. Then come Hackett and Delmar, a man and girl,, in a Classy Dancing number, that is sure to prove popular. All the latest dance hits in the States will be executed by these two.

Monroe and Graham are the third on the bill, with a sensational trick trampoline turn that ought to go over great. Howard and Sadler, two girls, are the fourth, with a comedy, songs and talking act that is declared by those that have seen it to be excellent. The fifth act is not yet named, but will be here for the opening performance on Monday.

"His Bridal Night", starring Alice Brady, is the feature picture attraction. It is a sure knock out, and will sweep the audience out of their seats. Miss Brady has a dual role, which she carries out to perfection, and some of the most wonderful doubling that has ever been witnessed on the screen takes place in this picture.

One minute the star is demure, quite dignified Tiny—whose habit is to suck her finger, and the next she is the dashing, gay, flirtations Vi, whose daring knows no bounds. Taken in all, the picture is the best that Miss Brady has yet appeared in.

The eighth episode of the Dempsey serial, "Dare-Devil Jack" is also on the bill for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, while the ninth episode will be shown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, on account of the theatre being taken over for the Boston Grand Opera troupe the week following.

AT THE VICTORIA.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Katherine MacDonald, known as the most beautiful woman on the screen, and as the "American Beauty" will be seen in her first production for First National Exhibitors' Circuit, in "The Thunderbolt".

Miss MacDonald is the star of the picture, and is supported by Thomas Meighen, who is well known wherever pictures are played.

Cast in the role of a girl whose dream of married happinessis shattered by a "spite" marriage, she does the greatest work in her screen career, all critics who have seen the picture declare.

A Pollard Comedy and the fourth episode of the fascinating serial "The Trail of The Octopus", which is being followed by hundreds, are also on the same bill.

For the last three days of the week Dolores Cassinelli, "The Cameo Girl", will be seen in "Tarnished Reputations", a soul drama of an artist's model. It is a page out of life. A cross-section of a woman's heart. A human drama by the kind of people you know who act and think like real people.

Some men take advantage of a woman's trust. The artist in this picture was no exception. If men would think, what broken hearts they would save. Broken hearts may be mended, but never healed. This is the sort of picture that has to be seen to be appreciated, and once seen, it will never be forgotten.

A Jimmy Aubrey comedy, entitled "Squeaks and Squaks", is also on the same bill, as well as the fourteenth episode of the latest Ruth Roland serial, entitled "The Adventures of Ruth".

AT THE EMPIRE.

Published originally as a novel in Munsey's magazine, written by Frank L. Packard and later dramatized by George M. Cohan and presented with phenomenal success on Broadway, the Paramount-Artcraft picture, "The Miracle Man" comes to the Empire Theatre all next week. As a motion picture this absorbing story has been hailed by the critics as one of the finest productions ever seen on the screen. With scenes laid in the haunts of criminals in New York's Chinatown, in a little village on the side of a giant mountain, and on the shore of a roaring ocean, the opportunity for wonderful photographic effects has been realized to the limit. But the chief interest is in the striking story which centres about the venerable figure of an old patriarch who is credited with the power to heal the sick and make crippled limbs whole again. To him come Tow Burke and his gang of crooks with the idea of cashing in on his powers. But it does not work out as they calculated, for hidden away in each of them is a leaven of good which slowly comes to the surface under the influence of their wholesome environment. In a most marvelous way the criminals are reclaimed from the paths of crime. A cast of unusual ability enacts the important roles in the picture, headed by Thomas Meighen, and including Elinor Fair, Betty Compson, Joseph J. Dowling, Lon Chaney, W. Lawson Butt, Lucille Hatton, and others. This production is bound to touch the heart of the most hardened theatre-goer and will undoubtedly prove one of the finest pictures ever shown in this city. It should draw capacity houses all week to the Empire.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, third episode of "Elmo The Fearless" and comedy will also be on the bill.

The serial which has proved so popular here, "The Lion Man", is rapidly drawing to a close and the 17th episode will be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in conjunction with the usual good comedy.

AT THE ALLEN.

For the first three days of the coming week, the management of the Allen have a big double attraction.First comes Dustin Farnum in "Durand of the Bad Lands", and then Charlie Chaplin, the king of all mirth-provokers, in "The Vagabond". In addition to this gigantic bill there is a capital Christie comedy entitled "Some Boy", Mutt and Jeff cartoons, and a Chester Outing picture.

"Durand of the Bad Lands" is a western thriller, with the hero described as a bad man with a good heart, who is regenerated through a woman. It is the story of a handsome young man, guilty of a great deal, but suspected and blamed for twice as much, is "wanted" for about every black deed that is known to the wild West. He plies his trade between the States and Mexico and finally holds up a party of settlers, and takes their gold. As he is about to leave, a band of Indians swoop down on the settlers, and Durand becomes the leader of the men he had just robbed in an effort to save them from the redskins. In the fight that follows, all but Durand and three children are killed. He takes the kids and goes to his sweetheart's ranch, where he leaves them.

He is blamed for the massacre by the authorities, and a price is put on his head. During the hunt for him by the sheriff, Indians hold up a train on which are riding the Governor and his daughter. The Indians capture the girl, but Durand rescues her. He is arrested while handing the girl back to her father, is tried and convicted, but immediately pardoned. After a series of exciting moments, all finally ends well.

Charlie Chaplin needs no introduction to his followers. In "The Vagabond" he will be seen in one of the funniest pictures he ever made. It is sure to pack the theatre at all performances.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "Dangerous Days" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, is the attraction. It is the story of a young millionaire whose wife spends money as fast as he makes it. An architect plans a new mansion for the millionaire, and his wife falls in love with him. A society girl, who knows all the tricks of catching a husband, makes a stab at the architect's son, but is repulsed, and after a series of embarrassing situations, everything ends to the satisfaction of the millionaire, his wife, the architect and his son, and everybody.

An excellent comedy and a pictorial complete the bill.

Beauty and Economy

A roof of real beauty is one covered with a soft harmonious shade of reddish brown or dark green slate. These are the two artistic colors in which is made—the colors being unfadeable, because they are the natural shades of the crushed slate used for the surface of this handsome roofing material.

Brantford Crystal Roofing

Brantford Crystal Roofing is also a very economical roof. It is moderate in cost, can be very rapidly laid, and is a permanent material that is completely non-absorbent and therefore proof against the weather.

Note the extra heavy weight—80 to 85 lbs. per square; that means extra long life.

Suitable for homes, stores, factories, garages, churches, schools — all buildings on which an artistic yet economical roof is desired.

Much Discussion About Dress and Effect on Economic Life

Paris, April 23.—There is still much discussion about dress and its effect on the economic life of the country. Ministers and moralists are condemning extravagance but can offer no practical solution of what is no new problem. To dress well and more or less in the fashion is what most aim at, some because they like dress, others because they feel it is their duty to do so. If women ceased to take an interest in fashion the face of the world would be changed and not for the better; several large and prosperous industries and many minor arts would be killed. What is really now wanted is reasonable economy with better taste. Some women boast of their shabbiness: others are apparelled in the most eccentric styles. The reasonable woman chooses a path between the two extremes. She dresses to suit her position and tries to look as well as she can for the pleasure of those around her and for her own satisfaction. An ill dressed woman is as much out of place as a weed in a garden. The civilized world demands that women be well dressed, and present times make it imperative that she should be so at the least possible expense.

Men, women, and artists have very different ideas of what good dressing means. The artists in Paris have expressed their opinion in various ways in the Salon de la Mode. M. Domergue would have women dress with all the magnificence of the Spaniard, and he is not startled at a daring decollete. M. Louis Icart clothes the feminine figure in feathers and flowers, a dress of feathers, a hat of flowers, and a muff to match. M. van Dongen is not to be taken seriously, for he substitutes tattooing for a dress and thinks long eyelashes sufficient to replace a hat. Women artists would have women dress in the fashion created by the dressmakers, but always with some personal note in color or style. From the many hundreds of new models produced this season it should not be difficult to choose for all tastes—the fastidious artist, the reasonable woman, and the onlooker man. For instance, in spring the reasonable woman may choose for her modest wardrobe a little dress and a simple tailormade for morning wear, two afternoon dresses, one in taffetas or foulard, another either in crepe de Chine or crepe georgette used with a second material, lace or printed chiffon or embroidered net. For evening she will want a little dinner dress and one for more elaborate occasions.

Dress for Morning Wear.

The little serge dress for morning wear is all in one piece with a long waist and a perfectly straight simple bodice, the sleeves of which are cut wide at the bottom in the Chinese fashion. The skirt is very complicated, the sides are longer than the front or back, and low down just below the hips are folds of the material with looks like pockets; above these is placed an embroidered sash. This sash is generally in some Eastern coloring and may be either in serge or silk; it is looped in front to fall to the edge of the dress and even a little beyond, one end being longer than the other. The decollete is a little V or a square and will show some of the same embroidery as the sash, and the fastening in front of the bodice is a serried row of little buttons in the tone of the dress. A neat little tailormade shows a blue serge plisse skirt, a jumper in rose silk jersey, and a little sack coat with shawl collar of rose crepe de Chine and a hint of rose embroidery round the edge of the coat and sleeves, which are wide at the bottom over gauntlet gloves. For afternoon brown taffetas may be worn with handkerchief draperies on the skirt and lightened on the bodice with tulle plisse of the same color and a bright ribbon waist belt. For a more elaborate afternoon dress a printed crepon de soie might be chosen, or a combination of silk and embroidered tulle worn with a broad sash looped either at the side or in the still newer way to form a sort of bustle behind. A little dinner dress might be in black tulle with a cross-over bodice of nattier blue silk ending in two wide loops and ends on either hip. For an elaborate evening gown the Infanta model is very effective and offers a wide choice in materials.

Hats this season are very expensive. Prices range from 300f. to 500f. Rather large toques and very large brimmed hats are worn. Fruit and flowers and lace, as well as feathers and embroideries, are uesd as trimmings. Straw, fine and shiny, coarse and shiny taffetas, toile cire, and raffia are among the materials used. Lace veilings are to be very popular and veils of all kinds will soften most hats. As a rule, the veil will float, but it will not necessarily be long. Color in millinery is as popular as in dress, but the French milliners have a gift for toning down colors to suit the materials. Ribbon bows trim straw hats and some toques are made entirely of ribbon. Economy demands that a woman should have fewer hats than usual, and she who pays the first prices must needs be very careful in her choice; both toque and large hat should be of the kind that will go with more than one dress. This is not so easy as it may appear, for it is essential that the hat should appear as part of the gown.

High Prices for Shoes.

Dressing the feet is even more expensive than dressing the head. Not only is the price of leather so high, but in her search for simplicity the ultra-smart woman has now set the fashion of dressing her feet and legs in such a way that they cost more than our grandmothers paid for a dress. The latest boot shows a loose Russian top like short Wellingtons, while the little shoe in satin, suede, fine kid, has strapes and buckles which cost as much as jewels. Some have colored heels set with jewels, and all cost anything from £8 to £20. The stockings worn with them are so fine and so transparent that in two days they must be worn out, yet they cost not much less than 30s. a pair. These are details in dress which the reasonable woman will be careful to modify.

At the Concours Hippique some of the best dressed women in Paris have been seen. The aristocratic and military elements are well represented, which means that dress is smart, neat and not eccentric. The tailormade, worn with a toque, and the little dress worn with a big hat, were conspicuous; gloves and shoes were well cut and well made but not extravagant in style. It may be the fashion in certain classes of society to over-manicure the hands and seldom to wear gloves, but it is not so among the people who visit the Concours Hippique.

Mending is One of Mother's Multiplicity of Duties

Unfortunately, it is usually necessary for the busy mother to leave the mending until some quiet hour when the children have been got off to bed. This necessitates working by artificial light, with unusual straining of the eyes.

It is this straining of the eyes which makes one feel so tired after mending, sewing, shopping, or doing fancy work.

When you think of how constantly the eyes are employed, and of the continual changing of the focus to suit the distance of the object viewed, you may not be surprised to know that the optic nerve consumes an enormous amount of nervous energy.

For this reason straining of the eyes brings on fatigue, and often leads to nervous breakdown.

There is no magical way by which exhausted nerves can be restored

It takes time and patience in order that the depleted nerve cells may be nourished back to health and vigor, but you may be sure of satisfactory results if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly.

We know that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the vital substances which go to the upbuilding of the nervous system. We have the utmost confidence in its curative properties, because we have seen it tested in so many thousands of cases. But how are we going to prove it to you unless you try it? You are the one to be benefited, so it remains for you to make the test.

Try it when you feel tired out and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headache and indigestion. It is not a mere relief, for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves. The fact that the results are both thorough and lasting will encourage you to continue the use of this food cure until you feel strong and well.

VERY EFFICIENT MEASURES TAKEN

Banking and Port Officials in New York Watch the Gold Carefully.

New York, April 22.—Very efficient measures are taken by the banking and port officials in this city to protect the large shipments of gold which have been arriving in this country during the past few weeks from Great Britain in shipments averaging $10,000,000, and which continue to arrive intermittently. Regularity with which the shipments have been reaching this port has impelled the officials to adopt a system whereby the precious metal is carefully guarded from the time it leaves the vessel on which it was transported from Great Britain, until it is ultimately placed within the precinct of the Sub-Treasury, where the shipments are generally take immediately after their removal from the steamer.

The gold is usualy consigned in boxes, a shipment of $10,000,000 consiting of about 350 boxes. Two strips of heavy tarpaulin are slung under the gang plank over which the gold is carried, as an insurance agains the treasure dropping into the water.

Four sets of checkers, representing all persons interested in the consignment, examine and chronicle the lading of each sealed box at it is set upon the truck. The route over which the trucks transport the gold cargo is guraded by groups of men who are stationed at intervals of four or five blocks and apprised of the time the costly caravan is to pass.

REPORTED PLOT IS BEING INVESTIGATED

Simultaneous Uprisings In Canada, Egypt, Ireland and India in June?

London, April 20.—Constantly reiterated reports that a plot having as its purpose simultaneous uprisings in Canada, Egypt, Ireland, India, in June is being fomented in New York, have impressed British officials to the extent of setting on foot an investigation. The officials entered upon their work of investigation today with the idea, it was stated, that if such a plot was on foot those behind it were irresponsible agitators who would not be entrusted with funds collected in the United States for the Irish Republic and who are without organizing ability or other substantial backing.

The reports received here have gone so far as to say that Irish sympathizers have left the United States for Canada, Egypt and India to plan a revolt in these countries. In this connection British officials have taken cognizance of a statement of a member of Parliament that he can prove that a Soviet Committee has been set up in South Wales and is awaiting the time of "the great revolution" when it hopes to assume power.

What Truck?

You Buy Economy When You Buy a National

Weight is an important factor in motor truck economy. While we do not urge that you buy your truck solely on a weight basis it is essential that you give to it the utmost consideration.

The National is the ideal truck. It is not too bulky in proportion to loads. The National is designed with weight reduction in view. Its superiority is due to scientific balance of weight and structural accuracy. No one part is heavier than it ought to be. Advanced engineering demands it. Economy demands it.

Materials used are lighter but stronger than those used in other trucks of the same capacity. This minimizes vibration, gasoline consumption and repair bills without sacrificing strength.

The National is a rugged, up-standing truck with ample reserve power for any emergency. Its dependability and economy is being proven daily. Ask for performance records—watch the truck in operation. Convince yourself!

IDEAS vs. IDEAS.

A congress of police officials, recently held in Chile, resulted in a strong letter of protest being sent to the president of the congress by the Federation of Students of that country. It appears that some of the delegates to the police congress were inclined to emphasize the element of force in dealing with the suppression of radical ideas. The students, through their own president, objected to this stand, maintaining that ideas are not fought with the sword, but with other, better ideas. The congress of police, as well as the protest of the students, have been the subject of much comment in the press of several of the Spanish-American countries.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 23—Labor throughout the three Prairie Provinces is about the scarcest thing imaginable, said Thomas Longworth, Superintendent of the local Government Labor Bureau. There is not one place in Alberta where there is a surplus supply, he said, and both Saskatchewan and Manitoba are sending broadcast in an effort to influence workers to come.

STEADY DEMAND FOR FOOTWEAR

Call For Goods in the Boston Market is Firm — Buyers Evince Much Caution

Boston, April 23.—Although the call for footwear in the Boston shoe market is steady caution is evident among buyers and there is some anxiety shown regardng shipments. Prices are overshadowed by the pressing need of goods, which condition is likely to continue for the next month.

It is thought that there may be changes in quotations on practically the whole market before contracting for 1921 realy sets in, and there would be no doubt of it if the price of leather was the only factor to consider. But, in tow of the leading shoe manufcturing cities Labor committees are working upon a new price schedule which may considerably offset th wieeoetrrn erably offset the lower trend of leather. Manufacturers, therefore, regard it as imprudent to load up with a future business at guaranteed prices.

Considering all factors, it will be surprising if the price range of shoes showns any marked change during the fall run of business.

Packer Hide Market

Sales in the packer hide market are reported as few, small, and far between; neither is there any improvement expected while the transportation question remains in the chaotic statae it has been in for the last week or more.

Puyers are not inclined to negotiate for hides while the opportunities for getting them to the tanneries are so doubful.

Conditons are such as produce a bearish element, but the market has seldom been better prepared to stand a sudden dull spell. The same reason which checks buying also hat hides in storage are not burdenyards. The packers have sold down their winter stock to such an exteni that hides in storage aren ot burdensome, so soliciting is less than is generally the case in Auril. Furthermore, the leather trade is still inactive, accumu'ation being reported in the lower grades.

One prominent tanner considers that when trading does start, hide buyers will be very apt to find as firm a market as they have faced for many months, for the course of world markets is not conducive to lower values.

Leather Markets

Trading is admitted to be less active than the dealers expect at this season of the year. There appears to be a fair amount of leather going abroad, however, and the domestic demand is slowly developing into an aggregate of sales remarkable in view of the pessimistic expressions that are heard.

The recovery in sterling is largely responsible for the increased shipments of leather overseas, and tanners state that the outlook for a foreign demand is encouraging.

Calfskin tanners report a light trade and what there is centers among the better grades, which are held firm at $1.30 to $1.40. The lower runs more slowly, dealers asking $1, but not being averse to entertaining offers for sizable lots. As a whole, the market is dull with prices weak.

Considerable activity is noted in the side upper leather market, the drop in quotations in the lower rades having started some trading, particularly in bark tanned and retanned leather, also in tannages which serve as a substitute for calf. Prices of the popular brands are low compared with the prices of hides. Last week the range was from 40 cents to 80 cents.

Medun qualities of glazed kid are moving slowly. Prices range from $1 to 50 cents and lower as quality runs off.

There is considerable talk about the cheaper grades, and no doubt some good lots have been obtained at low figures. The foreign buyer has been in evidence but not sufficiently to affect quotations.

LEATHER FROM THE SEA.

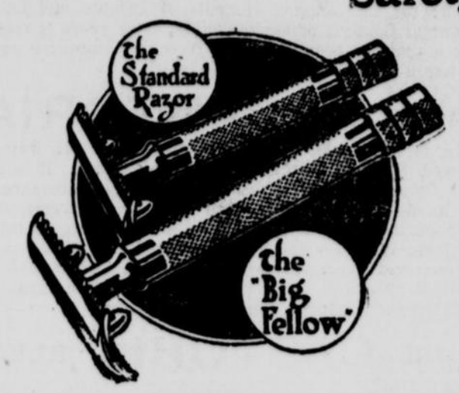

Everybody is painfully aware of the scarcity and high price of leather The war, of course took a heavy toll of the leather production of the world, and in addition reduced the world's flocks and herds from which our leather usually comes. The sea, however, hold an almost inexhaustible source of leather in the larger aquatic creatures—whales, sharks, porpoises, dogfish, the ray of devilfish, the sawfish and some others.

There have, however, been difficulties in the wa yof utilizing these sources on any large scale for the production of leather suitable for general purposes. The shagreen or outer coating of the skin of a shark, for example (as well as those of the ray or of the dogfish), is a horny structure frequently so hard that it is difficult to grind it off; while grinding, if carried far enough to remove it entirely results in partial destruction of the skin proper.

Necessity, however, has again proved the mother of invention, and chemical means have been devised by which this horny material may be successfully removed, while improvements in lining now permit that part of the process of tanning to be carried through without injury to the skin. A further step has succeeded in removing the fishy odor which would otherwise remain in the finished product. In the circumstances it is not surprising to learn that new stations for the treament of these sea products are being established on the southern Atlantic shores of the United States where many of the sea creatures abound.

Sleeplessness.—Sleep is the great restorer and to be deprived of it is vital loss. Whatever may be the cause of it, indigestion, nervous derangement or mental worry, try a course of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. By regulating the action of the stomach, where the trouble lies, they will restore normal conditions and healthful sleep will follow. They exert a sedative force upon the nerves and where there is unrest they bring rest.

DEFENSE POLICY FOR AUSTRALIA

Cook Says Big Battleship is Likely to Remain Country's Main Bulwark

Melbourne, April 23.—Australia's Naval Minister Sir Joseph Cook, has been watchng with the keenest inbeen watching with the keenest inof the United States and Japan. Most probably, like other Australians, he finds the former as reassuring as the other is disconcerting. Officially, however, this is what he said at a public gathering recently:

"I read in the newspapers only this morning that our friends in America are going to spend on dreadnaughts, super-dreadnoughts and battleships to the tune of £150,000,000. What for? I wondered. Even in America where they have plenty of money to spend they are not throwing it away. Looking in another directon I found that the naval estimates of Japan for the year represented 30 per cent of her total revenue.

"The Imperial (British) Government we are told, is cutting down his defence estimate, but what does this 'cutting down' means? It means that after reducing her estimates by one-half, Britain's expenditure covering defense remains at £157,000,000. If on the population basis we compare our defense expenditure with that of Great Britain, how would we stand?"

Sir Joseph Cok, referring to those critics who insisted that Australia must cut down its defense costs, pointed out that it was not a matter of what the Commonwealth would like to do, but what it must do in view of what other people were doing.

"There is a belief, gaining strength day by day," he said "that there is no further need to spend money on the defense of Australia; that big battleships are out of date. All the best information, however, that the government can get, including that of Lord Jellicoe, shows that the big battleship has won out' and is likely to remain the bulwark of the defense of Australia. In any case whatever is wanted for the defense of Australia must be spent

"Plans and proposals will be formulated and whatever is formulated will have to be done with our eyes open to the facts of the world's position and the world's defense. Whatever is done we must defend this country and keep it safe against the maruders outside. I can assure you all that many, many anxious hours are being spent in determining the right course to adopt in spending the money of the Commonwealth."

DIGESTIVE TROUBLES CAUSE DISTRESS

But They Are Nearly Always Due to Thin Watery Blood.

Do not think that because your stomach is easily upset you are the victim of some serious malady. One of the most common predisposing causes of indigestion is anaemia, or thin, watery blood. In fact it has become generally recognized that healthy activity of the stomach is impossible unless the blood is rich and red.

Dr. Williams Pink Pills have been found most valuable in cases of indigestion, nervous dyspepsia and stomach weakness, just because they are a blood builder and nerve tonic. The rich, red blood they make not only imparts a healthy digestion, but carries color to the cheeks and lips and gives vigor to the muscles. One important point to remember is that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful drugs and opiates and are thus to be preferred to preparations that merely stimulate for a time. Before you begin worrying unnecessarily about your state of health, try the tonic treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will be surprised to see how rapidly your appetite returns and your whole debilitated system revives, as the new, rich blood courses through your body. Here is the statement of one person among thousands who have used Dr. Williams Pink Pills to their own great advantage. Mrs. A. Veniot, Hemford, N.S., says: "For about two years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which seemed to carry with it a complication of other troubles. Every meal I took brought with it misery, as it was followed by pain, and sometimes nausea and vomiting. At other times gas would form in the stomach to such an extent that my heart would palpitate at an alarming rate. These conditions brought on extreme nervousness and irritability, and I found my general health so much affected that the least exertion would tire me, and I slept but poorly. I had been doctoring for several months with no result beyond slight temporary relief, when I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to follow this advice, and got a half dozen boxes. Good results soon began to show from this treatment, and the further continued use of the pills have made me a well woman. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to similar sufferers."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEW IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Vancouver, B.C., April 23—The irrigation system to be installed in the Kamloops Indian Reserve which the government contemplates opening up for soldier settlement, will cost about $100,000, Chief Engineer G. W. Swan estimates. Work of mapping the district has been completed.

Cheapest of All Oils.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

HOWAT POWER AMONG MINERS

Controls Miners of Whole District of Kansas—Ignored a Court Order

Pittsburg, Kan., April 23—When Governor Henry J. Allen entered the coal fields of the Pittsburg district last November to ask the idle miners to work for the State under the receivership which the governor had instituted, the question asked on every hand was:

"What will Alexander Howat say about it?"

The governor was told frankly that Howat, district president of the United Mine Workers, would reject the plan. Howat was in Washington attending the negotiations in progress for the settlement of the nation-wide strike of bituminous miners A close friend of Howat's volunteered to go to Washington and seek his consent for the men to return to work. Not only did Howat reject the offer, but he issued a statement in which he bitterly condemned the plan as an "invasion of the governor in an attempt to disrupt the union."

The campaign to work the mines under a state receivership, however continued. A call then went out for volunteers. Scores of husky younk Kansans, may war veterans, answered the appeal. They started to work in the face of a blizzard but they turned out coal. State troops were brought into the district to guard the workers, with federal troops at hand for reserve duty.

The Kansas governor organized a temporary executive office in Pittsburg and while here formed a tentative plan for a court of Industrial Relations. W. L. Huggins, then chairman of the Kansas State Public Utilities Commission, and Judge F. C. Price, a leader in the state senate and chairman of the judiciary committee, were called into conference. A day or two later the governor issued a call for an extraordinary session of the state legislature and in January the law creating the Court of Industrial Relations was enacted. Howat, meanwhile at meetings of the miners in Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois, declared the law was designed "to enslave the working people of Kansas." He threatened a fresh strike of the Kansas miners.

After the new industrial court had begun functioningg it was announced an investigation of the coal mining industry of the state would be held here. The court assembled and Howat and other officials of the mine workers were summoned to appear as witnesses The order was ignored.

The presiding judge then applied to Judge A. J. Curran of the Crawford County district court to order Howat to appear before the industrial court. When Howat and the other officials did not appear, udge Curran found them in contempt and issued an order committing them to jail "until such time as they consent to appear before the Kansas industrial relations court and answer all questions asked them."

Howat is serving his nineteenth year as an official of the United Mine Workers. He was born in Scotland and came to the United States when three years old. At ten he went to work in a coal mine. A foe to compromise, when the nationwide bituminous strike was settled in November, 1919, Howat denounced some phases of to settlement. On December 22, 1919, he was sent to jail in Indianapolis for contempt because a strike in the mines of the Central Coal and Coke Company in Kansas, called the previous July, was still in progress after the nation-wide settlement. Howat was released the next day upon his promise, it was said, that he would endeavor to induce the miners to return to work.

The Court of Industrial Relations which lanched into an entirely new field of legislative endeavor, was attacked before the Kansas legislature by representatives of capital and labor. Ample time was given both sides to present argumenta, and the bill was condemned as inimical to the interests of capital and labor alike. Mr. Huggins presented the views of the public. Both houses of the legislature adopted the measure by overwhelming majorities.

The new law has been in operation only a few months but petitions have been filed under its provisions by local, state and national union organizations, as well as by groups of workers and by individuals. It not only prohibits strikes and lock-outs in essential industries, but it requires essential industries to operate with "a reasonable continuity necessary for the protection of the public."

The court which it created is empowered to regulate wages, hours and working conditions, pending agreement between employer and employe. Labor officials or employers violating provisions of the law may be charged with a felony, subject to penalties reaching a maximum of $5,000 fine and two years' imprisonment. Maximum penalties for employes who violate the law are $1,000 fine and a year's the law are $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment in a county jail.

The court is composed of George H. Wark, a lawyer, Clyde M. Reed, a newspaper publisher and Mr. Huggins, the "father of the new law."

New Standards of Value

$1365 F.O.B. CHATHAM WAR TAX EXTRA GRAY-DORT

Gray-Dort has brought peace-time standards of value to the motor car business. Greater value than the light car has heretofore offered. $1365 brings you a car comparable with those costing several hundred dollars more.

LOOK FOR THESE THINGS IN THE CAR YOU BUY

The Gray-Dort motor is big enough for its job—not stunted—3½" bore and 5" stroke—with big water jackets and a big, honeycomb radiator. The crankshaft is husky—many pounds heavier than other builders of light cars think necessary. The pistons are extra-light and three-ringed. Special design prevents valve-warping. High-carbon steel gives toughness to moving parts.

The carburetor is a Carter—improved this year. Westinghouse starting and lighting. Connecticut ignition (newly improved).

The whole chassis parallels the motor in quality. Heavy frame of channel steel. Husky rear axle, Chatham-built. Long springs, cantilever in the rear, and built here under our inspection. The big brakes now have Thermoid lining. A new steering gear, 50% larger and stronger than the light car standard.

The Gray-Dort is as pleasing to the artist and to the driver as it is to the mechanic.

The smooth lines of the body are restful after so much of the extreme in present-day cars. The Gray-Dort finish, development of 60 years' coach-building, will win your instant, and lasting approval. Add the smartness of French-pleated upholstery, and a new top, tailored in our own shops.

The big gasoline tank is now in the rear—for good-looks and convenience. As in big cars, the emergency brake is on a lever, the side-curtains open with the doors. A shorter, smarter cowl gives more room in the driving compartment. The new hood, with its many long, narrow louvres has a touch of European smartness.

AND YET THE PRICE IS $1365,
(PLUS WAR TAX)

You know that such a car as the Gray-Dort will be in heavy demand at $1365. We have doubled our production this year. But there is likely to be a shortage. See the Gray-Dort dealer now.

PRICES

The Gray-Dort 5-passenger car, finished in Gray-Dort green and black and with standard equipment is $1365 f.o.b. Chatham. War tax extra.

The roomy 2-passenger roadster is the same price.

THE GRAY-DORT SPECIAL

For the man who wishes something a little extra in his car, we have built the Gray-Dort Special. Maroon body, with brown rayntite top. Plate glass rear window. Gipsy curtains. Rookie tan wheels. Motometer. Tilting steering wheel. Real leather upholstery. Mahogany instrument board. Just the touches which lift this car above the ordinary. $150 extra on the standard.

AND THE ACE!

The Gray-Dort Ace—the most beautiful light car of to-day. Sapper green body with handsome California top to match.

Trouble Lamp and bull's-eye flashlight. Electric cigar lighter. Rear-vision mirror. Plate glass windows. Oversize, grooved-tread tires. This is the de luxe car for the man who does not wish to pile up a tremendous operating cost. $255 extra on the standard.

GAZELLE HUNT ON THE ATLAS

Interesting Sport in Morocco —They Are Very Difficult to Catch

There are four of us. Haj Thami Glawi, the Basha of Marrakesh, Kaid Hammou of the Atlas, Sid Ayadi Kaid of Rahamna, and your correspondent.

It is time to start. There is a car for each of us four sportsmen, and at the invitation of my hosts I take my seat beside the chauffeur, with two beautifully dressed black slaves in the back seat in attendance. The Kaids enter their cars and we set out.

The cultivated lands are quickly left behind and the great plain of Rahamna lies stretching away before us with the snow peaks of the Atlas bounding its southern horizon.

Kaid Ayadi gives the signal and the four cars spread out—a few hundred yards apart—and proceed at a slower pace, about 15 miles an hour. The ground is stone-strewn and rough, and careful steering is necessary. There are boulders of every shape and size loosely strewn over the plain, and little channels worn by water, insignificant enough in themselves, but highly damaging to motor-cars if not skilfully manoeuvred. Our chauffeurs, three Frenchmen and an Algerian, are skilful drivers and accustomed to this sport of the "Great Kaids."

Suddenly one of the slaves in my car cries out and away ahead of me I see a herd of gazelle bounding over the plain. My car is on the extreme left of the line and our object is to head off the herd from the more stony ground and turn them to the right, where the plain is more level. Edging away always to the left our car quickens its pace, rolling from side to side and bumping. Seizing every opportunity of a few yards of good ground we spurt forward, only to have to slow down again to manipulate some awkward spot. The gazelle are out of range, for it is only with a shot gun loaded with solid bullet or buckshot that they can be got. To shoot with a rifle out of a car going at from 40 to 50 miles an hour over rough ground is too much to ask or to expect. There are less stones now, and we are making headway.

Pursuer and Pursued.

The three cars on my right keep a little in the rear, in order to facilitate my turning movement, but they too are making good pace. At times, for a few minutes, we are travelling at over 40 miles an hour, and once or twice the gazelle are almost within range; then some little watercourse or some extra stony patch gives them their chance and they increase the distance again. At length our course seems clear and the car bounds forward. The pace is splendid but rather terrifying. Half standing, half kneeling on the seat I wait to get my chance of a shot, then suddenly the car swerves in a way that nearly throws me out—and stops. A yard or two ahead is a dry watercourse, a metre wide perhaps boulders, an impassable barrier—or rather a barrier the passing of which necessitates the search of a practicable passage, and allows the escape of the gazelle, whose course over the stony ground is now easy. A few minutes later we see them appear on the outline of a low hill bounding over the rocks.

It was not long before fresh herds were put up, but always breaking away to the left they succeeded in reaching the low stony slopes that form the northern boundary of the Rahamna plain. At a signal from Kaid Ayadi we turn southwards to seek more advantageous ground, and emerging from the stones our cars roll across the level plain at a pace of 30 miles an hour. Game, however, is scarcer here—though a great bustard falls to my gun, brought down by a charge of buckshot. At length, however, a herd of a dozen gazelle is spied in the open, and at an increased speed the cars rush forward. The speedometer of my car marks 40 miles an hour, but we are not gaining on the gazelle, who appear easily to keep their distance of four or five hundred yards ahead of us. At another signal we increase the pace to 50 miles an hour. The plain is level but there are stones, and little undulations and many small watercourses merely little declivities in the surface, but none the less exciting to pass over, and the exhilaration is intense

It is wonderful driving on the part of the chauffeurs, and the cars sway from side to side, and rise and fall, like boats in a rough sea. We are closing upon the herd now, and it looks as though it will be my car that will be the first to come up with them, but suddenly they turn aside to the right, and pass down the line of advancing cars. The Basha of Marrakesh's lithe figure is clearly visible as he stands in his swaying car. The gazelle pass him, and with right and left he brings down two—beautiful shooting. Kaid Hammou's car is the next, and he too shoots his two gazelle. Once more the herd swerves, and passing between the cars, breaks back to the rear, and is alowed to escape without further molestation—all but one, a young doe, who, paralysed with fear, stands motionless, and is easily captured alive and unhurt, to be carefully conveyed back to Marrakesh to become a pet in the Bacha's house.

Much Skill Needed.

It may be argued that this class of hunting is not sport, that the gazelle have no chance of escape, but it is not so. The risk is great, an accident may occur at any moment, and the stony surface of the ground gives the gazelle a good chance. Of the many herds we saw the four gazelle shot and the one taken alive were our whole bag, thought we covered over 100 miles of distance on the plain alone, without counting our ride to and from Marrakesh. The handling of the cars requires the greatest skill, and the shooting is by no means easy. To hit a running gazelle from a motor car travelling at the rate of 50 miles an hour over rough ground needs no little skill

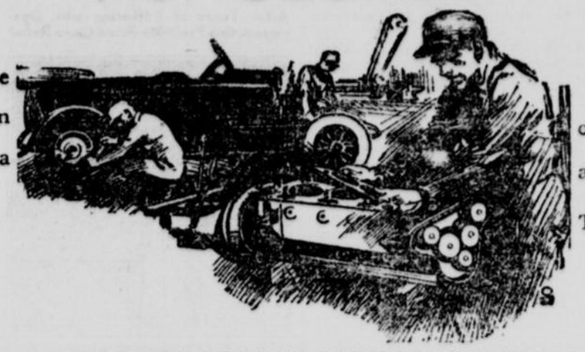

We return to a late luncheon at Kaid Ayadi's house—a meal beginning with a roast sheep and continuing with unlimited courses of meat and fowl and sweets—most left untasted. The afternoon is well on and the snows of the Atlas are rosy with the rays of the setting sun as we roll back to the city along the straight white road. Before sunset we are in the Basha's Palace, having covered over 180 miles since our start in the morning.

TURKEYS IN SNOW.

Brandon, Man., April 23—On the day of the big snowstorm about the middle of March a farmer near here lost two turkeys and expected to find their dead bodies when the snow disappeared. On April 7th the turkeys came to life again after being buried under the snow for three weeks and two days. One of the turkeys was able to get out of the snow prison and when the other was liberated it flew away as if nothing had happened.

EDDY'S WASHTUBS
of Indurated Fibreware

Are far better than old-style wooden or galvanized tubs. Yet they cost no more. They cannot leak, because they are made all in one piece, without seams or cracks or staves.

So light and easy to carry, yet so strong, they never become dented or battered. They do not absorb heat, therefore, the contents remain hot longer.

Eddy's Twin Beaver Washboards are also of Indurated Fibreware—no metal—doubleside. Save time by the special crimp which loosens dirt easily without wear on the clothes.

TYPEWRITER NOW USED IN CHINA

Has Been Introduced By the Missionaries — Is of Great Help to Natives

Shanghai, April 21—Chinese of the future generations will write in phonetic script and use a typewriter with only 39 characters instead of plying a brush to draw 10,000 or more hieroglyphics if mission workers succeed in an effort they are making to revolutionize handwriting in use in China for more than 4,000 years. The work of the missionaries is at last beginning to receive official sanction and they entertain hopes that eventually the Chinese brush, ink block and ink tablet will have to give place to more modern methods of communicating ideas.

Their purpose is not only to simplify China's handwriting system but to give the country a common tongue to replace the present day babel which renders even the native who is away from his own home district almost as helpless as a foreigner.

The system of phonetic script now urged upon the Chinese was worked out in England in 1903, by Wang Chao. Beside its 39 characters, it contains 10 numerals. There are no capitals.

Rev. E. G. Tewksbury, of Shanghai, secretary of the China Sunday School Union, and a member of the Phonetic Promotion Committee, who has devoted 30 years to teaching in China, has put the new script into use on American typewriters with complete success. For this purpose typewriters with blank type faces are obtained from the factories and the characters are cut from these faces here by Chinese engravers.

That the Peking government attaches importance to the effort being made is seen in the following excerpt from a recent mandate issued by the Ministry of Education.

"We recognize that because of the difference between our classical and spoken language, education in the schools makes slow progress and the keen edge of the spirit of union, both between individuals and in society at large, has thereby been blunted. Moreover, if we do not take prompt steps to make the written and spoken language the same quickly, any plans for developing our civilization will surely fail."

DAINTY LINGERIE.

Spring trousseaux show the acme of daintiness in lingerie. In one collection, some of the garments were in fine lawn with exquisite drawn thread work and real lace, others were of the same material delicately embroidered, and yet others were in colored crepe de Chine, pale rose, creamy white, pale mauve, and sometimes a mingling of two colors. Every garment showed a straight waist line, and there was as little fullness as possible in the skirts. Mauve and pink were used together with great success, and the plainer the fashion the smarter the result. Frills and tucks are not in favor but deep hems, lace and embroidery, are used in many ways.

Commercial and Financial News

CLOSING LETTERS BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

(By Canadian Press)

New York, April 23—Stocks were heavy and irregular during the greater part of today's active session, becoming weak in spots at the close. Aside from Specialties still under pool control, the market reflected the uncertain movements of mid-week.

Further liquidation in several of the more popular industrials was attributed to involuntary selling for speculative interests at interior points, where contraction of credits continued to manifest itself.

The attitude of the Federal Reserve Bank in this connection found expression in an advance by the Philadelphia Chicago and Richmond branches of discounts on treasury certificates of indebtedness to 5 1-4 per cent. Other advices were said to point to an extension of this policy in the near future.

Conditions in the money market otherwise were unaltered, all loans holding at the prevailing 7 per cent rate. There were virtually no offerings of time money and merchants paper was in light demand.

Heaviest selling of stocks occurred in the final hour, high grade oils leading the extensive reaction when reports of fresh troubles in Mexico gained currency. Mexican Petroleum made an extreme decline of 10 points; Pan-American dropped also as much as the entire list, including United States Steel, yielded 2 to 2 points, from best prices of the mid-season.

Among the few issues conspicuous for their strength were Replogle and Lackawanna Steels and several of the motor accessories, but rails, shipping, food issues and sundry specialties lost all or more than they had gained in the general setback at the end.

Sales amounted to 1,450,000 shares.

Liberty bonds gave promise of further recovery in early dealings but eased later, when investment rails and foreign issues became heavy. Total sales, par value, aggregated $19,650,000.

Panama 2's rose 2 per cent on call, Old United States issues showing no change.

DAILY GOSSIP ON THE LEADING STOCKS

Yesterday's New York Financial Bulletin was as follows: Continuation of rally activities is expected in the industrial list, which is reported to have been heavily oversold in the raid of Thursday morning. The general market promises cross currents for the remainder of the week.

• • •

According to Shonnard, Mills & Co., the volume of dealings suggests that we cannot be far from the point where prices will become either stabilized or show a strong rallying tendency.

• • •

In the opinion of the Wall Street Journal, in connection with recent bearish rumors indicating the possibility of heavy gold withdrawals by Japan from this country the statement of the Japanese Minister of Finance to the American people, declaring there is neither reason nor necessity for importing gold from the United States, is decidedly interesting. The bear clique has been making the most of this possible gold withdrawal story.

• • •

Block, Maloney & Co. say: "Our smaller wheat crop and rising price of flour, growing caution of retailers in buying, prospects of small margins of profits, uncertainties of our presidential election and the more tangled international political situation prove to our minds that liquidation in stocks will go further and we advise sales."

• • •

According to the Journal of Commerce, early in the session it seemed as if the slump which has set in on Wednesday would be carried even further but losses had been so extreme the day before that corrective factors came into play, strong interests it is reported are exerting themselves vigorously to prevent further reduction.

• • •

Henry Clews & Co. think that there is a pretty general disposition on the part of bankers to urge caution, especially in view of the heavy demand for funds which is being felt in the interior of the country.

• • •

New Haven stockholders authorize financing, new loan of $4,165,000 from the government, and an issue of $4,813,930 equipment trusts approved.

• • •

Republic Steel earnings for the first quarter, are good final net at annual rate of $17.84 for common.

• • •

Yesterday's rise was too rapid for the good of the Montreal market. There has been further calling of loans here this week. Some stocks locally are not likely to do much for the present and are liable to sell off sharply if New York breaks again.

• • •

General Chemical declared regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. on common, payable January 1st to record of May 2nd.

• • •

Offering of 192,000 shares of common Columbia Graphaphone to its junior shareholders at $27.50 a share which has been underwritten by Dominick and Dominick will secure between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000 additional working capital for the company.

CLOSING LETTERS BY THE LOCAL BROKERS

(By Breen & Gourdeau)

New York, April 23—The market opened strong and active today, with the buying in Replogle Steel, Lackawanna Steel, Mexican Pete and Rubber particularly heavy, all of which recorded large sized gains from the previous close. The tendency for further improvement was fairly well maintained throughout the better part of the initial hour when a bear drive was inaugurated that sharply reversed the price direction and resulted in losses ranging from 2 to 7 points. General Motors, Crucible and Replogle were especially affected in this decline. The resistance to pressure shown by such stocks as Lackawanna, Corn Products and Consolidated Textile was remarkable, stood out by way of contrast and ultimately tended to have a steadying influence generally. The share list, almost as a whole, turned quietly strong during the midday hours, but at the same time its action seems to reflect a lack of buying of a confident character. News to the effect that United States had dispatched warships to Mexican waters was seized upon by floor traders in the final hour to sell stocks and this selling was carried on in such volume as to bring about substantial recessions. Dealings throughout the day were very professional. Sentiment at the close was decidedly mixed.

Sales: Stocks, 1,448,800; Bonds, $19,746,000.

(By Bruneau & Dupuis)

New York, April 23—The market today has disappointed the hopes of those who expected a further rally following the improvement of yesterday. After hanging along at about the same level most of the day, prices gave way in the afternoons session. The Mexican Oil stocks were particularly weak on account of the revolution which has developed in that country. So far, however, advices indicate no actual interference with the properties of the oil companies. The corn products company issued a remarkably favorable statement of quarterly earnings which accounts for the recent strenght in the stock. The main trouble with the situation is a fundamental one based upon the over strained credit and financial situation of the country.

The Government for a year or more past, in order to facilitate the flotation of its certificates of indebtedness with the banks have kept the discount rate artificially low, and this together with the huge absorption of money by the government has produced a very adverse financial condition. As usual, the inevitable liquidation breaks out first in the security markets and is almost sure to be followed later by a general liquidation in commodities and business. We had our preliminary warning in December and are now going through the secondary stages of the process. The market closes with many stocks at new low levels and with a generally weak aspect.

Sales: 1,429,500.

(By L. G. Beaubien & Co.)

New York, April 23.—The market maintained itself fairly well in the early afternoon but another wave of selling developed in the last hour which caused a further severe break. Renewed losses by the Mexican oil stocks based on the situation in that country led the way and unsettled the rest of the list. The equipment and steel stocks were hard hit and appeared quite vulnerable to the attacks.

The motors and shipping stocks also were affected and in fact only a few quarters offered satisfactory resistance.

The Ryan stocks held up comparatively well as the traders are chary of selling them short after the Stutz incident.

The sugar group also showed good resistance to the downward trend and went off comparatively little.

There was no adverse news outside of the Mexican developments and the renewed break indicates that the causes are fundamental and have not yet spent themselves.

There was no change in the local money situation although other banking countries reported a slight increase in discount rates on treasury certificates.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(By Canadian Press)

Montreal, Que., April 23—The recovery which set in on the local stock market during the late trading on Thursday was not to any considerable degree carried over into today's dealings, the net result of which was an almost general impairment of price levels. Stocks did well in the earlier trading, although the volume of business was of light proportions, but in the afternoon under the negative New York influence, prices lost ground moderately.

Losses, however, were confined to narrow proportions, the market in fact giving a decidedly good account of itself considering the extent of the reaction in Wall Street. One of the most noteworthy stocks was Wayagamack which is regarded as a "mystery" by some. Today the price rose over four points above Thursday's closing figures at 86¾, later sagging to 85, leaving a net gain of 2½ points.

There is no known reason for the advance which has nothing to do with any possible dividend increase since the disbursement of 1 per cent. announced a little over a week ago is not payable until June first next.

Total trading: Listed, 9,174; Bonds, $22,490; Rights, 234.

QUEER CUSTOMS FOR WEDDINGS

In some parts of the world there are queer customs still extant which make the marriage ceremony rather complicated. In northern districts of England, for instance, it is considered important that marriage should take place while the moon is waxing, and not waning, if the bridal couple are to be followed by good fortune. In the north country also it is essential that an even number of guests be asked to the feast, for old superstition has it that otherwise one of the guests will die before the year is out.

In the Highlands a most unlucky omen is seen if a dog should run between the bride and groom on their wedding day; in Derbyshire the bees must be told of the event and their hives gayly decorated. In parts of England and Scotland there exists an ancient custom, the source of which is unknown, demanding that a part of the wedding cake be broken over the head of the bride, the guests scrambling for the pieces.

None of these usages, however, can compare with the Chinese custom of hanging bacon and sugar on the sedan chair of a bride, that the demons shall refrain from molesting her on her wedding journey. The Chinese bride also feels compelled to stand in a round, shallow basket while she dresses for the ceremony if she is to possess a good temper and amiable disposition.

Sweet and palatable, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is acceptable to children, and it does its work surely and promptly.

SAYS SHE CANNOT PRAISE THEM ENOUGH

MRS. GAUVIN TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Says Her Back Was so Weak She Could Hardly Walk. But Now She is a Different Person.

St. Jeanne d'Arc, N.B., April 23rd —(Special)—Among those in this neighborhood who are enthusiastic in their praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mrs. Joseph Gauvin, a highly respected resident here.

"I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills enough," Mrs. Gauvin states. "My back was so weak I could hardly walk. I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I feel a different person.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a tremendous amount of good."

Of the many persons paying their tribute of praise to Dodd's Kidney Pills, it is noticeable that the great majority are women. The reason given for this is that the great majority of women's ills come from the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Healing and strengthening them, they enable the kidneys to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood is the foundation of health.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not help weak or sick kidneys.

RETAIL TROUBLES.

A chemist who appeared before the Brentwood Profiteering Tribunal in England for charging a customer 18 cents for half a pint of methylated spirits produced invoices showing that the cost to him was $2.41 a gallon. He added: "Then there is the loss by evaporation, and I have to sell sixteen half pints, say 'Good morning' sixteen times, stick sixteen labels on sixteen bottles, and say 'Good day' sixteen times." The case was dismissed.

AN EFECTIVE VOILE DRESS

By Gertrude Beresford.

It takes more than one swallow to make a Spring, and it takes several voile dresses to make a Summer. No warm fabric is as satisfactory as voile. It is cool, and it does not muss easily. This frock of French blue and white checked voile is trimmed with white voile. The double collar and cuffs are bound with bias folds. The vest is centered with pearl buttons sewed through with blue thread. The tie and sash is blue satin ribbon. The skirt is attached to a shaped yoke of the white material. This gown is also effective when developed in dotted or plain-ground voile combined with white. Plain ground and checked gingham are also adapted to reproduce this model.

Vegetables For Health

BY LORETTA C. LYNCH.

An acknowledged expert in all matters pertaining to the household.

The Child Health Bureau tells us that children throughout the United States in general do not have sufficient vegetables or milk in their diet for the good of their health And it seems reasonable to suppose that the adults in the families to which these children belong do not have sufficient vegetables in their own diet.

And so a great movement has been started this year by people interested in health and foods to have folks think seriously about introducing more vegetables and milk into the average diet.

Vegetables help to keep the blood right. And milk not only builds the body, but it contains material which builds strong bones and makes people grow. And if some of our young ladies who give such serious consideration to their complexion that they are spending money they can ill-afford for complexion beautifiers would realize what a delightful effect upon the complexion a liberal supply of vegetables in the diet has they would be buying more spinach and less rouge.

But the family usually depends upon the housewife to provide the food, and it is to her, therefore, that we must especially appeal. The prejudice against canned vegetables is not well founded. American manufacturers are governed by strict laws to urge them to produce high-class products, but besides these laws they have established much more stringent rules of their own for producing high class products.

As soon as a can of food is opened the contents should be immediately removed to a glass or china dish. Most canned foods are the better for having been allowed to reabsorb th air lost during the process of canning. And so, after the food has been removed to the dish, place it for several hours where it will be able to absorb fresh air. This airing greatly improves the flavor.

The water in canned spinach should be carefully drained from it and saved. This may be combined with thickened milk into a cream of spinach soup.

But if you still feel that you do not wish to use canned vegetables there is no good reason why your diet should be lacking in vegetables. For there are dried peas and beans and lentils. There are onions and carrots and lettuce and spinach in some markets, despites the fact that there is ice and snow about.

Each locality has its own kind of vegetables and the thrifty housewife sees to it that vegetables other than potatoes are served at two of the three meals each day. It is unbelievable to see how children are utterly unacquainted with the most common vegetables and their preparation.

ENGAGE OWN TEACHER

Hammond R. C., April 23.—Residents here, declined to accept the school trustees mandate that they send entrance pupils to Maple Ridge while the Hammond school is barred to them, have engaged a teacher and started a school of their own. All overhead expenses is to be born by the "revolutionists." Parents claim that the School Board is not representative of Hammond because the candidate from this end of the municipality was defeated in the January elections.
